Several big races ahead in county

By Greg Kielec and Brenda-Jane Kerr
News staff

There will be plenty of races for Glengarry voters to follow in this fall's municipal election.

Only one municipality will not have an election, Maxville, which barely scraped up enough nominations for a full council.

A few candidates had withdrawn their nominations by Monday's 5 p.m. deadline, but most remained ensuring races in every municipality but Maxville.

The townships have three council positions, one reeve and one deputy reeve to be filled.

The villages of Lancaster and Maxville also have five positions to be filled, but offer four councillors positions and do not have a deputy reeve.

Alexandrian's will elect a mayor, reeve, deputy reeve and six councillor positions.

The number of council positions could be trimmed to four in the 1997 election if Alexandria residents vote in favor of the cut on November's ballot.

Running are incumbent councillors Janet McDonald and Roch Major, along with newcomers Gerald Carriere, Lee McIntyre, Ian McLeod, Luc Poirier and Joanne Stevenson.

CHARLOTTENBURGH

In Charlottenburgh, a two-way incumbent race for reeve is underway.

The position was left vacant with current Reeve Dave MacDonald's decision not to seek another term.

Councillor George Shoniker will run against Deputy Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy for the top council position.

Councillor Donald Kannon is acclaimed deputy reeve.

Incumbent Frank Prevost is acclaimed as councillor as are two newcomers, John Lounsberry and Jim MacDonell.

SCHOOL BOARD

Running for trustee positions for the public school board are Donald Jones and incumbent Micheline Ouellette for the French panel representing most of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Running for the public English side, representing Charlottenburgh are incumbent Art Buckland and new candidate Dr. Lloyd Gorling.

For the separate school board, incumbent Nicole Bourgeois is being challenged by Denise Therriault for a territory representing most of Glengarry and part of Stormont.

Incumbent Ron Eamer, who represents all of Glengarry except Alexandria on the English section, has been acclaimed.

LOCHIEL

In Lochiel Township, long-time Reeve Ron MacDonell is being opposed by Raymond Jacques

Two incumbents will run for the deputy reeve chair.

Councillor William Hagen is challenging current Deputy Reeve Maurice Montpetit for the position.

And incumbents Armand Paquette and Peter MacSweyn are running for councillor jobs, joined by newcomers Dan McIntee, Penelope Spalding, Claude Massie and Claude Poirier.

KENYON

There will be races for all positions on Kenyon Township council this election.

Incumbent Councillor Gwen Morris will run against current Reeve Wilfred Vallance for the reeve's job.

Incumbent Donald Besner is being challenged by Rheal Lefebvre for the deputy's chair.

Incumbents Owen Walker, Blair Williams and Norman MacLeod are running again for councillor. Newcomers running are Kent MacSweyn and Adair "Bud" McBain .

Acclaimed as trustees in Kenyon for the police village of Apple Hill are Bernard Raymond, Daniel Tourigny and Doug Modler.

ALEXANDRIA

There are races galore as well this year in Alexandria.

There will be races for all positions on Alexandria council this year, even for the mayor's seat.

For the first time in three elections, there will be a race for mayor.

One candidate will run against the mayor in Alexandria, incumbent Mayor Jean Paul Touchette.

Running against him is a newcomer to politics, Grant Crack.

Two people will run for reeve, incumbent Reeve Bruno Massie and incumbent Councillor Francine Richer.

Running for deputy reeve are incumbent Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly and Councillor John Hope.

And there is a race for councillor as nine people vie for the six positions.

Three incumbents and one councillor defeated in the 1991 municipal election are running again.

The incumbents are Archie McDougall, Roger Lemieux and Gary Shepherd.

The one former councillor is old-time Touchette adversary Fern Seguin.

Newcomers are Chloe Ann Baker, Richard Lefebvre, Richard Jeaurond, Gail Abrames, Edna Massia Lalonde.

Six people will run for four Public Utilities Commission positions two incumbents – Claude Ouellette and Aurel Chenier, former Alexandria councillors John Cormier and Bruno Lalonde, and newcomers Adrien Menard, and Raymond Theoret.

LANCASTER VILLAGE

With Jennifer Charbonneau stepping down as reeve of Lancaster Village, councillors Jeanette Abbey and Roger Menard will run for the position.

Running for councillor along with incumbents Richard Anderson and Bruce Millward, are Richard Walker, Benoit Veilleux, Bill Kitching, and George Baker.

Seeking positions on the Public Utilities Commission are Gene Picard, Dorothy Fawthrop and Brian Main.

MAXVILLE

No incumbents ran for a second term in in the Village of Maxville, which elected all new council members in 1991.

And the ones vying for their positions were all acclaimed by the 5 p.m. deadline Monday.

Former reeve George Cuerrier is acclaimed reeve. Ubald Cardinal had contemplated contesting the position but withdrew at the last moment.

Cardinal will join the slate of councillors acclaimed to village council for the upcoming term.

Acclaimed with him are former Roxborough reeve, Donald Cumming, Russell Dewar, and Herb Holmes.

LANCASTER TOWNSHIP

In Lancaster Township Reeve Charles Sangster and Deputy Reeve Steve Preston, both incumbents, are acclaimed.

But there will be a race for the three councillor positions.

Down to the wire

With the clock showing a few minutes past five, Alexandria candidates gather around the nomination board at town hall Friday. Looking over the list of candidates being recorded by Clerk Leo Poirier are council incumbents Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly, Mayor J.P. Touchette and Reeve Bruno Massie. Candidate Richard Lefebvre looks on at extreme right.

Lochiel furious over sewer break, leak into Delisle

MOE, Clean Water officials monitoring river and extent of spill into river

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Angered and upset by a ruptured pipe which spewed raw sewage from Alexandria sewage lagoon into Delisle River for three hours Oct. 10, Lochiel council called for explanations at a council meeting the next evening.

Collin McGlynn from J. K. Richard Associates, consulting engineers on Alexandria's sewage upgrade project, called the rupture "an unfortunate accident."

Murray MacMillan from Louis Bray Construction, general contractor for the project, reminded council that "there have been a number of sewage spills this summer, three caused because of hydro failure."

MacMillan said a pipe was punctured by one of the construction digging machines at 9 a.m., and Ministry of Environment and Ontario Clean Water Agency officials were notified and at the site immediately.

The pipe was fixed and the flow stopped by noon.

MOE and Clean Water Agency officials are monitoring the river and extent of the spill.

Delisle River flows through areas of Lochiel and Lancaster Townships, before crossing the border into Quebec and emptying into the St. Lawrence River.

Reeve MacDonell whose farm borders the Delisle, pointed out "there was 100 head of cattle on my farm and neighboring farms affected by this spill.

"But no one takes responsibility, they just pass the buck."

MacDonell said "there's no reason that pipe was busted.

"There should have been someone there to guide the diggers on the location of the pipe, or at least have a sleeve over the pipe while machines are digging in the area."

Council members criticized the lack of warning signs and lights on McCormick Road in the golf course area where the road is torn up for pipe construction.

"You should have yellow blinking warning lights at night," Reeve MacDonell suggested.

"We tried to but people keep stealing them," MacMillan reported.

Councillor Armand Paquette said he visited the golf course after the spill "and you could bounce golf balls off the Delisle flowing through there, it was so thick with sludge."

Lancaster detachment takes over policing in Lochiel Township

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Police coverage for Lochiel Township has been switched from Maxville OPP detachment, to the Lancaster OPP office, 15 kilometers further away.

Township residents must now call emergencies into Lancaster OPP, Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell told council Tuesday.

"It is supposed to be a temporary arrangement."

MacDonell said there are rumors Maxville OPP office might be phased out.

"Last Friday (Oct. 7) I was told Lancaster OPP was taking over protection of Lochiel," MacDonell explained to council.

"I understand new officers have been added to the Lancaster detachment.:

At the September meeting of Lochiel council Maxville OPP Sgt. Wayne Villeneuve warned that his detachment was so short-handed they couldn't patrol Lochiel without help from Lancaster and Hawkesbury OPP offices.

"I promised Sgt. Villeneuve at our September meeting Lochiel council would do everything it could to support Maxville OPP office," Reeve MacDonell recalled.

"We wrote letters to the Solicitor-General and to local MPPs, asking for beefed-up coverage for our area.

"But the whole OPP force is being re-organized and we will just have to wait and see what happens," MacDonell sighed.

Lochiel councillors have been concerned over the loss of the community police officer, based in Maxville, but covering the area a couple of afternoons a week from an office provided, equipped, and financed by the township in Glen Robertson Recreation Centre.

Lochiel bought a mobile phone for quick response from the community officer.

Since early spring no community officer was assigned. and the program encouraging residents to call or drop into the Glen Robertson office to talk over problems, has fallen by the wayside.

One community officer initiated a program of being available one morning a week to talk over student concerns at the two high schools in Alexandria.

Community interest builds hope for work to Johnson Manor

By Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

An interest from members of the community has laid the foundation for remedial work to fix one of Ontario's oldest and most famous houses, Sir John Johnson's Manor House in Williamstown.

More than 50 citizens turned out Thursday evening to a public meeting held at the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum to discuss the possibility of working together with the federal government to ensure not only the building's survival, but its use by the community.

Spearheaded by MP Don Boudria's interest in the building, the meeting was called to gather ideas from the public for a future use for the unused portion of the building which needs considerable work to render it habitable.

Boudria said he was appalled when learning, shortly after Charlottenburgh became part of his federal riding, that the building was in the state it was.

"What I believe to be a national treasure is not being put to its best use," Boudria said. "I almost feel like saying (in its present condition) it's a national shame."

"The building is unrecognized, except by locals who know what it is."

The Manor House is believed to have been built between 1787 and 1792, and is the only residence of Johnson, leader of the United Empire Loyalists and Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, still extant.

Despite Boudria's efforts, the building remains without a plaque marking it as a national historic site, despite the fact that it was purchased by the Government of Canada in 1971 for this reason.

Township could have own joint fire service in one year

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Lochiel Township could have its own fire station within a year, according to Reeve Ron MacDonell.

But it will be conditional on the approval of Lochiel ratepayers at public meetings over the next six weeks.

About 100 people turned out to hear details of the planned joint Lochiel Township, Lancaster Township fire department in Glen Robertson last Wednesday.

The meeting was held inform to residents of the proposal and get feedback.

Two more meetings will be held, one Nov. 17 in Glen Robertson and one later in Dalkeith to discuss more details of the proposal, such as costs and cost sharing.

Meetings will also be held to solicit volunteers for the fire service.

The townships are proposing a central main fire station in Glen Robertson to serve both Lancaster and Lochiel townships, with satellite stations north and south.

MacDonell estimated the central station will cost between $150,000 and $175,000.

Lochiel's satellite station would be located in Dalkeith while Lancaster Township's will likely be in North Lancaster.

The Lochiel-driven proposal is being considered because of the distance Alexandria fire department is from the north and eastern portion of Lochiel.

Having their own fire department would cut down on response times, cut fire insurance costs for residents and possibly even save lives for both municipalities.

"You can't put a dollar figure on a life," stresses Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell, a proponent of the joint fire service.

The reeve said there is "quite a bit of interest" in the proposal and "cost seemed to be the biggest thing" residents were concerned with.

The townships hope to get two-thirds of the central station's cost funding by a federal infrastructure grant and would split the remaining one-third.

All the fire equipment, however, would be paid strictly through municipal tax dollars. The equipment is not eligible for infrastructure funding, MacDonell said.

A concern of MacDonell's is whether there will be enough volunteers to get the fire service off the ground.

He said it will be evident by the final public meeting early in December, whether the project will have the community support needed to go ahead.

The townships already have the support of the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office, which is lending its expertise to help the municipalities launch the service.

MacDonell said he told ratepayers the service wouldn't cost them any more than the $30,000 to $40,000 a year they are spending now for fire protection from Alexandria.

Honoring a reluctant hero

Kindergarten hero rewarded for saving his friends exiting bus

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Heroes come in all shapes and sizes and from all walks of life. One pint-sized hero got his just reward last week for possibly saving the lives of four of his Kindergarten classmates.

Five-year-old Joel Lefebvre was presented a congratulatory certificate on Oct. 14 for unknowingly saving his friends' lives.

The youngster accepted the award, presented by Liberal MP Don Boudria, in front of his peers with a little uncertainty about the occasion.

"He's taking it good," said Rachel Lefebvre, Joel's mother.

"At first he didn't understand, but he does now."

Lefebvre stopped his friends from getting off the bus on Sept. 21 when he insisted it was his turn to get off the bus first.

As part of his insistance, he held his arms and legs out, holding his friends back, just as a car sped by.

The car had driven onto the gravel and passed the bus on the right side.

"I feel it's a good lesson for all kids to look before getting off the bus," said Lucienne Beauclair, Joel's grandmother.

After receiving his award, Lefebvre nonchalantly took the certificate over to his school bag, put it away, hugged his father and returned to his seat.

It appeared the young boy was not aware of the accident that could have been.

Not nearly as aware as his parents and Ecole Sainte Marie principal Claude Mallette.

"I'm okay now that it's over," said Rachel Lefebvre.

"I feel a little bit special, but I'm just glad that everybody is okay."

Mallette pointed out that if it had not been for Joel's babysitter, Michèle Ménard, being able to identify the driver of the car, no charges would have been laid.

Under the Ontario Traffic Act, drivers who ignore school bus flashing lights can only be fined if a description of both the car and driver can be given with the licence plate number.

The driver in this incident was fined $265 and five demerit points.

Public schools in the United Counties including Laggan, Lancaster, Martintown, Maxville and Williamstown are hosting bus safety week from Oct. 17 to Oct. 21.

Thoughout the week the schools will present videos, emergency bus evacuation practices and teach safe bus riding procedures to new school students.

Liberal MP Don Boudria presents five-year-old Joel Lefebvre with a congratulatory certificate after the youngster unknowingly saved four of his classmates from being hit by a car.

Erika Tyrell, sitting on an Alexandria police cruiser, has been learning about police work by going on the job through a cooperative education program offered by Char-Lan District High School.

Co-operative education puts student in cruiser

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Senior students at Char-Lan District High School have gone beyond the classroom to learn real life lessons not taught in a textbook.

Sixteen OAC and Grade 12 students are out on cooperative education placements in a variety of fields including engineering, hospitals, farming, veterinary medicine, making musical instruments and teaching.

"It gives the students the opportunity to experience life beyond the academic walls," said co-op placement supervisor Craig Carlisle.

"It's something we can't do at high school."

"It's a really good learning experience," said Erika Tyrell, 18, on placement with the Alexandria Police Service.

"It shows me if I would like to go into this work."

Tyrell is on her second placement with the police and says it has been a good opportunity for her to explore her interest in the field.

"It's helped me decide it's what I want to do," said Tyrell.

Tyrell is experiencing police work first hand by riding along with the officers on their shifts both during the day and at night instead of going to the classroom.

She is expected to keep log sheets detailing her experiences, which have included anything from alarm calls and minor occurrences to a raid with the RCMP.

Her log books are graded by her teacher and her performance is evaluated by the police, to arrive at a grade towards her high school diploma.

Tyrell said the placement has taken away some of the television image of police work and shown her what it's really all about.

"It's nothing like what I expected," said Tyrell.

"It's not as easy as people think it is."

"I didn't think there was that much paperwork and you deal with all kinds of different people."

"It has been very good for her," said Carlisle.

"She's been looking at all the doors for how to get in (to policing) and co-op has certainly opened a few of them."

"(Co-op) has offered her some very exciting experience."

Carlisle added the program is very beneficial to the students but also has it rewards for the particpating businesses and organizations.

Councillor withdraws new proposal to stop info leaks

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

An Alexandria councillor has withdrawn a proposal for new measures to prevent the leaking of confidential documents.

Councillor Francine Richer withdrew the proposal at a meeting of Alexandria council Oct. 11 after opposition from some members on how she planned to control document leaks.

The proposal has been sent back to the committee level for more study before coming back to council.

The new measure was prompted by the leak of a confidential memo this summer, to council from town planner Terry Hart, advising council against rezoning part of the former Brown Shoe property to residential.

To prevent such leakage of documents, Richer had proposed confidential documents be returned to the clerk at the end of council meetings.

The proposal drew the most fire from Councillor Archie McDougall.

The veteran councillor said he agreed with the principle of preventing leaks of confidential information. But there could be problems with the system proposed to prevent such leaks.

He worried that it could infringe on the free speech of members, who may not have had input into an issue because they do not sit on the committee the issue originated from.

"It could happen that I don't attend a meeting. It could happen that I'm not a member of a specific committee.

