Kenyon urging direct counties elections

Issue surfaces again, council splits on vote with reeve, deputy reeve opposing

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Kenyon councillor Owen Walker wants to restructure United Counties Council so members are elected directly by voters, and more accountable to voters.

Walker pointed to a "growing concern that there is hesitation by counties council to manage and control the affairs of the counties in a direct and positive way."

Kenyon council passed the Walker restructuring resolution by a narrow 3-2 vote, Nov. 30.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance and Deputy Reeve Donald Besner, who currently sit on Counties council, voted no.

Walker argued that counties council members are not elected specifically for the purpose of county government, and yet have the power to levy taxes on residents, and that there is a definite "lack of accountability to the people."

The resolution will be circulated to all 19 other municipalities in the United Counties for their approval.

The resolution asks the provincial government to restructure the United Counties so that all members are directly elected, that composition of counties council be decided in consultation with the member municipal councils and residents, and that the number of elected representatives not necessarily be based on the 20-member municipalities.

United Counties Council is made up of 37 reeves and deputy reeves, elected to its 20 member municipalities. Small villages of Lancaster, Maxville and Finch, are represented by their reeves alone.

"There should be a direct connection between the people and county government," Councillor Blair Williams agreed, supporting Walker's resolution.

Williams reported, "Kenyon council asked a serious question about roads recently and we got a response from the county engineer, an employee, and no response from the elected officials — who do we hold responsible?

"Our reeve and deputy reeve are not accountable."

Reeve Vallance said: "I am accountable to people directly for what happens at counties council."

Deputy Reeve Besner suggested Williams and Walker attend a counties council meeting. "They are open to the public."

Lively meeting on staggered busing hours expected

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

You should be at GDHS tonight if you're a taxpayer, parent or secondary school student tied to the public board of education.

Officials from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Public School Board of Education will be meeting with the public to discuss several proposed cost- cutting measures.

The meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will centre around implementing staggered hours for rural elementary and secondary schools and full-day alternate-day Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten.

If approved by the board, there would be fewer buses on the road and that would trim $800,000 from the transportation budget. That would save each taxpayer about $4, Executive Assistant to the Director of Education John Beveridge says.

The measures could be in place as early as September, 1994.

Depending on how school board trustees vote, taxpayers will either save money or be forced to loosen their pursestrings when their municipal tax bill arrives next year.

Parents may have to hire babysitters more often if the board approves the measures. And some secondary students will have trouble holding down a part- time job.

By voicing your concerns, asking questions and making suggestions, you have the power to sway the way school board trustees will vote.

Tonight's get-together at GDHS between the public and school board officials should be lively, if the meetings held outside of Glengarry County are any indication.

Tonight's meeting is the latest in a round of public consultation meetings the school board has held over the past few weeks. Two meetings have already been held - one at Tagwi Secondary School in Avonmore and the other at Seaway District High School in Iroquois.

Beveridge says approximately 100 people attended each meeting and he expects similar numbers at tonight's meeting.

Beveridge says he's been pleasantly surprised by the amount of thought that the public has given to the proposals.

"I'm pleased with the input the public has made at those two meetings. That's exactly what we were looking for."

A group of school board officials are participating in public meetings. The officials will present the proposals and get feedback from the public. Although the school board makes the decision, response and suggestions from the public will be discussed and given a great deal of thought at voting time, Beveridge says.

Staggered hours would see secondary school students attend school earlier and leave earlier and elementary school students would arrive and leave later. Bus drivers would do twice the number of routes - one for elementary school students and one for secondary school students.

Alternate-day full-day Junior Kindergarten and Kindergarten would also reduce the number of buses on the road.

Instead of paying for 142 buses to be on the road, there would only be 99, Director of Education Jim Dilamarter said in a past interview.

The public seems more willing to pay the extra $4 than make these changes, Beveridge says.

"People always resist change. When we tell them how much will be saved many say: 'If that's all you're talking about then bill us. We're willing to pay.'

"They seem receptive to maintaining the status quo by paying the

New group seeks to help needy

Christmas. It is a time of celebration for most people.

But it also can be a time of sadness for others, who do not have as many reasons to celebrate as those more fortunate have.

This year, Susan Lalonde of Alexandria, is hoping to change that.

Lalonde, who together with a group of 35 Christians from throughout the region has formed HOPE (Help Other People Enjoy), will be doing something special this Christmas.

"We're a whole bunch of people with a lot of love and we want to share this love with somebody," said Lalonde.

She and her group will put on a Christmas Eve dinner Dec. 24, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Glengarry Sports Palace for underprivileged or lonely people in the area.

The use of the sports palace has been donated, and even the cook for the town facility has offered to volunteer services for the event.

High schools will canvass for Lions fund

Senior high school students will be working Dec. 15 to help make Christmas and little more cheery for the less-fortunate this season.

The students from Glengarry District High School and Ecole Secondaire Regionale Glengarry will be canvassing for donations for the Lions Club Christmas basket campaign.

The canvassing will take place from 6 to 8 p.m. The baskets will be delivered on Dec. 21.

The dinner — as of last Wednesday, Lalonde was expecting to draw up to 150 people — will be put on with the help of donations from local merchants, volunteers and the general public.

So far, the response has been overwhelming, she said.

"Everybody wants to help. Everybody wants to give their 100 per cent."

She has had the idea of a goodwill dinner for a while, but only about three weeks ago decided to act on it.

"I spoke to a few of my friends and they thought that it was a good idea," she said.

She believes such a dinner is necessary to lift the spirits of those not so fortunate during the Christmas season.

Behind all the Christmas lights and decorations, often, "are a lot of sad people," she explained last Wednesday.

"At least (with the dinner) they have something to look forward to for Christmas."

Her group has sent out invitations to people on the Lion's Club Christmas Basket campaign list and is hoping to receive calls from others not on the list wishing to attend.

And they will be offered not just food for the stomach, but food for the spirit as well, Lalonde said, something "that will last longer than food."

The dinner is being held from 4 to 7 p.m. to allow people wishing to attend Christmas eve church services the opportunity to do so.

For those who want to stay longer than 7 p.m. to talk and mingle with others, HOPE has use of the hall until 9 p.m., Lalonde said.

Anyone wishing to attend the evening can call HOPE at 525-3260 or 525-4745.

We'll be publishing next two issues earlier than usual

In order to better serve our advertisers over the Christmas shopping season and to accommodate holidays, The Glengarry News will be published earlier over the next two weeks, leading up to Christmas.

Next week's issue will be in the stores and mailed on Tuesday, Dec. 14. This means that the advertising deadlines will be moved up to 5 p.m. this Friday, Dec. 10. All news correspondents should have most of their submissions into the office by then.

The following week, the News will be in the stores and mailed on Monday, Dec. 20. This means all advertising deadlines will be moved up to 5 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 16. Again, correspondents are asked to have copy submitted prior to noon on Friday, Dec. 17.

The last issue of 1993 will be in the stores and mailed on the usual Wednesday, Dec. 29 The deadline for that issue is 5 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 22.

The News office will close on Friday, Dec. 24 and will remain closed for the holidays until Tuesday, Jan. 4.

Advertisers should also note that the annual Glengarry News Christmas Greetings section deadline is this Thursday, Dec. 9 (tomorrow) at 3 p.m., for insertion in the Monday, Dec. 20 issue.

Join in Alexandria's caroling parade to light up the tree

Organizers hope to fill Alexandria's Main Street with hundreds of glow sticks, the sound of English and French Christmas songs and carols and Gaelic music during the chamber's Christmas Candlelight parade and party, beginning at Alexandria Loeb at 7 p.m. tommorrow night (Thursday, Dec. 9).

Everyone is invited to participate and join in the parade. Glow sticks and carol sheets will be distributed in the Loeb parking lot, before the caroling parade begins proceeding up Main Street to Mill Square, where a short Christmas concert featuring the music of the Gaelic choir will be held, approximately at 7:30 p.m.

It's also where the impressive Blue Spruce Christmas tree will be officially lighted by town mayor J.P. Touchette.

Free hot chocolate will be served at Mill Square. After the concert concludes, everyone is invited up the street to Champions Roadhouse for free hot apple cider.

Throughout the parade, and for the return, transportation aboard an open- air float courtesy of Trottier Farm Equipment will be provided for young and old who are unable to walk to Mill Square. Santa Claus is expected to be in attendance.

The fun continues this Sunday, Dec. 12, when the annual Santa Claus parade is held in the town.

The parade will follow the usual routes, departing Loeb Alexandria Parking lot at 1:30 p.m. and will proceed along Main and Kincardine to end up at the Sports Palace.

Afterwards, Santa will be there to hear the wishes of boys and girls.

Charlottenburgh opts for another planning session

Cost of strategic session in January estimated at $2,000 for excursion to Gananoque hotel

By Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

Charlottenburgh council will be travelling once again to Gananoque in January to hold a strategic planning session for 1994.

Cost of the session for members of council and department heads will be $2,000, all inclusive.

The decision to hold a weekend planning session outside the municipality was based on precedent and was not the result of a resolution in open council.

Administrator-Clerk, Marcel Lapierre, told The Glengarry News that although there was no formal resolution regarding the planning session, "There were sufficient expressions made by members in open council to suggest they were intending to go."

Lapierre defended the planning session, pointing out that Charlottenburgh is a "multi-million dollar corporation. Do you plan? Do you budget? You have to have definite goals. It's beyond me to say how you're going to plan without getting together."

According to Lapierre, the time in Gananoque is well spent allowing council sufficient opportunity to plan its year-long goals without distraction from family or personal concerns.

Lapierre also said that several members of council did not attend conventions to which they were entitled last year, resulting in a savings to the municipality.

"There was entitlement for each member of council to attend two conventions during the year.'

That was done during the budgetary process in open council."

He said, to his knowledge, that Deputy-Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy attended no conventions last year and that the three councillors, Frank Prevost, Don Kannon and George Shoniker had gone to one each.

Convention allowances are set at the counties rate, with a typical three day convention in Toronto costing about $825 plus registration fee.

"To assume a cost of $1,000 per member per convention would not be outrageous", said Lapierre.

The $2,000 figure at The Glen House in Gananoque compares favorably with quotes Lapierre says he received from Cornwall establishments.

Cost at the Ramada Inn, according to Lapierre, would be $2,425 plus taxes and gratuities, while he said he had "verified" that the Parkway (Best Western) would also be more expensive.

Repeated efforts by The News to obtain a report on last year's strategic planning session have failed, although the municipality did release a "year-end review" of objectives it had met during 1993.

This press release was received by The News after a council brief on Dec. 1 indicated a report on the 1993 planning session had not yet been received.

Lapierre said that Reeve MacDonald had indicated that members of the media would be welcome to attend the planning session in Gananoque - at their own expense.

Cleaning up Kenyon property is a messy job

"Rats scurried everywhere," Building Officer Ken Robbers told council, describing cleanup of a property in Greenfield, next to the township hall.

Seventeen years accumulation of manure and garbage was hauled away from the site, Kenyon council was told at a Nov. 30 meeting.

"After the cleanup a cow was slaughtered on the property, right in front of health unit officials," Robbers reported.

"The next morning more manure was forked out, starting a new 17-year era."

Cleanup of the old barn and deserted house was ordered by Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Neighbors complained of the smell and rats in the area to both the health unit and the township.

Robbers said 20 loads of garbage and 20 loads of manure were carted away last week, and exterminators laid down bait to kill the rats.

Cleanup progress of several other properties was discussed and notices of property standards violations will be mailed.

Lancaster parade highlights traditional and unconventional

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Hundreds of area residents lined the streets of Lancaster Saturday afternoon anxiously awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus.

Although the snow didn't start falling until early evening, that didn't stop children, parents and grandparents from getting into the holiday spirit. The annual Christmas parade in Lancaster was a hit with the young and young at heart.

Approximately 30 floats paraded along Main Street from Smithsfield Hall to the local Legion where Santa Claus greeted the youngsters.

As always the parade was a surefire hit. It featured angels, waving children, young Christmas carollers and Santa Claus.

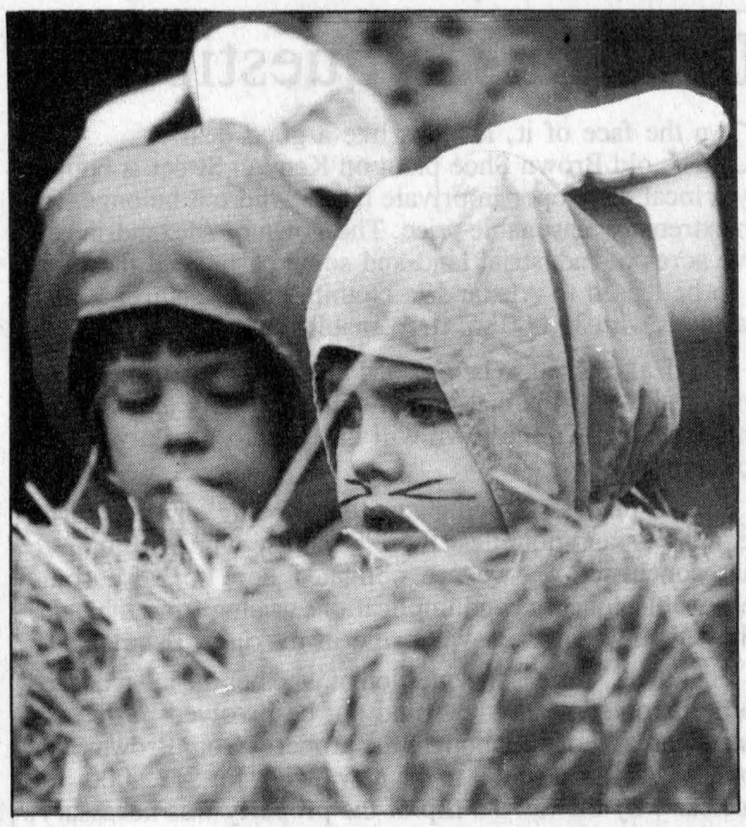
But it was the unconventional characters such as a hockey stick wielding duck, a walking Christmas tree and Raggedy Ann and Andy that captured the attention and imagination of the young children.

The judges had a tough time selecting the winners in the different categories because the entries were all of a high quality. Lancaster Recreation, Lancaster Freshmart and Berrigan's Hotel finished first, second and third in the best float category.

Part of the fun was trying to find your friend or relative on the float which was no easy task because of some of the wonderful costumes.

St. Nick will be piling up the frequent flyer miles over the next several weeks as the jolly fellow participates in several other Christmas parades in Glengarry.

Alexandria's Christmas parade will be held Sunday, Dec. 12. The parade in Martintown is also scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 19.



Saturday's Christmas parade in Lancaster was a big success. Pictured are: (top photo, going clockwise) the snowman and Raggedy Ann were a big hit as they handed out candy to the kids, the pair were also a big hit with the judges as the snowman and Raggedy Ann finished first and second in the best walking costume category; Donna Pruner had her hands full holding Samantha Brady, 4, while the two waved to the crowd from the Lancaster Freshmart float; this pair of Lancaster Public School students stayed warm and out of the spotlight hiding behind a few bales of hay; Melissa Daigle, 4, of Apple Hill was one of many youngsters who had a sore arm at the end of Saturday's parade after waving to the crowd; this girl was kept busy blowing her own horn while her musical companion strummed away on a harp; children waved, shuffled and danced to stay warm while on the float from St. John's Anglican Church.

Charlottenburgh gives itself a glowing appraisal

Charlottenburgh Township council, in a glowing year-end self-appraisal, says that it has met a number of the goals for 1993, some of which were established at a planning session held last January.

In a press release and report prepared by township clerk Marcel Lapierre and Reeve Dave MacDonald, noted high on the list is the 1993 municipal mill rate, set at the previous year's rate, and which has remained unchanged since 1991.

Other priorities it accomplished, the report says, is the council's successful negotiation and agreement extension with the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) for another three years.

