New plant torpedoed by economy

A press release issued this week by local MPs Denis Ethier and Ed Lumley announcing the creation of a new plant in Alexandria has proven to be inaccurate.

Mr. Ethier is the MP for Glengarry - Prescott - Russell and Mr. Lumley is MP for Stormont-Dundas and is minister of industry, trade and commerce and of regional economic expansion.

Their joint release, dated January 5, 1983, said Alexandria Footwear, a subsidiary of Rosita Shoe Co. (Canada), "will receive a $242,000 contribution toward its modernization under the Canadian Industrial Renewal Board's program of assistance to Canadian textile, clothing and footwear industries.

"The funds will be used for the construction of a new plant in Alexandria, Ontario, and the purchase of new production equipment."

Company Vice-President Ray Whippey, who is managing director of the Alexandria plant, said the grant approval is "old news," so old in fact that the deal fell through last year.

"The grant was negotiated about a year ago," Mr. Whippey said and the project cancelled by the "beginning of December."

The grant was not utilized because the company did not want to embark on a major capital project due to the state of the economy.

The company intended to make a total investment of over $1 million.

"We did very well last year, but the general state of the economy doesn't give one a great deal of confidence," Mr. Whippey said.

He said any grant arrangement would likely have to be renegotiated if the company decided to expand in the future.

He expressed surprise that a government press release had been issued indicating the project was going ahead.

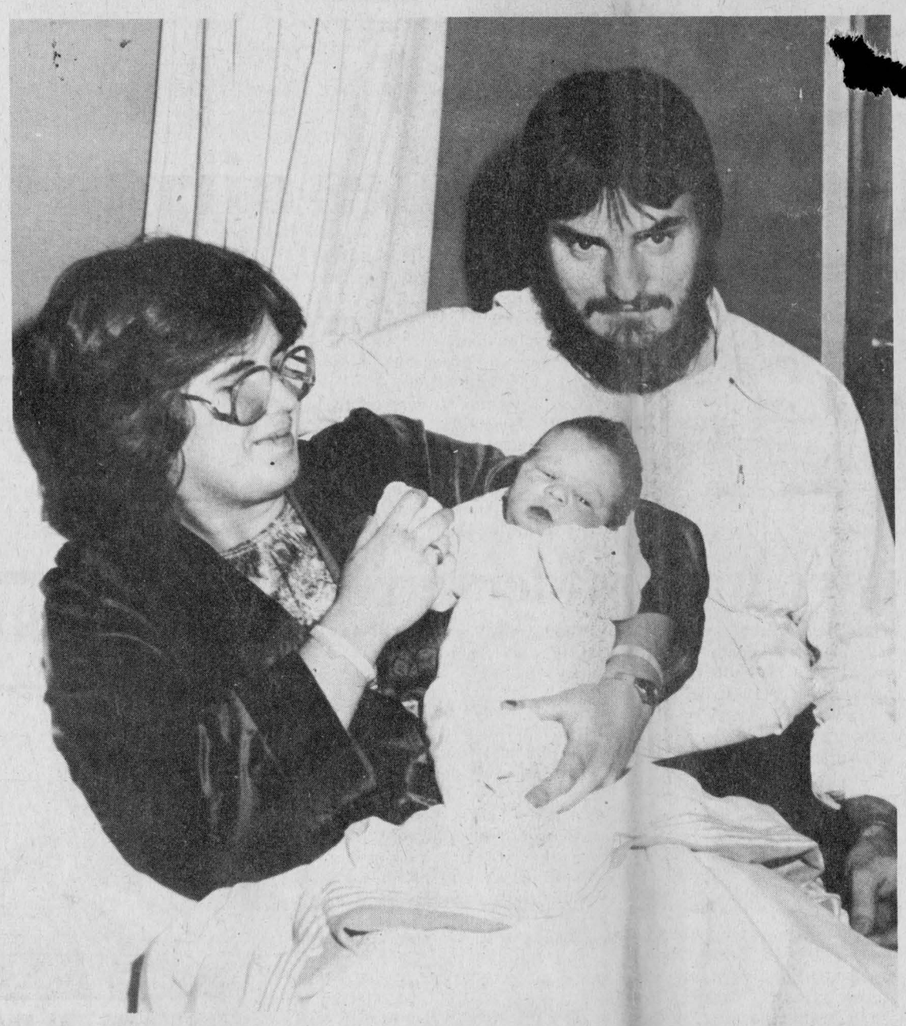
Francois Ghali of the Canadian Industrial Renewal Board, the government agency which distributed the press release, said there appeared to be some confusion and "we are investigating now with the company."

He said he was unaware the company had decided to scrap the expansion plan.

"We signed a contract with the company," he noted.

Mr. Lumley said a communication breakdown must have occurred.

He said it is customary for the government to check with the company in question before sending out releases.



BABY ARRIVED EARLY IN 1983—The first baby at Glengarry Memorial in 1983 was born on Sunday to Nicole and Pierre Valade and wee Andre is opening a wary eye on the future. This is the second grandchild for Gilbert and Laurette Sauvé of Alexandria and a sixth for Victor and Antoinette Valade of the Ninth of Lancaster.

OPP services may be coming

Representatives from the town of Alexandria met with the Ontario Solicitor-General George Taylor and other provincial officials last month in Toronto in a further attempt to secure OPP services for the town.

Mayor J. P. Touchette and Acting Police Chief Norm Mailhot, whose services are currently being provided by the OPP, travelled to Toronto on Thursday, December 16. The meeting had been arranged by Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP, Osie Villeneuve.

In addition to Mr. Villeneuve and Alexandria's representatives, attending the meeting were Mr. Taylor, Deputy Solicitor-General John Hilton, OPP Commissioner James Erskine and two members of the Ontario Police Commission.

At the town council meeting on December 21, the mayor described the meeting as "positive" and said he felt the town was "very close" to obtaining the long-awaited service. Town council made the initial request for provincial policing nearly 10 years ago.

If approved, a local OPP force could be in operation in the town as early as April 1, the start of the OPP fiscal year.

A new resolution asking for OPP services, which was requested at the Toronto meeting, was unanimously adopted by members at the council meeting.

"They were aware of what is going on and what our needs are," said Mayor Touchette.

"We have sent them a copy of the resolution as they requested and are awaiting a favorable reply in the immediate future."

He said there were some financial constraints on the part of the province, but added he was optimistic about coming to an early agreement.

Alexandria presently receives a provincial per capita grant of $12.50 for providing its own police protection.

The total police budget for 1982 was approximately $260,000 compared to the per capita grant for the year of $42,000. The additional cost of $220,000 was borne by Alexandria taxpayers.

The mayor acknowledged that the potential saving to the town would be significant and pointed out that other towns and villages don't receive a per capita grant but historically receive free police protection.

The mayor said he would prefer to see a detachment located in the town as opposed to police servicing from Lancaster or Maxville.

He also said the town had requested that all present members of the force who qualify be absorbed onto the OPP force.

"It would be a good thing for the town," said Chief Mailhot. "Better training, equipment and expertise would then be available on a regular basis."

Rights Charter halts tickets

The new Canadian Charter of Rights, which came into effect last year, has reached all the way into the pockets of Alexandria's policemen—the pockets in which parking tickets are usually carried.

The issuing of parking tickets was suspended early last month when Chief Norm Mailhot noticed that the wording on the tickets seemed to contravene one section of the Charter.

