Zoning by-law in works for Chesterville to regulate use of land

Chesterville village is to be zoned so that the use of land, the character, location and use of buildings and structures can be controlled. That is the object of a draft by-law that will come before the public on April 27 in Community Hall at an open meeting in the evening.

The zoning by-law has been in the draft stage for some time, according to village authorities. Following the Ontario Municipal Board rulings that consents for the sale of properties and land use had to be processed in Toronto it became imperative that a zoning by-law be drawn up. Without a development plan for the municipality, the OMB ruling would remain in effect. It was felt the extra time involved in getting local consents for property transactions would be troublesome.

A public meeting has been called by the council. The purpose will be to acquaint the village land owners and others of the intended designations that will be applied to various parts of the village real estate. Village council members have worked with the engineering firm of J. L. Richards Associates, Ottawa, to make a preliminary land use map. This map will be on display as well as the complete draft by-law for public scrutiny.

The basic need for a development program in the municipality is to protect developers in their programming of land use. If the by-law is approved, there will never be any doubt that a person's property will be invaded or devalued by undesirable commercial or industrial growth; neither will industrial or commercial property become open to less than proper residential invasion.

The meeting is called for eight o'clock on the evening of April 27. Mr Arthur Fee, the engineer in charge of the planning for the town, from the consulting firm, will be on hand to help with the answers.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

An interesting thing about the hockey play-offs is the way they regulate the feeding and washingup habits of certain denizens of the Castle. The vice president is a devoted fan of the game. She feels chores must be under control before she can relax in front of the magic eye and snarl at her enemy of the moment.

This is Tuesday night as we write these deathless words and in a little while, the Hawks and Maple Leafs will be at it again. It seems the fan in question is inclined to the poor old Hawks. The last is a quote. For too long, she emotes, the Chicago speedsters have been out in the cold. Time that they got on the plush seats of the gravy train and let the rich Leafs and Canadiens take a day coach. We add very little to the stillness of the night by timidly favouring the amateurs from Montreal. Dear little Pocket is such a gentleman.

Sadly enough, and we have been confessing this for years, our old eyes get confused about the second period. We slide off into a sweet sleep and come too for the play-backs. There is a feeling abroad we are not entitled to an opinion one way or another because of our somewhat less than vibrant interest in the game. Now if it was a matter of shooting a groundhog or something like that, we would be in there like a dirty shirt. Our count in that department to date is 26 with the Small Crumb adding four.

Last week we stood in on the opening of the new Hydro Rural office at Winchester. Al Beardsall was happily hospitable and a very efficient master of ceremonies. It is a fancy building but will probably be too small in about six months. Hydro like all the rest of the public services is hard put to keep up to the demands of the public.

Back about 1928, and we depend on the family memory of our older brother here, we came into electric power down on the farm. Up to that time lamps supplied the necessary light if we were awake after dark. The time had come for the rural electrification program to extend to our part of Eastern Ontario. The problem was in getting the lines to the customers. A certain number of subscribers had to be signed up before the lines could be laid. Enough seemed to be ready and willing when the word first went out, but when the contractor started, it seemed some of the farmers felt otherwise. As a result, those that did take on the power had to take on a bit extra per month to pay for the service. The line ran down to Michael E. Curran's gate and stopped there.

Mr Glasgow had the contract to run the line and along the road he had troubles. Hardpan was at the top of the ground and many a dipper of cool well water did the diggers lap up before they got in range of Parney's pump down another quarter mile. In the meantime Charlie Marcell was wiring the house and barns. The old open wire and porcelain insulators look peculiar today, but they worked wonders. It is a wonder the fuses held up under some of the loads, though.

An interesting feature of our wiring system was the three wires that ran diagonally across the barnyard. They carried the power over to the cow stable from the fuse box and in time the rather flimsy insulation frayed and dropped off. We always waited for the first load of grain to head for the thresher in the yard with a strange hired hand aboard. Invariably he would have his pitch fork at a jaunty angle to the load as he ducked under the wires. The wires would come together with a spitting snarl, and the hired man usually came down off the load like a scalded cat. Father would put in another 30-amp. fuse and suggest one should be careful about things like bare hydro wires.

Hardly anyone was ever burned by the old wiring and aside from lively ground around the well on a wet day, very few people were killed from shocks. Nowadays, things are different and the new headquarters building at Winchester is part and parcel of it. They even heat the place with a "heat pump" that runs hot in the Winter and cold in the Summer. Sounds almost like a girl we used to know, before we entered the bonds of matrimony.

Win. Twp. Centennial Committee makes plans for gala week-end

On Monday, April 10th, a meeting of the Winchester Township Centennial Committee was held in the Morewood Public School with an excellent turn out of all committees present. Gerald Holmes co-ordinator of the committee, acted as chairman.

Plans for a Centennial Dance in June were finalized. This dance will be held in North Dundas District High School auditorium, with Russ Hays orchestra providing the music. It was decided that tickets for this dance will be $2.00 a couple, and to encourage centennial dress a prize will be given to the couple in the most authentic costume of the times.

On Saturday, June 24th, celebrations will commence at 1 p.m. with a band concert. Following the band everyone will be highly honored in having Mr Donald Morrow, a native son of the township and M.L.A. for Ottawa West as a speaker.

Mr Kenneth Carkner will head the sports program committee and Mr John Vanden Bosch, a committee for making preparations for platform and seating accomodations for the day. Commencing at 5 p.m. a giant chicken barbecue will be held and will continue until everyone has been served. At 8 p.m. a short variety program will be presented in the auditorium consisting mainly of Winchester Township talent. There will be no admission charge for this program. Following the variety show the seats will be cleared and the younger set will take over until midnight. Arrangements are under way to engage a popular band for this dance. Fireworks will light the sky at dusk.

