Family saved from blaze by pet cat

A pet cat is attributed with saving the lives of Laurier Bellefeuille, 58, and his son, Laurier Jr., 12, when fire broke out in a 2-storey house at the corner of Victoria and Chisholm Streets in Alexandria, early Sunday morning.

Mr. Bellefeuille said the door at the top of the stairs, where he and his son were sleeping, had closed during the night and the cat was screeching and meowing to get upstairs when the fire started. The cat's frenzy awakened Mr. Bellefeuille, allowing him and his son to escape out of a second-storey window onto a shed roof and then to the ground along with their pet cat.

"Five more minutes of smoke inhalation could have been fatal," said Fire Chief Gerald Charlebois.

Alexandria Police Constable Bob Latreille was in the area when the fire erupted and phoned in the alarm. The fire department arrived within five minutes and controlled the flames to cupboards and one wall of the interior. A lot of smoke and water damage was incurred.

The Fire Chief reported the cause of the fire was faulty electrical wiring in the back of a fridge located in the stairway of the house. The home had a smoke detector, said the chief, but it had been disconnected because the residents found the detector was constantly going off and annoying them.

The home where the Bellefeuilles reside is owned by Mrs. Nicole Massia, a family member. The father and son were the only two people in the house at the time of the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Bellefeuille are temporarily residing with the MacPhersons in an apartment above the Graham Creamery and six of their children are spread out around the town, staying with relatives and friends.

Alexandria dump gets the go-ahead

As Alexandria's solicitors prepare to defend the Town of Alexandria against charges from the Ministry of Environment for failing to compact and cover the waste disposal site at the required frequency, the town has received a $3,000 grant from the Ministry to upgrade the site and a certificate of approval to operate the dump for another year.

For the past several years the Ministry has awarded these grants to municipalities in order to assist and encourage the upgrading of dump sites. Council discussed utilizing the money to build a fence around the 25-acre site in Lochiel Township.

A Certificate of Waste Disposal Site Approval, dated July 10, 1980, valid for one year, is provisional upon certain conditions. One condition being, "the compacting and covering of material once every two weeks between April 15 and November 15 and monthly during the remainder of the year, or as directed from time to time by the Director of the Southeast Region of the Ministry." This is the condition the Town allegedly failed to abide by, resulting in a summons in mid-July.

"This condition is to prevent odors from escaping to neighboring homes," explained Don Munroe, a Ministry spokesman shortly after the summons was issued.

A letter from Osie Villeneuve MPP explained the crackdown on municipal dumps throughout Ontario as Ministry of Environment Harry Parrot's way of handling pressure by Liberal Leader Stuart Smith, whose public outcry, he said, is motivated by hopes for political gain.

At the preliminary hearing on August 14 a trial date was set for October 30.

Eight vandals caught in act

Eight Maxville and area mailbox marauders were caught in the act Friday evening. Maxville OPP have charged two juveniles and six teenage boys with mischief causing property damage.

A police spokesman reported 14 mailboxes damaged, the majority in the Greenfield and St. Elmo area, and one Counties' road sign knocked down. Damage was estimated at $280.

The Maxville detachment reported more vandalism in the Moose Creek area but a detailed report from the Long Sault office was still unavailable at press time.

An auto theft early Friday morning involved two of the above youths and two other Maxville boys, including a juvenile.

A 1974 Volkswagen was taken from the MacEwen Ford display lot in Maxville and taken for a joy ride. The vehicle was returned to the lot but not in the same condition as it had been originally.

Police said the vehicle had been rolled four or five times in the interim. A MacEwen employee estimated the damage at a couple of thousand although the vehicle was still in running order when it was returned.

No one was injured in the incident.

Auditors defend big bill for town

Alexandria's auditors, Clarkson and Gordon of Ottawa, in a letter read at the Council meeting explained that the reason for their annual high billing was twofold; the time required for preparation of financial reports, including consolidation of local boards and enterprises and the increase in salaries to staff.

The revelation that Lancaster Township pays $6,000, approximately half of what Alexandria pays for the accountants' service, had prompted Mayor Touchette to ask for the letter of explanation.

Andre Bussiere, a partner in the accounting firm, said the cost of consolidating the audits of area boards and Public Utilities Commission into Alexandria's financial statement cost the town more. Alexandria is the designated municipality in the area and must consolidate the audits of the Glengarry Sports Palace and Glengarry Planning Board.

Bussiere also wrote that certain financial statements were not prepared for the accountants which were prepared upon arrival in other municipalities, resulting in an increased charge. Mayor Touchette responded, "It is not fair to put the onus on our treasurer's back, he has done everything asked of him."

The letter concluded with an offer to sit down and further discuss the matter with Council.

Reeve Rheal Lefebvre suggested considering another bid.

Consoltex workers end wildcat strike

Employees at Alexandria's Consoltex plant are back on the job following a two-day wildcat strike last week.

About 150 unionized employees left their jobs last Tuesday demanding they be given a full eight-hour shift.

Spokesman for local 1664 of the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, said workers were being sent home after only four hours work.

One worker suggested the move was "a tactic to separate the union."

Management, however, suggested the men were involved in a work slowdown.

The union and company are in negotiations and workers are in a legal position to strike August 30. The old contract expired July 1.

Roy Collins, manager of the Greater Cornwall Textile Joint Board, termed the walkout "an incident."

He and other union representatives met with management Thursday to end the dispute. Employees have been guaranteed a full shift.

Plant Manager Denis Hebert said "If they work like they should, they'll get a full shift."

Petition prompts petition

Plug one hole in the dyke and another bursts forth with increased turbulence Alexandria Town Council has discovered. The Town barred several streets to heavy trucks, bowing to Kincardine Street petitioners' demands and as a result Kenyon Street West residents want some consideration about the increased traffic flow past their doors. A 29-name petition of residents on the street, asking for a bypass route, was read to Council on Tuesday evening.

Edna Peterson, author of the cover letter accompanying the petition, said, "The noise and fumes are intolerable. We won't let this drop until we get some action." She added that designating Kincardine, Elgin, St. George, Sinclair and Harrison Streets as No Truck routes was understandable, "But we are taxpayers too and want some consideration."

Councillor Bruno Lalonde said he realized the area was residential but it was an arterial street, Highway 43. "There may be a problem but what can be done, in reference to also designating Kenyon Street a No Truck route."

During a Spring meeting Councillor Bruno Lalonde suggested that Council request the Ministry of Transport and Communications to conduct a survey of the possibility and feasibility for a bypass route for Highway 34 and a junction with Highway 43 outside of town limits. Mr. Lalonde said he understood it would take from eight to 10 years before a decision could be reached by the Ministry on this issue.

"Main Street is receiving heavy use particularly since the steel factory in L'Orignal, Gledhill and Soa Inc., opened and the transports travel through the town on their way to the United States," said Mr. Lalonde when contacted on Monday. All neighboring villages and cities with bypasses are happy with the arrangement, added the councillor, citing Hawkesbury, Chesterville and Winchester as examples.

Mayor Touchette also made an earlier suggestion that the issue should be put on the ballot for the Fall municipal election.

Council designated certain streets No Truck routes at the last council meeting on July 15 after receiving a petition from Kincardine Street residents who complained about the heavy truck traffic and noise.

Amendments to the traffic bylaw prepared by Police Chief Cleroux and read to Council on Tuesday evening included the No Truck routes. Conditions to the amendment included one, that the route shall not apply where it is necessary for the vehicle to deviate from one of the truck routes for the purpose of performing a service and every deviation shall be made at a place nearest to where the service is performed.

Other amendments included a ban on parking on the north side of Kenyon Street from Main Street to the westerly limits and on the west side of Main Street from Kenyon Street to a point 30 metres south.

Councillor John Cormier said that although Main Street traffic problems have been tempered, of late, he has noted traffic pile ups at the Elgin Street intersection since the installation of traffic lights. The problem cited was specific to operators turning south onto Main Street.

In other business Deputy Clerk Leo Poirier informed council that their application to the Ministry of Transport and Communications for the resurfacing of Kenyon Street West and Main Street was turned down. However the Ministry suggested the town leave the item on its priority list and reapply next year.

House faces demolition

The required waiting period, 30 days, has expired since the Property Standards Committee issued a registered letter to the estate of Josephine Lalonde informing that the residence at 14 Peel Street in Alexandria must be brought up to property by-law standards or demolition would take place. Thursday marked the end of the waiting period and no action has been taken.

Lawyers for Fernand Lalonde, a son of the late Mrs. Lalonde, sent a letter to Council asking for an extension to the thirty days. Mr. Lalonde is in the process of contesting his mother's will.

Pacifique Lalonde, another son and executor of the will, pleaded to Council for "fair play," suggesting Council put the house up for tenders so he could purchase and repair the residence.

Mayor Touchette said it was apparent Council was in the midst of a family struggle. "We will let our lawyers handle it and let nature take its course."

Front window view is worth $1,160

Alexandria has been billed $2,710 by Guild Electric Ltd. of Ottawa above the original contract of $26,595 for additional work during the traffic light installation.

A portion of the supplementary payment, $1,160, is for moving the pole at the northeast corner of the Main and Kenyon Street intersection further south after Sauve's Real Estate Agency complained that the pole obliterated the view from the front window of the building.

Council referred the billing to its engineers.

Fire fights planned

Should you sight Fire Chief Gerald Charlebois and several of his firemen inspecting your property, there is no cause for alarm. The Alexandria Firemen are merely practising prevention and pre-planning in case a fire should occur at one of the town's industries, businesses or service buildings.

The firemen map out escape routes, check where all the doors and windows are located and where the water source in the area is located. The planning began last week and will continue until the end of the year.

Baby slain in Toronto

Baby John Massie whose brutal murder took place in Toronto last week had Glengarry ties.

The baby's father, John Massie is the son of Jean Massie of St. Eustache, formerly of Alexandria.

The baby is a grand-nephew of Bruno Massie, former mayor of Alexandria. "The baby was John and Linda's only child," Bruno told The News. The name had come down through three generations. He was John Massie III.."

The baby had been removed from his home while the parents were out in the backyard of their townhouse in Mississauga. He was found eight hours after he had been reported missing, with his diaper and pyjamas removed. He had been thrown over a bridge into the Credit River ravine 25 metres below.

A 37-year-old neighbor, James Wilson Brown has been ordered held on a charge of first degree murder.