When Chief Mailhot brought the matter to the attention of town officials, who in turn consulted their solicitors, Bergeron and Filion of Cornwall, the law firm agreed that the wording was unconstitutional.

The printed wording on the tickets, in French, read: "You are presumed guilty of the offence here below."

In a letter to the town, lawyer Lawrence Filion said the wording "fails to conform with the Canadian Charter of Rights. The wording is obviously in contravention of the principle of presumed innocence as espoused in the Charter."

He suggested that the wording be changed to read: "It is alleged that you have committed the offence here below."

Chief Mailhot says he will be looking at ways to correct the situation, perhaps by simply omitting the offending section until new tickets are printed.

In the meantime, he cautioned motorists against indiscriminate parking in town.

New policy opens committee posts

Charlottenburgh Township Council has decided to open its committee system to more people.

At its last meeting, council adopted a policy to advertising openings on the various committees and ask interested citizens to apply.

Councillor Ernie Szpivak, who introduced the motion, argued the new system would create more citizen involvement in the workings of the township.

"This will give people a chance to become involved in the municipality and the democratic process as it operates here," he said.

Councillors Don Kannon and Bob Roth immediately supported the motion while Reeve Ewen MacDonald and Deputy Reeve Stuart Buchan expressed some initial reservations.

Reeve MacDonald complained that council would spend "who knows how many nights" going over responses to an advertisement.

Deputy Reeve Buchan argued that people who have some experience on committees are the best choices to fill openings on the township's planning board and committee of adjustment.

"You don't take somebody out of the boondocks and put him in the major leagues," the deputy reeve said.

"He's got to play sandlot ball first."

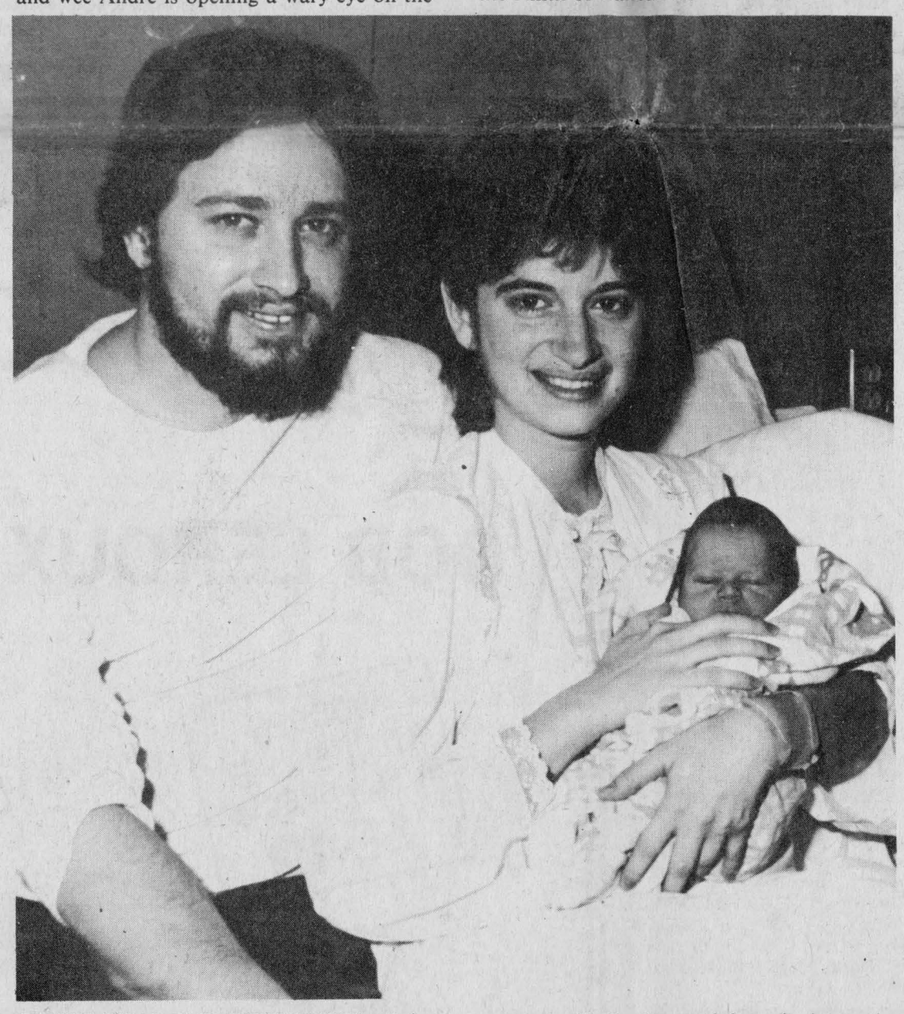
Councillor Kannon said council still had the option of re-appointing experienced people but by advertising "we get an idea who is available and interested."

He and Councillor Roth noted the current system amounted to a closed shop because only residents who knew councillors personally could ever get appointed to committees.

Councillor Roth said there may be many talented people in the township, not just those currently sitting on the committees.

The vote in favor of the new policy was unanimous.

People have until January 17 to apply for positions on the Committee of Adjustment, Fire Committee, St. Raphael's Ruins Committee, Glengarry Memorial Hospital Board, Planning Board and Recreation Board.



LITTLE YEAR-END DEDUCTION—Baby Julien Rozon put in his appearance at the Glengarry Memorial at 10:45 on New Year's Eve and parents Michel and Paulette of R.R. 2, Alexandria are justly proud of their first arrival. Lochiel Councillor Jean Lucien Laroque and wife Berthe are duly excited over the birth of their first grandchild and so are Fern and Lily Rozon of Glen Robertson, even if it is their third.

Heavies for hockey

With more than their determination showing, a large (no pun intended) group of local individuals stepped shyly up to the scales at the Alexandria police station this week for the annual weigh-in.

On Tuesday, policemen, politicians, businessmen and women and anyone else with a desire to shed a few post-Christmas pounds let it all hang out—for the record.

The objective of the exercise is to raise money for the Minor Hockey Association and to provide incentive for some of us to slim down in the process.

There's a lot of incentive!

Twenty-six people tipped the scales at a shade under two and a half tons.

The annual weight-loss competition, sponsored by the Town of Alexandria, runs from Tuesday, January 4, until Tuesday, April 5.

Each participant must shed ten per cent of his weight by April 5 or forfeit one dollar per pound of the total amount to be lost.

Deputy-Reeve John Cormier said he did quite well in the competition last year, dropping more than 50 pounds in the process.

"Both myself and Fern Seguin went well past the ten per cent mark," he said, adding that the extra poundage has since returned.

"I just couldn't push myself away from the table fast enough," he mumbled, his voice trailing off.

Others didn't fare quite as well.

Mayor J. P. Touchette, who only lost five pounds last year (his loss was ARC Industries gain) said he was determined to do better this year.

"It's so much damn fun putting it back on," he quipped.

Town's merchants battle shoplifters

A few Alexandria store owners are taking a dim view towards the continuing problem of shoplifting.

Owners of some retail outlets have recently been making effective use of security patrols in the stores, resulting in more arrests.

"There are more charges being laid now," said Police Chief Norm Mailhot, adding that at least "a couple of professional" shoplifting offenders have been discouraged from plying their trade in town.

The police chief stressed the seriousness of the offence for someone caught in the act of shoplifting.

"It is defined as theft and punishable under the Criminal code," the chief said. "A conviction can result in a permanent criminal record for any individual."

