Early morning fire kills two

Strong winds, cold hamper firefighters

NORTH LANCASTER — Investigators say it could be weeks before they learn what caused a Sunday morning fire that claimed the lives of two North Lancaster area residents.

Elizabeth J. Raven, 33, and Andre Paul Lacelle, 73, were killed when the Lot 16 Concession 8 Lancaster Township home they shared was levelled by a blaze. Twenty-three firefighters from both the Alexandria and Lancaster Fire Departments responded to the blaze, which was reported by neighbors shortly before 1 a.m.

The two-storey wooden home was a blazing inferno when fire officials arrived on the scene. The weather hampered firefighters' efforts as a strong wind fanned the flames and cold temperatures caused water pumps to freeze.

The two victims were declared dead at the scene by Coroner Dr. Laszlo Roman of Alexandria. An autopsy performed on Monday by Dr. William J. Shannon at the Cornwall General Hospital showed the pair died from carbon monoxide poisoning or smoke inhalation.

Damage in the blaze, which also destroyed a nearby shed that housed four horses, is estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000. Ontario Fire Marshall David Shorey of Brockville has been called in to assist the Lancaster OPP with the investigation.

Alexandria Fire Chief Gerry Charlebois said his men remained on the scene until 9 a.m. that morning. The cold weather caused problems for his men as they tried to battle the blaze.

"Every pump was freezing," he said. "We tried to draw water from a nearby river but the pumps kept freezing."

Firefighters used what water the Lancaster units had, while the Alexandria tanker truck returned to town to get more water.

While firefighters arrived on the scene shortly after being notified, Mr. Charlebois said there was little they could do to save the structure or the residents.

"The whole thing was involved when we got there," he said. "We put water on it when we heard there were people inside. We put water on the house until we got one of the bodies out."

Mr. Charlebois said the badly burned body of Miss Raven was discovered near a ground floor window. He said it appeared she had been trying to escape through the window when she died.

Mr. Charlebois said the strong wind helped fan the flames and he speculated that the fire could have been burning for an hour before being spotted by neighbors.

"When (Miss Raven) broke the front window to try and get out, that forced oxygen into the house and the blaze just took off," he said.

A neighbor, Anita Jardin, said she had been listening to her radio in her bedroom early Sunday morning when she noticed a strange red light at the Raven house.

"It was a bright light and it was getting brighter," Miss Jardin said. "Then I realized it wasn't a light, it was a fire. It was in the kitchen and it looked like a bright red light."

Miss Jardin phoned the Lancaster Fire Department and, at about the same time, another neighbor, Cathy Depratto, was alerting the Alexandria Fire Department.

Lancaster Fire Chief Roger Menard said his men arrived on the scene four or five minutes after Alexandria firefighters did and he was shocked at what he discovered.

FATAL FIRE—Two North Lancaster area residents perished early Sunday morning when fire swept through their home on Concession 8 Lancaster Township. Elizabeth J. Raven and Paul Andre Lacelle were both declared dead at the scene. An autopsy would later show the couple died of smoke inhalation. Damage in the blaze, which also claimed a nearby stable, is estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000.

"There was no second floor left when we got there," he said. "I always wondered how long it takes for a house to collapse. The wind had a lot to do with it, it just added oxygen to the flames. The place must have been an inferno when the call came in."

The fire marshall visited the site Sunday and Monday, sifting through the rubble trying to discover the cause of the deadly blaze. The fire caused the house to collapse into the basement and Mr. Shorey said the rubble was still burning on Monday.

"I don't know what caused it," Mr. Shorey said. "I'm waiting for test results and I've more examination to do of the building. I've got to wait until it burns itself out. There are some things we just can't get to because it's too hot."

Mr. Shorey said he expects to return to the site sometime next week to search for more clues. There is the possibility, he admits, that officials will never know how or where the fire started.

"I've talked to witnesses and I'm getting conflicting reports," he said. "There is a chance we'll never know. When you get a fire of this destruction, there isn't a lot left to examine."

Following the autopsies, the bodies of Mr. Lacelle and Miss Raven were taken to the Morris Funeral Home in Alexandria. From there they were transferred to Ottawa and Montreal.

Villeneuve pessimistic about riding changes

TORONTO — Debate ended Monday in the Ontario legislature on a plan that would see many of this province's riding boundaries altered drastically.

The Ontario Boundaries Commission, responsible for making sure that each provincial riding has an equal population, first proposed the changes in late 1983. The proposals were met with public opposition and a series of hearings were held throughout the province to allow commission members to hear what the public had to say.

A second proposal was issued by the commission following those public hearings and it drew just as much criticism as the first. As it stands now, the Township of Charlottenburgh would be separated from SD&G and would form a new riding with the City of Cornwall and Cornwall Township.

The rest of SD&G would pick up the eastern half of Grenville County, namely the Townships of Oxford-on-Rideau and Edwardsburg and the communities of Cardinal, Kemptville and South Gower.

SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve, who has voiced his opposition to the plan many times, said the end result is now up to the commission.

"The commissioners were in the gallery listening to the debate," Mr. Villeneuve said. "They'll use the copies of Hansard (the minutes of house debates) and they will form a final draft."

That final draft should be ready sometime in April or May and Mr. Villeneuve said he wasn't optimistic that SD&G would be permitted to remain in its present form.

Help needed

Parents determined son will have a future

GLEN ROY — More than five years have passed since a car-transport collision left an 18-year-old high school student near dead, with major brain injuries. Surgery and intensive hospital care could do no more than keep the ravaged young body alive in a near vegetative state.

Michael Read of Glen Roy remained in hospital wards for five years. MacDonell Memorial Hospital, a chronic care facility in Cornwall, became his home. His family visited regularly without recognition. Michael could only sit, staring blankly ahead. He remained totally paralysed and apparently oblivious of his surroundings.

Michael's parents, Edward and Shirley Read, were told their son, the youngest of three boys, would never improve. They didn't accept what they were told. They were determined that their boy would get better and come home.

Every day, from 11 in the morning until 8 o'clock at night, they were with him, caring for him, exercising his limbs. They took him home with them on weekends. They would not give up.

Later they heard of a special group, the Association for the Neurologically Disabled (A.N.D.), with rehabilitative programs that had helped other people like Michael. Michael and his parents travelled to a meeting in Toronto two years ago and met a specialist in brain damage cases. On his recommendation, they have been doing various exercises with Michael, with the hope that uninjured portions of his brain can be trained to take on new functions.

He's still not talking or walking, but progress has been substantial in other areas. By the time Michael came home last October, he was able to move his limbs and eyes and was making sounds as if he seemed to be much more alert and aware of his family and surroundings. His father says Michael even laughed while the family was watching the Bill Cosby Show on television.

He was progressing well at home until a seizure caused a setback in his responses. Now, says his mother, the immediate goal is to get Michael back to the level he had reached last autumn.

In two weeks the Reads return to Toronto for another assessment by specialists from Philadelphia. Every three months the doctors review Michael's progress and prescribe changes in his exercise routine. So far, Michael's parents have been able to do all the work on their own, though the effort has been exhausting. Some of the

"In the next stage we have to teach Michael how to crawl all over again," said his father. "We need volunteers to help us move his arms and legs together. We need volunteers who can give about an hour a week, to take some of the strain off us."

Volunteers are needed to come at a regular time each week, to be trained and then to do a particular exercise with Michael. One volunteer is needed to coordinate the scheduling of other volunteers.

Those wishing to volunteer their services or wanting more information are invited to contact the Reads at 525-2154.

$2,000 lost in break-ins

Alexandria police are continuing their investigation into three business break-ins last week that netted thieves more than $2,000.

The first robbery reported to police involved G&G Charcoal Pit, a restaurant and tavern on Main Street North. Police were told about $1,000 in cash had been stolen, most of it in silver, sometime between 10 p.m. New Year's Eve and 7:30 a.m. Jan. 1.

Thieves gained entry to the restaurant by forcing open a rear door, causing about $100 damage in the process.

On Thursday, between 2 and 11 a.m., thieves forced their way into the Alexandria Hotel, Mill Square, and stole about $1,000. The hotel's main front door was unlocked due to damage received the day before, but secondary doors leading from the lobby to the two lounges were securely locked, as was a second floor door leading to guest rooms.

Once inside the lobby, the thieves proceeded to knock a hole through the wall to the main lounge, reach through and unlocked the steel clad door. Police estimate damages totalled about $1,000.

On Friday, police received the report of a break-in at Menard Electric, Mill Square. About $30 worth of tools were stolen in the burglary, which could have occurred as early as Dec. 29.

The Alexandria Hotel and G & G Charcoal Pit are offering a joint reward of $200 for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the break-ins. On Monday Police Chief Don Eastop said there were still no suspects.

GINGERBREAD HOUSE—The Dunvegan-area home of Larry and Carolyn Deneault has become something of a local attraction. For the last five years the couple have decorated their log home with many yards of Christmas lights. Local children have nicknamed the home, The Gingerbread House.

Boundary changes could help school

A committee of the SD&G Roman Catholic Separate School Board is considering a plan that could see an increase in the student population at an Alexandria school.

The Anglophone Affairs Committee met at the board office Tuesday evening and one of the items on the agenda was a discussion regarding the boundaries for St. Joseph's School. The school, located on Lochiel Street near Main Street South, re-opened in September of last year offering a 50-50 French immersion program. The school currently has 19 students enrolled in pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten classes and is considering expanding that to Grade 1 for the start of the school year in September.

Committee chairman Ron Eamer said Monday that the school has operated in its first year without any real concrete boundaries and his committee will examine two or three proposals to determine what areas the school will be able to draw pupils from.

"We're hoping to relieve some of the overcrowding problem at (St. Raphael's) Iona Academy (which also offers an immersion program)," Mr. Eamer said. "As the community of

More impaired drivers

In spite of increased penalties for impaired driving, it seems Glengarry residents are continuing to mix gasoline with alcohol.

The Lancaster OPP detachment reports an increase in the number of charges laid over the Christmas holidays compared to the same period last year.

From Dec. 26 to Jan. 1, officers charged three people with impaired driving and issued two 12-hour licence suspensions.

Last year during the Christmas holidays, police charged one person with impaired driving and three 12-hour suspensions were handed out.

The Maxville OPP fared a little better as the holiday arrest rate remained fairly static.

Cpl. John Mesich reports his officers laid two impaired charges, one on Dec. 31 and a second on Jan. 4. In 1984, there were the same number of impaired driving charges and one 12-hour licence suspension.

Robbie Burns and Rae MacCulloch to be honored January 25

by Angus H. McDonell

We are approaching the annual anniversary of honoring Scotland's master of poetry and lyrics, Robbie Burns. Being the first entertainment each year, January 25, has become fittingly known as Burns Night.

Although Robbie Burns was born January 25, 1759, a farmer's son at Alloway, near Ayr just across the meadows from John Jamieson's birthplace, recognition of his poetic talents developed slowly. However, his first volume of poems was published at Kilmarnock in 1876. This achievement was duly recognized by the Edinburgh Society that resulted in a sizeable profit margin. Robbie Burns was on his way to literary notoriety.

Observing the anniversary of Robbie Burns here in Glengarry became part of our heritage. The usual custom in Alexandria was holding a dinner in either the Grand Union Hotel (now the Alexandria) or the Commercial across the street from The News office and destroyed by fire. The program featured the singing of Burns ballads and a guest speaker extolling the revered Scot.