"It could happen, even though I'm present, I disagree and I have no avenue of expressing that disagreement if in fact I cannot consider that outside the confines of a committee.

"In essence, that permits me to be muzzled even at an open council."

He said he has seen leaks in the newspaper in the past couple years, and even this year, "and it created a problem."

But he warned: "What you set out to do, may in fact create another problem."

Council must ensure it balances the need to keep certain items confidential with the public's demand that nothing be done in private unless it deals with personnel.

"The principle is good. But it's how you control it, how you use it in a way that's fair to everybody."

Touchette said that confidential matters must be kept private, but said he also was in favor of council being as "wide open" as possible.

McDougall, however, said his qualm is not whether certain documents should be kept confidential.

"My point Mr. Mayor again is, not the question of the confidentiality aspect, I have no problem at all with that.

Everybody should be agreeable to the formation of it and the system, he said.

"Because if you do that, it's going to reduce a lot of differences. It's not going to change the fact that we're all subject to each other. That's not going change.

"But then again if you don't have the trust of the people sitting with you at the table, there's nothing I can do about it."

Councillor Roger Lemieux said that receiving a document just before the meeting and being forced to return it after the meeting gives council members little time for study.

And if someone does contravene the policy, he asked Richer what she would do: "Slap their fingers if you catch them?"

"You have to depend on the integrity of council. If someone doesn't want to follow it" there is little council can do.

Reeve Bruno Massie said the whole debate may be academic because there is no guarantee the new council elected next month, will honor the guidelines.

"It would not be cast in stone," he told Richer.

Retorted Richer: "The new council might be very glad to have this because they can use it too."

Councillor Jacques Lajoie cautioned that being too secretive may leave some council members in the dark.

He was referring to a decision made by council to choose Cornwall Gravel to pave the RARE plant parking lot without a public calling of tenders.

He said council must ensure that council members are informed on all issues so they can intelligently answer any questions they may get from ratepayers.

Touchette said Cornwall Gravel had the lowest rate during tendering for paving work for the United Counties.

Travelling teddies help teach geography

Ecole Terre des Jeunes sending furry bears on cross-country trip

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

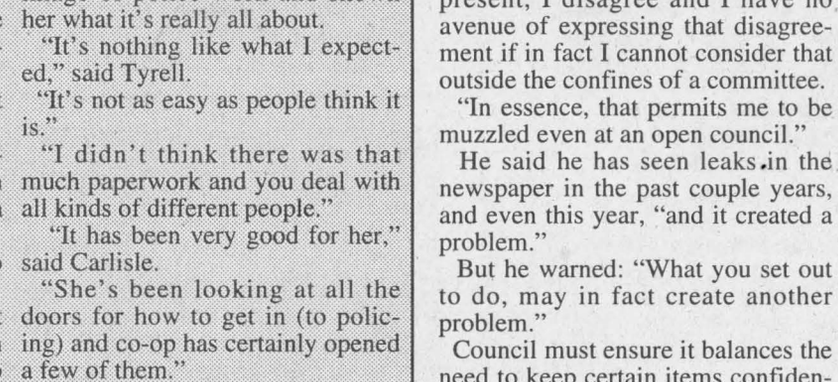
The ultimate challenge for a teacher is to come up with innovative approaches to teaching students about the world outside the classroom.

Three teachers at Ecole Terres des Jeunes have invoked the help of a few cuddly stuffed teddy toys to teach geography.

The toys are being sent to 45 different francophone classrooms across Canada where they have their passports stamped with a lesson on each school they visit along the way.

"We're sending them to other provinces in Canada to show that there are other francophones," said Lyn Lacombe, Pre-Kindergarten and Grade 5 and 6 teacher.



(Front, L to R) Patrick Lacombe, 7, Jennifer Overbury, 10 and (Back) Adam Quenneville of Ecole Terres des Jeunes pose with the school travelling stuffed toys.

The idea is that each class starts off with a toy that they name and give a history, including a passport with a lesson on its hometown, school and province and then sends it to one of the other participating schools.

Each time a classroom receives a toy from another school, they can empty the passport and learn about the places the toys have visited.

Students then add their own information and send the toy off to another location on the list until all stops are visited by each toy before returning to its home school in April.

Each time the toy arrives in a new place, the host classroom sends a postcard to the toy's home school to let them know where their toy is.

Last week the school received a toy named Casti le Castor from Winnipeg, Manitoba that had already visited Cornwall.

This week the Grade 5 and 6 class will send Tou Tou Pilote to Alberta, the Grade 3 and 4 class will send Tou Tou Nathalie to Vancouver and Frismousse the Grade 1 and 2 class beaver will go to Sudbury.

"They had to do a lot of work for this," said Lacombe. "But it's fun and they're being part of a big thing."

The property has been owned by Brown's family since 1948, but is not accessible from a public road.

Name still unchanged

Council again discussed the request by Donat Decaire and others that the portion of the 14th Indian Lands Concession Road lying outside Indian Lands be given another name.

It was noted that Decaire and his family find the name objectionable.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance noted, "It has never bothered anyone else as far as I know."

Still, council decided to canvass all the people living on the road to see if there is any consensus to change the name.

Kennel Licence

Council directed the township clerk to issue a licence to keep up to 25 dogs to kennel operator Mary McBain of Apple Hill.

Township inspector Ken Robbers reported that on a recent visit he had found the premises clean and the dogs well fed.

He added that the township had received no complaints from neighbors about the kennel during the past three years.

Objection overruled

Council removed its objection to an application by Roland Delorme for the severance of a lot on Concession Two.

It had earlier turned down the application on the basis that it conflicted with the township's Official Plan.

Nonetheless, Councillor Blair Williams commented that there are people who object to seeing "houses strung out along the road. They think it looks like sprawl," he said.

Councillor Gwen Morris compared such "ribbon development" to the banks of the St. Lawrence River.

"With all that new development," she said, "you can't see the river."

Court representative

Reeve Vallance was named as township representative for a pre-trial conference scheduled for Oct. 18 in small claims court in Alexandria.

The case involves a suit brought by Loch Garry area resident John Kivenko against the township for a refund for unused 1993 garbage stickers.

Weed control

Council supported a resolution from the Township of Matilda asking the provincial government to resume the practice of roadside mowing along provincial highways.

Trial start Feb. 20 for young offender accused in murder

By GregKielec
News* editor

The trial of an area youth charged with second degree murder in the March shooting death of an Alexandria man will begin in February.

A date of Feb. 20 was set Thursday by Judge J.M. Bordeleau for a voir dire hearing for the youth charged in the death of 54-year-old Gerald Cuerrier.

The hearing will be held to deal with pre-trial motions and with admissibility of evidence and statements, according to David Algie, own of two Ottawa Crowns prosecuting his case.

The main trial will be held sometime after the two-week-long February voir dire, Algie said.

The main prosecutor of the case, John Campbell, said yesterday it is expected the young offender will plead not guility Feb. 20.

After the plea, a voir dire would be held to determine admissability of evidence.

He said some blocks of court time are available in end of May and in June for the main trial, which will take place in Alexandria court.

He had hoped for a decision last week on dates for the main trial, but said the agent acting for the defense lawyer Michael Edelson was uncertain the lawyer would be free for those dates.

Few details can be released about the case because of a publication ban imposed.

The ban was imposed to ensure a fair trial for another of the murder accused, 19-year-old Jason Horvath, who is still awaiting trial.

Cuerrier was found dead last March near a converted garage he had been living in.

He was killed with an RCMP service revolver, later revealed to be the gun of RCMP officer Attila Horvath, a Kenyon Township resident.

Horvath pleaded guilty to careless storage of a firearm and was given a conditional discharge in Alexandria court Oct. 5.

Inspector Jean St. Cyr of the RCMP in Ottawa said Monday no decision has been made on whether there will a disciplinary hearing against the officer.

He said the RCMP commander is still awaiting legal advice before deciding what action will be taken. He did not know when the advice will be received or when a decision will be made.

Village of Maxville

Council Briefs

Council met on Oct. 11 at 6 p.m. The following were some of the items of business discussed.

Maxville Housing Corporation

The new Maxville Housing Corporation consists of members of council who appointed Clerk Connie Charbonneau as its secretary-treasurer.

An independent consultant was present to offer explanations and guidance.

From the results of the surveys returned, he speculated that 10-20 units might be built and that they would range from one to three bedroom in size.

It was also pointed out that it is a policy to have 75 per cent of the tenants receiving assistance for the rent payments.

Members were advised as to the three resolutions that must be passed concerning incorporation, access planning and resident involvement.

The next public involvement will be interviews with prospective residents of this housing project in Maxville.

Fox Hill Subdivision

Owner Gordon Campbell has agreed to provide hydro, street lights and drainage for the three lots presently in Kenyon township and to pay annexation costs of Fox Hill Subdivision.

Then the village will annex these three lots on Campbell Crescent as well as the north half of this street. The lots are situated at the east end of the subdivision.

Snow removal contract

Councillor Ewen MacDonald had previously studied the two tenders submitted for snow removal and provided council with comparisons.

Considering these plus the satisfactory performance of snow removal duties last year, Allan Crites of Allan M. Crites Excavating Ltd., was awarded the contract for the period Dec. 1, 1994 to March 31, 1995.

Closed waste disposal site

The closed waste disposal site has been monitored once again, as required, and received a satisfactory endorsement.

Infrastructure grant funds

While infrastructure grant money is available, it was decided to let the hiring of a consultant be the responsibility of the new council in 1995 for renovations at the sports complex.

As well, additional sidewalk work will be done next year.

On the huskings

Good news isn't always easy to come by these days. But word that an ethanol production plant using corn from this area is likely to be under construction by spring is just what farmers around here needed to hear.

While the plant won't be constructed in this immediate area — the closest possible site is the former Courtalds plant in Cornwall — it will be close enough to make transport of corn shipments economical. And with an investment of this magnitude and the necessary markets found, ethanol production is not likely to be a flash in the pan. And that means the potential for growth is tremendous.

That is outstanding news for Glengarry County farms which are among the leaders in corn production in Eastern Ontario.

Ethanol is an environmentally-preferable fuel, and when blended with traditional gasoline, it offers excellent octane. Glengarry's own MacEwen Fuels of Maxville has introduced ethanol to its pumps at its stations throughout the area, hoping that area motorists would be interested in not just helping in an environmental cause, but also in boosting the prospects of local corn producers. Reports are that the fuel has lived up to its billing.

And as more corn is sold to the new market, it is likely that ethanol fuel will be increasingly used as consumers see its benefits, both economically and environmentally.

The Seaway Valley Farmers Energy Cooperative, based in Williamstown, has obviously worked hard to get to this stage. As the president Bud Atkins said, "I can't see anything that's going to stop it now." Enough prospective buyers have been found to make the venture feasible, and government developments relating to the possible banning of another, more popular octane-enhancer is likely to increase demand for this new octane-enhancer to replace it.

Turning corn into fuel is not a new concept, but it is truly heartening to see that concept evolving to reality. Sure, it has progressed slowly, but no-one knows better than farmers that anything worthwhile always takes time.

For them and the dreamers who saw the corn-fuel vision years ago, that worthwhile wait has borne a fruitful crop.

Fire prevention

Fire Prevention Week has come and gone, but here's a wish that the awareness of the importance of fire prevention created by the county's fire departments has remained with every citizen.

Canadians are now entering what is potentially the most dangerous time of the year to live in a house or apartment. With woodstove usage on the upswing, potential trouble areas like corroded or plugged chimneys need remedying.

And people will spend more time indoors, barbequing less and using stoves and ovens more often. How many house fires have been caused by burning cooking oil remaining on an unattended, overheated stove element?

And there are special dangers for farmers. At the end of September, a Dunvegan family lost 113 pigs to a devastating fire apparently caused by a heat lamp used to warm young pigs. Other specialized equipment likes blowers and dryers and old wiring in aging barns are other dangerous sources of ignition.

And no-one can overstate the importance of smoke detectors in homes, especially older buildings. Any of the county's firefighters can attest to that.

Property loss by fire has been a fact of life since the Scots and French Canadians first settled here two centuries ago. Thanks to improvements over those years in fire prevention and firefighting techniques, the worries that existed even 50 years ago have become practically non-existent.

But the advice our fire departments pass along each October warrant paying attention to, long after Fire Prevention Week fades from the calendar.

Music's county gem

Certainly no single person planned it this way, but this county's people and organizations are producing music that, taken together, is dramatically heightening this area's cultural image among outside beneficiaries of their sounds.

Most recently, it has been the excellence of the Glengarry Pipe Band and its capturing of the $5,000 first prize at a prestigious invitational competition in Pennsylvania. But consider at the same time the globe-trotting of the MacCulloch Dancers and their recent tour to China, the forays by the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, Festival Alexandria and the classical music it delivers, and of course, the notoriety achieved by the Glengarry high school bands and leader Pierre Vaillancourt in competitions.

On their own, the achievements of these groups are significant enough. But combined, it is obvious that a vibrant cultural movement that is easily exported exists here, one with which every county resident can be justifiably proud.

Reeve trades gavel for pointer

Faces N' Places
by Joe Banks

When the late Lancaster Village reeve Bill Cumming died on Feb. 17, 1983, the world turned upside down for his daughter, Jennifer.

The reeve then, proprietor of Glengarry Dairy for 28 years, had served on the village's council for 16 years, and filled the post until his illness the previous December. He was warden of United Counties in 1976, served in different offices of local Liberal associations, and had sought nomination twice as representative for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry provincial riding.

So his death created a huge void in the village he'd loved, the kind of void that seemed impossible to fill.

Jennifer, just married to Paul Charbonneau and in her early 20s then, suddenly became responsible for running the dairy.

Up to then, she'd overseen only the office of the cream and milk distributorship, and life became increasingly hectic, as children arrived in 1980, '82 and '85. But after her father's death in '83, she, the rest of the family and the villagers knew his hand at the village's political helm would be especially missed.

"That was a very emotional time," Jennifer recalls during an interview between classes at Gladstone Public School. "But I had an idea. You see, from the time I was born to the time he passed away, he'd been involved in politics."

Jennifer grew up with the excitement of municipal election nights echoing through the family house. She'd even distributed flyers as a young girl and stayed up late to hear the conversations of the adults talking over the results — all of it stuck through the years.

So without really giving it much thought, Jennifer, just 23 at the time, moved to pick up where her father had left off. She'd been a leader at school — vice president of the student's council at Char-Lan High School — and had sat on the village's recreation committee as a volunteer. She'd been to college after graduating from grade 13. Married in 1979 to Paul Charbonneau, she wanted to carry on her father's dream of building a community where families could live in a proud and prosperous community.

She got the seat as councillor, and the rest is history.

For the next 12 years, she served quietly on Lancaster Village council with her fellow councillors, without much fanfare, publicity or controversy. She downplays her own contributions throughout those years, however, insisting that she has "been very fortunate to have worked with really good councils. We always listened to each other and we always had really open discussions."

This year, with a newly-earned Bachelor of Arts degree under her belt and a teaching career opening in front of her, Jennifer decided now was the time to take a break from the world of local politics, trading in her gavel for a teacher's pointer.

She looks back over the past dozen years with an understated pride, especially when the municipality built the recreation centre — without a penny of outside government funding.

But for all of the accomplishments the village council mounted over the years, it came with a price.

"If it never rained, it poured," Jennifer admits of her term as reeve. "We'd be really quiet or else all-you-know-what broke loose...there would be mountains of things to deal with, and then all of a sudden it would be quiet."

And as a young woman amidst municipal governments dominated by older men, the job had the potential to be intimidating. But Jennifer found some pleasant surprises.

