34,400 eligible to vote Thursday, close Tory-Grit race expected

More than 34,000 eligible voters will be asked to vote Thursday in the SD&G provincial byelection called to fill the vacancy created by the death of veteran Conservative MPP Osie Villeneuve in late September.

And for possibly the first time in 30 years, the Tories are not assured of a comfortable win.

Most observers are predicting a close race between newcomer Conservative Noble Villeneuve and Liberal John Whitteker, the veteran municipal politician who came within 2400 votes of capturing the riding in 1977.

The NDP, though many feel they have put up their strongest campaign ever under standard-bearer Rudi Derstroff, would be happy to double their support from a poor showing ', 1981.

Weather may play a big role in this winter election. Turnout at the advance polls Saturday and Monday was down nearly 19 per cent from the 1981 general election when Osie Villeneuve garnered his strongest support ever. But this may have been partly influenced by the fact there were only two polling days, compared to three in 1981.

On Saturday, 513 people visited the six advance polls but on Monday, a day plagued with ice and freezing rain, the turnout was only 184.

Alexandria's advance poll, located in the Glengarry Sports Palace, was the only one to record an increase over 1981. Election officials said Monday a total of 246 cast their votes at the Glengarry Sports Palace, 208 on Saturday and 38 on Monday. The 1981 total was 206.

The other five polls and their totals were, with 1981 figures in brackets: Lancaster 85 (153); Chesterville 100 (113); Morrisburg 155 (206); Ingleside 50 (93); Avonmore 61 (81).

All three political parties are pouring all their resources into this campaign, especially the Conservatives who have had at least a dozen cabinet ministers stumping on behalf of Mr. Villeneuve. Premier Bill Davis has visited the riding twice.

Estimates of campaign spending have run as high as $100,000 for the Conservatives, who said at the outset they would spend "at least $25,000."

The Conservatives have also used the power of government to help them hold the riding. Agriculture minister Dennis Timbrell announced the decision to move his ministry's office for Stormont from Cornwall to Avonmore and handed out nearly $80,000 in additional tile drainage funding for townships in the riding.

A new court facility has been promised for Alexandria, to replace existing space on the second floor of the Public Utilities Building.

On Monday, Mr. Timbrell announced two more grants, totalling $600,000.

Ault Foods of Winchester will receive $500,000 to develop a new by-product of cheese whey and employ 10 additional people. Kraft Ltd. of Ingleside will modernize its whey processing facilities with the help of a $100,000 grant, as part of a plant expansion that will provide 175 new jobs.

Last week some Conservatives said new industry for Alexandria and Lochiel Township would be announced, but that's one promise that seems to have fizzled.

The Liberals have probably run their best campaign to date, with candidate John Whitteker getting help from Opposition leader David Peterson who has visited the riding several times.

More help has come from Deputy Liberal leader Sean Conway, MPP for Renfrew North, and Don Boudria, MPP for neighboring Prescott-Russell. Federal Trade Minister Ed Lumley and Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Denis Ethier have also given time to the campaign.

The Liberals said earlier they expected to spend $25,000.

The Liberal campaign has centred around what they say is the Conservative government's neglect of Eastern Ontario, with particular reference to tile drainage, agricultural support in general, roads and, what has turned into the hottest issue of the campaign, a so-called Conservative plan to revise its formula for calculating support grants to municipalities.

Accused committed

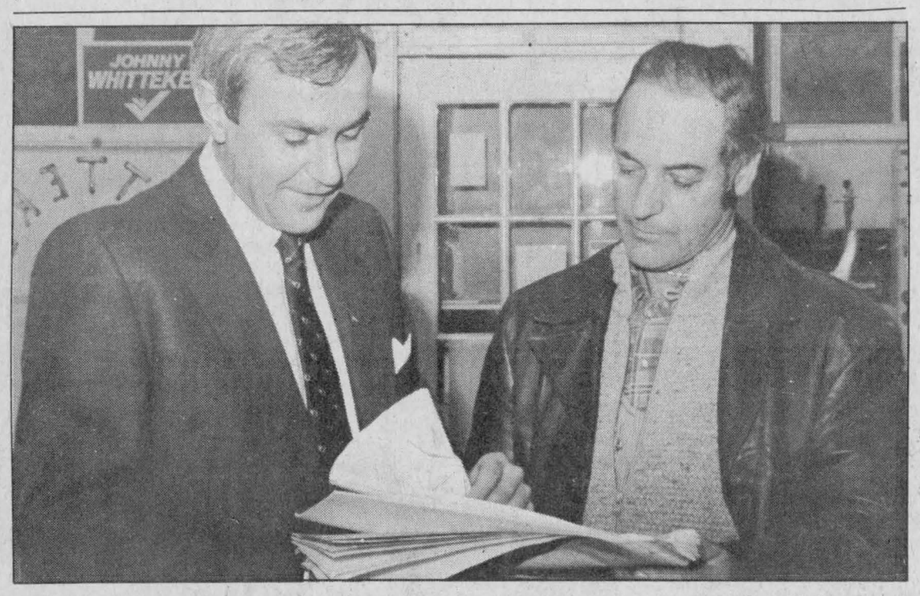
A Moose Creek youth charged in the sexual attack of a babysitter last August in Kenyon Township waived his preliminary hearing when he appeared in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday.

Robert Alfred Lefebvre, 18, faces charges of sexual assault, forcible confinement, robbery and possession of a dangerous weapon in connection with the incident. He has been held in police custody since his arrest August 20.

The preliminary inquiry, held to determine if there is sufficient evidence to bind the accused over for trial, was waived by his lawyer, Wayne McDermid, with the consent of Crown attorney Alan Ain.

Judge Reginald Levesque then committed the youth to stand trial in County Court in Cornwall.

At the Crown's request, the judge ordered a publication ban on evidence taken during the proceedings and information which would reveal the identity of the victim.



LIBERAL LEADER—Ontario Liberal leader David Peterson toured SD&G again on Friday on behalf of John Whitteker, his candidate in Thursday's byelection. Mr. Peterson, Leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, is shown explaining government documents which he claims prove the Conservative government's intention to change its municipal funding system in such a way that it would cost SD&G more than $760,000. Taking it all in is Rolland Massie.

Liberals say they can prove charge

The SD&G byelection campaign, which seemed to start at a snail's pace, entered the final week before this Thursday's vote with the Conservatives virtually accusing the opposition Liberals of lying about a provincial government proposal that would reduce unconditional grants to municipalities.

With the strong support of Opposition leader David Peterson, Liberal candidate John Whitteker has been telling everyone who will listen the Conservatives plan to cut their subsidies to SD&G by more than $760,000. The unconditional grant reduction, he says, will result in reduced services and sharply increase property taxes throughout the riding.

In response, Conservative candidate Noble Villeneuve has gone on radio with a series of paid commercials condemning the Liberals for not speaking the truth. He insists the government has made no such decision and quotes Municipal Affairs Minister Claude Bennett and Premier Bill Davis to back up his contention.

Mr. Villeneuve insists there is "no master plan" to force municipalities to raise their taxes. He rejects the Liberal claim as "a scare tactic based on deliberately misleading allegations."

Speaking on behalf of Mr. Villeneuve in Winchester last week, Premier Davis issued similar denials.

"I tell you, unequivocally and categorically, that it is just not true," the premier told more than 300 supporters at the Winchester Community Centre. "I give you my assurance that it just won't happen."

"What saddens me," the premier said, "is that we have a political party that has so little positive to say that they resort to saying things that are not true."

"ERRONEOUS"

In a letter to Mr. Villeneuve, Mr. Bennett, the minister who would be responsible for changes in municipal grants, said "the whole premise of the statement in (Liberal) ads, that is that the government has a new formula for calculating grants, is erroneous."

A discussion paper has been put forward, the minister says, in response to a request from the municipalities that the method of calculating unconditional grants be simplified. The proposal was prepared for discussion purposes, only, he insists, and it is not the government's intention to make such drastic changes.

"I can quite emphatically state that we will not now, nor ever use that formula to calculate grants," Mr. Bennett said in his letter.

"In a recent letter to municipalities he went on to say, "I will not introduce any changes until I am convinced that those changes provide us with a clearly fairer and more understandable system. Even then, I will take measures to ensure that whatever revised program is instituted, no municipality will suffer hardship."

TRUE, SAY LIBERALS

In spite of strong Tory denials, the Liberals have not retreated from their charges, however.

In a meeting with the press in Alexandria, Friday, Liberal leader David Peterson released copies of computer printouts from the Ontario government and correspondence which he said represented "irrefutable evidence of such a plan, which is about to be sprung on Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

"The PC's have claimed that Johnny Whitteker and I have fabricated stories of a Tory master plan to cut unconditional grants to SD&G by more than $760,000," he said.

"I will not comment on the premier's denials during his visit (Thursday). Perhaps his minister of municipal affairs and housing has not kept him apprised of this situation.

"I present to you a computer printout which contains the government's calculations of how grants for essential services like police and fire protection, snow removal and garbage collection would be cut to municipalities in Ontario. The figures in this ministry analysis are those of the government, not Johnny Whitteker's own. They are not a figment of our imagination. They are the government's calculation of the loss to Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry."

He said Mr. Bennett released the proposal to change the formula for calculating unconditional grants in February and asked the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) for its response by June, "which prevented AMO from consulting its membership and drafting alternative proposals.

SECRETIVE

"Moreover, Mr. Bennett refused to share with municipalities information on his proposal's impact. His ministry had devel-

Farmers protest

by Anna Margaret MacDonald

Farmers in the north end of Glengarry and in Prescott County are irate over the lack of compensation for drought coverage on premiums paid to the Ontario Insurance Stabilization Commission.

They have protested to Prescott MLA Don Boudria and he in turn has arranged for members of the commission to come to a meeting to address the concerns of the agricultural community.

The meeting will be held in South Plantagenet Hall next Tuesday, December 20 at 2 p.m.

The system used to determine payout for hay and pasture insurance was totally inadequate this past season, charges Weldon MacIntosh, a Dunvegan farmer.

"The method used is a computer readout which may be satisfactory some years but left us in bad shape this year," the farmer explains.

"The system works by combining the amount of rainfall and the amount of sun hours over a season. But this year the rainfall was heavy during the Spring months with a high run-off. When needed most during the summer we had a long dry spell and the two conditions did not co-incide to produce sufficient hay and pasture."

"While corn and grain crops are judged on an individual basis, forage is dealt with differently. The whole area is rated and this year our district did not qualify for payments according to the rule of assessment used by the commission," MacIntosh reveals.

MacIntosh is not the only farmer unhappy with the situation.

Yvon Levac, representative for the Insurance Commission in part of Prescott County reports he has had more than a few disgruntled customers as they learned of the lack of compensation cheques.

Out of 90 customers, 78 called to express dissatisfaction, Levac verified on Monday.

Prescott County has heavy drought coverage, about 164 farmers are protected for hay and pasture while in Glengarry only about 20 farmers have taken out this particular type of insurance, Levac informs.

Adrien Carriere who had handled crop insurance in Glengarry County for the past several years confirms this as does Jim Sangster of Bainsville, chairman of the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture.

"There is definitely a discrepancy this year," Sangster states.

"Farmers needed rain in July and August for a second hay crop. We had to bring our own pastured cattle home the middle of July for feed and most farmers were short of forage. We weren't as badly off in the south end of Glengarry as in the north end and in Prescott though."

"However, this meeting is scheduled for next week so farmers would do well to attend even if they are not directly concerned this year," the GFA president urges.

Present at the meeting in South Plantagenet will be Maurice Huff, general manager of the Crop Insurance Commission, Greg Brown, manager of Hay and Pasture and Bob Hally, complaints manager.

Leroux appointed to village council

by Joanne Stevenson

At a special meeting held immediately before last Tuesday's regular meeting, Lancaster council appointed a new village councillor, Vince Leroux. He will replace the late Emmanuel Dubeau, who resigned his seat early last month and died November 29.

Mr. Leroux, a Lancaster native, has long been involved in community affairs. He served on the Public Utilities Commission for three terms, was village road superintendent for two years and is active within the fire department. He had resigned as deputy fire chief to devote more time and effort to his local business.

He has just been appointed council's representative for the fire department.

ZONING

Council has been approached by planner Larry D. Cotton to revamp village zoning. When presented with the written proposal outlining Cotton's ideas and costs, council wished more clarification and therefore will invite Mr. Cotton to their January meeting.

BACK TAXES

The council discussed the ongoing struggle to obtain from Don MacDonald taxes in arrears since 1969. A bylaw was passed July 5 to sign a tax repayment agreement. Since the second cheque in the series of payments was

The Separate School Board may have to close eight of its small rural schools if the provincial government does not come up with additional funding, it was suggested in a brief presented to the Liberal Task Force on Rural Municipalities held in Alexandria last week.

In spite of the inclement weather and slippery road conditions, the area was relatively free from accidents this week. "People evidently drove more cautiously and at a slower rate of speed so if they slipped off the road there was only minor damage to their vehicles," observes Lancaster Corporal Brush. Maxville OPP Detachment and Alexandria Police also report there were no serious accidents.

