Referendum suggested

Residents reject French proposals

SD&G County Board of Education's white paper on the teaching of French as a second language has failed to gain support at the first of several public school meetings scheduled for Glengarry County.

A standing-room only crowd filled the Williamstown Public School gymnasium last week and suggested postponing a decision until after the next school board election.

An earlier meeting held at Cornwall's East Front Public School took a similar position.

Williamstown area parents insisted the French language program already being taught at the school was satisfactory.

The board is seeking to expand the French language program in its elementary schools to provide more classroom time in the subject.

The white paper, available from the school committees, outlines optional strategies for a "core program", "extended program" and "bilingual program."

The core program would involve up to 40 minutes of French instruction per day and the extended program would involve students being taught a subject such as history or geography in the French language.

The bilingual program would involve taking several subjects in French.

Parents at the Williamstown meeting proposed a referendum be held to decide on the fate of the white paper.

Trustee Sam McLeod said he did not favor a referendum and will vote against the idea if it comes before the board.

"I was elected through a democratic process by the people who have chosen me to represent them," he said. "If they are not satisfied, they know what to do at the next election."

McLeod stressed he favored public input, however.

Charlottenburgh Reeve Adrian Gadbois said he was not against French but said French instruction is being used by certain politicians in the country for personal gain.

He said the issue of national unity was not simply a language problem.

"We can't keep Quebec in the country by having the rest of Canada learning French," the reeve said. "We have to get along with each other."

"For the sake of education, let's wait," one teacher suggested.

Some people expressed fear that federal funds now available for French instruction could disappear if the government was to change in an election.

"Funds may be cut and the board might be forced to foot the bill," one parent noted.

McLeod said there was no doubt the board would run into a problem if subsidies were cut, but said nothing could be done about that now.

Of the three options, parents strongly opposed the extended and bilingual programs and also expressed concerns about the 40-minute core program.

One parent suggested the optional program would not really be optional because of social pressure.

"Would our children be left sitting at the back of the class doing nothing?' the parent asked.

Board Superintendent of Education John Comtois insisted that students not taking French would be kept occupied with other subjects.

"We do not want to force French upon anyone," he said.

"I am an educator, not a politician. I must provide the opportunities for learning."

One parent told the meeting his child was not taking French immersion at the kindergarten level this year and was required to stay at home.

Meetings are being sponsored by the school committees in other area schools although dates have not been set in all cases.

Maxville Senior Public School is holding a meeting Tuesday, November 22; Glen Walter Public School on Monday, November 28; and Laggan Public School on Wednesday, November 23.

Have local roots

Optimists honor students

Two Cornwall students with local ties were honored last week by the Optimist Club during youth appreciation week.

Rory McCormick and Bernice Lefebvre were chosen as the two outstanding students from 20 representatives of the four city high schools.

The club sets one week aside each year to conduct observations that recognize the contributions and accomplishments of youth whether at home, in the school, at church or any other service that is directed to helping others.

Rory is a grade 13 student and has won honor pins for the past four years. He is active in inter-school sports, coaches minor sports and last year served as vice-president of the student council. He was awarded the Alfie Tabram Memorial Trophy at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School as sportsman of the year and was also chosen the most congenial student of the year. He served as co-captain of the football team that just won the SD&G high school championship.

Rory is a son of Ian McCormick of Alexandria and his wife, the late Elaine MacDonald. He resides with his grandmother, Mrs. Agnes MacDonald in Cornwall.

Bernice has been active in community affairs, is a choir member, has been host at annual church suppers and has canvassed for Big Brothers of Cornwall and District. She is secretary-treasurer of the student council at St. Lawrence High School.

She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Legault.

Committee formed to probe report

A special committee to review the administrative organization for curriculum at Glengarry District High School will be formed by the SD&G County Board of Education.

The purpose of the committee will be to study the contents of a position paper on administration and course organization at GDHS. The paper, which was presented to the board on June 14, suggested that more French-speaking teachers should be hired at the school to better meet the needs of French-speaking pupils.

Sam McLeod, G. E. Desjardins, Fraser Campbell and Lucien Chenier, trustees on the board from Glengarry county, will be included on the committee. Other members will be one non-trustee member from the French Language Advisory Committee and a resource person designated by the director of education.

UIC gets its man

Claude Gareau, 28, of 85 Kenyon St. West, was found guilty of nine counts of fraud under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Mr. Gareau appeared in Alexandria Provincial Court Monday before Judge P. C. Bergeron to answer nine charges of defrauding UIC for a total amount of $1,653 over a 16-week period.

He was fined $450 plus court costs of $27. A UIC spokesman said that Mr. Gareau will be required to return the overpayment to the commission.

Controls placed on local lotteries

Lottery licences within the Town of Alexandria will be issued on a basis of "charitable objective or purpose" following a decision taken at council last week.

To date, almost any organization wanting to organize a lottery for any purpose, was granted a licence. However, this will no longer be the case.

Licences now will be given only to: "service clubs and their affiliated groups, institutes of learning or institutes engaged in the care and welfare of groups of persons, churches and their affiliated groups, groups sponsored by municipal, provincial or federal governments," (e.g. Glengarry Sports Palace, CNIB,).

Any application for a lottery licence by clubs or groups other than those mentioned will be referred to the "Board of Review" made up of the mayor, the chief of police and the clerk, for consideration.

The decision was based on provincial law. Clerk-Treasurer, Don Collin was made aware of the provincial order recently prompting the decision to place a more rigid control on the issuing of licences.

Noose getting more support

Support is still rolling in for Charlottenburgh Township's motion calling for a referendum on capital punishment.

Charlottenburgh Township Clerk Ernie Szpivak says about 350 municipalities have replied to Charlottenburgh's resolution calling for such a referendum and 98 percent expressed support.

The Charlottenburgh motion, passed in September, was distributed to Ontario's municipalities for comments.

"We have been flooded by letters from municipalities supporting our resolution," Reeve Adrian Gadbois said. "There are more letters coming in all the time."

Capital punishment was abolished in Canada a year ago and the minimum sentence for first degree murder is 25 years in prison.

Gadbois argues that the noose acts as a deterent to murder. He said the people of Canada should make the decision in a referendum as to whether they want hanging abolished, rather than have the issue settled by a handful of politicians.

"There is very strong feeling about this issue," the reeve said.

Gadbois said the township is also getting support for its opposition to bilingual bonuses in the civil service.

Council earlier sent a letter to Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau asking him to block the $800 yearly bonuses.

The reeve announced last week that a letter of reply had been received from the prime minister's "assistant correspondence secretary".

"You may be assured that the concern of the Township of Charlottenburgh regarding these bonuses has been noted in this office," the letter said.

The letter also thanked Charlottenburgh for expressing its concern.

RECEIVED DEGREE—A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian MacKinnon of Glen Nevis, Catherine Depratto has passed her exams to qualify as Registered Nurse. She had graduated in St. Lawrence Health and Science Department in Cornwall last June and is also a graduate of GDHS and Iona Academy. Married to Michel Depratto, Alexandria, she is currently employed at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Choir to perform at St. Finnan's

St. Michael's School choir of Toronto will be coming to St. Finnan's Cathedral on Thursday, December 1, from 1-2 p.m.

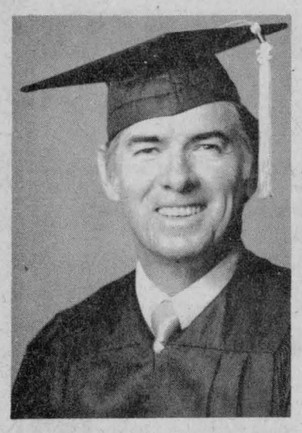
The choir, famous throughout the world, has performed for Pope Paul VI at the Vatican, in Westminster Cathedral in London, in many parts of Europe and from coast to coast in concert halls and cathedrals in Canada. They have been featured as well on both the CBC and CTV networks.

The choir of 120 will be accompanied here by the director, Father Peter Somerville. Conductor for the senior, junior and elementary choirs is Rev. T. Barrett Armstrong: Harry Hudson conducts the tenor and bass choir and Kathleen Mann, the junior and elementary. Accompanist is Brian Rae.

The choirs will sing from the church loft and from the sanctuary steps. A grand piano is being brought in for the occasion and the church organ will also be used.

Father leo MacDonell who has arranged for the visit is hopeful many of the local students will be able to take advantage of the opportunity to hear this group but advises the church has a seating capacity of 900, so reservations will have to be arranged for large groups.

Everyone is welcome.



EARNED DEGREE—Dr. John B. MacDonald recently graduated from the University of Pasadena. Dr. MacDonald was awarded the degree of Doctor of Chiropractic. Dr. MacDonald is a son of Mrs. Agnes MacDonald, Cornwall, and the late Mr. J. J. MacDonald, formerly of Alexandria.

Sewers not ready

Lancaster Village's new sewer and water system still hasn't been hooked up, Clerk Ian MacDonald confirmed Monday.

He said provincial officials have been postponing the hook-up week by week.

"They're just saying they're testing it," MacDonald said.

He said a meeting is being arranged this week between municipal and provincial officials.

Rates to increase, Ontario Hydro says

The 800,000 customers served by the Ontario Hydro rural retail system will be paying an average of 5.7 per cent more for electricity in 1978.

Hydro Chairman Robert Taylor said today that the increase necessary to cover Hydro's costs next year would have been 9.8 per cent had it not been for extra revenue created by better than expected operating results in 1977.

Almost half of the improvement in the 1977 financial position resulted from a substantial increase in export power sales to the United States and reduced cost of administration, operation and maintenance.