The agreement was completed in advance of the provincial government's social contract.

Among other accomplishments the township says it completed in 1993:

•the municipality continues to operate on a payroll cost which is $100,000 a year less than it was when the present council assumed office;

•overall improvement in the relations between council and the ratepayers;

•improved relations with provincial ministires;

•the obtaining by council of a five-year certificate of operation for the problem-plagued North Landfill site from the Ministry of the Environment and Energy, effective this month. The municipality has also taken over the management and operation of the site, ''resulting in greater compliance with the MOEE at a reduced cost,'' the report said;

•the expected westerly extension of the Purcell Water and Sewage system to include 25 new hookups, and the commencement of a study (at 85 per cent funding from the MOEE) for ''sewage remediation'' for the Martintown area.

As well, recreation facilities for residents have been improved with the opening of Front Park, a multi-faceted recreation area in Glen Walter; the Ecole Sainte Marie playground, a joint community/municipalities undertaking in Green Valley; the upgrading of tennis court lighting in Martintown, and the assistance given to the Friends of the Summerstown Recreation Area in their endeavors to upgrade cross-country skiing facilities.

In road work, the report says council, ''established standards of service and maintenance to afford the taxpayer a more consistent level of service, level of expectation and to permit the township to better plan and budget its activities.''

An aggressive gravelling program was undertaken during the year, and 10 km of Kenyon Boundary Road reconstruction was completed in conjunction with the neighboring municipality. The resurfacing of the Glen Road from Cty. Rd. 27 to Kraft was also completed, as well as a pilot project on Pilon Point Road, where a double lift (tar and chip) surface was placed.

Municipal acquisitions during the year included land (along Paragon and Street Roads) for continuation of, and future road reconstruction projects; major new equipment for township fire departments; computer hardware and software; and a new 50 horse power motor for the arena.

A new Official Plan, in the process for four years, was approved after negotiations with the Ministry of Municipal Affairs. In addition, a comprehensive waterfront development policy for lands along the St. Lawrence, was initiated in order ''to better address'' one of Charlottenburgh's most vital assets.

In summing up the achievement of goals set at the Strategic Planning session, Reeve MacDonald said that with the future objectives of the current council, ''Charlottenburgh will truly remain a pleasant place to live.''

Council intends to hold another planning session next month, also in Gananoque. Cost for the weekend at the Glen House will be $2,000, all inclusive.

Clerk-treasurer, Marcel Lapierre, says that this price compares favorably with quotes he has received from Cornwall establishments.

Cost at the Ramada Inn, according to Mr. Lapierre, would be $2,425 plus taxes and gratuities, while he said he had ''verified'' that the Parkway (Best Western) would also be more expensive.

Lapierre said that Reeve MacDonald had indicated The Glengarry News would be welcome to attend the planning session.

In a press release attached to the report, issued to The News last week, Reeve MacDonald said ''that the steps taken by the current council, course laid during strategic planning sessions and developed through the budgetary process, have with a unified effort of council brought progress and accomplishments to the township,'' and steps taken by the current council have brought ''progress and accomplishment to the township.''

More eyesore complaints for Lancaster Township

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

For the second time in as many meetings, Lancaster Township council received a letter from residents complaining of a community eyesore.

At its last general meeting, held Wednesday, Dec. 1, council discussed what could be done about Gerard Schweitzer's Glen Norman property.

Schweitzer's property, located just east of Glen Norman on County Road 23, resembles a scrapyard more than a rural home.

His neighbors, Terry and Lynne Taylor, wrote a letter calling on council to force Schweitzer into cleaning up his act.

At council's meeting, Clerk-Treasurer Mike Samson said: ''We have to tell him to clean it up or else he's in damn deep trouble. Everthing has to be taken out.''

This time, council's discussion about the problem seemed to mirror a discussion they had at a November meeting concerning an abandoned home in Bainsville that is in a state of disrepair.

Council directed Ian MacDonald, the bylaw enforcement officer, to talk to the township's lawyer. Council members and township officials have not been able to talk to Schweitzer.

Efforts made by The Glengarry News to interview Schweitzer have also failed.

After the meeting, MacDonald said the lawyer is taking the situation under consideration to see what legal avenues the township could take.

When asked, MacDonald agreed that one of the options open to the township could be cleaning up the mess and add the cost of the work on to the property's arrears.

Several cars and a truck, apparently awaiting demolition, sit in the yard. Old water tanks, wood scraps and, what appears to be, an abandoned trailer also sit in the yard — about one hundred feet away from the road. A heap of scrap metal is visible alhough its partially covered up by some evergreen trees.

The Taylors, who live across the road from Schweitzer, telephoned Lancaster Township Councillors Steve Preston and Roger Brazeau to bring the problem to their attention. Council discussed the matter at past meetings several months ago but no action was taken.

In a brief telephone interview, Lynne said she sent the letter to council in hopes that action will be taken.

The situation has become worse in recent months. Lynne hasn't been able to talk to Schweitzer, who she suspects is living in California during the winter months, or the man who's been dumping the garbage there.

Lancaster OPP besieged by rash of mailbox bashing complaints

Lancaster OPP have recently been beseiged by irate homeowners telephoning to report vandalize mailboxes.

Since early November, residents in the Bridge End, Glen Nevis and North Lancaster areas have been plagued by vandals playing ''mailbox baseball,'' says Lancaster OPP const. Gilles Ruest.

To date, 15 homeowners have filed damage reports, totalling approximately $1,000, with the OPP.

A group of youths are suspected to be the cause of the problem. Driving along county roads late at night, they've been bashing mailboxes using baseball bats.

Ruest says there are other mailboxes that have been damaged or destroyed by the youths but have not been reported and says people should call Lancaster OPP.

Ruest doesn't know if the same group damaging mailboxes are doing the same to rural numbering signs.

Lancaster OPP are appealing to Neighborhood Watch programs to step up their efforts and be vigilant. If you hear or see anyone damaging mail boxes, rural numbering signs or other property call 1-800-267-2677.

Deal raises questions

On the face of it, it looks like a good deal. The old Brown Shoe plant on Kenyon Street is bought by a local developer in private hands where it belongs, for an extremely reasonable price. The Town of Alexandria gets five acres of industrial land and some cash. And the plant is to be leased to Alexandria clothing manufacturer Finica Fashions with 30,000 sq. ft. to enable the company to grow.

The deal seemed to be hatched in an atmosphere of goodwill. If the result is that Finica will eventually move into it and expand, then the town will have performed a valuable community service.

Still, at the risk of being accused of being unneccessarily negative — and doubtless there are those who will jump to that conclusion — we are obligated here to raise some reasonable concerns and implications arising from the deal. They all involve the town's role in making it happen.

First of all, there is the question of whether the town needed to be involved at all. It should not be involved in the real estate game, though it bought the property from Brown Shoe for $100,000 and sold it to the new owner for $125,000. It's unclear why the town's flip of the property was necessary, or why the vendor and purchaser could not do what many other parties selling and buying property does, which is to work the deal through a real estate company without a go-between flip.

If there are gains to be had by sealing the deal this way, great. Perhaps the town could share the reasoning and benefits with the rest of their ratepayers in case they would like to take advantage of a similar deal. If not, why not?

The fact is, the town may be unwittingly helping to deflate the value of other industrial and commercial properties in town by buying and then selling the plant at nearly a third of the appraised value. Were these implications taken into consideration?

Second, what is the town going to do with the five acres it acquired in the deal? As far as we know, council does not have a long or short-term plan to guide it. The deal was done without public consultation, without any discussion of alterations to the industrial park.

This happenstance approach to development has led to a checkerboard industrial park where a day care centre, a cultural centre, and a non-profit housing development have been built across the road from industries including a recycling centre.

Third, there is the question of procedure in buying and selling the property. The mayor said the deal "started as a joke one day, talking to Robert Poirier (the real estate agent). I came up with a price and I said the town should buy it for the industrial incubator (a chicken hatchery) and we were talking back and forth and, well, we ended up buying it for $100,000."

This seems pretty flimsy reasoning to buy a property. And the option of tendering to give other developers an opportunity to bid on the land by public tender seems to have never been considered.

Finally, deals involving the ratepayer's money need to be totally transparent. Safeguards and procedures need to be followed so that the town can be seen to be doing the right thing. That means when the deal was announced, the town should've distributed copies of the agreement of purchase and sale as well as any liens or back taxes owing on the land. Perhaps that will be forthcoming.

All of this is not to take away from the apparent fact that this is a good deal. We applaud the town for helping to facilitate an amicable measure to further the efforts of industry and prosperity.

But council must be ever vigilant, that the appearance of what it does and how it is done, is often as important as the result its actions bring.

Put away a little to help a lot

It's that time of year again. The excitement is building, the stores are bustling, Christmas music fills the air, and little by little, it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas.

If only it were all so perfect. If only everybody could enjoy the warmth and pleasures of a Christmas in Glengarry.

Unfortunately, not everybody can. And for many of these people from the very young to the very old, Christmas can be miserable.

The good work of the Alexandria Lions Club through its efforts with the Christmas baskets campaign, has met that need admirably in the past. And this year, the Agape Centre in Cornwall will be bolstering their efforts by taking over the responsibility for families more than four miles away from Alexandria.

Both organizations need non-persishable goods and monetary donations, which also means they need your help. While mulling over your shopping list this season, leave a space for the Lions/Agape Christmas Baskets Project. And make somebody else's holiday a little brighter.

A clash of tradition at the Legion

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

The patience level was down a quart last week. And I don't think it has anything to do with Christmas shopping or lack thereof. At least one reason has to do with watching the politically correct rage over the Canadian Legion wrestling with itself over allowing turbans in its branches throughout the country.

You'd think by the ensuing media dust-up that people don't have enough to worry about, especially at what is supposed to be a charitable time of the year.

In fact, judging by the reactions, it is questionable whether many of the commentators and critics have set foot inside a branch or bothered to question many legionnaires on their views.

If they had, they'd know that Legion members hold as many varying opinions on the topic of who must remove headwear in the branch, as the rest of the population.

Most of the Legion members we've heard about don't have a serious problem with it, that is to say, they wouldn't object to a turban being worn in the branch.

Fortunately the national office of the Legion issued an order last week to individual branches to start admitting members and guests with turbans or yarmulkas. Failure to do so could mean losing their charter, the national office said.

It was the right decision for logical reasons. The obvious one is steeped in history, mostly through the military record of the Ghurkas, who fiercely and courageously battled Axis armies alongside Canadian and British soldiers during WW II.

Nobody asked them to remove their turbans before they fought, bled or died.

And the Legion is an international organization. Would an exclusive policy shut out Indian officers, our military allies, from visiting branches here?

But, before anyone accuses some Legion members of intolerance for questioning the move, there should be a few points made.

There are undoubtedly some Legion members who oppose the wearing of turbans for racist reasons, as there are those among the general public who rant about "them." But they are, at least in this neck of the woods, in the minority.

As anyone who has spent any time in a Legion understands, removing a hat before you enter a branch is itself a tradition, based on respect of the Queen, any women present and soldiers who died in the line of battle.

I was reminded of that at the Almonte branch about eight years ago, shortly after entering wearing a toque after covering the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies. Within a minute, I was quietly but sternly reminded of my hat, and the significance of removing it.

Experiencing that distinct reaction to tradition makes it easier to understand that, from the perspective of veterans who have zealously followed it for 50 years, the wearing of a turban in a Legion usurps that tradition in favor of another one; the former born out of respect for Canadian history and institutions and the latter out of respect for Sikh religious belief.

It's obvious to anyone who listens to the "other side", that the anxiety stems from tradition versus tradition, not social intolerence versus religious freedom. Then the argument becomes, is a Canadian tradition any more or less worthy of complete respect than a Sikh one?

It's not an easy question to ask in these cautious times.

Also quietly irritating some Legion members is the sudden interest in the Legion by critics on matters of political correctness, when those same people have been silent on other Legion-related matters such as the plight of impoverished veterans, crumbling cenotaphs or struggling Legion branches themselves.

Often any Legion interest outside the branch begins and ends with the purchase of a poppy at a corner store and maybe a passing glance at the parade of veterans during Remembrance Day.

Surely the recent focus on the controversial side of one issue engaging the attention of Legion headquarters and the national media, promotes a narrow view of the Royal Canadian Legion and its long history of service.

Even better than the wheel thing

News to me

by Greg Kielec

Sweat dripping down my forehead, the wind rushing through my hair, I push myself to the limit while steadily peering down at the speedometer.

The strains of my favorite music resonate in my ears keep my eye on street traffic.

It can never pass for the real thing, but getting your miles in with your bike on a wind trainer is certainly better than no biking at all.

Over the depressingly frigid months of a Canadian winter, there really is no other option.

So I watch the street below out of an open livingroom window, with a fan blowing simulated wind in my hair.

That's about as real as it gets.

Sure, I don't have the beauty and challenge of Glengarry's rolling hills inspiring me to reach higher performance levels.

But I have managed to convince myself it does have its perks.

For example, how many road cyclists can simply get off their bike and go to the fridge for a refill whenever their energy drink of choice has been exhausted.

If you are out in the hot sun with a few miles of monster hills standing between you and the next convenience store, you probably have wished you were in your own livingroom with the fridge just a few steps away.

And flat tires are suddenly no longer a concern when you know the only place you can be stranded is in front of the television on your livingroom couch.

Yet another advantage is you can listen to music without worrying if a giant transport is bearing down on you from behind, ready to blow you into the nearest farmer's field.

Besides, who can really carry four or five pieces of stereo equipment along with them while on a cycling trip, not to mention the incredible length of extension cord that would be needed.

A helmet is not entirely necessary, although less-experienced type with the roller-type trainers, may opt for one anyway perchance they ended up crashing full speed into their livingroom wall.

The roller-type trainers have not support for the bike at all. It is up to the rider to keep pedalling and maintain good balance. If not, they may have a not so pleasant trip.

Home cycling does not just place you close to your fridge, you are also just a hop, skip and jump away from your bathroom if the need ever arises.

You can stay hydrated without worrying about being stuck with nowhere to "go".

Mind you, it is tough to get motivated for a trip when you have four walls around you and nowhere to go.

But, for a few months of the year, I'm willing to use my imagination, winding my way through the French countryside in pursuit of the ever-elusive yellow jersey.

Hey, you've got to do something to make it interesting.

But I better not get too accustomed to it. It will be back to reality come spring time.

I know all too well, the hilly terrain of this county at times can be merciless.

Like on the stationary trainer, however, a little imagination can help.

Only when you open your eyes, you know that hill is still going to be there.

And you will be wondering why you even bothered to leave the safe confines of your livingroom.

And praying to God you don't get a flat.

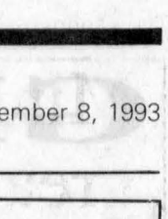
The Coddy of Barra

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna



A news article the other day in the daily papers reminded me that I should continue the story of "Polly" whisky. In London, so we read, the last bottles of the famous sunken ship were auctioned off for an incredible amount.

John MacPherson, "the uncrowned king of Barra," was better known by his nickname, "Coddy." As is the case here in Glengarry, many folks are better known by their nicknames than by their given names, and if a nickname is not identification enough, a Gaelic-speaking person can always fall back on their "sloinneadh," their pedigree: "John, son of Angus, son of Duncan, son of Roderick" and so on. Some Highlanders can still give their ancestry that way, going back five or ten generations. I once had the temerity to ask the Coddy where he got his name. He gave me a sort of "fish-eye" and said that he couldn't really say. I understood his reticence when I looked up my Dwelly's Gaelic Dictionary and found that the only word that sounded like Coddy was "codag," a haddock. John MacPherson, when Anne and I first met him 40 years ago was a distinguished old gentleman, a little below medium height, with a white moustache and bright, intelligent eyes. He had a rather long face in proportion to his body, and, although I never again broached the subject of his nickname, I suppose you could imagine his schoolmates, many years ago, tacking on the "coddy" moniker. In any case, he was quite proud of it.

