Almost New Charlottenburgh Council Takes Office For Three-Year Term

An almost completely new council assumed office in Charlottenburgh Township Monday at the inaugural meeting of what will be a three-year term of office.

Former councillors Adrian Gadbois and Bruce Sova will serve as reeve and deputy-reeve, respectively, and the councillors are all newcomers to the board, Jack Roy, Summerstown; Roger Lefebvre, Williamstown and Ewen MacDonell, Glen Roy.

Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, PP, Precious Blood parish, Glen Walter, recited opening prayers. He asked for guidance to the officers of the municipality which he described as changing from a rural to to an industrial economy.

A short review of the organization of council and the municipal office was read by clerk-treasurer R. C. Gagne, who officiated the ceremony of swearing in the members for the three year term.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Gadbois expressed appreciation to those who are members of the present council, or were associated with previous councils of Charlottenburgh. "I hope we can all work together and bring about some good things for this community," he said. "I ask for your co-operation and offer you mine."

Mr. Sova said he feels experience can be passed on to new members and, "We can all do a good job together for Charlottenburgh."

Committees have not yet been established in the township, and this matter will be attended to late this week. Accounts totalling $359,440 were ordered paid.

Of this, $5,200 was for welfare, and $4,500 for roads. The rest of the large sum was for secondary, public and separate schools and the county rate levied against the township by the Three United Counties.

Two Children Died Of Leukemia The Same Day

That dread disease, leukemia, took the lives of two children, both of whom died Monday and whose funerals were held Thursday (today).

Deborah Ann Picher 5, was the daughter of Bruce Picher and his wife, Lorna Proulx, of Alexandria, and had been in failing health for the past year but had been able to attend kindergarten class in the Alexander School until recently.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by a brother, Dean.

Daniel Rozon, 10, was the son of Maurice Rozon and his wife, Agathe Pilon of Montreal, but formerly of North Lancaster . He died in St. Justine Hospital, Montreal, Monday, after an illness of five months. A grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Rozon, North Lancaster, he is also survived by one brother, Joel and a sister, Line.

Following the funeral, held Thursday at Lachine, the body was conveyed to Alexandria. Burial will be in Glen Nevis in the spring.

Cultural Animator For French Canadians In Area To Have Headquarters In Alexandria

Guy Desilets who will serve as a "cultural animator" among Ontario's French-Canadians in this area was in town from Ottawa this week seeking available housing.

He will be based here and will have offices in Cornwall and Hawkesbury while catering to the sizeable French Canadian population in this section of Eastern Ontario.

Acording to an Ottawa Citizen report late last week eight of these "cultural animators" will enter Ontario's French Canadian communities at the federal government's expense.

"We'll be agents of cultural development" the Citizen quotes Mr. Desilets. We won't promote or instigate cultural events, another of the eight explained. He described his position as involving the interviewing of representatives of the French community and assessing the cultural and social needs of area French Canadians.

The government provided the subsidies which allowed the French Canadian Association of Ontario (ACFO) to hire full-time community workers to bring the province's French Canadians "alive" to their social and cultural identity.

The president of the Association's provincial culture committee, Lucien Bradet described the animators' function as something akin to that of Company of Young Canadians volunteers.

Animators must enter into the community, ascertain the needs of the local people and "wake them up" to their identity and their possibilities.

"Once we get people to identify themselves around a certain issue, then our job is done," said Mr. Desilets.

"I like to think of us as cultivators of community groups."

The first few months of ACFO's cultural-social animation project will cost about $50,000, said Mr. Bradet.

Next year about $100,000 will likely be spent on the cultural development of Ontario's 600,000 French Canadians, he said.

Mr. Bradet noted that Quebec's French Canadians have already undergone a cultural development and are on into economic progress.

The province's eight animators—four of whom are from Quebec, the other half from Ontario — are going through a professional development session at the Franco-Ontarion House in Ottawa.

Drop-In Centre Will Open This Weekend

The teen drop-in centre in the Glen Sports Wear building may open this weekend even though some work on the interior will remain to be done.

Councillor Maurice Sauve, whose Youth and Project Committee is in charge of arrangements, reports Norman Laperle will act as supervisor of the centre. He will do some carpentry repairs to the interior and the young people will be permitted to decorate the big room according to their psychedelic tastes. They will also be asked to come up with a name for the club.

The building boasts a large floor for dancing and a juke box is being installed. There will be a restaurant and a drink cooler is coming in. Some tables and chairs have been donated and the committee hopes more will be made available either on loan or as a donation.

The centre will be open after high school until 6 p.m. each week day as well as on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and possibly Saturday afternoon.

A small membership fee will be charged but not until a free period of two weeks. A committee of teens will then be selected to operate the centre.

Mrs. L. Hurtubise Died At 83

She had been a resident of Alexandria and the area since her marriage to Mr. Hurtubise who predeceased her 13 years ago. Active in the affairs of Sacred Heart Parish she had been a member of the Ladies of Ste Anne and les Tiers Ordre Dominican.

Seven sons and six daughters mourn her passing: Louis, Gabriel, Nelson and Raymond of Cornwall; Rolland, Romeo and Emile of Alexandria; Antoinette, Mrs. Eddy St. Denis, Germaine, Mrs. Norman Lacroix, Bernadette, Mrs. Fred Decoste, Mary, Mrs. Jos. E. Masson, Lucille, Mrs. Wilfrid Leblanc, Yolande, Mrs. Laurent Poirier, all of Alexandria and the area.

Glengarry Memorial Hospital Board—Laurent Major and Lionel Glaude.

Federation of Agriculture—Roger Brazeau.

No Financial Involvement In Petitions For Doctor, Dentist

Char-Lan Doctors' Committee congratulates Apple Hill on being designated an underserviced area, eligible for provincial government aid in securing a doctor and a dentist. And they wish Apple Hill every success in securing a physician and a dentist in the near future.

The committee is delighted with the response and help offered them by interested citizens of the municipalities of Lancaster Township, Lancaster Village, and Charlottenburgh Township.

Many are giving their free time to type letters, drive concession roads, and walk from home to home asking for signatures on petitions.