He said although there has been no noticeable increase in shoplifting activity, the number of arrests have increased because more businesses are opting to prosecute offenders.

Honored

An area weekly newspaperman, Andre Paquette, founder of the Hawkesbury Le Carillon, was honored Christmas week when he was named to the Order of Canada.

He was presented with the award by Governor General Edward Schreyer at Rideau Hall to "commemorate his ongoing contribution in helping people and his dedication in working for a better country."

Welfare costs to rise, warden says

SD&G County Warden John Cleary says rising social services costs will be the counties' top problem in 1983.

The Cornwall Reeve, installed as warden last month, said "the expenditures of these counties for social assistance during October 1982, increased by approximately 70 per cent from the same month in 1981."

The increase will hike taxes this year because the counties must pick up 20 per cent of the cost of social services. The province pays the difference.

Reeve Cleary also said provincial funding restraints will hamper county road work.

He said about one-third of the 750 kilometres (450 miles) of county-maintained roads are deficient.

"Without increased provincial funding for construction purposes, it is a situation that will probably have to be tolerated," he said.

The new warden re-iterated his township's support for a municipal airport at Bonville.

He suggested the City of Cornwall should not be going over old ground by re-investigating Massena and Summerstown sites.

He pointed to the recent publication of a history of the United Counties as an accomplishment of the previous council but added history continues to be made.

"It may be wise to initiate a program for maintaining records of current events that may be of historical significance for updating the counties' history in the future," he said.

Snow-A-Rama fate remains in doubt

Alexandria will have its own Snow-A-Rama headquarters this year, providing there is sufficient snow.

The tentative date is January 23, the same day as the one held in Cornwall.

The trip planned is 65 miles, the check points being Alexandria, Dunvegan, North Lancaster, Dalhousie and Glen Robertson and entrants must deposit $35 to qualify.

In the past years the local snowmobilers had joined the Cornwall organization in the attempt to raise money for physically handicapped children.

The event had to be cancelled two years running but last year the group had enough snow to hold a successful event with 114 riders having pledges of $8,232. All proceeds go to the Easter Seal Society.

Local co-ordinator Gerald Trottier says riders have been asked to collect as many pledges as possible so if snow makes the event possible area people will be asked to support the endeavor.

The annual Snow-A-Rama is organized all across Ontario. It will be officially launched at a press conference in Cornwall Civic Complex on January 11.

Vankleek Hill publisher dies

Publisher of the Eastern Ontario Review for 45 years, Andre Boyer died yesterday in an Embrun nursing home where he had resided for the past two years.

Mr. Boyer was associated with the paper from 1914 when he started working there after school. Fifteen years later he purchased the publication and continued its operation until 1974 when his sons, Bernard and Jean Paul took over the ownership.

The Alexandria and District Board of Trade would like some old-timers to jog their memories. It seems there was once a Lancaster Board of Trade which was formed in 1914 but there is no record of its dissolution. Some of the area included in "Alexandria District" now, was part of the territory included in the Lancaster Board back then. If there is anyone in the area who recalls anything about that long-defunct organization, please contact Pierre Aubre. Aubry who is vice-president of the Alexandria Board says any information would be helpful. Tel. 525-1055.

The Lions 300 Club draw handed out its "big prize" of $2,000 at Christmas to Leo Meloche of Alexandria. The Knights of Columbus monthly draw went in December to Mr. and Mrs. Aldege Seguin of Glen Norman, a trip to Nassau or the equivalent in cash. Theodule Desjardins won the big basket of cheer and Roger Ouimet also won a basket.

Board turned down

Charlottenburgh Township Council has turned down a request from SD&G County Roman Catholic Separate School Board that the township pay 50 per cent of the cost of establishing a crossing guard at Highway 34 at Green Valley.

Trustee Ron Eamer appeared before council at its last meeting to make the proposal. He said Lancaster Township would be asked to pick up the other 50 per cent.

Reeve Ewen MacDonald said the school is located on the Charlottenburgh side of the highway and students from the township have no business crossing the highway into Lancaster.

He suggested either the board or Lancaster Township should pay for the guard.

Councillors agreed that the safety of the children had to be taken into consideration but argued that a school responsibility should be paid for from school taxes, not local taxes.

Some councillors noted that 60 cents out of every municipal tax dollar already goes to school boards and now the board was asking for more local money.

Deputy Reeve Stuart Buchan questioned whether the township would be setting a precedent by paying for the guard and would then be deluged with similar requests.

Trustee Eamer said the township's share would only be $925.

He said the volume of traffic, particularly transports, on Highway 34 creates a dangerous situation.

He added a child crossing by the school was struck by a vehicle in 1976 and has not been able to return to school.

He said if the school board paid for the guard, the money would still ultimately come from local taxpayers.

"Well, you can pick up the tab now or we'll bill you later," he said.

Charlottenburgh nixes airport

Charlottenburgh Township Council has told the City of Cornwall to forget any plans it might have to establish a regional airport at Summerstown.

At its last meeting, council considered two motions restricting use of the airport as a municipal facility.

Council's action stems from a city council decision to review the Summerstown and Massena sites.

Several city councillors have expressed opposition to building the airport at Bonville.

Charlottenburgh Councillor Bob Roth introduced the first motion, reminding council of a 1,000-name ratepayers petition opposing expansion of the airport and council's own opposition.

"The City of Cornwall and the airport committee should be informed again of the public's hostility to an expanded municipal airport at Summerstown," he said.

Councillor Roth suggested that once the airport was designated as a municipal facility, the township might lose zoning control over the land which, in turn, could lead to expansion of the airport at a later date.

Roth's motion suggested the Airport Committee be asked several questions about its plans.

Councillor Don Kannon objected to the questions in Roth's motion on the grounds they opened the topic for discussion.

His motion opposing the airport expansion said council supports the airport owners in getting federal funds to pave but not expand the existing grass airstrip.

"Council does not support Summerstown as the location of a municipally-owned airport which is neither practical nor economical," the motion said.

Councillor Roth agreed to drop his motion and second Councillor Kannon's resolution which was carried immediately.

Want toll charges eliminated

by Velma Franklin

An important petition turned up in the Village of Maxville this week—copies are at the hardware and the variety stores.

This requests the elimination of long-distance charges on phone calls to Cornwall, and is being circulated by people who are fed up with having to pay extra for calls, usually essential, to the nearest large centre.

This isn't a new idea—twice in the past decade or so the Bell Telephone Company circulated a questionaire offering free service between the Maxville-Alexandria-Cornwall area with an insignificant monthly charge. Each time the business community and the progressive citizenry enthusiastically voted "Yes" and were defeated by the rural majority voting "No"!

Surely by now the advantages, and the enormous savings in toll charges must be obvious to everyone.

Get in there and sign that petition!

Christmas decoration winners

The Maxville Horticultural Society was delighted with the response to the Christmas Decoration competition this year—there were 40 entries, and a remarkable display of inside and outside illumination. Best Overall winners were John and Mabel Patton near Greenfield; L. Deneault of Dunvegan, Hilda and Alex MacLean of the 5th, Rox., Sheldon and Carla Rolland of Maxville, and Campbell and Lois MacLeod of Dominionville. Viola Rowe of Riceville had the Best Decorated Window, with Grace McEwen of Maxville second, and Ernie Wilkes of Fournier, third. Best Decorated Door went to Jean Metcalfe of Athol, with Grace McEwen, second, and Hilda MacLean, third. The Best Decorated Outdoor Tree belonged to Donald Munro of Maxville. Freda Greer, southeast of Maxville, was second, and Mrs. Arthur Sauve of Riceville, third.

