First collective agreement settled between GACL, CUPE

By Faith Bloomfield
News reporter

After 18 months of negotiations, the Glengarry Association for Community Living ratified a contract with CUPE (the Canadian Union for Public Employees) last week.

There are more than 60 full and part-time counsellors and workshop instructors affected by the new collective agreement and GACL Counsellor Loraine Austin said it's a good first contract.

"It's not perfect by any means, but it's great for us to start with and build on," said Austin, who is also the local's CUPE president.

Previous to the Oct. 18 signing, employees working in the five area group home residences, Arc (Adult Rehabilitation Centre) Industries Workshop and the Life Skills teaching program were of the lowest paid within the social agencies, she said.

The contract is retroactive to April 1989, when discussions to join the union first began. The contract is effective for two years and will be renegotiated April 1991.

As well, salary increases agreed upon in the contract were also retroactive. Employees received bulk payments in December '89 and April of this year.

Negotiated by management, GACL board members, union affiliates and employees, the contract improved the benefits package, created a seniority list and clarified job descriptions and salaries.

And management is as pleased with the whole situation as the union and employees.

"It was a potentially difficult situation, but it didn't turn out that way," said Bob Grantier, executive director of GACL.

He said he thinks the contract is a very good collective agreement, setting out management's rights.

Chief negotiator for management Mike Depratto agreed, saying now everyone knows where they stand. "It's easier than having to second guess yourself all the time." Depratto is chairman of GACL.

Also a member of the GACL's bargaining team, Grantier did a lot of preparatory and drafting work and he said as far as he could see there was no specific reason why the agency decided to unionize.

"Organizations like ours tend to be organized and have unions. It would have happened eventually anyways. Ten-to-one the union would have approached them," he explained.

Austin said the union was voted in almost unanimously.

"Out of about 39 full-time workers who voted, there were only six nays," she said explaining that at least 51 per cent must vote in favor to establish a labor shop.

Other employees involved in the negotiations were Elizabeth Lacelle, Werner Kreische and Debbie Ryan.

With Depratto and Grantier, GACL President Don Collins, Directors Les Kimbell and Helene Adams formed the association's team and the union was represented by Andre Lamoureux.

The GACL provides work placements for their developmentally handicapped clients and prepares them for independence and offering a somewhat sheltered integration into the community.

Suspects sought for rash of car thefts

String of Ontario thefts connected

Alexandria police issued arrest warrants Monday for two Northern Ontario residents in connection with a rash of car thefts and arson involving vehicles in Alexandria, Sudbury and Sturgeon Falls.

Alexandria Const. Jamie MacMaster would not release the names of the accused, explaining the men are not yet in custody.

The series of thefts, he said, started in Sudbury and continued, back and forth between that community, Glengarry, Ottawa and Sturgeon Falls.

The cycle of stolen vehicles began when a red Fiero was stolen in Sudbury, taken to Sturgeon Falls then abandoned. There a blue van was stolen, and was later found burning in Baltics Corners. Then, local resident Lisa Deguire's car was stolen from Alexandria Footwear and recovered in Gloucester.

The same night, another vehicle was stolen from Ottawa and was found burned on Kenyon Dam Road, Const. MacMaster said.

Shortly before 4 a.m. on Monday morning, MacMaster said a Honda Prelude belonging to Luc Leblanc of Kincardine Street in Alexandria was recovered in Orillia, Ontario. Police chased the vehicle which stopped, allowing three subjects to escape on foot.

"Property was found in the car that ties in the Sudbury connection," MacMaster said.

Although the culprits are still at large, Alexandria police Chief Paul Deveau said the names of the accused have been entered on the nationwide Canadian Police Information Centre network available to police officers.

The two young adults, both male, have been charged with auto theft. Chief Deveau said Tuesday more charges are pending.

Halloween's a comin'

Ontario Hydro hikes, GST could raise rates by 16% throughout county

By Faith Bloomfield
News reporter

Ontario Hydro's recent announcement of an 8.6 per cent increase combined with the proposed 7 per cent GST (Goods and Services Tax), is making the forecast for this winter a cold one.

Local utilities, supplied by Ontario Hydro, will find it necessary to raise their rates as well, effecting an increase upward to 16 per cent.

Alexandria's Public Utilities Commission (PUC) can't confirm the amount of its increase, but General Manager Laurent Poirier said they will be meeting with provincial representatives sometime in December to discuss it.

All charges and increases must be okayed by Ontario Hydro.

At present, between 1,400 and 1,500 residential customers in Alexandria already pay more for their electricity than most other rural residents.

Over a two month period, the first 500 kWh (kilowatt hour, or 1000 watts used in an hour) costs 9.77 cents per kWh. That is more than 3.15 cents higher than the city of Ottawa.

PUC billing clerk Bob Boisvenue explained that is because Ottawa is using a larger bulk of power in a more concentrated area with 140,000 customers.

However the village of Maxville, serving less than 400 customers charges 1.5 cents lower than Alexandria.

Only Maxville and Alexandria have their own utilities handling the billing. The townships of Charlottenburg, Kenyon, Lancaster and Lochiel are all billed directly from the Ontario Hydro office in Vankleek Hill.

Their rates are standardized, set for all customers across the province, said Spokesman Gary LeFrancois.

"For rural customers in built-up residential areas (R1) the first 750 kWh (kilowatt hours) for a three-month period is 15.3 cents per kWh. For R2s (those living in areas not built up) the rate for the first 750 kWh is 16.9 cents per kWh. Every kWh therafter is 6.27 cents," he said.

LeFrancois said there is a rebate on the initial 750 kWh of 5.02 cents per kWh for R1 customers and 5.58 cents per kWh for R2 clients. He said the rebate is "to equalize the rate between utilities and rural."

He explained because people are spread out more in rural areas it is more expensive to supply the power.

"In a village there is a lot of customers served by the same transformer. In areas that aren't built up there could be one pole, one transformer and one customer. It's much more costly," said the senior accountant.

Because of the rebate and the different billing period, it is difficult to compare Ontario Hydro rates with those of the utilities.

Although it is just a matter of cents, the difference between Alexandria and the other two adds up to dollars when compared.

For 1000 kWh over the same billing period of approximately two months, Alexandrians pay $77.90 and those in Maxville pay $69.70 — a difference of more than $8.

Boisvenue said he believes the discrepancy must be because Alexandria has its own utilities crew.

"Ontario Hydro decides how much we charge, after discussions with the commission. It could be because we have a bigger budget than Maxville," he said. He added that Maxville doesn't have the same increases either.

Alexandria Chamber moves closer to BIA

Body hires coordinator for promotion

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce has taken a first step toward the establishment of a Business Improvement Area (BIA) in the town.

The Chamber's board of directors last week voted to host a rallying meeting on Thursday, Nov. 1 to convince the town's Main Street merchants the BIA would be of benefit to their businesses.

A BIA is a designated area in a town's commercial section which is assessed a special tax and enforced by a municipal bylaw and provincial statute. All money from that tax goes into a fund which is managed by a board elected by the BIA members. Money is often spent on improvements to the commercial core such as benches, flower boxes, promotions and staff, including a manager.

Bill Gallant, who was manager of the Cornwall BIA for nine years, made a presentation to the Chamber board at a meeting last Thursday. In a proposed budget for the first year of a BIA in town, he outlined an estimate of $57,000 from Nov. 1, 1990 to Oct. 30, 1991.

The proposed budget included $23,500 for administration costs including wages and benefits for a coordinator, $16,000 for advertising and promotion, $5,000 for beautification, $2,500 for other expenses and $10,000 for a contingency fund.

Those expenses would be covered through revenue from the BIA levy ($50,400) sale of promotional items and direct Chamber contributions in the first year.

The BIA rally will be held at the hall above the Priest's Mill restaurant at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Gallant will speak about the BIA, its advantages and discuss his experience from working in Cornwall.

The formation of a BIA requires the approval of two-thirds of the business owners within the designated area. In Alexandria's case, it's proposed that all businesses on and adjacent to Main Street basically within the limits of the town, be included. The amount of BIA levy a business pays is proportionate to its assessment.

A bylaw designating the BIA will also have to be passed by Alexandria town council. There is a 30-day waiting period after the passing when anyone can object to the BIA's formation. If two-thirds of merchant support cannot be found, the motion is defeated.

The Chamber's board also decided to hire Mr. Gallant for an eight-week period this year to run its Christmas promotion, but it has to borrow $2,000 to do it.

The Chamber approved a motion — with one dissenter — to borrow the money, which will fund half of the promotion's cost. A committee headed by director Gail Abrames intends to raise money to pay back the loan.

The theme of this year's promotion is "An Old Fashioned Christmas" and will commence Nov. 23 and end Dec. 22, running over 26 shopping days.

Its main attraction will be four weekly draws of cash prizes.

Earthquake awoke some Glengarrians, but no damage was reported in area

An early morning earthquake last Friday rattled dishes and shook some Glengarrians out of their sleep, but officials report no damage by the tremor.

The Geological Survey of Canada with the Ministry of Energy Mines and Resources stated Tuesday the quake struck the Lac des Iles region in Quebec, about 30 km east of Maniwaki at 3:01 a.m. with a magnitude of 5.2 on the Richter scale.

Goetz Buchbinder, research seismologist with the ministry, said the quake was felt quite widely in lower buildings in the Ottawa area, about 110 km from the epicentre, however the disturbance was not nearly powerful enough to cause damage.

"A 5.2 is rather scarey, but you have to go well beyond 5.5, approaching 6, to cause damage because of the construction in this area," he said adding a tremor of this magnitude could be catastrophic in some developing countries where structures are not as well made.

Buchbinder said it is difficult to measure the quake in Glengarry, about 200 km from the epicentre, because no seismic readings were taken in the area and effect of distance varies according to soil composition. The force of the quake is normally reduced according to the distance from the epicentre.

Laurent Poirier, manager of Alexandria's Public Utilities Commission, said Tuesday the water and electrical systems in the town were not affected by the quake and no damage was reported.

Similarly, Ontario Hydro Vankleek Hill area manager Lawrence Simpson stated there were no disturbances in electrical service in its coverage area of Alexandria, Vankleek Hill, Rockland and Long Sault.

Buchbinder said tremors are usually caused when 'plates' in the Earth's crust rub against themselves and cause a horizontal compression along a fault line. This most recent quake occurred in the middle of a plate, however, and Buchbinder said the tremor was caused by the reactivation of an old fault.

The seismologist said buildings in the area, from the St. Lawrence to Mont Laurier, are constructed to withstand quakes which measure six on the Richter scale, expected once every 100 years.

Canadian Tire expansion

Alexandria Canadian Tire store owner Ivan Mercier held a gala opening to his new expansion Monday evening replete with caterers and cocktails for all the business men and women of Alexandria. The expansion adds 60 per cent more floor space to the old structure, boosting the area to a full 9,000 square feet. Among other improvements are lower shelves, wider aisles and high wall merchandising. Mercier, who has owned the store since Feb. 19 said the changes are designed to make shoppers more comfortable. Self-taught local designer among the industry's best

It isn't everyone who would commute 92 miles each way, five days a week, to and from work but then it isn't everyone who has the roots Thomas Pigeon does in Glengarry County.

The head of the Thomas Pigeon Design Group, one of Canada's top package design firms, designed and built a traditional Georgian-style log home in Maxville in 1986 when he moved from Montreal. Generally, he returns to Maxville daily from Montreal, where his company's head office is located. The Group also has an office in Toronto.

The Pigeon roots in Glengarry area go back to his grandfather, Doris Pigeon, and grandmother, the former Irène Séguin, who lived in Alexandria before moving to Montreal.

His father, Aimé, spent most of his teenage summers working on Maxime Lalonde's Alexandria farm and moved back to Glengarry County in 1989. He now lives in a log home in Apple Hill.

Lancaster Township

Council briefs

The following are among the items dealt with in the regular meeting of Lancaster Township council on Oct. 10.

Township supports $10,000 draw

Council approved a proposal by the North Lancaster Optimist club to carry out a lottery draw for prizes totalling $10,000. Since the prize pot for the draw exceeds $5,000, municipal approval is the first step for the Optimists to acquire a licence. Draw organizers must now petition the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Affairs for official approval.

The Optimist draw is an annual fundraising event with proceeds going to support the service organization.

Housing subdivision approved

Council approved four land severences in Green Valley for the completion of a street and the creation of four lots averaging an acre each. The approval was subject to the construction of an extension to Lefebvre Street at the cost of the owners, Donald Menard and Daniel Lefebvre.

Changes to dump operation

The days of operation of the township land fill site have changed. Previously open on Tuesday and Saturday, the dump will now be open on Monday, Thursday and Saturday of each week, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Council said access to the site will be restricted to the days and times when the supervisor is in attendance, with no exception.

The dump site supervisor's pay has jumped three fold after 10 years without change. Council agreed to hike the monthly remuneration to $500 from $125.

Cigarettes and drug stores:

Ontario College of Pharmacists say they don't belong together, but some local pharmacists are balking

By Faith Bloomfield
News* reporter

The Ontario College of Pharmacists moved another step closer to eliminating tobacco sales from Ontario pharmacies, and Glengarry drug store owners are waiting for the word.

The College, which governs the practice of pharmacies in Ontario, decided to ban the sale of tobacco products from drugstores on a voluntary basis.

The owner of Alexandria Drug Mart Sam Sultan said he would be very happy to stop selling cigarettes if it was mandatory for all pharmacies, therefore creating a non-competitive position.

His drugstore stopped selling cigarettes at the beginning of 1988 but started again in April of this year.

"We don't want to sell cigarettes, but we're forced to. If we don't our customers are forced to go elsewhere," said Sultan Monday. "We started selling them again because of customer demand."

However, he said he was very pleased the College decided on the ban, even though it is under a lot of pressure from big tobacco-selling corporations.

The connection between pharmacies and tobacco goes further than just over the counter cigarette sales.

A spokesman for the Canadian Cancer Society explained that the Shopper's Drug Mart drugstore chain is owned by Imasco Limited, the same holding company that owns Imperial Tobacco, Canada's largest tobacco product manufacturer.

John Ronson, chairman of the Society's Ontario Public Issues Committee said the drugstore chain has already announced that it will not comply with the College's decision.

"This is very typical. They'll wait until they're forced," he said.

Ronson said the Society estimates Ontario pharmacies sell between $700 and $800 million worth of the products annually.

But on a store-by-store basis, cigarettes are not big profit makers.

Lee Russell, owner of the Lancaster Pharmacy, stopped selling cigarettes in his store two years ago and said he didn't lose money at all.

"My business wasn't affected to any extent. I don't think cigarettes should be sold in drug stores. It's a total conflict of interest," he said.

He added that there are many people who suffer the ill effects of cigarette smoking. "I didn't want to be selling them at the front of the store and sell prescriptions at the back."

Sam Sultan agreed, saying "Cigarettes are without a doubt a large health risk and being in the health profession we don't feel happy selling them."

Child Haven saluted by Indian diplomat

The deputy High Commissioner of India for Canada paid homage to the volunteers of the Glengarry support group for Child Haven International last Friday night.

In a speech which largely touched on the spiritual philosophies of Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi, whose 121st birthday Indians are celebrating this month, Deputy High Commissioner S. Sivaswami noted that the Child Haven volunteers "stand apart, because you demonstrate in your daily lives your personal commitment, your personal responsibility towards your fellowmen."

Speaking before a gathering of about 60 Child Haven supporters at a banquet at the Alexandria Curling Club, Sivaswami said the organization and its workers "have tried to make a difference by your personal contributions through voluntary work, your care and concern for the wellbeing of others."

The deputy high commissioner had earlier noted that he was particularly happy to be in Alexandria at this time of year, as this is the "festival season of Deepavali in India, the Festival of Lights, when men and women join their children in lighting earthen lamps, of joy and prosperity, wearing traditional new clothes and calling on their friends." The festival is comparable to North Americans' celebration of Christmas.

In speaking about Gandhi, Savaswami said his appeal "lay in his basic honesty and his readiness to personally experience what he preached — non-violence, truth and resolute resistance to what he perceived as social and political injustice of his times." He added the leader came to be revered as a "saint in his own lifetime."

Even during the 121st anniversary of his birth, the issues Gandhi wrestled with "continue to haunt us — war, destruction, racism and exploitation, population and malnutrition and greed and degradation of the environment."

He added: "It is indeed a paradox that while we spend billions of dollars to evolve life support systems in outer space, on the earth we are systematically destroying nature."

In this context, Gandhi's message remains fresh today, Savaswami said.

"It is a view of life that calls for restoration of the equilibrium between material and spiritual growth, between technological advance and humanistic development, a synthesis of the whole." The Indian leader's life exemplified the revival of the spirituality of man, he added, "an acknowledgment that the fundamental answers have to come from within. The next century will be significant for expanding the meaning and vision of what it is to be human."

The deputy high commissioner, in concluding, said that it was from this point he wanted to pay tribute to the group and its volunteers, "all of you who reach out to help the less fortunate, to boldly set out on that elusive quest . . . peace on earth and goodwill toward all men, without succumbing to the self-serving spirit."

Savaswami's speech preceded other greetings from Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria and Child Haven founder Bonnie Cappuccino, who gave a report on the group's project's progressing in India.

Mrs. Cappuccino also introduced guest of honor Mohammed Idriss and his nieces Eden Fessehaie and Adam Mengistu, Ethiopians who were reunited in Canada after a long immigration process aided by Child Haven. They were allowed to enter Canada on a special permit by the Minister of Immigration. The girls started school in Ottawa on Oct. 15. Idriss now works at the Pakistan Embassy. He retained his Ethiopian citizenship in case it was required by Ethiopia for bringing the girls out.

He is now free to become a Canadian citizen.

The banquet was held as a fundraiser for the Maxville chapter of Child Haven, a benevolent organization whose aim is to aid orphaned children in India and elsewhere overseas.

The event raised $2,500 for the organization in donations and ticket and draw sales.

Pleads guilty to impaired driving

A Williamstown woman pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving in Alexandria Provincial Court Oct. 18.

Johanna Phillips was stopped in Charlottenburgh by officers conducting a RIDE (Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere) program spot check Oct. 29, 1989.

Admitting his client had been drinking all evening, her defence attorney said Phillips is aware of the dangers of drinking and driving, but the state of her impairment distorted her belief in her ability to do so.

"There was no accident and her driving was not out of the ordinary. She was stopped during the RIDE program," he said, requesting that Phillips receive a fine only.

The Crown agreed with the request, and did not ask for a jail sentence. The offence was her first.