On Sunday afternoon, June 25, an interfaith church service will be held in the N.D.D.H.S. auditorium Plans are taking shape for this service by a committee headed by Mr Graham Casselman, and we have been assured of participation in this service by ministers who are natives of the township.

Mr Douglas Hunter and his Education Committee will be responsible for conducting a poster contest in the Township schools. A prize will be given for the best poster and these posters will be used to advertise the Centennial celebrations.

Mrs Lyle Hunter, chairman of the History Committee has completed the compiling of history on all the settlements in the township. This history will be printed in book form and will go on sale in the near future, as well as being available on the week-end of celebrations.

A lengthy discussion was held regarding means of contacting people who are natives or former residents of Winchester Township to tender special invitations to them to our celebrations. Every one who has a relative or former neighbour who has moved away is urged by the committee to let them know about the celebrations and invite them to attend if at all possible.

Village closing by-laws repealed by council

Chesterville village stores are on their own following repeal of the closing by-laws for shops, stores and barber shops. This action was taken last Wednesday evening at a special session of village council.

Chesterville council based its action on the results of two petitions received from groups of merchants. The original petition asked that Monday closing be observed and all day Wednesday opening come into effect. The petition carried no dissenting votes.

A second petition was handed to the clerk later in the month. This petition called for a return to the original opening and closing hours of the by-law in effect. Only one dissenting signature was on the petition.

Chesterville council members weighed the matter carefully. Finally, it was decided to allow the merchants to reach their own hours of opening and closing and the two by-laws in question were repealed.

Fire at Sandtown damages Brownell home

A grass fire out of control did considerable damage to the home of Mr and Mrs Lloyd Brownell, Sandtown, last Thursday. The Newington brigade saved the house but only after a hard fight.

The flames got up under the eaves and entered the upper part of the house. It was extremely difficult for the firemen to reach the heart of the blaze. Considerable water damage was done to the interior. Most of the furniture was saved by the valiant help of the neighbours.

Arthur Milne, new president, Dundas County Federation of Agriculture

At the annual meeting of the Dundas County Federation of Agriculture, held in the Town hall in Winchester, Arthur Milne was chosen president for the next two years. Other officers are: Past president, Howard Mellon; 1st vice-president, Bernard Brunt; 2nd vice-president, Hugh Blaine; executive members, Doug Irvine, Harold McMenomy, John Wells and Martin Schneckenberger; sec.-treas., to be appointed by the executive.

The financial statement showed yearly receipts of $2,419.82 and expenditures of $2187.71.

Doug Keys, county agricultural representative, thanked the Federation for the support, both financial and otherwise, given to 4-H club work in the county.

Doug spoke briefly on the Provincial Farm Capital Assistance Plan. This program makes available to provincial farmers some $129,000,000 during the next 12 years as assistance to enlarge capital holdings.

The speaker of the evening, D. Middleton, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, spoke in an interesting manner on the present day farm problems and unrest stating that is is expected some 96,000 Canadian farmers will discontinue farming in the next ten years, and, for better or for worse, large farm units will replace small operations. This loss of farm vote would be noted by our politicians and the meeting was left with the thought that continued thoughtful negotiation with governments would be necessary to keep agriculture in its proper place in the Canadian economy.

Wm. McRoberts thanked the speaker.

Directors-at-large Orvil Guy, Allison Graham, Doug. Irvine and Martin Schneckenberger were re-elected for another term. The county milk committee replaced two of its directors and added the names of Keith Holmes and Delbert Fawcett to their appointments.

Mrs Don Cross and Mrs Wm. Langabeer supplied entertainment which was well received.

Lunch was served by the Melvin and Annable Unit of the Memorial Hospital auxiliary.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Does a virus cause cancer?

The answer to the general question is "Yes" but the way in which this happens is still not entirely clear to research scientists. It is also necessary, in relating viruses to cancer research, to remove the suggestion of infection and the epidemic spread of such diseases as measles, influenza, etc. A more accurate term would be tumour agent.

The virus is an extremely small particle, smaller than the smallest of bacteria. Unlike bacteria, it is not a complete cell and cannot reproduce independently. However, it can enter a healthy cell to multiply there and eventually kill the cell. It is also possible for some viruses to enter a cell and not form new particles. Instead it may replace or damage the normal genetic control mechanism so that the cell infected by the virus becomes a bandit cancer cell.

In spite of persistent efforts in recent years, researchers still do not know just how viruses can cause cancer. It is known that a cell-free extract of a fowl tumour can cause another tumour when injected into another animal of the same breed. It is also postulated that viruses are in some yet unexplained way a cause of cancer in man. This conclusion is based on the knowledge that more than a score of animal tumours are kown to be caused by viruses.

The annual campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society makes research possible. More than 50% of the funds raised in the campaign, or more than $2,500,000 in 1966, are allocated by the Society's affiliate, the National Cancer Institute, to research grants and fellowships to explore such projects as immunology; at present a total of eight grantees are working on various phases of this science. The combination of all this research is our greatest hope that the fear of cancer may some day before long vanish from Canada.

Locally, Frank Cox reports that the Cancer Society drive started April 17. Your support is urgently requested.

Keep an eye on bills

In a recent editorial, the Chicago Daily News dealt with the role alcohol plays on the increasing toll of death and injury on American highways.

