Recycling plant gets a manager

Alexandria's new recycling plant got its first manager with the selection of an Alexandria man last weekend, and organizer Chuck Charlebois indicated Tuesday the plant is well on its way to production.

Rene Jeaurond started his new job Tuesday, familiarizing himself with the plant in Cornwall and getting to know the clientel.

"Within the next week, Rene will be meeting with the staff and the developmentally handicapped workers," said Charlebois, community liaison agent for Equipe Psycho-Sociale.

Jeaurond's duties include promoting the project to the community and visiting to industries to explain the process and secure markets.

Charlebois said Jeaurond fit the bill for the type of person they needed: he is community-minded with strong public experience.

After 17 years at Glengarry Transport Limited and five with Vaillancourt Real Estate Brokers, Jeaurond said he thoroughly knows the community.

Although he hasn't worked with the disabled, Jeaurond said it's not a worry because his main concern will be managing the plant.

"I'm looking forward to getting the whole thing going already. I will have some work with the handicapped, but basically I will be overseeing the operation with Charlebois," he said Tuesday.

The project is expected to begin very soon, said Charlebois. "Hopefully, within the next three weeks."

The Alexandria plant began as a job creation program for Equipe Psycho-Sociale, a mental health centre for developmentally handicapped francophone children and adolescents.

Ontario Premier David Peterson made a stop at Denis Sabourin's Kemptville campaign office Saturday morning. Among the people he greeted there was Denis Ethier, past MP for this area, and Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette.

Revised policy accepted

By Faith Bloomfield
News* reporter

After six months of preparing and revising, a dump site compensation policy has recently been accepted by the Stormont-Glengarry Waste Management Steering Committee.

This latest version of the policy to compensate those affected by the installation of future dumpsites was drawn up by the compensation subcommittee and contains some changes to the June 18 draft.

Members of the Steering Committee, which is composed of representatives from councils in the two counties, must now take the draft policy back to their councils for approval.

"Then and only then does it become official compensation policy," said Anne MacGillivray, coordinator of the Public Liaison Committee for the Stormont-Glengarry Waste Management Steering Committee at the regular committee meeting Aug. 30.

According to the co-chair of the PLC, officiating the policy is only one of the two steps that must be taken before site locations can be published.

"Then the people whose lands have been identified as preferred sites must be notified," said Co-chairman Michael Cowley-Owen.

The Steering Committee stated it expects to announce the possible landfill area sometime this month.

And because of constant requirement changes and increased expenses for the report, the committee announced at Thursday's meeting they would request more funding for the master plan.

"Initially we were going to ask for $247,000 for consulting fees, but looking at the last few years it's pretty obvious that won't be sufficient," committee secretary Marcel Lapierre said Tuesday. "We haven't come up with a total yet, but estimates range between $325,000 and $350,000."

If approved, up to 50 per cent of the funding could come from the Ministry of Environment.

Also discussed at the meeting was the creation of a board of management. So far no decision has been made about the formation of a board versus a take-over by the United Counties.

Committee member and Lancaster Township Reeve Charlie Sangster stressed "Many municipalities want the Counties to take over, about three-

Minister to officiate Sports Hall opening

Whether he faces good or bad news in tomorrow's (Sept. 6) provincial election, Ontario's Minister of Education Sean Conway will be on hand to snip the ribbon to officially open the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame next Wednesday, Sept. 12.

The opening will be the culmination of almost two decades of work by staunch advocates of the project. Spearheaded by building chairman Bill Campbell and Angus McDonell, chairman of the Hall of Fame directors, it houses several paintings and memorabilia showing Glengarry County's sports heritage.

The opening, scheduled for 6 p.m., will be followed by the 12th annual induction dinner at the Maxville and District Sports Complex. Guests will meet at the complex at 5:30 p.m. and will be piped by Pipe Major J. T. MacKenzie and Bruce Blaney to the new hall for the opening ceremonies.

All municipal councillors and members of SD&G counties council have been invited. Among the clerical guests are Rev. Rejean Lebrun, of Maxville and Rev. Colin MacDonald, Church on the Hill, Alexandria. They will ask the blessing at the head table.

Other dignitaries will include old time lacrosse player, Angus George, a friend of inductee, the late Frank McCormick.

Following the opening ceremonies guests will return to the Sports Complex for the banquet at 7:30 p.m.

Don Cherry, long-time friend of inductee John Wensink, has been invited to address the gathering as well on behalf of the sports media.

Touchette sings for premier at Liberal rally

Alexandria Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette was one of the star attractions when Ontario Premier David Peterson touched base in Kemptville Saturday morning.

The Premier stopped in the riding of Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry to support Liberal electoral candidate Denis Sabourin, one of 14 pre-election Liberal rallies throughout Ontario.

The Premier arrived an hour late for his scheduled meeting at Sabourin's Kemptville office and for about 15 minutes spoke of the strength and good representation by the Provincial Liberal Party, pointing to the weaknesses in the New Democratic and Progressive Conservative candidates.

To cap off Peterson's speech, the Premier invited Touchette to sing his famous rendition of A Little Bit of Heaven, a tongue-in-cheek ballad of Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's failure with VIA Rail.

The Premier then slowly walked back through the crowd to his awaiting tour bus.

NDP candidate for SD&G Helena McCuaig also make an appearance at the Liberal rally. McCuaig had been mainstreeting in the vicinity prior to Peterson's arrival.

RRCA officially gets land extension

It's official: the Raisin Region Conservation Authority now owns 130 more acres of wetlands to add to the Cooper Marsh.

The purchase was announced at the end of July, but there was a compulsary severance waiting period to ensure Charlottenburgh council had no objections. On Aug. 8 the purchase was official.

Except for some legal fees, the RRCA didn't pay a cent of the approximately $150,000 used to buy the land. Funding was provided by a mix of conservation organizations including Ducks Unlimited, Canadian Wildlife Federation and the Ministry of Natural Resources set up within the North American Waterfowl Management Plan. Nevertheless, RRCA holds the deed.

RRCA manager Michel Lalonde said Ducks Unlimited applied for funding to purchase the property on behalf of the conservation authority.

The new acquisition brings the total acreage of the marsh to 620, with approximately two miles of frontage, extending from T & I Campground to the Lancaster Inn.

According to Lalonde, plans for the addition are to build it up similar to the rest of the marsh.

"It was imperative that we got this land because it is located right in the middle of the western half of the area owned by the authority. The new section will have pedestrian crossings like the other areas and all will be tied together with construction of the education and visitor centre," he said last Tuesday.

He explained not everything has been planned yet, but hopefully construction will begin in 1991.

Earthen dykes will be built to raise water levels and water control structures will also be constructed.

Ducks Unlimited will be funding the improvement and conservation work 100 per cent as they have in the past.

The newest, smallest beats out the rest

The Glen Robertson library, the smallest and newest of the SD&G county libraries, won top honors for the number of books read during the 1990 summer reading program.

The nine members, between Grade 1 and Grade 6, read 364 books during the two-month program, averaging 40.4 books each.

The children beat out 20 other branches in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Top reader in each category are: Josee Hagen in the Grade 1-2 class with a total of 24 books read, Anik Hagen in the Grade 3-5 category with 68 books read and in the Grade 6 and over class, Julie Horvath completed 22 books.

Head librarian for the tri-county library system, Barbro Dheil, attended a special ceremony to honor the fledgling branch Aug. 30. In tune with the reading program theme of toads and frogs, Dheil presented Glen Robertson librarian Jim Findlayson with a Kermit the Frog stuffed animal.

Glen Robertson can take a bow. Pictured above are the children involved in the summer reading program at the Glen Robertson branch of the tri-counties library. The branch is the smallest and newest of the 21 branches but collectively the children read the most books. In the forefront are the winners of each class holding their prizes: Josee Hagen in the Grade 1 and 2 class, Anik Hagen in the Grade 3-5 class and Julie Horvath in the Grade 6 and over category. Seat belts lessened injuries in car crash

A 76-year-old Cornwall woman was admitted to hospital after the car her husband was driving rolled off the 401 Thursday.

The passenger side of the car, where Rollande St. Jean was sitting, was completely flattened when the west-bound car rolled into the north ditch.

After Lancaster OPP officers helped free her from her seat belt, St. Jean was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital. She was treated for minor head injuries and cuts and bruises to her face, head and knees, and admitted for observation.

Her 77-year-old husband, Rodrigue received a few bumps, but otherwise escaped injury.

No charges were laid, according to Const. Hugh McClememts, the officer in charge at the scene of the accident.

Both passengers of this vehicle received minor injuries, while their car is completely demolished. The afternoon accident took place Thursday on the 401 west-bound. Staff photo — Faith Bloomfield

"His age, and the fact that he overcorrected when the car caught the shoulder were the cause of the accident. He couldn't regain control of the car," said McClements.

They were on their way home from getting ice cream when the accident occurred, around 2:15 p.m.

Const. Gilles Ruest, who was also at the scene, said he had to crawl into the car to ease St. Jean out of her seat belt.

"Because of the nature of the damages, without the seat belts the accident would have been more serious," he said.

Ruest is the public relations officer for the Lancaster detachment. He is currently in charge of gathering photos and information for an OPP campaign on seat belt use.

He said this accident is a prime example of the benefits of using the safety aid.

quarters of them.''

There will be a United Counties meeting in October to discuss Bill 201 — the legislation enabling counties to take over responsibility of the waste management master plan. Sangster said he will report to the committee in November with any management proposals.

Committee members explained the Counties already have the necessary management structure but because Dundas is committed to another waste plan, there is the question of what would happen if the United Counties of SD&G assumed responsibility.

Chairman of the Steering Committee Merlin Dewing said there is talk that Dundas may break from their current involvement, potentially freeing them to join with Stormont-Glengarry.

''The window of opportunity is as wide open as it will ever be,'' said Dewing, referring to the amount of time it has taken thus far.

Alexandria's representative on the committee, Fern Seguin humorously suggested ''I think we should get a retirement plan,'' considering the delays imposed on the group. Great hilarity ensued.

Seguin informed the committee that Alexandria will invite MOE representative Rick Harris to discuss composte funding with council.

''We're trying to promote the removal of compostables from the system. They don't take up too much room, but they are very heavy.'' He said his own household experience surprised him. ''We put between 25 and 30 pounds into the composter a week.''

''Whatever we can remove, the better,'' Seguin concluded.

Local Fox Marathon marks 10th year of run

Organizers and volunteers for the 10th annual Terry Fox Marathon of Hope raised a flag at Alexandria town hall to begin the fundraising campaign. From the left are: volunteer Denise Lemieux, Rev. Cameron who blessed the flag, volunteer Jacqueline Fraser, Maxville Reeve George Cuerrier, mother of cancer victim Gerald MacDonald, Annie A. MacDonald, Terry Fox Team Member Marguerite Lefebvre, Mayor J. P. Touchette, co-organizer Maurice Sauvé, Const. Leo Lemieux, and co-organizer Margie Laferriere. The Marathon of Hope will take place in Alexandria on Sept. 16.

The 10th annual Terry Fox Marathon of Hope began ceremonially in Alexandria Aug. 29 when local organizers raised the campaign flag up the pole at town hall.

This is the first year the campaign has come to Alexandria, said co-organizer Margie Laferriere. "And to commemorate the tenth anniversary, the campaign to fight cancer has introduced some new initiatives," she said Wednesday.

These initiatives include the flag raising and the introduction of a Terry Fox Team Member from each community — someone who has been afflicted with the deadly disease but has surmounted it through determination and the research made possible by the Marathon of Hope.

This year's team member is Marguerite Lefebvre who said when she was contacted to help with the campaign she readily accepted. "It should be fun. It's great when you can beat (cancer), to help give people the courage to beat it," Lefebvre said. Her cancer has been in remission for the past four years, "and after five years, it's usually licked," she said.

Lefebvre will officially open the Marathon of Hope in Alexandria Park on Sept. 16 at 1 p.m.