Judge Levesque said the technician's report shows him Phillips was "impaired to an important extent," and fined her $550, plus $55 victim surcharge.

As usual in an impaired driving offence, her licence was suspended for one year.

Boudria seeks councils' approval for EO economic development plan

Don Boudria, member of parliament for Glengarry-Prescott-Russell, requested approval from municipal councils for an economic development plan for Eastern Ontario.

Of about 30 letters sent out in his riding, Boudria has received 13 resolutions supporting the idea.

Among the letters received were resolutions from the councils of the villages of Lancaster and Maxville, the townships of Kenyon and Lancaster and the town of Alexandria supporting the plans.

Boudria, along with Stormont-Dundas MP Bob Kilger, Renfrew-Nipissing-Pembroke MP Len Hopkins and Jim Jorden, MP for Leeds-Grenville, said they believe Eastern Ontario is in need of economic aid from the Federal government, and support from the councils will help convince them.

"The government designates parts of the country which need aid: Western Quebec has an economic development package and so does Northern Ontario. Eastern Ontario used to be covered, but no more," Boudria said Thursday from his Ottawa office.

Three programs existed to help the region's economic woes, but the MP said they were either cancelled or lapsed by the Conservatives.

The Industrial and Regional Development Program (IRDP), established in 1983, promoted development through the support of private sector initiatives. It was allowed to lapse June 1988.

The Canada Industrial Renewal Board (CIRB) was established in 1981 with a mandate to help revitalize the textile, clothing, footwear and tanning industries. It ended December 1985.

And after the Canada-Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement expired on Sept. 30, 1985, that was the end of the agreement to develop and improve the region.

"I believe our part of Ontario is in need of attracting new industry and jobs as well, but there is no incentive," said Boudria.

There are approximately 150 municipalities in Eastern Ontario and Boudria said once they have received about 40 letters of support they will be sent to Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and Paul Dick, the minister responsible for Eastern Ontario.

Car window smashed, purse, money stolen

Alexandria police investigated a car break-in at the Glengarry Sports Palace on Saturday.

Police say the car, owned by Robert Charlebois of St. Zotique, Que., was broken into sometime between 4:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Entry was gained by smashing the rear window on the drivers side. A purse containing cash and credit cards was taken.

The investigation is continuing.

Vehicles collide

Two vehicles sustained moderate damages when they collided late Wednesday afternoon at the County Road 18 and River Road intersection in Martintown.

Lancaster detachment OPP say a 1986 Chevrolet coupe driven by Lisa Laframboise, 21, of Martintown, was northbound on River Road and a 1982 GMC pickup truck driven by Rolland Derepentigny, 59, of Apple Hill, was eastbound on County Road when they collided in the intersection.

There were no injuries.

Vehicle accident

Lancaster detachment OPP say a 1989 Chevrolet coupe driven by Jose Bourdeau, 17, of Lancaster, was eastbound on County Road 17 three km south of Hwy. 34 in Lancaster Township early Wednesday evening when it failed to negotiate a curve. Police say the vehicle went onto the south shoulder then crossed the roadway and rolled over.

The driver was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall with minor injuries.

The vehicle sustained severe damage.

Wear your seat belts

This October, police forces from across the province will unite to promote and enforce seat belt use.

"Failure to wear seat belts is one of the most significant factors in fatal motor vehicle accidents," said Lancaster OPP detachment Constable Gilles Ruest.

Yet, since seat belt legislation was introduced in 1976, the compliance rate in Ontario has risen only to 70 per cent, despite the fact that seat belts have a 45 per cent rate of effectiveness in reducing fatalities and a 20 per cent rate in reducing injuries. In terms of compliance, Ontario ranks eighth among all Canadian provinces with seat belt legislation.

Statistics gathered in 1987 in Ontario show that 545 drivers and 318 passengers died in motor vehicle collisions. Sixty-four percent of those drivers and 73 per cent of their passengers were not wearing seat belts. Had they been wearing them, between 228 and 275 probably would have survived the accidents.

Half of the accidents involving small children killed in Ontario each year in motor vehicle accidents are due to non-use or improper use of child restraint seats. Tests have proven that even with prior warning, it is impossible to hold on to a small child in a crash. Unfortunately, in two-thirds of the cases, child restraint seats are not properly secured, putting children at risk of injury or death.

For every 10 per cent increase in seat belt compliance province-wide, 80 lives could be saves and injuries affecting 1,320 persons could be reduced.

Through a two-pronged program, consisting of enforcement and education, police forces hope to increase compliance among the public, thereby reducing the number of fatalities and injuries resulting from motor vehicle collisions.

Charlottenburgh

Council briefs

A regular meeting of Charlottenburgh Township council was held Oct. 22 in Williamstown. The following were among items discussed.

Supports resolution vs GST

Council voted in favor of supporting a resolution from the City of North York which "strongly opposes the implementation of the Federal Goods and Services Tax."

"I think we have a moral obligation to support this resolution," declared Councillor Bob Roth, saying he thought the proposed tax was "unfair and inflationary."

Reeve Carol-Ann Ross agreed. "Just to be knowledgeable on what is going to be taxed will take an enormous amount of time. Our costs are definitely going to increase."

Property Standards committee named

Lay members were appointed by council to sit on the newly formed property standards bylaw committee.

Sandra Cooper, Lorraine Lapointe, Reg Poirier and Ronald Ward were selected from township residents who responded to the municipality's newspaper advertisements calling for committee volunteers.

Clerk responds to letter

Marcel Lapierre, clerk-treasurer of the township, responded in a memorandum to council, to a letter written by Mike Beaudin in the Oct. 10 issue of The Glengarry News.

"I, as clerk of the township, feel obliged to respond to council, my employer, for the article (sic) leaves many impressions of wrongdoing that I wish to address."

Mr. Lapierre pointed out that though the meeting of Sept. 11 (at which the controversial property standards bylaw was being discussed) was held at a special location, it was not a special meeting, but rather a regular meeting of council. The delegation to discuss the proposed bylaw formed only part of the agenda that evening.

Mr. Beaudin had complained that the minutes of the meeting provided "no reference to the purpose of the Sept. 11 meeting, the fact that presentations were made to council by concerned citizens, that Councillor MacDonald put forth a resolution for third reading of the bylaw or that it was allowed to die because no council member would second the motion."

As clerk, Mr. Lapierre said his direction in recording the minutes came from the Municipal Act, which states: "to truly record in a book, without note or comment, all resolutions, decisions, and other proceedings of council."

Mr. Lapierre continued that "a motion only becomes the voice of council when it has been duly moved and seconded, thus becoming a resolution and supported by the majority of council."

Council did not comment on Mr. Lapierre's memo.

Support not unanimous

Council resolved to support a request from the City of Cornwall which has asked the Ministry of Transportation for signage on the 401 which would reflect the population of the "Greater Cornwall Area" and not just the city itself.

After some discussion, a motion was proposed to support Cornwall's request, on condition that the name of Charlottenburgh Township appear on the sign as well.

"If they want our population, I think it is only fitting that our name be included," said Reeve Carol-Ann Ross.

But Councillor Bob Roth disagreed.

"The purpose of signs is to direct people. I think these signs may confuse people. It's questionable advertising," said Mr. Roth who voted against the resolution.

Plan and zoning amendments passed

Official Plan Amendment #35 (Bylaw 69-90), Bylaw 70-90 and Bylaw 71-90, all pertaining to the Glen Walter area, were passed by Charlottenburgh council.

The OP amendment and the two related zoning amendments were recommended by McNeely-Tunnock, a consulting firm retained by the township, to ensure a plan which will result in a "pleasing and orderly" development of the Glen Walter area, "now that proper water and sanitary sewer services are in place."

Bylaw 69-90 redesignates the entire serviced area of Glen Walter as "suburban," while Bylaw 70-90 is designed to create an exception to the "RS-2" zone, reducing the dimensions of certain lots to permit a re-alignment of part of Purcell Street.

Bylaw 71-90 will rezone certain lands "RS-3" to permit the construction of semi-detached dwelling units, apartments, duplexes and row houses.

As a result of input received during a public meeting held Oct. 9, those lands scheduled to be zoned "CS-2" (Highway Commercial-Serviced) will alternatively be zoned "DS-3" (Special Future Commercial Development — Serviced) to protect the concerns of the adjacent landowners.

Chief Administrative Officer, Merlin Dewing, told council that John McCosham, who had objected to the "CS-2" zoning, had been informed of the change and was happy with it.

As the change from "CS-2" to "DS-3" is deemed to be minor in nature, no further public notice is required.

No discussion on Roth's proposal

Councillor Bob Roth's proposal that council "say something" about the banning of bilingual public notices from non-profit organizations in French schools under the jurisdiction of the SD&G Catholic School Board, fell flat, as fellow council members declined to discuss the issue.

Mr. Roth said he felt "morally obliged" to comment on the ban.

"There has been a huge investment made in bilingualism, and now we have schools saying they don't want it," said the councillor in response to the school board's Oct. 4 decision to allow French-only notices in French-language schools.

Mr. Roth distributed copies of newspaper articles dealing with what he feels are language inequities. One, from the Globe and Mail told of imported British candies removed from shop shelves in Toronto by the federal Dept. of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, because their labels were not bilingual.

BIA: The option worth choosing

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce has taken some very tentative steps towards the establishment of a Business Improvement Area (BIA) on Main Street. But they're steps which should be heartily endorsed and supported by anyone who cares about the future commercial viability of the town.

That support will be vital in the weeks to come, because if a BIA is formed in Alexandria, it will require two-thirds support from the merchants and professionals who do business within the proposed designated areas.

To help stimulate interest in the BIA and to "sell" merchants on its value, the Chamber and The News are hosting an information and rally night on Nov. 1 at the Priest's Mill. Without exception, anyone who relies on the retail, professional and service sales in the town should attend to learn about the prospects the formation of a BIA may hold in store.

Undoubtedly, there will be a number of questions. For instance, merchants will obviously want to know what's in this scheme for them, and how much it will cost. Those are key to any argument relating to the formation of a BIA, and it's important that they be answered accurately and forthrightly.

A BIA is basically a business association made up of businesses within a certain designated area as outlined in a bylaw passed by the municipality, and guaranteed under provincial law. In Alexandria's case, it's proposed the BIA would cover the entire Main Street, north and south, within the town limits, and any other commercial business on adjacent streets. The role of the BIA, as its name suggests, is to improve the business climate in town and to assist business people in helping themselves. This is done through an elected board of management.

The board sets a yearly budget and oversees the work of a co-ordinator which is often hired. The money comes from a special tax levied on each member in the BIA, who pays according to his or her assessment. This means that larger businesses would pay the most, while smaller businesses would bear a relatively small share of the resources.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is spearheading the drive for the BIA, has received a proposal from Bill Gallant, who was manager for the Cornwall BIA for nine years. Gallant has proposed that the BIA, after its formation, hire him as manager at the approximate first year wage of $18,000 from November '90 to October of '91. He would be responsible for running all promotions, including sidewalk sales and special events (which the Chamber has always had trouble co-ordinating in the past, or finding volunteers to run them), assisting merchants with improvements to their establishments, downtown beautification and other ideas designed to stimulate local commerce.

No doubt, there will be questions as to whether this scheme, while the area is in the midst of a recession, makes sense. And any suggestions of a further tax, with the GST expected to kick in Jan. 1, may be too much for small businesses to handle. These are valid concerns, indeed, but they ironically work in favor of the BIA's establishment at this particular time.

When times are tough, merchants know they have a fine line to walk between cutting back on inventory and bringing in new items, backed up by imaginative and creative promotions. The successful business person works harder to keep customers coming back during recessionary times. A BIA co-ordinator would be the work horse in the community the small business person relies on to handle that bulwark. Joint promotions and events, all planned from a central source, would keep expenses cost efficient.

Alexandria merchants need a strong tool to combat the growing threat of competition from exterior business communities. The draw of American bargains in upper New York state and the omnipresent lures of Montreal, Ottawa and Cornwall will only become more pronounced as competition for shopping dollars stiffens.

And as the Christmas shopping season looms, this aggressive move into a new phase of Main Street marketing also appears timely. Yearly, the Chamber grapples with trying to organize an effective seasonal promotion. Volunteers to help run the promotions were always difficult to find. Indeed, the same is true when it comes to co-ordinating events like sidewalk sales or special events.

But more importantly, a BIA would have the kind of significant budget required to carry out major projects and promotions. And since two-thirds of the business community is required to vote in a BIA, there would likely be a greater interest in the goings-on of the association; the current Chamber has problems just getting quorums at its meetings.

In short, the establishment of an Alexandria BIA makes good business sense, both now and for the future. The business community can no longer afford to take a wait-and-see attitude — it has to mitigate the effects of the bad times that almost certainly lie ahead in these uncertain times.

Rural life is still the best

After Thoughts

Joe Banks

I'm no fan of statistics, except when it comes to baseball (when they're really meaningful). But I admit I read with some interest that Statistics Canada, in another one of those immensely valuable surveys Canadians cannot afford to live without, found that living is statistically easier in rural than in urban Canada.

That's no suprise to us, but the breakdowns serve up some interesting food for thought.

One series indicates that 68 out of 1,000 rural people surveyed said they were victims of violent crime in 1988, compared with 88 from the cities. Fewer rural women reported they were victims of violent crimes; 54 per 1,000 compared to 87 city dwellers for the same period. Country men reported they were victimized 83 times to 89 times for city males.

No shocking stats there. Country cousins have for years quietly known that crime rates along their concession roads and in villages and towns was lower than those in the city. But the real question mark comes from the figure that shows about 300 of 1,000 respondents aged between 15 and 24 in both areas reported being victims of crimes in 1988. That's a disturbing mystery.

And property crimes are also more common in the city. During 1988, 252 of 1,000 urban households surveyed reported crimes. Only 146 country homes were touched by crime.

Country people, it seems, are more pious as well. In 1989, about 30 per cent of rural people attended church once a week compared to 25 per cent of urbanites. And 25 per cent of rural residents profess no religious ties, compared with 32 per cent of city dwellers.

Living in the country is also less lonely for senior citizens. In a survey of seniors 65 years and older, 16 per cent of rural seniors reported they had no close friends, while 22 per cent of city seniors reported having no close friends.

And in the volunteer department, it seems the people in the country stand up more often than their city counterparts. In towns of less than 15,000, 33 per cent of respondents said they worked for some volunteer organization. About 24 per cent of urban respondents claimed to do so. The co-ordinator of the survey said the surveys indicate "a stronger sense of community life in rural areas."

So tell us something new.

It's one of the reasons why houses are popping up along the concession roads of Glengarry County, though Montreal refugees escaping Quebec may have as much to do with that. Cities are becoming choked with uncontrolled growth and with it, increases in crime. Sociologists say the break-down of traditional values and taken-for-granted moral standards in urban environments have also contributed to cycles of despair there.

But let's not kid ourselves. We aren't without our problems either. Take the alcoholism problem in Glengarry County, a blight time and again pointed out during provincial court sessions. And we have our fair share of lesser crimes such as vandalism, break and enters and drug use. And what about that surprising statistic affecting young rural people?

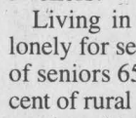
Rural areas have problems of their own that will never be reflected in Stats Can numbers, because they can't be compared with urban centres. And the ability to cope with these are hampered because of the fewer resources rural municipalities have at their disposal as compared to urban government.

But it's good to know that some plain old truths still exist, the same ones grandpa would talk about whenever he reminisced about growing up on the farm or in a small town. Yes, the world is changing every day, but country life, we know, is still the best life.

Tactical units under revision

Pen Thoughts

Michael O'Dwyer



Police tactical units in Ontario, the province's answer to the widely publicized S.W.A.T. teams taming the underworld south of the border, were under heavy scrutiny last year because of death and disorder caused by the teams in the province.

Tactical units in Ontario, comprised of officers specially trained and equipped to deal with terrorism and dangerous situations involving firearms, had their beginnings in the early '70s. It was then that the massacre of Israeli Olympic athletes in Munich brought terrorism to the world stage.

That, and the noted rise in crime involving firearms in the larger Canadian communities, gave birth to the special units to spare the lives of regular police officers and better respond to crisis situations.

Almost 20 years later, these tactical units themselves have been put into question, including the units of the Ontario Provincial Police which would respond to crises in Glengarry.

The Ontario Police Commission set out last year to determine if these tactical units were, in fact, more an aggravating factor than a solution and should be dissolved.

In a recently released report, the commission found that the units do save lives and should continue to exist because of the increasing numbers of firearm wielding men and women demented or crazed by drugs, but that there definitely needed to be some changes.

Hardly a bloodbath, only five lives were lost in Ontario since 1983 because of tactical team involvement, one of them a policeman. However recommendations to the Solicitor General and the Government of Ontario, 48 of them in total, reflect changes in everything from their weaponry, health, and organization.

An official with the Ontario Provincial Police Communication Centre said one of the principal aims of the recommendations is to create a standard among all the tactical units.

Among the resolutions (number six) suggests that police forces with fewer than 100 sworn personnel "should be encouraged to form a containment unit (to evacuate area and isolate a suspect) to await a tactical team.

Glengarry, however, has no containment units. The job of this unit must be done by regular officers on duty awaiting the arrival of the tactical unit. Our OPP tactical unit is based in Belleville. In a crisis situation, that force will be deployed after approval from Long Sault district headquarters.

Other recommendations are that the objective of tactical units in Ontario must be the non-violent resolution of high-risk incidents. However, (number 39) "there is no substitute for deadly force when circumstances exist that will justify a police officer in discharging a firearm... and (they) should be trained in the use of non-lethal weapons for appropriate circumstances.

A further eight resolutions centre on making tactical team members look the same, on every force, with the same armaments and communication and organization.

In a time when it often appears the criminal element, from small scale vandalism to international terrorism, is existing unchecked, it's a relief to see the Ontario Police Commission and all the police forces in Ontario undergo a major review. They will emerge better equipped and trained to handle a new breed of maniacs for the 90s and the people of Ontario can sleep better knowing law enforcement is awake and on the job.

Should not be without friends

That's Life

Lesley Cadham

I remember the day a friend — a lady in her early 70s — told me about the blessings in her life. True, she'd had her share of unhappiness, learning about tragedy at an early age and losing her husband in recent years, left to face later life without him.

But through all disappointments, she said, one thing remainded a boon in her life: She had friends. Good friends.

I had already experienced her testament to friendship, and the evidence included several years of special-occasion greeting cards and even one "just because I'm thinking about you" card. They always made me feel good, and in some instances, made the difference between a very bad day and a darn good one.