Then came the concert style with the erection of the Alexander Hall in 1896 by St. Finnan's pastor "Father Dan" Macdonald. The theatre-like stage with footlights and roll curtain was an ideal setting before upwards of 200 for a piper to pipe the Highland Fling while a kilted highlander gracefully performed the various steps that are part of the dance ritual. That was the real beginning of Highland dancing playing a major role in Burns Night programs.

Let us turn over the pages of time and in retrospect briefly review a few of the dancers who come to mind and who maintained the traditions, despite setbacks like the depression years and World Wars One and Two.

At the turn of the century a Glengarry native son as a dancer and teacher was Joe (Ranald Roy) McDonald, Third Kenyon, an uncle of Gerald (Paddy Ranald Roy) McDonald, Alexandria. He was a distinguished dancer wearing the 59th kilt.

Among his talented student protegees was Margaret Anne Cameron who became Mrs. John A. "Curley Jack" MacDonald and resided in Kirkland Lake. She was a sister of Isabel (Cameron) McDonald, St. George Street, Alexandria.

Joe McDonald was a skilled craftsman at sharpening steel in Northern Ontario mining camps and that ended his dancing career.

The next dancer-teacher we recall was Pipe Major Neil McVean and his wife from, we seem to recall, the Glasgow, Scotland, area. They took up residence in the west Fourth Kenyon beside the Johnny Kennedy farm home.

Mrs. McVean was a talented dancer, a tiny will-o'-the-wisp flitting nimbly in the routine of any given dance number.

Another memory of a Burns Night concert in Alexander Hall, must have been World War One, Pipe Major McVean piped the Scottish foursome Reel music for his teenage dancers Alex Smith, his sister, now Mrs. Don Emberg, Alexandria; Roy MacDonell and Prunella (Sandy) MacPhee.

RAE MacCULLOCH

Enthusiasm lagged for a few years following the 1918 Armistice. In the late 1920s we were among the group reorganizing the Glengarry Highland Society. One of the objectives was to revive highland dancing. Miss Peterkin of the Ottawa Peterkin hockey family was engaged to conduct a Saturday class in Alexandria. This created considerable revival interest and later was enlarged in scope by teacher Miss Biggars of Montreal.

By this time we were residing in Ottawa but never cut our grass roots. Among the graduates who excelled, to name just a few in passing, were Connie (Joe Blue Room) MacDonald, Joan and Dorothy Gormley, "Wincey" MacDonell; Edna (Allan Archie John) McDonald, Greenfield and Jean (Peter) MacInnes, Maxville.

Naming Jean MacInnes (Mrs. Jim Campbell) it is easily recalled that Jean competed in highland dancing in the Caledonia and Highland Games circuit with medal winning success. So much so, that she is credited with the final motivation that convinced her devoted and dedicated father, Peter MacInnes, that Glengarry had the potential to stage Highland Games.

The launching and subsequent success of the Highland Games in Maxville ignited an enthusiastic wave of reviving piping, drumming and dancing. A Montrealer by birth with Alexandria parentage, unheralded and unsung, was the first to accept the challenge of restoring Glengarry's credibility as the home of future highland dancers. That barely known teacher was Rae Grant a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Archie Grant formerly of Alexandria.

Rae Grant had become Mrs. Alex MacCulloch and resided in the Glen Roy area. Her first classes of a half dozen or so pupils began in the season of 1954 and 1955. Rae's studio was the spacious farm home kitchen of her sister, Mrs. Sibil Cameron, Glen Roy.

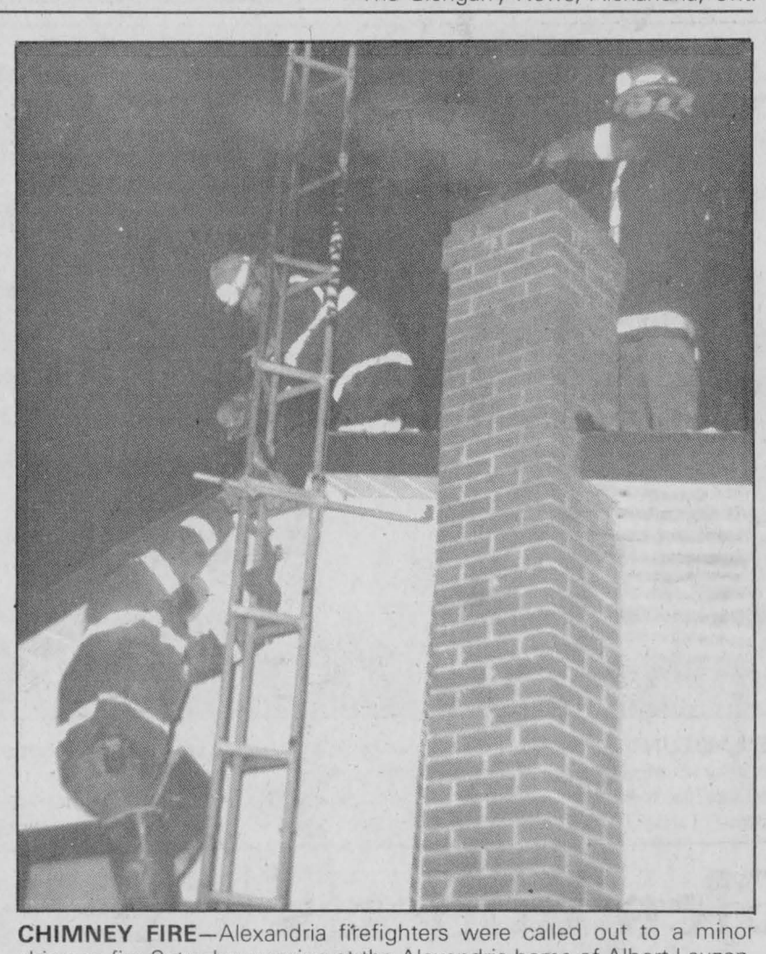
During the next 31 years the career of Rae MacCulloch and her talented dancers has been built to dynasty rating. Rae has with justified pride carried a Glengarry heritage banner leading her lassies like a Pied Piper featuring major entertainments in Canada, the U.S. and tours of Scotland.

At this point we are presenting how Rae's legion of friends may show their appreciation of the history she has written by attending the Robbie Burns-Rae MacCulloch Night, January 25, Maxville and District Sports Complex.

When the story broke of the proposed recognition tribute be held this year coinciding with the 31st anniversary; there was an immediate response. A committee of mothers of the dancers was formed and headed by chairperson Anna Margaret MacDonald. Promptly answering the pibroch were the Highland Games, KAS, Glengarry Pipe Band, Glengarry Club of Ottawa, Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame and MacLeod Bus Lines.

In command of ticket sales and distribution, Mrs. Leslie MacKinnon, Dunvegan, 527-5422, Myles MacMillan, Ottawa, 733-9473, Danskin's, Maxville, Priest's Mill, Alexandria; Martintown, Williamstown and St. Andrews, Mrs. Buckland and Mrs. Aubin.

Tickets ordered in advance must be picked up by January 22. This is to assure adequate seating and for the caterer. There will be no dance-only tickets on sale.



CHIMNEY FIRE—Alexandria firefighters were called out to a minor chimney fire Saturday evening at the Alexandria home of Albert Lauzon. Fire Chief Gerry Charlebois said the trouble was caused by a dirty chimney. Here firemen can be seen trying to clear the obstruction from the Conroy Crescent home.

Man in two accidents

A Moose Creek man had a bad day on Friday when he was involved in two separate motor vehicle accidents within an hour.

Lancaster OPP report that George McDonald, 48, of Moose Creek, had been driving a 1974 Chevrolet south on Highway 34, entering the Village of Lancaster, when he collided with the rear of a 1980 Ford stationwagon, driven by Clement Bacon, 39, of Lancaster.

The Bacon vehicle had also been travelling south and had been in front of the McDonald vehicle. Damage to the Bacon vehicle is estimated at $3,000, with only $50 damage to the McDonald vehicle.

Less than an hour later, Mr. McDonald had been driving west on Highway 401 at the CNR overpass when he lost control of his car on the slippery road and struck six guide posts.

Damage in the second accident is estimated at $3,000. Cst. Pat Daley investigated both accidents.

Dog attacks rabid fox

DUNVEGAN — Two Dunvegan youngsters were saved from a rabid fox on Christmas Day by the quick action of their pet dog.

James, 12, and Lee Ann, 10, children of Don and Sheila Whealon, had gone out to the stable to feed some rabbits. While James opened the door his sister turned on the lights and it was then they first saw the fox.

Nickie, an 8 or 9-year-old mongrel, pushed past the children, attacked the fox and killed it.

The fox was later tested positive for rabies and Dr. Leo Kennedy, of the Veternarian Inspection Directorate of Agriculture Canada put the dog under quarantine until the end of March.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Whealon said that while Nickie is a house dog, he does hunt and kill ground hogs in the summer.

Although he's regarded as a hero around the Whealon household, Nickie is currently serving his quarantine tied in the basement.

Two vehicle accident

A two-vehicle accident Saturday afternoon north of Alexandria caused damage estimated at $1,100.

Lancaster OPP report that Kevin Cousineau, 24, of Peel Street in Alexandria had been driving a 1978 Ford south on Highway 34, north of Alexandria, when he collided with a 1985 Pontiac that had been backing up on the roadway. The Pontiac had been driven by Stephane Lefebvre, 17, of Dalkeith.

Damage to the Cousineau vehicle is estimated at $600, with $500 damage to the Lefebvre vehicle.

Cst. Mike Chernecki investigated.

Alexandria continues to grow, we perceive a need for this program."

Mr. Eamer said that sending some Iona students to St. Joseph's would also reduce transportation costs for the board. Currently, he said, the board is busing "far too many" students to Iona and that is creating a problem.

He said Iona should have a student population of approximately 300 and is currently 75 students over that mark.

"There could be a jump in enrolment at Iona," he said. "But I don't know at the moment how much it could be."

Council members refuse to return to committees

It's been more than two weeks since Alexandria Reeve John Cormier and Councillor Fern Seguin resigned as chairmen of two council committees and the problem is far from being resolved.

Mr. Cormier resigned as chairman of parks and recreation and Mr. Seguin stepped down as chairman of market value assessment and environment at council's Dec. 17 meeting. Both men accused Mayor J. P. Touchette of not consulting with council members before he announced the appointments on Dec. 3 and of using the selection of committee chairman for personal attacks on them.

At the Dec. 17 meeting, which became quite heated, Mr. Cormier said he couldn't continue as chairman of the recreation committee unless he was also a member of the arena board, saying that the two are closely intertwined.

Mr. Seguin, on the other hand, said his committee appointment was "a slap in the face," adding that the issue of market value assessment was so controversial that it would hurt the political future of anyone who chaired the committee.

On Monday, Mr. Seguin said he wouldn't reconsider his committee resignation, adding that it was up to the mayor to resolve the dispute.

"My feelings remain the same," he said. "I have spoken to the mayor since then, but not about this issue. As far as I'm concerned, I'll not go back on my position. The best way to settle this is for J.P. (Touchette) to settle it. It's up to him."