"This extra revenue—now estimated at $108 million—will be allocated among the 352 municipal utilities, Ontario Hydro's direct industrial customers, and the rural retail system. Under the anti-inflation guidelines established for Hydro by the provincial government, this amount must be returned to the customers," Mr. Taylor said. The rural retail system's share is currently estimated at approximately $17.8 million.

The effect of the increase on individual customers will vary depending on their consumption and classification. For example, a typical residential customer's monthly bill of $35 will increase by approximately $1.75.

Details of the rate increase will be mailed to all rural customers.

All bills issued after Jan. 1 will be pro-rated. 1977 rates will apply from the last meter reading this year to Dec. 31. After that, the newly announced 1978 rates will apply.

The increase reflects higher costs to Ontario Hydro of providing service.

WI entertained at Jamieson home

The October meeting of the Maxville WI was held at the home of Mrs. John Jamieson. Mrs. Gordon Munro presided in the absence of the president. There were 15 members present.

Delegates appointed to the Area Convention were: Mrs. Stanley Kippen, Mrs. John Jamieson, and Miss Gladys Roulston.

Mrs. Howard McEwan spoke on the motto, "The Harvest depends upon the seed sown." To illustrate that this applied in life as in agriculture, Mrs. McEwan read a story, written by Mrs. Dorothy Morgan, entitled, "Don't be so busy earning your salt, that you forget the sugar." The story showed that a little kindness will do as much as scolding, to produce results in life.

Miss Gladys Roulston read a paper from Amnesty International.

The resolutions to be presented at the Easter Area Convention were read by Mrs. John Sinclair and discussed.

John Jamieson entertained with tapes that he had made, discussing and singing some of his favorite Scottish and Irish songs; these were greatly enjoyed.

Visits Maxville UCW

Ladies of Unit I and II, along with visitors from Moose Creek and Apple Hill UCW met in Maxville United Church on Tuesday, November 1 at 8:00 p.m. to celebrate the annual Thankoffering service.

Mrs. Lorna Blair and Group IV conducted the worship portion of the meeting, opening with a thought for the day entitled "Life is a Mirror."

Mrs. Catherine McEwen accompanied ladies as they sang #373 "All hail to our redeeming Lord."

Mrs. Blair lead in a prayer-poem and Mrs. Rhoda Dewar read from Luke 10(25-37) and reflected on the lesson "Who is my neighbor?" The theme of the message was "Pass it on"—a moving reading tastefully chosen by Mrs. Blair.

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Florence McNaughten and Mrs. Hilda McPhail and Mrs. McPhail continued with her treasurer's report. Mrs. Margaret Munro gave the secretary's report as Mrs. Blair closed in prayer.

The highlight of the evening was a visit from Mrs. Walter Davidson from Vankleek Hill and her handiwork was no less fascinating than her ability as a poetess as she shared some of her 'letters' to Bible characters with us.

Ladies were extremely happy to see her many craft ideas and many notes were taken on various items.

Mrs. Davidson recalled a personal "Pass it on" experience and shared many personal thoughts as she endeared herself to the hearts of all in attendance.

Mrs. Helen McEwen thanked her on behalf of all present and gave her a small token of appreciation.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Carolee MacIntosh.

Plans for the annual fall tea and bazaar to be held Nov. 19 at 2 p.m. were discussed and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Ladies enjoyed fellowship with Mrs. Davidson and a social hour followed.

CIL to reduce mercury

A new $192,000 filter installation at the Canadian Industries Limited (CIL) Cornwall plant should reduce mercury emissions from smokestacks to less than a gram a day, the company says.

The plant now emits less than a pound per day from the stacks.

The plant also emits one-sixteenth of a pound of mercury through the sewers, compared with an allowable three-quarters pound a day.

The company intends to install new equipment to cost about $52,000 to monitor and control the situation in the sewers.

The works are expected to surpass new mercury emission requirements which come into effect about the middle of next year.

Correction

In our article of last week on Indian author Brant Joseph Maracle, we incorrectly stated that the Jay Treaty of 1794 was signed between Canada and the U.S. The treaty was, in fact, between Britain and the U.S. Canada has refused to honor the terms of the treaty which allowed natives to pass freely, without customs duty, across the Canada-U.S. border.

Junior 'C' won first game

by Brian Sherratt

The Alexandria Junior "C" hockey team won their first game of the season Saturday night and they did it all in the last period.

They were hosting Embrun at the Sports Palace and after 40 minutes of hockey the locals were down 2-1. But something changed between the second and third period and they came back to win the game 5-3.

Alexandria took an early lead at 1:43 of the first period on a goal by John McLeod assisted by Tom McRae and David MacDonell.

But Embrun came right back to tie it up only four minutes later.

The visitors held it to a tie until the middle of the second period and the locals went to the dressing room, down one goal.

Nobody could have known it then but Embrun may well have stayed off the ice for the last 20 minutes of hockey.

Alexandria popped one in unassisted off Gord McDonald then another point from Luc Seguin assisted by Mike Willard.

Embrun gave it their best shot and were able to score one more goal to tie the game at 3-3 midway in the third period. But a tie wasn't good enough for Alexandria and they scored two more before the game was over. Cameron McCormick scored the game winning point assisted by Hubert Sauve, then Dan Giroux scored an unassisted insurance goal to finish the contest 5-3.

Alexandria drew seven penalties compared to the four assessed Embrun.

The team has picked up another goaltender, Jamie McCulloch, who was recently cut from their competition in Char-Lan.

The Junior "B" Glens don't have any home games this weekend. But that's not to say there won't be any fine quality hockey at the Sports Palace. To the contrary. The Junior "C" squad will be holding two home games. Friday night they host Embrun at 8 p.m. in what may be a repeat performance of their last win, and Saturday night at 8 p.m. they host Maxville.

Bantams defeat Cornwall in exhibition game

The newly formed Can-Am hockey league won't be starting league play before the end of this month. However all teams are taking part in exhibition competition and the Alexandria Bantam travelling team are giving a fine showing.

On Nov. 9 they hosted the Cornwall "B" team and defeated them 8-3. Scoring for Alexandria were Grant Crack with a hat trick, and singles from Andre Cholette, Billy Allison, Carey Cameron, Wayne MacSweyn and Andy McRae.

The team voted Carey Cameron as their captain and Grant Oke and Kieran McCormick as assistant captains.

NUMBER ONE—Lochiel was this year's first place finisher in the Glengarry Touch Football League. Accepting the trophy from league treasurer, Kenny MacDonald, left, is J. T. Hay. The presentation was made at the league's annual awards night on Saturday, Nov. 5.

Midgets unbeaten

The Alexandria Midget traveling team may well be the team to beat in the newly formed Can-Am hockey league if its performance in recent exhibition play is any indication.

The team doesn't start league play before Nov. 28. However to date they have gone undefeated winning four and tying one.

On Nov. 13 the Midgets hosted Cornwall at the Sports Palace. However, the best either team could do was hold it to a 2-2 tie. Scoring for Alexandria were Mike Sullivan and Mike Crack.

Alexandria traveled to Cornwall on Nov. 9 and came away winning 7-5 which included a hat trick from Mike Sullivan, a pair from Mike Crack and singles from Gilles Depratto and Andre Lortie.

The boys hosted the same Cornwall team here on Nov. 8 and won that one 4-3 with Mike Sullivan scoring twice. Mike Crack popped one in and another single came from Ewen McCormick.

Mike Sullivan has already accumulated 14 points scoring nine times in the last five games and assisting on five others.

Between Sullivan and Mike Crack they have accounted for 10 of the Midgets last 13 goals in three games.

Glens won Friday, tied St. Isidore Sunday

by Brian Sherratt

Paul Seguin of the Jr. B Glens has achieved a new plateau as a goal-getter. Last week the young centreman led his division with the highest number of points. But this week he has gone all the way and now holds third in the entire Eastern Ontario Junior B scoring race. Competition which includes four divisions and 24 teams.

The Glens came away from weekend competition with a four-all tie Sunday and a 10-7 win on Friday night.

Brothers Paul and Leo teamed up Sunday night in St. Isidore to score the opening and the tying goals in a game that, by the end of the second period, looked like it was a sure win for St. Isidore.

After 40 minutes of play, the Glens went off the ice behind 4-1. But something must have clicked between periods and they came out like a house on fire, scoring three unmatched goals and changing what appeared to be a sure loss into a tie game.

Paul scored the opener for the Glens at 18:41 of the second period with an assist from Trent Gadbois. Trent is a recent addition to the Glens' lineup, replacing Gerry Decaire who was cut.

Walter Radford popped in the Glens' second goal unassisted.

The Glens' third goal was scored by Raymond Bourdon in a manner that must have given both Ray and the rest of his team a much-needed lift. The Glens had men serving penalties and were holding off a five-on-three attack when Ray got hold of the puck, broke away and slapped it in the net, unassisted.

Leo Seguin may well be the hero of the evening, having scored the tying goal at 5:22 of the third period with an assist from Scott Grant and Luc Poirier.

Glens' goaltender, Stephen MacDonell suffered a minor injury that evening when a St. Isidore player bounced one of his shots off Stephen's head. The shot knocked Steve unconscious. But he was put back on his feet, walked around for a while and continued with his task of goal-tending.

Friday night at the Sports Palace the Glens downed the Rockland Nats 10-7 in a game that lacked any real competition on the part of the visiting team.

The Glens may have won the game. But all things considered they didn't win it as strongly as they could have. The locals both out-skated and out-weighed the visitors and while the Glens weren't playing their best brand of hockey they should have been able to register a bigger win.

The first and second Glens' goals were scored by Harvey Primeau with assists on both by Terry Epp as well as Scott Grant on the first and Luc Poirier on the second.

The locals' third point was scored by Yvan Desautels who was put out of action for a week after having been taken into the boards resulting in a bruised shoulder. Yvan was taken to the hospital but returned to watch the rest of the game with his arm in a sling. He will be back on the ice by Friday.