Peter English, manager of the Holstein Journal addressing the Stormont Holstein Breeders at a business meeting last week stressed the importance of advertising. "Advertising cattle is unique," he pointed out. "What you are doing is selling cattle to someone else who has cattle. It's not like a car manufacturer selling a car to someone who doesn't have a car."

Santa Claus is coming to Alexandria under the auspices of Wally Hope for three days next week. The jolly old gent will be located in front of Hope's Auto Parts across from the Desrosiers and Hope Jewellers, Glengarry Book Store and Glengarry Flowers. Santa will be handing out goodies to all the children who come to visit on December 22, 23 and 24, from 1 to 4 p.m.

oped this information on the big Toronto computers."

Mr. Peterson went on to say Mr. Bennett refused to answer questions concerning the proposal when he spoke to the annual AMO convention in August.

"The minister refused to respond and left the meeting," said Mr. Peterson.

The Liberal leader quoted letters signed by Mr. Bennett which referred to "reform of the unconditional grants system." One letter from the minister advised a Northern Ontario mayor that changes would result in both "winners and losers."

"All the time, he kept hidden these vital calculations to those municipalities, such as Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, which were going to lose money," said Mr. Peterson.

"Mr. Bennett was quite proud of his plan in correspondence this summer. Now he is seeking to disclaim its very existence. He cannot have it both ways."

According to documents provided by the Liberals, the higher the local levy per household, the lower the provincial general support subsidy would be under the suggested two-part system.

One Liberal paper states: "The swi ' from per capita to per household grants means a benefit to municipalities with households without population (e.g. cottages) and a loss to those with populations without households (e.g. homes for the aged).

MUNICIPALITIES OPPOSED

In a letter to Mr. Peterson dated October 18, the Town of Exeter said it opposed the proposed grant changes because they would cost that town of 3,700 about $150,000 in revenue and would result in shifting more of the tax burden onto residential property owners.

In a brief to Mr. Bennett, the Township of Osnabruck also stated its opposition because the change would cost it 55 per cent of existing government subsidies, totalling more than $131,000.

In another brief, Finch Township said it would lose $52,000.

The government's computer print-outs, provided by the Liberals, show the proposed changes would cost Alexandria $127,000; Lancaster Village $36,000; Maxville would gain more than $10,000; there would be a $101,000 loss in Charlottenburgh; a $15,000 loss in Kenyon; a $115,000 loss in Lancaster Township and an $86,000 loss in Lochiel.

For the voter, the whole issue is confusing. It's purely a matter of credibility. The proposal to change the funding formula does exist. If implemented as it stands, and the Liberals insist that may well be the government plan, it would represent a substantial loss and increased property taxes in much of SD&G.

But the Conservatives insist the proposal was prepared solely for discussion purposes and the government has no intention of implementing it, or any other changes that would create hardship for municipalities.

Only time will tell who is closest to the truth.

November weather

by George Hambleton

November was almost two degrees (3.6°F) cooler than normal and, like October, was above average in rainfall at 97 mm (3.8"). In addition, snowfall totalled 38 cm (15") on eight days.

The high was 14 (57°F) and low, -12 (10°F). October 1982 registered a high of 20.5 (67°F) and a low of -15.5 (4°F).

Glengarry Flowers sold to local woman

Glengarry Flowers, situated at 43 Main Street South in Alexandria, has been purchased by Mrs. Glorisa Legroulx.

The business had been owned by Wally Hope for the past four years.

Mrs. Legroulx will be operating the shop with the assistance of Anna Boisvenue who will remain with the business for a time.

The shop will continue with the same type of stock, says Mrs. Legroulx. While this is her first venture operating a business of this sort, she has raised plants, shrubs and flowers for sale in the past and is looking forward to her new enterprise on the Main Street circuit.

New flower business opened in Alexandria

A new business for Alexandria, Town and Country Flowers and Crafts will open this weekend in the Dairy Queen Building.

Sheila Olson is the owner and proprietor.

The well known businesswoman has had 10 years experience in floral enterprises; as manager of the Glengarry Flowers shop for the past four years and manager of Alexandria Florist for a year previously.

Before moving to Ontario she operated three florist shops of her own in the Montreal area, one in St. Laurent and two in Pointe Claire.

"I will be moving into the Dairy Queen location temporarily, as soon as the Conservatives move out of their office. This will give me a few months to look for a permanent location," the new proprietor states.

"I've been wanting to go into business for myself again and this seems like an opportune time."

Young CF victim dies

Diane Richer

Diane Richer, the 12-year-old Iona student who had been suffering from cystic fibrosis, died early yesterday morning in Children's Hospital in Ottawa.

She is the daughter of Rene and Noreen (O'Farrell) Richer of Apple Hill; sister of Michael, Steven and Bobby and granddaughter of Mrs. Pauline Richer of Apple Hill.

The body will rest at the Miller Funeral Home in Cornwall with visiting hours from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The funeral will take place in Martintown on Friday at 11 a.m. declared NSF, the agreement has been rendered null and void. Mr. MacDonald therefore requested a new agreement to start in January 1984. Although council was reluctant to exercise their final prerogative of selling the MacDonald property for taxes, they were also impatient to conclude this lengthy battle.

"Why should anybody else in the village pay their taxes if he's been allowed not to since 1969?" asked Councillor Jennifer Charbonneau.

Clerk Ian MacDonald summed up the dilemma, saying, "I know it's a pretty hard decision to make—to sell a guy's house on him—but . . ."

Council passed a motion denying the request for a second agreement and asking for payment in full before December 31.

Councillor Janette Abbey abstained from voting, to which Councillor Ron Sinnott sardonically replied, "Let's all do that."

CRAFTS SALE SUCCESSFUL

The Manor crafts sale went off very well. The auditorium well filled with lots of knitting, holiday decorations, ceramics, a table full of lovely cushions, a toothsome lot of baking—and real fun and finds at the collectors' table of odds and ends. The proceeds from this table, mostly contributed by the residents themselves, and their friends—goes towards their own special projects, and they just sent $140 to the child they support in India, and also contributed $260 for Melissa Howes and the Ronald McDonald House in Ottawa.

NEW RESIDENTS

Welcome to a new couple in the village now—Bill and Sue Calder, the parents of Bill Calder of Dunvegan, and formerly of Pointe Claire, have taken up residence in the north half of the Lionel Bourbonnais building on Main St. North.

CONTEST

Remember that the Horticultural Society judges will be touring around next week, sometime between Monday and Friday evening, to pick out the best tree, door, window or overall outdoor Christmas decoration. Have your entry in.

SCHOOL NEWS

Some holiday news from the two village schools—the Senior School held their Christmas assembly on Tuesday evening, and the school choir is going over to the Manor on Thursday to entertain the residents with some of the program. The dance, sponsored by the Community Activities for Youth, was a great success, and more events are planned for the New Year. The school hosted the Glengarry Senior Volleyball Tournament, in which Roxmore Public won the boys and the girls divisions in close competition. The other entries were Williamstown and Berwick.

LIONS WINNER

The Lions lucky winner in this week's 50-50 draw was Don Munroe, who got $138 to make a cheerful start to his Christmas season.

COUNCIL COMING

The Maxville Public School will be having its concert at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday, December 15, and the program will be repeated at 9 a.m. on Friday morning for the student body, and parents are welcome then also. The Great Canadian Theatre Company production of "Melody and the Bag Lady" was a great hit. Grades K to 3 went to Cornwall to see "Snow White," and "Home Sweet Home" will be coming in the spring.

READING TIPS

On the reverse of this sheet from the school was some very interesting information about children learning to read. If your child likes to read, and has materials in which he is interested, he will read - even at a more difficult level. When he can read on his own, should you forbid him to read comic books? No. To do this is to exaggerate their importance, and it is better for a child to read comic books than not to read at all.

Besides having plenty of books and magazines at home a parent can do three other things to encourage a child's interest in reading. Take him to the library to look at children's books, let him get his own library card, and encourage him to collect some books of his own.

Never select material for him that is too difficult. And here are a couple of ideas that most adults don't understand. When you read material aloud it is meant to sound as if you are saying it—"Reading is talk written down."

A lack of the two most apparent reading skills—word analysis and an understanding of punctuation—may become obvious when a person reads aloud. There is a simple technique for teaching the meaning of punctuation marks—these marks serve a purpose in reading similar to that of traffic signals in driving—they tell when to stop, to go, pause, and so on. Deceptively simple, yes?

ELECTION NIGHT

Maxville War Veterans Club will be having a pot luck supper, Tuesday, December 20 at 6:30 p.m. in the Maxville Senior School. Elections for the new executive will be held and all members are requested to attend.

Laggan News

Relatives, friends and neighbors of the Robinson — Duval families gathered on Sunday afternoon at the Laggan School for a benefit shower for Ronald and Nicole Robinson. The Robinsons lost all their possessions when fire destroyed their home in St. Isidore. It was heart-warming to see how thoughtful people are. Boxes were assembled with necessities that we take so much for granted, being in a cupboard or on a shelf.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Gerd Weinke on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Dye, Christopher and Jennifer and Mrs. Betsy Howard, Nicholas, Christopher and Peter, all of Hudson, Quebec.

Boyer to speak

Joe Boyer will speak on the topic "The Sumerians," this Saturday at the Vaidya Unitarian Fellowship. The group meets on alternate Saturdays at 8 p.m. at the Maxville Senior Public School.

Mr. Boyer, president of the fellowship, is an engineer.

During the sharing time before the main program, the group will have a post-mortem discussion on the SD&G byelection and its social implications for our area.

The public is invited. For information, please call Fred Cappuccino, 527-2154.

Coming to Alexandria

On Sunday, December 18 at 1:30 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Parish Hall, a Christmas party will be held for young and old.

Children will have a chance to chat with Santa Claus, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

The musical group, Pentagone, will perform popular songs and Christmas carols for the enjoyment of the whole family.

There will also be an opportunity to meet the Katimavik participants as they will be performing a Christmas play.

And for all great chefs, a fudge contest is being held.

Activities for all are being planned for this community gathering. Be part of the afternoon of fun, organized by your cultural centre, "Les trois p'tits points..."

Admission is $1 for children, $2 for adults or $6 per family.

While Alexandria Junior B Glens struggle on the ice this season, club officials can be thankful they play in Alexandria, compared to other communities.

Glens have been the mark of inconsistency so far. As the team stumbles to mediocrity, fan support hasn't declined.

That, in itself, says a lot about Glengarry sports fans. No matter what level, whether it's Junior B, Junior A or Major Junior A, people will support a team as long as it's winning.

However, while the Glens sit in fifth place in the six-team Alex English Division, they continue to get support at the gate.

Friday night, Glens treated their fans to an entertaining 5-5 draw against Navan Grads. Glens played well enough to win and it was the club's best effort in quite a while.

It should be worth mentioning, though, that Navan has been in first place or near the top since the beginning of the season. Navan, along with defending champion Metcalfe Jets have been the most consistent teams this season.

So, only a point to show for in the standings, but more importantly, a moral victory.

In Junior B hockey, there's always a large turnover of players each season. It's usually a rebuilding job. The fortunate aspect about the Glens is that most of their players come from Alexandria or the surrounding area. That fact alone, attracts the fans. The wonderful thing about Junior B hockey is that "Joe Fan" knows the players because they're local.

A few years ago while Hawkesbury Hawks were winning Central Junior Hockey League titles, fans packed the rink. The following couple of seasons, Hawkesbury had quick exits in the playoffs and crowds started to get smaller.

In the championship seasons, Hawks' roster had only two or three local players. The team was run like a Major Junior A operation with 16 to 17 "room-and-boards." While the fans stayed away, a major complaint was that there weren't enough familiar faces on the team. With new management a year ago, they adopted a policy to have more local talent on the club. Hawkesbury, with local talent has been competitive and the fans know who they're cheering for.

Alexandria Glens fans should be complimented. Everyone wants to go to the rink and cheer for a winner and while the Glens appear to be easy prey for the opposition most nights, no one said it would be easy for this year's edition, consisting mostly of first-year players.

Hopefully for the sake of their dedicated fans, Glens can turn things around in the second half of the campaign and have better results.

REASON. WHAT REASON?

The ODHA Junior B League has lost a friend.

Lynne O'Brien, of Morrisburg, has been statistician of the Alex English Division the past years. She was informed last week her services were no longer needed.

At an Alex English Division meeting November 30, a motion was put forward to move the statistical and secretarial duties closer to the division president, Barry Lee, who resides in Kemptville.

O'Brien's experience as a statistician dates back to 10 years ago in the old St. Lawrence Junior B League. When the ODHA Junior B League revamped the divisional setup last year and formed the Alex English Division, she was asked to perform the statistical duties.

Handling stats is nothing new to O'Brien. She has always been involved in hockey in Morrisburg and has been efficient and reliable in getting information to the various newspapers who cover Junior B hockey.

"I've never had a complaint from any of the teams but heard Navan personnel were complaining because they weren't getting enough coverage," said O'Brien.

Navan's coverage consists of the Ottawa Citizen, while other teams get coverage in weekly newspapers. O'Brien has been phoning nine newspapers every Monday with an up-to-date report of weekend games.

However, O'Brien had to mail statistics to the Ottawa Citizen because the newspaper wouldn't take her report over the phone like the weeklies. I don't have to explain to anyone the "sluggishness" of our postal service, weekend results wouldn't appear in the Citizen until mid-week.

