Former Area Resident Involved In Accident, Truck Driver Cremated

A former cheesemaker at Dornie, Donat Poirier, 65, of Cornwall, escaped with facial lacerations Wednesday morning when his station wagon was involved in a collision with two tractor-trailers on Highway 401 near Cornwall.

The accident occurred on fog-bound 401 at 7 a.m. when Mr. Poirier's station wagon and a transport collided. As the drivers stood at the scene a second transport barrelled through the fog to strike the station wagon and jack-knifed across one lane of the highway. It reportedly caught fire immediately and the driver was pinned in the cab.

IT'S OUR OPINION

A Warm Eye And A Generous Pen

A nice change of pace from the reports of traffic fatalities, other deaths and unhappy happenings in last issue was that letter to the editor so complimentary to our town and people. Area readers must have been as warmed by it and appreciative of the sentiments which motivated it as was the editor.

All of us no doubt are prompted at one time or another to express similar sentiments, only to let the good intention remain just that. We fail to follow through on a generous impulse and our lapse not only leaves us unsatisfied with self; it robs others of a bit of warmth our words might have brought.

Even though we are convinced this is the Garden Spot of America it is nice to be reminded of that fact through the eyes of a visitor.

When Mr. Somers writes of the fine shade trees lining our side streets, perhaps it should serve to remind us that our stately elms are soon to be lost to Dutch Elm disease and we are doing nothing to save the still healthy ones or to replace those already dead. When he lauds the beauty of our lake and park we might ponder on the fact we have done little more than a minimum in twenty years to improve on the eye-catching setting nature provided.

We have a fine town centring what we like to refer to as the first county in Ontario. Both town and county, though, could be the better if we had eyes to see the potential and the initiative to achieve something closer to perfection.

Mr. Somers has not only a generous pen but a discerning eye. His letter gave us a lift and we hope to tell him so personally next time he comes for a visit.

The Tailgater Menace

The siren is being sounded at noon each day this week to remind citizens that this is Fire Prevention Week. The cold weather of the weekend called for the comfort of central heating and should also have served as a reminder that winter is nigh and heating systems should be readied now for the demands that will be made on them in the months ahead.

One of the banes faced by small town fire brigades is the flood of tailgating cars which forms behind the fire truck and races recklessly in its wake to every blaze. They are a menace to firemen riding the truck and to other traffic. They may also interfere with the brigade's effective fighting of a fire as they clog narrow streets or country roads in the area of the blaze.

Our firemen have a special antipathy for tailgaters and we think members of the brigade will appreciate this colorful description of the breed, reprinted from the Canadian Underwriter magazine:

Somewhere between the fume-spouting exhaust of the tractor-trailer and the dainty white puff of the compact, we find the delightful creature known as the tailgater. Tailgaters come in assorted shapes and sizes, all repulsive. You find them everywhere, but mostly two feet from your rear bumper. Undertakers love them, drivers hate them, empty highways frustrate them, and only God knows what protects them.

A tailgater is ignorance with a weapon at its command — death with a gleam in its eye — stupidity with the power to kill — irresponsibility with a driver's licence. His is the diet of Dracula, the energy of a 400-horsepower engine, the curiosity of a rear bumper inspector, the enthusiasm of a horseman in hot pursuit of Lady Godiva, and the bashfulness of a fullback three yards from the enemy goal lines. No one is more familiar with the hospital emergency room, more at home in traffic court. When you do not want him, he is grinning at you in your rear-view mirror. Nobody else can cram into twenty years of driving forty cars with shoved-in front ends.

A tailgater is a paradox. You can keep him out of your back seat but not out of your trunk. You can charge him with higher insurance premiums, but not with the murder of his victims. You can suspend his licence, but not his driving. He is your worst enemy, but closer than your best friend. And when he finally turns off at a tavern, he is a soothing vacancy behind your car, a feeling of safety in the world. And when he gives you the snap, crackle and pop of your upper vertebra in a rear-end collision and comes to visit you while you are in traction, he has not lost his power to bring tears to your eyes. He does it with those ancient, familiar words: "I ain't got no insurance."

Some Form Of Capitalism We Prefer

We see some weaknesses in the structure of capitalism but it is infinitely to be preferred to the creeping socialism governments have been imposing on us to ever greater degree at the federal and provincial levels. In the process of taking from the haves to furnish the have-nots with the better things in life (money), governments have grown huge and autocratic and so free-spending as to threaten the worth of the national currency.

