A CHANCE TO EXPAND THEIR TALENTS—The Alexandria Hotel has been completely remodelled in a nautical flavor by owner, Rheal Lefebvre. To further the theme, the walls have been decorated with seascapes which are worth a special visit just to see if you aren't in a mood for suds. The murals were done by Garry Harris, left and John Ed Theoret who were busy at work when our photographer called, and by David Moore, who was working on the opposite wall at the time this was taken. Gadbois acknowledges may have broken law

Charlottenburgh Township Reeve Adrian Gadbois says he will stop promoting a proposed Glen Walter area subdivision in which he has an interest.

The reeve acknowledged this week that he may have violated the Municipal Conflict of Interest Act by urging the township council and local planning board to process official plan and zoning by-law amendments which would accommodate the development.

The proposed 98-acre residential subdivision by S.B.G. Investments would create 145 lots on the east side of Purcell Road about half a mile north of Highway 2.

On its east side, the proposed subdivision abuts part of an irregular 90-acre property owned by Reeve Gadbois.

The bulk of the subdivision property is owned by Hortense Purcell. S.B.G. has an option to purchase the land. Gadbois, Nus Abraham of Abraco Developments Ltd. and MorKourios Hatzimarkos are also listed as owners in the subdivision scheme because the edges of their abutting properties have been included in the plan.

The signatures of all four owners appear on a request to the Ministry of Housing for approval of the subdivision.

Gadbois confirmed that he is deeding over a 33-foot strip of his property to permit the creation of a road along the subdivision's east edge.

The road would run along the west edge of Gadbois' property for about 1,000 feet.

The reeve's land is currently landlocked, except for a right-of-way which runs north through private property to Tyotown Road.

Under the Municipal Conflict of Interest Act, a member of a council or local board who has an interest in a development is required to "disclose his interest and shall not take part in the consideration or discussion of, or vote on any question with respect to, the contract, proposed contract or other matter, or attempt in any way to influence the voting on any such question."

Minutes of council meetings held June 14, August 1 and August 23, at which the proposed subdivision was discussed and endorsed, make no mention of the reeve declaring a conflict of interest.

Township Clerk Ernie Szpivak confirmed that he was not asked by the reeve to record such a conflict.

Gadbois, also a member of the township planning board, openly promoted the subdivision at a public meeting held by the board last week.

He admitted that he continued to speak in favor of the development during a closed session of the board following the public meeting.

During that closed session, the local board withdrew an objection it had registered against the plan.

Charlottenburgh operates under two official plans, its own township plan and the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Area Official Plan.

The approval of both planning boards was sought to redesignate the land from rural to hamlet.

The Lower St. Lawrence Board was processing the amendment and the local planning board filed an objection.

Wilfred Fortin, secretary of the local board and Sam Brkish, board chairman, confirmed that Gadbois had promoted the development during the closed session.

Fortin said Gadbois spoke "very emphatically" about how the subdivision would be "good for the township."

Brkish noted that it is Gadbois' standing policy to promote virtually any development.

"He was pushing for it, only to the extent of a reeve trying to get something going in the township," Brkish said. "To me, he acts like that with any subdivision."

Gadbois abstained from voting on the motion rescinding the local board's objection, Brkish noted, although the reeve has never had his conflict of interest formally recorded in the minutes.

Seymour Berish, owner of S.B.G., also spoke at the meeting.

Gadbois said he has made no secret about his involvement in the subdivision and members of council and planning board are aware that he owns adjacent land.

He said he may have erred in not seeing that his conflict was recorded in the minutes but "there's no one on that board or on council who can deny that I owned the land and declared that, too."

ADRIAN GADBOIS

Gadbois conceded that he was familiar with the conflict of interest legislation because he spoke to his lawyer earlier in the year after someone suggested he had a conflict involving the existing Purcell Subdivision.

His lawyer said there was no conflict.

Gadbois was asked whether he was aware the Act dictates that a person with an interest should abstain from discussion of the project.

"Yes," he replied. "Well, what am I to do, see a bad job done? Other people don't think of everything. I think it is my duty to point these things out."

He said his concern for the welfare of the township, in effect, caused him to override the technicalities of the Act.

"I don't like to see progress stopped because of technicalities," he commented.

The reeve said his personal interest in the project was not great.

He said the subdivision road he is deeding over to S.B.G. Investments may not be constructed for years and in the meantime he is upgrading his right-of-way in hopes of having it turned into a public road.

He acknowledged, however, that the road allowance he is donating for the proposed subdivision could be useful for future development.

"If the road is in there, I'm foolish not to make use of it," the reeve said.

"I've kept my nose clean for 20 years," he said. "I refrained from voting. I wasn't promoting it (the subdivision) for myself. I was promoting it for the township."

He admitted that technically he should not have promoted the scheme but "if I see things going wrong, what should I do—sit there like a dummy and not open my mouth?"

Asked if he would continue promoting it, he replied,

"Since it has been brought to my attention, I'd better refrain from discussing it."

Knights establish trust fund and plan home renovations

The Glengarry Council Knights of Columbus approved the establishment of a trust fund for the promotion of religious vocations at their September meeting on Monday night.

The suggestions for such had been proposed by Charter Member Peter A. Charlebois when he addressed third and fourth degree knights at the diamond anniversary banquet. Grand Knight Jean Lajoie transmitted the message and it was eagerly supported by all present at the meeting.

It was decided at the meeting to call the fund "The Peter A. Charlebois Vocation Trust Fund" and when the veteran member was approached for approval of this he requested that the name be recorded as "Pierre A. Charlebois" because he was baptised as such.

No specifics have been set for the fund and these will be decided at a later date.

The members also approved a $30,000 extension to the existing K of C quarters. This would provide for a two-storey extension to the east side of the building.

Plans call for a re-located stairway, extended kitchen facilities, bar, new washrooms and supply room upstairs. The four steps which have been an aggravation between the hall and kitchen would be eliminated as the whole upstairs extension would be elevated to the same height as the hall.

The downstairs would feature a room for the grand knights, an office for the financial secretary, check room, entrance hall and stairwell.

Sanilit—from air to ear

The problems at Sanilit Ltd. are apparently not over yet, even though owner Hubert Sabourin has almost finished the job of installing a filter and filter protection system into his plant.

Noise pollution is next on the list of neighbor's complaints, reports Ray Amell, a senior environmental officer with the Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

"We've been hearing from residents in the area of Sanilit about the noise, but that is a more secondary problem. He (Sabourin) has done some control work on the noise, but the dust pollution was more immediate a problem."

Since April of last year, Sabourin has been under fire from both his neighbors and the ministry office in Cornwall to provide pollution control systems to prevent sawdust emitting from his scrapwood plant from blowing onto area property, into swimming pools and windows.

Sabourin received a ministry order to install a filter which he installed in mid-summer. He is waiting for a booster pump to finalize the work.

The pump is an essential part of the fire protection system and neither the filter nor the protection system can be operated until the water pump arrives.

"The water system is in, the filter's on the roof, but the pump isn't here, even though it should have been here a month ago," said Sabourin. "I was considered by everybody to be the slow one, but I seem to never stop working and I can't be blamed for this delay."

The installation of the water system was done by the plant owner himself, and the system will cost the plant around $25,000 by the time the work is fully completed, estimates Sabourin.

The cost was originally estimated to be $60,000, but Sabourin and his workers' decision to do most of the work themselves has lessened the figure.

Jack Pruner of the environment ministry said the ministry was "breathing a sigh of relief" with the end of Sanilit's sawdust problem in sight.

"The noise problem there is the next consideration," he admitted, however.

"But," he said, "we've waited for so long to get this done, we'll just wait. Sabourin has been working hard on this dust alleviation."

Amell found that problems arising that are similar to Sanilit versus area residents are not surprising for this area.

"There is no zoning, no by-laws on this sort of thing. The zoning has to be done at the local level. Otherwise you will always see problems arising from residents' complaints."

The township currently has no by-law on noise control according to Amell. The control could outline noise limits either by levels, or qualitatively.

"Complainants from anywhere" he said, "think we can solve things right away, but this is simply not true. When things are not accomplished locally from the beginning, when we come in, it is very difficult to find easy solutions."

Course on municipal government

A crash course on municipal government will be held in the area if enough people are interested.