That certainly isn't O'Brien's fault. A statistician's job is a thankless one. She spent numerous hours on the phone, in the rinks and for the most part got no thanks in return. Her salary was a paltry sum of $550. O'Brien loves the game of hockey and being statistician kept her close to the game.

As far as she's concerned, O'Brien still doesn't know why she was canned.

However, in society we've all been accustomed to changes for the sake of a change. Alex English Division has lost a valuable person in Lynne O'Brien. She did an outstanding job as statistician—so why the change all of a sudden?

Alex English Division president Barry Lee will not need to look far for statistics since his wife will take over as division statistician.

Team officials and the media can only hope the new statistician is dependable as O'Brien was. If she isn't, Lee and team officials who wanted the change, can look back later on and realize the error they've made.

Glens lose to Clarence, tie Navan Grads

by Peter Conway

Despite a disappointing record in the first half, Alexandrian Glens' coach Barry MacDonald is a firm believer he has a better team than the record indicates.

Now, if they'd only start showing it on the ice.

After skating to a 5-5 overtime draw against division leading Navan Grads Friday night at the Sports Palace, Glens then took a 14-3 drubbing on the chin from Clarence Township Beavers Sunday night at Clarence Creek.

The loss left the Glens with a 5-10-2 record and in fifth place in the Alex English Division.

"Against Clarence it was a matter of absolutely nothing going our way. It's not that we didn't try. Despite the final score, we still tried but just didn't execute well. Give credit to Clarence — they were there at every turn and capitalized on our errors," said MacDonald.

Clarence grabbed a 5-0 lead after one period and led 8-2 after two periods.

"It may sound unbelievable, but we worked hard and came up with nothing," added MacDonald.

Meanwhile, Pat Brunet was shaky between the pipes and pulled himself from the game with Clarence leading 11-2.

"Pat didn't play too well — it's as simple as that. A goalie is going to have those games and you just have to forget about it," said MacDonald.

Pierre Quinn paced Clarence Township's attack with five goals while Robert Legault scored four times. Singles went to David Clement, Yvan Clement, Pierre Lortie, Luc Guindon and John Yablonski.

Yves Poirier led the Glens with two goals while Kennedy MacDonald rounded out the scoring with a goal and two assists. Maurice Bellefeuille had three assists.

Better effort

Glens played well enough to win Friday night against Navan. MacDonald was encouraged with the team's performance.

"I thought we played well enough to win. We took on a good club in Navan and despite a shaky first period, it was one of our most complete games in some time. We played a better disciplined brand of hockey," said MacDonald.

Navan led 3-2 after 20 minutes, but the Glens tallied twice in the middle stanza, sending the teams into the dressingroom deadlocked 4-4.

Kennedy MacDonald and Leonard Seguin sparked the Glens with two goals each while Maurice Bellefeuille rounded out the scoring. Stephen Stewart and Yves Poirier had two assists each.

Navan's goals came off the sticks of Denis Guertin, Bruce Hickson, Joel Lalonde, Tommy Wardle and Leo Duford.

Glens' goaler Mark Titley faced 42 shots while Navan's Tony Reitano handled 28 shots.

First period tells story

Last Wednesday night, Glens travelled to Winchester and received a 9-2 shellacking by the Hawks.

Winchester did all of the damage in the opening period - scoring nine times.

"We went into Winchester unprepared. The warmup was a disaster. Nobody seemed prepared or even cared about the game," said Glens' coach Barry MacDonald.

Ron Seguin and Trevor McClatchie scored a pair of goals each for Winchester. Bourk Boyd, Mark Smith, Bruce Casselman, Jeff Henry and Chris Lynch completed the scoring.

Jean-Luc Menard and Maurice Bellefeuille were the marksmen for Alexandria.

Glens swing back into action this weekend. Metcalfe Jets pay a visit to the Sports Palace Friday night and then Barry MacDonald's squad travels to Navan Sunday.

Glens will have their work cut out for them as they face the top two teams this weekend.

"It will be two tough games for us, but maybe that's what we need. The division is close and there are no easy games. Hopefully, we can put two good games back to back. We've been inconsistent. We've had spurts here and there and we have to keep plugging away. We just have to forget about the losses and look ahead to the weekend," said MacDonald.

Official aims for top

by Peter Conway

It's Sunday night at the Cornwall Civic Complex and the Royals are hosting the Kitchener Rangers in an Ontario Hockey League (OHL) contest.

In the third period, a bench-clearing brawl erupts and linesman Chris Emard is trying to restore peace between two combatants.

It's just another night's work for Emard, who hopes his experience as an OHL linesman carries him to the National Hockey League in the near future.

Emard, 22, of RR 1, Williamstown, began thinking of a career as an official when he was playing midget hockey.

"I really got serious about officiating during midget hockey. I thought the extra ice time as a referee would improve my skating," said Emard, who graduates from Bishop's University next week in Business Administration.

Emard has been a linesman in the Ontario Hockey League three seasons and he's lined in the Central Junior Hockey League for three years. Like other officials, Emard has had to pay his dues.

"I can remember when I first started refereeing minor hockey. I'd referee Atom games for $1."

Emard works in 15 to 17 OHL games a season. He'd like to be involved in more games to gain more experience and exposure.

"I get to do two or three games a month which isn't very much. The reason we don't get more games is because we don't have a Major A referee from Cornwall. The only way you can travel and do more games is if you have a referee to travel with."

Emard applied to the American Hockey League (AHL) in August inquiring if they needed more officials for the 1983-84 season. It would have been an ideal situation for him, attending Bishop's University in Lennoxville, a few miles from Sherbrooke and the AHL's Jets.

"I asked the American Hockey League referee-in-chief, Gordon Anziano, for a try-out and he said they were very satisfied with their staff."

However, Emard intends to keep knocking on the door for employment in the American Hockey League.

"I'll send another application to the American Hockey League. But it's frustrating in the sense they won't give you a chance to prove yourself. Seniority has a lot to do with it. It's hard to break into the league," said Emard.

Despite being turned down, Emard feels he just has to keep plugging away.

"You can never say it's not worth it. You always have to keep trying. I got a letter from the National Hockey League and they asked for a resume and a picture of myself to put on file."

Following graduation at Bishop's University, Emard will be employed in Oshawa where he hopes to continue officiating.

"I'm hoping to do some OHL games and some travelling to get a little more exposure."

Bowlers win prizes

The Glengarry Mentally Handicapped Bowlers enjoyed a night of fun recently.

The event, known as the "Family Twosome Tournament" is set up for a handicapped bowler to bowl with a member of his family or with a friend and compete against other handicapped bowlers.

Brian Laflamme took top honors in the Male Division with a high triple score of 489 followed very closely by Michel Rouleau with 484 and Robert Mayes with 395.

Ann MacDonald had top honors in the Female Division with a high triple score of 435 followed closely by Dorothy Emberg with 411 and Jackie Willard with 379.

The event was held at the Alexandria Bowling Lanes where manager Roger Menard assisted tournament supervisors Donat Wissell and Elmer Richer.

Test day held

The Alexandria Figure Skating Club held a test day on Sunday, December 4, 1983, at the Sports Palace.

The skaters performed in front of judges designated by the Canadian Figure Skating Association and following is a list of the skaters who were successful in different disciplines:

Metcalfe explodes against Rebels

Metcalfe Jets gave Randy McGillis a rude welcome back into Charlottenburgh Rebels lineup Saturday night in Alex English Division Junior B action.

Metcalfe scored six times in the first period and went on to an easy 13-2 win over the Rebels.

McGillis, who played last season for the Rebels, was peppered with 46 shots. The Cornwall native started the season with the New Westminster Bruins of the Western Hockey League.

Metcalfe bombarded McGillis with 29 shots in the first period.

Lindsay Pasch paced Metcalfe with a hat trick and five assists while Dwayne Cowick also scored three times and added two assists. Gary Poirier, with two goals and four assists, Randy Bentham, Bob Kempt, Kevin McManus, Scott Reed and Peter Holmes completed Metcalfe's scoring.

The loss dropped Charlottenburgh's record to 5-13, leaving them in the cellar in the six-team circuit. Rebels goals came off the sticks of Roddy MacKenzie and Don Bissonnette. Mike Lapensee set up both goals.

Meanwhile the game marked the debut of Ken "Junior" MacDonald behind the Rebels' bench. MacDonald replaces Richard Massie who resigned last week because of work commitments.

"Richard resigned a week ago of his own choice after the Navan game. I think a lot of it had to do with his job. He was finding it difficult to change shifts for the games," said Rebels' manager Stewart Fourney.

"This is nothing against Richard, but we were lucky to have had a man available with Junior's experience. He knows his hockey and we asked if he could help us out and he decided he wanted to get back into hockey," added Fourney.

Rebels play a pair of games this weekend. Saturday night, they host Navan Grads and then travel to Clarence Creek Sunday.

Atoms pick up four points

Over the weekend in Lower St. Lawrence Atom Division, Caisse Populaire picked up four more points. They now hold a record of 8-0-0.

On Friday night at Long Sault arena, Gilles Joanette's troop led all the way as they posted a comfortable victory over South Stormont. Patrick Ravary pumped in three goals and assisted on two others. Luc Sabourin, Randy Gebbie and Ricky Latreille chipped in one goal and one assist apiece, and Pascal Joanette and Steve Poirier added the rest. Stephane Davidson and Francois Ouellette contributed one and two assists respectively.

For Long Sault, Mike Clarke's goal late in the third period prevented the shut out.

On Sunday, at Water Street Arena, Alexandria trounced Cornwall Minors 11-0.

Pascal Joanette sparked the Glens' attack with a five-goal performance and one assist. Randy Gebbie had two goals and two assists; Patrick Ravary had one goal and three assists; Ricky Latreille had one goal and two assists; Luc Duval had one goal and one assist and Francois Ouellette had one goal.

Two assists apiece were credited to Luc Sabourin, Luke Murray, Eric Lewis, Stephane Davidson and Patrick Sauve.

Christian Bellefeuille and Michael McDonell provided sound goaltending in these two victories.

On Saturday, December 10, Atom Glens Caisse-Populaire participated in the Char-Lan tournament and, surprisingly, were outplayed in both their games.

In the preliminary round, the Glens were dropped to the consolation division when Char-Lan edged Alexandria 5-4 in overtime.

Pascal Joanette, Randy Gebbie, Eric Lewis and Patrick Ravary were the Alexandria marksmen.

A pair of goals from Sean O'Farrell and Curtis Latreille with a single from Shane Boucher wrapped up the Char-Lan scoring.

In the B semi-final, Alexandria fell behind in the first period and came out on the short end of a 4-1 decision to Huntingdon.

Peewees knock Cornwall

by Claudette Francoeur

In Lower St. Lawrence hockey league action, the Bank of Montreal Peewee Glens won their two encounters in a convincing manner over the last week. Sunday, in spite of a 3-1 loss to Orleans, the locals distinguished themselves in the most exciting exhibition nail-biter.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 5

Cornwall Minor had a poor performance Monday, at the Water Street Arena and the Glens drained their inconsistent opponents 8-0. Richard Chevrier earned the shutout. Alain Rochon scored twice, Julien Boisvenue collected one goal and three assists, Serge Bellefeuille added a single along with two helpers while Jason Palmer and Pierre Cuerrier earned a single and one assist each. Scott Graham and Andrew Sauve completed the sweep.

Luc Francoeur set up three goals while Robbie Latreille, Kevin Craig, Alain Larocque, Roch Levac and Daniel Levert participated once.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9

Julien Boisvenue's hat trick sparked Alexandria to a convincing 6-1 romp over Char-Lan Friday, in Williamstown arena. Robbie Latreille had himself a fair game with a pair of goals while Kevin Craig notched in a single. Scoring support came from Jason Palmer with two, Scott Graham and Serge Bellefeuille. Stephane Nadeau was the Bank of Montreal netminder. Derek Menard was the lone respondent for the Lancaster Inn.

EXHIBITION GAME

Alexandria and Orleans came out flying Sunday, December 11 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The local squad missed too many chances and the visitors walked away with a 3-1 squeaker, the third goal scored in an empty net. R. Seguin, J. Egan and D. Collette took care of Orleans scoring. Alain Rochon was accounted for the Glens lone goal.

COMING UP

Massena will be the visitors on home ice for exhibition play on Saturday, December 17 at 3 p.m. On Sunday, the Peewee Glens will host Char-Lan at 6 p.m. for a scheduled game.

CROWNED QUEEN—Gisele Sauve was recently crowned 1983-84 North Lancaster Snowmobile Queen at Green Valley Pavilion. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sauve of North Lancaster.

Dunvegan wins first

Darrell Hay's two goals lifted Dunvegan to their first win of the season Monday night in a Seaway Valley Industrial Hockey League game, surprising GTL 5-3.

Also scoring for Dunvegan were Barry Crawford, Donald Dashney and Allan Stewart.

GTL received a pair of goals from Jim Crockford and a single tally from Mike Lapensee. Wayne Cameron drew assists on all three goals.

Meanwhile, in the first game of the evening, Manny's skated to a 4-2 win over Maxville No Stars.