Number four went off the stick of Raymond Bourdon with an assist by Harvey Primeau and Scott Grant. Ray Bourdon scored number five assisted by Grant and Luc Rouleau. Luc Rouleau has since been cut from the Glens squad along with Yves Charlebois.

Glen MacDonell registered the Glens' sixth point with assistance from Harvey Primeau and Bourdon. Number seven was scored by Walter Radford assisted by Luc Poirier and Jacques Lajoie.

Along came the brothers Seguin for the game-winning and insurance goals. Leo got number eight with assistance from brother Paul. Then Paul turned right around and slapped in an unassisted goal. Terry Epp rounded it off at 10 with help from Scott Grant.

Coach Joe Kelly wasn't in his usual slot behind the bench that evening due to a prior commitment. However, the assistant coach, Rod Shepherd and the assistant manager, Billy Gebbie, found that when required, they too could handle the task left them by Joe.

The Glens don't have a home game before Nov. 26 when they host St. Isidore at the Sports Palace. But they will be visiting Metcalfe on Nov. 18 and St. Isidore on the 20 and a little bit of support from the home fans wouldn't hurt their game any.

The choice was made from this year's group of cheerleaders.

Atoms training

The Alexandria Atom travelling team has been playing exhibition hockey against a strong Cornwall "A" team in hopes of polishing their skills before the start of their first Can-Am game on Nov. 27.

The local Atoms haven't been bringing home many wins in their recent run of games. But coach Guy Lanctot hopes that the higher calibre of competition will help before the first game.

Their last exhibition game at the Sports Palace Nov. 11, saw them defeated by Cornwall "A" 4-1. Scoring for Alexandria was Francois Paquin, assisted by Marc Rouette.

Peewees win and lose

The last two games played by the Alexandria Peewee travelling team have given them one win and one loss, and both against Cornwall teams.

In Alexandria on Nov. 6 they hosted and defeated Cornwall "B" 3-1. Scoring for the locals were Charles Giroux assisted by Leonard Seguin; Richard Caron unassisted, and Roch Sabourin assisted by Caron.

On Nov. 13 they travelled to Cornwall to take on their "A" team. But came away losing 3-2. Both Alexandria goals were scored by Pierre Jeaurond.

Open house to be held

The Cornwall campus of St. Lawrence College and the Cornwall campus of the University of Ottawa will be opening their doors to the public of Stormont-Dundas and Glengarry, Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3. This will be the first Open House since 1974.

The basic purpose of Open House is to give the opportunity to the people of the area to visit and see what both institutions, St. Lawrence College and the University of Ottawa have to offer.

Both institutions offer a wide range of courses and programs which are aimed towards the needs and betterment of the community and its people. Open house, in our minds, is one way of making the people aware of these opportunities.

This Open House will also mean that the general public will be able to see our newest addition, Aultsville Hall, which was officially opened in February.

Plans are well under way for this event which is part of the Tenth Anniversary celebrations. A committee consisting of representatives from College and University sectors are busy planning the various displays and events which will be held during those two days. People will be invited to take part in some of those activities and in many of the experiments which will be undertaken by the various departments.

There will definitely be lots to see, so why not pay us a visit at Windmill Point and spend an interesting two days with us. Three halls will be open to the public: Wales Hall, 1111 Montreal Road and Aultsville and Moulinette Halls on Windmill Point.

Loyalists elect officers

The St. Lawrence Branch of the United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada will hold its second meeting at Viscount Alexander Public School, Dover Road at West Moreland Street, Cornwall, on Nov. 20 at 2 p.m. The Branch was granted its charter May 14, joining 20 other branches across Canada. At the first meeting a month ago, there were 53 in attendance from an area between Cardinal, Lancaster, Ottawa and numerous places throughout this Loyalist region of Eastern Ontario.

On November 9, 1789, Lord Dorchester, the Governor of Quebec declared "that it was his wish to put a mark of honor upon the families who had adhered to the Unity of the Empire, and joined the Royal Standard in America before the Treaty of Separation in the year 1783." As a result of Dorchester's statement, the printed militia rolls carried the notation—"N.B. Those Loyalists who have adhered to the Unity of the Empire, and joined the Royal Standard before the Treaty of Separation in the year 1783, and all their children and their descendants by either sex, are to be distinguished by the following Capitals, affixed to their names: U.E. Alluding to their great principle, The Unity of the Empire."

Everyone is urged to encourage as many interested persons as possible having Loyalist ancestry to attend this special meeting. There are different membership categories; regular membership, affiliate membership and associate membership.

Rebels get $1,000 from Charlottenburgh

Despite the cautioning of Reeve Adrian Gadbois, Charlottenburgh Township Council voted a $1,000 grant to the Jr. "C" Rebels hockey club last week.

Gadbois suggested the request from the club should be sent to the township's recreation committee which has a budget and distributes funds accordingly.

There was no money left in the 1977 budget for such a grant to Rebels, he noted.

Councillors Don Kannon and Morgan Major said the grant could be made for 1978.

A three-member delegation from the club appeared before council to make the request. Spokesman Stuart Fourney said the club had been operating the program at a loss, which was now close to $1,000.

Gadbois warned council it could be setting a precedent by bypassing the recreation committee.

"What's the point of appointing a recreation committee if we are going to overrule a committee?" the reeve asked.

"Let's hope we don't have too many more people coming in here (for money) after they read that (about the grant) in the press," he added.

Councillor Major said the hockey team was a credit to the community and had been league champions four out of five seasons.

Councillor Kannon said $1,000 was a small amount to pay for the entertainment and recreation the team was providing.

He said the team was operating on a shoe-string budget and council should help out.

Gadbois said he didn't like being the "bad guy" all the time and would like to give money to every worthwhile group. However, there is a limit to how much the property owner can be taxed, he said, and councillors have to be careful about making grants.

Speaker's topic is Christianity

Mrs. William Ewing, Vankleek Hill, was the guest speaker for the Fall Thankoffering service of St. Matthew's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, Ingleside.

Topic of Mrs. Ewing's message was "They will know we are Christians by our love." Mrs. Ewing used the fish as an example of one of the symbols used by early Christians to let others know they were followers of the Christian faith or believers in Jesus Christ. Pictures were drawn in the sand or on walls.

The speaker went on to say that today, persons are not looking for symbols, but an outward expression of love which can be shown in many and various ways, to demonstrate that they are Christians. In other words Christians will be known by their love, in their caring and sharing with others.

Mrs. Ewing is the first vice-president of the Glengarry Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society. She was introduced by Mrs. Frank Stewart and thanked by Mrs. Harold Shaver. Visitors were present from Avonmore, Monkland and Cornwall groups as well as women of the Osnabruck Centre Mission Circle.

Mrs. Frank MacAndrews conducted the worship service. Mrs. D. H. Gilmour led in prayer. The offering was received by Mrs. Lou Clarke and Mrs. Leila Grandaw, and dedicated by Mrs. Elburn Crites. Mrs. Harvey Fickes sang "It Took a Miracle" with Mrs. Merle Wells as pianist. President, Mrs. Gregor Williamson chaired the meeting and extended a cordial welcome to all present.

During the program Mrs. Innes MacGregor, Cornwall, gave a brief outline of the Christian Women's Clubs, Bible studies, monthly meetings, etc., encouraging the ladies to attend.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by the Ingleside WMS group.

Glen Nevis native died on Monday

A native of Glen Nevis, Mrs. Lyn Hayward died on Monday in Toronto General Hospital at the age of 30. A victim of lupus erythematosis, she had been seriously ill for the past seven weeks.

The daughter of Angus McLeod and his wife, Mary MacKinnon, Lyn graduated from Glengarry District High School and then from the University of Toronto as a physiotherapist. She had worked at MacDonell Memorial in Cornwall, in hospitals in Vancouver and Penticton, B.C. and at hospitals and clinics in Toronto.

On September 20, 1975 she married Peter Hayward who survives, as does their five-month-old daughter, Andra Marie.

She also leaves to mourn her loss, her parents, five brothers and two sisters. They are: Gerald, Malta; Melvin, Peterborough; Finley, Kemptville, Ewen and John, at home, and Sandra and Gail, Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Thursday from Morris Funeral Home to St. Margaret of Scotland Church, Glen Nevis. Father Patrick Breton will offer the funeral mass at 11 a.m. Burial will be in St. Margaret's Cemetery.

Father Bougie speaks on family life

The Glen Nevis CWL held its monthly meeting on November 2.

Father Patrick Breton celebrated mass at eight o'clock and the meeting was held later in the vestry.

Father R. Bougie was our guest speaker and gave a very interesting talk on the "Developing of Family Life." He also read a spiritual reading from the Bible on the Beatitudes and discussed each one individually.

Maryvale Nursing Home will once again be given gifts for Christmas by the members of the league.

Mrs. Wally, Martha and Pat MacRae took a course "Salute to Vegetables" and discussed some of their tasty menus with us.

Mrs. Bessie MacDonell is working on the history of the Glen Nevis CWL for the jubilee year 1980.

A youth choir was suggested by Mrs. Helena MacCuaig and will be a project for the new year.

A Glen Nevis Church plate was presented to Father Bougie in appreciation of his very interesting visit and the meeting was brought to a close with tasty squares and coffee.

Conference has variety of topics

Due to the overwhelming success of the first business conference for farm women, a second one is to be held on January 10 and 11, 1978, at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

This year a wider variety of topics will be discussed, including such areas as credit management, farm business analysis, farm families working together, budgeting, dairy farm analysis, and farm record systems. Several workshop sessions are planned to more adequately cover the topics.

Overnight accommodations and meals will be available at the College. Registration forms and programs may be obtained at county agricultural offices and Kemptville College.

