Fine talent in queen contest

Queen Danielle Cholette will reign over Richelieu Carnival festivities for the remainder of the week. She was chosen Tuesday night by a panel of judges at Glengarry District High School Auditorium where the competition was held.

The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Jules Renaud of Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roffey, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. Jean Pierre Bourdeau, Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beauchamp of Rockland.

The girls were judged on a point system: ten points for the sale of bonhommes; 20 for their parade appearance; 30 for talent; 30 for prepared speech and 10 for impromptu speech.

According to reports, some of the girls had not sold their complete quota of bonhommes and may have lost valuable points here. Francine Lajoie was awarded a special prize of $25 for sale over and above her quota.

Danielle's prepared speech was a serious research treatise on the art of "knowing oneself" and the three types of study necessary for the development of character. Her talent reflected hours of disciplined training, a ballet dance and athletic bar balance artistically performed. Her question; What would you do if you were on a plane to Florida and the plane was hijecked? She didn't think she would like to be on a plane to Florida, she intended to go to Spain. Danielle was sponsored by Alexandria Moulding.

Runner-up was Cathy MacKinnon, Glen Nevis, sponsored by GDHS. Her prepared speech was a humorous and optimistic forecast of Alexandria in the future when it would be a thriving metropolis. Her self written skit for her talent was a portrayal of an actress stricken with stage fright before her performance which was overcome by positive thinking expressed in the song she led into, "Whenever I feel afraid". Asked for a solution to the problem that children of six years old were generally considered to be below par, she thought the new phys ed programs in the schools would correct this "although any six year old she baby-sat were pretty fit".

Currently Queen of Char-Lan High School, Charlynn MacDonald was chosen second princess. Her prepared speech was inspired by her own participation in a community recreation organization. She felt what youth learn from their involvement in community projects would develop good leadership and conscientious citizens. Her talent was a rendition of two poems: one she had composed herself portraying the feelings of a little girl and a recitation of a soldier writing home from Vietnam—interpreted with sincerity and deep appeal. "Why do girls wear pants and jeans so much she was asked? Because of comfort and suitability, she felt.

Sponsored by Revolution 71, Green Valley, Francine Lajoie was her natural appealing self telling what it was like getting ready for the carnival in her humorous prepared speech. Her singing talent was pleasant and versatile, she handled her mike with ease swinging from one song to another, winding up with tremendous impact in "Lord Help me Jesus". Asked if she thought young people today expected too much too soon? She thought no, what they needed mostly was love.

Susan Abrames was the Jeunesse 225 entry, and her originality throughout all her perform-

"Without good leaders there wouldn't be any Boy Scouts or Cubs", Colin Marshall, District Commissioner, reminded the guests at the first annual father and son banquet of Alexandria Boy Scouts and Cubs. It was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall last Thursday evening.

The guest speaker went on to remind the parents: "No dollar value can be placed on the priceless investments of time, talents and resources of these volunteers who help pay for your boy's scouting."

Sponsored by the Church on the Hill, the troops were formed in Alexandria a short time ago. Raymond Rochon is president of the group committee; Claude Lanthier is first vice-president; Mrs. Grant Cameron is secretary and the treasurer is Mrs. Fern Seguin. Paul Decaire is a committee adviser.

Veteran two wars died

A native of Glen Roy, John B. (Jack) MacMillan died at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, on Tuesday, February 19th, following a brief illness. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Angus MacMillan.

The deceased was a veteran, having served in World War One for three years and in World War Two as guard on the Cornwall Canal at Lock 21, Dickinson's Landing. He was an honorary member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 569, Long Sault, also an honorary member of the Knights of Columbus, Branch 755 of Cornwall.

Mr. MacMillan lived in the former hamlet of Dickinson's Landing for 23 years, moving to Ingleside when the Seaway flooding took place.

He was married at Holy Cross Church, Kemptville, December 29th, 1930 to the former Eleanor E. MacDonald. He was predeceased by his parents, four brothers and four sisters.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a son, Burel, Ottawa, and daughters, Shirley, Mrs. Roland Gervais of Ottawa and Patricia at home. He also leaves a foster son James Kelly, four grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Flo Casey, of Yorkton Heights, New York.

Pallbearers were Don, Grant, Douglas Hart, Summers Elliott, Ernie Gillard, Howard Rutley and Harold Snetsinger.

New telephone directory out this week

The invention of the telephone 100 years ago is commemorated in Bell Canada's telephone directory being delivered in the Cornwall area this week. The new directory features a logo observing the 100th anniversary and a picture of the Alexander Graham Bell Homestead in Brantford, Ontario.

The logo, to be used by most of the major Canadian telephone companies as well as Bell Canada to commemorate the invention, is a blue telephone on a white background centering the commemorative dates, 1874-1974. It is located in the lower right hand corner of the front cover.

"The photograph on the back cover of the directory," Ray Jette, local Bell manager, said, "is a picture of the Bell Homestead in Brantford. It was there on July 26th, 1874, that Bell first discussed with his father how he proposed to build a telephone and drew the first diagrams for his invention.

"But the telephone industry has come a long way since 1874," added Mr. Jette, "and the front cover photograph symbolizes those advancements. It is a picture of a computer control panel, representing the modern technology used in presenting the many modern services offered by Canadian telephone companies."

This year in the Cornwall area there will be some 40,800 directories delivered, an increase of 2500 over last year's total. This makes up just a small portion of the almost 11,000,000 directories Bell Canada is printing this year to make it easier for its customers to find information as fast as possible.

Hit by bad weather carnival parade set for Saturday

The Carnival parade will be held on Saturday, March 2nd in Alexandria, starting at one p.m. Although it was originally scheduled for last Saturday the inclement weather caused a postponement until this week. Seems the parade officials did not want their queenly candidates exposed to all that frost and flurries. The Queen will be officially received by the town fathers as in past years at the close of the parade.

The usual street games will follow and a new feature this year will be a tug of war between the local grade seven and eight school pupils.

On Thursday, February 28th, there will be free public skating from 5 to 7.30 p.m. at the arena and a broomball game in aid of Harmony Glen School will take place at 8 p.m. with the Allstars of the Glengarry Broomball League opposing the North Lancaster team.

As most of the local schools are holding their carnivals on Friday, a treasure hunt will be sponsored starting at the Community Centre at 4 p.m. on that day. The students will be divided into two groups, from grades four to eight and grades nine to 13. They will be given clues to certain objects they must spot throughout the town and will accumulate points as they progress. There is a time limit to amass the amount of clues and the prizes are $15, $10 and $5. Big attraction Friday night is the hockey game between Ottawa Old Timers and Alexandria's Old Timers. Las Vegas night will also be held at the KC hall.

A peewee hockey tournament will be held at the Community Centre on Saturday. Maxville will face off with St. Isidore at 8 a.m.; Cornwall Township and Brasher Falls, NY play at 9 a.m.; our host team meets Iroquois at 10 a.m. and Prescott meets Dorion at 11 a.m.

The "B" championship series will be played at 12 noon, and two p.m. with the finals at four p.m. The "A" championship games will be at one p.m. three p.m. and the final of the tournament will be at five o'clock.

Sunday, the Bantams take over with an eight entry tournament. Maxville and the Cornwall B team play at eight a.m., Prescott and Cornwall Township at nine; Alexandria and Morrisburg at ten and Brasher Falls and Westport at 11 a.m. The B series play at 12 noon and two and four p.m. The A series games will be at one p.m. and three with the tournament championship at 5 o'clock.

The Cave au Vins will be open at the Bide a Wee Inn on Thursday and Friday while the big wind-up will be at the Bonnie Glen dance on Saturday night.

AT SNOWMOBILE RALLY—Saturday's opening carnival parade had to be postponed a week because of inclement weather but the snowmobile rally on the lake attracted many enthusiasts Sunday and the supper was well attended. Mutual studying higher rates after record losses last year

Record high loss claims at $234,739, last year will probably result in a 10 per cent increase in rates for members of the Glengarry Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

More than double the 1972 loss and by far the highest in the 79-year history of the Mutual, the big loss total was the subject of considerable discussion at the annual meeting held here Saturday.