The editorial disclosed that the U.S. National Safety Council reported that more than half of the 52,500 persons killed in trafic mishaps in 1966 had been drinking before their deaths. Half the 2,519 traffic fatalities in Illinois were attributed directly to the use of alcohol.

The newspaper then went on to report that the Illinois State Senate had passed two bills designed to tighten control of drunken driving. They must be approved by the State Assembly before they become law.

One bill would set a new standard of measuring intoxication. Under present regulations, a motorist found to have .15 per cent of alcohol in his blood is presumed to be under the influence. The bill would lower that figure to 10 per cent.

The second one provides that anyone who drives a car therefore gives his consent in advance to a test for intoxication. The bill spells out the conditions under which breath or blood tests shall be administered. Anyone refusing such a test would have his driver's licence revoked for six months.

Continuing, the editorial says: "Whatever qualms there may be about further limitations on motorists already hemmed in by restrictions, the fact is that the drinking driver presents a social problem of dangerous proportions. Tightening the law will not solve the problem, but it should help. And when 25,000 traffic deaths a year are linked to alcohol, it is time to act."

Whether the bills will be approved is conjectural. However, Canadian authorities might well take note of the proposals. The trend in recent years has been for police to lay charges of impaired driving. When a person is convicted on the latter charge, a minimum seven-day jail term is mandatory. Such charges are laid only in extreme cases of intoxication by drivers. No doubt there are many borderline cases.

However, it would appear that police and courts frequently take the easy way out by laying impaired driving charges when actually the offender should be charged with drunken driving. The penalty for impaired driving also can include imprisonment, but only rarely is this imposed in Ontario.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I never read your column. I happened to glance at it the other day while wrapping the garbage.

I discovered that you don't approve of dogs in hotels, which didn't surprise me, but I was dumb-founded by the stupidity of your argument.

You said you had never been bitten by a guest in the elevator or kept awake at night by a person who barked in the next room. Well, I have never been bitten by a guest in an elevator either, but I have been pinched, kicked, stepped on, shoved, poked in the eye and hit over the head. Does that count?

I travel a great deal, both in the U.S. and abroad. I wish I had a dollar for every hour of sleep I have missed because people were quarerlling in the next room. I have lost count of the nights I have been kept up by roaring drunks on convention holiday who think it is cute to go banging on every door on the floor. And then, of course, there is the inevitable snorer who must have himself hooked up to a loudspeaker system.

So please don't talk any more about dogs versus people. Dogs are far better behaved both at home and when travelling.—A Hound's Best Friend.

Dear Friend: I don't expect you too see this reply, unless of course you happen to be wrapping more garbage, but I am hoping.

Since you rate dogs higher than people, I suggest that the next time you travel you stay at a kennel.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 15-year-old daughter baby sits two evenings a week for a lovely family. The children are two and three years of age. The parents are highly respected in our neighbourhood.

Last week I learned that the children are given paregoric nearly every day. They get paregoric for colds, restlessness or just to put them to sleep. Before the mother left last Saturday evening, she told my daughter to give each child a teaspoon of paregoric at bedtime "if they seem cranky." My daughter called and wanted to know if she should do it. I told her "No."

The following day I telephoned the mother and asked if she knew what she was doing. She replied, "I have taken paregoric nearly every day for years, and it has never hurt me a bit."

I am not going to allow our daughter to baby sit for these people unless you tell me it is all right. I'm afraid the children will become drug addicts and I don't want my daughter to be a party to it. Please set me straight if I am wrong. I would ask our family doctor about this but I'd feel foolish.—Worried.

Dear Worried: I asked a doctor and didn't feel one bit foolish. He told me paregoric has an opium base, but it would take a great deal more than a teaspoon a day to produce addiction. He certainly would not prescribe it for regular use by children.

Paregoric can be obtained without a prescription. In most states, however, the person who buys paregoric must register his name with the druggist. My medical consultant did not feel you should prohibit your daughter from sitting for the family. She should, however, feel free to decline to give them medication.

Ontario Legislature Report

by F. M. Cass

While the House has now begun night sittings on three nights, it is still a long way from completing the year's business. As yet estimates of only four of the twenty-four Departments of Government have been completed. Practically the whole week was spent in discussion of the estimates of the Department of Economics and Development and, in particular, the Department's housing programs. It is apparent that in areas where public housing is most necessary land costs make such a development quite impossible unless it be by way of high-rise apartment type buildings, which are not the most successful form of public housing.

There was a very interesting debate on a NDP resolution which would have the Ontario Government practically take over the administration of our Ontario universities. Of course both Progressive Conservative and Liberal spokesmen strenuously opposed such a move which would effectively abolish the freedom of thought, research and action essential to a successful university community. But the debate did again underline the basic NDP philosophy that the state should control every facet and avenue of our life, which is a concept alien to most of us.

The Minister of Health introduced several new and interesting Bills during the week. One was aimed at provincial licensing, regulation and control of those engaged in the use of pesticides on a commercial basis. The previous authority of local municipailties in this respect is revoked and in co-operation with the Federal authorities concern-

Letter to the Editor

Toronto, Ont.,

The Editor,
The Chesterville Record,
Chesterville, Ont.

Dear Sir:

May I take this opportunity, on behalf of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, to express our most heartfelt gratitude for the splendid publicity received from your newspaper for the 1967 Easter Seal Campaign.

We have every reason to believe that this campaign will be our most productive ever with the rewards to be enjoyed by over 16,000 crippled children in Ontario. May I also say that without the magnificient efforts by our 230 Easter Seal service clubs and countless thousands of other volunteers who are continually helping crippled children, that the finest care and treatment program this Society can provide would not be possible.