Mr. Seguin said under no conditions would he return to head the market value assessment and environment committee, however he did say he would be willing to accept the chairmanship of the fire and light committee.

Mr. Seguin said if the situation isn't solved soon, it might have to be resolved by a resolution of council.

Mr. Cormier was just as adamant when contacted Monday. He said he had made his position clear to the mayor and he wouldn't return to the committee unless he also gets a position on the arena board.

"I'm going to stick to my guns," he said. "You can't operate (a committee) that way and do a good job. I'm just going to wait (for the mayor) to make the first move."

Mr. Cormier said he too had spoken to the mayor on a few occasions since his resignation, "but we just said hello, and that's about it."

For his part, Mr. Touchette said the matter would be up to the council to resolve. He said it was his job to suggest committee appointments and it was up to the council to accept them, which it did on Dec. 3.

"It's too bad they think the committee appointments were made that way," he said. "I just tried to place people where they were best suited. I'm not trying to get anyone mad."

Mr. Touchette said if a solution can't be found to the impasse, he might be forced to name two new chairmen or to amalgamate the committees with others.

"More than likely the problem will have to be solved (at the council table)," Mr. Touchette said. "I still hope everything can be solved to everyone's satisfaction. I put everyone where they were best suited, but the appointments aren't carved in stone."

Glen Robertson plans for annual winter carnival

GLEN ROBERTSON — The community of Glen Robertson will soon be celebrating the joys of the season as its annual winter carnival kicks off.

The carnival, sponsored by the Glen Robertson Optimist Club, begins on Friday, January 17 with a talent show and the selection of a carnival king and queen and ends on Saturday, January 25 with a closing dance and a trophy night.

Club President Paul Emile McCarthy said this year's carnival has changed a little from last year's version. First of all it is being held earlier than the usual end of February period. Last year poor weather, including rain, caused problems for organizers.

We've also dropped some events that weren't profitable or popular," Mr. McCarthy said. "We don't want to make money at this, but we don't want to lose a lot either."

One big differnece this year will be the addition of a rink. Organizers have been able to schedule activities such as skating obstacle courses and broomball games.

On January 18 there will be arm wrestling at 1 p.m. and a bed race, with organizers supplying the beds. The opening dance will take place that night at 9 p.m. at the parish hall.

January 19 will see a brunch from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., a sand bag throw and a skating competition for adults and young people.

The next day, January 20, will feature a broomball competition and a card party will be held January 21.

Other events planned for the week include a bingo, disco dancing, activities for youngsters, a tug of war and a closing dance.

Town backs aid for firefighters

The Town of Alexandria has endorsed a resolution calling on the government to extend Workers' Compensation benefits to municipal volunteer firemen who suffer heart problems from on-the-job stress.

The resolution, from the Township of London, was unanimously endorsed at council's Dec. 17 meeting.

The township is asking all Ontario municipalities to endorse the resolution and notify Premier David Peterson, their local MPP and other officials. The resolution came after a township fireman suffered a heart attack while fighting a fire and the Workers' Compensation Board refused to pay benefits because he was only a volunteer.

In part, the resolution calls on the Minister of Labor to "immediately take steps to provide Workers' Compensation benefits to be extended to cover heart problems associated with stress generated by fire calls and fire responses in order that the same will include volunteer firemen as well as full-time paid firemen."

Glengarry firms trying to deal with new regulation

A new provincial regulation governing liquid industrial and hazardous waste has some Glengarry businesses wading through various manuals and guidelines, trying to find out if the new rules apply to them.

Regulation 309, under the Environmental Protection Act, will mean that all waste generators in the province will have to assess their wastes to determine if it falls under the definition of a hazardous or liquid industrial waste. If it does, the company is responsible for filling out a registration card which the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) will keep on file.

The new regulation also puts the onus for safe waste disposal on the generator. After the regulation comes into effect, on Sept. 17, 1986, "it will be an offense to store, process, dispose or transport such wastes . . . unless the generator has obtained a Generator Registration Number issued by the MOE."

More than a dozen Glengarry businesses, both large and small, have been sent documents that are to be used to determine if the new regulation applies to their operation. Lisa Chalmers, the MOE's generator waste technician in Cornwall, says the ministry has received very few negative public comments from the registration process.

"We haven't received too much negative feedback," Ms. Chalmers said. "The ministry sent out mock registration packages a while ago to see how the businesses would cope with it. We did receive some comments at that time and we tried to make the whole process much simpler."

Ms. Chalmers said the ministry package "pretty well takes you by the hand" and guides you through the registration process. She said most large companies don't seem to be having much of a problem filling it out, and says companies can contact the ministry if they have any problems.

At least one firm contacted by The Glengarry News said the forms weren't as simple as some in the ministry might think.

Ray Whippey, vice-president at Alexandria Footwear, said he's still trying to figure out what the government wants and how it applies to his company.

"We don't really understand what we're doing," Mr. Whippey said recently. "We have someone reading it over now. I'm not sure how it will affect us."

Mr. Whippey said he was surprised to have received the ministry package at all, saying Alexandria Footwear doesn't generate a great deal of waste. The plant produces approximately 50 gallons a year of cleaner and it is currently disposed of by a firm from Ottawa.

"We're still trying to understand the implications of it," Mr. Whippey said. "We thought we were dealing with our waste in a professional manner. We don't consider ourselves a polluter."

Jerry Adams, administrator for the Glengarry Memorial Hospital, which was also targeted for the new regulation, said the hospital already deals with its waste in an approved manner.

"We have no problems with the regulations," Mr. Adams said. "We take all our waste to Hotel Dieu (Hospital in Cornwall) and it's all burned in the incinerator. We don't have to register, because we aren't a waste generator under the ministry guidelines."

Other businesses which received the package said it either would have little effect on them or it had no application at all. A spokesman for Woodings-Railcar said his firm doesn't produce the waste mentioned in the guidelines. Bruce Munro of Munro Fertilizers said he hadn't had a chance to read the package yet, but said he felt the regulations wouldn't apply to his business.

Ms. Chalmers said the ministry decided to ask individual businesses to assess their own waste to save money and simply because there are too many firms to visit and too few ministry staff to do the job.

"There's going to be a lot of work to do just going over the registration cards," Ms. Chalmers said. "I'm pleased to say that there have been no objections so far."

EDITORIALS/OPINION

Be fire safe

The new year began on a tragic note for Glengarry with the loss of two lives in a house fire on the Eighth of Lancaster, Sunday morning. Shortly before Christmas a Bainsville couple lost their home to fire, but were fortunate to escape without injury.

There have been far too many chimney fires. They may not get out of hand this time around, but unsafe chimneys can easily claim lives, as well.

It happens every year. As the winter cold and darkness set in the number of fire alarms soars, primarily because of defective heating systems. Chimneys are not properly cleaned or repaired. Wood burning stoves are improperly installed.

We and our families are at constant risk and we must take every reasonable step to defend ourselves. Do you know if your heating and electrical systems are completely safe? If not, find out and take whatever steps are necessary to eliminate needless risk.

Do you know what to do in the event of fire? How will your family escape? What is the alternative exit if the first is blocked by fire? Does everyone in your family know how to get out and where to meet outside? Do you have smoke detectors in the right locations? Do they work?

If you haven't satisfactory answers to those questions you're negligent; you haven't met your responsibilities. Get your act together now.

Marion

There are winter days when school buses don't run and rural mail delivery grinds to a halt due to ''impassable'' or treacherous roads. About 240 families in the north end of Glengarry County measured the severity of winter storms in another manner, however. If the roads were extremely dangerous, their paper would be delivered a little late, but subscribers always knew it was on its way.

Dunvegan's Marion Loewen retired at the end of 1985 after a good many years delivering The Ottawa Citizen to 240 yellow boxes along a 125-mile route. Marion, driving her ''little red car'', was a familiar sight to commuters. No matter how early they started their daily trek to work, Marion was out ahead of them; always before the mail and the school buses and often before the snow plows.

Marion can recall a few times when farmers along her route pulled her car out of snow banks and warmed her with mugs of hot coffee. One morning, her car disabled in an accident, Marion ran off to Alexandria, rented a substitute, and completed her deliveries, in spite of minor injuries.

Marion adhered to a traditional sense of responsibility. She met her commitments, regardless of obstacles and personal circumstances, with a dedication equalled by only a few in the modern work place. And she did it all with a smile and a generous sense of humour.

If even half of the Canadian work force could meet her standard, we wouldn't have to worry about the Japanese. She will be missed as much as she was appreicated.

Extra-billing

The new Ontario government has taken on a great many initiatives since taking office last summer. They have been praised and condemned on almost every new piece of legislation, The test of time will determine how wisely the Liberals have acted.

In sharp contrast to at least the last four years of Conservative government , Premier David Peterson's administration can hardly be criticized for inaction.

Perhaps the most important legislation announced so far was the Health Care Accessibility Act, introduced last month by Health Minister Murray Elston. The main thrust of the new act is to abolish extra billing by Ontario doctors. Dentists performing services in hospitals and optometrists will also be barred from charging more than the rates allowed under the Ontario Health Insurance PLan (OHIP). Those who violate the new regulations will be subject to maximum fine of $10,000.

The vast majority of Ontario's physicians do not extra bill their patients. Most of them are not satisfied with OHIP rates, but they are not willing to pass an extra financial burden onto their patients. Their attitude is commendablee.

Mr. Peterson's government should be roundly praised for its leadership on this urgent issue, almost as loudly as former premier Bill Davis and the Conservatives should be condemmed for doing nothing.

Having eleiminated extra-billing, however, the government must now negotiate a fair fee schedule for Ontario's physicians, employing a system that rewards doctors with more experience and greater skills than the average.

If this is to be the year of peace, let's stop fighting

RAMBLING REPORTER
Eugene Macdonald

This new year of 1986 has been proclaimed by the United Nations the International Year of Peace. The first day of this new year was observed in the Catholic Church as the World Day of Peace.

If we are on the threshold of a year that will be notable for a worldwide movement toward international peace, year-end news reports emphasized the urgency for entente and hinted at a warming of the cold war.

Terrorists were again active against civilian victims of their bombings at European airports on the eve of the new year and there were threats of more such indiscriminate killings to come. But offsetting such mindless violence were hints of a fresh approach to other international problems.

It was heartening to witness the exchange of New Year's messages as President Ronald Reagan spoke to the Russian people for the very first time and his Communist counterpart broadcast to the American populace.

''Let's work together to make it a year of peace,'' Mr. Reagan said. ''There is no better goal for 1986 or for any year.''

Said Mr. Gorbachev: ''For the Soviet people, the year 1986 marks the beginning of a new stage in carrying out our constructive plans. Those are peaceful plans.''

This could add up to little more than political rhetoric and yet there must be millions of ordinary people in both countries and around the world who were heartened by the mere fact a summit meeting took place in Geneva. The further move to a New Year's day exchange of greetings by the world leaders is an encouragement that came as a pleasant surprise.

Other welcome news comes from two of the mideast hot spots. The Afghanistan government is reported to have a timetable for the withdrawal of all Soviet troops from that country within one year. And in wartorn Beirut, progress is reported on a ceasefire to be overseen by Syria.

Peace won't come in a year and the easing of tensions at the international level will be a long and involved process demanding goodwill and forebearance. The alternative in this nuclear age is so forbidding it seems only sensible we should all don the mantle of peacemaker.

