HEAVY MACHINERY MOVED IN—Stored just north of the CPR tracks at Green Valley are rows and rows of heavy equipment ready to start on the new Inter-provincial pipeline scheduled to cross through Charlottenburgh and Lancaster. Pipeline officials are busy this week moving it out to the proposed sites.

Outreach grant approved for resource centre in Alexandria

A grant of $22,818 has been approved for a human resource centre in Alexandria. The grant which will suffice until the end of the fiscal year on March 31st was welcome news to members of Glengarry Inter-Agency who have been working in support of this project for some months.

Chairman of Inter-Agency, Chief Sylvio Cleroux, Eugene Bergeron and Prudence Malcolmson presented the submission in Toronto. Accompanying them were John Santini, manager of Manpower in Ottawa and Richard Hickerson of the special projects division.

Mr. Hickerson will be working in close liaison with the office here, once it is established. Inter-Agency hope to have their workers on strength by September 15. Three people are needed for the office and 36 applications have already been received for the positions.

"The success of the project will depend on the co-operation of employers in the area and the ability of the outreach personnel to relate to those in need," suggest Chief Cleroux.

The office will be located upstairs in the police building, next to the library.

Supervision ends at park here

There will be no more swim supervision at the park after September 1st, advises Recreation Director Mike Depratto. Parents take note.

Youth charged in two entries

A local youth and a juvenile have been charged as the result of two minor incidents over the weekend. The soft drink machine in front of the Cosy Inn was broken open and its money content taken at 1 a.m. Monday. That same night six loaves of bread were taken from Lanthier's bakery.

As a result of Constable Latreille's investigation the youth appeared in court Monday when he was given a conditional discharge. He was placed on six months probation and must make restitution for damage to the machine. The juvenile will appear later.

Council seeking LIP grant of $150,000 for new arena

Town council committed itself to contributing $40,000 in 1976 for construction of an arena community centre and at last week's meeting also authorized application for a $150,000 grant under the Local Initiatives Program.

The mayor and clerk were authorized to sign the application to Canada Manpower for the grant and to negotiate any other documents required for other applications for grants and the administration of the construction of the proposed area community centre.

The resolution committing council to the arena plan reads as follows:

Whereas—The Township of Lochiel

1—has by resolution dated July 25, 1975 agreed to contribute $25,000 in 1976 for construction purposes,

2—Share in the ownership and cost of operation at a rate of 25%,

3—Provide three representatives for the 10 member management board.

And Whereas—The Township of Lancaster has by Resolution #9, dated August 6, 1975, agreed to

1—Contribute $25,000 in 1976 for construction purposes,

2—Share in the ownership and cost of operation at a rate of 25%,

3—Provide three representatives to the 10 member management board.

And Whereas—The Township of Kenyon will be approached to:

1—Contribute $10,000 in 1976 for construction purposes,

2—Share in the ownership and cost of operation at a rate of 10%,

3—Provide one representative to the 10 member management board.

Now Therefore—It is resolved that the Town of Alexandria will contribute $40,000 in 1976 towards the cost of the construction of an Area Community Centre and to share in the ownership and the cost of operation at a rate of 40% of the operating cost and that our municipality be represented by three members on the 10 member management board.

2—That the Town absorb the cost of the installation of the water and sewer services to the proposed arena.

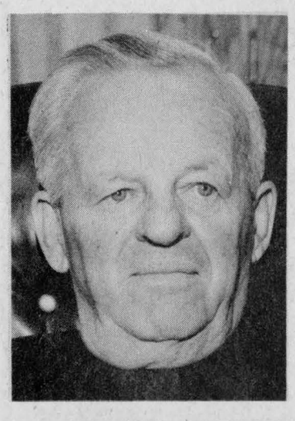
3—That the Town absorb all or any part of the percentage of the contribution and cost of operation not undertaken by the Township of Kenyon provided that Alexandria's representation be increased from three to four members.

Representatives of Alexandria, Lancaster and Lochiel councils will meet next Tuesday with Kenyon Township council to further discuss possibility of that municipality sharing in the proposed arena.

The 10 man board is to be named by Sept. 15th and Alexandria's representatives, named last Tuesday, are Reeve Jean Paul Touchette, Councillor Euclid St. Denis and Robert Leroux.

New clergy appointments announced in diocese front

The bishop of the Diocese of Alexandria, the Most Reverend Eugene P. LaRocque, D.D., announces the following clergy appointments:



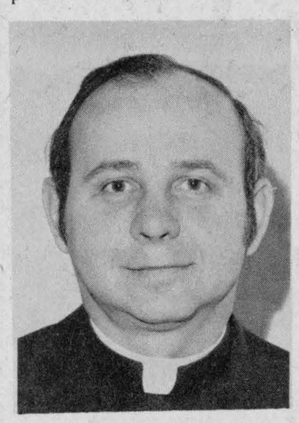
REV. FRANCIS E. LEFEBVRE

Rev. Francis E. Lefebvre, presently working as chaplain at Sacred Heart Juvenate in Summerstown, becomes chaplain at St. Joseph Villa in Cornwall. Father Lefebvre is a former pastor of St. Joseph's parish in Lancaster, and Holy Cross and St. Francis de Sales parishes in Cornwall. Father Lefebvre has been chaplain in Summerstown since 1968.

Rev. Denis Laurier, c.s.v., presently associate pastor at Saint Felix de Valois parish in Cornwall, replaces Rev. Gilles Malchelosse as pastor. Father Malchelosse has been assigned new duties in pastoral work within the Viatorian order. Father Laurier is a native of Lachenaie, Que. He has been a member of the pastoral team at Saint Felix de Valois parish since 1972.

A Newman House and Student Centre on the campus of St. Lawrence College and the future campus of a University-College complex has been confided to the priestly care of Father Gary Ostler, experienced in youth work and a qualified counsellor. Father Ostler has served as Associate Pastor at Nativity and St. Francis de Sales parishes in Cornwall and has been on staff, part-time, at St. Lawrence College. He will continue to be chaplain at Ecole Secondaire La Citadelle. Father Ostler will also continue as Director of Public Relations with the diocese of Alexandria.

Rev. Laurier Rivet, has been appointed full-time archivist for the diocese of Alexandria and will reside at Christ the King parish in Cornwall. Father Rivet returns to the diocese following two years of studies at the University of Ottawa. He is a former associate pastor at Holy Cross and Nativity parishes in Cornwall.



REV. GORDON VILLENEUVE

Rev. Gordon Villeneuve, has been appointed chaplain at Sacred Heart Juvenate in Summerstown replacing Father Lefebvre. Father Villeneuve has been chaplain at St. Joseph Villa since 1972. He is a former pastor at Maxville, Curry Hill, Martintown, and in Cornwall, at St. Francis de Sales and St. John Bosco parishes.

37 planes here for fly-in breakfast served to 875

Alexandria's airfield was a "hum" of activity last Sunday as the crowd exceeded all expectations for the third annual fly-in and breakfast of the Alexandria Flying Club.

Thirty-seven planes flew in for the event and officials considered that good as the weather was "unflyable" fifty miles to the west, due to low ceiling and visibility. A good number were here from Montreal, Ottawa, St. Lazare, Iroquois and closer points, and a brief airshow was staged in the afternoon.

While there are more than 100 shareholders in the club there are about 12 active flyers and these officials were happy to have the help of many volunteers to serve breakfast; 875 were served, 300 more than last year.

The only mishap of the day occurred when a light on the instrument panel of one of the planes indicated that the undercarriage was down before the wheels were fully in place to land. However, the damage was slight and the plane was repaired sufficiently to be flown home.

Official opening OHC apartments

The official opening ceremonies of the Senior Citizen apartments located at 113 Lochiel St. West in Alexandria, will take place on Wednesday, September 10th, at 11 a.m.

Hon. Donald Irvine, Minister of Housing, will officiate at the project of the Ontario Housing Corporation.

Girls saw bank robbery

Two young Alexandria girls got a first hand look at the bank robbery in Cornwall last week while shopping in the Brookdale Mall.

Madeline Huot, 13, and Elizabeth Maclaren, 11, had stopped for a drink at the fountain in the mall just outside the bank when they noticed a man jumping over the counter in the bank.

"That isn't a very polite way to get behind a counter" they commented, and then they noticed the mask on the man and saw him dumping the cash into a bag.

That was enough to see, they decided and beat it into the Dominion Store for safety. "We were really scared," they said, and we understand they are not anxious to be part of any more drama of that sort.

Minor injuries in two accidents

Five people suffered minor injuries in two weekend accidents, according to an OPP report.

Clifford Nixon and two daughters, Donna and Ann of Cornwall, were treated for minor injuries at Glengarry Memorial Hospital after their car was ditched at McCrimmon, at 11 p.m., Sunday. The vehicle was southbound when it skidded on the curve and left Highway 34.

Two cars were involved in the second accident near Curry Hill at the intersection of County Roads 17 and 23. A 1970 Pontiac driven by Alexandras Nohos of Montreal, was struck by the car of Edmond Desrosiers of Cornwall.

Dinah Contakos, 35, and Yvonne Desrosiers, 61, were taken to hospital in Cornwall for treatment.

Jailed for Second offence

Appearing in court here for the second time on a charge of driving while impaired, a Lancaster man was sentenced to 14 days in jail and his licence was suspended for a year. Six other cases of impaired driving were on the court calendar.

Charged with careless driving, a local man pleaded guilty and was fined $100. The charge followed an accident on Bishop St. when his car struck a parked vehicle.

G.F.A. officials protest levy

Incensed at the recent doubling of levies charged to dairymen producing industrial milk, officers of the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture last week sent a telegram of protest to Hon. Eugene Whelan, federal minister of agriculture.

Over the name of Donald Thomson, Martintown, federation president, the area farm group sent this message to Mr. Whelan:

"Dairy farmers in Glengarry County extremely concerned about the levy on within market share quota deliveries of manufacturing milk being increased from 45c to 90c per hundred pounds of milk. Estimated loss to County farmers in one year amounts to approximately one half million dollars. Our position is farmers cannot accept the increased levy because input costs are steadily rising."

Increase in the levy from 45 cents to 90 cents will result in economic distress for all dairymen, Mr. Thomson told the News, Friday, following the Thursday night executive meeting of the federation officers. Our position is that farmers cannot absorb an increased levy because of steadily rising costs of milk production, stated the federation president. He noted Glengarry dairymen are now paying $456,000 and the levy will probably reach a million dollars in a full year at the higher rate.

Mr. Thomson maintained the doubling of the levy on producers of powdered skim milk will only hurt the farmers affected.

He said although area farmers knew of the levy imposition since July 1st, this is the first time Glengarry farmers have had a chance to voice disapproval to

Schools re-open

All the kiddies in the area will be trekking back to school on Tuesday as high schools and elementary schools all open for business.

Alexandria firemen's tanker truck saved barn and home

Alexandria firemen who responded to a call near Glen Roy on Wednesday were able to save a barn which had caught on fire on the property of R. Milmine.

Mrs. Milmine called the fire department when the children reported that fire had broken out in the barn. With the help of a neighbour, Lionel Carriere, she was able to control the flames until firemen arrived. Damage was not extensive.

Mr. Milmine was home at the time Encased in a body cast following a recent accident, he was unable to help.

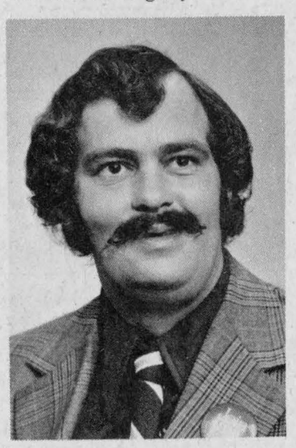
Water in the Alexandria tanker helped save the home of Pascal Parillo at Bainsville, Sunday night. Fire had caught in the wall of the house and when Lancaster firemen arrived they found no water with which to fight the blaze. They managed to control the flames while the Alexandria truck was bringing the needed water.

The brigade was called to Dalkeith at noon Saturday when fire in a hay field got out of control. The blaze at Bill Cuthbert's was prevented from spreading to the home area.

Again on Saturday firemen controlled a brush fire at the corner of Macdonald Blvd. and Kincardine.

Gerald Lussier NDP candidate

Gerald Lussier, a salesman for Consolidated Foods Ltd will be the New Democratic Party's standard-bearer for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.



GERALD LUSSIER

The 35 year old Martintown resident was selected at a nomination meeting last Thursday night at the Legion Hall in Alexandria. The only other nominee for the position was Rene Benoit.

Only a handful of people turned out for the nomination. Organizers said this was due to the vacation season and rainy weather.

"This riding needs a young candidate," Mr. Lussier stated, "my two opponents have already passed their prime." His reference was to Liberal candidate Peter Manley and Conservative candidate Osie Villeneuve.

The problem facing the younger people in the riding, especially housing and the shortage of senior citizens' homes in the riding were prime concerns, Mr. Lussier said, as he addressed the gathering. He also felt economic and industrial development should be spread around eastern Ontario instead of being congested in the Toronto area.

Mr. Lussier intends to canvass door to door as much as possible, and promises a hard fought campaign.

Speaking in support of Lussier, George Samis, Cornwall riding incumbent MPP told supporters he was optimistic about an election victory here on September 18th.

In criticizing the Tory government, he stressed their attempt to distract voters by "goodies" at election time, their failure to support small business and the farming industry.

"The riding needs to take a chance on the New Democratic Party," he stated.