For further information contact D. Avery, Kemptville College, 258-3411 (Ext. 245).

ALEXANDRIA, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1977

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Paying for recreation

How much should a municipal council subsidize sports and other recreational activities? Two local townships have had to confront that issue during the past couple of weeks.

In Kenyon Township a group of petitioners asked council to subsidize arena costs in Alexandria for children in the eastern half of Kenyon who use the Sports Palace.

In Charlottenburgh Township, the Jr. "C" Rebels asked for, and received, a $1,000 grant for 1978.

Charlottenburgh Reeve Adrian Gadbois touched on the crux of the matter when he mused about press coverage concerning the hockey grant.

"Let's hope we don't have too many more people coming in here (for money) after they read about that in the press," he said.

Earlier in the meeting, the reeve noted that there is a limit to how much the property owner can afford to keep paying. Everybody wants this, that and the other thing and yet they want taxes to stay low as well.

None of the other councillors picked up on his point. In fact, both Councillors Don Kannon and Morgan Major seemed in quite a rush to make the grant.

Kenyon Reeve Albert Faubert also questioned the wisdom of levying a general tax on all residents to support the sporting preferences of only a portion of the community.

"Let those who want to play the sport pay for it," the reeve said. "I don't think that other residents of the township should have to support something they don't have any use for."

Proponents of that point of view question why one taxpayer, who may not be interested in a particular sport (say hockey, for example), should have to subsidize someone else's sport.

Let the hockey players pay for hockey, the tennis players pay for tennis, the skiers pay for skiing, etc., the argument goes. Besides, with all the provincial funds now available, interested groups should be able to keep their functions going without assistance from property tax.

It all depends on whether you consider recreation a luxury or a necessity. Proponents of municipal support would argue that in this day and age recreation is an essential service. Organized sports for young people, for example, help to curb juvenile delinquency, they say.

The argument for hockey, broomball, ringette, etc., in this area is especially important as children have been separated in francophone and anglophone schools in the primary grades. At this time, almost the only way these children intermingle is in the sports area.

With every child paying his own way, this means many of the children are unable to participate at all. Should not the child with a father who is ill and forced to live on welfare be allowed the same privileges as a child whose father is self-sufficient? This is fairly well the theory behind education, and sport is supposed to contribute something to the education of a child.

As it is, even those municipalities that do endorse the concept of supporting sports and recreation activities, do so in a haphazard fashion. Those groups that ask for support—and have the numbers needed to exert pressure at election time—stand an excellent chance of getting funds. A group of only a handful, might find council less interested.

As Gadbois noted, a municipal council could easily go broke if everybody with a hobby or pastime decided he or she was entitled to municipal subsidy. We could be giving grants to ski clubs, car clubs, chess clubs, equestrian clubs, diamond cutting clubs—who knows what else. And once you establish the principle of public support for recreation, can you fairly tell someone his or her activity isn't as good as the next person's and, therefore, not entitled to public support?

If indeed, a municipality decides that recreation is a necessity and should be supported from the local tax base, councillors should ensure that a mechanism exists for the fair distribution of these funds.

Getting the facts straight

Hopes are still alive for the restoration of Alexandria's old mill.

The mill's owner, United Co-Operatives of Ontario, has indicated that it is prepared to come down a bit from the appraisal price it quoted earlier.

It was unfortunate that the Co-Op decided to brand an August 10 News editorial on the matter "misleading" because we quoted $80,000 as the asking price.

Let the record show, however, that $80,000 is the only price Co-Op has ever quoted on the building. Last week was the first time the company publicly indicated it would negotiate a lower price than the appraised value.

It's always easy to blame the press for "misleading" comments. It's much more difficult to admit that perhaps you provided the press with misleading information, even if it was not intentional.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

An American Indian legend contained in the Christopher News Notes reminds me of our attitude towards Canadian unity.

This is about a brave who found an eagle's egg and put it into the nest of a prairie chicken. The eaglet hatched with the brood of chicks and grew up with them.

All his life, the changeling eagle—thinking he was a prairie chicken—did what the prairie chickens did.

He scratched in the dirt for seeds and insects to eat. He clucked and cackled. And he flew in a brief thrashing of wings and flurry of feathers no more than a few feet off the ground. After all, that's how prairie chickens were supposed to fly.

Years passed. And the changeling eagle grew very old. One day, he saw a magnificent bird far above him in the cloudless sky. Hanging with graceful majesty on the powerful wind currents, it soared with scarcely a beat of its strong golden wings.

"What a beautiful bird!" said the changeling eagle to his neighbor. "What is it?"

"That's an eagle. The chief of the birds," the neighbor clucked. "But don't give it a second thought. You could never be like him."

So the changeling eagle never gave it another thought. And it died thinking it was a prairie chicken.

The Ministry of National Health and Welfare recently sent out circulars regarding deafness. This I was glad to see, only I could have added a few paragraphs regarding sympathy for the deaf.

People are frequently unkind to the deaf, in comparison to people who are blind or crippled. Deafness is nevertheless, a human frailty very often beyond control, just as are other infirmities.

The ministry pamphlet already referred to, listed some ways adults could recognize approaching deafness. 1. You have trouble understanding people in a crowded room. (They do not specify if there are several young grandchildren present.) 2. If you have to turn up the television or radio so loud that it is uncomfortable for others. (That experiment won't work either, the kids already have these blaring continually.) 3. If you think people around you are mumbling. (They usually are and it is better not to listen.) 4. You frequently have to ask for things to be repeated. (This is natural, you don't learn as easy as when you were a kid.) 5. You do not understand people unless you are facing them. (The real test!)

People who think nothing of wearing glasses are loath to wear a hearing aid because somehow it is just not quite as acceptable.

Sometimes we have to stumble on a situation first-hand to have the message brought home.

I remember a few years ago, going to the Rochester Institute of Technology to take a summer course in photography. Arriving on campus, I was not sure where my residence was, so I stopped a young girl nearby to ask for directions. She turned and started talking to me in sign language. Then I noticed other groups around the campus speaking to each other similarly. I thought I had stumbled on an initiation tactic and took it for granted the students were undergoing a sorority requisite. What I did not know was that the same campus housed the National Institute for the Deaf.

I shared the same residence as the deaf students and found it does not take long to learn to communicate in sign language. I never ran into such a wonderful group of young people. Their kindness and consideration for each other and everyone else was a lesson to behold.

I had never realized before the hazards faced by people who are completely deaf; for them there are no auto horns, no fire sirens, no growling dogs, no people coughing. They do not need pity, but they do need consideration by the public, such as you would willingly offer to a blind person crossing the street. The trouble is, deafness is not so obvious and these people are very often ranked as "stupid" by those unaware of their condition. And very often, even when they are aware.

Perspective

by Bob Roth

Kenyon Township's petitioners

"A petition means nothing more than a bunch of signatures."

With that comment—and a few more—Kenyon Township Reeve Albert Faubert has dismissed a petition bearing the signatures of 172 voters and 101 children in his township.

The petitioners feel they are being discriminated against because the township council won't subsidize arena expenses for children in the eastern half of Kenyon who use the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The issue is complex and there are pros and cons on both sides of the argument. What should not be in dispute, however, is the right of citizens to petition their council and obtain a fair hearing.

The reeve's attitude is less than encouraging.

"No council is going to be run by a little bunch of ratepayers. We were elected for the term and if they are not satisfied they can vote someone else in," Faubert said.

Two prevalent philosophies exist in elected circles. One philosophy proclaims that elected officials have little or no obligation to consult the electorate during the term of office. The other acknowledges the usefulness of maintaining open channels of communication at all times to ensure that the decisions being made are truly representative of constituents' wishes.

I must confess to leaning towards the latter philosophy.

That is not to say council should always agree with a delegation. It is to say, though, that delegations should be treated with respect, not ridicule. Citizens should be encouraged to take an active interest in municipal affairs.

To suggest that "a petition means nothing more than a bunch of signatures" is to totally erase seven centuries of history that commenced with the signing of the Magna Carta.

The right (and even obligation in some instances) to petition government is enshrined in many statutes of this province, including the Municipal Act.

Right or wrong, the petitioners deserved better treatment. For one thing, their request for an evening meeting—to allow more people to attend—should have been granted. (Kenyon meets in the afternoons.)

Instead, the delegation was told an evening meeting would be classified as a special meeting and require an additional payment of $250 to members of council.

This revelation must have come as quite a shock to the petitioners, many of whom were probably suffering under the illusion that government was created for the convenience of the public, not vice-versa.

Surely councillors could have cancelled one afternoon meeting, rescheduled it for the evening and graciously agreed to forego dipping into the public pot for an additional $250.

All in all, the petitioners have been told their viewpoints don't matter ("A petition means nothing more than a bunch of signatures"), council can't be bothered conveniencing its own taxpayers (won't hold an evening meeting) and that people who wish to talk openly and frankly with their elected "representatives" might as well keep their mouths shut ("No council is going to be run by a little bunch of ratepayers").

The reeve and council are not necessarily wrong in their position on subsidizing the petitioners. There are two sides to every question and council is certainly correct to weigh all aspects. No one can deny that council has an obligation to protect the interests of all taxpayers and not just the petitioners. If the councillors legitimately feel that supporting the petition would not be appropriate, this is their prerogative.

But under our system of representative democracy, we also recognize minority rights and certainly one of the most fundamental of these rights is the right to a fair hearing. Only after such a hearing has taken place—in the evening—and councillors have listened with an open mind, should a final decision be made.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

COMMITTEE IS SHORT

Cornwall, Ont.,
November 10, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I would like to question the composition of a special committee recently formed by the SD&G County Board of Education to review the administrative organization for curriculum at Glengarry District High School.