Vandals hit school again

Vandals hit Elda-Rouleau School in Alexandria during the past week, damaging one metal window frame, kicking in a door and dumping containers of tar off the school's roof onto the asphalt below. Denis Vaillancourt, principal of the school, estimated the damage at a couple of hundred dollars.

The culprits damaged the window on a portable classroom located at the rear of the school grounds and kicked in the east side student's entrance door. There was no damage reported inside the school.

Ten gallons of tar were dumped from the school's roof sometime over the weekend, Mr. Vaillancourt said. The roof was being repaired for resurfacing.

Although the vandalism is the first incident this summer, the school has been hit several times in the past and Mr. Vaillancourt urges residents in the area to report any suspicious activity they may see.

Plan blitz

Plans for a county-wide blitz in aid of Mount Carmel House in St. Raphael's got well underway when representatives of several Glengarry municipalities met at Glengarry Sports Palace last week.

The old Iona Academy building is being renovated with a view to establishing an alcoholic treatment centre for the area.

Mayor Jean Paul Touchette is heading the campaign.

Representing the different municipalities at the meeting were: the mayor and Bob Leroux, Alexandria; Reeve William Cumming of Lancaster Village; Councillor Fred Leroux of Kenyon Township; Alex McDonald and Gerry Goulet of Lochiel; Karen Dicaire and Anna Margaret MacDonald of Lancaster Township and Don Culkin for the Village of Maxville.

A Charlottenburgh delegate was unable to be at the meeting but the Township Council had already voiced approval of the project at its August meeting. "You won't have to ask us twice for support," members had said, "we all realize the importance of this in our community."

Rather than conduct a door-to-door blitz, representatives decided to launch a media appeal with donations to be turned in at the different churches on Thanksgiving weekend.

The people of Glengarry have shown what they could do in the fund drives for the arenas, Alex McDonald reminded. "This is a cause which touches almost every citizen in some way, so the response should be even better."

"We raised $225,000 for the Alexandria Sports Palace in just three municipalities," said Bob Leroux, "we have much more territory to appeal to in this case."

As the centre will be used for a large area if it becomes operative, other municipalities will be expected to support the campaign.

Police charge young drivers

A 21-year-old Riviere Beaudette man was charged with driving while disqualified on Friday evening after a pursuit through Alexandria streets to Glen Robertson.

Rejean Gareau drew the attention of Alexandria Police Constable Bob Latreille when he squealed the tires of the automobile he was driving at the intersection of Derby and Dominion Street. Constable Latreille pursued the car as it travelled east onto Bishop Street, south to Lochiel Street and east down the Glen Robertson Road. Police report they caught up with the vehicle in the Glen at which time the driver left the car and fled behind a house before being apprehended.

Mr. Gareau was scheduled to appear in Provincial Court August 28 on a previous charge for driving while disqualified.

Lucien Carriere, 21, of 360 Dominion Street South in Alexandria was charged with four different traffic violations on Sunday evening as the result of driving a moto-cross bike on the streets of Alexandria.

Mr. Carriere was charged with having no insurance, operating a motorcycle with no plates, failure to wear a helmet on a motorcycle and failure to produce an operator's license. Operating a vehicle with no insurance represents a minimum $500 fine, Chief Cleroux said.

Chief blasts law

A prank, setting a 45-gallon drum on fire, could have become a calamity when fire spread to a nearby wooden post which supported a veranda, located at the rear of 48 Main Street in Alexandria around 1:30 a.m. Thursday morning.

Jacques Trottier was passing the scene in his car when he noticed flames at the northwest corner of the building. He stopped and put out the flames with an extinguisher he had in the car. Mr. Trottier was appalled that several young onlookers on Main Street were laughing about the incident.

Mr. Trottier said it appeared that a fire had been set in the drum and it overturned and caught in the veranda supports. An oil fuel tank was in the area and there was some concern about the tank erupting.

A survey of the area indicated that if the fire had spread to the rear of 50 Main Street, the only exit for three second-storey families would have been blocked.

Fire Chief Gerald Charlebois criticized the town by-law which permits these second-storey apartments to have only one exit.

"If the fire had spread, those people would have had to jump onto Main Street," said the chief.

Council to debate airport once more

A "final" decision on the proposed expansion of Summerstown Airport is expected this Thursday when Charlottenburgh Council holds a special meeting to debate the topic.

The meeting, to be held at the township hall in Williamstown at 8 p.m., is open to the public but members of the audience will not be allowed to participate.

A three-hour public debate ensued at the last council meeting when close to 100 ratepayers appeared to protest the airport expansion.

Pro and anti-airport factions exchanged views during the meeting.

Clerk Marcel Lapierre said council believes there has been ample public discussion and wishes to contain the debate to members of council this time.

Weeds will be cut

The Raisin Region Conservation Authority is holding a weed harvesting demonstration at Summerstown Marina Thursday starting at 2 p.m.

The demonstration will be conducted by Limnos Limited, an environmental management consulting firm which is undertaking the weed cutting experiment for the Authority.

"Past experiences have shown that, aside from clearing the water of weeds, aquatic weed harvesting programs will reduce the weed growth the following year, improve fish and waterfowl habitat, and enhance the shoreline for water-related, recreational activities," an Authority release states.

BIRTHDAYS

Two senior citizens of the village happily celebrated their birthdays this week amidst a shower of congratulations and best wishes for many more years of good health and activity.

Mrs. Olive O'Hara was 93 on Thursday. She's the spry little lady who can often be seen wending her way to the bank, the store, and the church, having a visit with all her friends along the way.

On Friday, Mrs. Thelma Currier of King Street had her 84th birthday. The 10 members of her family gathered with her this Sunday in honor of the event.

WEDDING

Miss Janice McDonald has returned home after spending the summer holidays in Winnipeg. Forty couples from the Maxville-Alexandria district attended the McDonald-Rochette wedding in Belleville last Saturday.

LIONS' SOCCER

Don't forget that this weekend, August 30 and 31, Saturday and Sunday, is the Lions' fourth annual Soccer Tournament at the fair grounds, with Sylvester MacDonald and the Clansmen providing music for the dance Saturday night, and Sunday afternoon.

NEW SHOP

If you are tired of running all over the country to find just the kind of wools, needles, or handwork accessories you need, Annie Pare has just opened a new shop in her home, Dunvegan west. She has all kinds of wools, including Pingouin, needlepoints and accessories. To find Boutique Annie, hers is the first lane past the side road west of Dunvegan, on the south side—white gravel with a log edging.

VISITORS

Recent visitors with Mrs. Phil Guindon were her sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Guindon, Mary and Greg of Prince George, BC, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Guindon, Rachelle and Pierre of Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guindon and Buddy of Hallendale, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lascelles of Manotick and Mr. and Mrs. Archie McDonald and Cathy of Ottawa also came to visit.

CHEESEMAKING DEMONSTRATION

Last Sunday, blessed as ever with perfect weather, the grounds of the Glengarry Pioneer Museum in Dunvegan were filled with visitors for the annual cheesemaking demonstration by Wilburn Kyer of Cornwall, and his assistant Ivan Cameron.

Cheesemaking is a lengthy process. Several amateur cheesemakers arrived at 8 in the morning to watch and listen and gain pointers as the experts tended their 400-lb. vat of milk.

Mr. Kyer has the ability to explain his work, and share the expertise of 55 years experience with an audience. The milk's temperature is most important. He also showed the kind of starter and the adding of it, then the rennet, and finally a bit of color, and a little salt. All the while, he carefully tended his small wood fire, checking the heat, and always the look, the smell and the feel of the curd.

The cans of milk are heavy, milling the curd requires a strong arm. Mr. Cameron was at his side whenever he was needed, two very companionable craftsmen. By two in the afternoon the curd was finally ready and a sample tasting proved it to be, as expected, of the highest quality.

STEWARTS FEATURED

Each Labor Day weekend the museum has made a practice of featuring one of the Scottish families who settled in the district. Since this is also Memorial Decoration Day for the nearby Kenyon Presbyterian cemetery there are a great many visitors in the village. This year it is the Stewarts, and on display over the weekend will be the many items in the museum collection that have been donated by members of this family—clothing, housewares, tools, and machinery.

A map has been prepared illustrating the original Stewart settlements in the county. Any members of the clan with memorabilia that they would like to share and display are most welcome to bring them to the museum. The hours are 10 to 6, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Assessment discussed

The Association of Municipalities of Ontario has called on the province to implement market value property assessment.

Under the system, all properties in the province would be assessed for taxes on the basis of their sale value on the open market.

The association, which held its annual convention in Toronto recently, also called for the organization of a single body to represent all municipalities in Ontario.

A similar resolution will be presented to the Association of Cities and Regions of Ontario in October and to the Rural Ontario Municipalities Association in

Parents preparing

The Parents for Educational Progress (PEP) are going on a membership drive in September.

Treasurer Lusia Jasiewicz says the group will set a meeting date for new members early in the Fall.

PEP, which hopes to become an effective tri-county education watchdog organization, presented a brief in July to SD&G County Board of Education suggesting Director of Education Rosaire Leger be relieved of his responsibilities as secretary of the board and superintendent of Glengarry District High School.

Mrs. Jasiewicz says her group is interested in encouraging a better understanding of school issues and making direct citizen input to the board on various issues.

Any interested people wishing to join may call Mrs. Jasiewicz at 527-2044.

CUBS AND SCOUTS

First Maxville Cubs are desperately in need of a new male leader. Any interested party, please call Mrs. Lusia Jasiewicz at 527-2044. Registration for Maxville Beavers, Cubs and Scouts will take place on September 9 at 7 p.m. at the Maxville Senior School.

Talented woman dies

After a lengthy illness Christena Ferguson died in Cornwall General Hospital on August 19 at the age of 83.

Miss Ferguson was the daughter of the late Gordon Ferguson and Catherine Cameron. She graduated as a nurse from the Protestant General Hospital in 1923. Over a period of years she nursed in various homes in Glengarry and Ottawa, and also spent four years working in a Los Angeles hospital. Latterly she was employed at the Royal Ottawa Sanatorium and for a few years at the Perley Hospital in Ottawa.