Your Rambling Reporter looks back on years of apathy and even disparagement of the peace movement. Elements of cynicism and fatalism probably shaped that attitude and advancing years no doubt also were a factor.

But we're enlisting in the fight to end all fighting in this International Year of Peace and we're hoping there'll be plenty more recruits among those of us who once were content to let George do it.

Wouldn't it be nice if this Year of Peace brought our world leaders to an actual bonne entente and permeated down even to our nations and our neighborhoods.

Then it really would measure up as a happy New Year.

Another Glengarry athlete we can all be proud of

SECOND LOOK
Phil Rutherford

We always like to see young Glengarrians go far, particularly when their success comes as a result of a lot of hard work.

Nineteen-year-old Sean Sullivan, the red-headed runner from Green Valley, is a good example. Three years ago Sean started running, determined that he was going to set records for Glengarry District High School and for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties.

Few athletes could have kept pace with this tall youngster as he set himself a demanding training routine that saw him running between Green Valley and Alexandria at all hours, regardless of the weather. The more he improved, the tougher his training became.

He set goals for himself, only to reach still further even before the earlier goals had been met. He did what he set out to do while at home in Glengarry and then joined the Canadian Armed Forces after finishing high school.

Stationed at CFB Winnipeg, he put on his running shoes again and was soon competing against the best in the Canadian military. Competing at both regional and national competitions for military personnel, young Sean was soon established as the fastest runner in the armed forces in his age category, 23 and under, and ninth overall.

Late next month Sean will be one of eight men and five women representing Canada at an international track and field meet for military personnel, to be held in Algeria. He'll be competing with runners from 89 countries, including the United States and the Soviet Union.

Always a realist, Sean harbors no hopes of finishing first in Algeria, knowing he is still 10 years or more away from his prime condition as a runner. He is determined to place well within his age group, however; a building block in his long range plan for Olympic competition.

He's determined to run for Canada against the toughest competition the world has to offer in the Summer Olympics of 1992 and 1996. Why not 1988? He says he won't be ready yet. He'll still be building, eight or nine years short of a runner's best age.

Meanwhile, Sean will continue running in armed forces meets wherever he can and taking part in marathons and other competitions. He'll be running every day, determined to set still greater distance speeds.

When he's not running, Sean can be found at the Winnipeg base swimming, playing hockey, boxing or equally involved in some other sport. All of this, combined with his running success,

The sinking ship of state

NOTEBOOK
Bruce Hayes

Is it just my imagination or is the Mulroney government running out of control?

In the short time, politically speaking, since the Progressive Conservatives under Brian Mulroney stormed the Liberal bastion of Parliament Hill and promised to turn the country around and set it on the right track, I haven't exactly been impressed. Even though I was one of the many Canadians who were pleased to see the nasty old Liberal government, under bumbling, stumbling leader John Turner, get what was coming to them in the September 4 election, today I can't help but wonder if the country made a mistake in turfing the Grits out of office.

Cabinet ministers are dropping like flies, unemployment is still unacceptably high and the dollar continues its relentless plunge to monetary oblivion. Add to all that the unmistakable stench of rotting tuna fish and what you have is a government that seems inept and sometimes downright arrogant.

It's funny, but those two words were ones that used to be attributed quite frequently to the Liberals while they were in power. The more things change, so the French say, the more they stay the same.

With an overwhelming mandate of 210 seats, it appeared the Mulroney government had what is needed to move swiftly and decisively to carry out all the promises it had made during the election campaign.

Before being elected, Mr. Mulroney spoke of a fresh breeze that would sweep across the country and an almost fairy tale wave of optimism that would engulf all Canadians, should the Tories be handed the keys to the country. Well, a little more than a year later, that breeze is tainted with the stench of rotting tuna and the resignations of cabinet ministers.

Why is it that the Mulroney cabinet seems to be stacked with incompetent boobs who appear unable to do little more than lurch from one gaffe or crisis to another? Surely, with a pool of 209 MPs to choose from, Mr. Mulroney should have picked himself a cracker-jack team. Sort of a Canadian version of American President John F. Kennedy's 'the best and the brightest'.

Well, as we all know, that didn't happen. Perhaps Mr. Mulroney was cursed with having too large a pool to draw from. Suzanne Blais-Grenier, former Environment Minister, former Minister of State for Transport and p rhaps soon to be former MP, is the latest player to make the government look bad.

Mrs. Blais-Grenier was never all that popular and when she recently criticized her own government for its decision to sell a Montreal refinery to a company that plans to shut it down, well that was too much, even for good old Brian, and out she went.

Of course, she wasn't the first. Let's see, there was Robert Coates, who supposedly resigned from his post as Defense Minister when it was revealed that he had attended a matinee performance at a West German strip club while he was on official business in Europe.

Then there was John Fraser, who resigned as Fisheries Minister when he went over the heads of his own inspectors and approved tainted tuna for sale. I mean, if you can't get your own way and break the rules now and again, what's the point of being a cabinet minister?

Isn't it strange that some Tory MPs are in a snit because the government didn't block the sale of that Montreal refinery to a British firm? Could these be the same MPs who parroted Mr. Mulroney during the election campaign, promising to throw this country open to investment?

The Mulroney government still has time, I suppose, to reverse its inexorable slide into political oblivion, although I don't think it has the will or skill to manage it. So long Brian, it's been fun.

Changing attitudes

This Christmas, thanks to substantially stiffer legislation aimed at stopping the drunk driver syndrome, there were fewer tragedies and less grieving than there has been.

Combined with the Ontario Provincial Police's ''RIDE'' and ''Strict is Fair'' programs, the province's new laws have made drinking motorists truly think twice about getting behind the wheel intoxicated.

It's possibly the best legislative initiative yet brought out by David Peterson's young government. It removes the doubt in anybody's mind that drunk driving is a crime, and those who choose to ignore the new laws will be treated as a criminal. That includes getting fingerprinted, photographed and marked with a criminal record.

But, and in some ways more importantly, it is the first step in changing the thinking of the youngsters coming of driving age, and even those still unborn. These laws and subsequent convictions are the reinforcements needed to educate them, and re-educate a largely indifferent motoring public which not many years ago viewed drunk driving as a minor offence, a petty crime no worse than speeding.

The issue is clear, the Martintown mill must be saved

Martintown, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News

I am writing this as one of the founding members of the Friends of the Martintown Mill, to thank your newspaper for the support it has given to the idea of preserving the Martintown Mill.

Our committee was formed following the public meeting of last July in Martintown, called to consider the RRCA-Ontario Heritage Foundation sponsored task force report on the future of this famous structure. As the name implies, the committee is made up of interested citizens anxious to find a practical way of preserving the mill building, while providing a focus for all those people who want to help in some material way.

The aforementioned task force, even though it deliberated for about one year, was unable to make any firm recommendations with respect to the future use of the mill, mostly, I believe, because of the absence of adequate sewage, water or public access, all in turn related to the very small amount of property surrounding the building. This fact alone seemed to rule out many top of mind possibilities, including such uses for the building as a club, restaurant, lounge or other facility which could be used and enjoye by the public. The only alternative left seemed to be to turn the mill into a monument, to viewed from afar; a symbol of the past to be gazed at, possibly appreciated, but not actually used.

It is not surprising therefore, that the entire subject has generated some controversy in the surrounding area, with many citizens and their political representatives expressing either general approval of the objective of preserving the mill structure, or decrying the possible expenditure of public money on a monument having no practical value. The fact is that both points of view may well be valid, yet not mutally exclusive, as they may appear to be.

Matters seem to have come to a head with the recent completion of the Suter Keller report which placed a price tag of $130,000 on the stabilization and restoration of the building itself. Now it appears that even though the indicated cost is much less than some of us were prepared to guess, judging by appearances, the aforementioned controversy has not been stilled, rather, it seems to have heated up.

I, for one, believe that this is quite understandable, given the fact that we still have to find a real and practical use for the building when it is restored. We are still faced with the prospect of committing substantial sums to preserve a monument to, or symbol of, the past. Thus as the argument goes, this is too much money for something which can't be used.

This is precisely the problem to which the Friends of the Martintown Mill have been addressing themselves for the past five months or so. And although the members of that committee are keen to see the mill preserved, I think it is also fair to say they are also very anxious to find a long term use for the structure that will make it a useful, living monument to our great heritage. To that end, it seems, as well, that a concensus is evolving along the following lines:

1. That the mill is one of the most significant and potentially attractive heritage structures in this area and that every reasonable effort must be made to save it.
2. That the cost of stabilizing and preserving the structure is a fairly reasonable one, and one which is attainable.
3. That if deficiencies of the present mill site can be overcome by acquisition of some adjacent property, even though at additional costs, then basic limitations on practical uses for the mill can be eliminated.
4. That restoring and refurbishing the interior to accomodate whatever community uses seem most practicable, should be a business proposition, with costs of various options being matched against projected income.
5. That the most likely major source of funding for the first two parts, i.e. stabilizing the building and acquiring property, will likely be senior levels of government. The proviso of course would be that there is clear evidence of community support, including that of local municipal councils.
6. That to that end, Friends of the Martintown Mill must and will incorporate themselves as a public foundation, thus enabling themselves to solicit funds on behalf of the mill project.
7. Finally, that while undertakings of this type will always have detractors, it is important the issue be clearly drawn. Those of us who support it should have good solid reasons for doing so, with costs as well as benefits clearly spelled out. Those who oppose the project should also do so in the full knowledge of community benefits as well as of dollar implications.

My associates on the committee are well aware that whatever is worth having is seldom cheaply bought. They also know that many, many hours of hard work will be required, in addition to money. They are convinced, however, that those dollars and that hard work will provide a priceless source of pride and a practical living symbol of our collective past; one which can be enjoyed by both present and future generations.

Sacre Coeur booklet presents cultural history dating to 1840

Brantford, Ont.

The Editor,
The Glengarry News

This is the time of year when gifts, food and correspondence are shared among friends, relatives. Many community organizations in their spirit of goodwill distribute to the needy.

I had the pleasure, last week, of receiving in the mail a gift of two marvelous books, a Christmas gift from my Glengarry cousin Denise.

One of the two books was entitled "Straight From the Heart" by Jean Chrétien. For those with an interest in politics and for those who simply wish good reading this is a superb book. It is a down to earth philosophical study of man's behavioural pattern under the political umbrella. In Jean Chrétien's forthright manner it is educational, humorous, honest and very entertaining. You will enjoy it without a doubt!

The second book brought out in me an emotional, unanticipated response. This booklet was the 75th anniversary booklet of Alexandria Sacré Coeur Parish. the committee in charge of research, format and publication of this book is to be congratulated most heartily.

The Sacré Coeur 75th anniversary booklet presented, in a detailed manner, historical, factual, social and religious data in written and pictorial form. On the whole, the booklet accomplished, in my view, a great deal, in that it presented so well the unique Glengarry, Alexandria French cultural fact dating back to 1880.

Isn't it nice to have an awareness and to be proud that one has and belongs to a unique Glengarry French culture.

What is very much another positive fact, as well, is that in the building of Sacré Coeur Church substantial donations were received through sharing and the goodwill of many Glengarry Scots.

The cultural blend continues today.