The Standard-Freeholder reported that the committee would be comprised of the four trustees from Glengarry (two who are French-speaking and two who are English-speaking), a resource person designated by the Director of Education (presumably a superintendent) and one non-trustee member from the French Language Advisory Committee.

My question is "Where is the non-trustee person who is representing the concerns of the English Language?"

Is this just another example of unequal rights for the French?

Yours truly,
A concerned taxpayer

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I am doing postal research on our Ontario post offices and I wrote to the postmaster of Apple Hill, Ont., and she had told me that the Glengarry News could give me much of what I need. Also a Mrs. W. A. McKinnon.

What I want is the date of opening of the Apple Hill post office; who were the postmasters from the beginning, up to today?; what district it serves; how the mails were received and dispatched, and any other information of interest.

If you think Mrs. McKinnon would be the best source, would you please give her this letter.

Thanking you for any information, I am,

Congratulation to the following Martintown area students on their graduation from Charlan: Grade 13—Ruth MacDonald, Michael McMillan and a special congratulatory note to Marianne McPhadden who won five proficiency awards, including the Ontario Scholarship for averages 80 % of over. Shelley MacNaughton and Corry VanWalraven were the other two Ont. Scholars at Charlan.

Grade 12: Kathy Aubin, (Proficiency award winner) Shane Grant, Ellen Kristiansen, Carole Lapensee, Trevor MacDonald, Stephen McIntosh, Shawn McPhail, James McRae, Phyllis Prokosh, James Sova.

Certificates J Training: Walter Lauzon, Murray Whitford.

Thanks to former principal of Martintown Public, Mrs. Helen McMillan for this information.

Friday, November 25 from 10 to 4 O'clock, Donnie Ross will be holding an open house to celebrate his entry into farm and machinery sales service as an Allis Chalmers agent. He has quite of stock of garden and lawn equipment besides, so drop in.

I have been intrigued with tape recorders ever since Watergate and all its horrible revelations. For a while I had one installed in the ladies at the college, but the graffetti on their walls was better. I had one concealed inside Farmer Cain's bottle opener but he wears one of those out every 2 weeks (that's just on opening bottles of mix.)

Another unsuccessful try at taping juicy gossip was the bug device inside Dave Danskin's pipes—the thing drowned during a wave in a melodious rendition of Skye Boat Song.

A bugging inside the pipes of Len Sivik, Math Head at Charlan, brought applause from his students as it went up in flames. One student cried, "That smells better than your own tobacco mixture of horse manure, tarpaper and binder twine, sir."

You remember, of course, how former President Nixon alleged that his secretary while on the telephone, somehow erased 18 minutes of a tape subpoenaed by the grand jury. I threw my back out attempting to duplicate her feat; that is to get my feet on a recorder pedal, my hand four feet away on the tape erase button, my other foot holding a telephone, and my other hand writing a message a further two feet from my own. What a womam Nixon's secretary must have been.

And now we discover that the Mounties have been listening in, not only that, but our pony express has been held up by the musical ride. Darn. it didn't slow up delivery of our bills at all.

I strongly support the RCMP's use of all modern detection techniques to forestall and eliminate threats to our society. But, burning a barn as the only means to prevent a meeting of undesirables really indicates a lack of control.

Dan Warner of Martintown was a busy boy this week. He piped at Martintown public during their remembrance day service and next day was on parade in Cornwall with the Legion band. Keep up the good work, young fellow. 'Twas the first Cornwall parade in a long time which has not seen Pipe Major Bob Kitts (formerly of the branch) in uniform. Bob is in final stages of convalescence after his operation under Dr. McKeown's silver scalpel.

Guy Leroux (Brigadoons) was also in the Legion Band.

Let us remember our veterans. As Thomas Hardy said with heavy cynicism. How quaint and curious war is, you'd kill a man that under other circumstances you would buy a drink for.

George Runion, Kinloch Road, and his assistant Richard Peters of Martintown, came and went one day last week; in between they performed electric magic. Behold we have more outlets than things to plug in them. In addition, it is free power to us people, that is until the power company installs the new meter.

That lady charged with creative energy, Rae MacCulloch is offering her Scottish Country Dancing classes again this year in Martintown school gymnasium, Mondays at 8:30 p.m. Phone Rae (347-2619) for more information.

Angus Grant a regular reader from Niagara Falls phoned last week inquiring about the Glengarry club's Trip to Scotland in August 1978. "Are you certain that they are coming back", another caller wanted to know. All I could reply was that the charter is scheduled to return.

Good to see Josee Van Rooi of Glen Falloch back home in Glengarry after a year as a Texas nurse.

Martintown Mac says that we should remember the Remembrance day pastor's prayers for Canadian Confederation, peace, brotherhood and freedom.

Dealership to hold official opening

Representatives from Allis-Chalmers will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to answer questions about the new dealership. Door prizes and snacks will be offered.

The dealership, on the King's Road east of Martintown, handles all types of large farm machinery such as tractors, combines, cultivators, etc.

Char-Lan also sells smaller lawn and garden tractors and attachments.

The dealership is owned by Don Ross and sales representative is Gordon MacGregor. Two mechanics are available in the newly-constructed three-bay garage.

Receives life membership in WMS

The theme of the November meeting of the WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, was "Remembrance." Mrs. Ray Markell was convenor. The 21 members and two visitors met at the home of the president, Mrs. Ian Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy opened the meeting with a poem "In Remembrance." After a hymn, Miss Mae Munro read Psalm 112 and Mrs. Ina Hald led in prayer. The roll call was answered by a verse containing the word 'remembrance.' The offering was dedicated by Mrs. Jessie Cooper.

Mrs. William Johnston presented Mrs. Markell with a Life Membership.

PROTESTS POLICY

Alexandria, Ont.
Nov. 2, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I was reading the Glengarry News of Nov. 2, and here I see the "protest policy" consisting of a group of concerned citizens at the Charlottenburgh Township Council. Unbelievable in 1977, to be as square. Excuse my expression.

In our nice country of Canada, a bilingual country, to still have such nonsensical ideas! Just imagine, in some countries they can speak English, French, Italian and German. I think this is intelligent. This group needs more education and this teacher (quoted in the news article) doesn't realize what she makes us think of her.

We had a separate school on Glen Robertson road 50 years ago with one hour of speaking English. No good—could read but not speak it. It's the same with English with one hour of French. No good. Wake up. Stop criticizing.

The government is fair. My dad always told me that Mr. Trudeau was the man who most resembled Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the wonderful prime minister.

I say Trudeau's policy is not going far enough. Every head of a municipality and every member of parliament should pass a law, that it is compulsory for those people to have both languages. I speak both languages. I'm happy.

Our family of six all went to bilingual schools, finished Grade 8 at the age of 12 and 13 and graduated at 17 and 18. I wish the same for our grandchildren and also yours.

I hope that the Holy Spirit enlightens this group, helps them to get the right understanding and love for each other.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Lucille Levert

On Saturday, November 16th, Hon. Senator and Mrs. McMillan celebrated quietly with members of their family, the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. A family dinner followed Mass in the Cathedral, celebrated by their son, Rev. D. D. McMillan.—A telephone was placed in the Canada Atlantic Hotel, Station, this week.—T. W. Dingwall, Maxville, has given up his business there, and accepted a position as traveller with the Hamilton Domestic Specialty Co. —At two o'clock Sunday morning, Isaac Simon and his household were awakened by noises in the basement of the store, and upon investigation they found that burglars had forced an entrance. They decamped before any valuables could be secured.

UCW HAVE "SANDY LAKE" PROJECT

The ladies of the United Church had their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Munroe McCaskill, last Wednesday afternoon, at 1:30 with a good turnout of guests and members. Mrs. A. MacRae gave the call to worship, and welcomed everyone. Hymn 523 was sung and Psalm XLVI read as the responsive reading. Mrs. C. Chapman sang "In Flanders Fields," accompanied by Mrs. Angus MacLennan on the piano, after which Mrs. Chapman read the touching story of how this poignant poem was composed, in the heat of battle, on a May morning in 1915. Dr. John McRae didn't live to know of its success and never knew that it would become a tradition on "Remembrance Day" because he didn't get through the war alive. He became one of those "who lie in Flanders Fields" on January 28th, 1918, near Ypres, France.

A short article from the mandate on Page 19 gave us a hard look into poverty, to start us thinking about "why" and to really try to understand the problems. The devotions closed in prayer, led by Mrs. Ronald MacLachlan.

Mrs. Angus MacLennan had a letter from Pansy, our little foster child in Jamaica.

Mrs. Arnold MacRae had a letter from Sandy Lake in answer to the three parcels we sent off, stating the very great need for winter clothing on the reservation. The bales went off to them at the end of October. This year one of the ladies heard of a "mitten tree." Everyone liked the idea, and so one will be placed in the church soon, and the congregation may place mittens, socks, scarves, hats, whatever warm winter things they wish to, upon its branches, until after Christmas, and these will also go to Sandy Lake early in January. Old stretched sweaters, still useful, will be sewn into play and work mittens as well. Even good used things would be appreciated, I'm sure.

The Newsletter was brought up, and Mrs. Chapman agreed to represent Glen Sandfield United as contributor.

There is to be a "Congregational Pot Luck casserole supper" November 21, at 7:30 in the hall. Each family is requested to bring along one main dish casserole and a pie. There will be an auction afterwards, and so to this end, everyone is requested to bring some item that may be donated for this purpose. Anything at all! That old lamp, jewellery, some chair you just can't stand any more, might be someone else's treasure, as well as the items left from the bazaar. There will be no admission charged and this will help to cover expenses.