Santa Claus toured village

In the spirit of the season Bill Munroe found himself a Santa Claus who was otherwise unoccupied last Thursday afternoon and gave him a tour of the village, with plenty of time to greet and exchange holiday messages with the many people on the streets. Santa also drew the ticket for the Lions weekly 50-50 draw, and the winner this time was Marcel Ravary of Cornwall, for $148.

Ceramic creche winners

There was another kind of Christmas display in the village this year—a special addition to the decorations on Main Street. Faye Wright had spent weeks at her ceramics classes patiently making all the figures for a creche for husband Bill's Christmas present. Duly finished in time, and set off with some straw from Hilda MacLean and a small wooden stable made by Donald McIntosh, the gift was presented on Christmas Eve—just in time to be placed in the big window of their Home Hardware and delight passers-by all through the holidays.

Spare boot

For several weeks now librarian Mrs. Nicole Dewar has been wondering why the parent of the small child who lost one little brown boot has not come back to pick it up. If you don't hurry up they may both be outgrown.

Hunter wins Lions draw

Willa Hunter will have a nice surprise when she comes home from her holiday trip, and finds out that she won the Lions Draw this week—and is the richer by $150. There are 301 names on the list now—is yours there yet?

Hockey draw

Manny's Auto Body Hockey team held a Christmas Draw at the Sports Complex a short while ago—and the winners were Harry Tessier of Moose Creek, first, and Annette Currier, second.

Christmas concert staged by residents at Manor

There was a lovely little concert at the Maxville Manor on the Monday before Christmas, staged by the residents for their friends in the Auxiliary and the volunteers with the help of Grades 3, 4 and 5 and their teacher from St. Bernard's Separate School.

The program began with Ann Leroux singing "Holy Night" then all the pupils marched on stage with "O Come All Ye Faithful," Mrs. Wightman providing the piano accompaniment, and Grace Doth minding the curtains.

There were readings in the spirit of the season by many of the residents—Hazel MacCallum, Mrs. Cameron, and Mr. Bray. Isobel MacRae read the poem "Love Came Down on Christmas Day," and all joined in carols.

The rather bare-looking little Christmas tree on the stage was delightfully decorated by all the children pulling tinsel, stars, and ornaments from a box on the stage and singing "O Christmas Tree" as they worked.

Neil D. MacLeod gave a stirring reading of the familiar passages from St. Luke, and the old carol "Joy to the World" rang out.

In a lighter vein Natasha Boucher and Sandra Rolland sang a very funny duet "I'm getting Nothing for Christmas," and resident Rene Carriere gave a splendid rendition of "Silver Bells."

There were readings by Mr. Helmer and Bill Docksteader.

The children appeared, to march into the auditorium once again, all clad in their pyjamas and clutching their toys for a lively "Toyland" on stage, with a real Grandma joining them for a reading of "The Night Before Christmas."

Mrs. MacKinnon read a Christmas Prayer, with expressions of remembrance and appreciation for the companionship and thoughtfulness of the Auxiliary, and Santa arrived for the finale of "Silent Night."

Huge crowd attends concert

(Intended for last issue)

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The final full week before Christmas was a very busy one for most students at Char-Lan. Many were involved in our eighth annual Christmas concert, held on Thursday night. A huge crowd (extra chairs had to be placed to accommodate everyone) watched the program. Three plays: Snow Flake and the Six Dwarfs; Christmas shopping (with Patrice Major as the shopper and Linda Colosimo as the store owner) and the Night Before Christmas, narrated by Heather Viscount, with Ron Roy as "I"; were professionally performed by the Grade 13 and 12 drama classes. The Francais Club sang Christmas Carols in French, and Rachel Poirier sang a beautiful solo. The junior band was conducted by Lisa Armstrong and Mr. Bryan for four members. The Jazz Band played three numbers under Mr. Stewart's direction.

The Senior Band also played four numbers, finishing the night with a sing-along—White Christmas. The choir is to be thanked for its contribution of four numbers. Finally, Andrew Ferguson read the traditional letter to Santa, which was very funny.

Marlene MacDonald acted as Master of Ceremonies. The entire night was a great success.

BASKETBALL

The Boys Basketball team's first game was on Thursday. They played Glengarry. Both teams lost.

HOCKEY

The hockey team entered a tournament on Friday. Their first game was won 3 to 1 over North Dundas. Their second game was also a success—6 to 4 over Tagwi. But their last game they lost in overtime. However, they placed well overall.

Sixty-one years in retrospect

by Angus H. McDonell

Today is January 6, formerly known in religious circles as the Feast of the Nativity, now automatically observed on the first Sunday after New Year's. (Three Kings' Day or "Little Christmas" if you like.) Today the first 1983 News issue rolls off the press. Today is also of special anniversary significance to this writer. Sixty-one years ago, January 6, 1922, I drafted a rough brief of a hockey game for the Glengarry News, my first.

I was not the motivator of submitting the copy. Here is how my delightful association with Glengarry's renowned institution began. On January 6, 1922, another chapter was added to Glengarry sport history by the launching of The Little Four Hockey League, a doubleheader. Apple Hill at Maxville, Third Kenyon at Martintown.

I was our beloved Third Kenyon's (now Hwy. 43) stick boy. A light burden to carry, four or five, from Big Johnny Mac's hotel, Martintown, now the Grand, to the rink, the present Aubin Garage corner.

The Becksteads, Kiers, Creswells and more led Martintown by quite a margin. But defeat didn't subdue the sportsman's spirit of our leading (and Alexandria, too) booster Danny (Sandy Angus) McDonald. After the game "Danny Sandy," as he was widely and popularly known, handed me a scribbled facsimile of a score-sheet with the following instructions: "Here, make up a game report and on your way to school (AHS) give it to the News editor, Col. A. G. F. Tell the Col. that Danny Sandy told you to do this for Third Kenyon and sport publicity."

Timidly I walked to The News counter and presented my copy. I was met by the editor. I related Danny Sandy's message. Believe me, I was tense. But only for a few moments. The editor, Col. A. G. F. Macdonald, scanned my copy and with a smile commented, "Very good young man. Anytime you have a report like this, don't wait for Danny Sandy to send you here."

Reporting concession obituaries, personals, school and factory meetings became routine.

The News office, three score years ago, was quite a contrast to the present. Col. A. G. F., owner, editor, publisher, you name it, sat at a desk where his successor, Eugene A. (Gene Sandfield) still works. The editor's secretary, Miss Ella (Donald Roy) Macdonald, was a gifted pioneer in shorthand and typing. (The Macdonalds lived where the Sauve Real Estate is now located.) Madge Layland met the trains and compiled a lengthy column of personals and other items.

There was a partition separating the office from the shop. And it was a necessity. The "clang-clang" of the linotype arm and on Friday the "bang-bang" of the gas engine powering the old flatbed (8-page) press created a lot of noise. I didn't know the shop crew in those days but most likely there was a Sabourin and an apprentice named Eddie Poirier, Laurent's father.

A feature of The News, at that time, was placing auction sale advertising on boards and hanging them on a steel pipe across the front window. And when Alexandria played hockey out of town, the editor, a fine sportsman, posted the score among the sales. Still another feature was the printing and posting of small, edged in black, death notices giving brief detail of the deceased. They would be tacked on the hydro poles in front of the Ottawa Hotel, the Post Office and the Banks. Fond memories.