So submissive have we the people appeared to be, despite mounting taxes and steady encroachment on our individual freedoms, it is refreshing to spot even the faint flutterings of a backlash against big government.

A new group is being formed at Montreal, we read, to champion the cause of capitalism. The organizer and president is a salesman of mutual funds, the vice-president is an architect and they have some 250 prospective members lined up. Their goal is the revival of laissez-faire capitalism.

In their view, writers and intellectuals back in the last century were appalled by poverty and squalor, but took aim at the wrong target when they abandoned capitalism. They argue capitalism did not create poverty, but inherited it and they recall the dire poverty, squalor and death by starvation that were so common in pre-Victorian England. Then came capitalism to bring new wealth and touch off a population explosion. They suggest it co-existed with poverty, little by little remedying it.

Intellectuals have taught our modern world that capitalism is immoral. To the contrary, this group believes capitalism is the only moral system that has ever existed. Socialism, as they see it, has as its base the idea that human beings are not to be trusted and that the average man has not the ability to manage his own affairs.

The assumption of everyone's problems by the state and the tolerance of a system that few believe in any more has brought about a state of "moral bankruptcy". This group proposes the freeing of the individual to pursue his highest ideals without inhibition; the gradual reversion of government services into private hands.

It would do away with authoritarian government of any sort, would accept only a minimum of essential taxes. Pure democracy "without purpose", no. But it must be based on the freedom of the individual. Its means of achievement would be by education and discussion, it could take a decade, perhaps a century.

Whether that Nirvana of government by an informed, interested, involved people can ever be achieved on this earth, this somewhat cynical editor doubts. Abraham Lincoln knew the formula way back when the United States was young. How much progress toward that goal has been made we leave to you to assess in an election year that sees three candidates for the presidency, none of whom appears to appeal to a majority of the voters.

Capitalism is but a word, even as is Communism which describes a system of government only a degree more socialist than that we have in Ottawa now.

We still prefer it to the brand of socialist thinking in government that would curb all freedoms of the individual. A backlash against big government is long overdue.

Historical Society Invites New Members

(A Guest Editorial)

We have in our midst a very active group called the Glengarry Historical Society. This Society is dedicated to the task of preserving the history of this famous county, in as many ways as it can think of.

The Society has two busy museums, the Glengarry Scottish, at Dunvegan, and the new Nor'Westers Museum, at Williamstown. The latter is devoted to preserving the memory and work of the Canadian Fur Traders, some of them from the Williamstown area, who played such a large part in exploring the Canadian North and West.

Beside running these two museums, quite a job in itself, the Society has several annual projects, the Burns Concert, at Martintown in January; the Students' Essay Contest in the spring, the booth at the Highland Games at Maxville in the summer, the Antique Fair in September and the Fiddlers' Contest in the fall. (This last has been postponed, this year, pending reorganization in the not too distant future.

The amazing thing is that, although anyone can be a member of the Society for $2 annually, all the above projects are handled by the same group of hardworking enthusiasts. They would like you to join them, not so much for the dues as for the support, help, and ideas you can provide.

At present all the work is handled by a small group from Williamstown, another small group from the Maxville-Dunvegan area, a couple of families from Alexandria, a couple from Martintown, and two or three from Lochiel. They feel that if you knew how welcome you would be, you'd be rushing in to join. How about some more of our readers coming to the November meeting (to be announced in "Coming Events" in the News), getting a membership card from Bud MacKinnon, and getting involved in some very interesting projects.

The Weeklies Say

'KEEP IT UP'

The program of Student Exchange visits which have been extended into the "Young Voyageurs" program through a further agreement between the federal and provincial governments continues to prove of value as well as interest . . . So let's keep on having Young Voyageurs from Quebec Province—we honestly like them very much.

—Melfort (Sask.) Journal

SHOULD MAKE PLACE

If Northern Canada Power Commission can't supply sufficient power in this area—and we don't think they can—why don't they move over and give private enterprise a chance. We are old fashioned enough to believe that the government shouldn't be in a business which can be operated more efficiently by a private company. —Whitehorse (YT) Star

THEY'RE NUTS

People are funny — in fact they're nuts! They demonstrate against the war in Vietnam — and then go out on the highways and proceed to add to the death toll in automobile accidents that have taken more lives than the two world wars, the Korean War and the war in Vietnam.