Committee room open for election

Mrs. Helen Kennedy of Williamstown, heads the group of volunteers who are staffing the local headquarters of the Progressive Conservative party during the election campaign. The phone number is 525-3160 and the location, the former Maple Leaf Dairy building on Main St. North.

Pierre Aubry will be in charge of the Liberal committee rooms, expected to be open Wednesday in the former Aime Lalonde food market, Main St.

Aubry heads Liberal team

Campaign strategy dominated the latest planning meeting of the SD & G Liberal Association executive meeting. The Liberal candidate, Peter Manley, reported interest growing throughout the new riding in the forthcoming election.

Advertising budgets were discussed, with the decision made to use the local weekly newspapers for the bulk of the expenditure.

The roster of officers of the association was filled as follows:

G. G. Aubry, Alexandria, president; Campbell Fraser, Alexandria, secretary and chief financial officer; Mel Vice, Winchester, campaign coordinator.

County coordinators working with Mr. Vice will be Gerard Massie, Alexandria for Glengarry; Lynden Hough, Finch for Stormont and Mahlon Zeron, Iroquois, for Dundas. Associated with them will be Mrs. Lillian Allison and Mrs. Lynden Hough as ladies' coordinators. Publicity chairman is H. Keith Graham, Chesterville.

Cornwall bank robbery suspects captured at Bridge End

A road-block manned by Lancaster Provincial Police Constables Chris McDonell and Hugh McClements proved to be the end of the line for three men suspected of robbing a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in the Brookdale Plaza at Cornwall last Thursday. Amount taken was $9,294.

The blockade was at the Bridge End intersection of County Roads 18 and 23, about three miles east of North Lancaster.

Taken into custody were Paul Deguire, 24, Andre Desnoyers, 26, both of Chomedy, Que., and Jacques Cote, 31, of Montreal. The three face charges of armed robbery, auto theft and possession of stolen licence plates.

Recovered in the yellow Mercury Bobcat the trio was travelling in was $9,294 in a blue denim bag, three masks, two revolvers and a sub-machine gun.

The suspects were captured at 4:30 p.m., two and a half hours after the robbery. They put up no resistance to arrest, reported Sergeant Roy Gordon of the Lancaster detachment.

After being questioned at Lancaster they were transferred to Cornwall Police Headquarters.

Thursday's sequence of events began at 1:49 p.m. when three men entered the bank from the mall's parking lot entrance. While two took up positions at the bank's two entrances a third man leaped over the counter and scooped money from the tills.

Upon leaving the bank, Insp. Riviere said, the bandits drove to the Brewer's Retail parking lot at Ninth and Sydney Sts. where they switched cars. The car initially used in the robbery, a dark green Oldsmobile, was reported stolen from Chomedy, Que., and a set of Ontario licence plates found on the car were reported stolen from the Courtalds (Canada) parking lot.

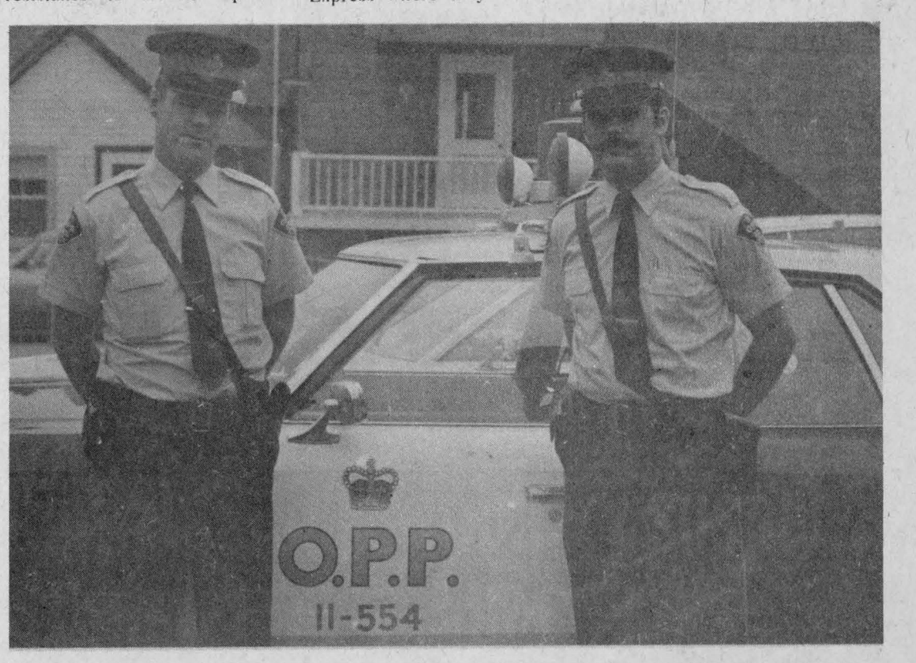
After switching to a yellow Mercury Bobcat, the inspector said the bandits "drove across the street to Jumbo Motor Express where they were seen changing drivers by employee Vianney Bissonnette who noted the car's licence number and called police.

OPP roadblocks were set up as far west as Brockville and as far north as Ottawa, as well as to the east of the city as far as the Ontario-Quebec border. City police and OPP officers manned roadblocks at all major arteries leading in and out of the city.

Sgt. Gordon said police learned that the suspects left the city on Highway 401, driving east toward Quebec and turned off at the Curry Hill interchange after spotting a roadblock.

He said the men then proceeded south on Highway 2 where they spotted another roadblock, turned down toward the cottage area along the Lake St. Francis shoreline and tried unsuccessfully to steal a boat.

The sergeant said the men got back in their car and went north this time on the Curry Hill road where they were eventually captured at the junction of County Road 23 and 18.



LOCAL MEN FOIL GETAWAY—Constable Chris McDonell (left) and Constable Hugh McClements set up the two-man road-block which foiled the getaway of the three armed men suspected of robbing the Bank of Nova Scotia in the Brookdale Plaza in Cornwall last Thursday afternoon. The OPP officers were posted at the intersection of County Roads 18 and 23. The suspects, caught redhanded with the stolen goods and three weapons, offered no resistance. —Photo by Barry MacDonald

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

At this time of year there are varied signs that summer is on the wane. For instance the C.N.E. and the Ottawa Ex. Hay fever victims giving golden rod a wide berth. The pickling aroma seeping out of kitchen windows. But the real clincher, locally, is the soccer and softball finals.

On Monday evening we attended a double bill. First the 2-1 squeaker win as Alexandria Building Supplies (ABS) eliminated Bergeron and Hope (B&H) from further softball play. Then we whipped the Olds along to the Father Gauthier soccer field and saw Greenfield win the Glengarry Championship as they hung a 3-0 horse collar on Lochiel, their third straight win in the best of five final.

The weather was ideal and a better than average crowd at both games. It has taken many years of hard work and a lot of money to lift Ourtown's ball diamond from a foot below sea level, (well, pond level anyway) and transform the entire setting into a top bracket class for players and fans.

This semi-final windup was well played and a pitchers' duel to the last out. In the bottom of the second B&H's Pat Killoran faltered slightly on the mound and two runs were scored when Mike Vaillancourt and Guy Depratto crossed the plate. Then in the top of the fourth B&H rallied to score a single by the combined work of the Lajoie freres, Roch and Robert. In the sixth B&H had the tieing run on first when Pat Killoran singled after the New Brunswick moose, John Cormier whiffed. Killoran in a burst of speed broke for second on the next play but the ump camp up with the thumb to end the scoring threat.

In the top of the seventh B&H had to score at least a tieing run or it was curtains for 1975. ABS hurler, Serge Vaillancourt, was in complete command. He forced Roch Lajoie to pop up and out. Then Gene Bergeron went down swinging. Jacques Trottier waited out a walk and once again the tieing run was on first. There is an old ball axiom that you can't hit what you can't see and there was the ball game and the series for ABS as Jean Marc Girard struck out.

Somewhere in the Good Book scripture says, "And the last shall be first." That is a fitting way to hail the 1975 Glen's soccer champs. Greenfield barely made the play-offs. However, they picked up momentum in the semi-final ousting Alexandria. Lochiel were the surprising spoilers side tracking Pine Grove; however, in the finals they found Greenfield a much stronger team, both ways, than they and many fans expected.

Greenfield won the first game in Lochiel 1-0, and it is always the big one to win the opener away from home. Then obviously fired up, the Kenyon eleven won game two at home 3-1. On Monday evening Russell Raymond's crew held the edge in the first half. Gave up considerable ground to Lochiel early in the second but goalie Wensink kept them in the game. At the half-way mark a scramble developed in front of the Lochiel goal. The ball bounced off a Lochiel defender into the net and Wayne Cameron was credited with Greenfield's first score. Five minutes later Jackie McLean really belted the ball from the full back zone into the open down field area. Donnie Morris was away with the kick like Al's Johnny Rogers on a punt return. The Loyola hockey star made no mistake in close, as he hit the hemp and Greenfield were two goals up.

Lochiel came right back but the clock was running out when Dale MacDonald cut in from the left touch line, toed the ball neatly around the last Lochiel defender and scored the final goal. Fine sportsmanship was on display after the final whistle as the players lined up to exchange handshakes. A great finale to a fine successful season.

Hither and Yon. One of the Glen's most ardent community boosters, John M. Kennedy was a first time visitor to the Park ball diamond Monday evening. John, an experienced and knowledgeable sportsman was greatly impressed . . . ditto our holiday guest this week and our Cornwall scout Rory McCormick.

Softball commissioner Mike (Barry Khun) Barbara pleased with the crowd mark and coin of the realm . . . Commissioner Mike expects attendance records to fall starting this Thursday evening when Monkland meets ABS in the first of the finals . . . Mike how about giving the fans a bit of Washington, D.C. baseball dignity by having Ourtown's Senate Speaker throw out the first ball . . . and if you need a couple of stand-by umps, Mike, call on Monkland's Cliff Britton and Moose Creek's Gerald Emberg . . . both on the pudgy side but like all veterans they'll tell you they never called a wrong one.

At times this writer has been caustic about rough play in Glen's soccer and we still think justifiably so . . . now what a pleasant paragraph to write and say how much the fans enjoyed Monday's final . . . that was soccer as it should be played . . . watch for bigger crowds next season. Among the Greenfield fans enjoying the win were a couple of 50-year-ago veterans, John D. (Johnny Dan) McLean and Moose Creek's Morris Villeneuve . . . we were recalling how Greenfield was then an "expansion" club compared to the power laden teams from Pine Grove, Laggan, McCrimmon, Dunvegan and Maxville. Greenfield's goalie Wensink in the first half was booting 60-70 yarders like Argos' Big Zee thus keeping the pressure on Lochiel . . . it would be unfair to single out top players on either team as both squads gave a fine display of team effort . . . what more can be said . . . now fans show your appreciation by lining up for tickets to the annual soccer banquet and awards Saturday night of next week in Sacred Heart Parish Hall, Alexandria . . . more anon.

J. T. Hay booted four converts and a single point on a wide field goal try last Saturday evening to assist Ottawa Sooners edge Scarborough Rams 29-28. Ottawa are tied with the Rams and Verdun for first place. Wasn't that a pleasant surprise to see Ivan MacMillan in the Regina lineup on Sunday against Ottawa . . . if some fans ar still wondering how come this is, Sask. Roughrider's placement kicker, Jack Abendschan, put the squeeze on Regina for a hike in pay . . . well you just don't do those things at this time of year—Roughrider's GM promptly suspended Abendschan, got on the phone to Ivan who in turn got on a plane then had a perfect day with the educated toe, two field goals and a convert for seven points . . . Sports Ed. (Ottawa Citizen) Jack Koffman says, "Ivan jumps up three times for a field goal and once for a convert."

History is repeating in Ottawa . . . remember when Russ Jackson bypassed a Rhodes scholarship to play qb for Riders . . . and a brush cut youngster with a peach fuzz beard, Ron Lancaster, was also bidding for the qb slot . . . and now it's nimble footed scrambler Condredge Holloway vs Tom Clements . . . wouldn't Russ Jackson be happy with either one piloting his Argos.

And do you remember one July first Park opening when RCAF Pilot Jack MacDonald (John Joe the Blue Room) thrilled the crowd with his water ski flying jump act like the Batman of the funnies . . . well a San Diego scout tells us that recently a 12-year-old youngster from L.A. literally stole the show at a recent water ski competition . . . and this promising novice is none other than Sean MacDonald, son of the same Jack MacDonald who calls Ourtown his birthplace.

Flower show at Martintown featured keen competion

Martintown and District Horticultural Society held its annual flower show in the hall of St. William's Church recently.

Mrs. Sadie O'Keefe, with a record number of 81 points, was the winner of the T. Eaton trophy. The Simpson-Sears prize for the second highest number of points in all classes was won by Mrs. Verna McDiarmid. Mrs. Harriet Christie was in charge of arrangements for the flower show and prizes were arranged by Mrs. Allison Murray.

I. W. McLachlin, Horticultural technician of the Kemptville College of Agriculture, was judge of the exhibits.

Judge of the lawn competition was Peter Berges of the Department of Natural Resources, Cornwall. Winners in this section were; village lawns, Mrs. Jean Barton; country lawns; Mrs. Helen McMillan, Mrs. Verna McDermid, Mrs. Marie Seguin; farm lawns; Mrs. Sadie O'Keefe, Mrs. Jean Murray, Mrs. Elizabeth Peters.

Winners of other special prizes were; perennial border—Mrs. O'Keefe, Mrs. Verna McDermid; Hanging basket—Mrs. Peters Mrs.O'Keefe; newest exhibitor with the highest number of points—Mrs. Melba McDermid; all yellow arrangement—Mrs. Allison Murray; arrangement of dried flowers and grains—Mrs. O'Keefe.