And now let us recall some of those fond memories. However, bear in mind readers, they never would have been highlights of my life only for my association with the Letter From Home.

On a rainy night in early May, 1924, I represented The News as Glens' sport history was recorded in Dunvegan, the founding of the Glengarry Football (now soccer) League. It was horse and buggy to Greenfield and with their delegates by car to Dunvegan.

My first News travelogue story was about a two-day motor trip to the North Bay suburban home of the world famed Dionne Quintuplets. They were toddling around their lawn playground after celebrating their first birthday in 1935.

Then came the 1938-39-40 heroics of Maxville Millionaires, in the Ottawa Auditorium. In my first trip to the press box I told Citizen editor Tommy Shields that I was representing The Glengarry News. "The Glengarry News," he exclaimed, "Welcome, and how is our old friend, Col. A. G. F? He was our O.C. of the old 59th. A gruff, disciplinary officer, a fine battalion commander and newspaper journalist on civic street with a warm friendly heart beneath it all." From that glad hand greeting in the press box, because I was part of The News, I have never looked back.

In 1942, Nova Scotia's Premier, The Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, became minister of naval affairs in MacKenzie King's wartime cabinet. I generated enough courage to call this noted Cape Bretoner's office inquiring if it was possible to have a secretary obtain information relative to a brief interview questionnaire. In reply, appointment time was set. To my amazement, I was ushered into the minister's office. The Hon. Angus L. was familiar with the "Sandfield" history that included the founding of The Glengarry News. Hence, I was to meet him personally. What an interesting, delightful interview. I became so at ease I concluded by inviting him to be our St. Andrew's banquet guest speaker in the Alexander Hall. He graciously accepted, and some time later to the Glengarry Highland Games.

Moving on to the late 40's and early 50's, there was the Highland Games and reporting to The News of the anticipated Ottawa crowd travelling by special train to the opening, including Prime Minister King.

The 60's were a memorable decade. There was that deserving testimonial dinner tendered editor Gene in recognition of his journalistic awards from the provincial and national associations. Editor colleagues from across Ontario attended and the guest speaker was Frank (CFRA) Ryan.

There were travelogue stories relative to a Maritime trek, Western Canada, the Parade of Roses and Rose Bowl game capped by touring Western Europe, England, Scotland and Ireland. The Canadian Pacific was aware of The News publicity and treated Bea and I as VIPs as we embarked on the Empress of Canada at Liverpool.

And there was the 1963 scramble for a News Highland Games' story confirming that Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, via helicopter, would be in Maxville as our official guest.

Among the several sport highlights—on our way to Vancouver Grey Cup, I walked back to the Saskatoon coach. A typical Glengarry holler boomed over the revelry, "Here comes Alexandria and The Glengarry News. How is the Rambling Reporter (Editor Gene)? We surely enjoy that feature among many," and on and on. That was Saskatoon druggist, a MacMillan with Glengarry ties and a cousin of Keith MacMillan. And that Sunday a.m. in Montreal's Champlain Hotel, (Gene and I were Forum hockey guests of Vern (Gazette) DeGeer and Dinney Dinsmore), a call from a genuine Glengarry booster in Regina, Hub Bishop, retired sports writer, quote, "Frank Boucher a great guest speaker choice, contact Dink (Gazette) Carroll, Frank is in Montreal." That was the spark that brought to Alexandria Lions the greatest array of sports personnel in Glengarry's sport history. Gene quipped, "That class calls for a Sportsmen's Dinner News Heading."

How can we forget hurdling an obstacle to complete the News' story of the great 1964 Peewee Glens' Lake Placid championship. We arranged a News photo following the game. The story was set . . . plus Gene's commentary "Beware of The Glens" . . . but no photo. Called Lake Placid . . . photo ready but too late for the mail . . . I'll drive for photo . . . advised to stop at Malone State Troopers' office . . . photo rushed by Lake Placid Trooper to Franklin County line . . . second Trooper of relay team on to Malone . . . I gun our car to Standard Freeholder for 9 p.m., scan machine whirls out copy . . . at the News by 10 p.m. . . . thus completing the year's best sport story for next a.m. press run. (After those hectic hours you can bet we hoisted a hefty nightcap.)

We will conclude with the assertion that the occasion most cherished in those 61 years of pleasant association was last July 14, at the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame dinner, when I was part of the presentation of the Canadian Weekly prestigious Golden Quill to Eugene Alexander Macdonald.

Jr. B winless in three attempts

The Alexandria Junior B Glens came up winless in three tries over the holidays.

The Glens managed a tie with the Morrisburg Lions, but dropped a pair of close decisions to Winchester and Navan.

"It's frustrating," said coach Barry MacDonald. "We've dominated every game and we should have won them."

He said the last few games have come right down to the wire but the team hasn't been able to "finish it off," in spite of some good opportunites.

"We pressed our advantage but the moment we relaxed for a second, the other teams would score on us," MacDonald said.

The Glens remain in fifth place in the league, two points behind Morrisburg.

On December 28, the Navan Grads narrowly edged the Glens 4-3 at the Sports Palace.

The Grads jumped into the lead in the second period on a pair of goals by Alain Berube, but Kennedy MacDonald and Grant Crack replied to tie the game going into the third.

The Glens took the lead briefly in the third on Daniel St. Jean's marker, but the Grads came back to tie the game in the final minutes. With less than half a minute remaining, Leo Duford found the net to clinch the victory for Navan.

On December 29, the Morrisburg Lions turned a possible rout into an 8-8 tie, in spite of a 6-3 Glens lead at the end of the first.

Grant Crack paced the scoring with a hat trick, while single markers came off the sticks of Ron Besner, Claude Halle, Charlie Giroux, Luc Sabourin and Andy McRae.

On January 2, the Glens dropped another close match to the Hawks at Winchester, 7-6.

Stephen Bertrand led the way with two, Luc Sabourin, Grant Crack, Kennedy MacDonald and Kevin Primeau added singles.

MacDonald said he has been negotiating with Hawkesbury for another defenseman and hopes to have something finalized by this weekend.

"We need another body in that area," he said. "We've been playing (defenseman) Andy McRae forward and would like to leave him up if we can get another defenseman."

However, things may not get much better in the immediate future. The Glens are scheduled to play their next game against the league-leading Metcalfe Jets this Friday at the Sports Palace.

Jan. 2, Metcalfe 10, Clarence Creek 2; Winchester 7, Alexandria 6; Morrisburg 11, Char-Lan 7.

Took "B" honors

by Claudette Francoeur

Monday, December 27, the Bank of Montreal Peewee Glens hosted their annual tournament at the Glengarry Sports Palace. Teams from Char-Lan, Embrun, North Glen Stor, Cornwall, Vaudreuil, South Stormont and Hawkesbury were participating. The local squad took the "B" honors while South Stormont swept the "A" division championship.

In the preliminary morning game, Alexandria had a poor performance and went down to defeat 3-1 to Char-Lan who received outstanding goalkeeping from Philip Poitras. Wally MacDonald, Doug Hyde and Brian Page scored for the winners. Alain Rochon on a set-up by Andrew Sauve and Pierre Cuerrier netted the Glens lone goal.