The course, to be co-sponsored by St. Lawrence College and The Glengarry News, would begin prior to the November 13 municipal elections and be geared to potential candidates and other members of the general public interested in learning more about municipal politics.

Topics would include municipal procedure, planning and finances and touch on the different roles played in the local political process by councillors, school board trustees, ratepayer groups and the press.

The course would provide background information for those thinking of running for public office this year and would also be of value to individual ratepayers interested in discovering how they can perform a better "watchdog" role.

The course would examine when a municipal body is permitted to hold closed meetings, what rights a citizen has to information and what a citizen can do to appeal a decision of the municipality.

The course will be held only if enough concern is demonstrated, however, and interested people are urged to contact the editorial department of The News at 525-2020 within the next week. Staff members will also accept phone calls at their homes.

Conflict Act has interesting points

The Municipal Conflict of Interest Act was passed by the Province of Ontario in 1972, following several incidents of politicians voting on matters which personally benefitted them financially.

Section 2 of the Act states in part:

1) Where a member of a council or of a local board, either on his own behalf or while acting for, by, with or through another, has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect,

a) in any contract or proposed contract with the municipality or local board, as the case may be;

b) in any contract or proposed contract that is reasonably likely to be affected by a decision of the

Lions planning silver anniversary

Past International President Tris Coffin has accepted an invitation from the Alexandria Lions Club to be guest speaker at the 25th anniversary banquet here, Mike Barbara has confirmed.

Coffin has been a guest of the local members on several occasions and his renown as a speaker is well known. His presence will be a big drawing card for the local celebration, President Barbara says.

Suggestions for the November 11 anniversary night were discussed at the Monday night meeting at which Zone Chairman Byron Gordon of Cornwall was present.

Following the evening banquet there will be dancing to the music of The Stardusters' 19-piece band.

Invitations for the evening will be extended to other Lions' clubs in this zone: Morrisburg, Cornwall, Cornwall Township, Maxville, St. Eugene, Plantagenet, Finch, Iroquois, Winchester and Metcalfe.

Lion Campbell Fraser is currently working on a resume of the 25-year history of the group.

Adult courses include Gaelic

A course in Gaelic will be one of the unusual subjects offered in the adult education area at Glengarry District High School this season.

The course will be introductory with emphasis on the structure of the language, and will attempt to teach a familiarity with common sayings and Gaelic songs. The overall design is an awareness of the Gaelic culture.

The course will be given on Saturday afternoons, starting September 23. Registration is accepted at the high school.

New Horizons grant is being put to good use in Maxville

The basement hall of St. Michael's Anglican Church wore a delightfully festive air on Saturday afternoon as the premises, after extensive renovations, were officially opened as the new clubhouse for the Young at Hearts Senior Citizens Club.

President Neil MacLean welcomed over a hundred guests to a room whose wall ledge was lined with floral arrangements . . . four baskets provided by Mrs. Grace Doth, a display of mums from Mr. and Mrs. Rod F. McRae, and Mrs. D. G. McNaughton's cut flowers . . . and Father Peter Durrett gave the opening prayer.

Mr. MacLean reminded the gathering that it was almost exactly eight years ago on Sept. 10, that the club had been organized by Mr. and Mrs. George Matsell, with an original 51 members. The officials at that time were Pres. George Matsell, First Vice Mrs. Phil Guindon, Second Mrs. Domina Carriere, Secretary Mrs. Doris Matsell, Treas. Mrs. Rod F. McRae, and Refreshments Mrs. James McCartney. Since then, 23 have died, and six moved away but the membership now stands at sixty.

Mrs. Beverley Campbell sang the very appropriate "Bless This House" accompanying herself on the autoharp. There were messages of congratulation from invited guests unable to be present . . . Denis Ethier, Father Lefebvre of St. James, and Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve who presented the Club with a portrait of the Queen to hang on their new wall. Dr. MacIver of St. Andrew's and St. Elmo, brought greetings. Mrs. Campbell, with her daughters Melanie and Susan, sang a lively modern hymn "That's the Way To Find Happiness," and there were more congratulations from Reeve Hubert Quart and Harold Alston of Maxville United Church. Maurice Berthiaume, representative of the New Horizons branch whose funds had made possible the renovations, spoke briefly but enthusiastically, heartily commending the group whose efforts had transformed a cobwebby basement into such a cheerful meeting place. He was delighted to see the grant money so well spent. There were more greetings from Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson, president of Zone 23 senior citizens' groups, Mr. Brunet of the Moose Creek Club, Wilfred Filion of the Apple Hill group, and the Golden Years of Avonmore. Mrs. Campbell sang again . . . the lovely "New 23rd Psalm" with words taken from the Living Bible, and by appreciative request as an encore "How Great Thou Art."

There was a hearty round of applause for the workers who had labored so hard to accomplish the transformation and managed so much on the grant, which was $18,667. Health Officer Miss Clothilde Robitaille, the carpenter and his hard-working wife . . . Gerald and Mrs. Leroux, plumber Lloyd Rolland, and electrical contractor Duncan McDonald. Facilities now include a new well and washrooms, a commodious and well-appointed kitchen, large hall with beautiful panelling and carpeted floor, and excellent lighting throughout. Mr. Berthiaume happily cut the official ribbon, assisted by the executive committee—Pres. MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. Rod F. McRae, Mrs. Grace Doth, and Mrs. D. G. McNaughton. A fine lunch was served to all the guests. Mrs. Florence Cameron and Mrs. Dora Guindon poured tea.

Five teams make up high school football

by Angus H. McDonell

Despite the unseasonable stacking of hockey sticks and gear, the real fall sport classic for teenagers; high school football, is well under way. That is what this News' representative learned during our weekend of school training camps.

Earlier in the summer there were gloomy rumors relative to the uncertain future of the SD&G high school league. It was pleasant to learn that the student gridiron loop is very much alive. In fact this could be the best season since the realignment of the student league a few years ago.

Five school teams will battle for the crown presently held by the CCVS Golden Raiders. In addition to the Raiders; General Vanier and St. Lawrence will represent Cornwall, while Tagwi and GDHS Gaels will uphold the prestige of the Glens.

Veteran teacher, coach and executive official, Tagwi's Bernie Julien, will again fill the role of convener. Games' officials will be provided by the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Amateur Football Association.

There will be a six game schedule. Each team plays the other once. However, to balance the byes two teams will play each other twice.

The opening game will be played next Monday, September 18th, when the defending champions, Cornwall's CCVS, travel to Tagwi and meet their arch-rivals each year in the playoffs, the Warriors. On Friday, September 22nd, the gridiron curtain at GDHS will be rolled up as Gaels play hosts to St. Lawrence "Saints".

In Cornwall we found CCVS to be still, at time of writing, trying to solve a Golden Raider head coach problem. Don Kannon, last year's successful pilot of the SD&G champions, has retired to the side lines. Don told us 11 years of exposing himself to coaching ulcers is enough. In preparation to defend their laurels assistant coaches Fern Lajoie and Brian McCartney are hustling Raiders through their training paces and patterns until a head coach takes command. CCVS have been severely hit by both student player transfers and graduation. Five 1977 first stringers have enrolled at General Vanier and seven more have yodelled their grade 13 class swan song.

General Vanier with those experienced CCVS players plus hold overs and proven coach "Rick" Forrester, the new head coach, can be rated a threat from the opening whistle. Forrester gave Char-Lan excellent leadership a couple years ago. He will be assisted by the former coach Smith of Cornwall Mustangs.

Over at St. Lawrence, although the "Saints" lost their hurricane backs of last season, we learned that aspiring football students from Char-Lan are now at St. Lawrence; obviously due to Char-Lan's suspension of play this season. Those football minded students from Williamstown are treking to Second Street East Saints' gridiron and coach Gerald Samson.