The next meeting is to be held Dec. 7, at the home of Mrs. Clifford MacDonald, at 1:30 p.m. and everyone is to take along some specialty for a food exchange. The shut-in's list was checked over for Christmas giving. Mrs. Gilbert MacRae closed the meeting with prayer and the benediction.

Dalkeith 4-H Club held two meetings

by Harriet Fraser

On November 5, 1977 the Dalkeith 4-H club held meetings six and seven at the home of Mrs. Barbara Graham.

Mrs. Lothian read the treasurer's report which was $24.22. Mrs. Graham explained how to make interesting and well-balanced "Special Suppers" for our families.

After our discussion Sylvia Lothian, Colleen Kennedy and Audrey MacDonald prepared a salmon loaf with a white sauce."

In meeting seven we made plans for our buffet style supper that will be held on November 22 at Laggan Public School. Each member is asked to bring their mothers and if they want to they can bring their sisters too.

We discussed plans for our exhibit on Achievement Day. Phyllis MacGillivray, Harriet Fraser, Sylvia Lothian and Brenda Lobb will each make a salad to put on our table for this day.

We discussed the proper way to set a table and later on Mrs. Graham demonstrated the proper method.

We were then divided into groups of threes and asked to plan a party. There were some very good party suggestions from all the groups. To top off the meeting we had a delicious supper prepared by the members and leaders.

Sylvia Lothian thanked Mrs. Graham for her hospitality and for the use of her home.

Celebrated 95th birthday

Xiste Lortie of Villa Fatima celebrated a special birthday on Sunday with his family.

It was his 95th, but Mr. Lortie is the type who could be better termed 95 years young as his memory, sight and hearing are still good and he is able to walk unassisted.

A party was held at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cecile Lortie in Glen Robertson. Other members of the immediate family present were his sons, Eloi and Benoit and daughter, Mrs. Hortense Maher, all of Valleyfield; son, Remi of Glen Robertson and daughters Mrs. Cecile Chenier and Mrs. Yvette Major, both of Cornwall. Another daughter, Mrs. Jeanne Mance Legault was unable to be present.

You too can measure up

Centre offers family counsel

The Family Counselling Centre is pleased with the response from the readers to the articles appearing on the services of the Agency.

There have been several requests for marriage counselling, in which both parties are willing to become involved in counselling. There have been several enquiries, however, whether counselling can be useful when only one partner is willing to come to the Agency. Naturally, the ideal situation is involvement of both partners, but one must remember two people make a marriage—it is a partnership.

One partner can benefit from marriage counselling and indirectly may become counsellor to the other partner. How—by learning more about his or her own attitudes. How are they affecting the relationship? Many couples indulge in the "silent treatment" rather than communicating their feelings. Resentment builds up and at a time of anger may refer to the past rather than exploring causes for the present difference.

Here are some constructive ways of arguing:

1. Program fights at special times to avoid wear and tear on innocent bystanders.

2. Each partner gives full expression to his own positive feelings.

3. Each partner gives full expression to his own negative feelings.

4. Each one replays partner's argument in his own words, to be sure he understands it.

5. Entertain the "feedback" of the other person's evaluation of your behaviour. This means "chewing over" evaluations of yourself before accepting or rejecting them.

6. Define clearly what the fight is about.

7. Discover where the two positions coincide as well as differ.

8. Each partner defines his own "out-of-bounds" areas of vulnerability.

9. Determine how deeply each partner feels about his stake in the fight. This enables each to decide how much he can yield.

10. Offer correctional critiques of Conduct—this means for both to develop positive suggestions for improvement in each other.

11. Decide how each can help the other, relative to the problem.

12. Recognize the Yablonsky (spontaneous explosion without reason) and wait for it to subside; don't "hook-in."

13. Try to score the fight against the injury. Winners are those who learn more than they get hurt.

14. Fight after-thinking. Compare your opinions with each other after the left-overs, evasions, and unsettled issues, if any.

15. Declare a fight holiday, a truce, a period of time during which no fight engagements are to be made. This provides the conditions for exercising the fine art of making up and enjoying its benefits, such as warm body contact, good sex, etc.

16. Be prepared for the next fight. Intimate fighting is more or less continuous and, paradoxically, if it is accepted and expected, the quality of fighting is less vicious, the fight less long, the injury less, and the learning of new aspects more.

It is not wrong to argue constructively—it is much healthier than the silent treatment.

Counselling can be done with one partner and by open communication, the other partner eventually shows a willingness to be part of the marriage counselling.

Should couples separate?

Separation cannot always be prevented, nor is it wise for two people to stay together without a commitment to each other and to their marriage. It is imperative for those of us involved in marriage counselling, whether clergyman, lawyer or social worker, to ask ourselves—Do we want to save a marriage and damage two people or save two people and dissolve the marriage?

Family Counselling Centre provides separation counselling, endeavoring to assist the couple to separate without vindictiveness and further damage to the children. The self-supporting couple may be faced with the additional pressure of staying together for financial reasons. The period following separation or divorce can be very stressful for both parents and children. The one parent may find it difficult to adjust to a lower standard of living, responsibility for discipline and may suffer from loneliness and loss of personal esteem. The children may be torn in their loyalties to both parents, unable to cope with harsh criticisms of relatives and friends. In many of these situations, Family Counselling Centre offers practical advice, guidance and emotional support, particularly with personal adjustments and child discipline.

Today, one must look at the non-traditional marriage where two people live together, and then, for various reasons, wish to break up. Because of their emotional involvement it is often difficult to terminate the relationship. Frequently, they are afraid of disapproval—afraid to face life alone, and require counselling to enable them to dissolve the relationship and function as individuals.

The one parent family forms an important part of the total picture of family life in Canada. To the general public it is surprising to learn that this group comprises between eight and nine percent of all families.

For hog carcasses

Change in evaluation

A revised index table for hog carcass valuation takes effect January 2, 1978.

The main impact of the revision is that hogs weighing 180-199 will now be indexed higher. At present indexes fall off sharply at 180 pounds and over. However, as of the new year the drop in indexes will not occur until 200 pounds.

It was earlier indicated the point of fat measurement could change as well. Based on some recent research the Canadian Pork Council and Meat Packers Council have agreed to hold off on any change in fat measurement location.

The index changes encourage heavier hogs. In view of the processing industry concern that a substantion increase in heavy hogs could pose merchandising problems the endexing agreement between the C.P.C. —M.P.C. and federal government provides a mechanism for documenting the problem and effecting a means of corrective action.

As with the original move to an index system in 1968, this move means a different distribution of the market dollar for hogs—it does not mean more dollars.

STRUCTURAL CHANGE IN HOG PRODUCTION

Fewer farms each producing more hogs is evident from a study of 1976 census data.

In Eastern Canada census farms reporting hogs in 1976 were 46% below 1971, while the average number of hogs per farm were up 75%. Hog farms in the West dropped 54%, but pigs per farm increased only 10%.

As of 1976 a total of 59,914 census farms in Canada reported pigs. This represents 50% fewer farms with hogs.

HOG NUMBERS UP

Canadian pork supplies should continue above a year ago for most of 1978, provided the latest Statistics Canada report of hog number is a true indicator of what is happening on farms.

At October 1 it is reported total pigs on farms were 8% above a year ago. Eastern numbers recorded a 10% gain with the West up 4%

Market pig numbers were estimated to be up 4½ in the West, 9% in the East for a national increase of 8%. In the market pig category over 3 months of age, numbers were up 8% (East + 11%, West + 4%). In the younger bracket, 3 months and under, numbers were up 7%.

Looking ahead producers reported intentions to farrow 8% more sows this fall—October to November. For the winter quarter, January-March, hogmen indicated they would likely boost farrowings 9% over a year ago.

Housing for seniors studied by township

Cornwall Township is conducting a survey on the need for senior citizen housing in the township.

The study will estimate the number of senior citizens living in the community whose housing is inadequate or who are spending more than they can afford on accommodation.

The survey, being done in conjunction with the Ontario Housing Corporation, will include an assessment of economic trends, growth factors and current and future housing needs in the township.

Brochures outlining OHC's senior citizen rental housing program are being mailed to senior citizens asking them if they wish to participate.

The pamphlets can also be picked up at the township office.

A typical senior citizens building consists of two stories and has apartments consisting of a bedroom, living room, bathroom and a kitchen which is equipped with a stove and refrigerator.

After it receives the result of the survey, the municipality can initiate the development process by adopting a resolution asking OHC to provide the required units.

Senior citizens geared-to-income housing is constructed at no capital cost to the municipality.

The federal government, through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) lends OHC 90 per cent of the capital cost and the province lends OHC the balance. Both governments are repaid by OHC with interest.

OHC makes an annual grant to the municipality to cover normal municipal taxes. The federal government pays half the cost of rent subsidies, the provincial government pays 42½ per cent and the municipality seven and a half per cent.

Bishop sees need for church union

Those attending Seaway Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada on Thursday evening at Hawkesbury were privileged to hear Bishop John Gonsalves and Mrs. Gonsalves of Indore, India.

They are in Canada as part of their celebration of the 100th anniversary of the missionary work in the area. The Bishop spoke of the Church of North India which is a union of six denominations since 1970. He said union was very necessary because the proclamation of the gospel, unless it is united, is not a proclamation; and without union the Gospel cannot be very effective in a multilingual and a multiracial population such as in India.

Their General Synod met recently and dealt with the question of ways to make the Church ot North India more indigenous because the church must be more of an expression of Christianity in an Indian form.

He said that the Gospel can't change, but the structure can and that reformation in every sense of the word should take place.

Mrs. Consalves brought greetings from women's groups in India and noted the similarity of them to our women's groups.

During the question period Bishop Gonsalves said that he was surprised to find so little sign of church union in Canada and remarked that resources are wasted with denominationalism.

