Gadbois raps UIC changes, seeks PC nod

Charlottenburgh Township Reeve Adrian Gadbois blasted changes in unemployment regulations last week as he officially opened his campaign for the Stormont-Dundas Progressive Conservative nomination.

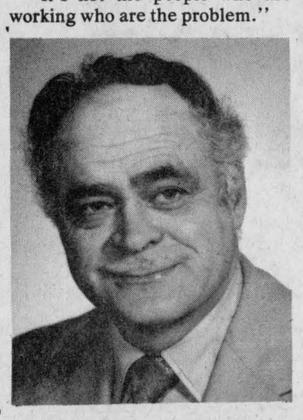
Gadbois will be challenged by Cornwall City Alderman Dick Aubry when the federal riding association meets to pick a candidate at the Cornwall Civic Complex March 8.

The reeve, who operates a small contracting business, said the Liberal government has destroyed the incentive of part-time workers by eliminating UIC benefits for those working less than 20 hours a week.

Many small businessmen rely on part-time help, Gadbois argued. Many of these workers are sincere people and in some cases both husband and wife are working part-time to bring in a full income.

"The government claims it is trying to do something about unemployment insurance abuse and all it's done is hurt the little guy," Gadbois claimed.

"It's not the people who are working who are the problem."



ADRIAN GADBOIS

Gadbois said he favors scrapping the entire UIC scheme and implementing a public works program whereby people out of work would be paid a minimum wage to carry out federal, provincial or municipal projects.

Assisting with snow clearance and cutting grass by hand on roadsides are two tasks such workers could carry out, Gadbois suggested.

"There's nothing wrong with cutting grass with a scythe," he said.

The reeve also suggested small businessmen be given a $5,000 tax exemption to stimulate the private sector.

Gadbois dismissed the unity issue as a Liberal red-herring and said he would concentrate on economic issues if he contests the election.

Quebecers should be left to make up their own minds concerning confederation, the reeve said, and changes in the constitution will not change the way people feel towards each other.

In the past, the outspoken reeve has taken stands against increased federal spending, the growing Ottawa bureaucracy, the Liberal's bilingualism policy and is a staunch advocate of capital punishment.

He does not believe his controversial approach to issues will hurt his bid for the nomination.

"I think the people of Canada are tired of pussyfooting politicians. They want somebody who will tell it straight."

If selected, Gadbois would carry the Conservative banner against Liberal MP Ed Lumley and New Democratic Party candidate Brian Peters, a commercial pilot with a law degree.

This is the first time Charlottenburgh Township has been included in Stormont-Dundas riding.

Committee recommending closing of Maxville school

The fate of Maxville Senior Public School was scheduled to be discussed last night by the SD&G County Board of Education just as The News went to press.

The future looked dim for the school which the board's Facilities Committee has recommended closed by June 30.

The committee recommendation was originally discussed at a public meeting in Maxville last month and met heavy local opposition.

Despite a 10-point save-the-school brief subsequently presented by ratepayers to the board, the committee decided to stick by its initial recommendation, which the full board was to vote on last night.

The school has experienced drastic reduction in enrolment over the past three years and the board estimates it can save $40,000 by closing it down and busing Grade 8 and 9 students to surrounding secondary schools.

Parents were expected to make a last ditch attempt to keep their school at Tuesday's meeting.

Teacher cuts are inevitable—Renaud

Up to 30 teachers could be cut from the French section of SD&G Roman Catholic Separate School Board because of falling enrolment and declining provincial grants.

Board Chairman Jules Renaud told The News that "parents must face the certainty that some cuts in staff and closing of schools will have to come."

Renaud said the cuts and closings are "a fact, because the tap has been turned off by the provincial government in educational financing and there is an undeniable drop in enrolment which is being felt by schools across the whole country."

But Renaud promised that there "would not be any closing of schools in the rural areas this year." He noted that "the bishop is particularly insistant that we keep the parish schools running as long as we can."

He noted that rural areas and towns like Alexandria are very stable in population. "They don't fluctuate and change as fast as school populations in Cornwall, which works in your favor when it comes to keeping your schools open."

Renaud said the Education Committee which meets every Monday, discusses and makes plans concerning the issue of school enrolment and teacher placement.

He said the board is also deeply into the sharing of facilities with the public board and already the two share computers, printing, and some transportation. In the future they may share purchasing and even buildings.

Vincent Scott, president of the local branch of L'Association des Enseignants Franco-Ontariens (AEFO) told the board last week that a cutback of 30 teachers should mean a 25 per cent cutback at the administrative level.

A layoff of 30 teachers represents about 13 per cent of the French section's staff. Scott feels that when teacher cutbacks are made for financial reasons, they should be twice as hard at the administrative level.

Scott said he did not want to see a mess such as the debacle of laying off and re-hiring of teachers which took place in 1973 and 1976.

Chairman Renaud also told The News that "we are going slowly and not rushing into anything just because of the mistakes made on those two other years with staff planning."

Bilingual aspect

Future of GDHS may be discussed

Officials are being tight-lipped about the precise agenda for tomorrow night's meeting of the Glengarry District High School Committee, although they admit that the philosophical direction of the bilingual institution is coming into question.

At least one member of the committee is trying to force discussion on the future of the school, sources reveal, and a letter from that person is expected to be discussed Thursday.

School Committee Chairman Sylvio Cleroux declined to give details of the letter which was presented at the last committee meeting.

Cleroux told The News, "I have told my executive that we should not discuss this letter until it is introduced to the parents Thursday."

A second member of the school committee also refused to divulge the letter's content to The News.

The meeting, which starts at the school at 8 p.m., is open to the public.

Deepening the mystery is the fact that SD&G County Board of Education Director Rosaire Leger is slated to attend the meeting along with four area trustees.

Although trustees usually try to make the school committee meetings, Leger's appearance is unusual.

Cleroux explained that Leger would be on hand to "interpret board policy for parents." When asked what policy, Cleroux replied, "policy on whatever topic the parents wish to bring up."

This will be Leger's second run to Alexandria this week. He attended a meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation local at GDHS Tuesday evening.

John R. MacDonald, president of the OSSTF local was tight-lipped about what was discussed at this meeting noting only, "it was a closed meeting of Glengarry staff discussing matters of our own internal operations."

Talking earlier in the week to Vice-principal Rene Gauthier about the OSSTF meeting, Gauthier noted that 1979 was a banner year at the school.

"It marks the end of the integration program at the school begun in 1975 when the program of offering all subjects in French was started in Grade 9. The program has built up each year until now Grade 13 has a full academic program of all subjects available in French."

He explained, "naturally this program has changed the face of the school. It is not the same school it was five years ago."

He said for this reason teachers and board staff sometimes must pause in their building and sit down to discuss their direction and pressure points which build up.

Similar discussion could take place Thursday at the School Committee meeting.

Two position papers, one on the French philosophy of education, the other on the English philosophy of education produced by GDHS department heads were supposed to be offered to parents.

But at press time Cleroux was not sure the English philosophy paper had been finished.

"We have the French philosophy paper," he said, "but I feel one must not be looked at without the other."

Cleroux is very anxious not to create ill feeling between French and English sections of the school.

"There are always some people who want to make trouble in a community—or a school," he told The News. "But our school is working out well. I've never had complaints from parents about troubles between the students of the two language groups."

Cleroux continued, "We should all be proud in this community that our school is working out so well and that both English and French students are receiving good solid educations without causing each other friction. If the adults leave the kids alone they get along fine."

Asked if he had heard of parent agitation for French-speaking students to be taught in their own school, Cleroux said he could not imagine such a thing happening at GDHS.

When Gauthier was asked the same question, he emphasized that, "We run here two parallel programs of French and English in one school. We have separate department heads for each subject and I am responsible for the French program while Principal P. T. Lloyd is head of the whole school and responsible for the English program."

Gauthier said the separate but equal approach "works remarkably well but sometimes we need meetings among teachers to thrash out points of pressure and discipline and to draw out areas of mutual responsibility."

Asked if he ever could envision the school splitting up into separate French and English campuses he laughed.

"With budget restrictions coming down from the board, with the provincial government becoming close-handed with educational grants, and with declining enrolment I can't see anything like that happening," he said.

"You know, divorce is not that easy. We must learn to live together."

Robbers sentenced to stiff jail terms

Judge Patrick White handed down stiff jail sentences Monday in Alexandria provincial court to three area men found guilty of robbing Lochiel farmer Real Binette.