His old friend Pipe Major Willie Ross often visited the Coddy when he went out to teach piobaireachd (pibroch in English — the original music of the pipes) to the young people on Eriskay and South Uist. These islands had never suffered the persecution of their music as had many other places in the Highlands and produced more fine pipers per square foot than most other areas. (Professor Seumas MacNeill, founder of The College of Piping in Glasgow, once said that South Uist was the only place in the world where you could hear a woman humming a pibroch while wheeling a baby carriage!) But to return to our story of some weeks ago about the sinking of The Politician in 1941 and the bonanza of whisky that was salvaged by the islanders:

The topsoil in the Hebrides is very thin, and seaweed is carried up to the small plots of land where grain and potatoes are grown, to enrich the ground and give enough depth to the soil to grow crops. The year after The Politician went down, Willie Ross was once again the guest of the Coddy. At the evening meal, Willie remarked on the small size of the potatoes. "They're only about the size of peas, Coddy," said Willie. "Oh well," said the Coddy, "you can't have it both ways. There's only a few inches of soil on top to grow them in and then the bottles start!"

The Coddy liked to tell the story of the man (not himself, of course — these stories always were told about "some fellow") who tried to hide some bottles down a rabbit warren. "Every time the fellow pushed a bottle down a hole it would come 'clunk' up against another bottle that was already there. After trying six or seven, he finally gave up and just sat down and drank up all he had. It took him three days."

Unlike the film "Whisky Galore" or "Tight Little Island," as it was called on this side of the Atlantic, some men were actually arrested for illegal possession of spirits and brought to trial at the courthouse in Lochmaddy, North Uist. A few were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment, but one man was let off due to the ingenuity of his lawyer. "Isn't it a shame," the barrister said, "that a man can be tried and convicted in a language that he does not understand!" The English-speaking judge let him off. "Of

Ministers contributed greatly to dairy success

The Glengarry Farmer
by Ian Cumming 347-2949

The Rev. Charles Gordon (Ralph Connor) along with being a famous Glengarry-born author, was a minister who was a soulmate of the common man. He sweated in the hay fields, worked in the lumber camps and experienced the terror and carnage of the trenches in World War I. Being he was one of ''them,'' made his message special, even in the eyes of the hardened unbeliever.

There are three respected Glengarry dairymen who know the devastation of a barn fire, the cost of mastitis in cows, quota cuts, crop failures and yet the privilege of living in a caring rural community. They possess all the ''Connor'' traits of calloused hands combined with gentleness, conviction and dignity. They are also ministers of the gospel covering three different denominations. Deacon Kerry McDonald who assists at the Catholic churches in Williamstown and Martintown; Brian Brodie of the Lochiel Presbyterian Reform Church; and Mackie Robertson of the Bainsville United Church who preaches around Glengarry when ordained clergy are not available.

Each is an article on their own and this tidbit will not do justice. One is struck by the similarities in the depth of their commitment to God, purpose in preaching and humbleness of character.

Kerry and Brian have been preaching (along with farming) for the past eight years and Mackie the last two. All credit their wives and families for the support and encouragement needed to tackle two endeavors. Kerry along with his wife Francine is involved with baptism, weddings, funerals, regular services and visitations. When away, work on the farm is handled by his children; one son a MacDonald college grad, home full time. Brian's capable ''home crew'' is still in school and finds ''time constraints from having to earn a living as well as tend the flock of God are real, however God has never failed to provide in both areas.'' Mackie's time away is covered by his experienced dad Archie and family.

When asked if their purpose was to fight loudly for social justice none saw that as their role. ''My first priority is to preach the gospel'' Kerry wrote. ''From this flows leadership by example. And from this the drawing of hope and strength.''

''What we need as people and nations are not just private faith and public debate but earnest seeking of God'' wrote Brian. He feels his duty ''begins with upholding Christ before the people.''

''My messages are usually simple in the fact that I try to relate history and the Bible to our everyday life'' wrote Mackie. ''At this point I try to stay clear of deep theology (much to the congretation's relief).''

All three were similar in their replies to what rewards they received from their work. ''When you are thanked by a person who has gained a little bit of peace from something you have said, it is a tremendous uplifting feeling,'' responded Mackie.

It was Kerry who best summed it up for all three when he said: ''It is not external praise but inner peace. I am not called to successfulness (all success belongs to God.) I am called to faithfulness.''

For someone like me who lately has viewed Christianity from a cynical ''safe'' distance and tiptoed to the fringes in the best of times; it was a poignant reminder doing this article. There were few heroes or great people in my critical mind anymore. These men would be uncomfortable if they were called heroes; yet it is not only them but what and whom they represent that has gained our respect. There is no higher honor one can bestow to a ''Glengarry Farmer.''

Updates: GATT talks appear headed for a settlement. Being Canada, since November 91, has been the only country stridently demanding clarrification of Article 119 its inclusion appears unlikely. A U.S. trade official was also recently quoted in saying that tarification protection of our supply-managed products is impossible against U.S. products since no new tariffs can be imposed under the F.T.A. Even if successful no tariffs can exist after five years so therefore no phasing in period.

Sources form the OMMB and Canadian Animal Health Institute say B.S.T. will be approved for use in Canada by Health and Welfare Canada on Dec. 18.

Letters to the editor

Compassion for family should be paramount

To the editor:

I'm writing this letter after reading the article you printed on page 1 in the Glengarry News of Dec. 1, 1993 headlined ''Farmers crossing scene of car/train fatality.''

Did you not think of the pain such a descriptive article would do to the grieving family and friends? I'm sure nobody enjoyed reading this senseless article. This is not the first time the News has reported fatalities with photos with no consideration of the pain such articles and photos do to the grieving families and friends.

Why can't reporters and newspapers show a little compassion at times like this?

Theresa MacDonald,
R.R. 3, Alexandria.

Woman pans skin shown in ad

To the editor:

I am writing to voice my concern at your use of an advertisement from a leather shop in Hawkesbury. You printed it on page 10 of the Nov. 24 issue. I am not sure what exactly it was that was being advertised, but I am certain of the exploitation, yet again, of women by the media.

The female in the ad was depicted as a sex object. She was shown partly nude, in a garage or shop, being held against a fully clothed male. If she were wearing any leather from the Hawkesbury shop it wasn't visible in the picture. Therefore, why was she in the picture at all?

I can only infer that she was being used in this ad — used to draw attention to the ad and therefore to the name and location of the store; used to suggest what can be bought along with the leather (boots?). Only part of her body is shown and it is naked and held. The fact that this person is an individual has been negated and trivialized.

This is one of the more subtle forms of abuse against women. We all read and were shocked at the recent results of a national survey on this very subject. Perhaps a start in addressing this abuse could be made at your newspaper by dropping the ad and accepting only ads that do not exploit women or any members of our society.

I am writing, as well, to the store that placed this ad and reminding them that their advertisement is not accpetable and that this consumer, for one, has taken personal exception to it.

Yours truly,
Arlene McLachlan,
Williamstown.

Ad offends all people: reader

To the editor:

I wish to correct an omission in an obituary in the Dec. 1st issue of The Glengarry News.

In the obituary of Arnold Roy McPherson, I would like it to be known that he is survived by his wife Alexina (nee MacRae) also, besides his daughter and grandchildren. Please address this oversight in next week's paper.

Thank you very much,
Lily Bissonnette,

P.S. This is my sister.

course,'' Finlay MacKenzie, the proprietor of the Lochboisdale Hotel in South Uist, told us, ''he could speak perfect English. But the judge didn't know that!''

The legend of ''Polly'' whisky lived on for many years and many a tourist was duped into buying, as a souvenir and for a premium price, a ''genuine'' bottle, suitably antiqued, that had arrived from the mainland, legitimately, the day before. A teetotaller is always at an advantage.

Vandalism and theft delivered to Alexandria post office

Police Briefs

Mail was stolen from the Alexandria post office sometime on Friday or Saturday after some mail boxes were forced open.

Alexandria police learned of the BE after they received a report of some mail lying on St. Paul Street and near Mill Square Saturday around 3 p.m.

They checked out the post office and discovered the mail boxes that were forced open and a slew of mail was dumped on the floor. It's not knwon if all the mail has been recovered.

Anyone wanting to check their mail was inconvenienced as the post office was closed.

No damage estimate was available.

Alexandria police are investigating.

Sore accident

An RR 1 Dunvegan man was treated for minor injuries and released from Glengarry Memorial Hospital Satuday afternoon following a single-car accident.

Trevor Pritchard, 20, was westbound on County Road 24, just east of County Road 30, when his 1984 Chevy drifted over to the north shoulder. Pritchard lost control of the car which veered into the north ditch and slammed into a fence.

Pritchard's Chev sustained moderate damage.

Intoxicating BE

Over $400 worth of liquor was stolen from the Alexandria liquor store sometime over the weekend.

The front door of the store was smashed with a rock. Four bottles of tequila and six bottles of vodka were stolen.

No damage estimate was available.

Hunting season opens on hot John Deere lawn tractors

Crime Stoppers is seeking the public's assistance in solving the recent theft of two John Deere lawn tractors from a Maxville farm equipment dealership.

A pair of lawn tractors - a 1993 12.5 hp STX38 tractor (serial no. M0L172X091204) and a 1993 14 hp 1X172 tractor (serial no. M0L172X091204) - were stolen from the dealership on Thursday, Nov. 18 at 1:10 a.m.

Anyone with information on this or any other crime may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Police don't want your name, they want your information.

Call Crime Stoppers at 534-8477, or, when calling long distance, 1-800-265- 8477.

Deer-car mishaps

A pair of Glengarry residents were involved in separate deer-car collisions recently.

The most recent took place Monday afternoon when an RR 1 Apple Hill woman, driving on the First Concession of Kenyon Township, spotted three deers on the road. She dodged two but hit the third.

Jean Leger, 31, was driving westbound, about 4 km west of Highway 34, when she crossed paths with the deers at 5:30 p.m.

The deer she hit was killed and her 1991 Ford pickup sustained moderate damage.

Bruce Kirton, 53, of RR 1 Dalkeith was eastbound on County Road 24, 8 km east of Highway 34, Wednesday at 5:30 a.m. when a deer ran from the north ditch.

The deer ran into the left side of Kirton's 1991 Geo and was killed. Kirton was uninjured. The car sustained minor damage.

Pole position

A St. Eugene, Quebec woman escaped injury after she hit a patch of ice and collided with a hydro pole Friday afternoon.

Sylvie Clement, 28, was driving her 1993 Dodge van south on County Road 23, near Cailloux Lane, at 3:15 p.m. when she hit a patch of ice. Her van slid towards the east shoulder and hit a hydro pole.

The pole will have to be replaced at a cost of about $1,500. Clement's van sustained moderate damage.

Car fire

Moments after a St. Jean Richelieu, Quebec woman pulled on to the shoulder of Highway 417 Monday night, her car burst into flames.

Jocelyn Gauthier, 35, was driving her 1980 Dodge east on Highway 417, just east of Dunvegan, at 7:15 p.m. when her car began having trouble accelerating.

She pulled over to the shoulder and moments later the engine caught fire

GDHS pupils captured by the Scots!

On Tuesday, Nov. 30 Glengarry District High School was captured by the Scots — in the form of bagpipes, tartan and dance.

Home forms competed to see which one sported the most tartan. In a close contest the senior home form of 12K narrowly defeated 12J.

A concert assembly featuring the Glengarry Pipe Band, the Laggan Public School Choir, (directed by Fiona Fraser, accompanied by Anne McKenna), fiddlers Allan MacPhail, Duncan MacDonald, Donald MacPhee, David MacPhee and Ian MacLeod. Two groups of dancers performed. The first group, doing the Reel was Meghan MacPherson, Kelly MacPherson, Lauren MacPherson and Aiden Burgess. The second group performing a medley, consisted of Natalie Lajoie, Jennifer Williamson, Jennifer Ogilvie, Eric Graham and Lee-Ann MacEwen. M.C. for the concert was senior student Eric MacDonald.

At lunch hour three teams vied for tug-of-war honors — a teachers' team put up a good struggle but couldn't beat their students. The winning team was the student team of Kirsten Jones, Bronwen Geddes, Julie Rogers, Renata Clingen, Haley Flaro, Jason Roach, Nick Boisvenue, Mike Madden, Shyldon Safruk and Jason Laplante.

The sheaf toss was won by Jason Laplante, with teacher Dwayne Lowe ranking second.

Cost-cutting measures to be discussed at tonight's meeting

extra $4 per year. But I don't think they'll be that receptive if that cost goes up.''

The problem, Beveridge says, is that the cuts may go deeper in a few years. Taxpayers might have to pay an extra $10 or $20 to maintain the same level of service.

These measures are being looked at because the provincial government is cutting the transportation funding for all school boards in Ontario. The difference can't be made up by trimming money from other areas because the board doesn't have much room to manoeuvre.

Implementing staggered hours and sending youngsters to school for a full day have both become hotly debated subjects. To date, the public's support of the measures hasn't been overwhelming. Many people are putting forward their own ideas on ways the board could make do with less, Beveridge says.

''The public has put forward several constructive ideas that we hadn't thought of. Even the students are attending these meetings and contributing ideas.''

Some of the ideas discussed include making only Kindergarten students attend school under the alternate-day full-day format and keep Junior Kindergarten as half a day; send the elementary school kids off to school at an earlier time and the secondary school students off to school at a later time, reversing the proposed hours for rural schools; work with the SDG Catholic School Board to come up with a plan to share and reduce transportation costs.

The meetings, which have been running over two hours long, have been chaired by trustee Susan Adams, a chairperson of the board's transportation subcommittee who is familiar with the problems and options that the board faces.

Business Administrator Rick Gales and Superintendent of Schools and Operations Colin Vickers will make a 30-minute presentation on the proposals and point out the pros and cons, Beveridge says. The threesome will field questions from the audience.

Adams, Gales and Vickers will report back to the school board later this month. The board is expected to vote on the measures sometime in late December.

Court Report

The following are among cases heard by Judge Bruce MacPhee Dec. 2, in Provincial Court (Criminal Division), in Alexandria.

Jail term

Yves Drouin, 32, who was arrested by the OPP in October driving in the wrong lane of Highway 417 near St. Isidore, was sentenced to 14 days in jail by Judge MacPhee for driving while his ability was impaired. He pleaded guilty.

Drouin, from St. Martin Beauce, Que., registered a breathalizer reading 200 milligrams of alcohol to 100 millilitres of blood. The legal limit is 80 milligrams.

Conditional discharge

Judge MacPhee ordered a conditional discharge, and three months probation, for an elderly person who stole tomatoes and cheese worth $7.49 from a local food store.

Doris MacMaster, Laggan, missed the "Glengarry's Christmas Favorites," but felt that a lot of people would be interested in this one.

This is the season we all buy the Florida Oranges from GDHS Band members. This is a recipe to use them all up.

Microwave Oranges or Grapefruit
4 cups oranges (peeled and sliced 1/4" to 1/2")
1 cup water or fruit juice

Microwave on high for nine minutes — stir every three minutes. Add 1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar — stir. Keep in covered container in fridge. Sounds like a handy but nutritious snack to me!

Kenyon wants quicker road paving

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Paving a kilometer a year on Boundary Road between Kenyon and Charlottenburgh townships could take nine years to finish, Councillor Owen Walker warned Kenyon council.

"We could be into the next century before we got the road paved," Walker pointed out at a Nov. 30 council meeting.

Walker was reacting to a report from Reeve Wilfred Vallance on a meeting between reeves and clerks from the two townships, where it was suggested each township kick in $20,000 a year towards Boundary Road improvement, beginning in 1994.

