A hospital opening is better seen when one's ambulant, rather than if one arrives by ambulance.

Public Invited To Tour Hospital Following Official Opening Wednesday

The Glengarry Memorial Hospital will be officially opened next Wednesday afternoon, May 12th, which fittingly enough is being observed as National Hospital Day across Canada.

Opening ceremonies will get underway at 2.30 p.m. outside the institution and later the doors will be thrown open to all for a tour of the hospital. Staff members will be in position to describe the equipment and layout. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

The open house will continue until 7 p.m. A tent will be used for the ceremonies in case of rain.

Hospital officials are still uncertain whether Hon. Judy LaMarsh, federal minister of health will be present to cut the ribbon. Miss LaMarsh is in Geneva and it will not be known whether she can accept the invitation until her return this weekend. Provincial Health Minister, M. B. Dymond was also invited, but finds it impossible to be present.

Members of the board, counties and municipal officials and members of the medical profession will be among the invited guests. All members of municipal councils in Glengarry since 1961, when the plans for the hospital first came to a head, have received invitations.

The hospital was to have been ready for its first patients on Monday, May 17th but some items of equipment have still to arrive and it may be necessary to delay actual reception of patients a few days longer.

About half of the staff should be on duty by Wednesday, according to Eric Gale, hospital administrator. Nine of the 20 nurses who will staff the hospital are now on duty.

To Be 93 Sunday

A lifelong resident of Breadalbane, John M. Campbell will celebrate his 93rd birthday, Sunday, May 9th, on the farm where he was born. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell reside with their son, Stanley Campbell.

E. L. D. MacMillan Died Suddenly

The many friends of E. L. Duncan MacMillan were shocked to hear of his death, Thursday morning, April 29th, in Cornwall General Hospital. In his 78th year, Mr. MacMillan had been ill only three days and many friends were unaware of his illness.

A prominent Holstein breeder at Laggan until coming to Alexandria a year ago, Mr. MacMillan was born February 7, 1888, at lot 6 7th Kenyon. He was the youngest of a family of eight of Dougald J. and Maggie MacMillan. His wife, the former Isabel MacCaskill, died two years ago.

A member of Kirk Hill United Church, he had also been active in the Alexandria Masonic Lodge.

Three sisters survive: Mrs. E. B. MacMaster and Mrs. Angus MacMaster, Dunvegan, and Mrs. M. R. Craig, Edmonton; as well as several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from the Marcoux and Morris Funeral Home to Kirk Hill United Church where Rev. John Hurst conducted the service in the presence of many friends. The choir sang "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me", "Lead Kindly Light" and a favorite anthem of Mr. MacMillan when he was a member of the choir for many years, Psalm 23.

The pallbearers were: Dougald E. MacMillan, Donald E. MacMaster, D. J. MacMaster, Duncan MacCuaig, Alex M. MacCuaig and Dougald MacMaster.

Burial was in the family plot in the adjoining cemetery.

Many floral tributes and messages evidenced the wide esteem in which he was held as did the many attending the wake and funeral.

Grass Fires Pose Dry Spell Threat

Alexandria's firemen have been kept busy as the siren sounded six times over the weekend. All outbreaks were minor except last Thursday's call to the Second Lochiel when a grass fire spread to the home of Ernest Danis.

The house was heavily damaged before firemen succeeded in quelling the blaze.

Grass fires have been the most frequent cause for alarm and these were threatening in almost every part of the county over the weekend. Some 100 men were reportedly needed to stop a fire in the Glen Sandfield area Saturday that threatened to spread to nearby bush. Other menacing grass fires were reported at Dalkeith, in the Bainsville area and other sections.

The ground is dangerously dry reports Ag. Rep. J. Y. Humphries and rain is badly needed both to get the grass started and to replenish low levels in wells. Quite a lot of seeding is underway across the county, he reports.

Mr. Humphries declares the last "really good" rain Glengarry got was on Sept. 21st, 1963.

