Lack of authorization of hall demolition stalls payment

Decision to raze building should've been made by council: Walker

Kenyon Township will withhold a $2,500 payment to the contractor that demolished the old Apple Hill recreation building, amid concerns the demolition was never approved by council.

The decision to withhold payment was not a unanimous one, but was carried after a three-two vote in its favor.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance and Deputy Reeve Donald Besner voted not to withhold payment, while councillors Owen Walker, Gwen Morris and Blair Williams voted to postpone paying the bill.

The decision was made at an August 11 meeting during which Walker queried Vallance about who had given the go-ahead to demolish the building.

It was never approved by council, he said. And he wanted to find out who had authorized demolition before paying the bill.

Though Vallance did not say who had given authorization, he said, ''It has been done and if I made a mistake, I'm sorry. I didn't make a mistake.''

Vallance Tuesday told The Glengarry News that the Apple Hill building committee had authorized demolition of the old building.

In March, Walker registered a vote against demolishing the building, stressing that the township should first advertise it for sale and removal.

But according to township Clerk-Treasurer Mary McCuaig, there were no responses to the ad.

Even so, said Walker, the matter should have returned to council before the building was demolished.

Walker said he was surprised when at the opening of the newly-constructed recreation centre in June, he saw that the old building had been taken down.

In an interview Monday, Walker said, ''...I was surprised that it was gone, and the next thing I was surprised to find out was that we're being charged for it (demolition).''

''Township property has been demolished without council's approval and township money has been spent. I'm concerned we have not followed the appropriate procedure.

''This is the type of issue that has to be dealt with. When I was campaigning, I told people I would watch the money that was being spent very carefully and I think this is what people expect me to do.

''Ultimately, the decision may have been to demolish the building. I'm not trying to make a case for or against demolition. But it should have come back to council.''

Walker also said he's not sure the township should be the one to pay the bill; that perhaps whoever authorized demolition should accept the financial responsibility.

He said he'd checked building committee meeting minutes and not found evidence that it had approved demolition.

Besides that, he said, the building committee was responsible for erec-

Agriculture's heroes to be honored

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The selection committee for the Glengarry Agricultural Wall of Fame has selected the 15 people who will be honored at the wall's first induction ceremony next month.

It was agreed earlier this year that 15 people will be inducted this year into the county's first ever agricultural wall of fame and committee members have since been busy reviewing the flood of nominations.

Three inductees will be selected each year following for induction into the wall of fame.

The concept, kicked around by agriculturists for a number of years, was thought up as a way to give recognition to residents in or connected to agriculture who have made significant contributions over the county's history.

A few years ago farmers considering erecting a wall of fame at the Martintown mill, but the plan never garnered enough support to get off the ground.

Interest in erecting a wall of fame peaked again with the availability of space in the Angus Gray Hall at the fairgrounds in Maxville.

''It (the idea) was rejuvenated in Maxville,'' said committee member Marion Myers.

Of the 15 inductees, only one, R. Stanley Wightman of Lancaster, is still living.

The 14 to be inducted posthumously are, from Maxville: James and Dan Ferguson, Ferguson Thresher Co., and Robert McKay; from Dalkeith: John E. MacIntosh (Sandy Fraser), D. Lorne MacDonald, Wm. D. MacLeod,(Spring Creek) D. W. MacLeod; from Lancaster: F.C. MacLennan, Malcolm Cumming, J. Carlyle Watt, Donald N. Cumming; Brodie, William Jamieson (the inventor); Williamstown, James Benning; Bainsville, D.M. MacPherson; Dunvegan, John Arkinstall.

The inductees will be profiled over the next three issues of the Glengarry News starting with next week's issue of Aug. 26.

The induction ceremony will take place at the Angus Gray Hall in Maxville Sept. 12, with a happy hour at 7 p.m. and buffet at 8 p.m.. The guest speaker, Judge Matheson, will speak at 9 p.m., around the time of the unveiling of the inductees.

Tickets for the ceremony will be available after Aug. 26.

For more information people can call Andrew Arkinstall, 527-1106; John Alan Mitchell, 347-2950; Lloyd MacRae, 347-2901; Jim Humphries, 525-1154; Bill Metcalfe, 527-2003, and McNaughton Cumming, 347-3423.

Town meets MOE deadline

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria has met an Aug. 15 deadline to submit a plan on how it will deal with sewage problems causing pollution in the Delisle and Garry rivers.

The town sent a letter to the Ontario Ministry of Environment detailing its short and longterm plans by fax Friday after a Thursday environment committee meeting.

The ministry request, made in a letter last month, is the beginning of a process of voluntary action to address pollution problems, but could become mandatory if the town does not proceed to the ministry's liking.

The request has been made as part of the ministry's ''compliance policy'' which forces municipalities and industries causing pollution problems to develop plans to reduce

THE DIEPPE RAID

Wartime engineer John Denovan says there were positive aspects to the ill-fated operation

This is a first of a two-part series on the Glengarrians involved in the 1942 Dieppe raid. Next week The News will feature veterans who fought at Dieppe.

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

Today being the 50th anniversary of the ill-fated Dieppe raid, in which many Canadian soldiers died, it's time to give the failed attack some credit for the lessons learned which led the Allies to their D-Day victory in 1944, according to a Dalkeith man who worked as an engineer on the disasterous 1942 raid.

More than 3,000 Canadian soldiers were either killed, wounded or captured by Germans in the British-led eight-hour beachfront attack of Dieppe, a French port city on the English Channel, in an effort to open a second front in Europe to relieve the struggling Russians who were losing ground to German invaders and the British who feared a German raid soon.

John Denovan of Dalkeith, a mechanical engineer who joined the army in 1940 and designed explosives for the Dieppe raid, said the media and historians tend to portray the August 19, 1942 battle as a wasted, shameful slaughter.

''I'm totally disgusted that the positive aspects that came out of it are kept out,'' said Denovan, who was used as a source for many books and articles on the Dieppe raid.

He said because of the Dieppe raid, the same mistakes were not repeated in the 1944 D-Day raid of Normandy.

One mistake the Allies made in 1942 was chosing Dieppe as an attack site.

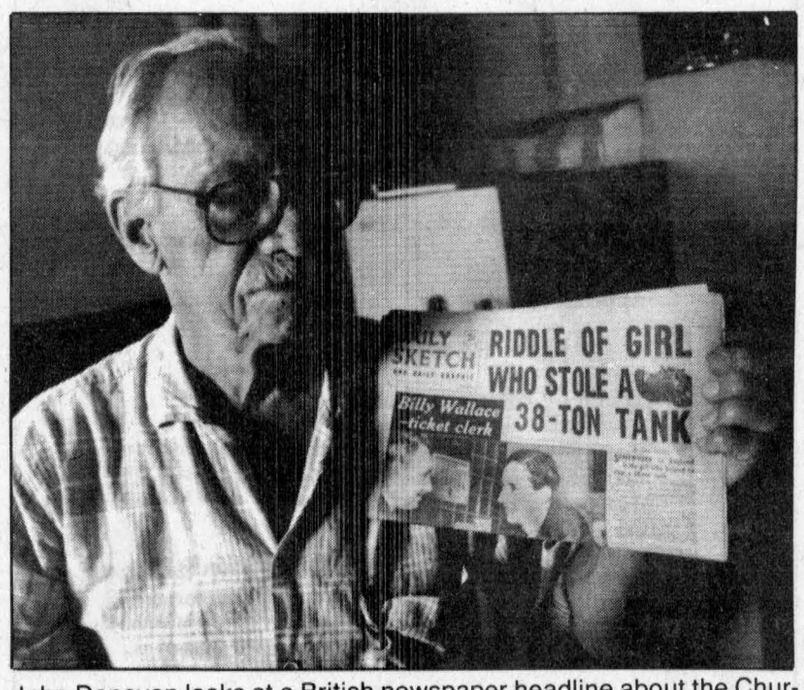
Denovan said Dieppe was not the best location to attack because, being close to England, it was heavily defended by Germans.

''Dieppe was one of the worst places they could have picked,'' he said.

The raid also proved that it is too difficult to capture a heavily defended port from sea.

Also, there was no aerial or naval bombardment of German positions before the amphibious landing.

And the 15 tanks used in the raid had difficulty reaching the city of Dieppe, their destination, because they couldn't blast through the concrete walls around the beach.



John Denovan looks at a British newspaper headline about the Churchill tank he managed to get, with the help of an English woman.

The tanks sat idle on the beach, with nowhere to go.

''And the German guns zeroed in on them and destroyed them,'' Denovan said.

And what the guns didn't destroy, the anti-tank mines strewn on the beach did.

Denovan said that according to German reports, only one tank managed to crawl through debris, bodies and ammunition and reached Dieppe.

Out of the 3,716 Canadians used in the operation, 800 were killed, 586 wounded and another 1,874 captured by the Germans.

''The sacrifice was too great. But at the same time, it was probably essential,'' Denovan said.

He said the mistakes were bound to happen sooner or later.

He thought about all of the mistakes of Dieppe and decided to use his engineering expertise to design an assault tank that would be able to break through concrete barriers.

Engineers were not supposed to be able to sign out a tank, but he surreptiously obtained a Churchill tank by outranking a tank pool's inventory supervisor, an English woman.

The incident made headlines all over the world which read something like ''The officer and the girl who stole a tank.''

Denovan took the tank apart and pieced it back together with the help of other officers so that it could be used by military engineers, who clear mines and use heavy explosives to destroy bridges or blast holes through obstacles.

His tank was fitted with a special

Breakfast fans jam airport

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The annual Alexandria Aviation Club Fly-In Breakfast has soared to new levels.

Organizers estimate more than 1,700 breakfasts were served at the event, well up from last year's estimated 1,700 breakfasts, making the event one of the largest of its kind in Canada.

''(It's) in the vicinity of 1,700 to 2,000,'' said Reg Page, one of the people involved in the event.

The event went so well, that even finding parking for the planes looked like it was going to be a problem.

It is estimated 200 planes — there were even two vintage WWI planes and one helicopter — set down at the airport Sunday.

It was so busy, patrons were lined up outside of the airport hangar where breakfast was served and for yards down the airport entrance at one point in the morning.

The airfield was almost as busy with crowds gathering around various aircraft, parked side-by-side neatly in rows, and watching the numerous take- offs and landings.

''It was tremendous, tremendous,'' said Page, treasurer of the aviation club.

''It's become quite popular over the years.''

He added the good weather was a ''big factor'' in making the event, which raises funds for operating the Alexandria airport, a success.

Also making the event a success was the work of volunteers — including the Alexandria cadets, who directed cars and kept the area free of litter — and the support of area residents.

''We couldn't afford to have an airport without the help of the community,'' Page said.

Page was up at 4:30 and at the airport along with other volunteers before 5 a.m. to get sausages fried ahead of time for the breakfast.

''We knew something was really going to get rolling this year when the first airplane arrived before seven o'clock,'' he said.

gun capable of launching a heavy 10-inch by 10-inch charge called a "dust-bin", because the bomb looked much like a waste basket.

The tank, called the Assault Vehicle Royal Engineers, was able to launch the charge more than 80 yards.

"A few rounds would make a substantial opening in a concrete wall," Denovan said of the "dust-bin" charge.

It was even able to knock down bridges.

The tank was also fitted with a device which flailed the ground in front of the tank and detonated mines to allow safe passage of armour and personnel.

And, the tank was designed in such a way that it would be able to float on water during an amphibious attack.

While in water, only the tank's bulging top peered through, leading the Germans in Normandy to believe it was a small boat.

They therefore only fired small arms at it.

"And small arms cannot destroy a tank," Denovan said.

The tank was useful in the subsequent Normandy invasion by breaking through walls and barriers and cleared away mines allowing Allied invaders to reach their destinations.

The Normandy invasion's success was reached not just because of the engineer's tank, which won Denovan an award in 1953 of about $67,000 from the United Kingdom Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors.

Denovan said the invasion succeeded because of all of the lessons learned at Dieppe.

Allied forces preceded the invasion of Normandy with heavy bombardment from air and sea to "soften-up" the enemy.

Floating harbors were used to ease landing of boats, equipment and soldiers at the invasion site.

A huge concentration of naval, air and infantry forces were used on D-Day, instead of just a few divisions as in Dieppe.

And, perhaps more importantly, Normandy was much easier to capture than Dieppe because of weaker German defenses.

"This was all because of Dieppe," said Denovan, who retired as a major from an engineering unit in 1946.

"You attack in great force, in a concentrated area that is nowhere close to a place that is heavily armed like a city or a port."

He doesn't want to think what would have happened in Normandy if Dieppe didn't happen first.

"We probably would have gone into a defended area and not succeeded — get thrown back into the ocean," he said.

"Defeats are very demoralizing to the armies."

The D-Day invasion allowed Allies to gain a foothold in Europe and push back Germans to their defeat, ending World War II.

Demolition was not approved

ting a new building, not for taking down the old one.

Walker conceded that $4,000 in the township's 1992 budget had been earmarked for the building's demolition, but counters that it did not automatically mean that demolition was approved.

Monday, Vallance said he didn't understand what Walker was trying to get at, and said that at the Aug. 25 meeting, he would suggest that the bill be paid or be given to a collection agency.

"I'm not going to be left holding the bag. Kenyon has to pay their bills," he said, later raising the point that the township had underspent its budget allocation for the job.

Vallance also said the township had paid a contractor to demolish the building, with the understanding that any salvageable parts would be the property of the contractor.

Barn building

Farmers are beginning to build sheds and barns again, Building Administrator Dorothy Irvine told Lochiel council Aug. 11.

"Over the past year we've only gotten applications to build a goat barn and a shed," she explained.

"Farmers must be feeling more optimistic, during July we got applications to build several farm sheds, an implement storage barn and a hay barn."

Irvine said building applications have run over a $1 million to date — well ahead of totals recorded by July, both last year and in 1990.

Martintown man running federally to change the system

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

"Stan the Man" wants to change the system.

Stan Body of Martintown is to announce at a press conference in Cornwall today that he will be running as an independent member of parliament in the riding of Stormont/Dundas at the next federal election to correct government mismanagement.

"We need somebody in there that is responsible in government," Body said yesterday in a telephone interview from his Cornwall office.

"I'd just like to offer an alternative to unsatisfactory Conservative, Liberals and NDP members and leadership."

Body, who has worked as a direct marketing executive for 30 years, believes incompetent politicians and bureaucrats should be replaced by "experienced, no nonsense managers."

He said there is too much waste and mismanagement in government today.