Council agreed to joint townships initiatives for reconstructing the road, but will try to speed up the project by applying for funding aid from Jobs-Ontario and the $2 billion federal infrastructure iniative.

Councillor Blair Williams suggested the funding applications when he found the idea had not been discussed at the joint meeting.

"It would be irresponsible for us not to apply for any federal or provincial funds we can," Williams said.

At a recent public meeting, Kenyon council was handed a petition signed by residents along Boundary Road, pleading for paving of the high-traffic gravel road.

Chamber opposes two councillors on BIA

Business Beat

By Joe Banks, 525-2020

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce, which spawned the movement to set up a BIA in Alexandria, is opposing the appointment of two town councillors to the yet-to-be-formed Business Improvement Association (BIA).

At its monthly executive meeting held this past Monday, the chamber resolved that it "strongly endorses the appointment of one council member only on the BIA, and that the town rescind the motion from its last meeting alluding to the appointment, and further that this appointment be an unpaid position."

Alexandria council, at its last meeting, appointed two councillors to the board, yet to be chosen — councillors Jacques Lajoie and John Hope. It has the option to appoint, in the wording of the bylaw, "at least one" councillor to the BIA.

But chamber members felt the BIA is intended to be a business organization and wanted as much representation from the general business community as possible.

"It was the concern of business people at the public meeting (on the BIA) that this was not to be political," said chamber director Pierre Burrelle. He added that it is vital that the people chosen to sit on the BIA in its charter year be able to provide plenty of time to the organization.

Meanwhile, the BIA selection committee members are to sit down this Friday morning to decide upon the seven or eight people who will be named to the BIA. They will be choosing from among 15 applications.

Support for Lancaster tourism booth sought

The Ontario Public Service Employees Union made a presentation to the Alexandria chamber at its meeting aimed at garnering support for the preservation of full-time staff at the Lancaster tourist facility off the 401.

'Smokey' Thomas of the union told the chamber, which is already circulating petitions opposing the seasonal closure of the booth, that for several reasons, closure of the facility seasonally just doesn't make economic sense.

He said the Lancaster booth is the second largest moneymaker in the province for the government, returning $73,000 to the coffers in exchange for $100,000 in wages and $10,000 in operating expenses. He said the facility is extremely important for the area, and notes there are objections to the closure from as far away as Kingston.

The chamber passed a resolution supporting the full-time operation of the booth, but added that the province look at other ways to cut costs from the tourism facility's budget operating expenses including wages.

More on chamber meeting business next week.

Glen Walter chamber sets up shop

The latest member of the Glengarry County family of chambers of commerce comes from Glen Walter.

The Glen Walter and District Chamber of Commerce executive are as follows: President, Kay Warden; Vice President, Tony Murray; Secretary, Jim Standing; Treasurer, Donna Stokes and raffle committee chairperson, June Dugas.

In a note to Alexandria chamber, Secretary Standing says the chamber is "looking forward to future cooperation with the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce."

Donate your empties to the cause

Manager Glenn Keenan of The Beer Store in Alexandria announces the store's second annual 'Donate Your Empties' event, to be hosted by local Beer Store staff, on Saturday, Dec. 18.

On that day, customers are encouraged to donate some, or all, of their empties to staff and Lions Club members manning the truck in the lot. The dollar value of the empties will be donated towards the Lions Christmas Baskets Fund, to assist people during this Christmas season.

Last year's first ever event raised over $1,000. Donations can also be made in the Lions box in the store, or with 'empties' by telling staff to donate the value of empties between now and Christmas Eve.

Lauzon Accounting building to be bookstore

Big news in the literary business: Karen and Don Wood, owners of the Glengarry Book Store, announced that they have purchased the former Lauzon Accounting at the southwest corner of Main and Derby streets.

The building will be renovated and turned into a larger version of Karen and Don's popular book store. The upper floor will be rented out.

In an announcement Dec. 6, Karen says the space will be about double of what the store now has, and the business will be able to have its own computer on the premises completed with on-line information concerning publishers and the status of books.

The new owners are senstive to the beautiful Victorian red-brick architecture, and will be trying to give the building some flavor of its 19th century heritage.

Congratulations to our Cookbook winners

Congrats to the following fanciers of fine cuisine for winning our Christmas Cookbook draw:

The grand prize of $75 was won by Mary Couture of Greenfield, Helene Levac won $50, Beverly Norman, $35 and Lucille Fletcher takes home fourth prize of $25.

Letters from Santa

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

A strange thing happened the other day. For some reason or other, a fat bundle of letters addressed to Santa Claus ended up at my house. They were sent by special courier, not Canada Post, and like most intermediaries, the delivery boy was at a loss to explain why someone thought that Santa Claus lived in an old white house in Williamstown.

It's funny the things that can bring about person's moral decline. But the more I looked at that fat packet sitting on my piano, the more I wanted to do the unmentionable — I wanted to tear open someone else's mail and SNOOP! (Not exactly a first, my children would say!)

When the water pump rolled over and died and I was prevented from doing the tasks at hand, I succumbed. The package was opened and out tumbled not one, but a whole class-load of letters to Santa.

What an interesting read! What an insight into the tickings of the Grade 3 class at Williamstown Public School! Will I be forgiven if I share a few of their secret desires and burning questions with you, readers? But first, please do me a favor, and HIDE this column from the inquisitive eyes of any of the children mentioned below! Precocity lurks when one least expects it, you know.

Jenna Lafave tells all. We learn her full name — "Jenna Mary Lynn," and that she lives in a house "that is getting built back up." (Did the wolf blow it down?) She is modest in her wishes — a Barbie Fountain and a bulletin board.

James Seymour also doesn't want much — just "a lizzard for a pet." A lizzard! How are you going to stocking stuff that one, Santa?

The perfect hostess is Vicky Hamilton, who will lay out a spread of milk and cookies for Santa in the hope that he might leave her Aladdin dolls.

In order to warn Santa of impending danger, Courtney Galeano of the Johnson Road, tells him she has a sandbox and three dogs in her backyard. Holly Sadler is also concerned that Santa doesn't trip over foreign objects en route to her house on Hay Road. "I have a wooden play set in my backyard," she writes.

Robert Bergeron of Heron Road is into mathematics (or maybe animal rights) in a big way. He wants to know, "How many reindeer it takes to go around the world?"

Lorna Fraser's letter is a puzzler. At the end of a lengthy list of requests, including a "Glow yo yo bally," she says, "Skip it!"

For Jamie-Lee Paradis, a three minute ice-cream maker tops the list. Hope she runs a cone over to the library!

A searing question scorches Debbie Elsey's letter, as she gets right down to the basics. "Santa why do you bring presents," she bluntly asks what most parents are wondering these days!

And then there's Lachlan McDonald. What can I say? Two pages filled with questions, the product of a very inquiring mind. Santa's time-management skills are scrutinized carefully. "How do you make so many toys in a little bit of time?" he wants to know. Lachlan's also into technical details. "How do you fly? How do all the raindear (sic) fly? And, "How come you don't get tired Santa? (Ho ho ho!) What Lachlan wants is "one of those things that you tie on a tree and swing down on." A grape vine? A rope? Or could it be a BUNGEE cord?

To appease my conscience I've bundled up all the letters in an untampered-with-looking way and redirected them to Santa.

Wonder what he's going to bring me, now?

It's not only the young who enjoy the holiday season. Members of the Friendly Neighbors Club held a delightful Christmas dinner on Dec. 2 at St. Mary's Centre at noon.

Chef was Clare Gougeon, ably assisted by the ladies of St. Mary's who served the meal in so smoothly a fashion that I was reminded of Sandburg's fog coming in on little cat feet.

Catherine Welcher was the lucky winner of a Christmas turkey which was donated by Robert Falconer, and Dorothy Seguin won the door prize.

Following the meal, members and guests retired to the club rooms to listen to live music.

Did you hear about the concern some locals had on Saturday following the Santa Claus parade in Lancaster? They worried Santa wouldn't be allowed into the Legion because of his headgear!

Next Sunday, Dec. 12, is White Gift Sunday at St. Andrew's Church, and this year it will be a little different. The congregation has "adopted" a family through the House of Lazarus and church members are asked to bring gifts appropriate for the family for Christmas.

The family's mother is of medium size, and the children — boys aged 10 and eight, and girls three and four years old — need clothing, toys, games, books, etc.

Donations of money can also be given for specific items and the House of Lazarus will ensure these things are provided, i.e. a turkey, etc. for Christmas dinner.

In order to raise money for their local snowsuit fund, the Lancaster Optimists are selling Christmas fruitcakes at $7 each.

If you would like to support this endeavor, please call Malcolm Cumming at 347-3828.

The verdict is in on the cakes, "Not too shabby at all," said one of my sons who is home for a spot of studying.

Translation: Great! (Half the cake has gone already!)

The community was shocked and saddened to hear of the very sudden passing of Mary McDonell, which occurred Monday evening.

To her husband Angus, their family, and her sisters, our very sincere sympathy is extended.

"It's never too late," says Hilda Lullwitz, who hopes she can inspire others to follow her lead. After 34 years in Canada, Hilda, originally from Germany, has become a Canadian citizen.

Eighteen nations were represented at the Citizenship ceremony held in Cornwall on Dec. 2, which was attended by John Cleary, MPP.

Hilda credits her daughter, Karin, with encouraging her to take the step and helping to prepare her for the questions about Canada which she had to know.

Congratulations from us all!

The new Lancaster shoe store, "If the Shoe Fits" IS owned by Williamstown resident Roger Savard.

Roger, who has a background in Industrial Sales, said he decided to open the store after moving to the area and liking it so much he didn't want to leave!

Roger says the store will have footwear for the entire family, and he will also be selling an exclusive line of men's hats, as well as fedoras, which are coming back into fashion.

Good luck and best wishes on your new venture!

And now, a farewell note from an exchange student, Lisa Curry, who has been in our midst for the past year and is going home.

"To all the people who have crossed my path, you've taught me of the open, hospitable manner of Canadians. I would like to thank the staff and students of Char-Lan District High School for their warmth, support, and knowledge. To Shelley, John and Vicky Peacey, a special thanks: I'll miss you so much. As we Aussies say, I've had a 'bonzer' time in your great country and that's Fair Dinkum!"

Community Library books talking back

Martintown
by Jean Butler
528-4319

Optimist Club

The Optimist Community Library is moving along with great gusto and is starting out its project of talking books. To start with this will be extended only to those that have difficulty reading.

The library committee has purchased one cassette tape player and a fair selection of tapes, and members were wondering if anyone else might have a cassette player, with a built-in speaker, that they no longer have use for, that could be donated to this cause.

If you do, could you call Marg Cooper at 528-4575 or bring it in when you are into the Library. Hours again are Wednesdays from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays 2 to 4 p.m. Phone number at the Library is 528-4364. Oh yes! We have quite a few more large print books in as well.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Candlelight service will be hosted by the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday evening December 19 starting at 8 p.m.

Volunteer Firemen's Christmas Parade

Santa will also be coming Sunday, Dec. 19 and the parade will start at 1 p.m. at Laidlaws and ending at the fire hall.

Good Timers

The Community Bake Sale brought in $400 and this money goes to the township towards the upkeep of the community centre.

The executive of the seniors group that call themselves the "Good Timers" has Penny McLeod as president, Onagh Ross as 1st vice president, Elizabeth Peters as second vice-president, Helen MacMillan as secretary, Marion McCuaig as treasurer and Charlotte Sansom as membership chairperson.

These ladies keep the Seniors in this area out of mischief by accommodating exercise classes, bridge lessons, bridge games, euchre, and the annual potluck luncheon is this Wednesday.

The seniors luncheon is the same day as the Martintown Public School's annual Christmas dinner. It would be appreciated if the seniors could use the back door entrance, by going across the front of the building and down to the back side door.

St. Andrew's United Church

A good number refreshed their bodies and minds through the sacrements of Communion this past Sunday. It seems in all our rush at this time of year it certainly makes sense to get recharged with thoughts and courage of where we are going and why and how we should slow down and let God be in charge more often, and also to give thanks for our blessings.

The ladies Christmas potluck dinner at the community centre was enjoyed by 21 and they set up their nominating committee of Evelyn Shackleton and May Thompson.

After a beautiful meal, they compiled their list of loved ones from the congregation that can't get out for fellowship and ones they would like to be remembered to by sending Christmas greeting cards.

Worship was enjoyed and conducted by Eva MacMillan and Jean MacIntosh. Then everyone sat back and relaxed to some videos of their bazaar, fashion show and Scottish concert and ended their get together with dessert and coffee.

A beautiful pile of knitted slippers, mittens and paints, dolls, stuffed bears, etc. were brought in for the children through the House of Lazarus.

The date for the U.C.W. annual general meeting is Monday, Jan. 10 and it will be held at the home of Marion McCuaig. The reports from each committee should be ready for this meeting and there will be the installation of the new executive. The vacant offices to be filled are secretary, treasurer and second vice-president.

Birthday Wishes

It was a "BIG-FIVE-O" Birthday party for Ghislain Renaud Saturday night, Nov. 27, as friends and relatives were on hand to celebrate the occasion. Ghislain of course is better known as "Jessie" — the village hairdresser and barber.

A good time was had by all, so for those who were unable to attend they would like to send this little thought to them: "AN ODE TO JESSIE"

Not too tall, but big of heart;
Our "Wee Jessie is no lark!
Her bouncy ways keep us all going:
No wonder this fine girl's stop growing.
She's been a mother, wife and giving;
And works so hard to make a living.
And now she's reached the age of Fifty;
We love this girl cause she's so nifty.
For Jessie dear, the people came;
To cheer non better in life's game.

I really enjoyed the heritage spot on CBC Radio today, and I hope many of you caught it, when it mentioned OUR MILL as being one of the newest projects to receive a Heritage Plaque of Ontario. The announcer mentioned how he had enjoyed meeting Rhodes Grant in the past, and told how Martintown has started and about its forefathers, where Martintown was situated and how it got its beginning.

I'm going to see if I can get a copy of the transcript. IT WAS GREAT!

Reminder

Martintown Public School will be having its 10th annual Christmas dinner on Wednesday Dec. 8 at 12 at the community centre.

Donations would be gratefully accepted by secretary Bev Runions at the school at 528-4423.

Enjoy a delicious breakfast of pancakes with sausages or bacon and homefries while you visit with Old Saint Nick himself!

A turkey bingo, sponsored by Knights of Columbus No. 8715 Lancaster, will be held on Sunday, Dec. 12 at Lancaster beginning at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $1 per person plus $1 for seven cards.

The group will also hold a community breakfast on Sunday, Dec. 19 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 noon. Admission is $4 per adult and children — $3.50 each. A special family rate is also available.

Both events are at St. Joseph's Parish Hall in Lancaster and everyone is welcome to attend.

Rev. Artie Van Bruchem of the St. Lawrence Pastoral Charge called with news of upcoming Christmas services.

On Sunday, Dec. 19 a special children's Christmas presentation plus a "white gift" service will be held at 10:30 a.m. at Knox United Church in Lancaster.

On Christmas Eve, Friday, Dec. 24, a service will be held at Salem United Church in Summerstown at 8 p.m.

There will not be a service at Knox United, Salem United or Bainsville United Churches on Sunday, Dec. 26.

All are invited to attend any of these services.

If you have not yet purchased your ticket to the gala New Year's Eve dinner/dance at Lancaster Legion Branch 544, please be aware that advance ticket sales are until Dec. 26, 1993 only.

The cost is $18 per person and includes a roast beef dinner, party favors, door prizes and dancing to the music of Dude from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. For more information or tickets, call Legion 347-3286.

A note of appreciation is sent from Colette Perrier to Fire Chief Gene Picard and the Lancaster Fire Department for their kind gesture of a loan of their generator during the Nov. 30 blackout in Lancaster.

Sports Officer Betsy Robinson of Royal Canadian Legion Branch 544 Lancaster has asked that those members interested in sporting events come and sign up at the branch to participate in the following upcoming games.

