Top citizens named by town, Chamber

A longtime town merchant, a well-known area car dealership owner and a Lochiel Township youth have been named Alexandria and area's top contributing citizens by the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce and the town council.

Co-sponsored by the town and the Chamber, the annual search for the community's ''cream'' netted a number of submissions, but in the end a panel of judges chose Alexandria store owner and town councillor Bruno Lalonde as Citizen of the Year, Roger Roy, owner of Roy's Pontiac-Buick Ltd., as Businessperson of the Year and 16-year-old Bruce Myers as Youth of the Year.

The recipients will formally be recognized at a banquet to be held at the Glengarry Sports Palace on Wednesday, April 19.

Bruno Lalonde

Contacted at his Main Street store Monday morning, Mr. Lalonde admitted the award was ''quite a surprise.

''I feel quite honored. I certainly wasn't expecting it. I knew the awards were coming up, and I was questioning different people in the store about their benevolent deeds, trying to come up with names.''

A father of seven children, four of whom remain residents of Alexandria, Mr. Lalonde owns and operates Lalonde General Store on Main Street. He took the business over from his father 21 years ago, after working as an electrical contractor in the area.

A current member of town council, Mr. Lalonde has served on the body in the past as reeve, Public Utilities Commission member and member at large for various committees. He has been a volunteer president of the Alexandria Ladies Softball League, and has sponsored softpuck and ladies softball teams.

He has donated over $100,000 from the sale of Nevada tickets to minor hockey, boy scouts, ladies' ball, the town's firefighters association and the altar boys of the Sacred Heart parish.

But perhaps among the most significant contributions he has made, has been his ''over the counter'' aid to the town's elderly; helping them to fill out government forms for benefits, for instance. And illiterate citizens have sought Mr. Lalonde's help in reading and writing letters.

As a store owner, Mr. Lalonde often hears comments and complaints about the town over his counter.

''People don't want to go into the office to complain, so they tell me over the counter.''

That interaction with the public has kept Mr. Lalonde vitally interested in the workings of the town.

''It (dealing with the public) makes the day so much more interesting. It's not all just work.''

Roger Roy:

Owner of Roy's Pontiac-Buick of Green Valley for 25 years, Mr. Roy, a local son, has been a longtime contributor of resources to help community causes.

Admitting Monday that he was ''very tickled'' by the award, Mr. Roy was characteristically modest about his accomplishments as a contributing citizen and businessman in the community.

''I was very surprised by the award. I never thought about something like that.''

Chairman of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Board from 1984 to 1986, Mr. Roy was a member of Charlottenburgh Township council in the late 1950s. At 23, he was one of the youngest municipal councillors in Ontario at the time, and he topped the polls in both elections.

A former president of the Alexandria Curling Club, he also served on Club Richelieu for six years. He continues to belong to the local Knights of Columbus chapter and has a 3rd Degree.

Mr. Roy was instrumental in bringing about the construction and completion of St. Marie's Church in Green Valley, and he chaired the parish council's finance committee when the project was in the early stages.

Like Mr. Lalonde, Mr. Roy has contributed to countless non-profit causes. As a businessman, he has made his dealership one of the leading automobile facilities in Eastern Ontario. It provides the area with 45 jobs, and Mr. Roy has used unique business techniques in the promotion of his business and has continued to ensure that it will be an important local business for several years to come.

Bruce Myers:

A 16-year-old Grade 11 student at Glengarry District High School, Bruce is the founding president of the local Young Liberals Association.

He was ''extremely surprised'' when Mayor Touchette showed up at The Glengarry News office last Thursday to present him with a letter of congratulations.

''I'm extremely honored that the people of Alexandria and District would even consider me, let alone award it to me. I certainly didn't think I was in a league with the type of youth that I'd expected would receive an award like this and I'm still asking myself if I am or not . . .''

A former 4—H member, Bruce is vice-chairman of the GDHS school committee. He is a reporter for the school newspaper and is an unpaid co-operative education student reporter with the community's newspaper, The Glengarry News.

Bruce contributes to the ongoing operations of his family's RR3 Dalkeith farm, owned by his parents Charles and Marion. He is a member of the East Hawkesbury United Church.

A former legislative page in the Ontario Legislature, Bruce is looking forward to a career in journalism and possibly politics.

Fruit ban 'could've been worse'

By Eric Siblin
News* reporter

Had the federal government banned the sale of Chilean produce on a Thursday instead of a Monday, complaints by local greengrocers would have sounded like more than just sour grapes.

''If it would have been a day later it would have been a lot worse,'' said Roger Menard, manager of the produce department of Lefebvre Discount Foods in Alexandria. Since stock is purchased on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, said Mr. Menard, a ban later in the week would have resulted in another $500 in losses.

The store lost about $300 in confiscated fruit, estimated Mr. Menard.

Canadian retailers were ordered to stop selling Chilean fruit on Monday, March 13, after poisoned grapes were found in Philadelphia.

''If it had been on a Thursday or a Friday it would have been terrible — at least double what we lost,'' said Michel Ouellet, owner of the IGA in Alexandria.

The supermarket lost $1500, mostly in grapes, nectarines and plums, he said. Unopened produce was sent back to the store's wholesaler and the rest was destroyed.

''Somebody has to pay for it somewhere,'' said Mr. Ouellet. ''We don't know what's going to happen.''

''We were very lucky,'' said Anne Marie Van Loon, manager of the Maxville Market. ''It could have been a lot worse.'' The Maxville grocery store was caught with four cases of impounded fruit, a loss of about $150. The store did receive $30 compensation from its wholesaler, said Ms. Van Loon.

Retailers noted that the Chilean fruit scare has produced cautious consumers. ''People aren't buying grapes no matter where they come from; they aren't taking any chances — all for two grapes!'' said Ms. Van Loon.

''Customers are very concerned. Now everybody notices the signs marking where the produce comes from.''

VIA required to study cleanup of Maxville fuel spill

By Eric Siblin
News* reporter

VIA Rail will be required to hire a technical specialist to assess the recent cleanup of a fuel spill from one of its trains in Maxville, the Ministry of the Environment said on Monday.

''We're making it a requirement for VIA Rail to hire a hydro-geologist to evaluate the effectiveness of the cleanup and assess the potential impact which may occur later on,'' said MOE senior environmental officer Larry Benoit.

Over 2,000 litres of diesel fuel leaked from a VIA passenger train on March 24, spilling into an area near the village's train station.

Mr. Benoit said that test results of ground water samples from the area expected later this week are unlikely to indicate any problems. ''We haven't got the results yet but it's more of a precaution in that nothing was evident in the samples,'' he said.

''We're pretty comfortable that most of the stuff was cleaned up.''

With many homes in the village hooked up to private wells, the main concern during the cleanup was keeping the spilled fuel away from ground water.

A small concentration of diesel fuel in water — 5-10 parts per million — produces an odor which serves as an ''early warning system,'' said Mr. Benoit, adding that the fuel is not toxic.

More than 60,000 litres of water laced with fuel was initially pumped from a recovery ditch dug to contain the spill. Periodic pumping of the ditch, which runs 25 metres along the railway tracks, continued until last Thursday.

VIA has arranged for someone to monitor the situation in Maxville, said Mr. Benoit, and pumping facilities have been placed on standby. ''If an oily sheen shows up in the recovery pit water, the pumper will immediately be called in,'' he said.

The MOE dug a couple of test pits ''as a first-warning system in case some fuel got into the ground water system,'' said the environmental officer. ''A couple of other bore holes should be dug right down to the water table to get a complete picture of the ground water situation.

''VIA has been cooperative up to this point and has spent a fair amount of money on the cleanup. We're satisfied with what they've done.''

Passengers en route from Ottawa to Montreal alerted train officials after smelling the spill caused by a punctured fuel tank. The train remained at the station in Maxville for about two hours while the hole in its 1,700-gallon tank was plugged.

Mother, unborn child killed in collision near Monkland

A tragic automobile accident claimed the life of a Kanata woman and caused the subsequent death of her unborn child, near Monkland on Friday.

Christiane Uens, 25, died when the vehicle she was driving collided with an oncoming car, during Friday's snowstorm.

According to an official at Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall, an emergency caesarean section was performed to save the infant's life. The child was later transported to the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario in Ottawa, and died the following day.

The driver of the other vehicle, Louise Campbell, 38, of Cornwall, suffered major injuries and was taken by ambulance to Cornwall General Hospital. Officials would not comment on her condition.

A passenger in the Uens vehicle, Andrea Seguin, 47, of Plantagenet, also sustained major injuries and was transported by ambulance to Hotel Dieu Hospital. She was later transferred to Ottawa. Her condition is also unknown.

The accident occurred at at 2:45 p.m. on Hwy. 138 near Roxborough Township Conc. 2.

Charges are pending.

Glengarry to contribute $1.3 million to counties

Glengarry residents will have to dig deep for their $1.3 million share of SD&G property taxes this year.

SD&G United Counties council finalized a $17,577,579 budget for 1989, an 11 per cent tax increase over last year, on March 30.

The counties' share of the total budget stands at $3,558,500 — up $438,500 over last year's figures: The money is raised through levies to the 20 SD&G municipalities.

The balance of $14,019,079, will be covered by various provincial grants.

The contributions from Glengarry municipalities will be: Alexandria — $277,224, Lancaster Village — $39,918, Lancaster Township — $240,909, Lochiel — $139,647, Maxville — $30,384, Charlottenburgh — $427,935 and Kenyon — $137,969.

Alexandria Copy Cup

The Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's announcement advising that their regular meeting held on the last Wednesday of the month would not be held on March 29th was inadvertently omitted from the Copy Cup last week. So this is a reminder that the meeting has been advanced to April 12 to coincide with National Volunteer Week.

The much-anticipated opening of Lefebvre's freshmart on the corner of Lochiel and Chisholm Streets in Alexandria took place on Tuesday, March 28. On hand to cut the ribbon to open the newly-renovated food store was Alexandria mayor J. P. Touchette, assisted by owners Denis Lefebvre and his wife Pierrette. The store was crowded with well-wishers and patrons on the day of the opening. The store has been going through major renovations all winter.

Beef vote to be held tonight

The controversial referendum on beef cattle marketing will be the focus of an information meeting to be held at the Maxville and District Sports Complex tonight (Wednesday, April 5).

The vote, to take place on April 14 by mail-in ballot, will decide whether the already established organizations — Ontario Cattlemen's Association and Beef Producers for Change — will remain as is, or whether the two will be amalgamated into a new structure, the Ontario Beef Cattle Marketing Commission.

Should producers vote yes to forming the commission, cattle would be sold exclusively through the body and a uniform price per hundredweight will be paid to producers throughout Ontario.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Producers unable to be at tonight's meeting can attend one tomorrow night (Thursday) at St. John's Anglican Church hall in Vankleek Hill.

A French session will be held tonight at South Plantagenet Township hall in Fournier. Both meetings begin at 8 p.m.

Sugaring off: It's a traditional family affair at the MacCrimmon farm

By Lesley Cadham
News* editor

Sunday's sun and warm breeze was enough to boost the flow of anything, be it creative juices, the Raisin River or sap from the great Canadian maple.

And to syrup producers, like the MacCrimmons from MacCrimmon's Corners, it meant hours of emptying overflowing sap collectors and perhaps celebrating the first good production day in 2 1/2 weeks, with a mouthful of the raw product.

In the bush beyond the MacCrimmon's farmhouse, Donald MacCrimmon, sisters Ann and Mary, and friends Kathy McPhee and Kevin Leduc, collected Mother Nature's gift from about 630 buckets on hundreds of prolific maple trees. They stopped only to empty the clear liquid into four 30-gallon containers set on the bucket of Donald's tractor.

From time to time, when the containers were full, the tractor lumbered back to the sugar shack, where the sap was emptied into a vat, soon to be boiled.

Inside, where the tantalizingly sweet smell of maple syrup mixed with the homey smell of a wood fire, John Naughton MacCrimmon, father of Donald, Ann and Mary, fed the stove and kept a close eye on the sap which bubbled furiously inside three large vats. As he dipped a large metal scoop into the syrup, he echoed a question he'd just been asked.

"How long have I been doing this? I hate to tell you."

He finally revealed that he started 60 years ago, when his father gave him a 10-lb honey pail to go out and collect sap. And he's only missed one year since, he said, when he was in the hospital. His children were too young to take over the operation themselves, but it all balanced out: It wasn't a good year for tapping, anyway.

And yes, he admitted, he enjoys making syrup, even though the amount of work, not to mention the amount of sap, yields relatively little of the finished product.

It takes about 40 gallons of sap to produce roughly one gallon of syrup. But the change of scenery — getting away from the dairy cattle and horses — and the fact that he gets "a kick out of it," has made it a worthwhile venture.

"On a farm, you're working awfully hard for a little of everything, but you get used to it.

"I like to get away from the barn every day for a few hours; get away from the stable air. It gives me new life, like flowers blooming in spring," he says.

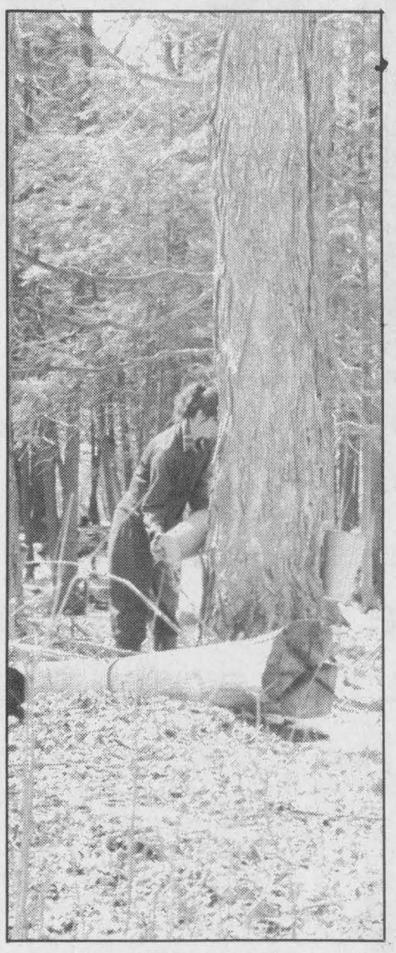
The sap must be watched carefully, he explained. If it boils to one degree more than ideal, the syrup will be too thick; one degree less, and it will be too thin. But he doesn't trust his temperature gauge. Not like he trusts his own eye. The only way to be sure of an excellent product is to do what he's been doing since day one; to continuously test the syrup's consistency with the dipper. When the product "flakes" after a moment in the air, it's ready, he said.

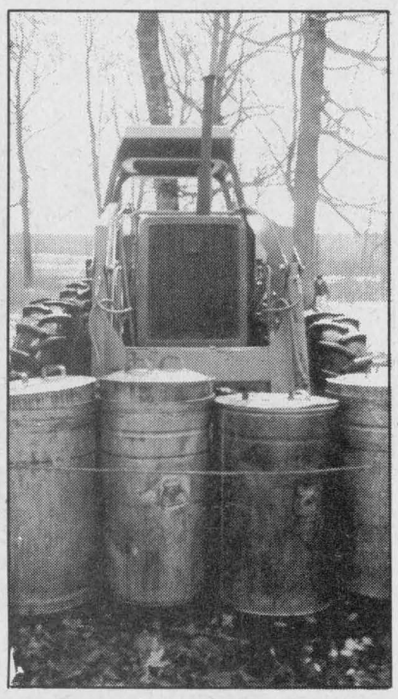
It takes anywhere from one to three hours from the time Donald brings the sap to the sugar shack, until the tempted bystanders can enjoy the sweet taste of maple syrup. The syrup is strained as it is transferred to a "milk can."

And it's not hard to get rid of.

"I don't have to peddle the road to sell the maple syrup. I have a lot of old customers and year after year, they're sure that if we make syrup, they're going to get it"

But it's too early too tell whether tapping will be better or worse than last year; only time will tell, said Mr. MacCrimmon.





Clockwise from the top left, Mary MacCrimmon collects sap from a giant maple tree; Don MacCrimmon makes the task of carrying 120 gallons of soon-to-be syrup to the sugar shack, a lot easier; Don and friend Kathy McPhee empty sap in 30-gallon pails which are then transported to the sugar shack; and John Naughton MacCrimmon demonstrates the only way to determine whether the syrup is ready — to keep an eye on it.

