Fire levels Lancaster warehouse

Fire ripped through a storage barn owned by Lancaster Lumber and Fuel Monday night.

The building and over $20,000 worth of building supplies were destroyed.

The blaze, of unknown origin, broke out around 10:10 and the dry lumber ignited quickly.

Fifteen firefighters battled to keep the flames from destroying a line-up of railway cars next to the building.

The men also succeeded in keeping the wind-swept blaze from reaching the office and large fuel oil tanks about 100 feet to the west.

Despite six streams of water being kept on the fire, two metal boxcars began to smoulder.

The Montreal to Toronto CN passenger train was held up for half an hour until it could be determined that no damage had been done to the tracks.

Thieves hit school again

The third break-in in two months has been reported at Glengarry District High School.

Alexandria Police say the thieves broke into food coolers over the weekend, stole the money and also tried to break into the gym.

Tagwi also suffered a similar break-in recently, Chief Sylvio Cleroux said, and there may be a connection.

The thieves go after such things as cameras, stereos, and cash.

Cleroux believes the school board should consider installing a burglar system at GDHS.

"It's getting to the state when the board will have to look at installing alarms or some type of security at the school."

Traffic solution endangers trees

Glen Sandfield residents learned yesterday that the solution to their traffic problem could mean the removal of the hamlet's stately maple trees.

In her column this week, Lorna Chapman outlines the results of a meeting between county council and a Glen Sandfield delegation requesting that a third stop sign be erected at the crossroads in Glen Sandfield.

County Engineer Donald MacDonald said three-way stops are not acceptable and may even be illegal because "if one stream of traffic is halted, so must the other directional flow," Mrs. Chapman reports.

It was suggested by Lochiel Reeve Alex McDonald that the hill be lowered about 18 inches to improve visibility at the intersection. This would cost an estimated $50,000. A stop sign is about $32.

Regrading the shoulders of the road would mean the elimination of about 10 mature maple trees, however, Mrs. Chapman notes.

The United Counties Roads Committee will study the alternatives.

Pact signed by teachers

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education and its Secondary School Teachers, have both ratified all provisions of a Collective Agreement to be effective September 1, 1978 through August 31, 1979.

The terms of settlement call for a 6% increase in teacher's and principal's salaries with a corresponding increase in allowances for Positions of Responsibility, allowances for related trade experience and allowances for extra degrees.

In addition, the parties have reached agreement on an overall method for classifying and compensating persons who are placed in positions of leadership and supervision.

Environment Ministry still probing slippery problem

For the past six years Mrs. Hilda Tobin has been living with the smell of oil permeating her Alexandria house, but by use of a technique new to Eastern Ontario the Ministry of the Environment has finally pinpointed what it thinks is the cause.

Using tagging agents developed in Ontario government research laboratories, the source of the oil in the widow's home has been tentatively traced to a 2,000 gallon tank at St. Joseph's school on Lochiel street.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Environment, Jack Pruner, explained that the oil seems to have a well-defined passageway from the school to the house five blocks away. This is suggested by the small two-day time lapse from the introduction of the agents into the St. Joseph's tank to their appearance in Mrs. Tobin's basement.

Maurice Girard, spokesman for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education said that if the tank is found to be leaking it will be replaced. It is the same tank that was in the school when the board took it over in 1969.

If the St. Joseph's tank is found to be the problem, a long and very expensive hunt will be over. The Ministry of Environment spent about $7,000 to rebuild the Tobin basement in the first effort at stopping the leakage.

In an attempt to pin down the exact source of the oil, an extra $15,000 was spent by the ministry. Although Lanthier's Bakery was suspect for a while, the oil could not be stopped, so the search continued, finally ending up at the school.

Mrs. Tobin was the first person to be compensated by the province for an environmental nuisance.

Media meet suggested

SD&G County Roman Catholic Separate School Board has decided to meet with representatives of the media to discuss methods of improving communication.

The suggestion was made to the board last week by its goodwill committee which met with media people to discuss the same topic about a year ago.

"It was quite interesting and revealing," Trustee Aime Marcoux said.

Trustee Terry Wheeler, who is the board's other representative on the goodwill committee, agreed the meeting was "enlightening."

"We wished at the time that the whole board could have been there."

The proposal for a second meeting will be passed to the newly-elected board early during the new term. Since most of the incumbent trustees were returned, the suggestion is expected to be followed.

The past board was subject to heavy criticism for its lack of openness with ratepayers. The need to improve communications with the public was one of the priorities listed when the board adopted the management-by-objectives concept a few months ago.

Director of Education Charlemagne Lamarche said the media meeting is only one of the many ways being considered to improve communication.

A suggestion by Marcoux that the media meeting be held in closed session was turned down by the majority of trustees after it was pointed out that meeting in-camera would defeat the purpose of the gathering.

Board argues over religion vs buck

SD&G County Roman Catholic Separate School board had to choose between religion and the dollar last week.

The dollar won.

A couple of months ago, the board invited banks to bid on school board business. For the past 10 years, the Bank of Montreal has held the contract without any tenders being called.

Seven banks responded to the ## Group opposing chicken houses

A group of petitioners has asked Lancaster Township Council to block a chicken operation from being established on the west edge of Glen Norman.

Richard Vaillancourt, who already has a chicken operation east of the general store recently purchased 50 acres of land west of the crossroads on the north side of the Ninth of Lancaster.

He told The News Monday he plans to erect a brooding house on the new property in the Spring and convert it to a laying barn in the future.

Vaillancourt said he plans to eventually transfer his Curry Hill chicken operation to Glen Norman.

Township Clerk Mike Samson confirmed that a petition was presented to council last week by John Denner asking that no chicken operations be permitted within a one-mile radius of Glen Norman due to the odor originating from such enterprises.

The request was subsequently modified to a half-mile radius.

Denner said yesterday, the group is concerned that two hen houses could mushroom into several over the years.

"What we're worried about is the future. There is no law to stop someone from filling those 50 acres with hen houses," he explained.

"Everyone is aware of the odor problem from chicken operations and we are also very concerned about the possibility of a large chicken operation in our area and how our land values are going to be affected."

Vaillancourt notes that the property is zoned rural and a chicken operation is a legitimate use of the land.

"It's a farming area," Vaillancourt said. If people move to a rural area, "they're bound to get a country smell."

He pointed out that he has always maintained high standards at his existing operation and kept odors down.

"It's 10 years that I'm here and you've never seen a pile of manure around my barn," he noted. He says he trucks the manure away.

"My mind is made up. I bought the land and I'm going to build there," Vaillancourt said. "I don't want to have a problem with my neighbors, but I want my rights, too."

Township Clerk Mike Samson confirmed that a chicken operation is a legal use under the township's zoning by-law and said it is doubtful council would want to amend the by-law to restrict rural operations in the area in question.

Denner said he was in touch with the Eastern Ontario Health Unit and the Ministry of Environment, both of which indicated the matter was out of their jurisdiction.

He said he will continue to press council for some action, noting that he has almost 100 per cent support on the petition, endorsed by 27 families.

"We've got 100 per cent support from the people within a half mile and 95 per cent support from people within the mile.

"To my knowledge, there have only been three families who wouldn't sign."

He has been unable to contact two families who only reside here part-time.

He noted that Glen Norman's population has practically tripled since he moved to the area four years ago. Since the settlement is becoming a built-up area, it should be protected as a residential centre, he argued.

Keep grants, council urges

Roxborough Township Council has asked that the federal-provincial grant program for farm drainage not be terminated as scheduled on March 31.

At its Thursday meeting, council asked that "the federal Minister of Agriculture and the provincial Minister of Agriculture and Food be requested to extend the ARDA grant for a further period of at least three years.

ARDA is the program under which the grants are awarded. The federal government has stated it will stop contributing to the program as of March 31.

Municipal drains not completed by that date will not be eligible for ARDA funding.

Currently, the scheme apportions costs one-third to each level of government and one-third to the property owners.

The Roxborough motion notes that "improved agricultural drainage has contributed substantially to higher agricultural productivity in this municipality" and "the continuation of a program of drainage improvements is essential to the continued improvement of agricultural productivity in this municipality."

The council also contends that it is unfair to cut the grants off on March 31 when drainage schemes approved by ARDA under the old rules will not be complete.

"This municipality has sought and received confirmation of the ARDA grant eligibility for every municipal drainage works presently in process prior to appointing of the engineer," the motion notes and "this municipality has initiated projects which will not be completed at March 31, 1979."

The township is sending a copy of its resolution to the municipalities in the 11 Eastern counties which are currently eligible for ARDA grants asking them to concur with the motion.

The motion is also being sent to area MPs and MPPs.

Expansion is planned

The Township of Roxborough has decided to enlarge its maintenance office and parts room.

Council authorized its road superintendent Thursday to contact a contractor to carry out the work.

Man gets 90 days on driving charge

A 22-year-old Cornwall man was sentenced Monday in Alexandria Court to 90 days in jail on a charge of criminal negligence after Judge Percy Bergeron described the incident in question as the worst driving he had heard of during his 43 years on the bench.

Larry Markell, who was arrested after a high speed Ontario Provincial Police chase in Maxville on the day of the Highland Games, will serve the time on weekends in order that he can keep his job. He can also spend Christmas with his family.

He was also placed on probation and received the mandatory three-month suspension of his driver's license plus an additional two years suspension.

Markell pleaded guilty to the charge.

Evidence showed that Markell's car reached speeds of 100 kilometres per hour on village streets August 5 and several people had to jump out of his path.

Police fired seven shots at the car's tires. Four connected but the tires did not deflate. After chasing the car at speeds reaching 130 kilometres per hour, police stopped it near Monkland.

Court testimony showed Markell had been drinking heavily prior to the incident.

At one point, a policeman was dragged by the car when he attempted an arrest.

Defence counsel Wayne McDermid asked for leniency on the grounds it was Markel's first serious brush with the law and the youth's father, Lloyd Markell, told the court the events on the day in question snowballed and his son panicked.

Crown Attorney Don Johnson called the episode "nothing short of atrocious."

He said he had never even seen in movies which glorify reckless driving, the kind of conduct displayed by Markell.

Johnson pointed out that Markell had previously been convicted of public mischief in connection with an erratic driving incident at Morrisburg. The accused was serving probation at the time of the Maxville chase.

The Crown asked for a severe sentence as a deterrent. Johnson said Markell was too immature to be trusted with a car.

A $10 door prize was won by Mrs. Roland Menard of Alexandria.

A handmade quilt made by the members for a raffle was won by Mrs. H. Rivet of Glengarry Nursing Home.

A delicious lunch was served along with the traditional Ste. Catherine taffy.