THAT BALL IS SUPPOSED TO FALL—The golf season opened with a spurt over the weekend at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club as scores of enthusiasts turned out to regain the swing of the thing. Mrs. Lloyd McHugh is seen trying to hole out her putt on the seventh green while Mrs. Louis Shepherd, wife of this year's president, readies to remove the flag. Looking on are their junior menfolk, Kennie Parsons, left, and Rodney Shepherd. Another hopeful divot digger is seen in the far background, on No. 7 tee. No doubt he is dreaming of that hole-in-one which has yet to be scored on the short, but tricky, seventh hole. Golfers found the fairways a bit dry but the greens were at their mid-season best.

Council Would Prohibit All Types Outside Fires Including Incinerators

All types of outdoor fires, including the use of incinerators to burn paper and leaves, are to be prohibited in Alexandria

Acting on a recommendation of the Fire and Light Committee, Council at its Tuesday meeting, ordered Clerk-Treasurer Don Collin to prepare an amendment to the building by-law which presently permits burning of a bonfire only after permission of the fire chief has been received.

Under the new regulation such bonfires will no longer be permitted, nor will fires in incinerators. Whether the new prohibition will extend to outdoor barbecue pits is not made clear.

The report of the committee noted there had been many complaints of odor and smoke; that incinerators were being used to burn smelly garbage. The recommendation was that everything in the line of refuse should now be hauled to the dump where its burning would be controlled.

Incidental intelligence from the committee was that the brigade has been called out 10 times since the last meeting of council two weeks ago. Most blazes were of a minor nature.

An invitation was received from Square C Textiles inviting council to visit the new plant now that it is in full operation. It was decided to arrange the tour of the plant for Thursday night following the dinner council's industrial committee is hosting for local heads of industry.

A letter from Crown Assets advised council purchase price of the Armouries had been revaluated to $21,600, a reduction of 20 per cent over the first price of $27,000. Further representations will be made in hope of a more acceptable cost.

It was decided to replace the present 6-inch water main along the lake front from the filtration plant to connect with the new 10-inch main on Kenyon Street West. The new 10-inch main will provide additional water and more adequate fire protection to that area. A larger pump will be installed at the filtration plant and later the 10-inch main will be connected at the Mill Square with the Main Street main.

Some new street lights are to be installed, most of them at the south end, on Main, St. James and William Streets.

A request for a donation to the new junior lacrosse club was referred to the Recreation Committee as had a previous one from the Lochiel Recreation Committee.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Let's Keep It Clean

Spring clean-up time has been delayed by lingering cool weather and the lack of seasonal rain. But now it's May time, the grass is coming to life and it will look better for a thorough raking and grooming.

The summer's influx of visitors will be coming our way within weeks and we should be thinking in terms of presenting our town in its best light. Every civic-minded citizen should be doing everything possible to make home surroundings attractive and already a good start has been made by many in at least ridding lawns of their winter's grime.

A few good warm rains would help but these are depressingly late this spring and the rake will do wonders while we're waiting for that natural restorer of lawns and gardens that only Jupiter Pluvins can provide.

Some of us are without the green thumb that so zealously dresses up home surroundings in flower beds and borders. But while envying the horticulturists among us we can do our part in town beautification by simply 'keeping it clean'.

That goes for those who seem to make a practice of littering our streets. Don't throw it to the breeze; use the litter cans!

A Summer Of Golfing Lies Ahead

A new golf season opened on the local course over the weekend and though the fairways would be better for a few warm showers the course was in satisfactory shape for the many addicts who turned out. The greens came through the winter well and are in mid-season form, thanks to the sprinkling systems with which they are supplied.

Even before the season opened club officers had been receiving so many inquiries from potential new members there seems little doubt but that this fledgling club is now an established institution and on the way to its most successful year. The new bridges at Ste. Anne's and Dorion make it more convenient to Montreal and each year adds its quota of area residents who develop the golf bug.