The increase in rates will probably be put into effect at the March meeting and there may also be action aimed at trying to determine the origin of more of the fires. There were a lot of fires last year whose origin was undetermined and claims for lightning losses were also unsually numerous.

Reinsurance at $78,122 helped meet the high loss total and brought the net claims' cost to $156,617. An underwriting gain of $49,099 in 1972 was turned into a loss of $40,310 in 1973. Investment income at $43,097 permitted a net gain in revenue for the year of only $2,787. That was down some $75,000 from the previous year and was the lowest recorded in many years.

There were more small loss claims than usual last year and several heavy losses, notably one in the amount of $59,500.

Despite the record losses the Glengarry Mutual is in a strong financial position with assets totalling $799,074 and the surplus at year's end a healthy $576,608.

The three retiring directors, Roy MacMillan, Glen Sandfield; Cecil Wert, Avonmore and Sam J. McLeod, Martintown; were returned to office. Mr. McLeod was elected president and Mr. Wert, vice-president, at the directors meeting held subsequently.

Retiring President Alex McNaughton of Bainsville, chaired Saturday's annual.

Caisse Populaire assets again up by more than a million

For the second year in a row, assets at the Caisse Populaire in Alexandria have increased by over a million dollars. This year the assets total $3,783,125 an increase of $1,245,265 over last year. In 1972 the assets had almost doubled the previous year with a $1,100,000 increase. Six years ago the company operated on less than half a million.

Jean Marc Viau, manager of the local Caisse, feels the new building was a big factor in the upsurge. This along with the banking hours—43 a week open to the public—as well as free services on cheques and utility accounts may also account for the expansion, he suggests.

At the annual meeting held Friday night in Sacred Heart Parish Hall the name of the business was changed to Caisse Populaire d'Alexandria Limitee from Caisse Populaire du Sacre Coeur Limitee.

A new by-law also states that "No Loan shall be more than $10,000 in excess of the member's savings unless secured by a first mortgage of real estate and in no case shall the total amount on loan to any member at any time exceed $30,000. The maximum amount to be loaned to any one member on the security of a mortgage shall not exceed $20,000."

The building has been improved by the installation of an air conditioner, new drapes and a stereo. Another employee has joined the staff bringing the total personnel to seven.

Archie McDougall heads Lions July 1st organization

Discussion on plans for the July 1st park opening celebration took up much of the meeting of Alexandria Lions Club, Monday night. Archie McDougall will be general chairman of the event and he chaired the discussion.

It was decided the main celebration will be on Monday, July 1st, but some activities may also be held on the preceding Saturday or Sunday. There was general discussion on what form the celebration will take and most members felt the parade and fireworks displays should be continued, though there should be more emphasis on entertainment features on the park. A midway for the kiddies was one suggestion to be followed up.

A five-member cabinet was named to co-ordinate planning with Chairman Archie, Doug. Baxter, John Cormier, Paul Roy, Rolland Lalonde, Rannie MacDonald. Another committee appointed to contact other local groups wishing to participate is made up of Ernie Gallant, Jacques Trottier, John Cormier, Ron Poulin.

Paul Roy will be in charge of the parade, Jean Larocque and Wally Hope will head the $5,000 draw and Michel Depratto will organize sports events. Other committee chairmen will be added as the organization develops.

Deputy District Governor Nelson Hawn and other members of Kemptville Lions Club were welcomed by President Jacques Joly.

Buys business

Henri Giroux of Green Valley, on March 1st takes possession of the plumbing and heating business of Rene Rozon at Williamstown, which he has purchased. Mr. Giroux will continue to live at Green Valley while conducting the new business with assistance of his son.

A veteran of World War II, Henry Maheu died at his home in Orleans last Saturday, following a few months' illness.

Successful year reviewed at annual meeting Maxville Manor

The seventh annual meeting of the corporation of Maxville Manor was held in the Manor auditorium with a good attendance of voting members and supporters.

Hubert Quart, president of the board of directors, expressed their official thanks to all those "who look after our family of 150 people." The minutes of last year's annual were read by Mrs. Verna MacGregor. The financial report was read by the auditors James MacKillican and Associates of Renfrew. Quite remarkable was the fact that over $8,000 had been received in unsolicited and voluntary donations through the year, for which the management is grateful.

According to by-law the corporation requires 12 supporting groups or organizations. Owing to the dissolution of the Maxville Chamber of Commerce there are at present only 11 and one more will be chosen and appointed as replacement with the required five directors.

The 1974 list of directors was read, Maxville United Church—Gordon Winter; Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Duncan N. MacRae; St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Donald A. Cumming; St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church, Erwin Shields; St. James Roman Catholic Church, Lionel Villeneuve; Kenyon Agricultural Society. Keith Franklin; Maxville Lions' Club, Douglas Nevin; Maxville Village Council, Hubert Quart; John Williams; Roxborough Township Council, George Crites and Kenyon Township Council, Norman MacLeod.

On the board of management are D. N. MacRae, Keith C. Franklin, Lionel Villeneuve, John Y. Williams and Leonard MacIntosh (United Counties).

A detailed medical report was given by Dr. Theo Jaggassar. There were 85 hospital admissions through the year, and 33 deaths, 17 in hospital, 16 in the Manor. Six were discharged, and three of these re-admitted. There were 37 new admissions in the year, including the three re-admissions.

He remarked on the fact that the costs of drugs had not risen over last year. Emergency care is always provided by himself and other area doctors and cases are referred to area hospitals. Post-surgical patients are now being discharged back to the Manor much earlier than before, due to the general shortage of hospital beds. Nursing services were improved over last year, with a registered nurse now in charge of every shift.

Mrs. C. B. McDermid gave the Auxiliary's fifth annual report. Although there are 220 paid up members, the average attendance at auxiliary meetings is ten. And through the year this small group managed to staff the tuck shop every day, provide knitting for sale, run the winter euchres, stage the Mother's Day tea, and arrange an exchange visit with the Cornwall Lodge. Purchases through the year included 3 paintings, mirrors, sanitary equipment and a floor polisher and there was $3,000 on hand at the end of December. Past-president is Marian Hartamis, president is Mrs. Vera MacEwen and secretary Mrs. Doris Blaney.

The crafts report was read by Mrs. Beulah Quart in the absence of Mrs. Hilda MacLean. There are 30 residents presently working in the craftroom. Sales continue to average $200 a month, with a total last year of $2500. Forty percent of this goes to the residents, the balance for more supplies and a fund. This fund was used to purchase a TV, some paintings, and provide a bus trip to Hemmingford Zoo.

The residents did very well with their entries in the competition at Maxville Fair, they got 17 firsts, 10 seconds, and three thirds. A program of instruction in crafts for senior citizens had been arranged for 20 weeks through the winter under the supervision of St. Lawrence College, Cornwall. Four

Hospitals in Cornwall have received full accreditation

Carl Donihee, Chairman of the Board, of the Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph, has announced that both Macdonell Memorial Hospital and the Hotel Dieu Hospital had received full accreditation from the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation.

The Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation conducts voluntary appraisals of member hospitals, since 1958. The council is sponsored by the Canadian Hospital Association, the Canadian Medical Association, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, l'Association des Medicins de Langue Francaise du Canada, and the Canadian Nurses' Association.

Two categories of accreditation are available, a full or provisional. A provisional accreditation requires another inspection the following year, and a full accreditation is valid for three years.

Mr. Donihee continued, "We are very pleased that our two hospitals have received a full accreditation. While the certificate of accreditation is a matter of satisfaction and fulfillment, its first importance is evidence and assurance to the citizens of Glengarry of a successful effort to offer a high quality of service an optimum quality of care. "It demonstrates that the entire staff of Macdonell Memorial and the Hotel Dieu have accepted outside voluntary appraisal and have substantially met or exceeded standards which have national and international approval.

I am certain that both Sister A. Mantle, Administrator of the Macdonell Memorial and Sister M. L. Murphy, administrator of the Hotel Dieu, will display their certificate with a pride of achievement. Macdonell Memorial Hospital is a chronic care hospital with 120 beds and a staff of 160. The Hotel Dieu Hospital is an acute active treatment hospital with 238 beds and a staff of 516.