Donations for prizes were received from area businessmen and other friends.

Of much interest each year are the exhibits in the junior section. This year work with the children was under the direction of Mrs. Onagh Ross. This section is in two divisions, junior and senior. The members cared for flowers and garden plots throughout the summer. These were judged by Mrs. Nancy Colbourne. Winners were; junior division; Sandra Murray, Judy Van Loon, Sandra and Glenn Ross, equal, Senior division, Bea de Haas, Anne Van Loon, Marlene Marray.

Prizes awarded in the children's section were; Seniors, Cosmos, Sherry Disotell, Marlene Murray, Arthur Murray; gladiolus, Anne Van Loon, Sherry Disotell, Bea De Haas; Zinnias, Tracy Van Loon, Leila Jalkanen, Anne van Loon. Bachelor buttons, Bea de Haas, Arthur Buckland and Marlene Murray; French marigolds; Leila, Marlene, Andy McCuaig; watermelon, Sherry, Bea, Anne; tomatoes, Marlene, Andy, Anne; seed pictures, Bea, Anne, Andy Buckland; poster, Tracy, Marlene, Anne.

Junior division; Cosmos, Glenn Ross, Linda Disotell, Judy Van Loon; Petunias, Sandra Ross; Tomatoes; Judy, Melva Jalkanen, Sandra Murray.

Carrots; Judy, Sandra Murray, Cindy Disotell; Creature made from fruit or vegetable, Sandra Murray, Judy, Trudy Buckland; Potted plant, Glenn, Judy, Linda; Wild flower arrangements, Sandra Murray, Melva, Judy.

Members of the Society and interested friends gathered at the hall in the evening to view the exhibits. Mrs. Peters, president of the society, welcomed all present, congratulated the winners and thanked all who participated in the show. Mrs. Christie awarded the prizes, assisted by Mrs. Marquette and Mrs. Ross.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Recent visitors with Mrs. William J. MacLeod of Peter St., were Mr. and Mrs. Kovacs, Rebecca, and Matthew of Parry Sound, Miss Ruth Hawkrigg of Bobcaygeon, and Mrs. Julian MacDonald of Toronto.

The Maxville Public Library has re-opened after a short summer holiday . . . come in and find a new book to read.

Mrs. Oliver MacRae of Toronto is spending a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Neil D. MacRae.

Mrs. C. B. McDermid had Mrs. George Batson and Miss Muriel McDermid of Toronto visiting her for a few days. Sunday callers with Mrs. McDermid were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houston, Mark, Michael, and Shannon, of Windsor.

Guest preacher this Sunday in the Maxville United Church will be Rev. Fred Cappuccino of Lochaven Farm, Baltics Corners.

Mrs. Keith MacDougall has returned home from a three-week holiday touring Norther Ontario and visiting relatives in the Muskoka Lakes district.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Casey and Leslie spent a few days in Worcester, Mass., visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Shields went to Burlington for the week-end.

The Camerons, Dewars and Moffats had a get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cumming on Sunday. It was the 54th wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cameron and a farewell party for Miss E. J. Dewar, Roy Cameron, Bruce and Ann who are returning to their home in Edmonton, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Phillips, Brian and Heather of Windsor, spent a week with his mother, Mrs. Carl Murray and Mr. Murray. Mrs. Murray accompanied Brian and Heather back to Windsor and spent a week visiting relatives and friends in Windsor, London, Strathroy and Rock Glen.

CRAFT SHOW IN MUSEUM AT DUNVEGAN

The largest crowd of the summer season arrived at the Glengarry Scottish Museum in Dunvegan last Sunday for an informal crafts show and demonstration. Over a hundred visitors watched Peter Cousineau make a final batch of cheese in the little red cheese factory . . . and eagerly bought samples of local cheese and curds.

Mrs. Len Bender of Monkland, assisted by Mrs. Bilmer, set up her quilting frames in the big barn and gave a fascinating demonstration of this time-honored craft. Illustrating her work were several of her own colorful designs including a first prize entry from Avonmore fair.

Also on display in the barn were several antique quilts, some textiles from the museum's own collection, and on special loan for the day half a dozen examples of early weaving . . . in particular some of the beautiful bedspreads that were made by John Dickson, village weaver in the late 1800's.

Holding forth in the entrance room of the museum was Rhodes Grant of Martintown with his wonderful collection of carvings . . . Scottish soldiers charging into battles, miniature buildings, wee mice on a floor . . . an amazing variety of figures illustrating the ancient art of woodcarving.

The kitchen of the old inn looked much as it must have done one hundred years ago, with a spinner, Mrs. Keith Franklin, working away with a little wheel . . . in between meals and household chores getting a bit of wool ready for the winter's socks and mitts.

The old loom in the barn proving rather tempermental, Mrs. Louise Walker had a small table loom set up on the picnic bench where she made a length of catalan, the kind of multi-colored rag mat the pioneers used to brighten their homes.

This was the last major event at the Dunvegan museum for this season, but the museum will be open every weekend until Thanksgiving with the curator, Miss Becky Clements, and her assistant, Miss Darlene MacLennan, ready to welcome visitors to the old building . . . and Willie Clark and Russell Morrison are generally busy in the barn explaining and showing off the large collection of early farm machinery and tools.

Retired weekly newspaper editor now interested in art

Art is the latest form of communication adopted by G. Cecil Day, former publisher of The Advance, a weekly newspaper in Liverpool, Nova Scotia, and a past president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

After a full career in the newspaper business, Mr. Day found that retirement left him with some time to fill. He launched himself into painting at his winter home in Scottsdale, Arizona.

"That was a couple of years ago, when I was 75," he said. "I was wondering what to do one day and saw a newspaper ad for oil painting classes. I figured I'd give it a try."

The try was quite successful. He found he had talent for painting and after learning some of the basic techniques of brush and palette knife he's gone on to do a wide variety of still life, scenes, landscapes and seascapes.

Mr. Day's paintings are about what he sees in his two abodes. Bright flowers and desert scenery from Arizona contrast with views of the rocky coast of Nova Scotia.

"I think my best painting is one of the Nova Scotian shore near Liverpool with the Atlantic waves washing against the rocks," he said.

Aside from their artistic interests, Mr. Day shares another factor with his oil painting instructor, Sidney Wolf. Both men were afflicted with polio when they were young children. The disease left Mr. Day using a wheelchair. He gave up using crutches a few years ago after slipping in his home.

After achieving a measure of success with oil paints, Mr. Day decided to explore the techniques of acrylics. He found another teacher, Mrs. Gladys Aldridge of Michigan, who also spends her winters in the same apartment block in Arizona.

"Acrylics are much faster than oils," he commented knowledgeably. "They dry in about 20 minutes against weeks for oils."

This past winter, Mr. Day finished eight pictures.

"I have to be in the mood. On some days, I can paint and paint and paint. On others, I won't touch it.

"No, it's not like putting out a weekly newspaper," he laughed. "I had to do that every week whether I was in the mood or not."

Born in Wales in 1898, Mr. Day was stricken with polio when he was three years old. He lost the use of both legs and had the use of his arms seriously impaired. In 1911, the Day family moved to Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Three years later, after regaining full use of his arms, Mr. Day enrolled in a pre-law course at Charlottetown's Prince of Wales College.

"I left after a year because of the expense and decided to get a job," he said. "This was my move into the newspaper business. I started with the Guardian at $3 a week as night news editor and the following year got $6 weekly as linotype operator.

"I had ambitions of becoming a reporter and did some sports writing for the paper. I never bothered to use a typewriter in those days. I wrote the stories on the linotype machine."

His interest in newspapers and his skill as a linotype operator brought Mr. Day to Nova Scotia. In 1916, wanting experience on a daily paper, he went to New Glasgow to work on the Daily News. This was the first of a series of jobs on Nova Scotia papers, both weekly and daily. The Sydney Post Record (now the Cape Breton Post) and the Pictou Advocate were others that used his talents as combination reporter and typesetter.

In 1931, Mr. Day moved to Liverpool to work for The Advance.

"There was a chance of eventually buying into the paper and I decided that's what I wanted," he said. "The chance came in 1936 and I took over the paper. At that time, the circulation was only 700."

It wasn't going to stay there, not with Cec Day in charge. In his years of working for the paper, he'd come to know the town and know the people of the South Shore area. And they knew him.

It was hard work. On the paper he was owner, editor, photographer, photoengraver, reporter, circulation and advertising manager. His efforts paid off. The circulation climbed to more than 5,000 and The Advance was the recipient of several newspaper awards.

The newspaper certainly was a major interest of Mr. Day but not an all-consuming one. He had time for his hobbies of rare books and ship models. This led him to an understanding and appreciation of history, particularly of Liverpool and the South Shore area.

He served a stint on the Liverpool town council. After 33 years with the Kiwanis Club, he resigned and then helped organize the Liverpool Lions Club. From King Lion he became District Governor for Nova Scotia.

"Civic interests and responsibilities are as much a part of a newspaperman's life as his weekly deadlines," Mr. Day said. "I didn't miss any of it."

It was a busy 37 years he spent with The Advance. He sold the paper in June 1968 when he was 70 . . . that's later than the conventional retirement age these days.

"But I still do the odd opinion column for the paper," he said. "I have a great interest in the paper and in the town of Liverpool."

Mr. Day, a past president of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspaper Association and for many years a director of Class A Weeklies of Canada, retains his interest in the trade and next year will be honorary chairman of the national Canadian Community Newspaper Association convention in Halifax. This will bring weekly newspaper editors and publishers from all parts of Canada to this eastern sea-port city. All of them will know of Cec Day, many will have met him in his career as publisher of The Advance.

The delegates will probably regard him as a newspaperman rather than as a painter. But Cec Day usually has some photographic reproductions of his artistic endeavors in his suitcoat pocket. Not many delegates will leave the convention without seeing his explorations in oils and acrylics.

Developer plans mobile home park at Cameron's Point

A Summerstown developer is proposing to set up a mobile home park at Cameron's Point, north of Highway 2, eight miles from Cornwall.

The developer, Roger Daigle told the Charlottenburgh Township council meeting last week he is exploring various possibilities of obtaining grants before proceeding with his plans to set up the park.

He said his initial plans include a park for 100 mobile homes.

The park, he explained, will be set up on a 65-acre plot of land. He said each mobile home would have individual services.

The cost of the investment is not available.

Reeve Adrian Gadbois said the township does not have any mobile park in the municipality.

He said as the council was waiting for its official plan, expected to be ready some time in late September, it could not approve any plans.

Mr. Gadbois assured Mr. Daigle the council would look favorably to his plans once the official plans is received. He also assured the developer the council will have no objections to the proposal provided all government regulations are satisfied.

Christened in church of forefathers

The fifth generation of the Seguin family to be christened in the Round Church, Dalhousie Mills, Peter Gilbert Seguin was baptized there on Sunday August 3rd. He is the son of Lorne and Ellen Seguin of Mississauga.

Grandparents present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. D. Heimillar of Buffalo and Mrs. T. G. Seguin of Fitzroy Harbour.

The baby's grandfather was the late Theodore Seguin of Fitzroy Harbour; his great-grandfather was the late Gilbert Seguin and his great-great-grandfather was Napoleon Dorimere Seguin both of Glen Robertson.

ABS and Monkland in finals to play best of seven series

by Jean Luc Menard

ABS will meet Monkland in the finals on Thursday night. The series will be a best-of-seven. Monkland stepped to the finals by defeating Pizzeria in three straight games but all the games were decided by one run margins. Ronnie Poapst was the most valuable player in that series. ABS advanced to the finals by defeating Bergeron & Hope three games to two. ABS had to come from behind two games to one to win it. Serge Vaillancourt was the most valuable player in this series. Thursday night's starter will be at 7:00 p.m. Results of most recent games were:

Thursday, August 21:

Monkland edged Pizzeria 2-1 thereby eliminating Pizzeria from further action. Monkland took a one run lead when Guy Duperron singled to score Garry Thomas but Pizzeria tied it up when Raymond MacDonald tripled and came home on an infield out. Ronnie Poapst drove in the winning run by tagging a triple after Bruno Lalonde had singled. Gerry Menard picked up the win by allowing four hits and striking out only five. Mike Duperron made a fine catch on a line drive in the first. In the second game, Pat Killoran scored in the seventh to give B&H a 1-0 shutout over ABS and to take a 2-1 lead in the semis. With two outs, Killoran was walked intentionally, then stole second and got to third on an error and finally scored on a wild pitch. Killoran gave up three hits and struck out 12. Both games were interrupted by rain at times.

Sunday, August 24:

ABS won a close one; 5-4 to even up the series at two apiece. B&H were on the scoreboard with two runs after an ABS error in the first but Robert Boisvenue tied up the game when he hit a 2-run inside-the-park homerun in the third. In the fifth, Michel Vaillancourt drove in two more by lobbing a triple over the left fielder but also scored on the same play as a result of a B&H error. In the sixth, Killoran got to third on an error by the centre fielder and then scored on Bob Lajoie's single. Gene Bergeron walked and then Roch Lajoie singled on his brother to close up the gap at one run. With the bases loaded and nobody out, Serge Vaillancourt was able to dispose of the next three batters by getting them to hit infield flies.