It is hoped all the materials can be assembled and the brief prepared and mailed to Toronto by February 1st.

To clarify the term 'designation' it should be understood by the public that there is very substantial financial assistance from the Ontario provincial government available to areas trying to attract the services of medical staff. The government guarantees a doctor a yearly income of $26,000 and a dentist $22,000 if the area is designated.

Letters have been drafted and typed for the medical and dental schools, stating the communities' needs. If and when the area is designated the search for a doctor will begin in earnest.

A rumor circulating that the taxpayers will be asked for more tax money is unfounded. The quarters required by the medical staff will either be financed by private enterprise, or from borrowed money which will be repaid from the rental income of the premises.

Again the committee points out that no financial or moral obligation is contracted by signing a petition.

PO Building Not Suited For Library County Board Is Suggested By Nyland

The present Post Office building would not be suitable for use as a library in the opinion of Herman Nyland, extension supervisor of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System in the United Counties.

Mr. Nyland feels the library problem for Alexandria and the United Counties can best be solved by the establishment of a County Library Board which would command considerable subsidies from the province and the region. Under the Library Act, he explains, county council can ask the townships and separated towns to vote on the formation of a county board. If 75 per cent or more of the councils are in favor the county can go ahead. If less than that percentage favor the project a county board can be formed from these municipalities that desire it, excluding those that do not want it.

We quote from an informative letter Mr. Nyland has written the editor covering a possible library service here:

"The need of more extensive library service than a bookmobile can provide for Alexandria has been clearly demonstrated by the present pilot project. During the first full year of operation the bookmobile circulated in Alexandria the impressive total of 11,227 books.

The borrowers who visit the Alexandria bookmobile stops come both from the town and from the surrounding rural area. Alexandria is the logical library centre for its extensive market area.

On the basis of our experience in your town we feel that a reading centre is one of the first requirements after the pilot project ends. The bookmobile cannot give reference service, nor provide research space to students. We are in Alexandria only four hours at a time, twice a month . . . and that is only a bare beginning of library service. In brief the bookmobile with its restricted space and schedule is definitely not the ultimate answer to the library needs of Alexandria and other very busy points.

The answer to the need lies in a library for Alexandria. Whether the old post office could serve as a viable library building is, however, open to discussion. I submit that the large out-of-town readership implies that the library must have ample parking space, a feature in which the post office is sadly lacking.

Careful study of the economics of remodelling, heating and maintaining this old building would likely show that operation of a library in this structure would be very expensive. As you suggest, this cost may be reduced by use of the building as a community centre of which the library could be part. Unless this were done a library in the old post office would be born with an albatros around its neck. In any case, parking facilities should be a major consideration in the decision on a site.

The cost of starting an independent library in Alexandria would be very high. Your annual budget would have to be at least $20,000, not counting capital expenditures. And even this budget would only give you a bare minimum of library service. It would take many years to build up a book stock that would come close to being adequate.

In this day and age library users need much more than just a few hundred novels to choose from. Nearly three quarters of the circulated books are non-fiction, which means that they go out of date in a matter of years.

Alexandria would need a basic collection of at least 15,000 volumes, which at today's prices represents an investment of about $80,000. It is doubtful that Alexandria, even with the assistance of neighboring municipalities, could financially support an independent library. For comparison, I can tell you that the bookmobile operation, not counting investment in the vehicle, costs about $30,000 per year. Bookmobile stock numbers about 15,000 volumes and in addition we use thousands of books from Simon Fraser Centennial Library.

I submit that the solution for Alexandria and all of the United Counties lies in the establishment of a County Library Board, as defined under the Library Act 1966

Public Asked To Restrict Visits To Local Hospital

The public is being requested to restrict visits to Glengarry Memorial Hospital to the minimum during this period of the year when colds and flu are prevalent.

The flu situation at the hospital is not serious at the moment reports Jerry Adams, but it could get worse, necessitating more stringent restrictions on visiting. He suggests only the immediate families of patients should drop in for the present.

Normal restrictions on visiting allow no more than two per patient at any one time. In the obstetrical ward only the father and grandmother are permitted to visit.

Mr. Bajin has been teaching at York University, Toronto, and they return to Yugoslavia in a few weeks. The teachers and some 20 student gymnasts were instructed in tumbling, vaulting and on the various bars. Gym training should start in the primary schools, the visiting coach told teachers, if Canada ever hopes to develop Olympic-standard stars. The course was sponsored by the Board of Education and arrangements were made by Mrs. Jacqueline Fraser of the local school staff.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Now Is The Time To Get It Done

This mid-January period of steady cold must be what is termed the depth of winter and probably the most satisfactory way to shrug through it is by taking each day's offering of weather as it comes. The long view to spring can be depressing and the succession of wintry days becomes more bearable if we assess each as it comes. Not expecting a daily dose of sun, we are more warmed when it shines, less chilled by cloud cover and wind-driven snow that are more likely to be the daily fare in January.

This is the slow time of the year and if the days and weeks appear to loiter along "as slow as molasses in January" we might do well to emulate the animal practise of catching up on sleep and resting up for the more hectic seasons ahead. We wouldn't want to hibernate right through to spring but the slower pace of winter provides a period in which we can recuperate and reactivate our tired blood.

There is still the daily work to do, of course, but its pace is likely to be slower through these winter months. Some among us may be frozen out of their livelihood by the deep freeze and we are thinking now of those who earn their daily bread in the building trades. Even a decade ago these carpenters, painters, plumbers and other artisans were forced to hibernate of necessity because there was no demand for their services in winter. Many of them are self-employed and know not the flow of unemployment insurance payments that help tide many through a winter without work.

The lot of these tradesmen may have been eased somewhat in recent years by the Labor Department's promotion of a winter work program. "Do it Now—Why wait till Spring" was the theme and it emphasized the fact that the artisan can provide faster service and probably a more-finished job at a time when the calls on his services are limited.