Our apreciation is also extended to the many Easter Seal contributors in your area who supported the campaign so well this year.

Yours sincerely,
W. Denis Whitaker,
Chairman,
Provincial Easter Seal Committee

O.P.P. REPORT

O.P.P Officers in Dundas County last week were faced with a wide variety of occurrences one of which caused a great deal of concern for one of the officers. On answering a call in the Iroquois area late in the afternoon, Constable Noble discovered that he was to be involved in a race with the stork. Apparently there was no time to await the arrival of a taxi. The woman was taken to Winchester Hospital by a police cruiser. Much to the relief of the very concerned officer, the arrival at the hospital was well timed. The baby boy arrived very shortly after. Mother and son are doing well.

Two break and enters, which occurred in the South Mountain area, are presently being investigated. Berry Feed Mill, which was one of the victims, report no missing items.

Three disturbances arising from excessive drinking were also investigated. Twenty-seven other calls were also answered. Seven investigations into infractions under the Liquor Control Act resulted in seven charges being preferred.

On the highways, officers patrolled 9577 miles in a total of 674 duty hours. 34 traffic charges were laid and 27 warnings issued. Seven property damage accidents were reported and investigated. One person involved in a personal injury accident suffered personal injury of a minor nature. One person was arrested and charged with driving while his ability to drive was impaired. Two arrests were made and a quantity of stolen property recovered for a local police department.

A total of 20 hours was spent in the courts with 37 convictions being registered.

AGRICULTURAL TERMS WITH DEFINITIONS

Groundhogs may still be hibernating, but gardeners and farmers are already buying their supplies for spring. Much to their distress, however, some terms on package labels aren't in the dictionary. Professor C. B. Kelly of the Botany Department, Ontario Agricultural College, University of Guelph, gives these definitions.

Pesticide: strictly speaking, a chemical that kills pests; more commonly, any chemical that inhibits, repels, or otherwise controls pests.

Sticker: chemical added to a pesticide spray so it adheres to the plants better.

Safener: compound added to a fungicide or insecticide to reduce injury to the plant or crop.

Compatable: materials in a spray or dust mixture are compatable if one does not reduce the effectiveness of the other, and if plant or crop injury does not result from the use of this combination.

Adjuvant: anything added to a spray mixture, such as a sticker or safener.

Wetting agent: adjuvant added to a spray mixture so that the spray wets the leaf surface causing the spray to spread out instead of lying on the leaf as droplets.

Soil sterilization: applying a specific type of pesticide such as a fungicide or herbicide, so that specific plant families or even all plants will not be able to grow in that soil for a specific length of time.

The Canadian Cancer Society lists these seven danger signals as possible signs of early cancer:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening of the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Peristent changes in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
6. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. hange in a wart or mole.

These signs do not always mean cancer but if you notice any of them, tell your doctor. If they are caused by cancer, early treatment is essential.

Top jet pilots now fly an old biplane

Some of Caanda's hottest jet pilots are learning how to fly a 50-year-old biplane called the Avro 504.

The pilots are members of the Golden Centennaires, the RCAF team that will perform at air shows across the country this year as the air force's salute to Confederation.

While most of the team will be thundering along in modern jets, two men will be hedge-hopping in the First World War trainers.

The first Avro 504s were built in 1913 an dthey were used to teach flying to the white-silk-scaf set at Camp Borden, Ont., and Leaside, Ont., in 1917. They went out of service in 1932.

Parts of the planes were found at Peterborough, Ont., and the estate of famed Hollywoood stunt flyer Paul Manz. Others had to be machined at the base in Trenton, Ont.

Three planes were put together at the Canadian Forces Base at Portage La Prairie, Man. Only two will be used by the Centennaires; the third becomes a museum piece.

The regular pilots will be Flt. Lt. Gordon Brown of Toronto and Flt. Lt. George Greff of Andrew, Alta., but the rest of the Centennaires also are boning up on the biplanes with the aid of a text called How to Fly the Avro 504.

The plane has no radio or brakes and can't go over 80 miles an hour without a tail wind but its manoeuvrability is expected to make it a hit of the show.

St. Bernard's C.W.L. holds meeting at Finch

Mrs Sadie Beehler gave the treasurer's report. Mrs Larry Swain reada thank-you note from the Sacred Heart program.

Mrs Bernard Foley read the election rules from the handbook and a nominating committee was asked to assist the director with the election of the 1967 - 68 executive. The committee consists of Mrs Hector Courville, Mrs Heasley and Mrs Edward Kearns.

The annual meeting will take the form of a banquet. It was also decided to have a mass by the C.W.L. on April 26, "The Feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel."

Ontario Liberal Leader

The Ontario Government fired the Metropolitan Toronto Chief Coroner, Dr M. P. Shulman, this month and immediately became embroiled in one of the most explosive controversies of the year.

Dr Shulman was dismissed after he criticized the way the government handled an inquest into the death by fire of a patient at the Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital in Toronto. The province's supervising coroner, Dr H. B. Cotnam, was instructed to conduct the inquest himself—the only time he had been told to intervene in the nearly two thousand cases Dr Shulman has handled in the past two years.

The Liberals have sought to bring all aspects of the firing into the open, but it may be some time before we learn why the government decided to go over Dr Shulman's head in the hospital fire inquest and what is behind Dr Shulman's charges that the government is trying to cover up facts in the case.