It's understandable that urban Canadians fall easy prey to this germ. Cooped up in home and office for months on end through a long, cold winter they are most susceptible to the call of the open spaces in late spring, just when the golf season is opening. Divot digging offers a valid excuse to get out into the great outdoors, away from the concrete canyons of the city and the nauseating smell of diesel fumes.

The farmer who gets his daily dose of fresh air may look upon golfers as a daft breed, given to wasting time and energy chasing after a silly little ball. He may not appreciate how much they appreciate this chance to soak in the sun, to walk with a breeze, even to get caught in a summer shower at times.

As the urban sprawl continues to gobble up farm acreage, more and more people will fall prey to this golf bug whose bite is even recommended as a health measure by the medical fraternity, and why not? The well-groomed greenery of the golf course is a sight for sore eyes. The warm sun and the wind out of the west, that golfers knew Saturday, must have had therapeutic powers. Our tired blood was giving us a new sense of well-being after one aching round. It was our muscles that were complaining and they'll just have to get used to it.

Practically six months of golf lie ahead and each one of them is being looked forward to with special relish by the guy who has been bitten by the golf bug. For him the promise of summer is involved in such things as birdies and bogeys and lowering his handicap. For each golfer these have varying values, but for all of them there is the lure of soft, green grass underfoot and a fleecy ceiling of clouds and sun above.

If you would escape from the madding throng this summer and wallow in nature at its manicured best, we recommend a membership in the Glengarry Golf and Country Club. There is still room for you.

Education Is The Key

Is the federal government on the right track in budgetting for ever larger social security programs? Might it not be better advised to concentrate more of its spending on help to education? President Johnson is pushing such a program on the U.S. Congress and to us it makes sense.

If financial help from the federal treasury can better equip more of our young for this age of automation they are growing into, it seems an inevitable result will be a lessening need for baby bonuses, unemployment insurance, medicare and all the other benefits Ottawa is providing. If they are better equipped in youth to know the good life, our children should be less of a drain on public handouts as they mature.

Higher education apparently is the key, if we are to believe all the outpourings of government, beamed at stopping school dropouts. If a university degree is to be a necessity for tomorrow's job seeker any government concerned with the future well-being of its citizens should be concentrating its efforts on providing that degree of academic excellence for as many of its youths as can qualify.

This is not the case today. Some federal funds are now channelled into scholarships and fellowships, but this is very limited. The federal government is circumscribed in its efforts to aid education by the fact this is a jealously guarded preserve of the provinces.

We would suggest, though, that Ottawa might with a minimum of red tape move to aid the cause of higher education through its own Income Tax legislation. Simply by allowing a two thousand dollar exemption for dependents attending a recognized college or university, rather than the present $550, the federal government could provide a real impetus for parents to keep their youngsters on the royal road to a broader education.

Most parents , we imagine, take pride in their ability to provide whatever is needed to give their children the best possible start in adult life. But the escalating costs of higher learning have to be met by most parents in those years when the Income Tax most heavily hits them.

They are being told their children must have a university degree if they are to survive the competition of the computer. The commercial course, now freely available in most secondary schools, may not serve the purpose it once did. The white collar class of the future must have donned a mortarboard to receive a university degree or they may never have a chance at the good life.

Strapped by high income tax rates a lot of parents see scholarships as the only hope to help finance their youngsters through university. But most government scholarships are based on need; on the inability of the parents to meet the costs of tuition and board. These are cold statistics that take no cognizance of the personal standard of living; allow no room for the individualist who rebels against accepting charity, even from his government.

A special tax exemption for parents of college students would be fairer than the present system of scholarships and would involve government in less paper work. It would be aiding education without interfering in any way with provincial autonomy in that field.

A former Minister of Finance, Mr. George Nowlan, is of the opinion that the most important problem for the nation is education. In a recent speech in the Commons he suggested that it is essential that funds be provided for schools and universities to produce the trained Canadians to carry through the development program set forth by the Economic Council.