"I think the government tries to do too many things and says yes to too many groups," he said.

For instance, he said the government pretended to know what it was doing in the ill-fated Hibernia oil exploration project off Newfoundland's coast.

He added that the government should stop using tax dollars to subsidize grain shipments to foreign countries.

Body said Canada sells wheat to countries such as Russia at a price lower than it is sold to Canadians.

He said if Canadians can't grow wheat at the world price, then they shouldn't grow it all.

Body, who is also an apple grower, said Canadian farmers should concentrate on corn and other foods that can be grown at reasonable cost.

Other aspects of his platform resemble Sir John A. Macdonald's National Policy of raising duties on goods imported into Canada which can be produced domestically and abolishing the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement, and he also advocates more current ideas such as liberalizing trade between Canadian provinces, cutting back on big government and replacing the income tax system with an expanded goods and services tax.

He intends preaching his message to the voters of the rural riding through advertising and fundraising events which will be organized soon.

Body has been thinking of running for government for more than three years.

He's optimistic of his chances.

He is also forming the Association of Responsible Independents, which he is presently the only member, but hopes the idea will catch on across Canada.

Unique program 'pooling' resources

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Williamstown and area families are literally "pooling" their resources to bring swimming instruction to their youngsters.

The families are part of a backyard pool program which provides swimming instructions to youths from 4 to 13 years of age.

The program, one of a number in Glengarry county, started about five years ago, to provide swimming programs for children in clean pool water in their own local area.

The program took off, resulting in the demise of Charlottenburgh Township's own swim program, according to instructor Jennifer McLachlan, and boasted 75 children in its first three-week session this summer.

McLachlan, a Red Cross instructor who has been teaching the program for two years, said the program is popular for a number of reasons.

Parents are more comfortable having their kids swim in clean pool water instead of river water that may be polluted. Pool water is usually much warmer as well, a good selling point with the kids.

It is also much easier for swimmers to do practice laps in a pool, she said.

The program has completely won over parents who have children enrolled.

"I think it's really excellent," said Margie McDonell, mother of two children in the program.

"I think it's so nice to have these families let us use their pools."

She said her two children were entered in the program for practical reasons.

"We want them to know how to siwm. If they end up being better swimmers than my husband (Jim) and I, that'll be great."

Of course, her daughter Marion, aged 6, has slightly different reasons why she enjoys the program.

"(I like it) because I get my badges and I get to play all the time," she said.

The toughest thing this summer, because of the cool weather, is getting the students into the water.

"If the weather's nice, the kids love to be in the water," McLachlan said, speaking during a break in program at the Kinloch farm near Martintown.

Michelle Churchill of Green Valley, also a parent, said the program allows children to receive swimming instruction they normally would not have the opportunity to get.

She added, it is good for children to have swimming instruction since so many schools have swim programs now.

Students earn ribbons at the course, starting off with white, and go all the way up to a yellow ribbon.

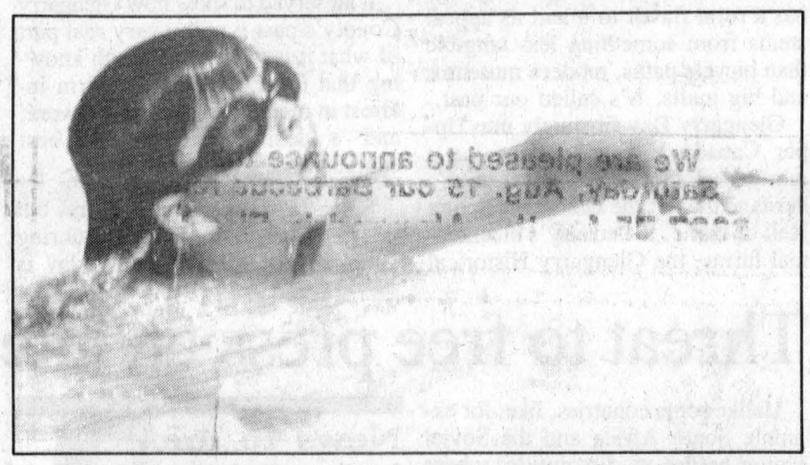
With beginning students, the program focuses more on getting them comfortable with, and having fun, in the water. As they become older and advance to higher levels, the focus becomes more serious.

In the higher levels, students learn different swimming skills such as the front crawl, backstroke, breaststroke and sidestroke, and water safety.

Those who stay with the program all the way up to the white ribbon often continue on to get their bronze medallion or bronze cross, which allows them to give swimming instruction or become a lifeguard.

McLachlan estimated about half the students completing the course's highest level have aspirations to go into lifeguarding. The other 50 per cent go through the entire program simply for enjoyment.

The program started on June 24 and ends on Friday. There were three sessions, the first one was in Williamstown, the second one near Martintown and the final one back at Williamstown.



Jennifer McLachlan poses with one of her swimming classes at the Kinloch farm near Martintown (top), while (bottom) one of her students strives to complete a length during swimming tests. The students are able to have the swimming lessons thanks to Charlottenburgh's backyard pool program, one of a number of such programs in Glengarry where families allow the use of their pools to allow children swimming instruction. Cappucinos awarded for work with children

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

Bonnie and Fred Cappuccino of Maxville are two of the world's best lovers of children.

The North America Council on Adoptable Children awarded them during an international conference in Ottawa on August 8 for their work in helping destitute children of India, and for their work as parents of 20 adopted destitute children.

The "Friend of Children Award" is one of the highest awards given out by the council to those who contribute in improving the lives of children who don't get at least one meal a day.

In 1985, the Cappuccinos formed Child Haven International, a registered charity in Canada, India and the United States, which provides homes and meals for destitute children and women of India.

The Cappuccinos are two of Child Haven's five board of directors.

The other three are from Cornwall and Montreal.

Most of their funds are from private sponsors.

Fred said he wants to stay away from government grants to free the organization from bureaucratic regulations which may hamper the organization's efforts.

The only government funds the group gets is about $50 a year from the Town of Alexandria.

They meet once a year, "but we're on the phone all of the time," Fred said.

Support groups exist in Ottawa, Cornwall, Toronto and Glengarry. The groups fundraise and train volunteers.

The organization's headquarters is in the Cappuccinos' Maxville home, which still accomodates six of their adopted children who come from India, Vietnam and Bangladesh.

But most of the work is done in India with the help of trained volunteers.

Fred, a retired Unitarian minister, said the homes are run according to Gandhian philosophy whereby living is simple with few material goods, meals are vegeterian and everyone is treated equally with no regard to race, caste, color, sex, creed or nationality.

Child Haven also organizes literacy campaigns and a program in India whereby milk is made with soyabeans.

The organization is currently trying to set up a home in Nepal.

Child Haven has also arranged for the adoption of eight Indian children by Indian families.

"It was kind of a breakthrough because Indian people are not much into adoption," Fred said.

He said adoption is the best thing that can happen to such children.

Adoption provides families with children without increasing the population.

Fred said population control is why he and his wife decided to have only two children born from them, and adopt if they wanted more.

But they both got carried away and adopted 20 children, six of which are still living with them, others have gone to school or work.

One became a high school teacher in New Mexico.

He said having 22 children made the Cappuccinos household alive.

Now up to MOE to see if sewage plan is satisfactory

discharges.

It is now up to the ministry to review the town's plan to see if the measures proposed go far enough. If it is not satisified, the ministry can suggest additional action by the town.

If the town fails to take measures deemed necessary by the ministry, it could be forced to comply through a "director's order", according to MOE spokesman Mike Holy.

A director's order would legally bind the municipality to carry out work requested by the MOE. Failure to comply with such an order would result in prosecution in court.

Alexandria Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly, who heads the town's environment committee made up of Mayor Jean Paul Touchette, Reeve Bruno Massie, Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly, and Councillor Gary Shepherd, said he is hoping the proposed measures will satisfy the ministry.

"I hope they are happy. If not, they will let us know and we'll try to address any problems arising from it."

He was reluctant to release details until the plans are released to council.

But he did say council will not be spending the $4.5 million figure obtained from him, mentioned in a previous News article.

Two projects the town plans to proceed with came in a letter from the ministry stipulating what environment projects the town must do over the next three years.

The one project, which involves taking sludge from the sewage lagoon, will cost $60,000, Joly said. He did not have details on the second project, which he said will cost $50,000.

Shepherd said Friday there is a willingness to appease the ministry and address concerns about pollution caused by a lack of sewage lagoon capacity, a problem which has dragged on for more than 10 years.

"It looks like the town is very anxious to cooperate," Shepherd said, adding: "It looks like everybody's on the same wavelength."

The town will be looking at ways to cut down on water going into the sanitary sewer system which really should be going into storm sewers.

One problem is the large amounts of rainwater going into the sanitary sewer system from roof leaders and sump pumps, causing overflows at the lagoon.

The town wants to disconnect roof leaders, sump pumps from the sanitary sewer system, and take any other measures possible to eliminate unnecessary flow.

"It seemed like a pretty good plan to cut off some of the excess water getting into the system," Shepherd said.

As early as 1982, the ministry was urging the town to address sewage lagoon overflows which were causing the pollution of the Delisle and Garry rivers, as detailed in a Glengarry News article from April 21 of that year.

And the need for a sewage system upgrade was even detailed in the town's 1985 official plan. But little has been done.

Cost of upgrading the sewage system will be a stickler, as it has been over the past 10 years.

But Shepherd said he believes if the work is done a little at a time, it should not be a large financial burden to ratepayers.

Holy said the deadline is not an indication the MOE is running out of patience with the town, but merely a move to incorporate upgrading plans into some type of formal process.

The ministry is suggesting the town come up with ways to help pay for upgrading the sewage lagoon, including implementing a user pay system.

The ministry has also suggested the town take action to reduce the amount of water entering its sewage system by disconnecting roof leaders, sump pumps and parking lot catchments from the sewer system.

It also suggests the town implement major recommendations in its wastewater collection system Needs Study, including relocating the town's trunk sewer.

Court Report

The following are among the cases heard by Judge Rommel Masse at Alexandria Provincial Court on Aug. 13.

Man fined for refusing to give sample

A St.Bernardin man was fined $300 and was prohibited from driving for one year for refusing to provide a breath sample to police.

Daniel Guay, 29, was stopped on May 8 on a suspicion of drunk driving by police, but the authorities were unable to obtain an adequate breath sample from him.

Guay was also charged with mischief for giving a false name at the time of his arrest.

For that offence, he was placed on probation and ordered to perform 100 hours of community service.

Dangerous driving, mischief nets fines

A 25-year-old Alexandria woman pleaded guilty to dangerous driving and mischief on Thursday and was fined a total of $700 for those offences.

Christine Laduke was driving on a Kenyon Township road when she deliberately veered into the path of an oncoming car, driven by a former companion of Laduke's.

The oncoming vehicle had to go off the road to avoid a collision while Laduke's car was directed back into its proper lane by a passenger who grabbed the wheel.

Laduke was placed on probation for two years and was prohibited from driving for one year.

The unrelated mischief offence arises out of damage done to a car which Laduke kicked.

Laduke was ordered to pay $223.41 to the car's owner to pay for damages. She was also fined $350 plus an additional $350 for breaching her probation which stems from a mischief charge last year.

Maxville man pleads guilty to charges

A Maxville man was placed on probation and ordered to pay $281.75 in restitution following an incident in Maxville on May 30.

John Simpson, 29, was charged with assault and mischief after he became entangled with the driver and the passenger of a truck which was revving its engine in front of Simpson's home.

The occupants of the truck had apparently caused similar disturbances before, and Simpson took matters into his own hands when he approached the driver, grabbing him by the neck and then hit the passenger in the face when he tried to intervene.

As the truck left the scene, Simpson damaged a rainguard on the vehicle and also hit the hood causing the $281.75 in damage.

Judge Rommel Masse commented in passing sentence that while he understood Simpson's anger, he urged him to allow police to handle future incidents.

Williamstown man jailed for 14 days

A 33-year-old Williamstown man was sentenced to 14 days in prison after pleading guilty to drunk driving.

Peter Hart was arrested on July 24 after his car went in the ditch on Glen Road, causing extensive damage to the vehicle.

Breathalyser tests showed that Hart's blood-alcohol content was two-and-a-half times the legal amount.

Hart, who also had his licence suspended for one year, will be allowed to serve his sentence intermittently.

Crimestoppers coming to Glengarry in September

Three local men have joined with other Canadians and Americans in the fight against crime by getting involved in establishing a crimestoppers group for this area.

Jean Marc Boisvenue, secretary of the newly-formed Seaway Valley Crimestoppers board of directors, told The Glengarry News Thursday, the group is expected to be operational by mid-September.

It will receive anonymous 'tips' needed to solve crimes and the office is expected to be located, at least initially, at the Long Sault OPP detachment.

Seaway Valley Crimestoppers is a response to an increase in crime, a reflection of tough economic times.

And in helping in the recovery of stolen goods, crimestoppers could play a part in bringing down insurance premiums by decreasing the number of claims.

Of 64,400 cases handled by Canadian crimestoppers groups, 38,300 arrests have been made, and $203 million in drugs and property seized. The conviction rate in cases resulting from Crimestoppers 'tips' is 96 per cent.

Boisvenue stressed that anonymity is the cornerstone of crimestoppers: Callers will not be asked or forced to reveal their identities. It is the fear of revealing their names that tends to stop people from getting involved.

"They shy away from taking an active part in getting crimes solved. This is an opportunity for people to take part.

"People can provide information in solving crimes and no one will ever know who they are," said Boisvenue, a Williamstown-area resident.

Also on the board are Richard Leger of Lancaster and Patrick Lefebvre of Glendale.

This branch of Crimestoppers will serve Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and Akwesasne here in Canada, and will also overlap into the counties of Franklin and St. Lawrence in the United States.

It will cover 17 police jurisdictions including several Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) detachments, Cornwall City Police, RCMP detachments, customs offices, customs intelligence, U.S. Sheriffs offices and municipal police forces from Massena and Ogdensburg.

Boisvenue said the movement is an effort which began at the community level and soon gained the active involvement of the OPP, which has been "a driving force" in getting Seaway Valley Crimestoppers off the ground.

OPP proved its commitment by providing a full-time sergeant to the program, he added.

"It was really important that the OPP took a leadership role. We were having meetings, and people said 'Yes, it should happen.'

"But it was after the OPP got involved that everything fell into place," said Boisvenue.

Crimestoppers will be detached from the actual police forces in that the board will be responsible for raising funds to support the program and pay for 'tips' from callers.