Zone regular and senior 5-pin bowling will be held on Jan. 8, 1994 at Olympia Bowl in Cornwall.

Zone cribbage is on Jan. 22, 1994 and zone darts on Jan. 29, 1994, both at Branch 297, Cornwall.

It was a perfect day for a parade, not too cold nor any snow or ice to contend with.

What day was this? Why, last Saturday, Dec. 4, when the annual Lancaster Santa Claus parade complete with old "Ho-Ho" himself and all the reindeer came into town.

There were 30 plus floats, horses of all colors and sizes as well as elves galore.

The best overall float award went to the Lancaster Recreation Department, second prize to Lancaster Freshmart and third prize to Berrigan's Hotel. Lancaster Freshmart also won prizes for the most original float and the best business float.

Best out-of-town float award went to Lancaster Inn and the Lancaster Beavers and Cubs won the best youth achievement float award.

The best school group entry went to Iona Academy. Best horse and rider award went to Bob-T-Tack Shop and the second prize to Heather Irwin with her dear little horses.

Best walking costume awards went to the Snowman, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy who, we were informed, were sponsored by Lancaster Freshmart.

After the parade, the children visited with Santa at Lancaster Legion where they received "goodie" bags.

A big vote of appreciation for a job well done must go to the Lancaster Service Council which is made up of seven local groups all working together for the benefit of our community.

The following news comes from Lancaster Public School.

Volleyball tournaments were held at Iona Academy on Monday, Nov. 8 for the senior girls and on Monday, Nov. 15 for the senior boys. Although neither team won, they played well and it was a positive learning experience.

On Wednesday, Nov. 24, both the senior girls and boys travelled to Tagwi High School and participated in the Glengarry Volleyball tournament. The boys played extremely well losing only one of five games.

The girls won the tournament by defeating Martintown and St. Joseph's of Alexandria in the preliminaries. Advancing to the final round they defeated Iona two games to one then defeated North Stormont two games to none. Congratulations to both the girls and boys teams.

A group of senior citizens from the Lancaster area visited the school recently to observe several of the classes in action.

The Kindergarten class was having a lesson in French, Grade 1 sang a song, and Grade 2 demonstrated a reading lesson.

Grade 3 students shared their gingerbread men cookies which they had made previously and saved for the occasion.

Grade 4 gave a preview of the song they have been practising for the Christmas concert.

At the end of each visit, the children asked questions about school in the "good old days." It was obvious that both age groups enjoyed the get-together immensely. One student quipped: "Imagine walking a mile to school every day!"

The school band, under the direction of Mr. Nowickyj, performed at the Centrepointe Theatre in Nepean on Saturday, Nov. 20 during the Glengarry Night Concert before an audience of over 600 people. They were very well received and enjoyed the experience immensely.

On Dec. 14 the Lancaster Public School Band will perform for a large group of senior citizens at the Heritage Golf Club. Interested parents are welcome to attend.

On Dec. 15, two Christmas Concert performances are scheduled, one at 1:15 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m.

On Dec. 16, the school band will perform at two Cornwall schools — East Front Public School in the morning and Horizon Jeunesse Public School in the afternoon.

On Dec. 17, the band members will make their final appearance to end the 1993 year at Williamstown Public School.

In the afternoon, all Lancaster Public School students will meet at the Char-Lan arena to skate from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m.

The school has a very active school committee consisting of President Steve Macdonald, Secretary Mrs. Debbie Zoeller and members Mrs. Susan David, Ms. Laurie Hodgins and Ted Orwell.

News of the Glens

Atom House League last Saturday noon game between the Glens and Vankleek Hill saw our home team win the tournament and the A trophy by the score of 2 to 0.

Scoring for the Glens was Shaun Theoret assisted by Daniel Lacombe and Mark Van Den Oetelaar. Second goal went to Jonathan McDonald with assists to Daniel Lacombe and Blair MacMillan.

They then played an exhibition game that same afternoon at 3 p.m. against Hawkesbury. There again, they came up with a two to one victory.

Goal scorers are not available at the present. Needless to say that if it was not for their parents and Club Nevada, these young folks might not have a chance to play.

A few words about one of our young players, namely Daniel Lacombe. In August of 1990, Daniel had a very serious lawnmower accident and spent over a month at the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario in Ottawa.

Doctors were very skeptical about his leg injury. They thought he might lose his leg or at the best he would be crippled for life and unable to practice any sports.

With lots of therapy and a will not to give up, Daniel has recovered and is much involved in different sports such as hockey, soccer, cycling, swimming and skiing.

Every now and again, he travels to Ottawa for his annual checkup where doctors are amazed at his miraculous recovery.

Last Friday, he was the invited guest of McGill University of physical and occupational therapy in Montreal where he was asked by many students who are in the learning stage all kinds of questions regarding his injury and what exercises he did to recuperate the way he has.

Keep up the good work, Daniel. We admire you and wish you only the best in the coming year.

Have a good week.

Village is all spruced up

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

All the village needed to give it the festive look was the light snowfall we had Saturday night. Many householders have been doing their bit in decorating their homes and grounds. Indeed, the village is looking great and all those who are able should plan walking tours to fully enjoy and appreciate the local scene.

A photographer from the Vankleek Hill Review thinks our snowflake banners are attractive and save on energy. In a recent issue, the photograph printed was taken in front of the Johns' home at the Peter Street corner.

It is an excellent promotional sign when there is this evidence of pride, first in our homes and then in the village.

Christena and Donald Cumming have returned, nicely tanned from a two-week vacation in sunny Barbados.

Recent visitors with Ethel McKinnon were her son Don and Mrs. McKinnon, Toronto, and her cousin, Eileen Chisholm, from Cornwall.

Carole Williams took a week of holidays from her work in the village office and spent it in Bermuda with a sister and aunt from Toronto.

Eileen and Basil Tait treated themselves to a plane trip and a week in Edmonton where the Edmonton Mall was the main attraction and the recipient of their shopping dollars.

Two visitors at the Manor last weekend from a distance were Marilyn Floody, Whitby, with her mother, Evelyn Willis and Lyall (Bill) Campbell, Brantford with his mother, Leda.

His friends will be pleased to know that Lionel Bourbonnais is home after a three-week stay in the Civic Hospital, Ottawa, where he successfully underwent a double coronary artery by-pass operation. He is wished a speedy recovery to his once active lifestyle.

A lady who lived here about sixty years ago, Eva (Mrs. Armand) Lavigueur died late last week in a nursing home in Sudbury with her funeral being held in Alexandria. Audrey (Mrs. Lloyd) McEwen lives in Cornwall and to her and all family members goes our sympathy. The other siblings, some deceased, are Donat, Paul, Madeleine, Rene, Bertha and Henry.

To the members of the Veltheim family goes our condolences in the death of their mother, Ethel, in Avonmore. A son Torsti lives east of Maxville and daughter Doris and her husband David Bourbonnais are building a new home south of Dominionville.

About ninety years ago Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hutt and their two-year-old daughter, Gertrude, moved here from Berwick to work the farm of A. J. McEwen. They also lived on farms in Stewarts' Glen and one south of Dominionville. Gertrude attended the local schools and now lives in Long Sault. Her late husband Basil Rowe was from Riceville.

Maxville spruces up for Christmas

Your correspondent visited Mrs. Rowe in her home last week and had a most enlightening conversation with this gracious and alert lady. It started with "I remember your grandparents, your mother and the others as well as your father (who came here in 1914)" and concluded with "Remember me to Margaret Dingwall and Alma Villeneuve."

Mrs. Rowe, a regular reader of The Glengarry News, has a vast storehouse of memories of the very olden days here and I will be visiting her again and taking old photographs for identification purposes.

The last six lucky winners in the Lions Club Cash Calendar draw were Ernest Brisson, Moose Creek, Eddie Lacroix, Apple Hill, Dale Jack, Cornwall Island, Jack Henderson, Cornwall, Diane Beauchesne and Dave Munro, Maxville.

The snow Saturday night really helped my bird count taken on Sunday. The prime attraction in our back yard was the male cardinal who took his mate with him.

Edgar Currier is also reporting a pair of cardinals at his home in Dominionville. Cardinals are considered ground feeders but may be persuaded to use elevated ones, once they become accustomed to the surroundings.

If you are not attracting all the birds you want and if you have trees and hedges try spreading bird feed under them. I first had the cardinal feeding under our apple tree.

One day, a small flock of cowbirds fed on cracked corn under a pine tree last week.

A commuter to Ottawa has been watching a Snowy Owl the last few mornings just at daybreak when he travels Highway 417 near the #138 access. This is very early for these large white birds and indicates that food is scarce up north. They don't usually appear here until mid-winter.

I wish to acknowledge receipt of a book which has the minutes of Counties' Council for the January, June and November sessions in 1919. It was printed by the Times of Alexandria and A. H. Robertson of this village was the Warden and reeve here. J. W. Weegar was the village clerk, Lorne McLean, the treasurer and Gordon Empey, the assessor. Councillors were J. W. Smillie, Norman Stewart, J. D. McRae and D. Villeneuve. Your correspondent often wishes that first names had been used to identify people with common family names here years ago.

The book is interesting reading. The school inspector, J. W. Curran reported to Counties' Council and residents were called inmates in the House of Industry and Refuge were two facts of interest.

Marilyn McGale, chairman of the playground committee, is very pleased to announce that the books have finally been closed and all the loose ends tied up regarding the construction of the playground. Funds for its upkeep have been set aside as well.

Mrs. McGale is pleased with the members of her committee for their dedication to the project and wishes the young people many hours of happy playing. In turn, this busy lady warrants the thanks of the community for her leadership in having this attractive project in front of the sports complex brought to fruition.

4-H Club

The Maxville Marketing Maniacs 4-H Club meets in the United Church Hall. Members are learning about being wise consumers. The following are the officers. President Erin Graham, vice-president Serena McRae and Shawna Bankley, secretaries Sheena Besner and Emily Colquhoun, Treasurer Cindy Scott, press reporters — Georgina Colquhoun and Roxanne Lacombe. Other members: Shannon MacEwen, Leslie Ann Brown, Sophie Curotte, Andrea McCrory, Laura Siminoski, Michelle Filliol and Julie Renaud. Leaders are Di Jaggassar and Barbara Graham.

On Nov. 18 members walked to the two schools, picking up garbage there and on the street. Rubber gloves were worn and garbage bags used. Back at the hall, the garbage was sorted into two piles — recycleable and non-recycleable. Gordon Winter was a guest and spoke on composting and recycling. The roll call was answered by the name of a "green" product.

This 4-H project is sponsored by the Maxville Manor Residents' Council.

A new book on local genealogy is out and might become a valued one for many of our readers. It is the revised edition of The MacLeods of Glengarry — Genealogy of a Clan. It covers the years from 1793-1993 and represents much detailed work. If you are interested in a copy, you are invited to phone Helen MacLeod at 527-2020 or Kay MacCrimmon at 525-3225.

The Newsletter from the public school was interesting with plenty of Christmas activities announced. However, the public meeting for parents and others who are interested in the questions of staggered school hours and alternate day, full day kindergarten was advertised too. It is this evening, Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in Glengarry District High School.

Students who are participating in the "Adopt a Grandparent" program are invited to the Manor's Christmas party on Dec. 13 at 1:30 p.m. Also, under the direction of Mrs. Harden, the primary and junior choirs will be performing at the Manor on Dec. 15 at 2 p.m.

At the volleyball tournament at Tagwi, the senior boys won three out of four games and placed third. At the Avonmore School, our two junior co-ed teams played each other and Team One went on to win the championship. Its members were Chris Coleman, Melissa McIntosh, Gordon Williamson, Lisa Sabatini, Ian Durocher and Rodney Benton.

In the Legion coloring contest, Matthew Bujaki won first place and Brett MacDonald third.

Students at the school will not draw names this year for Christmas gifts and those who had decided to give gifts to the teachers are asked to place non-perishable food items that will be distributed to needy families by the Lions Club and Agape Centre in a drum at the door to the office.

The school now has an answering machine that should make it easier in the evening or early morning for parents to give notice of children who will be absent because of illness.

Young-at-Heart Euchre

The last seniors' euchre of the season saw a good attendance. All those of you who have been faithful in attending and enjoying the competition and social time will be notified in plenty of time early next spring when they will resume.

Rita Seguin had top ladies' score with Gloria Rolland and Flora Harkin, Apple Hill, also receiving prizes for their successful plays. Mrs. Rolland also was twice lucky in the 50/50 draw.

John Coleman received top prize for the men with John Lapierre, Martintown, coming in second, and Martin O'Brien, Monkland, third.

Gladys Barton took the door prize home to Vankleek Hill. Other draw winners were Kenneth MacLeod, Dunvegan, Leona Lafrance, Fraser MacMillan and Violet MacDermid, Moose Creek, Pauline Ryan, Casselman, Jessie Renwick, Vankleek Hill, Marie Brabant, Apple Hill and Linden Kippen, Maxville.

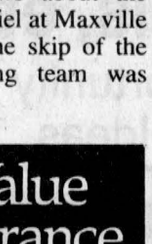
Eighty years ago, Robert G. Jamieson took over the Corner Store at the corner of Marlborough and Mechanic St. East. One of his first employees was Anna Dingwall who died recently at the age of 97. Mr. Jamieson had operated a store on the site of the present Home Hardware store earlier with his brother, Fergus.

Fifty years ago, Lyle Truax, Dominionville, was reported missing in action over enemy territory. His sister, Myrtle, lives in Cornwall.

Ecumenical service is planned Dec. 19



St. Elmo
by W. MacKinnon
527-2348

The Maxville Clergy Association will be holding an ecumenical service with carol singing in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Maxville, Sunday evening Dec. 19. The congregations of the Maxville churches and Gordon Church, St. Elmo, will join in fellowship to celebrate the Christmas season. An invitation is extended to all persons who would like to come and join in the singing of the Christmas carols.

Christmas Eve services of worship will be held on Dec. 24 in Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek, and in the United Church, Maxville.

Caring for Life
By Dr. George McKiel

As Common as Grey Hair

Hemorrhoids

For Glengarrians as well as other Canadians, this affliction bothers almost half of those over 50. Essentially hemorrhoids are distended blood vessels (veins) in, and immediately around the anus. If the engorged veins are external they can be itchy and painful. Should they occur inside, you may be aware of bleeding, but there will be no pain for the rectum is designed to pass stools, achieved by relaxing the powerful anal sphincter muscle and there are very few pain-sensitive nerve endings inside the rectum and anus.

CAUSES:
Interestingly, 4 legged animals do not get them!
Overweight and pregnancy are contributors
Genetic predisposition
Constipation or irregularity
Poor diet, eg: refined foods and excess meats, lack of fruit and fiber
Postponed bowel movements or straining to have one
Reliance on laxatives

SELF EXAMINATION:
Often they can be felt (palpated) with tips of your fingers. Or, if you are creative, you can view 'em with a mirror. When hemorrhoids are the internal type, they are not readily felt though a physician will palpate by using a gloved and lubricated finger inserted into your rectum.

Hemorrhoids are usually harmless and will mostly disappear with time, though Americans are sufficiently worried to spend over $100 million/yr. on over-the-counter remedies (makes you realize how potent advertising can be)
IMPORTANT: Though hemorrhoids can be discomforting and generally harmless, they can be a tipoff, a warning, that bleeding could be from colorectal cancer or some other medical dysfunction. So your doctor, diagnosing hemorrhoids, or lack of them, may question bleeding by asking for further tests including a fecal blood test and/or sigmoidoscopy. That's a thorough rectal exam which utilizes a flexible instrument to allow for a clear view of the rectal walls and even along the entire colon. If the bleeding continues and drains too much blood,the condition could lead to anemia. The other significant danger with hemorrhoids is that both the internal and external types typically involve a hard, protuding thrombus - a blood clot. If the stretched skin ruptures, bleeding occurs, bright red if external, or imparting a darker, rust-colored tone to the stool when internal. Should the clot form inside and move into the circulatory system, it becomes an embolism capable of travelling and then lodging in some critical region of the body.