It made sense and the "Do It Now" slogan may be more needed in this winter of belt tightening when the government's fight against inflation must be disaffecting the building trades. The flow of funds from Household Mortgage and Finance has been cut off and new building is at a standstill. High interest rates and tight money discourage homeowners who must borrow to finance a face-lifting.

Those who are contemplating improvements to home, farm or business, and who can finance the work now, may find this the best time of the year. A more satisfactory job, at a lower price, may be available from now until spring.

It may be a recreation room you want to add, a new kitchen, a living room to be refurnished, that extra room in the attic, new electrical fixtures or safer wiring, a second bathroom. Just possibly you have power lawn mowers, electrical appliances that need fixing, upholstery to be replaced, drapes and rugs to be dry-cleaned, a long list of things that might just as well be done in these slow months as after winter's break-up when there is competition for these services.

If you can provide winter work, create jobs at a time when the artisan is not in demand, you are helping shorten the long winter for some of your fellow citizens. You are being community-minded and your reward may not be restricted to the afterlife. It may pay off for you in better work and goodwill that has no price tag.

Thoughts of "Doing It Now" may force you out of hibernation but the planning and the overseeing should help shorten your winter. You may be warmed, too, by the knowledge you are the uncommon type who doesn't wait for spring.

Our Amateur Hockeyists Are Not Simon-Pure

Canadian sports fans are as one in applauding the decision to withdraw from international hockey competition though there may be some residents of Winnipeg who would argue the timing. As part of Manitoba's centenary celebrations, Winnipeg was to have hosted the world hockey tournament in March and much expense and effort had gone into preparations for the Games which now will be played in Sweden.

Fans have been browned off over the years as Canada's entry in the international tournaments has bowed to national teams representing Russia or Czechoslovakia. Our CAHA-sponsored national team in recent years has been made up of talented college students seasoned with a sprinkling of veterans, some of them former professional players. Invariably they have made a good showing but have not been able to take the measure of the Russian team, made up of the top hockey talent in that country.

There has been growing demand across Canada that top professional players be enlisted to carry our national standard in world play and a government-supported Hockey Canada was formed to foster hockey at the school and college level and to sponsor Canada's team in international play. Last summer tentative agreement was reached with the International Ice Hockey Federation whereby Canada might bolster its team by the use of nine professional players. That plan fell through and on Sunday at Geneva CAHA and Hockey Canada representatives withdrew this country from international competition until a fairer definition of amateur status is applied to all entries.

Canada has been arguing for years that some of the European teams, notably Russians, are out and out professional. Only the cream of that country's players are chosen for international competition and they make their livelihood on hockey. That puts them in the same category as Canada's top professionals and it is more than time the hypocrisy of amateur status in world competition was removed.

Our country is the cradle of hockey and it should have a fair chance to demonstrate its superiority, whether at the truly amateur or the professional level. Sunday's action to remove our team from world play is long overdue and the result could be a fresh approach to international ice competitions.

It doesn't sit well, though, to see Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's top brass beating their breasts in indignation over European misuse of the amateur status. Should not they be cleaning up the mess at home before accusing other countries of sham-amateurism? Is there any truly amateur hockey played in Canada at any level above the local minor hockey associations?

On the same sport page of a daily paper reporting on the international hassle we note that Jean Beliveau was earning $20,000 a year with Quebec City's amateur Aces before they went professional. His no doubt was a special case but the mounting payrolls of senior hockey teams must have been a factor leading to almost complete extinction of senior hockey leagues in this country. Now the junior loops are serving as farms for an expanded NHL and it is questionable how many Junior A players are unsalaried.

The CAHA, in our opinion, is now almost wholly concerned with developing potential players for an expanded National Hockey League that is no longer Canadian. The NHL is now a big business, increasingly dominated by the television interests. The refusal of a franchise for Vancouver was based on its geography, its lack of a sizable market for the TV advertiser.

What the television screen has done to kill baseball in its home country will as surely happen to hockey in Canada. Viewing big league hockey in the comfort of his home the fan no longer is inclined to brave the cold of his local rink to support a lesser brand of hockey. So the amateur loops have folded until only a few leagues financed largely by NHL money remain to suppy players for an expanded 12-team NHL. As with baseball, a downgrading of the brand of hockey played in the NHL is already woefully apparent.

In the wake of Canada's removal from international hockey competition a BC member of the Commons suggests the need for a parliamentary investigation of hockey in Canada "from the NHL right down to peewees". The plain facts are, says Mark Rose (NDP-Fraser Valley West), that the CAHA leadership "sold out to the NHL years ago and just about all active hockey players over 18 are professional—that is, they receive money or other rewards for playing".

Such an investigation would probably disclose the fact that hard-working volunteers in the local minor hockey associations are in a sense laboring to supply talent to the NHL. Our mail last week included four separate promotions of Minor Hockey Week in Canada, ostensibly from the CAHA. The costs involved on a national scale suggest this saturation must be at least partly financed by the men of means who operate NHL franchises.

Before we cast the first stone at Russia or any other country it might be well for us to do a thorough house-cleaning of our own sham-amateur approach to hockey.

Fire caused by the explosion of a lamp destroyed N. McL. Murray's store and granary at Dunvegan, Saturday evening, with all their contents. — Capt. A. G. F. Macdonald of No. 3 Company, has been in receipt this week of copies of the "Cape Argus" and .'Times" from an old comrade in arms, Sergeant John A. Macdonald of Glen Nevis, now of the first Canadian Contingent in South Africa. — C. S. Gordon, organizer of the Sons of Scotland, was in town for a short time on Monday. He is at present in Laggan, where he expects to establish a camp. — Simpson Markson, who has been spending his holidays at his home, Glen Robertson, returned to Old McGill on Monday. — A. A. Sproul and D. P. McDermid, two of Maxville's most popular men, have formed a partnership and will carry on business as tailors and gents' furnishers.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

LIKED STORY

Cornwall, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

I would like to commend Michael McCormick on his very imaginative and unique method of reviewing the history of the Town of Alexandria which appeared in the January 8th issue of the Glengarry News.

As a teacher of English, I found his work refreshing and expertly done. Also, I appreciate the time involved in producing this.