And even though police officers will initially handle the incoming calls, it is planned that eventually private citizens will answer the phones.

Police forces have agreed to provide officers for phone duty for several hours, or even several days, each month.

The board will look for a member to represent the Alexandria area.

Glengarry youths held in Florida

Florida police are detaining four Glengarry youths believed to have stolen a pick-up truck from Lancaster Township on Friday and drove it to Daytona.

The youths will remain in custody in Daytona upon arrival of their parents.

The youths, aged 14 to 17, went missing on August 14, but an investigation by the Ontario Provincial Police in Lancaster revealed that the youths may have been involved with the theft of a 1986 Ford Ranger, which went missing at the same time.

The pick-up truck belonged to the mother of two of the suspected youths.

Further investigation led the police to conclude that the youths were headed for Florida.

Border guards at the Thousand Island crossing have revealed that the pick- up truck with four youths did cross into the United States at around 3:25 a.m. on Friday.

OPP officers informed Florida police about the pick-up truck and the youths.

Florida police located the truck and arrested the youths early Monday morning, details of which are sketchy, according to OPP Staff Sgt. Jim McWade.

He said it is not yet known who will be charged with what.

Restaurant 'industry' importance underated

It is a relief to learn that the Priest's Mill Restaurant in Alexandria will be open again soon under new ownership. Its closure has quite visably affected activity in the town's downtown and in particular, trade in the surrounding stores.

Obviously, the 'Hub' as it has been affectionately known as for generations, has meant a great deal to the town, both on a social and economic level. It has been a draw for visitors from Cornwall, Montreal and Ottawa and is probably the town's most recognizable landmark. It has also been an important employer and its owners, generous donors to non-profit causes and sports throughout the county.

Its demise — and hopefully soon its return — in fact underlines the importance of the restaurant industry in general in the town and county.

The Priest's Mill was not the only city class restaurant the town boasts. The Georgian House has developed a strong reputation for fine dining and its ''regulars'' come largely from outside of the area, The Candlestick Restaurant is known for its country location, patio, and the friendly atmosphere. And Champions Roadhouse has obviously built up a strong reputation for its entertainment, fun atmosphere and ''good times and good eats.'' It also is a strong employer of young people, for whom jobs in this area are very scarce.

The quality of food and service these businesses provide, the number of people they employ and the food they serve has meant the area enjoys a wealth of excellent dining spots which act as lures drawing visitors in.

Yet, whenever talk turns to the local economy, the emphasis has been on the importance of manufacturing and the jobs they provide. While they do not employ as many people, collectively restaurants are underestimated in their contributions to the community.

It's little wonder the Priest's Mill closure so adversely affected the town.

Recession encouraging scams, fraudulent sales

Be wary.

It's a worthwhile piece of advice from the police who are dealing with an ongoing series of sales scams involving telephone and personal solicitation.

The problem is not new, but the recession may be stimulating their frequency.

Last week, Lancaster OPP warned citizens to be cautious of telephone solicitors offering big prizes to clients who buy their products. The sales reps, high-pressure types who can easily convince unsuspecting people, try to induce victims to buy cheap pens as a means of collecting the prize.

We have also recently heard about a salesman who has been selling advertising for a non-existent phone book. One victim has been taken for over $250, a large amount of money for a small business that can ill afford it in these tough times.

And not only do such frauds steal money from people and businesses, they can tend to undermine legitimate sales representatives and ventures. The Glengarry News produces an annual large print telephone book each spring, for instance, and such reports can make it difficult to sell to potential advertisers previously burned by scams.

As for telephone solicitation, more companies are using this technique as a way of keeping travel expenses and other costs down, to offer competitive pricing on a variety of goods.

The problem is, a number of companies seek credit card numbers over the phone or coerce listeners to commit to a purchase before seeing the goods they are unwittingly buying. This can lead to serious fraud involving the credit card number of the goods themselves.

The general public should be especially wary in these times of fraud in all of its forms, however. The chamber of commerce has repeatedly warned its members of buying goods from door-to-door peddlars. And then there are the ''temporary'' businesses offering ''bargain'' services and goods ''to be delivered.'' Not only are these of questionable legitimacy, but they remove shopping dollars from the area without returning spin-offs like taxes or jobs.

The first line of defence against these hazards is education and awareness. The police cannot be on top of every phone solicitation or work to track down fraudulent sales reps.

Treat strange solicitations with a very healthy dose of scepticism. Demand proof from sales representatives that they are who they say they are and follow up with a call to their head office. Don't give your credit card number over the phone unless you are 100 per cent certain you know who is on the other end. Demand written confirmations of purchases before you sign a cheque.

A little time and checking can go a long way in protecting you against phonies.

Keeping the rural flame burning

After Thoughts
by Joe Banks

Enjoyed ''Glengarry Day'' staged at Upper Canada Village on Friday, along with a couple of hundred others who dropped by the beautiful parkland to say hello and see what it was all about.

The Village, the chief tourist attraction for this section of the Seaway Valley, was lush and its gardens, bursting with color, a rarity for mid-August due to the traditional lack of late-season rain. Not this summer!

Held as part of SD&G Week last week, it was staged to promote Upper Canada Village throughout the three counties.

It's a good idea, because few from this area regularly visit the Village, though it's only an hour and 15 minutes away by car. The same can be said about all of the attractions in and around the cities of Montreal and Ottawa, but Upper Canada Village has a rural flavor to it and its appeal stems from something less tangible than bicycle paths, modern museums and big malls. It's called our past.

Glengarry Day fit snugly into Upper Canada Village's image, as a number of the displays reflected a heritage theme: the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame, the county's bicentennial farms, the Glengarry Historical Society and us, with our display of old-time printing equipment.

The entertainment for the day, among others, consisted of the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, the MacCulloch Dancers and a John Sandfield look-alike contest. All three represented themes that emerged from another era, when Scots here spoke and sang Gaelic, danced to the highland tunes played on bagpipes and of course, were aware of the influence of St. Raphael's West native, John Sandfield Macdonald, Ontario's first premier.

It all served to show how Glengarry County's past is still a very real part of what it is today. It's worth knowing that there remains that firm interest in recognizing where we were, and a desire to keep the best characteristics of those times.

Some people call that culture, but it's got more to do with an enduring simplicity of lifestyle that today is under siege from a multitude of sources. The improvement in television services and the proliferation of VCRs and home entertainment has kept more people ''cocooned'' and from venturing outside of their homes than ever. Add to the centralization of government, the increased mobility of almost every citizen along good roads and the scant attention paid to rural places like Glengarry by the mainstream media (unless it involves a crisis), and it's easy to see why distinctive ''ruralness'' is a creature in danger of extinction.

And yet, you would wait a decade or two to hear a whine from anybody with roots here, so quietly aware they are of where they came from and how they intend to lead their lives.

Upper Canada Village in a modest way paid homage to that confidence, still standing in the face of heavy winds of frenetic life in 1992.

It's got nothing to do with sticking heads in sand or living in the past, just an assured calm that the spirit of neighborliness, kindness, caring, helping others and a love of community is still a treasured mentality that's worth preserving, no matter how unrecognizable the landscape has become.

Threat to free press an internal one

News to me
by Greg Kielec

Unlike some countries, like, for example South Africa and the Soviet Union before its dissolution, where the threat to free press is external, in Canada and the U.S. it largely is an internal one.

And it is mainly because of the demise of small independent community and daily newspapers — gobbled up by large chains, some merely for profit with no interest in news publishing at all — that this threat is becoming a reality.

As more and more news comes from fewer sources, the chances for readers to acquire alternate views on issues becomes slimmer.

And with less competition among newspapers, there is little need for newspapers to get different angles of an issue out to allow readers to acquire a balanced viewpoint.

The Gulf War is a good example of how media concentration affects press freedom. The majority of the media conglomerates simply spewed propoganda spoon-fed to them by the U.S. military in exchange for having a safe haven and military protection.

If it were not for at least one independent newspaper and independent-minded news stations, sanitized press releases would have been all the public would have received, giving an unbalanced and distorted picture of the war.

Had the above conglomerates owned all the newspapers and television news stations covering the war, the public would have received nothing more than sanitized press releases from the U.S. military during the war.

Smaller examples of the Gulf War coverage are happening everyday in Canada, thanks to the large amount of newspapers held by just a few people. And the situation is not likely to improve.

It has been more than 10 years since a Federal Royal Commission, coined the Kent Commission, linked freedom of the press with the independence of newspapers. But little has been done to address the problem.

And a letter in a recent issue of the Ontario Community Newspaper Association's publication News Clips portrays a bleak future for community newspapers thanks to the federal government's unwillingness to deal with media concentration and unfair competition practices.

The author, Kevin Vincent, publisher/general manager of the Timmins Times, bases his bleak assessment on a June 2 ruling by the federal Bureau of Competition regarding Southam Inc. activities in British Columbia.

The competition tribunal stated that the newspaper chain's acquisition of 13 community newspapers will not hurt other community newspapers in the same Vancouver area market.

The tribunal ruled that daily and community newspapers do not compete for the same advertisers. Thus, it seems the tribunal would like people to believe, there is no danger that small independent papers would lose out to better-financed, well-backed chain papers.

The advantage with newspaper chains is that because resources are shared, costs are much lower. Staff can be shared, stories can be shared and equipment can be shared, meaning less expense.

The competition tribunal ruling basically gives these large newspaper chains which have a distinct competitive advantage over independents carte-blanche to buy up newspapers in any given area and squeeze out independents by offering rates to advertisers cheaper than an independent paper can afford.

If that happens, independently-owned newspapers, such as The Glengarry News, rarities even right now, could soon become extinct.

And according to Vincent, if there is a complaint about a daily paper unfairly lowering its rates to attract advertisers from surrounding community papers, the tribunal could simply refer to the Vancouver ruling.

If it relied on that ruling, in which it stated dailies and weeklies do not compete for the same advertisers, community papers would have no means of address at all.

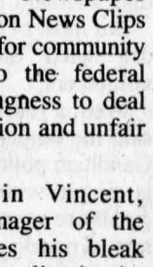
The tribunal could simply say: ''Sorry, you don't compete for the same advertisers as daily papers do, so therefore what rates daily papers charge is irrelevant.''

This does not bode well for very few independently-owned newspapers in Ontario. But it does bring home an interesting irony, that a press which fought for so long to be independent may actually become a victim of itself.

Having free press guaranteed in the constitution is no help if the freedom is eroded away from within. And that is what is happening to the industry in this province and across Canada.

Getting the message — physically

That's Life
by Lesley Cadham



I've got to admit, when I heard that massage therapy was coming to Alexandria, I immediately thought of kimono-clad women seductively beckoning clients into a seedy back room. The kind of women you could hear saying, ''Come around anytime, big guy.''

So when the editor asked me to do a story about them, and told me that I'd get a free massage to help me understand what it is the therapists will be offering, I hesitated and looked desperately for a way out of the assignment.

Being the sort of person who has always shrunk into the darkest corner when hugs are being offered, my instinct was to avoid this sort of human contact even if it meant getting fired from my job.

But I couldn't come up with a quick enough excuse, and before I knew it, he had me on the phone making appointments with these women.

I'm no different from most people: touching another human being, or being touched — particularly by a member of the same gender — is tantamount to riding a bicycle through town, stark-naked.

I remember a university friend, Lynn, who came tearing out of the study room so upset that it took us a few minutes to pry the facts out of her. She finally told us she'd seen two male students locked in an embrace. What she didn't know was that one student had just suffered a tragedy, and I had no doubt the other was only offering a sympathetic shoulder.

Why have a Highlands Society?

Highland paths
by Ken McKenna

The first settlers in Glengarry, which was much larger than the present County, came here over two hundred years ago and were almost entirely Gaelic-speaking. They came before the worst atrocities of the Clearances, which reached into every glen in the Highlands and Islands after the Napoleonic Wars.

They came first as disbanded soldiers from the Mohawk Valley in what is now New York State. They had given their oath of allegiance to the British Crown and believed that only death itself could relieve them of such an obligation.

They were also Royalists to a man with a deep distrust of any movement that would threaten the Crown. Although they or their fathers had been staunch supporters of the Stuart cause and had suffered greatly after the defeat of Culloden, they had gradually given up any hope of a Jacobite revival and, having been well treated by the new regime, had transferred their loyalty to it.

They came with their ''tacksmen'' or ''gentlemen'' of their Clan, who had been their officers in the Army, and to whom they looked for leadership. Their Chiefs, reduced by this time to rapacious landlords, stayed in Scotland and their places were taken by the Priests and Ministers who came with them, a much happier arrangement as it turned out.

In 1818 the first meeting of what was to become The Highland Society of Canada was held, attended by Sir William MacGillivray, Bishop Alexander MacDonell, Colonel Neil MacLean and Simon MacGillivray, among others.

The Society was to be ''a Benevolent, a Literary and an Antiquarian Society — superior to any other similar institution in the United Kingdom — maintaining a bond of union and association between Highlanders wherever they should meet — for the preservation of the Garb which distinguished the Highland Soldier, of the language in which the deeds of his forebears were celebrated and of the Music which animated him.''

A discussion ensued as to the appropriate date for the Annual General Meeting. The anniversary of the Battle of Bannockburn was suggested ''to celebrate a day on which the land of their Forefathers had been defended against invasion and rescued from oppression.''

But, on reflection, it was decided that ''the selection of a day on which Scotchmen had vanquished Englishmen might give room for misconstruction'' should be dropped and the Anniversary of Waterloo, some five hundred years later, a day on which Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen had fought side by side, or as the Gaelic sentiment better expresses it ''an guallaibh a chèile — shoulder to shoulder — would be more appropriate, as a day on which Highlanders had maintained the reputation of their Country and emulated the deeds of their Ancestors.''

This is the proud tradition from which the revived Glengarry Highland Society takes its inspiration and which it intends to cherish and pass on to the future generations.

Trial and error only may determine allergy

To the Editor:

After noticing a letter to the editor in August 8th issue of The Glengarry News with regard to the controversial subject — who can and who cannot use monosodium glutamate, I would say it is only by trial and error that we can be sure who will be affected by M.S.G.

When I found I had to forego the afore-mentioned grains, I was still having problems if I would use a can of clear broth. That is when I pinpointed M.S.G. after reading the label.

One reason I am anxious to bring this problem into the open is, I feel, it is a hereditory disease. A grand uncle of mine and two of his sons died of what was considered bowel cancer. In my opinion it could have started with food allergy. In those days very few people would start the day without rolled oats porridge for breakfast. Wheat and barley grains were considered wholesome for everyone.