When was the last time I had written to the old friends who had journeyed to the west, down south, out to California and even over to Africa? Too long ago.

But I knew, no matter how much time elapsed between letters or visits, they would still be my friends. We would continue to value our special relationships.

But no one need question the importance of having friends and of being part of a friendship. One only need browse through a greeting card shop, and to behold the vast array of cards to be given sheerly for the occasion of friendship. There are plaques which promise undying loyalty to best friends and huggable stuffed animals which do the asking for you: "Let's be friends."

So it's hard to believe that in such a friendship-oriented world, one in which we live with six billion other human beings, there are actually people who have no friends, have not taken the time to make friends, or have not made the effort to keep them.

Sure, you can argue that life today is so fast-paced that there is barely time to cultivate a single friendship,

Thanks to St. Jude

In the Glens

Angus McDonell

Our writing is relative to 60 years personal experience with the power of prayer. If any one has skeptical views of faith then there is no point in reading this column.

In 1925, age 20, I returned home from Detroit where I had been working at Ford Motors. My mother was the first to notice a slight impairment in my hearing. Subsequently I visited Brother Andrew at his Mount Royal Shrine; then widely known ear specialists in Montreal and Kingston. All results were negative; in fact now, five years later, I had a real hearing problem.

While working in Ottawa I was lodging with a typical, elderly Irish widow and her family. She was affectionately known in the Ottawa South neighborhood as "Ma" Donovan.

I noted that every Tuesday after supper "Ma" Donovan boarded a Bank Street car. One Wednesday at breakfast curiosity prevailed; I asked politely, "Ma, where do you go every Tuesday after supper by street car for a couple of hours?" In motherly fashion she sat down and related her faith in the intercession novenas to Saint Jude; would you like to accompany me next week to the Somerset Street Capuchins Franciscans church?" I did and became deeply impressed with the history of devotion to Saint Jude known as the "special patron of hopeless cases."

Time marches on and for the next 30 years I prayed to Saint Jude as I was classed among "hopeless cases." Then in 1960 I learned from Montreal's distinguished ear specialist, Dr. Katz that although both eardrums were normal a gristle-like growth was blocking the entrance of sound.

Briefly, Dr. Katz in hospital with an electric drill, hammer and punch; broke through the bone barrier, implanted a tiny piece of stainless steel and four days later I was back home with normal hearing for the first time in 35 years. (Now I use a hearing aid as a booster due to advanced age and don't try to convince me that there is no truth in the power of prayer.)

Now we move on to the 1980s. In conjunction with Vatican Two manifesto among the proposed changes at St. Finnan's cathedral were the removal of marble communion railing, side altars and several front pews to enlarge the sanctuary.

The majority of parishioners became hostile. The long gone generations through their pride and devotion to their beloved St. Finnan's had made the church a stately, revered House of God, unique in any rural area in Canada. The preservation of Scottish heritage was at stake.

The suggested changes were a cancerous tumor of disunity that time would never heal.

In the role of the dissenters chairman; again I turned to Saint Jude for guidance in what appeared a hopeless case; this was a confrontation with the hierarchy that at times caused sleepless nights.

Encouragement was discreetly received from some of the clergy, English and French of the diocese. Archbishop Plourde, Ottawa, respected the historic French heritage of the basilica; Auxiliary Bishop John Beahen made no changes that would destroy the Irish heritage. Then why not treat St. Finnan's similarly?

A democratic vote in St. Finnan's prevailed over dictatorship and again gratitude is owed Saint Jude by this writer.

Finally there is one more matter that a few months ago was deemed "a hopeless case," the building of the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame. But I never gave up hope due to my faith in the power of prayer.

The objections were partly put to rest this time last year with the turning of the first sod, by coincidence, on Oct. 28, the Feast of Saint Jude. This year, Sept. 12, the official dedication.

Last Sunday a mass of thanksgiving was said in honor of Saint Jude at St. Finnan's. This

Boudria taken to task over stand on abortion by pro-choicer

To the editor:

We are a group of citizens concerned about Don Boudria's extreme anti-choice stand on abortion. Individually, some of us have written to Mr. Boudria and although he replied (usually with a form letter), he never actually responded to the specific issues we raised. So now, collectively as members of a newly formed pro-choice group in his riding, we write Mr. Boudria this open letter and ask him to address the following issues.

Mr. Boudria, if you believe that life must be protected from the moment of conception, would you favor legislation to ban the use of the IUD, whose mode of action is probably to prevent implantation of the fertilized egg in the uterus?

You state that you are against abortion even in the case of pregnancies resulting from rape or incest. Would you force your own wife or daughter to carry to term, against her will, a pregnancy that had resulted from a rape? Would you help raise the child?

You emphasize that you are against abortion "unless the mother's life — not health — is in danger." We wonder where you would draw the line. If, for instance, a woman was in danger of being confined to a wheelchair if she carried her pregnancy to term would you nevertheless force her to do so?

Would you be at all concerned about the increase in back-alley butchery that would inevitably result from a ban on abortions, as well as the increase in the number of unwanted and abused children? Given the extremely heavy caseloads of social workers and the acute shortage of foster parents, are you convinced that the government could offer unwed mothers or poor women and their children much more than its sincere best wishes?

The Canadian Medical Association, the Canadian Psychiatric Association, and the Society of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists of Canada support the pro-choice position for rational medical reasons. Do you feel that you are more qualified than these groups to decide on issues pertaining to women's health?

Why do you believe that you can vote according to your conscience on the abortion question and yet deny this choice to the women of your constituency?

Since you are the elected representative of our riding in the House of Commons, we believe that you should specifically address the issues raised in this letter in a public forum, such as an open letter in this newspaper.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Thain, Madeline Weld and members of Citizens for Choice Glengarry-Prescott-Russell (Affiliate of CARAL Ottawa)

Against capital punishment before and after birth, responds member

Editor's note: I invited Mr. Boudria to respond to Mr. Thain's letter last week so that both the criticism to his abortion policy and his response may run simultaneously.

Dear Dr. Thain:

I acknowledge receipt of your latest correspondence concerning the topic of the protection of the lives of unborn children and I thank you. Once again I am pleased to answer your questions:

You asked if I believe that life begins at conception. To be frank, I don't know. However, unless someone can prove otherwise I will assume that it does.

The New England Journal of Medicine of November 19, 1987 tells us: "Cutaneous sensory receptors appear in the perioral area of the human fetus in the seventh week of gestation; they spread to the rest of the face, the palms of the hands, and the soles of the feet by the 11th week . . ." If the unborn child can feel paint from the seventh week, clearly he or she was living from at least that point.

I do not favor the banning of Intra Uterus Devices (IUD).

You state that I am against abortion even in cases of rape or incest. That is true. You asked if I wanted to restrict abortions to cases where the mother's life was in danger. The answer is yes. Everyone has a right of self defence and the taking of the life of another is only to be tolerated in instances where necessary to protect one's own life.

You ask if I am concerned about the "incease in back alley butchery that would inevitably result from a ban on abortions." There, I must turn the question on you. If you make such an "inevitable" claim, I would ask that your prove its accuracy. Secondly, even if you were correct, this in itself is not a reason for inaction. As the report of the Law Reform Commission entitled Crimes Against the Foetus indicated on page 100, "Difficulty of enforcement by itself is not a sufficient reason for repealing a criminal law. Our criminal law sets out the consequences of engaging in prohibited behavior; it cannot entirely prevent that behavior."

You ask if I feel that I am more qualified to make judgment on legislative issues than the Canadian Medical Association and others. Abortion is an ethical question and should be dealt with by those who are in public office. I was elected to make such decisions in Parliament. Further, my constituents re-elected me in 1988 with 74 per cent of the votes cast knowing what my position was on this issue.

The role of protecting the lives of our citizens does not belong to anyone in particular but rather to society as a whole. As an elected representative, I am charged with making public policy decisions using the tools of reason, dialogue, the available resources and yes,my own sense of right and wrong.

Lastly, you ask why I believe that I can vote according to my conscience. On the issue of capital punishment, I voted pro-life. Similarly in relation to abortion I voted pro-life. I am against capital punishment before as well as after birth. I was elected to make decisions on behalf of my constituents. With or without your personal approval, I intend to continue to do so.

Yours truly,
Don Boudria, MP

It's not a uniform

To the editor:

Each week when I read The Glengarry News I turn to the editorial page first. I find it informative, entertaining and frequently thought provoking. However, Michael O'Dwyer's editorial "Much ado about a turban" Oct. 17, page 4, was simply disturbing. As much as I admire his intent to support minority rights and freedom of religion I must express disappointment in the convoluted logic employed to make his point.

It is amazing how powerful words like "racist" and "bigot" have become recently. They tend to make people bite their tongues rather than say anything which might bring those labels onto them. There is no doubt that racism, bigotry and prejudice exist in Canada and probably some is directed at Sikhs, just as it is at many other groups. In this case though, I suggest that the Sikhs have abused their rights and freedoms and slandered Canadian society to gain special privileges granted to no other minority.

Contrary to what was stated, Canadians are not fighting the Sikhs in their struggle to retain their culture and faith. No one is trying to take those things away from them. At the same time, we should find nothing wrong with expecting immigrants to accept the ways of this country. What other people in Canada demand or get similar special treatment because of religion or culture? Have we ever heard of Jews expecting that stores be closed on Saturday to respect their sabbath? Have followers of Islam demanded that Friday become a legal holiday?

The desire to keep turbans out of the RCMP had nothing to do with racism. It was simply an objection to being dictated to by some people who refused to accept standards in a country which they had "seen as the promised land." I expect that the members of the RCMP are proud of wearing the uniform of "one of the world's foremost law enforcement organizations." Why should they be accused of racism when they object to changes in their tradition? After all, a form of dress with multiple variations is, by definition, not a uniform and naturally cannot serve the purposes of a uniform.

Enough said. Let common sense prevail, if it still exists!

SD&G Industry-Education Council invites enthusiasm

To the editor:

On behalf of the SD&G Industry-Education Council, I should like to thank you for the excellent coverage you gave on the Council's formation and rural representation, and we feel particularly fortunate to have Marc Lalonde to represent the interest of Glengarry on the Board of Directors.

The focus of the council for 1991 will be career awareness and exploration for young persons. One facet of the council's activity is the formation of "speak to the future" — a speaker's bureau for SD&G. The purpose of the bureau is to act as a referral agency for educators seeking to enhance or enrich their curriculum content with informal talks by members of the community working in different occupations.

I should be delighted to hear from any member of the Glengarry community who wishes to share their enthusiasm for occupations with students exploring career paths. I can be reached at 933-8030.

No one should be without the blessing of friendship

let alone several. We dwell heavily on meeting monthly financial obligations, if not on frantic attempts to climb the ladder of success. Maybe we have families to care for, personal worries to quell, and little spare time during which to sit and just listen to people who are not a part of our immediate families.

But we must take the time. When all else fails, when our jobs have been declared redundant or the recession is wreaking havoc with our financial situations, or our husbands or wives pass on, or our children grow up and leave home, who will be left to share the sadness, or the happiness that yet can be?

Friends. Good friends.

Thanks, St. Jude

Sunday, by coincidence again, Oct. 28, in thanksgiving we will attend 10:30 mass at St. James, Maxville, slightly more than a stone's throw across the tracks from what will be when museum is complete a half million dollar addition to Maxville; the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame.

The foregoing is written to comply with the closing paragraph of the novena prayer to Saint Jude. "I promise you, O blessed Saint Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor and I will never cease to honor you as my special and powerful patron and to do all in my power to encourage devotion to you. Amen."

Alexandria sign discovered in Yukon

Although nobody seems to know when it disappeared, a wayward Alexandria population sign can now be seen along the Alaska-Yukon (Alcan) Highway.

As of this summer, the sign and the names of two former Alexandrians — Guy and Julien Jeaurond — became part of the Sign Forest up at Watson Lake in the Yukon Territories.

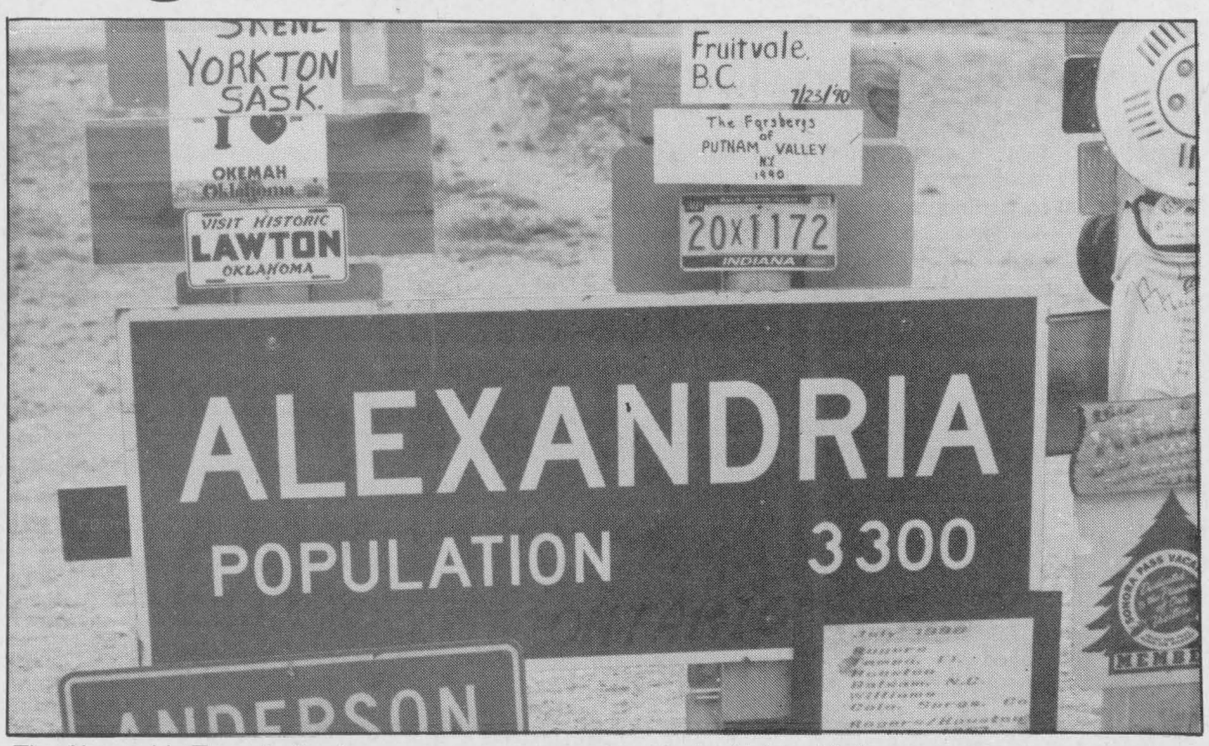
Nobody contacted in Alexandria knows how their names got on the sign, or for that matter, how the sign itself got there. What is known is that Alexandria — Population 3,300 is the biggest sign on the display of over 2,000.

The display is about an acre long and the signs are posted on telegraph polls.

Whether the Jeauronds posted the sign or saw it when they drove by is unknown, but their names, written on the sign, are there for everyone to know that there are Alexandrians everywhere.

The two men, aged 24 and 20 headed up North for hunting season, which is Aug. 1 to Oct. 6.

It is the fourth year Guy has gone to work in the Yukon, and has mentioned the display many times to his family.



The Alexandria Town limits sign was spotted along the Alaska-Yukon Highway.

"He always said out of 2,200 signs, he believed his hometown should be well represented," said Yvon Jeaurond of Calgary, adding that his brother's intentions were good and heartfelt.

News'subscriber Archie Cameron saw the sign while on an RV tour in the area.

He said a person could walk around for hours before finding a sign from the place your heart calls home.

According to Cameron the Alexandria sign is at eye level and easy to find.

Fales has Glengarry art expo in Lancaster

The works of Douglas Fales, renounced for his characterization of Glengarry life in oils on canvas, were featured at Kathy's Custom Framing and Gallery in Lancaster Friday, Oct. 19.

Fales, who has been painting Glengarry scenes since 1964 when he bought a farm on Dorney Road, had 39 of his works on exhibit, among 67 of his works presently at Kathy Howes' Mechanic Street shop.

The showing will continue until Oct. 31.

"I was very impressed, it was a very warm gathering," said Fales Monday after appearing for the first day of the exibition. "Her arrangement of the hanging was very pleasing," he said explaining the event was Howes' first one-man show.

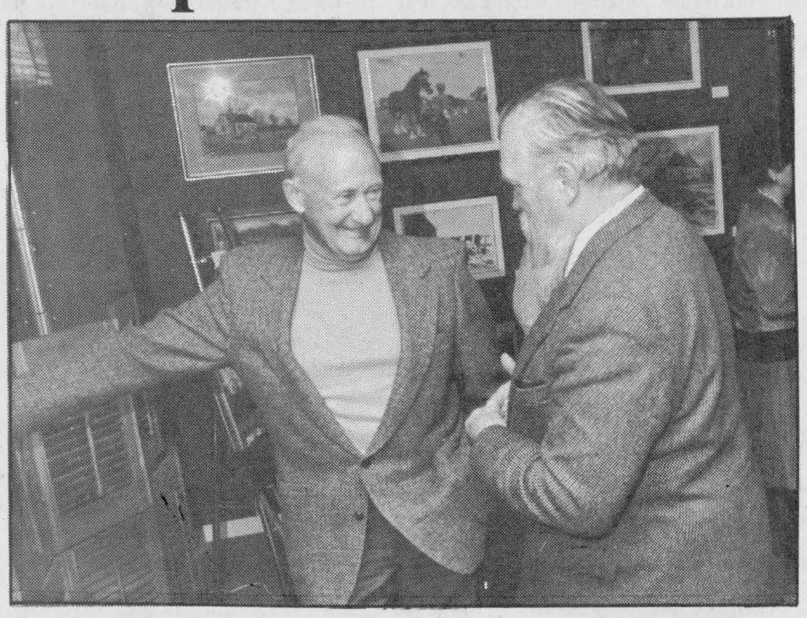
The 61 year-old Fales started painting professionally in 1945 with the Gazette and left commercial art in Aug, 1985 when he retired and reverted to fine art entirely.

And although Fales is not born and bred Glengarrian, his work shows a great knowledge and understanding of the area, however he says it's still a challenge for him to delve deeper into the early roots which continue to play a large role in Glengarry communities.