Maurice Sauve of Alexandria has organized the Terry Fox canoe floatilla for the past nine years, and this year he will join Laferriere as co-organizer of the campaign in Alexandria.

"This year, to make it easier for the participants, we will join up with the runners and cyclists and combine our efforts in one location at Alexandria Park," Sauve said.

"We would really appreciate seeing many people come and complete the distance with either a canoe or bicycle, running or walking. Speed is of no importance, finishing is," Sauve said. He said Terry Fox didn't go very fast but he finished his projected distance each day even if it hurt.

The day's activities will be finished with a corn roast and bar-b-q in the park.

Pledge sheets, tee shirts and commemorative buttons are available at Shepherd's Sport Shop and M&D Boisvenue Sports.

Terry Fox's mother, Betty Fox, contacted local organizers from her home in Port Coquitlam, B.C. to say when the Marathon of Hope began the year after Terry died of lung cancer, it was held in 760 sites across Canada. Last year, the run took place in 2,300 communities around the world, raising over $7 million for cancer research.

Sale of Dunvegan hall for $15,000 okayed by Kenyon Township

After postponing their decision and requesting further information, Kenyon council supported the purchase of the Dunvegan W.I. Hall at their regular meeting Aug. 28.

The president of the Dunvegan Recreation Association, which will take over ownership of the hall, explained there are some structural problems with hall, but essentially the building is a sound investment.

"The building needs no major repairs at this point," said James Joyce. "There are stress cracks created from the second story, which has been removed. The cracks have stablized since then and they are not getting worse or better."

Joyce said he feels there is a lot of support from the community and the DRA will not "saddle council with a huge financial white elephant."

The hall was originally an Orangemen lodge, until it was passed down to the Dunvegan Women's Institute.

The W.I. is struggling to maintain the building at the moment and the recreation association wants to purchase it to "create a certain continuity," Joyce said in a telephone interview Friday.

With a price tag of $15,000, the W.I. is selling the hall below current market value to enable the DRA to take over the reins of history.

Joyce said no fundraising plans have been made yet, but there is still a lot of time. The official purchase is expected to be made in a few months, and the DRA expects to move in "definitely no later than the end of the year."

Eventually there will be some renovations to the hall, but none are immediately necessary for the use of the building, he said.

"The hall, as is, can function as a meeting place for the community. It may be used for euchre tournaments, jui jitsu and a wide range of community events. There is a lovely stage that could be used for a Saturday morning children's group," said Joyce, adding it would also give the association its first home.

Kenyon Township

Council briefs

The following items were among those discussed at the regular council meeting of Kenyon Township, held on Aug. 28.

Awareness week's coming up

After a request by the Ontario Building Officials Association, council supported the motion to proclaim Sept. 23 to 29 as Building Regulations Awareness Week.

The week is to create awareness about the rules for people who want to build.

"People should inform themselves and be aware of regulations before building," said the township's clerk/treasurer.

Posters supplied by the building association will be put up in the township office and around the area.

Development project supported

In the last nine months 1,061 jobs were lost in Eastern Ontario, 225 from the town of Alexandria. Council received a letter from three Liberal MPs from the region — Don Boudria, Bob Kilger and Len Hopkins requesting a show of support for the creation of an Eastern Ontario federal development program.

Reeve Finlay McDonell offered his support for the project and council carried the motion unanimously.

A letter of support will be sent to counties council, the Minister of Supplies and Services Paul Dick and Prime Minister Brian Mulroney.

Beavers abound

In response to a request by council for additional beaver management funding, the Raisin Region Conservation Authority has approved the allocation of $2,000.

"It's been a really rough year, there are a lot of nuisance beavers this year," said clerk/treasurer Mary McCuaig. "We were originally allocated $4,000 and it's already been used up."

The funds are used to pay a trapper who sets underwater traps to capture the rodents. When beaver is in season, the pelts are sold. When out of season, the corpses have a variety of uses, including dog food.

The beaver population seems to be getting worse every year, McCuaig said, and additional funds were needed by several other municipalities as well.

Expropriation hearing

A notice of hearing was received by council for the expropriation of land needed by the township for a land level crossing on Concession 1.

The hearing will be held on Sept. 13, at 9 a.m. at the court house in Cornwall.

The land is being expropriated from Noel DeRepentigny and Joseph Dobo.

Crime prevention

Council received notice from the Solicitor General's office that Nov. 4 to 10 have been set aside as National Crime Prevention Week.

The purpose of the week is to encourage people to become involved in crime prevention in their communities.

"The Federation of Canadian Municipalities has recognized that Municipal leaders have a profound influence on crime prevention in their communities," the notice stated.

The Solicitor General is requesting province-wide participation to create awareness for the program.

Council has yet to decide what action will be taken.

Glengarry Legions celebrate

Royal Canadian Legion week is Sept. 16 to 22. All over Canada, Legion branches will celebrate to honor the event.

The following celebrations will take place at the Alexandria and Lancaster Legion halls.

It kicks off on Sunday, in Alexandria with a parade to St. Finnan's Church in time for the 11 a.m. mass. Everybody should meet at the Legion by 10 a.m.

Lunch will be served at the Legion hall afterwards.

In Lancaster a wine and cheese party will begin it all, starting at 2 p.m.

On Monday at 2 p.m. Alexandria's Ladies' Auxiliary will be visiting the Community Nursing Home.

Then the two branches meet up as Lancaster branch 544 hosts a fun night, starting at 7:30 p.m. for Alexandria branch 423. All Alexandria members should meet at the Alexandria Legion hall for 6:30 p.m.

At 8:30 p.m. Tuesday the Alexandria Auxiliary is hosting a giant euchre game.

Lancaster's Ladies' Auxiliary will be entertaining the residents of Chateau Gardens at the hall on Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m.

The Lancaster Legion will attend a fun night on Wednesday, this time located in Alexandria at 7:30 p.m.

Bean bags, cards and other games will be the highlights. A light dinner of finger foods will be hosted by the auxiliary, and the evening, in general, will be hosted by associate members Joe and Bonnee Massia.

It's your choice for Thursday night: Rest night or Fool's night.

"If you make it this far into the week, you deserve a rest. If you show up tonight, you're a fool," said Bev Fournier, the public relations agent at the Legion.

She said she hopes everyone is foolish enough to show, because a great night is planned.

On Friday at 7:30 p.m. there will be a Chinese auction, with auctioneer Darlene Campeau in Alexandria and a casino night in Lancaster.

What's being auctioned off is a surprise, Campeau won't even know. Every item is wrapped in *News*paper. Bring your quarters: bidding tickets will cost 25 or 50 cents.

Saturday is the final night and both Legions will be hosting dinners and dances.

Lancaster will be serving barbecue steak at 6 p.m., followed by a dance at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the Legion.

It will be beans and assorted light meats at Alexandria. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 p.m.

Honors and awards will be given out between 8 and 9, and the dance will start right after. Music will be DJed by Bob Bissonnette. For more information on Lancaster Legion events call 347-3286, and for Alexandria events call 525-2213.

Kids get skateboard ramp at Apple Hill

Township councillor built it himself

Glengarry sidewalk surfers discovered Alexandria isn't the only town in the county with a skateboard ramp. Recently the Apple Hill park has also boasted a haven for the die-hards.

Kenyon Township skateboarders appealed to council for a ramp early in the summer. Councillor Michel Lacelle said the recreation committee looked into the prices of the ramp, and purchasing one, he said, was too expensive. So, facing insurmountable financial restraints, Lacelle proceeded to build it on his own.

With the help of Mike Lavigne, Mike Neville and many of the neighborhood kids, the ramp was finished two weeks ago at a cost of around $450 for the materials. To buy a ramp of that size, it would have cost upwards of $7,000.

For about a month, after hours and on weekends, the ramp took shape at Lacelle's Apple Hill home, and he said it was very much a community effort. The ramp is a starting point, he explained. "The reason we didn't make it bigger was to see how the kids would enjoy it, and then we can add on."

"It's pretty good to keep the kids off the street," said Lacelle. "Around here in the village, there are at least 15 or 20 kids who use it." He said the facility, located in the Apple Hill Park, is available for all the kids in Kenyon.

The ramp is used strictly on an "at your own risk" basis and the Kenyon Recreation Committee is promoting the use of protective gear to avoid injury.

Kevin MacKillican of Maxville and Tommy Hutchinson of Apple Hill perform a cross-over on the newly constructed Apple Hill skateboard ramp constructed by Kenyon Township councillor Michel Lacelle.

Vandalism in Alexandria last week results in damage to automobiles

Police briefs

Alexandria Police say a disturbance at the Island Park late Tuesday (Aug. 28) night resulted in $1,000 damage to a parked pickup truck.

The truck is owned by Brian Sabourin of Bishop Street in Alexandria. Police say the damages included paint scratches, bent mirrors and broken lights.

A 25-year-old Lancaster Township man has been charged with mischief and causing a disturbance.

The incident occurred at 11:30 p.m.

Car window smashed

A parked truck in the Baker's Pride lot had its rear window smashed sometime between 8 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. Sunday, Alexandria police say.

The truck, a 1988 Chevrolet pickup, is owned by Ronald Campeau of Green Valley.

Damage is estimated to be approximately $200.

The investigation is continuing.

Vehicles collide

Alexandria police investigated a two-vehicle collision at the corner of Main Street and Lochiel Street early Friday evening.

Police say a 1987 Chevrolet being driven by Jean-Marie Ouimet, 42, of St. James Street in Alexandria was southbound on Main Street, followed by a 1986 Chevrolet driven by Lionel Seguin, 67, of Lochiel Township. The Ouimet vehicle was rear-ended by the Seguin vehicle.

Seguin has been charged with following too closely.

The Ouimet vehicle sustained moderate damages; damage to the Seguin vehicle was light.

Army handled crisis best

Despite the criticism from natives, civil rights groups and opposition politicians, the Canadian military was a model of force last week as the last of the barricades in the Quebec Mohawk crisis came down.

Without a shot fired, up to this Monday, the army's actions flew in the face of all doomsayers who said blood was bound to be spilled. Each day that passed saw tension mount and then ease, but the army advanced to the Warrior positions with a crisp efficiency and firmness that was fascinating — and reassuring — to watch.

Their tactics have forced the Warriors into a corner. The strategy now is to simply keep them surrounded and wait them out. If that sounds too harsh, the alternatives — armed assault — is surely less attractive.

The end result of this is yet to be seen, but throughout the crisis, the military has demonstrated it works where both police and negotiators have failed. Both the Mohawks and the military knew everybody had plenty to lose if the bullets began to fly; lives being the most serious but by no means the only casualty. Canada's leading role as an international peacekeeper is on the line. So is its credibility as a voice against brutal repression and violence against minorities.

As for the Mohawks and all natives to a certain extent, a first shot from the Warriors would have poisoned the atmosphere for future talks and endangered the public support they acquired in the last few months.

As it is, the crisis seems to be coming to an end in a piecemeal fashion, with some allowances for face-saving. And while there was no joy in witnessing the army move in with tanks to confront the Warriors, neither was there comfort in seeing camouflaged, heavily armed Warriors toting assault rifles behind barricades.

There are laws protecting the public safety and the viability of our democracy that need to be obeyed. Otherwise, in a civilized country like Canada, public disorder is promoted. There's nothing undemocratic about protesting, but an armed rebellion (as the insurance companies are calling it) is another matter.

In this case, the army has provided an effective, efficient and relatively painless anesthetic during an agonizing course of events. If it completes its task as it has so well been doing only then will hope arise that a new bridge will be built between the need of the Mohawks to be heard amidst government and public complacency.

Voters may be surprised

Close — that's the result the experts and the pollsters are expecting to see once the polls shut down tomorrow on the 1990 provincial election. It's a welcome change from the other descriptive used more often to describe the campaign — boring.

It's also an encouraging change. Premier David Peterson's textbook call of a summer election while times were good is an old move used by every party and every province in the land. And it almost always worked.