I read an article by Denise Beatty and I quote "Carrots, onions, potatoes, radishes, olives, cheese, oranges, apples, shrimp, etc. contain potentially harmful substances. Should you stop eating these? "There would be nothing left to eat" end of quote. Wheat, oats and barley are very natural foods but it is certainly evident that I am unable to tolerate them.

I have been quite aware for sometime that M.S.G. is made from sugar beet molasses. Only last week, I ate a candy that was the wrong type for me. I had not read the label and when I found the wrapper I read it contained sugar beet molasses.

Dr. Lamb, in an article, mentions trying M.S.G. on monkeys, with no ill effects. Evidently, they did not try it on a monkey such as I.

It is for those of us who have problems — to live — by trial and error in our eating habits.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
Mrs. Caroline (MacGregor)

GM Hospital board victory for democracy

To the editor:

The recent election of the new board of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Board is a victory for democracy and reflects very positively on the spirit of the community. After years of cloak-and-dagger affairs, the board seems now, under the chairmanship of Mr. Sultan, to have adopted an open, public-minded policy that can only be applauded.

At last it seems to have come home that the hospital is a publicly funded institution that cannot be the private domain of any clique. Perhaps this is the time for the hospital administrators to resign so as to put an end to the rumors of misuse of funds and nepotism, and to restore the morale of its staff.

In any case, the new board must exercise strict control of both the finances and the policies of the hospital. It is to be hoped that there will be no further manipulations to cut the services of the Glengarry Memorial, like the elimination of the obstetrics section which may be of great convenience to the doctors, but is a serious disservice to the community.

I am confident that the new board will usher in a more positive period for our hospital. To succeed they need the support of all of us who care about the quality of our medical services in this area.

Yours sincerely,
Henry Beissel,
Maxville.

Publicity enhanced reptile display

To the Editor:

Thank you for the publicity you gave Jeff McKay's presentation of Endangered Reptiles of the World at the Dalkeith Library on August 7th. This publicity helped to make a large audience from all areas at the presentation and thus enhanced the program.

We appreciate your interest.

Sincerely,
Lillian Cronks,
Librarian

Getting the message — physically

Her shock was not surprising. In general, we're not a physically affectionate society. Not like Parisians who can't get enough satisfaction out of kissing one cheek, and are compelled to go for two. Many of us back away when people get too close. We move our hands out of reach if someone has had the gall to touch them.

Of course, there's the flip side: The people who thirst for physical contact — and I'm not talking about the sexual kind, here — to get their points across.

I used to work for a woman who couldn't have a conversation with her employees unless her hand was on their shoulders or her arm was linked through one of theirs. I worked for her for two years before I was able to drag my attention away from the physical contact and place it where it belonged: On what she was saying. It made for a lot of unheeded orders.

Last Friday morning, customers coming into The Glengarry News office probably left with the impression that something strange, or even illicit, was happening.

Between 11 a.m. and noon, at least one of us could be seen slumped over a desk, getting a neck, shoulder and back rub from a woman in white. And we were probably all sighing, purring, or murmuring appreciatively, enough to make any straight-laced Glengarrian flee the scene. But it was all on the up and up.

By the time the second masseuse was through with me, I was sold on the benefits of massage therapy. I felt great, if not slightly euphoric. The knots and tensions of past months had melted away, at least for the time being, and I made myself a promise to seek out their services in the future.

They not only worked out muscle tension; they brought back wonderful memories of how my mother used to stroke my hair or rub my back before turning off my bedside lamp at night.

I don't believe we were meant to be a society devoid of human contact; things just evolved that way.

Even cavemen used to show their affection for the woman they wanted by — legend has it — hitting them over the head with a club.

Hey. Don't knock it. I guess at the time, it was better than nothing.

Kenyon Township

Council Briefs

The regular meeting of Kenyon Township council was held at the township hall in Greenfield on Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 7:30 p.m. The following are among items dealt with by council.

Turned down request

Kenyon Township has turned down a request from Charlottenburgh Township to swap responsibilities in caring for the Kenyon-Charlottenburgh boundary road.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance said Charlottenburgh Township council had requested that Kenyon take over the east half of the boundary road from lots 1-25, the portion now the responsibility of Charlottenburgh.

Though Kenyon Township council concurred that most of the homes on the easterly portion of the road are in Kenyon, and discussed reports that Kenyon ratepayers are displeased with the service they receive from Charlottenburgh, council voted to renew the existing agreement for a year — until reconstruction of the boundary road is completed.

Makes claim

Kenyon Township will try to claim the cost of calling in fire trucks to extinguish car fires on provincial highways, from the car owners' insurance companies.

Council resolved to withhold a $1,133 payment to the Alexandria Fire Department until a car owner's insurance company can be sent a bill.

At a meeting earlier this year, Councillor Owen Walker suggested that the township try to make the claims, particularly because some victims do not pay taxes to the township but are simply driving through when the accident occurs.

Clerk-Treasurer Mary McCuaig responded that attempts to claim the cost of extinguishing grass fires from homeowner's insurance companies a few years ago was unsuccessful.

Insurance companies rationalized that such services are incorporated into the municipal mill rate, she said.

Beavers abound

Beavers are so plentiful this year that Kenyon Township has almost exhausted its budget for trapping the animals.

Clerk-Treasurer Mary McCuaig reported that $3,400 of the $4,000 allocation for trapping beavers has been used and there are many more beavers to trap.

The township will have to delve into roads funds to eliminate beavers causing problems on township roadways, but will have to seek more funding from the conservation authorities to handle beavers in municipal drains and on private properties.

A letter from the South Nation Conservation Authority asking what programs Kenyon wants to see funded next year drew the unanimous response: "Beaver control."

Dominion Street residents want action on speeding

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Cars continuously racing on their street has driven a group of Alexandria residents to take action.

A total of 14 Dominion Street residents have signed a petition asking the town to take action to stop racing on their street and were to present it to town council last night.

Another petition has been circulated around town and has at least 200 names of other residents supporting the concerns of Dominion Street residents.

The residents are asking police provide additional surveillance of Dominion Street and William Street to ensure people speeding, squealing tires and driving recklessly are prosecuted.

They also want other measures taken to reduce speed on the street, such as speed bumps and signs.

Because there are no sidewalks, forcing people to walk on the street, and also poor lighting, the speeding is even more of a danger, according to residents.

"They just come down the street. They start at one end and drag to the other," said Bonnie Massia.

She said the racing has been a problem since she moved there six years ago, and although complaints have been made, nothing has been done about it.

Street resident Beverly Fournier minds a lot of kids and is worried about their safety.

"It is really unreal. The cars are driving on two wheels," she said Friday.

But her attempts to have the problem dealt with have also been fruitless.

"Why should a two- or three-year-old child die before the town does something," Fournier asked.

And she believes more town residents favor increased policing, even if it means hiking taxes.

"If the safety of the children meant raising it a couple of dollars, isn't it worth it? Isn't human life worth it?"

Massia said she recently complained to one council member and was told the problem would be addressed at the next meeting, and that street residents need not attend.

Massia said when she called the town office after the meeting, she was then told the town cannot do anything to help the residents.

She said she was told the town cannot afford sidewalks or lighting for the street this year, and the speed bumps are not feasible because the street is a main thoroughfare.

She said she was also told not to bother police with complaints about the drivers.

"It was like going against a brick wall," she said of her dealings with the town.

She added: "If it was an election year, we probably would get better results."

But residents are refusing to back down, and were to take their demands in person to last night's council meeting.

If council still refuses to do anything, then residents will take action of their own, she said.

They will form their own neighborhood watch program to obtain licence numbers of speeding and reckless drivers for prosecution, she said.

Area police investigating fraudulent phone book

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Police are investigating a telephone book scam which has defrauded two Glengarry residents and possibly many others.

Involved in the investigation are Alexandria police and Lancaster OPP after receiving complaints from D and R Small Engines Centre of North Lancaster and from 4-D Catering of Alexandria, which paid for advertisements to appear in the book.

The book has never been published and the two business owners fear they will never see the money they paid. And they also fear others have been or may be taken by the scam.

"I'm sure others have also (been taken in) because this guy is very suave, persuasive, good P.R. (public relations)," said Diane Roy of D and R Small Engines.

The business, owned by she and her husband Don, lost $262 in the scam.

"Money is hard to come by these days. We hate to give it away," Roy said.

She said the person soliciting the ad came repeatedly to their business asking for an ad, and they paid him simply to get rid of him.

The man used the name of an Ottawa company he had previously worked for, and touted a large-print telephone book, similar to one published annually by The Glengarry News to legitimize the scam.

Shirley Dashney of 4-D Catering, said her business got taken for $50. A man going by the name of Bill Cavanagh solicited an ad from her, also for a large-print phone book.

The man wanted her to pay $100 up front, but she refused to pay the whole shot at once, offering to pay half up front and the remainder later.

Dashney also believes more people were taken in by the scam.

"I'm sure we're just not the only two," she said Friday.

Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau said similar occurrences have occurred in the Manotick area and the force is waiting to receive a picture of the suspect from OPP there.

He said the scam may be widespread, adding there has been at least two others in Glengarry that have become victims of the scandal.

Sgt. Mike Aho of Lancaster OPP, said the detachment just began an investigation Monday and is interviewing victims.

"It looks like it's a fraud and it's going to take some time to figure out where this guy is and has it been done in other places."

"It's a very lengthy process, fraud. It's a lot of work."

He said the detachment will be working with other police to try to get to the bottom of the scam.

"We're going to work with everyone involved. We always co-operate with all the forces."

"It looks like there may be some other OPP agencies involved so we're going to co-operate with everybody."

Kenyon, Maxville to meet with MOE

The heads of Kenyon Township and Maxville are scheduled to meet with Ministry of the Environment (MOE) officials next week to discuss news that Kenyon may not receive provincial funding this year to obtain its Emergency Certificate of Approval.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance said Tuesday, he and Reeve Jim MacEwen made the decision to talk with the ministry Monday, when the two municipalities met to discuss the possible absence of funding.

The municipalities' concern rose out of an announcement by Clerk-Treasurer Mary McCuaig that a MOE official contacted the office and said grants to offset the cost of obtaining the certificate may not be available until 1993.

McCuaig also said she'd been told that Kenyon had submitted its application for a 60 per cent grant five months too late to receive funds in the 1992-93 fiscal year.

Kenyon recently struck an agreement with Maxville, which has used Kenyon's Dunvegan waste disposal site since MOE closed the village's a few years ago, that each municipality would assume a portion of the costs in the quest for an emergency certificate of approval.

The certificate is only needed to allow the township to accept Maxville's waste; the additional waste from Maxville's 800 residents raises the number of people using the site to beyond what is permitted by the ministry.

The township has already spent about $70,000 in its quest, and will have to spend anywhere from $125,000 to $300,000, said McCuaig. About 60 per cent of the total cost was thought to be eligible for a 60 per cent grant from the province.

But McCuaig said MOE has also informed the township that it will not subsidize any funds already spent.

Council members were visibly concerned about the possibility that Kenyon Township may continue to spend money only to perhaps later find out that the province will not help pay for it.

"What we cannot put up with here is the deferral of a grant and then to start spending a lot of money."

"If there's not funding, I don't think we're going to be interested in this. Why should we pay $100,000 when there is no demonstrable value to ratepayers of Kenyon?" said Councillor Blair Williams.

McCuaig warned council that if it ordered work on the emergency certificate of approval stopped, the township could be charged with contravening waste disposal site regulations.

Village of Maxville

Council Briefs

Maxville Council met for its regular monthly meeting in the council chambers on August 10 at 7 p.m. The following items came under discussion:

Storm sewer

A storm sewer along the entire length of Robert Street will be installed before school re-opens at the St. Bernard School.

Ernest Besner has been hired to do the work and he will work with village building inspector, Ewen McDonell.

The sum of $9,000 is being budgetted for the project which will use supplies currently on hand.

Traffic

The speed of traffic on Main and Fair Streets is still causing concern and ways are being sought to slow it down.

A speed bump on Fair Street will be installed along with the four-way stop at Fair and Robert Street to slow down drivers.

New manager

Reeve Jim MacEwen, who also serves as chairman of the arena board, announced the appointment of Stephen Titus as the arena manager, effective immediately.

Titus came highly recommended, is living in the village and plans to either rent or purchase a home here.

His job description has been broadened to include the duties of recreation director and he will assist the recreation committee in its programs for all ages.

Fire appointments

A backlog of official appointments to the fire department occurred after they had been recommended by the department itself and had started to serve.

Council passed the motion to make the following people volunteer members: Hughie MacLennan, Gerry LaForest, Mike Marion, Mike Maynard and Lionel Quenneville.

EOHU head illustrates water fragility

Dr. Robert Bourdeau of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit enforced his unit's warning that rural and village lots on septic systems must be at least an acre in size to get "fast track" severance approval.

Dr. Bourdeau told United Counties Council, "smaller lots won't necessarily be turned down — but we will make a thorough study of soil and ground water conditions to insure septic tanks don't contaminate nearby wells."

Hydrogeological studies for a single lot severance application could cost $1,500.

Dr. Bourdeau brought along a hydrologist who explained to council the uses of peat absorption beds for septic systems and how septic tank leaks and summer rains contaminate surrounding ground water.

He illustrated with charts and graphs the extreme fragility of rural drinking water supply.

Earlier, United Counties Council passed a motion asking the health unit to rescind its resolution calling for a minimum lot size of 40,000 square feet, with 200' frontage.

Following Dr. Bourdeau's presentation, council advised its representatives to the health unit board to try softening unit requirements to a 30,000 square foot minimum lot size, with a minimum of 150' frontage.

New thumbs in green competition

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

One of the drawbacks of a small community is that one so often hears the adjectives "same old" being used to describe events, or more particularly, the winners of those events. This is most unfair, since without the "same old" competitors, the events would likely have to be cancelled because of lack of interest.

Nevertheless, it is most gratifying when one sees "new" and "different" people casting their names into this organization, or that competition.

Such was the case on Saturday, as the Green Thumbs Horticultural Society held its annual flower show at St. Mary's Centre. There were ten new members who entered! As far as organizers are aware, this is a record, And when the tabulations were tallied, George McKiel was proclaimed the new entrant with the most points in the show.