It all started in seeing property for sale in 1964. "I came out on Oct. 5 and on that single day I went down the first of Kenyon. Then saw one other property on the fourth, on Dorney Road. I bought it there and then. It was as if I was born in the house," he said.

Fales' first Glengarry work, showing that same Dorney Road farm which became his weekend and summer home, is now in the Royal Trust centennial collection of Canadian art.

"I feel I could go deeper in perception; after 26 years, I could go deeper yet. It's still a challenge to seek out the echos of the pioneer element. I was always looking for things in the area that were typical, but coincidentally what I painted were things that disappeared soon after," he said. These included Lloyd Kennedy's corn hung to dry along Hwy. 43 and oat stooks, once a common sight in Glengarry, now relegated to the annals of history.



Artist Douglas Fales (right) takes time to chat during the opening of his exhibition at Kathy's Custom Framing in Lancaster.

Fales is also well known for his portraits of Glengarry athletes now hanging in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame.

Local designer among the best

The Pigeons have seen their son achieve incredible success. He and his wife Patricia are themselves the parents of two daughters, Amy and Jessica.

Thomas Pigeon doesn't have the classic credentials of the designer — neither art history nor graphic design credits — yet he learned years ago how to take an innovative approach to a graphic problem in order to sell product.

His firm is now regarded as Montreal's premier package design company and ranks among the top five nationally.

Sole owner for only six years of a business originally chartered under another name a quarter-century ago, he heads a staff of 25. His clients are a veritable corporate who's who, ranging from Joseph E. Seagram to Kraft General Foods, from Julius Schmid to Helene Curtis. His volume of business has grown an incredible 25 to 30 per cent per year since he took over.

As recently as July, he signed an affiliation agreement with Walter Dorwin Teague Associates, Inc., the New York-based international industrial design firm which has carried out projects ranging from the Steinway Centenary Grand Piano to the interior of the newest generation of Air Force One.

While Pigeon's own background is in syndication, publishing, printing, and advertising, he has found his forte is the creative — not finished art but art at the at the conceptual level. He is, first and foremost, a conceptual thinker.

"By self-training over the years, I learned how to bring a product to life in order to sell it," says Pigeon. "Our record of success is my postgraduate degree."

Thomas Pigeon is a sought-after speaker and writer by peers both in the U.S. and Canada.

Fundraiser ends

GDHS News
Sean Burgess

The junior and senior boys' soccer teams finally earned the title of SD&G champions. The title had eluded them for several years.

The junior team defeated Char-Lan 3-2, Randy Lavigueur put two in the net, Wade McNaughton scored the other GDHS goal. The senior team defeated the Tagwi Warriors in penalty shots to win their ticket to the Eastern Ontario finals. For more information on the game, see the sports sections.

Despite the terrible weather on Friday the diehard Glengarry fans were on the sidelines cheering. The crowd braved snow and high winds and yelled until they were hoarse. Many people in the crowd painted their faces with red and black (school colors) war paint. Even inside, the student council strung up cardboard soccer balls with the team member's names on them. Friday was also Red and Black Day at GDHS. Students were strongly urged to wear the school colors to show their support for the team. The junior team did one better, every member of the team wore ties to school. Following an old GDHS tradition. Both teams are competing for the EOSSA title today at Char-Lan.

* * *

The school's chocolate bar drive has come to an end. The chocolate bar drive is GDHS' main fundraising activity. Thank you to those of you who supported our school and bought chocolate bars. Your support is greatly appreciated.

There is a new school paper out. The Glengarrian is a small newspaper written by three Grade 13 students on their spare time. An edition comes out as often as they can get it out. It all depends on how many tons of homework they have to do. The papers sell for 50¢ each and the money goes to the student council money pool to be used to buy things needed by the school.

* * *

Well, I've run out of ideas of things to write about so I'll end here. Remember to see the sports section in this paper to read about GDHS victories over Tagwi and Char-Lan.

Akwesasne to get $400,000 for clean-up

Following the violent incidents last spring on the Akwesasne reserve and the extensive physical and psychological damage caused to the community, Grand Chief Mike Mitchell and the Mohawk Council of Akwesasne prepared a plan of Reconstruction and Recovery, stated MP Don Boudria on Oct. 18.

To assist the council in its efforts, the Federal Department of Employment and Immigration has awarded the following grants.

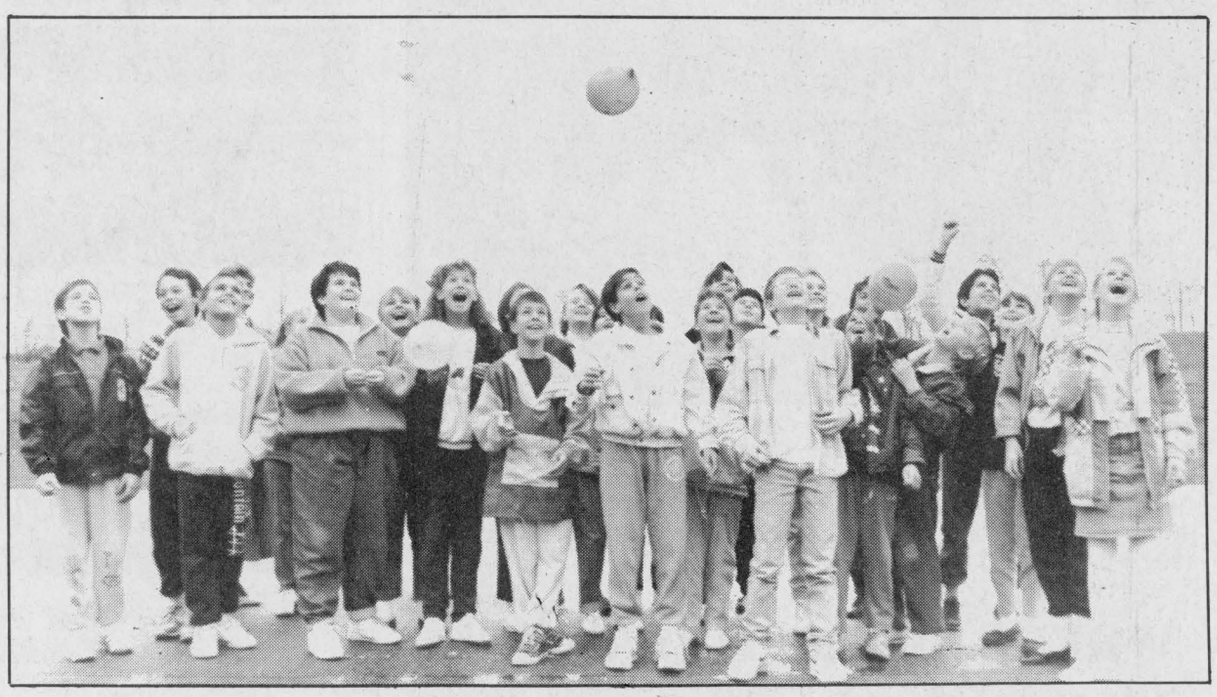
The Mohawk Council of Akwesasne will be receiving the sum of $330,000 to assist in their reconstruction and recovery efforts.

This sum will provide work for one group of up to 28 people for 25 weeks. These individuals will receive carpentry training from the St. Lawrence College and practical experience from work performed on 65 housing units. Another group of nine individuals will be hired for a period of 22 weeks to perform repairs on the recreational facilities of the community.

The Akwesasne Economic Development Agency will also receive $71,762 for another project whose main objective is to provide four people with training in the field of hair care for 52 weeks. As a result these people will have a certifiable skill and pertinent experience.

"These initial grants will provide much needed employment to the beleaguered people of Akwesasne. I am very pleased to see that the Federal Government is helping in the process of restoration and hope that all governments will continue in their efforts to improve the quality of life at Akwesasne" said Boudria.

The liberal member also commended Chief Mitchell for the responsible leadership he has provided his people in difficult times.



Up, up and away

Grade 6 students at Elda Rouleau school in Alexandria sent air mail the old fashioned way Wednesday afternoon. The 26 students, with their teacher Patsy Decoste, sent friendship letters by helium balloon as part of an English project. In each of the balloons, which floated high to the west, was a friendly note and a request to contact the students if it is found. Roy's Pontiac Buick in Green Valley gave the students a helping hand by supplying the balloons and helium. The students received three responses by Thursday and another two by Monday, all from the Alexandria area. Decoste said Tuesday some of the higher flying balloons may yield replies from further afield.

Big Brothers, Sisters banquet draws 150

The annual banquet and awards night of the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Cornwall and District took place on Saturday, Oct. 13 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Cornwall with 150 persons in attendance to honor the Big Brother and Big Sister volunteers in Cornwall and SD&G.

Barbara Collette, President of the local agency paid tribute to the 95 Big Brothers and Big Sisters presently matched. Speaking also as a mother of a Little Brother and as a Big Sister, she described the positive benefits of the program and urged local residents to consider becoming Big Brothers and Big Sisters for the 75 children on the waiting list.

Brian Lynch, executive director of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Cornwall and District said that without the efforts of the caring, responsible Big Brother and Big Sister volunteers, there would be no Big Brother/Big Sister organization in our community. ''And that would mean the loss of a very valuable support service to single parent families,'' he said.

Lynch explained that since the founding of the Big Brother program in Cornwall and area in 1972, there have been 561 Big Brother/Little Brother matches and since the inception of the Big Sister program in 1984, 151 Big Siste/Little Sister matches. He further stated, ''Our Big Brothers and Big Sisters through patience and perseverance have strived to help these children from single parent families to develop a positive self-identity, to achieve their full potential, and to grow up to be responsible citizens.

The 1990 Big Sister of the Year announced at the Awards Night is Muriel Rose who has been matched with her little sister, Brigitte Gauthier for the past three and a half years. During that time, under the caring and loving influence of the Big Sister, the quiet, shy little sister, who lives with her father, has become a more outgoing, happier child who is able to show positive emotions and appreciation toward others.

The 1990 Big Brother of the Year is Don Ouellette who was matched with his Little Brother Andre Piche, eight years ago, shortly after the death of the Little Brother's father. Over the years, as a result of the close friendship and guidance of the Big Brother, the Little Brother has grown into a self-confident, responsible young man who is now enrdlled in the Hotel and Restaurant Management Program at Algonquin College in Ottawa.

The 1990 Honorary Big Brother/Big Sister of the Year Award, given to a member of the community who has made an outstanding contribution to the success of the local agency, is Claire Lafleur. The mother of a former Little Brother, Mrs. Lafleur has been a ''full-time'' volunteer in recent years working at Big Brothers/Big Sisters barbecues, blood donor clinics, and Bowl For Millions. As chairman of the team formation committee, she played a very important role in making the 1990 Bowl for Millions campaign the most successful yet. She continues to give generously of her time as an active member of the fundraising committee and at the present time is preparing for the 1991 Bowl for Millions.

Special guests attending the 17th annual banquet and awards night, chaired by Big Brother Perry Lalonde, were Lyse Mousseau from Big Brothers of Canada national executive, John Cleary, MPP for Cornwall, Noble Villeneuve, MPP for SD&G and East Grenville, Bob Kilger, MP for Stormont-Dundas, Ald. Angelo Lebano representing the City of Cornwall, and Lyal Van Allen, Deputy Reeve of Williamsburg Township representing the Warden of SD&G.

Local Lung Association warns of teen deaths

''The Lung Association wants to stop the senseless destruction of young lives,'' says Ann Desrosiers, president of the Lung Association, Eastern Counties. ''The fact is, out of 100,000 teen smokers now aged 15, 18,000 will die from tobacco used by the time they reach age 70. This represents almost eight times the total number of deaths due to car accidents, suicide, murder, AIDS and drug abuse combined,'' added Ann Desrosiers.

Recent studies have indicated that children can become hooked on nicotine after smoking only three cigarettes. This is particularly disturbing when statistics show that by the age of 12, half of Canadian school children have experimented with cigarettes and one quarter of Canadian teens smoke daily.

The Lung Association believes that the key to ending this destruction is prevention. Working in the school system with a variety of innovative programs, the Lung Association teaches children the importance of good health and the dangers associated with smoking. ''We must counteract the aggressive advertising by the tobacco industry,'' Ann Desrosiers stated.

The Lung Association is Canada's oldest voluntary not-for-profit health promotion organization. First established in 1904 to control the spread of tuberculosis, the Lung Association is now concerned with the prevention and control of all lung diseases.

Alexandria Duplicate Bridge Club continues to deal up new players

Alexandria and District Duplicate Bridge continues to grow and has been averaging eight tables during the past few weeks.

The event is attracting players from Cornwall, Williamstown, Lancaster and surrounding areas. The club meets at 7 p.m. every Tuesday at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 28 Elgin Street.

On one occasion, four directors were present. New members are encouraged to become playing members to replace those members who will be leaving for a period in the sun. Now is an excellent time to get involved. Further information may be supplied by Duncan at 525-4014 or Frances at 525-4752.

On Oct. 16, North-South winning players were: Maurice Lagroix and Dawson Pratt and tied for second were Yvonne Roussin and Ann Marie Viau with Hugh Allen MacMillan and Gerri Tibbals. East-West winners were — first Betty and Norm Campbell, second, Frances Connolly and Lila Mogelon; third place standing Isobel Larocque and Kay MacDonald.

OMAF assistance deadline is Oct. 31

The application deadline for all components of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's Farm Income Assistance Program is Oct. 31, 1990.

''We estimate that approximately half of the applications have been received by the ministry so far. With the deadline less than a month away, we are urging farmers to fill out their forms and forward them to us now,'' said Rolly Stroeter, director of the farm assistance programs branch.

The Farm Income Assistance Program is designed to reduce the cash flow burden resulting from high interest rates and weak commodity prices. It has several components, including interest assistance, grains and oilseeds, fur, and horticultural crops.

Farm businesses with a 1989 gross farm income of at least $15,000, which paid at least $5,000 in farm interest in the fiscal year ended during 1989 are eligible for the Interest Assistance Component. Farm businesses which produced and harvested any of the eligible crops are eligible for the Grains and Oilseeds Component. Ontario-licensed breeders of ranch-raised mink and fox are eligible for the Fur Component. Fruit, vegetable and tobacco-producing farm businesses are eligible for the Horticultural Component.

Eligible producers who have not received an application form or need information can contact the Farm Assistance Programs Branch at (416) 326-9895 or their local OMAF office.

On Oct. 6, 1990 the death occurred in Ottawa General Hospital of Mrs. Yvonne Dancause at the age of 94 years.

Born in Casselman, Mrs. Dancause was a daughter of the late Hilaire Filion and his late wife Mary Jane Richard. She was residing in Ottawa at the time of her death and was formerly of Apple Hill.

She was the wife of the late Albert Dancause a part owner of D. A. Dancause and Bros. Farmers General Store of Apple Hill from 1889 to 1968. She was a resident of Glengarry for 70 years and was an active member in her church and belonged to the Altar Society at St. Anthony's Church, Apple Hill.

She is survived by two daughters: Lurline (Mrs. Gerald Kirkey) of Cornwall and Marcella (Mrs. Andrew O'Connor) of Ottawa. Also surviving are two brothers and one sister. They are: Albert Filion of Cornwall, Bruno Filion of Cleveland, Ohio and Mrs. Alice Cadieux of Winnipeg, Manitoba. She was predeceased by four brothers — Donat, Edmond, Ernest and Aimé Filion.

The funeral was held on October 9 to St. Anthony's Church, Apple Hill where Rev. Sylvester Theoret conducted the funeral mass. He was assisted by Deacon Fraser. Interment was in St. Anthony's Parish cemetery.

The pallbearers were James O'Connor, Richard O'Connor, Tim Kirkey, Donald Filion, Patricia O'Connor and Barry Kirkey.

Arnold Cameron Munro

With the sudden death of Arnold Munro in the evening of October 5, 1990, Maxville lost one of its best known business men and community workers, and a family lost a devoted husband, father and grandfather.

Although not in the best of health, Mr. Munro had shown no symptoms that his death was imminent.

Since his school days in the local high school, Mr. Munro had worked for Clark W. Hoople in his plumbing and heating business and funeral business. Later he assumed ownership of the business and more recently concentrated on the funeral business. Now, a branch operates in Alexandria under the name Munro and Morris Funeral Home with sons Dale and Ronald in charge.

Mr. Munro was interested in most community activities. He was a member of the SD&G Cornwall Shrine Club and the Maxville Masonic Lodge, a member of the Lions Club, Kenyon Agricultural Society, the Glengarry Curling Club and a former member of the Glengarry Pipe Band and all aspects of the Glengarry Highland Games.

Mr. Munro is survived by his wife, the former Sheila Munro of Fournier, his four children, Dale, Donna, Ronald, Alexandria, and Rhonda, Mrs. Keith MacGillivray, Kirk Hill, by six grandchildren, his uncle John Munro, Apple Hill, his aunt, Muriel Cameron Fowle, Calgary, and a host of friends.

He was the son of Ernest William Munro of Apple Hill and his wife, Janet (Jenny Mae) Cameron from Dominionville West. He was born on June 23, 1926 and was educated in Apple Hill and Maxville High School. His education as a funeral director was obtained in Toronto.

The funeral was held from his funeral home on Oct. 9 and was conducted by his minister, the Rev. Frank Bailey of Maxville United Church, assisted by a friend and neighbor, Monsignor Rejean Lebrun of St. James Roman Catholic Church. Burial was in the Maxville Cemetery.

Pallbearers were four nephews, Bruce Munro, Lancaster, Ian Munro, Orleans, Ken Wilkes, Fournier, Stewart McKibbin, London and two neighbors, Vernon Campbell and Bruno Besner.

Correction

In the issue of Oct. 3, the obituary for Baptiste Menard, The Glengarry News incorrectly identified the deceased's sister, Elise Rozon, as having come from British Columbia. Mrs. Rozon in fact lives in Dalhousie.

May McDonald

May McDonald (nee Gardner) passed away suddenly at her home, R.R. #1, Dalkeith, Ontario on Friday, October 12, 1990. The deceased was in her 92nd year.

She was a member of St. Columba Presbyterian Church and an active member in the McCrimmon Women's Institute for many years. She took great interest in all community events throughout her life and especially enjoyed the card parties held at Laggan School.

Born at West Hawkesbury on December 13, 1898, she was the daughter of the late Frank Gardner and the late former Clara Higginson. She was the wife of the late Angus McDonald whom she married on September 15, 1937.