New manager appointed for Bell's area office at Cornwall

Bell Canada announces the appointment of Ray Jette as manager of the company's Cornwall office. Mr. Jette succeeds Ken Menard who has been transferred to the training development group in Montreal.

Born in Ottawa in 1940, Mr. Jette completed his secondary school at the Academie de La-Salle and studied at the University of Ottawa.

He joined Bell Canada's commercial department in Cornwall, in November 1961 as a service representative. In 1963, he married a local girl, the former Huguette Leger.

Shortly thereafter, Mr. Jette was transferred to Ottawa as assistant manager. Four years later, he was appointed manager and at one time or another, was responsible for the service order writing group, the business office for Western Quebec subscribers and one of Ottawa's business offices.

Prior to his new appointment, Mr. Jette has been working with the management training group in Montreal.

Mrs. Jette and their two children, Lynne, 3 and Pierre, 5 will be moving to Cornwall in early summer.

Bell's Cornwall office serves the following exchanges: Alexandria, Avonmore, Chesterville, Glen Robertson, Ingleside, Lancaster, Long Sault, Martintown, Maxville, Morrisburg, St. Isidore de Prescott, St. Regis (Quebec), Williamsburg, Winchester and Cornwall.

Company of Young Canadians to have office in area

Local pressures and a study of the needs of south eastern Ontario in terms of community development have led the Company of Young Canadians to open a regional office in Plantagenet. This new regional office will serve the counties of Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell.

Established in 1966 as a crown corporation, the Company of Young Canadians is a collection of full-time workers involved with community groups who are initiating and promoting social action and who are attempting to determine their own growth and future. Volunteers receive a living allowance from the CYC but are chosen by and responsible to the community groups who requested CYC support.

Thus human resources rather than financial assistance are provided to community groups who seek CYC support.

Groups that would like to submit a project to the CYC must contact the local field staff, Mr. Roch Tasse, at Box 252, Plantagenet, Ontario, or by calling 673-5977.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve were Brian Villeneuve of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Villeneuve and family of Hawkesbury.

The World Day of Prayer service will be held in Saint James Roman Catholic Church in Maxville on Friday, March 1, at 8 p.m. Members from six local churches will be taking part in this ecumenical service and all congregations are invited to attend.

Mrs. R. Ramsbottom of Merrickville, is spending some time visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ramsbottom and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Campbell of Cardinal, spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blaney.

Bruce McDonald is presently a patient in the Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

The service at St. Michael's Anglican Church for this the 1st Sunday in Lent will be Holy Communion at 9 a.m.

Don't miss the present display in the windows of the Maxville Public Library—Furs and Traps by Angus MacRae. These include samples of traps used—longspring, jumptraps, and the conibar humane traps—and a variety of stretched skins. There are two mink, two very large coons, two small muskrats, a beautiful red fox pelt, and a stuffed beaver in the north window. In the south window is a dried beaver skin, and one very large "blanket size" pinned to its board. There are also two wolf pelts, one very large, that were shot near the village. All of these are local game animals, and the display will remain until next week.

The euchre party at the Maxville Manor last Wednesday was convened by Mrs. William Michaud and Mrs. Bertha Lalonde. First Lady, Mrs. Kenzie McQuaig; second lady, Mrs. Bertha Lalonde; consolation, Mrs. Lucy Robinson. First Man, Herbert O'Byrne; second man, Sinclair Seek; consolation, Jerry Guindon. The door prize went to Mrs. Wilfred Doth. Mrs. Gordon Winter will convene the next euchre on Wednesday, March 6. Prizes and tickets in charge of Mrs. Grace Doth.

A full complement of 16 teams, representing 12 fire departments, turned out on Saturday for the annual Firemen's Bonspiel. First in the two-game winners was Winchester, taking the Molson trophy and awards. Second was Moose Creek who won the Mutual Aid trophy newly donated this year. Third was Maxville with a rink of junior firefighters skipped by Stephen Henderson. Among the one-game winners Morewood was tops and in their first year of curling, too. Second was Crysler, and third, Avonmore. After the games the gathering enjoyed a buffet supper and an evening of dancing.

The Lions' annual winter carnival is coming up soon—the evening of March 8th, Friday—at the Maxville arena. Be getting a good costume ready—there is the parade, and prizes for comical, true-to-life, and fairyland. Age groups for the races—under 8, 10, 12 and 14. There will also be a figure skating display.

Mrs. John Jamieson is visiting for two weeks with her sister, Miss Hughena Christie, at Oakville. While there they will visit friends at Windsor and Detroit.

UNIT 2, UCW MET

Twenty-seven members of Maxville UCW II met at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Willis, Feb. 5th at 8 p.m. when Mrs. Jean Metcalfe presided along with Group I.

Following opening devotions, Mrs. Myrtle McDermid reviewed articles from the 'Observers', and Mrs. Evelyn Willis read from scriptures. Mrs. Wilma Nevin led the bible lesson and Mrs. Metcalfe closed in prayer. Mrs. Lorna Winter played a tape recording of an address given by the Reverend Wilbert Howard at the Montreal-Ottawa Conference held at Lennoxville last summer.

The study book entitled 'Mission Impossible Unless' was introduced by Mrs. Grace McDermid. The question was asked, "What are we doing to serve God and man, and are we part of the new excitement spreading through the church?" Mrs. Metcalfe thanked Mrs. Willis for having this meeting in her home.

Business was under the direction of Mrs. Grace McDermid and discussion followed on events coming up through the year. The World Day of Prayer in Maxville will be in St. James Church on March 1st. Our next Unit II meeting will be March 5th with Mrs. Christena Munro presiding with Group II. The date of the Thankoffering meeting was tentatively set as April 10th and it will take the place of the regular April meeting. The speaker at that time will be Miss Ada McEwen who will tell of her work in the VON. Ladies of all the Maxville churches are cordially invited. Each member will be expected to bring someone with her.

Expressions of thanks were still being received for Christmas boxes and the visitation record very favorably showed our fellowship. A social hour followed with lunch served by Group I.

FIRST RECIPIENT OF NEW TROPHY—A new trophy presented to Alexandria Branch 423 of the Canadian Legion by the Reid brothers, Jack, Andy and George was presented at the Legion Clubrooms, Thursday, Feb. 21st, to Bonnie MacLeod of Lancaster by Jack Reid. Looking on is Legion President Florian Lecuyer and Bonnie's former Phys Ed teacher at GDHS, Mrs. Stanley Fraser. The trophy is to be given annually to the outstanding track and field star at the local high school. In her senior year at GDHS Bonnie set three records in the Interscholastic 11 school track and field meet—in long jump, triple jump and 440 metre run. At the Legion meet in Cornwall featuring 18 schools she set a new record in the long jump and at the EOSSA meet set a new record for Eastern Ontario in the triple jump. Here also came second in the 400 metre race which enabled her to compete in the Ontario Federation of Secondary School Athletic Association meet which features only the top high school athletes in the province. Bonnie is currently a student at Ottawa University, majoring in Phys. Ed. naturally!

teachers were having classes in ceramics, sewing, knitting and leatherwork for 65 residents and village citizens. A tea and display is planned for April.

Mrs. Kowalski gave the adjutant report, with between 28 and 32 residents receiving care, including 12 special cases. Morning exercises are always part of the routine, and the special equipment for exercising is giving excellent service. Bingo and card games are held and she was grateful for the help of Mrs. Alma Umphrey with this. If another such volunteer could be found a musical program would be added to the course of therapy.

The Manor library is in its fourth year of operation, under the direction of Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Umphrey. Circulation averages 100 books a week, and goes as high as 150, one-third of which is non-fiction. There are books in French, in large print, and adequate donations of paper backs and magazines.

The administrator's report was given by Allan C. Vallance, who began by thanking the corporation for giving him the opportunity of starting a second career. The Manor operates almost at capacity with 150 residents. The oldest is 99, the youngest 38. There are 85 ladies whose average age is 83, and 63 men whose average age is 75. They come from all over, the nearby village and as far away as Sudbury. There are 74 from Glengarry, 27 from Maxville, 15 from Alexandria, 8 from Dunvegan, 24 from Prescott-Russell and 10 from Cornwall.