Ian MacDonald paced Manny's with two goals while Murray MacEwan and Wayne Kippen rounded out the scoring. Brian Wensink had three assists.

Wendell Lafave and Don Blaney were the scorers for the No Stars.

Last Thursday night at Maxville, Ranny Shayler tallied eight goals as Johnny Mac's crushed the Maxville No Stars 12-1.

Mike Lalonde chipped in with a pair while singles went to Richard MacDonell and Phil Lalonde.

Don Blaney replied for the No Stars.

Leo Seguin, Frank St. Pierre and Yvan Desautels each scored twice as Pentagon posted an 8-5 win over GTL.

Bob Lajoie and Bob Menard completed Pentagon's scoring.

GTL's scoring came off the sticks of Mike Lapensee, Dan Giroux, Wayne Cameron, Peter Conway and Carey Cameron.

Tomorrow night (Thursday) Manny's plays Dunvegan at 7:30 p.m. while GTL tangles with Maxville No Stars at 9 p.m. at Maxville.

Monday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Johnny Mac's plays GTL followed by Pentagon against Manny's. At Williamstown, Maxville No Stars go up against Dunvegan.

Pilon leads Deguire Plumbing

Stephane Pilon scored four times in leading Gerry Deguire Plumbing to a 6-2 triumph over Glengarry Sportswear in an Atom contest Saturday in the Alexandria Minor Hockey House League at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Wade McNaughton and Dominique Leblanc completed the scoring with singles.

Craig Buss and Eric Ladouceur were the marksmen for Glengarry Sportswear.

Sealtest skated to a 2-1 squeaker over Sultan Drugs.

Scoring for Sealtest were Victor Denobrigh and Eric Hurtubise.

Guy Vaillancourt replied for Sultan Drugs.

PEEWEE

Glenex defeated Bell 4-1. Scoring for Glenex were Marc Massia, Stephane Nadeau, Marc Lefebvre and Michel Lasalle.

Nicko Charbonneau tallied for Bell.

Piche Appliance nipped OPP 3-2. Piche Appliance's goals came off the sticks of Joel Seguin, Denis Poliquin and Travis Giroux.

Brad Rickerd accounted for OPP's scoring.

BANTAM

Hope's Auto Parts posted an easy 9-2 win over Bank of Nova Scotia.

Jacques Deguire paced the winner with a hat trick while Ken Robinson and Michel Lefebvre had two goals and two assists each. Singles went to Denis Lalonde and Michel Levert.

Mark Wagman and Jean Desormeaux scored for Bank of Nova Scotia.

Stewart Plumbing and Masson Insurance skated to a 1-1 draw.

Norman Brunet scored for Stewart Plumbing while Denis Lalonde replied for Masson Insurance.

Masson Insurance, behind Pierre Cholette's three goals, defeated Hope's Auto Parts 6-4.

Denis Lalonde with two and Michel Levert rounded out the scoring.

Stephane Bernique paced Hope's Auto Parts with two goals while singles went to Michel Lefebvre and Ken Robinson.

Stephane Landriault scored twice as Stewart Plumbing nipped Bank of Nova Scotia 4-3.

Normand Brunet and Simon Nadeau tallied singles.

Bank of Nova Scotia goals were scored by Raymond Desormeaux, Ricky Sabourin and Ken Robinson.

MIDGET

Yvon Jeaurond scored three times and Sean Sullivan had three assists as Cathy's B-B-Q dumped Larocque Feed Mill 5-3. Marc Rouette and Yves Joanette chipped in with singles.

Jean Lauzon led Larocque Feed Mill with two markers while Jean Francois Besner scored once.

James McDonald's four-goal performance sparked MacLennan Lumber Kings to a 5-2 win over Louis Pizzeria. Dale Hambleton completed the scoring for the winners.

Serge St. Louis and Luc Poliquin were the marksmen for Louis Pizzeria.

Bantams take NGS

by Sheila Stewart

Lions Club Bantam Glens played very well on Friday, Dec. 9 at the Glengarry Sports Palace, defeating NGS, 6-1. The Bantam Glens passing play has been improving steadily and if they keep up the hard work in this area, will be a difficult team to beat. Glen Campbell was back to his usual form, after a one-game slump, scoring double goals and assists. Pierre Levac, Michel Duval, Marc Sauve and Alex Maclaren added a single each to round out the scoring for Alexandria. Assists went to Luc Decoeur, Pierre Levac, Mike Sauve, Richard Willard, Michel Duval, each one, and Alex Maclaren with two.

North Glen Stor goal was scored by Tim Ouderkirk.

Sunday, Dec. 11 Bantam Glens travelled to Hawkesbury for an exhibition game which turned out to be a one-sided affair with Alexandria winning 7-0. This was the first shutout for goaltenders Stephane Landriault and Claude Gallant, both sharing the honors. Glen Campbell opened the scoring in the first minute of play and had a hat trick by the end of the period. Another goal and one assist gave him a five-point total. Andrew Meth put in two markers and Marc Sauve, one. Luc Decoeur and Mike Sauve were big on helpers with three each, while Rodney Craig and Richard Willard each had one.

Lancaster has parade

Putting many communities much larger to shame, Lancaster's Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 544, sponsored their 25th successful Santa Claus parade Saturday.

Led by a Cornwall pipe band, the parade had all the necessary ingredients to guarantee success — floats, clowns, fire trucks, candy for the kids and, of course, Santa Claus himself, riding his sleigh at the end of the half-hour spectacle.

The parade, which began at 1:30 p.m., attracted hundreds of people to the village's main street. They came from all over Glengarry, from Cornwall and beyond.

First prize for floats went to the Legion's Candyland. The Commercial Hotel captured second prize and the Lancaster Fish and Game Club took third.

The best out of town float was entered by Glen Brook.

The best clowns were Bonnie McMillan, Shirley Picard and Elaine Lalonde.

The 12 floats were judged by Ray Picard, Reeve Dorothy Perrier, John Mousseau and Fire Chief Roger Menard.

St. Raphael's CWL had evening

by Joanne Stevenson

St. Raphael's Catholic Women's League held its annual Christmas supper December 5.

Father Tom Villeneuve had offered the rectory facilities for the festivities and halls were gaily decorated with handcrafted Christmas ornaments and tinsel.

Approximately 40 members, as well as invited senior citizens, attended.

Before the dinner, the CWL presented Father Villeneuve with a Christmas cheque. A draw was held for the door prize, a cushion handcrafted by Mrs. Cuthbert McDonald. The pleased and surprised winner was Dorothy Graham.

A short meeting was held after the dinner. Families wishing to spread true Christmas spirit to the lonely aged were asked to approach Father Villeneuve, who will furnish names of people in such need.

A January 8 get-together is being organized for parents and their 1983 babies.

A motion was passed establishing meetings in January and February and cancelling them in July and August. Father Villeneuve described the Christmas mass format, noting the 8 p.m. mass would be tailored for children.

Poor weather and hazardous driving conditions cut the entertaining evening short.

Christmas tea and bazaar a success

by Marguerite Seger

St. Finnan's Parish annual Christmas tea and bazaar was a great success when held on Sunday, December 11 in the Alexander Hall.

The general convener was Margaret Bartnikas. The tea table was convened by Madeleine MacDonald; the bake table by Gertrude McDonald; arts and crafts, Elsie MacLean and Ursula Maclaren; kitchen, Mary Catherine Morris; books, toys and novelties, Marlene Lalonde; candy, Marion Lawson and Fran Collard; advertising, Anna McBean. The draw tickets for the side of pork were under the direction of Michael Morris.

A number of young junior ladies assisted in the serving of the tea, coffee and refreshments.

Several senior ladies of the parish acted as receptionists at the door and at the admission table where they pinned a Christmas decoration on those entering. There was a lovely selection of knitted articles, baked goods, etc.

Msgr. D. B. McDougald, rector, welcomed the guests and was called upon to pull the raffle ticket for the side of pork draw which was won by Father Stone of Cornwall. Little Gina Dragone drew the ticket for the Christmas table centrepiece which was won by Madeleine MacDonald.

Wed at Glen Nevis

Dupuis - Acheson

The marriage of Elizabeth Acheson and Rejean Dupuis took place recently in St. Margaret of Scotland Church, Glen Nevis, with Reverend Withold Mazurkiewicz officiating.

Readings were by the bride's father, William Acheson and by a friend Helene Vaillancourt. Mary Harrison was organist and soloists were the bride's sister, Peggy and her husband John Morris, also the bride's brother, William Acheson Jr.

The bride is the daughter of William and Muriel Acheson of North Lancaster and the groom is the son of Rheal and Noella Dupuis of Alexandria.

The bride was gowned floor-length in white chiffon over taffeta and her chapel length veil fell from a floral headband. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and mauve carnations.

Kathryn Chartrand was matron of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were Carole Lajoie and Christine Butler, the bride's niece. Flower girl was Natalie Charbonneau.

Best man was Serge Beriault and ushers were Randy MacDonald and Yvon Dupuis. Ringbearer was Yves Chartrand.

The reception following the ceremony was held at Green Valley Pavilion where the bride's father acted as master of ceremonies.

Later the couple spent a honeymoon in Florida. They are now residing in Alexandria.

Apple Hill News

by Aline Gormley

Tea was successful

Despite snowy weather, there was very good attendance at "Frosty's Christmas Tea" held at St. Andrew's Parish Hall on Sunday, December 4. Regular visitors had been anticipated and we missed their warm companionship but road conditions prevented this jolly fraternizing this year.

We must say that our local people made it a hugh success, the best yet by far. Tickets sold on a color T.V. set well ahead of time brought in a goodly sum. Jamie Leroux of Cornwall was the lucky winner.

Two beautifully decorated cakes made by Inez Barker and Cathy Levac were raffled; first winner was Karen Lauzon, second was Nancy Van Putten. A knitted baby afghan made by Blanche Gauthier went to Paulette Lalonde. A nativity scene by Paul Deveau went to Patricia Quail. The door prize donated by Bill Williams, Amway Products, Monkland, went to Mrs. Aurore Besner.

Convenors of the tea, Isobel Fraser, Blanche Gauthier, Monique Mainville and Lorraine Sabourin were extremely happy with the results and grateful for this well co-ordinated effort on the part of all helpers. Their generous response, no doubt, helped to make it the success it was.

Pot luck supper

On Tuesday, December 6, about 60 members of the Happy Hour Club of Apple Hill enjoyed a delicious pot luck supper in the Activity Centre.

After an exchange of gifts, approximately 50 members remained for an evening of euchre despite the inclement weather.

The club room and tables were appropriately decorated for the yuletide season.

The bi-weekly open euchres will resume on January 3 with everyone welcome.

House fire

On Thursday, December 8 a fire started in the home of Telesphore and Theresa Marleau on Kennedy Street, Apple Hill.

Fire chief Allan MacMillan reported the fire was more likely due to a faulty connection between the wood stove and the chimney. His prompt action resulted in averting what could have been a very disastrous circumstance. To assist him in this distressing task were Mike Bissonnette, Claude Besner and Ted Lapierre.

Damages caused have not yet been fully determined. Mr. and Mrs. Marleau cannot occupy their home and are presently residing with their son Vincent Marleau in Apple Hill.

Turkey bingo

The Apple Hill Recreation Club is grateful for the great turnout at their Turkey Bingo held December 5.

The winners of the regular games were Tracy Rigby, Hope McKinnon, Nicole Quenneville, Catherine Dewar, Ted Lapierre, Sandra Benton, Carol Sauve, Rene Lalonde, and Helen Paquette.

Special bingos were won by Garry McIntosh, Florence Harkins, George Rigby and Hope McKinnon.

The 50/50 bingo was won by Dallas McIntosh. Door prizes were won by Calvin Bender and Olive Guindon. Marc McDougall won the draw for a basket of cheer.

Turkeys had been donated by Rene St. Amour, Bernie Villeneuve, Guindon/Glenoco, Railtech, Freddie Leroux, Eddie Lacroix, Hughie McIntyre, Lalonde's Meat Market, S & B Foods, King Edward Hotel, AJK Groceries, Billy Munroe, M & M* Billy Campbell, Highland Motor Sales, Mini Mart in Monkland, Mary's Restaurant and IGA* Alexandria.

Donations were also received from Colbourne's Variety Store, Maxville; Apple Hill Medical Clinic and Mark Guindon Valdi, Cornwall.

Santa coming

The children's Christmas party sponsored by the Apple Hill Recreation Club will be held Sunday, December 18 at 2 p.m. at the Senior Citizen's hall. All area children are welcome. Santa Claus will be paying a visit.

Also on Sunday evening people will be carolling throughout the village. Everyone is welcome to participate. They will be assembling at Madelaine MacMillan's at 7 p.m.

Christmas cards, a joy or a chore? With escalating costs, including postage, one no longer sends cards hither and yon as one did a few years back. Now you use a Christmas card, often with a note tucked inside, to keep in touch with friends of yesteryear. They become a pleasure to send as you recall friends and events from other years; a joy to receive with an annual update of news of old friends.

Here is an old time favorite Christmas message once used in many cards:

Never a Christmas morning,
Never the old year ends,
But someone thinks of someone,
Old days, old times, old friends.