SELF-CARE:
The swelling can be reduced by taking a warm bath several times a day. Add some Epsom Salts to help shrink the hemorrhoids
Drink at least 6-8 glasses of water each day to keep colon lubricants forming
Ease bowel movement by taking mineral oil or decusate calcium (Surak) or use a dab of emollient
Avoid constipation by including grains, fruit, sources of dietary fiber that makes stools larger, softer (they act like a sponge, soaking up wat er)
Psyllium Seed is a rich fiber source, sold under the tradenames: Metamucil, Fiberall
Keep the anal area clean after bowel movements by wiping well with toilet paper or using a moist commercial pad

More drastic — if hemorrhoids are persistent you may have to have them removed which is done by:
1. sclerotherapy = injection with a chemical that shrinks the vein (similar to varicose vein injection therapy)
2. rubber band ligation = tying the vein with a rubber strip
3. cryosurgery = freezing the vein with liquid nitrogen
4. laser = intense, concentrated heat that vaporizes 'em
5. infrared photocoagulation, a recent method
6. surgery = requires a local or general anesthetic and brief hospitalization

Alexandria can't stop the bleeding

Glens' loss streak now at six games

You have to say this about the Alexandria Glens, they don't do anything in moderation.

Alexandria feasted in the early part of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League schedule, fashioning winning streaks of six and seven games on the way to a sizzling 13-3 start.

Since the Glennies have endured a three-week famine consisting of six losses in succession, including 7-3 setbacks to Char-Lan and South Grenville on the weekend.

The slump has dropped Alexandria into fourth place in the St.Lawrence Division standings as both Morrisburg and Winchester slipped past the Glens over the weekend.

Rangers 7 Glens 3

Alexandria was only able to call on three healthy defencemen in Prescott on Saturday as the Glens fell 7-3 to the South Grenville Rangers.

Injured Ricky Latreille sat out, Michel Jeaurond played hurt while Jason Murree continues to be AWOL from the team.

That meant a heavier load for David Murree, Marcus Horner and Patrick Cadieux and the wear showed late in the game as the Rangers scored five goals in the final 25 minutes of the game, including four in the third period.

Glens coach Robert Boisvenue was forced to weaken Alexandria's offence - which had been struggling of late anyway - by moving top scorer Randy Gebbie back to the blue-line for the game.

Pascal Joanette - one of the few Alexandria forwards that has maintained his pace from the early part of the season - was involved in all of the Glens' scoring with a goal and two assists. Gebbie and Craig Villeneuve also scored.

Art Chillson had a hat trick for South Grenville while Shawn Hughes scored twice. Doug Thompson and J.J. Dishaw rounded out the Rangers' scoring.

Offence hurting

In addition to the Glens' well-documented injury woes - Mike Closs and Ricky Latreille are the latest additions to a list of walking wounded that already includes Martin Boisvenue, Carl Bougie, Patrick Collin and Ryan Wieler - diminished offensive production by the few remaining healthy bodies also helps account for the team's recent slide.

After averaging 7.5 goals per game in their first 16 contests, the Glens have only 27 goals - an average of 4.5 - during their losing streak.

Where have all the goals gone?

You don't have to look any further than the foursome of Richard Hutt, Dennis Dodd, Carl Bougie and Martin Boisvenue. Because of slumps or injuries, that group of forwards has produced only three goals in the Glens' last six games. In the 16 games prior to the Glens' slide, the quartet had 54 goals between them.

The Glens' offensive fireworks at the beginning of the season - particularly in the late stages of games - helped cover up a lot of the weaknesses that have seemed so obvious in the past three weeks.

While Alexandria would love to get some help on the blue-line, getting the offence back into the gear appears to be the best way of getting the Glens back on the winning track.

Glenformation: The Glens are out of the running as far as the Boxing Day Tournament is concerned. With only one game to go in the tournament qualifying, Alexandria trails Morrisburg by three points for the second St.Lawrence Division berth. Winchester trails the Lions by four points but the Hawks still have two games to play including one against Morrisburg. The Char- Lan Rebels have already locked up one of the positions in the event, which will be held in Brockville on Dec. 26...You can put this one in the "It had to happen" department. Alexandria's starting line-up on Friday against Char-Lan included the forward unit of Carl Bougie, Pascal Joanette and Randy Gebbie. By taking the initial of each player's first name, you come up with the CPR Line, a perfect combo for a team nicknamed the Cardiac Kids...The Glens will host Winchester on Friday and travel to Athens on Sunday.

Hawks spoil Rebs' party

On the night that the Char-Lan Rebels held their Christmas party, the Winchester Hawks did their imitation of the Grinch by handing the Williamstowners an 8-6 loss at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre on Saturday.

The Rebels appeared to be on their way to victory after scoring with 4:49 remaining in the third period to take a 6-5 lead, but by the 17:58 mark, the Hawks were up 7-6 afterscoring goals a minute and 49 seconds apart. The Hawks iced the game with an empty-netter as time expired.

Joe Barressi scored twice for Winchester with singles going to Derek Brannen, Bruce Cameron, John Hamel, Derreck Holmes, Phillip Brisebois and Jason Fawcett.

Evan Thompson and Denis St.Jean each scored twice for Char-Lan while Marc Bellemare and Pete St.Jean added a goal each.

Hawks pumped for Rebels

Winchester coach Dennis Casselman was understandably pleased with Saturday's result.

"This was a very important game for us," said Casselman. "We've been trying hard at keeping our focus throughout the entire game. When we've struggled this year, it's because we lose our concentration. After all, we've got a pretty volatile bunch of players on this team."

One of the most tempermental Hawks is forward Joe Barressi, who made a costly mistake on the goal that temporarily put Char-Lan in the lead in the late going.

"That's an example of how important it is for us to stay focused when something like that happens. I was glad to see Joey come right back and play a big role in us winning the game."

Casselman's club has had some success against the first-place Rebels this season with two wins in four games. The Hawks lost a third game in overtime.

"Everybody is pumped and ready when we play Char-Lan," he explains. "We know that they're a good team and that they're pretty explosive offensively so we need solid team defence to beat them."

Meanwhile, Char-Lan bench boss was a little happier with his team's work ethic after a lacklustre effort the previous weekend.

"We worked hard in spurts tonight, but I thought the game in Alexandria last night (Friday) was the hardest that we've worked as a team this year," said Brown.

"We just broke down defensively a couple of times tonight and it cost us. We still have to work on doing the little things that help a team win hockey games."

Brown says he saw some encouraging signs of improvement at last Tuesday's practice.

"We had some drills lined up, but we wound up going three-on-three with shooting, hitting and passing instead. It was our best practice this year because it's the one where the players worked the hardest. The big thing is they didn't even notice how hard they were working because of how much fun they had. Now all we have to do is apply the same thing to our games."

Rebs win in Alexandria

For the third time in four games this season, the Rebels emerged victorious from the Battle of Glengarry as Char-Lan posted a 7-3 win over Alexandria at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Goaltender Brett Thompson was spectacular for Char-Lan, stopping all 22 Alexandria shots in the first period and making 44 saves overall.

Robert Curran and Terry O'Farrell paced the offence with two goals apiece while Pete St.Jean, Marc Bellemare and Evan Thompson added solo markers.

Mike Closs, Pascal Joanette and Ricky Latreille replied for the Glens.

Rebel Yells: The Rebels have shuffled the forward lines again as leading scorer Denis St.Jean was inserted on the left side on a unit with Terry O'Farrell and Rob Curran. Marc Bellemare and Pete St.Jean played with Corey Payment on Friday in Alexandria while Evan Thompson took Payment's spot on Saturday...St.Hubert players of the game on Saturday were Evan Thompson and Paul Rozon. The Chumps Road Warrior on Friday was Brett Thompson...Mads Pedersen completed his three-game suspension on the weekend and will be back in the line-up for Friday's game in Morrisburg. The Rebels host Brockville on Saturday.

Crusaders split opening week games

All three Char-Lan boys' basketball teams sport 1-1 records after the first week of play in SDG competition.

The Crusader juniors and midgets won their 1993-94 season debuts at Seaway District High School last Tuesday while the seniors had to wait until Thursday for their first win - a 35-31 decision over the visiting St.Lawrence Saints.

Seniors

Trevor Agnew and Mike Bissonnette each scored 10 points as the Char-Lan seniors evened their record at 1-1 with a win over the Saints.

Chris Lumley ran into early foul trouble, but still finished as Char-Lan's third best scorer with seven points. Rob Murray had 10 points for St.Lawrence.

In their season-opener at Seaway on Tuesday, the Crusaders lost 51-39 despite a 16-point effort by Trevor Agnew. Mike Bissonnette added eight points for Char-Lan.

Juniors, midgets

Jon Brown scored 22 points as the St.Lawrence juniors got by Char-Lan 58-39 in Williamstown on Thursday.

Jamie Thompson and Jeff Proctor had nine points apiece to lead Char-Lan's attack.

Murray Campbell poured in 12 points as the Crusaders defeated Seaway 38-35 on Tuesday.

After opening the season with a 32-22 win over the Spartans, the Char-Lan midgets fell to 1-1 with a 33-22 loss to the Saints on Thursday.

Kacey MacDonell had eight points for Char-Lan while Kent McDonell added six.

Opinions are mixed on the subject of how the 1991 Crusaders (above) would fare against this season's Ontario "AA" championship team from St. Lawrence.

Could the Fab Five have beaten the Saints?

J.L. Lefebvre

Sports editor

On Saturday night in Ottawa, the St.Lawrence senior girls' basketball team won the provincial "AA" championship with a 48-44 victory over Nicholson of Belleville.

The Saints become the first SD G team to win a provincial basketball title since the Tagwi Warriors won the "A" crown back in 1985.

During that eight-year interval between local Ontario championship teams, the best girls' hoops squad was probably the Char-Lan Crusaders' 1991 team when the entire starting unit - known in media circles as the Fab Five - was made up of fifth-year students.

The Crusaders made their second consecutive trip to OFSAA that year but with star centre Karen Arnott playing hurt, Char-Lan got knocked out in the quarter-finals by St.Joseph's of St.Thomas.

While Char-Lan missed out on a provincial title, the Crusaders did pile up some achievements that even this year's Super Saints couldn't match.

The Crusaders won four consecutive SDG championships from 1988-91 and the Fab Five - which included Arnott, Catherine Hodgins, Julie MacDonald, Sharon Huizinga and Cheryl Proctor - ended their careers in Williamstown by winning their last 35 league and playoff games in SDG play.

The Crusaders went to the provincial championships twice and made the regional championship game on two other occasions during that time.

So while comparing the '91 Crusaders to the '93 Saints might be a hopeless task of comparing apples to basketballs, it's still fun to speculate.

Lukenda makes the difference

The Glengarry News solicited the opinions of three people for the purposes of this unscientific study, and all three were unanimous in their assessment of what made the Saints a championship team this season.

"It's nothing against the girls St.Lawrence had before, but if Genevieve Lukenda didn't transfer over, they would not have been champions this year," said Irv Francis, who coached Char-Lan during their Golden Era.

Lukenda's arrival from La Citadelle last summer gave the Saints two provincial-calibre players as the former Patriotes guard joined veteran pivot Shannon Burke.

"I think Shannon was a far better player with Genevieve on the team," said Francis, who now coaches at Seaway District High School in Iroquois.

The Dynamic Duo of Burke and Lukenda puts the Saints one up in any comparison between St.Lawrence and Char-Lan.

"I think Karen (Arnott) could have handled Shannon pretty well, but I don't think anyone on Char-Lan could have handled Genevieve," said Lancaster's Jim Fourney, a longtime referee and coach who is a keen observer of the local hoops scene.

Another advantage for the Saints is the team's bench strength. The Crusaders' reserve squad was only three-deep during the Fab Five's final season and St.Lawrence coaches Morley Dulmage and Liz Crawford had a bit more talent to pick from when making substitutions.

"Char-Lan's starting five was very good but I don't think the bench was nearly as good as the one St.Lawrence has," said Fourney. "But that's the difference between "A" and "AA" schools. At "A" schools, you're picking from 300 or 400 students while at a "AA"school you might have between 1,000 and 1,200.

"It's like trying to say the Grey Cup champion could beat the Super Bowl champion in the NFL. There's just no comparison."

At the same time, the Crusaders were beating both "A" and "AA" opponents during their reign of SDG supremacy, and Char-Lan would hold its own against "AAA" schools at tournaments.

Fourney adds that the calibre of play wasn't as strong league-wide this season as it has been in recent years, which makes it hard to analyse the Saints' performance in SDG competition.

"It was impossible to tell just how good the St.Lawrence team was until they played outside the league."

Fourney's conclusion in a hypothetical Saints-Crusaders matchup is that the "AA" factor would have just been too much for Char-Lan to overcome.

"I think St.Lawrence could have beaten Char-Lan. St.Lawrence just has too many weapons to choose from whereas Char-Lan really only had the one big gunner (Arnott)."

Char-Lan senior coach Mona Leblanc, who co-coached the junior Crusaders in 1991 and whose club faced the Saints this year, was more

Making the grades

Jr. B teams assess first half

This past weekend marked the halfway point of the 1993-94 Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League season, the traditional time to take a look back at the first few months of the campaign.

Several members of each team's management and coaching staff were asked to analyse and grade their respective team's first-half performance.

General manager Lynd McDonald, coach Philip Brown and assistant Jeff Carter reviewed the Rebels while president Leo Poirier, coach Robert Boisvenue and assistant Claude Gallant handed in the grades for the Glens.

Goaltending

Rebels (B+): "Started out slow but coming on as of late," said Brown. "Looking for solid goaltending down the stretch from both (Brett) Thompson and (Jeff) Cicchini."

"Probably the best 1-2 goalies in our conference," says McDonald.

Glens (C-): "Giving up far too many weak goals," said Gallant, a former goalie. "They have to make the easy saves as well as the big saves. Not playing up to full potential."

Poirier and Boisvenue both termed the work of goalies Jean-Francois Boyer and Paul Seguin "inconsistent."

Defence

Glens (C+): Boisvenue uses "inconsistent" in this category as well, stressing the need to work on breaking out of the defensive zone and picking up men in front of the net.

Gallant echoes Boisvenue's comments about clearing the front of the net and adds the defensive corps must do a better job picking up loose pucks in front of the net.

Rebels (B): The blue-line unit rated highly with all the Rebels' evaluators, including defence coach Jeff Carter.

Bobby Bowles and Paul Rozon received the highest marks although Daniel Methot, Dan Carriere and Chris Petry also got good grades.

"(Our defence) has the potential to be the soundest in the league," said Brown.

"The Rebs' defence has to improve its overall puck movement," said Carter. "A lot more depth than last season."

Forwards

Rebels (B): The Rebs lead the league in goals scored but there were some negatives.

"Must work together more as a team. More hits and more communication is needed," said Brown. "We probably have more depth than anybody in the league."

Left-winger Denis St.Jean drew the highest praise from McDonald: "Denis gives us everything an overage player should - scoring and leadership."

Glens (A-): "Very strong offensively, they need to work on the defence somewhat," said Poirier.

Boisvenue's comments are similar: "I'm very staisfied with the offensive play, improvement (is needed) on defensive play."

"There's lots of talent, the forwards just need to be more aggressive," said Gallant.

Special teams

Glens (B): Boisvenue listed three areas of concern on special teams: breaking out on the power play, using the point more often and closing the box in penalty killing situations.

Gallant praises the work of the veterans during penalty killing but says the lack of a quarterback prevents the power play from operating at full capacity.

Rebels (C+): "The power play has been average. We need to move the puck faster and work just as hard on five-on-four as five-on-five," said Brown.