Andre Ingola of Alexandria was sentenced to eight years in prison and Arthur and Gerard Massia of Alexandria each got six-year terms. All pleaded guilty.

A fourth man, Paul Emile Garreau of Green Valley, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to March 26.

Binette, a 60-year-old farmer who lives alone on his farm on County Road 21, was accosted by three men whose faces were hidden by stocking masks last January 13 as he walked to the barn to do some chores.

They demanded money and Binette told them it was in the house. When he got there, he dived for his .22 revolver hidden under a couch. He said one of the men piled on top of him but he managed to get the gun into his hand and shot blindly at his assailants, wounding one in the stomach. They left with their wounded friend.

Gerard Massia who was shot in the stomach was released from hospital in time for the trial. All three convicted men will serve time in a federal prison.

Solar meeting

The Solar Society has scheduled a meeting March 9 at Glengarry District High School for 7:30 p.m.

The building or adaption of greenhouses to solar power will be discussed and newcomers to the organization are welcomed.

Cornwall alderman challenges Gadbois

Citing his active involvement in community service, Cornwall Alderman Dick Aubry has declared his candidacy for the Stormont-Dundas Progressive Conservative nomination.

Aubry, who is 41, has lived in Cornwall for the past 10 years with his wife and three children.

He is a member of the Cornwall Kiwanis Club and has chaired its annual radio/TV auction on four separate occasions. Each time, the results have exceeded previous records, his press release notes.

In 1972 he was chairman of the Heart Fund Appeal which, also exceeded all previous records.

Aubry is currently vice-president of the United Way of Cornwall and District. In 1973, he was its campaign chairman. The objective was exceeded and was the highest amount raised in its history, the release points out.

Born and raised in Nakina, a small Northern Ontario community, he is a University of Windsor graduate with a Bachelor of Commerce degree.

He has worked for Imperial Oil Ltd. and Clark Dairy of Ottawa in various sales, analytical and managerial positions.

In 1969 he joined St. Lawrence College, Cornwall campus, as an instructor in marketing and management.

In his first attempt, in 1974, he was elected alderman for the City of Cornwall and has, since, been re-elected twice.

He has served as a member of the Cornwall Planning Board and been chairman of both the Lay Appointments and Airport Committees.

He is also a minor hockey coach.

In his release he says he supports openness in local government, a long range view of public policy, a conservative fiscal stance, a minimum amount of regulations and red tape and minimum interference by the government in citizens' affairs.

Councillors' pay up 38 per cent

Arguing the council pay has not kept pace with increases in surrounding townships, Alexandria councillors voted themselves a 38 per cent pay raise last night.

The $36.30 per meeting rate, which has not changed for two years, will be increased to $50.

The mayor's pay was raised from $4,235 to $4,700.

The finance committee had originally recommended a raise to only $40, but councillors changed the recommendation after hearing that the per meeting rate in Kenyon Township is $50 and in Lancaster Township, $55.

Lochiel councillors are salaried, but if more than two meetings are held in one month, they receive an additional $50 per meeting.

Councillor Bruno Lalonde said councillors in Alexandria "looked like second class citizens."

Finance Committee Chairman Archie McDougall agreed that the pay should be raised to $50 and amended his committee recommendation accordingly.

He said a higher rate would attract good candidates for council.

"I think the taxpayers in the long run are going to be well served if they get competent people," he noted.

Mayor J. P. Touchette said he examined council pay on other councils "and we sure looked ridiculous."

Council dismissed a suggestion by Lalonde that the possibility of paying councillors a yearly salary be investigated.

Council approved the increase unanimously with Deputy Reeve Florence Villeneuve and Councillors Yolande Viau and John Cormier absent.

Want better skills

Two documents prepared by a communications task force have been approved by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education for use in schools.

The objectives of the documents are to upgrade the English and writing skills of students.

Murray Forsyth, English teacher and member of the task force, presented the documents to the trustees.

The essential English objectives for Kindergarten through Grade 13 and an intermediate writing program for Grades 7 to 10 are outlined in the papers.

Lorne Lawson, superintendent of education, said in a report that the documents will be reflected in the planning of courses next year.

Montreal refugees put new life into historic Moose Head Inn

by Pauline Ashton

South Lancaster may have lost its historic Moose Head Inn but it has gained a new industry.

The venerable old inn, which began life by housing weary stagecoach passengers, has been refurbished into sleek Moose Head House.

The moosehead which used to greet guests by the door has been mothballed, the colonial front spruced up and the interior plushly broadloomed to house GSP Management, a railway equipment supply firm on the run from the frustrations of doing business in Quebec.

In the upstairs rooms where Mae West once slept and writer Ralph Connor of "Glengarry School Days" fame was supposed to have written a novel, GSP's bluff President Noel Noseworthy minces few words about the move.

"We moved out of the Place Ville Marie (the firm still has a small sales staff there) and into South Lancaster because I got sick of all the business frustrations in that province," Noseworthy explained.

"We all held our breath for a while after we moved in last September, but all of us love it here. We love the small town atmosphere, the lack of traffic, the ease of doing business—the slower pace."

"It's half way between Montreal and Prescott where two of our manufacturing companies are located. It's an easy

NEW, BUT WITH AN OLD STYLE CHARM—The inside of the old Moose Head Inn is remodelled in wood panelling with modern electrical fixtures, but the mood of the early 1800's still lingers. drive to Montreal or Toronto to do business over lunch," he said.

Noseworthy said he first started thinking about getting out of Quebec in 1969 "when the bombings started, and one St. John the Baptist day the police told me to close down our big east end plant because they couldn't guarantee us police protection if we stayed open."

This, plus the fact that the railway took away the plant's siding, moved Noseworthy and his aides to shift manufacturing to Prescott where their divisions, Woodings and Union General, make components like spikes, automatic railcar springs and the like.

Another plant, Railcar Co., at Lindsay, manufactures rail cars which carry workmen, and modifies cars and trucks with train wheels allowing them to run on tracks as well as roads.

There is still a foundry in Ville St. Pierre outside Montreal but that is expected to be moved to Ontario soon.

GSP is the holding company for all of these operations.

"We also love not having to pay $115 a month for parking spaces as we had to in Place Ville Marie," his son David Noseworthy, a vice-president, reported.

Both Noseworthys have homes on the King's Road near Martintown, as have most of the other nine staff at Moosehead House. All have slipped effortlessly into the life of the surrounding community.

One of the most surprising things which happened after the company settled into its headquarters last fall was the deluge of responses they got from ads which ran in local papers for a controller, a cleaning lady and a switchboard operator.

They had 50 replies for the controller, about 30 for the cleaning lady and 20 or more for the switchboard.

"It showed us that there are many eager people willing to work around here if we expand," said Vice-president Sheila Dorion.

Miss Dorion, who does a great deal of her company's negotiating and planning for new facilities, has also settled into the community. She bought the beautiful old estate on the lake which belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Throsby

The question is—will the corporate headquarters of a company in South Lancaster create more jobs? And the answer is uncertain. The company officials look poker-faced when the question is put to them. They say they hope so, and it does seem from the undercurrents that GSP Management is a company run by enthusiastic hard-nosed go-ahead people.

The community has given GSP Management a good welcome.

As purchasing agent, Austin Gillespie explained, "we used local plumbers, workmen and carpenters when we were doing renovations. When we were through, Mr. Noseworthy thought there was so much interest in what we were doing among the local residents that we should have thrown an open house."

In November more than 200 people from the area took a tour, sipped wine, nibbled cheese and had a look at the noble inn which used to serve them racks of beef and Lancaster perch dinners in years gone by.

Mrs. Ross-Ross, a revered resident of the district, took one look and gave Mr. Noseworthy a priceless old partners' desk. She had been hunting for a home for the antique for many years. It's herculean dimensions made it impossible to fit into most homes.

Now the desk—which is really two massive desks joined together facing each other on which lawyer partners used to work and "watch each other"—is Mr. Noseworthy's most prized possession. He works on it every day.

There were many other beautiful antique pieces left in the old inn and two old breakfront pieces have been refinished and sit in the entrance hall and staff dining room.

So far, only the main body of the inn which was first called the Hunters Home and dates back to 1790, have been refurbished into executive suites.

The back section which used to house overflow guests will be turned into the sales department and meeting rooms in the future.

Asked if he and other staff didn't miss the hustle and stimulation of Montreal life, Mr. Gillispie pointed to the glistening ice and water of Lake St. Francis and breathed appreciatively, "Where in Montreal can you walk out of your office and breathe clean air like this and look out at the lake and the mountains?"