Waste plan expands as Cornwall joins committee

By Eric Siblin
News* reporter

The city of Cornwall has decided to join the area's waste management committee, adding 67,000 tons of garbage generated every year to the committee's calculations and setting the project's timetable back a couple of months.

"This rounds out the geographical area for the planning and widens the opportunities for waste management," said Joe Burnham, technical consultant for the Stormont-Glengarry Waste Management Steering Committee.

Mr. Burnham said that Cornwall's participation will require a reevaluation of the system's analysis, an eight to 10-week process that will "determine whether the initial recommendations hold true."

The steering committee recently gave the go-ahead to a "wet-dry" recycling system recommended by the consultant.

"I think there's merit in pursuing the wet-dry system, but they're going to have to take a deeper look at it," said Bill Knight, director of planning and engineering for the city of Cornwall.

He suggested that the city's high proportion of non-residential waste would have to be taken into consideration. Eighty per cent of Cornwall's waste stream is composed of industrial and commercial waste, not including the 90,000 tons annually produced by Domtar.

"We've undertaken studies on similiar areas," said Mr. Burnham, of the engineering firm R. Cave & Associates. "With regard to the wet-dry system, the technology is capable of dealing with both domestic and commercial and some non-hazardous industrial waste."

By adding 67,000 tons of waste to the 16,000 generated annually by the other municipalities, Cornwall's participation will reduce the cost of recycling and improve the marketability of the recycled products, said Mr. Burnham.

"I've been directed to work with the Domtar consultant to look at areas of common interest," noted Mr. Burnham. He cited the posssibility of using an energy derived from waste products and the composting of industrial garbage as two potential areas of common interest.

Bill Knight said that Cornwall is also planning to work together with Domtar. "We're attacking the thing on two fronts," he said.

The city is currently completing a feasability study on the "blue box" recycling system, added Mr. Knight. "It's subject to a number of things but we hope to be able to implement the blue box in 1990," he said.

An estimated 1.3 million Ontario households use the blue box system, a program which has residents separate newspapers from the rest of their garbage, which is further separated and recycled.

"It's not yet clear to me whether the blue box system can be considered a first step to implementing the wet-dry system," said Mr. Knight.

According to Mr. Burnham, the two systems are not contradictory, and the blue box program could serve as a stepping stone to the wet-dry system. "It's a good first step," he said. "It's very important with regard to educating the public as to the ways and means of reducing waste."

The wet-dry system involves the separation of garbage into wet (organic) and dry components of the waste stream. The wet component would be composted and the dry further separated for recycling. The system aims at diverting 50 per cent of the waste stream from landfill, considerably more than the 15 per cent diverted by the blue box program.

The next stage of the Stormont-Glengarry waste management master plan, likely the most controversial, centres on the selection of sites for landfill, recycling and composting. The composting-recycling facilities should cost between 8 and twelve million dollars, estimated Mr. Burnham, with one- third of the funding picked up by the Ministry of the Environment.

The cost of Cornwall joining the Stormont-Glengarry master plan is $100,000, said Mr. Knight, half of which is normally paid for by the MOE.

Martintown Community Centre gets support

The potentially ill-fated Martintown Community Centre got a much-needed shot in the arm last week when area residents, at an 11th hour meeting, agreed to form an executive.

A two-hour meeting last Wednesday night (March 29) was a last-ditch attempt to rekindle interest and community participation in the Charlottenburgh Township owned community centre. About 22 people attended.

"There was a lot of enthusiasm shown and if the keenness spills over into the community, we'll have a successful year. To be honest, I can't see how it would fail," said Mr. Daigle.

A meeting in January created some uncertainty as to the centre's future, when there were not enough people to form an executive. Special events such as dances and a fundraising dinner were not drawing much needed crowds.

At the time, Recreation Director Brent Daigle was concerned that without volunteer assistance from the public, the township could have been forced to eventually close down the facility.

But Wednesday night, 10 people, some former board members and Martintown area newcomers, agreed to let their names stand for the election of the executive, to take place tomorrow night (Thursday, April 6).

Those willing to form the executive are former board members, Mary Rankin who was vice-chairman, Anita Goudie and Ruth Lafave, and potential new members Cindy St. Louis, Cindy LeBlanc, Wayne Masson, Jim Hughes, Robert Stokes, Linda Pritchard and Ronnie Lafave.

Former chairman, Don Ross, also agreed to serve on the committee, if needed, but said he would prefer to remain involved in a less formal manner.

"I think it's time for new blood. We've made quite a few efforts, and with new ideas and new blood...maybe it will work," said Mr. Ross.

During the meeting, residents on rural routes expressed concerns that they had not been kept informed of what was going on at the centre. But Mr. Daigle said the recreation department had sent out a regular newsletter and promised to find out why they may not have been received.

He added that the Martintown Fire Department, while going door-to-door to deliver their own flyers this month, have agreed to disperse flyers for the recreation department.

Poor ventilation was also a concern to the centre's users. During dances, tobacco smoke tends to hang in the air, they said.

"There was one thing that always bothered me," said Mr. Ross, "and I mentioned it. People of Martintown and the outlying areas have a tendency, if a function is coming up, to go right by the door of the community centre and go somewhere else.

"I can't figure out why the people aren't supporting it. But nobody has the answers," he said.

Petitioners seek further changes to Kenyon fire boundaries

By Bruce Myers
News* reporter

Another appeal has been made to Kenyon Township council to change the boundaries of areas covered by the municipality's two fire departments.

Former township councillor Donald Besner requested from council "common sense" in deciding whether their 1987 decision to place Dominionville and the 5th concession under the jurisdiction of the Kenyon Township Fire Department in Apple Hill will be repealed.

The Dominionville resident presented a petition of 59 names, who he said are representative of the people affected, to Kenyon council's March 28 meeting. Expecting a somewhat more agreeable reception at the meeting, Mr. Besner said in an interview with The News Tuesday morning, that council's reaction was "not exactly what I expected."

Adjustments made to the boundaries in Nov. 1987, transferred responsibility for Dominionville and Conc. 5 from the Kenyon Fire Department to Maxville Fire Department.

According to Mr. Besner, the extra distance firefighters have to cover is significant. In his own informal measurement, he concluded that the Maxville department is 2.6 miles closer to Dominionville than Apple Hill; 2.6 miles, he says, can make all the difference when a house is on fire.

"The closest fire department should be the one to respond," he stated, Tuesday.

Mr. Besner charged that the only reason behind the 1987 change was, the Kenyon department had just expanded its quarters, and the department had to justify the expense by covering more territory. He stated that these reasons lacked common sense, adding "I opposed it then, and I oppose it now."

The request comes slightly more than a month after Remi Lajoie of RR3 Alexandria convinced council to adjust the boundaries to place Dornie and Marcoux roads under Apple Hill's jurisdiction. The change was based on higher insurance premiums being faced by residents who lived closer to Alexandria than Apple Hill.

Mr. Besner said that he hopes approval of his request will be as swift as that of Mr. Lajoie's. He said that the only factor that could stand in his way are councillors who sat on the previous council and who approved the 1987 change. But he feels that "common sense should prevail."

Reeve Finlay McDonell said Tuesday that council has not had any formal discussion on the matter outside of Mr. Besner's presentation, and that they will deal with the issue at a meeting of council on April 11.

Mr. McDonell added that Kenyon Fire Department Chief Allan MacMillan has been advised of the request and he will recommend to council at the meeting how the situation should be dealt with.

Hit-and-run investigated

Lancaster police are continuing their investigation of a hit-and-run incident at Aubin's Garage at the corner of Cty. Rd. 18 and Cty. Rd. 20 in Charlottenburgh Township, Friday.

An unknown vehicle travelling east on Cty. Rd. 18 failed to negotiate a curve and struck the gas pumps at the garage. The vehicle left the scene.

Weather a factor

Friday's poor weather was a contributing factor in seven single-vehicle accidents in the area.

In mid-afternoon, a 1987 Nissan Sentra coupe driven by Luciana Broccoli, 20, of Cornwall, skidded out of control on snow-covered Cty. Rd. 20 in Charlottenburgh Township, 3 km south of Cty. Rd. 18 and rolled onto its roof after skidding into the west ditch.

Ms. Broccoli suffered minor injuries and the vehicle sustained moderate damage.

At 4 p.m. a 1980 Pontiac Laurentian, eastbound on Cty. Rd. 10 in Lochiel Township, lost control on the slush-covered thoroughfare and struck a utility pole.

The driver — Lois Sage, 41, of Glen Robertson — and two passengers, Tammy Sage, 15, and Darlene Sage, 17, all suffered minor injuries.

The vehicle was severely damaged.

At 4:30 p.m. a 1985 Pontiac Grand Prix westbound on Cty. Rd. 10 in Lochiel Township, 3 km east of Hwy. 34, lost control and slid into the ditch.

The driver — Mary Seguin, 52, of RR1, North Lancaster — was uninjured. The vehicle sustained minor damage.

Shortly before 6 p.m. a 1987 Suzuki Samurai coupe eastbound on Hwy. 401 in Charlottenburgh Township, skidded out of control on the icy roadway, rolled over twice and came to rest on the median.

The driver — Christophe Chanel, 26, of Montreal, was not injured. The vehicle sustained moderate damage.

At 7:40 p.m. a 1981 Honda Prelude coupe, eastbound on Hwy. 401 in Charlottenburgh Township hit the north side of CNR overpass and landed on the the south side of the road.

Albert Ususuanlele, 30, of Toronto, was not injured but a passenger, 22-year-old Kimberly Cabe, suffered minor injuries.

Police Briefs

The vehicle was damaged moderately.

On Saturday shortly after midnight, a 1988 Plymouth Voyager, driven by Luis Diaz, 52, of East Lansing, Michigan, was eastbound on Hwy. 401 near Summerstown Road in Charlottenburgh Township when it skidded out of control and went into the ditch. There were no injuries. The car received minor damage.

At 1:43 a.m. a four-door 1984 Ford Tempo southbound on Hwy. 34, two km north of Hwy. 401 in Lancaster Township, skidded out of control and went into the east ditch, striking a utility pole.

The driver of the car, 21-year-old Mary Theoret of Lochiel, was not injured. The vehicle sustained moderate damage.

Two-car accidents

Alexandria Police report a pair of two-car accidents in town over the week, one on Wednesday and one Thursday. At 5:45 p.m. Wednesday, a 1980 Oldsmobile two-door sedan driven by Monique Lefebvre, 38, of Green Valley, was southbound on Main Street, when it collided in the intersection with a 1972 Dodge pickup — driven by Donald Morrison, 54, from Dalhousie Mills — eastbound on Kenyon Street.

There were no injuries. Lefebvre was charged with disobeying a red light. Both vehicles sustained moderate damage.

At 1:50 p.m. Thursday, a 1988 Pontiac sedan driven by Suzanne Decoeur, 33, of Ste. Justine, Que., was crossing Main Street at the south end of Alexandria, when it collided with a 1983 Honda sedan, driven by George Maheu, 24, of Alexandria, travelling south on Main Street.

Decoeur was charged with failure to yield from a private driveway. The Decoeur vehicle received extensive damages; the Honda was damaged moderately. Neither driver was injured.

Wilful damage

Alexandria police are investigating wilful damage to a Dalkeith man's car. Police say someone scratched a 1984 Buick two-door sedan belonging to Duncan J. MacMillan, of RR1, Dalkeith, with a sharp object. The incident occurred sometime on Thursday or Friday, in Alexandria.

Volunteers have great impact on economy

Incredible as it may seem, over half of all Canadians — some 13 million people — devote their time and talents to volunteer service of some type. As we prepare to mark National Volunteer Week, from April 9-15, it's an important statistic to remember.

It's not just the numbers which are significant, however, but the deeds behind those numbers. Volunteerism touches virtually every aspect of community life. Volunteers throughout Glengarry work for community committees, citizen action groups, hospitals, schools, churches, recreational programs and cultural organizations. They support the elderly, the sick, the incapacitated. Volunteers deliver much-needed human and social services; they advocate on behalf of causes, groups or individuals. They raise funds for charities and they sit on management boards of countless voluntary organizations.

We need look no farther than Martintown to see firsthand how a lack of volunteers can suddenly jeopardize the operation of a community centre.

There, few people wished to get involved in taking on executive positions on the community centre committee. In fact, in January, the community's recreation director was concerned that without volunteer assistance from the public, the township would be forced to eventually close down the facility.

A last-ditch meeting last week produced results, fortunately, and it now appears that enough people have come forward to save the centre.

Martintown came very close to losing an important recreational institution due to a lack of volunteers. But that community is by no means alone in its ongoing struggle to maintain a level of volunteerism. Virtually every community in Glengarry fights apathy. Fortunately for the most part, that battle is being won.

Evidence of that was delivered this week with the announcement of Alexandria and area's three citizens of the year. The three recipients represent the citizen, the businessperson and the youth who have best exemplified what it means to be a selfless contributor to the community. They have provided inspiration to their peers to, in their own way, make their own contributions without obvious reward or gain.

But apart from the moral reasons behind it, volunteerism is as important for the financial benefits it returns. As economic times become more critical and modern life more complex, volunteers step in to fill the breach. It's well known that subsidies and transfer payments will be severely curtailed as the federal government tries to wrestle the country's deficit to the ground. Volunteers will only become more important as these cuts are felt at the local level.

Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, for instance, provides services which would otherwise have to be funded by tax revenue — or cancelled. And there are countless contributions made by the area's service clubs to those unable to pay, in the form of medical aids, food and moral support. The Alexandria Lions Club's Christmas basket food drive is a good example.

When one considers what life would be like in Glengarry without volunteers, only then can the value of volunteerism be truly realized. Certainly the collective efforts of hundreds of volunteers in this county, and millions across Canada, have an enormous impact.

For that, we can all be very grateful.

Joint solution necessary to curb dog problems

The frightening mauling to death of a four-year-old boy in Simcoe, Ontario last weekend gives rise to local concern, as more and more dogs are running free in neighborhoods, townships and villages throughout Glengarry.

Residents in Alexandria alone have, more than once, complained to this office about small "packs" of dogs running through their yards, tearing up garbage bags, defecating and making noise. The death of this small boy adds a horrific dimension to the hazard that these animals represent.

In the country, the dog problem is already well documented. Kenyon Township ratepayers have been going through bouts of dog trouble, without any apparent relief. Other townships receive similar complaints involving dogs running down sheep and cattle, as well as the odd deer.

The methods in dealing with these troublemaking animals has been left up to each individual municipality. Clearly, before the Simcoe incident is repeated here, a much more integrated policy across the county — a common strategy — should be considered. Stray dogs know no boundaries, and a joint solution to this growing problem should be seriously considered.

The doctor who campaigned on giving Alexandria air conditioning

AFTER THOUGHTS
Joe Banks

"PM Accepts Glengarry Liberal Nomination As Monster Crowd Present to Warmly Welcome Him."

Those words screamed across the top of the July 20, 1945 edition of The Glengarry News, issuing the word that Mackenzie King had officially registered his intention to represent this historic piece of Ontario real estate.

It was a summer unlike all other summers in Glengarry. The war against Germany had been won, and the Japaneese were reeling against overwhelming American and allied forces. Canadians voted, and sent the Liberals back with a majority.

And Prime Minister Mackenzie King, defeated in his own riding of Prince Albert, Sask., was ready to assume his place back in the Commons — as the Member from Glengarry. The seat had been selflessly surrendered by Dr. W. B. McDiarmid.

And the PM would have landed the seat without a fight (most Glengarrians saw no reason for an election) had it not been for a stranger from Sharbot Lake named Dr. Richard Monahan.

Leather cutter Lionel Seguin of Alexandria filed nomination papers for Mr. Monahan, just hours before the deadline. He was running as an independent — both the Conservatives and the CCF pledged they would not field candidates, and they held true to their word. But the unusual and mysterious Dr. Monahan had forced the election.

While most Glengarrians knew perfectly well who they were voting for, King's Glengarry opponent did not drift through the "campaign" without revealing his platform. In late July, with an "unusual presence of reporters" in Alexandria, reported the Aug. 3 News, Dr. Monahan held an open-air speech over a car loudspeaker system which, in the words of the author, was an "impromptu affair which attracted few."