Monday, August 25:

ABS edged Bergeron and Hope 2-1 to win the semi-final series. Serge Vaillancourt was credited with the win as he pitched a 2-hitter and struck out nine. ABS scored their runs in the second inning when Michel Menard hit a sacrifice fly to drive in Mike Vaillancourt who had singled and reached third base on a walk to Guy Depratto and a wild pitch. Rejean Menard then drove in what was the winning run with a single. B&H threatened in the fourth when Robert Lajoie led off with a triple followed by Roch Lajoie's rbi single but that was to be the last run scored. Bruno Depratto was impressive as he caught Roch Lajoie and Pat Killoran attempting to steal second and he threw them out both times.

SMILING WINNERS—This happy crew has just claimed top honors in the annual Glengarry Open played Sunday at the Alexandria golf course. On the left, Mrs. Cecile Sabourin with women's low net and Roma Amelotte with men's low net share a trophy. On the right, low gross winners are Mrs. Suzanne Jardine and Emile Hurtubise.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES—New equipment and a summer's training have to be tested and a mock drowning last week at the Alexandria park was the occasion for this. The emergency drill was efficiently executed with firemen arriving on the scene only three minutes after being called. Mouth to mouth resuscitation was applied to the "victim" until the oxygen machine arrived.

N. Lancaster and Lochiel lead in touch football

Results of games played on Sunday, August 24:

North Lancaster 27 Glen Robertson 12

Jean Paul Claude and Bruno Lalonde led the way for North Lancaster as they scored two touchdowns each, while the defense played another strong game.

For Glen Robertson it was Theo Oetelaar and Rene Leduc scoring one touchdown each.

Lochiel 38 Alexandria 19

Alexandria started off strong in this game as they jumped to 19 to 0 lead in the first quarter, on touchdowns by Paul Masson, Herb Malcomson and Denis Massia.

Lochiel came roaring back with 38 points in a row without a reply from Alexandria. Campbell MacGillivray scored two touchdowns for Lochiel while Lynn Morrison, Jerome Poirier, B. J. MacDonald and Bill MacLeod had one each.

Fairways crowded, golfers played Alexandria and Glengarry Opens

Fairways were busy at the Glengarry Golf Course over the weekend as club members and visitors took part in two tourneys.

The Alexandria Invitational was played Saturday when some 75 men competed for valuable prizes donated by Alexandria business people.

Top prize, a complete set of golf clubs, was won by Cliff Rae who took low gross honors with a 79. Ricky Duchesneau was runner-up.

Low net honors went to Ernie Pelley, with Tim Taylor second low net and Rod MacDonald in third place.

Men, women and juniors participated in the Glengarry Open on Sunday and it took a two hole, sudden-death play-off to decide the men's championship.

Emile Hurtubise and David Amelotte shared low gross honors at 80 after 18 holes and Hurtubise won the sudden-death play-off after two holes. Steve Desrosiers was in third spot at 81.

Roma Amelotte took low net honors.

In ladies' play Suzanne Jardine's 91 took low gross honors and Cecile Sabourin had low net.

Michael Crack took low gross honors with a 42 in junior competition. Tied for the runner-up spot were brother Grant Crack and Maurice Bellefeuille. Low net honors were won by Bob Brunet.

Greenfield's number one, won three straight over Lochiel

by Nancy Ann Malkin

All season long the senior soccer league has been a series of surprises and upsets; it was a most unpredictable year.

Now, Greenfield, the team that barely made the play-offs, are champions. Their determination and desire to win made the difference in their comeback.

The first game of the series was disappointing, as was the weather that slowed the game down. Greenfield was able to score early and managed to hold onto their one goal advantage. John Morris booted the goal that gave them a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five series.

Saturday night with the game tied 1-1, Jerome Poirier, Lochiel's goalie, was ousted from the game. Greenfield went on to score two more goals. This defeat was demoralizing for Lochiel but it also gave Greenfield the desire to wrap it up Monday night, which they did. Allan Byers scored twice and Garrett McGillis added a single. Ewen MacLeod notched Lochiel's lone goal.

Monday night the game was threatening to go into overtime until midway through the second half when a miscue by the Lochiel defense put Greenfield ahead 1-0. Minutes later Donnie Morris scored. Lochiel could not present a sustained offensive effort and Dale MacDonald's goal gave Greenfield the 3-0 victory. The play of the Greenfield defense gave them the edge in the game. Congratulations, Champs!

It would not be fitting to close out the season without mentioning Russell Raymond who through his efforts as referee-in-chief kept the league alive. His task was not an easy one.

Women softballers in finals

The Women's Softball League started their finals last week with the Barnstormers 13 and Roadrunners 8 in the opening game.

The previous night saw one of the best games of the year in the semi-final round with Roadrunners and Kenyon Bombers winding up in a tie at the end of the fifth inning. Overtime gave the Roadrunners a two run edge with the game ending 17-15.

The other semi-final game went to the Barnstormers with 15 runs while the Beavers finished with four.

APPROPRIATE PRIZES—Prizes they could put to good use went to the winners of the Alexandria Open Golf Tournament last Saturday. Left, Ricky Duchesneau and Cliff Rae, right, pose with their prizes after coming in with the top scores. Ricky won low net honors and Cliff had the low gross score for the day.

Civil Service group arguing position in election campaign

The Civil Service Association of Ontario has kicked off an election campaign of its own to achieve full political and collective bargaining rights for the province's 52,000 crown employees.

"We will not be acting in a partisan political fashion," said Sean O'Flynn, the union's 1st vice-president. "We wish to place a series of crucial questions before the candidates and to inform our members of each candidate's position on those questions so our members can cast an informed ballot."

All candidates will be asked whether they favor the extension of full political rights to crown employees; whether they would extend the right to bargain over pensions, and whether they would grant the right of union representation to all casual and contract employees of the province.

The political rights issue is the most crucial in the campaign, Mr. O'Flynn said.

He pointed out that crown employees are forbidden by law to canvass on behalf of the candidate of their choice; speak publicly or write speeches on behalf of the candidate of their choice and are even prohibited from writing a letter to the editor on a subject that happens to form part of the election platform of any political party.

He added that crown employees cannot even place a sign on their lawns in support of the candidate of their choice.

"This is both a denial of free speech and a denial of the basic civil liberties available to all other citizens of Ontario," Mr. O'Flynn said.

In the collective bargaining area, Mr. O'Flynn pointed out that crown employees have no right to bargain over pensions, one of the three basic economic items in any private sector collective agreement.

Employees have no say on how much they must contribute to the pension fund, on how that fund of their money is handled or how much the benefits from the fund will be.

He added that as many as 5,000 casual and contract employees of the province, many of whom have held their jobs for years, are allowed no recourse to the grievance procedure should they be unjustly treated nor are they granted the same pension and fringe benefits as the regular complement employees.

Besides demanding answers from the candidates, the union will take its case before the electorate itself through a multi-media advertising campaign utilizing 115 weekly and 12 daily newspapers, Time Magazine and radio stations covering 33 market areas.

It has a network of 48 Political Action Committees stretching right across the province which will conduct campaigns in their own local areas to make the public aware of the injustices perpetrated on crown employees.

Seeks decision on home

In a press release issued Tuesday, Peter Manley, liberal candidate in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry riding, accused the Davis government of playing politics on a decision regarding a nursing home for Dundas County.

Mr. Manley suggested, as stated in an earlier press release, that provincial authorities should meet with local interested groups and especially the "We Care" group at an early date to select a site and to get construction underway without further unnecessary delays. Such a meeting would give all interested parties an opportunity to present their views.

Cornwall Royals to hold training camp at Charlottenburgh arena

The Charlottenburgh arena will be the centre of attraction next week as the Cornwall Royals Junior A hockey club will be holding their training camp there from August 29th to September 6th.

The arena boasts an inch of good hard ice informs the new manager, Brent Daigle. There was some difficulty getting it installed as condensation was heavy but it will be in good shape for the camp, he feels.

The newly hired 25-year-old manager is a graduate of Algonquin College and is qualified in recreation administration and ice making.

Bookings are already heavy at the arena we are told, mostly with hockey and one night of broomball. Minor hockey will get underway early with the travelling teams expected to start by September 20th.

Unfortunately, our great evening was cancelled. I apologize to all those who appeared at St. Raphael's last Sunday because the news of the concert's cancellation had not reached you.

Several worried people huddled in the rain in the ruins last Sunday all afternoon. It rained when we arrived with the chairs; the rain stopped until we had placed the chairs; it rained; the rain stopped long enough for us to manhandle the stage; the rain came; the rain left while Rob Taylor of The Brigadoons placed his expensive electronic sound equipment; the rain came; finally as we stood in a light drizzle at 6 p.m. and surveyed the wet chairs, wet grass, wet stage and the unsettled sky, we said that the ideal conditions we had hoped for were not forthcoming and so, we cancelled the Scottish concert. Father Alex's ghost was favoring farmers' fields over Scottish concert sites. The concert will be held later, on a September Sunday. Many people were inconvenienced in the unwinding of the events. I thank you for your efforts.

The chartered bus trip to Molly McGuire's was an outstanding success in all respects. Brigadoons more than impressed the female talent scout—"I can't get over the rapport they have with the audience." She is ready to sign them up for two weeks anytime. A bonus was having in attendance Wilf Gillis, that fine fiddler of the Cape Breton Symphony who appears on the John Allan Cameron Show. "Fantastic group," said Wilf—I'll see our producer about a spot on our show." Wilf was very impressed by the accordion playing of Rob Taylor.

And so, on Saturday, a band of Brigadoons from Glengarry took another giant step along the musical road to greater fame and popularity.

Good luck Brigadoons! You have certainly earned any break you get.

Ian MacCaskill came all the way from B.C. to go on the bus trip—yes sir, all the way from Baltic's Corners.

In a dance contest held on the bus, Donnie Ross and Sybil Cameron were winners. The rest of us need more practice on the curves. And who was that lady who left her husband at Molly McGuire's and smiled all the way home?

Fred Booth is beginning his music lessons in Martintown for the 12th year. He starts Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. He has a schedule to make up soon; if you are interested, phone him, 932-4479.

Recently the Bucklands spent some time in the north on the farm of a friend. I could not get over the harsh contrast between our southern farms and his. He wants someone to take off his hay for him, yet the only farmer around is five miles away. The last full time farmer fished, trapped and hunted in order to eke out an existence in a place where hay is the only safe field crop. A rough life indeed, but a fulfilling one, this country living. Ahh the outdoors, the elbow room.

Follow the Brigadoons,
Dance, drink and sing,
At Ewen's Hub on Saturday
And Dalhousie on Sunday.

Martintown Mac is reminded of the teacher from Stormont who bought from a Newfie what he thought was a GM front-wheeled drive Toronado. It turned out to be a '53 Chev with snow tires on the front. He paid good money for it, too. Now who was learning and who was teaching?

We are in Keats' season of mists and mellow fruitfulness. Enjoy!

Vows exchanged at Maxville

McCOSHAM—MacEWEN

The marriage of Kathleen Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. MacEwen, of Maxville, to Mr. James Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McCosham, of Hamilton, took place on July 26th, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Maxville.

The Rev. Dr. I. D. MacIver officiated, assisted by Rev. Bernard McCosham. The choir loft was banked with ferns, palms, standards of white gladiolii, Sonia roses and candelabra with aisle candelabra marking the guest's pews. Mrs. MacIver was organist, and Everett Rush, soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a long full-sleeved silk chiffon gown appliqued with two and three dimensional flowers and falling into a ruffled chapel train. The fitted waistline and high neckline were accentuated with satin ribbon. Her veil was a three-quarter mantilla and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of gardenias, roses, baby's breath and trailing ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Judith Haramis, and bridesmaids, Misses Leslie Morris, Janie McCosham, Sue Ruttan, and Mrs. Brenda Baswick, sister of the bridegroom, wore A-line, high-waisted, melon-colored organza gowns accentuated with velveteen floral design, having high necklines and ruffled hems. They wore large melon-colored hats and carried Colonial bouquets of Sonia roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Kevin MacDonald acted as best man for his cousin. The ushers were Brian Cheslea, Robert Scott, Allan MacEwen and James MacEwen, brothers of the bride.

Following the reception held in the garden of the bride's parents, and dancing at the Community Hall, Mr. and Mrs. McCosham left for Nassau, W.I., the bride wearing a silk jersey melon-colored flowered dress bordered in blue and carrying a long-stem melon-colored Sonia rose.

The couple will reside in Brantford, Ont.

the federal government.

"We have support for our stand from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and practically all the dairymen in Quebec," the local president noted.

Dairy farmers in Quebec have made their angered feelings well known in Ottawa over the doubling of powdered milk levies.

The federal government support price for such milk has been 64 cents a pound but Mr. Thomson said the world price of the product has dropped by 27 cents a pound.

"In fact," he said "we are being penalized by the government for the instability of the world market."

The levies are administered by the Canadian Dairy Commission.

Olivier Decoste died Cornwall

A native of Alexandria, Olivier Decoste died Wednesday, Aug. 20th, at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. He was 66. Mr. Decoste had resided at 623 Fraser Ave., in Cornwall.

He had lived in Cornwall before moving to Lachute, Que., where he conducted a hotel business. He returned to Cornwall to reside in recent years.

To mourn he leaves his wife, the former Imelda Plouffe of Cornwall, and one son, Paul of St. Bruno, Que. One brother and four sisters also survive: Denis Decoste, Mrs. Melina Brunet, Miss Dorilla Decoste and Annette, Mrs. Bruno Amyot, all of Ottawa, and Rejeanne, Mrs. Maurice Dionne of Gatineau. There are two grandchildren.

The funeral was held Saturday to Holy Cross Church and Notre Dame cemetery in Cornwall.