The Editor,

I am trying to find some information on the Protestant McDonells who lived in Lochiel Township in the early 1800's.

He was born on Jan. 19, 1807 and died in August 1903. He married Margaret Proud and had the following children: John, William, Emma, Margaret, Minnie (Normena), David and Sarah Elizabeth (married Philip Empey Thompson).

I have heard he may have operated a hardware store on the Main Street of Alexandria.

In his book, As Others See Us, (Fraser) he speaks of the Protestant McDonells of Lochiel Township. Norman is buried at Upper Canada Cemetery. His body was removed at the time of the Seaway construction from the Cemetery in Moulinette.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone who could help me with information of this McDonell family.

We were rather disappointed to read the anonymous comments of a fellow minister concerning the lack of benevolence in Glengarry, especially outside of Alexandria. Glengarry Sports Palace now a ridiculous pigsty

Green Valley

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Anyone who has entered the Glengarry Sports Palace knows that we have one of the most beautifully designed, best looking, and unfortunately one of the dirtiest arenas in Eastern Ontario. How hard we worked to get it, how badly we wanted a new arena, how we pledged money to support it. Remember how proud we were when it officially opened? How quickly we forget.

This is a place where we and our children spend hours and sometimes days. This is where we invite outsiders to participate and challenge us with sports. The first impression these invited guests receive is soiled floors and filthy, foul smelling washrooms. Ridiculous, pigsty . . . are some comments overheard in the ladies' restrooms, and no wonder, the vanity is water saturated, the sinks are soiled.

To enable us to enjoy the sport to the fullest, we are the only small town arena around that has seats rather than wooden benches; yet, we dare not sit on them without first having to wipe off the surface dirt. The grime on the seats is there week after week after week.

This is the first and sometimes the only impression that our invitees get of our locale. Are we no longer proud of our arena? We will not settle for second best. Why should we? We can be the best.

This year, 1986, would be a good time to turn over a new leaf, in an age of transplants let's inject new life, new enthusiasm, a bit of motivation and civic pride into the employees as well as all the parents and children, who have the privilege of profiting from the facilities offered at the Sports Palace.

Let's be proud of our arena. Let's be proud of ourselves.

earned the honor of being named CFB Winnipeg's Sportsman of the Year for 1985.

If he can maintain his current pace and avoid injury, this is one young lad who is destined to go far in amateur sports. Talent has carried a long way, but determination and hard work have brought him further.

He will probably make it to the Olympics, at least once if not twice. And with the effort he will have made over a dozen years or more, he will have earned the right to bring home the gold. If he pulls it off, no one will be prouder than his friends back home in Glengarry. We're already proud of him.

And won't the folks in Green Valley feel like snubbing Alexandria then.

2. That the cost of stabilizing and preserving the structure is a fairly reasonable one, and one which is attainable.
3. That if deficiencies of the present mill site can be overcome by acquisition of some adjacent property, even though at additional costs, then basic limitations on practical uses for the mill can be eliminated.
4. That restoring and refurbishing the interior to accomodate whatever community uses seem most practicable, should be a business proposition, with costs of various options being matched against projected income.
5. That the most likely major source of funding for the first two parts, i.e. stabilizing the building and acquiring property, will likely be senior levels of government. The proviso of course would be that there is clear evidence of community support, including that of local municipal councils.
6. That to that end, Friends of the Martintown Mill must and will incorporate themselves as a public foundation, thus enabling themselves to solicit funds on behalf of the mill project.
7. Finally, that while undertakings of this type will always have detractors, it is important the issue be clearly drawn. Those of us who support it should have good solid reasons for doing so, with costs as well as benefits clearly spelled out. Those who oppose the project should also do so in the full knowledge of community benefits as well as of dollar implications.

My associates on the committee are well aware that whatever is worth having is seldom cheaply bought. They also know that many, many hours of hard work will be required, in addition to money. They are convinced, however, that those dollars and that hard work will provide a priceless source of pride and a practical living symbol of our collective past; one which can be enjoyed by both present and future generations.

Sacre Coeur booklet presents cultural history dating to 1840

Brantford, Ont.

The Editor,
The Glengarry News

This is the time of year when gifts, food and correspondence are shared among friends, relatives. Many community organizations in their spirit of goodwill distribute to the needy.

I had the pleasure, last week, of receiving in the mail a gift of two marvelous books, a Christmas gift from my Glengarry cousin Denise.

One of the two books was entitled "Straight From the Heart" by Jean Chrétien. For those with an interest in politics and for those who simply wish good reading this is a superb book. It is a down to earth philosophical study of man's behavioural pattern under the political umbrella. In Jean Chrétien's forthright manner it is educational, humorous, honest and very entertaining. You will enjoy it without a doubt!

The second book brought out in me an emotional, unanticipated response. This booklet was the 75th anniversary booklet of Alexandria Sacré Coeur Parish. the committee in charge of research, format and publication of this book is to be congratulated most heartily.

The Sacré Coeur 75th anniversary booklet presented, in a detailed manner, historical, factual, social and religious data in written and pictorial form. On the whole, the booklet accomplished, in my view, a great deal, in that it presented so well the unique Glengarry, Alexandria French cultural fact dating back to 1880.

Isn't it nice to have an awareness and to be proud that one has and belongs to a unique Glengarry French culture.

What is very much another positive fact, as well, is that in the building of Sacré Coeur Church substantial donations were received through sharing and the goodwill of many Glengarry Scots.

The cultural blend continues today.

Seeks family information

Cornwall

The Editor,
The Glengarry News

I am trying to find some information on the Protestant McDonells who lived in Lochiel Township in the early 1800's.

He was born on Jan. 19, 1807 and died in August 1903. He married Margaret Proud and had the following children: John, William, Emma, Margaret, Minnie (Normena), David and Sarah Elizabeth (married Philip Empey Thompson).

I have heard he may have operated a hardware store on the Main Street of Alexandria.

In his book, As Others See Us, (Fraser) he speaks of the Protestant McDonells of Lochiel Township. Norman is buried at Upper Canada Cemetery. His body was removed at the time of the Seaway construction from the Cemetery in Moulinette.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone who could help me with information of this McDonell family.

Disappointed

Alexandria

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

We were rather disappointed to read the anonymous comments of a fellow minister concerning the lack of benevolence in Glengarry, especially outside of Alexandria. Our experience has been quite different and we are saddened that a fellow member of the clergy has not been able to share in that experience.

Glengarry Sports Palace now a ridiculous pigsty

Green Valley

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Anyone who has entered the Glengarry Sports Palace knows that we have one of the most beautifully designed, best looking, and unfortunately one of the dirtiest arenas in Eastern Ontario. How hard we worked to get it, how badly we wanted a new arena, how we pledged money to support it. Remember how proud we were when it officially opened? How quickly we forget.

This is a place where we and our children spend hours and sometimes days. This is where we invite outsiders to participate and challenge us with sports. The first impression these invited guests receive is soiled floors and filthy, foul smelling washrooms. Ridiculous, pigsty . . . are some comments overheard in the ladies' restrooms, and no wonder, the vanity is water saturated, the sinks are soiled.

To enable us to enjoy the sport to the fullest, we are the only small town arena around that has seats rather than wooden benches; yet, we dare not sit on them without first having to wipe off the surface dirt. The grime on the seats is there week after week after week.

This is the first and sometimes the only impression that our invitees get of our locale. Are we no longer proud of our arena? We will not settle for second best. Why should we? We can be the best.

This year, 1986, would be a good time to turn over a new leaf, in an age of transplants let's inject new life, new enthusiasm, a bit of motivation and civic pride into the employees as well as all the parents and children, who have the privilege of profiting from the facilities offered at the Sports Palace.

Let's be proud of our arena. Let's be proud of ourselves.

Another Glengarry athlete we can . . .

earned the honor of being named CFB Winnipeg's Sportsman of the Year for 1985.

If he can maintain his current pace and avoid injury, this is one young lad who is destined to go far in amateur sports. Talent has carried a long way, but determination and hard work have brought him further.

He will probably make it to the Olympics, at least once if not twice. And with the effort he will have made over a dozen years or more, he will have earned the right to bring home the gold. If he pulls it off, no one will be prouder than his friends back home in Glengarry. We're already proud of him.

And won't the folks in Green Valley feel like snubbing Alexandria then.

Alexandria Legion holds New Year's levee

New Year's Day 1986 will go down in the history of Branch 423 Royal Canadian Legion, Alexandria, as a very enjoyable and successful event.

Chairman Carl Seeley and his charming wife Doris hosted the levee, assisted by Comrades Vic and Vi Dudar. The guest book was presided over by Second Vice-President Gavin McDonald. The hall was nicely decorated in keeping with the festive season. The guests were warmly welcomed by the hosts and hostesses.

A social hour was held, after which First Vice-President James F. Weir, in the absence of President Gordon Leonard, welcomed the members. He said 1985 had been a good year for the branch and he looks forward with pleasure to 1986 being much better. He expressed the need for the Branch and Ladies Auxiliary to work together in harmony.

Awards Chairman Vic Dudar greeted the members and wished everyone a Happy New Year. He said the awards which are to be given to members are for their outstanding work and achievement in the cause of the Branch. He expressed the thanks of the Branch to Chairman Seeley and his active committee in making the levee such a success. The awards were presented by James F. Weir and Carl Seeley.

Two Branch members of the executive who were absent on Nov. 11, John Burnett and Reg Clancy, were presented with their awards. Reg Clancy was also absent at the levee, and his award was picked up by Gavin McDonald on his behalf.

Awards Chairman Dudar presented Diamond Jubilee Medal awards to Pearl MacRae, Vi Dudar, Mel Leduc, Bessie Clingen and Marguerite M. Seger.

Carl Seeley presented First Vice-President James F. Weir with his Diamond Jubilee Medal for his many years of untiring service to the Branch, Second Vice-President Gavin McDonald for his long and faithful service to the Branch. Third Vice-President Bernie Laliberte for his efforts at all times to make the social life enjoyable, Branch Secretary Helen Kaufmann for her generous financial assistance and for her untiring work with both the Ladies Auxiliary and Legion Branch, Harry Main who has been a hard worker for the Branch for many years, Royal Gareau for his many acts of kindness to the branch and for services rendered, Frank Brooker for his artistic talents and other services rendered, Donald McDougall for his untiring work in visiting the sick and shut in members. He was unable to attend owing to illness in the family. Gavin McDonald accepted his award and thanked them on Donald's behalf.

Others receiving awards were Don Collin who for the past 12 years has been the silent worker at Service Bureau Officer. Howard Barclay, bar tender, for his many long hours spent in serving the patrons and for his never ending co-operation with all members. Henry Dumouchel for his untiring interest in sports and Mayor J.P. Touchette for his ever helpful assistance rendered to the Legion Branch. On behalf of the Town and himself he expressed his thanks for this honor and wished everyone a Happy New Year.

An award went to John R. (Jack) Reid for his many long and faithful years served the Branch with unfailing devotion. He is presently enjoying the sunny warmth of Florida. On his behalf the award was accepted by Gavin McDonald who expressed Jack's thanks.

A musical program was put on by Comrade Bernie Laliberte which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A special draw was held to raise money to have the parking lot paved and the winning tickets were pulled by Mayor Touchette. The lucky winners were: first prize of a VCR to Mrs. B. Graham of Green Valley; second of a radio won by Gordon MacDonald of St. George Street West, Alexandria while the third prize of a $50 voucher was won by Neil MacDonell, R.R. 2 Green Valley.