Alexandria rebounded in the "B" semi-final and posted a 6-1 win over Cornwall B. This victory permitted the Glens to reach the consolation final. Michel Duval recorded a double with one goal following a penalty shot. Pierre Cuerrier, Alain Rochon and Marc Sauve each had one goal and one assist while Michel Lefebvre picked up a single. Mike and Andrew Sauve had one helper each. Stephane Landriault earned the win. Michael Pettinella scored Cornwall's lone goal.

In the consolation final, Alexandria and Vaudreuil were flying in high gear but the Bank of Montreal Glens, supported by their loud fans prevailed and won a 7-4 contest to the Vaudreuil Voyageurs. The goalie, Stephane Landriault, picked up his second consecutive win. Michel Duval, who was chosen the MVP for Alexandria, was the offensive gun with three goals and two assists. Paul Vincent also played great with a single and three assists. Alex Maclaren, Mike Sauve and Marc Sauve each had one goal and one assist. Alain Larocque also drew one helper. Martin Ditomaso, Patrick Blanchette, Alain Cousineau and David Daigle were Vaudreuil scorers. David Daigle was chosen the MVP for the Voyageurs. Claude Sauve, Vaudreuil goaltender had a great performance in spite of the loss.

"A" CHAMPIONSHIP

South Stormont and Char-Lan played a real nail-biter in the "A" final but South Stormont hung on to win by a 4-2 decision. Dale Murray copped the MVP honors for South Stormont while Devon MacDonald won the medal for Char-Lan.

Mayor Jean Paul Touchette was on hand to present plaques, donated by the town to both winning teams, South Stormont and Alexandria.

The Bank of Montreal Peewee travelling team appreciates all the people who helped to make this event a success.

CAN'T BEAT THE OPEN SPACES—Alexandria Lake was a winter wonderland last weekend as there was just enough snow to measure out a hockey rink but not enough to halt the skaters from sailing full speed around the expanse of ice. Curlers held turkey bonspiel

by Janet Marr

Ken Brown and his team of Edna Peterson, Ross MacGillivray and Suzanne Decoste were the big bird winners in the annual Turkey Bonspiel held at the Alexandria Curling Club.

Runners-up in the A class were Art Craig, skipping for Jack Paavila, Janet Marr, Guillaume Decoste and Lucille Lalonde.

B class winners were Jerry Adams, Joan Ryan, John Howieson and Viola McRae who defeated Mike Samson and his rink of Debbie Ryan, Don MacLennan and Sheila Olson.

Hubert Hay, skipping the team of Germaine Lalonde, Bill MacGillis and Tena Giroux won the C class in a final game against Brian Clinton, Carol Baxter, Stuart MacDonald and Ann MacDonald.

The 26-team draw was organized by Nicky Trudel, Joan Ryan, Peggy Lafave and Norm Campbell. A visit from St. Nick wound up the event.

In regular club play, the Town of Alexandria Business People's Trophy was captured by Chris Jourdeuil and his team of Joan Ryan, Cookie Ewaschuk and Robert Williamson.

The President's Prize, trophy for the first men's draw, was won by Stan Fraser with Brian Clinton and Ron Allison. The second men's draw was taken by Kaye Hay and his rink of Harold MacLeod, Don MacLennan and Louis Bray.

The final game of the ladies fall draw, a match between the teams of Germaine Lalonde and Patch Macdonell, will be played in January.

At a recent club executive meeting, conveners for several upcoming bonspiels were named. Kaye Hay will be in charge of the Outside Invitational mixed spiel on January 14 and 15, when club members are welcome to watch the curling. Claudette Larocque and Hugh Allan McDonald are conveners for the annual Molson Spaghetti Bonspiel on January 21 and 22.

The Carnival Bonspiel, January 28, 29 and 30, the first major event of the Alexandria Winter Carnival, will be organized by Joan Ryan, Dr. Claude Nadeau and Gaetan Ravary. Those interested in entering a team, with two curlers and two non-curlers, are invited to contact the organizers.

by Marguerite Seger

Alexandria and area relatives and friends were shocked to learn of the sudden and untimely passing of Mary McIntosh Bougie of Montreal formerly of Alexandria, which occurred at the York County Hospital, Newmarket, Ontario on Monday, December 27, in her 52nd year.

She was born in Alexandria on February 16, 1931, Mary McIntosh a daughter of the late Dr. D. D. McIntosh DDS and his wife the former Christena Kerr. Following her education here, she entered the employ of Bell Canada for a few years prior to entering upon a nursing career. She graduated from St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing with high honors and continued in her field for some time, prior to becoming an airline stewardess for a period of some five years.

On May 14, 1960 she was married at St. Finnan's Cathedral to Guy Bougie of Montreal, and they took up residence there. She was devoted to her nursing career and continued nursing although in declining health for several years. Recently she re-wrote her exams and came second. Mary was a very gracious and charming person, warm hearted and friendly.

She and her mother had gone to spend Christmas with her brother-in-law and sister, Bernard and Ann O'Brien in Campbellford when she was stricken with virus pneumonia and was rushed to hospital at Newmarket where she passed away.

J. O'Flaherty of Montreal. Msgr. McDougald gave the readings while Msgr. Kerr delivered a homily on the Resurrection and the mystery of life and death.

SOVA—MASSIA

Exchange vows

Wedding vows were pledged in the Church on the Hill, Alexandria, at 4 p.m., Sept. 18, 1982, by Helen Massia, Alexandria, and Doug Sova of Glen Roy. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles-Emile Massia and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sova.

Rev. Janice Stevenson officiated. Mrs. Jane Wightman was at the organ and Mrs. Dorothy Bush was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white nylon organza with sweetheart neckline, full bishop sleeves, ruffled chapel-length train. The gown was trimmed with Chantilly lace and she wore a matching mantilla with two-tier fingertip veil. She carried red roses as did her attendant, Carole Aubin.

Gordon Sova of Toronto, was best man for his brother and the ushers were Roch Massia and Jim Sova, brothers respectively, of the bride and groom.

Following a reception at the Glengarry Sports Palace the young couple left on a wedding trip to Quebec City and Vermont. The bride dawned a woolen two-piece blue suit for travelling.

They will reside at Glen Roy.

Guests were present from Almonte, Waterloo, Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Cornwall, Hawkesbury, Monkland and the area.

Large crowd enjoys concert

All roads led to Ste. Anne's School December 22 when a large crowd enjoyed a Christmas concert sponsored by East Hawkesbury United Church.

Rev. Janice Stevenson emceed a program which was enjoyed by young and old alike.

When the curtains parted on approximately 35 children doing their little Jingle Bell routine, followed by several Christmas songs, we were all taken back in time to other Christmases of long ago with improvised stages in one-room school houses.

Perhaps the item on the program which aroused the most emotion was the singing of the lovely carol "Silent Night, Holy Night," done by five Austrian and Swiss children in the original German.

We had recitations, piano and accordion selections, tap dancing and a jazz routine, all done by the children. Several vocalists also did their bit in making the evening a success and, of course, no concert would be complete without Scottish music. There were bagpipes, violins, accordions and piano bringing us some toe-tapping music.

The final number on the program was, of course, a visit from a well known gentleman with lots of goodies for the children.

Our Christmas Bake Sale was a great success and we sincerely wish to thank all those good people who come to our concerts from year to year and support us in so many ways. Our thanks, as well, to all those artists from near and far who made a special effort to do their bit for our concert.

A generous lunch served by the ladies brought the evening to a close.

