No Escape Of Chlorine Fumes As Train Derailed On Branch Line

Residents of the Glen Sandfield-Brodie area were spared the dangerous fumes of chlorine or caustic soda, Friday, when seven cars of a 17-car CNR freight train left the rails on the Glen Robertson-Hawkesbury branch line.

One car carrying caustic soda derailed and flipped over. A car containing chlorine was also derailed but remained upright as did five other cars carrying general merchandise. There was no escape of lethal fumes from either and there were no injuries among the train crew.

The derailment occurred at a point near the Brodie sideroad as the train was travelling from Hawkesbury to Glen Robertson.

Rails were broken and bent over a considerable area but a CN crew from Montreal was able to restore the tracks by Sunday.

Agriculture Minister Here On Wednesday

Hon. Eugene Whelan, federal minister of agriculture, will be here next Wednesday night to address the annual meeting of the Glengarry branch, National Farmers' Union.

New Church To Open July 8th

The new St. Raphael's church complex will be officially dedicated on Sunday, July 8th, it was decided at a meeting of the parish council held at St. Raphael's on Tuesday night.

Bishop Adolphe Proulx will officiate at the 11.15 mass and blessing of the building assisted by members of the clergy.

A big full day celebration is being planned to coincide with the spiritual devotions that day so provision will be made to accommodate everyone from far and near who are interested in this historic site.

The Celts have been engaged for the afternoon and a popular band for the youth group is being sought, as well as various other entertainments to provide a background for an old time picnic style gathering.

Show Next Week

The Ottawa Valley Farm Show opens next Tuesday in the Civic Centre at Ottawa and will run through to Friday evening.

Maxville Recreation Seeks Grant

A group of interested parents gathered in the Community Hall and spent an evening drafting plans for recreation for youth for the coming summer. Under the Youth In Action plan the provincial government provides money for salaries for young people, mainly those who have not found other employment, and who wish to become involved in their community activities.

This program has been in existance since 1971 but Maxville has not previously applied for a grant. The program is under the Youth and Recreation Branch of the Department of Education, which recently sent two men to explain the program to the Council. Funds are available only for salaries, and stress is placed on the optimum use of local resources.

One project completely drafted and ready for presentation is Pipe-Major John MacKenzie's summer piping and drumming classes, to be held for a month in several localities in the county.

Jim Leek and Neil Blaney brought plans for a program of sports instruction for boys 7-15 years old, involving instruction in softball, volleyball, badminton, soccer, etc., each sport for one week, over a period of eight weeks. There was considerable discussion over where facilities might be obtained for all these sports, and the various sources of funds for equipment. It was also decided to include girls 7-15 in the program.

Swimming lessons have already been planned, the same as last summer when the children were taken by bus three days a week to the YMCA in Cornwall. This could be fitted in with the other sports project. Further possibilities suggested were bus trips, nature hikes and overnight camping.

Under the general direction of the Maxville Recreation Committee two sub-committees were appointed to draft precise objectives, schedules, and expected participation. For the men these are Paul Deveau and John Williams. For the ladies Mrs. Martine McDonald, Mrs. Ruby MacGregor and Mrs. Charlotte Kennedy.

Away To The Fire !

The Alexandria fire truck had plenty of company in its 7 p.m. rush to Fassifern Sunday. Whether the firemen liked it or not there were 60 cars racing north on Highway 34 behind their truck.

John Clingen, who lives near the highway on the Eigg Road, happened to be outside his home when the parade sped past and he took a count of the cars. There were two just ahead of the truck, he reports, and 60 following, of which three appeared to belong to members of the brigade.

Tickets On Sale Sports' Dinner

Plans are progressing well for the annual Sportsmen's Dinner, members of the Lions Club were told by Chairman Duncan A. Macdonell at Monday's meeting.

The dinner is scheduled for Monday, May 14th in the High School auditorium and tickets go on sale this weekend. They may be secured from Doug Baxter, Paul Roy or through any member of the club.

I am awaiting word from a potential guest speaker, Mr. Macdonell told club members. He is a prominent sport personality who should prove most interesting. Several other personalities have also signified plans to be here, he said.

Six of Glengarry's top athletes of 1972 will be honored at the dinner with trophies for Glengarry's outstanding athlete of the year; Canada's top athlete with a Glengarry tie; Glengarry's outstanding hockey player; top high school football player, top football linesman and the new trophy for effective and gentlemanly play in minor hockey.