The speech was delivered in a "rapid-fire and rather disjointed manner" and from what listeners could learn, the content was not much clearer. If elected, the good doctor would do all he could to "liquidate" the House of Lords (Britain's upper house), introduce a Federal Insurance Act and "do something about housing."

For Glengarry in particular, Monahan said he would introduce a campaign against the "mosquito menace", give Alexandria an aqueduct which would provide water both for drinking and swimming and give the county town "complete air conditioning."

It was clear Dr. Monahan was trying to reserve a place in the folds, or at least footnotes of Canadian history.

The Liberals, while these antics were going on, declined to get any kind of an organized campaign underway. The party felt it would be belittling for the PM to run against Monahan. Besides, the eventual results were never in doubt. With the tremendous outpouring of affection shown King at the Armories gathering, it was one election campaign the party could afford to coast through.

"The people of Glengarry had already indicated their desire to avoid an election contest," The News said that week, "and the appearance of a total stranger should not require interruption of a busy working period for both electors and the PM who is now preparing for the important Dominion—Provincial Conference which opens at Ottawa, Monday."

A front-page editorial the following week, just before the election, appealed to voters to exercise their franchise. The PM didn't make a single appearance up to election day, holding true to the party's plan of a non-campaign.

To no one's surprise, King left Dr. Monahan far behind in the polls. What was a surprise was that the good doctor managed to pick up 325 votes to King's 4,227.

Even with the obvious messages he received during the campaign, however, the doctor had attempted a speech on Main Street in town prior to election day. But without the benefit of a loudspeaker, he couldn't make himself heard above the cries of hecklers.

In the end, Dr. Monahan, his place in history now assured, simply vanished.

"Evidently sensing the mood of the voters who resented his unwanted candidature in the byelection, Dr. Monahan pulled up stakes before election day and has not been seen since," said the Aug. 10 News.

Just 45 per cent of the total electorate registered a vote in the election, evidence of Glengarrians general disgruntlement over having to return to the polls just a few months after the last election — and during the peak of haying season.

The following week, however, the election was all but forgotten. News broke that the atomic bomb dropped at Hiroshima and Nagasaki had forced the Japanese surrender. The Second World War, the headlines proclaimed, was over.

And how did Mackenzie King fare as our illustrious representative for the next term?

"We didn't get a thing," according to our local historical expert, Angus H. McDonell. "He came to open the Highland Games one year. That was about it."

Don't get mad — get reconciled!

LIFE WORTH LIVING
Rev. Colin MacDonald

Over the past while, I am sure that we have all noticed the blossoming forth of more and more of those bumper stickers. Some people really seem to like them. Others see them as an eyesore. The messages are sometimes pretty incredible. There are even bumper stickers that say "I hate bumper stickers." But of all the messages that I have seen, the one that I find most disturbing is: "Don't get mad — get even!"

Somehow, we feel that when we are wronged by someone, we need to pay them back in a like manner. In fact, there are some people who, when they are wronged, will wait for years to get their own back. They become obsessed with exacting revenge on the one who has done them wrong. One couple I know had a friend borrow $20 for groceries, but instead spent it on booze. That was around 1950, and the couple is still unforgiving, even though the friend has been dead since 1968.

That must do something to a person's insides. And when we do reach that day when we can exact our revenge, what happens? Sure, there may be a moment of glory, even a few days of triumphant gloating. But what is the long-lastng effect? For so many people admit that there is a bitter taste to revenge. What should have been sweet turns sour quickly. We begin to feel the absolute emptiness of revenge.

St. Paul, in his second letter to the Corinthians, speaks of just this (II Corinthians 5:16-21). If we follow Christ, we are called into a special ministry: A ministry of reconciliation. Paul says that because Christ has come into our midst, we are called to see all of creation in a different light. Because God, through Christ, was reconciling the world to himself we, in turn, need to be reconciled. In other words, Jesus calls us to see his face in the face of others; to see others as God's own beloved, no matter what we may think of them. We also need to see ourselves as being equally broken and in need of God's love as anyone else. As St. Paul says, "From now on, therefore, we regard no one from a human point of view . . ."

Why? Because as we proclaim, Christ died for all so that we would, like him, no longer live for ourselves, but for the whole world.

The poison and bitterness in revenge is hardly worth the effort. May I suggest a new bumper sticker: "Don't get mad — get reconciled!"

To God be the glory.

Glengarry puts forth best side

THAT'S LIFE
Lesley Cadham

Glengarry, you always seem to come through in the crunch.

At this time last week, it didn't seem as though Alexandria's benevolent people of the year awards would proceed. Because at this time last week, just a number of hours before nominations were to close, no one had come forward to suggest any recipients.

The lack of response was reminiscent of the Great Glengarry Postcard Hunt and the 1988 municipal elections and other such attempts at finding out whether there are actually living, breathing souls outside of The Glengarry News office. No one came forward until the last minute, and then the floodgates opened.

But that's okay. I'm a bit of a last-minute person myself, a quirk that drove my parents and teachers to their absolute patience thresholds.

But everything turned out fine, the awards program and me.

A good number of nominations were received and despite pretty tough choices, the judges were able to single out one deserving recipient for each of the Citizen of the Year (Alexandria Councillor Bruno Lalonde of Lalonde General Store), Businessperson of the Year (Roger Roy of Roy's Garage) and Youth of the Year (Bruce Myers, GDHS student, Young Liberals founding president and Glengarry News student reporter).

Way to go, Glengarry.

A home to be proud of

I had the opportunity to take tours of the two new Non-Profit Housing complexes, one in Alexandria and one in Lancaster Village, last week. All I can say is, I wouldn't turn my nose up at either of those places.

In Alexandria on Friday, Manager Norm Laperle showed me around the townhouses which were built for families that simply cannot afford to pay market value rents. All 15 units are already spoken for and Mr. Laperle says they could easily fill another 15.

And on Saturday, Manager Mary Ann Danaher and Non-Profit Housing Chairman Eric Urquhart gave me a tour of the senior citizens' apartments in Lancaster Village: 19 of the 26 had been rented as of that day and people were starting to move in.

Both complexes were, for the lack of a better description, very nice and very comfortable. They were much nicer than some of the Montreal-area apartments I'd paid dearly to live in. If the rents had been geared to my income, I'd have at times, lived in the places for 25 cents a week.

Geared-to-income means that you pay what the government figures you can, based on your salary, number of dependents, financial obligations and that sort of thing. Apparently, if you have no income, you pay no rent. Really quite simple, isn't it?

And as long as people don't abuse the taxpayers' generosity — this non-profit housing business is supplemented by the provincial and federal governments — then it really is a coup for people who otherwise would be forced to inhabit drafty, ramshackle, rat or cockroach-infested apartments. And yes, it does get that bad.

I approve of the system. Let's hope one bad apple doesn't spoil it for the bunch.

Spring fever

WORD SKETCH
Sybil Carello

It had been a week of weirdness. Blame it on the spring thaw. The earth tipping slightly on its axis. Or the nerve-jangling sounds of a bunch of musically bereft starlings. Something was definitely out of whack.

On Monday for instance, just two weeks before championship playoffs, I bowled a SHOCKING 117 followed by two other equally SHOCKING scores. My teammates, accomplished 200-plus-types, spun their heads in collective disgust, wondering aloud if I had lied about my single high triple claim of years past. I was hard-pressed not to wonder myself.

Then for the first time, I had a birthday I didn't want. Blowing out the candles, my childhood wish for an operational Unicorn ranch vanished, replaced by a more realistic wish for CASH so that when the time came (any time now) I could head straight for a team of cosmetic surgeons and throw myself willy nilly at their feet.

And, speaking of feet, it seemed the only time I opened my mouth lately, was to change my left foot for my right. Was I really that rude, that insulting to friends and foes? Did I laugh cruelly and out of turn, once too often? Yes, YES, cried Mr. D., an armchair authority on anti-social behavioral patterns.

Things were definitely out of my control.

Like the spring sludge outside. How could I tell Rosanna, the giant Bouvier de Flandres pup and Max the wizened apricot toy poodle to stop wallowing in it, when I knew very well that they lived for such rapturous moments. I couldn't. So all week, they've been running around looking and smelling like hardworking members of a cattle drive. The ones that got caught under the stampeding hooves. Nonetheless, I was still generally keyed up on the night of the Academy Awards. See, for an avid, well-informed, discerning movie buff such as myself, the glittering, star-studded night could mean only one thing: BIG bowls of butter-sluiced popcorn, plenty of chocolate bars (ANY KIND) black and red licorice ropes and lots and lots of cream sodas.

I was shlepping some of this very fare to my friend's house about 37 km away when I came face to face with a ROAD CLOSED DUE TO FLOODING sign. Frustrated, but undaunted (by virtue of the fact that I'd been a ruralite for some years) I struck out in another direction. Moments later I was confronted with yet another flash-flood warning. Oh, no, I cried, not really surprised, considering the WEIRD WEEK gone

Clearing up misinformation on midwifery

To the editor:

I am writing with much concern in reponse to an article that appeared in your paper on March 22, 1989, entitled "Midwifery: An increasingly popular option." I found myself misquoted and taken out of context. I would like to clear this up!

Re: "Midwifery should be the norm:" In many countries, midwifery care is standard. Midwives are used routinely in obstetrical units and at homes. It is interesting to note that these countries have better obstetrical outcome (rank higher) than Canada.

Our system, in comparison, is some what backwards (midwifery here is often considered irregular and uncommon) but Canadians are working to turn this around. It is a slow process. Obstetricians have important skills, but their services are not required for every woman giving birth. Their time and effort should be devoted to high risk clients, as is done in other successful health care systems around the world: There is a place for midwifery.

As yet, there is no formal training available for midwives in Canada, e.g., "University degree." The present training process is usually upward of five years, depending on whether or not the student midwife acquires training in another country and whether her geographic situation allows her to apprentice with a practising midwife to get the continued "hands on" experience she'll need. It is an often frustrating journey and definitely tests one's commitment to the profession.

Many clients we see feel that their needs aren't, or can't, be met in hospital environments, (they aren't necessarily "fed up with hospital procedures"). Fortunately, we can offer an alternative (home birth) or help to make the hospital experience more comfortable. We believe in informed consent, which means that parents are educated on the pros and cons of medical procedures and alternatives. This allows them to make educated decisions, giving them a safe and personal birth experience.

I was also quoted as saying, "In a hospital you don't have a say in what you want. A planned home delivery is an event for the whole family where everyone is included. Whereas in a hospital everyone is excluded."

There is obviously some confusion here, for I personally believe that everyone "has a say" in their birth experience — they need to be aware of their rights, be informed, and must work their birth plan through with their doctor.

As for the exclusion of family in a hospital delivery, this is simply not fact! Fathers are always welcome, along with other support persons. As a matter of facts, during the planning of our third birth, my husband and I were offered the option, by our doctor, of having our other two children attend the birth — in hospital!

The resurgence of midwifery in Ontario has been a delicate process relying on the co-operation and mutual respect between parents, doctors and midwives. We (local midwives and consumers) are working hard to properly educate and inform the public about midwifery. I hope this letter will clear up the misinformation, which often goes a long way.

Against prayer in public schools

To the editor:

Frank Southern's letter to the editor on prayer in the schools is troubling.

Let me say at the outset, that Jesus has been the most important teacher and leader in my life, and remains so. Through the years I have tried, however imperfectly, to follow the teachings of Jesus — in some cases at considerable inconvenience.

Having said that, I wish to state my opposition to public prayers of any kind in the public schools, for the following reasons:

1. I think it subverts religious education in the churches. Many people who favor prayer in the schools, do so because they don't want to take the trouble to participate actively in their local church. They can stay at home and feel that their children will "at least get some religion" from school. Meanwhile churches suffer from a decline in committed members.

2. Jesus' teachings in the New Testament seem to me to favor private prayer: "When you pray, go into your closet and shut the door and pray to your Father . . ."

3. Ontario children of various religious and cultural persuasions do not have a choice; they are required by law to attend school. As the world gets smaller, it becomes more and more incumbent upon majorities to deal fairly with minorities. Frank Southern's letter shows disrespect to Ontario citizens who have a different religious leaning from himself, by referring to them as belonging to "alien cultures" and "alien religions." Forcing religion upon minorities has caused incredible human suffering in many places: Northern Ireland and Iran, just to name two.

4. Some people believe deocracy is majority rule. But that is only half of it. The other half is minority rights. These two elements have to be in a creative tension, or we become a totalitarian state. The Canadian Charter of Rights was an immense step forward, and a positive example to other countries, such as the USSR, to respect the rights of minorities.

5. Finally, actions speak louder than words. Children learn from the BEHAVIOR of the adults in their family and community — far more than from the WORDS of these adults. Jesus said, "Not every one who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of my Father . . ."

$50,000 allocated for SD&G development

A $50,000 grant to enable the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry to set up a long-term strategic development plan for agriculture and industry was announced last week.

The grant, from Ontario's Ministry of Industry, Trade and Technology, is part of the $25 million earmarked by the province last year for economic development initiatives in Eastern Ontario.

SD&G United Counties and Cornwall City, which received a similar grant, agreed to use the same consulting firm to focus on plans for developing tourism, industry, commercial and agricultural initiatives.

The United Counties council, at a meeting Thursday, voted to appoint three members from its agriculture, reforestation and planning committee to an ad hoc development committee.

In a letter to United Counties Warden Stewart Hart, Ontario Minister of Industry, Trade and Technology Monte Kwinter stressed that he wants the United Counties to make long term plans and goals to stimulate increased economic development and activity across the counties.

Gallery seeks artists

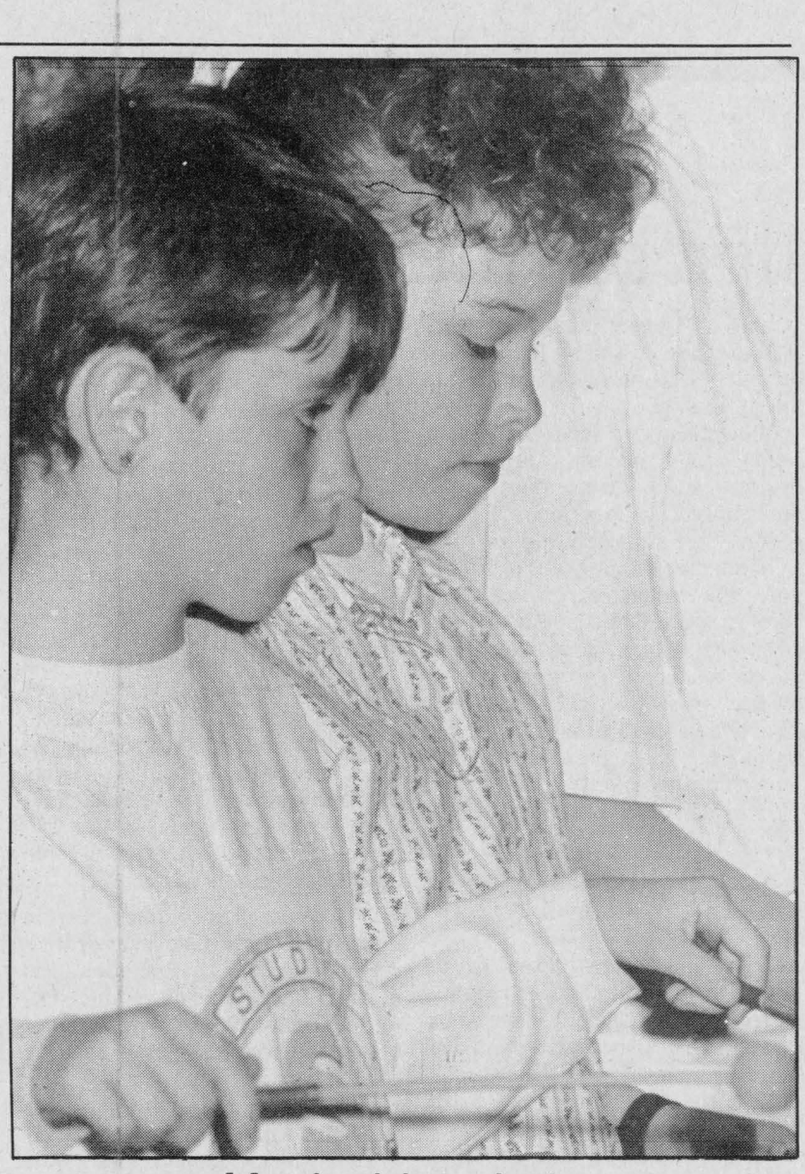
Calling all artists.