Board argues over religion . . .

Board's tender and a low bid of $52,023 was presented by the Royal Bank of Canada. That bank, however, does not pay its taxes to the separate school system.

The only two banks which support separate schools are the Banque Canadienne Nationale and the Provincial Bank. The BCN submitted a bid of $53,376 and the Provincial, $53,577.

"If things are that close, maybe we should encourage banks that support us," Trustee Lindy Latour commented.

He suggested the decision be postponed.

"We're so often criticized on radio and in the paper for doing stupid things," he said. "I'm wondering if we shouldn't delay this vote until we get more feedback from everyone."

His motion for a delay was defeated 5-4 with Latour voting against his own suggestion.

He then sponsored a new motion that the board give its business to the two banks supporting the separate school system.

He said the two banks could have alternating roles each year.

"The reason I'm suggesting this," Latour explained, "is because we often wonder why we don't get the support from business and industries." He also said he was putting forward the motion "to get discussion going."

Trustee Terry Wheeler said the proposed policy would be "dangerous" because both banks could charge whatever they wanted with a guarantee of getting the board's business.

"We have to make sure the banks are competitive," he said. "Otherwise, we're giving them a licence to steal."

Latour agreed the banks would have to be "reasonably competitive."

Trustee Ron Bergeron warned that the board would set a precedence with Latour's motion.

"We'll see all businesses add two per cent to their bids because they are separate school supporters," he said.

"It would be like signing a blank cheque," Trustee Pierre Landry agreed.

Director of Education Charlemagne Lamarche said that although the separate school system is supported out of conviction, "we have to act business-like."

Latour asked to withdraw his motion but seconder Yollande Charron refused to agree.

Latour's motion was defeated 7-2 with only Latour and Charron supporting it.

"I'm voting for it but only because I made the motion," Latour said. "I'm against it."

The board supported a motion by Trustee Art Cardinal to give the contract to the lowest bidder.

Only Charron was opposed.

Chief quits

Mary Angela David, the first and to date only woman ever to act as chief of the St. Regis Indian Band Council has resigned. Mrs. David, housewife and mother of seven, cited a lack of unity among the 12 members of the council as her reason for stepping down.

Local horse shows well in Toronto

Glengarry bred and born Pegasus Playboy recently placed fourth in both of his classes at the Canadian National Dressage Championships held at Picov Equestrian Centre in Toronto.

Playboy was ridden by his owner and trainer, Susan Rothgeb. The pair have been showing together since 1973 and have been consistent winners.

The dark half-bred stallion has been the Eastern Ontario Champion in his class since 1975 and was champion for Quebec also in 1976. The 1978 winners have not yet been announced.

The horse is one of about 20 horses at the Rothgeb Farm on the Seventh Concession of Lancaster.

Mrs. Rothgeb, who has been riding for 29 years, owns the farm with her husband Bob. They met at a horse show in New Mexico, U.S.A., where they were growing up. She had the good fortune while there to ride in the 1958 U.S. Olympic trials.

In the last five years, Susan has been instructed by masters in England and Germany and the Rothgebs brought two horses from Germany in 1976.

Next year Susan and Playboy will be showing in the first level of International competition and will regularly ride against members of the Canadian Olympic team.

Playboy was born on the farm of John Peters, Lancaster. He is half Thoroughbred, half French Coach and displays the characteristics of both breeds. A younger, full brother to Playboy is now showing in the lower levels and promises to do just as well for his Trois-Rivieres owners as "The Champ" has done for Susan.

No match for Ottawa team

by Gerry Simpson

In all things, success depends upon previous preparation, wrote Confucius. Viewing the Junior Glens' record this past week, they apparently have many weaknesses. The skill level is on a down-hill run, the familiar maxim of "united we stand, divided we fall" is most applicable here.

Last Tuesday night the Ottawa Canadians improved on their first-place standing. The very highly organized Ottawa teams with much emphasis on winning, and with drill-sergeant type coaches really put pressure on the "little ones," Navan, St. Isidore and our Glens. It's hard to be competitive. With the Canadians ahead 3-2 after two periods, and our Glens playing excellent hockey, it can be irritating and frustrating when the boys in the black and white stripes start coaching—penalties, more penalties—all for our Glens.

The most common remark is that inconsistent refereeing from game to game confuses players and coaches. There is no doubt that consistency would silence the protests of players and coaches. It must be admitted that every referee is capable of mistakes. Some are good, but none is perfect. Scoring for the Glens Laurie McRae, Luc Poirier and Glen McDonell and the Jr. Glens top marksman, Luc Poirier will be sidelined with a leg injury for two weeks. Final score, Canadians 7, Glens 3.

Basically players need to be motivated by a powerful sense of dedication, determination and self-sacrifice to achieve success.

In addition to losing the game 6-2 to Ottawa Golden Knights, the Glens will likely be playing without the services of Luc Poirier and Leo Seguin with injuries, but also could be without a few of their performers. League officials will be passing down suspensions in the near future, also the Glens will be tagged with league fines.

We have one formula most clubs would like to have, our flow of fans who try to generate maximum interest and support. Waken up Glens!

Scoring for the Glens was young Rookie Mike Crack giving 100% and Capt. Yvan Desautels. Final score Ottawa 6, Glens 2. Coach McDonald was especially pleased with Crack, Campbell and Lajoie. With Coach MacDonald behind the bench was the Char-Lan Jr. C Coach Wendall Lafave. Wendall played on the Glens first team, ten years ago and had the first assist on a Peter Filion goal against Guy Lafleur's team in Thurso.
Thurso.

Also at the game Friday night was ex-Glen Raymond Bourdon, talking with GM Bill Gebbie.

Our guests this Friday at 8:30 p.m., St. Isidore Eagles who are big favorites with the fans.

Junior C Glens have loss and tie

by Raymond McDonald

On Wednesday, November 22, Alexandria Jr. C Glens travelled to Finch Arena to play Finch 76s. In a game that started off fast, Alexandria was able to notch the first goal on a tip-in by big John MacSweyn, assisted by John MacLeod and Mike Sullivan. With 32 seconds remaining in the first period, John MacLeod scored unassisted.

Finch opened the scoring in the second period which accounted for the only goal in this period.

At the end of the second period, Coach McCormick told the boys to be careful of penalties and he stressed to them to keep skating hard. The team then opened the scoring in the third period on a goal by Richard Cholette assisted by Jim Wightman and Paul Depratto. Finch came back by scoring two unassisted goals against Raymond Lefebvre, who played a good game in goal. Alexandria had to settle for a tie.

On Saturday night Alexandria hosted Crysler. In a game that featured a hard-hitting contest, Alexandria came up short in goals.

There wasn't any scoring in the first period. Shortly into the second, Alexandria was able to score on a fine passing play by Carter MacDonald and Bradley Gagnon to Lyle Ross who made no mistake putting it into the goal. Crysler was able to score two goals on John MacDonell, before John MacSweyn was able to tie the game on a solo effort.

With four minutes left in the third period Crysler went ahead 3-2. With less than one minute remaining, Alexandria pulled the goaler in favor of an extra attacker. The line of Cholette, Depratto and Gareau came close to tieing the game before a long shot by Crysler found the open goal. Final score Crysler 4, Alexandria 2.

Two recent members of Alexandria Jr. C are Mike Sullivan and Scott Hay.

Alexandria will be playing two games this coming weekend, travelling to Crysler on Friday and hosting Embrun on Saturday, December 2.

Junior bowlers win in Cornwall Zone

by Marlene MacDonald

Linda Ramsay, Elaine Beriault, Nathalie Binette, Norma Larocque, Daniel Dubois and David Lacombe will now be heading for the third step in bowling in the Ontario Winter Games. This will be held on December 3 in Trenton. Last week they defeated four teams in Cornwall in the zone roll-off. Also participating in Cornwall as a senior team were: Joanne Menard, Paulette Paradis, Maryse Binette, Wayne Lapierre, Denise Dubois and Malcolm MacDonald Jr. They came in third in their division.

Our program director Bernie Menard has chosen for the month of October Sherry Thomas and Denis Dubois as bowlers of the month.

Luck was really with Sherry Thomas this week, she also has the high single of 154 and the high triple of 337. Dominic Brunet has the high single of 137 and the high triple of 392. Pretty good Bantams don't you think?

In the junior division we have David Lacombe with a 244 single and a 626 triple. For the girls we have Linda Ramsay with a 201 single and a 557 triple.

Last but not least, is Jacques Martin for the seniors with a high single of 279 and a high triple of 596. Joanne Menard has the high single of 262 and high triple of 594 for us girls.

Maxville Jr. C edges Crysler

by John Marjerrison

Friday night Maxville strengthened its hold on first place with a come-from-behind 4-3 victory. After only six minutes of play the home team had built up a 3-0 lead. Coach Scott changed goalers putting Peter Wensink in goal with the hope of awakening his team. It proved very successful as Peter shut out Crysler the rest of the night.

The first period ended with Crysler holding a 3-0 lead. Maxville came back in the second and tied the score. (Norman Bankley got two goals and Darren Rolland one).

In the rugged third period, Brian Wensink scored the winning goal with only six minutes left to play. It was an entertaining fast, and well played game.

Two popular players on the Highlander team Kelly Kavik and Brian Wensink are practicing with the Cornwall Royals. Good luck to them.

This weekend looks like an exciting weekend of hockey. Our Highlanders play Osnabruck on Saturday at 8 p.m. and on Sunday at 2 p.m. we face off against Avonmore.

Coaches Scott and Blaney hope they can maintain their home-ice unbeaten streak.

Child abuse discussed

by Beryl Bruce

The Executive of Seaway Valley Presbyterial was held at the Apple Hill United Church on Nov. 14. Mrs. Lillian Allison opened the meeting with her usual warm and friendly welcome and made mention of all the lovely churches in Seaway Valley.

The morning worship was conducted by Avonmore UCW and a warm welcome given us by Mrs. Emily Pender from the Apple Hill UCW. There was 21 local presidents and a full executive in attendance.

Greetings were sent to the meeting from the Brockville UCW.

The Mission and Service objective not yet reached so keep up the good work. A couple of ideas could be a Christmas Eve collection for M&S or collections from rallies used for this purpose. A good book to read, "Live Better on Less."

A special project could be arranged by UCW to help the Drama Fund. A question was asked, "What would we like to see at the rallies?"

Afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Ann Webber, convener of Church in Society. Topic: Child Abuse as a launching for International Year of the Child, (IYC). A very interesting workshop was held, everyone taking part in groups of six.

A social worker from the Cornwall area, Miss Mary Miller, told of ways and means how the Children's Aid Society could help with abused children. Call the representative stating the case at hand and your name is kept anonymous. This talk was followed with the Film, "Child Abuse." It is unbelievable what children have to endure in some homes.