Mr. Nowlan continued:

"The most important problem facing the country today is not the provision of bigger and better pensions, not the providing of medicare and various other matters, all of which are good in themselves. Unless we deal realistically with the educational problem with which the country is faced, then we are not going to conquer poverty. We are not even going to hold our own."

The Economic Council estimates the Canadian bill for education will pass the three billion dollar mark by 1970. It is now well over two billions annually. More of the federal tax dollars will have to be channelled to education, it seems certain.

We feel a tax exemption would provide one acceptable method for Ottawa to participate.

The Weeklies Say

DUTY NEGLECTED

It is really our business to tell the police when we know something wrong is going on in our community. Many of us shut our eyes to things which go unreported, especially where young persons are involved, and thus help bringing about one of the very things which we most heartily disagree with — juvenile deliquency. —Dawson Creek (BC) Peace River Block News.

TIME TO RIGHT WRONG

There are always two sides to everything but the fact must be faced that the racial problem is as old as America itself. There is only one solution. The United States of America must somehow undo the great harm done to the Negro when he was first dragged from his native Africa. Possible the Negro should be given a state of his own the same as everyone else. Call it the state of liberty. —Westlock (Alta.) News

PPOLITICAL DILEMMA

If there is an election this year it is reasonable to believe that neither the Social Credit nor the CCF can form a government. The best they can hope for is to hold the balance of power. And all that this can accomplish is a continuation of the present mess we are in. —Rosetown (Sask.) Eagle

OUR OWN BLOOD BANK

The Red Cross mobile blood donor clinic will be here next Tuesday and this time the blood you donate may stay right here in Alexandria to help save the life of relative or friend.

The new Glengarry Memorial Hospital, opening next week, has facilities for refrigerated storage of a blood bank and the Red Cross will be stocking it just as it does all other area hospitals.

Officials tell us that donations of blood to the banks in this area fall consistently short of requirements and they are hopeful the clinic here next Tuesday will draw at least the 200 donors that are a minimum goal. The last few visits to Alexandria have had disappointing results, we are informed.

The clinic will be held at the Legion Hall from 2 to 4 p.m. and again from 6.30 to 8.30 p.m. The Red Cross would like to see you a donor.

TING IS TINGLING

If he wore a lid your Rambling Reporter would be doffing it in the direction of one Merle Randolph Tingley who thinks up those sparkling cartoons to our left.

Ting is staff cartoonist on The London Free Press in addition to servicing several weekly newspapers across the country.

On April 24th he attended the Headliners Frolic in Atlantic City, NJ, where he was presented by the National Headliners Club with first prize for "consistently outstanding editorial cartoons (no circulation limitation). He was the only Canadian winner in the competition which annually draws entries from throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Ting's winning entry consisted of a dozen cartoons on the international scene, some of which undoubtedly were carried on this page.

You probably have spotted Ting's well-known collaborator in his cartoons. He is "Luke Worm", an abashed looking worm who crawls into most of Ting's drawings and has become a Ting trademark. The presence of Luke Worm doesn't mean Ting's cartoons are luke warm; they've won several national and international awards before this one.

It's three years this month since The News began carrying Ting's cartoons and we were the first weekly to do so. This latest success reflects the fact we like to provide a quality product.

Things 'n Stuff

PERSONAL TASTE

Some people like ham, some people like jam, and others prefer a beef stew. It would be a queer world if we all thought alike, so some prefer red and some blue.

How lucky we are to be able to choose the socks and the ties we prefer. If a girl was confined to wear one kind of dress we'd surely feel sorry for her.

I smoke cigarettes but my friend likes a pipe and both of us hate a cigar. And a fellow we know has an old horse and rig. Nobody could sell him a car.

So all of us, each to his personal taste feel satisfied most of the time. Some revel in heat, others like to be faced with the prospect of cold wintertime.

I find that a cat makes a wonderful pet responding to kindness and love, while others get pleasure from tropical fish, a budgie, canary or dove.