And isn't that what Christmas cards are all about?

Prominent educator dies — a tribute to W.J.C. Barrett

by Angus H. McDonell

One of our first historic sportsmen to be inducted in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame and one of Williamstown's last great athletes of three-score years ago, Wellington James Cameron Barrett, following a brief illness, died in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, on Sunday, December 4. He was 91.

Mr. Barrett resided in Williamstown during most of his distinguished teaching career. He never married.

The closing chapter of the deceased's many eminent life achievements was eulogistically recounted by Reverend Clifford Evans who officiated at the funeral service in Williamstown's St. Andrew's United Church last Wednesday afternoon.

This life story of a Glengarry native son began June 10, 1892, Summerstown Station, when the home of William and Isabella (Cameron) Barrett was blessed with the birth of a baby boy.

The happy parents decided that the given name should be historic and family heritage. The baby was christened Wellington James Cameron Barrett.

However, history and heritage was of no interest to young Barrett's primary school chums. His name was shortened to "Wellie." This was a lifetime tag.

From Day One of his school career he was a studious youth. At age 16, "Wellie" Barrett graduated from Williamstown High School and was awarded the R. R. (Big Rory) MacLennan scholarship. He then enrolled at Queen's University, Kingston.

Although he was greatly interested in athletics as well as academics, his lack of weight prevented him from playing football and hockey in his first and sophomore years. He had to settle for basketball.

Graduation year was different. "Wellie" Barrett was now a gangling, hefty, 19-year-old Golden Gael luminary in track, field, lacrosse, football and hockey. He graduated with an Honors' degree in French and Latin.

Recently I wrote briefly of our Queen's-Glengarry affinity. This began in 1899 and founded by the football prowess of Lancaster's Stuart Rayside. "Wellie" Barrett was rated highly among those later student athletes who added noted chapters to this heritage legend.

Following university graduation the name of Wellington James Cameron Barrett was posted in the high school teaching staff, Wiarton, Bruce County. As at home in Williamstown, the nick-name "Wellie" prevailed. He soon became a popular personality in the classroom and with sport fans. He was their stellar defenseman in hockey. Wiarton won the Toronto District Championhip and met Hamilton in the OHA finals. At the time, Hamilton was building its amateur team that later replaced Quebec City in the NHL. (Glengarry grandsons "Red" and "Shorty" Green era.)

It was now the late stages of World War One, 1917. "Wellie" Barrett enlisted in the infantry. He was transferred to the Flying Corps. At the completion of his Officers' Training course in Leaside, Toronto, the war ended.

"Wellie" Barrett returned to Williamstown and joined the high school staff. He specialized in teaching French and History. In September, 1919, he was appointed the school principal. He held this important position until the school closed in June, 1954. He compiled a remarkable record in the field of education over a period of 35 years.

However, this was not the end

"Wellie" Barrett in his younger days as a star defenceman with the Wiarton Hockey Club of the O.H.A.

of "Wellie" Barrett's actual teaching career. The principal of the new Char-Lan school, Evan MacDonald, recognized the prestige of the former principal. He retained the services of this grand old teacher. Finally in June, 1960, "Wellie" Barrett's resignation was accepted. He was 68. A total of 41 years teaching plus his first term in Wiarton.

Briefly, "Wellie" Barrett was regarded as a stimulating and encouraging teacher of Latin, Mathematics, History, French and Geography. A scholarship winner himself, he saw his pupils consistently win awards for study beyond high school. These records began with the winning of the Marion Stewart MacDonald Scholarship in 1920. The A. J. and Margaret Grant awards 18 times, 1921-1952. Eleven R. R. MacLennan Foundation scholarships from 1923-1948.

Despite the burden of the principal's office and teaching, "Wellie" Barrett found time to reorganize the high school Cadet Corps. It became one of the outstanding corps in Ontario. In the annual parades it drew acclaim from all reviewing officers in the entire region east of Toronto. (How we, AHS, in khaki envied our Williamstown counterparts so dressy in the kilt.)

A keen sportsman and a stellar all-round athlete, "Wellie" Barrett, when not in school, could be found on the rink beside "Tab" Larocque's barbershop playing hockey in practice or games. He was a member of Williamstown and Glengarry's all time great hockey teams, 1910-20. Among those warriors of the ice lanes were: "Tab" Larocque, Clarence and Bill Cattanach, Johnson Raymond, "Wellie" Barrett, Tupper McDonald, Bill Dunlop, Ellis, Pat, Alex, Bernie, Bill and John Sullivan.

Come springtime "Wellie" Barrett would be among the first on the fairgrounds sward limbering up for summer competitions in track, field and lacrosse. The same hockey players wielding the gutted sticks. And at the same classic level.

This writer recalls "Wellie" Barrett winning medals at a 1919 Alexandria field day, then he changed to lacrosse gear, grabbed his stick and ran out on the field to lead Williamstown in a 4-2 win over Alexandria.

"Wellie" Barrett was a medal winner at similar field days in Alexandria, Williamstown, Cornwall, Ottawa, Montreal-MAAA and Lachine-Caledonia. He took part in every event except tossing the caber. In an interview not so long ago he admitted that he couldn't master the technique of tossing the timber.

At the Cornwall Golf and Country Club he was a Class "A" player. He was club champion in 1932. Turning to curling he was a charter member of the Lancaster Curling Club. He was still an active curler and avid bridge player at age 90. Age creeping on him, he never lost sight of his charitable, gentlemanly way that was always evident in every community project.

It is possible that this noble career of a humble Glengarrian may be remembered in an historic way. A nomination application has been filed with the Director of the Chancellory of Canadian Orders and Decorations for the possible appointment of Wellington James Cameron Barrett to the Order of Canada.

The legions of students, friends and associates will remember "Wellie" Barrett, who in our time, appropriately played the role of the theme character in Sam Walter Foss' immortal poem, "Let me live in my house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Mr. Barrett was predeceased by two brothers, William Gladstone and Andrew Grant. Surviving are two nieces and one nephew: Arlene Cebuliak, Calgary, Noreen Martineau, Toronto and William Barrett, Montreal.

The pallbearers were: Norman Cumming, Bill Cattanach, Robert McDonell, Robert Pilon, Raymond Daoust and George Croll.

FORMER LEADER—Mike Cassidy, MPP for Ottawa-Centre and former leader of the NDP, was the latest of a long string of prominent politicians campaigning in SD&G during the byelection campaign when he visited Alexandria Monday on behalf of NDP candidate Rudi Derstroff.

Staff Photo—Phil Rutherford

NDP looking for gains in area

The NDP may not expect to win Thursday's SD&G provincial by election, but party supporters are hoping to make significant gains. And they don't particularly care if they do it at the expense of the Liberals or the Conservatives.

Touring the riding with candidate Rudi Derstroff Monday, Mike Cassidy, MPP for Ottawa-Centre and former NDP leader, said New Democrats have a higher profile in SD&G than ever before.

"We now have a high profile here," he told The News. "It's unprecedented. It's the best campaign we've had since Confederation."

He praised the efforts of Mr. Derstroff, saying he "cleaned the floor" with his Conservative and Liberal opponents during last week's debate on CJOH television."

Mr. Derstroff, agreeing with criticisms that Conservative Noble Villeneuve and Liberal John Whitteker have taken too personal an approach in their assaults on each other, insisted the NDP has campaigned purely on issues, avoiding personalities.

The Liberals and Conservatives are so alike in their thinking, he said, that they have little choice but to bring personalities into a bitter campaign.

"We don't have to," he said. "We're different than either of them."

Mr. Cassidy criticized the Liberals for suggesting the government is not giving enough financial support to agriculture or other segments of society, while at the same time insisting the government has not done enough to restrain spending.

"The Liberals want to balance the budget," he said. "They favor more fiscal restraint. That can't help but force more cutbacks to SD&G.

"The Conservatives are already squeezing children's services and health care at every corner. The Liberals would make it even worse. Ontario would be like Alberta, or even BC. They're talking out of both sides of their mouths."

Rural and small town Ontario need more support, not less, said Mr. Cassidy.

"They have been hit with cutbacks in every area. There is too little slack to begin with. They need help to catch up with services offered in larger centres."

Beaudette river discussed

by Joanne Stevenson

The problems experienced by farmers along the Beaudette River were the main topic of discussion during last Wednesday's Lancaster Township council meeting.

Three farmers, headed by Grant Cameron, approached council with an explanation of their problem and possible solutions.

"The farmers along the river have no effective tile outlet," said Mr. Cameron. "It's not like if we had a municipal drain. Our concern is ice damage. Heavy ice forms in the fields, backed up from Glen Nevis. Bridges could get wiped out during the spring thaw."

"Since 1928, this river has not been touched," Hubert Carriere continued. "Every municipal drain that goes into the river has been done. People along this river are suffering because others are benefitting."

Reeve Paul Legros expressed the council's stand regarding the problem.

"Council is not prepared to pay under general funds," he said. "It would have to be like in a municipal drain where everyone affected contributes."

Mr. Cameron suggested the possibility of asking for federal funds, since the river, being deemed a navigable waterway, should be eligible for federal aid.

Clerk Mike Samson agreed to set up a meeting with federal, provincial and various municipal officials. Council, while sympathetic and willing to help deal with bureaucratic red tape, said difficulties were ahead in trying to co-ordinate and solicit funding from all areas of government. Council repeated it was not ready to spend township tax money to help.

Five sentenced for impaired driving

Five men were fined a total of $837 for drunk driving and related charges in Alexandria Provincial Court on Thursday.

A Montreal man had his license suspended for three months and was fined $153.

Jean Paradis, 25, of 5391 Park Ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

The accused was stopped in Lancaster Township, eastbound on Highway 401, and was taken to the Long Sault OPP detachment for a breathalyzer test.

Robert D. Willard, 21, of RR3, Alexandria was fined $50 and had his license suspended for three months, after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told the accused was charged Nov. 27 after a minor accident in Alexandria, when he appeared to be under the influence of alcohol. The man was then taken to Hawkesbury for a breathalyzer test. He was given two months to pay the fine.

A Laval, Que. resident was convicted of having care and control of a motor vehicle while over the legal limit of 80 milligrams of alcohol.

Leonard Gagnon, 61, of 217 Cousineau Street in Pont Viau, Laval, was fined $258 and had his license suspended for three months.

The accused was charged Nov. 26 in Kenyon Township by a Maxville OPP constable when he noticed a vehicle parked on the north shoulder of Highway 417 with the headlights and brake lights on. Gagnon was found asleep behind the steering wheel.

A Laval, Que., man pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle while over the legal limit of 80 milligrams.

Jean-Marie Rochon, 50, of 3839 Mercedes Street was handed a $223 fine and had his license suspended for three months.

The individual was charged Nov. 19 in Charlottenburgh Township after a Lancaster OPP officer noticed him wandering from side to side, southbound on Highway 34.

A Green Valley youth was found guilty of care and control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Marc Ouellette, 18, was charged in Lancaster Township Dec. 3 by Lancaster OPP. The youth was fined $153 and had his license suspended for three months.

In handing out the fine, Judge Reginald Levesque lectured the youth on the severity of drinking and driving. Levesque told the court "most people don't realize how many people are killed each year because of drunk driving and that 40 per cent of accidents in Canada are because of drunk driving.

"The sad thing is that the people who are killed or injured are innocent people, who just happened to be there," the judge added.

New system to save postage

A new computer system of billing was introduced by the Alexandria Public Utilities Commission this month and Laurent Poirier, PUC general manager, promises it will save the local utility considerable money after the first year.

One considerable saving will be in a special bulk mailing rate of 23 cents, as opposed to the 37 cents paid for this month's postage on oversized bills which will be reduced to standard envelope size.

Water and hydro billings are now being made simultaneously and this will reduce billings from 17,000 to 10,000 a year with additional savings of postage and manpower.

The new pull-tab forms are supplied by the Loyalist College of Belleville and Mr. Poirier informs the local PUC is the last in this district to qualify for the new computer service.

Don't squander your vote

Thursday is election day in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, a day that could have significant impact on the future of the area.

The weather may be bad, but it remains the democratic duty of every eligible voter to do his or her best to vote.

Regardless of political beliefs or loyalties, every vote is important, particularly when it appears the result may well be excruciatingly close.

By now, most voters have made up their minds. We hope their decisions are based on study of party politics and the respective candidates' qualifications for public office, not on blind party loyalty.

Sit down, examine the issues carefully in your own mind. Weigh the government's performance against opposition criticism and proposed alternatives. Look at the policies of the two opposition parties and decide in your own mind whether they have better ideas.

Blind loyalty to the governing party, provincially or federally, is worthless as a demonstration of intelligent voting. But blind opposition is worth no more.

When you cast your ballot, be sure you understand what you are voting for. But more important of all, make sure you do vote. The ballot is the only real power the little person has in a democracy. Use it, don't squander it.

May the best man win.

End plea bargaining now

Attorney-General Roy McMurtry is correct in his decision to appeal the two-year sentence given an Ottawa man who has admitted responsibility for the drowning death of a two-year-old boy.

Jean Dionne had pleaded guilty to criminal negligence in the death of Jason Verdon last year.

The decision to appeal was made after Mr. McMurtry's office was presented with a 3,000-name petition demanding a harsher sentence.