Of course, even George has a way to "grow" to catch up with the amazing Elsa Hore. Elsa not only won for the most number of entries in the show, but captured first prize overall for the second year in a row. However, Green Thumbs policy has its own built-in protection against "same old": No competitor may win the Gordon Light trophy (awarded for most points overall) for two consecutive years. Therefore, the trophy this year went to Dorothy Croll, the second place winner. Third place in the winners' triumvirate was claimed by Bridget Grice.

Judge Lyla Coombes singled out two entries which were awarded "best of show" ribbons. Dorothy Croll received one for her beautiful floral arrangement, while Carmen Hunting's very large buttercup squash was declared queen of the vegetables.

Other winners included: Joyce Ayers, Ella Bergeron, Mary Caron, Pat Carter, Hugh Grice, Joan Gibson, Lyall Hargrave, Jack and Carmen Hunting, Wendy McRae Rozon, Inez O'Connor, Simone O'Connor, Pauline Quesnel, Kay Sonne, Sue Thompson, Sheila Wilcox, Andrew and Esther Harkness, Wilfred Maloney, and Carol Ann Maloney.

Kay Sonne and members of her flower show committee were thanked for preparing and organizing the event, as was Ted Sonne, who provided delightful music on his guitar.

Visitors attended from Scotland, Edmonton, Pointe Claire and Beaconsfield, as well as points in Glengarry. Among them were honored guests, Dorothea and Ross Conners. Ross is the district president, and Dorothea is the president of the Maxville Horticulatural Society. Ross spoke about the Ontario Horticulture Association and the upcoming annual district meeting, being held this year at Russell on Sept. 26.

A chance meeting on a Williamstown Street, netted me some interesting news of a horticultural nature. Ethel Clark, who has recently returned from a visit to her home town in Wales, was telling me that it was the site of the Garden Festival of Wales. And it was absolutely beautiful!

The festival, which lasts six months, is set up to turn slag heaps and other industrial scars, into a paradise of lush greenery and flowers. Ethel said the contrast of the "before" and "after" was unbelievable.

What a wonderful thing!

"Before" was the theme of the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum's annual children's program, "The way we were," held in Williamstown last week.

Curators Sherry Sloan and Christina Rogers, along with volunteers Frank Ogilvy, Joan MacDonald, Doris Ferguson and Mary Caron, and helpers Heather Kennedy and Joanne Legault, spent the week teaching 18 local children about the Loyalists and how they lived. Along with various crafts and games, the children were given the opportunity to make bread and butter, and to have an old fashioned horse and buggy ride. The week was very successful; (even the butter turned out), and the children who attended the program thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Stephanie Bougie, Eric Cumming, Bryce Cumming, Travis MacKay, Marion MacDonell, Chelsea MacDonell, Jenny Larkin, Connor Larkin, Robbie Grant, Cameron Grant, Andrew Kennedy, Jenna Lafave, Jordan Lafave, Vicky Hamilton, Michael Conway, Edward Conway, Sarah McDonald and Melissa McDonald should ensure that the Glengarry Historical Society will live to a ripe old age!

For those of you asking yourselves, "Isn't the wine and cheese at the museum usually held about now?" take note that this year the event takes place on Sept. 11.

Also coming up in September, will be the St. Lawrence Branch of the United Empire Loyalists' 14th annual Charter Night Banquet, this year being held in Williamstown. The dinner takes place on Sept. 19 at St. Mary's Centre. For ticket information contact Archibald MacDonell.

A benefit dance in aid of the Flipsen family whose barn burned several weeks ago, will be held on Sept. 26 at St. Mary's Centre.

In the interim, those who are able to offer help with construction are asked to call Alpin MacGregor at 347-3250, or Alex Cumming at 347-3428. Donations may be made in Lancaster at Munro Agromart, in Bainsville at Sangster's store, in Martintown at Don Ross' Garage, in Maxville at Gary Smith Sales and Service, and at the UCO in Alexandria. Here in Williamstown, you may drop off your donation at Alex MacDonald's store, or call Francis Chretien at 347-3677.

A 90th birthday party was held on Sunday for John (Jack) Bowman at Glenelg, the residence of his son and daughter-in-law, Martin Bowman and Gillian Horgan, on the 2nd Concession.

Forty friends and family members attended the party to honor Mr. Bowman, and also his wife Jane (Jean), for it's well known that a man couldn't possibly reach such a milestone without the good care of his lady!

The Bowmans, natives of Angus in Scotland, live in Verdun, but are long-time summer residents of Westley's Point. Like true Glengarrians they were suitably moved when piper Rory Graham played — moved enough that Mrs. Bowman did a little Highland Fling!

He was expected fair weekend, and like a considerate fellow, he didn't keep his folks waiting long. Jacob Paul Vogel, son of Linda and Paul Vogel, was born on August 10, and arrived home the very next day, I'm told.

Congratulations to you all!

The fairgrounds had barely caught its breath when the Lancaster Masons held its annual family Pig Roast on Sunday. The event attracted 100 people this year, lured from as far away as Riceville and Winchester by the succulent smells wafting out of Williamstown.

A few fair crumbs to finish off with this week. Several people have asked me what the "big surprise" was that was rained out on the Sunday afternoon. The answer is: an enormous 180th anniversary cake which would have fed you, and you, and even you!

The cake was made by Anne Donkers, and the sum of its parts was so large, that the icing operation had to take place in Rene and Pearl Rozon's garage! The result was spectacular, and tasty too, as those who attended the wind-down dinner found out.

And now an unsolved fair mystery: Who is Morag McNaughton of Collingwood? Joan MacDonald has fair money to send her, but needs a more complete address. Let her know. 347-2217.

I must apologize for missing Onagh Ross's visit with some of her children and grandchildren in Grande Prairie during her grand tour of the West. She had a great visit with Hugh, Marion and their children and her daughter Sandra. My I had a fine time trying to find that on the map. It's quite a ways up north. Also apologies for moving her brother Edwin. He lives in Kelvington, Sask., not Kellington. (That's what happens when you get away from this business for so long! Sorry.)

Onagh's trying something new on her weekends. At her house on McMartin Street she is selling new and used books, (just for a few weeks) with proceeds going to the Glengarry Historical Society. So starting about 8 a.m. Saturday morning (weather permitting) and Sunday after 12 noon Onagh will be attending her books outside in her yard. So stock up on some good reading, at good prices.

We were privileged this Sunday at St. Andrew's United Church in having Bruce Myers lead our worship service. This fine young man was telling us of his adjustments from Glengarry District High School to University of Toronto lifestyle: from his shy, timid, beginnings of his Christian beliefs to end up being the centre of discussions with his fellow students, about what God meant in their lives and where they were heading. Many encouraging wishes were extended to Bruce in his further studies, as he extended greetings to the parishioners following the service.

Rev. Norma Baumet would like to let those interested in knowing that she has accepted a call to Minister in Yellow Grass, Saskatchewan, southeast of Regina. Yellow Grass has a population just a little bit bigger than Williamstown. So all the best wishes go out to Norma and Marcel in their new charge, and congratulations to Yellow Grass in accepting such a great couple.

Next Sunday, Aug. 23 at 11 a.m., we at St. Andrew's United will be having Jill Foster from Toronto leading our worship service. The following Sunday, Mackie Robertson from Lancaster. Please join us.

Glen Nevis social brings out funseekers

Glen Norman
by Audry Cober

The weather was perfect for the social at Glen Nevis last Sunday afternoon. A large number of people took advantage of it to come out and enjoy themselves by participating in numerous fun games, listening to the entertainment and visiting with each other.

The Memorial Mass offered in the morning was well attended by former parishioners, relatives and friends. Mass officials were led in and out of the church by piper Anne Margaret McCuaig and an honor guard.

Father David Ostler and the social organizing committee appreciated the generosity of parishioners and local businesses. Father David and his parishioners also appreciated the support and encouragement of all their visitors.

Dr. Allan McLeod won the main draw of $1,000. Pat de le Barre, Colleen Dokas, Barbara Cousineau, Lise Maheu and D. Laupret were the $100 winners. Sandra MacDougall won the homemade wall clock. The handmade quilt was won by L. Lalonde.

Last Saturday Muriel Moore attended the wedding of Julie Blondin and Robert Sergerie both of Cornwall.

The wedding was held in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Cornwall, officiated by the parish priest, Father Maloney.

Muriel Moore sang four selections: "The Lord's Prayer," "The Wedding Prayer," "The Rose" and "The Wedding Hymn" accompanied on the organ by Gerard Dechsael.

Lodge news

Weekend guest at the Lodge was Arlington Fraser of Lancaster. His son Jim motored from Vermont to visit his father on Sunday, and together with Arnold Wenger and Derrek Weatherston they all enjoyed the Glen Nevis social Sunday.

At $5.50* nothing handles a dirty job better.

Compare a Genuine Toyota Oil Filter to other oil filters.

When it comes to taking on a dirty job, nothing outperforms a Genuine Toyota Oil Filter. Just compare these quality features to those of the competition:

- ✔ Unique, crystal element constructed with a thick, double layer of high heat-resistant paper to increase the filter area and prevent premature clogging and the passage of unfiltered oil.
- ✔ High heat-resistant rubber silicone check valve reduces drainback into the oil pan and ensures that adequate oil is delivered on start-up.
- ✔ Rubber silicone base gasket ensures a positive seal by maintaining a fixed level of compression that is unaffected by heat or cold.

When you put all these superior features together they add up to greater performance and an oil filter that lasts up to 50% longer. So don't be mislead by claims that one oil filter is as good as the next. Come to your Toyota dealer and ask for the genuine thing.

Champions crowned in C-L Minor Soccer's Super Sunday

The 1992 Char-Lan Minor Soccer season came to an end this weekend as "Super Sunday" crowned the league champions in five divisions.

Lancaster Optimist Atoms-Orange

Lancaster Optimist Yellow picked the most inopportune time for its first loss of the season, losing 4-1 to Orange in the atom championship game.

Paul Brunet's two goals keyed Orange's efforts, supplemented by solo scores by Edward Hadzocos and Jordan Reasbeck. Evan Koronewski scored for Yellow.

In the semis, Orange defeated Grey 5-1 while Yellow trounced Red 6-0. Maroon defeated Green 1-0 in the consolation game.

Mosquitos-Jack Delaney's

In a real goaltender's duel, Jack Delaney's and MacEwen Fuels played to a scoreless tie after regulation time in the mosquito division final, and were still goalless after 10 minutes of overtime.

Jack Delaney's Michael Marsolais scored what proved to be the winning goal in the ensuing shootout, won by JD's 3-2.

MacEwen reached the final with a shootout victory over MacMillan and Howes while JD's got by Rudi Payer Sport 3-0.

Emard Lumber blitzed Char-Lan Red 10-0 in the consolation game.

Tykes-Flimo Farms

Kurtis Thomson scored twice as Flimo Farms defeated Char-Lan 4-1 to capture the tyke division title.

Bradley Flipsen and Shawn Sommers also found the back of the net for Flimo while Lachlan MacDonald was the sole Char-Lan player to break through the Flimo defence.

Flimo had reached the tyke final by shutting out the Lancaster Optimists 4- 0 in the semi-final while Char-Lan advanced by edging Rudi's 2-1.

In the consolation games, Munro Agromart defeated MacDougall Homes 4-0 and MacGregor Farms got by Oxley Insurance 1-0.

Peewees-Munro Agromart

Derek Wereley completed a hat trick with an overtime goal, giving Munro Agromart a 4-3 victory over the Char-Lan Intrepid and the peewee division title.

League scoring leader and MVP Tim McCuaig had the other Munro goal while Kirk MacMillan scored twice and Mike Belmore once for the Intrepid.

On Thursday in the semi-finals, Munro defeated Rudi Payer Sport 3-2 while the Intrepid doubled MacEwen Fuels 4-2.

Bantams-Rudi Payer Sport

Kevin Bard and Reid Guest scored in the shootout to give Rudi Payer Sport the bantam crown over the Grays.

The teams were tied at 3-3 after regulation time as Guest scored twice for Rudi's and Garry Benson once. Kris Wolochatiuk, Chris Ruest and Richard Malo scored for the Grays.

The following is a list of MVPs and best defenders for the league divisions. A winner was selected for both boys and girls.

Tyke division-MVP: Steven Lucas, Marion McDonell, Best defender: Bradley Flipsen, Jenna Lafave.

GSL men's playoffs feature rematches of 1991 semi-finals

The Glengarry Stars and Pine Grove will be looking to prevent a repeat of recent history this week as the Glengarry Soccer League playoffs begin in the men's division.

The Stars and Pine Grove both lost their semi-finals last season in two straight games, and both clubs will be facing the same opponent in the semis this year.

For the second year in a row, the first place-fourth place matchup will feature Glen Nevis and Pine Grove.

Glen Nevis won last year's semi in two straight on the way to the GSL title, but had to fight every inch of the way as both games went into overtime.

The Stars meanwhile, dropped a pair of 3-2 decisions to Greenfield last August as the Marauders moved on to the final.

The Glen Nevis-Pine Grove series started last night while the other semi-final commences tonight.

Regular season results

Glen Nevis clinched the regular season championship by defeating Glengarry 4-1 on Wednesday.

Dean Poirier scored twice and David Wood and Glen Campbell once each. Steven Cameron replied for the Stars.

Glen Nevis added one more point to their season total on the last night of the regular season when they tied 2-2 with Glen Sandfield on Saturday.

Stuart MacDonald and Glen Campbell, who ended the 1992 season as the GSL scoring champion with 22 goals, scored for Glen Nevis while Stephane Bedard and Michel Jeaurond connected for Glen Sandfield.

Glen Sandfield had entered the week needing at least five points in three games to stay alive for the playoffs, but after winning on Tuesday 5-2 over Alexandria, those hopes came to an end on Thursday with a 5-1 loss to Greenfield.

Campbell MacLeod notched a hat trick against the Drillers while Jay Emberg and Michel Jeaurond had singles. David MacDonald and Dennis St.Denis replied for Alexandria.

Campbell MacLeod scored the lone Glen Sandfield goal in the loss to Greenfield as Rod MacKillican scored twice for the Marauders and Milton Capaday, Bob MacLeod and Jeff McLean once each.

Laggan in, Greenfield out

Laggan put an end to Greenfield's playoff hopes in the women's division of the Glengarry Soccer League by winning two games in convincing fashion last week.

Laggan moved into a tie for the fourth and last playoff position on Tuesday night by whipping Glen Nevis 7-0 as league scoring champion Bonnie MacLeod scored five goals. Carol MacLeod and Melissa MacPhee added singles.