There were 167 people employed at the Manor throughout the year, 65 full time, and the rest part-time, for a total payroll over $400,000. These come from all round the counties, 52 from Maxville district and their share of the annual payroll is $160,000. $123,000 goes into the township of Kenyon, the Manor remains the main industry in this area. There is a sizeable grocery bill of $67,000 also.

The annual lawn social staged by the staff was a great success and netted over $1,000. Mr. Vallance remarked that the type of resident in homes like the Manor is changing all over Ontario, from normal care to far more special and bed care. With higher pensions and special apartments elderly and fit persons can remain in their communities much longer than before.

John A. MacLennan brought greetings from Kenyon Township Council, and Hector Bazinet from Roxborough. The meeting adjourned, and the gathering enjoyed a lunch provided by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

Embrun humiliates Glens on eve of play offs

On Saturday the Glens ended their regular season schedule playing host to the Embrun 72's at the Community Centre. At the end of the game the local club was presented with the Winchester Press trophy, emblematic of north division supremacy, however the 72's put a damper on celebrations as they handed the Glens a convincing 6-2 setback. The loss was Alexandria's sixth of the season and the first on home ice.

The first period saw both clubs skating and shooting well but some fine goaltending for both teams kept the scoreboard in darkness.

Claude Roy scored his 23rd and 24th goals of the season in the second period and the Glens went into the final frame with a 2-0 lead.

In the final period Ken McDonald's charges appeared played-out as the better conditioned 72's outshot, outskated and outhustled them for the entire 20 minutes scoring six unanswered goals in the process.

Pete Patenaude had two goals for Embrun while singles were added by Norm and Steve Villeneuve, Greg Moore and Richard Richer.

Referee Bud Grant handed out 42 minutes in penalties with the Glens accounting for 27 of these.

Two things were evident in Saturday's contest, the first was the fact that a few Glens players are not performing to their full ability and secondly, several of the local boys have a knack for picking up costly, unnecessary penalties. If the team is entertaining any thought of winning the Gill trophy these two problems will have to be ironed out immediately.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27th, the Glens open their quarter final series at home against the Winchester Hawks. Friday, the 1st of March they travel to Winchester for the 2nd game and the 3rd game will be played at the Alexandria Community Centre on Saturday, March 2nd. Game time in all three contests is 8.30 p.m.

Three overtime games in one night of broomball play offs

Overtime was required in all three games of the Border broomball league playoffs Thursday night of last week.

Alexandria eked out a 1-0 victory over Lochiel to take a 2-0 lead in that series. North Lancaster emerged victorious over Glen Robertson to even that series at 1-1. In the consolation series Glengarry won 1-0 over Martintown to even up that round at 1-1.

Opening games of the playoffs had seen Alexandria win 4-2 in the best of five series; Glen Robertson win 3-0 over North Lancaster and Martintown 2-1 over Glengarry.

Martintown Rumor Mill

Thank you, thank you, thank you to everybody who participated in our first winter carnival. Every event, from the official opening by Reeve Adrian Gadbois on Friday, to the community church service on Sunday evening, was a success.

Friday night in the Martintown Park, Reeve Gadbois began the weekend festivities by leading a torchlight parade and lighting a bonfire. Remi Aubin had some guaranteed firestarter which assured a blaze on that drizzly night. Don Ross and Arthur Buckland welcomed the crowd and invited them to attend all activities. United Church Reverend Edwin MacDonald, attired in lumberjack costume, gave a short prayer. A spectacular fireworks display accompanied the other official opening events.

The Carnival Queen Pageant, organized by Martintown Recreation Committee members Carol Ross and Shirley MacDonald, was a tremendous success.

Six talented candidates were entered: Jose Van Rooi, Iris MacDonald, Diane Kitchen, Ann Kitts, Diane Lalonde and Bonnie Hamilton. The young ladies were judged by Tom Bukovich, St. Lawrence College Coordinator, Mrs. Lynne Francis, Ecumenical Choir leader and Stephen Gill, writer.

The judges based their extremely difficult decision on personality, appearance, talent and deportment. Miss Iris MacDonald (UCW, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacDonald was chosen Queen for Carnival '74, with Miss Bonnie Hamilton (Hort. Soc) and Miss Diane Lalonde (Youth), as Princesses. Miss MacDonald recited a soliloquy from Shakespeare's drama, Romeo and Juliet. In answer to an impromptu question about improving area facilities, Miss MacDonald stated that what is

Gaels on the Warpath

Our teams at GDHS have been, to say the least, buzzing with action, spirit and a determined drive for victory.

Our junior boys' basketball team lost the two games of a total point semi-final series to Char-Lan 46-38 and 62-36.

Prior to this the juniors were defeated 35-20 by VCI.

Our senior boys' team is surging forth, expending energy and gaining victory. After losing their first game 53-50 the senior Gaels travelled to Vankleek Hill, for the second game of their total point home and home series. With 40 seconds to go in the game, Brian Filion tied the game 85-85 and with only 14 seconds remaining, Andre Depratto sank the winning basket to provide victory at 87-85. The seniors will play a two-game, total point, home and home final on Wednesday and Friday.

Congratulations are in order to Brian Filion and Herb Malcolmson, for their fine defensive work and "smiling" Luke Masson who contributed 14 points to the winning efforts.

On Feb. 16th, five students attended the Prescott-Russell wrestling tournament. David Frederick, in the 98 lb. category, and Gerald Cholette, in the 136 lb. class, obtained first places. Ronald Leblanc, in the 168 lb. category, gained second place.

In Smiths Falls, Gerald Cholette won four out of five matches in EOSSA. Congratulations.

Spirit is rising as the Students' Council is busy preparing carnival activities. Thursday will set the scene for our annual beauty pageant with the most attractive boys in the school taking part. Kevin Pelley will hand down his crown to the most deserving male.

On Friday, activities from baby bottle drinking to toilet paper pushing, oh yes, not to forget pea throwing at your fav-or-ite teacher will take place. There will be various activities at the arena, such as a hockey game with the senior boys against the men teachers. The Grade 13 girls will give the women teachers some competition in a broomball game. The afternoon will be highlighted by a free dance featuring the band "Ducettes".

Team effort and committee coordination are the ingredients that will help to make all our school endeavors successful!

Life award Mrs Baxter

Mrs. Douglas J. Baxter, past president of the UCW of the Church on the Hill was presented with a life membership of the United Church Women at the February meeting.

Mrs. Baxter has given countless hours of dedicated service to the church, said Mrs. J. Y. Humphries who presented her with a pin and certificate. Mrs. Humphries reminisced about many undertakings Carol organized or assisted with during her tenure.

Mrs. Baxter was president for nine years, although not all consecutive years. She has been succeeded by Mrs. Elizabeth Clingen.

Miss Helen Marshall, 4th of Kenyon, dairy fieldwoman for the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, gave a fascinating travelogue of her recent visit to New Zealand with refueling stops at Honolulu and Fiji. Her talk was highlighted with colored slides and crafts made in New Zealand.

The parable of the talents was the theme taken for the worship service led by Mrs. Grant Cameron assisted by Mrs. J. J. MacMillan. The hymn "We Give Thee But Thine Own" emphasized the thematic material.

Hostesses were Mrs. Alistair McKenzie, Mrs. Clingen and Mrs. Baxter.

Fine talent

ances captured high appeal in the audience. Her prepared speech was humorous and intelligent on baby sitters from the point of view of the baby. Her self prepared skit as the overwrought housewife and mother who found relief in the nostalgic rendition of "Those were the Days my Friend", was highly entertaining. "Yes, there is room for God in today's hectic life she replied to her question. We all need someone higher than ourselves to depend on."

Sponsored by Georges Lanthier et Fils, Jennifer Wray was genuine in her speech on the importance of friends, "those people who think of you when everyone else is thinking of themselves". Her pantomime to recorded music and interpretive ballet to the music of "Aquarius" showed definite promise as a future entertainer. Her answer to the question "Do you think students should have the right to strike" also showed character. School children have to put up with a lot of things they don't like and trust it is for their own good.