Grocery Store Changes Hands

For the second time within four months, the grocery store formerly operated by the late Aime Lalonde on Main Street has changed hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lanthier of Glen Robertson, took possession of the business last week. It had been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Osias Claude since last December.

Mr. Lanthier already has some experience in the butcher business and will carry a complete line of meats as well as groceries.

Glengarrian Appointed Auditor-General James Macdonell Attended Maryvale Abbey

A man with a Glengarry background, James Johnson Macdonell of Montreal, has been appointed auditor-general of Canada. Mr. Macdonell is senior partner in the management consultant firm of Price Waterhouse Associates.

Prime Minister Trudeau announced his appointment at Ottawa, Thursday of last week.

Born at Calgary, 57 years ago, the new auditor-general is the son of Archibald J. Macdonell (Alex John) of Glen Nevis, and his wife, the former Lillian Johnson of Glen Robertson. In his youth he resided at Glen Nevis where he attended Maryvale Abbey for six years, graduating at the age of 14.

His mother and a sister, Norma, reside in Montreal. Mr. Macdonell is married to the former Audrey Grafton of Hamilton and their daughter, Ann, is at present a student at McGill University.

In his new role Mr. Macdonell will keep tabs on how the federal government spends its $19 billion annual budget. He sees himself as "a watchdog, not a bloodhound."

He replaces Maxwell Henderson who for the past 13 years has feuded with successive governments over the limits of his role, the lateness of his reports and the size of his staff.

Mr. Henderson reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 on Saturday. Until his successor takes office July 1, Assistant Auditor-General G. R. Long will be acting head of the department.

Telephoned in Barbados, where he is vacationing with his wife Audrey, Mr. Macdonell told The Montreal Star he regards his new position as "the most challenging ing opportunity that has ever come my way."

"I just can't wait to get at it.

"The job is one that requires a degree of quietness. That's my style. I don't think one has to get into any hassles to do a good job.

"I am not a feuding type of person at all, despite my highland Scots background. I like to do things quietly and let the results speak for themselves.

"British Chief Justice Kylsant once said that 'an auditor is required to be a watchdog, not a bloodhound. 'And that's how I'm approaching my new job."

This wasn't meant as a criticism of Mr. Henderson, a friend for many years he hastened to add.

Mr. Macdonell was first offered the job more than a month ago and gave it "a lot of serious reflection" before finally accepting because "I owe it to myself and my country to devote a part of my career to public service."

He will spend the next three months winding up his personal and professional affairs at Montreal and moving to Ottawa.

Mr. Macdonell said he will approach his job "with a totally fresh viewpoint," adding that the government has assured him, that this is what is desired.

In announcing Mr. Macdonell's appointment, Mr. Trudeau said he had chosen from a list of those recommended as "eminently qualified" by five leading Canadian accounting firms.

Both Conservative House leader Gerald Baldwin and NDP House leader Stanley Knowles said they hope that he will "put the fear of the Lord" into the government of the day, whatever its political

Store At Fassifern Hit By Fire

Alexandria firemen were called out twice to the store of Harry M. Best at Fassifern which was heavily damaged by fire. The first call came at 7 p.m. Sunday and firemen were on the scene for 90 minutes controlling a blaze which had broken out in the living quarters above the store.

They were called out again at 6 a.m. Monday when a passerby saw smoke seeping out at the roof line. Flames were gushing out an upstairs window when the brigade reached the scene but the firemen were able to control the second blaze in good time. It is conjectured sawdust insulation under the roof had been smouldering after the first break-out and had later been fanned into flames.

An overloaded light fixture in the upstairs living quarters is thought responsible for the fire. The second floor was gutted by flames but most of the damage in the downstairs store was confined to water and smoke. Most of the personal possessions of the family were removed to safety and the loss is in the $20,000 range, partly covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Best are residing in a second home, west of Fassifern, and he plans to re-open for business as soon as his store building can be restored for occupancy.

Alexandria May Have Separated Town Status In Plans For Reorganized Gov't

The United Counties Council met Donald Irvine, MPP, parliamentary secretary to Hon. John White, provincial treasurer at a meeting of the planning, resolution and memorial committee under the chairmanship of Keith Graham, reeve of Chesterville.