—Humboldt (Sask.) Journal

OUT OF TOUCH

There are union leaders who are out of touch with their membership and unable to prevent wildcat strikes. A picket in one such summer strike said the workers were a third party between management and union and isolated from both.

—Rimbey (Alta.) Record

STRIKES UNDESIRABLE

No intelligent person can have a favorable impression of a strike. At best it's undesirable "last resort" . . . And to come up with something better should be the immediate objective not only of management and government, but of labor as well.

WE CAN HELP

At long last a group of interested citizens, representatives of our churches and voluntary organizations have decided to do something about the Nigeria/Biafra situation. In a month-long campaign, the newly-formed Nigeria/Biafra Relief Fund of Canada is asking the people of Canada to give their dollars to assist the millions of unfortunate victims of war.

It is common knowledge that millions of men, women and children are facing starvation. Disease is rampant and hundreds are dying every day. This is our opportunity to show our appreciation for our high standard of living and give to the best of our ability for those in need.

Simple P R Problem

(The Printed Word)

Years ago a couple of post office employees sought advice on how to improve the public's opinion of the post office. The answer was simple — deliver the mail and deliver it promptly. There was not then, and is not now, any other public relations problem for the post office.

The postmaster-general, the man of today, wants to make the post office a money-making institution, as if money-making were the end-all and be-all of existence. Mr. Kierans is missing the point. The post office never was intended to make money. It was designed as a public service and that it is likely to remain.

One wonders if Mr. Kierans has all the historical facts about the post office. A great Liberal throughout a long, long life, W. P. Mulock, is known best in history for his being the father of imperil penny postage. No one thought of imperial penny postage as a scheme for making money. No one, according to the history books, thought of it other than as something that would help bind Victoria's empire closer together. And the empire outlived the Queen and even the rugged Grit who thought of penny postage and its advantages.

These advantages do not include the giving away of all advertising facilities for the benefit of those who would ride free when they should pay a reasonable amount for fist, second, third, fourth and any other classes that Mr. Kierans can think up. Perhaps he can think of a balance other than a money balance.

Mr. Mulock achieved one of the higher ranks of knighthood when it was in flower. There was something else to think of than cash in those days.

GIVE US FEETBALL

The World Series may be just as exciting and nerve-shattering an annual attraction as it was in the days of our youth. If so we'd better stop kidding ourself. We must be old and jaded for we couldn't care less who's pitching against whom, or whether Detroit or St. Louis won the pennant this week.

All we feel is a sense of relief the series is out of the way this weekend and it won't be interfering with the football fare.

Frustrating it was on Saturday. Winnipeg's Bombers were playing in Hamilton but we had to await the end of the baseball game in Detroit before we could catch the play in the Ambitious City. The television people had more or less promised football coverage by 3.30 so we got in a bit of work before rambling home to see Pierre Guindon get in a bit of booting.

So we sat in on the series game at Detroit for another interminable hour. Exciting, it was anything else but. St. Louis had the game sewed up in the early innings but Detroit decided to give the customers quantity if not quality and the game dragged on until somewhere about 4.30, when we were privileged to see a replay of the last half at Hamilton.

Thank goodness the Ottawa-Toronto Sunday game was on another channel and one could watch Russ Jackson pitch some homers that were much more thrilling than the batted ones from Detroit. This time rain held up the world classic and they were still dragging toward the ninth inning long after the football players had left the showers to watch a bunch of high-priced sissies finish a ball game that couldn't be played in rain, much less mud, or snow.

People keep wondering how so many thousands can be enticed into a stadium to see a world series game—and we're wondering too. How long the television people will play along, is an even more important question to baseball when more exciting fare is being served up on the football field.

If those Montreal backers of the Expos aren't aware baseball is on its last legs we should warn them. For the first time in more than 30 years the pool at Gerry's barber shop went by the wayside. We were one of the few originals and we scarcely mourned the going of this annual gamble.

Baseball has had its day. Perish the thought, but we don't look sharp in the camera's eye either.

TIME GOES MARCHING ON

There must have been quite a number of Glengarry readers who regretted the demise of the Family Herald and Weekly Star. It had been coming into area homes probably right through its 99 years of publication. It was oriented to the farmer and the small town reader and they may find it impossible to come up with another Canadian publication so attuned to their interests.