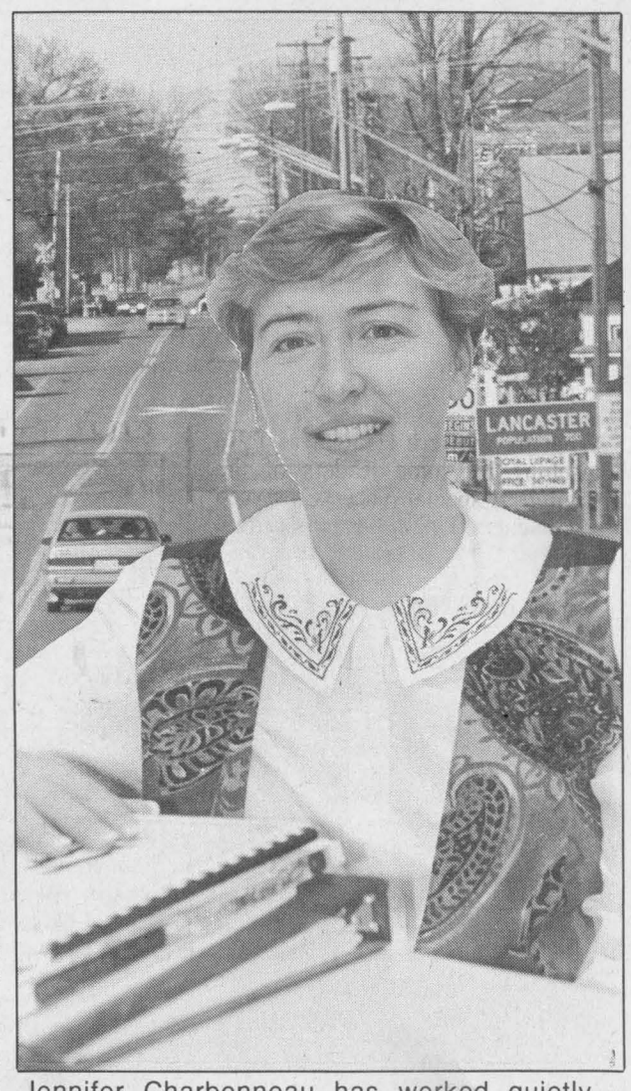
"The only time I felt intimidated was when I walked into counties council in 1988. Carol-Ann Ross (the former Charlottenburgh reeve) and I were the only women.

"There were all these men who had been in politics a long time. But they were all very welcoming and supportive."

There have been other days and moments, however, which the reeve would rather not have experienced. She disliked dealing with personnel issues, for instance.

But her worst day came when a well-known village employee — a young family man — died accidentally a few years back.

"That was something that was devastating for me, and for everybody. Of the 12 years on council, it was the most awful day I'd ever had."



Jennifer Charbonneau has worked quietly behind the scenes in Lancaster Village for the last 12 years, just as her father had done.

So what possibly motivated her for 12 years?

Fortunately, she says, the "lows kind of disappear and give way to the highs." And she gives a lot of credit to her husband Paul for backing her up in everything she has tackled.

"My husband has always been very supportive. I couldn't have done any of it without him."

The routine wasn't new because she grew up in a family of both parents working — her mother Audrey was director of nursing at Cornwall General Hospital up until her retirement in 1985.

But she admits she can't explain how the two of them have been able to juggle home, her earning a degree, and chairing a municipal council.

"Quite frankly, I don't know how we've done it. My husband has his own business, but my friends and family have helped with the children. My mother has been retired since 1985, so she has been a big help."

Jennifer, however, doesn't want to dissuade others from committing to public service based on a perception of limited time.

"I think you have as much time as you're willing to give...but I think it's a very personal choice, even to be a volunteer. Still, when you put your effort and time in something, you get more in return. People who don't join miss out."

And there is still lots to be done in the village, she feels. Water quality is the big issue there and the municipality is feeling its way through to a solution, one that is likely to be a costly one.

As for counties council, Jennifer feels "it could function with some downsizing," suggesting she supports the controversial reduction of counties members to reeves only.

However, she has found the institution a "good place to discuss local issues and share ideas."

Despite her retreat from politics, Jennifer says it definitely is not quits. She will pursue another council seat when she decides she wants back on the body.

It has been too valuable, she says, for her to turn her back on it. Local politics has, in fact, contributed to her teaching skills she believes.

"It has made me more comfortable around people," she says. "It has made me be a better speaker. I learned to be diplomatic and more compassionate. It also taught me to be more balanced and to make decisions.

"All these things are helping me in teaching."

Celtic witches

Highland Paths
by Ken McKenna

The pre-Christian Celts revered nature in all its forms -- the sun, the moon, the stars, water and fire, and those trees, flowers, and bushes that they believed had magical powers. The mountain ash is known in Scotland as the rowan tree, from the Gaelic "ruadh," for red, which is the color of its berries. Even today, to Highlanders as well as Lowlanders, the rowan tree is a symbol of good luck. That is why it is planted outside of so many homes. The hazel, "the magic tree that wizards love," is also held in high esteem, and the gathering of hazel-nuts in the autumn is part of the tradition of Samhuinn, the harvest feast that marks the end of one season and the beginning of the other. The apple tree was the Silver Bough, the equivalent in Celtic mythology of the Golden Bough (mistletoe) of classic European mythology, and the apple was the good-luck charm that helped mortals to enter the Otherworld and to foretell the future. The memory of that belief survives in the Halloween custom of ducking for apples. The act of going through water to get the apples also had a mystical meaning. Water itself was connected with special powers and rivers, streams, and lakes had their share of strange and wonderful beings. The Celts loved to attribute magic charms to the natural world, so that water, apart from its practical uses, was believed to bring luck. A vow taken over water was considered inviolate, and a remnant of that ancient belief can still be seen today at cattle sales in Ireland, when buyer and seller seal a deal by symbolically spitting on their palms before shaking hands. Evil spirits could be escaped by crossing a stream, and witches were supposed to be terrified of water. Remember what happened to the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz?

And now we come to witches and witchcraft. One of the evils of superstition is that throughout history and in various parts of the world, superstition has sometimes escalated into a sort of madness, resulting in ghastly horror. We know now that those people called witches, and there were both male and female practitioners, were not evil to any greater extent than the rest of society. They were herbalists and healers, sometimes (but not always) practicing a religion that pre-dated Christianity, to which the perjorative word "pagan" was given. There is no real evidence that witches ever were guilty of the horrible crimes attributed to them. Four hundred years ago, at the height of the anti-witch frenzy that spread like a plague throughout the world, hundreds of thousands of witches were tortured, maimed, and burned alive after sham trials and on "evidence" that would not hold up for a minute in any civilized court today. Halloween witches are a lot of fun now and add shivers to the celebrations, but it was not funny during the 17th century in Europe and New England. And the modern version of witches, old, decrepit and ugly (as if that made them somehow sub-human and deserving of the worst) is a caricature. We know from the witch-trial records that most, if not all, who suffered terrible brutality were women, and many of them mere girls. The bonfires that were the joyous symbols of the Celts at their harvest festival had become debased, over the centuries, into the flames of inhuman destruction. Even in recent times in Scotland, Halloween festivities often included chants of "Fire! Fire! Burn the witches!"

And what of the words that have come down to us from those awful days? The words "witch," "witchcraft," "sorceress" and "sorcery" all have evil connotations. The records of the witch-hunting of the 1600's when studied by modern scholars often show that many women were condemned out of the mouths of men who had seduced them and wanted them silenced, or because a man believed that a woman had "bewitched" him by her beauty or charms. No wonder that today there is so much violence in our

Reader looking for MacDonell family connection

To the editor:

I am hoping that you will allow me a little space in your paper concerning the following. I had a request from Minnesota looking for family information on her MacDonell connection. One of the reasons I am writing is in the hope that the DAN H. MACDONELL listed below as the 1st Canadian Tight Rope Walker will ring a bell with some of your readers.

The information I have is as follows:

"Looking for information on the ancestry of Alex R. MacDonell born in Glengarry Oct. 8, 1838 and died in Owen Sound Feb. 15, 1886 who married Margaret L. Hunter about 1860, she dying in Owen Sound Fe. 5, 1891. The first two children were born in Metcalfe Village, Alex Charles in 1860/1863, William Charles/ Cameron in 1861/1864, then there was a Duncan G born in 1865, Benjamin L. 1871, Isabel in 1873, Dan H. in 1884 all born in Owen Sound, Ontario. This Dan H. was the first Canadian tight rope walker over Niagara Falls. He married a Beth _____ and had a daughter Esther. Other names that show up some on the tombstone in the Greenwood cemetery in Owen Sound, are Louie MacDonald July 30, 1892 and Alice Feb. 26, 1897. Also there is a Lorne Sandfield and a Clifford Royal McDonald. This family was apparently Presbyterian, but could have been a mixed marriage. Who were the parents of Margaret Hunter and her husband Alex R. MacDonell?? Did Alex R. and Margaret have any brothers and sisters?? If so, what were their names and where did they live??? What part of Glengarry did Alex R. come from??? Any help in identifying this Alex R. and his siblings, ancestry would be welcomed by Jo Grussing, 112223 Hutchins Court, Chaska, Minnesota 55318 USA."

Replies may be directed directly to Jo Grussing at the above address in Minnesota or to myself the undersigned or to Rhoda Ross in Curry Hill #6038 County Road 23, R.R.#1, Bainsville, Ontario K0C 1E0 and we will forward any information received.

Thanking you for this consideration, yours truly

Reader wants only good news

To the editor:

When I received The Glengarry News of Oct. 5, 1994, what a shock when I read "Alexandria has highest crime rate of 24 towns in 4,000 population."

Is this supposed to be sensational news? If I were a tourist and picked up the Glengarry News at a corner store and read that I would bypass Alexandria and if I were looking for property to buy, no way Alexandria.

I feel sorry for the people of Alexandria that have to put up with that kind of publicity.

Let us have good news in your paper -- not that kind of publicity.

Laurels to police, hospital and ambulance attendances

To the editor:

I, like many people, thought that I would never write a letter to the editor.

But unfortunately I was involved in a car accident a couple of weeks ago and I thought I should express my gratitude to Constable Jim Brown from Maxville OPP who went above-and-beyond the call of duty (thanks for putting my groceries away), to Ron and Mike from Alexandria ambulance service who were kind and caring, to Dr. Edgar and the emergency staff at Glengarry Memorial Hospital who were so caring and everyone who stopped to see if they could help.

It's a shame that we have to go through accidents to appreciate the dedication of these people.

Tax on stock exchange transactions answer to NDP financial troubles

To the editor:

As Ottawa takes dead aim at the ill, and the old, and the needy, by eliminating transfer payments, Floyd Laughren is staring out his office window wondering where the money required, to establish credibility prior to the next election, is going to come from. This, while a veritable thieves' paradise, bursting at the seams with money, is sitting right under his nose. It seems that tunnel vision, a disease in any other context, is a highly-developed skill in the political field, where politicians must operate with one eye on the prospects for a soft landing, if ejection by the electorate occurs.

When the NDP were elected, they were given a mandate to impose a seven per cent tax on the corporate sector. They only managed to get a two per cent tax through, leaving five per cent still to be implemented.

The Toronto Stock Exchange, depending on the book you read, has an annual monetary handle ranging from half a trillion dollars to a trillion and a half dollars. Estimates on the percentage of this money that actually gets involved in creating jobs and expanding the economy, again depending on the book you read, range from three per cent to one third of one per cent of the total handled. The rest is pure and simple gambling. In fact, some rather unsavory odors emanate from this colussus from time to time.

Five per cent of a trillion dollars is $50 billion. Wouldn't a five per cent tax on all stock exchange transactions be a logical place for a socially oriented government to carry out the rest of its mandate? Such a tax, on the funds currently circulating among investment houses, and being eroded by brokerage commissions, might even force some of this money out into the marketplace, and create some jobs and expand the economy. Isn't that what it's all about?

A. Macdonell,

society, particularly against women. Words DO make a difference, and words that demean must not be tolerated.

Our daughter Brigid told us of a poll that was conducted while she was a student at Trent University. The question was: "What do you fear most on a date?" The boys answered "Being rejected." The girls answered "Being killed."

Truth must take priority over unity in church

To the editor:

I have read with great interest the two recent letters to the Glengarry News, from the presbyterian ministers. The letter written by the pastor of the Maxville church has inspired me to speak out.

First one must establish that to deny the resurrection of Jesus is to deny his Deity. This is outlined in the Westminster Confession of Faith, that is foundational in Rev. van Bruchem's denomination. The fact that Christ reappeared with the same body in which he suffered is also outlined in Chapter 8 section 4 of the Confession. Paul has very specific teaching about the resurrection in 1 Corinthians 15:12 "But if it is preached that Christ has been raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? If there is no resurrection of the dead, then not even Christ has been raised. 14 And if Christ has not been raised, our preaching is useless and so is your faith."

Rev. van Bruchem argues that if anyone challenges a teacher or leader of the church then he is both divisive and lacks love. Does this also mean that any parent who corrects the actions of his child does not love that child? Rebuke and correction is common in the New Testament: (Titus 1:13) "This testimony is true. Therefore, rebuke them sharply, so that they will be sound in the faith." These are the words of Jesus when talking about a lukewarm church: (Revelation 3:19) "Those whom I love I rebuke and discipline. So be earnest, and repent."

Rev. van Bruchem then goes on to quote, out of context, a passage about reconciliation. The reconciliation mentioned in the passage is between the believers and God, not among the believers. (2 Corinthians 5:18-19) "All this is from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave us the ministry of reconciliation: 19 that God was reconciling the world to himself in Christ, not counting men's sins against them. And he has committed to us the message of reconciliation." Christ often demands from us an answer that can divide: (Luke 12:51-53) "Do you think I came to bring peace on earth? No, I tell you, but division. 52 From now on there will be five in one family divided against each other, three against two and two against three. 53 They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

Mr. Simpson is then attacked for condemning the Body of Christ. What he was criticizing was false teaching by some leaders of the Church. A special place is reserved for teachers that lead others astray: (2 Peter 2:1) "But there were also false prophets among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you. They will secretly introduce destructive heresies, even denying the sovereign Lord who bought them -- bringing swift destruction on themselves." (Luke 17:1-3) "Jesus said to his disciples: 'Things that cause people to sin are bound to come, but woe to that person through whom they come. 2 It would be better for him to be thrown into the sea with a millstone tied around his neck than for him to cause one of these little ones to sin'.

Church unity is an important issue. Unity, however, cannot become dominant over truth. "Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will in all things grow up into him who is the Head, that is, Christ." (Ephesians 4:15 NIV).

Yours sincerely,
Brian Young, M.D.,
RR #1, Maxville.

Cycle shop owners get permission to sell bikes

By Greg Kielec
News editor

Owners of a motorcycle shop in Alexandria, have received permission from the town to also sell the vehicles.

Peter Grace and his business partner made the request at a recent Alexandria council meeting, but said motorcycle sales would not be the main part of their business.

They said getting council's okay would allow them to sell the occasional motorcycle that they pick up at an auction. But they will not have their whole front lot full of motorcycles to sell.

"Now I'm not going to load up the front of the parking lot with motorcycles. I can't afford to do that," Peter told council Sept. 27.

His problem is that under the existing bylaw governing what uses are allowed for the property, the sale of vehicles is prevented.

"I know there were vehicles sold before, but under the bylaw it is prevented," said Terry Hart, town planner for Alexandria.

And Councillor Roger Lemieux said council could issue a letter supporting the non-conforming use proposed for the building, "but we'd be kind of skating on thin ice."

Peter said he wants to go by the rules and not undertake a practice that may contravene the zoning bylaw; that is why he has come to council seeking its permission for the change.

He added, he could take council members to a place in Alexandria, where an illegal dealership is being operated, where there are 10 vehicles in the driveway without licence plates.

Another problem, according to Lemieux, was a similar request from a person just 200 ft. down the road was turned down by council a couple of years ago.

"It was cars instead of motorcycles, but we never even gave him the chance to apply because we told him the neighbors wouldn't accept it."

That person would have the right to object to a zoning change on the motorcycle shop property, he said.

If a zoning change was required, neighbors within a certain area would be notified and have the right to object to the change.

Hart said he would check to see if motorcycle sales could be allowed as an accessory use for the business under the present zoning.

Hart said last week, he had checked and that the sale of motorcycles is permissible on the property as an accessory use.

He has sent a letter to the business owners giving them the go-ahead to sell motorcycles as an accessory to the main use.

Hart said motorcycle sales is permissible because it will be an an accessory use to the main business of parts and service.

If the owners wished to make motorcycle sales the main part of their business, it would not be permissible as an accessory use.

Farm meeting serves up news, elections

The environment, ethanol plant plans, and the election of new officers were all on the menu at the Stormont Federation of Agriculture annual dinner and meeting, held Oct. 6, 1994.

Rene Lalonde urged the group gathered at the Moose Creek Community Centre to participate in the Environmental Farm Plan.

So far, 18 farmers have taken the intensive course which promotes environmentally-sound farm practice.

The Stormont Environmental Farm Plan Committee is hoping to hold three or four Farm Plan workshops this winter, with 15 to 20 participants to a workshop.

Bud Atkins, president of the Seaway Valley Farmers Energy Co-op Inc., whetted the group's appetite with the "teaser" that plans for an ethanol plant will be announced by month's end.