She retired to Dunvegan and shortly afterward was asked to set up the Glengarry Pioneer Museum there. She was the curator of the museum for several years. Retirement gave her an opportunity to develop her artistic talents and she became well known for her paintings of buildings in the county and her work in ceramics, particularly her clay figurines depicting early life in the area. She donated to the Laggan Public School a display of figurines and paintings representative of pioneer life in Glengarry. She will be remembered by friends and relatives for her kindliness, her sense of humor and her readiness to help in time of need.

Surviving members of the family are Elizabeth Blair and Edith Ferguson, both of Toronto. She is also fondly remembered by several nieces and nephews.

She was predeceased by two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. D. D. MacLeod (Gretta), Annie, who died in childhood, Dan and Martin.

The funeral was held in Dunvegan Presbyterian Church on August 19 with Mr. Gordon Fresque of Dunvegan and Dr. D. N. MacMillan of Pointe Claire, Quebec, conducting the service. Interment was in St. Elmo cemetery.

Pallbearers were Gordon MacLeod, Clifford Bickerstaff, Rene Trottier, Douglas Clark, Murray Kippen and Rae Ferguson.

Maxville Tournament on Weekend

The Fourth Annual Maxville Soccer Tournament is slated for this weekend and will provide Glengarrians with some of the best soccer of the season. Ottawa Rockers an ethnic Trinidad team will be returning and are highly favored to win the tourney, but several Glengarry clubs with less skill and more heart may have some say in the Rocker's success.

The double knockout tournament will feature one other team from Ottawa, an entry from Brockville, Winchester, three from Cornwall, seven Glengarry senior teams and the Alexandria Selects—a team composed of the league's bantam players.

Other attractions include a skills competition movie presentations of classic international matches from the past and several concessions including a beer garden supervised by the Maxville Lions.

The action gets underway Saturday morning at 10 a.m. with Cornwall city playing Dunvegan; continuous preliminary and quarter final games will be played throughout the day at the Old Maxville High School football field and the Fairgrounds.

On Sunday all the games will be held at the Fairgrounds as the competition narrows down to eight semi-finalists. Team monetary prizes and individual awards valued at $1,100 will be presented on Sunday evening.

This tournament is the brainchild of Bill Shields and Ian McRae of Maxville who have developed the tournament into one of the best competitions in the Ottawa area.

Referees in Victoria

Carman MacMillan of Lochiel returned from Victoria, B. C. last Monday after officiating two soccer matches in the Labatt's Canadian Senior Soccer Championships. The Championships featured clubs from Manitoba, New Brunswick, Ontario and the home team of Victoria.

Carman's flight left from Montreal on Thursday and he was kept company by Jamie and Randy MacDonald of Alexandria who were also going westward to visit their eldest brother, Michael in Vancouver.

Summer Games' Competitors

Linda Vanderwieler, Maurice Sauve and Tom Bryson were three local athletes competing at the Ontario Summer Games in Peterborough over the wekend.

Linda placed third in the 1,500 and 800 meter events, recording her personal best times in both events. Linda proudly reports knocking five and three seconds off her 1,500 and 800 metre race times, respectively.

Maurice and Tom placed fourth in the 12-mile canoe race out of six entries from different areas of the province. Maurice said their sights were set on third place finish but a poor start threw them off.

While fellow local canoeists Maurice Sauve and Tom Bryson were competing in the Ontario Summer Games in Peterborough, Maurice and Richard Deguire paddled their way to two gold medals at the Quebec Games held in Hawkesbury on Sunday.

The Deguire tandem took first in the two and a half and the six mile races in the skilled class.

Fastball final series even at two

by Marc Depratto

On Monday night in Alexandria Fastball action, the Chippers produced two runs in the fifth to tie MFS 2-2 and went on to win the game 3-2. The victory tied the series at two games apiece.

Ernest Sarault's triple caused most of the excitement in the comeback when he outran Bob Latreille who had tagged up at first on the deep blast to right. Andre Lauzon scored from second but over-zealous (take it as you wish) Ernest was out as both men stopped at third. J. P. Claude rose to the occasion and produced a run scoring single.

MFS had taken the early lead in their half of the first inning when Gilles Lauzon was granted a bases-loaded walk by pitcher Bob Latreille and Donald Menard came home from third. They then cushioned their lead when Andre Lortie stroked an rbi single to score Leo Seguin in the top of the fourth.

The score stayed 2-2 until the seventh when Noel Lajoie stole the show. With one out Bob Leroux smacked what appeared to be a sure triple deep in the right field corner but Noel came up with a superb backhand catch to eliminate the threat. In the bottom of the seventh, J. P. Claude walked with one out, stole second base; Maurice Massia was then intentionally walked, and the two performed a double steal. Denis Martin was then granted a free pass to load the bases. Noel Lajoie promptly answered with a rbi sacrifice fly.

Chippers' pitcher Bob Latreille's four-hit performance was deserving of the victory.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 21
CHIPPERS 3, MFS 6

Mike Owen's two-run homer in the bottom of the fourth doused any hopes of a Chipper rally and MFS coasted to a 6-3 victory. The win gave MFS a 2-1 edge in games in the finals.

As usual Menard's got off to a fast start, scoring twice in the bottom of the first inning. Andy Seguin came home off Jacques Trottier's double and Leo Seguin immediately followed with an rbi single.

The Chippers narrowed the margin by one when Andre Lauzon scored on a fielder' choice in the top of the third.

Gilles Lauzon crossed home for the third MFS run on Andre Lortie's triple and the stage was set for Owen's decisive blow. The MFS team tallied once again in the fifth when Gilles Lauzon's sacrifice fly scored Bob Leroux from third, by means of a lead-off single.

The Chippers came back with a three-hit, two-run sixth inning but faltered there as Bob Latreille popped up to second baseman Norm Menard, with three men aboard. Emile St. Denis and Andre Lauzon produced the Chippers' runs in that inning. Gilles St. Denis was the only Chipper player with a two-hit evening.

Leo Seguin was the only two-hit player for the winning team, brother Paul picked up his first win of the finals.

Game five will be held this upcoming Thursday at the Alexandria Island Park with game six slated for Monday, September 1. Both games start at 7 p.m. If a seventh and deciding game is required, it is scheduled for September 4.

Stars romp Maraudders

Glengarry Stars opened up the best-of-five Glengarry Soccer League finals with an impressive 6-2 victory over the defending champions, Greenfield Maraudders. Pierre Theoret blitzed the flat-footed Greenfield backs for four unanswered goals in the second half, as the Stars coasted to an impressive win.

Ironically, Greenfield scored the first two goals of the game but the Stars' Chris Emard replied with a pair to tie the match before the half. Herbie Maley knocked Greenfield's first goal on a head ball and Donnie Morris added the second, also on a header.

Pierre Theoret and his fleet-footed forward line completely dominated the second half, breaking unmarked toward the Greenfield net time after time, converting four of their opportunities into goals. Several more goals were called back on offside calls.

Greenfield had several chances to narrow the margin but were thwarted by goaltender Gerald MacDonald and Donald MacNaughton. MacNaughton replaced MacDonald between the pipes after he was cut for 13 stitches on the forehead.

At the conclusion of the game both clubs were making cautious predictions about the remainder of the series, both realizing it was one game in a best-of-five series.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23
GREENFIELD 1,
PINE GROVE 0

Greenfield won the semi-final series against Pine Grove but as one fan put it, "they sure couldn't boast about it." Pine Grove gave Greenfield all they could handle pushing the best-of-three game series to four games, the result of two ties.

Donnie Morris scored the winner and lone goal of the game on Saturday when he headed a ball into the short side, off a throw-in.

Greenfield defenders hung tough for the remainder of the contest.

Pine Grove goaltender John MacSweyn put a sign on his goal line "the ball stops here," and it did, preventing Greenfield from padding their lead.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22
GREENFIELD 3,
PINE GROVE 1

Greenfield put forth its best effort of the series and pulled ahead 3-0 before Pine Grove scored one to spoil a shutout for goalkeeper Allan Byers.

Herbie Maley scored the opener midway through the first half. Donnie Morris and Garrett McGillis added second half insurance goals.

Campbell MacGillivray put the Pine Grove squad on the scoreboard late in the game.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20
GREENFIELD 1,
PINE GROVE 1

Pine Grove went up 1-0 midway through the second half on a breakaway goal by Campbell MacGillivray. Herbie Maley tied the match with ten minutes remaining to salvage a tie for Greenfield.

The two subsequent ten-minute overtime periods were scoreless and the clubs recorded their second tie of the series.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 19
STARS 1, GLEN SANDFIELD 0

Glen Sandfield were back in old form and could have knocked off the Stars with a little luck. A late goal by Tom Lowe saw the Stars overcome and sweep the series two games straight.

FINAL SERIES

Wednesday, August 27, Stars vs Greenfield; Friday, August 29, Greenfield vs Stars. Monday, September 1, Stars vs Greenfield (if necessary). Wednesday, September 3, Greenfield vs Stars (if necessary). Friday, September 5, Stars vs Greenfield (if necessary).

Dalhousie dumps D.Q.

by Cathy Depratto

Dalhousie met Lancaster Dairy Queen for the last time this season on Thursday with both teams vying for the Ladies' Ball Hockey "A" cup. Fifty minutes of regulation time saw Carole Seguin score for Lancaster with Natalie Theoret answering with a single for Dalhousie. As per league rules, a five-minute sudden death overtime period ensued with five players on each side.

A penalty-stricken Lancaster team went home defeated when Maggie Stewart once again came through for Dalhousie to score the winning point.

Rena Seguin opened the scoring for Alexandria in the first game with a goal early in the period but Vi MacKinnon responded for Glen Nevis with a single to tie up the game. The only point made during an exciting second half came from Lorraine Grant earning Alexandria Dairy Queen the "B" championship, the game ending 2-1 in their favor.

Dalhousie took an early lead in last Monday night's game against Lancaster Dairy Queen when Sandra Barnes scored two goals and Maggie Stewart netted one. Answering with single goals for Lancaster were Diane Deguire, Jackie Theoret and Suzanne Lauzon. The final score was 3-3.

Glen Nevis and Alexandria Dairy Queen also played the first of their final games on Monday. After 50 minutes of exciting action, their game ended tied, 1-1. Karen MacDonald scored for Glen Nevis on a pass from sister Jenny and Elaine Willard netted the Alexandria point.

The competition amongst the four teams was keen throughout the entire season and the action in last Thursday's final games was added proof.

Congratulations to all four teams for a good season!