Another veteran publication, the Toronto Star Weekly, went out of business recently too; and probably for the same reason. Rising costs of production had outstripped revenue.

The lifeblood of any newspaper or magazine is its income from advertising and not only Canadian publications have been falling victim to the drain of advertising dollars now flowing into the newer medium of television. It costs a small fortune for even a one-minute commercial on the idiot-box and the advertising budgets of even our local banks have been diverted from newspapers and magazines as head offices took to the airwaves in a more costly attempt to sell their services.

They couldn"t afford television time (even with the subsidization the CBC offers from the public purse) and space in printed media, too. They opted for TV, many of these national advertisers, and so revenue has been draining away from the newspapers and magazines.

Such weekend papers as the Family Herald and national magazines have not local advertisers to cushion the loss of income and they have been hard hit, too, in recent years by the competition for advertising dollars from two U.S. magazines, Time and Reader's Digest. The Canadian editions of these magazines have been given special tax exemptions by Ottawa and they apparently are soaking up many of the national advertising dollars to the detriment of purely Canadian publications.

So the once healthy Family Herald and the Star Weekly bow to the loss in advertising revenue, as have many other papers and magazines in both Canada and

by Angus H. McDonell

The Glengarry District High School football team by virtue of their third successive win, a 23-0 score over Hawkesbury last Friday, moved into a first-place tie with the Hawks in the EOSSA "B" league standing.

Actually GDHS having scored more points, head the league standing.

Hawkesbury has been Alexandria's toughest opposition to date and had GDHS well scouted, in fact to the point that Paul Poirier was held in check throughout despite the fact Poirier's Hawks' cover, Bougie, was injured in the first quarter.

Once again Alexandria took command from the kick-off and after moving into the home forces area were forced to punt on a third down. Glen Allan McPherson lofted an end zone boot that gave GDHS their first point.

Late in the opening canto Ourtown's students were knocking on the five-yard line door and broke through when fullback Brian Libbos, on an off tackle plunge, scored the game's first TD. Hugh MacGillivray was true on the convert try and the teams changed ends with GDHS leading 8-0.

At the half-way mark of the second quarter Alexandria was again on the Hawks five yard chalk line but no gain after two solid tries.

Hugh MacGillivray, GDHS quarterback, then went for the bundle on the third down and fired a TD pass to Neil Macdonald in the end zone open spaces. The convert by MacGillivray was good and with no further scoring GDHS were in front 15-0 at half time.

The Hawks, like VCI one week earlier, readjusted their defence line and held Alexandria scoreless in the third although they did not tally themselves.

In the final minutes with the home crew deep in their own end GDHS defensive tackle, Howard Cameron, broke through to smear a Hawk ball carrier and add more points and a 17-0 visitor's lead.

The last scoring play was another fine passing play from Hugh MacGillivray to Neil Macdonald. The convert try was wide and the final count was GDHS 23, Hawks, 0.

Again the play by both teams was rugged but clean which enhances this high school football weekend entertainment.

Tomorrow (Friday) Hawkesbury could again move into first place with a win over the Hill while the two other Glengarry squads will take over in Williamstown as Char-Lan hosts Maxville.

Sports In The Glens

When we were just about old enough, most likely by special permission to attend one of our first house parties, the late Hugh Allan Gauthier introduced this writer to two of his close friends, Archie O'Connor and Dr. D. J. Dolan.

We knew about Archie O'Connor as he was next in line to the local manager of the Royal Bank. However, Dr. Dolan was an entirely new acquaintance—but not for long.

We soon learned that Dominic John Dolan was a medical graduate of Queen's and with these impressive credentials, he really did not require anything more on an office shingle to join our professional, business men and citizens.

But this youthful Irishman, with the smiling cherub profile and a hasty walk like a "Mick" leaving Mass in Londonderry, had moved into the Glens from "Up the Creek." That is the Upper Ottawa Valley to you.

Before World War One Alexandria had been noted for our champion lacrosse and hockey teams but now it was Carleton Place, Almonte or Arnprior not to mention Renfrew and Pembroke. In our youthful appraisal of the sport scene we highly rated the Upper Ottawa.

Dominic John Dolan, as a youngster and a keen sport fan, attended Ottawa College from his Pakenham home that was a fairly long horse and buggy or cutter drive to a game in Almonte or Arnprior.