A poem was read by Ann Webber, "I was so cross with my children." Thanks was extended by Carol MacIntosh of Maxville for success of day. Rev. Wendy Bullock closed with prayer and benediction.

Alexander News

by Kathleen Lowe

The second meeting of the recently formed Alexander School CPTA met on Monday, November 20 in the gymnasium of the school. It was opened with prayers led by Father Leo MacDonell, after which Father said a few words giving full support to the efforts of the CPTA.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Lorna Picher.

A motion was passed to send a letter to the town council to see about getting a school crossing guard on Main Street. A survey will be taken by the teachers to determine the number of children actually crossing Main Street.

We are happy to note that the repairs have been made to the gymnasium of the Alexander School.

Joe O'Neill spoke on behalf of the Association of Catholic Parents (ACP). The first annual meeting of the ACP will be held on November 30 in Cornwall at the Sacred Heart School at 8 p.m. All ratepayers of the separate school system are urged to attend.

The importance of bringing back an old-fashioned Christmas concert was discussed. The teachers have agreed to co-operate fully. Each class will perform a number. A definite date was not set but the Friday afternoon before school is finished for the holidays has been suggested.

An interesting film in The Human Journey series was shown entitled "The Early Years."

Afterwards, a lunch was served which gave the parents and teachers a chance to get better acquainted.

The old mill stream

by Anna Margaret

Mr. and Mrs. George Leeming have moved from Eigg Road to the First of Kenyon where they have opened a convenience store near the Mobile Home Park.

Ernie and Georgette Etherington are making a quick comeback following the fire in the Cosy Tavern. They have been busy remodelling and will be re-opening on Friday night.

Duncan A. McDonald, Lancaster, attended the American Concrete Institute's Annual Conference in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Campeau, have sold their property where they farmed just west of North Lancaster for the past 25 years. It has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Josef Keusch of Switzerland who have taken up residence there with six of their nine children. The neighbors held a party for the Campeaus prior to their departure. "We sure had wonderful neighbors," say the couple, " it was one of the reasons we disliked leaving the farm." Nice isn't it, their neighbors on the adjoining farm, the Jack McDonells, said they were sorry to see them leave for the same reason. Farmers have a great appreciation of good neighbors. Just so the couple would not forget their fine herd of Holstein bossies, they were presented with a miniature cow and calf replica, in addition to a purse and "roses".

The Campeaus are residing in the Chretien home on the Johnson Road and will be building their own home, come spring.

Mike Rochon has taken over as manager of Hope's Sporting Goods in Alexandria. Mike, wife Dianna and daughter Carol have moved here from Manotick and are residing on Kincardine Street.

The Glengarry Baton Twirlers are willing to entertain at nursing homes or concerts or wherever there is a demend, says teacher Sandra Ruest of Lancaster. Just give her a call.

The "Couple et Famille" group are busy with local projects. Their December job will be to erect the Christmas manger at Sacred Heart Church.

'Peace' theme of meeting

by Mrs. Graham Thompson

St. Andrew's United Church Women, Bainsville, held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Pearl Thompson.

An excellent program "The Things that Count" was prepared by Mrs. Lloyd McRae. 12 members responded to the roll call.

A thank-you letter from The Fellowship of the Least Coin was read thanking our organization for the donation we sent to them.

It was announced that a film strip "The Ministry of Light"was available from the Institute of the Blind. This should make an interesting program at some future time.

Cards were signed and sent to our sick and shut-ins.

Exchange of Christmas gifts was planned. All yearly reports were given and these are to be forwarded to the Presbyterian Executive by January 5.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Graham Thompson and she chose "Peace" as the theme.

A social half hour was spent over tea and lunch.

Missionary sister writes to parish

Aratuba, October 15, 1978

Dear friends of St. Raphael's Parish:

To-day was a day of much anxious listening to news broadcasts here. The sham elections for president of the country were marked for to-day and there was also a possibility of the results of the election of the new pope being announced. Since there has been recurring speculation that our own Cardinal-Archbishop of Fortaleza is a strong candidate for the latter office there was a lot of "expective" listening to the radio for sure.

As far as the elections for president are concerned this has been the first year since the military coup in 1964 that there has been any real publicity—voiced opposition to the military regime. What gave any hope for contestation was the internal rift among the military themselves and there was some feeling that their own internal discordance might have been their own undoing but as the results were announced this evening giving the military candidate a majority of 3 to 2 that hope has gone down the drain for now anyway.

Monday, Oct. 16th: I didn't get too far with my letter last night so will try once more. By now everyone is rejoicing over the election of the new non-Italian Pope. These are surely historical times with so much happening at once.

I believe that in other recent letters I have told you something of the land distribution problem here and the movement to dispossess the tenant farmers from the large fazendas, turning the latter into beef cattle-raising for the exportation of meat to the exterior.

This has many serious social repercussions in an area that is already poor in the production basic food supplies. By switching the production system the need for hand laborers is greatly reduced, leaving many who have lived on the land without a means of making a living or a place to go.

The most unjust part of all this is not only are these people dispossessed of the land but this is mostly being done without any regard for the law of retribution for their years of service and the benefits they have produced over the years such as clearing new land, buildings, etc. put up at their own expense. In our area of the parish we have been fortunate in that a lawyer very much concerned with this unjust state of the people, and being a very committed Christian, has given up a part of his private practice and has offered to take on the processing of these cases free of charge for the people of our parish. He comes to Aratuba once a month and has a meeting with the people pointing out to them their rights by law.

It seems unbelievable but most of the poor have no idea that they might contest some of these unjust situations. Since this lawyer is a man with a young family we of the parish feel that it would only be fair to offer to pay at least his travelling expenses. Not only does he come for the monthly meeting but also attends any request of the people which may arise urgently due to confrontations that many communities are making against the large fazendeiros on questions of land expulsion and frequently also cases of disputes over illegal rent rates etc.

In view of all the above detail we would like to propose to you that the money which you collect on your monthly mission Sunday for us be used to cover expenses of the lawyers transportation and legal fees which arise from his work for the processing of cases.

If you feel that this would be a valid use for the money collected there, I would make a further suggestion that the money which has been collected and which you have been holding to donate to me personally when I go home, be deposited in one sum into the Aratuba bank account in Toronto. This may be sent directly to Sr. Mary Deighan, 65 Clarendon Ave. who will make the deposit for us there and we can write a transfer cheque from here.

There is a certain urgency about this need and for that reason I suggest departing from the procedure which we had earlier agreed upon, that is to hold the money until I could personally receive it in Canada.

I hope that this proposal makes sense to you, it is certainly the most urgent need of the people right now and seems to be consistent with the church's stand on justice and human rights at this time.

Once again, may God bless you for your interest and generosity, your prayers and concern for the suffering in Aratuba.

With much love, (Sr.) Mae Janet.

EVERY DOLLAR COUNTS—Parish Council Treasurer Laurent Major donates his contribution to the monthly mission box in St. Raphael's Parish while Convener Mae Levert and CWL President Betty MacDonald wait to total the November donation. The parish has adopted the Brazillian parish of Aratua where Sister Maejanet MacDonell resides and parishioners who donate about $150 monthly to send, in the past three years have donated $6,139 to their sister parish.

Women's group hears guests

Mrs. Dorcas McDougall expressed a warm welcome on behalf of Group III to 38 members and visitors of Maxville and Moose Creek UCW as they met to celebrate their Fall Thankoffering meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 8 p.m. in the church.

She expounded upon the theme, "The Lord is Good," whereupon ladies repeated the UCW purpose.

The hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," was sung, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine McEwen at the piano.

The Bible reading from Psalm 100 was given by Mrs. Grace McEwen whereupon Mrs. Hazel McIntosh presented a meditative thought. Mrs. McDougall responded in prayer.

Two important highlights of this meeting centred around two guests from Lunenburg and Newington respectively. Mrs. Ruth Alguire was guest speaker, acting in her positon as regional vice president, Region 2, of Seaway Valley Presbyterial; Mrs. Elizabeth Beaudette was guest soloist opening this portion with the lovely piece, "It was Love."

She is recording secretary for Seaway Valley.

Following the offering, dedicated by Mrs. McDougall and Mrs. Hilda, McPhail, Mrs. Alguire spoke warmly of her experiences in her vice-presidential capacity, commenting also on "Festival of Faith" held Oct. 27-19 at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa.

She was thanked by Mrs. Jane Laing for sharing her message with us and ladies sang, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come."

The business portion of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Carolee MacIntosh and she reminded the nominating committee and all executive members to have reports ready for the December meeting on Dec. 5, Mrs. Marie Wilkes and Group II being in charge.

Correspondence from Mrs. Lillian Allison, president of Seaway Valley Presbyterial, Rev. Brian Geci, secretary of Presbytery, and Mrs. Elizabeth Beaudette, was read and Carolee gave a short resume of a day she spent in Montreal at a conference of interdenominational Christian ladies held at the Sheraton Mount Royal, "Women Alive."

She listed the following dates of interest:

Dec. 5, Christmas meeting Unit II.

She gave a brief treasurer's report, noting the sale of church calendars by Sunday School members. Subscriptions for the daily devotional, "These Days," may still be accepted and Campbell Soup labels, good used stamps, and Dominion Store tapes are required.

Good news of the safe arrival of 150 lbs. of good used clothing to Angola was received following the meeting—making the supply and welfare committee of November 1977 very happy. Members spent time, effort and substantial postage in this endeavor.

Mrs. Hazel McIntosh closed the meeting with a "Bible person" quiz whereupon lunch was served by Group III and an hour of fellowship enjoyed with our guests.

East Hawkesbury UCW learns ABCs

by Mrs. Neil Blair

Mrs. Lillian Alison, president of Seaway Valley Presbyterial United Church Women, was guest speaker for the East Hawkesbury UCW Thankoffering meeting. Mrs. Alison was introduced by Mrs. Howard Noble, regional vice-president, and thanked by Mrs. MacDonald Hay who presented a gift in appreciation.

Mrs. Alison said she was very pleased to be invited as she said, "There's a lot about Seaway Valley that I do not know about, but this can arranged." She spoke of the excellent rally at Cassburn.

She is confident that many friends will be made as the executive plan to visit as many UCW's during the year as possible. The next executive meeting will be held in Apple Hill, with a worshop in the afternoon on "Child Protection," where all area women are welcome.

Mrs. Alison centred her address on the A-B-C's of UCW's: "A" is for ability. Few of us were sent without a talent so let us tell about our talents and abilities. There is work for all of us. Some have more, some have less. Some may be gems in the kitchen, some are leaders, some smooth troubled waters and so on.