My friend has a dog but I'll stick to my cat because we're the greatest of friends. I love his cute ways and he seems to like mine though cat's ways are different from men's.

Some blind men have use for a Seeing Eye Dog. I don't prefer dogs, and that's that. So some day you'll find if I ever go blind, I'll be led by a Smelling Nose Cat!

GEORGE ROBERTSON DIES SUDDENLY

The many relatives and friends were deeply saddened to learn of the sudden death of George Robertson which occurred in his home at Tolmie's Corner, in the 5th Concession of Roxborough Township, on Saturday afternoon, April 24th.

Mr. Robertson had not been in good health during the winter months but had been able to attend to some of his farming duties. After partaking of his noonday meal he was visiting with relatives when he was stricken with a heart seizure and passed away within minutes before medical aid could arrive.

Mr. Robertson was a highly respected resident of the community having served as an electrician in the area for many years. He served for a number of years on the Public School Area Board as a Trustee and at the time of his death he was a member of the Board of Management of Moose Creek Presbyterian Church.

He was born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, on January 14, 1908, a son of the late John Robertson and his wife, the former Margaret MacDonald. He received his education in Scotland and when a young man he came to Canada and was employed by farmers in the district, at one home he had been employed for 18 years.

On March 5th, 1937, he married the former Miss Christena Sproul of Moose Creek. In 1949 they purchased the farm on which his death occurred.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Sheldon Robertson and three daughters, Mrs. Stewart Blair (Jean) of Chesterville, and Misses Brenda and Lyma Robertson of Moose Creek. Six brothers and two sisters also survive: Robert and Andrew Robertson of Brockville, Ont.; Donald and William Robertson of Inverness, Scotland; Peter Robertson of Aberdeenshire, Scotland; Benjamin Robertson of Winnipeg, Man.; Mrs. Fred Cole (Christena) of Cornwall, England and Mrs. Harry Casselman (Barbara) of Brockville, Ont.

The body rested at the Munro Funeral Home, Maxville from where the funeral was held to Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek on Tuesday, April 27th. The service was conducted by Mr. Raymond Glen, Student Minister, who brought a comforting message to relatives and friends. The combined choirs from the United Church and the Presbyterian Church led in the service of praise. The hymns were favorites of the deceased "What a Friend we have in Jesus" and "The Sands of time are Sinking".

Pallbearers were: Stanley McKay, Daniel B. MacKillican, Wilfred Montcalm, Charles E. Blair, Ernest Brisson, J. Cecil Robertson.

Burial took place in the family plot in Gravel Hill Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Mr. R. Glen.

Many floral tributes and messages of sympathy were received showing the esteem in which Mr. Robertson was held in the community.

Relatives and friends were present from Brockville, Ottawa, Cornwall, Kingston, Smiths Falls, Finch, Berwick, Maxville and surrounding district.

Little League Baseball Loop Has Six Teams

The success of minor hockey could well draw an assist in the formation of a minor baseball league that was launched at a meeting held in Maxville, Monday night.

To develop and encourage the game that has flourished throughout Canada and U.S. as "Little League" there is a league ruling that each team will be limited to three 15 year olds, three 14, three 13, and six 12 years and under.

A 20 game schedule is being drafted and the opening games slated for May 23-24.

Gerald Emburg of Moose Creek, is president of the new league with Len Gutoskie of Maxville secty-treas.

Couple Wed In Alberta

MacLEOD—BLAKE

A wedding of unusual interest to pioneers of three provinces was solemnized in Christ Church (Anglican), Nanton, Alberta, on April 3rd, 1965 when Audrey Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. T. Blake, became the bride of Mr. Robert Douglas MacLeod, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. MacLeod of Dalkeith. The bride comes on the maternal side from pioneer stock of Vancouver, 1885, and on the paternal side of Calgary 1889. The groom comes from the early pioneers of Glengarry County.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza fashioned with long, lily-point sleeves and a chapel-length train. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses and gardenias and wore a three-strand necklace of her mother's pearls.