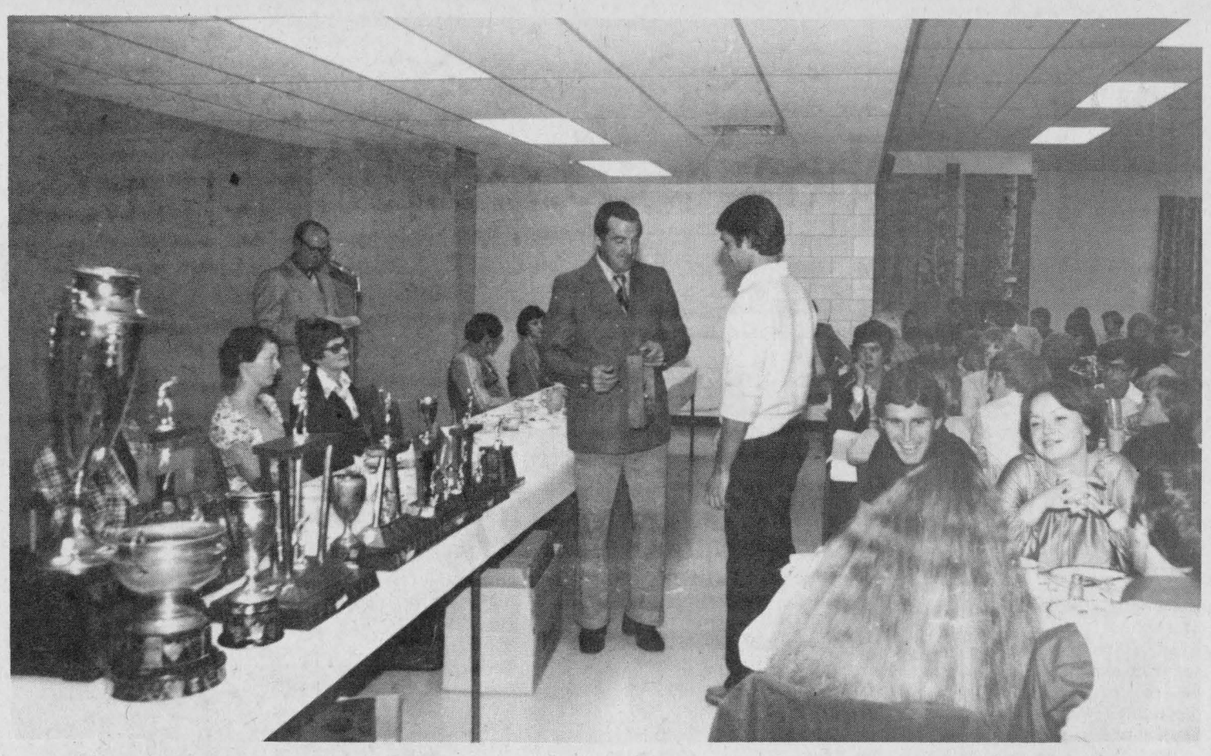
In Tagwi barracks we found the Warriors' affable chief smoking the pipe of peace indicating that all memories of that controversial official's call in last year's playoff has been booted over the dead-line. But Don has another problem. More try-out candidates than Leo Cahill's Argos had last July. (Leo hasn't that problem any more). However, to help solve this problem in addition to last year's capable staff of assistants, Tagwi also has the former very fine Char-Lan coach Andre Lavictoire.

Warriors have lost last year's one-two scoring punch of qb Brian Wensink firing to the St. Andrew's star MacDonell. However, a solid nucleus remains to build around. Peter Wensink, last year's offensive end, will play the key position of middle linebacker. Apple Hill's Mark Guindon will anchor the line at centre. Maxville's Andy Blair, one of the league's top offensive guards, will play one more season. And another budding star from St. Andrew's, Chris Degan, will direct the Warriors from the quarterback slot.

We wound up our observation tour back home with the dean of high school coaches, Stan Fraser, and his very capable veteran assistant Jean-Yves Jeaurond. Stan Fraser, so much the professor like old friend Frank Clair, begins with a cautious note. Luc Poirier is gone and so is his next-of-kin Luc Seguin. Add Terry Epp, Gordon MacDonald and Cameron McCormick and that is quite a football chasm to fill. However, this should be possible with about 100 candidates in camp. Included are at least two from Char-Lan, young Brunet and Bray.

On the brighter side Gaels still have versatile Andre Chenier. Should Andre move from quarterback to bolster another position, Sandy Maclaren just might come up as a fine signal caller. As Scott Hay is with Ottawa Sooners trying to follow in the footsteps of J. T. Hay, Andre Chenier could very well assume the punting and place kicking duties.

Another asset is the return of fleet footed Highway 43 Andy Bellefeuille at defensive back. Also back is Emile Lefebvre at offensive end. The Danahers, "B. J." and "Tim" will bolster the defence. A first year hopeful as a linebacker is Donald MacDonald, a great grand nephew of "Big Alex MacIsaac" MacDonald.



AND YET ANOTHER TROPHY—Winner of one of the top athletic awards at Western University this past semester, Brian Filion copped another pair in the Glengarry Soccer League at the awards banquet on Saturday, the MacLeod Trophy for most valuable player in the senior division and the Labatt's Trophy for best back. Here Riekus Wensink, the Greenfield representative, makes a presentation.

Ottawa wins touch football in weekend tournament

The Glengarry Touch Football League hosted its second annual tournament last weekend, as 14 teams participated.

Branscombe's Motor Inn from Ottawa won the "A" class, having to win four games to take the title. In the final game they simply out-classed Ottawa to the tune of 52 to 21. Branscombe's were down 12 to 0 in the first quarter of their semi-finals, but rumbled back to score 35 unanswered points for the victory.

The second game, they played against Cathy's Bar-B-Q, and nipped them 14 to 6 in Branscombe's toughest game of the tournament. Branscombe's won the opening game of the tournament, downing the Montreal Vikings 26 to 6.

Montreal Vikings, after losing their opener, fell into the "B" division where they successfully won their remaining games to win that division. Lochiel were Montreal's opposition in the final game and were edged out by a score of 8 to 6. Barry MacSweyn put Lochiel in front 6 to 1 midway into the fourth quarter on a long touchdown pass from Hugh MacGillivray. However, with only four minutes remaining, Montreal quarterback Bruce Bartlett combined with Kevin Murphy on a 20-yard touchdown pass play. The same combination converted the T.D. to pull ahead by two points.

Lochiel gave it a valiant try. They marched from their own 25-yard line to Montreal's 25-yard line. However, with only two plays remaining, an errant pass was intercepted by Montreal's Gord Norris to salt away the victory.

Most Valuable Player of the game went to Montreal quarterback Bruce Bartlett and Lochiel receiver Paul Poirier.

A special thank you to tournament organizer Henry Dumouchel and to everyone who made it such a successful tournament.

The winner of the 50-50 draw was Ken MacDonald of Williamstown.

Bonnie Glen wins fastball

by Gilles Depratto

Bonnie Glen captured the men's fastball championship on Tuesday, September 5, 4 to 2 in a thriller of 10 innings. Bonnie Glen opened the scoring in the first inning as Mike Vaillancourt walked and scored on a Serge Vaillancourt sacrifice fly. In the sixth inning Apple Hill took a two to one lead as Mike Bissonnette singled, and then scored on a Don Perrigo triple, who then scored on a Allan MacMillan single. Bonnie Glen scored again in the seventh inning as Mike Vaillancourt homered to bring the game into extra innings. In the top of the tenth inning Michel Menard tripled, and then scored on an Andre Seguin single, thus defeating Apple Hill four games to none.

Awards night for the fastball league will be held September 16 at the Alexandria Sports Palace.

Club receives grant

The Glengarry Cross-Country Ski Club is pleased to announce that it has been advised of a non-capital Wintario grant in the amount of $3,141. The grant will assist the club in purchasing a radio-communication system and an Apline Ski-Doo with trail groomer.

The club president, Archie Roussin, also announces that the Young Canada Works project did well and completed half of the projected 32 kilometres (20 miles) of ski trails. The club is also looking forward to a prosperous season ahead. Last year the club finished the season with 180 members.

Plans for the activities of the coming season are already underway: Ski clinic, dance, and a marathon.

Caisse Pop champs

The Ladies' Softball league championship was won by the Caisse Populaire players this year. They defeated the Hillbillies three straight games to take the laurels.

The score in the final game was 8-7 for Caisse Populaire. For them, Helene Gravel got a triple for one RBI and hit four for four. Helene Menard got two doubles for one RBI. Joan Bergeron got a double for two RBIs.

For the Hillbillies, Joan Filion got a triple for one RBI. Betty Lacombe hit a triple for one RBI and Karen MacDonald got a double for one RBI.