This time, the Liberals are in danger of losing their once overwhelming majority, or possibly even power itself, to the NDP — a once unthinkable prospect. It's evidence that the tactic is showing signs of backfiring, that even complacent governments can no longer take the voters for granted and that even during the summer, issues are still important.

The premier has largely shied away from those issues, preferring to charm crowds and defend his government. Bob Rae, on the other hand, attacked David Peterson and the government on a variety of fronts and it seems to be paying off. Each day at each stop, he targetted a specific issue, narrowed the argument and built up an aura of credibility as a legitimate contender.

Mike Harris took a chance and hammered on one theme during the election — taxes. The strategy hasn't paid off at the polls yet, but he had several handicaps both as a leadership newcomer and head of a party mired in third place.

Obviously, the Liberals underestimated voter discontent with the early election call. Taxpayers are more sensitive to needless government spending — $40 million on this election — and they didn't need a reminder of the way governments effortlessly dole out the largesse. The Mohawk crisis, disunity, the prospect of recession — all have contributed to make this a bad time for an election.

The election in SD&G and Cornwall-Charlottenburgh ridings is likely to be a close one too. John Cleary has been trying to defend his government's policies amidst unemployment and discontent in Cornwall. Noble Villeneuve has to protect the tiny margin he won with in 1987, but strong showings by the other candidates could put that into jeopardy through split votes.

In short, what began as a sleep summer election has heated up into a legitimate horse race. It should make future premiers think twice about trying to get a fast one by the electorate again.

Angus H — the dream realized

After Thoughts

Joe Banks

Dreams are more than unconscious visions we see while sleeping. They are also conscious visions we strive to grasp, often distant and practically unattainable. And they seem to fall further away as we work harder to catch them.

Olympic athletes know the feeling, and the most dedicated also know that surge of utter joy when the goal is reached, the high of getting the gold medal.

Angus H. McDonell never won a gold medal. But a long time ago, he and a handful of devotees to his dream set a far-off goal that, even up until recently, many people said couldn't, wouldn't and shouldn't be met. There are few people here, or anywhere for that matter, who would've persisted the way he and his team did at realizing the distant dream.

It's fitting, in fact, that the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame, this Sunday to be officially opened, recognizes that drive to succeed. It will unveil the lives of those Glengarrians who made their mark on the local and national and international sports scenes and will house the permanent record of their accomplishments.

This was the bottom line on Angus H.'s vision all along. His dream was the county's athletic history should never be allowed to be lost to future generations; nor should people who forged the base of the county's sports communities and facilities.

For about 20 years, that ambition persisted in Angus H. He was no longer a young man when he started to urge support for the project. The energy was sapped, but all along, Angus H. found it, and the allies which he often credits with being the real force behind the project.

Today, in his 80's, Angus suddenly finds himself witnessing the construction of a building adjacent to the Maxville Fairgrounds. The dream is upon him, and he can scarcely describe his feelings without a quiver in his voice and a hint of a tear in his eye.

"I just didn't know what to do — cry or explode," he says, and then, remembering the pitfalls, admits, "Many's the night I drove home from Maxville after hearing we didn't have enough money or some miserable so-and-so didn't want it."

Indeed, he, Bill Campbell, who Angus H. says was largely responsible for finally getting the project off the ground, and the others from the sports hall board, knew there was opposition to the project working its way through Maxville and the county. It was an unnecessary waste of taxpayer's money, they said. Better to spend it on hospital improvements or any one of a hundred other projects which would benefit everybody, they said.

And there were fears of liability — that the ratepayers of Maxville would somehow have to assume the maintenance and operating costs of the hall if it foundered. Damage control by the board and Angus H. had to be brought to bear more than once, putting out fires ignited by rumors and hearsay.

There is still negativism smoldering, but by and large most of it will be silenced come this Sunday. The naysayers will be few when Sean Conway snips the ribbon on the handsome new Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame.

Even if they're there, however, nothing will take the pride, the deep feeling of accomplishment, and reflection away from at least one man.

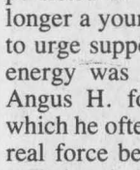
It will be the day Angus H. doubted many times would ever arrive.

It also will be his day on the Olympic podium.

Webster just may have a point

Pen Thoughts

Michael O'Dwyer



I think all the differences among the people of the world can be boiled down to two essential types. Forget religion, race, culture and nationality; as far as I'm concerned the most divisive and irreconsilable differences are caused not by people, but pets.

Now this isn't yet a patent-pending philosophy, but the world by my experience can be divided into cat lovers and dog lovers. Never the twain shall meet, nor shall they ever see completely eye to eye.

Even those who have dogs and cats or no pets at all (or gerbils God forbid) can be lumped into one category or another. It's a question of attitude, not ownership and sometimes it's not even a matter of what animal you prefer, but which you hate the least.

Like the owners, the rivalry between the animals themselves has lasted through history and Walt Disney has had a lot of fun with it.

Since time immemorial, cats and dogs have been two completely different animals with different methods, attitudes and strengths. It is these differences, I think, that draws people to one or the other — kind of a mirror of themselves, maybe.

The animals I'm talking about are the lay-around-the-house kind. I'll have to agree that a cat makes a lousy guard animal and a dog is a pathetic mouser.

In all fairness, I have to declare my bias. I am a cat person and I'll proudly display the fur on everything I own to prove it.

Our domestic dogs are descendants of wolves, a pretty formidable animal when they travel in packs, but kind of useless when they are alone. It's not their style and they don't operate well that way. I think it's the same thing with the domestic variety. If we give them the leadership they will serve us to the grave. Kind of pathetic really.

Merriam-Webster sums it up pretty well: dog n. a worthless fellow, a device for holding something, affected stylishness, ruin. (Webster must have been a cat person.)

Dogs aren't very bright. They start off as clumsey puppies and grow into slathery adults, begging to please, pleading to be domineered. Dogs need a master. Without one they run around in circles, chew the most valuable furniture they can sink their teeth into and then collapse in a worthless heap. Not a pretty sight.

Cats, on the other hand, are independant and loners. Our domestic variety is pretty much descendant from the wild lynx and bobcat. Try to master them and them might just kill you in your sleep. It's not that they're unaffectionate. They'll bless you with their favors whenever it suits them, and not before. They can get along just fine without you, thank you very much. They don't need to be paper trained, they wash themselves, they eat what they need and don't make a mess on the carpet unless you deserve it.

Cat. n. Spiteful woman, slang, jazz musician, cool guy. (Pretty much says it, doesn't it?)

But cats too have their downfalls. They won't chase sticks (they might entertain a piece of celophane if it suits them,) they won't bark when someone comes to the door when you're in the shower, and they may not greet you at the door when you come home after a long hard day.

It comes down to this: a dog person wants a pet who will love him after being abused, and a cat person loves his pet despite the abuse. I'll let the psychologists of the world take it from there.

That's Life

It wormed its way into the conversation in the afterglow of that Highland Games day, like a silent, stealthy python. None of us would have been more surprised if we had seen a 15-foot long black snake at the edge of our picnic blanket. Or more filled with dread.

On that day, traditionally reserved for merry-making and light-hearted discussions on the virtues of Scotch whiskey, someone mentioned the word. We all looked at one another and desperately sought an escape from that one thing no one wanted to talk about: Armageddon.

Not the one of the past, but the one of the future, predicted by the Bible and Nostradamus. Few people really want to talk about it, no more than they want to talk about bathroom grunge.

Maybe they think about it in the quiet darkness of the night, when they're rereading Matthew 24 in hopes that it will begin to mean something different, something that will give them hope.

Cause it doesn't look too good right now.

I'll admit it. The whole concept of the end of the world scares me a little. Okay, it scares me a lot.

But it's difficult not to be scared, particularly when once-complacent native people raise arms against the white man and demand their long-overdue fair share. And when what started as efforts to save a sacred burial ground from modern develop-

Induction deserved

In the Glens

Angus McDohell

Representing the current generation of Glengarry professional athletes, Maxville's John Wensink, former member of the Boston Bruins, will be inducted in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame on Wednesday, Sept. 12 at the annual enshrinement banquet in the Maxville and District Sports Complex.

John Wensink is a son of the late George Wensink and his wife the former Nellie Bleyenberg. He was born April 1, 1953, at Pincher Creek, Alberta, and, it may be added, in an atmosphere of Western Canada's pro-hockey productivity.

When John was still a toddler, the Wensink family gave up Alberta living in favor of a Glengarry home. They bought the MacKillican brothers' dairy farm on the south border of Maxville.

At the tender age of seven John Wensink was a blossoming minor hockey player with the sprites. He progressed each winter in his respective age groups through to Junior "B" coached by George Currier.

In summer, after completing his allottment of farm chores, John Wensink played baseball, soccer and he was also adept in handling a lacrosse stick.

In 1970 he attended the training camp of major Junior "A" Cornwall Royals and what he may have lacked in skills John Wensink was filled with desire and rugged style of play that impressed coach Orville Tessier, known as a tough task master; John Wensink was signed and played with Royals.

The next season, not only did John Wensink play improved hockey but the entire team improved so much that Cornwall Royals won the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the Canadian Major Junior "A" championship.

In the following NHL draft, John Wensink was selected by the St. Louis Blues and in turn was instructed to report to their farm team Rochester of the American Hockey League. St. Louis Assistant GM Frank Mario had been keeping tabs on Wensink while he was with the Royals, Mario's home town.

Don Cherry was Rochester's coach and he was aware that all through Wensink's Cornwall junior career his game stayed rather basic and not by choice. Cherry opined that when you are as big and as strong and as willing to mix it as John Wensink and your coach has an ample supply of talented forwards and heady defensemen, it's not too surprising when you are tabbed as the club's "enforcer." John will always be that according to Cherry, who reserves a very special place in his heart for John. Quoting a Rochester sports writer, he stated, "his biggest attributes are his willingness to learn and ability to absorb. In fact his improvement since he first came to the Rochester camp has just been amazing.

John Wensink's pro hockey career, in 1976, was feared to be at an end due to a severe back injury. However, after a brief term with the Denver Spurs and major surgery he made a full recovery and was back in Rochester.

In the meantime, Don Cherry was behind the Bruins' bench coaching and he still rated Wensink as NHL class so he drafted his favorite son to Boston.

Cherry's confidence in Wensink was fully rewarded in the 1978-79 season as he scored 28 goals. Playing beside a star in the class of Terry O'Reilly and being a 6'2", 195 pounder, John Wensink had fulfilled his lifetime ambition. He recorded four successful seasons in Boston.

Harry Sinder, Boston's manager, came to the parting of the ways with his coach Don Cherry. There were more changes including the trade of Wensink to Quebec Nordiques.

In the following season, 1981-82, Don Cherry and John Wensink were again united with the Colorado Rockies but the term was short lived as the club ceased to operate. Wensink was sold to New Jersey Devils but John retired from further play except a brief period near his father's home in

Bylaw 45-90 is to protect our people

To the editor:

As a councillor, I feel compelled to let the taxpayers of Charlottenburgh know that Bylaw 45-90, entitled the Property Standards Bylaw, was brought to the council table with the sole purpose of serving the residents of our municipality.

That we should be accused of "Draconian" measures pales in the strategy, the fear tactics and the propaganda used by the opponents of the Bylaw. And it disturbs me to no end that senior residents of our municipality, as a result of misinformation, should be afraid that the township will force entry into their homes or force them to make repairs that they can ill afford or choose not to do at this time of their life. Nothing could be further from the truth. Therefore, dear editor, I would like to make some things clear.

Since I first arrived at council (two years ago now) a property standards bylaw was being considered and it is only recently with time and staff that the final draft was established. It was then set before council and read the first and second time — a not unusual method of presenting material. Then with the express concern of the administration and of Reeve Carol Ann Ross and with particular note to the media present, the final reading was postponed until the residents of the township had opportunity to look at the bylaw. When it became evident that there were concerns, council agreed to have it deferred until everyone could have input. This too is a not unusual way of carrying out democracy at municipal level, or any other level for a matter of fact. The concerns have not fallen on deaf ears. The bylaw will be amended to meet the township needs.