A lunch was served buffet style by the hosts and committee.

Alison Murray elected president of UCW

MARTINTOWN — The annual meeting of St. Andrew's UCW was held at the home of Jean Barton, Dec. 13, with 17 present.

Upon arrival the guests were served coffee and dessert by Alison Murray and Sylvia Thomson.

The president, Sylvia Thomson, opened the meeting with a poem, "Season's Greetings to Everyone."

The worship service under the direction of Alison Murray, consisted of the scripture reading by Beverley Runions, with a reading by Alison Murray on the theme, "Rejoice with Exceeding Great Joy," followed by a prayer given by Irene West.

Peggi Birch read the minutes of the last annual meeting in the absence of the secretary Lorraine Ramsay.

The treasurer, Jean Barton, reported a successful year with fundraising pojects doing well.

Committee reports were heard as follows: outreach—Irene West, stewardship—Helen Robertson, church and society—Grace Kinloch, personal growth—Beverley Runions, publicity–Pearly Murray, manse—Grace Kinloch, secretary—given by Peggi Birch in the absence of Lorraine Ramsay, treasurer—Jean Barton, auditors—Eva MacMillan and president—Sylvia Thomson.

The UCW supported the Sunday School, Camp Kagama, M.S. Fund, Montreal City Mission, John Milton Society, CanSave and ARC Industries, gave prizes to the public school, made a donation to the Martintown Firemen for their CPR project and to Phyllis Noble, for her trip to Korea. Children were sent to Camp Kagama and the ladies financed installation of bathrooms in the church hall and made renovations to the kitchen.

The bereaved and shut-ins were remembered throughout the year and at Christmas. Copies of the weekly sermons were sent to the shut-ins. They collected stamps, had a mitten tree and collected canned goods for needy families at Christmas. A good supply of religious pamphlets and reading material is kept on hand at the back of the church for the congregation's use.

The nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers: past president—Sylvia Thomson, president—Alison Murray, 1st vice-president—Beverley Runions, 2nd vice-president—Pearl Murray, secretary—Lorraine Ramsay, treasurer—Jean Barton, committee chairwomen, outreach—Irene West, literature—Onagh Ross, personal growth—Cathy and Charlie Kinloch, church in society—Grace Kinloch, stewardship—Helen Robertson, publicity—Pearl Murray, afternoon unit leader—Mina Carter, Unit 4 leader—Peggi Birch, auditors—Eva MacMillan and Jean Thomson, food canvassers—Jan Buckland, Charlotte Samson, Jean Barton and Helen Robertson.

Alison Murray thanked Sylvia Thomson for a job well done and took over the chair.

Correspondence consisted of thank you notes from Jean and Finlay MacIntosh for flowers, cards and acts of kindness during Finlay's illness and for flowers and help at their 50th anniversary; from Phyllis Noble for the donation for her trip, from Jason Birch for sending him to camp and from Camp Kagama for the donation.

Alison Murray presented Beverley Runions with a token of appreciation for her 10 years of service as Sunday School superintendent.

The next meeting will be Feb. 3, at 1:30 at Jean Barton's.

Rev. Evans closed the meeting with a memorial to our departed member, Agnes Robertson, followed by the benediction.

Dunvegan Women's Institute holds Christmas meeting

December 16 was the date for the Christmas meeting for the Dunvegan WI. Rhoda MacRae acted as secretary and Joyce MacKinnon, president, opened the meeting and welcomed the 30 members and guests.

Eunice Nixon, Flora Chisholm and Mary Fraser were among those who outdid themselves in providing a delicious meal which consisted of pork, potatoes, gravy, salads and desserts.

After everyone enjoyed the meal, Isabel MacLeod played the piano while carols were sung.

The Christmas entertainment was delightful. Elizabeth Stewart masqueraded as a man who was injured while shopping for gifts in women's shops. There was a skit performed by Marion Loewen, Joyce MacKinnon, Flora Chisholm, Isabel MacLeod and Peggi Calder. The play was a parody of the different styles of farm wives; from the rich one who never did any work to the others who were in various states of activity.

There were games played with Mary Fraser and Joyce MacKinnon being the leaders. Lynda Heinsma won a prize for successfully completing a word quiz game.

There was a lively auction held to sell Christmas decorations which the members donated.

To end a pleasant meeting, a gift exchange was held.

Waxing clinic

With the recent snowfall, cross-country trails in the area are in top shape.

Area skiers wishing to learn waxing techniques should attend a waxing clinic this Saturday (Jan.11), at 9:30 a.m., at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Simple advice will be given to participants on improving kick and glide technique.

Members who haven't yet paid their membership fees are asked to do so in the near future. The local ski club needs the funds for maintaining the trails.

Fees are $25 for a family, $15 single, and $5 for students. Fees can be paid to Maurice Sauve or Archie Roussin.

The annual Alexandria Ski Loppet is set for Feb. 9.

A hot January is being enjoyed by Ann Benstead, now in Australia where she will spend a year as an exchange teacher.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McDonald of Alexandria, Ann is seeing something of Australia on a tour this month before taking up duties as teacher librarian at Hampton High School in Morley, near Perth, Western Australia, on February 1st.

As well as switching jobs, the exchanges will be living in each other's homes, driving each other's cars and even caring for each other's cats.

Bills piling up for sewage project

by Sybil Carello

MAXVILLE — While Maxville council waits for allotments of the 85 per cent Ministry of Environment (MOE) funding, for the sewer lagoon project costs, the bills are piling up.

At their December 10 meeting, new members of council were tentatively briefed on some of the costs incurred since the beginning of the project.

These engineering costs include $10,000 for aerial photography of the lagoon site. Council was told a similar survey by ground involving more man hours and equipment would have resulted in higher costs. Soil studies came to $22,000, and revisions, fees and disbursements totalled about $7,000. Cost of the preliminary study, partially subsidized by the ministry was $62,000.

But because individual engineering costs have to be approved by the MOE in Toronto, and because the long arm of the ministry moves slowly, council to date, has only $11,000 in outstanding (approved) invoices.

Discussion turned to the sewer assessment schedule which new councillors took home to study last week. They were reminded by Councillor Verna MacGregor, sitting in for Reeve George Currier, that the rate structure to determine capital costs for individual ratepayers was "not a hard and fast document."

"The rate structure will not be official until it gets a third reading," she said, adding that as far as individual lots are concerned, there were some mistakes in assessment.

Maxville residents will pay two-per cent more in hydro costs during 1986.

Tom Gillson, an employee of Ontario Hydro, met with council to go over the rates which go into effect February 1.

Notices to residents concerning parking during snow removal will be mailed as an added assurance that problems do not re-occur.

Residents are also asked not to throw snow out on the street when shovelling their driveways or pathways.

Although a snow removal notice usually appears in the newspaper, each year, council felt it wasn't enough. Some people still forgot the parking times.

The monthly meeting for the ladies of UCFO will be held at the school on Monday, January 13 at 8 p.m.

I am happy to announce that the skating rink in the school yard is now open. Thanks to all those who helped get it ready.

The next meeting will be on January 16 in the Sunshine Room. Come and join us at 8 p.m.

Lots of activity in village over Christmas holidays

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

I know now why newspapers are always printing those stories about people and the resolutions they have at this time of year. It's because nothing much happens between Christmas and New Year's, even in Williamstown, at least nothing much public and printable.

To get around this, I could, for instance, tell you what Maurice Lagroix's New Year's resolutions are, or Clark McDonell's or Helen Sloan's, but I don't have to, because I have plenty of news. I have plenty of news because, as I'm sure you noticed, my column did not appear last week, and now I have two weeks of tidbits to tell you about.

First of all, the answer to the riddle that has kept you awake night after night. What do Leo Major, Angela Dyck, "Cookie" Scholfield, David Harrington, Rita Landry and Jacques Bornais have in common? The answer is that all of these civic-minded ladies and gentlemen were good enough to pad themselves with layers of pillows, don red suits, stick on false white facial hair and walk, ride or skate into our Christmas parties.

To all of you sweltered under the layers, from all of us cowards who sniggered on the sidelines, a hearty thank-you for your help in putting the ho-ho-ho into our Christmas events.

* * *

Just before the holidays ended a raffle took place at Williamstown Public School. It was sponsored by Grade 8 students who are planning a trip to Quebec City in the spring.

For all of you dedicated, but up till now unlucky ticket buyers, take heart. There really is a first time.

The winner of this raffle, of cash or a video, was . . . Sue Harrington. Alex MacDonald was the second place winner of a brunch for two at the Holiday Inn.

I've still got one or two pre-Christmas items to mention before we let 1986 get a firm grip on Williamstown.

One of them is to say what a nice time we all had up at the fire hall before Christmas. Santa visited the children who then had a special treat as they rode on Fernando, a marvellous bucking bronco which Russell Major very cleverly made. The firemen were gracious hosts, giving adults a chance to have coffee and socialize, while the children were entertained.

On Christmas Eve I did see some Williamstowners shopping while I was doing my eleventh hour dash. Nancy Woollven, Robbie McLachlan, Doris Ferguson and Susan Watt were all to be found, but by their calm eyes and coherent conversations, I am convinced that they were not last minute shoppers at all, but merely those super-organized, a year ahead of the clock.

Car, rifle stolen

Maxville OPP are investigating the theft of a car in Apple Hill.

Police report that Jeffrey Froats of Cornwall had parked his 1972 Pontiac at the King Edward Hotel in Apple Hill on Saturday. Sometime between 12:45 and 1:30 a.m. the car was stolen.

It was recovered in Cornwall on Monday and police discovered two rifles and other equipment had been removed. Missing are a .22-calibre and a Remington 700 6 mm rifle.

There were, however, I'm told, two frenzied-looking gentlemen by the names of Greer and Edwards who were seen rather late in the afternoon doing their shopping. Comrades.

Well by now most of those who were home for the holidays have left Williamstown again, but not, I'm sure, without many good memories of their visit.

One Williamstown home which was full of holiday visitors was Daphne MacDonald's, as family members came from near and far for Christmas. Harold MacDonald, Jennifer, Brent and Jason were here from Abbottsford, British Columbia.

From the USA, Bill and Shirley Abrams, Allan and Glen, came from Akron, Ohio, while Michael Abrams made the trip from Chicago, Illinois.

John and Shelley New, along with their son John William, visited Daphne from Hamilton, Ontario, while David and Debbie Abrams came down from Brantford.

Visitors from Toronto were Howard and Lenore Wilkinson and Sandra and Douglas, Lynne MacDonald and Andrea McCandle. Reg and Iris Gervais and son Norman from Ottawa made it 23 guests for Daphne for the holidays. In addition were the rest of the family who live locally.

Someone else who was here recently whom lots of readers will remember was Laurie Farley (nee MacDonald) from Atlanta, Georgia. Laurie, formerly of Munroe's Mills, was spending her first Christmas in the area in 13 years. While here she visited with Isabel MacDonald, her father, Donald George Macdonald and her sister, Arlene McLachlan of Williamstown.

Eva Amell had, in addition to her family who live locally, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jasmin, from Sarnia, home for the holidays.