Sportsmen advised to buy duck permits early

Ontario's duck hunters are advised to obtain their Canada migratory bird hunting permits as quickly as possible as there may possibly be a mail strike in September, Natural Resources Minister James A. C. Auld said today.

"The permits have been on sale at post offices since August 1 but a postal strike could occur by mid-September, about the time peak sales of permits usually begin," Mr. Auld warned.

"Therefore, I suggest that duck hunters should obtain their permits soon, to avoid disappointment if the post offices close."

CONWAY—GOULDING

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with ferns, and on the altars were floral arrangements of gladioli, carnations and daisies. This was the setting at St. Finnan's Cathedral for a pretty wedding on Saturday, August 12, at 3 p.m. when Christine Ellen Conway became the bride of Robert George Goulding.

Father J. Harold Conway, OMI, uncle of the bride, from Labrador officiated at the service. The server was Laurie Ann Bangs of Lachine. The organist was Mrs. Christena MacDonald, and the soloists were Howard and Donnie Morris, Sister Kathryn Cameron and Susan McDonald and Anne MacDonald. The readings were done by the groom's father and the bride's mother.

The bride is the daughter of Rachel (MacMillan) Conway and the late Cecil Conway, and the groom is the son of Giles and Eileen Goulding of Oshawa.

Christine, given in marriage by her brother, Donald of Brockville, wore a long, snow-white, tiered gown flowing into a train. It had a fitted bodice and the u-neckline and long slender sleeves were edged with Alencon lace. Her fingertip veil appliqued with matching lace fell from a Juliette cap of petals beaded with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of Sonia roses, stephanotis, ivy and baby's breath.

Her three sisters attended the bride—Susan Williamson as matron-of-honor, Mary Walker and Sheila McWatters as bridesmaids. They wore strapless floor length gowns with tucked bodice and flowing skirts with matching fringed shawls. Their gowns were a soft apricot shade, and they carried nosegays of roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Tammie Conway, niece of the bride, was the little flower girl. She wore a white gown printed with dainty green and orange flowers and carried a tiny basket of flowers.

Fred Greenwood, a friend of the groom from Shelbourne, was best man; the ushers were Gi, brother of the groom, and a friend, Chuck Li, both from Oshawa.

A garden reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Out-of-town guests attended from Cebu, Philippines, Labrador, Toronto, Newmarket, Shelbourne, Waterloo, Kitchener, London, Oshawa, Peterborough, Port Perry, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall and Hawkesbury area.

The young couple honeymooned at Lake Placid. The bride travelled in a three-piece creamy white linen suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

On September 1, Bob and Chris flew to France where they will pursue their studies at the University of Grenoble for the coming year, having obtained a leave of absence from their school board in Peterborough.

Reina Morrison of Dalhousie found the remnants of a thick glass bottle which bore the inscription "Bottling Works, Alexandria." It did not have a date inscribed, but she was curious to know when the bottle might have been in use. Who knows about the Alexandria Bottling Works?

Elzear LeGroulx should start selling insulation—he has the facts to be a convincing salesman. Year before last while he spent the winter in Florida, it took 964.10 gallons of fuel to heat his home here in Alexandria. After adding insulation to the house worth $37.50 he found his gallonage to heat the house this past winter was reduced to 346.80. Has his fuel bills to prove it.

A Grade 7 student at Rouleau School, Jules Lefebvre was exhibiting twin tomatoes joined at the stem, which he found in his garden last week.

Chief Cleroux has apprehended an 11-year-old in conjunction with the recent fires set in Alexandria garbage cans. FARM REVIEW & FORECAST

Supplement heifer pasture in fall

By mid-August, pasture quality cannot usually maintain adequate performance in dairy cattle, says Jack Rodenburg, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food dairy cattle specialist.

"To prevent a fall slump in production, most dairymen supply extra hay or silage to the milking herd. However, they rarely adjust the feeding program of heifers."

To ensure good growth, it is also necessary to supply supplementary feed to dairy heifers, says Mr. Rodenburg.

Ideally, yearling heifers should gain 0.6 to 0.7 kg. per day, to achieve their potential growth rate and mature size.

Pasture trials with unsupplemented dairy and beef heifers showed average daily gains of only 0.2 to 0.4 kg. in September, and no gains in October.

"When and how the reduction in growth rate occurs depends on moisture, fertility, species, and the number of animals per acre. The decline in growth rate is related primarily to pasture quality, because it occurs even if the amount of pasture is adequate."

Dairymen should begin feeding supplements to heifers when the pastured milking herd begins to consume more supplementary forage, says Mr. Rodenburg.

Beginning in September, feed 3 to 5 kg. of hay, or the equivalent in hay or corn silage, to each heifer daily. Offer supplementary roughage, free choice, after October 1.

Entries double for match

The plowing match held on the farm of Gordon Ross, Martintown, on September 8, was a huge success, according to J. A. Wightman, the secretary-treasurer. It was either the ideal weather or the fact that entries were double last year's that made the day. Judge Alec Little had plenty of work to do most of the day, but not in the councillor's class. Lochiel councillor Ron McDonell was the only competitor.

The results were as follows:

Class 2, three furrows open: first, Kenneth Warden, Cornwall; second, Ray St. Louis, Maxville.

Class 3, four or more furrows open; first, John Peters, Lancaster.

Class 4, utility: first, Stuart Buchan, Martintown; second, Wilfred Vallance, Maxville.

Class 5, two or more furrows, open to Junior Farmers and 4-H members under 16: first, Gordon Howes, Dalkeith; second, Rolland Schroeder, Glen Norman; third, Iggie Peters, Lancaster; fourth, Ian Vallance, Maxville; fifth, Martin Lang, Martintown.

Class 7, Councillors' Class: Ron McDonell, RR1, Alexandria.

Best plowed land in utility class won by Stuart Buchan.

Best plowed ridge by a new competitor won by Rolland Schroeder.

Best ins and outs and crown won by Gordon Howes.

Best finish won by Kenneth Warden.

Animal behaviorist appointed at Kemptville College

Earl Pollock, a native of Warkworth in Northumberland County, has been appointed as lecturer in the College's Animal Science Section.

After managing the home farm, a farrow-to-finish operation, for seven years, Pollock entered the University of Guelph where he obtained a B.Sc. in Agriculture and a Master's in which he specialized in the behavior of dairy cattle.

While working on his Master's thesis, Pollock developed a radio transmitter to detect when a cow is in heat. A patent search on the transmitter has been put in motion.

In addition, he has done research on the relationship between audible stimuli and milk production. A recording of the hunger call of a calf, he says, can speed up milk production by 100 grams in two minutes.

At the College, Pollock will be teaching physiology, animal breeding and nutrition. Past teaching experience includes work as a teaching assistant at the University of Guelph where he taught nutrition, physiology, reproduction and anatomy.

He expects to do research in reproduction, nutrition and animal behavior at the College.

Horticultural head plans expansion

John Vandenberg, recently appointed head of the Horticulture Section of Kempville College of Agriculture Technology, says he plans to expand research into fruit and vegetables and provide more horticultural courses at the College.

A graduate of the University of Guelph, B.SC Agr. and M.SC. Vandenberg set up Ontario's roadside marketing system when he worked as a horticulture extension assistant in Vineland. From there, he went to the Canadian Food Processor's Association in Ottawa as executive assistant. His work included preparing briefs on tariff negotiations and regulations, and responding to government legislation affecting fruit and vegetables processors.

The college research will zero in on root stock varieties in apples and berry crops. Work on strawberries and raspberries will continue at the present level but the research program will expand to include tomatoes, corn peppers and asparagus.

Born and raised on a fruit, vegetable and flower operation in the Niagara area, he went to work for the Food System Branch of Agriculture Canada before coming to K.C.A.T. He prepared an overview of horticulture in Canada for the federal government and contributed to the development of the present Canadian horticultural policy. In addition, he served on the New Crop Development Fund Committee.

During his Master's program, he found that paper mulches could increase yields of some vegetable crops up to 50 per cent. The process is one used commercially on some parts of the continent, but Vandenberg says the cost and handling problems have discouraged the widespread use of the technique.

Watch for silage gas

Agricultural safety experts in Ontario are concerned that silage gas could be a problem again this fall. Three farm workers near Gananoque were killed as a result of exposure to this highly toxic gas in 1977.