Two years for killing a child does not represent justice. It does represent plea-bargaining at its worst. The behind-the-scenes negotiations are made necessary, primarily, by an over-loaded court system in Ontario. We do not have adequate court facilities or enough Crown attorneys or judges to handle the full load. Even our jails are overcrowded.

The accused agrees to plead guilty to a lesser offense. Valuable court time is saved and the accused receives a lighter sentence. Efficient? Yes. Just? Far from it.

Mr. Dionne's defense attorney, Scott Milloy, has warned the Crown's decision to appeal the agreed-upon sentence will damage the whole system of plea bargaining. A deal is a deal, he says, and the Crown's reneging now could undermine plea bargaining in future.

Let's go a step further and eliminate plea bargaining entirely. Justice should be based on right and wrong, on protection of the public and punishment of criminals, not on private deals negotiated between lawyers behind closed doors.

The cost of maintaining a judicial system without plea bargaining would be higher. We would need new courts and new judges, Crown attorneys and lawyers to fill them. Justice has never been cheap, though plea-bargaining tends to cheapen its image. Whatever the cost, we can't afford not to pay for it. Injustice costs much, much more.

Parrot retreats

Jean-Claude Parrot, faced with a negative ruling from the Canada Labor Relations Board (CLRB), has retreated from his latest scam of offering Christmas mail for 10 cents. It was the smartest move he has made since the farce began.

The CLRB has ruled the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) plan constituted an illegal strike. The postal union is not exempt from the law.

Canadians themselves would have been paying the full cost of Mr. Parrot's so-called Christmas gift. Most Canadians recognized the stunt for what it was—a cheap publicity ploy.

Mr. Parrot now says his union will use other means to protest postal rates. Let us hope he stays within the law next time.

But after this latest fiasco, few would give much credibility to Mr. Parrot and the CUPW. Their impact has been damaged accordingly.

Crackdown years overdue

Most operators of Ontario's private nursing homes are honest and caring people. While they are obviously in business to make a dollar, profit does not take precedence over the care of the elderly and chronically ill placed in their care.

Nearly all of the province's nursing homes are modern, cheerful buildings, complete with all reasonable facilities and dedicated staff to ensure the best care possible for their patients.

But there is still a minority of thoughtless operators too willing to sacrifice the well-being of the helpless people in their care for the sake of personal financial gain.

It is up to the Ontario Ministry of Health to drive such people out of the nursing home business and ensure nursing homes meet rigid standards and their residents receive the best of care.

Fault can be found, but by and large the ministry has been handling this responsibility well in recent years and now Health Minister Keith Norton has announced his intention to force Ontario's 335 licensed nursing homes to make structural improvements.

The improvements have been postponed since 1972 because the province needed every available nursing home bed.

The number of nursing home inspectors is being increased from 24 to 36 to make sure the homes comply with all provincial requirements.

In addition, seven fire inspectors from the Ministry of Housing have been checking nursing homes since last August and will continue to do so until next August.

A senior Crown attorney from the attorney general's office has been assigned to work full-time on prosecutions or license revocations against those who "need to be nudged by prosecution," says Mr. Norton.

Since the province began nursing home inspections more than 10 years ago, fire and safety regulations have been enforced, but structural and other environmental shortcomings have been allowed to remain unchanged because of the time and expense involved in correcting them. They deal with such matters as the size of rooms and windows, diet and the condition of carpeting.

The violations will be dealt with over a two-year period. Some are severe enough to warrant major reconstruction or entirely new buildings, the minister says.

When it comes to the care of our elderly and others in need of constant nursing attention, it is impossible to be too strident in the enforcement of relevant regulations.

The health minister's new crackdown is a welcome development and probably at least 10 years overdue.

Can't teach old dog

Our rambling reporter

It cost as much as $2 million to clear the 24 centimetres of snow that fell on Ottawa last Tuesday, we read. That's a lot of money to lay out for snow removal, we're thinking, especially when that 24 centimetres of snow provides us with only a vague idea of how much snow fell on Ottawa.

We seem to have heard somewhere that there's about four centimetres of snow to the inch and that suggests the capital city had about six inches of snow that day. That sounds reasonable in comparison with the four inches or so that fell here on Tuesday, when it wasn't raining.

But why don't the news reporters smarten up and tell us in good old inches how much snow or rain falls?

They can go back to Fahrenheit, too, in giving us the temperature now that Judy Erola has announced suspension of Canada's march to metric. Ottawa has stopped enforcing metric regulations until the courts decide whether or not the government has the power to decree how merchants measure and weigh their goods.

This holiday from metric comes to us courtesy of a couple of service station owners in Toronto who sold gasoline by the gallon in defiance of metric regulations. They were hauled into court but a judge dismissed the charges. He described the metric legislation as "a draconian measure devoid of any natural justice" and also observed that the poorly drafted federal regulations did not specifically prohibit sales in imperial units.

Ottawa has launched an appeal, says Judy, but meanwhile metric won't be mandatory in sales of gasoline, home furnishings and foods.

The oil industry has no plans to abandon metric, we read. That but confirms our suspicion that the oil barons were only too happy to have the pumps converted to litres at a time when a gallon of gas was going over the $2 mark. No doubt the government also had that in mind when metric measures were introduced.

Now's the time for every car driver to demand that the service station owner prominently display the price of his gasoline in gallons, as well as litres. If we're reminded often enough how we're being soaked for gas by government and oil companies we just might get mad enough to demand lower prices.

While we're at it, let's take a complete holiday from things metric. Let's plow through what threatens to be a tough winter with weather reports in Fahrenheit. That way we'll know how much snow fell where and how cold or mild it is.

Guess it's too late to go back to miles on the road signs, so we'll just have to remember that there are five miles in every eight kilometres we travel.

This mess they call metric conversion is a reminder of an old saying—"You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Will remember this

Improved court facilities in Alexandria have long been needed to adequately serve Glengarry County. Existing facilities in the Public Utilities Building do not allow adequate privacy for the judge, the Crown attorney or defense lawyers who need to interview their clients.

There is also a serious security risk in that there are no holding cells for prisoners accused of serious or violent crimes.

The fact that there has been no escape so far and no one has been harmed or taken hostage is due to the nervous diligence of police and to a lot of good luck.

Without improvement, it would only be a matter of time until a serious incident developed.

Several years ago serious consideration was given to a proposal that would have seen the Alexandria court closed in favor of centralized facilities in Cornwall. The move was blocked, thanks to the late Osie Villeneuve, MPP for SD&G. He promised no such move would be made while he was alive to stop it. With Osie's passing, the fear returned.

Now the government is ready to move on new, expanded court facilities in Alexandria, with plans expected to be unveiled in a few weeks. The new court would be located in the old IGA building after extensive alterations and would include, in addition to an enlarged courtroom, public washrooms, interview rooms for lawyers and their clients, a lounge area for spectators, a proper judge's chamber with a private entrance, and a holding cell for prisoners, one of the major concerns addressed recently by the Public Institutions Inspections Panel in its sharply critical evaluation of the existing facility.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Government Services has said an agreement for lease of the building should be signed by the end of the month.

We hope, regardless of the outcome of Thursday's SD&G provincial byelection, plans for the new court will proceed with all possible haste. Alexandria's court is a busy one and would serve the needs of Glengarry much better from an adequate facility.

We welcome the good news concerning the likely new court. We will start cheering when we see the reality.

There is no report this week on the Happy Bowlers' Friday night league.

First, the northern gang moved their play to Saturday. Then they were rained out. That's right, rained out! Don't ask me to explain.

Determined there would still be some action on a night out, the gang moved on to the Vankleek Hill Community Centre for an old timers' hockey tournament and played cards. True hockey fans, all of them.

It appears one euchre team won 12 consecutive games against all challengers until, late in the evening, at the point of exhaustion, they finally lost a close match to a four-man team. Again, don't ask me to explain.

Memories like this are forever beautiful

From the rail fence
by Anna Margaret MacDonald

Just spent an unbelievable week dispelling the pre-Christmas blues. Went to visit my relatives in Houston. My, my, my, it was a lovely change of pace.

My plans to go there at some indefinite future time became concrete unexpectedly when daughter Judy called and said: "You're booked on the Wednesday to Wednesday flight to Houston. Was talking to a friend at the travel agency and she had one seat cancellation so I grabbed it."

At a bargain price of $159, this sounded highly acceptable.

My sister Gerrie met me at the airport and from there on we crammed a lot of sightseeing and togetherness into the next six days.

Her three daughters live in various corners of the sprawling city and they were a big part of the visit. Marilyn and Sharon are wed to big tall Texans whom I had never met and Karen is currently wed to her law practice.

Houston has grown big and too fast for its own good, especially in the past three years when an estimated 1,000 families a day moved there.

Marilyn and Jim live in "Glen Cairn" subdivision where all the streets have Scottish names—Clydesdale, Bagpipe, Wee Laddie and the like. Sharon and Gerald live in a development where all the streets have Spanish names. This seems to be a way of identifying areas.

The price of gas is enviable at about a dollar a gallon, and liquor and cigarettes are a little more than half our prices. I saw no other bargains and hospitalization is years behind our system.

Weather was about like our September with gardens sporting ripe tomatoes and green onions. Frost arrived the morning I left. Gerrie lives near the Nasa Centre so took me to see it. Since the Columbia was currently on a space mission it was an ideal time; we listened to the base personnel talking to the astronauts out in space. Tried out the seat used by the astronauts on their first flight to the moon and inspected all the exhibits including the different space suits worn on different flights. Such advances in just the last few years!

Drove down to Galveston on Sunday afternoon past the miles of refineries and fishing boats. As a Christmas promotion the city decorates "The Strand" section and people are encouraged to dress in costumes like we see on old Christmas cards in the era of Dickens. Many of the ladies costumes were outlandishly beautiful in satins, velvets and taffetas over hoop skirts. We had a merry time identifying the male characters as Pickwickians, jesters, knaves, beefeaters, coachmen and whatever. Booths along the streets bore old English touches and everyone seemed to participate in the "old-tyme" ploy. We stopped in at "Clara Peggoty's Tea Shoppe" for hot biscuits and tea.

We walked for hours through beautiful shops featuring all kinds of lavish goods we had no intention of even coveting much less purchasing. Such days are a rare treat for most of us who seldom get time to window-shop beyond the grocery items.

Knowing my passion for live theatre, Gerrie had booked two such evenings for us, at supper clubs where the plays follow the meal and can be seen right from the supper table. Discovered the nieces all share my appreciation for same. We saw "I do, I do" and "Table Manners," both delightful.

Cannot see the logic of some of the new skyscrapers in the downtown area of the city. Some of these are oval shaped and the outer surface is entirely of glass. The sun caught this one day we were driving toward it and it was enough to blind one. Understand the flying glass was such a hazard during last summer's hurricane the entire area had to be declared off-limits. This is progress?

Found all the folks encountered in stores and public places friendly and accommodating. Enjoyed the Texan accents and they immediately spotted the Canadian one.

The church we attended on Sunday had an outstanding choir and the pews were crammed. It was the first time I saw crystal vessels used for the altar bread and wine.

Gerrie's husband died unexpectedly last July and she is coping with this difficult time by filling her hours with projects to help others. She never was the complaining sort and still isn't.

The highlight of the trip though, had to be my new view of the nieces. Down through the years they have been visiting here and for whatever reason, I still visualized them as "the kids."

To visit them in their own spheres, to savor their gracious hospitality, to see them as gifted and capable young women filling their own homes with the love and joy they experienced in their parental home was a satisfaction beyond measure. Memories like this are forever beautiful.

Hockey statistician "let go," replaced by president's wife

Morrisburg, Ontario

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and your newspaper for the press coverage you have given Junior "B" hockey in the 10 years I've been statistician. Without your coverage the fans would not be kept up to date with information.

The St. Lawrence Junior "B" Hockey League hired me as their statistician for the 1972-73 season. When the leagues were revamped, I was statistician for the south-east division. When the Alex English Division was formed in the 1982-83 season I was hired.

In October 1983 I was given the same job, but now due to a new president, who wants everything close to hand, I've been let go in mid-season. His reason was because Morrisburg had switched divisions, I didn't have the same team contact.

Barry Lee, the president, does not live in a town where there is an Alex English Division team, and his wife, the new statistician, doesn't either.

Thanks to this unforeseen event, I'll be passing along the Rideau - St. Lawrence report (thanks to their statistician), and the games of the Morrisburg Lions. The league is not paying me for this, I'm doing it to further Junior "B" hockey and to keep the newspapers informed.

My grandfather, the late Lee Deeks, coached and managed midget and junior hockey, as did John Rice and Alex English, and they were in sports for fun, and they promoted hockey. Their word or handshake was binding. Now you have to have everything in writing, and some people are taking the fun out of sports.

I hope you continue to receive good statistical reports about the Alex English Division and will continue to pass this information on to your readers.

Thank you for your co-operation in the past.

Porn magazines should not be displayed for children

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I have been increasingly concerned about the open display of magazines depicting nudity at the St. Denis Newsstand, and finally enquired of Mr. St. Denis as to why he could not place such magazines out of the sight of children. He firmly informed me that they would stay on the accessible knee-level display shelf where they have always been.