She is survived by her three children — Donald and his wife Carol from Hastings, Ontario, Gladys and her husband Hugh McCormick from Montreal, and Keith and his wife Linda from Dalkeith. She is also survived by her sister, Mabel and her husband, Borden Avery of Vankleek Hill and was predeceased by two brothers and two sisters. She is also survived by six grandchildren, Maureen Stewart (MacDonald) from Toronto, Neil MacDonald from Barrie, Karen, Gwen and Eric McCormick from Montreal, Kevin McDonald from Dalkeith, and one great grandchild, Neal MacDonald from Barrie.

The funeral service was conducted by the Reverend Karen Hincke at St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill on Monday, October 15, 1990, at 2 p.m. Burial was in the family plot at Kirk Hill United Church cemetery.

The pallbearers were Neil MacDonald (grandson), Bruce Kennedy, Donald McCrimmon, Hugh Allan MacMillan, Hugh Allison and John Gardiner.

Canadian cows steal show

For Canadian exhibitors, it proved most rewarding to travel the distance to compete at World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wisconsin — U.S.A.'s elite show spectacle of the year. Canadian-bred "black and whites" stole the show and took most of the top honors. Judge Richard Keene, Gilbertsville, N.Y. placed over 450 head during the Oct. 5-6 event.

The coveted Premier Breeder banner was captured by Cherown Holsteins, Paris, Ont. "North of the border animals" contributed greatly to the achievement of the Premier Exhibitor banner won by Pamtom Farm, Hudson Falls, N.Y.

Receiving another prestigious award was the cow, C Langevin Anthony Bamboo, owned by W. J. Proud, Oakville, Ont. She was declared the female best exemplifying both type and production — highest placer with most milk.

The Best Three Females was claimed by James A. Walker & Sons, Guelph, Ont.

Bridon Astro Jet, a United Breeders Inc., Guelph, Ont. bull, was declared Premier Sire of the show.

In the final analysis, the Canadians showed four firsts, four seconds and five thirds. The firsts included the spring yearling, C Arwijk Hugo Hanselle, for Amlaird Holsteins, Knowlton, P.Q., the junior three-year-old, C Pellerat Kid Wendy, for Cherown Holsteins and Donald F. Becker, Ayr, Ont., the aged cow, C. Mawacres Warden Patricia for Oscar Dupasquier, Guelph, Ont., and the senior bull calf, C Oak Ridges Candidate, for a joint owner, Oak Ridges Farm, Richmond Hill, Ont. The reserve grand champion female, the junior champion female and five other class winners emerged as Canadian-bred/U.S.A.-owned.

THANK YOU

Mr. and Mrs. Emilien Proulx, of PROULX RADIO & TV SALES in Glen Robertson, would like to announce their retirement after 30 years in business. They would like to take this opportunity to thank all their customers for their generous support over the years.

Pesticide courses offered to prepare for new laws

Glengarry Farm Report
Glen M. Slater

By April 1, 1991, proposed legislation will likely see mandatory certification of farmers for the purchase of certain types of pesticides. With this deadline in mind, Grower Pesticide Safety Courses have been offered on a voluntary basis across the province since 1988. In the Glengarry area, we have had 10 courses with approximately 200 farmers attending. In order to provide an opportunity for the many farmers who have not yet been able to attend one of these courses, four more have been scheduled for the 1990/91 year.

The Grower Pesticide Safety Courses provide the participant with increased knowledge in the areas of pesticide safety, pesticide toxicity, pesticide poisoning, label interpretation, legal requirements, reducing risk of personal injury, reducing risk of environmental damage, protective clothing and equipment, equipment calibration and environmental concerns.

An open book examination following the course must be completed to gain a certificate. The examination questions are available in English, French, Italian, Portugese, Dutch and German, however, the participant must be able to answer questions from a pesticide lable available only in English or French.

Courses scheduled to date are as follows: (more courses will be offered depending upon the demand) — Saturday, Dec. 15, 1990, in the OMAF boardroom in Alexandria; Wednesday, Jan. 9, 1991, at the Kirk Hill United Church Hall in Kirk Hill; Monday, Jan. 14, 1991, at Munro Feed & Farm Supply Limited in Lancaster and a French course on Thursday, Feb. 14, 1991, in the OMAF boardroom, Alexandria. There is a cost for these courses. For registration and more information, call the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office in Alexandria.

Agriculture Canada recently announced the details of the Cash Flow Enhancement Program for 1990. This program will provide interest-free cash advances on grain in storage of up to $50,000. In Ontario, the program is available to corn, soybean and tobacco producers. For corn producers, the program will be administered by the Ontario Corn Producers' Association, and for soybean producers, by the Ontario Soya-Bean Growers' Marketing Board. For those interested in this program call the OMAF office in Alexandria for further details.

Program details are now available for four of the one-day seminars being offered at the OMAF office this year. For more information on these seminars: dairy calf and heifer care, Nov. 29; beef calf and heifer care, Dec. 8; Goods and Services Tax, Dec. 14 and practical farm maintenance, Mar. 13, 1991. please call the OMAF office in Alexandria.

Halloween is in the air! The children are already coming home from school with pumpkin and witch pictures and Arcade Seguin has his pumpkin display all set up just north of Green Valley on Hwy. 34. There must be a thousand pumpkins around his yard. It's worth driving by just for a look!

Optimist News

Next Saturday (Oct. 27) at 9:30 a.m., club members will begin the annual repairs to the skating rink. With the winter fast approaching, some boards at the rink need to be replaced and painted. The club invites its members to come and display their carpenter and painter skills. The more there are, the less time it will take to complete the work. New members are also invited.

The Optimists are getting ready for Halloween. The club has arranged to have flashing lights from tow trucks at both ends and at the centre of town. This will hopefully slow down traffic and make it a safer Halloween for the young trick or treaters. Members will also patrol the town from 5 to 8 p.m. The Optimists are friends of youth and wish all children a pleasant and safe Halloween.

The club is organizing its first annual "Club 1000" draw. The first draw is Jan. 27, 1991 for a trip to sunny Acapulco (value of $3,000). Then there will be six monthly draws of $1,000 each. Tickets are available from all members at a cost of $20 each. Proceeds from the draw are for community projects for our youngsters.

Grade 1, 2 and 3 students are invited to attend the 9 a.m. mass on Sundays at Ste. Marie's church. While parents are celebrating mass, youngsters can go to the church hall to listen to stories of Jesus told by professors and parishioners.

Shalom House News

Our "faith sharing group" started two weeks ago and numbers seven people. The group is learning, under the guidance of Ms. Margaret Smith to share their faith simply in a non-judgmental atmosphere. The sharing helps the individuals to grow in self-love, faith in God and love of others. There are five vacancies if you would like to join us.

Last week we received over 60 women from CWL. The themes varied for each session. The first session dwelt on scripture reconciliation and Mary. The second on praying scripture, death and dying and reconciliation. The third dwelt on scripture, praying scripture, reconciliation and how do I pray to God using scripture. There was a lively exchange of ideas, thought and insight and we had all the groups dancing to Lord of the Dance. You had to be there to believe it!

They have already booked Father Mike Shaw for next year and want to discuss the possibility of a Bible Study weekend on Scripture and/or the book of Revelations.

Some 15 people joined us for the theme "Mary — the modern healing woman." (I was one of the 15 and found the whole evening to be very thought provoking. Father Shaw helped us all to discover and see Jesus and Mary wearing many different faces.)

Join us for our second POAAAC evening! An evening of parents of adult and adolescent children to look at how to communicate, learn listening skills, and how to resolve conflict in a healthy way. The subject is chosen by participants. Date is this Thursday, Oct. 25 at 7:45 p.m. till 9:45 p.m.

Do you work with the sick or are on a Pastoral team. Join us and 15 others for a day on Friday, Oct. 26 from 9:30 a.m. till 3:30 p.m. The theme is "a fresh look at the spirituality of Jesus and how to apply it to the sick." The day will consist of talks, reflection, dialogue, prayer and summaries. Call Kathy at 525-3703.

Don't forget our healing retreat weekend coming up Nov. 30 to Dec. 2. We already have 10 registrations so start signing up!

For more information call Sister Jeannine at 347-2391.

There will be a euchre party at the parish centre this Sunday starting at 8 p.m. All are welcome.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" certainly applies to the article that I saw in the paper the other day. A would be thief entered a home but declined to take anything. However, he left a note which read, Get it (an unlocked window) fixed or I'll be back. Don't be stupid. At least the owner of the house can't say she wasn't warned.

It was a touching scene at Ecole Ste-Thérèse in North Lancaster last Tuesday immediately following the centennial ceremony and mass held in the school gymnasium. As a soft hymn played in the background, each pupil presented a hand-drawn and colored autumn leaf to their retiring pastor, Father Witold Mazurkiewicz. As they individually bid farewell, the pupils exchanged wishes with their pastor and friend. The following day on Wednesday, Oct. 10, Father Witold enjoyed a pot luck dinner at the school organized by the staff. Jean-Pierre Bourdeau, principal, on behalf of the staff, thanked Father Witold for his kindness and support in the preparation of the pupils for the sacraments of the Holy Eucharist, of Pardon and Confirmation.

"He always paid much attention to the children on receiving these sacraments," said Mr. Bourdeau, during a short presentation in the staff room. "Each child always received a religious memento and was made to feel very special on these occasions. He loved children and the children loved him in return. It's as simple as that. You will not be forgotten Father Witold."

The Polish Roman Catholic priest, who has been serving in St. Margaret's Parish in Glen Nevis for the past 12 years was then presented with a card and an imported handcrafted creche figurine as a token of the staff's appreciation for all the services rendered throughout those 12 years as parish priest and school chaplain.

Before leaving for Nova Scotia on Oct. 29 where he will be residing with his niece, Father Witold invited the staff to an informal wine and cheese party which was held at his residence on Monday, Oct. 15. Thanks again Father for all you have accomplished with our students and may you enjoy peace and good health during your well deserved retirement.

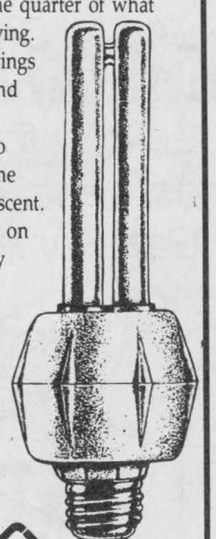
Change your bulbs, reduce your costs.

Meet the new compact fluorescent bulb. It can save a lot of money in your barn.

The compact fluorescent screws into a standard light socket and lasts about ten times longer than ordinary incandescent bulbs. Best of all, it uses 75% less electricity to produce a clean, bright light.

That means you can reduce your lighting costs to one quarter of what you're currently paying. Not to mention savings on replacements and labour costs.

Ask your Ontario Hydro rep about the new compact fluorescent. It'll shed new light on how to save money in your barn.



Make the switch to energy efficient lighting.

Glory days are here (at GDHS-ESRG) again

Traditional soccer powers recapture SD&G crowns with Friday doubleheader sweep

By Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

Laurent Rivard knew something his team didn't know before the start of Friday's SD&G Athletic Association senior boys soccer playoff championship game: that win or lose, Gaels would have a spot reserved for them at the EOSSAA draw at Char-Lan the following week.

"I didn't tell them anything (about the host zone being represented by two clubs — the Pembroke-Renfrew region won't be sending a team to the Eastern Ontario championships)," said the Glengarry coach. "I wanted them to be focused on this game."

The game was one of two championship matches (see junior results below) hosted by Glengarry and played before a hardy and vocal crowd on a cold, blustery day.

For the longest while it looked like Gaels would need that free pass to get to Williamstown. Their opponents in the sudden-death final — Tagwi Warriors, fresh off an upset of regular season pennant winners St. Joseph's Panthers in the semi-final — scored early and late in the first period taking a 2-0 lead to the second half.

That's when Rivard's decision seemed to pay off. Gaels played like there was no tomorrow in the second and rallied to tie the game 2-2. Glengarry went on to capture their first tri-county playoff crown since 1988 winning 3-2 in a penalty kick shootout.

Have we mentioned wind yet? Wind that made head balls an adventure and setting up plays a virtual impossibility?

Wind that, in the first half blew west to east across the field, but in the second period somewhat mysteriously became a Gael-force zephyr switching directions and blowing south, the same direction Glengarry was headed in? On a day that officially signalled a resurgence in boys soccer at Glengarry, it was almost like the Soccer Gods wanted things back in order.

"It (the wind) was a factor. The footing wasn't all that bad but the wind played a role — the wind helped," Rivard said. "In the second half the ball didn't come out of their (Warriors) end too many times."

Glengarry got back into it with 15 minutes gone in the second half. After a corner kick, Marc Seguin collected a rebound and scored from 10 yards out with a drive to the far corner narrowing the gap to 2-1.

With 10 minutes left, Brian Cameron scored off a wild goal line scramble to tie the contest 2-2.

Cameron had the best chance to win it for Gaels in the 10-minute overtime period, but halfway through it his close range shot hit Tagwi goalie Alex Munro and deflected off the goalpost.

It came down to penalty shots, five for each team. Round one went to Warriors when Jay Major was beaten on the first shot and Gaels couldn't answer with their opening attempt. But Major didn't allow any of the four remaining Tagwi shots to get by and Glengarry got goals from Pasquale Mongillo and Cameron to seal the win.

It was a case of deja vu for Tagwi Warriors and coach Mike Nalepa, who had Char-Lan Crusaders teetering on the brink of elimination in last year's championship game — likewise they held a 2-0 lead — but collapsed in the second half.

"It's unfortunate for it to happen like that two years in a row but we'll get 'em on Wednesday," said Nalepa, in reference to a potential rematch at the EOSSA tournament.

An "own goal" one minute into the game had given Warriors the early lead. Glengarry defender

Juniors win thriller over Char-Lan Crusaders

The SD&G junior final Friday between host Glengarry Gaels and Char-Lan Crusaders didn't take a back seat to the senior tilt in the drama department.

The game between county arch-rivals was tied 2-2 when, with time running out, a Char-Lan defender was called for a hand ball violation inside the penalty area. Glengarry's Wade McNaughton stepped to the penalty shot line and drilled in the go-ahead goal.

The contest ended seconds later with Glengarry in front 3-2.

The hand ball call had Char-Lan coach Malcolm Fraser a little bit miffed, but the loss wasn't the end of the world or the season for Crusaders: they'll be one of the eight teams vying for the crown at EOSSAA Wednesday (the host SD&G region can field two teams at the tournament).

"I really don't think those types of penalties (inadvertant hand balls) should be called," Fraser said. "It's not like our guy stuck his hand out to stop the ball — it kind of just hit him.

"But we took a penalty kick on a similar call earlier in the game, so we have to give them up too."

The similar hand ball call in the penalty area was called against Glengarry with two minutes left in the first half of a 1-1 game. Ben Pye converted giving Crusaders a 2-1 lead at the break.

But Gaels fought back in the second period, and tied the game on Randy Lavigueur's second goal 20 minutes in. "I think Hamish McDonell deserves a lot of the credit for the tying goal," Glengarry coach Brian Filion said. "He went right in there and challenged the goalie for the ball and it came loose to Randy."

Then came McNaughton's decisive penalty kick.

Glengarry had taken a 1-0 lead on Lavigueur's goal 15 minutes into the contest. Char-Lan's Innes Fraser tied it on a 20-footer curving bullet of a shot that eluded Gaels keeper Nigel Pelletier.

"We hope to meet them (Gaels) again — on a warm, sunny day," Fraser said. "We'll be in different divisions at EOSSAA so we could end up playing each other."

Filion thinks it'll be a close game if the teams do meet again. "There's not much to pick between the two clubs," Filion said. "It's too bad it had to be played on such a bad day. It was so windy it was tough to control the ball."

Semifinal results

Gaels, in first place at the end of the regular season, advanced to the championship with a home-field, semifinal 5-0 romp over visiting North Dundas Devils last Tuesday.

Robert Meth and Wade McNaughton each fired in a pair of goals for Glengarry, with Lavigueur notching a single. Pelletier got the shutout.

Crusaders, in third place, upset second-spot La Citadelle Patriotes 2-1 in overtime Tuesday at Cornwall.

After a scoreless first half, Innes Fraser put Crusaders ahead early in the second period. Patriotes scored later to send the game to overtime. After two scoreless 10-minute overtime periods, penalty shots were needed to decide the outcome and Char-Lan outscored Patriotes 3-0. Scorers were Pye, Fraser and David McDonald.

Glens top C-L Rebels and 73's on weekend

Are all wins equal? After beating two rival clubs in the St. Lawrence Division on the weekend, Alexandria Glens head coach Pete DeRooy's opinion on that topic may be skewed just a little.

"The games against teams in the division are especially important to win — yeh, you can look at them as being more important," said DeRooy, who saw his club come alive on the ice and in the standings: After six games, Glens have three wins, three losses and six points. The winning weekend keeps them in striking distance of first-place Winchester Hawks, who have 10 points.

Alexandria skated past divisional foes Kemptville 73's 10-7 in town Friday, and posted a 7-5 win over arch-rival Char-Lan Rebels Saturday in Williamstown.

Striking distance? October?..."That's something you have to be concerned with — even though it's only October," DeRooy said. "You can't let a team get too far out in front. The season isn't that long.

"I'd hate to see us 10 points out of first place by November."

The weekend's results pretty much assure that DeRooy won't have to worry about falling that far off the pace.

Saturday's game against Rebels was tied 4-4 after two periods. Alexandria took the lead for good, going ahead 5-4 when Serge Bellefeuille notched his third goal of the contest with 16:38 remaining in regulation time.

With Glens on a powerplay, defenceman Dan Levert gave his team some breathing room scoring his second goal with 11:37 to go on a slapshot blast from the point, putting Alexandria ahead 6-4.

Char-Lan cut the gap to 6-5 on a powerplay marker of their own with 6:08 left. Bob Bowles notched it, scoring with a low slapshot from the top of the circle.

Char-Lan captain Greg Wylie had a chance to tie it up when he took a pass near the crease with 1:40 to go, but he was closely checked by an Alexandria defender and his backhand attempt skirted wide of the net.

Marc Sauve scored into an empty net with five seconds remaining.

Alexandria had jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead. Bellefeuille opened the scoring 4:30 into the game. Mike Sauve pushed the advantage to 2-0 6:35 in. Just 11 seconds later, Bellefeuille's second marker gave Glens a 3-0 lead.

Rebels tied it in rapid-fire fashion. Marc Beaudet got the home team on the scoreboard with eight minutes left in the opening stanza. Rebels tied the game on early second period goals by Greg Wylie and Denis St. Jean.

Alexandria regained the lead on Levert's first goal with 13 minutes left in the second period, but 10 seconds later John Edgerton tied it 4-4.