Jim Ross, senior safety consultant for the Provincial Farm Safety Association, says that a large variation in climate during this growing season may have placed enough stress on the corn crop to allow it to produce silage gas once the plant material is put into the silo.

Mr. Ross advises farmers that crops should be mature before they are cut, also that harvesting should be avoided immediately after a rainfall.

Silage gas may be recognized as a yellowish-brown gas with a bleach-like odour. It can form within hours of filling a silo. The Association advises farmers that the problem with the gas is that it may be present for two to three weeks, once the silo is filled.

The association advises farmers to keep everyone away from the silo once it is filled. If for any reason it is necessary to enter the silo during the two to three week danger period, a self-contained breating apparatus must be worn.

The Association publishes a booklet and a fact sheet on silage gas, which are available from the Association or from your local Ministry of Agriculture and Food offices.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR
Q. Can chiropractic cure back pain?
A. This is a more complicated question than it may appear. Pain in the back may be due to so many different causes that a careful examination and differential diagnosis is necessary. A modern chiropractor will do this, and, if necessary refer the patient to a physician or surgeon.
However, most of the so called lumbago, pinched nerve, sprained sacroiliac, slipped disc, etc., cases do respond well to the specialized treatment of a chiropractor.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Demand more from candidates

With a municipal election coming up in November, we can expect the campaigns to begin any time. As usual, the most difficult task for voters will be to separate rhetoric from substance.

All too often elections are fought and won on the basis of whom you know, not what you know. In many cases, candidates offer only their longevity as a qualification for office.

"I've been a resident of this municipality all my life."

So has the tree in the front yard.

This election, question your candidates. Make them speak out on the issues. Where do they stand on closed meetings? What is their position on the many planning issues of the day? Do they favor widespread grants for recreation services or should the municipality adopt the principle, "Those who play, should pay?"

We must also ensure that the people elected to office recognize the need to consult their constituents between elections. Arrogance is the most common offspring of victory.

We should also ask our candidates how they have prepared themselves for office. Have they bothered to take a look at the Municipal Act or familiarized themselves with the Education Act, the Planning Act, Drainage Act, Conservation Act or any of the other rules and regulations which govern a municipality?

Good intentions, in this day and age, are simply not enough. You wouldn't let a deck hand captain a luxury liner. Why let unqualified people pilot the ship of government?

Today, the municipal councillor must deal with official plans, zoning by-laws and a host of provincial legislation. That is not to say you have to be a lawyer or engineer to run for public office, but those who do wish to put themselves in front of the electorate should at least show their good faith by trying to educate themselves somewhat beforehand.

The job involves millions of dollars and affects thousands of people. It's time we started to demand more from our elected leaders.

Flattened in round one?

Parallels between our economy and that of Japan are quite common in media circles. Below is a particularly interesting analysis by columnist Jim Smith, a spokesman for the Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

1945. It hadn't been a particularly good year for Japan. The proud nation which had once commanded the Pacific rim now huddled miserably, reduced to a shattered pile of smoking rubble by the adverse fortunes of war.

1960. The same decimated island—a land virtually bare of resources—had become the world's leading industrial power. Traditional American firms were transferring their production to Japan, leaving nothing more than distribution shells at home. The Japanese had latched on to a strange new electronic device known as a transistor and used it in magnificently imaginative ways.

1978. Only 33 years after the end of the war and no one laughs at the slogan "Made in Japan" anymore. A country with every reason to fail except pride still sits at the top of the economic ladder, still defending its economy with imagination and courage. The transistor has long since been replaced by integrated circuits, a technology which promises to make Japan—which no longer enjoys a low-priced labor force—even stronger tomorrow than it has been in recent years.

1945. Canada, a nation blessed with spectacular resource wealth, her factories untouched by war, her work force one of the world's most highly educated, stands on the brink of greatness.

1960. Canada has failed to realize her apparent industrialized destiny. Indeed, she has fallen farther behind the rest of the industrialized world.

1978. Canada is now laughingly considered an underdeveloped country masquerading as a nation of substance. We've become the Sonny Liston of economics—a so-called champion felled by a single punch early in the first round.

What did we do wrong? Mostly, it's a case of what Japan did right. Economic development is at the base of every Japanese governmental decision. The Japanese are past masters at negotiating the most favorable conditions for their economic development; if a major purchase must be made abroad, the Japanese will ensure that some new technology is imported into the bargain.

In Canada, if it is necessary to contract with a foreign manufacturer of, for example, fighter planes, little thought is given to forcing partial production in Canada or sub-licensing of some important technical knowledge to Canadian firms, educating our engineers. It isn't the fault of the Ministry of Defence; Canada should have an active industrial planning department within government.

England recently entered into a sub-licensing agreement with a major American producer of microprocessors (the tiny silicon chips that have replaced transistors and revolutionized the data processing industry). England won't turn a profit on that deal directly—but her engineers will learn about this vital new technology first hand. In the years to come, England and her trading partners in Europe won't be excluded from the social and economic revolution created by microcircuits—a field which remains relatively foreign to Canadians.

The most common question around Ottawa is "Who's in charge here?" It's time we had an answer.

"I'D LIKE TO HIRE YOUR SERVICES TO BUILD A BETTER MOUSETRAP!"

Enjoyed hearing Bishop Smith at the recent diamond jubilee of the Knights of Columbus. The bishop was saying he didn't get much opportunity to speak in public since his retirement. Life plays strange tricks on folks, here he is at the stage where he has more time to think and plan a good address only to find there are no occasions to deliver same.

We don't get the opportunity to hear the bishop's voice very often but wouldn't it be nice if such a fluent orator put some of his fine discourses on tape? Imagine all the clergymen who would be happy to benefit from all those years of observation and research, especially when most of them are so overloaded with duties they have few intervals to prepare homilies.

The bishop served as grand knight of the Glengarry Council back in the early thirties when he was a priest at St. Finnan's. That little span of time put him in a special category. He is the only priest in North America who to date, has been grand knight of a council. He might also be the only one in the world but we don't know for sure, we just have the statistics on this continent.

Bishop Smith was high in his praise for the good works done by the brotherhood. After serving as Ontario state chaplain for 26 years he should know "whomof" he speaks.

* * * * * *

I don't know how much our readers want to hear about our tour to Scotland. My fellow tourists kept pointing out things while we were en route and reminding me what I could mention in "the old rail fence." I wrote of some of our doings last week and I could write a book on some of the laughs and aggravations we had together so "the tour" will probably be creeping back into the column for some time to come.

One of the striking things we noticed about the houses in Scotland, particularly in the Highlands, was the absence of window-dressing. The windows were sparkling clean and for the most part, completely without curtains or blinds. Since windows were originally designed to let in light, it would appear to make good sense. There were no electric lights burning in the daytime either. Granted, the houses didn't look as attractive but getting back to the purpose of windows . . .

Another improvement we noted was on one of the roads leading into Glasgow and it was the only one we saw—the numbers of the highways were painted on the road in the traffic lanes where roads diffused in different directions. It seemed a big asset, as I'm sure many a driver would agree after taking the wrong lane on a highway. It seemed so practical to look at the roadway instead of an overhead sign. It might not be feasible in this country where roads are often covered with snow and ice but the idea has merit for big city intersections.

Charlottenburgh's new plan

Charlottenburgh Township's proposed new official plan is up for discussion.

I have given the document a cursory glance and can only wonder if councillors know what they're doing.

A few weeks ago, we reported the battle between the township and the county roads engineer. The engineer had opposed a severance on the grounds it was strip development on a county road.

In upholding the engineer's viewpoint, the Ontario Municipal Board overturned the severance and pointed to the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Area Official Plan which covers Charlottenburgh. (The township is governed by two official plans, the Lower St. Lawrence which takes in Charlottenburgh, Stormont and the City of Cornwall—and its own local plan. The local plan is being updated to conform with the LSL plan.)

Most, if not all, of the councillors have at one time or another indicated their desire to see non-agricultural rural land used for residential purposes. They have openly flouted the LSL plan.

Now is their chance to put onto paper the planning guidelines they would prefer to see and what do they do? They draft a local plan with the same restrictions as the LSL plan.