Elizabeth Rothgeb, the entry sponsored by Alexandria Pizzeria spoke with deep sincerity on a dying tradition in the passing of the family farm. She lamented the loss of hospitality found in the old farm kitchens and leaning on the line fence to talk to the neighbors. Her talent was an excellent portrayal of Snoopy on his familiar dog house, as she fought off the Red Baron in her aeroplane and sneered at the cats with mimicry calling for great versatility. She hadn't many suggestions ready for the Women's Lib movement, didn't think they were very necessary.

Cathy MacKinnon was voted "Miss Congeniality" by the candidates.

The night's arrangements were under the management of Aime Marcoux, a gigantic job as the auditorium was packed to the doors. Rene Gauthier was his usual capable self as he handled the chairmanship throughout the evening.

Several tickets were drawn for free passes to the Old Timers hockey game and the stereo was won by Hugh Maville, North Lancaster.

CWL to adopt Peru child

The February meeting of St Finnan's CWL was held at the home of Mrs. Inez McPherson on Feb. 14th.

Mrs. Millie Reid gave the spiritual reading. A letter of appreciation from the Christopher leaders was read by the secretary, Mrs. Sandra McDonald. Mrs. Reid thanked the members for the used stamps collected and sent to Scarboro Missions and asked members to save old jewellery, eye-glass frames, etc., as these also could be used by the Missions.

Mrs. Cameron McCormick, convener of Family Life, discussed possible changes in the religion text-books currently being used.

Mrs. Enid MacDonald, Social. Economic and Civic convener discussed current problems and the necessity of getting involved for the good of the community. She stated that she had sent 42 cards in December to the sick and shut-ins.

The World Day of Prayer was explained by Mrs. Alex McHugh, convener of Church Life. It will be held at the Church on the Hill at 7.30 p.m. Friday evening, March 1st. Guest speaker will be Miss Mildred Cleary, Cornwall. Rehearsal will be held on Thursday, Feb. 28th, at the Church on the Hill, at 7.30 p.m.

It was decided to adopt a child in Peru at the cost of $120 for one year. Sister Marion Powers would be asked to make the necessary arrangements.

The president, Mrs. Sandra Lawson, announced that a meeting, dealing with Church Life would be held at Glen Walter on March 6th. It was decided to continue the series of card parties during March, in order to raise funds. A box of chocolates, donated by Father Leo MacDonell, was raffled in aid of Peace and Development and was won by Miss Millie MacIntosh.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Martintown . .

needed is a community building which would serve young and old. Miss MacDonald was presented with a bouquet by Reeve Gadbois who remarked that all his tasks were not unpleasant. He then kissed the winners.

The carnival queen also received a $20 gift certificate, a necklace and a beautiful multi-band radio. Each girl received a gift from generous Cornwall merchants. The crown and capes were loaned by Blessed Sacrament Church.

The school gym was full to see this event. Reeve Gadbois praised the initiative, inventiveness and the hard work of the committee.

The Martintown band also appeared and made a successful debut. Mc was Arthur Buckland.

Saturday, because of that raw wind, all events except the dance at the college were cancelled. About 300 people enjoyed the music of the Pigeon Family at St. Lawrence College. A fine lunch made by that good looking, hard working MRC Sec. Carol Ross, and other Martintown ladies, was served. Barrie McIntyre served capably at the bar with Tucker.

Sunday was the big day. An excellent parade was held with 13 fine floats.

First prize of $15 went to the Martintown Women's Institute Float for their winter theme; second prize was won by Martintown Public School for an imaginative Heart of Winter scene, $10. The $5 third prize was the Separate School Sacre Coeur floa,t, Les Pioneers. The judges were Mrs. Stewart Fourney, Ken Barton, Hugh Munro and Reeve Adrian Gadbois.

Events got into full swing in the afternoon. Reeve Gadbois, who was an enthusiastic participant, said he was very pleased and proud with the involvement of the area people in the winter carnival. The reeve officially opened the "Toll Bridge" over the Raisin River. The Carnival Queen, Iris MacDonald and Princesses, Bonnie Hamilton and Miss Diane Lalonde, operated the toll bridge with help from other lovely area ladies, even two from Cornwall.

The bean lunch served by those wonderful Martintown area women was very successful. Over 100 meals were served. Miss Charlynn MacDonald effectively organized this event.

The snowmobile races were run over an exciting course on the river and over Mr. Van Loon's field. Mel Thompson, pulled muscle and all, and Remi Aubin handled this event.

In the amateur fun events, the highlight was the world championship pulpwood toss. Henry Kinloch, that towering lad from Martintown, watched all the other competitors toss, then he stepped up and tossed the pulpwood 15 feet 2 inches for a world record. Second was Emile Tyo, 14 feet 3 inches, third Robin Thomson, 13 feet 2 inches, fourth Lloyd Hamilton 12 feet one inch and fifth Ken Barton 11 feet 11 inches. Arthur Buckland held the world record briefly, just until the second competitor. Gordy Taillon selected extra heavy hickory logs from his bush for this event.

The log sawing with the two man, sometimes two woman, cross-cut saw, was another popular event. Tweive teams in all competed. Chairman Don Ross and Mel Thompson wanted to enter but we did not have a calendar to time them. Women's division—first Carol Riley and Leola Aubin, second Bernice Fourney and Leona Aubin, third Yvonne Evans and Marion McCuaig. Men's division, Ken Barton and Jack Kitchen, John and Jack Kitchen (father and son), Bruce and Don McCuaig (father and son).

Ontario CONSUMER BUY-LINE

There are no bargains in driveway paving

Ontario's Consumer Protection Bureau receives many complaints about residential driveway paving. Fly-by-night contractors appear every spring, offering to asphalt or resurface driveways at ridiculously low prices. Their usual ploy is that they "just happened to be in the area and we have some orders from your neighbors so we can give you a good deal if we do your driveway now." Be suspicious of this type of operator.

Despite repeated warnings, many consumers do business with contractors who do not even have an address. Anyone can rent equipment and slap down a thin covering of asphalt. When the driveway cracks and weeds start growing through it soon after the job is completed, these hucksters cannot be found so nothing can be done to have repairs made.

Choosing a Contractor

There are no bargains in driveway paving. You only get what you pay for. Paving is a major undertaking that involves expensive supplies and equipment. A first-class paving job should last at least 10 years with routine care.

Your best bet when considering either resurfacing or paving your driveway for the first time is to get three estimates from reputable contractors.

Ask the contractor for the names of three people in your area with whom he has done business. If possible, look at their driveways and ask if they are satisfied.

Don't haggle or cut corners on the quoted price. A contractor may cut his price, but he will also reduce the amount of material he supplies. Thus, a lower price will affect the quality of the work.

Make sure that all quotes include everything you want and list the types of materials to be used and the method of construction. Be especially careful if you have a drainage problem. Once you have three estimates in writing, telephone the Consumer Protection Bureau to ensure that the contractor is duly registered under the provisions of The Consumer Protection Act. The Bureau will be able to indicate whether the company has been the subject of consumer complaints.

Three Driveway Types

There are basically three types of driveway paving jobs:

1. An adequate first paving requires a six-inch excavation which is then filled with crushed and compacted limestone to a depth of four inches. To this, two inches of compacted asphalt is added.
2. For a severely cracked older driveway, a good job requires that the old asphalt be completely removed before backfilling with four inches of compacted crushed limestone. After this, two inches of compacted asphalt is added.
3. For a re-capping job, where minor cracks have appeared, a layer of asphalt over the original driveway is sufficient.

The Contract

Before signing any residential paving contract remember:

- Never sign a blank contract. This amounts to signing a blank cheque.
- Make sure the contract includes full details and specifications of the job to be done.
- Read and understand all terms and conditions before signing.
- Make sure all verbal agreements are written into the contract. (Verbal agreements rarely stand up in court.)
- Delete any terms in the contract you find unacceptable and make sure that both parties initial the change.
- Get a firm date for completion of the work.
- If there are still unacceptable conditions or terms, don't sign. Learn how to say, "NO."
- Make sure the contractor's name and address are included in the contract.
- Never pay more than ten percent of the total cost as a downpayment.
- Don't be fooled with the offer of a lengthy guarantee. A guarantee is only good for as long as the company remains in business.