These needs have become evident through numerous requests by those living in the township. The amended bylaw will enable the township to have properties that are an environmental threat to the health and welfare of its citizens tended to, as well as enable the township to have properties tidied up that devalue the property of the surrounding land owners. Also, certain grants such as OHRP (Ontario Home Renewal Program) are conditional on "standards which must be approved by the ministry to permit municipalities to offer this program" (Ministry of Housing, OHRP). At this time we have 75 requests for the use of this particular grant, an indication that the people of Charlottenburgh are not afraid to meet a certain standard. Neatness encourages neatness and the cost of neatness is minimal. I have been in some low-income homes in the township that are wonderful examples of care and concern. Also, I would say that the majority of the residents of our township strive to make our municipality the beautiful township that it is.

For this majority of residents, the bylaw will give the township the needed capacity to act. It does not mean that the property standards officer has the right to enter your dwelling. He can only do so with your permission. If, in an extreme case, should a search warrant be necessary, every resident of the township will see evidence of the necessity. Search warrants are not handed out lightly; there has to be some pretty strong evidence. Justice is on the side of the individual.

I am certain that the bulk of the requests for cleanup will be heeded by those concerned. However, should they not agree with the request they can appeal to the Property Standards Committee which will consist of three ratepayers from the township. It will not be unlike the Committee of Adjustment currently operating in the township. Council will have nothing to do with the decisions made by this committee which further ensures that the bylaw is a reflection of the taxpayers of the municipality and which will give the complainant a fair hearing.

The bylaw was patterned on already existing bylaws in our neighboring municipalities of Lancaster and Roxborough. Also, documents such as the Ontario Planning Act, our own official plan and municipal solicitors were consulted.

It is not the desire of council to make life miserable for seniors or for low income citizens. It is not the desire of council to have a picture perfect municipality. However, it is the desire of this councillor to have the bylaw administered in house using existing staff. It is the desire of this councillor that action will only be initiated after complaint(s) by a citizen of the township. It is the desire of this councillor to make Charlottenburgh liveable for all residents.

I am in favor of the bylaw, with amendments that are qualified with constructive input by the residents of the township, and I look forward to meeting the citizens at the regular council meeting on Sept. 11. We are here to serve.

Yours truly,
Joan P. MacDonald,
R.R. #1, Williamstown.

Fifty per cent tax harbinger of revolution

To the editor,

The recent objections to (Charlottenburgh's) By-law 45-90 were emulated in at least one other Eastern Ontario Municipality, that of Elizabethtown, Leeds County. The bill had also reached third reading before being blocked by enraged ratepayers. This would indicate that pressure on municipalities for passage of the by-law, originated in Queen's Park, Toronto.

A thinking person would have to question whether the bureaucratic position of property control officer was created to administer the by-law or if the by-law was drafted to create the position.

Perhaps, as the federal well dries up, municipal affairs will go into the business of exporting bureaucrats in lieu of money.

Historically, a taxation rate of 50 per cent or more has been a harbinger of violent revolution. The image of the complacent Canadian has become somewhat unravelled of late.

Sincerely,
A. Macdonell
RR1 Williamstown, Ont.

Signs shouldn't litter

To the editor:

I trust that the candidates in the coming election will demonstrate their real concern for the environment by removing all their signs and posters immediately after Sept. 6.

What do these signs accomplish beyond littering the landscape, and helping fill the garbage dump?

Yours truly,
Lyall Hargrave, (Mrs. D.)

Are Nostradamus and Co. right?

ment accelerated into a lengthy crisis — yes Marjorie Nichols, a crisis.

And when another independent crisis develops in the Middle East, with Kuwait under seige by its Iraqi neighbors. And when AIDS is reaching frightening proportions and acid rain is causing our trees to die a slow death and a U.S. appeals court refuses to order the Environmental Protection Agency to toughen up on U.S. acid rain polluters.

Then there's the mould. You know, the one that's attacking people in Moscow subway stations. Yesterday, it simply had the makings of a third-rate horror flick, and today, it is a reality.

Why do we go on, in the presence of such adversities?

Because as human beings, we possess an abominable spirit: The number of suicides each year doesn't come close to the number of bankruptcies, deaths of loved ones, cancer and AIDS cases and rapes. Because people always seem to beat the odds, picking themselves up when we least expect it, brushing themselves off and going on, albeit unsteadily, but forging ahead all the same.

And because we were endowed with a special gift: Hope. With more power than money or sex, it is what keeps us going despite the odds.

The other day, when an announcer of a popular light rock radio station said he was concerned that perhaps Matthew and Nostradamus were right, that our world will never exist beyond the year 2000, I began to think about quitting work, going on a long vacation, and spending my savings.

Then I thought, what if they're wrong? What if everyone's been reading this all wrong? What if the world persists? I could end up alive, poor and out-of-work.

So today, like hundreds of thousands of other people, I'm going to go to work, to earn money for the future and to contribute to a pension plan. I'm going to watch my pennies and drive carefully. I'm not going to give up.

You know what I call that?

Yeah. Hope.

Deserves induction

Holland with the Vissers club in Nijmegen.

Now in retirement and operating a lucrative home construction business in suburban St. Charles, John Wensink is still involved in his first love, hockey, coaching the St. Louis Peewees and they will play in the Quebec City tournament this winter again for the fourth consecutive year. John Wensink richly deserves his induction in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame.

Area man states support for Mohawks

By Faith Bloomfield
News reporter

Max Schneider is a 60-year-old German-Canadian, but he stood on Main Street in Green Valley wearing a sign saying "I am a Mohawk."

"I am stating my compassion for the Mohawks," he said Thursday, referring to the native group involved in the armed conflict in Oka.

He received mixed reviews by passers-by, during his one day stand: "I got a few fingers pointed at me, but I also get honked at and cheered on."

One woman driving by stopped and went over to Schneider to show her support for his cause.

"I think it's great that one person is standing here in the middle of nowhere taking a stand like this," said Maggie Mandell, a painter and goat farmer in Apple Hill. She said she can't believe any of this (the Oka incident) is happening in Canada because "everyone is usually so civilized."

But Schneider disagreed, saying "if you scratch the surface of that civilization you will find muck and garbage and dirt just beneath it. This is the beginning of a police state, similar to Germany in the 1930s."

But not everyone supports his symbolic gesture of sympathy, many don't understand.

Another woman asked Schneider why he was wearing the sign, saying she was bothered by it because it isn't true.

"When John F. Kennedy stood in front of the Berlin Wall and said he was a Berliner, everyone understood his meaning. This is the same thing," he responded.

And when he isn't standing on street corners Schneider's support is visible near his home as well: he has placed a totem pole with yellow ribbons on the north side of Glen Roy road.

Maggie Mandell was one of many supporters to Mohawk sympathizer Max Schneider. He staged a one-day protest on Main Street in Green Valley. He disagrees with the way the Oka situation is being handled, claiming Canada is becoming "a police state."

French elementary public school may open

The Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry Public School Board will be opening the doors of its first French Language Public Elementary School in Cornwall in September 1991.

The announcement was made by Micheline Ouellette, chairman of the French Language Section, at the regular meeting of the section on Sept. 4.

Since October 1989, an interim committee chaired by Trustee Daniel Morin has been studying various alternatives which could be offered in Cornwall and Glengarry.

In light of the consolidation of English language programs, the board decided to relocate 84 students in the regular Grade 7 and 8 program in September 1991 from Sydney Street Public School to other schools in the city which already offer this program.

The decision has created space and has allowed the board of education to designate Sydney Street Public School as the site of the French Language Elementary Public School.

"Also, for the first time," said Micheline Ouellette, "Francophones will have at the elementary school level the equivalent of anglophone students in that they will have the choice of taking French language education in a public school system or a separate school system."

It must also be understood, she added, the "francophone society has changed in regard to religious affiliation and that the opportunity for choice of school has arrived."

The mandate of the committee chaired by Daniel Morin has been enlarged to include direction towards sensitization, public relations and recruitment of an appropriate school clientele from among the francophone population.

It has been established that the levels envisioned for implementation at the time of opening will encompass the primary level or pre-kindergarten to Grade 3. However, if the interest is there and the number of registrations are favorable, the program could also be offered at the Grades 4, 5 and 6 levels from the beginning.

"This planning and preparation year promises to be marked by the dynamics associated with such an important project for the French Language Section of the Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry Public School Board," said Ouellette.

All individuals interested in this project and in the opening of the French Language Public School should contact Superintendent of Education Gerald Samson at the Public School Board, 933-6990.

Volunteer organizations should ensure meetings are not yawners

Members of rural communities often belong to at least one organization. The purpose of that organization may be to provide information on farming practices, to plan community activities, to provide an opportunity to socialize with members of the community with similar interests or a combination of all three.

From time to time, volunteer organizations find that attendance at meetings drops off. The result is fewer people to assist with the organization's activities. This results in an overload of work for those few volunteers. Those volunteers will begin to drop out of the group because they have to do everything. This cycle may get to a point where an organization may fold until interest can be revived in the organization's purpose.

The first way to keep attracting people to your organization is to run an effective meeting. There are several ways to ensure this.

Number one — Start your meetings on time! Everybody's time is valuable to them. Is it fair to call a meeting at 8, have two or three people there at 7:50 and the executive and majority of participants not there until 8:20? You will have lost those two or three the next time! When the meetings are started on time, stragglers will put more effort into being on time for the next meeting.

Number two — Have a well planned agenda. A good agenda will have a list of topics which will be covered and who is responsible for them. When possible, the agenda should be distributed ahead of time or, at the very least, distributed or posted at the meeting. Another good idea is to set time limits for each agenda item to help focus discussion and encourage decision making.

Number three — A good meeting chairperson will encourage comments from quiet members and control the enthusiasm of outspoken members. When a group reaches a consensus it should be a group consensus and not the chairperson's view.

Number four — Ensure that the meeting atmosphere is comfortable, "the mind can only function as long as the 'seat' is comfortable" was a favorite philosophy of a parish priest I knew! That can also translate to — don't keep the meeting too long or you'll see people starting to leave.

Number five — Not all meetings need to be so formal as to use Parliamentary Procedures, but it is a handy tool and one which can be a valuable resource when meetings get out of hand.

Remember that a volunteer's time is valuable and that they are volunteers — if they aren't gaining anything by attending a meeting, it may be the last one they do attend!

And finally, here is a five minute test for the chairperson to take before calling a meeting.

Can I state the meeting's purpose in a sentence or less? Do I know what I expect the meeting to accomplish? Do I know who must be at the meeting to ensure the expectations are accomplished? Could the same things be accomplished by sending a memo or making a telephone call?

Information on running effective meetings can be obtained by contacting the Rural Organization Specialist in the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office in each county. In Glengarry County, contact Elizabeth O'Gorman-Smit at 525-1046 or 1-800-267-1722.

There is still time to register to vote

Eligible voters in the provincial riding of SD&G who are not yet registered have time to do so, said Returning Officer George Brown on Tuesday.

"The returning office here in Cardinal on Hwy. 2 at The Village Square can accommodate unregistered voters from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. from now until Sept. 5, the day before the election," explained Brown.

Brown explained that in the rural riding of SD&G, another option still exists that is not available in urban ridings.

"The other alternative is for unregistered voters to go to their own poll and have someone vouch for them. If someone will vouch for them they can be sworn in and will be able to vote," he said.

Citizens who can't vote in the advance poll or on election day may vote by proxy — having someone else cast their ballot for them. Brown explained that those wanting to vote in absentia can pick up proxy voting applications at the returning office until Sept. 5 or at the regional advance polls on Sept. 3.

Advance polls are only available for those who will be working with Elections Ontario, out of the area on business or detained for medical reasons. Brown emphasized the advance polls are not available for voters who will be away on vacation on Sept. 6.

"The district returning officer will ask for very legitimate reasons," he said.