The Stormont Federation of Agriculture's new officers are: President Joseph Krol, Vice-President Barbara Ann Glaude and Secretary-Treasurer John Van Turnhout.

Regional Director is John Van Turnhout, and co-ordinators are Johan Spapen of Finch, Keith Seguin of Cornwall, Marcel Legault of Roxborough and Hans Kaack of Osnabruck.

Co-ordinators at large are Joe Jackson, Ian Hunt, Garry Howes and Allen Winters.

Guest speaker Gisele Grignon of The Word Farm, reported on the progress of the book Stormont Agriculture: 1944-94 and encouraged farmers to "grab the spotlight."

"Farmers must be the most reluctant heroes I've ever met -- with the possible exception of Victoria Cross holders and Mother Theresa."

Community hope builds for Johnson building cultural resources at Parks Canada, which is responsible for the building, explained that budgetary restraints over the years had resulted in the lack of action to restore the house.

He said that since 1971, exterior preservation had been maintained, to make it "weather-tight" to ensure it would survive.

Williamstown resident, Mike Caron, asked Whitham, if it was the government's intention on taking over the house to "just have a shell?"

"It's ridiculous, said Caron, "You might as well have a picture of it."

Whitham agreed that use of the building was important, and said that in 1972 there had been a plan for the house, but that "money had been cut in half" that year.

"Our intention would have been to do more for it. Unfortunately that has been the history in dealing with this building," he admitted, adding that the Manor House situation was not unique among the buildings for which Parks Canada is responsible.

Chairman of the meeting, David Anderson, asked Whitham if community support would make a difference in receiving help to re-establish the house.

"Do we have some hope that if we form a committee, there will be a future for the building?," he asked.

Whitham and Parks Canada architect Maria Terrence, both replied emphatically.

"Yes," said Whitham. "If a community group is willing to work with us, we will work very hard with you."

Whitham then cited examples, (Inverarden in Cornwall, for instance), where community groups have worked with, and operated buildings owned by Parks Canada.

Ideas from the audience for possible future use of the unoccupied portion of the building -- the Williamstown Branch of the SD&G County Library system has been a tenant since 1974 -- included an interpretation centre, gathering place, an Elderhostel, or a health care centre, with possibly just the downstairs and oldest section of the building being restored first.

Many residents expressed desire to spruce up the lawns and gardens of the more than eight acres of land on the property.

"The lawns were always beautiful, always kept up," said Williamstown resident, Isobel Larocque, who remembers the house as it was before the government acquired it.

Rick Desormeaux of Human Resources Development Canada in Cornwall, said his program had funds available up to $50,000 for Glengarry in the area of tourism or heritage, using unemployment insurance recipients as labor.

Desormeaux said these workers could be guided by Parks Canada staff.

Terrence said that in view of the ideas that were coming from the public, "a feasibility study was due." Desormeaux said his program could help with that.

Ontario Heritage Foundation representative, Brian Rogers, of Toronto, also supported the idea of a study.

"These feasibility studies are something that the community needs," he said.

A call for volunteers for a committee to work with Parks Canada elicited the names of about 20 people who said they would be willing to give their services.

Boudria said he was impressed by the response. "I hope that in 10 years we can all get together and say, 'Remember how we all got together to get this done?' "

Anderson replied, "Should our enterprise prosper, Mr. Boudria's name will be among those at the top of the list to receive our thanks."

Hepatitis B vaccinations for Grade 7 students

Parents are being reminded that Grade 7 students can be immunized against hepatitis B, thanks to a school-based program beginning this fall.

Hepatitis B can cause permanent liver damage and scarring, and can be fatal. It's the leading cause of liver cancer in the world.

Although there's no cure for hepatitis B, it can be prevented with a vaccine, explains Dr. Robert Bourdeau, medical officer of health.

"It's important that young people are protected before they're exposed to the virus."

Public health unit nurses give the students three injections over a six-month period -- the first one, early in the school year, the second a month later, and the last injection five months after the second injection.

The vaccine may also be bought from local pharmacies with a prescription. Parents who want to have their other children vaccinated should discuss it with their family doctor.

Schools are providing information about the program and immunization forms which must be signed by a parent or guardian and returned to the school.

For more information please call, 1-800-267-7120 or your local health unit office.

Fundraiser dance nets $700 for Ruins

A dance on Saturday, Sept. 24 sponsored by the Glengarry Club of Ottawa, in conjunction with Friends of the Ruins of St. Raphael's Inc. raised $700 in aid of the cause.

Night Train, under the leadership of Marc Girard, brought the sounds of the Big Band era to the Bonnie Glen.

At the half-way intermission Cindy MacMillan, President of the Glengarry Club, presented the proceeds of the dance to E. H. Tourangeau, Chairman of the Board of Friends of the Ruins of St. Raphael's Inc. Mr. Tourangeau thanked the Glengarry Club for sponsoring the gala evening and all who participated in any way, adding that the Friends of the Ruins are just getting off the ground.

He announced that the Deed to the Ruins and the property have been transferred from the Township of Charlottenburgh to Friends of the Ruins of St. Raphael's Inc., and wrought iron gates will be installed in all entrances to the Ruins as a safety precaution. The Ruins will be open to the public after some of the essential work has been done; he mentioned the stairs inside the front entrance as one example. The first $5,000 (of five more instalments to come on an annual basis) has been received from the township of Charlottenburgh. The chairman emphasized that the friends of the Ruins need a lot of help.

Neil MacDonell then acknowledged the recent appointment of Don Boudria to the position of Chief Government Whip and, after a big hand from the crowd, Mr. Boudria expressed his appreciation for the invitation on behalf of himself and his wife Elaine. After commending the Friends of the Ruins commitment to restore and preserve the Ruins as a worthwhile cause, he proceeded to quote the following lines from their brochure: "St. Raphael's was not built in a day and it will not fall in a day. It was built with patience and courage, stone by stone; it will be rescued with patience and courage, stone by stone." He added that we neglected to include one word and that word was "determination."

After Neil introduced Fiona Fraser and Pipe Major J. T. MacKenzie, the sound of the bagpipes filled the Bonnie Glen. Then, accompanied by Anne McKenna on the piano, Fiona sang Ken MacRae's "Glengarry My Home," followed by her rendition of the Burning of St. Raphael's by Irene and Rob Taylor. It was an enjoyable interlude.

During the evening, tickets were sold on a beautifully dressed 20-inch-tall mouse donated by Jeanne Renaud of Alexandria; Jeanne is appreciated for her craft work as a member of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. Over $170 was raised by the draw for the mouse.

Just before lunch, Don Boudria drew the first ticket and Mary McDonell, Treasurer of the Ottawa Club was the happy winner of the mouse; Mr. Boudria pulled a second ticket and Mary McDonell was once again the lucky albeit reluctant winner, yet delighted to accept the Friends of the Ruins T-shirt.

Rhea Collette of the Catholic Women's League, right, pins a white ribbon on Alexandria Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette. The pinning kicks off the White Ribbons Against Pornography campaign, a national effort against the violence and crime created by pornography. Sponsored by the C.W.L., the campaign runs from Oct. 24 to 31.

Fundraisers keeping Heart and Stroke folks busy

The Glengarry chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario has had a busy past few months.

It is following up on its successful July golf tournament to host its third annual choral festival at St. Finnan's Cathedral on Sunday, Oct. 23 at 2 p.m.

The Eugene Macdonald Memorial Tournament, held at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club on July 22, raised almost $7,500 in aid of heart research, one of the highest totals raised in the tournament history.

Some 158 golfers participated in the tournament, which was won by John Turnbull who had the low gross of 72. The highest pledge total of $730 was won by Nicole Tourangeau. Low net was won by Andre Cholette. Lady's low gross went to Julie Hope with 79 and lady's low net was won by Lynn Savoie.

The choral festival this Sunday will feature both sacred and secular pieces. Participating choirs will include St. Finnan's Choir, the Gaelic Choir and Cornwall's Centennial choir. Other performances will include musical duets and solos, with organ music provided by Suzanne Labelle.

Everyone is welcome to this relaxing afternoon of music. Donations will be accepted at the door with all proceeds going to the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario.

Local dairyman to judge continent's best

The Glengarry Farmer
by Ian Cumming 347-2949

Not since the late Carlyle Watt judged Toronto's Royal Winter Fair for the second time in 1961, has a Glengarry dairyman been bestowed the honor. Thirty-three years later this November, Martintown's Donald Johnston will judge several hundred of North America's best Holsteins. It's the equivalent within the profession of being a finalist at Wimbledon or a quarterback in the Super Bowl.

Donald and his wife Nancy's Cherry Crest Farm, just west of Martintown, was purchased a decade ago. Milking, showing and marketing superior Holsteins is their forte. Their skill hasn't gone unnoticed, with Donald judging throughout North America, Australia, Columbia, Ireland, and now voted by his peers to do the Royal. He is one of the youngest ever to be given the honor.

I've only shown under him once, when he fulfilled his and every other Eastern Ontario dairyman's dream of judging the Ayrshire show at Ottawa's Capital Agrifest. Other than one colossal blunder of placing a magnificent yearling -- mine -- second last, it was a masterful performance. All the qualities were there; intense concentration, confidence, impartiality, ease within the ring, style and diplomacy.

Also a judge -- like a columnist -- needs thick skin to handle the inevitable criticism. Carlyle Watt's son-in-law J. J. MacLeod told me that he and Carlyle would go around to the exhibitors a day after the show, letting tempers cool down. This puzzled me since Carlyle Watt feared no one, but on reflection I think he feared what a MacLeod (like anyone from Glen Nevis) would do to someone who got lippy.

What makes a diaryman a great judge -- compared to another? Everyone has an explanation. The Scots claim that a man's ability to see beauty and grace in a lady enables him to see the same in cattle. Anne, the wife of fellow columnist Ken McKenna, once told me that she had a photo of a champion Scottish Ayrshire which was named after her. It's obvious (I hope I can get away with this) that its owner was one Scot who was a judge "extraordinaire."

In Donald's case however, Campbell Murray feels credit goes to his wife Nancy. She's a daughter of John Beerwort from Knowlton, Que. -- the Gordie Howe of judges. He imparted all his skill and knowledge upon his children. All three daughters then married "likely lads" and proceeded to make them nearly as smart as themselves.

It's also a combination of inherited skill and master tutors throughout one's life. Donald's father had a superior "Cherry Crest" Holstein herd that boasted top genetics like paternal sisters of Rockdale President. It had to be him that fostered the love and pride of great cows in his young son. A heart condition however forced the sale of their Navan-based farm when Don was only seven. Tragically, as a high school youth, his dad died.

Another member however stepped forward to guide and tutor this skilled youth -- his sister's son. Howard Morrow of Maxville, Master Breeder with his famed Morrowdale Holsteins. It was he who provided Don the opportunity to spend summers working with quality cows and showing 4-H calves. They shared a common love, with Mrs. Morrow complaining that all they did was "talk cow."

The foundation was laid which resulted in a degree in agriculture, sire analyst for Eastern Breeders and now owning and operating his own farm. It is a feat that is admirable and astounding considering all the rest of us who had support from an existing farm, who haven't achieved one-half.

"Royal Day" will be the pinnacle of this extraordinary career. There will be a nervousness (all good judges are), but also a pardonable pride when placing the world's best cows, in front of a capacity crowd of elite cowmen from around the globe.

If you're a Glengarrian you'll probably spot Howard amidst the throng at ringside; his ever present grin will be wider than usual and his chest buttons a might snug. It's understandable. You've done him proud D.J.!

Micheline McRae thanked Mr. Boudria and presented him with a piece of pottery, made of Glengarry clay, by Raymond Poulin, Pine Grove. Lunch and time of fellowship followed.

Myrna MacSweyn kindly gave me this report of Laggan Public School.

The senior boys and senior girls soccer teams will be participating in a tournament this Saturday, Oct. 22 at Pleasant Corners Public School. The tournaments begin at 9 o'clock and runs until 4 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to stop over and cheer on the teams.

The first of the Hepatitis B vaccines was administered to Grade 7 students on Thursday. Although there were many apprehensive students beforehand, the end result was the school didn't lose one student to the dreaded needle! The school can thank nurses Aileen Cross and Lynn MacGillivray for their gentle ministrations. The second injection will be administered on Nov. 17 and the last one will be in April.

Fire Prevention Week brought a visit from the Alexandria Fire Department. Students performed an emergency evacuation and got praise from the firemen for the efficient manner in which the school was emptied.

This week is Bus Safety Week and students in senior grades will be seeing videos with explanations of three types of school bus evacuation procedures. On Wednesday morning, shortly after buses arrive, the entire student body will practice bus excavation.

Also on Wednesday the Lung Association will be visiting and has a series of informative sessions planned for Grades 1, 3, 5 and 8. There are more lung associated diseases now than ever before and parents should be sure they have informed the school of any such illnesses their child may have (asthma, bronchitis, allergies, etc.).

The volunteer program is getting under way with much assistance from Doreen Abrames for the organization. If any parent or relative has some available hours and has not yet phoned to volunteer their time, please feel free to do so. No experience necessary!

Vicky Hardy has agreed to write this report on the Laurier-Carriere Separate School, Glen Robertson, as it is this school some students from Dalkeith area attend.

Congratulations to Craig Leger on having been chosen "Student of the Month" by the Optimist Club. Bravo Craig!

The whole school was sorry to hear about Derek Legault's hospitalization. Fortunately he is doing much better. All the children have sent him their prayers.

Last week representatives from the fire department visited the school to conduct a fire drill. Everything ran smoothly and in record time. The students also received information on fire prevention.

Oct. 21, Grades 4, 5 and 6 are off to Alfred College for a day of communing with nature and some aquatic fun. Enjoy.

Volleyball practices will be starting soon. Girls and boys are welcome to participate.

Parents please check your youngest child's school bag for any flyers or circulars sent by the school. You might find a wealth of information.

Geranium mystery solved

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

I love this place. Remember last week when I asked for information on the library's missing geraniums? The very next morning I received not one, but TWO calls informing me of their whereabouts, and not one, but TWO residents declaring themselves guilty and repenting their sins! It reminded me of those bizarre cases where people who can't possibly be guilty, confess to crimes they didn't commit.

"Put me in stocks and ridicule me in a public place," said one of the culprits, while the other, who turned out to be the actual thief, (on instructions from the boss), wept into the receiver.

But all is well. In being snatched from the veranda of the library and basemented in a local house, the geraniums survived our frosty nights and, as such, live on.

Oh, and by the way, "the boss" happens to be the head of the organization which donated the plants in the first place!

My faith is restored.

People who care about the finer things in life (like old historic buildings) turned up in respectable numbers at the meeting at the museum to discuss the future of the Manor House.

Don Boudria was impressed. "Where else in Ontario would you find 50 people out on a lovely fall night, out of a community of 400?" he asked.

More details on the meeting can be found elsewhere in the paper, but suffice it to say, the movement has started. After eliciting the promise of Parks Canada that it would work closely with local residents, a committee has been formed and has lost no time in starting the big job to mend the building.

A sprucing bee will be held over a series of Saturdays, starting Nov. 5, to restore the windows in the library section of the building to their former sparkling grandeur. A grounds clean-up will take place prior to snowfall, and Parks has been presented with a proposal to "render the two original spaces as worthy of visiting and viewing."

When it's all done, let's have a party!

Maybe by the time Williamstown's youngest resident is a teenager, she will be able to attend functions at the Manor House on the scale of those held during the days of Col. Robertson or Lionel Devaux.

Yes, unless there has been born someone in the meantime of whom I am not aware, Maria Martina Agnes Krol, who arrived on Thanksgiving Sunday, is the youngest member of our Williamstown family.

Maria is the fifth child of Heidi and Michael Krol and is a sister for Sarah, Elizabeth, Matthew and Peter. If you want to know their ages, ask Michael around Christmas. At that time they will form one of those perfect arithmetic series -- 8, 6, 4, 2, and 0!

Leaders of St. Andrew's Sunday School would like to thank the community for its support during last Saturday's lawn clean-up. The children apparently had a good time and, it is hoped, learned a good lesson.

Ronald McDonald House in Ottawa will receive $80 because of their efforts.

One of Char-Lan High School's most respected principals, Ron McCabe, passed away on Oct. 9 in Cornwall.

Mr. McCabe served at the school as a teacher during the early sixties, later returning to Char-Lan as vice-principal, and then principal until 1985.

He will be remembered not only for his leadership, but for his personal integrity which earned him the respect of students and teachers alike.

Our sympathy is extended to his family.

The Friendly Neighbors' Oct. birthday party was held last Thursday at St. Mary's Centre.