The time is drawing near for artistic Glengarrians interested in exhibiting work at The Cornwall Regional Art Gallery, to submit proposals.

The gallery is seeking proposals for 1990-91 from multi-media artists, photographers, printmakers, painters and fine craftspeople for the Gallery Shoppe.

The deadline for submissions is April 15, 1989. Submissions on slides should be sent to the art gallery at P.O. Box 1822, 164 Pitt Street Mall, Cornwall, Ont. K6H 6N6. Unframed works should not be delivered before the week of April 10.

The gallery is asking for 10-15 slides, accompanied by information regarding the size, date and medium, or 10 unframed pieces indicating the date they were executed; a curriculum vitae; a proposal indicating the intent of the theme of the exhibition, including an approximation of the number of pieces and a self-addressed envelope.



Musical interlude

Tara Barton and Tena Bond were two musicians who took part in a concert to benefit Gracefield Camp in Gracefield, Que. The camp is owned by Presbyterian churches in Eastern Ontario and Quebec and the event was organized by St. Columba Presbyterian Church. Proceeds will go toward a three-year project to expand the camp, formerly located in Lancaster. About 250 people attended.

PCB case adjourned

SD&G's first provincial court case involving storage of PCBs was adjourned to June 5 on Monday.

Cornwall Factory Surplus Ltd., located on the Glen Road in Charlottenburgh Township, and its manager Leopold Brasseur, have been jointly charged on 10 counts under the Environmental Protection Act in connection with the storage of PCBs.

Each charge carries a maximum penalty of $50,000 per day, said Peter Savoie, investigation officer for the Ministry of the Environment. The charges pertain to various periods between June 6, 1987 and Dec. 5, 1988.

Residents of the Glendale Subdivision, located approximately 1 km. from the site, have repeatedly called for the closure of Cornwall Factory Surplus. The residents have complained that activities on the property over the past 10 years have resulted in the release of toxins hazardous to their health.

A visit to the site by MOE officials on Oct. 10, 1988; revealed the existence of 16 drums containing levels of PCBs in excess of 50 parts per million (ppm).

A lawyer from the Toronto firm Miller, Thomson, Sejewick, Lewis and Healy, representing Cornwall Factory Surplus, requested the adjournment in Alexandria Provincial Court.

Church prepares for future change

By Eric Siblin
News* reporter

The Roman Catholic Diocese of Alexandria-Cornwall has set into motion a three-year synod to prepare the church for social changes by the year 2000.

"The church has to be aware of changes in society and Christianize those changes," said Bishop Eugene LaRocque, who initiated Ekklesia 2000 at a Chrism mass in Cornwall two weeks ago.

The synod will run for three years, said Bishop LaRocque, with each year corresponding to a separate phase of the project, culminating in recommendations being sent to the Vatican.

"It is well understood that on a local level we can't enact things that the universal church doesn't allow," noted the Bishop.

A similar diocesan synod was organized in 1972 and produced almost 100 recommendations ranging from the phasing out of Latin during mass to the creation of a multi-purpose diocesan centre to coordinate various church-related services.

The first phase of the synod, ending in February 1990, will concentrate on the concerns of ordained ministers and lay persons such as the separated, divorced, elderly and youth.

The synod's second year will focus on diocesan structures and may recommend changes in various parochial and diocesan services — a kind of ecclesiastical 'perestroika', or restructuring.

The third year of the synod, ending in February 1992, will highlight spiritual renewal, faith and evangelism.

"Anything that's alive changes," said Bishop LaRocque, adding that the church has been dealing with social changes for 2000 years. "But the rate of change these days has become so rapid."

Bishop LaRocque cited the breakdown of the family as one of the changes the church will have to confront by the year 2000. The synod will examine "how we can bolster the family," he said.

"The more society tears the family apart, the more the family will need encouragement and support from the church."

Father Gary Ostler, a member of the Ekklesia 2000 steering committee, said the purpose of the synod is "not just to navel-gaze but to look ahead to the year 2000 in order to establish priorities."

"Emerging from all this are people who've become marginal to the church," said Father Ostler, who singled out the unemployed, the unwed and the working poor.

A demographic profile of the diocese was publicized early last month in preparation of the synod. The study contains social statistics about the residents of the 34 parishes located in the counties of Stormont and Glengarry.

Twelve commissions have been established to study various aspects of diocesan operations, six functioning in English and six in French. Each commission will be chaired by a priest, vice-chaired by a lay person and include 12 to 15 lay members.

A parliament of about 300 Catholics from the diocese will consider briefs prepared by each commission at the end of each phase. Recommendations given approval will be forwarded to the attention of the Bishop, then to the archbishop and upwards to the Vatican.

Court report

The following are cases dealt with by Judge Reginald Levesque in Alexandria Provincial Court, March 30.

Man fined $500 for impaired driving

A 27-year-old Lancaster man was fined $500 and had his drivers' licence suspended for a period of one year after being found guilty of operating a motor vehicle with a concentration of alcohol exceeding the legal limit.

Daniel Lapierre, of Wood Street in Lancaster Village, was detained by police on Hwy. 34 in Lancaster Township on Oct. 9, 1988. He has five months to pay the fine.

Found guilty of assault

An 18-year-old resident of Williamstown was placed on probation for a period of one year after being found guilty of assault.

Ewen MacDonell, of RR1 Williamstown, was found guity of assaulting Craig Tremblay on Feb. 22, 1989 at Char-Lan High School in Charlottenburgh Township.

The victim was approached by Mr. MacDonell outside the high school where a verbal argument ensued. Mr. MacDonell pushed the victim, was pushed bac, and then struck him in the face with a closed fist.

A fight followed which resulted in Mr. Tremblay suffering minor cuts and bruises.

Correction

In the March 22 edition of The Glengarry News it was erroneously reported that André Taillefer would serve four months imprisonment at the Cornwall Jail. Mr. Taillefer will in fact serve his sentence intermittently at the P.C. Bergeron halfway house in Cornwall.

In the same edition it was incorrectly reported that Stewart Arkinsall was put on probation for one year after being found guilty of impaired driving. Mr. Arkinsall actually had his licence suspended for a period of one year and was not put on probation.

Char-Lan opening up to mature students

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

Can an old dog be taught new tricks? Sure can, according to today's educators. Ever secretly want to learn to play a musical instrument? Become physically fit? Become physically fit AND play a musical instrument?

If you do the following news will interest you. Beginning in September, Char-Lan High School is planning to offer courses for adults. These courses, which will be held during the school day, will be for adults only and will be completely separate from the regular school program.

According to Char-Lan Principal Brian McKinley, the aim behind the courses is an attempt to involve the community — to give adults access to the school. Mr. McKinley says the idea has been tried in city schools and has worked well.

"We think there are a number of people in the community who would be more than happy to come in during the day for our courses," said Mr. McKinley, adding he expects the clientele to vary in age.

The two courses planned for this fall are instrumental music and physical fitness and wellbeing. Both courses will be designed to meet individual skill levels and both are offered free of charge, including instruments, equipment and supplies. If desired, the courses can be applied as credits toward a secondary school diploma.

For more information or to register for either or both courses, please call the school at 347-2441. A minimum of 20 students will be required to start the classes, so talk it over with your friends. Who knows? Maybe the group will end up as the first Williamstown symphony!

Meanwhile our Char-Lan students are busy showing what they've managed to learn. After receiving a bye in the first round of the Canada Quiz, Char-Lan teams met up with Glengarry District on Friday.

The teams were well matched and when the points were tallied the Char-Lan junior team of Sean O'Farrell, Johanna Harrington, Erin Fitzhugh and Zachary Harrington, won by a score of 49-48. The crowns were reversed in the senior game with Char-Lan'ers Muriel Aitken, Rebecca Kastack, Joshua Harrington and Lucy Smith, losing 52-46 to GDHS.

I don't know the author of this year's quiz but I would be interested to discover the source for the answer to the question of where the Raisin River got its name. According to the quiz answer, it is because "its water is usually dark brown!" For shame!

Speaking of the "Aux Raisins," though I don't know for certain if the prizes came from it, or from the St. Lawrence, the Jackrabbit Nordic Ski Club raffled pounds of perch as a fundraiser recently.

Winning the draw for 15 lbs. of Lancaster perch was Don Blackadder of Martintown. Second prize went to G. Parker of Montreal, a workmate of Eric Wheeler's at Air Canada.

I don't know if perch will be on the menu, but Williamstown will have a restaurant again, hopefully by the end of May or beginning of June.

To be called "Jack Delaney's," the restaurant will be operated by Mary Conway and will be a family restaurant and pub according to the proprietor.

Work to remodel and refurbish the restaurant is expected to begin shortly.

Williamstown's population rose by four this week and no, it wasn't because one of our mothers-to-be had quadruplets! It was the arrival of Bill and Susan Fielding, Sean and Ryan, who came to live in their new home, formerly belonging to the late Mac and Mabel MacRae.

The Fieldings are trying to find out when their house was built, so if you have any ideas or clues, please pass them along.

Also "nearly new" to Williamstown are John and Bev Herd and baby Jennifer formerly of Barrie. The Herds are living in the house owned by the Greers (formerly Claire MacDonell's). John travels in to Cornwall where he is employed at the Transport Canada Training Institute.

We welcome the Herds to our village, and, oh, by the way Daisy, their dog's name is Norman!

Over at Stones' Sanctuary on the South Branch two pairs of Merganser ducks have arrived. In case you are as much of a duck-dunce as I am, these fellows are black and white and have oversized heads.

Last week a slightly injured American woodcock was found but after a little magic treatment, he flew off into the bush.

Our condolences go out to Bernie and Kay McDonald on the passing of Bernie's sister, Mrs. John D. A. MacDonald (Catherine), of the North Lancaster area Friday.

First-place winners in Bridge Club play this week were John and Isobel Quail. Leonard and Kay MacLachlan were second, while Alpheda Major and Isobel Larocque tied with Audrey Blair and Dawson Pratt, for third.

A Williamstown youth captured honors at the Seaway Valley Drama Festival on the weekend. Peter McIntosh was presented with the adjudicator's award for outstanding contribution to the festival. Peter won the honors for his work in directing and stage-managing, as well as acting in one of the Char-Lan entries, "Crossing the Bar." Congratulations, Peter!

The Glengarry Community Club is holding its regular monthly euchre at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre on April 10 at 8 p.m. Cash prizes will be awarded and lunch will be served. All are welcome.

The Friendly Neighbors held a pot-luck supper recently at St. Mary's Centre. Winning prizes for the Wearing of the Green were Catharine MacDougall, Hattie Struthers, Henry Struthers and Edmour Seguin.

Alice Portant took the door prize, while the lone hands went to Catharine MacDougall and Henry Struthers.

Sharing the wealth winners were Florence St. Onge, Beatrice Labelle, Rena Major, Alda Major, Mary-Rose Pilon, Yvonne Leblanc, and Edmour Seguin.

Card winners at the club's euchre last Thursday were Hattie Struthers, Jackie Taillon, Marie Warden, Florida Legroulx, Albert MacDonald, Alex McDermid, Austin Abrams and Hector Leblanc.

Albert MacDonald won the door prize, while the 50/50 winners were Vi Pilon, Jackie Taillon, Alice Portant, Louis Thomas and Edith Major.

Spring fever

by. My detour would have to be the long, winding, mostly deserted, hairpin turn infested, SCAREY stretch along the Larose forest.

Anyway, returning home late at night, well after the witching hour and pretty jumpy on account of all the junkfood additives I'd shamelessly consumed, every horror and splatter novel and movie I'd ever subjected myself to came back to haunt me. Sure, part of me knew there was NOTHING in the forest that didn't warrant being there. No snarling, bloodthirsty Cujo. No escaped psychopath wielding a bloody broadaxe. No netherworld bogeyperson. So knowing that, why did I suddenly lunge for all four door locks and step on the gas pedal? Easy:

Everyone knows that zombies always jump on car hoods or drag on doors, trying to smash their undead heads through windows to get at their victims. After the kind of week I'd been having, I wasn't about to take ANY chances. I'd worry about the MOOSE CROSSINGS when I got to them.

Centre will go on!

MARTINTOWN

It's been one of those weeks folks, where 99 hours in a day wouldn't help me get organized! It's been so hectic at our house, I feel like a rubber band with all the activities in our area. Unfortunately work has to come first . . . hence the reason I missed the community centre meeting the other night. I took time that day to phone Charlottenburgh Recreation Director Brent Daigle and had a chat with him about the centre's future. There is still a lot to be done but the real good news is that people decided to let their names stand for an executive committee. They will meet this Thursday evening to elect the executive and I will give you the results next week. No matter who forms that recreation committee, they will need our full support in all endeavors so let's give it to them!

This Friday Mrs. Menard and her Martintown Public School theatre arts group will present their plays at General Vanier High School as part of the SD&G Drama Festival. The grades 5-8 students will be going by bus and any parents wishing to accompany students should contact the school.

Area residents are reminded that junior kindergarten registration is going to be held on Thursday, April 13, in the morning. If you know anyone in the community who does not receive The Glengarry News, tell them what a great thing they're missing and pass on word of the registration!

Residents are asked to be on the lookout for a 1985 Yamaha Mini Trail Bike Pee Wee 50, white with a red seat. This bike along with a $200 helmet, was stolen from Darrell Aubin. If you spot them, please call 346-2341.

Typo

I made a slight error in last week's edition. I reported that the Martintown Fire Department would tour our area on April 23. Wrong again firehose breath! The department will tour the area on April 16, and will pass out stickers on the 22nd. Thanks to Deputy Chief Brian Hope for setting me straight or I literally would have missed the bus!

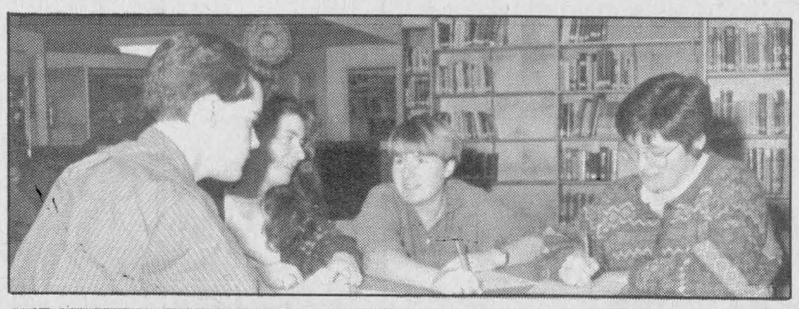
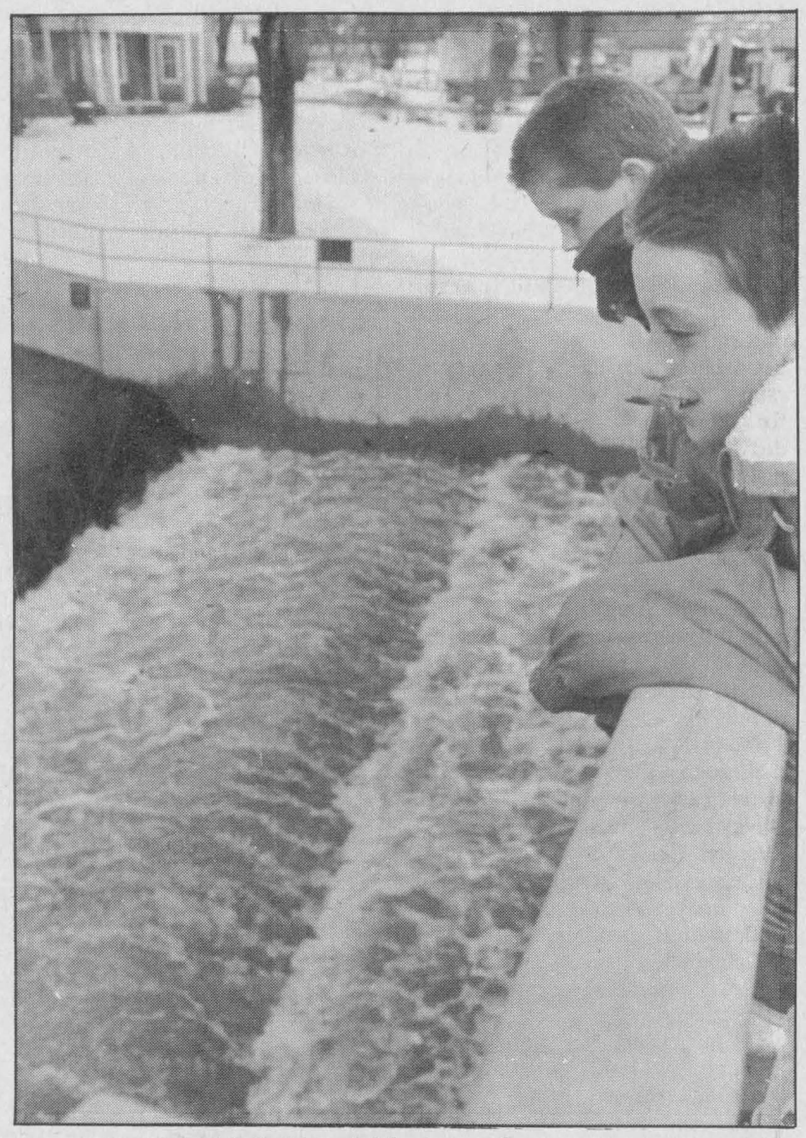
I know I'll receive a phone call if I don't mention the fact the Maple Leafs ended their season a little early this year. I'm sure they would have made it, had Wendal Clark and Gary Leeman been healthy all season, but them's the breaks. Just wait till next year!