Elections Ontario has introduced a provision to accommodate handicapped persons at polling stations which are not wheelchair accessible.

"Handicapped people have to be given service to their car," said Brown. "The deputy returning officer and the poll clerk are under oath and they will take the ballot to the car. It's in the Provincial Elections Act and this is the first time it's been fully enforced," he said.

Obituaries

Florence Williamson

Florence Williamson of King's Road, Martintown, died Sunday, August 26 in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall, at the age of 93 years.

Born in Monkland and the widow of the late Donald Robert Williamson, Mrs. Williamson was the daughter of the late Dan McPhail and his wife the former Isable Macdonell.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and one daughter. They are: Dan and Charles of King's Road, Martintown, and Katherine (Mrs. Gabriel Seguin), Kingsville, Ont.

Also surviving are two sisters Miss Mary McPhail and Mrs. Janet Murray, both of Cornwall.

Eight grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren also mourn her loss.

She was predeceased by one son and three daughters — Winnifred, Alexander, Adele and Mary (Mrs. Charles Gillis).

The funeral took place on August 28 to St. Raphael's Church, at 11 o'clock and was officiated by Monsignor D. B. McDougall and Rev. Tom Villeneuve. Burial was in St. Raphael's cemetery.

The pallbearers were William McKenna, Robert McLaughlin, Georges Laporte, Don Gillis, Richard Seguin and John Seguin.

The runner-up libraries among all participants were also Glengarry branches. The Dalkeith library was second with an average of 38 books read per child, and the branches in Alexandria and St. Andrew's tied for third place with 33 books read.

The summer reading program has been in effect for tri-county children since 1985.

Target price jumps for industrial milk

The Canadian Dairy Commission recently announced a jump in the target price for industrial milk and the support prices for butter and skim milk powder, effective August 1, the beginning of the new dairy year.

The federal government approved the delegation of responsibility for setting prices to the Canadian Dairy Commission, as recommended by the Task Force on National Dairy Policy.

On Aug. 1, the target price for industrial milk will rise by 2.6 per cent, from $47.45 to $48.69 per hectolitre of milk, containing 3.6 kilograms of butterfat. This price includes a $0.14 per hectolitre surcharge to assist in financing the carrying charges associated with the marketing of butter. In the last four years, the target price has increased by only 4.7 per cent while the Consumer Price Index has risen by nine per cent.

When the target price was reviewed for Feb. 1, 1990, the Commission did not recommend a price increase. An independent national accounting firm subsequently conducted an audit and supported the Commission's recommendation that no price increase was warranted.

The support price for butter will rise from $5.167 to $5.331 per kilogram, and the skim milk powder price will be $3.130, up from $3.046 a kilogram. The processor margin has been set at $7.34 per hectolitre, up from $7.15.

Under the new mandate, the Commission sets the target price for industrial milk and the support prices for butter and skim milk powder, after receiving advice from a consultative committee. This committee, which represents milk producers, processors, retailers and consumers, reviews the cost of production and processor margin data and makes a recommendation to the Commission.

"The Consultative Committee will be invaluable in the carrying out of our expanded mandate in pricing," said Mr. Roch Morin, the Chairman of the Canadian Dairy Commission, following the Committee's first recommendation on pricing.

The members of the Consultative Committee are: Neil Gray (chairman), Ms. Victoria Billingsley, John Core, Graham Freeman, Dr. Gary Grant, Doug Lunau, Claude Menard, Claude Rivard and Eugene Vallee.

Industrial milk is used in the manufacture of dairy products such as butter, cheese, yogurt, ice cream and skim milk powder. The change to the target price has no impact on table milk and cream which are a provincial responsibility.

Lower Your Utility Bills with Dirt Cheap EARTH ENERGY... Depend On It!

Geothermal Energy. For years, it was a concept in heating and cooling that many people talked about, but that few did anything about. Until now.

The folks at Command-Aire have learned to tap into the earth's inexhaustible energy supply utilizing a ground source heat pump — the ultimate heating, cooling and water heating system.

This down-to-earth energy option is a smart, efficient alternative to fossil fuels because the system takes advantage of the insulating power of Mother earth to maintain a virtually constant, year-round temperature in the home.

As a ressult, the Command-Aire ground source heat pump system provides total environmental control at a fraction of the cost of traditional heating and cooling methods.

So, for more information, call your certified Command-Aire dealer in your area and discover how you can add comfort to your living and value to your home.

The members of Dunvegan Women's Institute were hostesses at the August birthday party held recently at Maxville Manor. The following residents celebrated birthdays during the month: Perthena Harvey, Mary Montcalm, Lallah Love, George Hay, Elizabeth Pryor, Stanley MacDonald, Ann MacRae, Verda Chappell, Elsie Arnold, Roderick MacRae, Agnes MacRae, Hilda Hay and Flora MacIntosh.

President Peggi Calder welcomed all present, and acted as emcee for the program which followed. The following items were presented.

The members sang a medley of old songs which was entitled Down Memory Lane. Robin and Megan Shields and Laura MacKay danced for the enjoyment of all present. Fiddlers Duncan MacDonald, Finlay McDonell and Byron Calder accompanied by Bev MacQueen on piano rendered some toe tapping music. Wendy MacLeod danced and Cathy Arkinstall chose some Scottish music as her piano selections. Shawn MacRae played the pipes. The fiddlers also played while the birthday gifts were given out, and lunch prepared.

Dina Murray thanked the WI on behalf of the residents.

Large turnout for woman's 80th birthday

Ellen Ann Dupuis, a life-long resident of Martintown, celebrated her 80th birthday Aug. 19 at home to her family, relatives and friends.

More than 50 people came to wish her birthday greetings. She was very surprised and pleased that her uncle James MacDonald at the age of 92 was able to visit her on this occasion.

He was accompanied by his son Mervyn and daughter-in-law Anna Margaret MacDonald. Uncle James, affectionately called Uncle Jimmie, and his son Mervyn are the only living relatives on her mother's side of the family.

Ellen Ann received many beautiful flowers, cards and gifts on this special birthday. Coffee, tea, lemonade, and birthday cake were served to all the guests by her daughter Leona and son-in-law Leo Aubin and their family.

Father Kelvin Maloney, her parish priest also attended, and extended his blessings for many more happy healthy years. Ellen Ann is a life member of the Women's Institute, and many of these ladies came to bring her best wishes, and all had a good time visiting with other people, they had not seen for a long time.

St. Raphael's to host UEL gathering

The St. Lawrence Branch of the United Empire Loyalist Association of Canada is busy preparing for more events during 1990.
ment of New York.

The Charter Night Dinner of the St. Lawrence Branch will be held on Saturday, Sept. 22 at the Morrisburg Canadian Legion. Dr. Earle Thomas of Kingston will be the guest speaker. Dr. Thomas wrote a book about Sir John Johnson (1742-1830) in 1986, which will be available at the banquet, and he will be speaking about Sir John. The tickets for the turkey and all the trimmings meal are available from anyone on the executive of the St. Lawrence Branch.

Sir John Johnson, a son of Sir William Johnson, was Commander of the King's Royal Regiment of New York, leader of the United Empire Loyalists, and superintendent of Indian Affairs for Canada, became the most prominent Loyalist in Canada.

The annual meeting of St. Lawrence Branch will be held Sunday, Oct. 21 at St. Raphael's, across the road from the Ruins. Registration is planned for 1:30 p.m. and the meeting will be followed by a pot luck supper. Come out and see what surprises we have planned for this meeting.

Anyone may attend a meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Association, whether they are members or not. The descendants of the early Loyalists who settled in this area, are just trying to preserve their early history and learn more about the courageous people who came to Canada as United Empire Loyalists.

Council on aging planned

Enhancing the lifestyle of senior citizens is the goal of the Council on Aging for the City of Cornwall and SD&G, and it's encouraging public involvement in achieving that aim.

The acting chairperson of the steering committee council on aging, Els W. Cordell, said the intent is to form a Council on Aging comprising of not less than one third senior citizens, one third service providers and one third interested community members.

The next meeting of the steering committee will be held on Monday, Sept. 10 at 9 a.m. in Cornwall at 24 Augustus St. in the lounge. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call 932-4969.

Ecology expert visits area

The Vankleek Hill Nature Society will hold a meeting on Sept. 17 in the auditorium of the Vankleek Hill Secondary School at 8 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Professor (Emeritus) Maxwell John Dunbar of McGill University.

His subject will be, sea and climate changes — as they related to the greenhouse effect. He is eminently qualified to speak on this subject. He has received many honors and awards, including a Senior Research Fellowship from the Smithsonian Institute in Washington and was made a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

Two couples to celebrate 45th

St. Raphael's
Cathie MacDonald
525-1174

Linda Roy of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents Rene and Carmel while en route home from a vacation in France. She says she had a wonderful time.

Donald and Liette Russell, Lorraine MacDonald and Lillian St. Onge have just returned from a Russell family reunion in Penticton, B.C. They spent one week meeting with all their relatives. Then spent one week in Calgary at the home of Kevin and Kris MacDonald. While there, Donald and Liette visited with a former employer of 35 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Fisher.

Lorraine and Lillian spent one week in Victoria, B.C. They even tried deep sea fishing and caught a 16-lb. salmon. A good time was had by all but they were all glad to be home.

I had an oops in my column last week. Barry MacDonald was at a convention for the Kinsmen. I am sorry Barry for the mix-up.

St. Raphael's baseball tournament was held this past long weekend. Winner of the A division was a team from Glen Roy and winner of the B division was from the Allinotte family. Congratulations to the winners.

On Sunday, Sept. 9 there will be a mass followed by an open house at St. Raphael's in honor of the 45th wedding anniversary of both Mervyn and Anna Margaret MacDonald and Ambrose (Bud) and Polly McDonell. Friends and relatives are all invited to join in the celebration. Mass will be at 12:30 p.m. with the open house following immediately after at the St. Raphael's Parish Centre. Food and beverage will be available.

Local nature artist going strong at 85

by Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

In a world where struggling artists resort to a variety of marketing techniques to put a loaf and a carafe on the table, Gordon Light is an enigma. He does not sell his work.

The St. Raphael's area artist has, instead a distribution scheme which is nothing short of philanthropic.

"When someone expresses an interest in one of my works, I tell him the price. And then I tell him he can have the painting when he shows me a receipt in that amount made out the charity of his choice."

Light, who recently had an exhibition of his work at the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum in Williamstown, explains the reasoning behind his unusual marketing methods.

"I haven't done much in my lifetime for people," he says with a twinkle in his eye which leads one to believe just the opposite. "I figure this is a way I can repay society."

A glance at his work reveals that here is an artist whom the world has treated kindly. Light shows none of agony or torture that beleagues the paintings of artists at war with the world.

His themes are, for the main, taken from nature itself. From his "Hauling Mill Cut Lumber," a work in pencil on acid-free paper dating from 1946, through to his present undertaking — a wolf in the woods, done in acrylic, Light borrows from the world's simple wonders.

"Most of my paintings are of the snow, the water, the woods," he says, attributing this love of nature to his upbringing in the Eastern Townships and to his father who introduced him to the treasures of the forests.

Indeed, a second glance around the room reveals little influence of the industrialized world on Light's creations. Unless, of course, one considers the logging industry, shown in its various forms throughout the paintings hanging in the room.

And though the works are limited in theme, Light has run the gamut of technical experimentation and innovation.

He points to the sketch on acid free paper, "Gannet over Rough Water," a sketch so real even Colville couldn't tell the difference, and laughs.

"When I entered this in an exhibition, years ago, it was put in the photography section by mistake!"

Other works are done on "green" paper, with the artist's favorite, "Bolduc's Farm," at Orford Lake in the Eastern Townships, being painted on jute.

So how did Light get started on the path which has led to local fame, if not fortune?

According to the man himself, scarlet fever had something to do with it. Like most children, he had liked to draw, but when the childhood disease incarcerated him in bed at the age of 17, he began sketching in earnest.