Competed in Almonte

by John Charlebois

Almonte held its annual Touch Football Tournament recently and the Alexandria Legionnaires and Lochiel touch football teams were there to compete for the championship.

The Legionnaires won their first game 19-0 against Almonte Hotel but in their second game had trouble putting points on the board and fell to Cooper Construction from Kingston 18-1, thus eliminating themselves from competition.

The Lochiel touch football team played their first game against Gerry's Gas Bar of Almonte and handled them easily. The failure of one of the 16 teams to show gave Lochiel a bye into the semi-finals. There they met Portmouth from Kingston and managed to squeeze by, 12-7, in a very defensive game which was not decided until the last play of the game.

In the "A" finals Lochiel faced a tough Valiquette Sports team from Ottawa. The final turned out to be another defensive struggle.

Burwash wins Open

Syd Burwash beat David Amelotte on the first hole of a playoff on Sunday to win the Glengarry Open in dramatic style. Both David and Syd completed their 18-hole rounds with scores of 80 to force the playoff. Burwash parred the first hole and Amelotte bogeyed.

Dougal MacGillivray won the Men's Low Net honors with a score of 62.

Julie Rouette won the Ladies' class, carding an 88 and Alice Amelotte took the Low Net honors with a 59.

In the Junior category, Paul Lemieux won Low Gross with a respectable 95, and Eric Paquin captured the Low Net trophy with a 69.

Hockey executive returns

Eight of ten Glens Jr. B hockey club sponsors met on Monday evening to elect an executive for the upcoming year and returned last year's slate.

Returning will be Wally Hope, president; Gerry Simpson, vice-president; Bill Gebbie, manager and Marcel Francoeur, auditor. Jean Larocque will take over the responsibility of secretary-treasurer from Mr. Francoeur and Gilles Hurtubise will become assistant manager.

President Wally Hope said no decision has been reached as to who will coach the team for the upcoming season. Mr. Hope added that he hoped the local fans would be as supportive as last year, making the season such a success.

Glens' training camp opens on September 8 at 8 p.m. at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Mr. Hope also confirmed that a Glens' Jr. "C" club will also operate this season under the direction of Chris McDonell.

Council extends deadline

Alexandria Town Council decided to extend the deadline for the completion of the McDougall subdivision in the south end of Alexandria off William Street, until July 8, 1981.

The decision was reached on Tuesday evening after it was noted that lots were not moving well, attributed to recent economic conditions.

A plan for subdivision in Lochiel Township beyond the southeast boundary of the town was endorsed by Council on Tuesday after Councillor Bruno Lalonde introduced a motion to that effect.

The new lots will be serviced by septic tanks. In reviewing the application last May, the Glengarry Planning Board noted that Alexandria's water supply system was already working at capacity and could not provide water service.

Parking lot to get lights

Town Council has assured Recreation Manager Mike Depratto that Alexandria Island Park's parking lot will be better lit in the future with the installation of two lights.

Yolande Viau relayed Mr. Depratto's concern that it was very dark in the area and lights would discourage vandalism in the future. Council agreed in general but could not decide what type of lights to install.

Councillor John Cormier suggested that the old ball lights which had been taken down would be good enough for the purpose. Mayor Touchette said that the old ball lights were for sale and could be more easily sold as a package. It would detract from the value of the lights to remove two of them from the unit.

The decision was referred to the Public Utilities Commission.

Mr. Cormier also expressed some concern about the ball lights being used at all hours of the night by one or two youths and suggested that some type of control switch should be installed so youths could not turn them on at random.

To build new office

Ron Masson, owner of Masson Insurance Agency in Alexandria, intends to construct an office building on the southwest corner of the Main and St. George Street intersection in Alexandria.

Mr. Masson sought but did not receive an amendment to the zoning by-law from "Residential to Commercial 1 Special," for the purpose of construction. Some confusion pertaining to the building plans and lot clearance resulted in a delay of the zoning change decision until the next meeting on September 2.

Swimming pool and change room facilities formerly owned by Marc Lalonde of Alexandria, which are on the lot will be removed for construction. Mr. Masson just recently purchased the adjacent home and property on Main Street from Andre Lefebvre.

Clergy Comments from Glengarry Christian Council

by Rev. Charles F. MacDonald
Pastor, St. Anthony's Church
Apple Hill and Monkland

One evening last December thousands of people gathered outside the coliseum in the city of Cincinnati for a concert by the rock group, "The Who." There were no reserved seats; the tickets held by the people only guaranteed admission to the building.

People had been waiting for hours—and suddenly music came over the loudspeaker system. The Who were testing their equipment. Thinking the concert had begun, the crowd pressed forward insistently against the doors. The doors, of course, did not yield. They opened just one way—outward. The tighter the crowd pressed, the more firmly the doors held. The tragic result —11 young people died in the crush.

The door to the kingdom of heaven is like that. Against the press of ticketholders at the gate, that door too remains shut.

Maybe we consider ourselves ticketholders to heaven because we are Christian. It's easy to think that because we have been baptized or have made a certain commitment to Jesus Christ that we have reached the end of the road; that we can sit back as though we have achieved our goal. In the Christian life there is no such finality.

In response to the question put to Jesus, "Will there be only a few saved?" He said to them: "Try your best to enter by the narrow door, because, I tell you, many will try to enter and will not succeed."

There will be surprises in the kingdom of God. Those very prominent in this world may have to be very humble in the next; those whom no one notices here, may be the princes of the world to come.

There is the story told of a woman who had been used to every luxury and respect. She died, and arriving in heaven, an angel was sent to conduct her to her house. They passed many beautiful mansions and as they came to each the woman thought that that one surely would be hers. They finally came to the outskirts where the houses were much smaller; and on the very fringe they came to a house which was little more than a hut. "This is your house," said the conducting angel. "What?" said the woman, "I cannot live in that!"

"I am sorry," said the angel, "but that is all we could build for you with the materials you sent up."

If God is first in our lives we may be sure the materials we "send up" are of excellent quality. If God is anywhere but first in our lives, then the quality of the material decreases correspondingly to the place we give him in our priorities.

Nurses interested in courses

The St. Lawrence Chapter of The Ontario Association of Registered Nursing Assistants held a meeting on August 19 at Glengarry Memorial Hospital. President Lucy Grant welcomed the small gathering for its "first-time" summer meeting. After usual business there were OARNA and CAPNA gold pins, and OARNA mugs and crests displayed and sold to all members present who wished to buy.

There was some discussion about what courses the RNs and RNAs would like offered at St. Lawrence College, Cornwall. For instance: for RNAs a post-graduate course in basic psychiatry, such as is being offered at St. Lawrence College, Brockville,. Also, there will be a Leadership Seminar in Toronto in November. Interested persons must apply early.

A lovely "thank-you" note and pictures were received from Verna Steffler, public relations of OARNA, for having Mrs. McDavid and herself as our guests at our successful June meeting in Winchester.

Lucy Grant was our delegate to the annual meeting in June. She gave us a very thorough report on its happenings.

The meeting was adjourned and coffee and sweets were enjoyed, compliments of Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Dunvegan News

by Marion Loewen

The following item arrived late for last week's column:

Alex Fred MacLeod of Willowdale and Kenneth MacLeod, visited with Margaret MacLeod and Homer on Sunday. Others visiting that week were: Mrs. Margaret Rose Hannah and Jessie of Georgetown, Ont., who visited with her aunt Margaret, and on Wednesday Duncan Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Miree of Burlington, were also visitors.

On Saturday Betty Kennedy travelled to Ottawa to attend a bridal shower for Kathryn Geersten. She was accompanied by Jean Metcalfe, Jean Campbell and Joyce Ferguson.

Visitors for the past week at the home of Weldon and Doris MacIntosh were Mrs. Eve Barton of Peterborough and her grandchildren Cheryl and Angela Wagster from Oakville, and Mrs. Catherine Chasse and Chris and Stephanie Chasse of Chateauguay, Que. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bradley of Fournier, and Walter and Doris Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth N. MacLeod spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jones at their cottage on Black Bass Bay on the Mississippi Lake. Mrs. Jones was the former Janet Fraser from this area.

Relatives and friends welcomed Cecil MacRae home from hospital this past week. It is good to have him home and to see him doing so well. Welcome home, Cecil!

The village was saddened by the passing of Christena Ferguson last week. We offer our sympathy to her sisters, Edith Ferguson and Mrs. Elizabeth Blair and to her nephews and nieces and their families.

The long weekend will be Stewart Clan weekend at the Glengarry Pioneer Museum. The Stewarts were early settlers in this area, and the area west of the village is still known as Stewart's Glen, although the names on the mailboxes no longer reflect this bit of history. Anyone having anything to share with others about their ancestors, please bring it to the Museum in the afternoons this week. The articles and papers loaned for the clan weekend make these showings each year really unique. Come and visit the Museum this weekend, and if you are not a Stewart, you will find much of historical interest anyway.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY

The annual memorial services will be held this Sunday at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Mr. Gordon Fresque will conduct the services. Everyone is welcome.

FOCUS

Surprise, Surprise

Looking back upon several recent conversations with different individuals, it struck me quite forcibly that people aren't easily surprised any more. Revelations of corruption, bribery, deceit, murder and robbery amongst upper echelon politicians or company executives leave them cold; more precisely, perhaps, people these days seem to expect these things to happen. It's not that they want them to happen; it's more that nothing ever happens that contradicts these morose expectations.

This sort of belief renders us into the hands of people like Thomas Hobbes, who described life as "nasty, poor, brutish and short". Case closed.

Now, I must confess to some Hobbesian learnings of my own. I also confess to a certain lack of surprise when confronted with the gyrations of our globe.

However, I got a surprise this week. A good one at that.

The surprise was a book review in Maclean's magazine. The book, entitled "The Political Economy of Human Rights" was written by Noam Chomsky and Edward S. Herman. Chomsky, a world-renowned linguistics scholar, was referred to a year ago as "arguably the most important intellectual alive" in an article in the New York Times Book Review.

But New York Times Book Review hasn't reviewed this book of Chomsky's. The parent company of the small American publisher who agreed to publish an earlier version of the book refused to allow the distribution of 20,000 already printed copies. The book has yet to be reviewed in any major newspaper in Canada or the United States.

Sounds like a real blockbuster of a book doesn't it?