Members honored for celebrating birthdays this month were Leopold Lauzon, Roger Pilon, and then Ileen Latreille. A birthday cake was made for them by Rena Major.

Ileen and Roger were both lucky, receiving the "high" for ladies and gents respectively in euchre. Other winners at cards were Alda Major and Austin Abrams.

The door prize of the day went to Germaine White, while Florida Legroulx won a special draw for jam.

Annette Chretien, Rena Major, Rita Poirier, Anna Krol and Catherine Gourlay were the 50/50 winners.

Glenn Dorie, 13-year-old son of Angela and Marcel Dorie of the Johnson Road, has reason to be excited these days. Glenn will be among six 4-H members from Glengarry who will attend the Hays Classic at the Royal Agricultural Winter Show in Toronto next month.

Glenn earned the right to enter the prestigious show by coming second in his class at the 4-H Regional Championship in Ottawa last Friday. Glenn was showing his Jersey calf, "Meg" who was the Grand Champion Jersey Heifer at the Williamstown Fair in August.

Congratulations and good luck at the Royal, Glenn!

Williamstown welcomes Elizabeth (Beth) Brown to our midst. Mrs. Brown is really no stranger to us, being the mother of Elspeth Greer and Iain Brown, but she now has moved here (may I say permanently?) from the Montreal area.

Mrs. Brown is living in the Claire MacDonell house, previously the home of Rhea Noseworthy and family.

The Noseworthys, meanwhile, have made a gigantic move (around the corner and across the bridge) to the MacKinnon house.

Picnic Grove Women's Institute held its October meeting at the home of Pearl Rozon in Williamstown. There were 16 members present to hear Sharon Villeneuve speak of her work in promoting Operation Lookout -- a program whereby citizens can work with police in identifying impaired drivers and attempting to get them off the road.

Mrs. Villeneuve showed the group a video and spoke of her personal experiences.

Hostesses for the evening were Margaret McLennan, Grete Grzegorek, and Pearl Rozon, who served a delicious lunch.

Congratulations to Picnic Grove on winning the McArthur trophy at the Williamstown Fair for the third consecutive year!

Williamstown Brownies are alive and thriving. The group of 25 girls and their leaders, Lynn Larkin, Lynn Lafave, Elizabeth Desjardins, and Sarah Kinloch, had a delightful outing recently to Cooper Marsh.

Parents came along as well, and as we all know with a group of youngsters, "the more hands, the lovelier the day!"

* * *

"Good deal, good cause," said the paper which my fax machine jerked out the other day.

"Hmmm. Tell me more" I said to myself.

"Come and find a bargain!" it continued.

"Where?" I asked.

"At the garage sale at Char-Lan High School this Saturday, Oct. 22 from 9 a.m. until 12 noon in the school cafeteria," the paper told me.

"For what reason?" I asked.

"To help fund the school's show, "Rock and Roll' coming up in December."

The fax ended.

So have I.

Session to be held describing elder abuse

Martintown
by Lillian Rouleau

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was filled with friends and visitors who joined the congregation in celebrating the anniversary service of the church, Sunday, Oct. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Special music was provided by the Martintown Public School choir under the direction of Dave Irwin, with piano accompaniment by Penny Stokes. Rev. Ian MacMillan led the service and introduced the guest speaker, Rev. John McPhadden, minister in Ormstown and Rockburn, Quebec.

Rev. McPhadden grew up in Martintown, and his family owned and operated McPhadden General Store. He reminisced about growing up in the St. Andrew's Sunday School,, with Mrs. Miller as his teacher, and going on to join the choir as a teen.

His sermon was entitled "The News that Really Matters," that being the telling of the "old, old story" of the Good News of the Gospel.

The service was followed by delicious refreshments prepared by the ladies of the church and a time of fellowship was enjoyed by all.

St. Andrew's Youth Group will meet at the home of Ian and Jane MacMillan on Saturday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. to view a movie and have a discussion time followed by refreshments.

Iona Academy developing new course

St. Raphael's
Cathie MacDonald
525-1174

Iona Academy is developing a new project.

It is a "Hebertism" course which stresses co-operation, safety and team work.

A Herbertism course can best be described as an obstacle course where teams working together meet the challenges faced by obstacles and proceed to the finish line.

This past Saturday, Rick Blanchard and helpers set up the first four of 12 stations (obstacles). Others will be added later.

The Grades S.K., 1 and 2 are going to visit Pumpkinland next week for a fun day.

Family and friends of Jean Guy and Reina Levert gathered in St. Raphael's Parish Hall on Saturday night in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary.

CWL members busy

At their monthly meeting chaired by President Lucille Malo last Tuesday, members decided to donate a new ciborium for the parish.

Members agreed to help youth attending the Chastity Conference in Cornwall with the sum of $10 each to help with their registration. They are also donating $25 to the overall project.

Members will participate in the letter-writing campaign to the Ministry of Education regarding equity funding for Catholic schools.

The white ribbon campaign against pornography will be carried out starting the weekend of October 23.

Linda Brunet is organizing a craft sale in the parish hall on November 19. Thirteen spaces are already booked.

Instead of a gift exchange among members at the forthcoming Christmas banquet on December 4, everyone will bring a gift of baby clothing to donate to Birthright.

Fruit drive

Singing twins, Danielle and Michelle James are participating in a fruit drive to raise funds for the spring tour of the SD&G Vocal Ensemble.

They are accepting pre-paid orders for Florida oranges and grapefruit which will be delivered sometime in late November.

The fruit can be ordered in quantities of 10, 20 and 40 lbs. The girls can be contacted at 528-4972.

Optimist Club

The Optimist Club will hold its regular meeting Thursday, Oct. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the community centre.

The guest speaker will be Kieran Kennedy, Grade 7/8 teacher at Martintown Public School.

His topic will be "Helping your Student Study Effectively."

Everyone is welcome. The meetings are followed by refreshments and fellowship.

Community garage sale

The community garage sale was held in the community centre Saturday, Oct. 15 with some 10 vendors offering their wares, and buyers coming in as early as 7:30 a.m.

The library had a wide range of topics covered with thousands of books (paperbacks and hard covers) on sale on the lower level.

The Optimist ladies had a lunch counter, offering sandwiches, squares and all sorts of delicious homebaked goods with beverages, and thus raised funds for the club activities.

Condolences

Condolences are extended to the family of Mrs. Jeanne Charlebois, who passed away recently at the age of 77.

Her funeral service was held Oct. 13th in St. William's Church, followed by cremation.

GDHS students learn to be leader

Eight GDHS students recently attended and successfully completed a Multicultural/Antiracism Leadership Program (SEVEC) near Westport.

Students from Grades 7 through OAC from schools throughout Eastern Ontario were in attendance. The students were involved in leadership activities, role plays and presentations related to antiracism. Many of the teacher/supervisors at the conference commented on the strong leadership skills and the high level of maturity that the Glengarry students possessed.

"Considering the wide range of schools in attendance, we should be very proud of our GDHS students," said principal Ed Turpin.

Among the students in attendance: Jaime Claude, Roseann Kerr, Jacinda Rudolph, Jeff Breckenridge, Jewel Morrison, Debbie Duval, Stephannie MacDonell and Becky Howes.

Barber shop poll back by popular demand

Glen Walter
by Ron Holla
931-2658

Your chance to vote

Although there is only one race on in Charlottenburgh township in the upcoming municipal election for the position of reeve, for a quarter you can vote before polling day and give some money to charity.

Back by popular demand, Gilles Bourgon of Gilles Barber Shop is setting up his election barber shop poll again this year. He admitted that the lack of contests for other positions dampened his plans for the poll initially, but believes that since there will be a contest for the top spot in the township that the poll should still be held.

"We'll call it a poll for one," Bourgon said.

Participation is very simple according to Bourgon. For one vote, one enters one quarter. Then the voter can make his intentions known.

"The money derived from the poll will be given to charity," Bourgon said. "Last election we collected over $200."

There has been such interest in Bourgon's poll that citizens of neighboring Cornwall are considering asking him to set up a similar one for the city's election, Bourgon added.

Real successful day

"Busy" and "really successful" were the words Betty Holden, president of Salem United's United Church Women in Summerstown, used to describe the annual Big Event held October 15.

"People were coming and going from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.," Holden said. "We are very, very satisfied with the turnout."

She estimated the Big Event raised over $1,700, surpassing last year's total and added the proceeds will be used for the upkeep of the church.

The most popular tables at the event were the baked goods table and the lunch counter, Holden said.

"The bake table was cleared out within two hours," she said.

"Lunches were sold out with the most popular items being fish rolls and chili."

Special mention was made of the Christmas decoration table operated by two UCW members, Lorna McLean and Betty Linnett.

"They donated their time and effort to the UCW and their table was full of big Santa Clauses and snowmen," Holden said.

Colorful trip

"A lovely ride" with colors "at their peak" were the words area resident Betty Holden used to describe the trip she and her husband Matt made Thanksgiving weekend to her daughter, Valerie Walters, in Sauble Beach on the Bruce Peninsula.

"The trees had turned quite a bit and it seemed everything was at its peak," she said. "We had good weather all the way."

Holden added that it had been a good visit.

Another school year at GDHS

New program offers peer counselling and academic tutoring

GDHS News
Sarah Viau

And so begins another school year at Glengarry District High School. True, the hallways still lead us the same way, the lockers still hold the bounty of forgotten lunches, the detention room still awaits reprimanded students, and the cafeteria still serves poutine, but, make no mistakes about it, GDHS is changing.

It has adopted a recent program, entitled Peer Counselling, in which privileged students are educated in such things as body language and effective listening so that they may be made available to their peers and for tutoring needs or just to talk.

Thus far, the Peer Counsellors have promoted the school's chocolate-almond fundraising campaign, held the first pep rally in 10 years, convened with the Grade 9 students to introduce this new program and acquire input, and have begun tutoring students in various areas of study.

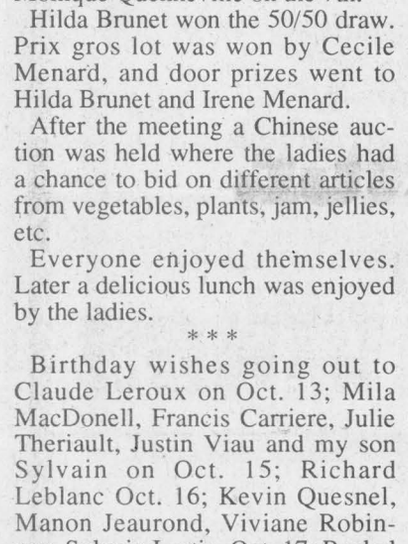
The program supervisor, Mrs. Donna MacGillis, is truly dedicated to the well-being of each student. Ed Turpin, our principal, has given this program his full support, as it is beneficial to both staff and students.

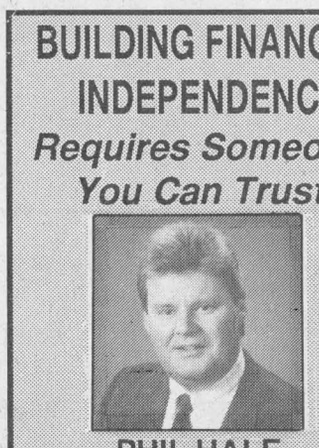
I feel confident in expressing my thanks to these two individuals, and to all other teachers, on behalf of everyone at Glengarry.

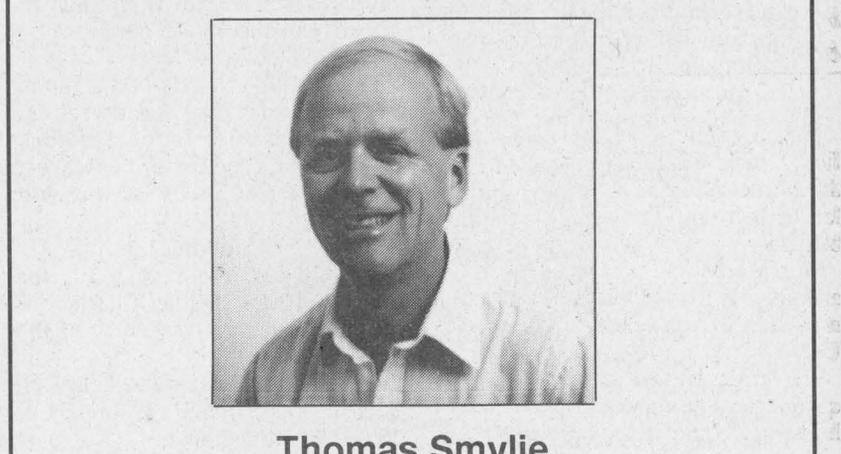
Congratulations to Mrs. Anne Ferguson-MacDonald on her marriage and to Mrs. Nancy Lister on the birth of her beautiful baby.

The senior and jazz bands have commenced a new year, and, once again, are fortunate to have Pierre Vaillancourt as our conductor. Also, the junior band has returned, and is under the instruction of Charles Dallaire, ESRG's replacement music teacher. Mrs. Lynn Besner-Lauzon will be missed.

Finally, I wish to inform you that the Junior Achievement Program will have its first meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 5. Mrs. Anne Ferguson-MacDonald has offered her guidance for this program. The panel of advisors is made up of local businessmen. Thanks to all community members who have given their support to this innovative idea.







UCFO has learning session on lifeline gadget

North Lancaster

On Tuesday, Oct. 11, the ladies of UCFO held their monthly meeting at the Ste. Therese School.

Thirteen members were present and Fleurette Major opened the meeting with the usual prayer and after welcoming the members, she presented the guest speaker Diane Legault who informed members on a fairly new gadget called "lifeline."

Diane works with the Hotel Dieu Hospital and explained, with the help of a video, how the program works.

This service offers protection and a sense of security to elderly persons who wish to live at home as long as possible.

The person in need wears a small bracelet (waterproof) and simply presses a button when help is required.

This activates the other part connected on your telephone jack and rings a bell at the hospital.

For more info you can call Lifeline Program at 938-4240.

Later on, the ladies showed their crafted paper fans which were made with the help of Stella Legros.

Winners of the 50/50 draw were Fleurette Major and Florence Claude. The door prize was taken by Bernadette Campeau and the craft prize by Angeline Poirier.

There will be an evening of craft making on Oct. 19 at the school where members can make a snowman out of a Javex bottle.

The next regular meeting will be on Nov. 8th.

UCW member celebrates 90th

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

The members of the Glen Sandfield United Church Women met at the former home of Greta MacMillan to help her celebrate her 90th birthday.

Mrs. MacMillan is now a resident at Maxville Manor but is a lifetime member of the Glen Sandfield UCW.

She was very well and seemed to quite enjoy being back in her old home in the hamlet for her party.

Her many cards graced the piano and all were filled with good wishes for her.

The ladies were welcomed by her two daughters, who had brought everyone together for this happy occasion; Helen MacLeod of Kirk Hill and Mildred MacPhee of Toronto, aided by Mrs. MacMillan's granddaughter Jocelyn MacGillivray, who graciously served a sumptuous lunch.

Afterward, everyone sang several familiar songs and hymns, as Greta MacMillan was a long-time choir member here, and still loves to sing.

Della MacDonald and Lorna Chapman sang a duet The Mansion over the Hilltop and Lorna Chapman sang a Gaelic solo called Leanabhan Aigh. Everyone enjoyed looking at a photo album of Mrs. MacMillan's 80th birthday tea in 1984, which included photos of the family as children, and some wedding pictures.

The guest of honor was presented with a lovely fall-colored silk flower arrangement and a fragrant potpouri from her UCW friends, as a memento of this special occasion.

Her daughter-in-law Grace MacMillan was busy taking pictures with her video camera all during the afternoon's festivities. What a wonderful keepsake this will be for the family, to have all this recorded.

She had a lovely time conversing a bit with everyone, and remembering the many pleasant times past when everyone had met in her home for meetings.

Kevin MacLachlan arrived late in the afternoon to congratulate her and stayed a while to chat.

Then on Saturday evening the family assembled for dinner at the house with Mrs. MacMillan.

May we add our most hearty congratulations for happiness and good health for a wonderful friend and a former choir member and dear neighbor, Greta MacMillan. She is often in our thoughts and always in our prayers.

Sunday morning worship service will be at 10 a.m. in Glen Sandfield and at 11:15 a.m. for East Hawkesbury on Oct. 23.

Candidates night planned

Business Beat

By Joe Banks, 525-2020

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce and The Glengarry News have once again agreed to co-sponsor an all-candidates night to permit town voters to see, question and talk to their contestants for council, school board and public utilities commission firsthand.