Then it was off to the Beaux Arts in Montreal for a couple of years of study. But the realization there that he was not quite as good as he would like to be, ended his formal art education.

"After two years I got mad and quit," says the sprightly Light. "I joined Bell Northern Research and art became a hobby."

The "hobby" included designing magazine covers for Maclean's, Canadian Geographic and Rod and Gun. He also designs covers for the Orchid Society's publication in Ottawa.

Flowres and gardening, bees and bee-keeping are also Light's hobbies, indulged in since his permanent move to his King's Road property in 1976.

The bees are gone now. Mr. Light says they were too heavy.

"I guess I'm lazy," the artist signs, though the eyes twinkle again.

Those who know him would disagree. They would definitely disagree with this 85-year-old dynamo!

CUMMING—PIGGIN

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cumming and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Piggin are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of Glenda Mae and Leonard Percy. The wedding will take place Sept. 29, 1990 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Kamloops, B.C.

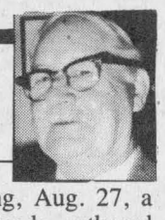
Dr. Currie to explain who needs the church



St. Elmo
W. MacKinnon
527-2348

On Monday evening, Aug. 27, a large number of friends gathered together in the Gordon Church hall at St. Elmo to honor with a bridal shower Marian Vanderwielen whose marriage will take place soon. The group of friends brought greetings and good wishes to the bride-to-be and presented her with many lovely gifts.

* * *

David and Shirley MacGregor of Maxville had as their guest for a few days this past week their grandnephew Gordon Skinner of Ottawa.

The guest soloist at the 126th anniversary service of divine worship in Gordon Church, St. Elmo, on Sept. 9 at 2:30 p.m. will be Mrs. Margaret E. Lewin of South Mountain, Ont. The guest preacher for the anniversary service, Dr. A. W. Currie of Ottawa, will deliver a message with the sermon entitled: Who needs the Church?

Dr. Currie was born at Hawkesbury, Ont. where his father, the Rev. Archibald Currie was the minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church from 1918-1924. Dr. Currie's grandfather, Edward Charles Currie, came to Canada from Scotland in 1853, arriving in Canada by boat after a voyage of five weeks and three days. He graduated from Queen's Theological College, Kingston, Ont. and ministered to the families who had come from Scotland and settled in the Cote St. George, Que. community. As the minister of the Cote St. George Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Edward Charles Currie preached in Gaelic and English.

Dr. Arthur W. Currie graduated from Knox Theological College, Toronto, in 1945 and has had pastorates in Rosetown, Sask., Runnymede Presbyterian Church, Toronto, and from 1961-86 was the minister of St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa. In June 1981 he was elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and while moderator visited Presbyterian mission work in Indian, Nepal, and Japan. He was one of the first delegates to visit the churches in China following the cultural revolution there.

Farm income to drop, study shows

Agriculture Canada economists released their agriculture outlook for the second quarter of 1990 on July 11 and current prospects are for record high market receipts in 1990.

Both crop and livestock receipts are forecast to increase, resulting in market receipts of $19.8 billion, $656 million higher than last year's level. Little increase in operating costs is expected this year. Total farm cash receipts, however, are forecast to decrease three per cent because of lower program payments.

As a result, at $3.18 billion, 1990 realized net farm income is forecast to drop 22.5 per cent from the 1989 level.

Regionally, significant farm income declines are expected in the Prairie provinces and Ontario. Little change is forecast from last year in Quebec and the Maritime provinces. Farm incomes are expected to increase in British Columbia.

In response to continuing low incomes in the grain sector, a federal-provincial funded income assistance program for 1990 was announced.

Hymn Sing Evening a Success

The United Church at Glen Sandfield was the site of a delightful musical evening on Sunday Sept. 2.

Area fiddlers gave a fine mini-concert 15 minutes beforehand. They were accompanied by Karen MacLeod on the organ, and the violinists were Ian MacLeod, Bill Connors, Sheila Leroy, Linda McNaughton, and Isobel MacLennan. The congregation enjoyed their renditions of well known and favorite hymn tunes. Della MacDonald and Lorna Chapman sang a requested duet, Count Your Blessings, accompanied by Bessie MacLennan on the old antique pump organ.

Rev. Colin MacDonald led the program, and opened with a welcome to all. He announced that all the hymns sung by the choir and congregation had been chosen by the Glen Sandfield congregation. It was a real old fashioned group of selections, much loved by people for many years. Music by the choir included Will the Circle be Unbroken, Sweet Bye and Bye, How Great Thou Art, with Lorna Chapman singing the verses, and the choir joining her for the choruses in harmony, was the offertory selection. A choir selection Sing Your way Home, was the last song before the benediction. Solos by Rev. Colin MacDonald who sang A Hymn of Thanksgiving (to the tune of The Ash Grove) and by Bruce Myers, who sang Land o' the Leal, both a capella, were very much enjoyed. Congregational hymns began with What a Friend We Have in Jesus, and continued later with Softly and Tenderly, God be With You Til We Meet Again, Will Your Anchor Hold, and the last number was Abide With Me. Suprisingly, several of these selections were picked by young people.

A splendid lunch was served to the seated crowd, as the guest fiddlers played more favorite pieces. An evening like this takes the help of many people to be a success. The choir with their musical offerings, the organists who are always willing to play, the guests who kindly accept the invitation to come and share their talents are the visible ones, and really make it a special get together. The minister who so willingly goes along with the program, doing everything he can to assist in any way, has been wonderful. The behind the scenes people who provided the beautiful floral arrangements, those who provide the service, the food and beverages and who cleaned up afterwards all contributed to a smooth flow of events. The secretary, who so kindly typed up the attractive bulletins on the day she and her family were to leave for the long weekend on a camping trip, certainly needs to be thanked as do all the rest of the wonderful helpers. Lastly, those who came out to listen and to sing together make it all worthwhile. They seemed to be well pleased and that's what it is all about.

The summer reading program at the library in Glen Robertson ended on August 23, with a party for participating children and their parents on Tuesday evening last. During the party, certificates were presented to all children who had read at least three books during the summer. The child in each category who had read the most books was presented with a prize of a book. The winners were: Grades 1 and 2 — Josee Hagen, Grades 3-5 — Anik Hagen and Grades 6 and over — Julie Horvath. The certificates and prizes were presented by Barbro Dheil from county library headquarters in Avonmore. Mrs. Dheil also had a suprise for them. She presented Glen Robertson library with a trophy for having the highest average number of books read during the summer reading program. The children read an average of 40.4 books over the two month period. This is a remarkable achievement, because Glen Robertson is the smallest library in the United Counties. On behalf of the children, Jim Findlayson, librarian at the Glen Robertson Library, accepted the trophy. It was in the form of a Kermit the Frog puppet, wearing a gold winner's medal; a very apt trophy, in view of the fact that the summer reading program theme was 'toads and frogs.' Glen Robertson can be justly proud of the reading skills of its children and we sincerely congratulate them all. Why don't you drop in to see the trophy?

Library hours are 6-9 p.m. on Tuesdays and 2-5 p.m. on Thursdays. Do come in, you will be most welcome.

Birthday greetings go out to Lloyd MacLennan. Hope you have many more even happier.

There will be a UCW meeting Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Glen Sandfield United Church.

* * *

Theee-year-old Beth MacLennan, the youngest rider for Edelweiss Riding Academy won second place in the eight-year-old and under Lead Line Class at the O.A.H.A.'s annual Harvest Special Horse Show, held in Avonmore on Aug. 25. The horse, a half Arabian Gelding, wo's name is Jay is owned by Sue Wallace. It should be noted that Beth has just started to ride in April of this year and has entered three shows, each of which she's won ribbons! Congratulations Beth!

Tamara and Todd Hardtrick have managed to grow a 13 1/2 foot sunflower. Congratulations.

* * *

Recent luncheon visitors with Bessie MacLennan were Joyce Bethune of Regina, Sask., Anna Bethune of Maxville and Edith MacMillan of Alexandria.

Glen Robertson news

Come out to the roof top dance on Sept. 8 in the St. Martin of Tours church hall. The dance is sponsored by the parishioners of the church, and the proceeds will go towards the fund for the new roof on the church. There will be good music and a fine lunch afterwards. The fun begins at 9 p.m. Do try to get down to help your neighbors and friends raise this much needed money. You will all receive a very warm welcome, I know.

Behavioral Science

Huguette McIntee of Glen Robertson graduated from Saint Lawrence College as a behavioral science technician. She was the recipient of the Dean and Faculty Award, the President List award and the Principal List award. She is the proud mother of Manon, Serge, Gerry and the wife of Patrick. She is now employed by the SD&G Separate School Board.

Second quarter payments for tripartite stabilization announced

Second quarter payments for producers enrolled in the National Tripartite Stabilization Programs for hogs, cattle and lambs were announced Aug. 10 by the National Stabilization Committees.

Stabilization payments have been triggered for lambs in the first quarter and slaughter cattle for the month of May. There will be no payment for feeder cattle or hogs.

Producers and both levels of government contribute equally to the stabilization funds.

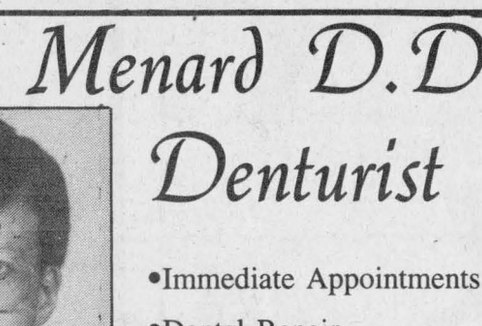
Why do people take college courses on a part-time basis?
For all kinds of reasons!
"I didn't know anything about computers. Now, I'm working towards a Micro-computer Techniques Certificate. When I go looking for a job, I'll be a little better qualified than someone who doesn't have computer training."
Michael Mills
Mike knows that his college training will be an asset to him when he goes job hunting.


But there are many more reasons for studying part-time. And, St. Lawrence College offers the courses you need to meet your objectives. Check the St. Lawrence Fall Continuing Education catalogue NOW. You can pick one up at your local library or at the Registration Centre at ST. LAWRENCE COLLEGE SAINT-LAURENT.

The community was saddened last week in the loss by death of two well known individuals: Margaret McEwen, a retired teacher and widow of Ernest A. died at the Manor at the age of 94 and William G. MacLeod, a retired farmer from Dominionville west died at the age of 91 following an operation for a fractured hip.

We think fondly of them and their contributions to their communities and to the lives of their family members as we offer our sympathy.

Unfortunately, the late Mr. MacLeod's wife, Grace, is a patient in hospital at this time and to her go our special thoughts of sympathy and best wishes for a speedy return to good health.

The name of Roy Calder, a 1990 inductee to the Glengarry Sports' Hall of Fame must be mentioned again. His former teacher, Mrs. D. A. McPhee (nee Fraser) of Vankleek Hill remembers him with fond affection and expected him to grow to be the fine gentleman most of us remember.

Besides celebrating her 90th birthday in Toronto, Ethel McKinnon was honored at a tea at home by her son Don and Mrs. McKinnon. A large number of relatives and friends enjoyed the hospitality of the McKinnons and the delicious refreshments served on Mrs. McKinnon's back lawn.

Grace and Gregor McEwen drove their grandson, David Brown, son of Carol and Bob, home and enjoyed a holiday touring Cape Breton.

Danny Long has returned from a week's holiday in Florida. The trip was a gift from his parents in recognition of his success in school last year.

* * *

Mrs. O. F. Villeneuve was in Peterborough early last week to visit her three Villeneuve sisters-in-law for a couple of days.

* * *

Best wishes and congratulations are extended to Cynthia and Roger Jeaurond, Dyer, on the birth of their son, a brother for Liane.

Susan Hanniman and her daughters, Trina and Stacy from Chapleau were visitors in the area last week and the guests at the David Munro home.

Joan Blaney Chadbourn, Phillip and Tara from Hampton, Virginia were home for a few days with her father Charles Blaney with Phillip staying over for a few extra days.