"B" is for business, use of our time. Are we too busy? Are we involved in too many organizations? We should sit down and sort out our priorities. Are we merely making money? We should ask: What is our purpose? Are we trying to do too much? What we are doing, is it enough?

"C" is for Christ. Where does Christ fit in? Where and when do we discuss our faith? Are we faithful in Bible study? Do we care for our elderly folk? Jesus said, "Lo I am with you always. Put your hand in the hand of God."

There was a record attendance from surrounding UCWs held in the church which was opened with music by Mrs. Lewis Fraser at this event. Kathy Fraser gave the call to worship. Eva Lohmann, president of East Hawkesbury UCW welcomed all. Mrs. David Fraser gave the thanks for the healing of quiet places and for the time to be quiet.

Mrs. Thomas Fraser read the scripture. Eva Lohmann gave a reading on the theme. Mrs. Gordon MacDonald led in prayer. The offering received by Mrs. Kenneth Fraser and Mrs. David Fraser was dedicated by Mrs. Donald W. MacLeod. Kathy Fraser favored with a solo.

Mrs. Noble gave a reading. Mrs. Thomas MacDougal led the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Thomas Fraser led in the blessing of the food.

An hour of fellowship was enjoyed where Mrs. Alison met the members. A delicious lunch was served by the East Hawkesbury ladies.

THE MUSIC GOES ROUND AND ROUND

St. Andrew's day has now become the longest day in history. Howard MacGillivray, the Optimist Pipe Band, Pipe Majors Robert Kitts, and J. T. MacKenzie, MacCulloch dancers and Brigadoons gave us a preview at the gala "Tartan Night." St. Andrew's Society, the merry Martintown Masons lead us up to the climax of the Glengarry West celebrations at the Glengarry Pipe Band's version of St. Andrew's day celebrations, a banquet and ball. Next week Angus R. and St. Finnan's hold an Alexandria St. Andrew's do at the palace.

Time for Glengarry to declare November 30 a national holiday. Likely, if you follow the St. Andrew's social trail you may be declared a national disaster. Certainly we are a long way from the shores of Galilee and the first disciple.

ANOTHER CEILIDH

Onagh Ross and the Martintown Horticulturists recently organized an excellent Glengarry ceilidh in the public school gym. The whole concert had the air of professionalism about it. Many of the performers gave us repeat versions of the tunes we had enjoyed so much at the National Arts Centre just a fortnight previous. Several of the audience appreciated the rapport which comes from being closer to the performers. To singers Robin Upton and Garry Matthews, pianist Jackie Denovan, dancers Donna Kemp and Laurie Condie, pipers Cathy Hay and Frances McCormick, accordionist Glen Cameron and MC Grant MacGillivray, thank you for an excellent show.

Grant MacGillivray presented a photograph of the public school students taken in 1896. Grant's mother was in it but wouldn't you know it, just missed me by the length of the Boer war.

WITH BIG BAND

Cathy Fraser was originally scheduled to be part of the show, but she has gone on to greater things. She is playing with Angus McKinnon's Toronto Scottish dance band. That very night she was playing in Washington.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

The new sign at Martintown's Grand Hotel replaces the one full of bullet holes in the "o" of Hotel. The new one says Pepsi sold here. North of Larry Lafave's hotel at Gerry Dicaire's King Edward in Apple Hill, the big outdoor sign boldly calls for us to "7-up."

JUST IN PASSING

Overheard at Mason's ball: A dapper tuxedoed male stated philosophically, "that married masons live longer." Then he turned away from his wife and whispered, "that could be true, or it may be that it just seems longer."

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE

Mrs. Renaud was commenting that the accounting in their hardware business was difficult; "sales just mean more purchases. It's a never ending circle."

KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

Elaine and Raymond Martel, South Branch Glengarrians, have just purchased a clothing business in Cornwall's Mall, called Boutique Migi. Ray claims that trips to Montreal to view the fashions on Montreal models is one of the extra responsibilities of a clothing store merchant.

NO MORE EXCUSES

Sam McLeod administers 'tractor therapy' every time his old whiplash injury begins acting up; shakes things back into place.

TRANSPLANT TOOK FIRM ROOT

The Pipe Band's St. Andrew's Ball was an enjoyable evening for all. Guest speaker Hughie Hutchinson, a transplant from Scotland stated that we should all feel the pride which he feels about things Glengarry. Glengarrians have combined things Scottish with things Canadian and achieved a new greatness. In other words, a living tradition.

He also stated that everyone is invited to participate in St. Andrew's celebrations whether Scottish by birth, transplant, inclination or even "Scotch" by absorption.

GUESS WHO

The pipe band and the MacCulloch dancers entertained us with a concert during the evening. Sylvester MacDonald, Twyla MacDonald, Clara MacLeod and the Clansmen provided the dance music with occasional skirls by Pipe Major J. T. MacKenzie. Marcel Lanthier, owner, had a dance, but you will never guess who his partner was.

Martintown WMS had novel theme

The November meeting of the WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, was held in the church. The convener, Mrs. Ray Markell chose "remembrance" as the theme for the program.

Mrs. Ian Kennedy presided and opened the meeting with a Remembrance Day thought, followed by a hymn and a prayer. The text word was help.

A letter of thanks for our contribution was received from the "Fellowship of the Least Coin," an aid program for the women of East Asia.

Mrs. Stuart Blackadder reminded members that the books will be closed November 30. Members reported 30 visits and 25 cards to sick and shut-ins. A nominating committee was appointed.

Miss Mae Munro read Psalm 121 and a meditation "The Battlefield Flower" was read by Mrs. Markell.

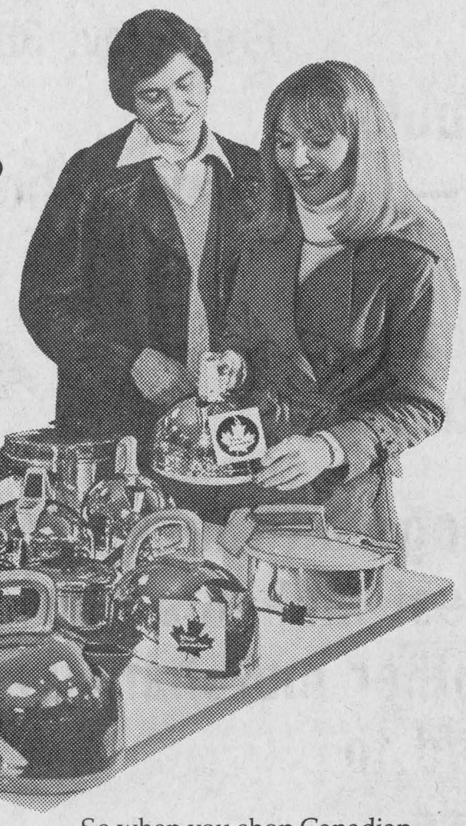
When you buy Canadian-made products, you create jobs in Canada.



That's why Ontario urges you to Shop Canadian.

Every time you buy something, look for 'Made in Canada' identification because when you buy products made in Canada, you create work for Canadians. For example...

- if you spend $500 on a Canadian-made sofa, you create about 3 days work for Canadians.
- if Canadians increase their purchases of Canadian-made clothes by only 5%, it would create more than 4,000 new jobs.

The more Canadian products we buy, the more jobs we create.

Your Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism wants you to know that buying Canadian products benefits all of us in Ontario; it boosts our economy and maintains our standard of living.

So when you shop Canadian, you'll be giving Ontario a more prosperous New Year.

HAD PARTY

Mrs. Marjorie MacCaskill and Mrs. Pat Heppleston were co-hostesses for a Sarah Coventry jewellery party at the Heppleston home.

Miss Sheila Lalonde of Ottawa was the demonstrator.

The ladies had a great time modelling the lovely jewellery. Afterwards tasty refreshments were enjoyed by the guests.

The hostesses donated their part of the proceeds to the local U.C.W.

Ed and Eve Broomhall have recently returned from a weekend in Toronto. They were among the 25 family members celebrating the eightieth birthday of her brother, Joseph Sedgewick, C.C., Q.C.

While there they both enjoyed the Grey Cup parade and of course Ed took in the game. They also took a little side trip to Eaton's department store to watch the kiddies visit Santa. Great fun!

ATTENDED CONCERTS

Mrs. C. Chapman is just back from four busy days in Montreal, where she enjoyed the Roger Whitteker concert at Place des Arts, Thursday evening with the girls, their escorts and Lynn Mulvaney.

Friday afternoon, as a guest of Centenary Senior Citizens Club, she attended another concert, this one by Roger Doucet and his charming wife at the Catholic High School, Verdun.

Friday evening she was pleased to join the Centenary Church Choir for a musical evening at the home of Margaret Cox, organist and choir director in Ville LaSalle.

County councillors hear delegation

Mrs. Betty Brown and Mrs. Margo MacRae accompanied this reporter to the county council meeting in Cornwall Monday. There were upwards of 30 gentlemen present when we were called in to present our request for a stop sign at the crossroads in Glen Sandfield.

Mr. George Crites welcomed us and gave us the floor. After introductions we proceeded to our reasons for appearing. They showed us the utmost courtesy and attention.

Donald MacDonald, county engineer, had a chart set up showing the intersection and topography of our road. He used this to demonstrate that all the legal stopping distances, etc. are in order.

He stated that three-way stop at a four-way intersection might even be illegal. It seems that if one stream of traffic must be halted so must the other directional flow.

After a question and answer session between the council, the delegates and the chief engineer, Alex McDonald stood up to suggest the lowering of the hill about 18 inches, placing on-coming vehicles in view of the crossroads, and thus eliminating the need for another stop sign.

It seems to be a logical answer.

However, the cost may run in the neighborhood of $50,000. The stop sign is about $32. The top of the hill would be used as fill to lift the level of the road bed south of the hamlet.

We felt we had been well received in Cornwall. However, it seems on second thought, we just may have to sacrifice our lovely old maple trees to progress and that's a shame, but they're not worth a life and new trees will grow again.

The matter has been referred to the United Counties Roads Committee for further discussion.

HAD GREAT VARIETY—The Jingle Bell Christmas sale sponsored by Glengarry Memorial Hospital Ladies Auxiliary had all kinds of goodies to offer. From left, Claire Dumouchel, Cordelia Trottier and Ruth Campbell are tempted to buy some of their own wares.

Auxiliary sale held

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Glengarry Memorial Hospital report that in spite of poor weather their second "Jingle Bell" sale was very successful.

Co-conveners for the project were the president, Pierrette Laflamme, and vice-president, Marion Armstrong.