IT'S WORTH THE SHORT DRIVE FOR GREAT SAVINGS AT THE MOOSE CREEK MALL'S ANNUAL JANUARY SALE

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Bishops' stand very timely

There was a time when religious leaders in this country stayed out of political controversies. If they did enter into a political debate, it was often to support the status quo. Religious leaders in Canada have not been known for their radicalism.

Little wonder then that a recent denunciation of government economic policy by Canadian bishops has ignited a furious debate.

The stand by the Roman Catholic Bishops of Canada is particularly significant because it goes beyond mere platitudes about social justice and unemployment. It makes a dramatic statement which strikes at the heart of the capitalist system. It says people should come before profits.

The statement talks of a "deepening moral crisis" facing all capitalist countries.

The statement has also drawn the support of some prestigious Anglican bishops.

"Churches must be concerned with the welfare of the people more than whether or not great profits are made," Edwin Lackey, the Anglican Bishop for Ottawa said.

"Whenever society focuses on profits instead of the individual then we're in trouble. We must have a new awareness of the individual and those who are unemployed."

Canadian Anglican Primate Edward Scott also described the Catholic stand as "positive."

The statement said "the needs of the poor have priority to the wants of the rich. The rights of workers are more important than the maximization of profits."

One Ottawa priest, speaking in support of the bishops' position, stated frankly, "I think the unbridled capitalist system is dangerous. I think there is excessive praise given to the strivers."

The bishops' statement has drawn fierce negative reaction from some of Canada's business leaders and at least one Catholic bishop has expressed reservations about the tough stand.

Of course, as Winnipeg Archbishop Adam Exner noted, Christ often said things that upset the status quo.

"Christ himself said things which at times the wealthier people didn't particularly like. When there is a question of justice or morality involved, we have to throw stones in a certain direction and whoever happens to be there gets hit. And if the rich happen to be in that area, that's just too bad," the archbishop said.

The bishops blasted government wage control programs as benefitting the wealthy and urged a greater role for organized labor in economic policy making.

The church leaders also expressed concerns over government cuts in social spending and welfare programs.

As Bishop John O'Mara of Thunder Bay said, "it's not enough to just make minor changes, or cosmetic changes. There is a basic moral disorder in the whole economy as we see it. We have to have an economy based on the importance of labor."

No doubt the statements will cause a rousing debate among Catholics themselves. What the bishops are talking about is a fundamental re-organization of our economy. Some critics will undoubtedly go so far as to denounce the statement as "communistic."

But the issue is not one of capitalism versus communism. It is one of building a Christian community. Christ taught that we should treat each other as brothers and sisters, as a family. He shared all that he had, He fed the hungry. He healed the sick. He did not exploit anyone. He did not acquire wealth. In fact, he shunned wealth as did his disciples.

Any economic system that puts money ahead of people is simply not Christian by any denominational standard.

The fundamentals for social interaction as taught by Christ could not be more clear—love and co-operation. A system based on competing economically against one another is bound to clash with Christian principles. One cannot serve both God and Mammon.

In a competitive society, the "best" people will win and the rest "lose." In a Christian society, there would be no losers. Christians don't try to beat their fellows across the finish line of life. They pick up the slow and the weak and carry them across the line with them.

Any socio-economic system which teaches otherwise richly deserves the wrath of Christian leaders.

Christian "charity" or "justice"

In recent years, many religious denominations have begun to challenge the concept of organized charity. One such group is the Scarboro Missions of the Catholic Church in Canada. The following excerpts from the Scarboro Missions newsletter challenges Christians to deal with some of the root causes of suffering, instead of emphasizing patchwork solutions.

While recognizing that individual acts of charity are essential to the Christian faith, the newsletter warns that organized charity can deflect people from the real issues:

The type of charity we question is most certainly not of the personal, but rather, of the organized variety. Many large international charitable organizations, despite their many good and admirable works, have become so caught up in treating the victims of, for example, hunger, that they have unconsciously deflected people's attention from the political and economic causes of that human scourge. As a result, many well-meaning people donate large sums of money to have food distributed to the starving masses when it might have been better spent on a program of agrarian reform that would do away with the inequitable ownership of land that denies the small farmer his very means of subsistence and condemns him to a state of perpetual hunger and impoverishment.

A simple "parable" from the Australian Council of Churches points out the inadequacies of the traditional institutional way of helping the "less fortunate."

Once upon a time there was a small village on the edge of a river. The people there were good and so was life in the village. One day a villager noticed a baby floating down the river. He quickly jumped into the river and swam out to save the baby from drowning.

The next day the same villager was walking along the river bank and noticed two babies in the river. He called for help, and both babies were rescued from the swift waters. And the following day four babies were seen caught in the turbulent current. And then eight, then more, and still more.

The villagers organized themselves efficiently. The rescue squads were now snatching many children each day. Groups were trained to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Others prepared formula and provided clothing for the chilled babies. Many were involved in making clothing and knitting blankets. Still others provided foster homes and placement. While not all the babies could be saved, the villagers felt they were doing well to save as many as they could each day.

One day, however, someone raised the question, "But where are all these babies coming from? Who is throwing them into the river? Why? Let's organize a team to go upstream and see who's doing it?"

The seeming logic of the elders countered: "And if we go upstream, who will operate the rescue operations? We need every concerned person here."

"But don't you see," cried the one lone voice, "if we find out who is throwing them in, we can stop the problem and no babies will drown. By going upstream we can eliminate the cause of the problem."

"It's too risky."

And so the numbers of babies who drown increase daily. Those saved increase, but those who drown increase even more.

To further highlight concern over Christians paying mere lip-service to the cause of justice, Scarboro Missions also reprinted the following "gospel" written by an unknown Christian living in Latin America:

I was hungry,
but you formed a humanities club to discuss my hunger.
I was imprisoned,
but you crept off quietly to your chapel to pray for my release.
I was naked,
but in your mind you debated the morality of my appearance.
I was sick,
but you knelt to thank God for your health.
I was homeless,
but you preached to me of the spiritual shelter of the love of God.
I was lonely,
but you left me alone to pray for me.
You seem so holy, so close to God,
but I'm still very hungry and lonely and cold.

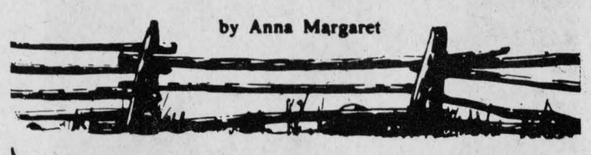
'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret



Ellen lay in her hospital bed choking back the tears. It was New Year's Day and the year ahead held little to anticipate. The car accident had left her paralysed from the neck down—a quadraplegic.

Perhaps it wouldn't be so hard to bear if her mind had been affected as well, she thought, but if anything it was more aware and sensitive than ever, emphasizing the contrast to her lifeless body.

Bob had left to go home, his face lined with worry. How could her husband accept her in this condition, how could she expect him to remain faithful in the years ahead? Recalling the times she had felt fed up with marriage and its responsibilities she wondered if she had been out of her head. What she wouldn't give to just know that she could have life with Bob in its entirety for years to come. Years to come! She couldn't let herself think like this. She could barely stand to look to the end of today.

Six-year-old Sammy had sent her a picture of the dog. Sammy was always drawing. On the margins of books and magazines, on the note pad on the fridge, in the steam on the bathroom walls, in the dust on the car. Never on paper or books he was supposed to use. Scolding didn't matter. How could she ever have scolded him, why hadn't she recognized his designs as talent instead of mischief? Things seemed so much clearer from her hospital bed.