I fully intend to bring the paper to school with me on Monday and to read Michael's essay to my grade seven classes. It is an example of excellent writing and I know, will be an inspiration to my students.

Yours sincerely,
Arlene Fitzhugh.

Good Ideas Gone Wrong

(The Georgetown Herald)

The Company of Young Canadians, a brainchild of Lester Pearson when he was prime minister, has fallen on evil days.

Conceived as a way to encourage young people in isolated communities to better themselves and in this way make a better Canada, and to rehabilitate some whose potential is not being fully realized, it was theoretically sound, but didn't work out.

Sunday the CBC public affairs television program revealed just how bad things have become. A young American in a position of responsibility, revealed that he is a Lenin communist follower, that he joined the CYC because this was the best place for him to operate and that he has no particular interest in the CYC program as such. He was followed by a lady hothead, a member of the governing committee, who observed that the young radicals are the real part of the group, and the 'establishment' is at fault for not giving them their head. Saner voices on the directorate have asked that the government take over.

We think the group should be immediately disbanded, written off as an experiment gone wrong. Monday the daily press informs us that the CYC has been fostering a group of oddballs living in a communal set-up on one of the Toronto islands, helping an underground publication in the city to spread obscenities through the mail, etc., etc.

Were this being done with private funds, we would not condone it.

The fact that tax money is being used brings our blood to a boiling point.

WITH OUR

by Ed.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

People are becoming more pollution-conscious, we trust, and there is the hope that public opinion will become sufficiently aroused to spur governments to action. A clean up of our environment is long overdue but it will take quite a spurring by public opinion to cut through all the red tape of several governments before we can expect concrete results.

The air we breathe and the water we drink should be the prime targets. Man has permitted his rivers and lakes to be spoiled by sewage and sludge in the name of industrial progress. Industry and urbanization have also been permitted to foul the air and it will take years of involved costly and dedicated effort before our environment can be restored to anything approximating its natural state.

There is a danger that we the people will become so pollution-conscious our efforts will be dissipated and so diffused we will accomplish nothing. Experts are now warning that noise pollution is a health problem and we doubt not that it is. The advent of the snowmobile is a reminder that our eardrums now suffer year round, where once they had a holiday from the sound of the outboard motor and the lawn mower.

Keeping our hearing and our sanity merit more than a thought on noise, but let's concentrate on first things first. Let's all become anti-pollution addicts, but let's zero in on cleaner air and sewage-free water till those goals have been attained. Then we can move on to easing the ears and even to relieving the eyes of all the ugliness that despoils the landscape.

After we've toned up the air we breathe we can tone down the airs we hear.

WE'RE ARENA-BOUND

We were pulling for those one-time Canadian footballers, Joe Kapp and Bud Grant, so it had to be a disappointment when Minnesota Vikings lost the Super Bowl game on Sunday. Kansas City had too much in the kitty, more's the pity, and Kapp not only got capped by Len Dawson, he got creamed in the dying minutes.

And so a long football season ends, no doubt to the great satisfaction of the woman of the house who may now look forward to some Sunday afternoon TV viewing that may be more to her taste.

Football is our favorite television fare and now that it has faded from the screen maybe we can find time of a Sunday to see a bit of the hockey action down at the arena. We've been hearing the brand of hockey in the junior league is really worth seeing and the local Glens are right up there with the leaders despite poor support at the box-office. No doubt the fans will start turning out in larger numbers as the play-offs approach.

One of our New Year's resolutions is to take in a game some Sunday soon and if the weatherman will provide a bit of a January thaw we plan to ramble through those arena doors any time now. So lousy is the brand of hockey the NHL was televising over the weekend it should be refreshing to see the home brews in action.

You'd think women would fancy football. They start kicking even before the kick-off.

WARMING THOUGHTS

Whoever wrote that good old song "There's No Place Like Home" probably got the idea about this time of year. We can see him stamping the snow off his feet as he opens his front door after a walk in the nippy January air. His ears are tingling, his eyes and nose running and his fingers frigid as he bangs shut the door and practically purrs with satisfaction as he feels the heating system go to work on his chilled torso.

No doubt a fellow can get a warm feeling on entering his home at any time of the year but the warmth will not be as appealing on a muggy midsummer day. One is more likely to relish the thought that there's no place like home when one is coming in out of the cold.

Times like this when its murky overhead and the wind is biting cold your Rambling Reporter gets a new appreciation of the comforts of home and he's liable to be happy, too, with the fact he's living in a small town. He may even have a bit of sympathy for his big-city friends who have to go so far to get anywhere.

It's enough to set his teeth chattering just thinking of all those people in the city who must shiver through the winter at bus

UCW HAD MEETING

The New Year's meeting of Unit 2 was held in the United Church hall, Tuesday, January 6th. Mrs. C. B. McDermid presided, opening the meeting with a poem "This Year is Yours". The Bible lesson was given by Mrs. Stanley Kippen "At the Turn of the Year". Mrs. Kippen spoke on the importance of realizing that each day is a separate gift from God, a day to live bravely and unselfishly.

Reports from the treasurer, social services conveners and community friendship secretaries were given. The members were asked to remember the sick and shut-ins with visits and cards. A bale is to be packed in the near future and anyone having good used clothing may leave it at the church. On Wednesday, Feb. 28th, the Presbyterial will meet in Knox United Church, Cornwall.

Letters of thanks were read from those who received Christmas parcels. The next meeting will be on Feb. 2, with Mrs. Carmen Rowe presiding. The sturdy book "Dare to Reconcile" was reviewed by Mrs. C. B. McDermid assisted by several members. An interesting discussion on church union followed, with the hope that there may be a great Christian church in the future. This was enojyed by all present.

AUXILIARY HAD MEETING

The January meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. W. S. McLean on January 6th.

Miss B. MacLeod opened the meeting with a poem and was followed by scripture lesson by Mrs. Flossie Cameron. Mrs. A. D. Stewart gave a most interesting meditation after which Miss B. MacLeod read a poem pertaining to the New Year and closed the devotional part with prayer.