"The penalty-killing can stand to be more aggressive."

Overall

Rebels (B): "We have a 'good' team but we have the potential to be a 'great' team," said Brown. "We ned to increase our overall intensity in the second half if we hope to do well."

McDonald comments: "This team has all the talent needed to win the division and conference but does not show it every game and throughout each game."

Glens (B+): "There's good team spirit, good attitude and they work hard. I'm very pleased," said Poirier.

"There's lots of potential but the players need to be more aggressive," said Gallant. "The attitude is good overall. They should go far enough if they want it."

Sports nuggets

Volleyball season begins

The girls' high school volleyball season gets underway tomorrow for Glengarry as the Gaels will be in Cornwall to take on the St.Lawrence Saints.

The Gaels will kick off their home schedule on Monday when the North Dundas Devils will be in Alexandria.

The Char-Lan Crusaders will see their first action of the 1993-94 season on Dec. 16 when Seaway District High School will host an "A" division tournament.

Pelletier dealt to Braves

Alexandria native Nygel Pelletier has changed Central Junior Hockey League addresses as the Hawkesbury Hawks dealt the defenseman to the Brockville Braves.

Pelletier - who was in his second season with the Hawks - was shipped to the Braves in an exchange for a draft choice and the rights to centreman Marc Bellemare, who is currently playing junior B hockey with the Char-Lan Rebels.

Bellemare is not expected to sign with the Hawks although he could join Char-Lan teammates Pete St.Jean and Paul Rozon on Hawkesbury's list of affiliated players.

The deal was just one of several personnel moves made by new Hawkesbury coach Yvan Joly, who took over behind the Hawks' bench last month.

DOBL at it again

The Dalkeith Outdoor Broomball League will be holding its 11th annual meeting at the Dalkeith Restaurant on Tuesday, Dec. 14 at 8:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in entering a team in the league or in the Carnival Tournament should attend this meeting. The fee for entering a team is $100 for the league or $50 for the tournament.

Players not on a team and wishing to play can call Kelly McIntee at 525-4957. For more information, call Duncan (874-2782) or Lothar (874-2655).

Lafave paces atom Rebels to victories

Danny Lafave scored twice and Nicolas Dube added a single as the Char-Lan Atom Rebels defeated South Grenville 3-0 in Upper Canada Minor Hockely League action last Thursday.

On Monday, Lafave scored four goals as the Rebs whipped Alexandria 8-2. Matthew Verdone, Nicolas Dube, David Periard and Jamie Leger each scored once.

Char-Lan also posted a 6-0 victory over Cornwall on Nov. 25.

Bantams win

Kent McDonell scored three times as the Char-Lan bantams defeated South Grenville 4-2. Ian Main also scored.

Meanwhile, the peewees rebounded from a 6-1 loss to Alexandria on Thursday to beat Cornwall 7-3 on Saturday and North Dundas 6-2 on Sunday.

Jordan Flaro had two goals against Cornwall while Dean Fraser, Luc Lapierre, Derek Wereley, Eric Dube and Justin Lauzon added singles.

Wereley and Chris Reasbeck each scored twice in the win over North Dundas as Lapierre and Chuck Leclair rounded out the scoring. Simon Menard had three assists.

Net gain

Fab Five vs Saints

hesitant in picking a winner.

"It's very hard to say, but I think it would be a game that could go either way." she said. "The matchup at centre with Shannon Burke and Karen Arnott would have been a very good one and I think (Char-Lan guards) Julie MacDonald and Cheryl Proctor would have done a good job on Genevieve."

Leblanc concedes that St.Lawrence has the superior bench, which would have made it imperative for all five Char-Lan starters to have been at the top of their game for the Crusaders to knock off the Saints.

For his part, Francis gives the slightest of edges to the Saints.

"I would say it would be a one-, two-, three- or four-point game in St.Lawrence's favor because of the difference Genevieve makes. With a couple of bounces here and there, I think either team could have won on any given day."

Francis says he's intrigued by the whole idea of pitting the '91 Crusaders against the '93 Saints.

"It's a game I definitely would have liked to have seen. The St.Lawrence fans would probably say they'd win in a walk but I don't think the Char-Lan people would necessarily agree."

Like many of the great debates in sports, it's a question that will remain unanswered forever.

Marc's Canteen wins house league tourney

Alexandria-Marc's Canteen won a peewee house league tournament played in Vankleek Hill over the past two weekends.

Alexandria won the final 3-0 over Hawkesbury as Nick Quenneville scored once and assisted on the other two goals. Nicholas Vaillancourt and Francois Boisvenue also scored for the winners in the championship game.

Canteen qualified for the final by beating Vankleek Hill and Hawkesbury in their first two games.

Alexandria needed a shootout to beat Vankleek Hill 5-4 as Mario St.Denis, Nick Quenneville and Brad MacMillan converted penalty shots in the shootout.

Quenneville, Francois Boisvenue, Jim Bray and Chris McIntyre scored in regulation time.

Alexandria beat Hawkesbury 6-3 on goals by Boisvenue, MacMillan, Quenneville, McIntyre, Bray and Manuel Pilon. Mark Lafleur had two assists.

Travelling team results

The Alexandria Bantam Glens split two games in travelling team action last week, losing 8-7 to South Stormont but bouncing back to down North Glengarry- Stormont 5-2.

Trevor MacDonald scored twice against the Flyers, who led 7-2 after two periods, while singles went to Jason Poirier, Raphael Lapensee, Mark Laferriere, Eric Lavigne and Stephane Boisvenue.

Laferriere, Boisvenue, Poirier, Lavigne and Andrew Taillefer scored in the win over NG-S.

Midgets win "B"

The Rozon-McDonell-Levert Insurance Midget Glens won the consolation crown at a tournament played in Hawkesbury on the weekend.

Karl Hehn scored twice as Alexandria beat Morrisburg 5-1 in the "B" championship game. Darcy MacDonell, Eric Hagen and Jean Theoret also scored while Steven St.Denis had two assists.

The Glens beat South Grenville 3-2 in the semi-finals on goals by Hehn, Alain Borris and Alain Decoste.

Earlier in the week, the Glens suffered their first regular-season loss as Alexandria fell 6-4 to Morrisburg. Karl Hehn fired in a pair of goals in a losing cause while Joel Menard and Eric McCarthy added singles.

Peewees

Pascal Lavigne scored twice as the Pronto Store Peewee Glens downed Kemptville 6-1 at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday.

Ghislain Valade, Jamie Ladouceur, Nicholas Prieur and Jean-Francois Lafrance also scored for Alexandria. Tim Van Overbeek and Eric Leroux each had two assists.

The Glens' other game was also a 6-1 final as Alexandria beat Char-Lan in Williamstown on Thursday.

Lavigne, Lafrance, Van Overbeek, Ladouceur, Gregory Lalonde and Guillaume Ouimet scored for the Glens. Stephen Alguire replied for the Rebels.

On Friday, the Glens were in Massena where they trounced their hosts 9-1 in an exhibition contest. Eric Leroux led the offence with three goals.

Panthers shred Gaels

The visiting St.Joseph's Panthers posted three one-sided victories over the Glengarry Gaels as the SDG boys' basketball season got underway last Wednesday in Alexandria.

The senior Panthers - one of the pre-season favorites to win the United Counties championship - looked impressive in handing the Gaels a 56-26 loss.

The Panthers' Marc Cinquina scored 11 points in the first half in helping St.Joe's build a 36-12 lead after two quarters. Cinquina finished with a game- high total of 14 points.

Grant Fawthrop had nine points for the Panthers while Andrew Pilon and Scott Weagant had seven apiece.

Glengarry point guard Rick McCorkell - one of several junior grads on this year's senior roster - led the Gaels with 12 points. Devin Baggs added seven points.

Juniors routed

The St.Joseph's juniors used a balanced attack to beat the Gaels 57-23 in the final game of the triple-header.

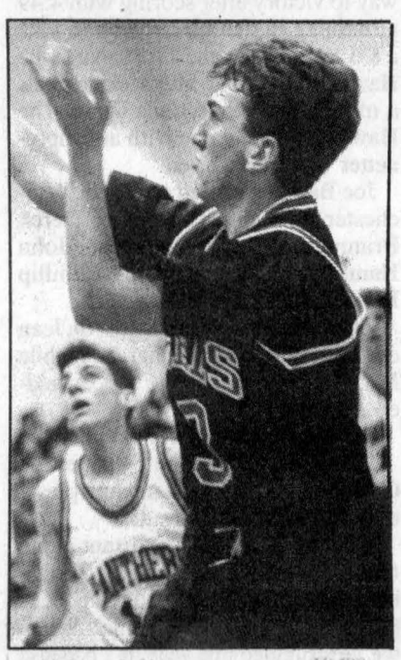
Twelve of the 13 players on the Panthers roster hit the scoresheet with nine picking up at least two buckets.

Chris Kinstler-Primeau and Rusty Van Diepeningen each scored nine points to lead the way for St.Joe's.

Ben Williams and Daniel Steiche were the top Glengarry scorers with eight points apiece.

The midget Gaels got 10 points from Alan Campbell but still lost 34-17. Steve Malyon had 13 points for St.Joseph's.

All three teams were in action at General Vanier Secondary School yesterday.



Devin Baggs was the senior Gaels' second-leading scorer with seven points.

RPS routs Vanelli's Warriors

Gareth Pye and Travis Giroux each collected hat tricks as Rudi Payer Sport coasted to a 10-1 victory over Vanelli's Warriors in Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League action on Monday night in Williamstown.

Pye's hat trick was of the natural variety as he scored the game's last three goals in his season debut.

Pat Clarke and Bruce Mitton each scored twice for Rudi's while Jason Robertson spoiled Chris Smith's shutout bid by scoring the Warriors' only goal.

The Warriors had a 2-0 lead in their other game on Monday - a meeting with the expansion Williamstown Thunder - but couldn't hold on as the Thunder rallied for a 5-2 victory.

Scott Giroux, Brian Deschamps, Kevin Bard, Jason Struthers and Benjamin Pye scored for Williamstown. Kirk Wallace and Steve Neuberger replied for the Warriors.

Brian Cameron boosted his season goal total to eight with a pair of tallies in the Glengarry Stars' 3-0 win over the SDG Nomads. Cameron is second in the league behind Greg Deschamps of Rudi's who has nine.

Shawn McClements also scored for Glengarry while Jeff Lowe recorded the shutout.

Next Monday's games include Rudi's vs. the Stars (7 p.m.), Rudi's vs. the Warriors (8 p.m.) and the Thunder vs. the Nomads (9 p.m.).

Decoste picks up first win

Stephane Bellefeuille scored twice as Decoste Welding won its first Alexandria and District Industrial Hockey League game of the year by beating Dick's Paving Stones 7-2 in Maxville on Saturday.

Sylvain Levert and Robert Decoste each had a goal and two assists while Maurice Leduc, Guy Poirier, and Danny McKay scored once. Charlie Lalonde and Rene Robichaud had two assists apiece.

Dick Sauve and Mark Titley scored for Dick's.

Ernie's Cement Works and Legion Br. 423 played to a 6-6 in Saturday afternoon's other game.

Mike Lapensee scored twice for Ernie's while Mike Campeau had a deuce for the Legionnaires.

The other scorers for Ernie's were Claude Roy, Gerry Blanchette, Garrett MacGillis and Luc Seguin.

Steven McMaster, Andre Seguin, Lynden Cameron and Lee Taillefer rounded out Legion's attack.

Stewart stars in Tapis win

Sue Stewart scored five goals as Tapis Richard Ranger blasted MacMillan Insurance 8-0 in a Ladies' Sponge Puck League game last Wednesday in Alexandria.

Stewart scored Tapis' first four goals and then added a fifth late in the second period to put the defending champions up by seven goals.

Ann McMillan had a goal and three assists while Jackie Bray and Louise Sommers also scored. Dawn McDuff had three assists while Sue Poirier registered the shutout.

Art Benton's winning streak is over as the LSPL's first-place team was held to a 1-1 tie by SunLife on Wednesday.

Karen MacDonald scored with 6:24 left in the third period to give Benton a 1-0 lead, but Lise Durocher knotted the game less than two minutes later.

In last week's other game, M and D Sports and L.C. Electric played to a scoreless draw. Lisa MacDonald (M and D) and Colleen Lacroix (L.C.) recorded the shutouts.

NOTICE

Proposed Changes to OHIP

A review panel will study insured services that could be removed from OHIP coverage next year. Only some of the services under consideration will be removed.

All medically necessary services will continue to be covered by OHIP. You are invited to send your views to the panel.

The Joint Review Panel

Dorothy Pringle, Dean, Faculty of Nursing, University of Toronto will chair the newly created Joint Review Panel. The seven-member panel has representatives from the public, physicians and government. They will review those services submitted by the Ministry of Health and the Ontario Medical Association. The panel's deliberations will depend heavily on public input received during the review process.

Public Input

The proposed changes being reviewed by the panel can be obtained by calling 1-800-461-2036. TDD: 1-800-387-5559.

The deadline for receipt of submissions is January 10, 1994.

The panel will also hear oral submissions. When you send in your submission let us know if you would like to make an oral presentation. The panel will contact you regarding your request. Oral presentations will be heard in Toronto on Wednesday, January 19, and, if needed, on the following day as well.

Send your submission, in English or French, to:

Births

HAY — Scott and Dianna are proud to announce the birth of their second daughter Kassaundra Paige on Saturday, November 27, 1993 in Edmonton. A sister for Kyrsten. Proud grandparents are Edwin and Phoebe Hay of Lochiel and Catherine Tourand of Kingston.

GOWAN — Clifford (Kip) and Julie (nee Berry) are proud to announce the arrival of their first child, a son Justin Brodie, born Saturday, November 27, 1993 at Brantford General Hospital weighing 7 lbs. 12 ozs. Proud grandparents are Alex and Olive Berry of Brantford and Mrs. Marg Gowan also of Brantford.