One of the measures of discontent in this province is the number of protest demonstrations that take place on the well-worn steps of the Parliament Buildings here at Queen's Park. Groups and individuals march here, often from far points in Ontario, to complain publicly about legislative programs or the lack of them.

Recently, a group of about one hundred ratepayers paraded with pickets demanding immediate tax reforms, particularly to relieve senior citizens overburdened with municipal tax increases. There is a great deal of merit in their protest, for the tax load carried by our senior citizens is one of the serious inequities resulting from the failure of the province to assume more of the costs of education.

It is the older ratepayers in the province who have long shouldreded the responsibility for educating our young people and who now face the often crushing burden of mounting education costs.

The present tax dilemma spills into many other areas as well. Our urban housing crisis, for instance, is a symbol of the fact that our municipalities do not have enough funds to carry out their responsibilities. The province must free them so that they can provide services such as parks, water and sewer mains and garbage collection, in order to produce a climate for normal housing development.

Within two or three weeks the Legislature may be dissolved for a provincial general election. The office of the Legislative clerk and Chief Electoral Officer here roptrs that some one hundred returning officers have been named out of the 117 to be appointed before an election is called. This means election officials are almost ready for the start of the campaign.

TRY RAISING ARCTIC SOIL TEMPERATURE

From the standpoint of farming, there's nothing wrong with the soil in the Arctic. The problem is the cold, cold ground.

Dr F. G. Hannell, McMaster University geography professor, has some ideas about how to overcome the difficulty.

As part of a research project, he wil lead an expedition this summer to Resolute Bay in the Northwest Territories where studies will be made and an unmanned soil monitoring station established.

Dr Hannell hopes to be able to prove that with the use of relatively simple and inexpensive techniques seemingly barren northern soil can be made suitable for growing crops.

One technique that will be tried is covering bare ground with black, cracked asphalt. Because of its colour the liquid petroleum-based substance absorbs heat and raises the temperature of the soil. At the same time plants can grow through it.

Dr Hannell says he found soil near Resolute Bay that is better than in some areas of southern Ontario.

"I know that with the cracked asphalt I can raise the temperature of soil near here Hamilton) 14 degrees in July. If I could raise the soil temperature up there even 10 degrees I think we would be away."

FIFTH IN TRADE

In total volume of world trade Canada normally ranks fifth to the United States, United Kingdom, West Germany and France. On a per capita basis, Canada usually ranks first or second in the world in both imports and exports.

About two-thirds of Canada's imports are of fully - manufactured goods; in total volume and on a per capita basis Canadians are the world's largest buyers of such products. Exports, on the other hand, are mainly of raw materials, food products and semi-manufactured goods; the primary industries, that account for more than two-thirds of total exports, directly employ about only 10 per cent of the labour force.

CHEMICAL CROP NUTRIENTS TOO MANY ARE POISONOUS

"The more the merrier" is not the rule in applying agricultural chemicals, unless a farmer wants to poison his farm's water supply, warns Professor L. R. Webber, Ontario Agricultural College Soils Specialist

"Those nutrients not utilized by a plant often go into the ground water, explains Professor Webber, "and when enough nitrogen seeps into farm ponds (or even into deep-tiled wells) it's toxic. In livestock, the symptoms of nitrate poisoning may include an oxygen deficiency in the blood, a milk production drop, or abortions. In humans, hepatitis or other diseases attack.

"Last spring, for instance, one farmer sent a sample of water in to our department for testing because the cream curdled when it was added to his coffee. Analysis showed that this water was extremely high in nitrates. In fact, if he had irrigated a field with a one-inch application of this water, he would have added over 90 pounds of nitrogen, equivalent to 270 pounds of amonium nitrate fertilizer. This is pretty close to the fertilizer recommendations for growing a good crop of corn in his area!"

This year, have your soil tested and follow the recommendations in Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Publication 296, Field Crop Recommendations. It'll save money and possibly even a life.

EXPO NOTES

Expo 67 at Montreal will be a show place of international haute couture. Many of the 70 participating countries in the World Exhibition have commissioned top fashion designers to style wardrobes for the hostesses staffing their pavilions. Britain has previewed the fashions to be worn by their hostesses, and they are exceedingly mod — a minidress with a red, white and blue skirt.

Young women, about, 1,500 selected for beauty, brains and charm, will act as hostesses in the pavilions of the 70 participating nations at Expo 67.

One of the most difficult problems with cancer diagnosis is that pain is seldom a reliable symptom of the disease. Luckily, a cancer check-up by a doctor will discover early indications. More and more cancers are being detected because of the nation-wide educational program of the Cancer Society.

Mr, Mrs Gordon McRae, Avonmore couple honored on 25th wedding anniversary

On the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr and Mrs Gordon McRae were honored at a largely attended party in the IOOF hall last Saturday night. Music for modern and old time dancing was supplied my "The Country Boys" of Monkland.

Escorting the bride and groom into the hall were their attendants of a quarter-century ago, Mrs Reg. Freeland (nee Miss Myrtle Duffy) and Angus McRae.

During the course of the evening Mr and Mrs McRae were presented with a well-filled purse by Oarn Flanagan, on behalf of the many assembled neighbours and friends. The accompanying address was read by Duncan Whitman.

Mr and Mrs McRae thanked one and all for the honors, good wishes and gift bestowed upon them. Friends joined in the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

Mr and Mrs McRae were married on April 4, 1942, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs Ray Alguire, Monkland. The bride's maiden name was Thelma Coleman. Rev. Percy Lambert minister of Zion United Church, Apple Hill, performed the ceremony.