Perhaps the GSP Management executives have started a trend for South Lancaster as a new across the border corporate get-away.

Thomas McPhee dies in 80th year

A longtime resident of the third of Lochiel, Thomas McPhee died last week at the age of 79. He had been ailing since last August and was in Glengarry Memorial Hospital for about three weeks prior to his death.

Born in 1899 in Baraga, Michigan, the son of Neil McPhee and Janet McDougall, he never married.

He is survived by two brothers William and Alexander and a sister Annabelle (Mrs. Peter McPherson).

His funeral was held on February 21 from the Morris Funeral Home to St. Finnan's Cathedral. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Leo MacDonell.

The pallbearers were R.D. Chisholm, Allan Chisholm, Andra Doile, Archie Kennedy, Albert Seguin and Roland Periard.

To get Wintario funds

Charlottenburgh, Maxville and Williamstown will each be receiving grants from Wintario to support local recreational activities.

The three will be sharing $5,474 of the $116,819 handed out in the United Counties. Charlottenburgh will get the majority of this, $4,688 to install a fence and lights at the tennis courts in Green Valley.

Maxville will be getting $560 for its Blooperball League to assist with the purchase of equipment.

Williamstown's $226 will buy trophies and plaques for the Char-Lan Minor Hockey Association.

Another tournament trophy has been won by the Maxville Midgets and their coach Guy Mainville.

The Midgets went to the Cornwall Township competition in Long Sault and beat Potsdam 4-3. Then they defeated the Cornwall Minors 4-3. Both were close and exciting games and the locals won the "B" championship trophy.

A trophy case on all that wall space at the Sports Complex would be nice, to properly display all this hardware.

The Lions finally came up with a lady winner this week in their 50-50 draw—Mrs. Marie Aubin, Dyer Road.

Remember that the World Day of Prayer service is at St. Michael's Anglican Church this Friday evening at 8 p.m. All village congregations are taking part.

The Maxville and District Community Association is very grateful to the Maxville "No-Stars" for the generous donation recently received to help with their community activities.

Home for the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve were Mr. and Mrs. Brian Villeneuve of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Villeneuve and family of Ottawa.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

The Maxville Women's Institute hosted the birthday party of the month at the Manor on Friday afternoon, which was a departure from the usual evening schedule.

This was particularly successful as a record attendance of residents testified. With an afternoon at their disposal the entertainment was leisurely and very enjoyable.

Fred Lavigne came with his fiddle, Bill Cousineau with his guitar, and they played many a lively tune, with the accompaniment of Mrs. Wilma MacGregor, piano.

An unusual novelty followed this—Mrs. Hani Heinsma singing without any accompaniment, a melodic Dutch song, and then several favorites in English, all to the delight of the large audience.

Then came their long-time friend Hugh Stewart with his fiddle, and the old familiar Scottish airs. There was a light lunch of birthday cake and ice cream, since supper was to come later.

Thirteen residents celebrated a birthday in February, nine women and four men. The oldest, Miss Ethel Ostrom at 97, cut the birthday cake.

A highlight of the afternoon was the presentation by Administrator Munro of the Province of Ontario plaque to Mrs. Elizabeth B. Butler who was 90. Mrs. Butler is the mother of Mrs. Louise Walker of Dunvegan.

VALENTINE TEA

Just about everything interesting in town this week went on at the Manor. The dedicated members of the Maxville Manor Auxiliary held an impromptu Valentine's Day Tea—correctly, on February 14—and 100 residents were delighted to come to this.

Cakes and cookies and tea were served by their hostesses and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

People wanting to help the auxiliary with its good work are reminded that they will be most welcome at any of the regular monthly meetings which are held every third Wednesday, 8 p.m. in the library, or 7:30 for the sing-song that sets a cheerful note of fellowship for the evening. Mrs. Joan O'Hara is the membership convener for this season.

EUCHRE HELD

There was a euchre at the Manor this week, put on by the residents of Peter Street under the direction of Mrs. Lorna Winter.

Winners for the ladies were Mrs. Mack McRae, Joanna MacLeod, and Mrs. H. Hume. For the men it was Lorne Presley, Adelard Bissonette, and Father Ouimet.

The door prize went to Rod F. MacLennan. Next euchre is in two weeks time and this one will be organized by Claire Besner and Catherine Street.

Dunvegan

Marion L. Loewen

On the very cold weekend of February 17, the Noel Ladouceur family had visitors from Middlebury, Vermont, up for their annual snowmobile weekend. They arrived on Friday and enjoyed many hours out on the trails.

Those who left for Vermont on Sunday were Stewart and Sue Lee, Carol Cameron, Brent Lefave, Bobby Aimes and Mike Cameron. Moses and Margaret Cameron, brother of Annie Ladouceur, and Bill and Doris DeVoid left for home on Wednesday.

The Dunvegan Recreation Association will hold a meeting at the school at 8 p.m. on March 5.

On March 2, the Kenyon and Skye Women's Missionary Groups will hold the Annual World Day of Prayer at Kenyon Church.

The message of the program this year is, "Spiritual Growth," and was prepared by students in the Pan-African Leadership Course for Women at Mindolo Ecumenical Foundation, Kitwe, Zambia.

From these students came the news that one of the things that the preaching and teaching of Jesus did was to liberate women from a position of inferiority and give them a sense of dignity.

This being the "Year of the Child," the society invited Mrs. Bonnie Cappuccino to be guest speaker. Mrs. Cappuccino has been a leader, together with her husband, Fred Cappuccino, in the Families for Children movement.

Her message will be especially interesting and timely, and everyone is invited to hear her, and participate in the worship of our Lord.

Mr. Gordon Fresque of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, will be conducting Sunday Services in Kenyon Church for the month of March.

St. Raphael's fights back

The team from St. Raphael's has made a remarkable comeback in the Alexandria Intermediate Hockey League.

After losing all but three games in the first half of the season, the St. Raphael's squad buckled down and lost only three out of their last 15 games. This performance put them one point out of second place in the final standings.

In Sunday's first game, Lancaster finished off a successful season by defeating second place Glen Nevis 7-4. Goal getters for Lancaster were Brian Fisher with a pair, plus singles by Kerry MacKay, Glen Bethune, Jeff Fisher, Joe Dupuis and Brian Reasbeck.

For the Glen it was Warren MacKinnon, Mike MacDonald, Roddy McLeod and Bruce Howes. Howes is the regular Glen goalie.

In the final game, St. Raphael's ended on a positive note by downing Alexandria 4-3. Alexandria was winning with two minutes left, but the hot St. Raphael's boys netted two quick ones to take the match.

For the winners it was Jim MacLeod and Paul Seguin with a pair apiece. Alexandria's scorers were Jimmy Donovan, Peewee Poirier and Howard Cameron.

The semi-finals begin in Williamstown on Thursday when Lancaster takes on Alexandria in the A series. On Saturday the B series between St. Raphael's and Glen Nevis starts, and both continue the best of five play-offs on Sunday.

The finals will be best out of seven.

Broomball tourney was big success

by John Marjerrison

The second annual Maxville Junior Public School broomball tournament took place on Wednesday, February 21. Eighteen team from Glengarry and Stormont took part.

The day was filled with excitement with three of the four finals being decided in overtime.

In the junior girls' final, Williamstown beat Monkland 1-0 in overtime.

Monkland would not be denied in the junior boys' final as they beat Lancaster Township 1-0 (again in overtime). This was considered the best game of the day.

Berwick Public School dominated the senior division winning both the senior boys' and girls' events. Maxville senior was the opposition.

Trophies and crests were presented in each division. Junior boys' trophy was presented by Sandra Sproule, donated by Monkland Public School Committee.

Junior girls' trophy was presented by John Marjerrison, donated by Maxville Junior Public School Committee.

Senior boys' trophy was presented by Mrs. Sheila Lafave, donated by Maxville Junior Public School Committee.

Senior girls' trophy was presented by Doug Anderson, donated by Maxville Junior Public School.

Good sportsmanship prevailed with only one minor penalty being called all day.

Without the hard work of our industrious secretary, Mrs. Karen Collier and the support of our principal, Mrs. Alice Ferguson as well as our co-operative parent-teacher committee this day would not have been possible.

It was a very enjoyable and educational day for the several hundred students who participated.