The bake table loaded with tempting goods was in charge of Claire Dumouchel, Cordelia Trottier and Ruth Campbell, while the many lovely handmade articles donated by auxiliary members were displayed and sold by Joan Johnston and Carol Baxter.

The knitted afghan donated by Laura Stark was won by Fred Vander Haeghe.

Zoe Grant, who was in charge of the Tuck Shop reports that the experiment of having the Tuck Shop open Tuesday and Wednesday mornings from 10 o'clock until noon was very successful, and they hope to have it open Thursday mornings in the near future. Volunteers are needed, so if anyone can help, give Mrs. Grant a call.

There are still many lovely gifts and toys available, so if you are in town, or visiting the hospital, stop and look them over.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Brayton, Brockville, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stewart on Wednesday.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nesstead, Hawarden, Sask., visited Mr. and Mrs. Keith MacMaster.

Mrs. Gregor MacMaster accompanied Miss Annabel MacIntosh back to Ottawa on Sunday for the winter months.

On November 16 and 17, the Grades 5 and 6 of Judy Avery and Bill Franklin, Parkwood Hills School, Ottawa, visited the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Franklin. The visit was part of an environmental studies unit on Resource Management. In this particular instance the pupils were looking at fur harvesting techniques and also getting a taste of what life was like in bygone days. Food for the occasion consisted of Voyageur specials such as pea soup, beans, bannoch, and beaver stew, all prepared by the students themselves.

Highlights of the trip for some included sleeping in the bush, listening to the wolves and a visit to Angus McRae's trapping museum in Maxville. D. J. MacMaster's two nuisance beavers found their way to the stretching board and the stew pot.

Thanks was extended to all who helped make the trip a success.

Lung group starts drive

One in every four Canadians . . . some 5.8 million people . . . suffer from lung abnormalities according to the Lung Association, as it launched its 1978 Christmas Seal Campaign.

These abnormalities are due to emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis, tuberculosis and environmental pollution such as smoking and atmospheric pollutants from vehicular exhausts and industrial wastes.

This year's appeal officially opened on November 1 with a mailing of Christmas Seals to some 7,000,000 Canadians. Contributions to the 1977 Christmas Seal Campaign totalled $5,020,000. Eastern Counties Lung Association covering Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell have an objective this year of $30,000.

Lung disease extracts a staggering sum from the economy. The cost of hospital treatment alone is estimated at more than $400 million annually. Payments to physicians, the cost of drugs and other related charges are estimated to total another $100 million.

To this must be added the costs of lost time at work and school as well as human suffering. Respiratory diseases are the greatest cause of absenteeism of any health hazard and the cause of death for more than 19,500 Canadians in 1976, the most recent year for which figures are available.

Figures indicate that the fastest growing diseases in Canada are emphysema and chronic bronchitis with cigarette smoking responsible for 70% of those cases. The incidence of asthma also continues to rise and according to the latest available statistics, 3,000 new cases of tuberculosis were discovered in 1976.

Christmas Seals have been used to raise the necessary funds for this vital work since 1927 and are the sole method of support for the Lung Associations across Canada.

For further information please contact Eastern Counties Lung Assoc., Box 1521, Cornwall, Ont. Phone 932-4999.

"THE CHRISTMAS SEAL PEOPLE" SAY DON'T SMOKE FIGHT AIR POLLUTION

Comment on minerals

by Dennis McKnight,
Lecturer, K.C.A.T.

Beef and dairy producers have traditionally not given much attention to mineral supplementation. Today, however, it's a different picture. With the shift away from haycrops and a heavier reliance on corn there has been a corresponding shift in mineral requirements. Further, cattle are pushed more for high production which increases mineral requirements.

Many producers rely on feeding animals free choice and in some cases this may be the only supplemental source of mineral. Early research theorized that cattle had the ability to make proper mineral selection but a number of recent studies have indicated that cattle eat what is palatable. When cattle are allowed to consume free choice minerals there is a lot of individual variation; some consume minerals in excess of their requirements while others consume very little in spite of a dietary deficiency.

As many as 15 minerals are considered essential for cattle. Type and quantity of mineral required will depend on the type of feed, geographic location and field fertilizer program. The animal can't select from a variety of minerals adequately. This means that producers wanting to feed free choice must purchase or formulate a mineral mixture that is palatable enough to be consumed in the correct quantities. As this is an almost imposible task cattlemen should mix minerals in with a complete ration whenever possible.

If the animal can't choose the correct mineral needed then the operator is going to have to know which minerals are required to balance the ration. This means adding the right minerals at proper levels. Feed analysis is an integral part of this process. Beef and dairy producers should have their feeding programs checked occasionally and make the appropriate adjustments. Dairymen can use the Dairy Feed Advisory Service available through their local OMAF office. Beef producers can use the same feed analysis program and there should be a similar feed advisory service available in the near future.

The main point here is that cattle can't adequately meet their mineral requirements through free choice supplementation alone. Minerals should be added to the basal diet in the proper levels and then a salt-mineral mixture offered free choice to allow for variation between animals.

Leopard changing its spots?

Could it be that SD&G County Roman Catholic Separate School Board is about to turn over a new leaf? We certainly hope so and we definitely welcome a proposed meeting between school trustees and the media to clear up some of the outstanding differences over communication.

Media representatives and the board's goodwill committee met almost a year ago and had a good airing of views. When asked what they frankly thought of the board, the reporters responded in their own customary uninhibited style. Too much secrecy, the group unanimously said. One experienced journalist bluntly compared the trustees to the Ku Klux Klan in their clandestine methods of operation.

The consensus among the media people was that far too many decisions are made behind closed doors and without adequate public consultation.

After a lively discussion on ways of improving the flow of information, the meeting adjourned. That's the last we heard about the matter until the board's last meeting where it was agreed that another joint meeting should take place, this time involving the full board.

Ironically, the old attitude reared its head when Trustee Aime Marcoux suggested the meeting be held behind closed doors.

The majority of the trustees, however, realized that such an approach would defeat the very purpose of the gathering.

With a new board about to be inaugurated, the time for reviewing the communication problem could not be better. We heartily endorse the board's initiative and are looking forward to a vastly improved working relationship in the months ahead.

Amputees hurt by Post Office

We received a disturbing letter last week which brought home more than ever, the need to prohibit strikes in the Post Office. The letter was from the association representing war amputees in Canada. It read in part:

"When the postal service shut down on October 16 of this year, there were some 800,000 envelopes containing Christmas stickers from the war amps sitting in Canadian homes.

"Past experience would lead us to believe that most of these would have resulted in a donation being sent to us, in a pre-addressed, return envelope. In the two-week period which intervened, many of the envelopes were presumably filed away or ignored, possibly on the grounds that the donation would never reach us.

"As a result we find that our receipts for the current year are down by some $300,000—a sum which we badly need to finance our child amputee program and other projects."

The group is appealing to people to send their donations in now.

This is the type of destructive result that occurs when the postal system shuts down. Innocent people suffer. They suffer financially and even physically.

The postal situation has reached the point of absurdity with the union's latest demands, which have been widely publicized.

The Canadian Union of Postal Workers is asking for wages of $17,218 a year, for a 30-hour work week, compared to the average industrial wage of $13,622 (Canada Labor Gazette). After allowing for coffee breaks, lunch time, travelling time and other breaks, the actual time spent working is only 12 hours.

For a regular Sunday six-hour shift, involving 2½ hours work, a CUPW worker would receive $264 for that day only. If it was an overtime shift, he would earn $330 for that day.

In order to handle the same volume of mail, the Post Office would have to hire an additional 45,000 employees.

We realize that management has also had a role to play in bringing about the present situation. Obviously, many of the workers hate management so much that they are being totally unreasonable in their demands.

Just the same, turning the Post Office into a Crown Corporation will not ensure good mail delivery. The law establishing said corporation should outlaw strike action and replace that last resort with a fair system of compulsory arbitration.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

It's that time of year when careful hints have to be dropped if one is to be delightfully surprised on Christmas morning.

I've never learned to be very subtle. I say things like: "Did you see that beautiful little tea set in the window at the jewellers? I've always wanted one like that!"

"But Mother, that's such a tiny little set, the little jug wouldn't hold more than a tablespoon of cream and the teapot would hold about half a cup of tea," protested Number Three Daughter.

"Well I never had anything like that when I was a little girl, and there are times when I'd like to be a little girl again."

"Really, Mother!"

That's one of the troubles with being a mother, your kids keep reminding you that you are a grownup and even expect you to behave like one. All the time.

It's the same deal with the young sales clerks. They keep a jaundiced eye on mothers that come into the stores and try to play with the Bugs Bunnies and Gorgeous Georges and before we get to have any fun at all they are asking us if we want to buy those little furries for our grandchildren. If we don't, they try to steer us to the rocking chair department with the hint that we have probably had more than we were able to handle that day. We likely did.

Shopping is not one of my favorite pastimes. Except at Christmas. Somewhere a long time ago, I read that gifts should always be the kind one would like to keep for oneself. This means there is no "gift" expression in what one gives to a rummage sale.

Of course if one wants to get some mileage out of the love-your-gift idea, one can start the shopping early and read the book, or play with the toy for a while, before giving it. This is why the likes of myself can be caught browsing around the cuddly toy counter. Having grandkiddies has its compensations.

The only problem of gift-giving is that we often give to people who already have so much.

There are so many in the world who have barely enough to keep alive, let alone live comfortably.

If this bothers anyone enough to try to do something about it, Christmas is a good time to start.

The foster parent plan is designed to have the people in the countries who "have" aid the destitute children in the countries who "have not."

This could solve a problem for the people who find it hard to find a gift for their parents or loved ones who "have everything."

Through the Foster Plan project, foreign children can be "adopted" for periods at a time, for a mere stipend a month. Giving a "child" to someone who is lonely could be the ultimate gift. The plan makes provision for personal communication. The "parent" and child can write to each other, exchange photographs and share experiences. This system also provides the satisfaction of knowing one has provided for the underprivileged of the world, and every one helped is one less to starve.

And practising the virtue of love and charity, is after all, what Christmas is really about.

I liked this little story from The War Cry:

At a recent seminar on management/personnel motivational techniques, one speaker touched upon the benefits and dangers of a person giving himself more credit than is justified.

As an illustration he recalled a pleasant little parable about a Chinese who was drawing water from a well and saw in it the reflection of the moon. He was worried and said to himself, 'This is very serious indeed. The moon has fallen out of the sky and I must get it out of the well again and back into place.'

So he let his bucket down and gave a mighty pull—so hard that he dropped on his back. Lying there looking up at the sky, he saw the moon there. So he said to himself, 'Well, I sure did a pretty good job.'