The meeting had been organized by Warden Gerard Massie specifically to discuss with Mr. Irvine the current state of thinking on changes in municipal government, which are under consideration by the province and the counties.

One fact brought out by Mr. Irvine was that proposals already made by the counties that certain of the smaller villages should be absorbed into neighboring townships would probably not be agreed to since it would not bring about sufficient change in the existing system.

Mr. Irvine reconfirmed with some emphasis the statement that changes would come about by approximately 1975 or '76, if not exactly in their present form, then in something like the new system he would outline.

This calls for formation of a ward system, which would involve the abolition of some present municipal boundaries, so that urban and rural areas, such as a combination of Morrisburg and most of Williamsburg, or Maxville and most of Kenyon would become a ward, with a local government but only the privilege of sending one man to county council to represent that ward.

Furthermore, he noted, the city of Cornwall would continue as a separate entity, and there is a good prospect that Alexandria would also retain its present status, as a separated town with its own government.

There was no suggestion that county council agreed to, or would favor in any way the new system, but Mr. Irvine was the subject of a barrage of questions on how it would work. Through the discussion Mr. Irvine was emphatic that the ward system was the one the province will consider.

Another point brought out was that the United Counties will continue as essentially they are now; a region for Eastern Ontario is not the unit now contemplated by the provincial government.

He recommended that the urban centres should now begin to consider some form of union with the neighboring townships if they wanted to formulate their ideas in preparation for the coming day of reorganization.

Summing up, Reeve Graham remarked that the proposals would "Change the whole pattern by which we have been governed for 130 years. Someone is going to have to take the brunt of the change, which will be a political change to influence the entire population."

Iona Still Waiting For An Answer

No decision has been made by the Minister of Education as yet regarding the fate of Iona Academy and the students currently in attendance there.

Officials from the SD&G Separate School Board and a committee of St. Raphael's area parents made a personal submission to the Minister in Toronto on March 12th.

A meeting of the committees concerning Iona will be held in Cornwall on Thursday night to set boundaries for the school.

Firemen Out Twice For Grass Fires

The first grass fire of the spring season brought Alexandria firemen out at 4.30 last Thursday afternoon. A resident of St. Paul St. had been burning grass beyond the town limits when the blaze got out of control.

The brigade was out again Saturday afternoon to contain a grass fire on the former fairgrounds property.

Fire Chief Gerald Charlebois expects there may be quite a few such calls this spring.

Leaving Police Force

Constable Roger Levert has resigned from the local police force and completes his duties later this week. His resignation after some two years service is for personal reasons and he reports future plans are uncertain.

His departure marks the third resignation from the local force in eight months.

Died In California

Formerly of Glen Nevis, John N. McDonald died March 2nd at Long Beach, California. He was 86.

Mr. McDonald was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. McDonald of lot 17-8th Concession, Lancaster Township, Glen Nevis.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ranald McLachlan of Ottawa, and a brother, Lauchlan McDonald of Chicago.

Last School Day Will Be June 22nd

The remaining five days will be used for the completion of the year's work and professional development. Three of those days must be spent by teachers in activities in their home schools.

Lancaster Twp. Lets Contract

Lancaster Township Council has not yet reached a decision on the appointment of a clerk-treasurer. The office was left vacant following the death on March 1st of Romeo Vaillancourt who had served in that position for ten years.

Meanwhile, Miss Maria Morrison who had been office secretary has been named acting clerk tentative to the appointment of a replacement. Alfred Sloan of Fournier, is assuming general office duties.

Louis Bray of Green Valley, has been awarded the contract for the paving of Glen Nevis sideroad from the 5th to the 7th of Lancaster. In the amount of $44,700, the contract is subject to the approval of the Department of Highways.

Meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday afternoons of each month.

Jeannine Seguin President AEPO

A native of Alexandria, Miss Jeannine Seguin, principal of Ecole Secondaire St. Laurent, in Cornwall, has been elected president of the Association des Enseignments Franco-Ontariens (AEPO).

The association is one of the five affiliates of the Ontario Teachers' Federation.

Miss Seguin's election was the first time in the association's history that a president was elected by acclamation. Miss Seguin has been a member of the AEFO for 15 years.

She is a former president of the elementary section of AEFO and for three years was president of the secondary section which she organized.

The ESSL principal is also a former vice president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation's professional development committee (District 27).