BROOMBALL CHAMPIONS—These Grade 5 and 6 girls and boys were the A division champions in a broomball tournament held recently among the elementary schools in the area. The students from Laurier-Carriere are as follows: Grade 6, Claude Berry, Gaston Cadieux, Serge Cote, Nathalie Fournier, Anthony Hagen, Kristie Marr, Nathalie Raymond, Nathalie Paquette, Manon Sauve, Mario Seguin, Gilles Titley, Ginette Vachon; Grade 5, Chantal Patry, Jean-Pierre Charlebois, Sylvie Grenier, Nathan Hoedeman, Micheline Jeaurond, Yves Joanette, Ghislain Lasalle, Stephane Lefebvre, Daniel Massie, Dean McDonald, Manon Meloche, Natalie Meloche, Claudine Ouimet, Mark Rickerd, Angela Stewart and Yvon Theoret.

Alexandria will host Tournament of Champions

ADMHA President Morlin Campbell said the town of Alexandria should be getting a financial boost on the March 31-April 1 weekend.

On Saturday the Sports Palace will be the scene of the "Tournament of Champions," as the top eight Midget and Peewee teams from zone II, Petawawa to the Quebec border, play for the "B" category trophy.

People and teams from all over the district are expected to start arriving on Friday night. Teams have just finished playing in the first round of the playoffs and both Alexandria teams are still in the fight.

If they do as well in the semi-finals, two home teams will be among the eight participating for the championship. Our local Alexandria District Minor Hockey Association will be selecting the referees and minor officials.

News Cup meeting held Sunday

The final organizational meeting for The Glengarry News Cup will be on Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

All interested parties should be in attendance.

Ladies start finals

Hope's Auto Parts and Starr Taxi have advanced into the finals of the Alexandria Ladies' Broomball League by knocking out Sealtest and GTL respectively.

Both teams won the third and deciding games of their semi-final series by 1-0 scores.

Debbie Robinson was the markswoman for Hope's and Louise Laferriere potted the winner for Starr.

The two teams will begin the best of five finals for the A championship tonight at 8, while GTL and Sealtest battle at 9 in the first game for the B trophy.

Continue playdowns

The Alexandria Bantam, Midget and Peewee Glens are beginning the second rounds of their playdowns.

The Peewees will be facing South Gloucester and Osgoode-Rideau in a single round-robin.

The Midgets will be playing in a round-robin also, against North Gloucester and Osgoode-Rideau.

The Bantams will be playing on March 9 against South Gloucester in a best of five series.

Lose two out of three

The Char-Lan travelling teams did not do well this week, losing two out of three of their games.

In Can-Am Midget play, Char-Lan Desjardins Bus Line lost 3-2 to North Franklin.

The Glendale Hotel Atoms edged Potsdam 5-4 in Can-Am Atom play.

In exhibition Novice action, Cornwall Township slipped by the Char-Lan "Stars" 1-0.

Glens split opening playoff games

by Carl Rines

The Jr. B Glens are not conceding a thing to the powerful Rockland Nats as they opened their quarter series finals on Friday evening with a 3-2 win at the Sports Palace.

Rockland began to flex its muscles immediately in the first period but the Glens did not back off at all. They met the Nats body for body. As a result of the hard-hitting, close-checking style of hockey the first period was scoreless.

The Glens, however, did have the edge in play but the puck just was not bouncing in their favor and Alain Labelle came up with some big saves in the Rockland net.

The Glens came out on the fly in the second period and carried the play right to Rockland.

George Lunan got the Glens' first goal at 4:36 of the period with Laurie McRae and Mike Crack assisting on the play.

Lunan had a couple of good opportunities to add to the score but was foiled on every attempt by the Rockland goalie. The Glens kept pressing and had several good scoring chances outshooting Rockland 2-1.

However, it was Rockland who scored the next goal. Jeff Farrell found the mark beating Robert Hartley at 18:01 of the period.

Brock Marshall and Jean Guertin assisted on the goal. This made the score 1-1 to end the period.

With Alexandria still having the better of the play, Rockland scored at the 2:50 mark of the third period. Jean Guertin found the mark with Gamarche and Marshall assisting.

However, with a very partisan 500 fans cheering them on the Glens kept up their relentless pressure. Pressing deep in Rockland territory Dougie Campbell finally fired one home at 5:33 with a nice passing play from Leo Seguin and Mike Zappia.

The Glens really turned it on at this point and outhustled and outshot Rockland.

Again with great pressure on Rockland the puck came back to Luc Poirier on a clearing pass by the Nats. With a fine slap shot from the left point Poirier found an open corner to score the winner. The time of the goal came at 19:48 and was unassisted.

Rockland pulled their goalie, but with close checking by the Glens, was unable to get the equalizer. Six penalties were called during the game with five going to Rockland and one to the Glens. Sandy Maclaren left the game at the end of the period with a knee problem. It is not known how long Sandy will be sidelined. Let's hope not too long.

NATS TIE SERIES

In Rockland on Sunday evening it proved to be a hometown night as the Nationals tied up the series at one game apiece with a 6-3 win over the Glens.

The score, however, was not indicative of the play for most of the game.

The first period saw both teams come out hitting but the Glens just could not get anything going for them in the way of scoring. Rockland, however, came up big as the Glens defense seemed non existent. The Nats got goals from Serge Payant at 3:50; Richard Bedard at 10:27; Sylvain Myre at 15:18; and Daniel Lanthier at 17:19.

It seemed as though the Glens were in for a rough night. However, Glenn MacDonell got the Glens on the scoreboard at the 17:33 mark on a set up by Chris Kormanyos. The period ended 4-1 in favor of Rockland.

Seven penalties were assessed with four going to the Glens and three to Rockland. All were minors.

In the second period Alain Giroux replaced Robert Hartley in the nets for the Glens. The rookie goaltender came up big and kept Rockland scoreless throughout the period.

The locals did seem to get it together in the second period and again carried the play to the Nats.

However, Alain Labelle was next to superb in the Rockland cage and kept the Glens scoreless until Laurie McRae found the mark right from a faceoff deep in Rockland territory.

The goal came at 16:51 and was unassisted. It was a penalty-filled period with both teams picking up two majors for fighting and eight minors.

In the third period the Glens continued to press and as a result the play was in the Rockland zone for most of the period.

However, it wasn't until the 16:29 mark that the first goal was scored. Captain Yvan Desautels found the mark with assists going to Mike Zappia and Dougie Campbell.

With Alexandria applying tremendous pressure to get the equalizer, Labelle robbed them time and time again. With the Glens trying to set up a scoring play Donald Godard picked off a pass and raced down the ice unmolested and beat Giroux. The time of the goal was 18:30. It was unassisted.

The Glens then pulled the goalie in an attempt to get back on the scoresheet.

With just two seconds left Sylvain Myre got an empty net goal with the assist going to Tony Kadikoff. The win for Rockland ties the series at one game apiece. The next home game will be on Friday, March 2.

Rebels lose last two games

by Stewart Fourney

The Char-Lan Junior C Rebels came off an 8-4 loss to Embrun on Wednesday all fired up to down Chesterville, but lost 8-7 on Thursday. The losses were the last two regular season games. The Rebels finished in third place in the nine team league.

In Thursday's game, the Jets jumped into a quick lead with a goal by Plummer after only 49 seconds gone. Just three mintues later McRoberts made it 2-0.

The Rebels bounced right back before the end of the first period, however, getting goals first from Marc Seguin (Lloyd Fourney, Jim Brown) and then with 1:52 left from Ray Bourdon (Primeau, Fontaine).

The second period was full of end-to-end hockey, with neither team able to score until Neil Kittle started a spree with 7:59 left in the second.

He scored again for the Jets a few minutes later to make it 4-2.

Then Bourdon picked up his second of the night (Spink, Brown) to narrow the score.

Chesterville made the gap two again, this time Pat Kelly ruffling the net.

Fontaine made it 5-4 (Bourdon, Primeau) opening the way for Primeau's tying marker with just 54 seconds left (Bourdon).

The Rebels kept the momentum going into the start of the third period, Seguin picking up his second (Fourney, Fontaine) to put the home team ahead.

The lead was short lived, however, Bruce Angus tying the score a few minutes later and then Beckstead putting the Jets back on top with his goal.

Harvey Primeau tied the score again for the Rebels, becoming the third Char-Lan player that night to get a pair (Bourdon, Seguin).

Our local boys kept pressing for the go-ahead goal by playing wide open hockey. The Jets got three break-aways in the last minute and finally Neil Kittle rounded out his hat trick to give Chesterville the win with only two second ville the win with only two seconds left.