While it is true the local plan is supposed to conform to the LSL plan, this would be the time for council to challenge some of the conventional wisdom if it so desires. If it willingly passes the latest set of guidelines, it is morally obliged to obey the law, the same as everyone else. And the law, according to the proposed new official plan, says in no uncertain terms that there should be no major development in the countryside unless it is in the form of estate subdivisions. This is small consolation to the low or middle income person because the homes in such subdivisions have to be at least 1,400 square feet in size.

I quote from the plan:

—"The official plan encourages development in the hamlet areas of Williamstown, Glen Walter, Summerstown, Martintown, St. Raphael's West and Green Valley, to be considered as first priority for growth."

—"The agricultural character of the Township of Charlottenburgh will be preserved by protecting the rural areas from scattered urban and semi-urban penetration."

—"The Township of Charlottenburgh is and shall remain an essentially rural community."

—"Development for the most part shall occur as infilling in already existing developed areas and within those areas designated for residential growth in the hamlets and in estate residential areas."

—"It (the Committee of Adjustment which grants land severances) will, following the policies in the plan, control and protect the rural areas from indiscriminate development."

—"Ribbon development along all roads in the planning area should be prevented. Rather all residential developments will be encouraged to locate in hamlets or estate residential areas."

The message could not be clearer: Severances along roadways should be severely restricted. Yet councillors have indicated in the past they are opposed to such a policy.

If council wishes to take a stand, it should do so now, not pass the policy and then complain about it afterwards.

BEST SAP BREWER

An anonymous neighbor of Angus MacDonald's on the Kings Road, west of St. Raphael's, phoned to say that Angus has the best maple syrup around. Angus won the red ribbon at Williamstown and at Newington.

ABOUT GOAT CHEESE

The following random comments were overheard during the heat of goat cheese judging at a fair:

"I'm a cowman, not a goatman."

"Look, count me out, there's no sense me even judging this specimen of garlic-flavored cheese. If I take a taste, my wife won't let me back in the house for a week." (Sometimes this can be turned to one's advantage.)

"Here try this one," said the judge as he stepped outside for a moment.

"Now just how are we going to judge this product? Shall we use the cheddar scale?"

There is quite a market for goat milk products in Canada. Perhaps these Department of Agriculture men will help Glengarry lead the way in replacing imported cheeses with our native products.

GREAT PARTY

A great Bonnie Glen crowd celebrated the occasion of the upcoming wedding of Michael Doyle and Luane Wood. This lovely young lady is the daughter of Betty Jane and Earl Wood in Cornwall; Michael Doyle is the son of Thelma Doyle, Apple Hill. Luane and brother Jamie Wood treated the crowd to a beautiful rendition of "Green Hills of Antrim." Uncle Bobby Burnie of the Brigadoons joined with Jamie in several songs featuring their perfect harmony and giving the crowd a nostalgic touch of Brigadoon concerts of old.

Luane and Michael will be married Oct. 7. Good luck to a fine young couple.

ENGLISH HORSE SHOW

In Martintown on Sept. 16 and 17, the Hennings at the Paddock will hold an English horse show. There is no admission charge for spectators; lunch available on the grounds. Contact D. Henning, 528-4606.

HOCKEY REGISTRATION

Registration for Char-Lan hockey continues Sat., Sept. 16. Used hockey equipment will be on sale also. President Dwayne MacRae pointed out that Char-Lan MHA operates on a $45,000 annual budget or about $140 per player. Big business requiring the dedication of many hard working volunteers.

THEATRE OPENING

St. Lawrence College Theatre opens Sun., Sept. 17 with a successful Canadian play from Toronto, "The Primary English Class." "Good lads at Heart" opens on Oct. 2, and billets are needed for these National Youth Theatre players from Great Britain. If interested, phone Chris Wilson, 933-6080.

WERE TAPED FOR CBC

Rae MacCulloch's dancers spent a busy night at St. Raphael's Ruins performing for CBC's national television show "Canadian Express."

Other exciting news is that two of our area dancers, Brenda Kippen and Deborah MacCulloch will be touring with "Breath of Scotland" this year on their international tour. A great thrill for these deserving young ladies. How are we going to keep them down on the farm after this?

DANCE TIME AGAIN

Dancing lessons will resume for Martintown area students on Friday, Sept. 22, at Martintown public school.

HONEYMOON TALE

Gaye Leroux is back on his favorite stool, drumming for the Brigadoons after a honeymoon with his vivacious new bride Glenda. Gaye was telling me that on one evening after a large haggis he suggested that they go for a quiet walk in the heather and then get to bed early of course. So the young lovers headed out of the little Scottish village for a walk in the misty highlands. In the middle of nowhere over the hill comes marching, a highland band. Something right out of fiction.

IF THERE ARE ANY

Martintown Mac wishes luck to all hard-working scholars in this school year.

Minister adds colorful local touch for tourists

by Wilbert A. Crawford

Glengarry County and Williamstown area in particular has a tourist booster of whom they may well be proud. He is none other than the pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Rev. Edwin J. McDonald.

Some time ago an Ottawa-based tour company decided to promote for the first time a one-day tour to Glengarry County during the month of August. Among persons and organizations contacted with a view to arranging an interesting itinerary, those people who were working on the project contacted Rev. McDonald with a view to having the tour participants visit the oldest Protestant Church (Presbyterian) in Upper Canada. Since the pastor signified his acquiescence, the tour people arranged that the Williamstown stop should be one of their points of call.

Much to the surprise and delight of people on the tour on Wednesday last, and incidentally the most surprised, was the tour conductress, Mrs. Kay Malmberg, a truly Scottish flavor was introduced. When the bus pulled up in front of the historic Williamstown Church, there came striding across from the manse, Rev. Edwin J. McDonald, complete in kilt and carrying his bagpipes.

After giving a brief history of the Protestant activities in this portion of Glengarry, the minister put his bagpipes in position, and set about playing Scottish tunes as the tour group entered to inspect the church. There they were greatly interested in the beautiful handwork of the galleries and arches, the memorial plaques and the sterling silver Communion service more than 150 years old. Outdoors once more, the visitors found the architecture of the church, the cemetery and gravestones to be of great historic interest.

Glengarry has a colorful and varied past and no one is more convinced of that than Rev. McDonald, who himself a descendant of Scottish forebears, is willing to take time from his busy schedule to help promote interest by donning his kilt, picking up his pipes and playing Scottish tunes to send visiting coach tours onward to their next point of interest.

Volunteer to work new library hours

Users suggestions have led to an experiment that will see the library open for two hours every Thursday morning. The arrangement starts this week and will last until March 15.

The object is to test borrower response to morning hours; if the interest exists, it will be possible to transfer some time from other parts of the day to the morning, to satisfy the demand. The present arrangement has been made possible by the co-operation of Mrs. Janet Marr, Glen Robertson.

Mrs. Marr felt very strongly about the need for morning hours, particularly for the elderly, and volunteered to staff a morning session for half a year, so the response could be determined.

The new hours go into effect for the first time this week. They are, every Thursday morning, from 9:30 to 11:30.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

The August 16 edition of The Glengarry News, which arrived August 28th, credited my husband, Vivian Vellet, with "the greatest distance clocked"—in order to attend the Williamstown High School and Char-Lan High School reunion.

Since my former classmates reminded me that I held the record for the highest number of spelling mistakes in first form, I feel I had better correct the mistaken identity.

Sincere thanks to the originator and organizers of such a happy event.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

On behalf of the Stewart family I would like to thank the Glengarry Club of Ottawa for sponsoring the tour of Scotland. We have many cherished memories of this beautiful and historic country from which our ancestors came.

With the exception of only one or two very minor problems, everything went along quite smoothly. The accommodations were quite satisfactory (better than my expectations) and the people were extremely friendly and co-operative. These facts, coupled with a first class group of people on the tour, made my job as organizer a very pleasant and rewarding one. I would not hesitate repeating the organization of such a trip in the future. It takes special people like John Kay and the two other drivers to make a tour like this a success.

I would be remiss if I did not sincerely thank the Glengarry Club of Ottawa for sending Sandy with us as "The Official Piper." Sandy also says "Thanks to the Glengarry Club."