Dairy price hikes likely as subsidy programs to end

Consumers can expect a hefty round of price increases for dairy products during the year, say agriculture sources at Ottawa.

They indicate that federal authorities are planning to allow industrial milk price increases worth roughly $220 million, or about $2 a hundredweight, when the annual dairy policy is announced March 31st.

In 1973, price rises for both fluid and manufacturing milk products — cheese, butter and powder — were partially offset by heavy government subsidies.

But Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan has indicated in a number of recent speeches that dairy subsidies, now worth more than $200 million a year, are high enough.

"This time the consumer will have to bear the burden," he told groups in Ontario and Saskatoon earlier last week.

Programs End

There are indications that consumers not only will be faced with higher costs as a result of government-endorsed price increases. They also may be expected to fill the price gap when two federal subsidy programs end this year.

One, a "temporary" program introduced last August 1st that guaranteed dairy farmers an extra $1 for each hundred pounds of manufacturering milk sold, ends March 31st.

The other, a one-year, five-cent-a-quart subsidy paid to provincial milk sellers who promised to maintain or lower milk prices, terminates next fall.

The subsidy program to end at the end of next month was billed by Whelan last July as a "temporary subsidy which will assist farmers in meeting extraordinary costs they are currently facing." A wet spring last year and unusually high feed grain and protein prices led to the increase, he said.

That program guaranteed dairy farmers an extra direct subsidy of 56 cents for each 100 pounds of manufacturing milk, raising the full direct subsidy to farmers to $2.01 a hundredweight.

All told, such subsidies cost taxpayers more than $18 million a month.

This year, the dairy industry is asking for increases in payments and subsidies amounting to $2 for every hundred pounds of milk sold. Farmers now receive between $5 and $5.50 a hundredweight, plus roughly $2 in subsidies if they are eligible under the formula.

Sources say that roughly $1.50 of the anticipated increases will benefit farmers directly and that the remaining 50 cents a hundredweight will probably go to the processing industry.

Whelan says that federal subsidies are currently keeping dairy farmers in business and are preventing demand for products from falling out. Without them, consumers probably would be paying $1 a pound for butter.

While he says that consumers will bear the brunt of increases this year, he cautions the industry to keep demands moderate.

Glen Robertson resident died

A longtime resident of Glen Robertson, Mrs. Philias Lanthier died in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, on Jan. 17th. She was 82.

Mrs. Lanthier was the former Herminie Sabourin of St. Redempteur.

Predeceased by her husband, she is survived by two sons and two daughters: Armand and Jean-Paul Lanthier of Glen Robertson; Laurette, Mrs. Duncan Titley of Alexandria, Lucienne, Mrs. Maurice Brunet of Montreal.

Three sisters also survive: Mrs. Theodule Ranger and Mrs. Ubald Seguin of Hull; Mrs. Emile Boivin, Montreal.

The funeral was held Jan. 19th from the Aime Marcoux Funeral Home here to St. Martin of Tours Church and cemetery. Rev. Maurice Lariviere offered the mass.

The pallbearers were Henri and Jacques Titley, Charles and Guy Lanthier, Jean Claude d'Amour and Philias Paquin.

Tight seed supply predicted

"There have been some major changes in the seed grain situation this year," says W. D. Taylor, a specialist with the soil and crops Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. "The Seeds Act has been changed, prices are higher, supplies are short, and farmers generally are going to have to do more planning for their requirements."

One of the most significant changes has been made in seed labeling. Starting in the 1974 season, only the seed of pedigreed classes-Foundation, Registered or Certified—will be sold as named varieties.

"This will mean that only seed from the crop that has been grown from pedigreed seed and inspected in the field by a Plant Products Division inspector can be offered for sale with the variety name on the tags," Taylor explains.

In the past any seed of wheat, oats or barley that could meet the standards for germination and freedom from weeds could be sold as Canada No. 1 or No. 2 and have a variety name stated on the seed tag. Cereal seed will now have to be grown and handled as seed rather than using good lots of feed grain as seed when there is a price advantage.

A second major change affecting seed supplies is the alltime high prices on the feed grain markets. Prices at harvest and during fall may have tempted some growers to sell on the feed market rather than gamble on a higher price for seed in the spring.

"Attractive prices for corn, soybeans and white beans have been responsible for a 10 percent decline in the 1973 acreage planted with Registered seed of oats or barley," says Taylor. "It is the crop grown from Registered seed that produces the Certified seed sold by the dealers."

In the past, Ontario seed shortages have been covered by supplies from western Canada. However, the good feed grain markets and the fact that many of the western varieties are not recommended in Ontario have reduced this source of supply. Some dealers are already reporting shortage of the more popular varieties and some farmers may have to settle for their second or third choice. It is doubtful if any treated seed will be available later in the season, except on a special order.

Supplies of forage seeds will be in the same situation of shortage and much higher prices. Due to the current price structure, dealers cannot be expected to carry stocks for late orders.

Changes in the 1974 seed picture mean that supplies may be completely exhausted by seeding time. Farmers should start thinking about seed requirements now and place orders without delay.

Public lottery Ontario studied

Ontario is studying the possibility of a provincial lottery, but it is far from being a priority project, Russell Cooper said last week at Toronto.

Mr. Cooper is executive assistant to John Clement, minister of consumer and commercial relations.

He was commenting on a report submitted to Mr. Clement last December by the government's lotteries branch. It suggested Ontario set up a lottery, mainly because privately run lotteries spend too large a proportion of the money they raise on administration.

Mr. Cooper said the lotteries branch report is being studied, but many factors have to be considered before a policy can be drawn.

Since the Criminal Code was amended in 1969 to allow lotteries, a number of sponsoring organizations have found it increasingly difficult to make them pay.

Look To Quebec

The disillusionment of private sponsors and the success of Quebec's provincially run lotteries has put pressure on Ontario to try its luck with lotteries.

The report, by Ernest Fisher, director of the ministry's lottery branch, says the province initially might net at least $1 million a week.

Mr. Clement said introduction of a provincial lottery needs much thought, and, in any case, would not be likely before the end of the Oylmpic lotteries in 1976.

The report says that private province-wide lotteries spend about half their take on administration, one-quarter for prizes and the rest for various causes.

However, it says the thousands of smaller lotteries that support local and area undertakings operate efficiently with volunteer help.

Mrs Phillips died at 60

The death occurred of Mrs. Frank Phillips, at Glengarry Memorial Hospital, on Feb. 16th.

Mrs. Phillips was the former Bathia Ross. She was born at Curry Hill on Oct. 6th, 1891, a daughter of the late John Ross and his wife, Katherine MacLean.

On December 22nd, 1920, she married Frank Phillips who predeceased her in May 1970.

To mourn her loss she leaves one daughter Kathleen of Dunvegan, two nieces, Mrs. Robert Brown (Katie) of Kimberley, BC; Mrs. Frank Butala (Edith) Fernie, BC, and two nephews, John R. Cutt, Kingston and Nelson Phillips, London.

The funeral was held from the Munro Funeral Home, Maxville, to Kenyon Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, February 19th, at 2 p.m. The service was conducted by Rev. John MacKechnie. Two of Mrs. Phillips favorite hymns were sung.

Pallbearers were D. R. Campbell, D. D. MacKinnon, D. N. MacLeod, Norman M. MacLeod, (Glen), Murdie Campbell and John Carpenter.

Interment, Dunvegan cemetery.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

It's carnival time

There has been considerable criticism over recent years of the lack of imagination shown in staging of the July 1st park opening program here. The format was too stereotyped with little or no change from year to year, it was felt, and there was an almost total lack of entertainment.

Members of the Park and Recreation Committee, who sponsored the day, were the first to admit there was room for improvement and diversification. The work of organizing was in too few hands, they argued, and as a result the same program was being arranged as a last-ditch effort year after year. So the decision to ask the Lions Club to take over sponsorship of the event.

Even now club members are dreaming up attractions, planning an entirely new format that could cover more than one day on the July 1st weekend. It is probable every sector of the community will be invited to help stage an event all can take pride in.

But that is something for the near future. Right now we are in the middle of carnival time. The sponsoring Richelieu Club was served up a bad bit of weather that spoiled plans for the Saturday opening parade. Plans have been altered and the carnival continues. Let's all get into the carnival spirit.