I next visited Mac's Milk and found that any such magazines are kept on a shelf behind the service counter, with only the titles showing.

As a mother of young children, I am concerned about their access to such literature and I urge anyone else with the same concern, to approach Mr. St. Denis and voice your opinion.

Sincerely,
Karen Paavila

We can still offer greetings

Our Lady's Missionaries,
Toronto, Ontario

Dear friends:

Christmas 1983, finds many people of our world living with the fear of nuclear annihilation and we ask what meaning does the birth of Christ two thousand years ago have for us in the face of this threat? Do we still have cause for celebration? Can we truthfully wish each other the traditional greetings of this beautiful season?

Yes, I believe that we can!

The birth of Jesus into our world revealed to us the Father's Gift, in sending His son to us. "I came that all people may have life, and have it to the full," as we read in John 10:10. The birth of Jesus gives us life, and we are asked to share it with, "one another," with "the least of our brothers and sisters" and with, "our enemies." We receive the Gift of Life and we give it in whatever way we can to the others of our world, in the today that is ours. About tomorrow, we can only hear the promise of that same Father, "Do not be afraid . . . I am with you," Isaiah 43:5, and together we hope! And together we believe that this gives us profound cause to celebrate even in the reality of our world today!

At this season, when we stop to remember the deep truth that Christmas is, we thank God for this gift of life to each of us. We thank Him for the experience of this life through others, in a special manner, through you, as you give life to us by friendship and support in so many different ways. We thank you as you share our ministries and the privilege that is ours to be with people in areas of Brazil, Nigeria, the Philippine Islands and in Canada, in the universal struggle of each person to live life to the full.

This is my first time to write to you on behalf of Our Lady's Missionaries. After many years in the missions, our Community has asked Mary Gauthier, Doris MacDonell and me to serve for the next four years in its administration and so we send you our Christmas greetings.

We pray that the life Jesus came to give to us, may fill you, and all those dear to you, ever more deeply at this Blessed Season. May it strengthen you, and each of us, in the uncertain times ahead, and help us to continue living life in whatever way we can to the world around us, as together we enter this New Year praying and working for Peace.

Gratefully,
Sister Mona Kelly and Sisters

CHRISTMAS WISHES—Santa Claus dropped in by helicopter to the IGA on Saturday, much to the delight of dozens of youngsters who got an opportunity to make their Christmas wishes and receive a surprise gift. Santa reported that his reindeer were resting up for the long journey Christmas Eve.

Storm caused blackouts

Ontario Hydro crews got little sleep Tuesday night as they worked around the clock restoring power not only to major sections but individual homes as well, reports Vankleek Hill line foreman Stuart McDonald.

Lancaster Village was in a blackout from 7 p.m. on as a tree fell on the wires. Most of the residences had power restored by 3 a.m. but it was 6 a.m. before the whole village was functioning normally.

Apple Hill was in very much the same shape; power there was restored about 4 a.m.

Glen Robertson area had an outage for a couple of hours Tuesday morning but all was back to normal about 9 a.m.

Concession 8 in Lochiel was out of service early Monday evening but problems were dealt with by 10 p.m. and other individual calls in the township were responded to during the night.

Problems for the most part were caused by branches breaking and falling on wires or branches just being weighted down by the ice and touching wires.

The storm caused similar problems in other parts covered by the Vankleek Hill office — Kenyon, Roxborough, East and West Hawkesbury, Plantagenet, Cambridge and Caledonia — reports Mr. MacDonald.

"However, we were not nearly as bad off as they were west of here."

Glen Sandfield

Sincere sympathy to Dan and Eva Massie and the other members of the family on the recent passing of their daughter, Judy.

The funeral was at Glen Sandfield United Church, Friday afternoon, December 9, with Rev. Gordon Saville conducting the service.

She grew up in the village of Glen Sandfield and her friends here will long remember her as a lovely, sincere and courageous person.

Several area people attended the Christmas dinner in Vankleek Hill at the United Church.

The Sunshine Seniors enjoyed games and contests afterwards. Carols were led by Lorna Chapman and the music was provided by Lloyd MacCuaig and Don Conners.

Court Report

Service work for assault charge

A Glen Robertson man was given a conditional discharge and placed on two years' probation after he appeared on an assault charge in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday, Dec. 1.

Walter Hambleton, 43, was also ordered to perform 150 hours of community service work by Judge Reginald Levesque, which will begin in two months.

Fined for damage

An Alexandria man was fined $10 and placed on six months' probation for breaking a door to get into a private residence.

James Cousineau, 41, was ordered to pay $50 restitution to the owner of the residence.

Restitution must be made within five months.

Fined $150

An Alexandria youth was given a $150 fine in the Provincial Court after he was convicted of charges of breach of probation and failing to appear in provincial court, on December 1.

Gerry Gareau, 17, of 163 Main Street, was ordered to pay the fine within two months.

In levying the fine, Judge Reginald Levesque felt it wasn't necessary to incarcerate the accused, because "sometimes a fine is worth more than jail, because you have to earn it to pay it."

Jailed for one year

An Alexandria youth was sentenced to one year in jail in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday, Dec. 1.

Jeffrey Scott Timmins, 17, of 200 Main Street, pleaded guilty on charges of willful damage to private property, breach of probation, taking a vehicle without the owner's consent and failing to appear.

In sentencing the youth to jail, Judge Reginald Levesque said it was unfortunate prison was the only alternative, but for purposes of protecting the public, the youth had to be incarcerated.

Glance at the Hill

by Denis Ethier MP

THE THRONE SPEECH

The government has opened the new session of parliament with the presentation of a comprehensive program to build a new partnership for prosperity and attempt to construct a global peace in the world.

I would like, today, to give you a short list of the policies presented to help our youth and our farmers.

Lasting employment for all Canadians wanting work is a critical national objective. But even with a strong recovery the government believes direct action to create jobs continues to be essential and our young people are the priority.

Therefore, to intensify the government's efforts for young Canadians, a minister of State for Youth will be appointed. The government has also decided to create a $1 billion Youth Opportunity Fund to assist young Canadians in acquiring new skills and in finding jobs in the private, voluntary and public sectors.

I am sure this initiative will be well received by our young people in Glengarry-Prescott-Russell. I have heard so often this sentence: "I want some work."

While young people will receive special attention, the employment strategy of the government will touch every group in our society. Additional funds for this winter will be allocated to the Canada Work Program. Job opportunities in forestry, mining and the fishery will be enhanced through flexible uses of Unemployment Insurance funds.

Two new programs will be introduced: a National Voluntary Service and Environment 2000.

The government intends to develop new partnerships among business, labor, and other groups so that together we can build a better future.

We want to encourage economic growth so that more Canadians can own a home, learn a trade, expand a business, participate in the ownership of our resources and share the abundant benefits this country can provide.

Here is a brief outline of the government's strategy concerning the agriculture industry in Canada.

To help ensure that food production will continue to be one of Canada's long-term strengths, a livestock stabilization program will be established in co-operation with the provinces. Amendments will be proposed to the powers of the National Farm Products Marketing Council. A commission of inquiry will study the problems of potato marketing in Eastern Canada. The maximum for advance payments for grain will be increased.

Negotiations are underway to sign comprehensive Economic and Regional Development Agreements with the provinces. These agreements will include such key sectors as agriculture. Our riding has already benefited from former agreements with the Ontario Government.

I want to conclude this column in reminding people that the Canadian government is still committed to reduce poverty among the aged. We are still committed to maintain the health care system built up over the past two decades.

O Holy Saint Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, the faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg you, to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I propose to make your name known and cause your name to be invoked. Three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys three Glorias. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. J.V. 50-1p

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Lancaster Public Utilities Commission has approved a rate increase, averaging 6.8%, effective with all billings on and after March 1, 1984 to its customers.

The retail rate increase is within the 8% increase in the cost of power by Ontario Hydro to the utility. The revenue for 1983 is expected to be below forecast in view of the mild winter of 1982-83. However every effort was made to reduce capital expenditures in order to maintain the rate increase at a reasonable level.

The rate schedule has been submitted to the Board of Directors of Ontario Hydro for approval before implementation.

On the basis of an average customer using 100 Kwh of electricity per month the current charge of $45.25 will increase by $3.50 to $48.75.

Beriza Courville

An elderly and highly respected citizen of Alexandria, Mrs. Beriza Courville died on Sunday, December 4 in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

Born on April 2, 1894, she was the daughter of the late Hormidas Leboeuf and his wife, Rosa Doutre. She married Zotique Courville and the greater part of her life was spent in Alexandria.

Predeceased by her husband she leaves to mourn her loss five sons and five daughters: Laurier of Cornwall, Raymond of Ottawa, Claude of Cobourg, Bruno of Chateauguay, Laurent of Dorion, Claire, Mrs. Georges Dumouchel and Estelle, Mrs. Robert Vincent both of Alexandria; Lorraine, Mrs. Allan MacDonell of Waddington, NY; Merilda, Mrs. Reg Minty of Leduc, Alberta and Jeanne, Mrs. Jim Talarico of Portland, Oregon.

There are 22 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Berthe Gauthier of Alexandria and Mrs. Yvonne Durocher of St. Donat, Que.

The funeral was held Wednesday, December 7 in Sacred Heart Church at 11 a.m. with Reverend Roger Desrosiers officiating. He was assisted by Monsignor D. B. McDougald and Reverend Gerald Poirier.

Pallbearers were: Gerry, Danny and Ronnie Courville, Robert Lajoie, Jean Luc Desautels and Reynald Legros.

Burial was in St. Finnan's Cemetery.

Rolland Gagnon

The death of Rolland Gagnon of Green Valley occurred on Friday, December 9 at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

He was born 66 years ago in Curran, a son of the late Ovila Gagnon and his wife, Rosanna Lortie.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, the former Emma Durivage, five sons and two daughters: Raymond of Alexandria; Marcel of Rosemere, Jean Paul of Boisbriand, Bernard of St. Eustache, Rene of Cornwall, Anita, Mrs. Michel Delorme of Ile Bizard and Lise, Mrs. Claude Campeau of Green Valley. There are 15 grandchildren.

He also leaves five brothers and a sister: Rheal of Glen Norman, Emile of St. Constant, Jean of Cornwall, Lionel and Philippe of Ville Mercier and Gilberte, Mrs. Harry Marsh of Williamstown.

The funeral was held in St. Mary's Church, Green Valley, on Monday, December 12 at 11 a.m. Reverend Gerald Poirier officiated.

Pallbearers were: Philippe, Luc, Pierre, Charles and Francois Gagnon and Claude Campeau.

Sister Frances Kusluski

A member of the teaching staff at the Alexander School, here, Sister Frances Kusluski died suddenly on November 15, victim of a heart attack. Her death at age 70 ended 49 years in religious life.

Sister was born at Renfrew and in 1934 she entered the Sisters of Holy Cross in St. Laurent. Many students in Montreal and Ontario mourn her sudden death.

The funeral was held to St. Finnan's Cathedral where Msgr. D. B. McDougald was assisted by Rev. Charles MacDonald, Rev. Gary Ostler and Rev. Sylvester Theoret in celebration of the Mass of Resurrection. Most Rev. Eugene P. LaRocque was present in the sanctuary and presided at the final blessing.

The body of Sister Frances was conveyed to St. Joseph's Pavilion, St. Laurent, for a Community funeral service at 2 p.m.

Pallbearers were: Dr. L. Roman, Arthur Pilon, Paul Deveau, Norbert Joubert, Hubert McDonell and Larry Harrison.

Immediate members of the Kusluski family in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kusluski, Deep River; Bob Kusluski, Renfrew; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kusluski, Garden City, Mich., and Eugene Kusluski, Lavonia, Mich.

Her sisters, Mrs. Kay Roach of Deep River, and Mrs. Rose Coyne of New York, were unable to attend.

Mayme MacDougall

At the age of 95, the death occurred at the Kirkland and District Hospital Tuesday, November 29 of Mrs. Mayme MacDougall of the Teck Pioneer Residence.

Born at Green Valley she was the last surviving child of Annie and Sandy Roy (Banker) McDonell.

She had taught in different schools in Glengarry before marrying Angus MacDougall who predeceased her.

She is survived by three daughters: Lillian MacDougall of Kirkland Lake and Edna (Mrs. Gerald Morgan) and Inez (Mrs. Stanley Reid), both of Oakville, eight grandchildren and one great grandson.

The funeral was at the Church of the Holy Name. Interment will be in Kirkland Lake Cemetery in the Spring.

BLOCK THE PC PLAN TO RAISE OUR TAXES

The PC's want to take over $767,715.00 from us in grants to municipalities which means your taxes will be increased — unless we make sure they get the message in Toronto that 'Enough is Enough'.

The Minister, Claude Bennett, has said: There will be "winners and losers" — and they see us as the 'losers'.

They also want to take another $462,612.00 from the County which will mean further increases for locations listed here as well as the villages of: FINCH, IROQUOIS, MAXVILLE, MORRISBURG and WINCHESTER.

The Association of Municipalities of Ontario says "The province offers nothing in terms of long-term funding guarantees. The provincial solution . . . has the real potential to force municipalities to reduce essential services."