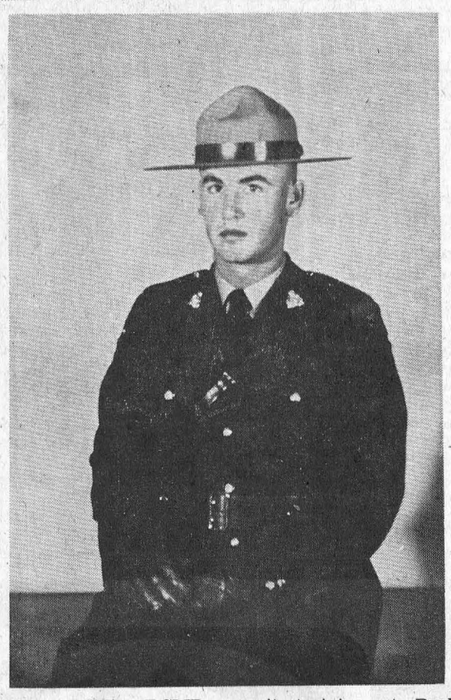
Following their marriage they resided for a year at Moose Creek before they moved to the farm in the Third Concession of Roxborough, a mile east of the village.

Mr and Mrs McRae are active in community, agricultural and church programs.

They have three daughters, Mrs Clayton Shaver (Gail), of Finch; Mrs Kenneth Croskery (Gloria), Ottawa; Miss Linda McRae and one son, Terry McRae, at home; and two grandchildren.

Mr McRae has four sisters and two brothers; Mrs Verna Barnes, Mrs Arnold McIntyre and Mrs Menzies McRae, Moose Creek; Mrs Harold Theede, Winnipeg; and Everett and Harold McRae of Moose Creek.

Mrs McRae has one sister, Mrs Ernest Jackson, Moose Creek, and two brothers, David Coleman and Wilfred Coleman, Monkland.



Successfully completing RCMP recruit training at Penhold, Alberta, is Third Class Constable Keith Wayne MacMillan, son of Mr and Mrs John H. MacMillan, RR2, Newington. Constable MacMillan joined the force in September of last year, and is presently posted in Alberta.

NEW ALFALFA VARIETY AVAILABLE IN CANADA

Recently licensed for sale in Caanda, Saranac alfalfa is a new, early, wilt-resistant variety that is now on the Ontario list of recommended varieties.

Saranac is a hybrid that derives its vigor and good aftermath recovery rate from DuPuits and Alfa, while it has inherited its high level of wilt resistance from a later-maturing strain called "A 225." Dr B. E. Twamley, Ontario Agricultural College crops specialist, makes significant comments on the new variety.

"Saranac alfalfa is of about the same maturity as Glacier, is slightly later than DuPuits and considerably earlier than Vernal," he says. "In aftermath recovery it is superior to Vernal, and in wilt-resistance equal; in hardness and persistence, it is superior to DuPuits. Yet in yield potential, Saranac is one of the best. In the first harvest year its yield will likely be similar to DuPuits. In the second year it will likely surpass DuPuits slightly, while, in succeeding years, it can be expected to outyield DuPuits by a considerable margin," he says.

Five years of continuous cropping at Guelph produced an average dry matter yield of 7,325 pounds Saranac per year compared with an average DuPuits yield of 6,755.

Saranac should prove to be a very valuable addition to Ontario's list of recommended varieties. With its built-in protection against wilt, with a level of hardiness exceeded only by that of Vernal and Narranganset, plus its excellent yield capacity, Saranac appears to have the potentialities to fill the gap between the early, high yielding Flemish types and the later, lower yielding but more persistent standard types.

ADD VITAMINS OR COLOUR TO EGGS IN SHELL

A machine that can add vitamins or colours to egg yolks and whites while they're still inside the shell, saturate sugar through raw pineapples or tenderize and add taste to tough, fibrous meats has been developed by Gokei Riko K.K., a manufacturer of food processing machines in Tokyo.

The machine which has been dubbed the "Super High Jet" can enrich fruit, meats and cereals or other foodstuffs.

Ordinarily to add flavour uniformly to meat, for example, it is necessary to marinate it. It's impossible to add flavour to eggs or fruit and keep their original shape.

With the Super High Jet the food is immersed in a coloured solution of condiments or nutrients and then pressure of 100 to 1,000 atmospheres is applied so that the solutions infiltrate the food.

Although the machine is considered too expensive for household use, it is proving popular in Japanese restaurant ,s meat processing firms, poultry farms and with egg dealers.

Brazil's civil aviation industry is one of the largest in the world.

IN MEMORIAM

LITTLE—In memory of a dear departed father, William S. Little — April 21, 1966.

The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of our Dad who once sat there.

Daughter and sons, Agnes, Elburn and Gordon.

IN MEMORIAM

LITTLE—In memory of a dear friend, William Little, who passed away April 21, 1966.

Time takes away the edge of grief.
But memory turns back every leaf.

Mr and Mrs Albert Bowman.

O.P.P. Report

O.P.P. officers in Dundas County this past week were faced with a large number of minor complaints. In all, 27 calls were answered. Offences against the Liquor Control Act of Ontario were reduced, with one offence being investigated and one charge being laid. Damage to a window at a business premise in Morrisburag, resulted in charges being laid under the Criminal Code.

On the highways officers patrolled 10,861 miles in a total of 725 duty hours. As a result 26 traffic charges were laid and 11 warnings preferred. Five property damage and two personal injury which required treatment at a hospital.