G.H.S. NOTES

The September 4th meeting of the Glengarry Historical society is to be a historic tour of beautiful Williamstown.

Bring a picnic lunch, beverage will be provided, and meet at the Nor'westers and Loyalist Museum, Williamstown at 6.30 p.m.

After lunch there will be a tour of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's Church and the manor house. The members will then return to the Museum for a brief business meeting where they will have an opportunity to see the Duncan Donovan exhibition of photographs produced by Jennifer Harper.

If you are unable to come for lunch come later in time for the tour.

Visitors will be welcomed.

POULTON—MacLEOD

St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, was the setting for the late spring wedding on Saturday, June 7th, 1975, when Flora Elizabeth MacLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod D. K. MacLeod of Dalkeith, became the bride of James David Poulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Poulton of Peterborough.

Rev. William Scott of Dalkeith, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Miss Cathy Fraser was organist and Mrs. Scott was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long dress of white eyelet lace with a flowing train from the empire bodice to the floor. The dress had an old-fashioned stand-up collar with lace edging and short puffed sleeves. The bride's headpiece was made of seed pearls and was worn with a shoulder-length, four-tier veil. Her bouquet was a variety of spring flowers in a white wicker basket.

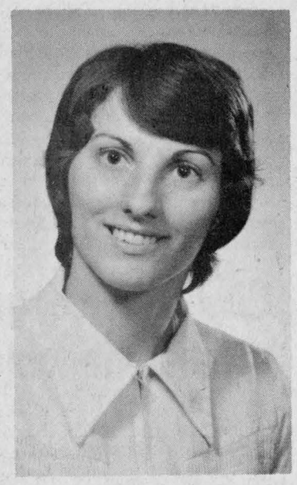
The matron of honor, Mrs. Lynda Laferriere of Montreal, wore a long yellow gingham dress with lace trim and a wide brim hat. The bridesmaids were Lorraine MacLeod of Calgary, Alberta, sister of the bride; Donna Howes of Ottawa, Colleen Campbell of Montreal, and Margaret MacGillivray of Dalkeith. They wore similar dresses of green gingham with lace trim and wide brim hats and carried bouquets of spring flowers in white wicker baskets.

Best man was Gary Munro of Alliston, Ontario. The ushers were Ron Poulton of Peterborough, brother of the groom, Donald N. MacLeod of Ottawa, brother of the bride, Gordon Reid of Arnprior, and Stan Ward of Toronto.

For going away, the bride wore a black and white floor-length flowered gown with white accessories.

After a two-week wedding trip to Scotland, the couple are residing in Cornwall.

Guests attended from Thunder Bay, Kirkland Lake, Toronto, Whitby, Alliston, Peterborough, Campbellford, Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall, Trenton, Nova Scotia and other points.



KINGSTON GRAD — Dianne Yvonne King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander King of RR# 2, Williamstown, has received her registration from the Canadian Society of Laboratory Technologists. Miss King is a graduate of the Kingston General Hospital School of Medical Technology. She is presently employed at the Glengarry Memorial Hospital in Alexandria.

MARRIED

REID-SCHEIRICH

Harrow United Church in Winnipeg was the scene of a beautiful wedding on July 26, 1975, when Carolyn Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scheirich, exchanged vows with John Lawrence, son of Mrs. Gordon Reid and the late Mr. Reid.

Rev. Idris Wynne officiated.

A reception was held at the Blessed Sacrement Hall in Transcona where over 200 guests were in attendance.

The happy couple are residing in Winnipeg.

Hurt in crash

Three persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of Highways 43 and 138 Monday.

Fernand Papineau, 62, of 240 Louisa St., Cornwall, and his wife Angele, 56, were admitted to Cornwall General Hospital after their car was in collision with a tractor-trailer unit, loaded with logs, driven by Zoel Duval, of Dunvegan.

Name of the third person injured in the accident was not available. Mr. Duval was not injured.

An official at Cornwall General said Mrs. Papineau was transferred to an Ottawa hospital Tuesday morning. Both she and her husband were listed as satisfactory.

Constable Bernard Laframboise investigated for Long Sault Ontario Provincial Police and estimated total damage at $6,000. He said Mr. Papineau's car was wrecked. Constable Laframboise said the roadway was cluttered with logs for about two hours after the collision.

Recent grads

Nancy Ann Haramis is a recent graduate of the Nightingale School of Nursing in Toronto. As of Sept. 2nd, she will be on the staff of the Toronto Western Hospital.

Arthritis month

Statistics can be very dry, but there is no better way to emphasize the effects of arthritis on our community than to quote some of the figures available to us through studies conducted by the medical profession.

—more than 95,000 Canadians are confined to a bed or wheelchair because of arthritis.

—nearly 500,000 more are partially disabled.

—over 9,000,000 work days are lost each year due to arthritis.

—that costs the Canadian economy over 500,000,000 dollars each year.

Marked golden date at Ottawa

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. MacKenzie, 2358 Joliffe St., Ottawa, marked their golder wedding anniversary on Sunday, August 10th.

With Alex L. and Gwen for the occasion were their son David and daughter-in-law Winona and three grandchildren from Renfrew, their daughter Heather and son-in-law, Michael Kenny and three grandchildren from Winchester.

Born in Battleford, Sask., in 1897, Mr. MacKenzie was CNR agent at Vars for 22 years. Mrs. MacKenzie was born in Glengarry in 1898 and their marriage was solemnized in 1925 in Kirk Hill United Church.

Mrs. Dixon died at Sarnia

Christie Madeline (MacLeod) Dixon, 59, of Sarnia, died suddenly in hospital, Aug. 16th. She had been in poor health for two years.

Mrs. Dixon was born at Dunvegan, the daughter of the late Norman R. MacLeod and his wife, the late Margaret M. Fraser. She was married August 10, 1946 and lived in the Regina area of Saskatchewan until 1967 when she and her family moved to Sarnia.

She is survived by her husband Reginald Alfred, her daughter Nancy Margaret (Mrs. Raymond Piche) and granddaughter Michelle Renee of London, Ontario, and her brothers Roy and Alastair MacLeod of the Montreal district. She was predeceased by her sister, Mrs. Kathleen Grant of Greenfield, in 1958.

An unselfish and loving wife and mother, Madeline leaves a dowry of happy memories to her family. Her many friends remember her for her genuine interest and concern.

Funeral services were held at D. J. Robb Funeral Home, Sarnia, Tuesday, August 19, with Dr. McKenzie of Grace United Church officiating. Numerous relatives and friends from Eastern and Western Canada were present.

NEWS FROM HERE AND THERE

GLEN ROBERTSON

Jessie McGillis of Montreal spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie McGillis. Dr. and Mrs. Owen R. MacDonald of Greenfield Park, and Andy McGillis of Montreal spent a day with them, while Mrs. Alex MacKenzie of Ottawa also visited with them and Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacLennan.

We should have congratulated Alex and Gwen MacKenzie a few weeks back when they reached their 50th wedding anniversary on August 10th. Many, many more years of happiness together, dear friends, from your old acquaintances here.

Mrs. Yolande deBellefeuille accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Leon Prieur of Dalhousie Station, on a visit to Montreal where they joined Mr. and Mrs. Henri de Bellefeuille and went to St. Eustache, Que., to attend the wedding of her niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Buckler of Montreal purchased a property in the village and are making their home in Glen Robertson. A hearty welcome from their neighbors!

We also welcome Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Massie who are the new owners of the Beauchamp property and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tillman of Montreal who are the proprietors of the residence which formerly belonged to Mrs. Rene Poirier.

LANCASTER

Mrs. Russell Craig of Toronto spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewen Ross of Goderich, while spending a holiday at Martintown, called on friends and relatives in the Lancaster area.

Mrs. M. E. Severn and Mr. and Mrs. David Green of Montreal, visited with their cousins Misses M. J. and C. A. McLennan and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fraser on Monday.

Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Laurier Brunet who is a patient in a Kingston hospital.

Good wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Bourdeau at their new home in Alexandria and a welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Mel McRae and family, formerly of Alexandria.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lalonde, Sheldon and Sherry of Chalk River, are spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lalonde and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Desrouchie and Ovila are spending a few days with relatives in Brighton.

Following a two-month break, members of Knox UCW will meet in the Church Hall, Wednesday, September 3rd at 8 p.m.

GLEN SANDFIELD

Thomas, Gordon and John MacPherson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacPherson have left on a trip to Western Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mulvaney entertained her parents Sunday evening, with a buffet dinner at the airport in Dorval, when they were leaving for their home in Winnipeg. It was a most pleasant time and much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Arnold MacRae, Marnie and Keith visited her parents recently, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith in Packenham, and on the way home she stopped off in Ottawa to see her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray MacLachlan, Haley and Cheri, of Ottawa, were recent visitors to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ron MacLachlan.

Earl MacLennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd MacLennan and Glen Calvank, son of Mr. Leslie Calvank, have recently left for Eston, Sask., where they will be working for an indefinite period.

Sheldon Nixon was home recently for a week's holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nixon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Howes and children spent Sunday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. MacLennan.

Mrs. A. MacMillan has returned from a trip to Gaspe. She motored down with her sister Gladys and her husband, Jack Seale. They visited another sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Camiot, and a brother and his wife Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mahan.

Daughter Mrs. Karen Sauk and Kenny of Montreal were weekend visitors to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert MacRae drove down to Milton, Ont., with niece Phyllis MacMaster, for the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacFadden.

Barbara Brown of St. Laurent was down to see her mother last weekend, Mrs. K. Brown. Spending a week there also was Debbie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Brown of Lachine.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapman recently in honor of daughter Mrs. Mildred Nyberg and Lynette of Chesterfield, Missouri, who spent a week here after an absence of nine years. There were twenty one present including both family and friends.

Recent visitors to the home of Miss Mary MacKenzie were the Misses Mary and Janet Chisholm and her sister Mrs. Jean Mein of Alexandria.

During the absence of Rev. Davies, the church at Glen Sandfield has been open. The last of the two services was a hymn sing service, and was very well attended. Mrs. Arnold MacRae opened the service by asking Mrs. Ronald MacLachlan to lead us in prayer, one that was written by a Mother Superior. Kevin MacLachlan read the scripture and Hymn 313 was read with Wendy Chapman and Brenda MacMillan reading verses two and three and the congregation reading the first and last verses in unison. Mrs. MacRae gave a sermonette on "Responsibilities and Challenges facing Women Today". The hymn sing portion was led by Mrs. Chapman and her solo was "An Evening Prayer". Campbell Fraser said the benediction. Everyone seemed well pleased with the service and we thank them all for their co-operation.

The UCW meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Grant MacLennan this Wednesday afternoon, and the shower is to be knick-knacks. Some of you have requested a run down of the season's shower gifts, so here they are: Nearly-new, Post office, towels, knick-knacks and next month will be post office. I hope this helped.

HONORED ON DEPARTURE

The members and friends of Knox United Church, Moose Creek remained for a few moments after the morning service, when a well-worded address was read to Rev. W. E. Henderson and Mrs. Henderson, their minister and his wife, by Edward A. McKillican.

A lovely silver tea service was presented to them by Keith Grant and Victor Johnson on behalf of the congregation for the faithful and untiring nine years Rev. and Mrs. Henderson served the congregation.

They and their family will be moving to their new charge of Watford, in the London Presbytery.

IT'S OUR OPINION

How about a local lottery?

The town of Renfrew is considering organization of a municipal lottery to help finance its recreation complex. Mayor Wilson introduced a motion favoring such a lottery and the proposal will be debated at an early September meeting.

Renfrew's lottery would generate some $26,000 annually, to be used for an indoor swimming pool. That brings the thought the new arena being planned by area municipalities might weigh less heavily on the taxpayers if they were paying for it in this guise. A special lottery to help finance building and maintenance of an arena might prove so appealing as to ease the path to realization of this project.

Ticket salesmen for such a lottery might be recruited from the ranks of the district minor hockeyists and their commissions could be pooled by each team to help provide equipment and meet costs of travel, etc.

The suggestion may be a bit premature in view of the fact an arena board has not yet been formed. Town council named its representatives to such a board last week, though, and encouraging progress has been attained recently in the project to build an arena for the town and area.

It's a long road

A very readable letter in another column chides the editor for his approach to the new feminine mystique. So cleverly does Mrs. A. (or is it Ms. A?) give us the needle we are running for cover, though not actually giving her the last word.

Rather, are we reprinting a treatise by a writer, Virginia Graham, in The Christian Science Monitor. She despairs the majority of women really want a new deal. "It's a long road", Virginia opines. She writes:

Sometimes, when contemplating the great struggle that lies ahead of the Women's Liberation Movement, it is difficult not to despair. Though no advocate of using insulting language to male chauvinists, I believe a lot of women are as intelligent as a lot of men and deserve a far better deal than the centuries have allotted them. Yet I despair.

This is because I know that at this very minute there are literally millions of women sitting under hair driers avidly consulting "women's" magazines. Regardless of their ages or shapes, regardless of their intellects, their jobs, their status in society, their income brackets, or their ability to write theses on nuclear fission, vast legions of them are studying the art of Attracting Men by slicking green iridescent supersoft creme across their eyelids, or touching up their earlobes with petunia rouge.

Very few of us, sitting curlered and kippered at the hairdresser can visualize ourselves wearing pale blue chiffon, like the photograph of the model on our lap, or lying, as she is along the bonnet of a Rolls-Royce; neither can we seriously identify with the skeletal girl leaning against the Acropolis in a black corselette. We know that facial masks and sauna baths are not for us, and that it is very unlikely we shall ever invest in a sequin pyjama suit trimmed with astrakhan; yet we cannot resist reading about how wonderful they are, and how much more attractive we should be if we subscribed to them.