Greenfield then became the county's biggest Alexandria A fans as the A's took on Laggan on Saturday.

Greenfield needed Laggan to lose in order to force a sudden-death playoff for the last semi-final berth, but Alexandria, with nothing on the line, couldn't get the job done as Laggan cruised to an 8-1 win.

Carol MacLeod scored four times, Bonnie MacLeod chipped in a hat trick and Sue Stewart scored once.

Brenda MacMaster scored for Alexandria A.

Dunvegan, Glen Sandfield battle Sunday

Laggan's wins left Dunvegan and Glen Sandfield in a tie for third and the playoff picture unsettled in terms of first-round matchups.

That was cleared up on Sunday as Dunvegan defeated Glen Sandfield 2-0 to claim third place and draw Laggan in the semi-finals.

Those two clubs will be playing each other for the second year in a row in the playoffs as Dunvegan was Laggan's first playoff victim on the way to the 1991 GSL crown.

The 1992 version of the series will begin tonight.

Glen Sandfield is playing regular season champions Alexandria B in the other semi-final, which started last night and resumes tomorrow.

Canteen holds off Champions

For a period-and-a-half, Champions Roadhouse played it even with Marc's Canteen but the tandem of Mark Titley and Leo Seguin was just too much for Champs as Canteen won 5-2 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five Men's Ball Hockey League final.

Titley scored three times and Seguin twice as the defending champions, and the heavy favorites to take league honors again this year, finally overcame a determined Champions club.

Champions, on goals by Yves Bercier and Gilles Sarault, had the game tied at two midway through the second frame.

Game Two of the series was played last night and the series could be over tonight if Canteen wins both contests.

Otherwise, the series will continue next Tuesday and if necessary, next Wednesday.

Semi-finals

Champions reached the final by edging Jake at Work 3-2 in the third and deciding game of their semi-final series last Tuesday night.

Three second-period goals (by Serge Gendron, Richard Leroux and Gilles Sarault), hustling defensive play and steady goaltending by Edmond Cholette gave the short-staffed Champions squad (the team had only one extra player) the win.

Andy McRae and Stephan Nadeau scored for Jake's, who were foiled in their attempt to return to the final series after qualifying for the first time last year.

Consolation playoffs

Serge Lefebvre and Ray Robinson each scored two goals as the Greenfield Wings took a 1-0 lead in the "B" final with a 7-3 win over Baribeau Tire Service last Wednesday.

Randy Cousineau, Richard Quesnel and Larry Smith also scored for the Wings, who are looking for their third consecutive consolation crown.

Roger Carriere, with two goals, and Claude Gallant scored for Baribeau, who got a free ticket into the final when the Mc-Mac Tents were unable to put a full team together on Tuesday.

Express motors to title

Seaway sweeps ball hockey final to conclude 21-0 season

The Seaway Express concluded a sweep of Chez Bob in the Ladies' Ball Hockey final on Monday, winning 5-1 to win the best-of-five series 3-0.

Deb Nadon netted two goals for the champions while Carol Blais, Gouner Durocher and Barb Benton added singles.

Chantal Legault scored for Chez Bob.

In the two previous contests, games which Seaway coach Jim Ogilvie calls two of the toughest his high-powered team has had to play all year, Seaway won 3-0 and 3-1.

League scoring champ Donna MacGregor had three goals in the two games with solo scores added by Kelly Conroy, Gino Lalonde and Gouner Durocher.

Glenda Lauzon scored the lone Bob's goal.

Tapis smothers M and D

Tapis Richard Ranger, last year's champions, had to settle for the "B" crown this time around as the team completed a sweep of its own on Monday, defeating M and D Sports in three straight for the consolation title.

Tapis got two goals from Jeannine MacDuff and Sue Stewart and one from Elaine Oetelaar in a 5-0 victory in the final game.

In the series-opener, Jackie Bray's short-handed marker in triple-overtime gave Tapis a 2-1 victory and a 1-0 series lead.

Elaine Oetelaar scored the other goal for Tapis and Julie Menard replied for M and D.

In Game Two, Sue Poirier outduelled Nathalie Theoret in a goaltending battle as Tapis won 1-0 on a Jeannine MacDuff goal.

League awards

The league's individual trophies were handed out following Monday's games, with Seaway players winning four of the eight awards.

Donna MacGregor was given the trophy as the league's top scorer with 33 points, while Express netminder Sue Villeneuve and her 0.41 goals against average netted her the top goalie award.

Kelly Conroy was named top rookie and Debbie Nadon was named as the "A" playoffs MVP.

Each of the other four teams picked up one award each.

Sylvette Decoste of Glengarry Pharmacy was named league MVP, Karen Poirier of M and D was selected as the sportswoman of the year, Chez Bob blue-liner Sharon Jasper got the top as top defence player and Jeannine MacDuff of Tapis Richard was chosen as consoloation playoff MVP.

The Ladies' Ball Hockey League individual award winners included Sharon Jasper of Chez Bob and Sue Villeneuve, Kelly Conroy, Debbie Nadon and Donna MacGregor of Seaway. For complete list of winners see story.

It's deja vu for lady softballers

The 1992 playoff picture in the Alexandria Ladies Softball League has a decidedly familiar look to it.

With only three previously rained-out games left to play in the season, it has already been determined which clubs will be competing in the "A" playoffs and which teams will have to settle for the consolation round.

Caisse Populaire, Art Benton, M and D Sports and BMR will fight it out for the main championship in 1992, just as those same four teams did last year.

Caisse Pop won the final in four games over M and D, then known as IGA.

Roy's Garage, A.B.S., Sultan Drugs and Champions will make repeat appearances in the "B" playoffs.

Final week results

In the final week of regularly scheduled play, Champions Roadhouse failed to record an out in allowing 24 first-inning runs to Caisse Populaire before putting up the white flag and surrendering.

Caisse Pop pounded out 22 hits in the game-opening assault, with every team member getting into the run scoring and producing act.

In a game that did go the distance but wasn't much more competitive, Art Benton defeated Roy's Garage 17-0.

Pam McCulloch had four RBIs for Benton while Barb Benton, Helene Brossoit, Colleen Benton and Micheline Villeneuve drove in two runs apiece.

Meanwhile, BMR broke open a close game with M and D Sports by scoring 10 runs in the top of the fourth inning in a 14-6 victory.

Louise Sommers and Denise Delorme each drove in three runs for BMR while Sylvette Decoste and Linda Menard added two RBIs apiece.

Joanne Nadeau and Nathalie Paquette had RBIs for M and D.

In the week's closest game, Francine Lajoie drove in Lina Chouinard for what would prove to be the game-winning run as ABS edged Sultan Drugs 7-6.

Joanne Lavigueur and Shawna Cameron each pushed two runs across the plate for ABS; Lally Cuerrier had two runs scored and an RBI for Sultan.

Two-week recap

Because of unforeseen circumstances, league results were unavailable the previous two weeks, so here now is a quick glance at those games:

Tuesday, July 28: BMR-21 Champions-11 (Cindy Reilly and Michelle Paquette combined for 11 RBIs for BMR), Art Benton-14 ABS-2 (Helene Brossoit had a three-run double for the winners).

Wednesday, July 29: M and D-20 Sultan-5 (Nicole Lauzon, Leannine Lalonde and Laurie Wheeler with three RBIs each), Caisse Pop-9 Roy's-8 (Alanna Daprato's two-run fifth inning double is the difference in the game).

Wednesday, Aug. 5: Caisse Pop-16 ABS-1 (Alanna Daprato is the big bat again with four RBIs), Sultan-18 Champs-6 (Dianne Larocque and Julie Montpetit drive in five runs each).

What will the envelopes reveal?

Sports scripts

By J.L. Lefebvre

The other day, a guy with big turban-like headgear and a flowing black cape entered the News office and started bragging about having highly-developed powers of ESP (that's extrasensory perception as compared to Glen Nevis' ESP which stands for esteemed soccer power).

The white-haired guy looked familiar but no one in the office could positively identify him.

He refused to give his name, saying only that he was from Burbank, that he had recently retired from a job that he had held for 30 years and was looking to keep his skills sharp.

His specialty, he said, was taking sealed envelopes with questions in them, holding them to his head and extricating the answers with the powers of his mind.

The man then asked me to write out some questions I wanted to have an answer to in order to test his abilities.

After the questions had been written and placed in envelopes which were then hermetically sealed and handed to the swami's assistant Ed, the bizarre spectacle began.

The first envelope was slowly raised to the pensive stranger's forehead.

"Rodney Dangerfield."

Baffled, I quickly opened the envelope to reveal the question: Who is the only person that gets less respect than the Alexandria B women's soccer team?

After a few seconds of thought, the answer made sense.

Even though the Bee's have won two regular-season championships in a row, very few people seem to be picking them to win the 1992 playoff title.

In fact, some have even said that Jamie MacDonald's squad won't even get by Glen Sandfield in the first round.

Yes only Rodney, who once said he was so ugly as a kid his mom had to tie a pork chop around his neck to have the family dog play with him, gets less respect than the B's.

But maybe the guy was just lucky, let's try another one.

"Freddy Krueger, a visit to the dentist and the Greenfield Marauders."

The question: Name three things that inspire fear.

Again, it's hard to argue with the man on this one.

The Marauders are a crafty veteran club that both the Stars and Glen Nevis seemed anxious to avoid playing in the first round (the Stars eventually wound up with that privilege).

Greenfield also seems to be everyone's darkhorse pick to win the GSL championship.

The Stars-Marauders semi-final, which begins tonight at Lochiel, will show whether or not that fear is well-founded.

Next envelope.

"Canadian university sports on TSN."

This time, the question inside reads: What television programming is likely to see the biggest increase in viewership in Glengarry county during the new fall season?

My respect for this proficient prognosticator continues to grow as I think of the fact that at least three graduating high school seniors will be part of varsity sports programs at Ontario universities this year.

Martintown hoopster Karen Arnott will be at Laurentian while Sharon Huizinga, also of Martintown, will be shooting buckets at Brock (and not at Laurentian as previously advertised in this paper).

Meanwhile, GDHS grad Dave MacDonald of Dalkeith will soon be looking to hook on with the Carleton Ravens football team as a kicker.

Okay, so the swami is three-for-three.

The assistant then says dramatically: "I hold in my hand the last envelope."

The Caped Wonder takes it, takes an especially long time to ponder, and then utters:

"Glen Nevis-yes, Laggan-no."

Question: Will the GSL's two-time defending senior champions be able to three-peat with championships in 1992?

Only time will tell whether the stranger is right on that one.

Bantam series go the distance

The bantam boys division of the Glengarry Soccer League has been one of the most competitive all season long, so it is appropriate that both semi-final series in the division have gone three games.

Char-Lan was looking to wrap up its series with Greenfield on Monday in Williamstown after taking three of four points last week.

Last Wednesday, Rocky Lacombe of Grrennfield and Garry Benson of Char-Lan scored as the clubs played to a 1-1 tie, giving each a point in the four-point series.

Char-Lan took a 3-1 series lead on Friday with a 4-2 decision as Kevin O'Farell scored twice and Garry Benson and Jason Struthers each added a goal.

Jamie McDermid and Rocky Lacombe scored for Greenfield.

The other series is tied at two points as Alexandria and Glen Sandfield have each won a game (the third game of the series was last night).

Alexandria drew first blood with a 3-1 victory on Thursday as Alain Decoste scored twice. Jeff Gebbie also scored for Alexandria while Hamish Cunning replied for Glen Sandfield.

Glen Sandfield rebounded in Game Two, getting goals from Tom Bartnikas, Jason Paquette and Donald McDougall in a 3-2 win.

Darcy McDonell and Alain Decoste had Alexandria's scores.

Bantam girls

The playoff ride was much shorter in the bantam girls divisions as Laggan and Glen Sandfield each recorded two shutout wins in advancing to the final.

Laggan won 7-0 and 9-0 over Lancaster Township while Glen Sandfield won by scores of 3-0 and 1-0 against Glen Sandfield.

Intermediate girls

Tristi MacSweyn scored two goals and shared shutout honors with Tammy MacSweyn as Laggan defeated Glen Robertson 6-0 to take a 2-0 points lead in the intermediate division semi-finals.

Tina Bond had a hat trick for Laggan while Erin Graham chipped in with a single goal.

The other semi-final was tied at one point apiece heading into Monday's second game as Alexandria and Glen Sandfield tied 1-1 on Friday.

Sprites

Alexandria B quickly disposed of Glen Sandfield by winning two in a row last week in a sprite division semi-final.

Michael MacKinnon had the goal and Chris Ladouceur the shutout as the B's took a 2-0 series lead on Wednesday, then Eric Nielsen's offensive heroics took over on Friday as Nielsen bagged a hat trick in a 5-0 decision.

Robbie Ladouceur and Steven Owens also scored for Alexandria B.

The other sprite series will need a fourth game as Alexandria A and Glen Robertson are tied at three points each after three games.

Alexandria jumped out to the series lead on goals by Jeff Lobb, Dominic Decoeur and Michael Lauzon (compared to two by Glen Robertson's Luc Lanthier) in a 3-2 victory.

Luc Lanthier scored again in Game Two as Glen Robertson stayed alive with a 1-1 tie. Jeff Lobb scored for the A's.

And it was Lanthier leading the way offensively again in the third game as the Glen Robertson sniper had three goals in an impressive 6-0 win. Luc Vachon, Mathieu Lalonde and Gregory Hagen added solo markers for the winners.

Peewee boys

Lancaster Township held a 3-1 points lead against Glen Sandfield in their semi-final encounter, and Lancaster could have wrapped up the series with a win on Monday.

Jean Desrochers, Nigel Newland and Nick Moffatt scored once each on Thursday as Lancaster jumped out to a 2-0 lead with a 3-2 victory.

Tim Van Overbeek and Murray MacLeod scored for Glen Sandfield.

On Saturday, Jean Desrochers scored both Lancaster goals and Kirk MacMillan and Murray MacLeod each scored once for Glen Sandfield as the teams tied 1-1.

Meanwhile, Alexandria has a 2-0 points lead in their semi-final with Greenfield after winning Game One 2-0. Jason Poirier and Ryan Nielsen scored for Alexandria.

Junior girls

The junior girls division was the only GSL minor grouping that did not begin their playoffs last week, but there was some post-season like drama between Alexandria A and B.

On the last night of the regular season, the B's got a goal from Fiona Wilson to win 1-0, giving the two Hub teams an identical total of eight points and a tie for third place.

So that meant that the Alexandrians would have to playoff to determine who would finish third and play Laggan and who would get second to challenge Glen Robertson.