Pipe Band Needs More Drummers

In discussing the progress of the Glengarry Pipe Band, this year, Pipe-Major Danskin reported that the Band is quite rich in good pipers, but could use more drummers to balance the powerful Pipe Section. Also, he pointed out, while many people believe that almost anyone with an ear for music can pick up a drum and bang away, this is certainly not true of band drumming. As all the drummers must play exactly the same, band drumming is an art that requires much teaching and practice, and our band has made a custom of engaging the best professional instructors available. All students are taught in the Glengarry College of Piping & Drumming until they are skilled enough to join the band, and have a certificate to prove it.

One important project, currently, is to build up the bass-tenor drum section, to provide for continuity as players leave for university or work, as has been done in the pipe section. The bass-tenor section is the show section of the band, the people who do all the fancy stick twirling, while beating their drums in unison, and also giving the timing for the pipers. An excellent instructor in the person of Ken MacDonald, of Ottawa, has been engaged to teach this section, and will be assisted by Dawn Campbell, the band's regular bass drummer. It is felt that this plan will add great interest and incentive to drumming in the College and the band, and any lads or lassies interested are invited to drop in at Maxville Hall any Saturday afternoon.

Green Valley Man New Director Of Education With SD&G Board

Rosaire Leger, superintendent with the Leeds-Grenville County Board of Education since 1969, has been named director of education with the SD&G County Board of Education.

Mr. Leger was born at Green Valley 38 years ago and attended schools in Lancaster and Glengarry District High School. Married to the former Heather MacDonell of Green Valley, he is the father of three children, David, 15; Susan, 12 and Thomas, 10 years. He is fluently bilingual.

He holds degrees from the University of Ottawa, as bachelor of arts and master of education. In addition he has four certificates: High School Assistant's Certificate, Endorsed for English; Permanent Elementary School Teacher's Certificate (Bilingual) Specialist Certificate in Guidance; Secondary School Principal's Certificate, Type A.

His teaching experience includes five years at the elementary school level, two of them as principal; four years at Cornwall Classical College; four years at CCVS and one year at GVSS.

Mr. Leger left his position as area superintendent of the SD&G county board in 1969 to become superintendent with the Leeds and Grenville board.

He is a member of the board of governors of the Ontario Association of Education Administrative Officials and of the board of governors of St. Vincent de Paul Hospital in Brockville.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Watchdog Over Public Spending

The appointment of a Glengarrian to the important position of Auditor-General of Canada comes as pleasing news, we feel certain, to every reader of this paper.

James Macdonell, senior partner in Price Waterhouse Associates at Montreal, was born in Calgary, but in every other respect qualifies as a Glengarrian. His parents were Glengarry-born, his father still resides at Glen Nevis, and the new Auditor-General was educated at Maryvale Abbey there, before going on to McGill to complete his education.

In his new post, which he will take over July 1st, Mr. Macdonell will watch over government spending and report any irregularities to Parliament. He will be succeeding two men of stature who were much in the public eye through their findings of government waste and extravagance, the late Watson Sellar and Maxwell Henderson who retired on Saturday after thirteen years as Auditor-General.

In recent years Mr. Henderson had been under fire from government supporters in the Commons who charged he was abusing his terms of reference by publicly criticizing government policy. In turn he had complained Treasury Board was impeding his work by lowering classification of his audit staff. His most notable finding was the waste of millions of dollars of unauthorized spending in the refitting of the Aircraft Carrier Magnificent, later sold for scrap.

The new appointee is described as not the abrasive type, but given his background we can be assured Mr. Macdonell will not shirk controversy should faults in public spending be unearthed by his office. It is to be hoped, of course, that such instances will be few for it is the taxpayers' money that is involved.

Prime Minister Trudeau has stated the appointment of James Macdonell was made only after consultation with senior partners of accounting firms across Canada. This can be construed as recognition of the stature of the new Auditor-General among his confreres.

Our congratulations go to him, to his parents and other members of the "Alex John" family who share in this signal recognition to a member of the clan. May Canada's new Auditor-General know a sense of achievement and satisfaction in this responsible post.

There Are Still People Of Principle

The bad news first. Honesty is less the policy it was a few decades ago. Crime is on the increase as our society becomes more urbanized and petty theft is on the increase everywhere, even in small-town and rural Canada.