A total of 21 hours was spent in the courts with 37 convictions being registered.

IN MEMORIAM

McLEAN—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Loran McLean, who passed away April 23, 1947.

There's never a day that passes
But my thoughts reach out to you;
A thousand times a day they bring
Some little things to renew.
A trail of loving memories
That wind back through the years,
A trail that often leads into a vale of tears;
It broke my heart to lose you the day God called you home.

Wife and Family.

A. Swerdfeger, Morewood marks 80th birthday

On Wednesday, April 12, Mr A. E. Swerdfeger of Morewood, celebrated his 80th birthday. The first surprise came when a lovely chrysanthemum plant arrived, a gift from the Morewood U.C.W., in appreciation of his continued help in connection with the renovation of the church kitchen. He was again surprised during the afternoon, when a number of U.C.W. members called to offer congratulations.

During the evening other friends dropped in to extend their good wishes. All were served a lovely lunch by Mrs Swerdfeger.

Many cards were received from friends.

During Easter week, while his youngest son, Dwight, a teacher in Whitby was visiting, a surprise turkey banquet was held at the Country Kitchen, by members of his family. During the course of the evening, on behalf of the family, a gift was presented to Mr Swerdfeger, by his grandson, little three-year-old David, who sang "Happy Birthday Dear Grandpa". Deeply touched, Mr Swerdfeger thanked his family for their kind and loving gesture.

Those present were Mr and Mrs Morgan Swerdfeger and family, Winchester, Mr and Mrs G. Swerdfeger and Gary, Morewood, Mr and Mrs Dwight Swerdfeger and family, Cobourg and Mr and Mrs Harold Van Dusen and family of Prescott.

THE BIBLE TODAY..

On the grounds of Christ Church (Anglican) Cathedral in the heart of Montreal's uptown business section the Canadian Bible Society is erecting a temporary building to house a Bible Society Centennial Exhibit. The Exhibit will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily from May 15 to September 15.

By means of displays and sound films the Exhibit will depict, among other things, a short history of the Bible, a survey of translation work at present, and the printing of the Bible, as well as a presentation of the work of the Bible Society in the world.

Among those taking part in the sod-turning ceremony on March 1 were Bishop R. K. Maguire, Dean R. Bothwell and J. Wylam Price. The theme of the Exhibit, which utilizes English and French throughout, is MAN AND GOD'S WORD.

At Expo itself, the Canadian Bible Society is co-operating in both the Sermons from Science and the Christian pavilions. 100,000 souvenir booklets of the Gospel of John will be distributed in the Sermons from Science exhibit, 70,000 in English and the balance in French.

ONTARIO REPORT—ed, these matters henceforth will be a provincial responsibility.

Very far-reaching legislation with respect to control of air pollution was another important item introduced by the Minister. In tabling his new Bill, Dr Dymond issued a broad statement in which he indicated the present conditions which necessitated action, the high cost and rather extended period of time required to effect improvement in industrial and motor vehicle pollution of our atmosphere and a proposed time-table for definite action, beginning with the most heavily populated industrial and motor vehicle saturated areas of the Province.

Finally, Dr Dymond produced legislation amending the Public Health Act, designed to control burning of waste and garbage, to encourage larger Health Unit areas and to raise to 50% the provincial grant to all Health Units.

LONDON BRIDGE GOING DOWN

London Bridge is falling down —or at least settling into the muddy bed of the River Thames at the rate of an eighth of an inch a year.

Although engineers were confident the bridge could last another 30 to 40 years, the Queen recently gave royal assent to a bill empowering the City of London to tear down the old bridge and build a new one at a cost of $7,200,000.

The present London bridge was built in 1831, a year before the famous, medieval bridge of the old nursery rhyme London Bridge is Falling Down was actually pulled down.

The demolition was not the origin of the song, however. The rhyme is thought to come from a 11th century incident in which great ice blocks crushed five of the bridge's 19 arches.

The medieval bridge, built between 1176 and 1209, was one of the engineering wonders of the time and was covered with houses, shops, taverns and even a chapel.

GOOD ADVICE

THE HOME ECONOMISTS of Macdonald Institute at Guelph deal with all phases of nutrition. Here is some good advice from them on several topics related to nutrition and cooking.

Why We Need a Good Breakfast

No one can afford to start the day off without breakfast. Nutritionists at Macdonald Institute,, Guelph, feel that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Children will be more alert and attentive in school, workers will attack their jobs with more vigor, and weight watchers will find it much easier to stick to their diet if they start the day with a good breakfast.

A good breakfast should be high in protein and an easy way to get good quality protein is to eat an egg. There are other sources that can be served at breakfast. Bacon, ham, sausage or hamburg patties served with whole wheat pancakes make a substantial start for the day's activities. A whole grain cereal served with milk makes an excellent combination, giving protein and important B vitamins.

Tomato juice or vitaminized apple juice should be served sometime during the day and because of their tnagy good taste, most people enjoy them for breakfast.

So set a good example for your children; eat a good breakfast!

Meals for the Elderly

The feeding of elderly people calls for special consideration on the part of the meal planner and the cook. These people should have interest in their meals so that they will enjoy eating and will receive their daily requirement of nutrients.

The first thing to remember for an older person is that his appetite is not very big. Give small portions and of course have more available, if it is desired. If there are chewing difficulties, a jellied salad containing diced canned peaches and pears would be acceptable.

Keep fried foods and rich desserts to a minimum. Remember that an older person's protein requirement remains the same. Therefore, serve lots of lean tender meat, soft boiled or poached eggs, cheese and milk. Skimmilk, buttermilk and skim milk cheese are easily digested and provide excellent protein, calcium and riboflavin to the diet with very little fat.