EMBRUN 8, REBELS 4

The disappointing, last minute loss on Thursday was heightened by the loss to Embrun the night before.

Although the local team jumped to a 2-0 early lead, the 72s were hot with the shots and chippy on the ice.

Lee Sheets started things off (Seguin) and Mitchell MacDonald made it two-zip (Bill McBean).

Prevost put the visitors on the board near the end of the first period.

In the second period things started to sour for the Rebels, the Embrun boys scoring twice to take a 3-2 lead.

Embrun started fast in the final period, Brayer making it 4-2.

Then Bourdon connected to narrow the gap (Spink), but the 72s potted four in a row to pretty well put the game away.

Mike Tessier finished the game off with Char-Lan's final marker at 18:30 (Spink, Brown). Embrun picked up 10 of the 16 penalties handed out.

The Rebels begin their playoffs on Thursday night in Williamstown against Osnabruck Township. The first game of the best-of-three series will be at eight o'clock and as many fans as can attend are encouraged to come out. This is the team that knocked the local boys out last year.

Daughters of Isabella discuss International Year of the Child

by Edna Gareau

Thirty members of the Daughters of Isabella attended the February meeting which was opened with prayers by Rev. Desrosiers.

He spoke on the International Year of the Child. Adults and parents should refresh their minds concerning what a spoiled or badly treated child could grow to be. What can be done to help them?

Alcoholism is a major problem, which could be rectified by parents refraining from drinking in the presence of their children.

Rev. Desrosiers made a point of reminding us that Lent was beginning this week, that it should not be used as a 40-day diet, but a time for penance, which should be explained to children and also it is a time of prayers.

The recreation committee is organizing a sandbag throw tournament to be held at the K of C Hall, March 11 at 12:30. Fee is $2 per family and members who are interested, may contact Ginette Cloutier, 525-1889.

A communion breakfast is being planned for June 3.

Sympathy cards were sent by Rita Filion and 200 pieces of clothing were distributed to needy families with Yvonne Carriere in charge.

The initiation date is April 29. Any members with candidates, may contact Evelyne Secours, 525-1350.

Door prize went to Annette Rozon and Kitty Pot was won by Rita Constance who was not present.

The evening ended with card games, a lunch and refreshments. Next meeting is March 21.

Martintown WI discuss history

The February meeting of the Martintown Women's Institute was well attended with 37 members and five guests present.

A most interesting roll call was "Bring a treasure and tell its history." Some of the items were an old quilt, musical chalet box, pewter broach, and an old scrapbook of a member's father dating back 100 years that survived the Birmingham flood in England and managed to reach the new world.

These were but a few of the many items presented.

Mrs. Eileen Johnston introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Harold Fourney, called Ruth by her friends in Bainsville.

Mrs. Fourney's topic was, "The rights of the child." She pointed out various aspects of our life today and the years gone by and noted that it is 50 years since Canadian women's rights were passed. She ended with a poem entitled, "Living and Giving."

There will be two classes for fashion design held March 7 at Alexandria and Avonmore.

The district annual delegate to represent this area at the Waterloo Officers Conference May 1 to 3 is Mrs. Beverly Runions.

A rather different lunch was served which was Mennonite food from Elmira, New York, brought back by a member and her husband following a plowing match.

Jan Buckland as program director gave a Valentine game which was won by Lorraine Ramsay and Onagh Ross in a tie.

The hostesses were Sylvia Thomson, Emily MacInnes, Eileen Johnston, Johanna Van Loon.

The March 15 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Helen McMillan, 1:30 p.m., with roll call being, "Something I will never buy again."

Honors given

The following is a list of successful candidates in examination held February 3 by the Western Conservatory of London in St. Margaret's Convent.

Rudiments-introductory: First class honors, Elizabeth A. MacDonald, Lyne F. Montpetit, Alain Gauthier and Diane Cousineau.

Plans supper at Bainsville

by Mary Thompson

The United Church Women, Bainsville, held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Condie.

The president opened the meeting with a poem, "The End of the Road."

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. Pearl Thompson and she used an interesting topic, "If the Dollars Dry Up."

The roll call was answered with a verse containing the word love. Quite a number of our members were on the sick list so we remembered them all with cards.

The dates for our upcoming suppers were chosen: April 28, for our smorgasbord supper; July 7 for our ham and salad supper; and September 22, for our turkey and ham supper.

The program was in the charge of Mrs. Ruth Fourney. It is 30 years since the human rights movement came into effect and the first laws were very harsh.

They're now revised so human rights is our job to project and to look at creatively. Laws don't create attitudes, but in a democracy, attitudes can and should create laws.

OFA hammers federal policy

"Shocked and shackled" are some of the words used by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to describe farmers' reaction to federal government agricultural policy, in their brief presented to a committee of the federal cabinet recently.

The 18-page, strongly worded brief, presented by OFA President Peter Hannam, concentrated on four major areas of discussion—market development, taxation, stabilization and the Animal Contagious Diseases Act. Although it commends the federal government for its initial action in some areas of these four points, the brief expresses strong general dissatisfaction.

Calling the present tariff structure a "meaningless means of protection" the brief explains that most governments protect their agricultural industry with a tariff structure, but the "Canadian government continues to expose Canadian farmers to every cheap labor, cheap resource area in the world."

The result, it said, has been the decline of our best lands as well as the decline of the fruit and vegetable industry.

Hannam added that consumers were now paying for this lack of foresight with the present high cost of imported fruits and vegetables. He said direct action needs to be taken before the 1979 planting season.

The brief strongly supports national marketing boards, saying they are an "essential tool" providing orderly and effective marketing for Canadian products for the benefit of both farmer and consumer. It says the new guidelines for the National Farm Products Marketing Council has created "insecurity" in the minds of farmers and it "deplores" the fact that "farmers' interests are commencing to be east aside as a result of inter-ministerial political in-fighting at the federal government level.

"We warn you (the federal government)," the brief says, "if farm marketing systems are shackled and destroyed, food supplies and prices will become more erratic."

The brief commends the federal government on the idea of creating a Canadian Agricultural Export Council, to improve Canada's export markets, but adds, the OFA is "shocked and disappointed at hearing of (the) intention to establish this council but to emasculate it by limiting it to an advisory role.

"The last thing farmers need is another advisory council. Farmers can't live on advice, we need action," the brief states.

The brief also calls for the abolition of the capital gains tax because of the "continuing inequities imposed on farmers for no apparent useful purpose."

It explains that adequate stabilization programs would improve farm income, security and provide steadier food supplies.

With regard to the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, the brief states, compensation for loss of livestock because of contagious diseases should cover the farmer's loss of income, the clean-up expenses and the replacement value of the animal. "Current government policy is woefully inadequate," Hannam added.

The OFA is the largest farmers' voluntary organization in Ontario, representing 90 per cent of Ontario farmers with over 23,500 farm families in direct membership, plus 18 commodity marketing boards, three provincial cooperatives and seven provincial commodity and education associations as members also.

Rev. Eligius Weir dies in 86th year

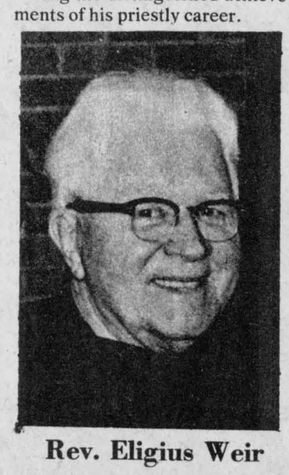
A noted Glengarry grandson of the Franciscan Order, Father Eligius Weir, O.F.M., following a lengthy illness died on January 13, at Northwestern Memorial Hospital, Chicago. Father Weir was 85.

The late Father Weir was a son of the late Daniel (Dan) Weir and Margaret McDonald formerly of the Alexandria area. The present next-of-kin are family members of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weir, Alexandria, Mr. and Mrs. John Laughlin MacDonald, Glen Robertson Road and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weir, Lancaster.

Father Eligius Weir was born on May 30, 1893, in Ashland, Wisconsin. He received his elementary education in Ashland. He entered the Franciscan Order in 1913 and was ordained a priest on June 29, 1920, by John Cardinal Glennon in St. Louis, Mo.

His first priestly assignment was filling the role of Catholic Chaplain at the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet, Illinois. It was during his tenure as Prison Chaplain that Father Weir gained state and national prominence for his ministry especially at the time of the major prison riot in 1933. Due to his disciple-like and affable personality so respected by the prisoners the Warden gave Father Weir permission to go among the prisoners and try to bring about reconciliation in an attempt to end the riot. Father Weir's dangerous mission was successful.