Early settlement wanted

It is to be hoped the strike of Lanthier Bakery employees will have been settled before these lines are read. No one gains from a long drawn out strike and the employees will no doubt find it difficult to make ends meet on the strike allowance allotted them by their union should the walk-out continue overly long.

It is not our intention to intervene either on the side of union or management. As Plant Manager Claude Lanthier so aptly put it, a strike must be settled at the negotiation table and not in the public press.

It remains a fact, though, that we the people, as consumers, are affected by every strike and so have a stake in their settlement. Higher payrolls can only be met by higher prices for goods or services and so the demands of organized labor add to the inflationary pressures at a time when steadily rising costs of living demand higher wage rates if only to keep up with inflation.

It is a vicious circle and the federal government does nothing to even try to slow the spiralling inflation. Introduction of the new plan in "indexing" income tax payments suggests Ottawa is resigned to the fact inflation is here to stay.

Canada will probably be plagued by a succession of strikes this year as organized labor moves to keep up with rising prices. It is to be hoped an agreement satisfactory to both sides will soon be reached in the local wage dispute. The Lanthier payroll would be missed on the local economy.

Horsepower should be limited

People are dying violently on our highways every day but the death of an established hockey star such as Tim Horton may have impact enough to at least start us thinking of ways to reduce the carnage.

In most traffic accidents there may be several possible factors but it seems clear speed was the primary cause of the Horton fatality, with fatigue a probable second factor. At 44, Tim Horton was well past the age when tiring legs force retirement from professional hockey ranks. He had earned star rating in the game at Toronto a few hours earlier and had stopped over for a brief visit at his home in a Toronto suburb before heading back to Buffalo in the early hours of the morning.

His sports car was clocked at more than 100 miles per hour by a pursuing policeman before it left the Queen Elizabeth Way near St. Catharines. He was thrown from the car as it flipped over several times and he died of multiple injuries.

Horton may have been trying to outrace the sandman as sleep threatened to catch up with him after a hard night's play; or a tight schedule might have required his presence in Buffalo at an early hour. Whatever the reason, his foot was too heavy on the gas pedal and his expensive sports car got out of control and carried him to unexpected death.

Similar accidents caused by excessive speed are happening all the time and they will continue to occur until there is legislation to limit the horsepower under the car's hood. Why should the auto makers be permitted to build cars capable of 120 miles per hour when the law permits only half that speed?

Speeds have been restricted even further in the United States in the interest of gas conservation and Detroit is switching over to compact cars to meet the trend toward more miles per gallon. At a time when the car buyer is showing a preference for mileage over speed and cosmetics surely the auto makers should be amenable to legislation that would reduce horsepower in the interests of safer travel conditions.

Our highways are not built for speeds even approaching 100 miles per hour. Neither should our cars.

Enough of rep. by pop.

The House of Commons could have 354 members representing constituencies rang, ing in population from 57,000 to 92,000 by year 2001 if Parliament adopts a proposal submitted last week by Privy Council President Allan MacEachen. The increase would be gradual, from the present 264 to 278 based on the 1971 census, to 296 by the 1981 census, to 324 in 1991 and to 354 at the turn of the century.

Mr. MacEachen told the Commons committee on privileges and elections that under the present system the number of MP's would only increase to 272 by the year 2001. Ontario, British Columbia and Newfoundland would get more seats under this formula while most other provinces would lose representation. An increasing proportion of members would be representing compact urban ridings while the rural constituencies get larger and more unmanageable.

Exploring five proposals, the minister favored one he termed Amalgam, a complicated system intended to balance representation by population with protection for the less populated provinces.

We doubt this could be done while adhering to the theory of representation by population and even if the new plan protected the less populated provinces there would remain the problem of shifting representation from rural to urban areas of the provinces.

If the Commons committee agrees to a new formula for redistribution of seats it will probably require an amendment to the British North America Act. That would require unanimous federal-provincial agreement and it will be an ingenious formula indeed that will appeal to all eleven governments.

We are left wondering if it is not more than time to jettison representation by population in favor of another formula more suited to conditions today. By that year 2001 when the Commons would have increased its membership by almost one hundred, more than half of the MPs would be representing our three largest cities, Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver. And those metropoli will be so huge as to be ungovernable themselves.

It is an unhappy prospect, that vision of a country governed by representatives of three chaotic cities. Let's get rid of rep. by pop.

Questionable attitude

(The Exeter Times-Journal)

With budget time approaching for most public bodies, a questionable attitude towards inflation is appearing more regularly.

It is the attitude that "we may as well buy it today, because the price will be up tomorrow". As a result, decisions are often made on the pretext that money is being saved.

The truth of the matter is, of course, that inflation has been with us for a long, long time and probably since the mid thirties it could be shown that money would have been saved if a policy of "buy today" had been implemented.

The point is, with inflation continuing the suggestion that prices will increase in the future should not be the basis for decisions.

In fact, one way that inflation will be controlled is to have people stop buying.

Hopefully, elected officials in the area will realize that decisions should not be based on what price will be paid next year, but rather whether the expenditure is required and whether the taxpayers can afford it this year.

Consideration for the point that it may be cheaper to buy now should be minimal.

Otherwise, we'll go broke "saving" money

LETTERS to the EDITOR

SEEKS BOOK

Englehart, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

In the late summer of 1942, while on leave from the RCAF at Dunvegan, I read a book on the MacNab Clan.

This book of which I have forgotten the name, dealt with the Clan MacNab coming to Canada and settling in Upper Canada above Arnprior.

I have tried to get this book through the library here with nil results and I was under the impression that this book came from a library in either Maxville or Alexandria.

I would appreciate any help from you or your readers in obtaining this book or having the loan of it for a week.

Yours truly,

WASTE OF NEWSPRINT

RR1 Alexandria, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Re "Curling a religious experience", your editorial page, Feb. 14th issue. Echoes from the Ivory Tower, St. Clair, Ave., Toronto, United Church Observer! Surgery is long overdue for the "Quotes and Comments" section —a half-page of 'trivia' and a waste of newsprint plus my subscription fees to that kaleidoscope of round-the-world-news and views. Their "Live Love" slogan got shoved aside for this 'spectacular'.

I hope that the 'Live Love' they have in mind at St. Clair Ave. is to be interpreted the Love of God that found its supreme expression in the self-sacrifice at Calvary for the world's burden of guilt. (1st John ch. 4 verse 10). All human love in its true reality is seen only in the Light of Calvary. Jesus, during His earthly ministry made it plain to unbelievers that they had not the love of God in them, and that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." To do His will is to express love for Him. He set the good example of church attendance by going to the synagogue on the Sabbath and St. Paul exhorted the Christians to "forsake not the assembling of ourselves together . . . as ye see the day approaching."

Two expressions in W. J. McKeown's theory catch the eye. "A religious exercise" he is trying, or is he? to equate Sunday curling with Sunday church going and he has neglected to say that neither will provide redemption, nor does he empasize the point in St. Paul's letter to Timothy, that scoffers, blasphemers, mockers will hold forth in the last days, "having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof." Nor does he state the by Ed.

Short and just as sweet as January was February. It's been an easy winter but we welcome March.

JUMBLE OF FIGURES

Nice to hear from friend Angus McDonald in Capreol, that the paper is improving with age. The editor intended to add a note of thanks to his letter last week, but there just wasn't room for his note so your Rambling Reporter has been delegated to thank Angus.

Seems our friend in Capreol can't make head nor tail out of "that jumble of figures under my name" on the address label so we've been delegated to put him wise. Maybe we shouldn't though, for last week's renewal paid him up two years ahead and now that he's learning what that jumble of figures stands for he'll know enough to not forward a remittance this time next year.

Those figures under your address, Angus, read Apr. 098765. That would inform you that your subscription is paid to April 1st, 1975. However your payment last week brings you to April 1976 so we wipe off that last figure 5 and your label will read Apr. 09876.

The editor thought he had explained the new label system when it was introduced a decade ago but there may be other readers who, too, will profit from this explanation. All our subscriptions are payable the first day of the month shown on your label. The last figure showing is supposed to indicate the year renewal is due.