On Thursday, the teams played to two 0-0 ties, leaving the matter unsettled.

On Friday, a third game was played and Fiona Wilson scored again to give the B's a 1-0 win and third place.

The junior playoffs started last night.

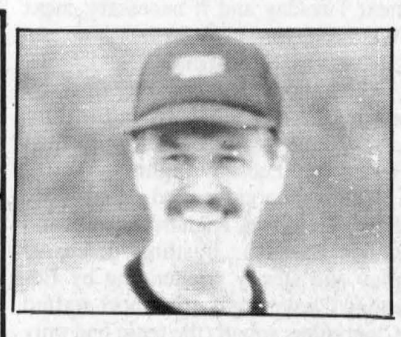
SPORTS PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK



M&D Sports hurler Bob Quesnel should be an easy winner of the Men's Softball League MVP award after a sensational 1992 season. Quesnel led the league in average with a .597 mark and had more than twice as many RBIs (68) as the next batter in that department. The man known as "Patte Croche" also led the loop in home runs and pitching wins.

Softball semi-finals begin

Monday's opening games of the Men's Softball League semi-finals were as different as day and night in many ways, but were similar in one regard - they produced exciting one-run decisions.

M and D Sports and Abattoir North Lancaster kicked off the semi-final double-header at Alexandria Island Park with a long, drawn-out affair that wasn't decided until Patrick Sauve's infield single brought home the winning run for M and D in the bottom of the seventh inning.

M and D had entered their final at-bat trailing 9-8 but scored twice to take a 1-0 series lead.

George Carriere and Daniel Menard blasted three-run homers for M and D while Stephan Nadeau filled in for Bob Quesnel to pick up the win in relief.

Bernard Lalonde drove in three runs for Abattoir while Marc-Andre Prieur drove in two and Mario Nadeau scored three times.

Game Two of the series will be at the arena tomorrow.

In the other semi-final, Champions Roadhouse has a 1-0 series lead after beating Alexandria Honda 3-2 in a well-played game which featured a pitcher's duel between Craig McDonell of Champions and Serge Bellefeuille of Honda.

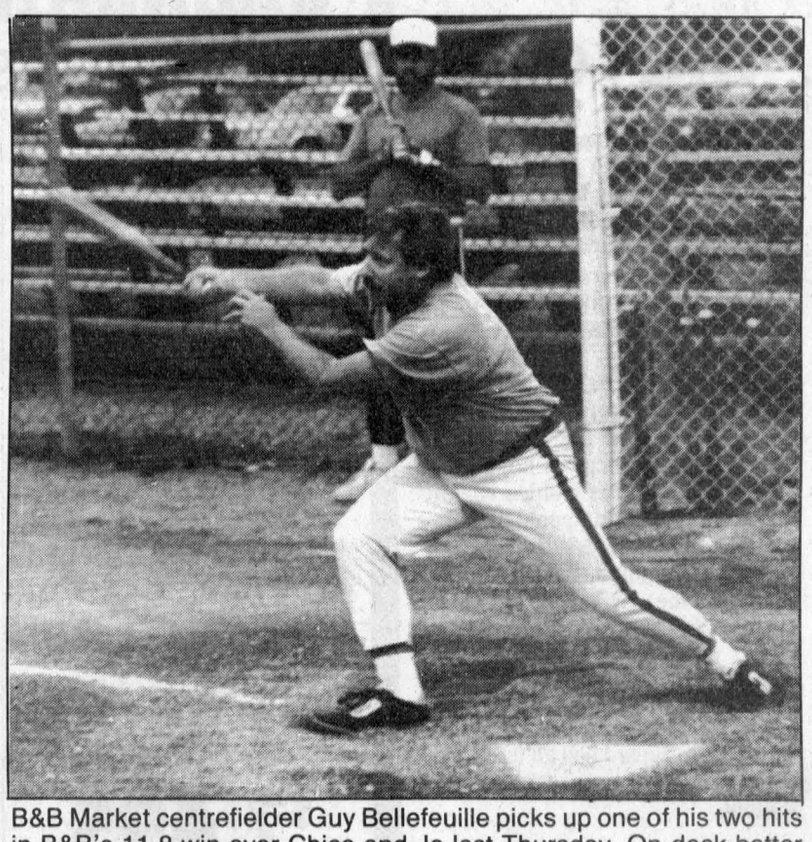
The teams were scoreless after four when Champions opened the scoring in the fifth when McDonell's sacrifice fly chased home Tom McGillis.

Champs added a run in the sixth on an RBI single by Stephane Levac and one more in the seventh on a run-scoring groundout by Chris Leblanc.

Honda got things going in the bottom of the seventh when Guy Quesnel and Roch Cholette got on base to start off the inning.

Both players eventually scored on RBIs by Rejean Duperron and Ron Steppacher, but that was all Honda could manage.

The two teams combined for a meagre total of 10 hits, six of those by Champions.



B&B Market centrefielder Guy Bellefeuille picks up one of his two hits in B&B's 11-8 win over Chico and Jo last Thursday. On deck batter Norm Menard looks on in the background.

Round One

In the first round of the "A" playoffs, Abattoir and Champions advanced to the semis with sweeps of their opponents.

Abattoir made short work of Alexandria Legion, winning 6-2 and 15-0.

Roger Carriere had a two-run homer in the first game for ANL while Noel Lajoie also drove in a pair.

In Game Two, Mario Dumont, Mario Nadeau, Marc-Andre Prieur, and Edward MacDonald all had multiple-RBI games.

Champions, meanwhile, opened their series with Tapis Richard with a 15-14 win as Stephane Levac blasted a three-run homer and drove in seven runs for the winners.

Brendon MacDougall also socked a home run for Champions while Bruno Lalonde and Gord Lafave went deep for Tapis.

Sheldon MacDougall had the big bat for Champs in the second game as he homered and drove in four in a 12-9 victory.

"B" playoffs

The first portion of the "B" playoffs involves a round-robin between the bottom five clubs in the league.

So far, Alexandria Auto Glass leads the way with a 3-0 record, followed by Caisse Populaire at 2-0.

B and B Market is 1-1 while Alexandria Moulding is 0-2 and Chico and Jo Trophies is 0-3.

Monday, Aug. 10: Caisse Pop-12 Chico-9 (Michel Menard homers, Menard and Denis Decoste drive in three runs each), Auto Glass-22 B and B-7 (Jean Lauzon homers, Paul Hurtubise drives in three).

Thursday, Aug. 13: Auto Glass-14 Moulding-7 (Paul O'Neill with a home run, Gilles Deguire with three RBIs), B and B-11 Chico-8 (Andre Chenier homers for the winners).

Monday, Aug. 17: Caisse Pop-20 Moulding-3 (Daniel Lauzon drives in five runs for Caisse), Auto Glass wins by default over Chico and Jo.

Draw winners

The league recently announced its winners for the basket of cheer raffle.

Gerald Vaillancourt won the basket, Maurice Gauthier won the 60 oz. prize and Larry Mason takes the 40 oz.

Tournament looking for three-pitch teams

Teams are needed for a men's softball tournament to be played in Dalhousie on Aug. 28, 29 and 30.

The tourney will be three-pitch style.

Anyone interested in entering a team should call Richard at 525-2481.

Rudi's qualifies for CDSL playoffs

Both Glengarry teams playing in the second division of the Cornwall and District Soccer League have qualified for the playoffs as the 1992 season comes to a close.

With less than a week remaining, both Rudi Payer Sport and the Glengarry Stars have assured themselves of a place in the semi-finals.

Rudi's clinched a post-season berth with a pair of 3-1 road wins last week.

On Thursday in Ingleside, Gareth Pye, Paul Dawson and Jean Tessier scored in a 3-1 triumph over the Osnabruck Cosmos.

The following night at Tagwi, Pye scored twice and Tom Schuler once as Rudi's downed the Avonmore Warriors by an identical 3-1 count.

Rudi's will play against the Winchester Sonics, the Division II regular season champions, in the semis while Glengarry will take Cornwall F.I.S.T.

In Division I competition, the Char-Lan U2's failed to qualify for the playoffs after losing to the Avonmore Pacers 2-1 on Sunday.

The U2's needed wins in their final two games, both against Avonmore, to sneak ahead of the Pacers for the fourth and final playoff spot.

Besides ending all post-season aspirations, the loss also means that the U2's will be dropping down to the second division for the 1993 season.

Char-Lan had kept its hopes alive by tying the Ricmer Golden Knights 2-2 last Thursday on goals by Gilles Plourde and Jason MacDonald.

Char-Lan United, the area's other entry in the first division, have already clinched a playoff position.

The Char-Lan women's team improved to 6-2-4 with a 3-0 win against Cornwall City last week.

Stephanie Emard had all three goals while Cathy Grant registered the shutout.

Local racers in top five

Hometown racer Pierre Bissonnette became the second driver to win two races on the Cornwall Motor Speedway modified racing circuit by taking the flag at the track feature on Sunday.

Bissonnette, who was eight in the 22-car starting grid, moved ahead of second-place finisher Neil Harvey on the ninth lap to take a lead he would carry until the end.

Glengarry's two regular circuit members turned in top-five results; Ron Valade of Glen Robertson was third while Alexandria's Laurent Ladouceur crossed the finish line in fifth position.

Ladouceur's placing, combined with Rick Wilson's inability to finish Sunday's race, allows the former track champion to stretch his overall lead to 21 points.

Wilson is now tied with Kingston's Doug Carlyle for second place in the overall standings.

There's another racing program at the Speedway this Sunday.

Kirk Hill, Dunvegan take leads

The Hearts of Kirk Hill and the Hearts of Dunvegan have each taken 2-1 leads in the Glengarry Soccer League Hearts old-timers division semi-finals.

In the opening match of the two-game, total-goal affairs on Monday in Alexandria, Kirk Hill surprised regular season champions Glengarry while Dunvegan got a leg up on Glen Nevis.

The second games of both series will be played on Thursday night on the Glengarry Sports Palace soccer field. Game times are at 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Meanwhile, in the regular season's last game (played Thursday), Dunvegan and Glen Nevis played to a 3-3 tie

Earl MacLennan of Dunvegan and Findlay MacLeod of Glen Nevis each registered two-goal nights for their respective teams. Pierre Theoret (Dunvegan) and Les Bradshaw (Glen Nevis) completed the scoring.

BEAVER FEVER — GIARDIASIS

Most Glengarrians have heard of it, some are infected, for recent studies show one person in 25 in Ontario carry Giardia, the tiny microscopic parasite. Sometimes, even though the parasite is embedded in their intestine, patients do not show the usual symptoms or feel ill. It is usually a waterborne disease but can be picked up directly from handling animal or human feces for Giardia is present in many "clean" pets, farm animals. It can also be sexually transmitted mostly by homosexul anal/oral means. Giardia is widespread in wild animals and we are admonished by prominent medical warnings in Parks NOT to drink untreated water from streams or lakes. Beavers and muskrat are often sources of this parasite for as they live mostly in water they also defecate into the water.

The parasite enters the body in a cyst or resting form but once in the stomach it activates and attaches to the intestinal wall. Once infected, the symptoms may take a week to show though the incubation period varies between five and 25 days. In an acute attack the disease creates severe diarrhea, often accompanied by nausea and vomiting. For a doctor, both diarrhea and vomiting occurring together, it is a diagnostic clue that the patient his giardiasis. Often accompanying chills, fatigue, headache, cramps and severe gas problems render the victim a very sick person.

If untreated, or dismissed as "Montezuma's revenge" or "traveller's diarrhea", the parasites may disappear on their own. More likely giardiasis will become chronic with outbreaks of severe diarrhea and a major problem of malabsorption will mean considerable weight loss. Because of rapid fluid/electrolyte loss that is a consequence of diarrhea, all children should be taken to their doctor.

Intervention is by drugs though at present there is no effective chemoprophylactic agent against Giardia. Medication of choice is tinidazole (Flagyl), quinacrine (Atrabine) and furozolidone (Furoxone).

The best cure is avoidance of Giardia making sure you wash hands thoroughly after using the toilet, changing a diaper, fondling pets and, of course, before handling food. For the canoeist and outdoors person in Ontario, boil your water from ANY lake or seemingly clean stream for at least 5 minutes. Chemical purifiers will not kill this parasite in its cyst form. Always brush your teeth with boiled water and coffee/tea water should be boiled at least 5 min. prior to brew-up. Its not a good idea to swim in beaver ponds. Oh! have you sorted out how to pronounce Giardia — its JAR-deeya, a rather nasty parasite.

WI celebrates Canada 125

Dunvegan

Dunvegan Women's Institute recently held a very successful salad tea to celebrate Canada's 125th birthday.

Representatives were present from many neighboring institute branches as well as many friends from the surrounding area.

Special guests included Board Member Lois Dillabough and her husband, and Glengarry District W.I. President Eileen Johnson.

Both these ladies brought greetings and brief messages. As each guest entered the hall, they wrote their name on a slip of paper. It was placed in a box from which six names were drawn.

The six people were recipients of a door prize — a small jug of maple syrup from a local sugar bush.

President Marion Loewen, welcomed everyone and presided for a short programme which consisted of songs, readings and poems — many of those referring to our beloved country of Canada.

Of special interest was a contest featuring 20 questions on Canada, conducted by Flora Chisholm and won by Anna Williams.

A skit on the village post office was presented by some of the Dunvegan W.I. members.

The Tweedsmuir History Books were on display and a special Canadian Birthday Cake added to the festivities.

Everyone reported a very enjoyable afternoon.

A CAREFUL PRESCRIPTION

CHANGES TO THE ONTARIO DRUG BENEFIT PROGRAM

The Ministry of Health is changing the Ontario Drug Benefit program, effective August 25.

The ministry asked an independent group of health experts to recommend changes to the program. As a result, some new drugs are being added, and others are being taken off.

Prescription drugs necessary for serious health conditions will continue to be available, at no direct cost, to those on the program. As well, over-the-counter products such as insulin for diabetes are still covered.

Among the products being added to the program are a new slow release drug to treat Parkinson's disease, and a drug for the treatment of shingles. Products like sunscreens, multiple vitamins and antihistamines are among those being removed.

In total, the changes affect a small percentage of drugs covered by the program.

WHY MAKE THE CHANGES?

The government is working to better manage health care spending. It now spends over $1 billion a year on the Ontario Drug Benefit program alone.

Costs have risen 18 per cent annually during the past 10 years. With these changes we hope to keep the increase to 14 per cent.