The president conducted the business portion. The reports from the secretaries for 1969 were given and seconded by Mrs. R. T. O'Hara. Delegates were appointed to attend the annual meeting of Presbyterial in Cornwall and report to this Auxiliary. Offering was received and dedicated, and membership fees were received for 1970. Meeting closed with prayer and a social hour was enjoyed.

SAW SLIDES OF TOUR

People of Maxville and area, recently had a chance to see the slides taken by members of the Glengarry Pipe Band on their trip to Scotland last summer. On behalf of the band Morlin Campbell welcomed the gathering in the community hall and introduced the commentator, Lyal McLaren of Cornwall. The slides were excellent most of them taken by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred MacNaughton.

There were shots of the group boarding their plane, scenic views of the many cities and towns they visited, the houses they visited, many of their performances and their welcome by officials whom they met on tour.

The bus trip led through beautiful country by Loch Ness and Glengarry in Scotland. One good slide showed the whole entourage out scurrying around gathering up heather on a Highland hillside. There was the highlight of the visit to the Isle of Skye and a warm welcome by Dame Flora MacLeod.

Everywhere there were magnificent flower beds such as are rarely seen in this country. The group also took in various interesting sites along the route, a huge granite quarry near Aberdeen, an ancient wooden hospital ship built for Lord Nelson's navy, the great jute mills of Dundee, and endless wharves and fishing boats. They were also one among the 109 bands competing in the biggest championship of all, before a crowd of 52,000 people.

The audience enjoyed the many informal shots, showing tour members relaxing in the evening, entertaining themselves and just generally enjoying life. Some were caught napping on the bus, snatching a few minutes badly needed sleep, or thoughtfully knawing on a sandwich.

Mr. Campbell announced that another Scottish tour is available this year if enough people sign up in time. Interested persons must be members of the Pipe Band Association (this is obtainable on request) and indicate their interest within the next two weeks. If the tour is booked it will be from June 13 to July 2nd.

HAS POST IN BC

A news item out of Prince Rupert, BC, relates the interesting exploits of Miss Carollyn Riddell, a native of Brockville, with family ties in Monkland and Avonmore.

Miss Riddell, an Ontario trained public health nurse, was in Prince Rupert enroute to Masset, where she was to become the first public health nurse to be permanently stationed in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

In her new position Miss Riddell will be in charge of clinics serving approximately 4,000 people and a school population of 1,100. General health clinics, baby clinics, and all the assorted duties handled by Skeena Health Unit in Prince Rupert, will keep her schedule a busy one.

Miss Riddell has been in the field of public health nursing for seven years. Most of her career has been spent in Alberta and her most recent position was on Canada's opposite coast, in Newfoundland, although her headquarters were inland at La Cie in the northern area of the island province.

Until Miss Riddell's appointment, residents of the Queen Charlotte Islands have been served by visiting nurses from the Skeena Health Unit in Prince Rupert.

Miss Riddell is the daughter of Charles H. Riddell, Brockville, and the late Mrs. Riddell, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Marjerrison, Monkland. Carollyn is a niece of Mrs. W. R. Campbell, Ottawa, formerly of Avonmore, and Mrs. Dalton Dafoe, Brockville.

stops. They're calculated to be about the coldest places in Canada and how frustrating it must be when a bus finally looms into view and it's not theirs. That must be chilling.

School kids in the country and grown-ups in the city have to condition themselves to waiting for a bus that seems slow in coming no matter the weather. That's no problem in a small town where most people are no more than three blocks from church or post office or rink. Life in a small town has its compensations and one of them must be that no matter how frigid the deep freeze home is practically just around the corner.

Your Rambling Reporter has a recipe for getting through January without letting it get him down. When the mercury's low and snow is blowing in again on another west wind he turns his mind to sorrowing for all those less fortunate people — city folk at bus stops, the travelling salesman who gets snowed in out of reach of a farmer's daughter, those poor guys digging for oil in the Arctic tundra.

It makes it easier to take the deep freeze when one realizes there are worse places to winter than in a small town.

LETTERS

that of thousands of animal-lovers everywhere against the bill being considered by the Ontario Legislature. The Humane Society does not attempt to prevent the entire use of animals for research purposes but it does insist that such experiments be conducted with no suffering to the unfortunate animals being used and that all experiments are clearly of benefit to human beings.

It has been reliably estimated that ninety per cent of the experiments being made are of absolutely no scientific value. Many of the experiments are carried out in high school and college laboratories by young and inexperienced students. Of what possible value is it to science to find out how long an animal can survive if deprived of all sustenance or opportunity for sleep or how much of its body can be burned without fatal results? Yet these represent the level of the majority of amateur experiments being made. Who has not read of the experiment recently made by a young woman of blinding a number of sparrows and then discovering the ways in which the mutilated birds succeeded in reaching food? Surely all human beings worthy of the name must object to this sort of cruelty.

Even more obnoxious in the bill now being considered is the provision that would require the Humane Society to procure a search warrant before visiting any properties suspected of inhumane, handling of animals. This would be the equivalent of warning the violators of the law of the approaching visit of Humane officers.

I would urge all animal-lovers to do everything possible to defeat this bill. Write to your representative in the Legislature. Many of them are sensitive to the power of the ballot. And incidentally I have never known a branch of the Humane Society that is not in need of funds to carry on their work. Be generous in support of your local branch and the cause is a worthy one to remember in your will. Your donation will help to atone for the crimes that for ages man has committed against the helpless and innocent creatures which are dependent on us for their very lives.

Animal Friend.

Minor Hockey Notes

by Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald

Members of the Minor Hockey Association were happy to have President Jos. MacGillis back with them at their meeting Monday night, following his recent illness. Almost all the directors and several of the coaches were present.

Coaches Dr. Bourdeau and Ron Allison voiced concern over the division of the ice for the Atoms; they felt the boards were not high enough and the children might be hurt so the Atoms will be alloted an extra hour of ice time and will play on the full rink for the remainder of this season.

Coach Clifford Beauclair felt that coaches should accept the responsibility for the performance of their players on the ice; that some of them were not checking rough play sufficiently.