Canada Quiz Contest

The Canada Quiz Contest, pitting Char-Lan High School students against Glengarry High School, was held in Williamstown Friday afternoon. The Glengarry senior team (on top, from the left, Rae Upton, Louise Bauer, Veronika Jones and Tonya Wheeler) edged out Char-Lan seniors (Lucy Smith, Joshua Harrington, Muriel Aitken and Rebecca Kastack) by a score of 52 to 46.



White Water fever

Martintowners Chris Hope, left, and Jamie Thompson, stopped to check the Raisin River's water level as the duo crossed the Martintown bridge on Saturday afternoon. Jamie and Chris, both 12, say they have been spectators at the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race every year since their earliest recollection. Chris is the son of Barbara and Brian and Jamie, the son of Melvin and Debbie.

Angus (Hughie) MacDonald was named secretary/treasurer of the Ruins Committee at a meeting held Saturday in St. Raphael's. In response to inquiries no weddings will be permitted in the Ruins, but any wedding parties in the district are welcome to use the location for photo settings. To raise funds to buy flowers and plants for the Ruins interior, the committee decided to have a dinner for themselves and their spouses. All will contribute to the pot luck menu then pay $10 each to enjoy same! The committee is currently searching for a project to raise money for lighting inside the structure, and will welcome suggestions. It is hoped to obtain guides for the summer as so many visitors come to see the tourist attraction at that time of year.

About one-third of the membership of the Brown House Circle joined the Alexandria 39'ers for a visit to Juillet's sugar camp at Dalhousie on March 30. Following the noontime dinner of bacon, eggs, ham, potatoes, pancakes, rolls and syrup, all gathered in the spacious hall for a few hours of dancing, singing, visiting and enjoying the music. The two groups were so compatible, it is reported they look forward to another joint project.

Info Iona

Visiting Iona this week was the Glengarry District High School band, directed by Mark Girard. The band introduced all the instruments used to our students. Many former Iona students were members of the band and they were introduced to all.

Student of the week is Derek Abrams, 11 years old in Grade 6. Derek is the son of Larry and Lois Abrams of Williamstown. He has one sister at home.

* * *

Staff and students were saddened to hear of the death of Catherine MacDonald, a former teacher at Iona. Our sympathy and prayers to the family.

Shalom House

On Thursday a beautiful twilight retreat was held at which the participants were shown how to let go of their burdens and find new joy. The next retreat will be on Friday, April 7 at 8 p.m. The topic is "The Grace of Sin." Father Mike Shaw invites you to come and see how your sin can be a gateway to finding the hidden gifts that you have and also to find God's personal love for you. Voluntary contributions. Telephone Father Shaw or Sister Jeannine Bissonnette at 347-2391 for more information.

Ontario and Quebec to transfer demerit points

Glengarry drivers, take heed.

Starting April 1, an agreement between Ontario and Quebec will mean that drivers' demerit points and convictions will be transferred to their records in the home province. This is the first agreement of its kind between Canadian provinces.

The eight offences covered by the agreement are speeding, careless driving, failing to obey traffic signals or stop signs, failing to stop for a school bus when its red lights are flashing, failing to report an accident, failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and driving a vehicle for a bet, stake or race.

According to the Ontario Ministry of Transportation, these violations make up 94 per cent of all demerit point infractions by out-of-province drivers in Ontario.

Lancaster OPP Staff Sgt. Bill Elliot said, "Hopefully this will mean a vast reduction in the number of warrants outstanding for Quebec drivers for non-payment of fines."

He said that under the old system, there was no way of imposing a penalty on Quebec drivers who committed traffic offences and did not pay their fines. However, if the driver was again apprehended in Ontario, police could pick him up on an outstanding warrant, issued upon non-payment of the fine, said Staff Sgt. Elliot.

Also, Ontario or Quebec drivers who have committed traffic offences in their neighboring provinces and neglected to pay the fines, will not be able to renew their driver's licences until the penalty is paid.

Optimists sponsor speaking contest at Ecole Ste. Thérèse

NORTH LANCASTER
Diane Roy
347-3553

In collaboration with the principal and staff of Ecole Ste—Thérèse, the North Lancaster Optimist Club sponsored the annual French speaking contest for the school's students, from pre-kindergarten to Grade 8, last Friday, March 31. Activity president, Optimist Yvan Desautels and colleague members, Pierre David and Normand Vaillancourt, are most pleased with the contest results.

Deserved congratulations to the 30 finalists, who came on stage to speak about either a favorite toy, pastime, theme or their future. Qualified judges for the interesting event were former teachers Violaine Lauzon of Glen Norman, Pauline Valade of Alexandria and retired high school teacher and director René Gauthier of Alexandria. The large audience of parents, teachers and student friends truly appreciated the talented speakers.

Receiving the honor medallions for their speaking abilities in the junior portion were: Pre-kindergarten — Isabelle Legros (gold), Claudia Ravary (silver), David Raymond (bronze); kindergarten — Mélissa Dupuis (gold), Philippe Glaude (silver), Lee-Ann MacDonald (bronze); Grade 1 — Steven Cousineau (gold), Sarah Fenwick (silver), Cynthia Secours (bronze); Grade 2 — Mélanie Claude (gold), Adèle St. Denis (silver), Christopher Corput (bronze); Grade 3 — Renée Hébert (gold), Joshua Fenwick (silver), Michael Patrick (bronze); Grade 4 — Laura Patrick (gold), Stéphane Loyer (silver), Krystal Campeau (bronze); Grade 5 — Donald Roy (gold), André Hébert (silver), Anik Samson (bronze) and Grade 6 — Annie Juillet (gold), Isabelle Joanette (silver) and Denis Juillet (bronze).

Grades 7 and 8 students, in their speeches on an assigned topic pertaining to their idea (''Vers les sommets''), top girl was Grade 8 student Marie-Eve Dubois and top boy Grade 7, Stéphane Boucher. Both won trophies and gold medals. Reaping the silver were Judith Roberge, Grade 8, and Eric Décoste, Grade 7, while Anabela Oliveira, Grade 8, and Jason Menard, Grade 7, took bronze medals. Congratulations to all on your oratorical skills!

Bowling day

In reward not only to the above finalists but to the whole school population who participated in last week's public speaking contest, the North Lancaster Optimist Club is organizing a bowling day in Alexandria for the students on Saturday, April 8. Good deeds pay off for our community youths who are most grateful to their generous and devoted Optimist Club.

Cancer month

April is here, though the daffodils will appear later. The annual Cancer Drive has a 1989 objective of $40,000 for Glengarry County. It will probably be reached and surpassed, since surrounding communities are becoming increasingly aware of the importance of cancer research, education and patient services. Once again, yours truly will be ringing doorbells in North Lancaster village within the next two weeks to solicit your usual generous support for a most humanitarian cause.

Competent gymnast

At the SD&G Gymnastic meet last Thursday (March 30), hosted by Glengarry District High School, skilful gymnast Suzanne Glaude of our village, contributed greatly in leading the Alexandria girls gymnastic team to first place. Best all-around gymnast for intermediate level 3, Suzanne won first place medals on the floor, vault and bars competitions and third place on the beam. Congratulations Suzanne and may you and your team meet more success at tomorrow's (Thursday, April 6) EOSSA competition in North Dundas.

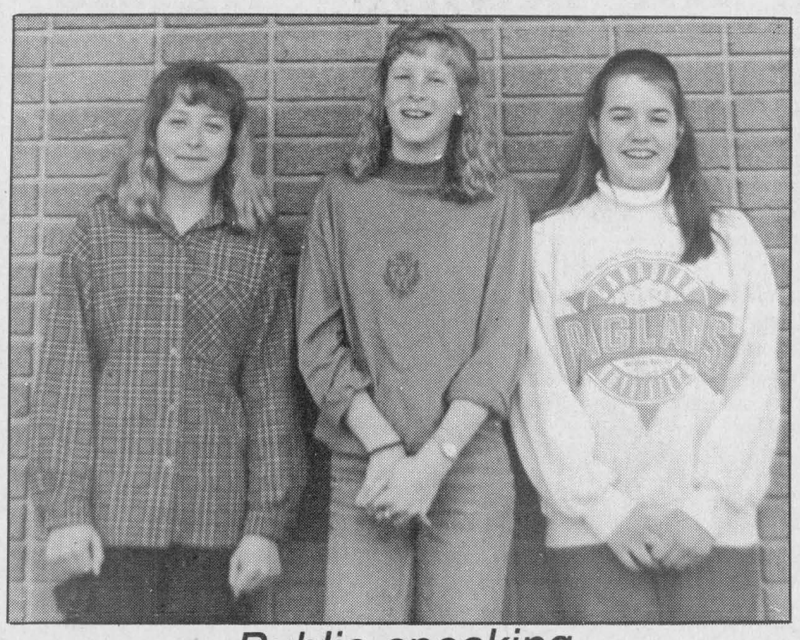
Honor certificates

Deserving students for the month of March at Ecole Ste. Thérèse proudly received merit certificates from director Jean-Pierre Bourdeau at last week's student assembly. Congratulations to: Sophie Bombardier, Grade 8; Dereck Menard, Grade 7; Annie Juillet, Grade 6; André Hébert, Grade 5; Margot Leroux, Grade 4; François Elie, Grade 3; Martine Poirier, Grade 2; Cynthia Secours, Grade 1; Daniel Desnoyers, kindergarten and Claudia Ravary, pre-kindergarten.

In sympathy

Our community was deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Catherine (John D. A.) MacDonald, 72, in Ottawa on March 31. To her son Angus of Edmonton, son-in-law, Clarence Donston of Toronto, and two granddaughters, children of her late daughter Ann Donston, to her sister and two brothers, our profound sympathy. This respected lifelong Glen Nevis parish lady, dedicated former teacher and friendly and devoted member of various organizations, will not only be missed by her relatives and close friends but also by all who had the pleasure of meeting her.

It was also a shock to hear of the sudden departure of Gisèle Théoret Bellefeuille, 42, of Ste. Thérèse, Que. on April 1. She was the younger sister of André Théoret of our village and daughter of the late Henri Théoret, formerly of the Bainsville area, and of Marie-Louise Théoret, now of Cornwall. Gisèle attended Ste. Thérèse School many years ago and was known to several community residents. To her husband, Paul Bellefeuille, and children, Josée and François, and to her numerous relatives, our sincerest condolences.



Public speaking

These three Lancaster Public School students captured the top three prizes at the Lancaster Optimist Club Public Speaking Contest held recently at the Lancaster Legion. From the left are Ann McCuaig (third place), Julie Rogers (first) and Sarah Harris (second).

4-H news

Young neighbor Amy McCormick reports that their last 4-H meeting will be held tomorrow (Thursday, April 6) at Lancaster Public School. The interesting session sponsored by the Bainsville Women's Institute was all about sewing, knitting and also involved cattle shaving and many fun things according to Amy.

Miranda Burgess is president of the young group of 11 members with Jana Hallberg as vice president and six secretaries Bonnie Pattingale, Jenny Magoon, Jane Tesky, Melinda Main, Julie Rogers and Amanda Hicks. Press secretary is Amy McCormick and ''Reach for the Top'' representative is Julie Rogers. Lady leaders are Susan David and Nancy Hallberg. The Bainsville 4-H group is now looking forward to achievement night on May 3.

Best wishes

To Jean-Yves and Denis Legros and children Claude and Isabelle, our good wishes of luck, success and happiness in your new home in Eamers Corners near Cornwall. The area family will be moving this weekend to their new surroundings.

Birthday happiness to Catherine Cooney on April 5 and many surprises to Marc Bourbonnais on his first birthday on April 6. Happy returns to André Théoret on April 9 and to Ronald Legroulx on April 10.

On Saturday, April 8 the Nationview Horse Association is holding a fundraising dance at the Crysler Community Centre in Crysler at 8 p.m. The band is "Raisin River Bluegrass and Country." Doesn't that set your toes tapping already? Everyone is welcome. Further information can be obtained from Melanie Carriere at 347-7327. For those of you owning horses, the following are the show dates for Nationview so that you can plan ahead to attend. All shows are held in Crysler from 8:30 a.m., May 7, 21 and 28 and June 11 and 25. There are also work party days planned to help repair the ring and clean up the grounds. Lunch and babysitting service is provided for the workers. The work party dates are April 15, 22 and 29.

On Palm Sunday (March 19) the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster observed the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. During the service of worship several new members were received into the fellowship of the church. Joining by profession of faith were Connie Ferguson, Sheryll Fourney, Andrew MacLachlan, Michael MacLachlan, Robert Smith, Bradley Vallance, Stephen Vallance and Geoffrey Vande Nieuwe Giessen. Also received by transfer of membership were Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Seale. Following the largely attended service a coffee fellowship hour was held in the church hall.

Bryn Wakely, on behalf of the congregation of the Community Protestant Church presented a lectern to lay preacher Eric Urquhart and guest preacher Rev. Arnold McDonald who dedicated same at the Easter service. The church extends thanks to those of the community who donated nonperishable food items which were taken to the Agape Food Centre in Cornwall recently.

Air Cadets

On Saturday (April 1) a most interesting display was put on at Lancaster Legion by the cadets of the 253 Claude Nunney V.C. Squadron and local persons who are involved in flying in the area. Sgt. Simon Harris gave an enlightening demonstration on how to survive in the wild. He showed how to use a safety pin to catch fish, explained how to find "north" both magnetically and by the stars, how to start a fire with a magnifying lens, how to make a spear, and how to obtain drinkable water with a plastic bag. He also explained how to catch a snake and what parts of the animal may be used to eat. Bruce Overbury, vice president of Cornwall Aero Modellers Club, showed and explained all the models on display. Chris Larocque of Lancaster explained about his boat, the swamp buggy. Steve Cashion, representing Cornwall Aviation and H. F. G. Aircraft Maintenance explained cegonite, which is the material placed on fabric covered aircraft (i.e. — Piper J3) and then treated with chemicals to withstand the elements. In the evening a banquet was held at which time the squadron received their charter. Special guests in attendance were Jud Armstrong, vice-chairman of the Air Cadet League of Ontario; Commander Wickens, a retired Navy ACLIO from Long Sault; Captain Don Kannon, deputy commanding officer of the new squadron and former CO of the Char-Lan Army Cadets and Const. Martha Forget, who has recently been appointed a reserve officer in the Canadian Forces. A certificate of appreciation of outstanding service rendered to the 253 Claude Nunney V.C. Squadron was presented to Branch 544 Lancaster by Captain Barry Franklin to Legion President Eric Newman. Captain Franklin also reported that 13 cadets now have their uniforms. The banquet was prepared by Legion members Eric and Sheila Urquhart, Bryn and Diana Wakely and Janice and Wilfrid Montreuil. Some of the cadets helped serve and others helped with the dishes.