The candidates night is planned for Wednesday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Each candidate will be permitted to introduce themselves with a short speech, and a question-and-answer session will follow. Other details concerning time limitations on speeches and others have yet to be finalized.

Everyone is welcome.

First tournament lauded

Alexandria chamber President Dean Picher reported at the monthly meeting that the chamber's first golf tournament netted the organization almost $1,000.

The tournament, held in late September, drew 65 golfers.

The president said he felt the timing was excellent for the tournament and reported that club manager Jim MacDonald felt it was a good wrap-up tournament to the golfing season.

Picher, who organized the tournament with Blake Hambleton and Jean Vaillancourt, said the match took up over $3,800 in expenses but much of that won't be required for next year.

Alexandria gets info kit

A new information package on the town was distributed to chamber members at its October monthly meeting.

Project coordinators Francine Richer and Dean Picher told the board several volunteer hours had been employed assembling the kits, which are attractively-embossed folders with several promotional materials and brochures inside.

The kit project was a joint undertaking between the chamber, the town and a Challenge "94 grant.

Some of the kits have already been distributed. Glengarry Memorial Hospital CEO Kurt Pristanski has requested 150 of them to distribute to physicians who may be interested in locating here.

"Something like this puts a value on our town," board member Sheila Olson said. Other board members praised the kit and felt it would serve as an outstanding promotional vehicle.

The board agreed to assemble and distribute more kits as they are needed.

In other business...

The chamber agreed by resolution to set aside $300 for the annual lighting of the Christmas tree and caroling parade.

It also agreed to spend $35 on a wreath for the annual Remembrance Day festivities.

The next meeting of the chamber is planned for Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Lancaster chamber notes

The Lancaster District Chamber of Commerce realized a $2,943 clear profit from its July 1st activities, President Barbara Menard reported to the organization at its September meeting.

She said the money was divided between the seven participating groups who all got their original $600 seed money returned plus an additional $420.

Later in the meeting, board member Isabelle Marchant said she would like to use some of the July 1 money towards purchasing tulips for the "Tulip Tribute", a legion-proposed initiative aimed at commemorating those who served at home during the war. The organization is encouraging Canadians to plant and dedicate tulips and, in turn, for every bulb planted and itemized another will be planted in Ottawa.

Board member Robert Menard felt that due to the fact that the chamber is short of funds, that each merchant be approached to buy their own bulbs at 30 cents each.

However, a motion by Marchant that the chamber buy 300 bulbs and that the village have them planted, was passed.

Chamber talks Christmas

Lancaster's annual Santa Claus parade is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 3, President Barb reported to the board.

She reviewed and explained the annual "Lucky Bucks" Christmas promotion and asked if there were any other ideas. Isabelle Marchant volunteered to be on the committee to organize the event.

Arena renovation costs mounting

Costs are mounting on $81,000 renovations for Glengarry Sports Palace Recreation Director Mike Depratto told Lochiel council Oct. 11.

Lochiel, one-quarter owner of the palace, along with Alexandria and Lancaster, already wrote a cheque for $10,000 share of renovations this year.

Depratto warned, "this is a $3.5 million building which has not been renovated for 19 years."

He said the Sports Palace needs roof work and coating in the future, which could be one-third covered by an infrastructure grant.

So far this year Lochiel will spend $65,000 on the sports palace; $10,000 for renovations, $25,000 on an estimated operational loss, and $30,000 for township children to play hockey and take figure skating lessons.

The $30,000 subsidizes township area children at $250 each, for figure skating and hockey activities.

Depratto said tables had been given by an anonymous donor and 500 new chairs bought for bingo nights.

A new aluminum ceiling costing $3,400 was installed to absorb heat and save on cooling costs over the ice surface.

Mercury vapor lights were replaced with halogen lights, burning 18,000 less kilowatt hours of electricity each year, a saving on the $100,000 yearly utility bill.

The $150,000 costs for re-building boards around the ice surface will be paid for over five years by selling ad space on the boards Depratto reported. An ad board costs $1,250 a year. There are 24 boards for sale, 12 already sold.

Sélection Levac Furniture at your Service Since 1946

In 1946, Henri J. Levac started his own business. He wanted to be helpful to his fellow citizens by selling them wringer-washers, wood stoves, Beatty barn equipment and furniture. His son, Roch, joined him in 1948 and bought the business in 1959.

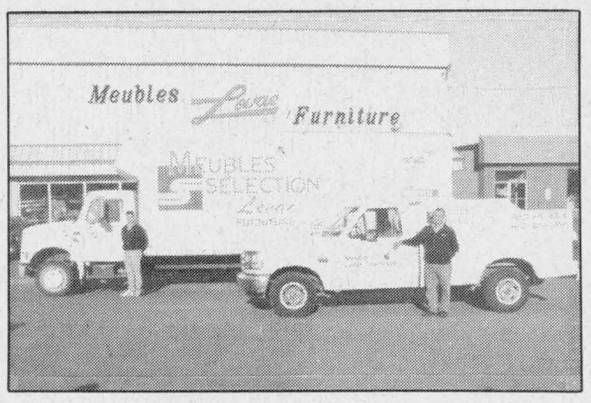
Meubles Sélection Levac Furniture has come a long way since its start in 1946. As a matter of fact, operations began in a 1,200 sq. ft. building on the corner of John and Main Streets . After two extensions, the building measured 4,000 sq. ft. Daniel arrived in 1983 and Nicole, in 1987. With the arrival of new blood and a desire to better serve his ever-growing clientèle, Roch started building his present locale at 5676 Route 34 in Vankleek Hill.

This 24,000 sq. ft. store allows him to offer his customers a varied choice of quality furniture, well-known household electrical appliances at competitive prices and a very personalized service. In 1993, in preparation for a well-deserved retirement, Roch handed the business over to his three children. Yves, having opted for a different career, Daniel and Nicole became the new owners of the business. They fully realize that their success is the result of fine team work. May we now introduce you to the competent and reliable members of our team. Each one enjoys serving you.

For 22 years, Rhéal Cyr has been competently delivering the merchandise. His long experience has made him very aware of the needs of the customers and he does his utmost to serve them well.

For seven years now, our salesman Normand Nepveu has received and labelled the goods. He is also responsible for the general maintenance of the store. He is a very special handyman.

Sylvain Lavoie who is very close to his customers, is our specialist in electronics and has been with us for five years.



For two years, our salesman, Pierre Beauregard, has been treating his customers as he would his friends.

Our secretary (six years), Hélène (Beaudry) Lauzon, is responsible for accounts receivable and data processing. Our newcomer, Natasha Ouimet, secretary (one year), helps out in accounts receivable.

Dany Boutin (one year) unpacks, delivers and installs the furniture.

Daniel, salesman, is responsible for purchasing and customer service. He also schedules delivery time.

Nicole, salesperson, is responsible for accounting, accounts payable and inventory.

All our salespersons are excellent furniture advisors.

After 46 years, Roch still enjoys meeting with his old and new customers.

The association with Sélection Furniture allows Levac Sélection Furniture to take advantage of its buying power, thus enabling us to offer our clientele an excellent price/quality ratio.

Our team is excellent: allow us to prove it to you. With us, a satisfied customer will bring another one.

Thank you for your support.

Glens goalie Kevin Lemire gets trapped in his own net as players from Alexandria and Kemptville surround the crease. Lemire backstopped the Glens to a pair of wins on the weekend, including an 8-2 decision over the 73's.

Staff photo-J.L. Lefebvre

Glens move into tie for first

Nygel Pelletier is back in the line-up. Randy Gebbie has signed on as an overage player. Alexandria has moved into a tie for first place.

Yes, it was a better-than-average weekend for the junior B Glens, who chalked up a pair of wins - including an 8-2 decision over the Kemptville 73's on Friday and a 5-3 triumph over the Char-Lan Rebels in Williamstown on Saturday.

The victories come less than a week after a pair of back-to-back lacklustre performances had left head coach Robert Boisvenue disgruntled.

"We made the players skate pretty hard in practice on Wednesday," said Boisvenue. "A few of the players came to me afterwards and said: 'Bob, we get the message.'"

Part of that message involved strong defensive play, as the Glens lowered their team goals against average to four with this weekend's wins.

"I'm very satisfied with the way we played defensively. All the defencemen deserve lots of glory.

"Offensively, what's making me happy is that we're getting goals from different guys and we're not counting on one or two players for our offence."

On Friday, for example, the Glens had six different scorers. Richard Hutt and Carl Bougie each scored twice while Karl Hehn, Darcy MacDonell, Tim Graham and Adam Nicholson had single goals.

Then on Saturday, five others contributed a goal each - Luc Chaumont, Carl Cadieux, Randy Gebbie, Richard D'Aoust and Jason Hall.

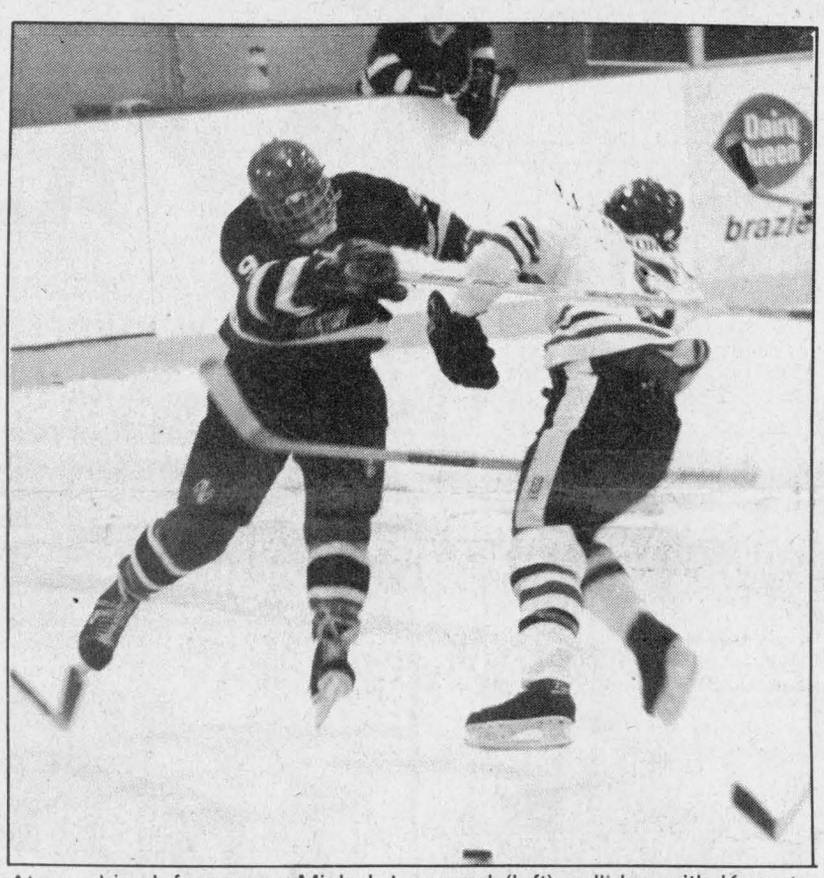
Pierre Rozon, Kevin O'Farrell and Dave Campbell replied for the Rebels.

Penalty-killers rally Glens

Special teams were a huge factor in Friday's win over the 73's.

After Kemptville jumped out to a 2-0 lead on goals by Aaron Heath and Eric Jensen, the Glens bounced back to take a 3-2 lead thanks to shorthanded tallies by Bougie and Nicholson and an even-strength goal by Hehn. The Glens put the game away by scoring four of their last five goals on the power play.

On Saturday, Alexandria had only one man-advantage goal, but the shorthanded unit killed off numerous Alexandria penalties.



Alexandria defenceman Michel Jeaurond (left) collides with Kemptville's Ryan Mahoney during first-period action on Friday.

One of the key factors in the emergence of Alexandria's special teams figures to be the return of Gebbie and Pelletier.

Gebbie saw penalty-killing duty nine seconds into his first game on Friday and spent some time on defence as well as his more customary left-wing.

On Saturday, Gebbie was playing forward full-time as Pelletier returned to the line-up for the first time since the opening weekend of the season as the Glens were finally able to negotiate the blue-liner's release from the Central League's Brockville Braves.

The return of Pelletier gives the Glens a good puck-handler to anchor the blue-line and a natural quarterback for the power play.

Glenformation: The Hawkesbury Hawks have taken yet another goaltender from the Glens. The Hawks have affiliated with Kevin Lemire while their starter is hurt and back-up Andrew Allan (who also belongs to the Glens) is suspended. Lemire has made five consecutive starts for Alexandria while Pascal Gasse has been out with a bad case of the flu...Do you get the impression that the 73's and Glens don't like each other? Games between the two clubs have often been very physical in the past few seasons, particularly at the Billy Gebbie Arena. Friday's game featured four fights, including a heavyweight tussle between a pair of defencemen - Richard D'Aoust for the Glens and Mike Hutt for the 73's. Hutt had the best of things early but D'Aoust got some solid punches in late when he was finally able to wrench off the Kemptville player's helmet...Our early candidate for best check of the year is Mike Jeaurond's bone-crushing open-ice hit against Kemptville's Ryan Mahoney on Friday. Mahoney had to stop to ask for directions on his way back to the bench...The Glens play in Winchester this Friday. The Lions are in town Sunday night.

Hole grows bigger for hard-luck Rebels

It may be too early to start panicking, but the Char-Lan Rebels are slipping further and further behind the other four teams in the St.Lawrence Division.

Despite being competitive in every game they've played thus far - the Rebels biggest losing margin has been three goals with a pair of two-goal and a pair one-goal deficits mixed in - Char-Lan is officially winless in its first five decisions this season.

The Rebs are now five points behind Winchester and Kemptville, although that margin will likely be reduced to five when the Rebels complete their Oct. 6 game against the 73's. Char-Lan was leading 9-5 with 12 minutes remaining in regulation time when the lights went out at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

This past weekend typifies Char-Lan's woes so far this season.

Despite outshooting their rivals, the Rebels dropped a 5-3 decision to the Alexandria Glens in Williamstown on Saturday night.

On Sunday in Morrisburg, the Rebels fell behind 3-0 after one period and 5-1 after 40 minutes before putting together a solid third frame to cut the final margin to 6-4.

The Morrisburg line of Chad Duguay, Chad White and Tim Waldroff did most of the damage for the Lions by combining for five goals and 14 points. Duguay had the hat trick while White, Waldroff and Mike McAllister added singles.

Brent Lauzon, Terry O'Farrell, Rob Curran and ex-Lion Ken MacLeod connected for the Rebs.

"We're definitely beating our heads into the wall right now," said Char-Lan coach Jeff Carter of frustration over the team's slow start.

"I thought we outplayed Alexandria for the most part, but (the Glens) took better advantage of their chances and that was the difference in the game.

"I'm not getting down or discouraged, but we'd better start winning some games, that's for sure."

As if dealing with the new, ultra-competitive St.Lawrence Division wasn't hard enough already, Carter has been forced to juggle his line-up because of injuries and suspensions, particularly to the team's defensive corps.

On Saturday, newly-signed overage defenceman Ken MacLeod sat out a one-game suspension which carried over from last year before making his debut in Morrisburg on Sunday.

The Rebels have since learned that MacLeod was assessed a match penalty for spearing while in the Lions' camp last month, and he'll have to sit out the next three games.

Paul Rozon - another veteran defenceman - played his first game of the year against the Glens after missing the first four games because of wisdom tooth surgery.

Rozon promptly picked up a fighting major in the final 10 minutes of the game and was forced to serve a one-game suspension on Sunday.

Meanwhile, second-year blue-liner Dan Carriere's junior B career was in limbo while he decided whether he could juggle post-secondary studies in Ottawa with hockey. After missing the last three games, Carriere is expected to be back in the line-up this weekend.

"Getting some veteran defencemen back in the line-up is going to make a difference," said Carter. "In the two games this weekend, we fell behind early and I think having a more experienced "D" will help us avoid that."

Carter points out that if the Rebels beat Winchester on Saturday, they'll only be one win under the .500 mark for the first seven-game segment of the season (that's assuming that the Rebels are able to successfully close the books on the suspended game against Kemptville).

"After that, I'm expecting to be .500 or better or we're going to start making some personnel changes."

The Rebs have already made one addition, signing former Char-Lan midget forward Scott Giroux. Giroux played his first game in Morrisburg on Sunday.