Following 22 years in the arduous priestly work in the State prison, Father Weir became Provincial of the Sacred Heart Franciscan Province. During his administration the site was purchased and construction completed of St. Peter's church, Chicago. He later served Chicago's noted "Loop" church and spent six years as retreat master before returning to St. Peter's church and parish that he established and cherished so much among the distinguished achievements of his priestly career.



Rev. Eligius Weir

In semi-retirement Father Weir filled various chaplaincies to religious groups.

Father Weir is survived by two sisters, Isabella Weir of Cleveland, Ohio, and Sister M. Issia, O.S.F. of Lacrosse, Wisconsin.

The principal celebrant of the mass of Christian Burial was Father Dismas Bonner, O.F.M. John Cardinal Cody gave the final commendation with burial at the Friars Cemetery, Mayslake Retreat House in Oak Brook, Ill.

More Indians charged

The National Indian Brotherhood is helping the St. Regis Indians to fight their battle with the federal government over health service cuts.

The brotherhood has started raising money to offset the legal costs of three Mohawk chiefs and 31 tribe members who are charged in connection with allegedly illegal toll booths set up on the international bridge in Cornwall.

On January 17, Indians set up six toll gates on the bridge linking Cornwall to the USA and asked motorists for a $1 donation. According to the band, the money was needed to provide for the glasses, drugs, transportation and dental work that Health Minister Monique Begin announced would no longer be subsidized by the government.

Brotherhood President Moel Starblanket said the government was "using the courts to carry out a political vendetta" against the Indians of St. Regis.

He also said the Indian Organizations of Canada "refuse to sit back and watch the St. Regis Indians martyred by the government."

Doesn't want mobile homes

The residents around Raoul Fourney's proposed mobile home park near Bonville have objected to any zoning change that would make the development possible.

A delegation from the area around lots 17 and 18 on the Seventh Concession of Cornwall appeared before Cornwall Township Council recently to present a petition outlining opposition to the zoning change.

Reeve John Cleary told the delegation the objections would be attached to the amending by-law when it went to the Ontario Municipal Board to be studied.

The OMB will likely hold a hearing into the matter, and the residents will be able to air their concerns.

Fourney applied to the council to ave the zone changed from an agricultural one to a mobile home development. By law all residents within 400 feet of the proposed zoning change must be notified.

The development would consist of about 20 lots.

Kindergarten threatened

The next school year may be the last in which students in Ontario can attend full-day kindergarten.

The provincial government recently announced that it intends to abandon the funding of full-day kindergartens throughout Ontario.

Only half-day programs, which presently contain a small percentage of kindergarten students, would be subsidized by the government.

The cutbacks apply to both public and separate school boards and representatives of both have condemned the move as a "step backward."

One board official suggested that several regional boards from all over Ontario may unite to fight the decision.

T. R. Leger, director of education for SD&G County Board of Education, pointed out that reductions will not be effective until September, 1980. That gives the boards a year to try and get the province to change its mind.

Beyond the call of duty

There has been a lot of discussion in our editorial and letters page in recent weeks concerning teachers and methods of evaluating their performance. If anyone wants a good example of what dedication is all about, they need only look at the music workshop being held at Glengarry District High School next month.

Spearheaded by GDHS music director Pierre Vaillancourt, the workshop will allow 68 students from the nine secondary schools in SD&G to hone their musical talents to a finer edge.

The event is to be an annual affair and will rotate from school to school.

You will not find music workshops outlined in the board's curriculum requirements. It is the brainchild of people committed to the cause of education, who needed no legislative prodding to take an interest in their students.

To the teachers and board officials who have ventured beyond the call of duty, we offer our congratulations and best wishes for a successful first year.

McMurtry sets sites on coaches

Ontario Attorney-General Roy McMurtry, who attained instant fame when he began prosecuting hockey players involved in brawls, has indicated he may go after coaches and team owners next.

Speaking at a recent forum, McMurtry's assistant, Mark Conacher, said "it is not beyond the realm of possibility that owners or coaches are going to be charged with conspiracy for counselling players to commit an assault."

Such charges have been laid in the United States, Conacher said and the measure may be taken here to cut down on "goon tactics" employed by some coaches and owners.

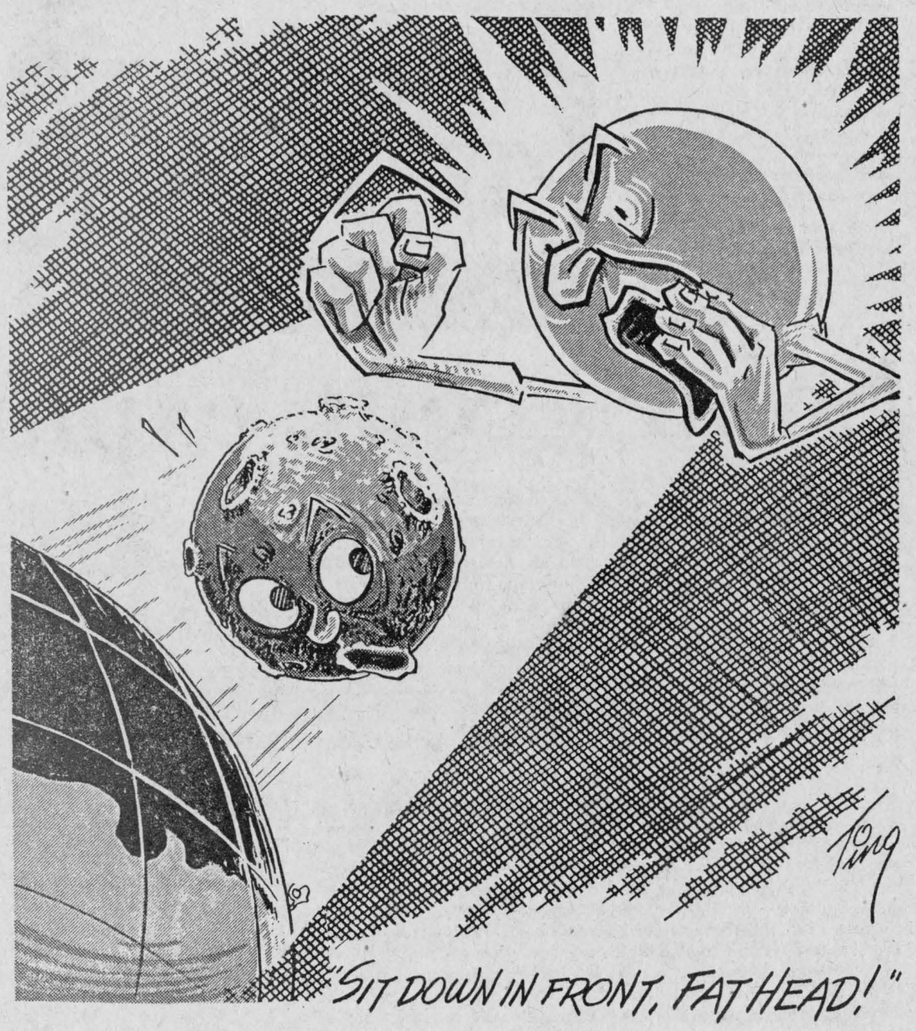
The attorney-general's office has correctly concluded that violence on the ice is not simply an isolated incident involving a few hot-heads. It has become part of the game. It is not only accepted by some people, but even encouraged.

"There is a certain subculture (in society) who tend to tolerate violence," Conacher said.

"My concern is that hockey is coming to represent that type of subculture."

And tolerate it we do. Conacher couldn't have summed up the sickness better than when he said:

"I've yet to see fans leave when a fight breaks out. They stand up and cheer."



We all know the truth hurts

Rusty Russell probably didn't make too many friends at the recent Rural Ontario Municipal Association convention. The Orillia lawyer got up in front of all those local politicians and told them exactly what they didn't want to hear.

He told them they were often the ones most to blame for hold-ups in development schemes, because they hadn't bothered to educate themselves.

Russell said most rural governments fail to check thoroughly into Ontario Municipal Board regulations covering simple planning procedures before seeking approval for new or amended by-laws.

Experience in Glengarry County tends to back up Russell. On more than one occasion, local councils have found themselves tripped up by planning regulations they themselves, unwittingly approved.