Since the "glossies" still burgeon and bloom with advertisements—indeed they consist of very little else—it must be presumed that a large proportion of women, emerging puce in the face from under their driers, do go straight off and buy "Integumentana", the "creamily textured transparent foundation milk", or a pair of multicolored thigh boots in duplexed velveteen; that masses of blue-rinsed senior citizens do believe the sparkle in their eyes will be enhanced by inch long nylon lashes.

But even we who know we are utterly wasting our time reading about cuticle care and the slim-look, cannot resist doing so. We may take a Report on the Industrial Welfare Act of 1975 to the hair dresser, or perhaps Hume's "Political Discourses," or even a book called "Whither Europe?" or "Why not America?" but we shall not open it. Though we continually maintain that it is our dearest wish to make our minds rather than our bodies attractive to men, we shall entirely concentrate on the attainment of the latter to the exclusion of the former.

Oh! It's a long long trail-a-winding...

Environmental answers

The spectre of cities buried under their own trash, of pollution blotting out the sun for weeks on end, of marine life dying because of polluted oceans, is becoming more real. In the past, it was merely an ugly vision is somebody's imagination. Today, the dangers of pollution have become all too obvious, notes an editorial in the Milton Canadian Champion.

One doesn't have to look very far to find causes: First, the world's population is growing at an unprecedented rate. Secondly, we have not disciplined ourselves to avoid pollution. So far, ordinary people everywhere have not begun to realize the devastating impact of filth in our air and our water, of mountains of wrecked cars, both in cities and even in the countryside. Noise pollution is now considered a definite health hazard.

What then is the solution—if indeed there is a solution? Man must discipline himself, must discipline his wasteful consumption habits in the affluent lands. The more consumption, the more pollution. Urban planners must pursue the concept of satellite cities—connected in future years by rapid transit systems of various kinds. Satellite cities, which so far have not won wide acceptance, avoid the urban overcrowding that leads to so much pollution.

There must be local, provincial, national and international action if the environmental "doomsday" discussed by United Nations environment chief Maurice Strong is to be avoided. Future generations will thank us if more people are educated to fight actively against pollution of the air, the land and the water.

On the wrong track

What a difference a decade can make, we were thinking as we scanned an editorial on the Health Plan in our issue of ten years ago. Then, Prime Minister Pearson had been outlining his new health plan to the premiers of the ten provinces. They were not only lapping it up, those heads of the provincial administrations were in a mood of sweet harmony as they considered how much more they might sqeeze out of an unwilling people.

Ten years later provincial health ministers were meeting in Victoria and plotting a confrontation with federal leaders. They were seeking ways to force Ottawa to drop its plans, announced in the budget, to reduce the federal share of health costs.

Those costs for medical and hospital care have skyrocketted since the plan was initiated into an annual bill in the billions of dollars. The provinces don't relish a limit on federal funding.

That meeting of health ministers might better have been studying ways of reducing health care costs that are almost completely out of control.

The energy crunch

(The Huntingdon Gleaner)

As the Canadian energy crunch gets more crunchy the reaction to the federal government's energy conservation program has been pretty much what one might expect—largely negative, if one harkens to those people prone to speak out. Their reasoning seems to be that the program, mostly voluntary, won't work because it isn't mandatory.

They could be wrong even though it may take a little time for Canadians to become personally involved in energy saving. Few people change over night. That's normal. That's human.

After all, Canadians, including we here in Chateauguay Valley, have gone through a good deal of brainwashing over the years, all of it contrary to energy conservation. We've been told for years to live electrically, that time costs money so we should drive far and fast, that we should live in our houses within the "comfort zones" of our thermostats because we have been in a cheap energy country.

If nothing else changes Canadian thinking in regard to energy usage, rising costs are going to do it. And Canadians then will save energy voluntarily.

When it hurts in the pocketbook it would be very odd if Canadians don't start slowing down on highways, switching off lights they don't need, using energy more intelligently and generally doing all the other things in an energy-conservation manner that now makes sense in our unique times.

Energy conservation isn't new. It was around tens of thousands of years ago when it was easier to deal with. In those days, when the supply of flints ran out a whole tribe simply picked up their things and moved to a site where flints were available.

Not today. We can't all simply move to evergy-rich Alberta so we'll just have to do the best we can in the Chateauguay Valley under available conditions.

Lifestyles will not be shaken by driving less. Nor by turning out lights we don't need. Or by doing countless other little things to save energy. Rather it is a matter of stopping waste which in itself points the road to a better future.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

MORE INFO ON MEN

RR 2 Dalkeith
The editor,
The Glengarry News

I read your editorial dilemma about whether to address women as Miss, Mrs., or Ms—and feel you've failed to go far enough.

"A newspaper's chief excuse for being is to inform its readers..." you correctly state. "These new approaches to women's names are less informative and so we feel we would be doing our readers a disservice if we adopted them..." you concluded.

I'll admit you've been doing a swell job all these years informing readers of the exact marital status of all women mentioned in your columns through the use of Miss or Mrs. You certainly don't want to muddy up the communications waters by adventuring the upstart designation "Ms."

You have been particularly informative when you refer to married women as "Mrs. Joe Blank"—we readers get the extra bonus of knowing the lady's husband's name—though, unfortunately we have no idea of who the hell she is. But I suppose if really does not matter if Mrs. Joe Blank is known far and wide in her community as Mary Blank through her church, volunteer work, or her prowess as a mother, reputation as a cook, wit—or just because she's a fine woman and good neighbor. I guess it's beside the point, too, in the special cases of wives who have a professional reputation of their own as librarians, teachers, store clerks, school board members—under their own names.

In your paper these women are solidly referred to as "Mrs. Joe Blank"—even though old Joe may be the town drunk—right?

But the bone I really want to pick with you is the dreadful lack of information in your news columns when you refer to men. By using "Mr." you deprive readers of vital information on the marital status of all males who parade through your paper each week—and what's worse we don't

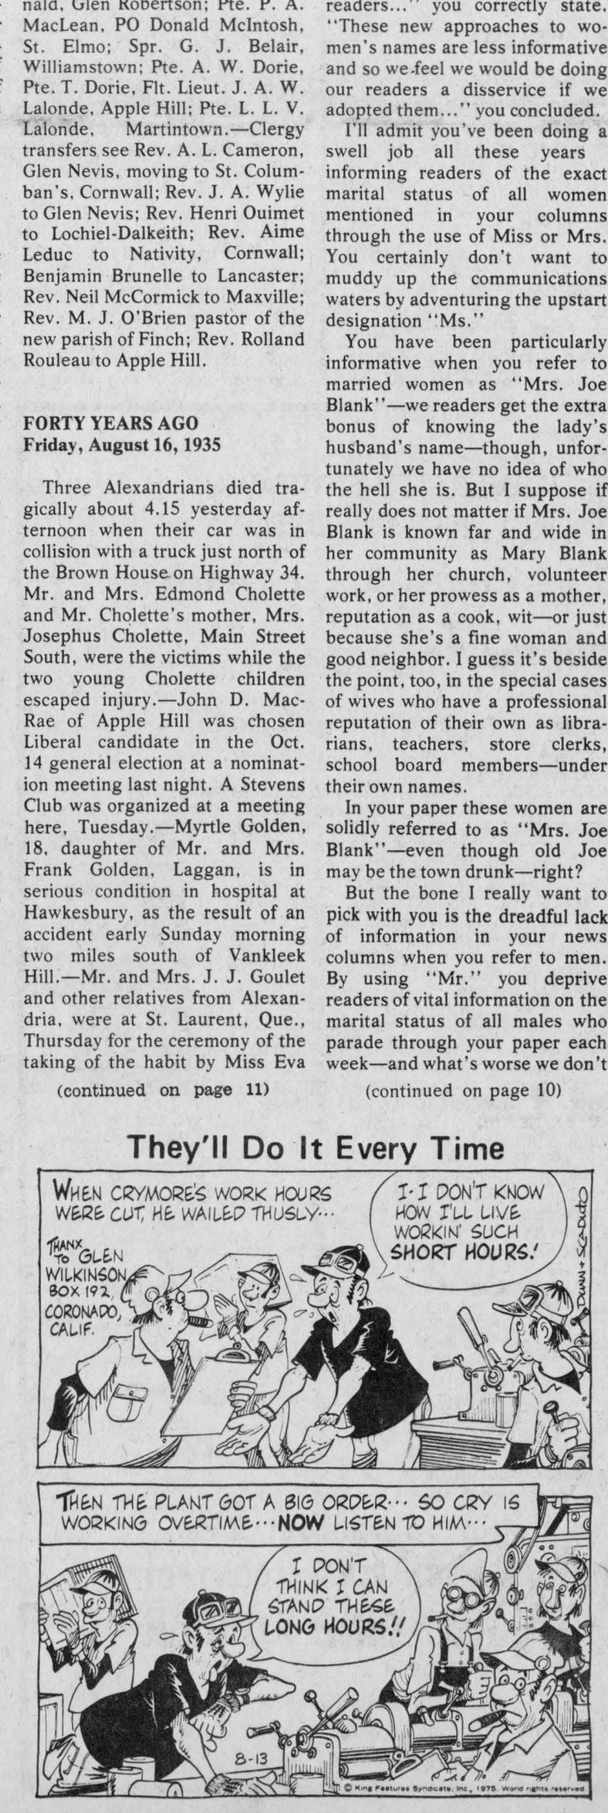
They'll Do It Every Time



WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

How do you get 700 people to a breakfast when they know there's a fly-in?

GUMMING UP THE GAME

Gary Carter of the Montreal Expos has a promising future in baseball if you can believe the Montreal sports writers. He's not yet hitting his potential, the columnists claims as they speculate the young outfielder will rank with baseball's top stars once he's been seasoned.

We've been going along with their predictions even though his batting average isn't all that good and we've seen him fan on some awfully wide pitches. He does put a lot of pep into his plate appearances, though, and your Rambling Reporter was riding with him until Carter pulled the plug on himself in a game last week.

Montreal had two men on, as we recall, and they needed those runs to catch up. So young Carter strides purposely to the plate, takes a few warm-up swings at the air and tenses to receive the pitch. The t.v. camera zeroes in on his face just as Carter blows a bubble with his gum—and that's when your Rambling Reporter blew cold on Carter. Gum bubbles are one of the most disgusting sights he has yet to see. Hard enough it is to stomach them on kids; when seen on the lips of a man growed, a budding baseball star, they're nauseating.

Gary's bubble burst right then, with us, and it's going to take more than a few clutch hits to make us forget how callow the kid is.

The television people have done quite a job of speeding up the game of baseball, especially the pitchers. When are they going to insist on a ban on bubble gum, on all kinds of gum, in fact? It's revolting, it's unnatural. Even the aging managers and coaches are chomping away on their chew each time the camera trains on them.

It was a silly enough scene in the days when many chewed tobacco. That might have been considered a manly addiction, but not bubble gum. Here's hoping the new generation of ballplayers can be graduated from blowing bubbles.

Remove the gum from baseball and players might be more inclined to chew up the opposing team.

A BETTER WAY

If you read an Ontario daily newspaper, one night last week you received a bonus, if it can be called that. The 18-page supplement informed Ontario voters of changes contemplated in federal riding boundaries in this province. The 95 ridings we will vote in, next federal election, were described and the supplement also carried maps detailing the new boundaries of those 95 constituencies.

All those pages of advertising carried by 44 Ontario dailies cost an estimated $600,000 to the federal treasury. Presumably the same method of reaching the voters was used in the other provinces so we can assume several millions of dollars were spent in adhering to this one provision of the Canada Elections Act.

What a waste of money it was you can best judge by reflecting on how fast you leafed through those pages if you spent any time on the supplement at all. You may have been interested in your own and neighboring ridings, but certainly not in Thunder Bay or Windsor.

The secretary of the Federal Electoral Boundaries Commission of Ontario feels he could have produced a better method of informing the electorate, at less cost. He suggests it might be less expensive to deliver specially printed versions of the riding changes by mail to every household in the province. That would certainly provide better coverage, for it has been estimated more than 40 per cent of the households do not get a daily newspaper.

A much more practical idea for Parliament to adopt next time would be to use the weeklies. Some two to three hundred, Ontario weeklies could carry descriptions and illustrations of their own riding boundaries for less than $50,000; and the

Grand Champion Holstein at Vankleek Hill for seventh year

The Black and White show held August 15 at Vankleek Hill by Prescott County Holstein breeders was strong in quality though numbers were down slightly this year. A large ringside took advantage of the nice weather to watch ten exhibitors present 58 head for Judge Kenneth Connell, Brockville, Ont. Horace Nixon, L'Orignal, was Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor with Murray Howes, Dalkeith, runner-up in each case.

For the seventh successive year the veteran winner Elmlane Dynamo Peggy, a daughter of Limbour Citation Dynamo, took the femal Grand Championship for Gordon Allen, Vankleek Hill. She still carries a good quality, well attached udder at 13 years of age and walks on good legs, with a strong top. Peggy has also been twice Grand Champion at Ottawa and twice at Lachute, Que. She was nominated for All-Canadian consideration in 1971.

The second placing in the class for aged cows took the Reserve Grand Championship for Horace L. Nixon and was also best uddered Holstein, placing second in the Interbreed Best Udder class. Sired by Romandale Reflection Admiral, she was Burnacres Audra, not quite as large an animal as Peggy, but a smooth, attractive cow with a very shapely udder.