The dance and $50 draw which had to be postponed on Dec. 27th is now scheduled to take place at the Bonnie Glen on Sat., Feb. 7th, so the tickets previously sold will be good on that date.

In charge of the tag day in Minor Hockey Week will be Keith McKay, Lancaster; John Bourbonnais, Green Valley; Mrs. Jack Libbos and Mrs. Alex Hay, Alexandria; Mrs. Clifford Beauclair, Glen Robertson. On this same Saturday, Jan. 24th, all adults are expected to accompany their children to the arena. A charge of 50 cents will be made while all players will enter free.

The committee voted to buy four sets of sweaters, in Canadien and Maple Leaf design, to be kept in the equipment room at the arena for teams that have no sweaters.

At the suggestion of Recreation Director Bill Upper, a committee was formed to review rules and regulations of the past and formulate an up to date constitution. He was asked to chair this committee and the following volunteered to assist: Archie McDougall, Dr. Bourdeau, Tommy Laframboise, Cameron McCormick, Cameron MacDonald, Alex MacCulloch, Mrs. Jack Libbos, Mrs. Duncan Morris, Mrs. Ron Allison. The first meeting will be held next Monday evening, Jan. 19th at the High School Auditorium.

The All Star Peewees coached by Alex MacCulloch have had several exhibition games in which they won three and lost three. Scores on the winning side were over Cornwall Township 4-3; 7-6 and over Maxville 9-2. They lost to Long Sault 6-3; the Cornwall B team 7-5 and 7-2.

Junior C Hockey

by Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald

Lochiel anl St. Raphael's put on a well matched show Saturday night with a goal for goal performance that kept the spectators excited right through to the end. As it turned out St. Raphael's wound up with one extra goal for a 6-5 finish. Scoring for St. Raphael's were Jacques Cusick with two goals; Duncan MacLeod, Donnie McRae, Jim and Blair MacDonald with one each. All were singles for Lochiel by Donnie Morris, Tommy Robinson, Paul and Raymond Poirier and Barry McSweyn.

The Lancaster and Alexandria game was more decisive, with the home team getting zero while Lancaster netted nine. Scoring for the boys from the south were David Liddle, 3; Allan Laframboise and Peter Delhey, two each, Bruce McLennan and Glen Bethune with singles.

Glens Win 8-6 Over Cardinal

In a high-scoring game Sunday, Alexandria's Junior Glens won 8-6 over Cardinal to retain their third-place standing in the league.

Morrisburg won 3-2 over Winchester to stay on top with 28 points, one more than Prescott which also won Sunday, 10-7 over Metcalfe. Glens have 23 points, Cardinal 20, Metcalfe 19 and Winchester 11.

Glens play their next home game against Prescott at 7 p.m. Sunday night.

Teachers Play CJSS Sunday

The area high school, university and elementary teachers are all combining to ice a team against CJSS on Sunday at the Community Centre in support of Minor Hockey. Surely all the students in the district will want to be out to see their instructors perform.

Coached by Vice-Principal Rene Gauthier, the line-up sounds like a stalwart one indeed. On defense will be Ray Legault, Yvon Menard, Wayne Gosselin and Richard Marion from GDHS along with Norman Menard, Glen Robertson School and Donald (Doune) Menard, Lancaster. Bill Lonergan, GDHS will be in goal with Claude Lalonde from Perpetual Help School as sub.

Out on centre and the wings will be Kent McSweyn, Principal of Laggan School, Brian Gilmour, coach of the McGill University team; Denis Vaillancourt, Perpetual Help School and the remaining hustlers hail from GDHS, Ron Trivers; Jack Wilson; Brian Miller; Jean Yves Jeaurond; Brian Black; Malcolm Fraser, and Stanley Fraser.

All the familiar voices from the Cornwall Radio Station will be out in person to make up the opposition.

Game time, 2 p.m. at the Community Centre, Sunday, Jan. 18th.

Montreal's Famous Beaver Club Being Revived At Williamstown

The Beaver Club, remembered for its lavish feasts and marvellously colorful entertainment, will be revived at Williamstown.

The original Beaver Club was an organization of partners and financial backers of the old North-West Company. The former club met in Montreal, and its sessions became internationally notable for the festivities that accompanied them.

The North West Museum Committee, the members considering themselves in some measure the spiritual heirs and successors of the old Beaver Club, has inaugurated a new Beaver Club program.

It will start with a dinner for members and guests at Edgewater Inn, at Summerstown, Jan. 30. This will approximate the 185th anniversary of the founding of the original club, which took place on an unrecorded date in February of 1785.

The members are to be dressed in suitable costumes and represent the original fur traders. The dinner is to be an interesting collection of various types of game foods.

Plans for the banquet were made at a meeting of the Glengarry Historical Society Nor'Westers Museum Committee, which considered the January program. On Saturday, Jan. 24, the Society will sponsor one of its traditional Scottish concerts, in honor of the memory of Robbie Burns, at the auditorium of Char-Lan High School here. This will feature local talent in the field of dancing and singing.

Mrs. H. Bradley Died At Christmas

The death occurred suddenly on December 24th, 1969, of Eileen Muir, beloved wife of Herbert Bradley of Cornwall, in her 57th year.

Mrs. Bradley was born in Riceville, the eldest daughter of William J. Muir and Helena Lefaivre.

Although Mrs. Bradley had not been in perfect health for the past few years, her sudden death came as a great shock to her family and friends. She suffered a heart attack and was rushed by ambulance to Hotel Dieu, where she passed away the following day.

Of a kindly, jovial disposition, she was beloved by all who knew her, and her passing will be deeply regretted by a wide circle of friends.

She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, a daughter, Shirley (Mrs. Fern Barwell) of Vanier City; a son, Larry of Cornwall; three grandchildren; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Muir of Alexandria; two sisters, Mrs. Melvin Terry (Phyllis) of Laggan, Mrs. Earl Conway (Guelda) of Chute a Blondeau; three brothers, Chester Muir of Falconbridge; John Muir of Riceville and Bill Muir of Ottawa.

The funeral was held on December 27 at St. Columban's Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. with Rev. K. E. Maloney officiating.