I would be happy to hear from anyone who would take time to drop me a line with their comments on the tour.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by Angus H. McDonell

On Labor Day, Monday of last week, we gunned the Olds on 401 from Cornwall to London on a special mission. In addition to a trunk load of luggage, I was accompanied by three of Cornwall Collegiate's distinguished scholarly athletes, on their way to the University of Western Ontario. They were Robb Stidwill, the MVP of last year's Golden Raiders, SD&G high school football champions, Gerard Hamilton, defensive half back and Rory McCormick, offensive end, who added the MVP (Cornwall) basketball award to his gridiron laurels.

Leaving Cornwall, there was considerable chatter, mostly relative to the weekend farewell school parties. As we logged through the heavy holiday traffic beyond the 300 mileage mark, there was a noticeable calmness as the boys had burned off their bubbling excitement of a few hours earlier.

In late afternoon that hectic 25 miles across Metro Toronto was behind us. We were now heading into the 401 open country west of Malton Airport. The steering grip eased and tenseness gave way to relaxed driving.

I found it interesting to pinpoint the various noted municipalities via the exit identification. Among the first was Brampton. I mulled the name Brampton over and over, mentally asking myself what was the significance of Brampton. For a few moments the thought bugged me. Then suddenly on the memory screen the answer flashed. It was lacrosse.

Brampton was once a town, now likely of city status, just west of Toronto and famed for its lacrosse teams. Champions among such 12-man field lacrosse clubs as Peterborough, Oshawa, Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines. The Western Ontario class of amateur lacrosse. Here in the east, Alexandria was the counterpart of Brampton as they vied with such stalwart clubs as Williamstown, Cornwall, Ottawa and the Ottawa Valley. That was the exact setting 65 years ago this week.

Using a travelogue introduction to an historic achievement of an Alexandria lacrosse team would be frowned on in a journalism class. However, we have deliberately taken you to Brampton this way to stress its location and the calibre of lacrosse. That superior class still prevails; as we write, Whitby and Peterborough are in Vancouver playing in the Minto and Mann cup championships.

In a concluding paragraph we will tell you why we first referred to Brampton. Now let us relate the memorable story of the championship team in the Alexandria Lacrosse Club photo in another column. Without fear of contradiction, Alexandria's greatest lacrosse team of any era and rated among the amateur greats of Canada.

The year was 1913. We saw our first lacrosse game at the old Fair Grounds, July 1st, 1919. Obviously we had to review The News' files to glean exact data. However, in our youth we had frequently listened to older players, and fans interestingly recall the lacrosse exploits of that summer. Among the anecdotes was one of early season gloom. Alexandria had lost their prolific scoring home player rated in professional class. This player feared no defence (point and cover point in those far off days) despite his medium physical build. He was all elusive fleetness, a master at pivoting, with a skilled marksman shot. We are referring to a grand seminary student—Charles Francis Gauthier. He was to be ordained to the priesthood, Father C. F. Gauthier, later that year. Knowing that his superior, Bishop William Andrew Macdonell was not keen on his playing, Charlie Gauthier retired to the sideline, and became the team's coach.

As the end of the schedule approached, Alexandria had won over Williamstown and Cornwall. Although we couldn't find a file reference, we believe that this was the year Russell and Almonte were also eliminated by Alexandria in Ottawa Valley playdowns.

This writer is indebted to Ourtown's Peter Charlebois, an old time sports fan, for a verbal account of an exhibition game played in Valleyfield while Alexandria awaited the City of Ottawa champions to be declared.

The trip was made by train of course, with a change at Coteau Junction. As was expected, Alexandria held command of play from the first whistle. As the game wore on, Peter recalls, quite a bit of rough play was injected. This was a mistake by Valleyfield. The climax came when not one, but three Valleyfield players roughed up Joe Grant. Besides being a fine lacrosse player, Joe Grant was on his way to becoming one of Canada's better boxers. Joe "Kid" Grant. But the highlight was not the onesided fight on the field. Peter recalled with a chuckle, Gordon "Donald Roy" McDonald thought he should run on the field to help the outnumbered Joe Grant. Father Alex (Glen Robertson-Duncan Jim) MacDonald, St. Finnan's pastor and great sport fan, thought otherwise. He grabbed Gordon so firmly he tore the sweater off Gordon at the arm pits.

And now, it's on to Ottawa in a two-game, home-and-home, total-goal series for the championship of Eastern Ontario. Amateur, that is. The professional league consisted of Ottawa, Montreal Shamrocks and Nationals, Cornwall and Toronto. On September 6th, 65 years ago last Saturday, a special train conveyed some 700 fans from Alexandria, Maxville and Glen Robertson to Ottawa and Varsity Oval field, Ottawa University. (Shades of Maxville Millionaires' era.)

Ottawa Shamrocks' Ainsborough scored the only goal in the first period. Cecil Duncan (yes, that is Cecil Duncan of ODHA hockey history) added one in the second quarter. There was no scoring in the third period; however, in the final round Alexandria came into their own with two goals by Joe Marcoux to tie the game. Bill Curley gave Ottawa a 3-2 lead in the series with his late goal.

The return game in Alexandria the next Saturday, September 13th, was not helped by the weatherman. Morning rain made the sward slippery and hindered the attendance.

Like the opening game in Ottawa, play was skilled and rugged as both teams were evenly balanced, but there was no really rough checking. Alexandria's star home (forwards) players, Hugh Allan Gauthier and Gordon "Donald Roy" McDonald each scored a goal assisted by the fleet footed centre Joe Grant and fielders: Johnny McIntosh, Joe Marcoux and Alex (later Father Alex) Cameron. The defence held the Shamrocks scoreless. Jimmy McCaffrey in goal was given shut-out support by point and cover point Donald John "Little Archie" MacMillan and George "Zic MacIsaac" MacDonald. Field defenders were George Robinson, Neil (later Father Neil) McCormick and George "Tanner" MacKinnon.

As Alexandria won the series 4-3 in total goals, they earned the right to play-off with Western Ontario representatives for the Provincial championship. And here is where and why we brought you first to Brampton. Brampton Excelsiors' team were the class of Ontario's heartland as already described. Alexandria and Brampton were just one slight level below the professional circuit. We regret to report that the final series was not played, due to the lateness of the season and the financial hurdle.

To assist readers in identifying the club members in the photo with present day next-of-kin we will begin with the front row, left, Johnny McIntosh (Greenfield) brother of the late Dr. "Dunc" McIntosh, (Johnny commuted from Greenfield by horse and buggy). Next Johnny "Bun" (Danny Kenneth) McDonald. An uncle of Leonard and nee Gladys and Hilda "Sandy Rory" McDonald, Montreal. Archie McPhee, later a well known dentist in Killaloe and Barry's Bay. Sisters are: Mrs. (Essie) Lewis, London, Ont., Mrs. (Marie) Caven, Montreal, Mrs. Wm. (Alma) Murray, Summerstown. George "Tanner" McKinnon. A pleasant coincidence here. Colin Chisholm, Loch Garry-Cornwall, a member of Canada's Lacrosse Hall of Fame, and George McKinnon are first cousins. Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Chisholm were sisters. Next Gordon "Donald Roy" McDonald. Donald Roy's grocery store is now Sauve Real Estate offices. Kirkland Lake's well known curler, Frank McDonald and Gerard with Air Canada, Dorval, are sons. Next Hugh Allan Gauthier, brother of Father C. F. Gauthier, John now of Ottawa and Miss Kathleen Gauthier, Cornwall. Donald John "Little Archie" McMillan. Remember "Little Archie's" livery and taxi with Gene and Sarto Leger and Paulie Lauzon the original drivers?