The Chairman of Presbytery, Rev. C. Massey conducted the business meeting. The usual meeting and reporting of commissions took place. Some time was spent on reports of the recent General Council held in Calgary. Four commissioners were present and answered questions—Mrs. Peg Cooper, Mrs. Miriam Woodland, Mr. Stan. Waddoll and the Rev. Walter Judge.

Before adjournment, the Presbytery bade farewell to the Rev. Jack Skues and Mrs. Skues who are retiring to live in Beamsville.

Official Suicide

by JIM SMITH

Someday, somehow, the technicians of this world will devise a marvellous machine which will be so important that the rest of the world will be utterly unable to function without that machine.

The machine will be so efficiently designed that it will require only one human operator. Moreover, the operator will require absolutely no skills; any one of the billions of humans will be able to master the machine within a matter of seconds.

Then the politicians will get into the act, granting the operator the right to strike. The unions will insist on – and get – exclusive operating rights for that one individual. So, if the operator isn't happy with his working conditions, the entire world will grind to a halt.

Crazy? Of course. Impossible? Not at all; in fact, something similar has happened to our public services in the past decade. The air traffic controllers grounded the entire country – including hundreds of thousands of travellers and fantastic amounts of business mail. Even that is of little importance compared to what the inside postal workers are planning for Christmas.

There's incipient idiocy in our labour laws. Any block of workers, given responsibility for a function with enough economic or safety importance, can cripple the nation. In return for sacrificing a couple of weeks' pay, the postal workers can bring the economy to its knees.

This isn't to say that the workers' case is unjustified. However, there are options for seeing justice done – options which do not cost the workers lost wages or the economy lost opportunities. The most popular of the alternative suggestions has long been some form of arbitration with settlements related to private sector wage hikes.

For several years, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, armed with a poll showing support by more than 90 per cent of its membership, has been urging the government to outlaw strikes in essential public services. The Federation believes that some form of arbitration is far more practical for all concerned. There is, in fact, justification for the belief that much of our labour strife exists because there is an institutional basis – the excessive power of public sector unions – for it to exist.

Unfortunately, the federal government has failed to recognize the common sense of eliminating essential service strikes. Labour Minister John Munro is on record as opposing removal of strike rights. The government may be in tune with the labour movement – but it doesn't appreciate the feelings of the vast majority of Canadians who are innocent victims in any disputes.

Surely the government has better things to do than to officially sanction Canada's economic suicide.

New program to deal with brucellosis effort

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan has announced changes in Canada's brucellosis program that will further the effort to eradicate the disease.

Most of the changes are expected to take effect early next year, although some are being made immediately. These include placing greater emphasis on brucellosis research by Agriculture Canada's Health of Animals Branch, the appointment of a planning officer to co-ordinate all anti-brucellosis activities and an information officer to provide cattlemen and dairy producers with up-to-date information.

The changes expected to be implemented early in 1978 are:

—the division of Canada into separate regions, to be described as brucellosis-free, brucellosis low-incidence, and other;

—placing controls on the movement of cattle between all regions;

—establishment of a new policy for brucellosis-free listed herds;

—mandatory negative testing for all cattle over six months of age—except those from brucellosis-free regions, brucellosis-free listed herds, official vaccinates less than 18 months old, steers and spayed heifers—within 60 days immediately before they enter shows or exhibitions;

—an on-farm test requirement for certain age groups of cattle before movement off the farm in Ontario and Quebec.

"Our beef producers and dairy farmers are fortunate that their herds are among the healthiest in the world," Mr. Whelan said. "Brucellosis is a problem disease. We feel that with these tighter regulations and the co-operation of farmers, we can beat it."

The changes stem from meetings on brucellosis held in Winnipeg last June between Health of Animals Branch officials, representatives of the beef and dairy industry, provincial veterinarians and members of the Canadian Veterinary-Medical Association.

Recommendations for the changes were made by a subcommittee formed at the meeting and staffed by Health of Animals Branch disease experts.

Agreement in principle was reached last month by representatives of the groups who attended the Winnipeg meeting and by provincial deputy ministers of agriculture who met in Ottawa last week," Mr. Whelan said. "Arrangements concerning the increased emphasis on research and the new staff members were fully agreed to and have been implemented. Discussion on the five major changes is continuing but I am confident they will be in place early next year."

Brucellosis, a bacterial contagious disease that causes abortions in cows, now is controlled in Canada by on-going herd testing and screening programs operated by Agriculture Canada. Cattle found to carry the disease are ordered destroyed and the farmer compensated.

Current regulations include testing of cattle at auction markets, keeping herds under quarantine until they have passed two negative tests, requiring a negative herd test 60 days before a farm auction, licensing of livestock dealers who hold cattle on their premises and requiring them to blood test animals and record cattle movements, testing of animals moving between certain provinces, slaughtering of calves whose mothers are found to have brucellosis, and slaughtering herds when spread of brucellosis in the herd cannot be stopped.

A TIME TO REMEMBER—The Alexandria Branch of the Canadian Legion held remembrance services at the cenotaph on Friday, Nov. 11. The cold winds chilled those who took the few minutes out of their day to remember those who gave the supreme sacrifice. (Staff photo-Sherratt)

Special speakers at remembrance service

by Helen Ferguson

There was a very impressive parade and observance of Remembrance Day in Apple Hill with Legionaires, the Ladies' Auxiliary, Guides, Scouts, Brownies and Cubs, taking part.

The parade marshall was Ray Markell. The group formed up at the Legion hall and led by Pipers Arnold Munro, Beverley Blair, Erin Blair and Drummer Ian Kennedy, marched to the cenotaph for the service. Lorne Hall, president of Branch 312, opened the service with "O Canada," followed by a prayer. The band then played "Amazing Grace." The two minutes of silence were observed and another selection was rendered by the band.

The special speakers were Rev. Ross MacDonald of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, who spoke on "What causes War." Osie Villeneuve MPP for Glengarry also spoke and his topic was "Unity and Friendship." Both speakers were very impressive.

There were many wreaths laid including one from the Ontario government, placed by Eldred Scott, the Legion Branch by Archie MacIsaac, the Ladies' Auxiliary by Mrs. Ella Markell and Kenyon Township by Hugh McIntyre.

Others were laid by friends and relatives of servicemen, churches, various groups and businessmen of the district. The service concluded with the singing of "The Queen."

Lunch was served in the Legion Hall to all who took part in the parade.

Glengarry Club donates piano

Findlay Dingwall, a director of the Glengarry Club of Ottawa, visited the Senior Citizens' apartments, Derby Ave., Vankleek Hill, on Wednesday, November 2.

Mr. Dingwall took the occasion to view the piano which the Club purchased for the Recreation Room.

A gold plaque to commemorate the gift was attached to the large front panel of the instrument. The piano is a Willis upright and is in exceptionally fine condition.

Hazel MacGillivray, Congeniality Club president, and Edythe Vogan, treasurer, had been looking for such an instrument. By good fortune one was found to be available from Mrs. Dougal MacGillivray, McCrimmon, through conversation with Mrs. Hazel MacGillivray, (no relation).

Mrs. Vogan being familiar with the generosity of the Glengarry Club, was able to arrange for the purchase of the piano by corresponding with Club President Walter Stewart. Mrs. Vogan's father, the late Paul Lacombe, Glen Robertson, played the violin for the Glengarry Club of Montreal at their dances many years back.

Many of the seniors of the Congeniality Club at the apartment are of Glengarry stock.

SENIOR BASKETBALL IN PLAY-OFFS

GDHS hosted the girls' basketball teams from Tagwi on Nov. 8. The senior team was victorious, winning with a score of 52-15. High scorers of the game were Sheila Danaher with 12 points, and Jane Hudson and Ann Morris with eight points each. They will now travel to Iroquois where they will play Seaway District High School in the semi-final play-offs.

JUNIOR GIRLS ALSO WON

The junior girls also won their game. The score was 37-27. Ellen MacMaster was high scorer with 16 points. This was the last game for the junior team.

GRADE 13 SAW "BACK TO BEULAH"

On the same day, a group of Grade 13 students travelled to the National Arts Centre in Ottawa to see a play called "Back to Beulah." After seeing the play, they visited McDonald's to get a bite to eat.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A Remembrance Day Memorial Service was held in the cafetorium on the afternoon of November 9, honoring all the past students of GDHS who were killed in action. All students were dismissed from classes for the service.

LOUISE SECOURS IS QUEEN

The annual Football Dance was held last Thursday evening, featuring Dave Matthews and Chatterbox. It was a great success. Louise Secours was chosen as this year's football queen. The junior girls were presented with a trophy for their victory in the powderpuff football game. It was accepted by Ellen MacMaster on behalf of the rest of the teams.

SCHOOL NEWSPAPER TO PUBLISH AGAIN

It has been decided that there will be a school newspaper again this year. Miss Lynn Whitham will be the editor. Any students who are interested should contact her as soon as possible. Two issues will be printed, one before Christmas and one in the spring.

THE UDDER BEVERAGE

During the month of November, milk spotters are handing out entry forms to students drinking milk. These students become eligible to win $250. This is part of a campaign in Ontario to encourage students to drink milk. It's called "Money for Moustaches." Iona students have downed plenty of the white stuff during the first few days of the campaign. Good luck to our spotted customers!

WE REMEMBERED

On Wednesday, November 9, a special Remembrance Service was conducted by Father Gary Ostler. It was part of our CPTA meeting. Our special guest was Rev. Edwin McDonald representing the Canadian Legion. Each class participated in laying wreaths and poems written by students were read.

Diane van Overbeek won the silver dollar as attendance prize. We appreciate the large turnout.