Daughter Cathy had sent her cookies she made from a mix. She was only 10 but loved to cook. Ellen wondered about the dishes. Cathy wasn't so fond of cleaning up after the cooking projects. Ellen choked up when Bob told her he had taken Cathy to have her hair cut because he couldn't manage her braids. How come she had never appreciated being able to do all those little everyday things with her husband and family, Ellen questioned herself? Why had she felt tied down and full of self-pity?

It wasn't just the family either. She remembered begrudging the little donation she gave her neighbor who came collecting for the Red Cross. No, she had no time to go help at the Blood Donor Clinic, she told her friend. Yet if it wasn't for all the blood she was given after the accident she couldn't be alive now. Ellen wasn't sure she wanted to be alive though. But she was. And she had to face it.

Why did she have to go through this kind of agony to have her eyes opened? Surely others learned their lessons less severely. Why her?

Dear God, if only I was well again, I would never complain! I would sit down at the start of this New Year and make a list of all the ways I could make my family happy. I would make a list of all the ways I could improve myself and my community.

But what can I do, when I can't even move a foot, a finger?

But wait, her foot was moving. Her hand, someone was holding her hand. How come she could feel it?

Bob was bending over her—"For heaven's sake Ellen, you must have the New Year's Eve party slept off by now. Time to get up and count your New Year's resolutions!"

Ellen could scarcely believe she could move. Her dream had been so real.

Resolutions! The word engulfed her. She was well and she was mobile. Dear God, what power she had!

It was the beginning of a new year and she held the whole world in her hands.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Speak gently, it is better far
To rule by love than fear.
Speak gently, let not harsh words mar
The good we might do here.

Speak gently, love doth whisper low
The vows that true hearts bind.
And gentle friendship's accents flow,
Affliction's voice is kind.

Speak gently to the poor,
Let no harsh tone be heard.
They have enough they must endure,
Without an unkind word.

Speak gently to the erring—know
They may have toiled in vain,
Perchance unkindness made them so
Oh win them back again.

Speak gently. He who gave his life
To bend man's stubborn will,
When elements were in fierce strife,
Said to them "Peace be still."

Speak gently, 'tis a little thing
Dropped in the heart's deep well;
The good, the joy which it may bring
Eternity shall tell.

Char-Lan Midgets capture 'A' trophy at Winchester

Char-Lan's Midget Travelling team players came home with an "A" Championship, when they played in the Winchester Tournament during the Christmas break.

In their first game, they disposed of Russell easily, outskating them to a 5-1 decision. Blake Hambleton and Dave Dupuis led the way with two goals each and Randy Collette added a single.

They had a much more difficult time in their semi-final game, as North Glen Stormont played a strong checking game to force the contest into four overtime periods, before Blake Hambleton connected with his second goal of the game to clinch the win for Char-Lan. Alain Menard, Jean Luc Menard and Carey Collette each had one apiece for Char-Lan.

In the final game, Char-Lan faced Metcalfe for the "A" Championship, and were never in trouble as they dominated the game from start to finish with a powerful skating attack to rout the Metcalfe Jets 5-0. Blake Hambleton paced Char-Lan with three goals and Alain Menard added a pair. David Carmody and Dan Fourney provided the shutout goaltending.

Blake Hambleton was chosen Most Valuable Player for Char-Lan.

Char-Lan, after a rocky beginning, has improved steadily with every outing and has lost only once in their last nine games. Their next Lower St. Lawrence League games will be a home and home series against Cornwall this week.

CHRISTMAS WINNERS—Mr. and Mrs. Aurel Rozon of Lochiel St. got a little extra Christmas joy when they won the $1,000 Draw at Tapis Richard Carpet Inc. on Christmas Eve. Richard Ranger (centre) owner, had been promoting a trip or cash prize since last Fall.

NEWS FROM DUNVEGAN

by Marion L. Loewen
527-2284

With the many family gatherings and festive parties over the holidays, I'm sure that most people had a very happy holiday, and may I add my wish for a very blessed New Year. Please don't forget to give me your news in 1983, and I thank all those who so kindly helped make this column in 1982. When was the last time you gave me details of a happy event in your daily routine? How about a New Year's resolution to let us share in your happiness at least once every two months, if not oftener.

KENYON CHURCH INDUCTION SERVICE

The induction of the Rev. Gordon H. Fresque as moderator of the Presbytery of Glengarry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will be held in Kenyon Church, Dunvegan, on Sunday, January 9 at 3 p.m. A service of "Holy Communion" will follow the induction service. The contralto solo, "Take My Life and Let It Be" will be sung by Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart. Angus K. MacQueen is the church organist. Light refreshments will be served following the service. The morning service on January 9 has been withdrawn and the Sunday School which usually meets at 11 a.m. will be held at 3 p.m. for this Sunday only. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Home for Christmas to visit with their parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. MacLeod, and Kennie, were Joyce of Kingston and Norma of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer MacDonald entertained quite a few of their friends and neighbors on New Year's Eve.

Taking advantage of the unseasonally warm weather, Mrs. Mina Hampel of the Maxville Manor spent an afternoon with her daughter, Marion and John Loewen, returning home in the evening.

Skye WMS will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Mack MacRae on Thursday afternoon. We hope all members will be able to attend and visitors are always welcome.

Betty Kennedy, Dunvegan, the Rev. Duncan and Katalin Kennedy, Maxville, and Elma Kennedy, Ottawa, spent Christmas day with MacRae and Kathryn Kennedy in Glencairn.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Christopher, and niece Lisa Harper, accompanied John and Marion Loewen to Dunvegan, returning home to Kemptville on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Fresque and the church choir presented the service at the Maxville Manor Chapel on Sunday afternoon. Angus MacQueen was the organist.

We are sorry to hear that Angus Neil MacLeod has not been feeling well. We hope he will soon be able to be out again.

Fiona Lundie visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ian Lundie, Marshall and Laura, at Christmas.

DUNVEGAN WINGS

On Sunday, December 26, our Dunvegan hockey team won the "B" series Boxing Day Hockey Tournament. Unfortunately, on their first game, they had only eight players and lost 6 to 3 to a senior team, "Kammas," who went on to win the "A" series.

Their second game was played with seven players, and won 7 to 2 against a Quebec team, putting them in the final with a bye.

Dunvegan then played against Apple Hill with a score of 12 to 3, and won a "B" trophy and $150 in cash.

Their goalie, Robert Hartly was best goaler and Brian Wensink was high scorer. The rest of the players were Peter Conway, Kennie MacLeod, John MacSweyn, Barry Crawford, Reed Mahon, Sylvain Levert, Dave Hanson, and Doug Harvey. Coach and General Manager was Donald Dashney and Trainer Eric MacSweyn. We congratulate these boys on their win!

We think the following poem would make a good New Year's resolution. It came to us in a roundabout way from the "Auld Countrie" and is signed simply Ms. N.S., Sheffield.

A SMILE

I had a smile,
I gave that smile away.
The milkman and the postman
Seemed glad of it each day.
I took it out when shopping,
I had it in the street,
I gave it (without thinking)
To all I chanced to meet.
I gave the little ones my smile
And though I'd much to do,
I gave it to my neighbors,
The old folk had it, too.
I always gave my smile away
As thoughtless as could be.
Yet every time (how wonderfully),
My smile returned to me.