Statistics Canada estimates a million dollars worth of goods is stolen every day from Canada's retail stores by shoplifters and light-fingered employees. Last year 10,000 Torontonians were caught in the act, twice as many as in 1967.

We like to think we're a decent, hard-working, law-abiding nation, observes an editorial in The Dutton Advance. So why this mass thievery involving, according to one large department store chain, people across the country?

Some steal to make ends meet. But many (one was a judge's wife) are well-to-do. Some employees like to give away the loot "to make them feel big", in the words of one study.

Another aspect of shop-lifting to which few give any thought is that it increases the cost of goods, to everyone. Merchants naturally have to have some protection against theft and one way of doing it is to make allowance for such loss in pricing their goods.

Such widespread dishonesty should warn us about the direction of our society (Westerners visiting Red China, for instance, report the Chinese to be scrupulously honest).

And now the good news. There are still honest men walking the streets of our town. Those tempting arrays of merchandise in our stores, so enticing to not only the itchy-fingered, have lured some of our citizenry into the pernicious practise of shop-lifting but, we believe, most of us are still basically honest. If evidence to that effect is needed we are delighted to be in a position to provide it.

Our Want-Ads last week included the offer of a reward for return of a sum of money lost Wednesday as a woman approached the Royal Bank to make a deposit. It was a sizeable sum that had slipped out of her bankbook and we commiserated with the lady as we took the ad. She had later been informed a youngster had seen a man pick up money off the street, but there was no clue as to his identity.

Somewhat shaky in this instance, our faith in human nature was completely restored, Thursday, hours after the newspaper hit the street. A lady phoned to inform us her husband had the money safely in his possession and we were happy to provide for its return to the loser.

Doubly rewarding was that phone call. Not only did it bring reassurance that people with principles still walk our streets. It was also a reminder that those little ads on our back page carry plenty of punch. We have had evidence in abundance along those lines, but these results were particularly pleasing.

If dishonesty and cheating are rife in our society, it is a theory of ours that the income tax laws, with their many loopholes, have had much to do with their emergence.

Government is grabbing all it can from those least able to protect their own interests and as a result it has fostered a code of ethics that makes cheating permissible where the tax gatherer is concerned. That breach of our standards of honesty has led to a general lowering of society's principles.

Another editorial in that same issue of The Dutton Advance brings reassurance that there are still those among us who have not succumbed. It reads:

In this day when just about everyone is looking for a hand-out, you can't help admiring the spirit of 79-year-old John Witter of Toronto.

Five days a week John slugs it out in a Toronto bakery. He's been a baker for 50 years and couldn't see any reason to quit when he became eligible for pension benefits in 1964. John has been supporting himself on the $94 a week he earns in the bakery and as long as he can keep working he doesn't intend applying for the pension.

By not claiming pension benefits and continuing to pay unemployment insurance premiums, it is estimated Mr. Witter has given the government a gift of about $7,000. He's been paying unemployment insurance for the past 33 years and has never taken a nickel out of it.

Such independence as John's is most unusual today. But isn't it refreshing?

All Guns Should Be Registered

Justice Minister Otto Lang has plans for outlawing the private possession of the semi-automatic M-1 carbine and he has stated that federal officials will study "the whole range of firearms now held by Canadians to determine what further weapons should be prohibited or restricted."

What, if any, further action such another study would lead to we have our doubts. Outlawing of one semi-automatic weapon, if it eventuates, appears to be meant as a sop to the rising chorus of public protest against too-easy gun laws. One type of weapon may be outlawed, but it seems Mr. Lang and his associates are still pawns to the armament lobbyists and crime syndicates.

Private possession of all automatic and semi-automatic guns should long since have been banned. They have no place in hunting or sport. They are the weapons of the criminally-inclined and there would be no need for the police to be armed with them if the penalties for their mere possession were made sufficiently punitive as to discourage the bank robber.

There is no valid reason the federal government should not move to require the registration of all firearms in the country. If it continues to shirk the issue it is only a matter of time until Canada will be in the same sad position as our neighbors to the south where crime walks the streets and every home is armed to resist invaders.

The argument that registration would be ineffective is a refuge for people who for whatever reason, do not consider gun controls to be desirable. Registration can only bring about an improvement in the situation, especially if resales have to be registered as well and theft or loss reported immediately to the police.