Our labels are meant to last for years. Surprising though, how many of our readers keep changing their addresses and demanding a new label.

A ROOM FULL OF GADGETS

There are so many unneeded gadgets in the hotel rooms of the big cities these days it's no wonder you pay through the nose for a night's sleep.

The Ontario Weeklies' convention was held at Toronto's newest hotel, the Hyatt Regency, and as the editor was attending, darned if your Rambling Reporter didn't go too. We'd reserved a single room and that was $25 a night, convention rate, Wonder what the poor people pay?

Of course when you figure in all the extra gimmicks and gadgets your room boasts you may be getting a good deal—if you make use of them all.

Our single room boasted two beds and we could only use one of them at a time. Those beds boasted electric blankets but darned if we knew till we asked another editor what that gadget on the bedside table was for. Even if we'd known we wouldn't have used it cause it's a habit of ours to throw off all covers but the sheet. With or without the blanket the beds were comfy, though. We slept like a top.

It wasn't only the second bed we didn't use. The color TV set probably had a radio built in but we didn't try to turn on either. Built into the TV, too, was a small signal light we wouldn't have even noticed had it not been flashing on and off. We needed our glasses to discover it was telling us to contact the desk for a message that awaited us.

Would you believe it? Two rolls of toilet paper in your bathroom, sitting there side by side just as if there wasn't a shortage of the stuff. Or is there? We only used one.

Ours was a corner room so we had two views of the city from on high; and a balcony we couldn't use because it was cold and snowing in Toronto. We did use the ice machine, to be found on each floor, and so saved money on room service.

Son Neil had rated the Hyatt, 'the best hotel in the city' and we'd have to say the toast and marmalade in the coffee shop were tops. The static electricity was a nuisance, though, and the elevators were being tricky, perhaps because the children of the convention were riding high.

Gadgets or not, though, we dearly love to shut the door of our hotel room and have it all to ourself.

You can get high at the Hyatt. Most of the courtesy suites are way up on the top floors.

Alexandria and Maxville fire brigades among those leading

The chief of a fire department is present at a fire to direct operations, to make decisions and use judgment, mutual aid co-ordinator L. A. Carriere told members of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Mutual Fire Aid Association at a meeting held at Upper Canada Village.

Chief Carriere, who heads the Cornwall department, said the chief should try to "out-smart" the fire and use his best judgment to protect all aspects of the incident.

He must begin by organizing any needed attempts to save people trapped or in danger. The next concern must be, is the fire confined or can it spread? Then, should the firemen enter the building or must their efforts be applied from outside?

The safe ventilation of burning structures, salvage operations and public relations at the scene of a fire were topics dealt with by the fire chief.

In his remarks, Maurice Roussy of the Ontario fire marshall's office commended local departments, such as Newington with a fire prevention campaign first place for Ontario and Long Sault with honorable mention. He also advised that several departments either have new equipment or expect to have in the next few months, Charlottenburgh (three pumpers) Chesterville, Winchester and Iroquois.

John Miller, president of the association and chief of Avonmore department, reported on a visit to United Counties council to ask for a new radio system and also mentioned that more facts and figures from the radio supply company would be available for the next meeting with council.

R. R. Inglis welcomed the 78 members from 17 departments to UCV, and expressed appreciation for the efforts of firemen, particularly with the need to protect historic sites.

Special guests were Roxborough Township reeve George Crites and Cornwall Township deputy reeve L. A. Wheeler and Frank Rooney, Iroquois councillor.

In a special report, Chief Merton Casey of Maxville said there was to be a curling bonspiel for firemen there on Feb. 23rd with 16 teams entered.

Perry Tinkess of Avonmore, reported that the departments leading in points are Alexandria, St. Lawrence Parks, Maxville, Crysler and Newington.

The door prizes were won by Neil LaFrance of Moose Creek and Albert Evans of Newington. Lunch was sponsored by the parks commission with Mrs. Francis Durant and Mrs. Gladys Duval serving the lunch.

GAELS on the WARPATH

(Intended for last issue)

(by Tish Filiatrault)

Our teams at GDHS have been to say the least, buzzing with action, spirit and a determined drive for victory.

Congratulations are in order to our junior girls' volleyball team which displayed excellent team co-ordination in the Glengarry-Prescott volleyball tournament hosted here, Saturday. Our girls were victorious and gained possession of the trophy for the first time in ten years by a tense and exciting win over their opponents. The girls played Embrun in a semi-final game. Embrun won the first of the best-of-three games, but our girls showed their true colors by winning the next two which put them into the finals against Plantagenet, winners over VCI.

In the finals the Gaels won three straight games 15-13, 15-3 and 15-3. Our school is proud of the following team members: Wendy MacSweyn, Margie McCormick, Linda MacLeod, Betty Lacombe, Cathy Humphries, Kate Malkin, Penny Filiatrault, Ruth MacLennan, Janice Barker, Bonnie Maclaren, Aline Brunet, Marilyn MacMillan, Fiona Lunley, Joanne Gallant, Janice McCrimmon, Sylvie Charlebois, Anna Cadieux, Lois MacMaster. Congratulations should also go to Miss Fran Gagnon who coached her team to victory.

Prior to the tournament the girls hosted Plantagenet and were successful in defeating them three games out of five.

The girls travelled to Cornwall to play against St. Lawrence, the winner of this match going to EOSSA. Our girls won one game 15-13 but St. Lawrence won 3 games taking the lead.

Our senior girls' volleyball team missed their play-off chances after being defeated 15-13 by Hawkesbury. Our team was successful in defeating Rockland 2 games out of 3. Thanks should go to Miss Tina Cairncross who coached the team.

On the basketball scene, our senior and midget boys' basketball teams were victorious in defeating Lachute seniors 40-24 and the midgets 25-24. The boys were not as successful at VCI. The seniors were defeated 42-39 and the juniors 35-20. The seniors play their first semi-final game here on Thursday against VCI. Good luck!

The midgets travelled to Maxville on Feb. 10th and they defeated their opponents 51-16. High scorer in the game was Alan MacLeod with 19 points. Cameron McCormick should be commended for his fine plays sinking two hook shots from 20 feet out.

On Saturday the midget boys played in the Glengarry-Prescott tournament. They were successful in defeating Hawkesbury 18-16.

fact that neither silver, gold, good works, or anything but the Precious Blood of Jesus shed at Calvary, can provide redemption. Mr. McKeown may or may not know that the devil quoted scripture to justify his evil intentions, (Matthew 4:6).

A religious experience would mean to a christian the in-filling of his heart with the Holy Spirit. In these days of the occult, to the non-christian it could mean many things, even a seance with evil spirits.

In no way do I infer that the United Church stands out as the 'bad boy' among the denominations. One has only to observe the weaknesses in other fellowships and the Apostle Paul puts us all in one category when he states in Romans 3:23 "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God", but in chapter 8 he states, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Jesus Christ . . ."

Being a member of the United Church keeps me busy taking the 'mote' out of my own eye, and it prevents me from seeing a "plank" in the eyes of others. I do regret that our United Church Observer, so widely read by those outside our membership should be offering a 'stone' rather than spiritual bread, all too often.

To make amends for our shortcomings I enclose the new year message from Rev. Kenneth MacMillan (no relation, to my knowledge)—I trust that you will shortly find space to publish it.

(6) Without prejudice to the operation of any other By-Law, it shall be the duty of the Building Inspector upon instructions from the Council of the Township of Lancaster, to take necessary measures to institute proceedings against any person who contravenes any of the provisions of this By-Law.

(7) Application shall be made in writing, on forms obtainable at the office of the Building Inspector or Township Clerk.

(8) Every applicant for a permit, shall file with the Building Inspector;

(20) Every chimney shall be provided with a metal clean-out door at the base.

(21) When Municipal water supply is not available, a plumbing system shall be mandatory, but any new plumbing system that is installed in any building and any of which alterations or additions are made, shall comply with the requirements of this By-Law. When no plumbing system is installed, there shall be provided sanitary privies, chemical closets or other means for the disposal of human excreta, approved by the Medical Officer of Health.

(22) All electrical installations and equipments shall conform to the rules and regulations made by the Hydro Electric Power Company of Ontario.