Are Potatoes Fattening?

The answer is "No!" One four-ounce potato provides no more calories than one slice of enriched white bread. It contains more iron, more thiamine, and is much more satisfying than bread, contributes a significant amount of Vitamin C to the diet and is a relatively cheap source of food energy. For these reasons, potatoes should be served every day. If you wish to diet, cut down on the amount of potatoes but do not omit them entirely.

Try cooking potatoes in their jackets instead of peeling them. This way you save valuable food nutrients, such as iron, which lie just beneath the skin. It takes only a second to slip the skins off boiled potatoes before mashing and serving them.

Serve potatoes whole or in pieces frequently (mashing reduces the Vitamin C content) and sprinkle with chopped parsley or chives for variety.

When you plan to serve baked potatoes, pick out smooth, medium - sized ones so that they will bake in the same length of time. Scrub well and rub the skin with melted fat or salad oil. (Do not prick.) Then pop them into a pre-heated oven at 425 degrees F. for about 40 minutes before serving. When they are soft to squeeze, prick at once to let out the steam. For variety, cut a slit or cross in the top of each potato before serving. Pinch gently to make the potato puff up, and top with butter or Ontario cheddar cheese. Serve immediately.

For a change, baked potatoes may be stuffed. Just cut a slice from one side, scoop out the inside, and mash thoroughly. Add hot milk, a little butter, and salt and pepper to taste. Beat until light and fluffy. Then pile the mixture lightly back into the shells. Bake in a 425 degree oven until brown. Serve at once. To make a special stuffing for baked potatoes, add some leftover peas or chopped cooked meat or bacon. Your family will be delighted with that extra flavour.

Mixing Terms

BEAT: To incorporate air by using brisk, regular motion or to make a mixture smooth.

BLEND: To mix two or more ingredients thoroughly.

CREAM: Usually applies to fat and sugar — instead of blend. To work one or more foods with spoon, fork, or beater until creamy and soft.

CUT IN: To combine fat and dry ingredients with knives or pastry blender.

FOLD: To combine ingredients by lightly cutting spoon or spatula down through one side of mixture, across the bottom, up the other side, and over the top surface.

STIR: To mix with regular circular motion until ingredients are blended.

WHIP: To incorporate air and increase volume by beating rapidly with electric mixer, rotary beater, or wire whip.

COBRA VENOM MAY HELP HUMANS

A newly developed cobra venom—freed of killing elements—offers possible aid to efforts to transplant organs from human cadavers and even animals into diseased persons, a University of Miami plastic surgeon said recently.

Dr Gilbert Snyder, describing isolation of a cobra venom factor that proved non-poisonous in experiments with animals, said its use greatly prolonged the survival time of pig kidneys transplanted to dogs.

Snyder said, however, the cobra venom factor is not considered ready for human trial. But he indicated it has at least opened up a new avenue for organ-transplant research.

He told a science writers' seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society that evidence suggests the venom factor works by suppressing one part of the living body's natural mechanism for rejecting ,foreign" elements, but without altering the body's defences against germs.

He explained that in human organ-transplant studies up to now, certain drugs have been used to prolong the life of the transplanted tissue graft — but these same drugs also have made the patient susceptible to infections.

The 17th century Huron Indians of Ontario treated some sicknesses by fulfilling all the patients needs, in case frustrated desires or ambitions were making him sick.

BELL LINES

by Richard R. Pearson
your telephone manager

April seems to be a favourite month for many people. In spite of a few sudden, mad, final bursts of winter, spring does seem to promise that the warm weather of summer is really on its way. In many communities Daylight Saving Time brings a few ertra hours of daylight and most property owners are anxious to begin work out of doors. In fact, during the blustery months of winter, many of us seem to spend a great deal of time dreaming of the shrubs or trees we plan to plant, fences or patios we plan to erect or other home improvements. Before you begin to put these plans into action, could I ask you to give us a call at Bell Canada. We can then tell you if there is any buried cable on your real estate. You see, to protect our telephone cable from most hazards, we bury much of it underground. This usually helps us to give uninterrupted service to you, as well as keeping overhead wires to a minimum. However, all it takes is one hefty thrust of a shovel or a well-sunk fence post to damage a buried cable, if by chance, you should pick a spot above that cable. This damage could disrupt regular telephone service, long distance, data-sending facilities or even emergency communications that might be transmitted by telephone wire. We're happy to check to see if any such cable is located on your property, free of charge. Just give us a call at Zenith 80,000. We'll get the information to you as quickly as quickly as possible. Oh yes, if fire regulations permit you to burn brush or grass on your property, please make sure you don't built the bonfire beneath telephone wires. Flames, too, can quickly put part of the system out of commission.

Long before Alexander Graham Bell — in 1667 in fact — an eccentric Englishman named Robert Hooke developed a primitive device whereby lovers could exchange tender messages through two tin cups connected by taut string. He called his invention, appropriately enough, "Cupid's Telegraph." Today, 300 years later, a phone call ranks as the third most popular method of proposing marriage. Mister Hooke had the right idea. As we've said before — Long Distance really is the next best thing to being there!

Our language with its many different words from the one derivative, can be confusing for young students. A teacher in class occasionally interrupted the reading of an essay to quiz the pupils on the meaning of certain words. One of the words was "operetta" and she wanted to know is everyone recognized the word and knew what it meant. "Sure," piped up one lad. "It's a lady who works for the telephone company."