It is ridiculously easy to obtain a gun. Rifles and shotguns can be purchased over the counter at sporting-goods or hardware stores. Police permits are needed for hand guns but this kind of regulation is of limited value without licensing of all firearms. The barrels of the longer weapons are often cut.

The argument that registration would be inconvenient is strange, especially when Mr. Lang uses it to justify his hesitation about recommending full licensing to the cabinet. Registration of automobiles is inconvenient, too, but everyone is made to do it.

"The advantages that would be gained by requiring registration of shotguns or rifles used for hunting purposes would be outweighed by the disadvantages," Mr. Lang said. "The result would be that innocent citizens would find themselves violating the law."

What are the disadvantages that weigh so much? Why should anyone who wants a gun for a legitimate purpose object to registering his purchase? How would innocent citizens find themselves violating the law if they saw to it that their weapons were registered?

In addition to full licensing, the list of prohibited firearms should be extended.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

TWO COMMITTEES

Williamstown, Ont.
April 23, 1973

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

In regards to the discussion regarding the question of a community centre in Charlottenburgh Township I would like to clarify a point.

There are two different committees now active in the township. One is the recreation committee appointed by the Township of Charlottenburgh with myself as chairman.

The other is an area committee appointed at large with Don Kannon as chairman.

According to your report in last week's issue, it appeared that our recreation committee has only one concern—the building of a recreation centre.

Other recreation business conducted at the meeting consisted of $400 in funds being provided to the Char-Lan Optimist Minor Hockey Club to help defray expenses and a motion was approved that the Township of Charlottenburgh purchase a piece of land in the Glen Walter-Summerstown area suitable for a ball field, soccer, football field, and playground area. The recreation budget of $13,000 is to be presented to coun-

$ Millions To Waste

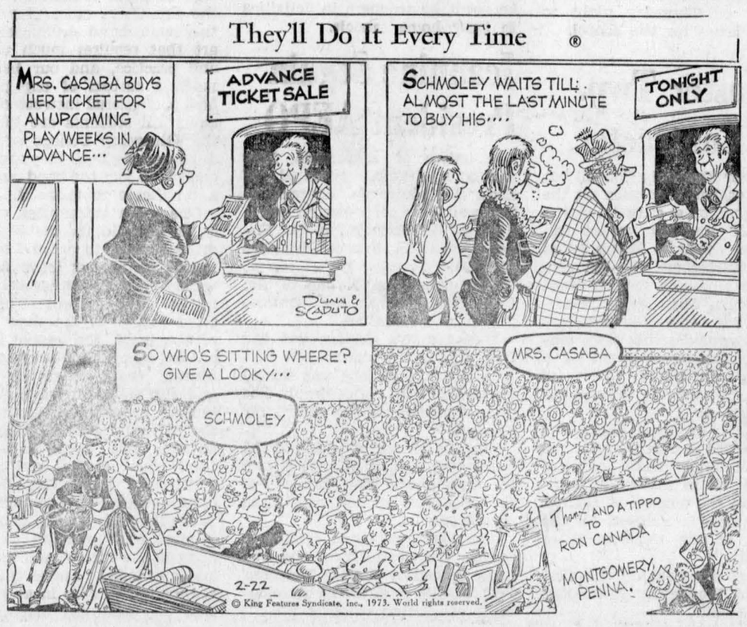
((The Ridgetown Dominion)

One sometimes feels that government bureaucracy at various levels in our own country is doing a "marvellous job" of creeping into every corner of our existence. But apparently things are much worse in other parts of the world. A recent news story from Sicily tells about bureaucratic inefficiency which resulted in the spending of 344 million dollars without a thing being done.

Five years ago an earthquake devastated 15 towns in western Sicily killing 300 persons and making 10,000 homeless. Plans were made to construct 5,000 new homes and enough industry to make 25,000 new jobs.

But plans were paralyzed by government inefficiency and as a result the earthquake victims have been forced to continue living in shacks and shanties. Meantime the $344 million earthquake aid has vanished—spent in endless studying, planning and on unfinished projects. (Sounds a bit like our own educational system, OISE and all that!)

Pointing an accusing finger at the bungling bureaucrats the Italian press figures that if the $344 million had been distributed among the people instead of being wasted on useless studies, each quake-stricken family could have built a private villa.



WITH OUR

by Ed.

US A GENERAL, TOO?