* * *

Scott Avery, now living in Orangeville, Ontario was home for a New Year's visit to his parents, Don and Elaine Avery of Williamstown.

* * *

While most roads led into Williamstown during the holidays, some of our residents spent the time visiting elsewhere. Mrs. James Smith, for example, travelled to her daughter, Irene's, for Christmas.

Winter weddings always seem very romantic, especially when the snow is falling softly.

On Friday, Dec. 27 Stephen MacDougall, son of Garnet and Edna of Williamstown and Marianne McPhadden, daughter of Eleanor and the late Jack McPhadden of Martintown, were married in a quiet candlelight ceremony at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, with Rev. Roger MacPhee and Father Charles MacDonald officiating.

Congratulations to the bride and groom from all of us.

At the Black and White held recently in Williamstown, a lot of hidden talent revealed itself.

Did you know, for instance, how well Mac Edwards can color? Or how good Jim Algire is at passing Hanson's Hat? You ought to watch Jay Woollven play Hangman or listen to Oliver Blacker lead singers in "Old Macdonald had a Farm." For candle-snuffing Carol Edwards displays a rare agility, while if it's a chorus line you're interested in booking, no one, but no one beats the quartet of Barbara Stones, Moira Blacker, Sandra French and Nancy Woollven's rendition of "Green Grow the Rushes—Oh!"

Seriously, though, maybe it's time that Williamstowners got all this talent together to form a troupe of some kind—drama, singing, dancing, (coloring?).

Our wishes for a speedy recovery go out to residents Kenny MacDonald, Isobel Rozon and Charlie Heath, who have been in hospital recently.

If you should happen to see two Collies, older pups, one black, white and tan, the other grey, white and tan running loose anywhere in the vicinity, please give me a call at the above number. The dogs belong to Susie Cameron, formerly a township resident, who was visiting for Christmas, but who has had to return to her home in Ottawa. Susie and children, Rory and Katie, are extremely distressed at the dogs' disappearance and are offering a reward for their safe return.

* * *

Now that the holidays are over and the pace has slackened, why not consider joining one of our many groups and activities to pass the long winter months? Most things are starting up this week and all would give you a good old Williamstown welcome should you be willing to become involved. It's a great way to meet people.

* * *

I can't help thinking how lucky we are in Williamstown. For such a small place, it certainly has a lot to offer. Almost every day during the holidays, one could see rosy-cheeked children skating, playing hockey, or sliding down the banks of the Raisin. Is there a better sight?

Some wishful thinking for the new year

SPORTS

Peter Conway

Here it is, the first week of January already.

Didn't 1985 fly right by us? I hope the New Year fulfills all of your promises. Here are a few things in 1986 we might like to see.

To see the Alexandria Glens finish as high as third place in the standings of the Alex English Division in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League.

For the Charlottenburgh Rebels, who have been waging a battle with the Navan Grads all season for top spot, a first-place finish in the Alex English Division.

A better second half performance for Frank Morris and his Concordia Stingers hockey team. The Stingers suffered through a horrible first half of the schedule, but surprised Ottawa U, the top ranked team in the country Monday night, to win the Concordia Micron hockey tournament.

A healthy winning streak for the Alexandria Junior C's and making sure they have enough skaters for post-season action. The club has been depleted lately due to injuries and some players terminating their hockey careers.

Another Stanley Cup for the Edmonton Oilers—simply because they are the best club in the National Hockey League.

A Norris trophy for Boston Bruins' superb defenceman Raymond Bourque. Surely, some people around National Hockey League rinks know he's the best all-round blueliner in the game today. Sorry Paul Coffey and Rod Langway.

Trying to please coaches and teams around the rinks in the winter when it comes to coverage in the newspaper each week. Keeping everyone happy becomes an almost impossible task.

A Canadian championship for Maurice Sauve and Bruno Major in canoeing this summer should they qualify for the nationals.

Respect for officials in the Glengarry Soccer League from players and coaches.

A banner year for J. T. Hay and the Calgary Stampeders. Never mind hoping for a Grey Cup appearance. Stampeders fans would be satisfied if the club participated in the playoffs this fall.

The construction of the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame for hard-working and energetic Angus H. McDonell and the rest of the committee spearheading the construction plans for the building.

A happier atmosphere for councillors and Alexandria Mayor Touchette during their meetings. It will be a long three-year term for these people if they don't at least try to get along.

The appointment of Jerome Poirier as referee-in-chief of the Glengarry Soccer League. Then he would see how things can be become difficult for officials on the other side of the fence.

More co-operation from officials in minor hockey for referee-in-chief Ron Lefebvre when he schedules the individuals in the striped sweaters. It can become frustrating for Ron when some referee phones him at the last moment, asking for a replacement.

A hair cut for Allan Stewart when he officiates minor hockey. It seems his long hair bothers him when he skates up and down the ice. That's what we hear through the grapevine.

A Grey Cup appearance for Hoppy Gallant's Ottawa Rough Riders. He has to be one of the most die-hard Rider fans in Glengarry.

No immediate plans for Russian-NHL games in the near future.

Although most rinks were sold out for the recent series, the novelty of playing the Russians has worn off on this side of the ocean.

Put the Harford Whalers in any other division in the National Hockey League so they might some day participate in the playoffs. Even though the franchise is having a good season, they still might not qualify for the playoffs in the highly competive Adams Division.

Watching Canada's soccer team advance to the next round in the World Cup.

A National Hockey League franchise for Ottawa and Hamilton. Just think of the natural rivalries for Les Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Montreal Expos and Toronto Blue Jays winning their respective divisions and facing each other in the World Series.

It's a long shot for both the Canadian clubs to meet in the fall classic, but it would be nice for baseball fans across the country.

Oh well, some of these things might not happen this year, but there's always wishful thinking.

Alexandria Bantams tourney champions

Alexandria Bantam Glens received a pair of goals each from Andrew Sauve and Serge Bellefeuille en route to winning the A title in their annual tournament Saturday at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The Glens put together three impressive wins en route to winning the championship in front of a partisan and enthusiastic crowd.

In the championship contest, a 5-3 win over Gatineau, Alexandria played a solid game from the opening face-off.

While captain Mike Sauve failed to score, he was a dominant player setting up four of his team's five goals. Also scoring for the A champs was Michel Duval.

In semi-final action, Alexandria posted a 5-2 decision over rival Char-Lan. Michel Duval and Alex Maclaren paced the Alexandria attack with two goals each while Serge Bellefeuille rounded out the scoring. Bellefeuille also had two assists in the victory.

Char-Lan's goals came off the stick of Chris McBean while Blake McDonell drew assists on the goals.

Alexandria opened the tournament with an impressive 5-1 victory over Hawkesbury, who went on to win the B title.

Mike Sauve led Alexandria's scoring attack with a hat trick while Marc Sauve and Denis Lalonde chipped in with singles. Michel Duval had a pair of assists.

Hawkesbury's lone goal was scored by Michael LeTouzel.

The eight-team tournament featured a special segment—a showdown competition with a player from each team participating.

The winner of the showdown was Gatineau's Marc Gratton while the best goaler award went to East-Ottawa-Vanier's Ray Van Iterson.

After losing their opening game, B champion Hawkesbury rolled over their opponents in their next two outings.

In semi-final action, Hawkesbury blanked Vankleek Hill 4-0 and then shutout Kirkland, Que. 6-0 in the B final.

In an opening round contest, Char-Lan nipped Vankleek Hill 1-0. In other games, St. Isidore defeated Kirkland 8-3 and Gatineau dumped Vanier 7-4.

Gatineau advanced to the A final following a 5-2 triumph over St. Isidore.

Glens riding hot streak

by Peter Conway

Which is the hottest team in the Alex English Division of Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League for the past couple of weeks?

If you thought it was league-leading Navan or second-place Charlottenburgh Rebels, guess again.

Don't look now, but the Alexandria Glens have been making a lot of noise in recent outings. After a slow start, Roch Lajoie's Glens have turned the corner towards respectability.

After occupying sixth spot in the seven-team loop for most of the campaign, the Glens have won seven of their last nine games and have climbed into fourth place - only six points back of third-place Metcalfe Jets.

The Glens improved their record to 10-12 in 22 games Friday night, skating to a 7-5 win over the Metcalfe Jets on home ice.

The club's recent success can be attributed to a "team effort" and the youthful squad's coming of age.

Friday night, however, it was a seasoned veteran who carried the club in scoring. Leonard Seguin, perhaps the most consistent player all season, paced the Glens with six points in his evening's work. Seguin tallied three times and set up three goals which saw the Glens cling to a 2-1 advantage after the opening stanza. The clubs were tied 4-4 after two periods.

Jean-Luc Menard, another veteran, scored twice and had three helpers while Darrell Hay and Kelly Cooke with the winner, completed the Glens' scoring.

Metcalfe got a pair of goals from Mike Pratt and singles from Rick Downey, Peter Holmes and Craig Barton-Hill.

The Glens played a pair of games on the weekend of Dec. 27. Sunday night at Navan, the Glens dropped an 8-3 decision to the front-running Grads.

Navan led 2-0 after one period and increased the lead to 6-1 after two periods. Rob Laurin paced the Grads with three goals and an assist while John Tessier chipped in with two goals and two assists. Bruce Hickson, the division's leading scorer tallied once and set up four goals. Singles went to Mike Fournier and Dave Sabean.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of Stephen Stewart, Andrew McCormick and Kelly Cooke.

The Glens went into the Navan contest without top scorer Leonard Seguin. Seguin sat out the game because of a fighting penalty he picked up in the dying moments of a game two nights earlier against Vanier on home ice. Alexandria held on for a 7-3 victory.

While losing Seguin for one game was bad enough, more bad news came in the form of a three-game suspension to Charlie Giroux during the Navan loss.

The Glens led 3-1 and 4-3 during first and second period intermissions against the Vanier Senators. Leonard Seguin and Jean-Luc Menard paced the Glens' attack with two goals and one assist each. Glen Campbell, Stephane Gareau and Andrew McCormick rounded out the scoring while Darrell Hay contributed three assists.

Scoring for Vanier, who occupy the cellar with a dismal 2-19 mark, were Chris Lavallee, Frank Simon and Tom Goddard.

The Glens entertain Navan Friday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace and then travel to Winchester for a rare Saturday night contest against the Hawks.

Game time Friday is 8:30 p.m. at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Rebels thump Navan Grads

CLARENCE CREEK—It appears the Charlottenburgh Rebels may have finally solved the Navan Grads' jinx.

After the Rebels drubbed the Grads in the final of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Boxing Day tournament, Ken MacDonald's squad thumped the league leader 6-i Saturday night at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

The Rebels improved their record to 16-6 to remain six points back of Navan in the race for first place. The Grads, who sport a 19-4 mark have 38 points, while the Rebels have 32 points.

The Rebels didn't exactly get off to a quick start. The visitors grabbed an early 1-0 lead after only 19 seconds into the contest.

After that, however, it was all Rebels as they reeled off six straight goals. The Rebels led 2-1 after the first period and 4-1 after two frames.

Dwayne Spink paced the Rebels' attack with two goals and an assist while Murray MacDonald, Kevin Poapst, Mike Lapensee and Bruce Bergeron completed the scoring.

Navan's lone goal came off the stick of Bruce Hickson, the league's top scorer.