Perspective

by Bob Roth

The dangers of censorship

Censorship of reading material has its place where young children are concerned, but where it involves restrictions on adults, its validity is highly questionable.

Any society that restricts the freedom to read—hence, the freedom to know—destroys the essence of democracy. It is, therefore, very understandable why one of the first moves taken by a totalitarian government is to ban books. The Nazis expanded this practice into a full-fledged social event by holding massive book burnings in public.

One of the problems of censorship is that values change and that people have different values even within the same time period. It was once "obscene," for example, for men to appear on the beach topless. Women were not supposed to bare their ankles.

It was not that long ago that it was illegal to advertise and sell birth control devices. In some countries it is still illegal. From a moral point of view, the birth control debate still rages in our country. Officially, the Catholic Church is opposed to artificial methods of contraception. Should books advocating the practice, therefore, be banned as immoral? Whose standard of morality should be imposed?

Let's just look at a partial list of books that have been banned at one time or another by various authorities: Ulysses, Call of the Wild, Age of Reason, Doctor Zhivago, All Quiet on the Western Front, Catcher in the Rye, Grapes of Wrath, Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, The Bible, Robinson Crusoe, Alice in Wonderland, Adventures of Sherlock Holmes, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, For Whom the Bell Tolls.

The Committee for Freedom of Expression of the Book and Periodical Development Council puts it this way:

"The suppression of reading materials is suppression of creative thought. Further, without creative thought, democracy will become extinct and people will fall prey to the dictatorship of the few. Those who dictate what we may not read are, in fact, dictating what we shall read . . ."

Admittedly, there are publications on the market—magazines in particular—that do little for the cause of literature or education. Many of these publications are pathetic, to put it mildly. But what right does one adult have to tell another adult what he or she can or cannot like? We can exert influence. We can set examples. But to impose a "dictatorship of the few" or even a dictatorship of the many, would be to erode freedom of expression and freedom to read.

The moment a group of people appoint themselves censors, they are, in fact, saying they are better than everyone else. I have often wondered about censors. If the books they scrap must be banned because they will corrupt those reading the material, how then do the censors not become corrupted? Are they better than everyone else? Are they a "master race," to which the rest of us must bow in submission?

In a country that believes in equality and the rights of the individual, setting up a body of moral "supermen" is a dangerous practice. We have already established this trend with boards of censors. The concept is basically authoritarian and elitist.

The sound role that censors can play is in classifying and restricting explicit material to an adult audience. Until children reach their late teens and develop the maturity to deal with certain material, it should not be thrown into their faces at every street corner.

The task, then, is to get "adult" material off the grocery store shelf and higher up on the magazine rack. Explicit material should not be banned, but neither should it be foisted on impressionable young minds.

Granted, it can still be argued that such restricted material could fall into the odd non-adult hand through indirect means, but the same can be said of all our "restricted" commodities. Everything from cigarettes to alcohol to the automobile can be abused, yet we have determined that banning them is not a realistic solution.

Concern with school books is warranted

Dalkeith, Ont.
Nov. 30, 1978

Re: The Book Banners

The expose of Mr. Roth's on censorship will be anxiously read.

However, with regards to the classroom situation, it must be remembered that the teacher is a censor in that he (or she) chooses certain books which must be read. It must be tempting on the part of the instructor to choose the most appealing books which at the senior school level are the most sensuous ones.

The people in the classroom are a select group having shown some degree of intelligence and emotional maturity. Nevertheless, it is wrong to assume that all persons in the class have reached the same degree of maturity as the teacher. Not all persons in the group can easily sort out the ideas of real value from the junky philosophies and tell the difference between wholesome human relationships and the fantasy binges of the artist writers.

The learning experience outside of the classroom should warrant more concern. The same stupid assumptions are made. That is, everything that goes on the air, the stage, or the press can be rationally absorbed by every mind.

Hasn't the public experienced enough emotional strain and hideous crimes from the minority of persons who allow themselves the freedom to try out in real life the stories of debased people which very often are the whims of publishers and producers anxious to make a dollar?

Common sense, self discipline, and compassion must be learned by all people if our society is able to appreciate freedoms and enjoy its own existence.

Yours truly,
Margo MacRae

Save those stamps

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Especially at Christmas time, I think of all the used postage stamps that are needlessly discarded. These seemingly worthless articles, from any country, are sold in bulk by the Scarboro Fathers, to stamp dealers, to help finance mission projects throughout the world.

In 10 months I have received over 100 lbs. of cancelled postage stamps, in small quantities, in very large quantities, from schools, service clubs, companies, individuals, etc. They add up quickly if everyone collects them for me. Please separate the 8c and 10c Queen Head stamps as they are sold separately.

It hardly takes a second to rip the used postage stamps off an envelope leaving a bit of paper around it.

This can be your way of helping the world's poor without costing you a lot of time or money.

Please send (by "Third Class" Mail) or bring all your cancelled postage stamps, anytime of the year to:

Mrs. R. M. Chmay, 230 Jarvis Street, Fort Erie, Ontario, L2A 2S5, or Mrs. J. C. Lawrence, 6782 Dorchester Road, Niagara Falls, Ontario, L2J 2Z2.

Program proposed

Federal and provincial ministers of agriculture, meeting in Ottawa this month, discussed a number of topics, including proposed changes in Canadian agriculture stabilization programs.

The majority of provincial ministers agreed in principle to a new approach to stabilization programs. Basically, amendments to the Agricultural Stabilization Act proposed by the federal government would see farm prices supported in the following manner. Farmers' cash costs of production, plus 100 per cent of the average margin over the previous five years, would be guaranteed. The margin is the difference between average Canadian cash costs of production and average Canadian market prices.

The proposed stabilization changes would cover slaughter beef cattle, beef cow-calf, sheep, hogs, corn soybeans and oats and barley produced outside the Canadian Wheat Board designated area. No change is being considered for the industrial milk and cream programs.

The new approach is similar to the federal Western Grain Stabilization Program. It allows for voluntary producer participation. Producers are expected to pay one-third of the actuarial program costs. The federal government will be responsible for the remaining two-thirds, plus administration costs.

The program would be offered on the condition that provincial governments and the federal government jointly agree to a timetable for withdrawal of their stabilization programs for the above mentioned commodities.

Stabilization for commodities not named in the Act will be discussed in ongoing federal-provincial consultations. In the meantime, the present provisions for supporting these commodities through designation, will be continued.

A number of questions remain to be explored. These include the following concerns:

First, the phase-in period must be sufficiently long to allow each province and its producers to accommodate the necessary adjustments leading to full participation.

Second, while the guaranteed margin approach is superior to the existing Agricultural Stabilization Act (1975), it does not remedy the problem of higher regional costs and lower market returns in some provinces.

Thirdly, some provinces would protest any withholding of federal program benefits from their provincial taxpayers during the phase-in period on the grounds that this would be discriminatory.

Finally, there is the question of eligibility limits, which will have to be established for each commodity.

Although the Quebec and BC Ministers of Agriculture agreed on the principle of harmonization of stabilization plans, they opposed the withdrawal of provincial stabilization programs as a prerequisite.

The Quebec Minister also stated that his government has just committed itself to the protection of agricultural land and the province does not intend to let the federal government control the development tools of the agricultural and food sector of the province.

The ministers recognized that a number of key issues still have to be resolved. These issues will be examined by a joint federal-provincial technical committee.

Give benefit of doubt

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Re the article in the Nov. 22 issue written by Bob Roth.

I agree with you that no group of people should have the right to tell another group of people what to read, but what gives you the right to accuse a group of people of not being interested in morality?

Are you a mind reader? If not, you could at least have given them the benefit of the doubt. In trying to make them look like fanatics you have taken some of the credibility off your editorial.

Sincerely,
Alma Sauve

Participate in Canada's Employment Tax Credit Program.

The Employment Tax Credit Program was introduced by the Government of Canada to stimulate employment in the private sector.

In essence, we're encouraging you to expand your work force by providing a tax break for your business.

The potential annual tax credit for each new employee is over $3,000. And there is no limit to the number of new employees you can hire.

Now, by using the experience we've gained so far, we've changed the program to make it even more attractive.

Up to 33⅓% more tax credit.
The maximum term for the tax credit has been increased from nine to 12 months for each new employee. That means up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

Greater eligibility.
We have expanded the number and types of businesses eligible to benefit. Now almost every business that's been operating in Canada for a year or more can join in.

Wider choice of new employees.
Now, almost anyone who's unemployed and registered at a Canada Employment Centre for a minimum of two weeks is eligible.

A minimum of red tape.
We've simplified the procedure, so you can do the whole thing, from beginning to end, with just two single-page forms.

Mary Lambert gets Long Service Bar

Mary Lambert, (Mrs. Charles), a busy farm wife of Green Valley has qualified for her Long Service Bar and Certificate in the Girl Guides of Canada, informs Marion Weatherhead, Commissioner of Girl Guides in Stormont, Glengarry and Prescott Counties.

Mrs. Lambert who shares on an equal basis with her husband, Charles, the very active life of a farm as well as that in her home has since coming to Canada from England given ten years to the Girl Guides of Canada Movement. Some of that service was in the Province of Quebec but the greatest share has been in Ontario.

Mrs. Lambert founded the First St. Raphael's Brownie Pack. With the shifting of population that pack became the First Green Valley Brownie Pack and it meets each week in Green Valley.

Her cheerful personality, her organizing ability and her many talents in art, music, and all other facets were displayed at the recent enrolment of the new Brownies of First Green Valley Pack.

Besides her Brownie Pack hat, Mrs. Lambert also wears the hat of a District Commissioner. Mrs. Lambert as Highland District Commissioner of the Eastern Division Girl Guides of Canada has nine Guide and Brownie units in Glengarry under her authority.

The presentation of her Long Service Bar and Certificate is a way of Guiding saying "Thank you, Mary, may we have you for many more years."

ADVISORY COUNCIL FIRST OF ITS KIND—Representatives from Ottawa University, St. Lawrence College and the counties have formed an advisory council for education needs in the area. From left, bottom row: J. Poirier, T. Whelan, R. Sullivan (Chairman), Y. Laperle (Secretary), C.A. Godard. Top row: R. Tross, R. Piche, J. Beveridge, M. Fenton, C. Van Maanen, A. Trasuk, A. Morin, A. Landry, N. Villeneuve. P. MacEwen (absent).

Education advisory council aims for increased services

1976 marked a new era in the field of post-secondary education. Two years ago, St. Lawrence College and the University of Ottawa agreed to cooperate in providing college and university level courses by sharing facilities and services. This agreement is believed to be the first in Canada.