Across Ontario, people and municipal leaders who will also be 'losers' under the PC plan are hoping that we make sure they get the message in Toronto.

IF YOU LIVE IN:	YOUR TAX* INCREASE:

Election workers are backbone of campaign

Edna Baker - PC

by Rod MacDonald

Edna Baker is a 62-year-old grandmother with a penchant for politics.

For the past 35 years, she has supported the Progressive Conservatives and worked behind the scenes in a number of elections, both federal and provincial.

Now she's back in the fray again and this time playing a more active role than ever.

Since the byelection in Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry was called last month, Mrs. Baker has been supervising the Alexandria campaign headquarters for PC candidate Noble Villeneuve with the help of several other volunteers.

Her day begins at 8 a.m. and doesn't end until the last phone calls are made, usually working at home after the campaign office closed for the day.

Mrs. Baker is one of hundreds of dedicated volunteers in any riding who form the backbone of political organization, performing the often mundane but vital tasks necessary to ensure an election campaign runs smoothly.

They are the unsung heroes, motivated not by financial reward or personal recognition, but simply by a desire to participate in the political process at the local level.

Originally from Dalkeith, Mrs. Baker and her husband Jim, a town counsellor and retired teacher, have lived in Alexandria for the past 14 years.

She first became involved in politics in Cornwall on behalf of former Conservative member Fern Guindon and worked behind the scenes for the late Osie Villeneuve.

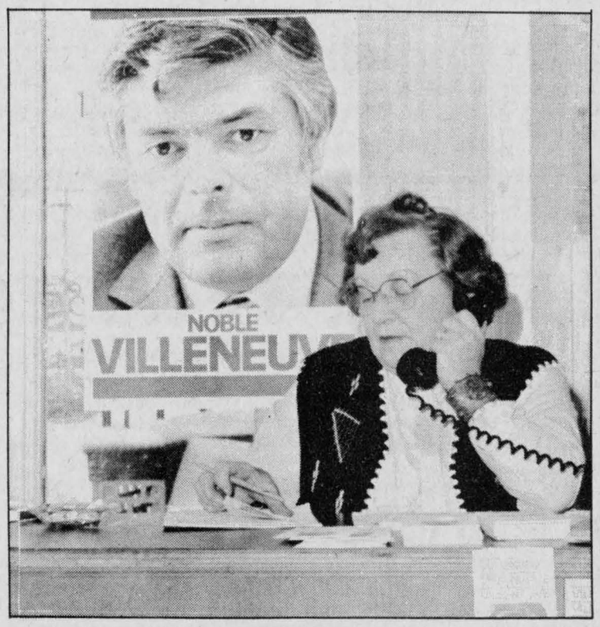
She says she didn't know Noble Villeneuve personally before the byelection, but feels he is a "very sincere and honest person."

"I'm doing it because I want him to win," she says, acknowledging that she enjoys every minute of it.

Between phone calls, which come in at the rate of about one a minute, Mrs. Baker works diligently through a large stack of reminder cards telling people where to vote, which have to be hand delivered to each door by some of the more than 100 volunteers working on the campaign.

Much of her time, she says, has been spent canvassing voter lists by phone or through personal contact and taking messages for the candidate.

"We're really just an answering service," she says, adding she doesn't get involved with questions of policy or election issues.



GETTING OUT THE VOTE—Mrs. Edna Baker, Noble Villeneuve's Alexandria headquarters secretary, is one of the many volunteers working long hours on behalf of the P.C. candidate.

Despite the dismal weather, Mrs. Baker says, most people she has called on have been receptive and anxious to help out.

She also maintains she has not seen any evidence to indicate any dirty tricks during the byelection, such as campaign posters being ripped down.

On the day of this interview, three or four people were in the office to avail themselves of the coffee and donuts. Meanwhile, the phone never stops ringing.

"The trick," Mrs. Baker says as she reaches for the nearby phone, "is not to get excited and to keep cool."

H. McCuaig - NDP

Working for a political party that has been in the doldrums for as long as the NDP has in Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry can be frustrating, but it is also a challenge, according to the chief financial officer for the Rudi Derstroff campaign.

Helena McCuaig has lived in Glengarry since 1950 and worked for the NDP for the past 18 years.

She says one of the toughest tasks facing party organizers is to get even the known party supporters to "stand up for the NDP", because they're clearly the underdogs in the race.

But the Glen Norman resident says things are improving because the party no longer has to "parachute" in candidates, but has serious people from within the riding contesting the election, pointing to Mr. Derstroff as an example.

"It's a good sign for the party," she said.

Mrs. McCuaig admitted it was difficult to raise funds for a party that has traditionally placed a distant third in the riding, adding the average donation is about $25, ranging to the larger donations of $100.

"Most people don't realize that if we don't get these donations, we don't have a campaign," she said.

She explained the local NDP association has yet to reach 15 per cent of the votes, needed to qualify for provincial election funding assistance.

In her capacity as financial officer, the biggest headache is trying to stay within the budget, but "we always manage to make ends meet somehow."

Mrs. McCuaig estimated expenditures for the byelection would fall close to $6000.

While holding down a full-time teaching job at Iona Academy, her time is also taken up with co-ordinating election signs and phone canvassing, before going home to balance the books.

Mrs. McCuaig explained she was always interested in history and party politics and was attracted to former NDP leader Tommy Douglas, who she called "a fantastic man."

"To me, the NDP has the best policies for the average man," she said. "The policies since the CCF have been to help the people who need support.

"I feel very strongly that everyone has to help each other in today's society."

Mrs. McCuaig feels this by-election is different from normal elections because "all the big guns are out" and the parties seem to be depending more on known political figures to gain votes than one issue in the election.

She described the party's goals of improving the over-all NDP vote and party membership and to build a base of support for the future, saying she remains optimistic about the outcome.

"At least in this riding we've always been able to pay the bills," she added.

PAYING THE BILLS—Mrs. Helena McCuaig, Chief Financial Officer for the NDP byelection campaign, keeps track of expenses incurred during the campaign. Almost all election costs are met through private donations.

Close race expected..

The Liberals suggest the new formula is imminent and would cost SD&G $760,000.

The Conservatives have hotly denied any such intent. (For more details, see related story elsewhere in this issue.)

The Liberals express confidence that they are close to overcoming what was perceived as a narrow Conservative lead at the start of the campaign and may well win the election. The smell of imminent victory has kept party supporters working at a strong pace.

The NDP also feel the by-election represents their best chance in 30 years. They hope to increase their vote total from voters who may have been left adrift following the death of Osie Villeneuve.

Though no one gives the New Democrats any chance of winning, some feel any increase in the party's vote would come at the expense of the Liberals and could be the deciding factor in giving the riding to the Conservatives in a close, two-party race.

NDP candidate Rudy Derstroff has been helped by two visits from party leader Bob Rae and additional support from former leader Mike Cassidy, MPP for Ottawa-Centre, and Cornwall MPP George Samis.

Independent candidate John Turmel of Gloucester has been universally ignored since his last-minute entry into the election. He is not expected to get more than a small handful of votes.

Bilingualism and francophone rights emerged as an election issue at the start of the campaign, but seemed to have less impact as voting day drew nearer.

The NDP and Liberal candidates both endorsed the idea of entrenching Ontario francophone rights in the Canadian Constitution when questioned on the subject by the press.

The Conservatives' Noble Villeneuve, however, the only francophone in the race, supports the provincial government in its opposition to entrenchment, arguing it is unnecessary and would be divisive.

He accused his opponents, particularly Mr. Whitteker, of attempting to turn English and French in the riding against each other in an effort to gain votes.

There was a 65 per cent voter turnout in the 1981 election and, assuming good weather on Thursday, most are expecting a similar percentage this time around.

The number of eligible voters has increased by more than 1,300 in the past two years, primarily due to the influx of former Quebec residents into Glengarry.

TAKING A BREAK—Liberal election worker Gilbert Gauthier relaxes at home after a long day of canvassing voters and mustering support for candidate Johnny Whitteker. Mr. Gauthier has been organizing election campaigns in Green Valley for over 50 years.

Gilbert Gauthier - Liberal

Those who know Gilbert Gauthier personally also know that he makes no bones about where he stands politically.

And those who don't know him personally probably know him by reputation. In Green Valley, at least, the colorful Mr. Gauthier is nearly a legend.

At 83 years of age, he is a dyed in-the-wool Liberal stalwart who has played a large part in delivering the Green Valley Liberal vote in both federal and provincial elections.

Despite his age, the former Lancaster Township councillor, roads superintendent and farmer shows no sign of slowing down.

Born in 1900 on the family farm on the Eighth of Lancaster, now one of Ontario's Century Farms, his grandfather was the first French-Canadian farmer in Lancaster Township.

His father, Nelson, was one of the first Liberal organizers in what is undisputably today a staunch Liberal area.

"I took it over in 1928 and have been at it ever since," Mr. Gauthier says, aided by his wife Lorette. The couple have six children and 26 grandchildren.

He's worked for at least eight different candidates since then, including Ed MacGillivray, who held the seat for two terms in the '40's, and James Sangster, who was the Liberal member for one term prior to that.

Mr. Gauthier admits it's been a long, dry spell for Liberals in the riding.

"We've had some good candidates, but they couldn't beat Osie Villeneuve because he was so popular."

That doesn't dampen Mr. Gauthier's enthusiasm, however, and he feels his party has a better chance of winning this time around.

"There seems to be more interest this time than in other campaigns," he said. "The language issue didn't come in before, but it's coming in this time."

He cited the entrenchment of French language rights as an issue in the campaign, particularly among the French-speaking population of Green Valley, which he said numbers more than 80 per cent.

Mr. Gauthier attributed his organizational success to his "trustworthy" field workers and to personal contacts. He admits he doesn't spend much time on the phone. He "just visits the doubtfuls."

One of the changes he's noted during his many years of campaigning is that more people are reluctant to express their politics openly than in the past.

"It's harder to gauge their opinion and you have to be very diplomatic."

Whatever brand of diplomacy Mr. Gauthier uses, one would be hard pressed to question the results.

During Johnny Whitteker's last election bid in 1977, Mr. Gauthier claims, there were more Liberal votes registered in Green Valley than in Mr. Whitteker's own poll.

Are your hard-earned dollars going up in smoke?

Then take a few minutes now and discover how adding electricity to your oil furnace can dramatically cut the cost of heating your home.

If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, a dual-energy system combining oil and electricity may be just the answer. In fact, depending on how much electric heat you add, and how you operate your system, you could use as little as one tank of oil for an entire heating season!

For example, an electric plenum heater or heat pump, will reduce the amount of oil your furnace uses by up to 75%. In addition, a heat pump provides air conditioning in the summer for economical year-round comfort.

If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly, efficiently and economically.

If you'd like to know more about dual-energy and all-electric systems, write to Ontario Hydro, 620 University Ave., 4th Floor, Toronto M5G 1X6, and ask for our free booklet "Electric Heating Options for Your Home."

The few minutes you take now could add up to big savings this winter.

Fultons, Beauclair retire from Lochiel Twp.

RETIRING—George Fulton, roads superintendent for Lochiel Township for the past 21 years, is retiring from his job at the end of this month. Members of township council, staff and families gathered at The Candlestick Restaurant last week to honor Mr. Fulton, along with two other retiring employees. Here Mr. Fulton, left, accepts a watch from the township, presented by Reeve Ron MacDonell.

PLAQUE—Retiring Road Superintendent George Fulton accepts a plaque expressing the township's appreciation from Deputy-Reeve Linda Kennedy.

THANK YOU—After many years with the roads crew in Lochiel Township, Clifford Beauclair has also decided to take retirement. Here he accepts a gift from Township Councillor Alex McDonald.

RETIRING BOOKKEEPER—Mrs. George Fulton, until recently bookkeeper for Lochiel Township's roads department, is retiring at the same time as her husband. Here she accepts a retirement gift from Township Councillor John MacLeod.

Dance

Last Friday night the annual Christmas dance was held. The band Crosswind played songs by David Bowie, The Doors, Asia and Santa Claus was also there, distributing candy canes.

Band

Tuesday, December 13, the Senior Band played at the French feeder schools, playing different Christmas tunes. They will be putting on a concert in the GDHS cafetorium on Wednesday, December 14. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens.

Christmas week

This week at school the student council has organized a very busy week for the students. As school was cancelled on Monday, we received candy canes on Tuesday in the home forms. That same day, students were supposed to dress up as their favorite Christmas character but only one brave person dressed up as an elf! Yes, Sharon, we noticed you!

Wednesday is door-decorating day and the home form with the best door will win two pizzas.

On Thursday, students are to dress up as formally as possible and there will be a turkey dinner.

For Friday, there will be a surprise at lunch time.

Here's hoping that everyone has a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Sells winning ticket

In the 25 years that Marguerite Seger has been selling the Royal Canadian Legion draw tickets for Branch 297, Cornwall, she had two winners. The first was George Rogers, OPP, then of Lancaster detachment. This Saturday's draw winner was Msgr. D. B. McDougald, rector of St. Finnan's, Alexandria.

Marguerite was honored in September for her outstanding work with the Legion when she received a Credit of Merit Plaque from the Provincial Command and the local Branch. Congratulations are in order to Msgr. McDougald.