The appointment of a Glengarrian to the post of Auditor-General reminds your Rambling Reporter there is a somewhat similar sounding title in the government bureaucracy to which he has long aspired.

If and when Prime Minister Trudeau ever gets around to appointing a Receiver-General we'd be delighted to accept the position. As qualification we offer in evidence the fact that for more than 30 years we have been paying through the nose to that same Receiver-General. Practically every spare dollar we could scrape together has gone to that money starved monster in the form of personal income tax, staff deductions, sales tax, unemployment insurance, pensions, postage on papers; you name it, we pay it; but seldom if ever with a smile.

That fellow the Receiver-General must have so much money he doesn't know what to do with it; else why would he be turning so many billions of it over to the bureaucrats and politicians to squander.

Your Rambling Reporter has all kinds of ideas as to how it could be better spent and if Mr. Trudeau will give him the chance to handle all that moolah he figures he could even cut down drastically on the amount the Receiver-General needs to keep him solvent. That would be a break for the harried taxpayer; and isn't it time he was given one?

It's kind of a cosy situation we visualize. Yours truly, the Receiver-General, would be on the receiving end of that huge flood of cheques and another Glengarrian, the Auditor-General, would be keeping check on how we put it back into circulation.

It sounds so good guess we'll suggest to Auditor-General Jim that he get the Trudeau ear on it. We're such a good spender he'd hardly have to work at all at auditing our accounts.

And wouldn't it be nice to make out all those monthly cheques to "self", rather than to an avaricious, impersonal Receiver-General?

A good spender is a great guy to know. When governments assume that spendthrift role it's at our expense.

GIVE GENEROUSLY

You seldom see them on our streets and so it is hard to realize there are some fifty youngsters amongst us who are classed as crippled children.

You seldom see them because their handicaps limit their mobility and prevent them getting about as normal children do.

Some were born with defects while others have been handicapped by illness or accident. They may require special hospital treatment. therapy. training, braces or other aids which their families cannot supply and that is where the Ontario Society for Crippled Children comes in. Its Easter Seal fund is renewed each year by the donations of people right across the province and that fund is available to meet the needs of local committees that are approached for help in individual cases.

Alexandria Lions Club has been serving as campaign organizer in Glengarry for some 20 years and the club's Crippled Children's Committee is always on call when financial assistance is needed for the handicapped. Members of that committee through the years have known many instances where the Ontario Society was called on to supply more money to meet local needs than had been raised through the local campaign.

This year the local objective is $3,000 and your Easter Seal envelope was mailed out last week. Any who failed to receive the appeal may make their contribution to fund treasurer John D. Grant, St. George St., Alexandria, or to any member of the Lions Club.

These youngsters are not able to savor the returning spring as fully as most of us. Your dollars will help ease their way.

EXPENSIVE BLAZES

The local fire brigade was called out twice last week to stop threatening grass fires. Both were just outside the town limits and in at least one instance the householder who started the blaze will probably end up paying the not inconsiderable costs connected with calling out the firemen.

There will be a lot of such calls this spring, our fire chief believes. There's a lot of unsightly hay uncut last fall because of weather conditions and area residents may want to take the easy way to get rid of it. They may be unaware

North Lancaster Makes Comeback In Border League Broomball Finals

Lochiel appeared to have the championship of the Border League broomball loop all sewed up last Thursday night, but now it's a new ball game.

The Lochiel boys had won the first three games of the best-of-seven series when North Lancaster bounced back with a 2-1 win last Thursday night.

Again Monday night the North Lancaster team staved off apparent defeat when Lochiel grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first period of play. Then North Lancaster came back to life, scoring three goals in two minutes and 30 seconds to tie up the game and adding the winning score before the final bell. A crowd of 400 fans was on hand to see the exciting comeback.

Lochiel goes into tonight's game with a 3-2 edge in games. A deciding game, if necessary, will be played at 8 p.m. next Monday.

Gerry Deguire and Guy Bellefeuille were the North Lancaster scorers last Thursday. Allan MacDuff got Lochiel's single marker. John Vincent got two in Monday's win, Philip Dumouchel and Yves Pilon being credited with singles. Harold McRae counted two for Lochiel and Gerald McDonald got one.

Three Compete For McNamara Shield

A round robin series is being played for the McNamara Shield with junior age players under the Lochiel, Alexandria and Dalhousie banners in the competition.