Since 1976, much progress has been made. This progress is due to the work of 13 interested people who got involved as members of the College-University Advisory Council.

The main objectives set by the Advisory Council were the integration of human and physical resources required, program co-ordination between both institutions and greater local involvement in the decision-making process with respect to courses and program offerings.

The membership of the Council consists of two representatives appointed by the Senate of the University of Ottawa, two representatives appointed by the Board of Governors of St. Lawrence College and nine citizens of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The general consensus at present is that members of the Council have met their objective; first, by naming the complex the Education Center; secondly, by making the Education Center a most versatile institution offering courses and services at both the College and University level.

Among the greatest achievements of the Council are the recognition of equivalence by the College of certain College courses, and noted increase of course offerings in Cornwall by the University of Ottawa.

The Council will undertake a major project this year, undertaking a needs assessment survey to establish the educational needs of the students of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. "The Council hopes to be able to offer courses which will respond to the needs of our population" explained Mr. Sullivan, Chairman of the Advisory Council. Mr. Sullivan also mentioned that many students are unaware of the courses and programs offered at the Education Center. "This survey will also make the students conscious of the educational opportunities available in Cornwall," he concluded.

Montreal resident leaves local mourners

A longtime resident of Montreal, Duncan McDonald passed away after a lingering illness, in Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Monday, November 20.

He is survived by his wife, the former Laura Thibideault and one son, Donald, of Toronto.

Mourning the loss of a brother are the Misses Mary C. and Janet McDonald of Alexandria, and Alex of Cornwall.

A son of the late Duncan J. McDonald and his wife Mary McMillan, he was born 68 years ago in the Fifth of Kenyon.

Father Lefebvre officiated at the funeral held November 23 in St. Catherine of Sienna Church, Greenfield, with interment in the parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were Joseph and Corbett Kennedy, Daniel and Clinton MacDonald, Lloyd Kennedy and Michael McPhail.

OFA opposes nuclear station being located on farmland

Hydro's proposed program for nuclear generating stations is both undesirable and irresponsible, Peter Hannam, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA), said recently.

Speaking at the public hearing of the Porter Commission where he expressed the OFA brief, Hannam expressed strong disapproval over the proposed Ontario Hydro plan for nuclear generating stations and transmission corridors.

He said it was "entirely irresponsible to waste present foodland resources for any short-term industrial benefit. There must be a balance." Hannam explained that shifting food production onto less productive land substantially increased the energy needs of the farmer and decreased the amount of production. This, he said, "will be reflected directly in higher consumer food costs."

Hannam explained the near total reliance this plan would place on uranium and coal, two exhaustable fuels, is undesirable and risky. "Ontario Hydro expressed belief in the past in an energy mix," he added. "But now, despite all our oil problems, it wants to rely on only two fuel sources."

Hannam said the OFA realized the need for surplus energy but could not support the destruction of our agricultural land for the purpose of exporting energy to the U.S.

He added, if the generating stations are as safe as we're being told, why not build them in metro areas? "Why should the agricultural community be forced to accept risks and restrictive planning measures?" The OFA brief recommended further: 1. Ontario Hydro adhere to the Foodland Guidelines when planning their transmission and generating sites. 2. Ontario Government begin a policy of implementing alternative energy sources, especially those that are renewable and clean. 3. Ontario Hydro maintain an energy mix, with no single non-renewable fuel accounting for more than 50% of the province's electrical power requirements. 4. Sales tax be removed from alternative energy materials and equipment. 5. Ontario Government embark on a major energy conservation program.

RECENT GRADUATE—Donna Kemp, Alexandria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kemp has recently gratuated from Cornwall General Hospital as a Registered Nursing Assistant. She is now employed at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Fitness testing popular

A full roster of health-minded men and women attended the Ontario government sponsored "Physical Fitness Assessment Project" held at the Alexandria Sports Palace last week. The program was filled on both of the days it ran and some people will have to wait until it comes back next year so they can be evaluated.

Thirty-nine people, 13 women and 26 men, attended the seminar. They ranged in age from 24 to 69. Although every test was confidential, the general condition of the testees was slightly overweight.

The test was conducted in six sections. The first category was Muscular Strength and Endurance. In the test for muscular strength a device called a dynamometer is squeezed. This tests measures only grip strength which is used in sports like football, tennis and golf.

Testees were next measured for muscular endurance. This test involved performing sit-ups at maximum rate for one minute. Each score was compared to norms for similar age and sex groups to provide a rating.

The second category was Flexibility. In this test, participants used a flexibility board and their elasticity and joints were evaluated. These exercises are useful before exercise to prepare the body for more arduous exertions.

The third category in the program dealt with Blood Pressure. At the start of the day each person's resting blood pressure was taken and if a certain pressure was recorded the person could not continue the test. A close watch on blood pressure can help to forestall stroke or heart attack.

The fourth category was the Aerobic Capacity test. In order to determine testee's aerobic (air) capacity, they were required to step up stairs in time to music while hooked up to an electrocardiogram. Since maximal work is exhausting, aerobic capacity can be determined by monitoring the heart rate.

The fifth category in the project was Anthropometric Measurements. Four measurements were taken; standing height, weight, skinfold measurements and girth measurements. Skinfold measurements were taken with "calipers" and were used to determine total body fat. With these measurements ideal weights were figured out for each participant.

The final category in the testing program was the Respiratory Function Analysis. Here the testees had to breathe into a device that measured total amount of air expelled and the amount expelled in one second. The results were expressed in a percentage of normal and can be used to detect severe pulmonary disorders as well as to determine a level of fitness.

As the program is done on a year-to-year basis, and is subject to grants from the government, whether or not it will be available next year is still not known.

Glengarry Connection

John and Louise McLeod

Recalls days of wild women and gamblers

A man who had a hand in the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific that formed part of the CN rail line, celebrated his 90th birthday recently at his residence in Langley Lodge.

John N. McLeod also worked on the Canadian Northern for a while and on the line between Calgary and Edmonton. By winter he was a piledriver, by summer a prospector, a hobby he pursued tirelessly, but without success. He also worked in the construction of mines, mostly gold mines, and had a hand in the construction of the Kitimat smelter.

During the forty-odd years he spent piledriving, he took off to the Western United States and also worked for one year in Alaska. "It was hard work, especially in the cold when we were building the tracks up north.

One day, the temperature was 70 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. We didn't know it at the time, but an engineer told us how cold it was. It was really bitter."

Mr. McLeod remembers "some of the wild women, bootleggers and gamblers" of those days. He used to play quite a bit of poker in his time, "but I never made any money at it."

A long time after the days of 1913 to 1915, he had a stint with the Skeena River Piledriving Company, which was to last seven years, with him working as a foreman in Prince Rupert. "Once, I had a run-in with three grizzlies on the Skeena River. I just stood perfectly still and then they turned around and left me." Perhaps, he thought, the bears were scared, "but not as scared as I was." He'd been prospecting alone at the time of the incident.

"I liked living in Prince Rupert," he continued, "Everyone knew everyone else. It was a big drinking town, though, and had a terrible climate—a terrible place for rain. And we had big snowfalls, too.

A bachelor until 1951, John married Louise in Rosetown, Saskatchewan. His wife, a widow, had a daughter and five sons. The couple moved to Langley in 1959 from Prince Rupert. They used to live on 200th Street, but when Mrs. McLeod became ill, they moved to Langley Lodge where they could be assured of comfort and continuous medical care.

Retired for the last twenty years, John McLeod says he doesn't care much for television —"It doesn't entertain me, unless it's hockey"—and he has trouble with his eyes which prevents him from doing much reading.

Mrs. McLeod also just celebrated her 90th birthday and the couple celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary on September 9.

John McLeod, who was the eldest of five children—"I'm the only one left now"—recalls that his happiest days were when he was in his late teens and early twenties. "I came and went as I chose. Those were happy days—but of course, I didn't think so at the time."

A native of Kirk Hill, Mr. McLeod is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Jessie McLeod, 69 Catherine Street East in Alexandria.

The story and picture are from the newspaper in Langley, BC.

St. Andrew's Ball a success

by Eleanor MacMillan

The Glengarry Pipe Band's annual "St. Andrews Day" festival was held at the "Bonnie Glen" the evening of November 25, 1978.

Ladies, many wearing long plaid skirts, with their escorts in "kilts" and others in evening attire with a plaid tie or a sprig of heather, gave those gathered together a "oneness" of spirit.

The head table was piped to their seats by Kathy Hay and Frances McCormick.

President of Glengarry Pipe Band, J. Ivan Cameron, welcomed those present and called upon Julia Danskin to say grace.

The "haggis" was traditionnally piped to the table by Piper Peter Ewing and Erwin Blair. Drummers Ian Kennedy and Rory MacDonald carried the trays of "haggis" and "spirits".

A delicious meal, interspersed with traditional toasts were made as follows: The Queen, J. Ivan Cameron; St. Andrews, Osie Villeneuve; Pipers, Lorne Lawson and Ladies, Hubert Quart.

Lorne Lawson presented the guest speaker for the evening, M. N. ("Hughie") Hutchison.

Topic chosen for the occasion was "Saint Andrew," a saint who in Scotland's formative years was adopted by that country as its "patron Saint". Unlike other saints, those unable to call themselves "Scottish" could still associate with him if they so desired.

An evening of dancing with Sylvester MacDonald's Band began at 9 p.m. where those unable to be present at the dinner joined the happy group. A "grand march" involving most of those present and "Strip the Willow", a celtic Square Dance, proved to be a lot of fun as the novices were directed in the intricacies of this traditional dance.

The Glengarry Pipe Band, joined by the Junior Band group, gave a fine performance that included their famous drum tattoo. This group was led by the Pipe Major David Danskin and Chief Instructor Pipe Major J. T. MacKenzie and Pipe Sergeant Roger Martin.

The MacCulloch Dancers, with the Pipe Band accompanied them, performed two of the dances that are becoming a tradition with this group, Sean Truibhas and the Sword Dance.

Dancing continued at a lively pace with an interruption from time to time by a "draw" or a "spot dance." The luck winner of the "Thistle Quilt" draw was Shirley Fraser, R. R. 1, Long Sault. Prizes for "spot dances" were donated by businesses in the community, M & M Store, Colbourne's Variety Store, Home Hardware, Danskin's Scottish Shop, Bairds "Kolor Korner" and Red and White.

A door prize, of a "chance" to Las Vegas was donated by Walter Stewart.

Lunch was served at 1 a.m. and everyone headed home thankful that the weather, although with a distinct chill in the air, had favored this celebration by with holding the further hazards of this time of year.