Mrs. Joyce Brockway, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, Miss Judy Kitchen bridesmaid and Carol Brockway, niece of the bride, was flower girl. George Brockway, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer at the double-ring ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Community Centre Clubrooms followed by a wedding supper and later dancing.

For her wedding trip the bride chose an aqua knitted suit with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. They will reside in Calgary.

Among the guests were Mrs. W. G. MacLeod, mother of the groom and her daughter, Miss Marilyn MacLeod of Ottawa.

brought in the new slate of officers: Past President, Mrs. Archie M. MacDonald; President, Mrs. Lloyd McHugh; 1st Vice President, Mrs. Vincent Barker; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Cormic McDonald; 3rd Vice President, Mrs. Jack Reid; Secretary, Mrs. Gerald McGillis and Treasurer, Mrs. Paul Kolada. Conveners will be chosen in the near future.

At the close of the meeting a presentation was made to the retiring president, Mrs. MacDonald, in appreciation of her two years of service.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Les Canadiens Sont La, one of the oldest battle cries of the NHL that couples with The Flying Frenchmen and Mount Royal Arena, echoed and re-echoed from the Forum on Saturday night as Les Habs won the final from Hawks 4-0.

Apart from the dramatic suddeness and master craftsmanship of Beliveau, Duff, Cournoyer and Richard in scoring four goals in the first period, the opener at the 14-second mark, followed by the clincher five minutes later, this game, by no stretch of imagination, could not be classed among the many Stanley Cup final classics. Gump Worsley's shut-out performance and Glen Hall's at times unbelievable stops, prevented a minor league rating.

Players like Frank Nighbor, Cy Denneny and Punch Broadbent of Ottawa Senator fame who won the Stanley Cup many years ago by defeating both the West Coast and Western Canada representatives on their home ice, and the equally noted Bill and Bun Cook, flanking Frank Boucher of New York Rangers, who could win the Silverware in any rink while the circus took over in Madison Square Gardens; those players and many more battle-scarred veterans must have looked upon this year's "homer" series with dismay.

Among the highlights, when they shone, was the all around leadership and finesse-brand play of Jean Beliveau that won for Les Hab's "Gros" Bill, and deservedly so, the Conn Smythe Trophy. In comparison, the remainder of the troupe with the exception of a few like J. C. Tremblay were as far behind as Bold Lad when he hit the stretch in Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

LIONS SPORTS DINNER

Alexandria Lions Club are stepping up their annual May teen-age dinner meeting, on a minor scale to begin with, into the sportsman's banquet classification whereby tribute is paid to the achievements of an athlete or a team group.

Danny Galivan, Kaye Vaughan and Franke Selke, Jr., have been Lions' guest speakers in the past and another noted sport authority, Ernie Calcutt, of CFRA, Ottawa, will be on hand for next Monday night's get-together.

The Lions Peewee hockey champs will be honored guests and once again receive congratulations.

In the past these dinners were attended by Lions members and their sons; a father-son type evening, however, hard-working Lions president, John Proulx, and his hustling aids wish to say that any local sportsman who is not a Lion and yet would like to attend this function along with his son is welcome. There is only one request. Please notify the Lions president or any club member not later than six p.m. Saturday in order to assist the catering staff with an approximate advance attendance figure.

So we hope to meet you at the Legion, Monday, May 10, 6.30 p.m. where you will be greeted with typical Lions hospitality and hear a sports discourse by a noted radio commentator Ernie Calcutt, who covered the recent Stanley Cup series for CFRA listeners.

GLENS LACROSSE PROSPECTS

We finally got around to Glengarry Gardens to get a glimpse of the junior lacrosse candidates. Coach Cameron McCormick and his assistant, Bob (Green Valley) Leroux are drilling a husky squad who are eager, in fine physical condition thanks to Stanley Fraser and no doubt will develop finesse as the practices and early schedule games progress.