OUR SYMPATHY

Sister Lorrette Brodeur, a former music teacher at our school died last week. We will long remember her kindness and friendship. We offer our sympathy to the Sisters of Holy Cross in Alexandria and we promise to remember her in our daily prayers.

THE TRAVELLING MUSEUM

The museumobile visited Iona last week. This service comes from the Museum of Man in Toronto. Many artifacts including spearheads, muskets, pottery, early copper and metal products and beautiful soapstone pipes were part of this travelling collection. Most of these were taken from the Miller Site near Toronto.

OUR RINK

Many thanks to those who helped in putting up the boards of our rink. Special thanks to Brian McKenzie, Alcide Pilon, Allan McCuaig, the Brunet brothers and Brian Joseph McDonald.

Alexander McIntosh dies

A well known resident of the Glen Robertson area, Alexander Donald Chisholm McIntosh died suddenly in Glengarry Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, November 8. Although he had not been in good health for the past few months his death at this time was unexpected and came as a shock to his family and friends.

He was born at Glen Robertson, 55 years ago, the son of the late Donald Alex McIntosh and his wife, Mary Jane Chisholm. A graduate of Alexandria High School, he had spent most of his life on the family farm.

He was a loyal friend and friendly personality and was well known in his neighborhood for his unpretentious acts of kindness. Well-read, he was an interesting conversationalist.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two sisters: Kathleen, Mrs. Harvey Piche, and Pearl, Mrs. Jerome Lalonde, both of the Montreal area. He also leaves five nephews and one niece to whom he was very devoted.

The funeral was held on Friday, November 11th, in St. Martin of Tours Church, Glen Robertson, where Rev. Bruno Pilon offered the mass. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Stuart MacDonald, Lucien Larocque, R. D. Chisholm, Gerald Larocque, Allen Piche and Norman Lalonde.

Scouts to hold annual banquet

On Friday, November 18th, at 6:30 p.m., the 32nd Annual Dinner and Meeting of the Cornwall District Council Scouts Canada, will be held at St. Therese Church Hall, 13th St. West, in Cornwall.

During the evening, a film slide presentation will be shown on the life and history of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the scout and guide movements.

Also four adult leaders, Cathy Caron, Anne Stewart, Colin Marshall and Alvin Graham, will receive their wood badge scarfs beads and parchment, in recognition of adult leader training at the provincial level.

Ken Taylor will preside over the annual meeting with Ray Brunet, presenting the results of the Nominating Committee of elected officers for 1977-78 district council executive.

HYDRO TURF
R.R.1 Alexandria, Ont. Tel. (613) 525-3717

Production Cost
$22.00 per ton

"THE GRASS MACHINE" is an environmentally controlled grower of young green grass which produces a new crop every day. Seed is simply poured into trays and, during the 7-day growing cycle, automatically sprinkled with nutrient laden water on a pre-set time clock schedule. One pound of seed normally produces 6-8 pounds of grass, at approximately $22 a ton. Spring grass is the most efficient means of feeding livestock, poultry, dairy herds and any other herbivorous animals because it provides most of the known vitamins, minerals, protein, hormones and enzymes necessary to good health. The grass is produced, thereby providing the animal with vitally important grass juice elements. In most cases, roughage is the only other feed requirement.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Recently that knowledgeable and active sportsman, Cameron McCormick, stated to a News reporter relative to Ourtown's Junior "C" hockey club, quote, "We are going to have one heck of a team this year now that the football season is coming to an end and the players will be able to concentrate on hockey." You are so right Cameron—"after the football season."

We have been wondering out loud, the past few weeks, on two points. Why start the hockey season so soon for Junior "C" and the minors? Both competing with high school football as players and fans. And how come minor hockey bureaucrats in Ottawa tell small boys in the Glens where they can and cannot play hockey? An absurd situation. This line of thought, we discovered, is held by many minor hockey fans especially some parents.

Herewith is a consensus of opinions after several discussions of both matters. We have been told, and we agree, that it is ridiculous to see young boys, immature teenagers, lugging hockey equipment to an arena to play in summer September weather. And the same goes for Indian summer October sunshine. Equipment that, in many cases, weighs half as much as the boy does. An over $200 investment, plus, paid by his parents.

Why rush the season? Small boys, for those eight weeks in the fall, should be throwing a football around or playing "shinny" with a tennis ball and sport store nets on a parking lot or driveway.

One observer told us, "Those boys and their parents are only pawns shelling out ice time money to help defray expensive overhead arena operation costs."

Another, "If the juniors, intermediates and "old timers" wish to practise and play hockey in September and October that is their prerogative. Don't rope in boys who are too young to stand the physical strain from September until April. Cut those two early months off hockey costs by starting now, right after school football, and that should give parents a 25% reduction in costs that they, and taxpayers, will welcome."

In contrast to this custom of late, let us recall earlier eras when boys started in late November or early December on natural ice. Two of Alexandria's better skaters and hockey players were the late Dan Laperle and "Plouffe" Taillefer. Their ice time was the frozen pond, Alexandria Lake to you, on second hand skates due to finance. In Martintown, Williamstown, Lancaster and Glen Nevis, among the skillful skaters on the Raisin and Beaudette rivers were Ernie Beckstead, the Sullivans, "Buster" McGillis and Archie MacDonald. There was Maxville's Benny Villeneuve and from Greenfield "Little" Alex and Johny Hughie MacDonald, in the same class.

How much skating and school hockey did Ralph MacSweyn receive in September and October? And he made the "Big Leagues." Willie Terry was assessed by no less an authority than Punch Imlach to be the best skater in the Major Junior OHA when he played with St. Catharines Black Hawks. Willie Terry, like all the foregoing, developed skating legs, not in September and October, but onward from the first heavy November frosts.

Any student that tries to combine high school football, hockey and his studies successfully, just can't do it. That is a mental and physical impossibility. Why ask them to do it? What's the big rush?

Now that the football season is over, these gridiron boys who were a credit to their school and the Glens, now can concentrate on two obligations. Classroom work and hockey. Cameron, we feel certain you and your associates will be proud of their efforts. This is their time, and for small boys, too, to play hockey, not September and October. Bear in mind this opinion is shared by many.

Now the second issue. We were really shocked, a few weeks ago, to learn that minor hockey officials, headed by veteran athlete and sportsman, Morlin Campbell, had to go to Ottawa and with hat in hand and on bended knee, beg for permission to organize and play Junior "C" hockey. Then, also to learn, that small boys living on the east side of Main street (Highway 34) in Green Valley couldn't play with their chums on the west side due to a ruling by Ottawa dictators directing east side boys to Alexandria and west side to Williamstown. The same ruling in Greenfield and Dunvegan. East side to Alexandria, west side to Maxville. That's asinine enough but here is the most absurd of all. Three boys of an English-speaking St. Isidore family, due to social association and the language barrier, wish to play hockey in Maxville. The Ottawa overlords say "No."

What in the world is minor hockey coming to anyway? This writer served a number of seasons on the ODHA "in the good old days." There were some great verbal battles at the Chateau Laurier meetings. But I'll tell you this much, no Ottawa group ever told the "Valleys" how to operate their hockey leagues.

It was tough enough for, especially Lochiel farm-sportsmen, to be given a grant to build the Quigley cheese factory, then by a bureaucratic edict forced to close the factory thus ending the career of small farm operators. But telling you where our youth can and cannot play hockey is pulling the bottom log out from under our democracy that we once cherished so much after two World Wars fighting to save it.

SCHOLAR AND ATHLETE

In another column there is an interesting and well deserved tribute on the exemplary conduct in the classroom, as a student, in athletics and as a youthful Cornwall citizen of a Glen's grandson—Rory McCormick.

Guest speakers at athletic functions and sport writers invariably direct to students, boys and girls, to be active in the sport of their choice, endeavor to attain success but not at the expense of their studies and character. It is pleasing to note the great number of our youth who adhere to those expressions of experience.

What is so unique about our subject, Rory McCormick, is the fact that although still a teenager he has combined all the factors of his family tree into one compact achievement as recognized by the Cornwall Optimist Club last week, And, incidentally, the Freeholder pages last Friday added football CCVS co-captain Rory McCormick holding high the league championship trophy after defeating St. Lawrence.

First there is the physical stature and features of both grandparents. As an athlete Rory is equally at home on the gridiron, basketball court and golf course. This is all direct inheritance. His grandfather, "Blue Room Joe" MacDonald was a life-time sportsman. He was responsible for Alexandria breaking the lacrosse barrier, and playing soccer in the newly organized Glengarry soccer league away back in 1924. You name the sport and Joe MacDonald was a booster. He once skipped an eight-ender at the Cornwall Curling rink. Rory's other grandfather, Frank McCormick, could play inside home on any lacrosse team in any era.

Rory's father, Ian McCormick, was an accomplished lacrosse player, too, and knew his way up and down a soccer field. Rory's mother, the late Elaine MacDonald, was also a keen sports fan. Once while a writer at the Standard-Freeholder, she assisted the sports editor by covering a triple header wrestling bout at Water Street arena.

Ian McCormick and Elaine MacDonald were both brilliant students at Alexandria High School. Right J. T.? (Smith that is, not Hay). And now Rory McCormick is the progeny of all those characteristics, plus the ability to emulate his grandmother, Mrs. Agnes MacDonald (Sandy Ranald) at the piano by playing one of the classics or "Scottish Soldier."

This is Rory's graduating year at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School. His sights are lofty. (Where did you read that expression before?). His next academic challenge will be at the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall.

Rory McCormick is our grandnephew. And there is another side to his youthful success story. In the evening of the day we buried Rory's mother, we lost our only son. Rory McCormick from infancy, at that time, has helped greatly to fill the vacuum in our life. The moral of the coincidence is, that regardless of how heavy a cross in life may be to bear, Divine Providence always has a way of helping to lighten the weight.