The heifer calf class provided both Junior Champions, with Dalkirk Lynda Kemp taking the top honor for Murray Howes and Elmlane Danny Boy Cora in Reserve position for Gordon Allen. Kemp, who was Junior Champion at Glengarry Black and White show recently, was a stylish, tall, well balanced calf, large for her age. Cora was extremely dairy-like with a smooth top, very sharp and clean cut throughout.

Two bull calves were shown. The champion was Dalkirk Man-O-War Herman, a large, well grown individual entered by Murray Howes, while the Reserve award went to Nixon for Burnacres Kurt, smooth topped and dairy-like, with good legs.

Horace Nixon showed the winning Breeder's Herd and first prize four-year-old; Murray Howes the first yearling heifer and first two-year-old; Carmin Howes, Dalkeith, the first prize three-year-old; and Cass Bros., L'Orignal, the winning senior yearling heifer.

Profitable pasture management

(John Madill, Agronomist
Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology)

Every dairy farmer can tell you about the spring flush of production yet most people regard pastures as little more than a place to put their cows for the summer.

Milk and beef production is lost as soon as the field looks patchy. Parts of the pasture are left to grow old while the animals search for new growth. This requires time and energy. Clipping the pasture will bring all of the field back into production. The uniform regrowth will be at an early stage of maturity just as it was in the spring.

Grasses should be clipped before the heads appear. Anyone who has tried to pasture an old orchard or reed canary grass stand knows how little cattle will eat, yet these grasses provide excellent spring feed. Close grazing and clipping well before heading will maintain the quality.

A bonus of pasture clipping is weed control. Unpalatable weeds are removed making room for the more desirable plants. Early mowing will also stop many of the weeds from going to seed. Weed seedlings that become a problem the following year can also be destroyed.

Manure droppings in the field waste fertility and pasture production. Vegetation is smothered and the surrounding forage becomes unpalatable. Spread the manure with a set of drag harrows. A good spreader can be made at little cost by chaining old car tires behind a harrow drawbar.

Grass stands such as brome or timothy should be topdressed with up to 50 lb. of nitrogen. The greatest response to fertilizer will be during dry spells when natural soil supplies are lowest. When legumes form a good part of the stand nitrogen is not necessary. Competition from the vigorously growing grasses will smother the legumes.

Fertilizing old bluegrass stands is seldom economical especially at present fertilizer costs. Better results are obtained by establishing the more productive species. Improved pasture accounts for 30% of the total crop land of Ontario.

have a clue to their wives' manes either.

As an editor you are not living up to the lofty ideals so bravely set out in your editorial—"a newspaper's chief excuse for being is to inform its readers..."

For example in your story last week about Charlottenburgh Council's rightful dismay over changes in highway 34 road signs I'm simply driven insane with curiosity to know if Deputy Reeve Roger Lefebvre is married—and what his wife's name is. I simply cannot tell this vital information from your designation of "Mr." and it's not fair. I also worry about the marriage of Clerk Treasurer Reg Gagne and councillor Ewen MacDonald who are also mentioned in that news story. Now if a woman had been mentioned in that story I would have known how to categorize her instantly—I'd have her marital status and her husband's full name.

All I'm asking is equal information about men and women in your pages.

We readers have a right to know if the men representing us on Council are solid married men or fly-by-night bachelors. It helps us make judgments about their competence in municipal matters!

Perhaps from now on you could refer to men using "Master" for bachelors and "Mr." for married men. Also the first time married men's names are used perhaps you could refer to them using their wives names :(eg) "Mr. Mary Blank"—and then use their own names "Joe" on the second time of use.

Or if you couldn't see your way to make such radical changes perhaps you could brighten up that Charlottenburgh story (and more fully inform your readers) by dropping in things like "Deputy Reeve Roger Lefebvre, handsome, pipe-smoking father of three whose sprightly wife Debby sells cars at the local Ford dealer"—or Councillor Ewen MacDonald, balding witty grandfather of 15"—or whatever descriptive designation might properly fit these men.

I'm sure you can dope out something in order that your paper continues to do as good a job informing the public about the men on your pages as it has done in the past for women.

By the way—are you married Mr. Editor—I can't tell from the masthead?

Sincerely
Pauline Kennedy Ashton

You're right concerning salaries for housewives. God forbid that homemaking and/or motherhood fall into the mire of money rackets as have professions, industries, trades, services, and politics.

But just because a person is female, she won't necessarily be a good mother or housekeeper. Therefore, women must be provided with all the alternatives and opportunities given the men.

A family unit which has health, good management, and concern can provide for the needs of each member without the handouts from any socialist, initiative killing nonsense. (Do we want a society of lazy leeches?) Family size has a lot to do with taking care of the needs of Dad, Mom, and children.

On the other hand, dedicated mothers need to be recognized for their contributions to society, be encouraged to form and express opinions on all topics of life, and be able to enjoy the benefits of the present day majority's leisure laden way of life. These needs should be met whether or not the mother inherits money, earns degrees, brings home the bacon or measures up to the silly male idea that a good woman is 36-26-36.

As for the housework, it is being done by the sloth-creating gadgets which usually need two or more heads to keep them in operation.

In a recent editorial, "Making a Mint", (reprinted from the Prescott Journal), you suggested that ownership of a service centre on the Macdonald-Cartier Freeway was among the quickest ways of becoming rich. You based your opinion on the fact that the retail price of gasoline at these centres is frequently higher than at service stations located elsewhere, and you concluded that the reason for the price differential was the fact that the centres lack direct competition on the freeway.

The fact is that these centres are not the gold mines you believe them to be. The dealer at each centre determines the price at which he retails gasoline, but there are a number of very fundamental reasons why his prices are sometimes higher than those charged elsewhere.

As you will appreciate, many things go into the retail prices of gasoline. These include the wholesale price, the provincial road tax (in Ontario, 19 cents a gallon), and such other things as rent and labour costs. These costs apply to all service stations. However, the Macdonald-Cartier centres are subject to additional costs. They are built on land leased from the Government of Ontario. The rental is based on a percentage of the gross price of gasoline--that is, it is based on the price at which each gallon of gasoline is sold, less the 19-cent road tax. Therefore, as the price of gasoline has risen, the rental paid to the Ontario Government for the service centre properties has risen rather dramatically and these rent increases have been passed on to the dealer, constituting an additional cost to him which is not borne at other service centres. One of the special costs which the freeway retailer has to bear resulted from the 10-cent excise tax which was included in the June federal budget. The new 10-cent tax on every gallon goes directly to the federal government. Yet the freeway service station operator is required to pay additional rent to the Ontario Government as a result of it.

In most other ways, also, other costs of operation of the dealers at the freeway centres are higher that elsewhere. The centres were built to government standards on sites selected by the Ontario Government. These factors resulted in very high original capital investment. Also, it is a requirement that the highway centres remain open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. This means they are open--with operating costs continuing--during periods when revenues are low.

Texaco dealers certainly do not object to having to maintain such high standards. On the contrary, it is their objective to provide the best in quality of service to our customers wherever they travel. However, our freeway dealers have no alternative but to seek to recover their substantially higher operating costs through compensating retail prices if they are to be able to continue in business.

I am interested in my family history, and have recently been told that the town of Glen Robertson was named after my family. The earliest name and date that I have is that of on John Robertson, died 28th Feb., 1862. He was my great grandfather. I do not have any further information on him, but believe he and his wife, whose name I do not know, had several children, I have a list of several first names, but no documentary proof. The names I have are as follows; Catharine, Janet, Donald (my grandfather), John, Duncan, James, Peter, and Margaret, all born from 1834 to 1848 in Glen Robertson.

My grandfather, Donald, was married to one Catharine Margaret Woods. Where or when we don't know. But we understand that she died in her early twenties, leaving two infant sons, John and my father, Donald. My father was raised by a Mrs. Grace Barrager who had a daughter Margaret. By the time I was old enough to take an interest, these were the only two in that family that we ever heard of. John, my uncle, was raised by a McLaren family.

I would be very pleased to hear from anyone who could help me get information. I am planning to go East to visit relatives about the middle of September, and will visit Glen Robertson at that time, and hope to make many new acquaintances at that time.

My father, Donald Robert Robertson, was born Aug. 8th 1878, and died 24th June, 1924.

He was gassed in the first gas attack in the 1st World War, and died from the effects of this at 47 years. My mother was an English girl, who died in August 1914. My grandfather, Donald, died and was buried in Calgary, Oct. 1st 1912, two months before I was born. Uncle John was married to Joanne Porteous, commonly known as Annie J. of Winchester, Ont., in 1880. My uncle died in Swift Current, Sask. in 1954 and Annie J. in 1952.

The only other information I have is that Catharine married a Morris, and Janet a Frizelle. One of Janet's daughters, Mary, married Bill Nesbitt, and moved to Edmonton in 1905 where they resided until their deaths almost 60 years later.

Will be looking forward to hearing from someone down there and looking forward to meeting you.

OLD TIMES-GOOD TIMES NOT SO FAR AWAY.

Old Fort Henry — Upper Canada Village — St. Lawrence Parks

You're less than a day's drive from a 1st class vacation experience that lets you get back to nature and experience life as it used to be.

The St. Lawrence Parks Commission invites you to relax at its 14 major park areas and 2,460 camp and trailer sites all along Highway 401 stretching from Kingston to the Quebec border.

Or step back into the 1800's at Upper Canada Village near Morrisburg (401 exits 119 and 120), a complete town of 40-odd authentically restored buildings – a living history of pioneer Ontario.

And treat the kids and yourself to Old Fort Henry at Kingston (401 exit 104), and see life as it was in a nineteenth-century fort featuring the spectacular Fort Henry Guard performing precision drills within the massive limestone walls of "The Citadel of Upper Canada".

All facilities are open Mid-May to Mid-October. The Fort Henry Guard does not perform after September 15.

Traffic interruptions on Perley Bridge in September

The Perley Interprovincial Bridge between Hawkesbury, Ont. and Grenville, P.Q. will be closed to traffic for two-hour periods during the month of September, it was announced this week by Public Works Canada.

The Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications will be conducting special vehicular tests on the bridge to determine the extent of reinforcement the bridge needs to increase load limits. Public Works Canada recently completed strengthening repairs to the bridge to assure the safe load-carrying capacity of present posted load limits.

So that the new testing procedures can be carried out as quickly and efficiently as possible, the entire bridge will be closed to vehicular and pedestrian traffic during the test periods. These periods should not conflict with rush hour traffic.

The Ontario Ministry of Transportation engineers will test the maximum load limits of the bridge structure by specially-designed vehicles operating by remote control and carrying up to a total of 360,000 pound loads at any one time. In the event of a medical emergency these vehicle will be moved to allow the emergency vehicle to cross the bridge.

The object of the measurement tests is to get a complete reading on the strengths and weaknesses of the bridge. Subsequently, the bridge will be further strengthened, if necessary, to aflow load restrictions to the maximum legal highway load in Ontario (approx. 140,000 pounds) This would also cover the legal highway load limit for Quebec.

At a meeting held at the Town Hall of Hawkesbury on August 19th, chaired by Mayor Philibert Proulx and attended by Denis Ethier, M.P., Francis Fox, M.P. and Zoel Saindon, M.N.A., municipal officials, representatives of the police, local industries and trucking companies, the necessity of closing the bridge was discussed along with traffic patterns on both sides of the river.

During the period Sept. 8 to 19 the bridge will be closed to traffic Monday to Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1.30 p.m. to 3.30 p.m. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the bridge will also be closed from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

A third week of testing, from Sept. 29 to Oct. 3, may not by necessary.

message would reach its goal. By using the community papers the dailies could be restricted to coverage of their own immediate areas.

The province would be blanketted at a fraction of the cost of this extravagant and wasteful method now in use. Surely Parliament and its bureaucrats could come up with a more practical way of informing we the people. That supplement reeked of wanton waste of our tax dollars.

New school bus stopping law goes into effect September 1

The new school bus stopping law announced in late February will go into effect Monday, September 1, Minister of Transportation and Communications John R. Rhodes announced today.

The new law, under Section 120 of The Highway Traffic Act, requires traffic travelling in both directions to halt when a stopped school bus flashes its alternating red signal lights regardless of the posted speed limit.

Traffic may not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or its red lights—affixed to both the front and rear of the bus—stop flashing.

Failure to stop for a school bus with its alternating red signal lights flashing carries a penalty of four driver demerit points and a maximum fine of $100.

Previously, the stop-in-both-directions rule required drivers to stop only when the maximum speed limit was greater than 35 miles per hour.

The new law applies regardless of the posted speed limit—on highways, country roads, city, town and village streets.

The only exception is on highways divided by a median strip. Then, only vehicles behind the school bus must stop upon seeing the flashing red lights. Oncoming traffic on the opposite side of the median may proceed.

A median strip is a physical barrier or an unpaved strip of ground separating traffic travelling in one direction from traffic travelling in the opposite direction.

With the new September 1st law, each municipality will have the authority to enact by-laws designating local school bus loading zones.

In these loading zones, the school bus driver will not be permitted to flash the vehicle's alternating red lights.

The loading zones will have identifying signs, and can be located only on the same side of the road as a school or non-school facility often visited by school children and teachers—for example, the Royal Ontario Museum, where many school bus loads of students and teachers arrive from all over the area.

The school bus driver cannot stop a bus to drop off or pick up school children on a road or highway opposite a designated loading zone. And at the zone, the bus must be as close as practicable to the right curb or edge of the roadway.