Rebel Yells: In addition to the aforementioned defencemen who have been missing in action at times this year, the Rebs continue to be without wingers Ian Laplante, who is nursing an ankle sprain, and Melvin Pyke, who has four games to go on a 10-game suspension. Kent McDonell picked up a hitting from behind penalty against the Glens on Saturday and he'll be unavailable until he serves a suspension with his "AA" major bantam team...Ken MacLeod was the Chumps Road Warrior award winner on Sunday. The St.Hubert players of the game against the Glens were Dave Campbell and Kevin O'Farrell...The Rebels host Winchester on Saturday and will be in Kemptville on Sunday.

Gaels host soccer semifinals

Char-Lan must hit the road in bid to gain SDG championship

The Glengarry senior and junior boys' soccer teams will play home semifinal games today in a bid to retain their respective Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry high school league championships.

The regular-season champion juniors will take on county rivals Char-Lan at 1 p.m. in a rematch of last year's dramatic SDG final.

While there was little to choose between the Gaels and the Crusaders last season, Glengarry is the heavy favorite this time around. The Gaels beat Char-Lan 4-0 during the regular season.

The other junior division semifinal has St.Lawrence playing Cornwall Collegiate.

In the senior division, the second-place Gaels will be hosting third-place St.Joseph's today in a game that is scheduled to begin at 2:15 p.m.

The Gaels were undefeated during the regular season, but a pair of ties allowed the Patriotes of La Citadelle to slip ahead of Glengarry for the regular-season championship. The Pats will host the Char-Lan Crusaders in today's other semifinal.

During the regular season, La Citadelle defeated Char-Lan 2-0 while Glengarry downed St.Joe's 5-1.

Regular season concludes

Both the Gaels and the Crusaders were in action as the regular season drew to a close last week.

On Tuesday, the Char-Lan juniors won two games, beating La Citadelle 3-0 and Rothwell-Osnabruck 7-0.

Kirk MacMillan, Tim McCuaig and Richard Malo scored against the Patriotes while McCuaig netted three goals against the Lancers. Derek Abrams had two goals in the R-O win while Malo and MacMillan had singles.

Meanwhile, the seniors lost 2-0 to La Citadelle and bombed Rothwell-Osnabruck 9-0.

John Racine and Ben Pregent each had a pair of goals while Jason Struthers, Garry Benson, Jeff Proctor, Spencer Roberts and Scott Giroux chipped in with singles.

On Thursday in Avonmore, the junior Gaels completed an undefeated and untied season by beating the Tagwi Warriors 4-1.

Jason Poll, Jason Nixon, Ian Wilson and Andrew Fraser accounted for the Gaels' offence.

The senior Gaels got a hat trick from Toni Boos in blanking Tagwi 6-0. Alain Decoste, Karl Hehn and Brennan Cameron also scored.

Nor'Westers live it up down east

By Derek Abrams
Special correspondent

Nor'Wester Katy Secord tries her hand at sea kayaking during the Char-Lan outdoor education club's trip to New Brunswick last month.

-Submitted photo

Ring! It's 3:10 p.m. and the bell to let school out has rung.

Just another normal Tuesday - go home, watch television and do homework. But not for 12 students and two teachers of Char-Lan District High School's Nor'Westers club.

Sept. 27 marked the day for a new journey, one which leads to Fundy National Park, New Brunswick, nearly 1,000 kilometres away from our home town of Williamstown.

By 4 p.m., we were ready to go - 14 anxious people, all of our clothes (packed for a week-long excursion from home) and gear packed into a van which seats 15 people. So off we went.

It all started last fall when a group of students formed an outdoor education club, now known as the Nor'Westers.

After trips to Frontenac Park, Algonquin Park and Bark Lake in all kinds of weather conditions, the two organizers behind the group - Craig Carlisle and Mona Le Blanc - decided to go bigger.

Camping, hiking or travelling through Ontario was not enough. They wanted better and larger adventures for their group, and that's what they got.

An application was sent to the Ontario Division of the Canadian School Sports Federation (better known as OFSAA) to attend the 1994 CSSF Outdoor Pursuits Jamboree, to be held in New Brunswick from Sept. 29 to Oct. 1.

The application was accepted and this small group of adventurers was picked to represent all of Ontario and show other kids of the nation what Ontarians are all about.

Now being a Nor'Wester myself and going along with 11 of my closest friends - Allan Alguire, Kevin Bard, Shawn Fields, Mark Harps, Jacin Lapointe, Natasha Lapointe, Jennie McIntosh, Shannon MacLeod, Cindy Pilon, Katy Secord, Tania Thauvette - plus two of the best (and wackiest) teachers around - Craig Carlisle and Mona Le Blanc - I knew this was going to be one of the best weeks of my life.

After one night of camping east of Quebec City, a time zone change and 12 to 13 hours on the road with no leg room, we were ready to see what this adventure down east had to offer.

Before arriving, we knew the intent of the jamboree (to give the opportunity to experience rock-climbing, rappelling, caving, coastal hiking, sea kayaking plus meeting the approximately 100 people from across the nation) but we got a lot more than we expected.

It's not often you jump down a 140-foot cliff with one rope keeping you from falling or see an underground lake in a cave and go kayaking in the ocean, plus much more in a span of three days.

I sometimes wonder how we survived.

Only getting about six to seven hours sleep a night in the chalets with four other people from different provinces of Canada. Our chalets suddenly became jungles, as some were forced to sleep on the floor or on boxsprings.

Yet the best night's sleep was still to come.

For all our hard work, on the last night we were shipped from Fundy National Park to Moncton and the Hotel Beausejour to get at least one good night's sleep.

Waking up the next morning was hard, not only because our bodies were drained and the knowledge of the long trip in the van that loomed before us, but mainly because of the good times we had together and having to leave the friends we had made from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

Although we may have been sad because it was now over, we were forced to think how lucky the 14 of us were, to be able to represent the millions of people in Ontario.

We are very thankful to all who helped support us: the SDG Public School Board, Char-Lan's Student's Council, Mr. and Mrs. Lapointe and all those who assisted in fundraising.

The ride home may have been long and tiresome, but many used their time wisely in the van to catch up on some lost ZZZ's while our teachers had no choice but to resort to Tim Horton's coffee to keep going.

But it was all worth it.

Where our next adventure lies, no one knows, but one thing is for certain - the East Coast will never forget the name Nor'Westers.

Defending champs upset on opening day of Cornwall indoor soccer season

Best Western got two goals from Danny Menard in handing two-time defending men's division champions Rudi Payer Sport a 5-4 loss on the opening day of the 1994-95 Cornwall Indoor Soccer League season on Sunday.

Andrew MacAnany, Dan Bastianello and Shawn Montroy had single goals for the winners while Rudi's attack consisted of two goals by Gareth Pye and singles by Phil Poitras and Pat Burke.

Meanwhile, 1993-94 finalists the Atlantic Storm started the new year on a winning note by whipping Jovana's 8-1.

Brian Cameron scored three times while Marc Seguin had a pair of goals. Mike Seguin, Travis Giroux and Shawn McClements also scored.

Garry Benson's five goals led the CIMF U2's to an 11-3 win over Jiggers.

Don Proctor and Taffy Pye each scored twice while Ben Pregent and Chris Smith had solo markers.

The Apple Hill Flyers - Glengarry's other men's division entry - were 11-0 losers to La Maison on Sunday.

In other men's division games, Filion Trophies downed Cornwall BBQ 6-4, Mr.Sub blasted Roadrunners II 14-0 and Roadrunners I got past the Osnabruck Cosmos 3-1.

Paddy's wins debut

Becky Howes scored the game's only goal as Paddy's edged Rudi Payer Sport 1-0 in a battle of first-year women's division teams.

Laura Urquhart had a stellar performance in goal to record the shutout.

The Minimax Hearts also put their first game of the year in the win column by defeating the Roelee Rovers 6-2.

Wendi Lawson had a hat trick for the Hearts while Bonnie MacLeod netted a pair of goals.

Carol MacLeod rounded out the scoring for Minimax.

The Rovers scorers were Christine Villeneuve and Trish Brown.

Lisa Frappier and Nancy Spofford scored to give Chumps a 2-1 win over Kirk Hill. Meghan MacPherson scored in a losing cause.

The Bergeron Chargers won by default over the Bootleggers in Sunday's other women's division game.

Old-timers get kicks in Sunday's action also marked the debut of the four-team old-timers' division, which includes two Glengarry clubs - the Atlantic Storm and Rudi Payer Sport.

Rudi's was a 6-0 winner over Pizza Hut in its opening game as Chris Armstrong, Pat Clarke, Les Bradshaw, Rodney Parkinson, Taffy Pye and Doug Gray all scored once.

Meanwhile, the Storm played to a 4-4 tie against the Ital-Can Rangers as D.A. MacMillan and Oliver Blacker each scored twice for the Atlantic.

Ron McCullough had a pair of goals for the Rangers.

Junior spikers stretch win streak to 15 games

The Glengarry junior boys' volleyball team remained unbeaten in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry high school league play with a pair of sweeps on home court Monday.

Marc Sauve's club received its stiffest challenge of the year from Seaway District High School, but the Gaels prevailed in straight games 15-10, 15-13 and 15-9.

Glengarry also swept the Cornwall Collegiate Raiders 15-10, 15-8 and 15-7.

The wins give the Gaels a perfect 15-0 record with three matches to go in the regular season.

Glengarry's final three opponents will be St.Joseph's, General Vanier and Tagwi.

Seniors break into win column

Jean-Yves Jeaurond's underdog senior club won for the first time this season by salvaging the final game against the Seaway Spartans.

After getting blown out 15-1 in the opening game, the Gaels were edged 17-16 in the second before winning the last game 15-12.

The Gaels' trend of starting slow and gradually improving was also evident against Cornwall Collegiate, as the Raiders beat the Gaels 15-4, 15-7 and 16-14.

Glengarry's next action will be next Wednesday when the Gaels travel to St.Joseph's Secondary School to take on the Panthers and the General Vanier Vikings.

THE INSIDE SCOOP
Best high school sports memory:
My best high school sports memory was in last year's track season at EOSSAA.

It occurred when I qualified for regionals in the open 2000m steeplechase by placing fifth overall. This was particularly memorable because I was a junior racing against seniors and it was only my second time in a steeplechase race.

Person who has most influenced you in sports (and how):
I would have to say that my family has most influenced me in sports. My Dad, Mom, sister and brother all run, which motivated me in many ways to get out and join in. Seeing all the medals that my sister got from running really inspired me to try and achieve what she had. My dad is likely the biggest influence since he is also my coach.

If you could be granted one sports-related wish, what would it be?:
If I was granted one sports-related wish, I would want to make it to the all-Ontarios in either cross-country or track, and come from behind to outkick Murray Link (Canadian national athlete who happens to run in SD&G under North Dundas H.S.) in a sprint finish for first place. Slam dunking a basketball would also be nice.

Something about yourself that your friends may not know:
My eyesight isn't 20/20 and so I need glasses. Most people don't know this because I never wear them.

Being shy or just plain stupid, I never wore anything to improve my vision until the end of last year when I got contacts. (Since I couldn't or wouldn't wear glasses in basketball games, I feel my play suffered being that I couldn't see the opposition or the net I was shooting at).

Senior Gaels even record with big win

The Glengarry senior girls' basketball squared its record to 2-2 with an impressive 52-22 win over the North Dundas Devils in Stormont Dundas and Glengarry high school league play on Thursday in Alexandria.

Julie Aube paced a balanced Gaels attack with 14 points, followed by Rachel Denner and Katharine MacLachlan with nine points apiece.

Meghan MacPherson chipped in with eight points for the Gaels, who broke open a relatively close game - Glengarry led 26-16 at halftime - by outscoring the Devils 26-6 in the second half.

The win puts Glengarry back in the hunt for a playoff spot in the "AA" division.

The Gaels get a tough test tomorrow when the St.Joseph's Panthers will be in town.

Bond shines again for midgets

Meanwhile, the midget Gaels and forward Tina Bond keep rolling along.

The midgets won their third game in four tries on Thursday, blasting North Dundas by a score of 34-10.

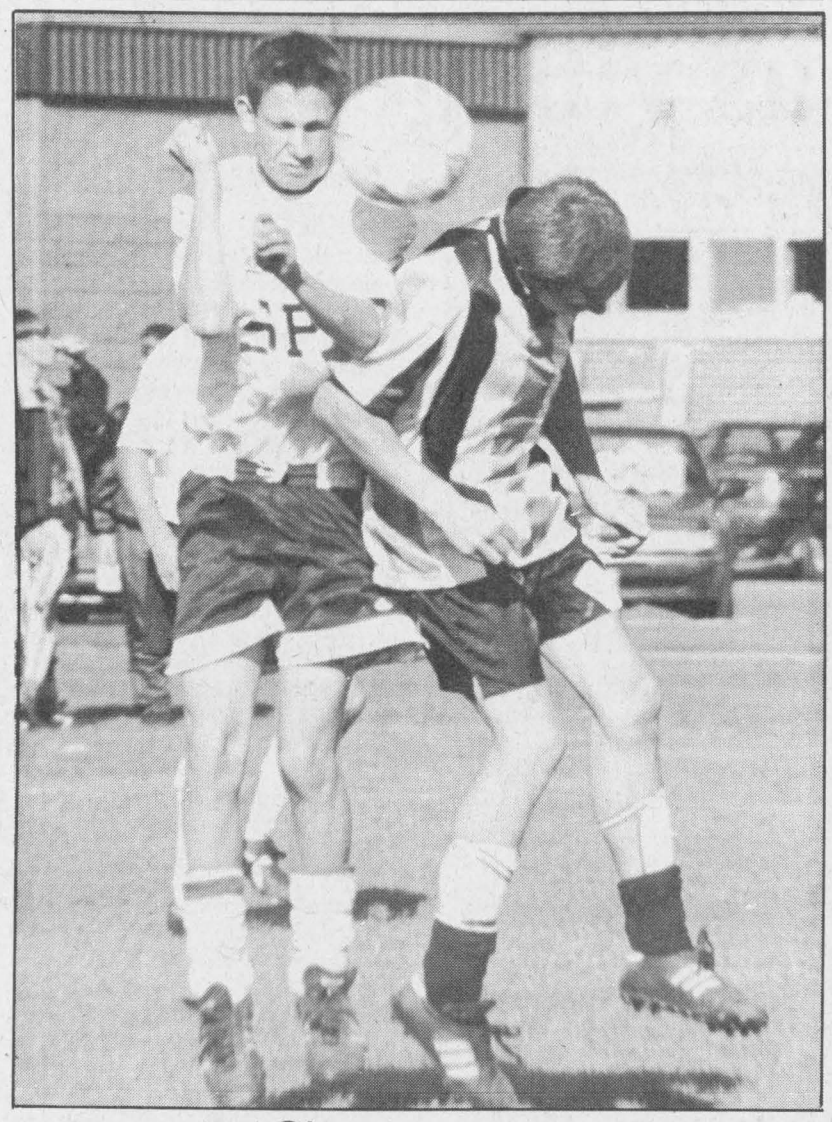
Bond recorded her fourth straight double-digit offensive performance for the Gaels, pouring in 16 points.

Erin MacDonell and Gwen Tuppert had four points apiece.

The Devils avoided a Glengarry sweep by defeating the winless junior Gaels 48-26.

Jill Byvelds led the Devils with 15 points while Mindy Holmes had 10.

Lauren Gray led the Gaels attack with nine points. Katie Danaher added seven points.



Close quarters

Senior Gael Toni Boos (right) and a St.Pius player bump together while trying to get a head on the ball during high school soccer tournament action at Glengarry on Saturday. St.Pius went on to win the senior crown with a 4-0 win over St.Mark's while the host Gaels repeated as junior champs by tying St.Pius and recording wins over St.Joseph's and St.Mark's.

Lawson's hat trick leads Tapis Richard to second straight Ladies Sponge Puck victory

Tapis Richard Ranger Carpet won its second straight game to start the 1994-95 Alexandria Ladies' Sponge Puck League season by blasting M and D Sports 7-0 last Wednesday night at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

Wendi Lawson paced the Tapis offence by scoring three times and adding a pair of assists.

Lawson has a total of seven goals in Tapis' first two games.

Ann McMillan had a goal and two assists while Brenda MacMaster, Louise Sommers and Sue Stewart also had single goals.

Carmelle Hagen recorded her second shutout of the year.

L.C. Electric puckblocker Chris DeRepentigny also has two shutouts after backstopping her club to a 1-0 win over the Atlantic Storm on Wednesday.

Cindy Schwartz set up Brenda Jensen for the only goal of the contest.

Char-Lan hoopsters still perfect

The Char-Lan senior girls' basketball strengthened its hold on first place in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry "A" high school league with a pair of wins over divisional rivals.