Rebels outshot Glens 50-40.

For Rebels, an undesirable trend is starting to develop: in their last two Saturday night home games, they've fallen behind early then have staged gallant but ultimately unsuccessful comeback bids.

Rebels president and general manager John Chafee can live with Rebels third period scratching and clawing to get back into games, but he's hoping the club can get off to better starts in their contests. Particularly this weekend, when they play Kemptville (in Kemptville Friday, 8:30 p.m.) and Morrisburg (in Williamstown Saturday, 7:45 p.m.), two club's in Char-Lan's division.

Glen Nevis built an early lead — it was 4-1 after the first period and 7-2 midway through the second stanza — but Kinsmen made a game of it scoring three times in three minutes to narrow the gap to 7-5.

A Glen Nevis rally of its own late in the period put the game away. Glen Nevis struck for four goals in less than two minutes late in the period and upped its lead to 11-5 heading to the third stanza.

Leonard Seguin led all scorers with three goals and an assist. Randy McDonell added two goals and two helpers, while David McKay and Gerry Blanchette each scored twice and added one assist. Findlay MacLeod also scored two goals for the winners.

Champions 9, Williamstown 3

In the other game played Sunday, Champions Roadhouse scored a win over struggling Williamstown.

The game was close — Champions led 4-3 after two — until Champions reeled off five unanswered third period goals.

Champions led 2-0 at the end of the first period and increased it to 3-0 early in the second, but Williamstown scored three straight to tie it up.

The game-winning goal, putting Champions ahead 4-3 with 1:50 left in the second stanza, was scored by Glen Hay.

Marc Ouimet and Guy Poirer led Champions offensively, each contributing a goal and an assist.

Notching singles for Champions was Martin Seguin, Wilie Kippen, Serge Cote and Rocky Carriere.

Mike Gauthier and Pete Conway each set up two goals.

Thursday results:

Glen Nevis 6, Williamstown 4

Lancaster was an easy victor over Kinsmen, breaking open a 2-1 game after one period with three unanswered second period goals and four more in the third.

Donald Wightman, Mark Hutchinson, Dan Bryere and Garth Franklin each had a pair of goals for the winners. Steven Stewart scored once and added three assists.

Scott Campbell had three assists for Lancaster.

Char-Lan travellers off and running in St. Lawrence league

Char-Lan Rebels travelling teams are off to a good start in their Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League regular seasons. Three of the five travelling squads posted wins in their season openers over the week.

The most decisive Char-Lan win was Midget Rebels 7-1 rout of North Glen-Stor Braves Wednesday (Oct. 17). Danik Roy and Greg Stewart each fired in a pair of goals in the contest. Single markers were posted by Shane McDonell, Ian Laplante, and David MacDonald.

Laplante and MacDonald each had an assist for the winners.

Blacker nets two

Bantam Rebels started their season with a flourish Wednesday, whipping NG-S Braves 6-2. Dan Blacker led the assault with a pair of goals.

Singles were posted by Ian McDonell, Terry O'Farrell, Brian Deschamp and Vince Ryan.

Peewees win squeaker

Char-Lan Peewee Rebels opened the campaign with a hard-fought 4-3 edging of Braves last Tuesday Oct. 16).

John Fisher had two goals to pace the attack. Tim Corput and Jeff Proctor each scored once.

Darrel McDonell netted an assist for the winners.

Loyer scores twice

Stephane Loyer accounted for both his club's goals in Atom Rebels 2-2 draw Tuesday with Braves.

Kent McDonell drew an assist on one of the Loyer markers.

Novices beaten by Glens

The only Char-Lan squad which failed to pick up at least a point was Novice Rebels, beaten 2-1 by visiting Alexandria Glens on Thursday.

Chris Corput, with an unassisted marker, accounted for the lone Char-Lan goal.

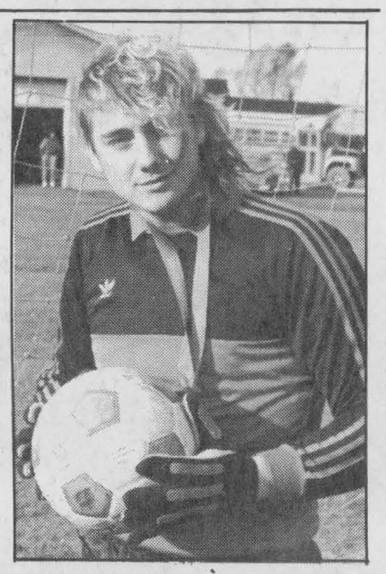
Major making the saves for senior soccer Gaels

Inside page profile

When the SD&G Athletic Association senior boys soccer final went into an overtime shootout Friday, Glengarry Gaels players must have felt they had Tagwi Warriors right where they wanted them.

Their goalie, Jay Major of Alexandria, has a knack for stopping penalty shots.

Now keeping a ball kicked from 12 yards away from going into a net that's 11 feet wide and eight feet high isn't the easiest thing in the sportsworld to do, but Major does it with regularity. In fact, the Grade 12 student has faced eight penalty shots this season and has allowed the opposition just one goal.



Glengarry Gaels senior boys soccer team goaltender Jay Major has had a propensity for stopping penalty kicks this season.

Seems it's all in the approach, which, for Major, involves a little psychological warfare. "I just try to psych them (the shooters) out," Major said. "You just try to act casual, walk around the net with the water bottle, and try to make them think that you're really confident. It seems to work."

But is it just a facade? Is Major actually confident when he steps onto the goal line, knowing the averages say most penalty shots will dent the twine? "I really do feel I have a good chance of saving them," he said.

Opposition shooters do seem psyched out — most of their shots haven't even come close to going in. Of the seven foiled free boots, (four were in Friday's shootout), five have sailed over or wide of the net. Major has blocked two of them.

"A big part of any winning team is the goalie," Glengarry coach Laurent Rivard said. "That's a position we haven't been that strong at the last couple of seasons."

That's why Rivard was glad to see Major try out for the club back in September, although he was hardly initially spellbinding. "He doesn't seem too inspired in practices," Rivard said, "but when the game ball is kicked off, something just seems to click inside of him and he's played very well.

"He comes out and challenges the shooters and it's been an effective style for him."

Major, 18, last played high school soccer two years ago with the junior team, and in Grade 9, he played on the half line and was chosen team most valuable player.

Major has played goalie for Greenfield for several years in the Glengarry Soccer League minor divisions.

Cornwall Collegiate Raiders sweep Glengarry hoopsters

Cornwall Collegiate Golden Raiders swept a pair of SD&G Athletic Assocation senior girls basketball regular season games from visiting Glengarry Gaels Thursday.

In the senior game, Tobi Bedard's 14 points led Raiders to a 64-20 decision. Sue Baker had 12 points.

Annie Cuerrier and Debbie Schmidt each scored four points for Gaels, which trailed 35-9 at the half.

Other Glengarry scorers were Bridget Cameron (three points), Stephane Walker (2), Alyson Graham (2), Kathy Van Loon (2) Caroline Cameron (2) and Arran McPherson (1).

Gaels — in fourth place in the senior tier two conference — fall to 1-5.

Juniors lose 37-24

Junior Gaels fell to 1-5 dropping a 37-24 game to Raiders, who were led by Monika Bhatnagar's 18-point effort.

Renata Clingen and Carol MacLeod each scored six points for Gaels, who trailed 18-15 at the half.

Glengarry is in fifth place in junior tier two standings.

. Gaels were in action yesterday (Tuesday), playing host to Seaway Spartans. On Friday Glengarry travels to North Dundas and next Tuesday, they're home to Tagwi Warriors.

Maxville Farm upsets Fontaine

With Monkland Kings and BMR Menard having already posted wins earlier in the morning, Maxville Farm Machinery needed a win at high noon in their Sunday showdown against powerhouse Fontaine Construction Ltd., to hold on to its share of first place in the SD&G No Contact Broomball League's West Division.

A tall order going up against unbeaten Fontaine Construction Ltd., but Maxville pulled off the upset, winning 1-0.

The only goal of the game was scored by Robert Waldorf late in the opening period. John Reddick set up the goal.

Donald Dashney supplied shutout goaltending for the winners.

With the win, Maxville improves its record to 3-1-0, for six points.

Monkland, BMR win

That's the same point total as Monkland Kings and BMR Menard Lumber, which also won their games to keep pace.

Monkland had little trouble disposing of Heritage Homes 7-0 in its contest.

Greg Cooper had the hot broom for Monkland, scoring three goals and adding a pair of assists for the winners.

Cooper got the only goal Monkland would need early in the first period. He set up Steve Harps' marker a minute later, giving Kings a 2-0 advantage.

Monkland scored once in the second stanza to take a 3-0 lead to the third.

Paul Seguin, Allan Robinson and Eric Massia notched the other Monkland goals.

Harps had four assists for the winners.

Keith Presley was between the pipes and earned the shutout.

BMR Lumber upset the only other unbeaten team in the league going into Sunday's games, posting a 4-1 decision over Alexandria Legion.

With the game tied 1-1, Dale Jarvo connected for his second goal with 7:23 left in the second period and it turned out to be the game winner.

Junior MacLean drew an assist on the play.

BMR put it away with third period goals from Mario Queneville, and Benny Phillips, assisted by Brian Thatcher.

Jarvo scored his first goal in the first period giving BMR a 1-0 lead, but Kevin Leduc tied the game 1-1 early in the second period.

Bruno Lalonde drew an assist on the tying effort.

Despite the loss Alexandria Legion (now 3-1-0) still holds on to a share of top spot in the East Division with Fontaine Construction.

Besner wins first game

Denis Besner Construction has pulled into a fourth-place tie with Ingleside Lanes in West Division standings scoring their first win — 5-3 — over Ingleside Sunday.

Stefan Flipsen had a pair of goals and an assist for the winners, which led 2-0 after the first period and 3-2 after two stanzas.

Sasha Grant also had a pair of goals, and Gerry Seguin scored once.

Alain Besner, Maurice Seguin and David Chaddock all contributed assists.

Roy Steele, with a goal and a helper, led Ingleside.

Noel Lalonde and Tim Legui also had single markers.

Insulation whips Whitewashing

The benefactor of losses pinned on Alexandria and Fontaine is Glengarry Insulation, which gained ground on the division leaders with a 11-1 rout of King's Whitewashing.

Michel Decoeur sparked the attack with four goals. Sylvain Elie had three goals and Marc Hurtubise added a double. Gilles Decoeur and Denis Decoeur rounded out the scoring with singles.

Barrie Rolfe had the lone King's Whitewashing goal.

Three area players are suiting up for Seaway Valley major midget "AA" hockey this season. Pictured with head coach Mike Groulx are, from the left, Dan Desjardins, Norm Decoste and Robert Curran.

Reaching out: Locals playing with Valley team

Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

For three area players, this isn't just another hockey season.

It's their major midget year, the season they'll be watched over like hounds by talent scouts all over arenas in Eastern Ontario.

Locals Robert Curran 17, and Dan Desjardins, 16, both from Martintown, and Norm Decoste, 17, of Alexandria, are suiting up for Seaway Valley Rapids "AA" midget hockey team.

"This is their showcase year — all three are second year midgets," said Rapids first-year head coach Mike Groulx. "I expect they'll all be big contributors to the team."

All three have aspirations of someday playing in the OHL, Central Junior League or suiting up for a college team. They're getting the opportunity of exposure to the scouts that a lot of talented players in the past from out in the boondocks didn't have. For years red tape abounded if rural residents wanted to play "A" hockey in Cornwall. That's all changed now.

"Nowadays we have to appeal to the best players in the whole district (file for future reference: this is district two) if we want to ice a competitive team," Groulx said.

On this years major midget squad, just six players come from Cornwall proper. The rest are from outlying areas.

This is the third year the Seaway Valley Minor Hockey Association — definitely not to be confused with the Cornwall Minor Hockey Association — has been in existence. The Seaway travelling teams have dropped the nickname "Royals" to further assert its independence from Cornwall.

Realistically, what is a major midget's chances of going on to play at a higher level? "Everyone loves a winner," Groulx said. "The number of players that will be drafted off this team will be in proportion to how well it does.

"But even if you're at the bottom of the heap, you can expect anywhere from one to five kids to be selected by OHL or CJHL teams."

"It's not just that (the possibility of being drafted)," said Decoste, a bruising right winger. "That's not the only reason to play "AA" hockey. I look at it as a fun experience and the opportunity to play in a higher calibre league."

Atom Glens top Flyers

Alexandria Caisse Populaire Atom Glens first Lower St. Lawrence travelling league regular season win came Sunday at home, with locals posting a 5-0 decision over South Stormont Flyers.

Gregory Lalonde had two goals for Alexandria, including the winner coming early in the first period. Stephane Boisvenue drew his first of two assists on the goal that put Glens up 1-0.

Boisvenue also had two goals in the game. He netted his first late in the opening stanza giving Alexandria a 2-0 lead.

Glens led 3-0 going into the third period.

Jamie Ladouceur scored once for the winners.

Collecting one assist each was Lalonde, Daniel Boisvenue, Eric Leroux and Andrew Bowen.

Bantams tie

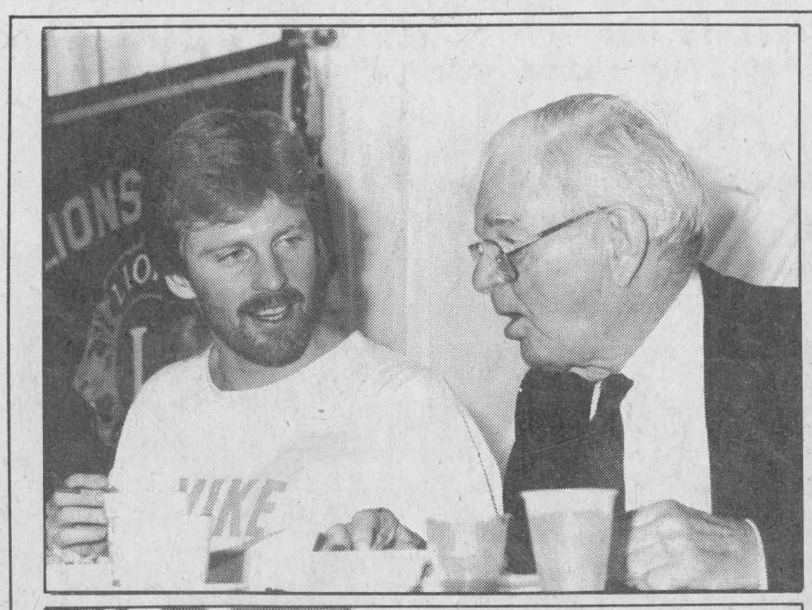
Alguire-Brownell Major Bantam AA Rapids couldn't hold a 4-1 lead against Ottawa West Golden Knights Sunday and had to settle for a 4-4 tie in a game played at Maxville.

Sylvain Lavigne of Alexandria scored twice with Chris Richards and Martin Laroche scoring once each. Chad White had two assists.

In earlier games Rapids dropped an 8-4 decision to Gatineau Ambassadors and lost 6-3 to Gloucester Rangers.

Penalties and give-aways cost the Rapids several goals against Gatineau, a team they had beaten in five meetings last year. Pierre Seguin, Martin Laroche, James Cooper, all of Cornwall, and Richard Bazinet of Summerstown scored for Rapids.

At the Cornwall Civic Complex, Rapids played even with Gloucester for two periods before running out of steam. Marc Dupuis, Mario Gibeault, both of Cornwall, and Richard Hutt of Monkland got the Rapids' goals.



Football Night

Mike Prieur, shortstop for playoff champs Beaupre Construction, and Robert Quesnel, pitcher on M&D Sports — regular season pennant winners — each won two awards.

Prieur was selected "A" division playoff most valuable player, and was the top batter during the regular season.

Prieur led the eight-team loop with a sizzling .778 batting average.

Robert Quesnel won the best pitcher award, and was chosen regular season MVP.

Quesnel batted .651 during the campaign, with eight home runs and 31 runs batted in.

The rookie-of-the-year is Sylvain Lobb.

Michel Gauthier was selected most sportsmanlike player.

The consolation playoff crown was won by Alexandria Moulding. Michel Menard was chosen consolation division playoff MVP.

The banquet was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Award winners

Among the award winners at the Alexandria Industrial Slo-Pitch League banquet are, from the left, Mike Prieur (best batter, "A" playoff MVP), Robert Quesnel (best pitcher, regular season MVP) and George Carriere (representing regular season pennant winners M&D Sports).

Consolation champs

Alexandria Moulding had a bigger lineup when they won the consolation championship last month. Team members pictured at Saturday's banquet are, from the left, Richard Hamelin, Mike MacLeod, Richard Scott, Carl Bergevin, Marc Hurtubise and Paul O'Neil. Absent is Michel Menard, Gerry Carriere, Ghislain Marleau, Bernard Desjardins and Sylvain Lobb.

Peewee Glens doubled by South Stormont

Alan Garlough scored in the second period and again in the third lifting visiting South Stormont Flyers to a come-from-behind 2-1 win over Alexandria Lalonde General Store Peewee Glens in a Lower St. Lawrence hockey league game played Sunday.

The Alexandria squad had scored the first goal of the contest taking a 1-0 lead in the opening period. Eric McCarthy scored it, with help from Chancey Lajoie and Alain Decoste.

Win in Winchester

Peewee Glens travelled to Winchester Friday and posted a 7-2 exhibition game win.

Eric McCarthy and Karl Hehn scored two goals each for the winners.

Chancey Lajoie, Jean Theoret and Sean Villeneuve added singles.

Lajoie, Bruce MacLeod and Mark Laferriere collected two assists each, while Hehn, Theoret and Dominic Laferriere assisted once each.

Alexandria outshot the opponents 32-12.

The next Alexandria regular season game will be played this Sunday (Oct. 28) in Cornwall.

Controlled moose hunt to be allowed

The Ministry of Natural Resources has announced that there will be a controlled moose hunt in Larose Forest this fall.

Larose Forest, situated 40 km east of Ottawa, is home to the southernmost moose herd in Ontario. The 1990 controlled hunt will be the second consecutive year in which such a hunt has been held, and the fourth controlled hunt in Larose Forest.

"The hunt is necessary to keep moose numbers at a level where they can maintain a healthy population," said Ed McGregor, the Ministry's Fish and Wildlife Supervisor for Cornwall District, which includes the Larose Forest. "In recent surveys we have seen the moose population increase significantly,"

Senior Gaels results

Mike McDonell kicked the ball back to Major but it found its way into the net. "For a long time it didn't look too good, especially at the start," Rivard said.