Two games have already been played, with Alexandria beating Lochiel 9-7 and Dalhousie downing Alexandria 6-4.

On Thursday night at 9.30 Lochiel meets Dalhousie; Friday at 9.30 Lochiel and Alexandria face off, Sunday at 8.30 p.m. Alexandria and Dalhousie will play and next Thursday at 8.30 p.m. Lochiel will meet Dalhousie.

Artie McCuaig is coaching the Dalhousie team, Roch Lajoie has Alexandria and Cameron McCormick is in charge of the Lochiel squad.

Sprite All-Stars Win At Iroquois

Paced by the brilliant play of team captain Keiran McCormick and goalie Keith MacKenzie, the local Sprite All-Stars, captured the A championship at the the Iroquois tournament on Friday, March 23rd.

The locals' first game was against Spencerville and at the final whistle the score was "McCormick 5, Spencerville 1". Keiran literally tore the opposition apart scoring all five goals; two of them unassisted, two assisted by Ronnie Allison and the other set up by James Villeneuve. The second game against Iroquois was a scoreless classic until the 2 minute and 12 second mark of the second period. Ronnie Allison, with his third assist of the series, set up Jed Barker who won the game with a quick wrist shot and that goal stood up to the final whistle.

In the third and final game our boys met the strong Kemptville team. Again Keith MacKenzie, Lawrence McRae and Keiran McCormick literally carried the team on their backs until the 9.01 mark of the 3rd period. It was a scoreless game to that point, and then Keiran McCormick took a pass from Frank Morris, drew the defence off balance and fed a perfect pass to Ronnie Allison who was alone in front of the net. Ronnie, always the opportunist, made no mistake as he rifled a backhander past the surprised Kemptville goalie. Although this goal proved to be the winner the Kemptville team was by no means through and for the next four minutes they held the locals in their own end. Then with 59 seconds left, Keiran McCormick passed to Green Valley's Andre Lortie who fought his way through four Kemptville players and put the game on ice with a blistering shot to the right top corner of the net.

FOLLOWED HUSBAND IN DEATH

Her death the third in the family within the last two months, Mrs. James P. Stephenson, a resident of the Avonmore community for nearly a half century, passed away at the Cornwall General Hospital on Saturday, March 17th. Mrs. Stephenson was in her 85th year.

Her husband, Capt. James Peter Stephenson, died on January 16th and a stepson, Earl Stephenson, passed away two days later.

Mrs. Stephenson, the former Jeannie Brown, was a native of Paisley, Scotland. She came to Canada and met her husband-to-be in Montreal. They were married on Dec. 9th, 1924. From that time until she entered hospital a little more than two years ago, she lived with her husband in the old family home, First Concession of the Township of Roxborough, about three miles south of Avonmore.

She was a kind neighbor and friend and highly respected by all who knew her.

She is survived by one stepson, Percy Stephenson, Cornwall, and by one stepdaughter, Miss Luella Stephenson, L'Orignal. She was predeceased by three stepsons, Leslie, Earl and Harold Stephenson.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Thomas Arnold, a resident of the Avonmore district for the past 19 years, was found dead in his home in the Second Concession of Roxborough on Saturday, March 17th. He was 76 years of age.

Mr. Arnold, a native of England, came to Canada in 1912 and spent the greater part of his life in the Province of Quebec as an agricultural worker. He arrived in Avonmore in 1954 and worked for 16 years on the farm of Cecil Canham.

He is survived by a brother, residing in Richmond, Que.; one sister, in Australia; and another sister in England.

The body rested at the McArthur Brothers and MacNeil Funeral Home, Cornwall, where Rev. Kent Doe. of the Long Sault Parish of the Anglican Church of Canada, conducted the funeral service last Wednesday afternoon.

Interment will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery, Cornwall.

The body rested at McArthur Brothers and MacNeil Funeral Home in Cornwall where the funeral service was held on Monday afternoon, March 19th. Rev. Kent Doe, Long Sault, rector of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Avonmore, conducted the service and brought comforting words to the relatives and friends who were assembled.

Pallbearers were Robert Stephenson, Boyd Stephenson, Curtis Stephenson, Don Collins, Barry Blakely and Borden Johnston.

The body was placed in the vault in Woodlawn Cemetery to await spring burial in the family plot in Martin's Cemetery, First Concession of Roxborough.