On Monday in Ingleside, the Crusaders beat the Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers 42-26 as co-captains Vicky Peacey and Kelly Lariviere did most of the offensive damage for Char-Lan.

Peacey had 19 points while Lariviere poured in 15. Joanne Legault and Lisa McEvoy - with four points apiece - were the only other players to score for Char-Lan.

On Thursday in Williamstown, the Seaway Spartans held Peacey to four points, but Lariviere, Legault and Michelle Owen all hit double figures as the Crusaders won 41-32.

Lariviere had 15 points while Legault and Owen had 10 points apiece.

Juniors split contests

It was a 50-50 week for the Char-Lan juniors as the Crusaders lost 43-37 to Seaway on Thursday but won 30-28 in Ingleside on Monday.

Shonna Atchison led the Char-Lan offence against Seaway with 12 points, Kara MacDonald had 10 while Julie Clark had six points courtesy of a pair of three-point baskets.

Shirley Bergeron - with nine - and Julie Clark - with seven - were the top scorers against the Lancers.

The midget Crusaders lost both their outings last week, dropping a 19-14 decision to Seaway on Thursday and a 22-9 final to R-O.

Dalby rides to third place at provincials

Local rider Sarah Dalby finished third overall in the junior hunter over fences division at the Ontario equestrian championships near Toronto last month.

It was the best-ever result at the provincials for the R.R. 1 Glen Robertson native, who was making her sixth appearance at the Ontario championships.

Dalby and her mount Make It So placed fourth, eighth and second in the three stages of the competition on the way to finishing third overall.

Dalby placed third on the Eastern Ontario circuit this summer to qualify for the provincial championships.

Four points for Rapids

Strong defensive play allowed the Seaway Valley Longevity Acrylics "AA" Minor Bantam Rapids to collect four of a possible six points in Ottawa District Minor Hockey Association play this weekend.

On Saturday in Gloucester, the Rapids won 1-0 as Tim McCuaig recorded the shutout and Ryan Nielsen scored the goal.

The next day at home to Kingston, Seaway Valley lost 4-2 despite two goals by David Dumont.

In South Ottawa on Monday, Adam Nelson and Eric Fontaine each had a pair of goals as the Rapids won 6-2.

David Dumont and Kevin Amelotte also scored for Seaway while Cameron Lajoie's effective shadowing kept South Ottawa's most dangerous offensive player off the scoresheet.

Currier returns as village reeve

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Last weekend's weather was lovely with above normal temperatures. However, the heat wasn't caused by election fever. Up to Friday, rumors circulated and there were two known candidates for village council. However, on Friday, three additional residents qualified as councillors so that the village now has a council for 1995-97 by acclamation.

George Currier has returned to municipal politics as reeve with plenty of experience which includes the responsibilities of SD&G Warden. Once again he will become a familiar figure touring the streets often, to check on conditions and make his presence known.

Three of the new councillors are freshmen. Russell Dewar is a native of the area and a long-time resident, retired from the Standard-Freeholder. He has the time and has now indicated his interest in village matters.

Herb Holmes has been a village resident for six years, is a retired CNR employee and brings to his new post much experience from his community activities in Greenfield Park, Que. His volunteer responsibilities on the local scene are well known.

Ubald Cardinal who works in Chesterville and who has been active as a fire fighter for many years has been interested in serving for some time now and now has that opportunity.

Donald Cumming is a former councillor and reeve of Roxborough Township and therefore joins to the new council with much experience.

We thank the five gentlemen for coming forward to offer their services and wish them well. Let us all now back our new council in 1995, provide in-put and attend council meetings if they wish to acquire first hand information. Let there be no complaints because no one else was prepared to provide villagers with a choice.

A significant real estate contract has been signed recently and the local Chamber of Commerce has been given credit for the village receiving this business. Mariano and Anne at the Maxville Market have signed a two-year lease with Dempster Bread for its use of their warehouse as a central depot for bakery products.

In preparation, the area at the east end of the building has been levelled with crushed rock and two new doors have been installed in the east end wall.

The building will be stocked during the night and later, delivery trucks will load-up for local service. The contract takes effect Nov. 1.

The empty bottle returns for Brewers' Retail will now be handled from the store across the street from the new Dempster's depot.

On Oct. 9, the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Dorothy (nee Barton) and J. K. Munroe was celebrated at their home at Vankleek Hill with their six children and most of the grandchildren present. Their children had travelled from London, Ottawa, Cornwall, Kirk Hill and Maxville to be present. Special guests included the attendants of 50 years ago, Beatrice Wilkins of Vankleek Hill and Nelson Munroe of Moose Creek.

Special music was provided by son Donald on the pipes, granddaughter Rachael MacGillivray on the drums and by son Dean. There were other presentations by those at the party as well.

We extend congratulations and very best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Munroe whose actual anniversary falls on Oct. 25.

Sponsored by the Maxville Recreation Committee, the annual Pumpkin Festival will be held at the sports complex on Oct. 22 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. It will feature a haunted room, face painting, a pumpkin pond and contests for coloring, pumpkin carving which is to be done in advance, the biggest pumpkin and guessing the weight of a pumpkin. Crafters will be present with displays and items for sale and there will be a tea room.

Young and old are urged to support this village activity.

Last Sunday, the United Church celebrated the 113th anniversary of the church on the Main Street site. Prior to 1925, the first church belonged to the Congregational denomination. The guest speaker was Dr. Anne Squire of Ottawa who was the first lay woman to be elected Moderator of the United Church. Dr. Squire has served earlier as a professor at Carleton University as well as at church headquarters in Toronto.

Dr. Squire and husband Bill joined many members of the congregation for a "dinner of leftovers" after a very well attended service.

While the church supper the evening before saw a record number in attendance, the Sunday lunch was a most satisfying one.

This is Waste Reduction Week and one village resident has asked for the leaves of another and thus will reduce waste. While gardening expert Mark Cullen admits that leaves are of no value as a fertilizer, he does call them "Garden Gold" because they can be composted and used later to improve the texture of the garden soil.

For those who are unable to compost, leaves can be worked into the soil or buried in the garden. If there are not too many, the lawnmower may chop them up sufficiently, especially with a mulcher attachment, to have them remain on the lawn and eventually work into the soil.

Please, reduce waste, not only this week but every week of the year.

We have been enjoying beautiful autumn weather with no rain recorded for the month up to the 17th, at least. The farmers have had perfect weather for the harvest of excellent crops of soybeans and corn and for working the land. However, when it does rain, do remember that it will be good for the wells, some of which are dangerously low and for the soil which is hard to till on many farms.

On two occasions I have done business over a touch-tone telephone. Once I followed directions provided, after using the 800 number. The other time, I had a chart which provided the numbers to use to finally put me in touch with the person that was to serve me.

I found it fascinating to have it work so smoothly. I had plenty of time and listened to music while waiting as well as recorded apologies for keeping me waiting.

One does not need to be nervous. If you make a mistake you can always start over again and only the computer knows and I don't think it keeps track of mistakes.

However, I am wondering how much longer householders can be without a touch-tone telephone. We are using them to contact different ones at the Manor but the rotary dial can be used. Dial the Manor at 527-2170, listen to Barbara Graham's recorded message to the very end and then she or another will answer.

After reading all the following announcements for activities under the Seniors Outreach Service program at the Manor you may want to make a call or two.

On Oct. 25 something new is planned. It is a Murder Mystery night which will start at 5 p.m. with a dress-up dinner with seating for 20. The locale will be the ship, "the Glengarry Queen" and diners will be expected to solve the mystery before the evening's end at 7 p.m. This evening is a special one for the Diners' Club.

Also on Oct. 25 there will be a Halloween craft workshop at 1 p.m.

The pharmacy courier service is in operation with prescriptions to be delivered to the Manor on any Tuesday and the medicines and medical supplies picked up at the Manor on Thursday between 1 and 2 p.m.

The community euchre will be held on Oct. 26 at 1:30 p.m.

The Halloweeen Diners' Club meets on Oct. 27 at 12:30. The invited speaker will conduct individual and full hearing assessments after the dinner. However appointments should be made prior to Oct. 27.

The first seniors choir practice is postponed until Nov. 1st, 7 p.m.

The second session of the keep fit program will commence on Nov. 3 and run for six weeks between 11 a.m. and noon on Thursdays. The fee this time will be paid on the basis of each session attended rather than a fee for the six sessions.

Please phone Phyllis (local 228) or Kim (local 237) for more information and to make reservations and appointments.

A workshop entitled "Palliative care in long-term care" for volunteers and staff at the Manor on Oct. 25 from 1:30-2:30 p.m. will be given by Sue McDonald.

Chers contribuables catholiques francophones

Voici mon dernier rapport de conseillère scolaire pour ce terme. Après un bref tour d'horizon, je vais m'attarder sur des questions de transport, projets d'immobilisations, sous-financement, politique professionnelle, et enfin sur mes projets d'avenir.

Dès mon arrivée, on nous annonçait un déficit de près de 2 millions. Depuis, la situation économique scolaire n'a cessé de s'aggraver. L'équité salariale et le contrat social ont envenimé, par ricochet, le service à l'élève. Nos ressources financières déjà insuffisantes et notre impossibilité de déclarer un déficit nous obligeait à sabrer dans la salle de classe. Un rapport sur la cause Séguin/ Bourgeois/Landry publié dès cet automne traitera des effets de ces réductions à l'échelle provinciale. Pour ce qui est de la qualité de l'enseignement, l'avènement d'écoles françaises publiques a incité certains membres de notre personnel à retrousser leurs manches. Amis, il n'en reste pas moins qu'au départ a) notre sous-financement limite l'envergure de nos interventions et b) notre but premier demeure l'instruction des élèves et non l'enrichissement des médias!

Transport - La gestion du transport a été grandement améliorée grâce à notre nouveau Surintendant des affaires au Conseil. Toutefois, la question du partage du transport demeure politiquement impopulaire. Il faut comprendre que le financement du transport est différent d'un conseil à l'autre: des réductions de coûts au Conseil catholique occasionnent une réduction de revenus, tandis qu'au Conseil public, elles occasionnent une augementation de revenus. Je suis d'avis, toutefois, qu'il est notre responsabilité d'élus de partager complètement le transport des élèves du secondaire afin de tenter de réduire vos taxes. Espérons que la prochaine élection apportera du changement. Qui sait!

Immobilisations - Dans ce domaine, nous avons beaucoup de pain sur la planche. En mai dernier, je tentais d'aider deux écoles en défrayant personnellement les coûts à Toronto pour les parents des écoles Sainte-Lucie et Saint-Bernard. Nous voulions sensibiliser le ministère à l'urgence des besoins de ces deux écoles. Cette initiative n'a malheureusement pas porté fruits, pour le moment, puisque les subventions annoncées quelque temps plus tard ne nous accordaient rien. J'aurai tout de même essayé! D'autres ne peuvent en dire autant. Il demeure inacceptable que certaines écoles publiques en province puissent se permettre des ateliers de construction au primaire et des piscines, et que des écoles catholiques ne puissent pas se permettre des choses élémentaires comme gymnases, livres récents, salles de toilettes intérieures, animation culturelle, etc. Sachez toutefois, que la question d'une répartition juste du budget d'immobilisation entre la Section française et le Conseil catholique devrait faire partie des débats politiques aux élections de novembre, car je viens d'apprendre que depuis 1982, nous avons dépensé 5 fois plus d'argent pour nos écoles anglaises que pour nos écoles françaises, alléguant que les besoins etaient plus grands dans les écoles anglaises. C'était peut-être le cas, mais à mon avis, il est plus que temps de voir aux écoles françaises maintenant.

Sous-financement Voilà le seul mot sur nos lèvres depuis des décennies. Qu'avons-nous fait? Une campagne de lettres. L'initiative était bien en soi, mais nous n'avons abordé qu'une partie du problème en ne faisant allusion qu'aux écoles catholiques. En vérité, l'inéquité est double envers les francophones; pénalisés parce que nous sommes catholiques et encore pénalisés parce que nous sommes francophones. C'est dommage que l'ensemble de nos écoles francophones n'ont pas pu faire d'une pierre deux coups en le mentionnant dans leurs lettres. Enfin, du point de vue politique, nous avons manqué la chance rêvée de tout régler cette question de sous-financement l'automne dernier. En effet, une intervention de notre Conseil par voix d'injonction concernant une évaluation foncière aurait permis de régler toute cette question de sous-financement, à l'échelle de la province. A cause de pressions de toutes parts, nous avons refusé. A mon humble avis, ce fut la pire décision politique de notre Conseil.

Politique professionnelle En temps que politiciens et CHRÉTIENS, je crois que nous avons encore beaucoup à apprendre... Aussi, beaucoup moins de points devraient être discutés à huis clos, question de transparence. Ensuite, les conflits d'intérêts directs ou indirects gênent de plus en plus la prise de décision, surtout à la lumière du nouveau projet de loi sur les conflits d'intérêts qui sera en vigueur dès cet automne.

Enfin, je tiens à remercier les parents pour m'avoir tenu au courant de leurs besoins particuliers. J'invite les autres à en faire de même. Sans ces contacts et mes visites régulières dans les écoles, je n'aurais pas pu remplir mon rôle de manière adéquate. Je compte me représenter aux élections en novembre et j'espère pouvoir compter encore sur votre appui. Vos commentaires sur ce rapport sont les bienvenus. Merci.

In Memoriam

LEFEBVRE, Arcadius – In loving memory of a dear father and husband who passed away three years ago Oct. 16, 1991.
Gone, dear father, gone forever.
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed–
How sweet the memory still–
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
– Sadly missed and always remembered by wife, daughter, son and family.

BELLEFEUILLE – In loving memory of a dear sister and aunt, Georgina Bellefeuille, who passed away Oct. 7/93.
When family ties are broken
And loved ones have to part
It leaves a wound that never heals,
And ever aching hearts.
We cannot bring the old days back
When were were all together
But loving thoughts and memories
Will live with us forever.
May her soul rest in peace.
– Lovingly remembered by Keith, Elaine, Bruce and Joni.

Library news

The library has just received a package of information on Ontario's new Environmental Bill of Rights.

This bill allows the public to participate in decisions which affect the environment before they are taken.

This package includes a copy of the actual bill, various publications explaining our rights and how to have access to the electronic registry which contains up-to-date information on what is happening.

This registry is available at County's Library Headquarters in Avonmore. Call 613-346-2501 for more information.

The package at your local library is available for reference only and may not be borrowed.

The library also has some pamphlets in English and French giving information about the Ontario government's new and used vehicle information package.

Anyone planning to buy a used car from a private individual must obtain this package or they will be unable to register their vehicle.

The pamphlets are available for consultation only.

Your library also has a good selection of fiction and non-fiction books, some popular magazines and a video catalogue.

All are available in French and English.

Library hours are on Tuesdays 6 to 9 p.m. and on Thursdays, 2 to 5 p.m.

"Old tyme Christmas Concert"

Last year's "old tyme Christmas concert" held at the social centre was a great success and we understand that Audrey (Johnson) MacDonald has received many requests for a repeat performance.

The special date has been set for Saturday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m.

"I'm delighted to organize this Christmas concert again this year -- it's easy when everyone is so willing to participate," says Audrey.

"I'm primarily interested in involving children and would be very happy to hear from anyone who knows of 'young talent' who might join us on stage.

"There are many interesting families from other countries who live in the area and who could add so much to the concert if they too would share their traditional and festive customs with us." (Audrey may be reached at 613-525-3205.)

Word has been received from the North Pole that Santa will honor us with a visit and will collect all the children's wish letters.

Coffee, juice and goodies will be served at the end of the evening.

"Last year's super turn-out was indeed appreciated and it is hoped that weather permitting another full house will result this year . . . I hope to see you there," says Audrey.

It should also be mentioned that Audrey is also planning to have her "Christmas Craft Show and Bake Sale" on the same day, Saturday, Nov. 19, commencing at 10 a.m. and until the concert begins at 8 p.m.

"The Christmas elves" are working into the wee hours of the morning making all sorts of crafts and the "cooks" are planning to have the tables overflowing with baked items, jams, jellies, fudge, etc.

The only complaint from last year was the fact that the "Special S.B. Rolls" ran out -- so we'll have more this year!

Speaking of more . . . there will be a fortune teller on hand during the day (proceeds going to children with learning disabilities) and of course, there will be coffee and goodies available too.

It should be a fun day so please circle this date -- Nov. 19 and drop in.

Please remember to attend our annual harvest supper at the parish hall on Sunday, Oct. 30.