Susan and Paul Chapman, St. Catharines, were also weekend guests of her father, Mr. Blaney.

A read from the Ridge Road, east of Fournier has reported seeing at least one pair of Sandhill cranes. These large, gray birds with a bald, red forehead have apparently been nesting in the neighboring Alfred Bog. These cranes have been mentioned in the press as foster parents for the rare whooping cranes.

The blue jays can be heard in the village once again. Their arrival coincides with the ripening of the sunflowers which some of us grow. If you wish to save some of these sunflower seeds, now is the time to cover the heads with a net bag.

Catherine McEwen was in Ottawa last week for a few days visiting with Gladys and Gerald MacEwen.

John A. Urquhart had more information for me of the olden days. Dan Robertson who lived in the second house north of Fair Street on Marlborough Street now occupied by the Arthur family, was bailiff and delivered mail on R.R. 1 from 1914-1926. He had a big box which fit on his wagon or sleigh with the letters R.F.D. (Rural Free Delivery) printed on it. Mr. Urquhart took over for three years and received $850 annually for his services. Mr. Urquhart recalled that there were flyers in those days too and that inspectors regularly checked to see that each customer received a flyer.

The Robertson daughters were Alma and the late Kathleen.

Mr. Robertson also operated a foundry on the east side of Marlborough Street (years ago, it was Main Street) in what is now Gary Smith's lot for machinery.

Opposite the foundry was a carding mill operated by Charlie McNaughton and Mr. Urquhart was an employee there. Mr. McNaughton's home, now occupied by the McCuaigs was beside this mill.

A basketball program for boys in Grades 6 and 7 will be offered this fall at Tagwi High School every Monday evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The program will consist of skills, rules and game situational play.

The registration and starting date is Sept. 17 at Tagwi and the season will run from Sept. 17 to June 10. With no previous experience required, this course has proven very beneficial for younger players and Joe Stelmach is to be complimented in giving it. Complete information may be obtained from Mr. Stelmach at 527-2676.

Young-at-Heart Euchre

Last week, the results of this euchre party held every second Monday evening in the Seniors' room in the Anglican Church, showed the names of two new men in the winners' list. Homer Campeau, Alexandria, earned first place and Claude Barkley, Finch, third place. Martin O'Brien, Monkland took second prize.

For the ladies, Onagh Ross, Martintown, had top score, followed by Queen Euchre Gloria Rolland and Rosabel Sauvé, Alexandria.

Gladys Barton, Vankleek Hill, won the door prize while 50-50 draw winners were Evangeline Campeau (twice), from Alexandria, John Lapierre, Martintown, Eldon Cutt, Riceville, Howard Eamon, Morrisburg, Ina Sproule, Monkland, Mr. O'Brien, and local players Grace Doth (twice), Herbie O'Byrne, and Ann Michaud, (twice).

The next euchre will be on Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. in the same hall.

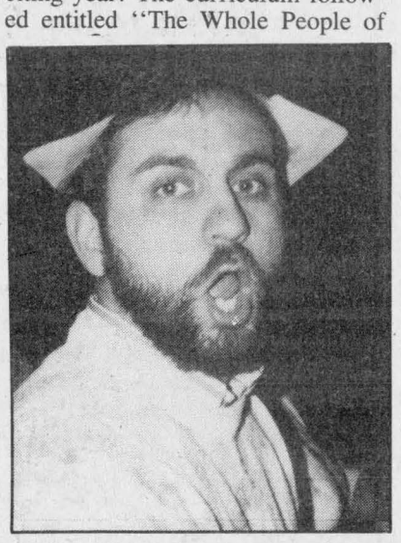
Thanks to the family histories that are available to me, I was able to determine that Peter McNaughton and his visiting brother Alexander from Alberta were uncles of Eb McNaughton Sr. Alexander earned himself awards in the Dominion Rifle Association contest, eighty years ago.

This family of McNaughtons came from south of Dominionville from the farm now operated by the Hector Runions family.

Sixty years ago, local boys enjoyed scout camp. In those days, only surnames were given when even initials would have given better identification. However, I appeal to all to use first names instead of initials when naming individuals.

The Scout master was Bill Sutherland who taught school here and later became a minister. I will do my best with first names — Bernard Madden, Fred Lagroix, John Willie or Donald Grant, Tommy Miller, one of Frank Boisvenue's sons and Ben or George Jackson. The Wolf Cub would have been Francis Fyke.



Guess who was 32 on Labor Day?
Happy birthday!

The fabric of Williamstown has been inexorably changed

Williamstown
Sue Harrington
347-2279

School's in for winter! The back to books parade passed my window Tuesday, and without a doubt, provided more entertainment than many a movie I've seen recently.

The spring in the step of the student, newly shoed in Nike Airs, had less to do with the magic, bouncing qualities of his footwear than with the anticipation of seeing his old friends again and showing them his shoes.

The first-timers passed with a menagerie of relatives ''showing them the ropes,'' and, in all likelihood, embarrassing them to death.

Safety conscious mothers outfitted their young ones in flashing neon everythings — from shoelaces to bookbags — in the hopes that should the children not notice cars bearing down upon them, the drivers would at least notice the children's exotic plumage and be able to preserve them.

Meanwhile, over in the Char-Lan parking lot, a crowd formed around Jeff Lapierre's new car, a beauty purchased in the summer months and pawed and poured over by the less fortunate, or the more spendthrifty.

Back in their little nests at home, the mothers of college fledglings mourned their loss and wondered how they could possibly feel the way they did.

School has started again, and as a result the fabric of Williamstown has been inexorably changed.

Not all Williamstown scholars have chosen the traditional route this year in their back to school destinations. Instead of teaching biology at his CEGEP in Montreal, Bill Fielding has headed to Kingston where he will attend MacArthur College of Education.

* * *

Mary Foster, she of the White River adventure, leaves for Istanbul this Saturday, where she will spend the next year teaching English to students at the Ozel Ahmet Simsle Koleji, a private Turkish school for children aged 11 to 16.

Best of luck, Mary!

Three very successful students have headed back to their universities. Susan Edwards is entering her final year in the Faculty of Commerce at McGill, having been named a Faculty Scholar last season — standing in the top 10 per cent!

Monique Beaudin returns to Carleton, where she will be the national affairs editor of the university's newspaper. And Richard Stanton, also at Carleton, will spend this year as the President of the Residence Association.

Bucking the back-to-school trend, Zak Harrington took off Labor Day for a visit to Great Britain — to London and Fort William.

During his stay, Zak will visit with his grandfather, Ken Harrington, and all his English relatives.

I just hope he uses his return ticket on Sept. 18!

Visiting Paris recently, and returning, were Norma and Marcel Baumet.

I hear that Marcel is becoming quite a chef with his instruction at the Cordon Bleu school. Wonder what the menu will be at St. Andrew's Church supper this fall? Eclairs? Napoleons? Profiteroles?

The Williamstown Public Library Reading Club held its end of the season party on Aug. 29 to honor the 26 local children who passed at least part of their summer holidays with their noses in books.

Josée Giroux was the top reader this year, digesting 85 volumes before the summer ended. Julia Winkiewicz was second with 79 titles after her name, while Nara Anderson's 42 books netted her third prize in the junior section.

Jesse Winkiewicz topped the intermediate division. Jean-Normand Giroux was second and Megan Sloan, third.

First in the senior category went to Kelly Winkiewicz. Grant Cumming placed second, and Ariana Winn, third.

Also participating in this summer program were Michael Johnson, Katie Cumming, Sarah McDonald, Johnson Cumming, Michel Giroux, Frank Hodgson, Jordan Lafave, Kalyn Sloan, Jesse Lafave, Tim Hodgson, Toni Achilles, Margaret Winn, Christine Sloan, Patrick Sloan, Justin King-Bougie, Simon Harrington, and Patrick Elsey.

Congratulations to you all!

Congratulations, too, to Shirley and Paul Bougie on the arrival of their new baby girl, Natalie, who was born on Aug. 20.

Weighing in at eight lbs. 12 ozs., Natalie is a very welcome addition for her two big brothers.

September start-ups are filling our calendar spaces faster than dentists our teeth these days.

Scouts, Beavers, and Cubs registration night will be on Tuesday, Sept. 11 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall in South Lancaster.

All boys in the Williamstown area are invited to join the packs. Of special interest this year is the return of the scout group, after an absence of several years. It will be led by Williamstown's Alan Rose.

The look on the face of Dominic Stones said it all. Surprise! ''Why me?'' asked Dominic in total bewilderment.

The occasion was in honor of Dominic's 21st birthday party, which, to add a little twist to things, does not take place until sometime later in the fall, and which poor Dom will be forced to spend bereft of family and Williamstown friends in Wolfville, N.S.

In order for him to be able to celebrate in the manner befitting one who has come of age, a surprise party was held Aug. 30 at the home of Mac and Carol Edwards and was attended by his former schoolmates and family friends.

And believe you me, if you really and truly want someone to be surprised at a party, don't hold it anytime near the event you are celebrating. It works every time!

There's a new theatre group in the area. Called the Trapdoor Theatre, it has been formed by a number of big names in the local theatre scene and is presenting a play called ''Twice around the park,'' by Murray Schisgal.

The play is being presented at Transport Canada Training Institute, and has already had two performances. It resumes again this Friday and Saturday nights.

Local contact person is Kitty Munro, who just happens to be the stage manager. For more information, give her a ring.

Speaking of plays, Joan MacDonald has recently returned from Stratford, Ontario where she took in some rather unorthodox productions of ''Julius Caesar'' and ''As you like it,'' complete with costuming which wove in and out through the ages.

Although Joan said it took some getting used to — seeing Roman soldiers wearing purple spandex pants under their leather jerkins, she enjoyed the plays immensely.

Speaking of politicians, I hope that each and every one of you is able to get to the polls on Thursday to vote for your choice of candidates.

We certainly can't accuse Charlottenburgh politicians of being apathetic, so let us see some heavy voter turnouts as well.

Good luck to our two locals, Don Kannon and Carol-Ann Ross, who have both had the courage to stand where others have feared to tread!

The annual meeting of the South Glengarry Cancer Society will take place at the Community Centre in Lancaster on Sept. 10 at 8:15 p.m. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Williamstown welcomes Lorraine Hoyland and her daughter Charlotte, who have moved into the house previously occupied by Carol Beamer on library lane.

Martintown holds annual flower show

The 25th Annual Martintown & District Flower Show began on Tues., Aug. 14, with Florence Gunthier of Cornwall, judging 34 entries in the lawns, flower beds and window box classes.

Top Honors went to: farm lawn — first Ewen and Colleen Kennedy and second Campbell and Alison Murray; country lawn — first Linden Urquhart and second Corrie and Jo Van Loon; village lawns — first Charlotte Sanson and second John and Elizabeth Peters; novice lawn — first Jim and Shirley Palmer and second Wilfred and Gladys Seguin; flower bed — first Elizabeth Peters and second Linden Urquhart; and window box — first Sylvia Thomson and second Linden Urquhart.

The show then continued on Thursday, Aug. 16 at the Martintown Recreation Centre, when 30 adult and 12 junior exhibitors presented 428 exhibits to Judge Jean Deverell from L'Orignal. Sadie O'Keefe and Elizabeth Peters tied for top points of the day. Monique Quenneville took second place. Taking top prize as our newest exhibitor was Linda Brunet.

A special class of Flower Arrangement depicting our 25th Anniversary was won by Monique Quenneville. First for vegetable tray was won by Alison Murray and first for hanging basket went to Onagh Ross.

Our juniors showed much originality and talent in their creature and centrepiece classes. They presented the judge with 89 exhibits. Winning top prize in the Junior Group was Devon Murray and for the Senior Group was Clayton Delaney. The Junior Groups had their gardens judged on Wednesday, Aug. 15 by Eugene Kyer. Top garden was won by Devon Murray. Their leader was Karen Kinlock.