It is. The book is an indictment of the mainstream Western press. "At the same time as the North American press was vigorously protesting the wave of killings in Cambodia," writes Linda McQuaig of Maclean's, "the Indonesian army was quietly slaughtering about the same nmber of people in the tiny South Pacific nation of Timor," a fact which has been mentioned in the pages of this newspaper in recent months.

The Western press selects its atrocities—and its ideas—carefully.

You see, Indonesia is within the U. S. sphere of influence. It receives vast amounts of aid in the form of military hardware and the two countries enjoy an amicable and lucrative relationship.

Chomsky and Herman point out that foreign aid traditionally goes to regimes that create a favorable investment climate for Americal business by suppressing dissent. Writes McQuaig: "Using a study of 12 U. S.-backed Third World nations, the authors show that there is a snocking correlation between American aid and human rights violations; that is, the more the regime violates human rights, the more aid it gets."

This book makes it seem as though the so-called "free press" is part and parcel of the same violation of human rights. By ignoring it, they condone it.

Last year, The New York Times, the premier paper of them all, devoted five lines in one year to the massacre in East Timor that some observers call genocide. Five lines isn't much compared to the reams of copy printed on communist human rights violations.

Maclean's is to be commended for letting us know of the existence of this book. I am surprised and pleased that they have done so.

Now, the best surprise of all would be for us all to wake up, read the book, and start making some changes.

McGEE—ARBUCKLE

Couple to reside in Nanaimo, B.C.

Saturday, June 28 at 4 p.m. St Mary's Church, Port Morien, NS was the scene of a very pretty summer wedding when Father Allan MacMillan officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Heather Elaine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Arbuckle, Donkin, NS, and Michael Dan, eldest son of Mrs. Claire McGee of Alexandria and the late Kevin McGee. The organist for the occasion was John Howie.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was the picture of loveliness in her formal gown of white chiffon, fashioned with mandarin collar and bishop sleeves. Her veil was of fingertip length and trimmed with chantilly lace matching that of her gown. She carried a bouquet of orange sweetheart roses laced with baby's breath.

As her new item the bride wore a gold neck chain, a gift of the groom and as her old item she wore an heirloom moonstone ring given to her by her grandmother, the fifth generation to receive the heirloom. The bride's gift to the groom was a Seiko quartz watch.

Miss Christina Morgan, a friend of the bride, from Nanaimo, BC, was maid of honor; Miss Margaret McGee, first bridesmaid, sister of the groom, and Miss Colleen Arbuckle, sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid. They were all attractively dressed in matching formal peach colored gowns with scoop neckline. They carried identical nosegays of miniature white carnations, orange sweetheart roses mingled with baby's breath.

The groom was attended by his brother, Jack McGee, as best man. The ushers were Frederick Arbuckle Jr., brother of the bride, and Kevin McGee, brother of the groom.

Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party and their guests proceeded to the Port Morien Community Centre where they were served a delicious hot roast beef dinner. While the bride and groom were opening their gifts, Mrs. Claire McGee, mother of the groom, played several very enjoyable Irish selections on the piano.

For the remainder of the evening the happy couple, their family and friends danced to the music provided by D.J., Donald Gardiner.

Following a short visit with their family at the home of the bride's parents, Donkin, Mr. and Mrs. McGee motored to Toronto and proceeded from there to Jamaica for their honeymoon, and on to Vancouver Island, BC, where they will take up residence in Nanaimo.

Auxiliary plans card party

Mount Carmel Auxiliary met for its monthly meeting on August 5 at St. Raphael's.

Membership cards were discussed and they are in the process of being printed.

Sister Aurore Cheff attended the meeting, and left many tearful eyes as sister will be leaving at the end of September for Peru.

A card party is being organized by the auxiliary for October 8 at Mount Carmel House, at which the ticket for the "quilt" will be drawn.

Our next meeting will be on September 8 at Carmel House at 8 p.m.

There is a great need for membership to help the auxiliary get off to a good start, so please if anyone is interested in donating some precious time to a great cause, come to the next meeting.

Anniversary celebrated

Marriage vows were exchanged in the same place after 25 years for Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Legault of Moose Creek, on August 2, also the exchange of wedding rings, when an anniversary mass was celebrated in Our Lady of Angels Church, Moose Creek, with Rev. Gerald Poirier of Green Valley officiating.

Mr. Legault is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Legault (nee Liliane Dore) of Cornwall and Mrs. Legault who was the former Miss Delores Quesnel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herve Quesnel now of Casselman, formerly of Moose Creek.

Their six children, Jocelyn, Gilbert, Alain, Louis, Paul and Denis Legault participated in the ceremony which they had organized. The soloists at the service were Mrs. Solanges Rutherford and Mrs. Jeannette Atkins accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Flaherty, all of Moose Creek.

After the ceremony, a reception followed in the Moose Creek Community Centre where the jubilants were surrounded by a large number of friends and relatives. A well-worded address transmitting best wishes and congratulations was read by their son, Gilbert Legault.

Mr. and Mrs. Legault expressed their deep appreciation to everyone present. A Papal Benediction was received also a message of congratulations from the local member of parliament, Ed Lumley of Cornwall.

Local dancers attend convention

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fleming were amongst the thousands of square and round dancers attending the Second National Canadian Square and Round Dance Convention in Ottawa last August 7, 8 and 9.

While there, they danced on Parliament Hill and earned a special badge to commemorate it. The dance followed the Changing of the Guard ceremony which takes place every morning during the summer in Canada's capital.

The Convention provided nonstop dancing from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 11 p.m. for each of the three days on eight huge floors at Lansdowne Park. Other related events included a Fashion Show for square dancers, seminars, workshops and an hour-long pageant each evening.

Over 200 callers and leaders, from all over the world, including Dick Fleming, Green Valley and Doug McConnell, Cornwall, took part, volunteering their services and offering every level of square and round dancing. Delegations were present from Australia, Great Britain, West Germany, Saudi Arabia and from many of the United States.

Canada's first National was held in Edmonton in 1978 and Maritime dancers are now preparing for the third in Halifax in 1982.

Square and round dancing is a non-competitive activity suitable for all ages, income levels and degrees of physical fitness. There are clubs in the immediate vicinity and information on beginners clubs who start their activity in September may be obtained by calling 347-3708 or writing D. Fleming, RR#2, Green Valley, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Denis Paquette, of Dunvegan were recent victims of a robbery at their home. Among the items taken were valuable papers—work contracts, diplomas from college and university, receipts, ownership papers, etc. As these are worthless to anyone else the owners felt they may have been thrown out along the roadway, or discarded carelessly. If anyone finds any, please return them to the owners or Maxville Police. Mrs. Paquette's former name was Nicole Pilon and this would be on some of the documents.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Salute to Labor Day

How many men are working at your plant a superintendent was asked?

"About half of them," was the reply.

Food for good thought as we approach our holiday to celebrate "Labor Day."

As we look around and see our country, one of the most affluent in the world pin-pointed with strikes it behooves us to ask what aspect of labor are we supposed to celebrate?

The workers in each of the troubled worksites feel they have legitimate beefs. It usually winds up in a request for more money but more often than not, the eruption started from another source, an assault on the dignity of the worker. It is still unacceptable however to stage a protest over a man's pride in himself, it must be something more concrete, like money. Too bad it has to come out that way.

Problems all trace back to management, say the workers. "There is no leadership or heart behind the work orders."

Ralph Martin, a founder of an ecumenical Christian community in Ann Arbor, Mich., says a good manager need not know how to do every job in the office or plant himself. However, he must know how to define responsibility so that each worker knows exactly what jobs to do; he must supervise the work flow so that no one ends up with too much work at one time and he must set priorities so that people know which of their tasks are most important in case of a schedule conflict.

A good manager brings peace and order to a busy work-place. He must also recognize the dignity of the worker regardless of his task. This man's job must be a necessary one or he would not be on the payroll.

To each, different talents have been given. One individual has been gifted with the intellectual capacity to design a motor car. To another has been given the infinite patience to daily perform the monotonous task of assembling the same car. One cannot be a success without the other, although worlds apart.

It is the task of the manager to relate the "nuts and bolts" chap to the craftsman while at the same time establishing in each his sense of worth, his pride in his job, his dignity as an individual.

This manager must indeed be endowed with a special talent. He is all too rare.

The worker too must continually look within himself to develop his fortitude if he would withstand the everlasting challenge of working in harmony with people who daily carry their myriad problems into the workplace.

Each day of our lives, writes George Matthew Adams, we should make it a point to do some small thing that we would rather not do. Then we will enter the doing of the larger tasks in life with zest and spirit.

In the accomplishment of their goals, most great achievers establish a code for their work-style and live by it. Marshall Field lists his 12 things to remember: 1. The value of time. 2. The success of perseverance. 3. The pleasure of working. 4. The dignity of simplicity. The worth of character. 6. The power of kindness. 7. The influence of example. 8. The obligation of duty. 9 The wisdom of economy. 10 The virtue of patience. 11. The improvement of talent. 12 The joy of originating.

Work itself does not seem to be a problem. The problem lies in how to work together so that all can be happy. Therein lies our course of study. A. M. McD.

Rock concerts and riots

Rock concerts and riots are becoming a joint occurrence these days.

Only last week an estimated $20,000 damage resulted to the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand when Alice Cooper fans stormed the stage after the rock star failed to appear due to illness.

Even though fans were told their money would be returned, it took more than 200 police officers almost half an hour to quell the subsequent outbreak which featured chair throwing and bottle tossing.

In June, about 1,000 angry rock fans battled Ontario Provincial Police at Ontario Place for almost four hours after the fans were refused admission to a sold-out Teenage Head show.

Last September, more than 300 punk rockers stormed the doors at Carleton University's Main Hall after they were barred admission to the band's overflow concert.

The rock riots are not the only manifestations of burgeoning violence among the young. Statistics show school vandalism to be taking a dramatic upward turn.

In more than one case, the rage was taken out of the school yard and into the homes of school officials.

In June an estimated $7,400 damage resulted to hotel rooms, cars, schools and the home of a vice-principal when Ottawa students went on a vandalism binge to celebrate the end of school.

The most serious of the incidents was the attack on the vice-principal's home where an estimated $2,300 damage was done to his house, van and swimming pool.

About a dozen students visited the homes of a number of other teachers, slashing tires and soaping windows.

Vandalism and student violence are not new phenomena, During the sixties we saw several battles between police and students. The disturbing aspect about the recent surge, however, is that it is totally nihilistic.