With the advent of official plans, zoning by-laws and a host of other development regulations, municipal government has become much more complicated than it was even five years ago. Many local politicians have not kept pace.

Accompanying this increasing complexity in government, is a growing reliance on outside professional advice—the consultant. Few municipalities today could meet their obligations without such assistance. There is a danger here, however, and we have seen the signs in Glengarry. Often, documents such as official plans are drafted by consultants after consultation with provincial civil servants. Because some matters are complicated, significant clauses in these documents are often overlooked by elected officials. A few years later, when a particular development is stopped in its tracks, the municipal politicians are left scratching their heads wondering how they could ever have passed such a by-law.

While Russell's advice was to use even more professional help to keep the wheels of government turning, we would suggest that it is just as important for the politicians to do their homework. Otherwise, our elected officials will become mere figureheads, with the real decision-making power being delegated to private consultants and civil servants.

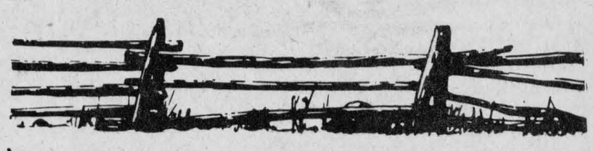
'From the old rail fence'



by Judy Allinott

Back when I was a student at Iona Academy, English was one of my favorite classes. This I suppose was thanks to Sister Genevieve who brought the subject to life with such enthusiasm, especially in the debates she promoted.

One of these I took part in dealt with the influence of TV on children. I was upholding the negative side and had to come up with several arguments and theories to support my team.

Little did I realize then as a Grade 9 student, I would be still fighting the battle 15 years later with my own children.

A recent survey revealed that the North American child watches an average of 36 hours of TV a week.

Another survey points out that Canadian children are among the least fit children in the world. I wonder if the magic boob tube has anything to do with this condition of our children.

It is so easy to use the TV as a baby sitter after a late Friday night fling. The automatic suggestion on Saturday morning is "Kids, how about watching the cartoons?"

When friends drop in it is so easy to dispose of the children in another room: "Now sit quiet and watch TV."

The occasions for watching go on and on. We have transformed our children into mesmerized statues that do not hear or think or respond to anything that isn't in living color.

It is so easy too for ourselves to come home from a hard day's work, put up our feet and float into oblivion. There is no need to talk or become emotional with the TV situation; after all it is just a show.

The art of communication disappears. We escape from reality. And in this vulnerable state of semi-consciousness we are sitting ducks to have someone else's ideas, attitudes and standards imbedded in our minds.

Do we develop a feeling of disappointment because our children aren't as perfect as those portrayed in The Brady Bunch and do our children feel cheated because their parents do not always portray the ready wisdom and perfect answers of the TV parent?

There has to be a time for everything and we decided Lent would be a good time for a change of habit in our household. By mutual consent we are limiting TV viewing to the weekends.

We are hoping to be the better for it through a philosophy of "give rather than give up." We are going to try to give more time and attention to our children and they are going to let us view them from a new position—the front.

As Mork would say to Orson—"Here's signing off until next week: Nanno Nanno."

Perspective

by Bob Roth

Fearing the public

I was reading an article recently concerning budget discussions in Deep River. It seems they have the same problem with secrecy in local government over there.

For the second year in a row, council defeated a motion that the budget sessions be open to the public and the ongoing proceedings be published.

The chairman of the finance committee, who favored open meetings, argued that establishing the budget was council's most important responsibility and yet taxpayers are not informed until after the fact—when it's too late for public in-put.

The same tired arguments we've heard before for secrecy, were put forward by the majority of councillors.

"I don't like operating in a fish bowl," moaned one servant of the people.

Then what is he doing in public office?

"If the public isn't satisfied with the pudding when it's cooked, then they can send me my walking papers," was another comment.

The trouble is, the public is still stuck with the burnt pudding after the chef is gone.

If a municipality commits itself to a major undertaking, the public could be left with financial obligations for several years. Giving the responsible politicians their "walking papers" won't do anything to remove that burden.

It was left to the mayor to come up with the most revealing excuse for secrecy.

"With the best will in the world, I don't believe that council can be honest and open if the press is free to publish the proceedings."

What's this? A politician cannot be "honest" when he knows the public is listening to what he is saying?

There is an underlying belief among many local politicians that the public should have no role in local matters once the council is elected.

There are also those—in the tiniest of minorities—who recognize that to truly fulfill their roles as public servants, it is necessary to keep the channels of communications open to their constituents.

They realize that striking the budget is the single most important action a council is likely to take during the year and it would do no harm to let the public in on how their money is being spent and why it is being spent that way.

As for those politicians who say they get a nervous itch everytime they have to deal openly with their constituents, the cure is simple: Remove yourself from the source of the allergy. Don't run in the first place.

They'll Do It Every Time

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I wonder if any readers of The Glengarry News have information or records in connection with the Kirk Hill out post Sunday Schools, Mission Bands, prayer meetings (held in schools or community halls), Women's Missionary Society and associate groups around 1912 to 1920?

During the horse and buggy days and the period when both churches at Kirk Hill held Presbyterian Free Church status, and under the ministries of Rev. J. R. Douglas, St. Columba, and Rev. Allan Morrison, Kirk Hill West, I have been told that well-attended out post Sunday School groups were led by laymen, members of session, school teachers all well qualified to teach the Christian gospel to children of families in each area.

Thanks to Mrs. J. R. MacLeod, McCrimmon West, I have some facts, figures and human interest features re the outpost Laggan Sunday School held on Sunday afternoons in a hall.

Other outpost Sunday Schools were held at McCrimmon Hall, Dalkeith Public School and in the Lochiel West Public School (Fassifern).

Were the mid-week prayer meetings held monthly or weekly in Dalkeith public school and McCrimmon Hall (then under ownership of the Sons of Scotland)?

Is it a fact that the elderly and disabled who could not attend outpost services were remembered by the ministry of the cottage prayer meeting in their own homes?

It was explained that these various outpost ministries were in obedience to the command given by Christ in Mark 16:15. The family conveyances only accommodated three or four persons to the church service so the gospel message must be taken out, especially to the children.

It is to be hoped that somewhere within the church records a word in tribute to these dedicated people has been chronicled.

This was a labor of love during a period when every year, was the year of the child.

Solar group expanding

by Richard G. Kerr

The Solar Energy Society group has decided to call itself the Eastern Ontario Chapter in order to attract members from outside Glengarry County.

At the recent meeting on February 16 on Energy Conserving Building Design using Passive Solar Energy, there were three speakers.

Leo Durocher of Vankleek Hill told about his house which has most of the windows on the south side facing the winter sun. The windows are protected from the summer sun by a two-foot overhang of the eaves. He also built the house with 2x6 studs and R20 insulation in the walls. Leo reported that there have been substantial savings in heating costs due to the south facing windows and extra insulation. Richard Kerr of Dalkeith, spoke about ways to design buildings to collect the energy from the winter sun, to store heat in building materials and to minimize heat loss to the cold outdoors by means of curtains on insulated tight-fitting shades or shutters and by means of insulation.

Ron Green of Dunvegan spoke about ways to prevent cold air from leaking through the walls of the building. He told about the Saskatchewan Energy Conservation House. The builders took special care to seal the joints in the vapor barrier. They provided nighttime shutters over the south-facing windows.

The house also was provided with an inexpensive air to air heat exchanger which allowed warm stale house exhaust air to give up its heat to fresh cold intake air. The Conservation House in Regina had a heating bill of $35 for the winter, which is colder than ours.

The next meeting of the Solar Energy Society will be held on March 9 at 7:30 at Glengarry District High School in Alexandria. The subject of the meeting will be Solar-Adapted Greenhouses for Plants and Heat. Newcomers are welcome to attend. More information can be obtained by writing to SESCI, Box 162, Alexandria, K0C 1A0.

Another recent arrival is Nursing Sister E. Dingwall of Lancaster. —Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. L. Christie and family, Apple Hill, in the death of their son, Lieut. Dan Christie of the RAF, who died overseas last week.—Eugene McDonald, Glen Norman, who returned from overseas a short time ago, intends leaving in a few days for Edmonton, Alta.