So with this additional sport degree supporting a Queen's medical sheepskin Dominic John settled in Ourtown as Dr. D. J. Dolan some 50 years ago.

Dr. Dolan's career is that of another great country doctor and his legion of friends are observing his many achievements in and out of the medical profession in a fitting manner by holding a testimonial dinner this Saturday night in Alexander Hall.

Although being an absentee we will during the evening raise a glass with the thought that we would like to add on behalf of the sport followers not only here but far beyond our boundaries words of congratulations and best wishes with the hope that it is the wish of Divine Providence that you, Dr. Dolan, will be spared many years of pleasant retirement here in our beloved Glens, your adopted home, that you have served so faithfully for half a century.

100 Registered For Minor Hockey

Some 100 eager hockey players turned out to register Saturday for the coming season.

A final opportunity to register will be given this Saturday, Oct. 12th, between 1 and 5 p.m. at the Alexandria Community Centre and the Lancaster Public Library.

The fee is the same as in previous years, $1 for registration and $1 for medical insurance if your child is not already covered.

The first regular meeting of the newly elected Minor Hockey executive will be held on Wed., Oct. 16, at the Legion, at 8 p.m.

A special invitation to this meeting extended to all who would be interested in coaching a team for the coming season.

As soon as registrations are completed, the teams will be made up and will be ready for action when the ice surface is in condition.

WEEKEND FOOTBALL

This Thanksgiving weekend will see the football horses round the three-quarter pole and head into the stretch. All games are crucial because that rail position will be very important during the few remaining games to November 3.

Our GDHS team will draw a bye in tomorrow (Friday's) play. Hawkesbury will be in the Hill and the Hawks must take this one to keep pace with the local students. We are inclined to give the nod to the visitors on the strength that GDHS appeared to find the Hawks tougher to handle than VCI.

Maxville travels to Williamstown and we have little info to go on, however, Char-Lan upset VCI recently and could wind up a TD ahead of Don Bond's Indian Lands' squad.

MARK 25th DATE

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Blair were feted by relatives, neighbors and friends on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary at a largely attended reception in the IOOF Hall.

The occasion gave friends an opportunity to extend congratulations and good wishes to this well known and highly respected couple who have lived all their lives in this community.

The evening was spent in dancing to the music of the Glen Orchestra, of Dunvegan. Guest artists included Clifton Britton and his son Douglas, who entertained with violin and piano selections. Friends too appreciated Mrs. Ruth Robillard's participation in "calling off" for a square dance.

During the course of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Blair were escorted to the platform where Allen McIntyre read an address and Clifton Britton made the presentation of a well-filled purse. John and Dorothy replied thanking one and all for their expressions of good wishes.

All those present joined in the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows". Lunch was served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair were married in Cornwall on Sept. 25, 1943. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Valley, of Cornwall, who were also present at the 25th anniversary observance.

Buy into Canada.

There are probably as many good reasons for buying Canada Savings Bonds as there are Canadians. There are the hopes, plans and ambitions you have for yourself and your family. There is the desire, which all of us share, to play a part in building the future of our country. The simple, safe, profitable way to help realize these goals is to buy Canada Savings Bonds.

They offer an excellent return. The average yield to maturity is 6.75% a year. There are fourteen annual interest coupons which begin at 5.75% and rise to 7.00% for each of the last nine years. These can be cashed each year as they become due. Better still, if you choose to keep these coupons uncashed, you can earn interest on your interest. Take full advantage of this option and, when your Bonds mature, your total interest earnings plus your original investment will amount to $250 for each $100 invested.

They are available to everyone. Canada Savings Bonds are available to every Canadian resident in amounts from $50 up to $50,000, for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy them.

They are instant cash. You can cash them any time at any bank in Canada at their full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy into Canada today. Buy Canada Savings Bonds. It pays.

It pays.

the U.S. in recent years.

Ironically, the Reader's Digest is so rich in ads it is facing the problem of a diminishing number of magazines from which to reprint articles. We recall the Digest of some 30 years ago which carried no advertising at all. Now it is loaded, and so many magazines have died of malnutrition the Digest must commission many of its articles as originals.

It has grown rich in revenue from advertising, but in so doing it may have killed the geese that once laid golden eggs it could so well digest. So Maclean's and other periodicals suffer indigestion too. Why worry, as Time goes marching on.