Gerald Vachon, a nimble net minder in junior hockey, is slated to take over the lacrosse mask and goalie gutted stick. On defence there is plenty of brawn. Glen MacSweyn, Jim MacGillivray, Burns MacPherson, Ronnie Levert and Ian Lasalle are checking the budding attackers.

There are several forward units being shifted around by Coach McCormick which is sound logic in order to come up with the desired scoring punch. Among those showing promise, certainly willingness, we spotted Carman MacMillan, Alan Chisholm, Bernard Morris, Alan O'Brien, Neil Gravelle, Gerald Lajoie, Wilbert McDonald, Richard Vaillancourt, Ted Hunter, Kevin Weir and Kenzie McDonald.

Saturday night's workout will be in the form of a game with the "Old Timers". President Alec "Lauchie" MacDonald, vice prexy Dunc Macdonell and secty-treas. Stuart McDonald are enthusiastic leaders deserving support for their efforts in bringing back Canada's original game to its rightful standing here in the Glens. Norman Laperle is manager, assisted by trainer Shaun MacDonald and Roddie (Angus Sandy) MacDonell arranging transportation.

The organization and practice efforts of the management and players will be on display next Tuesday night, 8.15, in the Gardens when Ourtown's junior Glens play Cornwall Mustangs in the schedule opener.

MINOR BASEBALL

Cliff Britton should get out the old blue serge suit, whisk, mask and loosen his tonsils with the umpire's command of — batter up! Sport fans stock up with peanuts because baseball has hit the Glens.

We often wondered how long Maxville's noted hotel owner and sport follower "Nick" Haramis would stay apart from his first sport love — baseball.

When Len Gutoskie moved into Maxville from that sportsman's paradise of Eganville - Barry's Bay, whatever else was needed to spark minor baseball was provided by Alexandria's Andy McNulty, our American cousin, a recent new citizen of Ourtown. Add Gerald Emburg of Moose Creek and we have baseball.

Minor teams entered in this new loop will represent Casselman, Moose Creek, Maxville, Fournier, Apple Hill and Alexandria. Each club will have 15 players in the following age groups: 15 years—3; 14 yrs.—3; 13 yrs.—3, while six will be signed who are 12 and under.

A 20 game schedule will be drafted and the opening games will be played on the May 23 - 24th holiday.

MORLIN CAMPBELL STAYS

This writer is among the many football fans who were pleased that Morlin Campbell reconsidered his resignation and will commence his 21st year as secty-treas. of the Glengarry Football League, one of the older in point of continuity in Canadian sport.

This success, in part, is no doubt due to the sound and enthusiastic leadership of Morlin Campbell in his efforts that at times are complex during the past 20 years. Sportsmen in every phase who take on executive chores do so in the interests of any given game and the community they live in. They don't expect a stipend but they do deserve and should receive a word of thanks periodically.

Constructive criticism is always welcome and no executive member is worth his salt if it's not acceptable, hower, when a league head acts to the best of his ability and criticism is brushed by personalities that is going too far. This was Morlin's experience. A prime example was the Stanley Cup presentation, turned bush league when President Clarence Campbell was roundly booed, obviously because some years ago he suspended "Rocket" Richard.

Clarence Campbell receives a healthy salary and can accept the bric bats but there is another Campbell who has rendered 20 years service to Glengarry Football without a whimper and although he had every right justified to make his resignation stick he again demonstrated his stature by submerging hurt feelings and yielded to a unanimous request to continue. Football in the Glens has scored another important goal.

you
And to be with you always.

It only takes a little space
To write how much we miss you,
But it will take the rest of our life
To forget the day we lost you.
You couldn't say goodbye to us,
Perhaps it was just as well,
We could never have said goodbye
To a brother we loved so well.
—Ever remembered by sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Connell.
Alexandria. 18-1p

And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, death claimed you
In the prime of boyhood days,
But we hope some day to meet
you
And to be with you always.
But all we have left are memories
Of a world that might have been.