Second row: Edgar MacRae, the Jim Humphries of that era. Jim McCaffrey, widely known among the great leaders of hockey and football both in Canada and Internationally. Joe Marcoux is survived by Mrs. Marcoux. Alex Cameron, later Father Alex Cameron. A brother of former Alexandria post mistress, Grace Cameron and Mrs. (Mary) Nessmith, Santa Rosa, Calif. George "Zic" MacIsaac" McDonald. Remember one of the box lacrosse greats of Chisholm Park, "Zic" Morris. Well, he inherited the skills of handling the gutted stick from his uncle George. Next, George Robinson. A noted next-of-kin is Brookes Robinson of Baltimore baseball fame. Joe "Kid" Grant, an uncle of Miss Marguerite Seger and Mrs. Helen Kaufmann. Neil McCormick, later Father Neil McCormick. Members of the "Dakota Dunc" McDonell and E. J. Dever families survive. Top row. Coach Charlie Gauthier, later to become known as the "Parish Priest" of Glengarry. Manager Felix DaPrato. Alexandria sons are Alex and Frank DaPrato. Dave Courville, director, brother of "Z" Courville. Alex Grant, director, regarded as one of Glengarry's most versatile athletes of all time. An uncle of the Paul Lauzon family. Dr. J. T. Hope, Hon. President, widely known as one of Alexandria's "Country Doctors." Helen Hope, a daughter, resides in Toronto. Local grandchildren are Jimmy Graham and his sisters, Carol, Vivian and Nancy. Next the club president, F. V. Massey, manager of Union Bank, now the Royal. Dean Rowe, director, an executive director of J. T. Schell lumber mill, now the Pres-Glen milk truck garage and Lorenzo Lefebvre's small engine repair shop. Finally "Eddie" MacGillivray our MLA before Osie Villeneuve started his marathon political run.

We have taken up more than our usual space. However, we trust a younger generation will realize that historic chapters of Glengarry's illustrious sport history were written long before the eras of Maxville Millionaires, Glengarry Gardens, the champion peewee Glens and their notable graduates to major junior, university, minor, pro and WHA-NHL hockey.

Bridge repair causing traffic jam

Anyone intending to use the Perley Bridge at Hawkesbury should be prepared for a delay in getting across the bridge. The connecting link between Ontario and Quebec is currently undergoing repairs and traffic jams run from the foot of the bridge to Main Street.

Hawkesbury Police Chief Maurice Durocher admits that the construction work does present a problem, but adds, "There is no doubt that the bridge work has to be done."

Traffic on the bridge has been reduced to one lane until at least December 31 of this year, while workmen repair the old bridge. Presently, spans are being installed under the bridge.

Durocher was concerned over the amount of traffic build-ups, and is looking for ways to ease the problem.

"The sequence of lights, (newly installed), could be lengthened on green and shortened on red," he suggested. "With the 20 mile per hour bridge speed limit, you can't get that many cars across the Perley bridge in the time available."

The chief also noticed a lapse in time when no cars crossed the bridge, in any direction.

"I can understand the workers position," he said. "They don't want any cars on the bridge while they're doing span work. Putting in all that steel placing is very demanding, exact work. The bridge just couldn't take the strain of too many cars or trucks, and the plates could be dislodged or put in improperly."

The chief even felt the use of a ferry by motorists would not be too farfetched if things didn't improve at the bridge.

Quilt collection can be displayed

The Canada Packers Quilt Collection was founded in the Spring of 1976 to commemorate a traditional and continuing Canadian craft.

The Quilt originally consisted of eight quilts depicting both old and new designs. In the Spring of 1978, the Collection was expanded to ten quilts.

The Quilt Collection has been touring Southern and Central Ontario since 1976, appearing in numerous fairs, museums, art galleries, craft guilds and similar exhibitions.

Two natural pine stands, each approximately eight feet high, are used to display the quilts.

The Canada Quilt Collection is available to interested Associations or groups for display free of charge. Transportation, set-up and dismantling services are also provided free of charge. Interested parties are invited to contact Canada Packers Limited, Public Relations Department (416-766-4311), to reserve the Quilt Collection.

GO SLOW
PROTECT OUR CHILDREN!

Mrs. Lorna Chapman
874-2408

The monthly meeting of the United Church Women was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Henry Kronwald. Mrs. Arnold MacRae welcomed the ladies.

Our president had procured a film strip, narrated by Norman Bonnisteel, telling about the work of the mission and service department and how the money is portioned out to the different church workers.

It was graphically explained in percentages as represented by a "family cookie jar," with each member of the family receiving a certain portion for a specific purpose. It wasn't a long film strip but was most informative, interesting and well presented. We would recommend it to any group as good material about the working of the church service funds.

The Mandates were distributed and Rev. Norman's story on crime prevention is especially interesting.

It reads like a sensational "Who-done-it" but is really the work of a dedicated man, where it is most needed, in the streets and in the underworld. "Operation Go Home" is doing a tremendous service . . . and then there's the couple with the minister standing at the baptismal font, while the tired minister holds the baby. "Well if you don't like Bernice, how about Brenda?" mom asks.

We thought it would be a good idea to write to Rev. Plant, editor of the Mandate magazine to see if they couldn't start a new column where names of donor groups could be listed, not the amounts. At least we would know they realize we are contributing to the work of the church. We are sure no one could ever keep up with all the contributions by sending "thank you notes" but it would be nice to see that it was noted somewhere, don't you agree?

We might try to contribute, as well, to help the energy crisis, not by giving money but by trying to live more simply, by not demanding luxuries, and in realizing the needs of others more deeply, to "leave some for them," so to speak. Those who have so much, need to give to the wanting, and there are so many wanting, even in North America, today.

The Sunday School children have sent clothing to the Grassy Narrows Indian community at Sashigo. They get everything by plane and so much of the things our kiddies take for granted, they never see. For our thankoffering meeting, it was suggested by Mrs. Arnold MacRae that we bring coloring books and crayons or comic books or soft cover reading material for them. We will be sending another bale, but this is apart from that, just for the children.

There was a lovely letter from Pansy Mae, in Jamaica. She told us she wants to become a nurse. It's nice to know that we may be responsible for her being able to get her education, and realize that goal.

It was proposed that August become the official "clean up month" for the church. Every thing that needed doing could be looked after then and "bees" held for certain projects and chores. All were in agreement.

This Sunday is to be the dedication Sunday for the new choir gowns, and the flowers will go to a shut-in afterwards. Refreshments were served and much enjoyed by all.

The devotional portion of the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Chapman who used as her source Inspirational Devotional Programs for Women's Groups by Leila Ammerman.

The theme for September is that of "wisdom," and the thought for the months is, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask God, who gives to all men generously and without reproaching, and it will be given him."

"Saviour Teach me Day by Day," was sung, followed by the Scripture reading, read by Mrs. William MacLennan and Mrs. Angus MacLennan.

The first and second parts of the brief meditation were read by Mrs. Ronald MacLachlan and Mrs. Charles Chapman. The second Scripture reading was also read by Mrs. Angus MacLennan.

Mrs. Clifford MacDonald led in prayer, and the hymn, "Saviour like a Shepherd Lead Us," closed the devotional part.

BRABANT—CAMPEAU

On July 15, Joanne Campeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campeau of Dalhousie, was united in marriage to Marcel Brabant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Brabant of St. Clet.

The wedding took place in St. Telesphore Church with Rev. Marcel Ladouceur officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. Miss Brigitte Doiron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Doiron was flower girl and Francis Menard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Claude Menard was the ring-bearer.

Ushers were Michel Lanthier and Gilles Felx, brothers-in-law of the bride and groom. The reception was held at Green Valley Pavilion after which the couple left for a honeymoon trip to South Carolina.

The couple now reside in Pierrefonds, Que.

Map needed to hunt

With negotiations still underway over the provincial boundary between Ontario and Quebec in the Lake St. Francis and St. Lawrence River area, anyone going after ducks there will need a special map to show where they can legally hunt this fall.

The map, being prepared by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, will describe a two-square-mile area in which either an Ontario or Quebec licence will be required to hunt waterfowl when the season opens on September 16.

The special map will be available from the Cornwall district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources after September 12.

Natural Resources Minister James A. C. Auld said the map is the result of an agreement reached on August 30 between officials of the Quebec Department of Tourism, Game and Fish, the Quebec Department of Lands and Forests, and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources.

Affected are a triangular area around the Colquhoun Islands and the Crab Islands, and a rectangular area around Thompson Island.

"A person hunting on public lands in these areas must be carrying the appropriate Quebec or Ontario licence," Mr. Auld said.

"Ontario and Quebec residents hunting in these areas will be subject to the laws and regulations enforced by the province from which they obtain their licence," the minister said.

Mr. Auld said that while negotiations between Ontario and Quebec regarding the unresolved interprovincial boundary were continuing, agreement on an acceptable location is expected to be reached soon.

Further information can be obtained from Richard Morin, District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Cornwall, telephone (613) 933-1774.