Cards Of Thanks

WAHL — The family of the late Ernie Wahl would like to thank friends and neighbors who expressed their sympathy during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Chris and Bruce Sova, Madeleine and Francois Aubin, Ans and Clarence Fiske, the family of Mike and Suzanne Menard, Eleanor MacNaughton, and all our friends of the St. Andrew's United Church, Williamstown. Your kindnesses will always be remembered. 49-1p

THE family of the late Rose-Marie Levac McCarthy Houle wish to thank sincerely everyone who expressed their sympathy in person, by cards or telephone, floral, mass offerings and generous donations to the Cancer Society during our recent bereavement. 49-1c

MUNRO — We wish to thank our relatives, neighbors and friends for their countless acts of kindness during Gordon's illness and at the time of his death. To those who sent messages of sympathy, brought food to our homes, gave flowers, mass offerings and donations to the Cancer Society, we thank you for your generosity. Special thanks to Dale and Ron Munro, to the active and honorary pallbearers, to the choir, the violinists and piper, to Father Tom Villeneuve, Monsignors M. J. O'Brien and D. B. McDougald and to Deacon Kerry McDonald for his comforting message. To the ladies of the parish for the delicious lunch — our appreciation. Sincere gratitude to the nursing staff of the Hotel Dieu Hospital and very special thanks to Dr. Carson for his devoted care and kindness to Gordon throughout his illness. We extend our appreciation to Fr. Halle, Deacon Bob, and Sr. Clancy for their prayers and visits. Our sorrow is made easier to bear through the help of all of you.
—Lillian Munro and family. 49-1p

DAOUST — Sincere thanks for good care to Dr. Roman and all the nurses and staff who attended me at the Glengarry Memorial Hospital. This will always be remembered. Thanks to all relatives and friends for visits, cards, basket of fruit and flowers and phone calls. Thank you to all who helped in my truck accident. Thank you to Rene and Jeannette.
—Rolland Daoust. 49-1p

PICHE — I would like to thank everyone for the lovely gift I received last Sunday, November 29. Especially the Optimist Club, all our friends and neighbors. Once again thanks, I sure will remember this day for the rest of my life.
—Pauline Piché and family. 49-1p

THE family of the late Patricia Ferguson wish to express sincere thanks to all friends, neighbors, and relatives for their sympathy and support, donations, mass cards, floral tributes and all kindnesses extended to us during our recent bereavement in the loss of a loving mother. A note of thanks also to Munro and Morris Funeral Home and the staffs of Glengarry Memorial Hospital and Hotel Dieu Hospital (Cornwall).
—Sincerely, Barrie, Sharon, Derek, Jan and André. 49-1p

— MARTEL —
The family of the late Olive Martel of Monkland will always be grateful for the kindness and support shown during her illness and following her death on Nov. 12, 1993. The flowers, messages of sympathy, food and visits to the Funeral Home by friends and neighbors will always be remembered. A very special thank you goes out to Dr. Carson, the nurses of CCU and Palliative Care on Third Level North and the Pastoral Team of the Hotel Dieu Hospital who showed caring and kindness throughout Olive's illness.
"The God of Peace and Love shall be with you." 2 Corinthians 13:11
Sincerely, The Martel Family 49-1p

In Memoriam

McDONALD — In loving memory of Mrs. Jack McDonald, nee Hazel Duggan, who passed away Dec. 9, 1992.
Just her hand to clasp
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day, we will meet again
Beyond this pain and toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand anew
In heaven's happy life.
— Miss you Hazel, Eileen. 49-1p

In Memoriam

LEGER — In loving memory of my dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leger, sisters Irene and Blanche and brothers Leo, Jean Paul, Laurent and husband Eldege Viau.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spots where you were laid.
— Ever remembered by daughter, sister and wife, Rita S. Viau-Decoste. 49-1p

CADIEUX, Michael — In loving memory of a dear son and brother who passed away Dec. 10, 1982.
What would we give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see;
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to us.
— Always remembererd by Mom, Dad, Sandra, Suzanne and Amanda. 49-1p

PILON, Eugene and Ida — In loving memory of a dear mother and father, and grandparents who passed away January 16, 1904 and December 8, 1991.
Many years have passed since that sad day
When the two we loved were called away;
Loved in life, honored in death
Treasured in memory, two of the best.
— Sadly missed and always remembered by Muriel Phillips and grandchildren. 49-1p

The Mount Carmel House Auxiliary's pot luck supper was held recently with a number of faithful supporters. The food was delicious and enjoyed by all.

A good majority returned home to watch the Grey Cup game while others remained to play euchre and find out who the lucky winners of the draws would be.

The Camcorder was won by Don Blaney from Maxville and the Colts Season Tickets for two were won by Andy Kirkey of RR#1, Cornwall.

The door prize went to Theresa McDonald and Attendees prizes were given to Margaret Cadieux and Theresa McDonald. The 50/50 went to Inez Sproule.

Card winners for the ladies were Marie Brabant, Gloria Rolland and Rita Tourangeau. Men's were Alfred Quinn, Fernand Brabant and Howard Quail. Pat and Howard Quail shared the skunk prize.

It may seem a little early to speak of the St. Patrick's dance at the Bonnie Glen but please mark your new year's calendars because the Celtica Band will be on hand to entertain you.

A happy holiday to all from the Mount Carmel Auxiliary.

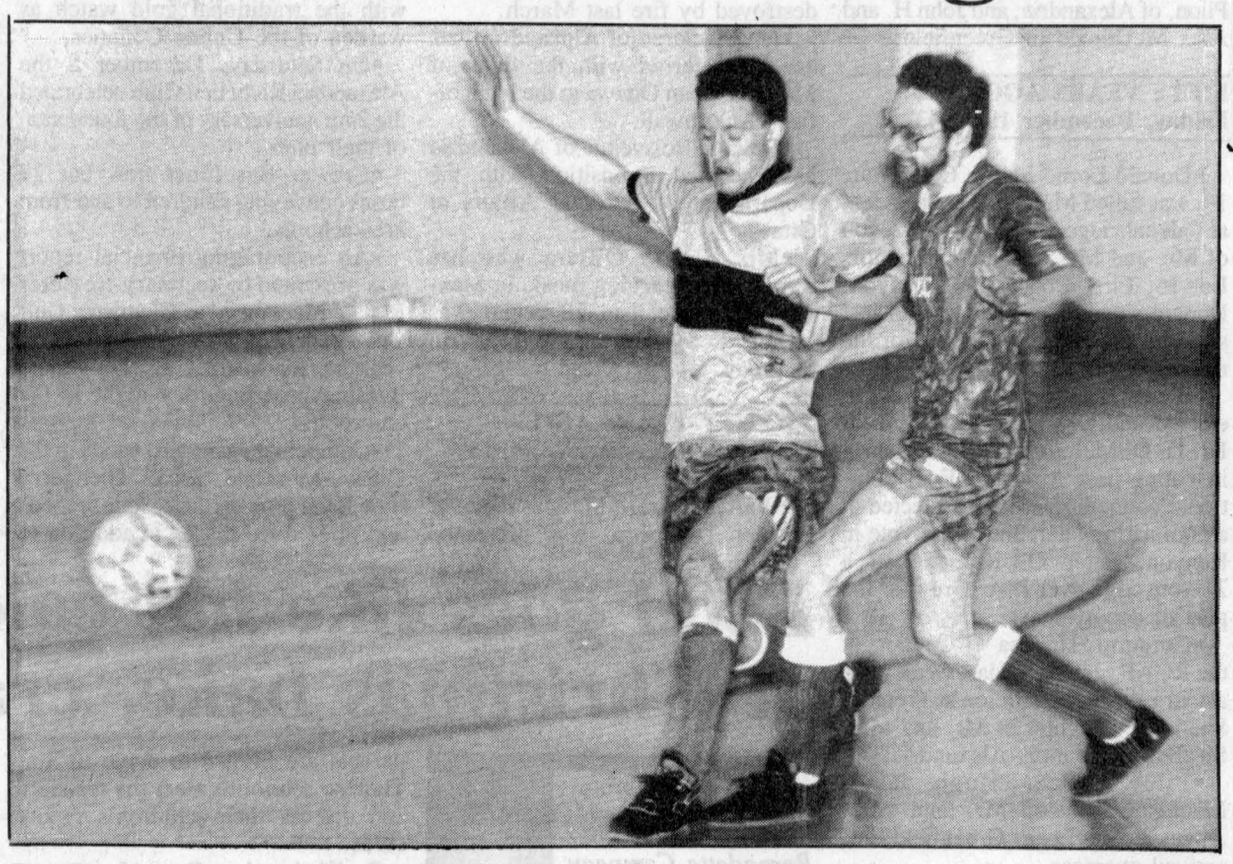
Stars' Drive for Five in gear

Can anyone derail the Glengarry Express?



Rudi Payer Sport and the Glengarry Stars have met in the last two Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League finals. The two rivals figure to be the top contenders for league honors again this year with the Stars looking to win a fifth consecutive title.

It's been a relatively smooth road for the Glengarry Stars so far as the Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League club drives towards what it hopes will be a fifth consecutive championship.

The Stars are undefeated in five games with a 5-0-1 record so far in 1993- 94 and Carman MacMillan has made several important additions to an already potent line-up.

Meanwhile, Rudi Payer Sport - the Stars' number one rival and the CLISL's runner-up club the past two seasons - are in a rebuilding mode after losing eight players from last year's edition of the club.

But if recent league history has told us anything, it's that regular season results don't mean a thing come playoff time.

Rudi's has finished in first place in each of the past two seasons only to lose to the Stars in the final.

Now, Glengarry is embarking on its Drive for Five with Rudi's and three other teams standing in the way.

Glengarry Stars: The Stars are heavy favorites to win again in 1993-94, not only because of their recent success but because they continue to improve their line-up.

The Stars have added Alain Decoste, Steve Watt and Rodney MacKillican - who won the scoring championship as a member of the Avonmore Warriors last season - to a star-studded roster that already includes such standbys as Jeff Lowe, Robbie Starkauskas, Steven Cameron, Brian Cameron, Victor Denobriga, Robert Meth, Matthew Steiche and Scott McPherson.

Darrell Hay is expected to rejoin the team later in the year while Daniel Steiche, Malcolm MacPherson and Shawn McClements round out a deep and talented line-up.

Rudi Payer Sport: With four wins in their first five games this season, Rudi's has been very successful for a team that has lost a whopping eight players from last year's roster.

RPS has brought in some new faces to try and fill the void left by the departures of veterans Benjamin Pye, Bruce Tessier, Gareth Pye, Mike Lafrmaboise, Innes Fraser, Jeff Robertson, Jason Struthers and Chris Armstrong.

Roy McDonell joins Rudi's from the defunct Char-Lan U2's while Pat Clarke and Paul Owen make their returns to the Char-Lan league. Travis Giroux and Jamie Christoff are two other new additions.

The small core of returning players includes 1991-92 scoring champion Bruce Mitton, goaltender Junior Blanchette, veteran defender Taffy Pye, offensive threat Greg Deschamps and Chris Smith.

Williamstown Thunder: The Thunder is the league's youngest team both in terms of existence - it's Williamstown's first year in the league - and average player age.

The team is stacked predominantly with the junior-aged high school players who made up the 1993 Char-Lan Crusaders team that went to the SDG finals.

As a result, the Thunder roster consists almost entirely of rookies and only four players - Benjamin Pye, Jason Struthers, Garry Benson and Scott Giroux - have appreciable league experience. Pye and Struthers played for Rudi's last season while Benson and Giroux are former members of the U2's team.

The rookie club is off to a good start with four wins and a tie in its first six games.

Vanelli's Warriors: This club was known as the Avonmore Warriors last season but is essentially a mix of former U2 and Cornwall F.I.S.T. players.

Only Peter Mesman returns from last year's Avonmore squad.

Kirk Wallace and Jamie Myers are two of the former Char-Lan players on the squad while Jason Robertson - Jeff's brother - is a rookie.

The Warriors are 1-5 in the early going.

SDG Nomads: The league's perennial doormats have added some reinforcements from Rudi's indoor and outdoor teams in a bid for respectability this year.

Former RPS indoor netminder Kyle MacDonald-Wolochatiuk will handle net duties for the Nomads while brother Kris - a Char-Lan bantam - is also on the roster.

Cyril Dixon, a member of Rudi's outdoor team who plays high school soccer for Tagwi, Jean Tessier and Pierre Seguin are other SDG players whose faces are familiar in the Williamstown area.

Les Bradshaw and Robin Basara lead the Nomads' contingent of returning players.

HELP!

You've helped recover 75% of old newspapers through your Blue Box. Now we need your help to get even more back. Ontario's paper mills make recycled newsprint out of every single old newspaper and flyer insert you give them – and that's still not enough. They actually have to import more from the U.S. If we recover more old newspapers, the less will go to dumps and the less mills will need to import. And the more municipal tax dollars we'll save. But we need your help to recycle as many newspapers as possible.

Recycling newspapers and flyer inserts is a real Ontario success story. Together, we can close the recycling loop.

Food goes like hot cakes at Christmas bake, craft sale

North Lancaster

The bake and craft sale held last Saturday at the township hall was very successful.

As a matter of fact, some people came in to find very few goodies left as they were sold almost as soon as they were brought in.

I guess that says something for Glen Nevis cooks.

Hélène and André Decoeur have returned from a week in the Mexican sun, a trip they took to complete the celebrations of their 25th wedding anniversary.

They had a surprise at the airport before leaving when they learned that Jacques and Christianne Elie would be accompanying them on the trip.

Jacques, who was hired to make a video at the anniversary party, said when he takes a contract, he goes right to the end!

Everything went well and they really enjoyed this warm holiday.

UCW into the Christmas spirit

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

Congratulations are extended to Georgette Paiement on the recent arrival of a bouncing baby boy, a nephew. The first boy born into the Paiement family in this generation, Joshua Roger Paiement arrived on Nov. 23 weighing in at one pound seven ounces to Miss Paiement's brother and his wife, Raymond and Sue Paiement of Eugene, Oregon. The delighted grandparents are Roger and Irene Paiement. Again congratulations to you all on this happy occasion.

Wednesday afternoon December 1 was the date of the Glen Sandfield UCW's annual Christmas luncheon meeting at the home of Gail Kronwald.

There were 14 present, four of whom were guests. Susan Praamsma of Morrisburg, Jane Cleary and Doris Spencer received a warm welcome from the group.

President Lorna Chapman asked Rev. Peter Praamsma to say the grace.

The wonderful array of colorful salads covered the festive table. An authentic German black forest cake and a tasty pineapple dessert topped off the meal.

Rev. Praamsma had to leave shortly after lunch but Mrs. Praamsma joined the ladies for the meeting. This is a social meeting, with readings, carols, poems and scripture.

Lorna Chapman read a short piece after welcoming everyone. Nancy Campbell gave out a Litany of Thanksgiving, and led the reading.

Margo MacRae led in a meaningful Candle Lighting Service. Five tall white candles were lit by each of the guests for love, joy, peace and hope. The centre candle represented Christ, the light of the world, and all the other ones were from this centre one.

A wreath of votive candles were lit by the rest of the women in sets of two; one lit for blessings for themselves and one for someone needing a special prayer.

Nancy Campbell read the Christmas greetings letter from the Seaway Valley UCW president. Readings and readers included a carol poem by Bessie MacLennan, A Sailor's Gift read by Anna Boekoff, Gifts, a poem read by Doris Spencer, A Hometown Christmas read by Jane Cleary, carol verses read by Eleanor Bickerstaff, Christine MacLachlan and Isobel MacLennan.

Della MacDonald read A Special Christmas Card and Susan Praamsma read the nativity story taken from the book of Luke. Phyllis Noble recited a Christmas card verse to end the Christmas messages. All these readings were interspersed by familiar carols, including Away in a Manger, with all three tunes used.

Nancy and Anna sang a verse of O Tannenbaum in German. Margo gave the financial report.

The voices raised in joy and praise were most pleasant singing the well loved carols. There was no accompaniment, but the music was a melodious announcement of the festive season to come.

The only business was a treasurer's report by Margo MacRae. Nancy Campbell had several announcements.

The first concerned the upcoming Ecumenical Carol Festival at the Church on the Hill in which nine church choirs will participate in both English and French. Last year one choir even sang in Dutch, and it was beautifully done. The time is 8 p.m. If you like carols and choral music then this is the place for you on Wednesday evening.

February 8 there will be a pastoral care workshop conducted by Laurie McKnight-Walker and her husband Wil Walker in Morewood. The guests will be brown-bagging it that day. Keep this in mind, it should be really good.

The meeting closed with everyone joining hands to sing We Wish You a Merry Christmas. Margo MacRae and Nancy Campbell will take the large box of donations for Montee D'Elle in Alexandria.

VOLUNTEER OF THE WEEK

This week we acknowledge the contributions made by Dorothea and Ross Conners. Dorothea gives residents advice on caring for plants and gives horticultural talks, taking the residents on trips through the use of slides to wonderful places like the Bouchart Gardens in British Columbia. She also works in the tuck shop at the Manor. As a Master Gardener, Dorothea helps home gardeners with their gardening problems. She advised congregants of St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican Church about how they might re-landscape the church grounds.

Dorothea and Ross Conners

Ross conducts a current events program at the manor, discussing with the residents what is happening in the world around them. He has also gone as a volunteer on various bus tours with the residents. He was president of the Maxville Horticultural Society in the mid 1980's and district director for the Ontario Horticultural Association from 1980 to 1993. He is a steward at Maxville United Church. In the mid 1980's he was on the United Counties Science Fair Council and in the latter 1980's he was a director with Upper Canada Playhouse.

Ross and Dorothea moved to their home near Maxville thirteen years ago when they retired. Dorothea had been an elementary teacher and Ross, a High School English and Geography teacher.