The Scottish atmosphere will again come to the "Bonnie Glen" Jan. 19, 1979, when a "Burns" Supper and dance with "Andy Stewart" will be sponsored by the Glengarry Pipe Band. Sylvester MacDonald will be on hand as well.

Scouts elect new executive

On November 16, 150 people attended the 33rd Annual Dinner and Meeting of the Cornwall District Council, Scouts Canada.

Guests at the dinner included Captain Bill Sutherland, assistant provincial commissioner, Ottawa; Ken Holloway, Brockville provincial field executive; Miss Marion Wheatherhead, Eastern division commissioner Girl Guides of Canada and Gerry Samson, district commissioner of L'Association des Scouts du Canada.

The new executive and district commissioners were invested by Captain Sutherland. The executive members are: Norm Jennings, president; Betty Cranfield, secretary; John Cranfield, treasurer; Lee Russell, 1st vice president; Dona Girling, 2nd vice president. The new District Commissioner is Rheal Rochon. Mr. Rochon has been active in Scouting locally for seven years as a leader and member of the Service Team. He replaces John Plumadore, who has served as District Commissioner for the past four years.

The new executive has already made several key appointments. Van Egmond wil be camp development chairman and be given responsibility for the maintenance of and improvements to the two Scout campsites at Morrison Island and Apple Hill. Mr. Egmond displayed drawing and plans showing the proposals for the development of the outdoor education centre to be installed at the Apple Hill site. Mr. Plumadore will be camp administrator and will be responsible for the operation of the summer camp and events held at the camps.

George Sawinski who handled the nominations and elections at the dinner was appointed nominating chairman. Ray Brunet will continue as chairman of the financial campaign and Claude Ray will remain as badge chairman.

Certificates of appreciation were awarded to Bill Sullivan, personnel manager at Levi Strauss and Mrs. Monique Ceaser, chairman of the community involvement team, an employee group at Levi Strauss who donated $3,000 toward installing electric power in to the Morrison Island campsite. Certificates were also awarded to Dorothy Taylor and Stuart McConkey for their services to Scouting; Mrs. McConkey was awarded a thanks badge for her work at the summer camp. Ken Taylor, past president, was presented with a plaque commemorating his three years as district president. Gerd Stellar and Alex Spooner of 2nd Alexandria and Donald Miseferi of 1st Cornwall were presented with their wood badge beads for completing Part II wood badge training. Alvin Graham received a certificate for a Scout assessment and methods course which he successfully completed.

The meeting concluded with a slide presentation by Colin Marshall depicting the life of Lord Baden-Powell who began the Scouting movement 71 years ago.

Nelson Montgomery dies

Saturday, November 18, Nelson Montgomery passed away after a short illness in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall at the age of 77.

A resident of Maxville Manor for the past year and a half, Nelson had spent most of his life at Baltic's Corners and Dunvegan.

Predeceased by his wife, the former Mamie Campbell, he was the son of the late John Montgomery and his wife Sarah Campbell.

Three daughters and one son as well as several grandchildren remain to mourn his loss, Mabel, Mrs. Roger Guindon, Maxville; Ruth, Mrs. Alfred Maier, Sudbury; Joan of Calgary and Howard of Edmonton.

A sister, Margaret MacDonald, and brothers, Howard and Everett passed away several years ago.

An avid outdoorsman, he was a well known hunter and trapper. When he left the farm at Baltic's for Dunvegan he purchased the old hotel and garage from A. R. Gray. Versatile as usual, along with servicing the local cars, running a taxi and driving the mail he and his wife Mamie gave many hours of their time voluntarily to the care of Kenyon Presbyterian church and the Glengarry Museum and its grounds.

The funeral was held November 20 in the Munro Funeral Home, with Dr. D. N. MacMillan, Pointe Claire, Que., performing the service. Interment was in the cemetery at Dunvegan.

Pallbearers were Jimmie Campbell, Peter McDonell, Johnnie Carpenter, John Stewart, Vernon Campbell and Angus N. MacLeod.

Harvest time for evergreens

Christmas is just around the corner and Christmas tree growers are busy harvesting for market. According to George Elliott of Glentassie Tree Farm, First of Kenyon, over 31 million plantation-grown Christmas trees are expected to be cut across North America to meet the U.S. and Canadian Market this season.

Similar to last year the demand is expected to be greater than the supply. The Elliotts are members of the National Christmas Tree Association and their Glentassie Farm is one of 10,000 farms across North America involved in growing Christmas trees for sale.

"Trees that are harvested this year," Elliott explained, "will be re-planted on a three-for-one industry basis." However in Glengarry, because of losses due to low June and July rainfall, insect, mice, rabbit and bird damage, as well as seasonal snow and ice damage etc., we must plant at least six tree seedlings for every mature Christmas tree cut.

A Scotch pine takes six to eight years to reach marketable size while a white spruce needs 12-14 years. In Virginia, a pine reaches Christmas tree height in four years due to better weather and soil.

The Elliotts expect their new narrow-width diesel tractor and flail mower for controlling grass growth between tree rows will reduce tree losses and conserve moisture. This equipment also allows more trees to be planted per acre.

Elliott pointed out that spring planting of Christmas trees begins as early as February in the Southern U.S. and as late as May in Glengarry. Marginal agricultural land is best for production of Christmas trees. Usually dry sandy or stonly land is best for pines with richer, wetter land preferable for spruce.

Over 90 million seedlings were planted this year on Christmas tree farms in North America. The Elliotts concentrate on the production of Scotch pine trees which are the most sought-after Christmas trees. They also grow a few white spruce for those customers who prefer the old traditional species.

Beginning in June and continuing through July, Scotch pine trees undergo a "tree shearing" process which controls the shape and height of the trees, helps develop uniform taper and stimulates butt development. This in turn increases the number of branches and the density of the foliage. While a variety of tools are used in the industry the Elliotts used 14 to 20-inch slicing knives wielded machete fashion.

Shearing begins with the topmost tree branch or "terminal leader." The shearer continues around the tree, cutting off long irregular branches that would hinder the tree's conical appearance.

"Trees are harvested in November and early December for a number of important reasons" Elliott said. "If cutting is delayed too far into December, heavy snowfalls may make harvesting and transporting the trees extremely difficult, if not impossible.

Early cutting also prevents Scotch pines from losing their green color due to a chemical change in tree structure caused by extreme low temperatures. Another reason for early cutting is that temperatures below 10 degrees F will cause branches to become brittle during the harvesting process.

A plantation-grown Christmas tree harvested after early November will provide maximum pleasure and satisfaction, Elliott pointed out, if a few rules are observed.

Keep the tree in a cool location until decoration day.

When it is brought indoors, make a fresh straight cut across the trunk about an inch up from the original cut and place the trunk end immediately in its water container.

Make sure your lights and other electrical ornaments are in good shape.

Elliott also suggested that after the holidays Christmas trees have various uses. They can be placed in the back yar or garden and used as a bird feeder. Orange slices, apple slices, suet, etc. will attract birds. Trees are biodegradable—their branches may be removed and used as a mulch in the garden—the trunks can be used for fuel.

Christmas trees are intentionally grown for peoples' enjoyment and are a renewable resource. While the tree was growing it provided shelter for birds and other wildlife. An acre of Christmas trees provides enough oxygen for eighteen people through photosynthesis. Growing of Christmas trees benefits our ecology.

"We know the public will want to retain the tradition of having a natural tree at Christmas for years to come. That's why we are preparing ahead for Christmas tree harvesting for at least the next ten years," Elliott stated.

The Elliotts, George, his wife Gerry and daughter Katheryn have been living at their farm on the First of Kenyon for four years. They bought the farm in 1964 when they were living in Montreal.

The whole Elliott family participates in the tree growing operation, which has been going for 14 years. This year the Elliotts have about 100,000 trees planted on their 200 acres, but only about 40,000 of these are for commercial use.

Christmas tree growing is not the only family business. Mrs. Elliott makes candles and Katheryn, 27, is an artist.

WI convention held

The Eastern Ontario Women's Institutes (Ottawa area) recently held the 63rd annual convention at the Talisman Inn, Ottawa. There were 321 members registered over the two-day session.

Mrs. Wallace Krause gave her final address as outgoing president. She gave a special vote of thanks to the executive without whose help, she said, her office would have been very difficult indeed. She reviewed the two rallies the area had enjoyed at Pembroke in '77 and Avonmore in '78, remarking that they had both been very successful. "To those Branches and Districts celebrating anniversaries," she said "don't look back into the past for too long. The future is more important and we must always be looking ahead. The past we cannot change but the future is ours to mold." She closed by reminding members that 1979 has been declared 'The year of the child' and she wished everyone an active and interesting year as they pursued this important course of action and study.

Provincial President Mrs. Clarence Diamond, spoke to the membership about a new supplement to the WI handbook which will soon be mailed directly to each branch. The supplement will contain changes made in 1975 and 1978 and will fit into the back of the handbook. Two new booklets are being printed, the first will be informational for WI members and will be sold at a small charge, the second will be free to the general public and will help explain the aims and activities of the Women's Institute.

Verbal reports from the conveners were very short and concise this year. Members were given printed copies of the full reports to take back to their branch meetings. The five Area Home Economists gave a very interesting talk and showed a film about the series of black lines seen on almost all grocery products. These lines can be used by computer equipped supermarkets to help speed grocery checkout. The lines give the product name and size but not the price. Members found this presentation of great interest. The Home Economists also distributed newly published books "Shopping for Food and Nutrition" from the Canada Department of Agriculture.

Guest speaker for the evening banquet was Ontario Lieutenant Governor The Honorable Pauline McGibbon. Her honor was accompanied by her Aide-de-camp Major Sylvia Guyatt and by two RCMP officers. She was introduced to the head table guests by incoming president Mrs. Arnold Wilson. Members listened carefully as she described the duties inherent with her position. As a representative of the Queen she must sign many legal documents (over 49,000 in four years). "Being Lieutenant Governor is a joint effort" she said. "When I was asked to take up the position I deferred my decision until after I had discussed it with my husband. Many women criticized this step but only with the support of my husband could I have ever thought to undertake this job. And I enjoy this job. The necessary protocol (the fuss and feathers as I call it) does not make it more complicated but rather smooths the way." Her Honor's smooth presentation and quiet manner enchanted everyone present. The banquet was concluded with the presentation of FWC Prizes, Bernice Noblitt Awards and the Area Scholarship.

The second day of the convention opened with an address by Miss Molly McGhee, director, Home Economics. Miss McGhee announced there will be many new senior courses on such topics as money management and energy conservation. The junior courses are also being changed and updated. The Loan Library in Toronto is being dismantled and a list of addresses to which Branches may write for information on various topics will replace the Library.