Sunday afternoon at Clarence Creek, the Rebels skated to a convincing 9-3 win kover the slumping Beavers.

Shawkn Blanchard and Murray MacDonald paced the Rebels with two goals and an assist each while Norm Sauve scored once and added three assists. Neil Sandilands, Roddy McKenzie, Frank Sinfield and Dwayne Spink completed the scoring. McKenzie also had a pair of assists.

Scoring for Clarence Creek were Andre Currier, Gregg McEachern and Marc Nadon.

The Rebels swing back into action Saturday night on home ice when they host the Clarence Township Beavers. Game time is 7:45 p.m. at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

Sunday night the Rebels travel to Vanier to face the cellar-dwelling Senators.

Junior C's move closer to the top with victories

CASSELMAN — Alexandria Junior C's got a solid effort between the pipes from Pat Brunet en route to a 3-0 win over Casselman Sunday in an Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League game played at Casselman.

Brunet recorded his second shutout of the campaign—only the fourth in the league to date.

The win pulled the local squad to within four points of league-leading St. Isidore.

Alexandria scored in each period Sunday as Maurice Bellefeuille, Mike Campeau and Yves Poirier tallied.

While club officials were pleased with the win, which followed an 8-1 setback at Embrun Friday night against the 72's, Sunday's win was costly.

The club lost the services of Guy Quesnel for about one month after he suffered a fractured collarbone.

Against Embrun, Yves Lapointe paced the winners with a five-goal performance. Alexandria's lone goal was scored by Yves Poirier.

Last Thursday night on home ice, Alexandria scored four times in the opening stanza and went on to beat North Stormont 5-2.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of Jean Lauzon, Marc Poirier, Yves Poirier, Maurice Bellefeuille and Guy Quesnel.

Ellery Lafave and Denis Landry were the marksmen for North Stormont.

Prior to the Christmas holidays, the club held a draw for turkeys. Winners of turkeys were Ghislain Giroux, Maurice Bellefeuille, Yvon Jeaurond, Guy Quesnel and Embrun residents Peter Gooney and Denis Gregoire.

Local businesses who donated the turkeys were B&B Market, Lefebvre Foodarama, Gerry Deguire Plumbing, Marcel Lalonde Electric, R&R Sports Sales and Claude Cuerrier Garage.

Dunvegan continues to win

MAXVILLE — Nothing has changed in the new year for the Dunvegan Highlanders in the women's division of the SD&G No-Contact Broomball League.

The team continued its winning ways in 1986, continuing where they left off in the 1985 portion of the schedule.

Sunday at the Maxville Sports Complex, Dunvegan blanked the Maxville Aliens 2-0. Scoring for the winners were Lynn Robinson and Aline Hebert while Julie Gravel earned the shutout.

In the other women's contest, Sylvie Thibault scored the game's only goal as Casselman nipped Lemieux 1-0. Cathy Wensink was between the pipes for the shutout.

Six games were played in the men's division. Dunvegan nipped King Edward Hotel 2-1.

Scoring for Dunvegan were David MacKinnon and Earl MacLennan.

Terry St. Onge replied for King Edward Hotel.

Freeman's Demons edged Lacombe Trucking 2-1. The marksmen for Freeman's Demons were Walter Coleman and Henry Lapensee.

Gilles Decoeur tallied for Lacombe Trucking.

Villeneuve Water Supply blanked Johnny Mac's 2-0.

Scoring for the winners were Rick Filion and Terry Belmore while Jeff Alguire earned the shutout.

Gaetan Quesnel scored the only goal as Marc's Canteen nipped Bourget 1-0.

Guy Quesnel was between the pipes for the shutout.

Four different players scored for Brownlee's during a 4-1 win against Tremblay Poleline.

Scoring for the winners were Mike Tessier, Rick Brunet, Gary Brownlee and Dan St. Pierre.

Daneil Bourgeois replied for Tremblay Poleline.

In the final contest, Richard Quesnel scored the winner as Sabourin Construction squeaked past Maxville Farm Machinery 2-1. Fern Therrien rounded out the scoring for the winners.

Allan Mariott scored for Maxville Farm Machinery.

Lavigne scores four goals

Sylvain Lavigne scored four goals to spark Picher to a 6-3 win over Munro in an Atom House League contest Dec. 30 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Luc Titley completed the scoring for the winners.

Scoring for Munro were Brent Lauzon, Stephane Viau and Adam Lefebvre.

Dominic Desautel fired a hat trick as OPP skated to a 5-1 decision over Curry Hill Lumber.

Also scoring for the winners were Stephane Decoste and Alain Deschamps.

Paul Chaddock replied for Curry Hill Lumber.

Deguire Plumbing beat OPP 6-4 the previous day. Rodney Lobb paced the winners with two goals while singles went to Andre Deguire, Eric Hamelin, Eric Lobb and Normand Jeaurond.

Jean Vaillancourt scored twice for OPP while Marc Leroux and Malcolm MacPherson completed the scoring.

Sylvain Lavigne's five goals lifted Picher to a 9-3 decision over Sealtest. Wade McNaughton chipped in with a hat trick while Dean Seguin chipped in with a single.

Daniel Godard, Roch Gareau and Daniel Lauzon replied for Sealtest.

Local Atoms win two titles

MAXVILLE — Alexandria Caisse Populaire Atoms celebrated at the expense of opposing teams during two tournaments over the Christmas holidays.

The local squad captured the A title Dec. 27 at the North-Glen-Stor tourney held at the Maxville Sports Complex. Four days earlier at Long Sault, Alexandria captured the B title.

At Maxville, Alexandria edged Canterbury 5-4 in the championship contest after beating Vankleek Hill 6-0 and squeaking past Casselman 3-2.

In the Long Sault tourney, Alexandria lost 3-0 to Winchester, but rebounded to defeat Chesterville 6-1. The B final saw Alexandria post a 3-2 win over Prescott.

In the North-Glen-Stor tourney, Patrick Sauve paced Alexandria in scoring with five goals and six assists.

The club played a pair of league encounters over the weekend. Saturday at Cornwall, Luke Murray scored Alexandria's lone goal during a 3-1 setback.

Sunday night on home ice, Alexandria and South Stormont played to a 3-3 draw.

Scoring for Alexandria were Brad MacDonald, Steve Poirier and Patrick Sauve.

The Caisse Populaire Atoms will host a tournament Feb. 1 at the Glengarry Sports Palace with eight teams participating.

In Memoriam

THEORET—In loving memory of dear Dad who passed away January 5, 1983.
I lost a Dad with a heart of gold
How much I miss him can never be told
He shared our troubles and helped along.
If we walk in his footsteps we can never go wrong
The things we feel so deeply
Are the hardest things to say
But I your daughter loved you in a very special way
—Always loved and remembered, daughter Antoinette, son-in-law Rene. 2-1p

LAUZON—In loving memory of a dear mother and wife, Aline, who passed away January 3, 1984.
I remember the smile you gave us so freely,
The warm welcome, you never hid.
The years with you mom,
Were the nicest ones a person could have.
You gave us something special,
You gave us your love.
Life goes on, I know that's true,
But not the same since we lost you.
Your heart was made of gold
Your special thoughts meant a million.
Mom you were the richest lady on earth.
We tried so hard to understand,
Forgive us Lord, we pray
She was so precious to us
Why couldn't she have stayed?
—Sadly missed and always remembered by husband Romeo, sons Bruno and Jean and daughters Joanne, Suzanne, Lise and Roxanne. 2-1p

THEORET—In loving memory of my father, Joseph, who passed away January 5, 1984.
Once again this month comes with sad regrets
For it brings back many memories.
If tears could build a stairway
And heartaches make a lane,
I would walk that path to Heaven
And bring you back again.
Not for the suffering and not for the pain
But just to have you back with us once more.
We sorrowfully miss you so much today
Yet, we'll have you in our hearts always.
I wish just for a moment that I could see your face
Then, I could tell you just how very much I miss
And how often I think of you.
A day does not pass without you in my thoughts.
Those of you who still have your father with you
Cherish and love him while you still can.
—Very sadly missed by your loving son Romeo, Wenda, Joe and Jo-Anne. 2-1p

MacLEAN—In loving memory of a husband, father and grandfather, Ambrose, who died accidentally Jan. 6, 1979.
We cannot have the old days back
When we were all together,
But secret tears and loving thoughts
Will be with us forever.
—Always remembered by Annie and family 2-1p

OMAF offers variety of courses, seminars

AG REPORT

by Kathleen Ryan

Does it feel as if spring is a long way off? Are you afraid of getting cabin fever? How about making your leisure hours interesting and educational?

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food is sponsoring a wide variety of courses and seminars this winter which are sure to interest almost everyone.

Leadership Pursuit is a course developed to teach leadership techniques and methods to members of rural organizations in Glengarry County. It will run for eight Tuesdays, January 21 through March 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Alexandria (location yet to be determined).

Topics include time management, involving and recruiting new members, meeting procedures, stress management and networking. It is an excellent opportunity for participants to increase knowledge and confidence or to develop the leadership potential of their organization members.

Seminars for rural women will be held in Martintown again this year. The sessions will provide participants with opportunities for learning, sharing ideas and informal discussion.

Topics such as Coping with Stress, Working with People, Money Management, Simple Home Repairs and Home Gardening will be presented.

The six Wednesday sessions will begin on January 22 at 9:30 a.m. in the Martintown Community Centre. Come for one or come for all.

There are many kinds of partnerships in business, but the foundation for the farm is within the home. Recognizing the importance of a couple's partnership to the farm business, the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food is sponsoring a weekend retreat for farm couples whose primary occupation is farming.

Partners is success—a farm couple's retreat includes formal workshop and seminar sessions aimed to teach skills in time management, goal setting, problem solving and communications. It will also provide an opportunity for dialogue with farm couples in other parts of the province in a relaxed setting away from everyday cares and worries.

Four regional seminars across Ontario will be held with a limited enrolment of 25 farm couples per seminar. The dates for our region's seminar are February 28 to March 2 in Gananoque. Registration is Friday evening, 7 to 8 p.m. The seminar will conclude with lunch at noon on Sunday.

Seminar leader will be John Harries, a United Church minister, adult educator and counsellor. He is currently a senior consultant with the Career Development Institute of Canada, which he founded in 1982.

There is a registration fee of $100 per couple payable with the application. Applications are available at Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offices.

The Young Farmers Business Symposium is a new program available to men and women throughout the province. The symposium is to be held in London from February 10 to 13. Delegates will examine various case studies and farming operations in the London area, as well as study selected topics in farm business management. Speakers will be present to provide expertise in those areas covered.

Each county may send one delegate. An application fee of $130 is required to cover all hotel, meal and transportation costs. If you are a young farmer actively involved in a farming operation, with a sincere interest in farm business management, don't miss this opportunity!

* * *

A course for farmers concerned with labor management, called "Hey Boss!" will be held at the W. B. George Centre, Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, on Wednesdays, February 19 and 26 and March 5. The course will commence at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 3:30 p.m. There is no cost for this course and maximum enrolment is 20. Registrations will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Lunch will be available on campus, or bring your own.

The course is designed to clarify the employer's labor needs and to emphasize the skills and techniques for having happier, healthier, more productive employees.

For additional information, or to apply for any of these courses, please contact the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office in Alexandria at 525-1046.