A school bus is defined, under The Highway Traffic Act, as a bus used for the transportation of children to and from school that: bears on the rear the words DO NOT PASS WHEN SIGNALS FLASHING; carries two red signal lights on the rear and two red signal lights on the front; is painted chrome yellow with black lettering and trim.

No bus other than a school bus may be painted chrome yellow. No motor vehicle other than a school bus may bear the words "Don not pass when signals flashing" or "School Bus".

Chemicals can kill animals

A large number of cattle were poisoned recently in eastern Ontario when an owner poured an oily material on the backs of his herd as treatment for ringworm. He had purchased the material in a 45-gallon drum at a farm sale and assumed that it was used oil when, in fact, it was a toxic residue from reclaimed hydraulic fluid. Forty cattle also died from the same chemical in Louisiana when a farmer stored molasses in barrels in which hydraulic fluid had been shipped.

These are only two of many documented cases where chemical residues and waste materials have been the cause of cattle deaths, indicates Dr. R. J. Julian, head of the veterinary Services Laboratory in Brighton. The Ministry of Agriculture and Food veterinarian points out that chemical poisoning of cattle is not just limited to one or two materials.

He lists the following examples: In the Quinte area a few years ago, most of a small herd died when a neighbor borrowed the tank in which a farmer hauled water for his cattle to haul water for spraying tomatoes. The neighbor had mixed the insecticide in the water tank instead of the sprayer. More than a dozen cattle died a few years ago near Toronto when cattle got into a bag of mouse bait for use in orchards that had been left on a wagon in the barnyard. Fourteen cattle died last winter in western Ontario when cattle licked some spilled insecticide which the owner thought he had cleaned up properly. Many cattle die annually from eating lead-containing substances, such as motor oil, paint, gasoline residue or battery plates, and other toxic materials.

"These cases emphasize the care that must be taken with chemicals, unknown substances, and even common waste materials because of the danger to livestock and humans from these products," he states. "A farmer must be continually aware of possible hazards on his farm. Manufacturer's instructions must be read carefully and thoroughly, and all toxic substances should be stored in a safe, locked place well away from livestock and barnyards."

A few commonsense rules will help producers avoid cattle poisoning. Containers such as paint pails, oil drums, or gasoline tanks should not be reused for feeding or watering livestock, or for storing feed. Don't use the same tank for carrying or mixing chemicals, and for water and feed for livestock.

The veterinarian also warns against using motor or machine lubricants of any kind on livestock. Cattle should not be allowed in a machinery area where they might gain access to oil, grease, batteries, etcetera; livestock like the taste of these toxic materials and will eat them.

Finally, don't use unknown materials or materials in unmarked containers, and unknown leftover and waste materials must be disposed of properly so cattle and other livestock cannot be harmed.

Reports from 4-H Clubs

The Glengarry Veterinarian Club held its fourth and final meeting for this season on August 13th. The main topic on the agenda for this meeting was nutrition. We discussed the different feed requirements for cattle such as proteins, energy and minerals. We then proceeded to evaluate the club for this year. Afterwards, our leader, Dr. Jim Algire, gave a quiz as the conclusion for the year's work.

The Glengarry 4-H Beef Club held its last meeting on August 19th. We discussed our record books that were to be handed in that evening. We then proceeded to discuss the final arrangements for a club trip to be held at the end of August. Finally, we evaluated the club for this year, with all the members giving their own opinion on the club itself.

Beer-can style lighters hazard

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet today cautioned consumers about the dangers of fire and explosion associated with beer can-style lighters which leak liquid fuel.

These lighters, which consist of a conventional beer can, carry a lighter in the can top. "The problem," the Minister said, "appears to be leakage of lighter fuel around the wick stem area when the lighter has been filled to full capacity. In some cases this has caused uncontrolled burning around the top of the beer can and explosions have resulted."

Fire authorities in the country are vitally concerned with this particular lighter and Mr. Ouellet urged consumers who continue to use them, not to fill these lighters more than half full.

The Minister stressed the fact that although the beer can lighters carry the labels of well-known Canadian beers, these breweries do not manufacture the lighters and are in no way responsible for their performance.

The Product Safety Branch of the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs is presently working on general safety standards for lighters and has specifically tested the beer can lighters in co-operation with fire authorities.

"I will be announcing regulations for lighters under the Hazardous Products Act in the relatively near future," said the Minister. "Pending completion of this work, the distributors of the beer can lighters have been asked to voluntarily remove these leaking lighters from store shelves," the Minister concluded.

The School Bus Stopping Law changes September 1st.
Here are the new regulations and what they mean to you:

Effective September 1st, all traffic from both directions must stop whenever a chrome-yellow school bus flashes its red signal lights front and rear... regardless of the posted speed limit. (The penalty for not doing so is a maximum fine of $100 and 4 demerit points.)
The law applies everywhere—on highways, country roads, and city, town or village streets.
Until now, motorists going in the opposite direction had to stop only when the posted maximum speed limit was more than 35 miles per hour. But as of September 1st, everyone must stop—except in one instance: motorists going in the opposite direction from the school bus on the other side of a multi-lane highway divided by a physical barrier.
As a motorist, you must drive with extra care whenever you see a school bus in front of you or coming towards you, because if the school bus flashes its red lights, traffic from both directions must stop.
If all of us observe this law our children will be that much safer. Remember, school bus safety is everybody's responsibility.
As a parent, encourage your children to follow the school bus safety rules learned at school—helping the bus driver by behaving quietly and keeping seated until it is time to leave the bus.

New type telephones being installed in this area

Space-age technology has caught up with public pay phones. The phones were to make their appearance in Alexandria and surrounding areas starting August 20th. It is expected that by August 30th the majority of public coin phones will be the Centurion type.

The new sets from a customer's point of view are larger, and have a single coin slot instead of three on existing phones. This significant design change is the first in over a quarter century for the public phones.

Following the trend to electronic switching, the familiar coin sound now heard when money is deposited, has been replaced by electronically-produced tones which are inaudible to the callers' ear.

Named the Centurion because of its rugged construction and design qualities, the set has interchangeable components making it easier and more economical to service than the present phone.

In addition to installation of the new phones, wiring modifications are being made in switching centres in order to provide a new service at all outdoor phones. The added service will enable callers to reach the Operator "O", Directory Assistance "411", and Repair Service "611" without depositing a coin.

At the same time, there will be a rate change to 20 cents for local calls from many public pay phones. The increase is the first since 1952, and will not apply to public telephones located in railway stations, bus terminals, nursing homes, rooming houses, churches or sidewalks. An Instructional card at each phone will clearly indicate whether the cost is 10 or 20 cents, and if emergency calling without coin is available.

Mrs. Metcalfe died at Ottawa

The death of Sarah Margaret Metcalfe occurred in Riverside Hospital, Ottawa, on Thursday, August 14th, the evening prior to her 81st birthday.

Mrs. Metcalfe the former Sarah McCrimmon, daughter of the late Benjamin McCrimmon and his wife Sarah McLeod, was born in the Aberdeen area near Vankleek Hill. Her husband, the late Vernon K. Metcalfe, predeceased her in 1955. She leaves one daughter and two sons, Audrey of Ottawa, Ralph of Edmonton, Ian of Toronto and six grandchildren to mourn her passing.

A brother, Archibald of Ruthilda, Saskatchewan remains. She was predeceased by a brother and two sisters, Duncan, Rachel (Mrs. Tom Farmer) formerly of Edmonton and Elizabeth (Mrs. Sam Young) formerly of Saskatoon.

Mrs. Metcalfe moved from Maxville to Ottawa in 1965 and although in failing health since 1970, she maintained her interest and ties with Glengarry. In her earlier years she taught at several schools in the Maxville area, including the Athol "Glengarry School House" which has been restored at Upper Canada Village.

The funeral was held August 18th at the Munro Funeral Home, Maxville where Rev. W. E. Henderson officiated at the service. The pallbearers were John McEwen, William MacEwen; Campbell Macleod, Donald Ferguson, William Metcalfe and John Metcalfe. Burial was in the Maxville Cemetery.

S.D.&G. Separate School Board to close 10 classrooms

The SD and G separate school system will have about four more teachers this year than last.

Percy Beaudette, head of the English section, said that although some teaching positions have been eliminated by lower enrolment, more special education teachers will increase the overall staff by about four.

The French section will have about the same number of teachers as last year, said superintendent Yvon Martin. "Because of lower enrolment, we will close about 10 classrooms," he said. "But the number of teachers won't decrease because of new services and special classes we will offer."

The French section had only 20 teachers resignations last June. Replacements were found from area graduates and experienced teachers.

The French section will also have six new principals this year.

Lucien Gauthier, teacher at John XXIII, Principal at Ste. Anne; Roger Davidson, vice-principal at John XXIII, principal at Immaculate-Conception; Raymonde Labelle, principal at North Lancaster, principal at St. Joseph; Claude Mallette, teacher at Elda-Rouleau in Alexandria, principal at St. Joseph in Lancaster; Robert Denis, teacher from John XXIII, principal at Ste. Lucie in Long Sault; and Donald Menard, teacher at North Lancaster, principal of the school.

Medical man at Huntingdon is recognized

The Huntingdon, Que., Gleaner, Recently reported on Huntingdon's 150th anniversary celebrations. It included a tribute paid to Dr. F. G. McCrimmon by presentation of a plaque at the official opening banquet, in recognition of his services to the town and community since 1935.

His early schooling was with Huntingdon Academy. He graduated in Medicine from McGill University. After a period in general practice at Waterloo, Que., he returned to Huntingdon.

He is a member of the active staff of the Barrie Memorial Hospital and of the Huntingdon County Hospital, and for the past 25 years has been Director of Professional Services of Huntingdon County Hospital.

A second recognition that week came to Dr. McCrimmon raising his recognition to the national level with the notice of his appointment as a member of the Order of Canada. The investiture will be this autumn.

Dr. McCrimmon has a Lancaster Township heritage. His mother, Lucy McGregor, was a descendant of a pioneer McGregor family. His father, Norman McCrimmon, was a son of John McCrimmon, who was a young child when the family came from Scotland in 1816, and settled on Lot 26, Second Concession of Lancaster Township.

60,000 voices can't talk back.

The Ontario government has silenced its employees.

Our job is to provide services to the public. We work in colleges, hospitals and offices. We drive snow-plows, inspect your food and protect your environmental rights.

The irony is that we have few rights ourselves. Many of us feel we are being used by the government.

Take for example the last budget. The government attempted to woo your vote by cutting back on the civil service.

This will save taxpayers a fifth of a cent on their tax dollar. That isn't even a pittance when you consider that the budget calls for over $10-billion of your money.

You see, to the government we are political pawns.

And that's not good.

People who work with retarded children, the sick and the infirm, those who run our correctional centres and inspect our food have been cut back.

Public services will suffer.

But the government won't let us take part in the democratic process to bring about change.

For us that is illegal.

We can't canvass for a candidate. We can't speak or write publicly on any party's platform. We can't talk about the real issues.

We have fewer civil rights than other citizens. All we want is equality.

And that won't cost taxpayers a cent.

We hope that you will vote for civil rights . . . equal rights for everyone.

We only want to be heard.

Whose rights go next?

Civil Service Association of Ontario

Mutual Fire Aid group want use of EMO radios, equipment

Fifty-seven members of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Mutual Fire Aid Association held their regular meeting in the community centre at Crysler, on Monday, August 18th.

President John Benoit of Crysler, introduced Finch Township Reeve C. E. Johnstone and Councillor Aurele Forgues and welcomed all members.

Lou Carriere, County co-ordinator, presided over the election of officers to positions not filled at the annual meeting in Cornwall on June 16th. The results of these nominations were as follows:

1st. Vice-President—Claude Cousineau, Morewood;
2nd Vice-President—Jim Graham, Alexandria;
Secretary—Gilles Leduc, Crysler;
Point System Chairman—Remi Prudhomme, Alexandria.

All officers were sworn in by Chief Carriere.

The financial report presented by Treasurer Carl Robinson showed that the Association had $366.83 in the bank and no bills required attention at this time.

Chief Lou Carriere read a letter from the Fire Marshal's office indicating that a Regional Fire Training School would be held in Cornwall, from April 26th to 30th, 1976.

Mr. Carriere also informed the meeting that he had contacted J. C. Whitteker, Warden of the United Counties, to request that the radios and apparatus owned by the soon to be dissolved E.M.O. of the United Counties, be turned over to this association. He mentioned that the number of radios would be almost enough to equip all of our departments.

Chief Bernie Raymond of Apple Hill nominated Perry Tinkess, Avonmore, to chair a committee to follow up these demands. The other members of the committee are Chief 'Gib' Raistrick, Chief Cliff Rombough, Maurice Roussey and Chief Lou Carriere.

President John Benoit reminded members about the annual Firemen's Fastball Tournament to be held in Crysler on August 23rd.

Maurice Roussey mentioned that there have been foul-ups lately in activating Mutual Aid calls. County co-ordinator Lou Carriere explained in detail rules and codes to activate the system and it was suggested that a few minutes be set aside at each future meeting to instruct the members on this subject.

It was moved by Lou Carriere and seconded by chief Cyril Ray of Long Sault, that a committee of four members, to be selected by the President, be formed to study and present revisions to the constitution, at a future meeting.

The Ontario Fire Marshal's office is sponsoring a seminar, date to be set later, for chiefs, officers and members of councils, to study organization By-Laws.

The next regular meeting is to be held in Chesterville on October 20th.

Draws for two door prizes were both won by Crysler firemen, Raymond Landry and Roger Ouimet.

Refreshments and lunch were served by the host department.