The Way of the Cross

On Good Friday (March 24) some 80 persons started the Way of the Cross walk from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster along Church Street to Hwy. 2 and then to Eglise St. Joseph in Lancaster, where more people joined the march swelling the ranks to some 150; to St. Joseph's Community Centre and finally to Knox United Church. At each stop there was a 15-minute service with prayer, scripture and a short meditation. All kinds of people had an opportunity to carry the cross, young and old alike. An effective way of witnessing to our community that it was Good Friday and that without Good Friday, there would not be an Easter Sunday.

Welcome back to Diana and Bryn Wakely. They spent a happy week sunning themselves in Florida.

An oratorical contest open to all boys and girls has been conducted by the Lancaster Optimist Club. Medallions were awarded to first place, second place and runner-up.

Winners for the girls were Julie Rogers, Sarah Harris and Ann McCuaig, all of Lancaster Public School. Winners for the boys were Kyle MacDonald-Wolochatiuk of Iona Academy and Martin Lariviere of Ecole St. Joseph.

Survival techniques

Flt. Sgt. Simon Harris of the Claude Nunney VC Air Cadets Squadron 253 demonstrated survival techniques to visitors to the Lancaster Royal Canadian Legion hall, Saturday afternoon (April 1). In a lean-to made of cedar and spruce branches, Flt. Sgt. Harris whittled a hunting knife. About 30 of the 60 cadets participated in the event, in honor of the Royal Canadian Air Force's 100th anniversary.

Resident off to D.C. to attend 100th birthday

MAXVILLE
Gordon Winter
527-2888

Julie, David and Beth Danskin were in Vancouver for a week to attend the wedding of David Jr. to Heather Ferrie. We extend congratulations and best wishes to David and Heather.

Alice Ferguson, Gwen McEwen, Donna and Murray McEwen, have enjoyed a 10-day vacation in South Carolina.

Margaret Mutch was in sunny Barbados for two weeks, with her son Dr. David, Dr. Dawn and their children.

We are sorry to report that John Coleman is not so well and we wish him a speedy recovery which brings him home from hospital.

Helen Hunter's recent visitors were her daughter Margaret from Toronto, son Ted and his wife Glenda from Peterborough, nieces Anne Taylor, Lee Garstang and Samantha and grand-nephew, Donald Murray, all from Ottawa.

Nancy and Brian Leonard and Deedra, Markham, were home with Merriel and Elmer McCaskill for Easter. Earlier, Mr. McCaskill was in Kitchener for a few days visiting relatives.

* * *

Visiting Adrian and Lise St. Louis for Easter were Carmen and Peter Ladman, Merrickville.

The Josephat Jean-Louis family had a reunion and taffy party at Eastertime.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Louis visited his mother Blanche in Hawkesbury on Easter Sunday. The next day they entertained his brother Germain and wife Aline from Drummondville and his sister Madeline Gomez, Montreal.

Payne River drain

Donald Cumming was in Toronto last week as reeve of Roxborough Township, to finalize payments for the costs of the Payne River Drain in the township. The farmers involved are happier now since their financial responsibilities for the drain project have been reduced considerably.

* * *

Grace and Gregor McEwen were in New Brunswick for Easter, the guests of their daughter Carole and her family.

Off to D. C.

Ethel MacKinnon attended the 100th birthday celebrations of her uncle, James D. MacKercher in Long View, Washington, recently. Mr. MacKercher lives in a retirement home but enjoys excellent health. On March 12 during the service of the church he regularly attends, 100 children wished him a happy birthday. On the Tuesday the Lions Club entertained him at a special dinner and the next day the actual date of the birthday, the Rotary Club had a breakfast and the home, a tea in the afternoon. Besides Mrs. MacKinnon, nieces and nephews from the West were in attendance.

The parents of Mr. MacKercher were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. MacKercher of Tayside. Mrs. MacKercher later lived at St. Elmo to the age of 99. The eight boys of the family all moved West, except Mrs. MacKinnon's father, Dan, who moved back to the area. Their only sister Margaret Lambton, formerly Mrs. Dan G. McEwen, was a well-known area resident.

Congratulations and very best wishes are extended to this illustrious gentleman.

Ethel Coleman, Valleyfield, was an Easter guest of her sister, Hattie Hughes.

Some of the young people home for Easter were Dean MacIntosh, Linda Baker, Rene Auer, Jeff Bond and Garry Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. Don MacKinnon were home with his mother, Ethel MacKinnon for Easter.

Marilyn MacLeod and Matthew, Ottawa, were Easter guests of Ardis and Vernon Campbell and Sherilyn.

Dorothy Bradford was in Morrisburg with her brother and family for the Easter weekend.

Dan MacKillican, a former businessman and village resident, died at the Manor last Thursday. Sympathy is extended to his three children and their families, to his two sisters Lily and Kay MacKercher and the other relatives.

* * *

Sandy Campbell, Ottawa, was an Easter guest of Eileen and Gordon Scott.

Marilyn Floody, Oshawa, has been spending a few days with her mother Evelyn and father Harold, a hospital patient. Her daughter Jennifer was here earlier with her grandparents.

It is good to have Margaret and Bruce Allnutt back home after spending the winter months in Montreal.

Catherine and Archie Munro had all their family home for Easter. Lois and Winston Thompson and Trevor came from Toronto and Ruth and Bob Gilroy, Peter and Karen, from Chesterville.

Other Easter guests of Merriel and Elmer McCaskill were Judy and Douglas Pallett, Brampton, Tracey Towns, Ottawa, Robert and Brenda Towns, Orleans and Margaret and Jake Leonard, Cornwall.

* * *

The Canada geese seem to be flying over early this year. The first flock was reported on March 27.

Young-at-Heart euchre

The euchre season in Maxville is about to open. The Young-at-Heart Senior Citizens Club will hold its first party on April 10 in their room in the Anglican church basement at 8 p.m. Euchres will be held there every second Monday evening until late fall.

* * *

The house at the corner of Mechanic Street North and Alexander Street has been sold to Nick Vlastaris, by Bertha MacRae. This house has been owned by Mrs. MacRae and her father, Henry S. McEwen, since the early 20s, and before that by Mr. and Mrs. John McKercher and the probable original owners, Mr. and Mrs. William Barnhart.

Sewer work progresses

The sewer work at the railroad track is progressing favorably. A larger pipe had to be used and as of last Friday, it was 20 feet on its way under the track with 40 more feet to go.

For the new apartments at the Manor, a new well has been drilled. It is reported to be a good one, but to be certain of a good water supply, another well is being drilled a short distance away on the five-acre lot which is planned to hold five buildings with six apartments each.

With the detour on Main Street, traffic at the bank corner is presenting a problem. Last Friday, the driver of a large transport had to stop on the street, find the driver of a small truck parked on the east side of Main Street and ask him to move before the truck driver could make a left turn on Catherine Street West.

Volunteer month

In recognition of Volunteer Month special events at the Manor continue throughout the month. On April 9, Susan Cloutier will lead an exercise group from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Information on nutrition, fitness and first aid measures will also be discussed at this meeting.

A "Back Care Safety" demonstration will be given by Karen Paavila, Glengarry Memorial Hospital physiotherapist on April 11 from 1:30-7:30 p.m. at the Manor.

On April 18, Susan Robinson, a representative of Mary Kay cosmetics will demonstrate glamor and nail care techniques from 1:30-3:30 p.m., also at the Manor.

The next meeting of all those interested in helping to plan for Maxville's Centennial in 1991, will be on April 10 at 8 p.m. in the Sports Complex.

Maxville Public School

Last Monday students at our public school participated in the Kidney Foundation of Canada program. Volunteers assisted the teachers with this program.

Lianne Vallance, a teacher who has taken a year off, will lead a Home and Safety program at the school on April 11.

There will be seven entries from the public school at the Regional Science Fair at St. Lawrence College on April 15. The public is invited to view the displays at the fair and to offer encouragement to our local students.

The theme for Education Week, April 23-29, this year is "Partners for Success." Watch for the announcements for the special events that will be held.

Maxville recreation

The March break program at the complex organized by the Maxville Recreation Association, proved to be a great success, with many children comng for popcorn and movies donated by a video rental store.

A questionnaire is being sent home from school with the children. Parents please fill this out and send it back to school and the association will do all it can to provide you with the summer program you want.

More activities are being planned for the near future, so stay tuned to this column in the coming weeks.

Rebels capture St. Lawrence playoff crown

By Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

Talk about doing it the hard way.

The Char-Lan Rebels won their second league playoff championship in the 10-year history of the junior "B" club Friday night in Morrisburg, but they backed themselves into a dark corner before doing so.

Rebels spotted homestanding Lions a 4-0 early first period lead and trailed 5-1 late in the second, before roaring back with six unanswered goals to win game six 7-5, and the St. Lawrence division final series, four games to two.

"Sometimes scoring all those early goals can be a problem. It gives the other team a lot of time to come back," said Rebels' coach Ken MacDonald, who was at the helm in 1986, when Char-Lan won their first league playoff crown by beating Metcalfe Jets four games to two in the Alex English final series.

Rebs went on to win the Eastern Ontario Junior "B" Hockey League championship, beating South Ottawa Canadians in five games.

"Patience was the key for us," continued MacDonald. "We were able to get reorganized after the first period, and what we wanted to do was try to win the second period and cut their lead down to two goals. Even though we could only cut the deficit down to three (Rebs trailed 5-2 heading to the third), you could see as the second period went on that we were going to the net better and Cummins (Morrisburg goaltender Andy) was starting to fight the puck."

Rebels initiated their comeback — making it 5-2 with 2:10 left in the second period — by taking advantage of a poor Morrisburg clearing effort. With his teammates having vacated the zone, a Morrisburg defender attempted to clear the puck, but from his goaline sent out an errant pass that Rebels defenceman Rod McKenzie was able to corral at the blue line. McKenzie advanced the puck to Chris Villeneuve in the corner, who relayed to Kevin Poapst in the slot and was able to score on a 10-foot wrist shot.

Char-Lan veteran forward Darin Menard said scoring a goal late in the period provided his team with a big emotional lift, heading to the third. "When we scored that quick goal at the end of the second I thought we would be able to come back and win it," said Menard. "Once we got the momentum, the guys felt really good about our chances."

As big as Char-Lan's late second period goal was, the one Villeneuve scored 11 seconds into the third was bigger. It cut the gap to 5-3, putting the pressure squarely on the Morrisburg defensive unit, to hold off surging Rebels for nearly a full period. They couldn't do it.

"That third goal seemed to really unnerve them," said MacDonald. "And we knew we had a lot of time to chip away at them."

Rebels did all of their chipping before the period was half over. They scored four times in a little over four minutes, to turn the game around, to the delight of a healthy gathering of Char-Lan supporters — who braved poor weather conditions to attend — and the dismay of a throng of Lions backers hopeful of a return trip to Char-Lan the next night.

Brent Laplante made it 5-4 with 17:08 left when his slapshot blast from the right point beat Cummins low to the stick side.

Rebs tied it 74 seconds later, when Daryl Menard carried into the Lions' zone, then weaved laterally through the high slot and threaded a pass to Mathieu Germaine, whose slapshot blast from the top of the right circle found Cummins' weakness again; the low stick side corner.

Char-Lan took their first lead 37 seconds later, when Villeneuve outhustled a Morrisburg player to a loose puck behind the net and sent a pass in front to Poapst, who one-timed a bullet from the inside hash mark of the right circle past a shell-shocked Cummins.

Rebels continued to dominate play and added an insurance goal with 12:56 to go, when McKenzie scored on a screened slapper from the point.

Numbed by Rebs' startling comeback, Lions could muster just a few scoring opportunities down the stretch.

"I'm proud that we were able to hold our composure in the last 10 minutes," said MacDonald. "That's when they could have come back at us, but we shut them down. We had good control of the game."

"Once we got the lead, we weren't going to give it up," said Menard. "Nobody let down. Everyone on the bench wanted to get out there on the next shift and work hard. Nobody wanted to go to a seventh game again."

"None of the players were going to give up with a crowd like that behind us," said Morrisburg captain Sean Baker. "They're (Char-Lan) a good, fast-skating team and they beat us, that's all. After beating Alexandria, we felt we had a good chance of beating them — and especially after Kemptville took them to a seventh game — but they showed why they ended up in first place during the year. You have to give them credit. They took this game away from us."

"They (Char-Lan) tasted the win and they went and took it away from us," agreed Morrisburg coach Kevin Casselman. "We played a great 40 minutes of hockey, but Char-Lan is an explosive team. They have a little bit of depth on us, that's something we knew we'd have to deal with prior to the start of the series. They had four lines working for them and they just wouldn't quit.

"But we feel we gave them a pretty good fight. We had a decent year. The guys are down now, but they realize we accomplished a lot of what we set out to do at the start of the season."

Lions had accomplished what they wanted to do at the start of game six, namely regain the series momentum. Morrisburg jumped out to a 4-0 lead before the contest was nine minutes old.

Jason Smith gave his team a 1-0 lead, when he pounced on a rebound and scored with a wrist shot to the corner from 20 feet out. Rebs continued their sluggish play, allowing goals to Greg Wells, Jamie Smith and Randy Mullin.

Rebs finally got on the board with a powerplay marker, three minutes into the second. Daryl Menard — positioned at the right faceoff dot — re-directed McKenzie's low point shot, past the Lions' keeper.

Char-Lan continued to carry the play through much of the second period, but Morrisburg was able to restore their four-goal lead, when Mullin notched his second with seven minutes remaining in the period.

Tourney champs

Williamstown, Maxville win county tourneys

Williamstown Public School senior girls basketball team did it with defence Friday.

Williamstown yielded just 26 points and went undefeated in four games to win the five-team, round-robin Glengarry Athletics Association tournament.

The competition was held at the Char-Lan High School gymnasium.

Three teams — Lancaster, Maxville and Laggan public schools — completed round-robin play with 2-2 records. Lancaster Public, on the basis of a superior points for/points allowed ratio (+23), finished second and won the consolation trophy.

Maxville (+17) was third while Laggan (-7) ended up in fourth place. Berwick Public School went winless in their four outings and wound up in fifth place.

Williamstown's toughest challenge came in their second outing against Maxville, where they were able to eke out a 9-6 victory. Angela Smith scored three field goals for six points to lead Williamstown. Catherine MacLachlan added three points.

Kirsten Jones, Sherry Stewart, and Tania Valley handled the Maxville of-

Gaels win tenth SD&G title

For the 10th time in the 14-year history of the SD&G Gymnastics Meet, Glengarry Gaels have earned the crown.

Gaels won the team trophy by a wide margin over second-place North Dundas Devils, Thursday at ESRG-GDHS gym.

Glengarry amassed a total of 333.40 points, while runner-up Devils accumulated 243.25.

"We did as well as I hoped we would and better," said Gaels coach Jacqueline Fraser. "I'm very satisfied with our girls' performance. A lot of hard work paid off.

"I thought the team totals between ourselves and North Dundas would be a little closer but Fran (Devils coach Fran Kelly) didn't have a full team. One of her girls broke her ankle and couldn't compete. That could have made a difference in the overall standings."

North Dundas senior Marcie McClatchie was sidelined for the day, suffering the injury when dismounting awkwardly from the balance beam, during the morning session.

In addition to their team win, Gaels had the top overall performers in three of the four divisions.

Meagan Robertson was top all-around competitor in level one (beginners), recording a total of 32.2 points in the four events (vault, bars, beam, floor routine). Robertson won the floor routine (8.40 out of 10) and bars event (8.55), and placed third (8.1) in the vault.

Glengarry team members Courtney Goulder, Michaela Mader and Lysanne Leger finished second, third and fourth, respectively, in all-around division one standings.

Gaels' Stephanie Fraser was top level two (junior) performer, compiling 32.9 points. Fraser won the vault (8.6) and floor routine (8.5), as well as recording second-place finishes in bars (7.9) and beam (7.8).