No causes are being championed; no injustices being set right. It's violence for the sake of violence. And it reflects a spiritual emptiness with which society will soon have to come to grips. B. R.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

Among my favorite stories is the one told by George Vandemann of the TV program "It is written" as he describes how the mighty elephant is trained to become a circus performer.

Once the elephant is brought into captivity in his jungle home he is tied by his hind foot to the gigantic banyan tree.

Each day, the elephant attempts to pull away from the tree, but is unable to get free. Gradually he becomes so accustomed to the futility of tugging his foot in vain, he gives up and never exerts his full strength again.

After being so conditioned, the elephant can be subjected to a lifetime of control. Travelling with a circus this powerful animal can be fastened by the foot to a little stake. As soon as he feels the tug on his foot, he gives up, convinced there is no use in exerting his full strength.

"Well, the poor stupid elephant," is our immediate reaction. "All he had to do was try one more time."

I like the story because it is so typical of ourselves. That elephant is not just a dumb jungle animal. That elephant is you and me, pal.

All of us at some time in our lives are tethered to some immovable force, some insurmountable object. Whether or not we are able to discover the time this handicap no longer controls us depends on how well we have let ourselves be conditioned to think.

Consider the mother who finds herself tied down with a young family. She is in a situation where demands upon her time prevent her from going to university to pursue the career she intended. Does there come a time when she can untie the apron strings?

There is the son who feels bound to stay on the farm to assist his father. Does he let the duty-chain bind him for life?

"I'd need another language to get ahead on my job," another one wails, "but I only had a chance to learn one when I was growing up." Bound for life by his tongue.

"I just can't quit drinking. I've tried over and over but it's no use." This poor soul is corked in a bottle.

Then one day we pick up the paper and read of a great success story—someone we knew who made it to the top.

"Well this sure is some surprise," we say. "Remember that guy in school, he was the class dummy."

The change in our friend probably came when he discovered his childhood tether, the obstacle that prevented him from learning at the time. Could have been a disturbing home environment, deafness, over-domination by an older brother or sister, or he had not learned to develop his power to concentrate. But one day he discovered himself and went full speed ahead.

Like our friend the elephant, we all have our own particular tether. It's ours to break. All we need do is to keep trying just one more time.

Perspective

by Bob Roth

Church tackles ad industry

Theologians have debated for centuries the role the church should play in society. One school of thought argues the church should be concerned only with people's souls and should shun political activity. The other school contends that seeing to man's physical needs goes hand in hand with healing the soul.

There is no question about where the United Church stands on the issue. Over the years, it has become a leader in social activism.

Recently, the church's Saskatchewan Conference took aim at one of the most powerful industries in the land—the advertising industry.

According to the Saskatchewan group "advertising encourages excess; it's guilty of sexual stereotyping; it portrays a false image of an affluent society that is only real for the four per cent at the top" and so on.

The Church's Division of Communication, which examined the Saskatchewan stand, concluded it was a little too sweeping but shared the branch's concern regarding non-information advertising "which employs the insights of behavioral psychology and the pervasiveness of the mass media to generate desires for one or another of competing products or services, especially when consumption may be of little value—or even harmful—to the well-being of persons."

The role advertising plays in our society has been a hot topic of debate for many years. Does advertising manipulate unsuspecting people through sophisticated "behavioral psychology" techniques? Should advertising be controlled by the government to protect the public?

While it is always tempting to use the force of government to regulate questionable practices, the benefits of such actions must be weighed against the detriments. Controls on advertising would amount to protecting people from themselves. It would mean taking away people's right to think and choose.

Certainly, the easiest way to assure someone is not being taken in, is to never let him or her make an independent decision. (All of this, of course, assumes government can be trusted to make the right choices on our behalf.)

Where the question of physical safety is involved, then government has a role to play. When it comes to determining what is "excess" advertising regarding lifestyle, however, government regulation would not serve the interests of a free society.

As much as I find some advertising offensive, I would defend the industry's right to promote that advertising. But I would also champion the right of activist groups to protest that form of advertising and combat it in the marketplace through product boycotts or any other non-government channels.

If, indeed, advertising has become so sophisticated that people are being duped, then the solution is education—bringing people to a level of greater sophistication, themselves, in order that they can be more discriminating.

Giving people the tools needed to think for themselves is the answer, not taking away their right to think.

Receives plaudits

Alexandria, Ont.
August 25, 1980

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Enclosed are two brief notes I received in the weekend mail. One relative to the Glengarry Highland Games, the other re the proposed Alexandria High School reunion.

For obvious reasons I would greatly appreciate reproduction of both with your consent of course.

First, there are sincere words of thanks and gratitude to the sponsors of the Games. On that point I wish to add that without all the dedicated behind-the-scenes workers there would be just no Games at all. So step up folks and take a bow.

I trust that the second memo will serve as the inspiring motivation for a younger generation of AHS pupils, igniting enthusiasm beyond all expectations, to come up champions in their great project.

Angus H. McDonell

The letters follow:

Montreal P.Q.,
August 13, 1980

Dear sir:

I would like to say how much we enjoyed the Games this year. And what pleasure they gave to so many.

In my party I had German, Mexican and English plus some Canadians who had never been to the Games. Now it will be an annual event on the calendar.

My great-great-great-grandfather was Captain Alex McDonell from Glengarry in Scotland. He was with the Royal Scots at Waterloo.

It was a very happy emotional day and we thank you for all the work and organization put into making it such a success.

Yours truly,
Marysia S. G. Tomczyszyn

Dear Angus Hoey:

A standing ovation in 1982! The lure of it (the Alexandria High School reunion) is wonderfully rejuvenating.

"Rise hill and dale, rise crag and wood
Rise up on either hand;
Again upon the Garry's banks . . ."

May all good attend both you and Bertha.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Mulcair dies in Ottawa

At one time one of Glengarry's most talented entertainers as a pianist and soprano singer, Mrs. Edward G. Mulcair died in the new Ottawa General Hospital, following a lengthy illness on August 15. She was 55.

Mrs. Mulcair was the former Ida Catherine Morris, younger daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morris, Fourth of Kenyon.

At the age of six, Ida Morris spent a year with her next-of-kin, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Maguire, Brooklyn, where she was a piano pupil of one of New York's noted music teachers. Although the training period was brief and at a tender age this privilege, coupled with her natural talents elevated this young Glengarrian to the professional level, not only in the Glens but beyond the boundaries.

Ida Morris inherited much of her musical and educational talents from her family heritage. Her father, Michael Morris, as a young man was a prominent member of the noted St. Alexander, Lochiel church choir, proclaimed by their pastor, Father D. D. MacMillan, as the best in the Alexandria Diocese. Her mother was equally prominent with St. Finnan's choir under the direction of Miss Margaret Cuddon.

The continuity of this family heritage was strongly upheld by the late Mrs. Mulcair, Ida Morris, especially during her Alexandria High School years in the early 1940s. In that era she joined her elder sister, Grace, and brothers John and Howard in presentations on stage and at informal parties which earned the rating of being one of Glengarry's all-time quartets.

In those years she played a further unique headline role with Father John McPhail's young and popular casts from St. Finnan's parish. At St. Andrew's concerts she would capably portray a Scottish lass with charm and personality both in song and as a pianist. Come St. Patrick's, her father's folklore traits would be upheld as an attractive Irish colleen.

Ida continued her education at the business level both in Iona, St. Raphael's, and Syracuse Business College, after graduating from Alexandria High School.

In September, 1950, Ida married Edward G. Mulcair in St. Finnan's Cathedral. They eventually made Ottawa their home with two sons, Michael, Edward Jr. and daughter Christine.

Mrs. Mulcair was predeceased by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morris and her elder brother John.

Besides her husband she is survived by her son Michael and his wife Diana, Edward Jr. and Christine. Additional survivors are her sister Grace and husband Al Elliott of Beaconsfield, her brother Howard and his wife, Gwen Morris, Fourth of Kenyon.

The funeral was held Tuesday, August 19 at St. Basil's Church. The mass of Christian Burial was officiated by Reverend John A. Ruth. Ed Mulcair was the lector.

In his eulogy, Father Ruth extolled the motherly virtues and the parish dedication of Mrs. Mulcair. He asked the congregation to join the choir in singing two of Mrs. Mulcair's favorite hymns, "How Great Thou Art" and "Thank You Lord on This Day" from the Sound of Music.

In addition to the Elliott and Morris families, next-of-kin attending the funeral from a distance were the families of Mr. and Mrs. Don Fahey, Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Fahey, Jamestown and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fahey, Buffalo.

Many Ottawa and Glengarry friends called at the funeral parlors to express their sympathy and also in a tangible way by mass offerings, flowers and donations to the Cancer Society.

Interment was in Pinecrest Cemetery.

Students volunteer

During the past several months in Alexandria a new volunteer service has been created involving young high school students.

Lise Ouimet, Nicole Ouimet and Monique Menard are working in a new program established by the Adult Protective Services Office. There is no remuneration whatsoever for the workers who are required to keep very flexible hours. A rigid daily routine does not exist and most of the work involves weekends and evening activities.

The students are assisting in the development of mentally handicapped citizens struggling for independence and recognition as viable members of the community. Consumer skills, hobbies and crafts, homemaking, encouraging work in everyday competitive employment, general support and friendship are all responsibilities of the students towards their clients.

In other words they are helping the mentally handicapped to overcome barriers and to fit in to the pattern of society so that they may derive pride and enjoyment out of their own lives.

"The success of this particular program is dependent on the sincerity and responsibility of these students," says Cathy Depratto, adult protective service worker.

"It is to be hoped that other members of our community will become aware of the compassionate actions of our young people and that they, too, will follow their good example.

"Our youth are often criticized for their irresponsibility and their 'me first' attitude but the actions of these students boldly refute this claim."

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I am trying to contact the descendants of Donald Campbell and John Campbell, who emigrated from Glenelg, Scotland, in 1793 and 1802, respectively, and settled in Glengarry County.

We are hoping to have a Campbell reunion at Laggan on August 1, 1982. That will be the Civic Holiday weekend and the Maxville Highland Games will be held on Saturday, July 31.

If any of your readers are descended from the original Campbells who settled in Glengarry, or know of anyone who is, would they please write to me so that we can compile a mailing list.