MORE INFORMATION?

The Ontario Drug Benefit program provides benefits to people 65 and over, and people receiving social assistance.

For more information on how these changes may affect you, call the ministry's toll-free Infoline.

This part of the column should have the heading "The Urquhart Files" as this family have certainly been busy lately. Tom Dempster and Sheila Urquhart were the two delegates appointed by the Community Protestant Church to represent them in Saskatoon, Sask. at the third annual conference of the Congregational Christian Churches in Canada. The two couples decided to make a vacation out of the trip west and enjoyed the motor trip through Ontario and into the prairies.

More than 350 people from across the country were in attendance at the three-day conference which featured Dr. John Wesley White as the keynote speaker.

The Urquharts returned home just in time to unpack, repack and head to Napanee for a reunion of the descendants of Kenneth John and Wilhelmina Urquhart, Williamstown.

Cameron Morey, son of Jean Urquhart, and his wife Beatrice were the hosts for the gathering of more than 80 people on Aug. 2. Lots of talking, fun and laughter while teams paired off for a tug-of-war, horse shoes and other races.

Four generations of family had gathered from Colorado, British Columbia, Alberta and Quebec as well as Alexandria, Calabogie, Curran, Cornwall, Lancaster and Williamstown.

Little did the family know that their time of rejoicing would turn so soon into one of sorrow. It was with shock and a deep sense of loss that all learned of the death of Christena (Rena) Urquhart Upton in Lancaster on Tuesday, Aug. 4.

There are now only three left of the original 16 — Anabel Miller, Chicago; John in Ottawa and Eric, Lancaster.

There was lots of celebrating on old No. 2 highway east this week as Allison (Urquhart) and Brian Main enjoy the thoughts of some future trip to Florida won by Allison in a talent contest last weekend.

While in Napanee at the beginning of the month to attend a family reunion on the Urquhart side, Allison entered a local talent contest, came first, and returned this past weekend for the grand finals.

Her rendition of 'The Rose' brought her rounds of applause and two tickets to Florida. Congratulations!

A tip of the hat to all the persons attending the annual pig roast put on by Lancaster Masonic Lodge and held at Williamstown fairgrounds.

Organizers Brigitte and Ziggy Loos called to say that close to 100 had 'pigged out.'

The district deputy grand master and wife from Riceville, Ont. were present as well as visitors from as far away as Winchester and quite a few from Cornwall.

Don Boudria, MP, was also in attendance. All in all a good time was enjoyed.

In Memoriam

LEVAC, Rita — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother who passed away August 21, 1989.
Three years have passed since that sad day,
The one I loved was called away.
God took her home, it was his will,
But in my heart she liveth still.
—Always remembered by husband Arcidas, son Robert and daughter-in-law, Monique. 34-1p

LEROUX — In loving memory of a dear husband Wilfred, who passed away August 19, 1991.
I do not need a special day to bring you to my mind
For the days I do not think of you
Are very hard to find;
Your smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall,
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day I hope to meet you
Some day I know not when
To clasp your hand in a better land,
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife Angeline and family. 34-1p

LEROUX — In loving memory of a dear father-in-law and grandfather, Wilfred, who passed away August 19, 1991.
Your spirit is here with us,
Your memory lives on,
But the ache in our hearts
Will never be gone.
—Sadly missed by son-in-law Ronald, and grandchildren Jason and Jennifer LaPlante. 34-1p

LEROUX — In memory of a loving father, Wilfred, who passed away on August 19, 1991.
I will find comfort in remembering,
The strength I've seen,
The gentleness I felt,
The laughter I heard,
And the protection I felt all around,
Like a shelter.
From a life that gave me life
All from daddy's love.
These precious gifts will always live on in me.
—Sadly missed by daughter Lucille LaPlante. 34-1p

LEROUX — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Lionel Leroux who passed away two years ago on August 23, 1990.
The month of August comes with regret,
It brings back memories we can't forget,
We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh,
And all we could do was stand by.
All through this time we suffered too,
For you never deserved what you went through,
Although we smile and seem carefree,
Nobody misses you more than we.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Winnie and children, Jeffrey and Karen, Tracey and Laurier Jr., Lee and Diana and grandchildren, Amanda, Shawn, Tiffany and Kristyn. 34-1p

Mr. McIntyre was a son of the late Albert J. McIntyre and Mable Kippen.

He is survived by four brothers and four sisters. They are: Jessie McIntyre, Apple Hill, Donald McIntyre, Harrisburg, PA, U.S.A., William McIntyre, Flin Flon, Manitoba, Charles McIntyre, Welland, Ont., Sarah Lalonde, St. Catherines, Ont., Jane Robbins, Welland, Heather Dolan, Welland, Ont. and Richard McIntyre, also of Welland.

The funeral took place at 2 p.m. in Maxville on August 5, 1992. Rev. Ruth Wright officiated.

Pallbearers were Armand Bissonnette, Adair McBain, Paul McIntyre, Lester Murray, Pierre Ouellette and Mark Van Putten.

Roderick Munro MacLeod

Family, relatives and friends gathered at St. Andrew's United Church (Round Church), Dalhousie Mills, Ont., on July 18, 1992 to attend a memorial service for the late Roderick Munro MacLeod. The service was conducted by Rev. Ian MacMillan. Lu Butrym was organist and bagpipe selections were by piper Jill Murray.

Mr. MacLeod of Victoria, B.C., passed away November 30, 1991. He was a son of the late Donald Alex and Mary C. MacLeod of Glen Nevis.

He is survived by sons Blake and Brock, daughter-in-law Cheryl and granddaughter Piper, and Gloria MacLeod, mother of his sons.

CWC members enjoy fall children's fashions

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

Some of you perhaps noticed a small error in last week's column headline. The Glen Sandfield United Church Women welcome Bill Aalders as their guest speaker and not the McCrimmon WI members. Sorry folks!

The CWC dessert coffee was a grand success with over 100 ladies at the meeting on Monday, Aug. 10 in Lachute.

The guest soloist cancelled and Lorna Chapman filled in for her. Appearing in a frilly rose party dress, her song was The Good Ship Lollipop, which was very well received.

Chantal Lessard presented her lovely sports line from Le Cotonnier and had 17 adorable children as her models. Hunter green, purple with black accents predominated the fleeced jackets, jumpsuits and pants for school this fall, all were stylish, soft, comfortable and cosy.

The second solo was Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus, and Mrs. Chapman was accompanied by Bessie MacLennan at the piano who also played for the children's fashion show.

Pauline Widow is a bright lively lady who has four grown children and who is a prison visitor and telephone counsellor with 100 Huntley Street.

Her hilarious description of the parade of pets that passed through her house was great fun. She had many stories of all their misadventures with budgies, hamsters, pet rats, chicks, dogs, cats and even a frog. Her boys were collectors.

Edith Clark likened prayer to a fan, it only works when you are plugged in. Leader Mary Miller closed the meeting with sincere thanks to the models, musicians and speakers.

The next meeting will be at 1 a.m. on Sept. 14 and everyone is asked to bring along a family heirloom to share.

Kalvin Morrow will be the guest musician and Marjorie Shontoff will be the speaker. Debbie Whelan will host the September Prayer Coffee Sept. 1 at 10 a.m. Everybody is welcome.

Agnes MacLeod, Lorna Chapman, Perle Brunet, Annette Lyman, her husband Angus and Ruby MacIntee headed off on Tuesday, Aug. 11 in the Seniors Outreach bus with John Flood driving to Morrisburg and the Seniors' Day festivities. First they stopped for lunch in Cornwall.

On arriving at Upper Canada Village, they wound their way through brilliant flower beds and graceful shade trees to the assembly near the railroad station. A large striped tent had been erected and a stage.

The sheltered audience was a sea of wheelchairs, with many residents of nursing homes and lodges. Around the perimeter sat more people on lawn chairs.

The Down Memory Lane program was delightful, with spritely dancers in white slacks and red tops. They performed several entertaining dance routines, and the crowd really enjoyed the songs by that wonderful baritone.

There were information booths set up around the tent and one very pretty nurse was taking people's blood pressure. The CNIB, Ontario Health Unit, Caasmaap, Heart and Stroke, Cancer, elder abuse groups were some of the associations represented and there were more. Literature of all sorts was available, for free, to interested persons.

A most interesting antique clothing fashion show followed the musicians featuring clothing worn by women and some men and boys dating from the early 1800's to 1900.

One lady had her blouse closed with nails, as no buttons could be had by the settlers. Fashions down through the years were shown ending with the bustle dress.

Cake and juice were served at the program's end. Thanks to all those who made it possible. It was lovely.

Robs Restaurant East Of Lancaster

A masked man who robbed Harold Demoulin's service station - restaurant, two miles east of Lancaster, early yesterday, is being sought by Provincial Police, who hope to link him with the armed robbery of the Fairview Restaurant, west of Cornwall, early Sunday morning.

Mr. Demoulin estimated his loss at between $85 and $100.

Miss Amelia Mitchell, 32-year-old waitress at the Lancaster eating place, told police a masked man walked into the restaurant about 3 a.m., and as she dove into a back room, he scooped the bills from the till.

The restaurant caters to truck-drivers and except for the waitress was empty at the time.

"I was so scared I just dashed into the back room where the proprietor and his wife were sleeping", she told police later.

Mr. Demoulin, although only feet away, knew nothing of the crime until "Millie came in screaming we've been robbed by a masked man."

By the time Mr. Demoulin got out of bed the till had been looted and the robber had disappeared.

"He must have been watching the place because it's very seldom the restaurant is empty . . . only a half-hour later we were filled up with big, burly truck drivers", he said.

The thug didn't take time to scoop out the change in the till. Mr. Demoulin said "he was gone in a flash."

Miss Mitchell did not see a gun, but police have not ruled out the possibility the Lancaster hold-up is connected with the armed robbery near Cornwall. In both instances waitresses have told police the man was wearing what appeared to be a white handkerchief over his face.

Hot air balloon makes emergency landing near Dominionville

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Few citizens were aware of it, but a large, hot air balloon made an emergency landing in Wilfrid Racine's field just north of Dominionville on August 8 at about 7:30 a.m. Leonard Masson and his family who live in the vicinity heard the noise and were soon out to see what was happening.

Mr. Masson along with his wife Janet, daughter Julie and sister Sadie viewed the scene and recorded the event on their camcorder.

They believe a supply truck on Highway 417 was following the balloon to Montreal and its driver received word of the landing and was quickly on hand to offer help. The balloon was carrying four men.

Whatever the problem, it was soon remedied and the take-off took place. Mr. Masson reported his amazement with the noise the burners made when they were fired to heat up the air in the balloon to produce the lift.

The village lost another long-time resident of over 70 years in the person of Millie Eppstadt (nee Rolland) on August 10. Mrs. Eppstadt was an employee at the King George Hotel when she met George who later became her husband. They opened a restaurant and convenience store at the corner of Main and Mechanic Streets and it soon became a village institution. After Mr. Eppstadt's death, she kept the store open for a few years and then continued to live there until she became a Manor resident.

Her friends from far and wide were numerous and her thoughtful deeds will long be remembered. General Grant, CFRA, Ottawa, was a special one who remembered her at the end with a lovely floral tribute.

We extend sympathy to son Earl, Ottawa, to daughter Pearle Grant, St. Laurent, and their families, to sister Malvina Rolland of the village and to all others who have lost a good friend.

An open house was held on Aug. 9 to honor Edna Rolland (nee Currier) on her 80th birthday. Daughter Lucy Stritch, Ottawa, was the hostess and many relatives and friends called to wish this good friend of Maxville much happiness. We join them in doing likewise.

While in Winnipeg for the Highland Dancing competition, Lois and Campbell MacLeod, competitor Heather and her grandmother, Nancy Colbourne, were entertained by second cousins Diane and Herb Page and Glenda and Jim Shepherd and their families. The newly acquainted cousins are related through Mr. MacLeod's grandfather, the late Duncan Campbell.

Since the Games, Norman Morrison, Florida, has been a guest of his MacLeod relatives at their Dominionville west farm.

The organizers of the 180-year-old Williamstown fair are to be complimented on the variety of attractions they had for the large crowd that attended. There was certainly lots to see, lots to enjoy and lots to learn. The historic grounds were spotless and the gully down the centre has been retained as a distinctive physical feature.

The following from this area were noticed competing as 4-H Calf Club members: Amy MacEwen, who had the Junior Champion Holstein, Connie and Suzanne Frei, Logan McIntosh and David Blaney. There were probably others.

Visitors last week with Mrs. O. F. Villeneuve were son Ronald and Lyn, Dalhousie, N.B., their daughter Becky Clement and her son, Christopher, Ottawa, son F.B. and family, Ottawa, Brian and family, Toronto, and Mrs. William MacLeod, Cornwall.

Marble Season is a recently published book of short stories written by Bonnie Laing. Ms. Laing is the daughter of the late George Laing and of Jane Webster (nee MacInnes) of Brockville.

Several of the stories centre around life in Rosemount, in the east end of Montreal, at the time the author was living there as a child. Her descriptions are very vivid and the English-French relationships revealing. The book is another example of the talents of this young Toronto lady who has a play currently in production in three locales.

You will read in the Maxville council briefs that our council is concerned about the speed of traffic on our streets. This correspondent also adds his concern to the problem of motorists and truck drivers who totally disregard the signs indicating that the speed limit is 50 km/hr. The problem can only be solved through the co-operation of all of us, including the authorities who are here to enforce the laws. We have deaf people and children, in particular, and we don't want an accident.

Last week's Auld Lang Syne column for 80 years ago, mentioned a group of 40 young ladies going for a hayride and picnic to Cameron's Dam. A photograph of the group can be found on page 224 of the Centennial Book.

Cameron's Dam was a popular picnic spot up into the 40's. There was a lane off the 5th Conc. Roxborough road just west of Tony Beaudette's home, which went north to an open space. The gully was there too but there was no water in my time.

The Cameron family received a clock from the CNR for the water it received for the train engines which stopped near there many years ago. Glen Munro, a grandson of Simon Peter Cameron, has this clock.

We are pleased to announce the following as evidence of the strong support neighboring communities are giving the Manor's financial campaign. The people of Osnabruck Township are holding a bake sale at the Newington Fair on Sept. 5 and 6 with the proceeds going to the Manor Building Fund.

The Seniors Outreach Services Program from the Manor continues to serve the area well. If there are seniors requiring assistance or even advice, they are invited to phone Phyllis Burtenshaw at 527-2170.