While in Toronto this week, V.G. Chisholm, clerk of the Township of Lochiel, will wait upon the Hon. Mr. Rheaume, Minister of Public Works in the Whitney administration, and urge the granting of provincial aid toward the Spring Creek Drainage Scheme.—Alexandrians who were interested spectators at the Ottawa Wanderer hockey match, Wednesday evening when the former became once again the defenders of the Stanley Cup, include: D. A. McDonald, Donald McPhee, J. D. McDonald, J. P. Manion, Dr. Cheney, S. A. Gormley, Wilton McPhee, Allan McDonald, G. McDonald and Geo. McDonald.—The Misses Angusena MacDonald and Lynda McPherson, graduates of the Cornwall Commercial College, are at present visiting their home in Lochiel.

EIGHTY YEARS AGO

Lancaster has the material right at home for the formation of one of the most formidable hockey teams in Canada, in the persons of the Rayside brothers, Harkness brothers, D. J. McPherson, J. McGillis and Andy McDonald. This team would average 175 pounds, they all play A1 hockey, and we would like to see them try conclusions with Cornwall before the season closes.—The contract is now let for building of the new High School at Williamstown, and the work will be commenced the first of the week. The school is to be ready for September.—Murdie McLeod, Dalhousie Mills, left on Monday for Montreal, where he has secured a position at the Montreal Belt Line R.R.

MacEwen to head Shriners Chapter

William MacEwen, owner of MacEwen Ford in Maxville, has been elected illustrious potentate

(Intended for last issue)

The euchre party took place last Thursday evening with 10 tables in play.

The ladies first prize went to Anna Plamondon and the low prize to Mrs. Therese Chartrand of Ottawa.

The gentlemen's first prize was won by Joseph Poirier and the low by Warren Brown.

Hosts for the evening were Lloyd MacLennan and Stewart MacLennan. Next euchre party is March 1.

Mrs. Lionel Ouimet and her sister, Mrs. Aline Anderson of Ottawa, have recently returned from ten days in Miami, Florida.

While there they visited their sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Renaud in Fort Lauderdale.

You haven't heard much about that stop sign for a while, but it seems as though one anonymous council member would favor a flashing yellow caution light. This would eliminate disturbing the road, cutting the trees and be a more reasonable expense. However, we must ask ourselves if it would do the trick, and stop the disgraceful racing through the village. Hidden intersection signs don't deter the speeding motorists in the least. The stop sign costs even less, about $32. Think about it.

Leaves 84 descendants

Mrs. Lea Jeaurond, mother of 15, grandmother of 61 and great-grandmother of eight died last Wednesday at the age of 78. She is survived by her husband Andre.

She is also mourned by brothers Gerard Roy of Alexandria, Rheal Roy of Montreal and Ernest Roy of Vaudreuil. Surviving sisters are Alice Girouard of Ste. Anne de Prescott and Francoise Tessier of Hawkesbury.

The funeral was held on Saturday from the Marcoux Funeral Home to the Sacred Heart Church. Interment will be in St. Paul's parish cemetery, Dalkeith.

The officiating clergyman was Reverend Roger Desrosiers, assisted by Rev. Gary Ostler. Pallbearers were Michel Jeaurond, Leo Legault, Andre Chenier, Lucien Lauzon, Daniel Lamer and Yves Paquette.

M. Richer dies after long illness

Moses Richer died February 23 at the age of 74 in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall after being in ill health for some time.

Mr. Richer was a life-long resident of Glengarry County and farmed here until his semi-retirement.

He is survived by his wife Pauline Hamelin and his seven children, Rene of Apple Hill, Alice (Mrs. John Paul Marleau) of Montreal, John of Apple Hill, Maurice of Calgary, Marguerite (Mrs. Wm. Goundry) of Petawawa, Marie (Mrs. Kevin Henry) of Aylmer, Que., Madeleine (Mrs. Vern McClelland) of Orleans, Ont.

In Memoriam

TREPANIER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away March 1, 1973.
We had a father with a heart of gold,
That was more to us than wealth untold;
There wasn't a thing too big or too small,
That he wouldn't try to do for us all.
Without farewell he fell asleep,
With only memories for us to keep.
To be together in the same old way,
Would be our dearest wish today.
—Sadly missed by wife Flora and daughter Roseanna, son-in-law Louis Hurtubise. 9-1p

Sunday visitors with Mrs. Leona Lafrance and family were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Houle of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Sabourin and daughter, Mrs. Jeannine Carbino, of Cornwall visited with Mr. and Mrs. Aime Lalonde recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Gibeault accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Villeneuve of Maxville and spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Beauchamp and family of Montreal.

Mrs. Kerry McIntyre and daughter Karen McIntyre returned to their home "The Manse" the latter part of the week after spending two months with relatives in Western Canada.

COURTS

Sentenced for breaking and entering

Three men have been sentenced and a fourth has been remanded until March 26 in connection with a break, enter and theft charge laid against them for an incident at the Lalonde (IGA) warehouse September 7.

Michael Gareau, 22, of Green Valley, was sentenced to four months in jail with 12 months probation.

Henri Sarault, 21, of Cornwall and Paul Lauzon, 20, of Ottawa, have both been sentenced to 90 days in jail to be served on weekends, plus 12 months probation.

All three also have to make $265 restitution. They pleaded guilty before Judge Patrick White in Alexandria court.

A fourth man, brother Maurice Sarault, 18, of Alexandria, has been remanded for sentencing until March 26.

Joy riders convicted

Two Alexandria men pleaded guilty in provincial court on Tuesday to taking a Starr Taxi for a ride on February 10.

Gerald Cuerrier and Bruno Theoret, both 19, have to pay $800 restitution. Cuerrier has been given a 12-month suspended sentence and Theoret a three-month term with 12 months probation.

Pleads guilt to theft

Gerald Hutt, 29, of Vankleek Hill, pleaded guilty in provincial court on Tuesday to a charge of auto theft.

Hutt stole a van from in front of the Alexandria Pizzeria on February 3 while his licence was under suspension.

He was sentenced to six months in prison for auto theft plus three months for driving on a suspended license.

To pay fine

Pierre Brunet, 23, of no fixed address, was sentenced to 12 months probation and will have to pay a $250 fine in connection with a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

The incident occurred on February 24 when Brunet attacked Richard Heslington of Glen Robertson, in front of the Starr Taxi stand.

Dies in Cornwall

Ernest St. Denis, 53, died at Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall February 21.

He is survived by his wife the former Jeanette Menard, and children Denis, Richard, Yvon, Mrs. Gerard Vivarais (Nicole), Mrs. Robert Tessier (Suzanne), Mrs. Jean Depatie (Colette), Mrs. Gerry Brousseau (Carole) and Denise, all of Cornwall.

Also surviving are his sisters Mrs. Albert Depratto (Roseanna), Mrs. Joseph Cholette (Clauda) and Mrs. Romeo Bellefeuille (Dorina) all of Alexandria; Mrs. Alban Lefebvre (Bertha) and Mrs. Raymond Legroulx (Glorisa) of Cornwall; Mrs. Armand Lalonde (Anna), Vankleek Hill.

He was predeceased by a son Jean Jacques and three brothers, Hector, Wilfred and Paul Emile.

Funeral was held February 24 to St. John Bosco Church, with Spring interment at Nativity Cemetery.

Rene or proxy coming

The Rene Levesque speaking engagement controversy hasn't scared off the Ontario Public School Trustees Association.

Despite local opposition to Levesque's invitation to address the group in Cornwall in June, the association has ruled out holding the convention elsewhere.

Although Levesque has yet to accept the invitation, his office has indicated he or a designate will attend.

Moving the convention to another city was one alternative considered by the association after criticism of the proposed Levesque talk by SD&G County Board of Education Trustee Lloyd Markell and 1,200 petitioners.

The association has received a copy of the petition and has also received word that the SD&G board went on record as not supporting the petitioners.

At a recent board meeting, Markell said he would mail a copy of the petition and a letter "to say a few things" to the association.

Markell and the petitioners contend that Levesque should not be given a platform on which to promote his separatist views.

Those supporting the talk argue that Levesque is a democratically elected provincial premier and listening to him will provide insights into educational matters in Quebec.

Levesque's office said if the premier cannot attend, either Finance Minister Jacques Parizeau or Cultural Development Minister Camille Laurin will likely be the choice.

Schools cannot replace parents

Alexandria-Cornwall Bishop Eugene LaRocque has told the new SD&G Roman Catholic Separate School Board that schools cannot completely take over the education of children from parents.

In his first talk to the new board last week, the bishop said the schools can only assist the parents. In his opinion, it would be a "calamity" for the schools to assume complete control over the education of the students.

He also suggested changing the name of the schools from separate to Catholic.