We hope to get our first letters out to our clan before the end of 1980, so please let me hear from you by November 1.

Thank you for allowing me to use the editorial page of your newspaper.

Martintown Rumor Mill

By Art Buckland

This week the farmer's wife during haying season, by Phyllis Curran, Martintown.

Beads of perspiration gathered on my forehead as Bob entered the room in his usual hustling, bustling manner. His nature of a farmer in a hurry plainly showed as without losing a step, and with a single fluid motion he had tossed his cap and gloves into a corner, nodded his head in greeting to me without speaking, and turned on the television set hoping to catch the weather forecast. In a moment he completed some minute cleansing at the bathroom basin and in less time than it takes to tell it, he had seated himself at his still empty plate.

"Lunch not ready, yet?" he questioned grumpily, glancing at the clock whose hands had not quite reached the 12, our usual eating time. "I don't have all day, you know, like some people," he added sarcastically, gulping down a glass of cold tomato juice.

Only last year I had invested in a smooth-top stove because it had looked so attractive in the store. I had thought that it would be advantagious not to have to scrub those metal drip plates. What I did not find out until later was that the corningware elements heat much more slowly but hold their heat longer than the standard electric model. As a result there I stood impatiently waiting for the soup that I had planned for Bob's lunch to heat to an edible state.

"Blast this stove", I muttered under my breath in desperation, "This pretty piece belongs in someone's yard sale." My cleaning problems had certainly been lessened, but now it was obvious it was at the expense of a farmer's valuable time. My nerves jangled almost audibly as I checked the spoon for the umpteenth time hoping in vain to see steam rising from it.

"Dingle, dingle," went Bob's spoon against his empty plate as his eyes darted from the stove to the clock, to the stove and back again to his plate. Finally, he scraped his chair back noisily and proceeded into the living room where he turned on the second television set. Now with my nerves battling two blaring sets, I turned away from the stove to attend some last minute dessert preparations. At least I wouldn't be totally unprepared when it came time to serve the second course. I hadn't really meant to forget the soup but soon a loud hissing reminded me that it was still there. I had forgotten how hot the stove could quickly become once heated and there was the soup now boiling over. Hurriedly, I snatched the pot hoping to avoid a smoke-filled kitchen. Well I knew that boiled soup usually loses some of its flavor, but all I could think of was that it was hot.

"Lunch is ready, Bob", I called as I filled his waiting bowl with the steaming liquid.

"Ready—so soon?" was the discouraging comeback.

All was calm for a few minutes and I dared to breathe a sigh of relief. The soup was giving off a delicious aroma, proving that it had been worth the wait. Lunch was under control and everything was turning out all right after all.

Alas, 'twas not to be for long! My pleasant thoughts soon ended as quickly as they had begun.

"Phew, this soup is hot! I don't have the time to wait for it to cool. Just toss me my dessert and I'll get going", said the busy farmer, "I'm late already."

Quickly, I went to get the frozen dish which had seemed so appropriate for such a hot day. To my consternation, I had inadvertantly left it on top of the hot stove when the soup had required rescuing. There sat my delicious creation—now just a mucky melted fruit and cream. An exclamation from me brought a quick response from Bob. He disgustedly grabbed some cookies and cake from the table and left explaining that because the birds were sitting on the wire, he had to get the good quality hay in before the rain arrived.

As the door slammed, and the emptiness of the house engulfed me, I held back tears of frustration. Angrily, I snapped the "off" buttons of the T.V.'s but not before they blared out loud and clearly how to fill in a coupon and win a week's vacation on the farm. With my luck I would win the big prize! Silently, I made two solemn vows. Firstly, those coupons would enter this kitchen over my dead body and secondly, to forever entertain, nourish, and indeed, nurture a sincere hatred for all birds that sit on wires.

And then, with inferior, inadequate, and guilty feelings of being none of all those things a farmer's wife is supposed to be, I cleaned up the mess, put the soup back in the refrigerator to be reheated tomorrow, and drowned my sorrows in a relaxing cup of tea.

Cathy Aubin will be marrying David Cumming on Friday, August 29 and everyone is invited to the wedding reception at the Charlottenburgh Arena.

Parents wanted at meetings

Members of the Martintown Public School area are being urged to attend the first meeting of the School Committee on Tuesday, September 9.

Lorraine Ramsay, committee, secretary last term, said the committee was very active last year "but it will only continue to be effective with the support of parents".

The meeting will be held at the school at 7 p.m.

Last year, the School Committee was led by Chairperson Linda Howes.

At all times, the School Committee tried to have parents become more active in school interests, she noted.

Parents and pre-schoolers were invited to the film showing at Christmas. The films were rented by the School Committee and popcorn and juice were provided for the children.

The committee assisted in the very successful Christmas Evening Concert. The whole school enjoyed disco roller skating in Cornwall and an ice skating excursion to Williamstown also saw many parents and pre-schoolers attending.

The committee also organized transportation for the 43 entrants from Martintown Public to the Kinsmen Music Festival.

Concern was expressed regarding busing regulations and the lack of an emergency drill on the buses. The board transportation officer responded with the news that there will be a National Bus Week this Fall and that emergency drills and safety regulation information will play a large part in the program.

A visit from the Ontario Dairy Princess was arranged, as was a display by Mr. Arthur Young of his model of a maple sugar operation. Both spoke to the children and answered questions.

Ice cream was donated by the Ontario Milk Marketing Board for distribution on Field Day, and a McDonald's soft drink machine was set up for free drinks for children on Fun Day. Drivers were organized and soft drinks were supplied by the committee for the school picnic in June at Glengarry Park.

supplied by the committee for the school picnic in June at Glengarry Park.

Delegates from this committee attended the seminar for all school committees in this board, at Tagwi High School. Principal Doug Anderson requested the opinion of the School Committee on many subjects, such as the new report card format, the new French subject report card, the volunteer program, the fluoride rinse program, etc.

Throughout the year, sales were held on Fridays. Parents managed the purchase, preparation and sale of hot dogs, milk, orange juice, and jello. A candy-guessing contest was held on Valentine's Day and a chocolate Easter bunny raffle raised money too.

When it seemed possible that the French Immersion Kindergarten may have been lost, due to cuts in the grants from the Ministry of Education, the School committee drafted letters to both the Minister of Education, Bette Stephenson, and to the SD&G Board expressing dismay that this program could be terminated.

The School Committee was very much involved in the arrangements for the Grade 8 graduation ceremonies. A guest speaker, Mr. Garth Campbell, was invited and Big Bird made an appearance to congratulate the Kindergarten graduates and to give them their certificates.

Andy Buchan piped in the graduates and a luncheon was supplied for them and for their parents, after the ceremony.

One of the special events for the Grade 8's was a meal, bought for them by the committee, at Harvey's and there was also a pool party at Mr. Anderson's with food supplied.

The committee has embarked on an ambitious project to build additions to the school playground to make it into a Creative Play Area along the lines of the one built a few years ago in Laggan. Three pieces have already been built—a pyramid, a very large sand box, and a suspended tire raft. People knowing of any old culverts, telephone poles, chain, rope, tractor tires, etc., which may be contributed, are being asked to let the committee know at the first meeting in September.

"If only all the parents in the Martintown area could have seen the faces of the children when these first three projects were completed, surely they would all want to be involved in carrying on the idea this Fall," Mrs. Ramsay said.

The Martintown Women's Institute, in keeping with its goal of community involvement, has made generous donations to the School Committee, she noted.

The book, "The History of Glengarry" was purchased for the school library in commemoration of the Year of the Child. The institute's cash contribution towards the Creative Play Area Project will help greatly in enabling us to purchase those necessities which cannot be otherwise rounded up.

The most serious undertaking of the Martintown School Committee was the effort to have the boundary zone changed. With the first meeting in October, 1979, letters were sent to the board and to the Use of Facilities Committee to remind them of their commitment to study our proposal.

Meetings were held which culminated in an informational gathering in Williamstown on Feb. 4, 1980, to which representatives of the Martintown committee were invited.

A brief presenting our view was written and submitted to the board for inclusion in its Feb. 26 agenda. All aspects concerning benefits of changing the boundary to include the Street Rd. area were reviewed. A meeting was also held at the Martintown School with Superintendent K. McLennan, invited to answer questions.

At the board meeting of Mar. 25, 1980, the Facilities Committee and the administration disagreed on their recommendations to the board. However, after much debate, a vote of trustees was taken and resulted in a 6 to 5 decision against the proposed boundary change. "The School Committee was very disappointed, as all Martintown area parents should be, with the resulting loss of one teaching position on the Martintown staff," Mrs. Ramsay said.

"Effective this September, there will be only four teachers for Grades 1 through 8.

"Future members of the School Committee will have to be vigilant and energetic to halt any further erosion of Martintown's services."

In Memoriam

O'CONNELL—In memory of our dear granddaughter, Brigette O'Connell, who left us August 31, 1977.
We will always remember the way she looked,
The way she walked, the way she smiled,
The things she always said and did
Are with us all the while.
To those who knew our little Brigitte,
All will know just how much we lost three years ago.
—Loved and remembered by Grandpa and Grandma O'Connell. 35-1p

MONTGOMERY — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Maimie, who passed away nine years ago.
A loving mother, true and kind,
No friend on earth like her we'll find.
For all of us, she did her best,
And God gave her eternal rest.
In our hearts her memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender and true.
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Always remembered by Mabel, Bud and grandchildren. 35-1p

O'CONNELL—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Brigitte, who passed away August 31, 1977.
From hospital bed to heavenly rest,
God took you home to be his guest
With farewells left unspoken,
You quietly slipped away.
You suffered much in silence,
You faced your pain with courage,
Until the very end.
You fought so hard to stay with us,
But your fighting was in vain,
God took you to his lovely home,
And freed you from all pain.
—Sadly missed by Dad, Mom, Maureen and Wayne. 35-1p

Saw Oberammergau passion play

by Angus R. MacDonell

For three centuries the humble people in the Bavarian Alps village of Oberammergau have loyally observed a vow sworn by their forefathers in the plague-stricken days. When the black plague carried off most of its inhabitants, the people of the valley took an oath that they would present the story of the passion of Christ every ten years if the plague vanished. The story goes that from that moment on the village was spared!