The pallbearers were Leonard Muir, Dennis Muir, Guy Larocque, Danny Patenaude, Larry Patenaude and Jacques Levac.

The remains were taken to the vault. Interment was in St. Columban's Cemetery, January 7, 1970. Prayers at the graveside were said by Rev. D. B. McDougald.

Mrs. S. Bolduc Died At 84

A respected resident of Alexandria over the past 20 years, Mrs. Servule Bolduc died Saturday at Montreal. She was 84.

Born at Curran, Ont., Mrs. Bolduc was the former Delisca Groulx, a daughter of Francois Groulx and his wife, Celina Lacroix. She married J. Servule Bolduc and they resided for many years at Ste Anne de Bellevue where he served as station master for the CNR. On his retirement they came to reside here.

He predeceased her and she is survived by two sons, Rolland Bolduc, Alexandria and Paul Bolduc of Palo Alto, California. One grandchild also survives as do one brother, Wilfrid Groulx of Boucherville, Que., and two sisters: Mrs. Eva Chamberlain and Mrs. Anna Pommier, both of Montreal.

The funeral was held Monday from the Marcoux Funeral Home to Sacred Heart Church. Rev. Patrick Breton, PP, offered the mass, asisted by Father Forest.

Pallbearers were: Maurice and Jean Chamberlain, Leo Halley and Wilfrid Lefebvre.

Interment will be in Sacred Heart cemetery.

of the Province of Ontario. Such a county board could command considerable subsidies from the province and the region, subsidies that are not available to small boards, which present and future legislation is discouraging.

A county library organization with permanent reference collections in strategic spots (such as Alexandria) could make the best possible use of expensive reading material, by rotating large blocks of books from one library to the next. This system, which is forced upon all area libraries by the high cost of books and the great variety required, gives all readers a fresh collection to choose from every three or six months and allows full use of the expensive stock with its relatively short life span.

In addition such a county library would have a well-organized retrieval system, so that any particular book requested by a borrower could be produced for his use, no matter where a copy might be located at the time of the request.

Only with such an organization will it be possible to provide proper assistance to readers and students, within the different town and village reading centres. The cost per capita would be much lower under a county system than for a locally-based library. A counties levy of $50,000 (barely one dollar per capita) would suffice to improve library service greatly and give equal opportunity to readers in remote areas. A county library organization would use personnel and book resources available in the whole area. Including a $50,000 levy and the relevant subsidies, the county board would have a budget of at least $100,000. (In comparison, Lancaster pays $2.40 per capita toward its library; Iroquois $2.58; Morrisburg $2.26.)

The pilot project, fully financed by Eastern Ontario Regional Library System, will continue until the end of 1971. This pilot project has given library service in the three United Counties a considerable boost. Let's continue to take advantage of this generous gift during the next two years and in the meantime prepare for the time when this support will be withdrawn. If we form a County Library Board, the Region will present that board with the bookmobile (worth $16,000), with book stocks deposited in different centres (worth about $10,000) and installations in newly established reading centres. The region will also continue to subsidize the county board on a regular basis.

The ladies of Sandringham and district have been a busy group the last month and the first part of the new year in the club house taking a course in "quilting" under the leadership of Mrs. D. A. MacGregor and Mrs. Elmer McDermid who took the course at Ingleside in November.

A class of 16 with an average attendance of 12 started by making cushion tops, chair pads, etc., then they decided to make a quilt to show at the summary day on March 18th. A busy bunch of ladies they were for a couple of weeks, but the results were very rewarding when they saw the finished quilt.

This quilt is the "Ripling Water" pattern measuring 80" by 94" made in blue and white and blue print and finished with picot edges. This quilt is also for sale and is all hand made.

The last night of the course the leaders were pleasantly surprised when Mrs. D. Ross read a nice addres sto them and suitable gifts were presented by Mrs. L. Thauvette and Mrs. G. Valley on behalf of the class.

The leaders both replied expressing their thanks and for having such a wonderful class to work with. A social time and lunch was enjoyed.

On Monday evening, Jan. 5th, when the quilting was nearly finished the class had another surprise party, "A Baby Shower" for Mrs. A. Vanderweilen one of the class. An address was read by Mrs. Chester Valley and a Bathinettee filled with presents for the new baby were presented by Mrs. Alex MacLean. Mrs. Vanderweilen thanked the ladies for their thoughtfulness. A social time and lunch followed.

Those taking the course were Mrs. F. Brabant, Mrs. Gerald Jans, Mrs. L. Thauvette, Mrs. M. Racine, Mrs. Ken MacGregor, Mrs. Alex McLean, Miss V. MacDiarmid, Mrs. C. Valley, Mrs. L. Fraser, Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, Mrs. M. Prebble, Mrs. W. Urquhart, Mrs. W. H. Scott, Mrs. D. Ross, Mrs. A. Vanderweilen and Mrs. S. Bradley.

ODAF DATA

A report from your Glengarry Agricultural Office

by GLEN SLATER

Commencing January 1, 1970, an increased number of Ontario farmers will have an opportunity to participate in CANFARM. Russ Bradford, Associate Ag. Rep., says the new computerized, weekly, mail-in farm record system is being developed to help farmers maintain accurate records and to provide management information.

CANFARM, short for Canadian Farm Management Data System, is a national system with user agencies across Canada. Its development is a cooperative effort involving provincial Departments of Agriculture, The Canada Department of Agriculture and several universities.

A maximum of 700 Ontario farmers will be accommodated on the expanded program in 1970. According to Bradford, two Glengarry County farmers cooperated in the initial testing phase of the system during 1969, and the expanded program will allow for eight additional Glengarry farmers to participate in 1970.

Mr. Bradford also tells me that farmers participating in CANFARM will receive monthly and year-end financial statements, and management information pertinent to their farm operations; and that as part of the Farm Management Advisory Service offered to Glengarry farmers, he and Jim Humphries, Ag. Rep., will be available to assist farmers in interpreting this information and in using it to make management decisions.