Performing on the uneven bars, Meagan Robertson of the Glengarry Gaels gymnastics team was one of three team members to capture first place overall in her division at the SD&G Gymnastics Meet, held Thursday in Alexandria. Robertson accumulated 32.2 points in four events, to finish first in level one. Gaels were the top team at the competition, winning the team trophy by a wide margin over arch-rivals North Dundas Devils.

Cynthia Wilson and Ariane Duguay, both of Glengarry, were second and third, respectively, in overall level two final standings.

Suzanne Glaude of Glengarry took first place in level three (intermediate), tallying 34.6 points. Glaude won three of the four events she competed in, recording a score of 9.6 in vault, 8.45 in bars and 8.9 in the floor routine. Glaude was third in the beam event (7.65).

Gaels' Josee Landriault captured second place overall in division three.

Holly Riviere of St. Lawrence was top all-around performer in level four (senior division). Danielle Morin of Glengarry placed fourth overall in level four.

"It was a big undertaking hosting the SD&G event but everything ran smoothly," said Fraser, whose team will be continuing their after-school practices in preparation for Thursday's Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Athletics (EOSSA) meet at North Dundas High School. "We'll be working hard and reviewing the films of the SD&G meet to see where we can make improvements in our routines.

"The judging gets stricter as you go on to each competition. By the time you get to the All-Ontarios (the following week in Waterloo), you're talking about the cream of the crop in Ontario High School Gymnastics. The judging will get tougher, so it's important for us to continue to improve."

Fraser will be taking her entire squad to the EOSSA meet. The top four competitors in any event, will qualify for the All-Ontario competition. Fraser won't speculate how many team members will be able to qualify for the Waterloo competition, but she does expect the EOSSA team trophy will once again come down to a battle between Glengarry and North Dundas.

"There won't be any bigger schools there than those two, so we'll have a good chance of winning the team trophy again," said Fraser.

16th Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race coming this Sunday

By Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

Maurice Sauve knows just how important two seconds can be in a 21-mile canoe race.

That's the margin by which the father-and-son team of Francois and Martin Leveille of St. Eustache defeated Sauve and teammate Bruno Major, in last year's Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race.

Sauve — who has won the race more times (five) than anyone else — will be looking for revenge, when he teams up with Pierre Pinard of L'Orignal Sunday, for the 16th edition of the annual classic.

The race begins in St. Andrews West at noon and winds its way through Martintown, with the finish line set up in Williamstown.

"It would be nice to win it again but it's going to be very tough. There will be many strong teams there," said Sauve. "On a good day you can end up in first place and on a bad day you can end up in sixth or seventh or anywhere in between. There will be another strong field and many teams can finish within a couple of minutes of each other.

"Everybody is usually even for the first 10 miles at the start of the race. It's what happens in the second half that separates the pack. It becomes an endurance test and comes down to how fast you can go in the second 10 miles."

Other local favorites include Williamstown's Bruno Major, who will team up with his son, Marc of Alexandria. The tandems of Garry Atcheson and Eric Wheeler of Williamstown, Maurice and Gilles Deguire of Alexandria and Roger Seguin and Pete Lavalle of Williamstown, are also threats to finish first.

And, of course, there's the Leveille duo to contend with. "They'll be back to defend their title," said Sauve. "They may be the team to beat. We knew before last year's race, they'd be tough, because we had raced against them in the past and have always been neck-and-neck with them.

"They're a lighter team. In deeper water we usually got them. In shallower water, they'd beat us," said the over-40, All-Ontario solo canoeing champion the past four years, explaining that the heavier pair of himself and Major fell behind early in last year's race and couldn't quite make up the difference in the home stretch.

"The first third of the course is very shallow and that hurt us. A heavier team tends to drag a lot in the shallow water. There's a wave motion that forces the front of the boat down and raises the back, so the lighter team goes a lot swifter in the shallow water. We were behind two minutes by the time we got to Martintown, but when we hit the deep water, we made up all the time except for the two seconds.

"This time we can't afford to lose that two minutes. We have to get out to a quicker start."

Anticipated high water conditions for Sunday could give Sauve an edge. "The flows are really high right now and it looks very promising for great flows for the race," says Andy Code, lands co-ordinator for the Raisin Region Conservation Authority, which is sponsoring the race. "It will probably drop a little between now and the time of the race, but it will depend on the weather."

Code says he's hopeful a record number of participants will be entered into the competition, which also includes a women's and mixed division.

"The initial indication is, there'll be a heavy turnout. The fact that we're able to do news releases prior to the event itself helps a lot. I'm expecting a big crowd."

Last year 95 canoes were entered, up from 68 the previous year.

"The race is open to anyone 16 years of age or over," says Code. "The only real rules we have, is that you can only use open canoes and not kayak-type or covered canoes, and you have to wear a lifejacket at all times."

Participants are to register between 10 a.m. and noon at the St. Andrews Separate School in St. Andrews on race day.

"We're expecting another massive crowd to watch the race. We had over 5,000 on hand last year in Martintown alone," says Code. "But there are a number of excellent locations from which to view the race along its course, because the roads (Cty. Rd. 18 and River Road) parallel the river.

"With those kinds of crowds it's a big undertaking. We have to bring in traffic control and there are a number of volunteers involved in making sure the race is successful. It's a big job, but we're starting to get

Maurice Sauve will be looking for his sixth win at the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race Sunday. Sauve was edged out by a father-son combination in last year's race. Organizers say conditions should be optimum for the 16th edition of the annual Glengarry classic.

Tice was popular competitor in Glengarry

By Angus H. McDonell

Sport fans in the Glens, especially those attracted to the heavy events program of the Glengarry Highland Games, were grieved to learn a few weeks ago the sudden death of the popular U.S. annual competitor, Keith Tice.

At the time of his death, a brief phone message was relayed to members of the Glengarry Cabers Club. Condolences were promptly wired and it was only this week we received an obituary account taken from the Scottish Banner, Toronto, and forwarded by the deceased's long-time close friend, sportsman-artist Doug Fales of Montreal and Kenyon's Dornie Road.

Keith Tice was a high school teacher by profession, unmarried, who lived with his mother in the suburb of Los Angeles, Clovis, Cal.

During a break at our last Highland Games, I chatted with Keith Tice and he told me that apart from the sports phase of our Games, what impressed him the most was the vast number of pipe bands that marched on the infield to take part in the opening ritual. No other Games in North America he attended during the summer, could outclass the Glengarry Highland Games.

Keith Tice, true to his Scottish heritage, always celebrated a Robbie Burns celebration, January 25. Last Burns Day, he had his school class skiing most of the day. That evening he attended a Burns banquet and concert similar to our own MacCulloch Dancers in the Maxville and District Sports Complex. At his request, one of the highlights was the singing of Amazing Grace by his personal friend Alex Beaton. Then he left for his home.

It is assumed that fatigue from skiing high in the hills and the late evening caused drowsiness while driving for he lost control and collided with a roadside embankment and met instant death. There was no other vehicle, no witnesses and no alcohol involved. There was no inquest necessary.

Keith Tice was highly respected as one of the world's top competitors in Highland Games and as Glengarry Cabers Ian Sandilands remarked, "Keith was a real down-to-earth nice guy, on and off the field."

The deceased was a long-time friend of Doug Fales, who commented to The Glengarry News, "Keith Tice's legacy to the Glengarry Scottish community and the Glengarry Highland Games is the memory of a great competitor, a superb athlete and above all a real gentleman."

To that, this writer strongly recommends that a memorial plaque in memory of Keith Tice be placed in the Highland Lounge, thus maintaining Glengarry's heritage of memorial traditions.

fence with two points apiece.

Williamstown improved their record to three wins and no losses, topping Laggan 11-3. MacLachlan led the way scoring seven points; Smith and Cathy Pilon notched two each.

Mimi Tessier (two points) and Carol MacLeod (1) scored for Laggan.

MacLachlan's 16 points led Williamstown past Berwick 26-9 in their final game. Smith (six points) and Lori-Anne Leroux (4) also scored.

MacLachlan — named tournament most valuable player — scored six points in her team's opening game 17-8 win over Lancaster. Leroux added four points. Pilon, Lauzon and Smith scored two points each. Vicki Peachey, with four points, Wendy Lawson (2) and Lori Keeler (2) handled the scoring for Lancaster.

Maxville loses

Lancaster recovered, handing Maxville an 11-6 setback. Jody MacDonald led Lancaster with a six-point effort; Julie Rogers contributed three points. Lori Keeler notched a pair.

Kirsten Jones (4) and Lianne Paquette handled the Maxville offence.

Maxville regrouped, squaring their record at two wins and two losses, romping past Berwick 36-10. Kirsten Jones enjoyed a banner game, netting 24 points. Lianne Paquette connected for six points while Sherry Stewart added a pair of baskets. Tania Valley contributed two points.

Maxville doubled Laggan 8-4 in their opener, on the strength of Jones' six point game. Tania Valley added two points. Margaret Fraser and Shirley MacLeod responded for Laggan with a pair each.

Laggan came up 4-2 losers in their first game against Lancaster. Julie Rogers scored both Lancaster field goals with Mimi Tessier replying for Laggan.

Laggan bested Berwick 8-1 in their other game. Tessier scored four points for the winners with two points each notched by Renata Clingen and Shirley MacLeod.

The other contest played saw Lancaster beat Berwick convincingly, 24-4. Jody MacDonald led Lancaster with 10 points; Wendy Lawson contributed six. Julie Rogers (4), Ann McCuaig (2) and Lori Keeler (2) also scored.

Maxville wins boys division

Maxville charged out to an early 13-4 lead and went on to down Roxmore 26-13 in the senior boys tournament "A" championship game.

Scoring leaders for Maxville were Matthew Steiche (11 points), Scott McPherson (7), Devin Baggs (4), Steve Derouchie (2) and Kevin Joustra (2).

Replying for Roxmore was Jamie Norman, with nine points, and Steve MacMillan (4).

Maxville had advanced to the title game, eliminating Lancaster Public School 17-7 in their semi-final matchup. Tournament most valuable player Scott McPherson led the winners with an 11-point game. Steiche and Joustra added a pair each.

Nicky Driven with five points, and Shawn Robertson (2) took care of the Lancaster scoring.

Maxville bounced Williamstown Public into the"B" pool, winning their first round encounter 24-12. McPherson led all scorers with 14 points; Joustra and Baggs notched four points each, with Steiche scoring a pair.

Replying for Williamstown was Steven Proctor and Nathan Terriah with six points each.

Laggan wins "B"

Laggan Public School exploded for 44 points — the most scored in the tournament — and won their "B" championship game 44-9 over Martintown.

Scoring heroes for Laggan were Malcolm MacPherson (14), Steven MacIntosh (12), Jamil MacPal (10), Tim Walkes (4) and Kyle Henderson (2).

a format down for it."

Canoe race awards will be made in Williamstown late Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Centre. The top 10 teams in the men's division and the top three placers in the women's and mixed divisions will receive special medallions. But every competitor that completes the course will receive a medal.

"There's a special pride to finishing the race," says Sauve. "It's quite an achievement to finish. Even if you haven't done that well in the race, as long as you get out there and finish, that's the main thing.

"There's no nicer feeling than when you finish the race and you're exhausted and they put that medal around your neck as you're coming out of the water. It's a great feeling."

It's back to the drawing board for Platers

Ron Truesdell's best laid plans went awry Sunday night.

Before the start of their Rideau-St.Lawrence final series against Char-Lan Rebels in Williamstown, the coach of the Gananoque Platers said if his team could shut down Rebs' top line of Kevin Poapst, Chris Villeneuve and Jamie Latreille, they stood a good chance of winning game one.

Platers couldn't, and didn't.

The high-flying Char-Lan trio broke loose from the onset, scoring 14 points between them and six of Rebels' eight goals in an easy 8-3 win.

Game two in the best-of-seven set was to be played Tuesday night in Gananoque. Game three goes Saturday (Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre, 6:15 p.m.) in Williamstown.

With the score tied at 2-2, Rebs reeled off six straight goals — four before the end of the period — to pull away. Latreille (one goal, three assists) gave Char-Lan the lead for good — at 3-2 — with 12 minutes left in the second. Latreille was the recipient of a Chris Villeneuve (two goals, three assists) pass from behind the net and one-timed a drive from the low slot into the top right corner past Platers' goalie Mike Bray.

A minute-and-a-half later, Wally MacDonald put Rebels up by a deuce, breaking in alone and scoring when he flipped his backhand deke high over the sprawled netminder.

Villeneuve was in the right place at the right time, pouncing on a loose puck to the left of the crease and scoring into an empty net with the goaltender out of position, a goal giving Char-Lan a 5-2 lead with 3:42 left in the frame.

Villeneuve scored again before the period was out; Poapst (three goals, two assists) added a pair of third period insurance markers.

Poapst had broken the scoring ice, giving Char-Lan a 1-0 lead with 12 minutes gone in the first period. Linemate Latreille battled vigorously for the puck along the right boards, then sent a pass to the high slot that Poapst converted by moving in and deking Bray out of position.

Rebels went ahead 2-0 four minutes later when, while on a powerplay, Kelly Primeau scored with a low slapshot drive from the top of the left circle that found the right corner.

Platers battled back to tie, getting goals from Jamie Dorey before the end of the first period and Bennett, early in the second.

Tapis Richard takes soft puck lead

By Jeff Lowe

Tapis Richard opened the Alexandria Women's Soft Puck League "A" final series with an exciting, hard fought 3-2 victory over regular season champs Art Benton.

Tapis opened the scoring as Sue MacIntosh buried a shot past Nathalie Theoret. Cheryl Rigby picked up the assist. Debbie Nadon then replied for Art Benton as she deflected a Marie Bellemare shot.

Sue MacIntosh regained the lead for Tapis as she scored an unassisted tally. Donna MacGregor then set up Debbie Nadon for Nadon's second goal of the game.

With 3:54 remaining in regulation time, Tapis Richard's constant pressure paid dividends. Anne MacMillan somehow managed to put the puck through a maze of players to make the final score 3-2.

In the "B" final Chez Paul dumped Tapis Richard 4-0. Naomi MacKenzie led the way with a goal and two assists. Sylvie Menard, Janice Munro and Ginette Quesnel added single markers. Chantal Legault and Manon Carriere each picked up an assist. Sue Lalonde had an easy night between the pipes for the shutout.

Twenty teams at bonspiel

The Maple Sugar Bonspiel was held on the weekend at the Alexandria Curling club with twenty teams participating.

The members were treated to Chinese food on Friday night and a roast beef dinner was served to 100 on Saturday night. Music by Pauline and Mike Gibbs, and taffy dished out by Lorne Lawson rounded out the evening.

Winners of the bonspiel were skipped by Ian MacKay with Andrea McDonell as third, Walter Hughes second and Gail Hughes, lead.

Runner-up was Bill MacLeod, skip, Jean Campeau, third, Gilles Roy, second, John Burnett, lead.

One Game High: Kent McSweyn skip, Betty Campbell, third, Edna Peterson, second, Huguette Perrier, lead.

One Game Runner-up: Brian Clinton skip, Charlene Ryan, third, Rick Lunny, second, Chris MacPhail, lead.

The bonspiel convenors were Sandra and Lorne Lawson.

Curling club members are looking forward to the Steak Bonspiel on April 14 and 15.

Trophy night will round out the season on May 6.

Duncan MacMillan skips winning rink

The new Glengarry Curling Club in Maxville was the scene of some excellent curling on Saturday (April 1) when the Glengarry Club of Ottawa held their 13th annual bonspiel.

Held annually in Maxville, this year saw 24 teams competing for the Glengarry Cup, which was won by a rink skipped by Duncan MacMillan. With him sharing honors were Jim York, third, Sharon MacMillan, second, and Barb McCormick, lead. Suitable engraved medals were also presented to the winners.

Sandy Stewart skipped his team to win medals as two-game runners-up. With him were Jane Harding, third; Ken Holland, second, and Ewen MacDonald, lead.

One-game honors went to a team skipped by Shannon Collier. Sharing honors and also receiving medals were Ewen MacDonald, third; Roger Eagan, second, and Donald MacMillan, lead. Ronnie McCormick's team was winner of the Curling Club steins as one-game runners-up. With him were Hugh MacGillivray, third; Tracey Hubley, second, and Debra McLean, lead.

Gayle MacMillan and Neil McDonell managed the day's event in arranging teams and playing times allotted to them, while Walter Stewart and Myles MacMillan presented the prizes at night.