Things didn't improve when Bob MacLeod scored 30 minutes in putting the visitors ahead 2-0.

Gaels really looked like they had given up the ghost when, with one minute left in the first half, Tagwi goaltender Munro stoned Mongillo on a penalty shot attempt.

Semifinal results

Warriors — in fourth place during the regular season with a 4-2-2 record — peaked at the right time, eliminating pennant winners St. Joseph's Panthers (6-1-1) 3-2 in sudden death semifinal action last Tuesday in Cornwall.

Kevin MacCormick's conversion of a Bob MacLeod crossing pass with 10 minutes left crossing a 2-2 draw and lifted Warriors to the win.

MacLeod and Jeff MacLean had scored to give Warriors a 2-0 lead, but Panthers rallied tying the contest 2-2.

Second-place Gaels (6-2-0) meanwhile, knocked off third-place La Citadelle Patriotes (5-1-2) 3-0 in Alexandria. Glengarry got all the offence it would need — two goals from Marc Seguin and one by Hugh MacLeod — in the first half.

Jay Major recorded the shutout.

Char-Lan Crusaders junior girls basketball team saw its four-game win streak end Thursday when the club was beaten 40-38 by host General Vanier Vikings.

Katherine MacLachlan had 19 of the Char-Lan points. Crusaders are now 5-2, and in second place in tier one behind St. Lawrence Saints.

Crusaders' last loss was against St. Lawrence in September.

Senior Crusaders remain alone in first place in tier one with a 7-0 record. The latest win was a 68-45 decision over Vikings.

Centre Karen Arnott paced the scoring attack with 23 points. Julie MacDonald had 15 points for the winners.

Knights win pair

Alexandria Knights of Columbus Novice Glens improved their Lower St. Lawrence travelling league regular season record to 3-0 Sunday with a home ice 5-0 blanking of visiting South Stormont Flyers.

Mario St. Denis' unassisted goal with 3:59 left in the first period held up as the game-winner.

Kurt MacSweyn, with his first of three markers, scored on a Chris McIntyre feed with 2:51 to go in the stanza pushing the Alexandria lead to 2-0.

MacSweyn scored again late in the second on a St. Denis set-up. MacSweyn collected an assist on Nigel Newland's marker with two minutes left in the stanza.

MacSweyn, from Newland, closed out the scoring in the third.

Roch Gauthier was between the pipes for the shutout.

Alexandria posted a road ice 2-1 win over Char-Lan Thursday. Kurt MacSweyn connected for both Alexandria goals. Joel Quesnel drew one assist.

Chris Corput fired in the lone Char-Lan goal.

Ernie's Cement Work whips Consoltex 16-1

The gap between first and worst in the Alexandria Industrial Hockey League seems to be widening. Defending playoff champs Ernie's Cement Work had its way with lowly Consoltex Saturday, winning 16-1.

Mark Just sparked the Ernie's attack scoring six times. Just also had an assist.

Glen MacMillan scored four times and had an assist for the winners.

But Ernie's forward Mike Lapensee topped them all in the points department, scoring three times and adding six helpers for a total of nine.

Dave Gee and Ralph Humphries got the other Ernie's goals.

Ernie's took the suspense out of this contest early, scoring three times in the opening period.

They put the game out of reach with a seven-goal, second period outburst.

Phil Lewis, with help from Al Stewart and Garth Franklin, accounted for the lone Consoltex goal.

Brown House Store had a similarly easy time with Warina, scoring a 16-5 win.

Top scorer for Brown House, which led 4-1 after the first period and 8-1 after two stanzas, was Serge Picard, who scored four times.

Andre Seguin, Todd Hambleton and Sylvain Levert each had three goals and an assist.

Michel Seguin added a pair of goals and Gaetan Dupuis scored once.

But there is some parity in the league. Dick's Paving Stone and Alexandria Legion hooked up in a close contest, with Dick's skating to an 8-6 win.

Dick's led the game 7-5 when Lyndon Cameron scored for Alexandria in the final minute narrowing the gap to 7-6.

John MacSweyn, with his second goal, put the game away scoring an insurance marker into an empty net with 10 seconds remaining.

Wendel Lafave had four goals for the winners.

Peter Conway, with a goal and two assists, and Dick Sauve, who connected for one marker and added a helper, rounded out the scoring.

Other Alexandria Legion scorers were Stephen MacMaster, Gerry Blanchette, Guy Boyer and Brent McDougall.

Marc Sauve rips Kemptville 73's

"Divisional games are always important, no matter what time of the year," Chafee said. "It looks like the league is going to be well-balanced and tight all year long so it's important to have a good start to the season."

Rebels notes: Rebels coaching duties Saturday were handled by assistants Barry Gordon and Hugh McClements. Head coach Randy Larocque was away for the weekend on a sports trip. Larocque took in the Maple Leafs game in Toronto Saturday night, and on Sunday he was in Buffalo for the Bills-Jets clash.

Rebels still have three goalies in camp. Marc Saucier was between the pipes for Saturday's game and Joshua Harrington was his backup. Matthew McKenzie was away for the weekend.

Glens beat Kemptville

It was the Marc Sauve Show in Glens home ice 10-7 win over Kemptville 73's Friday. Sauve went on a scoring rampage leading the club to victory with five goals and three assists.

Martin Amyot added a pair of goals for Glens with singles tacked on by Mike Sauve, Trevor Clark and Andrew Sauve.

Serge Bellefeuille led the club with four assists. Mike Sauve had three helpers.

Alexandria led the contest 4-3 after one period, and blew it open in the second taking an 8-3 lead with four unanswered goals.

Marc Sauve netted his fourth of the contest making it 5-3 with 15:32 left in the middle stanza.

With 12:49 left, Mike Sauve scored pushing the lead to 6-3. Three minutes later, Alexandria got goals from Amyot and Marc Sauve nine seconds apart giving them a comfortable 8-3 lead.

Glens notes...Yet another goaltender was between the pipes for Alexandria in Saturday's win over Rebels. The winning netminder was 18-year-old Tony Perri, from Philadelphia via Canton College and the Massena Turbines.

Jeaurond lifts midget team to draw

Mike Jeaurond's goal with 3:01 remaining in the third period Saturday ended a Glens scoring drought and lifted Alexandria Hope Auto Parts Midgets to a 1-1 tie against visiting North Glen-Stor Braves.

The game was Alexandria's Lower St. Lawrence Midget League regular season opener.

Randy Gebbie drew an assist on the tying goal.

Braves had taken a 1-0 lead in the first period.

Glens will be looking for their first win Saturday when they play host to South Stormont Flyers.

On Sunday, Glens are in Cornwall.

A number of new students were welcomed to Lancaster Public School, pushing the enrolment to more than 200 students. The only new member of the staff is Mrs. Louise Secord who has been hired to teach advanced French to those students who require it. On Oct. 5, the kindergarten to Grade 6 students were treated to the many talents of Deborah Dunleavy. With the theme of talking on the telephone, this lady was able to generate much enthusiasm and participation with many colorful songs. On Oct. 28, 25 students from the junior classes participated in a morning workshop at the Cornwall Regional Art Gallery where the theme was mask making. Students were asked to study the art objectively, especially the facial expressions within the paintings. They were then given the opportunity to make three dimensional masks.

The impossible has finally happened! The Junior Mixed Soccer team took home the 'A' Division trophy from "soccer country." It took place on Oct. 15 in Laggan with the Lancaster team winning games over Alexander, Laggan and finally Williamstown to become the champions for the first time ever! Not such a surprise was the Senior Mixed team taking home the 'A' Division trophy in Williamstown on the same day. The senior team also faced Williamstown in the finals.

School photos were taken on Oct. 19. On the same day, students gathered in the gym to pay tribute to Marlene Page who was honored by Sandra and Jim Pattingale for her many years of safe and dependable driving for the Pattingale Bus Lines. She was presented with a plaque from them and a bouquet of flowers from the staff and students. Congratulations, Marlene, for a job well done.

Talents on parade — the monthly honor role at l'Ecole St. Joseph has taken on a new look this year.

The students that are named to receive a certificate of merit have shown great improvement or an excellent display of talent. Though selection is always difficult because many students are participating very well, here are the students who did receive a certificate this month: Mila Leboeuf, Alexa Dbering, Francis Leboeuf and Joanne Menard for communication; Laura St. Pierre and Stephanie St. Pierre for creativity; Shaun St. Pierre for story writing; Eric Viau for dramatic arts; Steven Prieur for organization and Sylvain Pilon for his efforts in sports. We congratulate these children and encourage all the students to find their talents.

A very special lunch was held after celebrating mass with Father Villeneuve. Students and staff enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner with everyone sharing lunch with others; some brought in desserts, sandwiches, vegetable dips and fruit. Students were also treated to pork and beans and a bun prepared by a staff member to emphasize the message — sharing and giving thanks during the holiday weekend.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 544 of the Royal Canadian Legion was held recently and a busy time it was! There is so much going on in the branch during the coming weeks that members will surely be kept in a whirl. Congratulations to our cribbage team who participated in the zone tournament and placed second. Luella Montroy, Olive McCreary, Betsy Robinson and Joyce Lalonde now go on to Perth to vie for the District Championship. Sports play a large role in the life of the Legion as members both sponsor and participate in sports within the branch and community at large. The Ladies' Auxiliary is badly in need of funds to enable them to continue their work and several fundraisers are being planned . . . a basket of groceries and surprises will be raffled during the coming weeks. A toy show and sale will take place on Fri., Nov. 9 featuring toys geared to develop audio, visual and fine motor skills of children from nursery age upwards, and a possible bake sale just prior to the festive season.

An ongoing fundraiser is the monthly euchre party on the last Monday of the month at a very nominal price which includes a lunch! Where else can you get to play and eat for a loonie?

Rev. Walter Riegert, Executive Director of the Congregational Christian Churches in Canada, along with his wife, Wilma, spent last Thursday afternoon with Eric and Sheila Urquhart, discussing the operation of the Community Protestant Church in Lancaster, a member congregation of the CCCC. Sheila and Eric were surprised to learn that Walter had spent some time in his earlier years working in Glen Walter at which time he attended Salem United Church in Summerstown. Topics of discussion during their visit included handout literature, weekday activities and the growth of the national body of the Congregational Christian Church. The number of congregations, nationally, has grown from five in 1989 to 64 at the present time, and twice that many clergy have associated themselves with the CCCC. There are now three congregations in the area within a radius of 150 miles and hope is prevalent that a co-operative tie-in may be made.

Glen Sandfield fall salad tea well supported by public

Glen Sandfield
Lorna Chapman
874-2408

The Glen Sandfield UCW fall salad tea was a delightful afternoon with friends. The area people are wonderful in coming out to support each other in their fundraising events and this one was no exception. There was a sumptuous repast awaiting the diners, with a buffet table replete with salads of every color imaginable, as well as the old favorite potato salads and coleslaws, (or cabbage salad as some call them) and cheeses. Plates of cookies and squares graced the tables, and tea and coffee were served to the seated guests. Upstairs the bake table did a rousing business. Pies galore, cakes, muffins and cookies, squares and breads all awaited the eager buyers. The few jars of pickles and jams were soon gone, and the candy table, which boasted homemade fudge, was quickly emptied. The attic treasures corner was the scene of much activity, where the many unusual items were whisked swiftly away by the happy purchasers. Even the weather was all the ladies could have desired, being bright and temperate. Many thanks to everyone who in any way helped to make this "tea" possible. It was a grand success. This was nice also as it will possibly be the last one to be held in the hall here, due to the dwindling numbers of the UCW unit. It has been a wonderful relationship with the community. Friends have been very complimentary over the years, and most kind in every way. Without them it all would just not have been possible. The unit will not disband, but the teas will be a thing of the past, in all likelihood.

The McCrimmon WI branch met at the Lochiel Township hall on Oct. 18 for their regular monthly meeting. The roll call of "Words that your grandmother never heard of" was really interesting. We never think how the language has changed over the years, but she would never have used the words microwave, steroids, yuppie, polyester, word processor, fax, rock and roll, A.I.D.S., main frame, astronaut, space shuttle, or even "space" as we mean it today (meaning the cosmos). These are words that we hear everyday, and are so common, we don't stop to realize just how "new" they are.

Helen MacLeod gave a most favorable financial report and Margaret MacPherson read the minutes. The new quilt committee will be headed by Marion Urquhart with Betty McDonald and Marjorie Crowley as her assistants. The Christmas dinner date is to be confirmed, but was tentatively set at Dec. 6. Nan Campbell and Bertha Fraser attended the landscaping course and gave an interesting account of all that took place there. There were many instructional slides presented, full of useful information about designing grounds and what we can do to beautify our surroundings with plantings, and even uprooting old eyesores. The course they will be giving will be a slide program, mostly accompanied by manuals. It all sounded just fascinating. For the first time the manuals will cost three dollars (this is to help cover their printing cost) but are well worth it, as they are chock full of helpful ideas on planting, pruning and landscaping. The area director for Area 1 will be Lois Storemont from the Dundas branch. Helen MacLeod commented on the motto: everything old is new again.

Fiddle music is going as strong as ever and gaining popularity. Quilting has become fashionable and everyone is always on the lookout for old dishes, and antiques. One lady mentioned that her 1960 silk suit went away with a bride on her going away trip, looking like the very latest in clothing design, with the jacket length and padded shoulders just perfect for the up-to-date fashion conscious young women. Isn't there an old saying that goes, "Keep it for 20 years and you will be right in style again"? Well it certainly seems to be true today.

Betty McDonald gave a comprehensive report of the Ottawa WI convention. She really enjoyed it. She met many new friends and found everyone to be very warm and friendly. She reported that, sadly, there have been four branches that have had to disband in 1989. The next convention will be held in Kemptville on Oct. 11, 1991, and will be only one day. More information on this will be forthcoming.

Marion Urquhart has finished her term as board director and received warm praise for her wonderful dedication during her time in office.

The theme of the convention was Women Feed the World and the speakers Rev. Sandra and Rev. David MacDonald spoke to the topic. He said when the hunger crisis occurred in Ethiopia in 1984 that two out of every three Canadians responded. She spoke about the fact that women are the natural nurturers. As mothers they feed and raise the children, caring for them from birth. Tending the children, feeding, training and devoting their lives to rearing the new generations has been the women's role for many years. In many countries she has the sole care of children as long as they are babies, and up until the boys become old enough to join their fathers in hunting or are able to go through a traditional rite proclaiming their manhood. At that time the boys become the father's, and may join him in his duties. The girls usually stay in mother's care, for training and to help her, until they marry, when they go off to live with the husband's family, and are lost to their own mother. This is changing somewhat in the new society, but in many parts of the world it is still very true.

The two speakers were really interesting and gave the group an inside look at life in Ethiopia, and they explained just how it differs from our own. Lorna Chapman had fun time and got everyone laughing with several short readings from an ancient Readers Digest. The next meeting will be in the Lochiel hall, on Nov. 15.

Sunday evening, area people were invited to enjoy an evening hymn sing at East Hawkesbury United Church. The seats were filled with people, as they enjoyed the mini concert before the service by local fiddlers, who rendered several familiar hymns, accompanied by Karen MacLeod. Many hummed along as Softly and Tenderly, Sweet Hour of Prayer and Whispering Hope were played.

Rev. Colin MacDonald officiated, and after his warm welcome to the crowd, he introduced the Howes brothers, who sang I Found My Jesus, Sweet Bye and Bye and Tell it to Jesus, accompanied by Doreen Howes. After the singing of four requested congregational hymns, Barbara Howes and Nancy MacDonald sang two sacred melodies in clear, sweet voices. Ian and Karen MacLeod played two hymns, she on piano, he on his violin, that were well known to the congregation. After several more congregational choices were sung, accompanied by Stella Fraser on the organ, the Howes brothers returned to sing Shall We Gather at the River, and Won't it be Wonderful There. All the performers joined in at the close of service in singing Amazing Grace, with the people. Light refreshments were passed around, during which Lorna Chapman sang Let There be Peace on Earth and The Prayer of St. Francis, accompanied by Gerald Daechsel on the organ. I'm sure the host church people were delighted with the grand turnout and the wonderful music that evening. There was nothing but high praise from the delighted crowd.

Class of '31 gathers for reunion — with their teacher

Maxville
Gordon Winter
527-2888

We first met as a group as six-year-olds when we started school together in 1931 in the four-room brick school house here, that was replaced in 1960. Ffity-nine years later, the lucky ones once again met together to reminisce and to celebrate a new beginning as senior citizens.

On Oct. 13, fourteen members of the class met at Maxville Manor for a reception and to honor our one teacher who is still living, Katie Jane Ann McKay Wilkes. Mrs. Wilkes is a Manor resident, enjoyed the afternoon and her former students appreciated their visits with her.

Councillor Verna McGregor brought us greetings from the village, Eileen Colbourne, chairperson for special events for the Centennial outlined plans and issued invitations and Executive Director, Craig Munro, gave a presentation on plans for the renovations at the Manor, the Seniors Outreach Services program and the Glen Garden Village Apartments project. Several viewed one of the apartments while most visited old friends at the Manor.

We then toured the Public School to note some of the changes in education and the necessary facilities. Colin MacLellan was in the school for practices and he gave us an interesting talk on the piping school and the pipe band.

It was a short walk then to the Glengarry Curling Club for more visiting, the viewing of old photos and a delicious beef dinner. The Rev. Steve Hamilton, Lachute, a special guest, offered grace.

During a short memorial period and minute of silence, the following deceased classmates were remembered: Hervé Chene, Isable Christie Cameron, Joe Lapierre, William Lussier, Hughie Mark, Ethel Sauve Guindon, Yvette Sauve Guindon, Maurice Lobb, Hebert Pilon, Ruth Benton Campbell and Jeanine Filion Allison.

The classmates who were present were Fern Lavigueur Doyle from Peterborough, Jack McLean, Toronto, Erma Metcalfe Baird, Carp, Fred Currier, Hawkesbury, Noemi Boisvenue Morrissette and Marion Villeneuve Haramis, Cornwall, and from the village, Claire Guindon Lefebvre, Doreen Guindon Hayman, Minerva Coleman Pilon, Helen McLean Hunter, Rae Ferguson, Roger "Bud" Guindon, Vernon Campbell and Gordon Winter. Some were accompanied by a spouse or friend.

Madeleine Morin Beaulieu, Chambly, sent regrets and included a toast to MPs that will be printed in a later edition of our Centennial newspaper.