According to Bradford the cost of the CANFARM system to participants in 1970 will be $30; half of the fee levied by the Canada Department of Agriculture and half by the ODAF. He reports that registration for the program will be handled by Jim Humphries and himself.

As a reminder, Mr. Bradford emphasizes that the present Ontario Farm Record Book will continue to be made available, free of charge, to farmers wishing to use it.

The 1970 Cropping program is now being considered by many Glengarry farmers and Jim Humphries, Ag. Rep., suggests that the revised editions of three annual publications produced by ODAF would be of special interest and helpful guides in the selection of seed varieties, fertilizer ratios, herbicides and other agricultural chemicals.

Publication 296, 1970 Field Crop Recommendations provides, according to Mr. Humphries, information on recommended varieties, soil management, fertilizers and disease and insect control.

Corn seed is usually bought at this time of the year and Humphries suggests that the 1970 Report of the Ontario Corn Performance Trials should be consulted before placing orders. He warns that while many corn varieties are licensed for sale, not more than 25 early hybrids are recommended for production in this area. This report lists comparative test results including grain moisture at harvest, stalk breakage and yield.

For weed control, Mr. Humphries suggests Publication 75, 1970 Guide to Chemical Weed Control. This bulletin deals with recommended herbicides and programs for the protection of field and garden crops by chemical means. All of the above-mentioned publications can be picked up at the ODAF office.

ARDA is a People Orientated program emphasizes Camille St.-Pierre, Rural Development Counsellor of the ARDA Branch of ODAF. He goes on to say that a fundamental concept of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act is that rural people must be responsible for initiating their programs and that these programs must be long term, and corrective in nature, as opposed to temporary economic expedients, in order to receive ARDA aid. Mr. St.-Pierre explains that rural people as interpreted by ARDA, are all people living in a rural community as opposed to urban areas such as Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. It is because of this broad interpretation that individuals and industries in Rural towns like Alexandria can also benefit if ARDA objectives are met.

The Farm Enlargement and Consolidated program of the ARDA Branch embraces many aspects of farming according to Mr. St.-Pierre. Quality and quantity of land, management, capital, and most important a farmer's ability to cope with these, in order to produce a satisfactory income are points considered following application.

"Cotton May Be Smart" will be the 4-H Homemaking Club Project for the spring says Mrs. Butt, Home Economist, ODAF Cornwall, and there will be a 4-H Homemaking Club Leaders Training School held in the board-room of the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture and Food, Alexandria, on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 27 and 28, 1970, from 10.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m.

This Club will help members appreciate the effect of color, line and design in selecting dresses for themselves. Mrs. Butt explains that each member will plan and make a cotton dress, while learning how to select cotton fabrics wisely, to use a commercial pattern and to do finishing details such as facings, hems, and zippers. Mrs. Butt tells me that if four or five girls, who will be 12 years old by March 1st, would like to start a Club, they should send two leaders to the above-mentioned training school. These leaders will be given all the necessary information and instructions on leading the subject "Cotton May Be Smart".

They say that the reason a dollar won't do as much for people as it once did is that people won't do as much for a dollar as they once did!

INDUSTRIAL MILK POOLING TO BEGIN—The cows won't notice the difference but the producers will, after April 1st, when industrial milk pooling begins in Ontario. Centralized marketing of industrial milk through the Ontario Milk Marketing Board will bring the province's 17,000 industrial milk producers into a price pool based on end use and plant supply quotas. Ontario's fluid milk producers have been marketing their milk under price pool since March 1, 1968.

Pins Presented By Glen Sandfield Church Women

The Glen Sandfield United Church Women completed a very satisfying year of worship and activity under the leadership of Mrs. Stanley Nixon, president for 1969, who will be succeeded by Mrs. John Fraser for the current year.

Life membership pins were presented to Mrs. Gilbert MacRae and Mary MacKenzie for their devoted and untiring interest and assistance in church affairs. Mrs. MacRae served as secretary for a number of years before holding the office of treasurer for 29 years, working with the Ladies' Aid and the Women's Missionary Society before the UCW came into being. Miss MacKenzie worked with the WMS as president and the Ladies' Aid for some time.

Self-determination funds totalling $180 were sent to headquarters from the eleven active members.

The AOTS Men's Club was catered to a casserole supper during the year. A spring tea and bake sale in May along with the annual fall bazaar were well-attended highlights.

Seven quilts were pieced and hand-quilted by the membership and friends. Five have been sold and two are awaiting buyers.

Glen Sandfield women joined with the Presbyterian group for a World Day of Prayer Service at St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, early last year.

Guest speakers at monthly meetings were Mrs. W. H. Baugh, who spoke on special education at Ingleside; Larry Sicard, Regional Welfare Administrator; Mrs. F. W. B. Shaw, Hawkesbury, who summarized the annual Summer School for UCW at St. Anne de Bellevue; Mrs. Lynus MacPherson with a travelogue of Scotland taken with the Glengarry Pipe Band last August; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. MacLeod, Dunvegan, who showed slides on the British Isles.

The slate of officers for 1970 is: Mrs. Stanley Nixon, past president; Mrs. John Fraser, president; Mrs. Arthur MacMillan, vice-president; Mrs. Munroe McCaskill, secretary; Mrs. Douglas MacMillan, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur MacMillan, community friendship and visiting; Mrs. John Fraser, Christian Missionary Education; Miss Mary MacKenzie, literature; Mrs. Lloyd MacLennan, stewardship and vocation; Mrs. Ronald MacLachlan, Christian citizenship, supply and welfare; Mrs. Stanley Nixon, flowers; Mrs. Arnold MacRae and Mrs. Angus MacLennan, Auditors.

How much home are you missing through outdated wiring?

When this house was built it was hard to imagine all the wonderful ways in which electricity would be serving us today. That's why the wiring in so many older homes just isn't adequate for today's needs.

There are many signs. Fuses blowing. Lights dimming. Appliances performing sluggishly. Cluttered extension cords. Not enough outlets.

So, if you're planning to modernize your home, think first of the wiring. Have a qualified electrical contractor check it. You'll be surprised at how easily and inexpensively it can be updated. Or just ask your Hydro.