The Glengarry Pipe Band, in all their splendor, provided afternoon entertainment, while at night this was carried on by Jack Denovan, D.J., as well as the Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society for dancing.

A delicious beef dinner was served by the ladies of the Curling Club to over 130 persons, and convened by Jean Campbell.

Last Tuesday Phyllis and Melvin Terry accompanied Marguerite and Gerald MacGillis, Alexandria, to Ottawa to the funeral of Father Frank Bradley, who was born at Lemieux and was a cousin of both Marguerite and Phyllis.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, Elizabeth and Campbell MacGillivray and Rhonda and Donnie MacLeod of Kirk Hill were part of a small group who visited farms through New Hampshire and Vermont states.

* * *

Ken MacLennan was in Hamilton over the weekend to attend the Liberal convention.

Allister MacGillivray is back home after spending a few days at the Ottawa Civic Hospital.

Winner of the draw at the library was Scott McFadden-Willard of Brodie.

Laggan euchre

Winners at the euchre at Laggan on March 30 were: Ladies' first — Lena Robinson and second — Tena MacSweyn; gentlemen's first — Norman MacLeod and second — Leopold Seguin and door prizes went to Clifford MacDonald, Mora MacGillivray and Steven Robinson. The MacGillivray ladies were convenors: Mora, Elizabeth, Marion (Rae), Joan (Jim) and Janet.

On Saturday the Optimists held a very successful bingo. Big prizewinners were Jeanne Lapierre, $400, Alexandria, Odette Broomfield, $505, Kilmar, Que., and Jeannine Paquette ($400) Lochinvar. The next bingo is Saturday, May 6.

Fiddle festival

The Fiddle Festival on Friday, April 7 at Laggan school promises to be excellent entertainment.

Fun at Laggan

The evening of fun and entertainment, sponsored by St. Columba Presbyterian Church, held last week drew a large crowd and the audience was not disappointed!

With musical numbers, dancing, vocal selections, Audrey and her puppets, "The Ladies Aid" and the "Hillbillies" with their speciality — "She'll be Comin' round the Mountain," it was a well-organized concert. The Gracefield Camp will benefit from the proceeds.

Spring fever's in the air

APPLE HILL
Gordie VanPutten
527-3473

Yes, people spring is back to stay for a while. Don't let the snow fool you. Even though our days are a bit breezy and cool, there is proof that our spring has finally arrived. Florence Harkin was the first person to notify me that the robins are out and about. It's nice to finally wake up to the beautiful harmony of the chirping birds. Plus, on top of the beautiful climate we can get an extra daylight hour of this weather. Hopefully you remembered to move your clocks ahead one hour Saturday night. Oh well, it won't be long before the soccer fields fill up with teams and it's out with the hockey sticks and in with the ball gloves. Boy, I just love this time of year!

Baptismal ceremony

A lovely baptismal ceremony was held on March 19 at St. Anthony's parish. Headed by Rev. Mr. Carmen Fraser, Rochelle Nadine Leduc was welcomed into the Lord's family. Parents Sandra and Serge were very proud of their little girl, though Rochelle was not very comfortable around the big crowd of people. Most of Sandra's family were present for the occasion as were many more from different areas. Rochelle's godparents, Louis and Francine Desjardins were down from Montreal and paternal grandparents Marie and Jean Paul Leduc were here from Ottawa along with Michelle Tewsley, also from Ottawa. Even Aurore and Jean-Marie Desjardins were present from Vankleek Hill. After the ceremony a lovely lunch was served to all family members and friends. Many gifts were received from the people and were greatly appreciated.

With such a beautiful sight, it will be disappointing to see Rochelle and her parents return back home to Edmonton, Alta., after a one-month stay visiting family and friends. We'll sure miss you but hope to see you soon!

First Friday devotions

This Friday evening (April 7) will be first Friday of the month devotions at St. Anthony's parish. Confessions will be heard from 7-7:45 p.m. Also the recitation of the Holy Rosary will be at 7 p.m., while benediction will be at 7:45 p.m. The mass will proceed at 8 p.m.

Community breakfast

Sunday (April 9) will be the day to enjoy a home-cooked breakfast in St. Anthony's parish hall from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. The Knights of Columbus will be serving up eggs with a choice of bacon and sausage with toast and delicious home fries. Also coffee, tea and juice will be available. Everyone is welcome to attend and enjoy themselves with a home-cooked breakfast.

Euchre results

The winners from the euchre held March 28 at St. Anthony's parish hall were all wearing smiles Tuesday night. Here are the lucky winners: Ladies' first — Claire Van Putten; second — Marie O'Brien and third — Irene Losey; men's first — Louis Thomas; second — D. Valley and third — Dan MacRae; 50/50 winners — Norman MacLeod (2), Margaret Kennedy, Ella Van Putten, Kay MacDonell, Janet Johnson, Judy Johnson, Vicky Berry, Gerry McGillis and Carl Lapierre and the door prize went to Margaret Cadieux while the dinner-for-two at Mr. Poppin's Restaurant went to Carl Lapierre. Carl's not sure who he's taking for the meal, but I'm sure it will be someone special!

Belated birthday

A cute little bird was flying by my way one night and dropped a little note that Elizabeth McDonell celebrated her birthday on March 21. The bird didn't want to say how old Elizabeth was so I guess it's still a secret! Happy belated birthday Elizabeth!

Pro-Life

This past weekend the Knights of Columbus were selling roses to support Pro-Life. They would like to thank everyone for their donation to a need that is not being worked on too quickly by our government. We are the only ones who can put an end to abortion. If we do not act soon, we will have no future to work on. Thank you again for supporting Pro-Life.

In Memoriam

DEROUCHIE — In loving memory of a dear dad Albert, who passed away March 31, 1988.
Remembering you is easy Dad
I do it every day
Missing you is the heartache
That never goes away.
I have learned with silent effort
To hide the tears that start
But I cannot hide the longing
That lies within my heart.
—Sadly missed by daughter Doris and son-in-law Richard. 14-1p

DEROUCHIE — In memory of our dad who passed away March 31, 1988.
Thursday came and you went and passed away
The people in heaven started shouting
For finally they had been blessed
Here comes the greatest guy
For all these many years
They had sat around in gloom
Because Albert wasn't there to brighten up the room.
So they organized a party, but they needed just one thing
The greatest guy on earth to give their party class, because he was a gentleman.
So they sent an invitation via the system that they use
To the greatest guy on earth and begged him, don't refuse.
In his heart he tried so hard not to leave us all behind
But the kind of guy that dad was, he hoped we wouldn't mind,
For someone else had asked if up to heaven he would go
And the greatest guy on earth just never could say no.
We miss you daddy
For when God made you He made the greatest man and we were so proud
That we were your daughters and you were our dad.
—Remembered by daughters Helen Derouchie and Leona Duroucher,
Montreal. 14-1p

LOCAL BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

We are looking for someone interested in

- pursuit of a quality retail business
- working with people in the agricultural community
- building something for their future
- being their own boss where results are a direct result of their work
- a career change giving new direction to their life
- helping to strengthen the local agricultural community

If you are this type of individual, we are interested in talking to you about a legitimate business opportunity. We are looking for an individual or individuals interested in owning and managing a retail business. This business will service and sell to both the urban and rural communities.

Experience and financial backing are valuable but not critical for the right person. Our organization takes a tremendous amount of pride in training people in business management and products and services. We offer close working relationships with experts in several areas to help ensure financial success.

If you are interested in seeing what we have to offer, please contact, in writing,

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF KENYON
EXPLANATORY NOTE TO BYLAW NUMBER 20-89

PURPOSE OF THE BYLAW

The amending bylaw rezones a parcel of land located on part of Lots 14 and 15, Concession 17 Indian Lands west of the Village of Maxville. The parcel to be rezoned is presently Agriculture Resource and is proposed to be Rural Marginal.

EFFECT OF THE BYLAW

The rezoning will allow the parcel to be severed into parcels of land which the owner will then convey to her children. The present Agriculture Resource policies do not permit this type of activity. The property is not considered to be of agricultural value.

LOCATION

The property is located on part of Lots 14 and 15, Concession 17 Indian Lands on the south side of County Road 22 approximately 600 yards west of the Village of Maxville.

Dalhousie Friendship Tea well attended

GLEN NORMAN
Audrey Cober
525-1266

Sandra Ruttenberg dropped in to see Mary Lacelle this past week to wish her a speedy recovery.

* * *

Ed and Sandra Ruttenberg attended the wedding of their niece in Montreal. Their sons, Officer Cadet John of Kingston, his brother Marc, and Marc's fiancée from Ottawa, were among the guests. Over 300 attended the wedding including guests from Canada, U.S.A., Israel and Europe.

Lodge news

The annual Friendship Tea, which was held April 1 at Dalhousie United Church, was well attended and considered a great success.

* * *

Easter Monday, Muriel and Fred Moore visited with their son Geoffrey and daughter-in-law Danielle of Cumberland.

Thursday afternoon Muriel and Fred Moore attended the funeral of their long-time friend and neighbor, William Provencal of Grenville, Quebec.

* * *

Mr. Wenger of the Davidson Moore Lodge was visited by his wife Gerda, Derrek and Sadie Weatherston.

Donat Ouimet was visited by his brother Leon and his two grandsons, Richard and Raymond, and their wives, Dorothy and Leslie.

Moria Morrison was the dinner guest of Muriel and Fred Moore at the Davidson Moore Lodge on Easter Monday.

* * *

That is the news for this week and I want to thank all those who contributed to the column. I hope this will encourage others to call also.

Correction

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shott had a baby boy, not a baby girl, as was reported last week. Sorry!

* * *

Visitors at the Smith's this week were Kathleen Emberg from Ottawa and Diane Buick from Morag, California.

Colombe Raymond spent a week visiting family in Toronto.

Belated March birthdays: Gerry St. Denis, March 28; Bobbie St. Denis, March 31 and Jennifer Wensink, March 30.

Congratulations to Peter and Erin Wensink on the birth of a son, March 13 and to new grandparents, Romeo and Theresa Cuillerier on the birth of a granddaughter.

* * *

The staff of The Glengarry News mailing department wish Mary Couture a speedy recovery to come back to work soon.

Brunch

The St. Catherine's Social Club held a successful maple syrup brunch on Sunday and would like to thank all who made it a success.

The winner of 40 ozs. of maple syrup was Leonard McDonell.

Great talent apparent in Green Valley actor

GREEN VALLEY
Helene Quesnel
525-3303

Laurence Campeau of Conc. 7, Lancaster was one of the lucky winners of the Lions Club draw held last Friday evening. Laurence will be driving a new Pontiac Sunbird from Roy's Garage. Congratulations Laurence!

* * *

Seems Green Valley has some exceptional talent. Sylvain Leger, son of Richard and Noëlla, was at Tagwi Secondary School on Saturday taking part in the drama festival held for local high schools. Sylvain was awarded best outstanding actor overall for the five roles he played.

Sylvain is a Grade 12 student at ESRG and has been in the drama department there since Grade 9.

Birthdays

Happy birthday wishes go out to Julie Sauve, 7, on April 3; to Carine Menard, 7, on April 4 and to Jean-François Menard, 7, on April 10. These three children are all in Grade 1 at Ste. Marie's School.

K of C breakfast

Everyone is invited to attend the Green Valley Knights of Columbus Council 9435 breakfast which is being held on Sunday, April 19 at the Alexandria K of C hall on Kenyon Street. The breakfast is on from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and includes bacon, eggs, sausages, toast, jam and coffee. A special attraction will be the 400 Club draw which will be held at 11 a.m.

* * *

Sympathy goes to the Bellefeuille and Theoret families upon the death of Gisele (Theoret) Bellefeuille, 42, who died April 1. Gisele was married to Paul Bellefeuille and had two children. She was the sister of Leo Theoret and sister-in-law of Yollande (Bellefeuille) MacMillan, both from Ste. Marie's parish.

Hockey

Our Optimist Club was in Rockland this past weekend for a hockey tournament. The team managed to make it to the B finals but were unsuccessful in downing St. Isidore, 5-2.

Better luck next year guys!

Father Dumoulin is seeking helpers to clean the sand and salt off the asphalt in the church yard. Anyone interested in helping out should be at the church this Saturday at 10 a.m. (weather permitting) with shovel and broom in hand.

Meetings

Union Culturelle members are having their monthly meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 8 p.m.

Thursday evening at 8 p.m. a meeting of the finance committee will be held in the parish hall.

On Monday (April 10) a meeting will be held at Ste. Marie's School at 8 p.m. for future confirmants. Bishop LaRocque and Father Dumoulin will be present. Parents, children and teachers are urged to attend.

La Relève is having a retreat weekend for teenagers from 14 to 17 years old, April 21-23. This is a special weekend for teenagers and does a lot spiritually for our youth. Rachel and Glen St. John are weekend animators.

Also the R³ group of Alexandria (Sacred Heart Parish) is having a weekend retreat, April 28-30. This retreat is geared to people from 18 to 25 years old. Father Vaillancourt and Father Thibodeau are those in charge.

Sugar bush

Robin Gauthier was host to some of his Grade 4 pals at his grandfather's (Gilbert Gauthier) sugar bush on Sunday. The boys are Zacharie Touzin, Martin Brunet, Richard Leblanc, Kevin Quesnel, Derek St. John, Guy Lauzon, Philippe Bourgon and Jean Seguin.

While there the boys toured the bush on the sap wagon and helped gather the sap. They then watched how the sap was boiled into maple syrup.

They were also treated to pancakes and maple syrup, followed by a special treat of taffy poured on snow.

Of course, the fellows thought the afternoon was all fun and games, but they received a valuable learning experience in the meanwhile.

André (Rosco) and Monique Garreau are the new parents of a baby girl. Amanda was born at Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall on Tuesday, March 28 and weighed 7 lbs., 12 ozs. She is the first child for the happy couple. Proud grandparents are Amédée and Diane Garreau of RR2, Green Valley and Gerard and Rita Miller of Green Valley. Great grandparents are Aldema Menard of Alexandria, Mary-Agnes Miller of Alexandria, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lacombe.

Marilyn Sloan has just returned from a two-week holiday in West Germany. While there she visited with Donnie and Mary O'Shea, toured part of France and Luxemborg. She said the flowers are all out and the farmers are plowing the fields already.

Gilbert Sabourin wins $1,000 in Optimist draw

GLEN ROBERTSON
Colette Sauvé

Out-of-town Easter guests at the home of Rolland and Perle Poirier were Rejean, Brigitte and Dominique Poirier of Alexandria, René, Josée and Isabelle Poirier of Cornwall, Raymond Poirier of Pembroke and Daniel Poirier of Ottawa.

* * *

Winners of the card party held on March 28 were Beatrice Lalonde, Lionel Brunet, Roger Brazeau, Laurette Miron, Bill Robertson, Ina O'Brien and Cecile Lortie. Jean Lucien Larocque won the skunk prize; draw winners were Jeannine Lortie, Estelle Brazeau and Jean Lucien Larocque and the door prize was taken by Estelle Brazeau. The birthday of the month was Rita McCarthey's. The next card party will be on April 11.

Belated and happy birthday wishes to Eric McCarthey who celebrated on March 23, to Mrs. Auxilia Poirier on March 25, and to the twins Rene and Raymond Poirier on March 28.

Coming birthdays: William Hagen who is celebrating today (April 5), Betty McDonell, Anita Masterson and Rolland Poirier, all three on April 7 (this Friday) and to Luc Larocque this Sunday (April 9). The best to all of you!

Happy fourth wedding anniversary to Gary and Anita Masterson, who celebrated last Sunday (April 2). Also to Denis and Johanne Lauzon who are celebrating their wedding anniversary today (April 5).

Neighbors and friends would like to wish a speedy recovery to Michael Lacombe who recently underwent surgery.

Fern and Lilly Rozon accompanied their daughter Suzanne Poirier and granddaughter Roxanne on a two-week tour of France. Among cities visited were Rennes, Angers, Bordeaux, Montpellier, Nice, Monaco and Chamonix. They also visited Paris and the Eiffel Tower (a trip they will long remember). Roxanne is a member of a girls' team which played five games of ringette in France as a goodwill tour. They won all five. Congratulations!