The passion play has been performed in Oberammergau since 1634. The text has been revised over the years to take into account Jewish objections and the Second Vatican Council. It attempts to give the story of Jesus' sufferings. Holy Scripture includes all of mankind in the guilt for Jesus' death. The crucified Son of God on the cross teaches us God's mercy. The language and the action of the play calls upon us to change our ways and repent, and encourages us to believe and to have joyful hope.

In the first scene, Jesus drove the traders out of the temple and told them that in three days he could rebuild it. He was asked what miracle he had to prove his power. Caiphas told the high priests and elders that Jesus proclaimed himself the Messiah and soon they would extol him as King of Israel. The resultant discord would lead to the eventual destruction of Israel.

To have peace in the country, He must be rendered harmless. Christ spent some time in Bethany with his friends. Two days before the Passover, He prophesied His sufferings and the Resurrection. Martha, Mary Magdalene, Lazarus and Simon were among his friends. On this occasion Mary Magdalene annointed Christ with oil.

Jesus then went to Jerusalem to celebrate the Last Supper with His disciples. The ceremony of the washing of the feet of the disciples by Jesus took place. They, in turn, had to wash one another's feet. With the bread He said, "Take this and eat; this is my body which is given for you."

Likewise with the wine: "Take this and drink, for this is the cup of the new covenant in my blood which is shed for you and many others for the forgiveness of sins." He also told the disciples that one of them would betray Him. Whoever was given the piece of bread and dipped it in the dish would be the betrayer. He gave Judas the piece of bread who then left the room.

Jesus foretold that Peter would deny Him thrice. Later, Judas promised Caiphas that he would deliver Jesus for thirty pieces of silver. The High Council decided to go through with the death of Jesus but it would be up to the governor to condemn Him. After the Last Supper Jesus went into the Garden of Gethsemane to pray and to undergo His agony. The disciples were not able to stay awake during the terrible suffering Christ was enduring for the sins of mankind. When Jesus was taken prisoner, He was identified by the kiss of Judas. Peter struck one of the guards with his sword, but Christ forbade the use of the sword.

Later, Peter denied that he was one of the disciples. Judas despaired when he realized he was responsible for the ill treatment by the soldiers and the possible death of Jesus. The High Council asked Pilate to carry out the death sentence but Pilate could not justify it. Christ was taken to Herod who said that he could not be a judge in a foreign country and refused to confirm the sentence of death.

Herod sent Him back to Pilate robed as a king since He appeared to be a simple man, Pilate ordered Christ to be flogged and then to be released. The councillors insisted on death so Pilate then left the decision to the people. After the flagellation, Christ was given a "crown of thorns" befitting a king.

Pilate, in presenting this pitiful sight to the people, hoped to win their compassion and hoped that since they had a choice of releasing a prisoner, they would choose Jesus but they selected Barabas. Pilate told them to take Him and crucify Him since he could find no guilt in Him. There were a number of people present, however, who wanted to free Jesus.

The pronouncement of the sentence of Jesus of Nazareth was read: "He shall be nailed to a cross outside the city walls and in this way be put to death."

Jesus, bearing the cross was taken to Golgotha and there He met His mother. As Jesus became too feeble, Simon was ordered to carry the cross. Veronica wiped the blood off the face of Jesus. Jesus was raised upon the cross with the inscription, "King of The Jews."

The thief on the right said, "Lord remember me when you come into the kingdom." In reply Christ said, "I tell you today, you will be with me in Paradise." The final words of Christ were, "It is accomplished; Father into your hands I commend My Spirit."

Jesus was taken from the cross and laid on His mother's lap in company with Mary Magdalene. Mary realized that Jesus atoned for the sins of mankind and redeemed us all.

Previously it was my good fortune to tour the scene of the above passion of our Lord enacted 2,000 years ago. First of all, I visited Bethany where Jesus spent some of His later years. It was there that Lazarus was raised to life and where Simon the Leper was cured.

It was a privilege to have been in the room where the Last Supper took place. Jesus also appeared before the apostles and then came the "Descent of the Holy Spirit on the First Pentecost."

The Garden of Gethsemane (olive press in Aramaic) near the city of Damascus is beautifully maintained by the Franciscans with its olive trees. An olive tree never dies. Possibly the present ones are shoots of the originals. Here, the modern church of all nations is built (a non-denominational one).

On the spot where Jesus was scourged is the Church of the Flagellation. Outside the church begins the Via Dolorosa (stations of the cross). It follows a zig-zag route through the streets to Calvary. Today you hear the vendors shouting their wares in various shops all along the way. Donkeys and cars move along the narrow streets. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre houses the traditional site of Christ's crucifixion and burial.

The Garden Tomb is claimed to be the true site of Christ's burial and resurrection. There is a rock-hewn tomb containing two chambers. One of these has three burial places and there the body of Jesus could have been laid. Our party had an opportunity to enter same.

GO SLOW — PROTECT OUR CHILDREN!

by Lorna Chapman

It is with great pleasure that we offer our sincere good wishes to Alice Fraser and Craig McAlpine, formerly of Kentville, Nova Scotia, on the event of their recent engagement to be married. They are both candidates for the ministry in the United Church. They are two fine young people. May they have every success.

Eighteen family members and friends attended a family dinner given in the MacPhee home in Lochiel, last weekend, by Mildred and Ewen MacPhee and their charming daughters Jennifer and Joslyn. Among those present were Betty-Ann and Bob Morel and son Peter of Montreal. The MacPhees left for their home in Toronto shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Jack Seale of Toronto is currently visiting her sister Mrs. Arthur MacMillan for two weeks.

Miss Georgette Paiement has recently returned from vacationing in New York State. While there she visited with cousins Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gallager in Ogdensburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Payment at Tupper Lake. While there she also spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hache, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Payment and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Payment. On July 20 Miss Paiement attended a birthday party in honor of Gaetane Payment who is a patient in the Mercy Nursing Centre. Seven of her brothers and sisters were present for the occasion.

A record crowd turned out last Thursday evening when the McCrimmon Women's Institute presented their annual social evening at Laggan School. A superb Scottish program of instrumental music and dancing, humor and singing, was much enjoyed by everyone. The beautiful quilt was won by a lady from Ottawa and the many door prizes went to folk both far and near, who had come to join in the fun. After the draws, a sing-song kept everyone busy until a truly bountiful array of refreshments was offered the throng. The WI ladies would like to thank all who came out to make this the best social ever.

SELECTED FOR ORILLIA CAMP—Alain Quesnel of Green Valley was selected by UCO Vankleek Hill to be one of 20 participants attending the first of the 14th annual Youth Camp held at Geneva Park near Orillia. Organized by United Co-operatives of Ontario (UCO), a total of 63 youths from across Ontario take part in this year's program which emphasizes the development of leadership and communication skills.

Feeds are problem for livestock

Large quantities of grains and forages damaged by disease, weather or improper storage are salvaged by Canadian farmers each year for livestock feed.

However, the livestock feeder must take special precautions when introducing these feeds to his animals. Any fungi, chemical residues or foreign materials such as nails or wire can result in reduced weight gains and milk production, greater susceptibility to other diseases, and reproductive failure.

At worst, these feeds can cause convulsions, staggering, muscle spasms, abortion and death.

Two scientists at Agriculture Canada's Fredericton, N.B. Research Station, Dr. J. W. G. Nicholson and Dr. R. E. McQueen, have compiled information on Canada's most common problem feeds. Their findings are now available in an 18-page booklet entitled "Problem Feeds for Livestock and Poultry in Canada". The publication gives guidelines to help farmers decide what to do with a specific problem crop.

Moldy hay, poisonous plants, grains infected with rust, smut and ergot, fire-damaged grain, sunburned and sprouted potatoes and pesticide residues are among the many topics discussed.

This booklet can be obtained by writing to Information Services, Agriculture Canada, Ottawa, K1A 0C7, and asking for publication No. 1701.

Truck smashed

Vankleek Hill Review's 1978 Chevrolet van was totally wrecked after being struck by a westbound train on the CPR tracks two miles north of the town, around 8:40 a.m. on Friday.

The operator, Luc Denis, 32, of RR#1, L'Orignal, was northbound on Highway 34 when he came into collision with the train. Mr. Denis was treated for minor injuries at the Hawkesbury General Hospital and released.

Support is coming

by Glen Smith

The Federal Minister of Agriculture, Eugene Whelan, has announced a support payment to assist the weaner pig producers who have incurred low weaner pig prices during the last six to eight months. Weaner pig producers will receive a support payment of $1 for each weaner pig sold between April 1, 1979 and March 31, 1980.

Application forms will be available from federal offices such as the Farm Credit Corporation office in Cornwall. They will also likely be available from the Alexandria marketing yard or can be obtained by writing The Agricultural Stabilization Board, 9th Floor, Sir William Logan Building, 580 Booth Street, Ottawa, K1A 0Y9.

Camp is successful

It was a week of triads, sub-groups and personal interaction for 20 young rural people from across Ontario at the recent CO-OP Youth Camp, at Geneva Park.

Organized by United Co-operatives of Ontario (UCO), the camp, on Lake Couchiching near Orillia is now into its 14th year and has as its main objective the development of leadership and communication skills.

Through small groups of two, three, four and the group as a whole, these young people all between the ages of 18—21, were able to interact and participate in sessions which included—barriers to communication; concept and techniques of leadership; interpersonal communication; and co-operative principles and philosophies.

"All of us, and that includes the resource staff, came together as strangers wanting to learn more about each other—our similarities and our differences," said Eva Ollino, UCO communications manager and a resource person at the camp. "It was very rewarding to be part of the individual development of these young people. I could see a very positive change in each of us. We began to realize that true leadership and communication mean an understanding and respect for the individual". Mike Cook UCO risk and insurance manager also acted as a resource person.

The young people were selected by their local CO-OP delegates directors. They participated at the first week (July 13-19) of the three-week program. A total of 64 young people will attend the camps this year. The last two will be held August 10-16 and August 16-22.

In addition to learning seminars, there was plenty of time for recreation such as boating, swimming, wind-surfing, water-skiing, biking and tennis.

United Co-operatives of Ontario is the largest farm supply and marketing co-operative in Ontario. It supplies members with complete lines of farm inputs including feed, seed, fertilizer, petroleum and hardware through CO-OP outlets across the province. In addition, UCO also markets grain, livestock and poultry.

It is owned by more that 46,000 individual members and 48 member co-operatives representing another 35,000 members across Ontario.