It was considered a successful project and plans were discussed to reconvene in 1995.

Oct 7 to 12 was newspaper carrier week. Belatedly, we salute our two carriers at this end of the village, Jennifer Williamson and Charles Long who provide excellent service. At the other end, Chris and James Rolland provide equally good service as Citizen carriers.

We wish Nellie Wensink the very best as she enters the business world. Mrs. Wensink has opened a craft store in her home on Main St. South. With her her expertise and interest, Mrs. Wensink will have many beautiful items for sale.

If you are wondering where Mrs. Wensink found the name for her Craft Corner, it is her own name, Petronella. It is a Dutch name which was shortened when Mrs. Wensink moved to Canada.

A friend of many was welcomed back to the village last week in the person of Helen MacIvor from Abbotsford, B.C. Mrs. MacIvor's late husband the Rev. Ivor D. was the Presbyterian minister for many years here.

Mrs. MacIvor was the guest of Vera MacEwen and was able to call on many others while here.

The old steam engine with its eight coaches loaded with train buffs made two stops a week ago last Sunday. Did we ever think, years ago, that we would be rushing to the station to view this train, the model of which was so familiar when in regular use.

Some of the local firemen were pleased to be able to accommodate the organizers with water from a tanker truck that was driven up to the tracks. By the way, the fuel used to make the steam is propane but the black smoke still is produced as from coal.

We offer our sympathy to Thelma Fraser and her family in the death of her mother, Ethel Alguire.

Also, a life-long native of the village, Hazel Coleman died recently after being a Manor resident for about 18 years. We extend sympathy to her cousins and other family members. This Coleman family dates back to the patriarch, Duncan Coleman who came here when the village was young.

Is there a reader out there who would like a well trained, medium sized dog who sleeps in a dog house that goes with her? It is a bad weed but we would always want to have a few milkweek plants around to feed the larvae of the Monarch butterfly. When we were kids, we used to think, too, that the white sap was a cure for warts. That is about all I could say in its faovr until one evening last week. I was driving westward just as the sun was setting and the sunshine was shining through the parachutes of the milkweed's seeds. They were glistening like well polished silver and made me think that we should try to see more good in all things.

I was a volunteer in the booth of the Public Liaison Committee of the Waste Management Study Plan at the Home Show in Cornwall last week. Interest in recycling, composting and the whole situation in general has certainly grown very considerably since last year.

Ross Conners was there, too, to give a talk on composting.

A few lonely robins were heard chirping last week. These sounds were a pleasant farewell to summer.

Two church luncheons and bazaars are coming up. On this Saturday, the ladies from St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican will be providing a lunch starting at 11 a.m. and continuing until 2 p.m.

On Nov. 3, the ladies of the United Church have similar plans but their luncheon will not start until 11:30 a.m.

At both events, there will be a sale of crafts, baking and many other interesting items. Your support on these two days will be greatly appreciated by the ladies and you will be assured of a warm welcome and delicious food.

The October meeting of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society attracted an excellent crowd to an excellent meeting with vice-president Dorothea Conners in the chair.

The highlight of the business session was the presentation of service certificates to two members who have fulfilled their duties faithfully for many years and have always been interested in horticultural activities. Ross Conners, director of district 1, presented these certificates to Agnes Campbell and Oris Beaudette.

A presentation on herbs was given by Dawson and Bernice Burwash. The former spoke on the culture and the latter on the use in cooking of the ones they grow in their garden. As they pointed out, the Burwashes thought they had six or seven but when it came to talking about them, they had 16 or 17 on their list and at the meeting for identification purposes.

Mrs. Conners showed a series of slides of wild flowers as they appear from spring to fall in their natural habitat. We seem to becoming increasingly aware of the beauty of these flowers and the fact that some are in real need of protection.

On Oct. 5, Ken MacRae, Toronto, called on his friend Arnold Munro at his office on Main St. The two were life-long friends. That evening, Mr. Munro died suddenly at home.

Mr. MacRae composed the following poem in tribute to his friend and it was read at Mr. Munro's funeral by Monsignor Rejean Lebrun.

In Memory

Today I write in sorrow, and there's hurt in every line,
But I must put pen to paper, for a long time friend of mine.
I knew him as a classmate, in the little old red school
And I saw in him in childhood, how he used the golden rule.
He always had a helping hand, for others young and old
The stories of his kindness will for many years be told.
The history of Glengarry has a list of famous names,
And today we add another for his love of Highland Games
Each year as pipers, drummers come to claim their cup or shield,
We'll miss him handing out awards with pride in centrefield.
His constant care for others has touched your hearts and mine
He left a loving legacy for all that's good and kind.
I loved him like a brother and I grieve to see him go,
For a kinder heart I've never known, than Arnold C. Munro.

Thirty years ago, little Bart Amyot was killed on Main St. The son of high school teacher John and his wife, Pauline, Bart had gotten up early, left the house unnoticed and wandered north on Main St. I believe it was a Saturday morning when parents try to sleep in.

Name change aimed at attracting newcomers

Williamstown
Sue Harrington
347-2279

Keeping in step with the times, according to David Money of the Ontario Horticultural Association, may mean cutting out the word ''horticulture'' and replacing it with ''gardening.''

Mr. Money was addressing members of the association's societies at District 1's annual meeting, held Saturday at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

The proposed name change may help lure young blood into the various gardening clubs in the province and more adequately reflect the groups' concern with environmental issues. Mr. Money also said that it is hoped a provincial headquarters of the association will be established, with satellite branches throughout Ontario.

District President Ross Connors, who chaired the meeting, said that Mr. Money had dropped '' a couple of bombshells.'' If the society does change its name, for instance, it will go from OHA to OGA!

Liz O'Gorman-Smit, brought greetings from the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, prior to the introduction of the special guest speaker, Anstace Esmonde-White.

The background of the colorful Mrs. Esmonde-White, author and television hostess, was given by Carmen Hunting, Green Thumbs' president.

Carmen outlines the celebrity's life across several continents, saying that she had experienced gardening in a wide variety of climates: Born in Erie, lived in India, relocated to Canada, where she and her husband Larry live near Kemptville.

Mrs. Esmonde-White said she for one was ''delighted'' with the proposed name change to ''gardening: clubs.

''I think gardening clubs can educate people. Home vegetable gardening is the only real way we can feel we are free of chemicals,'' said the speaker, adding that with the current unemployment situation, young people should be encouraged to grow vegetables, sort of like the Victory Gardens planted during World War II.

Mrs. Esmonde-White oulined the creation of their now famous gardens at their old stone farmhouse in Kemptville. Their evergreen gardens and maze began as a protection against the winds which bore down upon them during their first winter in their rural home.

After establishing spruce and scotch pines, the Esmonde-Whites planted cedar seedlings which they later cut into arches. Mr. Esmonde-White had a hankering for a maze, so he wrote to Hampton Court for plans. ''Fortunately, they were rejected,'' laughed Anstance. ''We got them from the Governor's Palace at Williamsburg instead.''

A spring garden in front of the house, a little rock garden geared to their television program, and a water garden are among their different projects.

The couple also has a ''thing'' about log cabins, buying, dismantling, and restoring them to use as outbuildings on their property.

A herb garden and a salad garden provide them with all the salads they can eat and more. An old cement floor from a sugar house provides the basis for ''Thyme Square,'' where Anstace says thyme thrives in gravel.

Their vegetable garden provides fresh veggies up until Christmas, and the Esmond-Whites experiment with new things. At the moment they are growing sea kale, which the early settlers used, but which has long since fallen from favor.

Perennials easy to grow in the Ottawa Valley keep the gardenng couple's beds colorful and ever-changing.

Following her talk, Mrs. Esmonde-White was thanked by Hugh Grice.

Entertainment in the noon hour was provided by the students of Dave Irwin's music classes, before George Pagowski of the Royal Botanical Gardens spoke about planning gardens.

Awards were given to various clubs before the conclusion of the day. The Thom Trophy for the Juniors went to Russell, while Martintown claimed the District Trophy for the best senior program.

Locals picking up door prizes at the meeting were Wendy Rozon, Janet Alguire, Lorna Snow, Joyce Ayers and Lyall Hargrave.

Janice Nacreto and Ron McDonald exchanged marriage vows at St. Raphael's Church on Saturday, Oct. 6. Mons. Donald McDougald was celebrant.

Janice is the daughter of Dennis and Betty Nacreto of Williamstown, while Ron is the son of Cameron and Betty McDonald of Green Valley.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a Cinderella model of tulle organza and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Judith MacDonald, Matron of Honor, and Bridesmaids Cheryl Jelley and Sheila McDonald all wore gowns of royal purple.

Carter MacDonald was Best Man for the occasion, while Kenny MacDonell and Greg McDonald were ushers.

Music was provided by David Irwin, organist; Joan MacDonald, soloist; and Brude McCuaig, piper.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre, with relatives attending from Vancouver, Livonia, Michigan, Sarnia, Geraldton, Belleville, Montreal and Kingston.

The couple honeymooned in the New England states where they were, fortunately, blessed with good weather.

They are residing at the McDonald's Century Farm in Green Valley, where Ron is the fifth generation of McDonalds to farm at this homestead.

Nobody's perfect and on that note I would like you to know that I made a terrible mistake in last week's column. The annual Craft Show and Bake Sale which is to be held at the Community Centre is scheduled for Nov. 17 and not the 24th. My apologies to everyone.

From now on, I would like to feature a little piece of our village's history in this column about once a month, beginning with Nell's General Store.

In 1907 D. T. Cresswell purchased the Fould's store from a tailor named Frank Russell and one of his store clerks George McLaughlin, for his son C. W. Cresswell (Willy). According to Mr. Rhodes Grant's book ''Horse and Buggy Days in Martintown,'' Willy Cresswell successfully operated his store. D. T. Cresswell gave his customers a complimentary gift. He had some tin match boxes made by one of the area tinsmiths, or so we think, and had them inscribed with these words ''Buy your flour and cattle feed with other goods from D. T. Cresswell, Martintown, Ontario.'' I know of one of these black tin match boxes which sits in Nell's store. As I held it in my hand I wondered how many of these boxes were in circulation at that time. My thoughts went back to those days, and I tried to picture the atmosphere in the store at that particular time. Children buying candy for a penny, ladies looking at the different printed dress fabrics and the men discussing the price of feed.

If you have one of these boxes, I would like to hear from you. It's not that they are worth a lot money-wise but to their owners, they might be worth their weight in gold as far as sentimental value goes. It would be nice to know how many are still in existence.

Do you have a piece of Martintown's past that you would like to share with us and the story behind the object? If so, call me and we can arrange to meet.

Halloween, although it is a Christian observance which was established in the 7th century A.D, many of its customs and superstitions are thousands of years old. A number of Halloween superstitions about ghosts and evil spirits developed from the ancient Druid festival of Samhain (''summer's end) celebrated in the British Isles. During the festival the spirits of the dead were supposed to return to the homes of their kinsmen. Great fires were lighted to guide them and to ward off the evil spirits roaming the countryside. Traditional Halloween fires were still being lighted in Scotland as late as the 19th century.

With the development of the Roman Catholic Church, Christian Halloween customs were mingled with pagan traditions. During the Middle Ages, bonfires were lighted as protection against evil spirits. Witches were expected to appear, riding on broomsticks to their witches' Sabbaths. According to Irish tradition the term ''jack-o-lantern'' was derived from a man named Jack, who was condemned to walk the earth carrying a lantern until Judgment Day. The Halloween trick ot treat is also derived from Ireland, where in the 17th century the poor begged for money to buy things for a feast. Both pagan and Christian Halloween customs are described by the famous poet Robert Burns in his poem ''Halloween.'' Nowadays it is mostly a non-religious holiday.

A little message to all trick or treaters who will be on the road this coming Halloween night; remember to wear white or a color that can be seen in the dark and stick to one side of the road, then go to the other side. Do not go it alone, bring a friend or an adult along with you. Play it safe and get home safe. Have a good time and may all your visiting spirits be good ones. And so concludes another week of news.

In Memoriam

LOBB — In loving memory of a dear father, Aurèle, who passed away six years ago — October 26, 1984.
A bouquet of carnations just for you,
Sprinkle with teardrops instead of dew;
And in the centre a forget-me-not,
To let you know we haven't forgot.
Time may wipe out many things,
But this it will wipe out never,
The memory of the happy days,
When we were all together.
With tears in our eyes and an ache in our hearts,
They say that time heals everything,
But I know it isn't so,
Because it hurts as much today,
As it did six years ago.
—Sadly missed by daughter Thérèse Lalonde. 43-1p

LOBB — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Aurèle, who passed away October 26, 1984.
Alone but never quite alone
I face an empty chair
But sometimes in silence
I imagine you are there.
My husband for so many years
No longer here with me,
And yet in some mysterious way
You keep me company.
It's so strange that those we need
And those we love the best
Are just the one God called away
And took him to rest.
But everytime we think of Dad
We seem to hear God say
Have faith and trust my promise
You'll meet again some day.
—Sadly missed and loved always, wife Victoria and family. 43-1p

LEFEBVRE — In memory of a dear son, Pierre, who passed away October 25, 1983.
Seven years have passed, dear son,
Since you were called away;
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day,
You suffered much, you murmured not,
We watched you day by day;
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away.
—Sadly remembered by Mom and Dad, Jacques Jr. and Diane. 43-1p

SCHAREINA — In loving memory of our son and brother Lawrence Schareina, who passed away two years ago Oct. 22, 1988.
The things we feel so deeply Lawrence
Are the hardest things to say
We, your family loved you in a very special way.
They say memories are golden
Well maybe this is true.
We never wanted memories Lawrence
We only wanted you.
If only tears could build a stairway
And heartaches make a lane
We'd walk the path to heaven Lawrence
And bring you back again.
Your smile Lawrence has gone forever
And your hand we cannot touch
We are left with memories
Of the one we loved so much.
Always easy remembered and sadly missed by Mom, Dad and brother Lothar. 43-1p

LOBB — In loving memory of a dear father, father-in-law, and grandpa Aurèle who passed away six years ago October 26, 1984.
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember.
None on earth can take your place
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Ella, Claude and grandsons. 43-1p

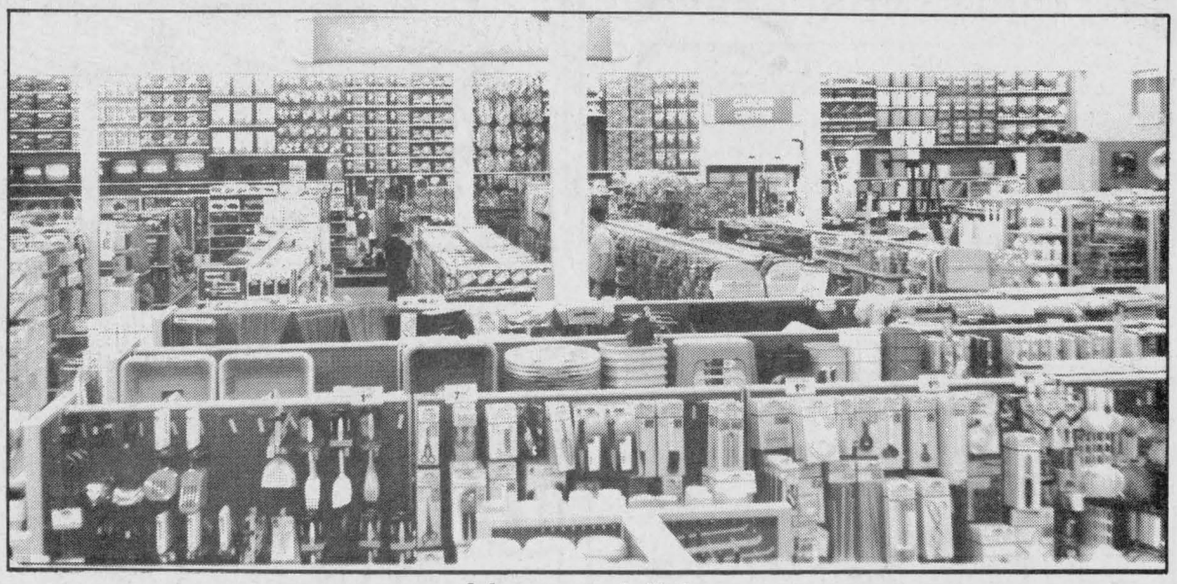
GRAND OPENING!



New addition

Alexandria Canadian Tire unveiled its expanded seasonal centre Tuesday. The new section will make shopping more pleasant for customers as shelves have been lowered and aisles have been widened.

Officially opened

The Canadian Tire store officially opened its expanded facility with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Tuesday. Cutting the ribbon is Jeanette Mercier, mother of store owner Yvan Mercier. Also taking part in the ceremony are, left, store manager Gilles Secours, employee Rita Seguin, Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette, Mr. Mercier and employee Annette Sauvé.

CANADIAN TIRE EXPANSION MAKES SHOPPING MORE PLEASANT

Shoppers will find shopping more pleasant with the new expanded facility at the Alexandria Canadian Tire store on Main Street South.

The complete retail facility area now covers 9,000 square feet, as compared to the previous 5,600 square feet.

Customers will notice that products will be easier to locate in the store.

''The shelves have been lowered and the aisles are wider which should make shopping more pleasant for everyone,'' says Store Manager Gilles Secours.

Shoppers will also notice a new concept in product advertising. Shelves adjacent to walls will be higher, making products more visible.

''We've expanded our line of products with the extra room created by these higher shelves. Customers will see the products when they walk in the store,'' added Mr. Secours.

The official ribbon-cutting ceremony of the expanded facility was held Tuesday. Mr. Yvan Mercier, who purchased the business last February from previous owner Claude L'Heureux, says customers can expect the same courteous treatment as in the past.

While there are a few tiny details left in the completion of the new facility, it won't deter customers from shopping.

''I'd like to thank all our customers for their patience during our construction period and we look forward to their continued patronage. We hope the new renovations will make shopping more pleasant for everyone,'' said Mr. Secours.

CANADIAN TIRE DONATES PUMPKINS FOR LIONS CLUB WEEKEND BLITZ!

If Halloween is your bag of tricks, Canadian Tire is the place to be this coming weekend.

The Alexandria Lions Club, thanks to a donation of 1,000 pumpkins by the local store, will be giving them away to shoppers Friday evening and Saturday from 9 a.m. until store closing. Though there is no charge, Lions Club members will greatly appreciate a donation after people receive their pumpkins. Proceeds raised from this event will go towards the Alexandria Lions Club's annual Christmas basket fund.