An open house was held for the public to view the exhibits. Four mastergardeners from Vankleek Hill were on hand to help solve any gardening problems and to give helpful hints.

The president, Jo Van Loon, welcomed everyone and relayed some suggestions the judge had given on how to improve our show. Pearl Murray, show chairperson, thanked the members for their excellent job in presenting their exhibits and handed out the special awards to the adult exhibitors. Karen Kinlock presented the juniors with their prizes. Onagh Ross was in charge of the door prize draws. Winners were: Mrs. Rolande Laurendeau, Mrs. Ken Carter, Susan Murray, Eleanor McPhadden, Douglas Murray and Robert Humble.

The next meeting is Sept. 5 at the Martintown Recreation Centre at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Laggan wins senior ladies title

Veteran players for Laggan soccer club surely had to be wondering if it was really meant to be.

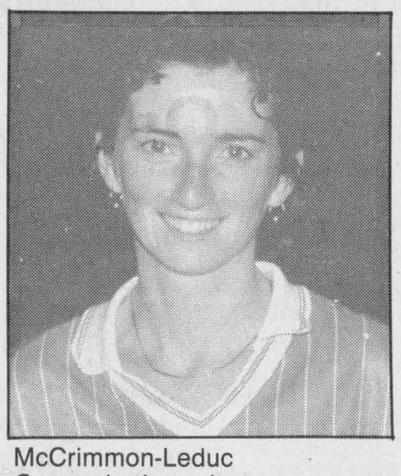
After all, the winningest team in the Glengarry Soccer League senior ladies division in recent years has had its share of heartbreak playoff losses over that time period.

Like last year, when it finished in first place during the regular season but was eliminated by fourth-place Dunvegan, in overtime, in the third and final game of the opening playoff round.

Then there was the 1988 final against Glen Sandfield, which won the last two games of the series against Laggan in sudden death overtime to capture the championship.

And just a week ago, upstart Alexandria B records a stirring five-overtime period victory in game four rallying from a late deficit when Laggan looked all but assured of capturing the trophy. It's happening all over again...

But Laggan put past disapointments behind them Wednesday, returning to the promised land of a playoff championship for the first time since 1987 with a 2-1 win in decisive game five at Lochiel. Laggan wins the series three games to two.



McCrimmon-Leduc
Scores both goals

Early on, the title match was a carbon copy of game four. As was the pattern for most of the series, Laggan went on the offensive early, owning a wide territorial advantage, and the first two goals of the contest. They opened the scoring in the first half when a corner kick taken by Sharon MacMillan was directed in by Mary McCrimmon-Leduc.

Not that Alexandria B went without scoring opportunities, but when they had them — two of note came early in the second half — Laggan's second last line of defence, namely Henrietta MacSweyn and Ann MacMillan, was able to outrace the speedy Alexandria forwards and boot the ball back to netminder Colleen Kennedy.

Laggan got its insurance marker — which ended up being the game-winning goal — 15 minutes into the second period when Bonnie MacLeod passed in front to McCrimmon-Leduc who netted her second marker with a 20-yard drive to the left corner.

But just as it did two nights earlier, Alexandria rallied, relying on its quick strike offensive capabilities. When it appeared B's were all out of miracle comebacks, they attempted, and just fell short on, a final one.

A sideline rush by Heather Campbell, who collided with a charging Kennedy, culminated with Alexandria B striker Kelly Lavigueur scoring into the Laggan net and narrowing the gap to 2-1 with 15 minutes remaining.

With five minutes left and Alexandria B pushing for the equalizer, a wild Laggan goal mouth scramble concluded with a shot being fired just wide.

The contest ended when an Alexandria B corner kick was cleared from the Laggan zone.

Char-Lan upsets St. Andrews, weekend reunion attracts originals

The 1990 version of the Char-Lan United Soccer Club served up a memorable present on the weekend the team held its 20th anniversary reunion.

Char-Lan United scored a 4-2 overtime shootout win over St. Andrews Saints Monday afternoon in Cornwall to capture its first Cornwall and District Soccer League First Division championship since 1979.

The win ended Saints eight-year reign as Cornwall league first division champs.

The one-game final was played at General Vanier High School.

Tied at 1-1 after regulation time and two 10-minute overtime sessions, Char-Lan got penalty shot goals from Lawrence Cayer, Phil Poitras and Eddy "The Eagle" Swerdfegger.

St. Andrews, gunning for its ninth straight championship, scored first, late in the first half. Pat Clarke tied it 1-1 two minutes later scoring on a penalty shot.

Saints had a golden opportunity to win in the first overtime period, but Ed DeWitt's penalty shot attempt sailed over the Char-Lan net.

Char-Lan United team awards were presented after the game. Team captain Chris Smith was selected most valuable player, and goalie Dan O'Flaherty was named most improved player. The team is coached by Taffy Pye.

Reunion held Saturday

The team's 20th anniversary reunion held Saturday in Williamstown was a success, with nine of the 14 originals with the 1970 team on hand for the event.

They were: Robbie MacLachlan, Rudi Payer, Bob Blackadder, Don Blackadder, Doug Fraser, Don Kannon, Glen Major, Jean Tessier and Gary O'Connell.

Mark Gareau, convenor of Reunion 1990, was the recipient of the Char-Lan United Hall of Fame plaque. Ewen MacDonald was the winner of the President's Trophy.

Both awards are for service to the club and to soccer in general.

Dunvegan leads 2-0

BMR Dunvegan has closed to within a game of the Glengarry Slow-Pitch League playoff championship, taking a 2-0 lead in its best-of-five series against Labelle with an exciting 7-6 win Sunday.

And for the second straight week, a late comeback was the difference. BMR trailed 6-5, but batting in the sixth inning, they got runs from Lionel Quenneville and Claude Cleroux to take a 7-6 lead. Quenneville scored twice in the contest, with single runs notched by Marc Duval, Eddy MacDonald, Mario Quenneville, and Randy Cousineau.

Pascal Lefebvre had two of the Labelle runs. Serge Bellefeuille, Mike Gauthier, Marc Hurtubise and Frank St. Pierre also scored. Game three goes Sunday at 10 a.m.

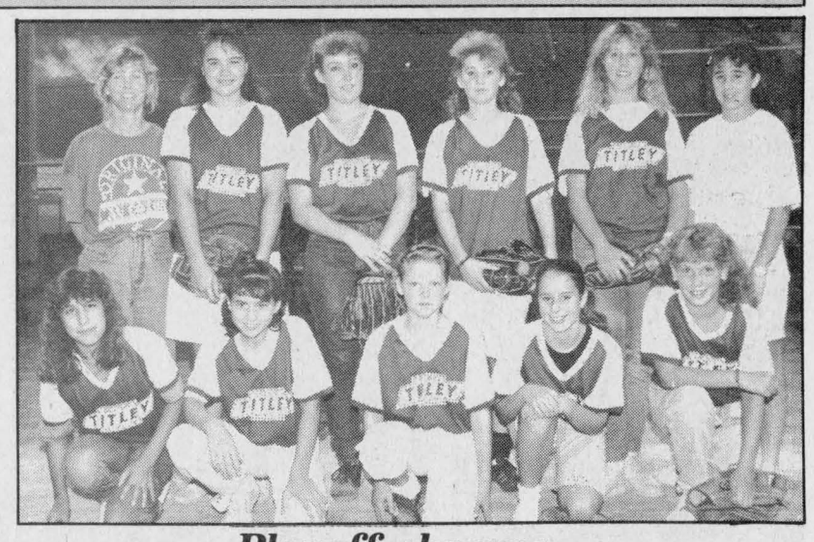
B&B Market won the one-game consolation final by default.

Beaupre takes lead

Beaupre Construction has taken a 1-0 lead in its Alexandria Weeknight Softball League best-of-five championship series against Chico and Jo Trophies, scoring a 23-13 win Monday.

The series continues Thursday night. Beaupre Construction advanced to the final with a game five 8-6 semifinal win last Thursday over Alexandria Legion.

The consolation final also got underway Monday, with Alexandria Fire Department recording a 17-13 win over Alexandria Moulding. Alexandria Moulding held a 13-8 advantage until Alexandria Fire Department roared back taking the lead with an eight-run sixth inning.



Playoff champs

Titley Motors won the Alexandria Young Ladies Softball League playoff championship last Monday with a 9-8, extra inning win over Canadian Tire. Triumphant team members are, in the front row from the left, Cherrylene Campeau, Joanne St. Denis, Gwen Tuppert, Lyne Deguire, and Renee Dubois. In the back is Anne Tuppert (coach), Nicole St. Denis, Tina Robinson, Shane Tuppert, Jennifer Dubois and Sylvette Decoste (assistant coach). The league is for players between the ages of 11 and 15. League organizer Tuppert is hoping to have two leagues next year, one for players 11-14, and for those 15- 17.

Champions retains hockey crown

For most of the eighties, players on Champions Roadhouse looked on from the opposition bench as Roy's Express fashioned a dynasty unmatched in the Alexandria Men's Ball Hockey League.

Now, Champions Roadhouse may be on the verge of establishing a dynasty of its own.

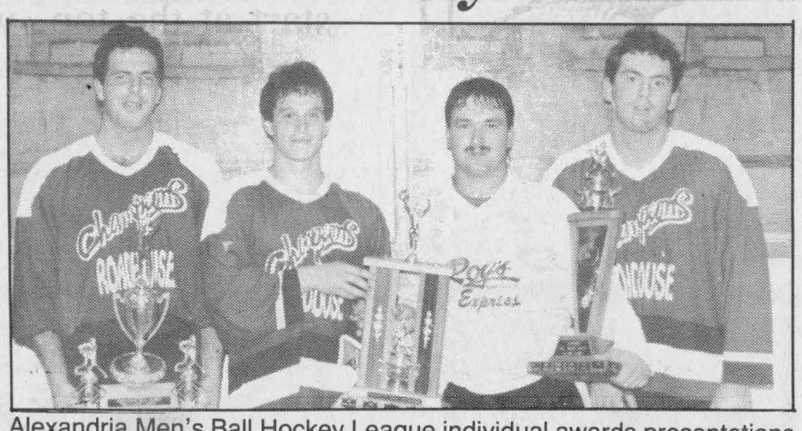
Champions (formerly Dalhousie Chez Paul) won its second consecutive playoff championship Tuesday (Aug. 28), defeating Express 3-1. It wins the best-of-five series three games to one.

Champions broke out in front 1-0 when Jean-Luc Menard scored on a slapshot blast from the point late in the first period.

They went ahead 2-0 early in the second period. Centreman Andy Meth drew an assist on the marker, winning the faceoff deep in the Express end and passing over to winger Daryl Menard who whirled around and fired a bullet from the high slot into the top corner past goaltender Guy Quesnel.

Three minutes later, Andy McRae's low slapshot drive from the top of the circle found the corner of the net and put his team ahead 3-0.

Express came to life in the third period and finally got on the scoreboard with five minutes left when defenceman Marc Just fooled Champions goaltender Claude Gallant with a long slapshot goal.



Alexandria Men's Ball Hockey League individual awards presentations were made last Tuesday night after the final game between Roy's Express and Champions Roadhouse. Players from the two clubs swept the major awards. Trophy winners are, from the left, Blake Hambleton (playoff most valuable player), Andy Meth (regular season top scorer), Guy Quesnel (top goaler) and Todd Hambleton (top defenceman). Not pictured is Frank St. Pierre of Express, voted most sportsmanlike player in the league.

But with Express swarming the Champions zone, Gallant came up with his biggest stop of the series two minutes later, sliding across the crease to rob Luc Sabourin at point blank range and preserve the two-goal lead.

Champions took a two games to one series lead winning 6-3 a week ago. The club's split the first two contests, with each team winning once in overtime.

Champions captured its first league title a year ago winning a hard-fought five game series that ended Express' streak of seven consecutive playoff championships.

Awards presented

Champions' left winger Blake Hambleton was selected playoff most valuable player. Hambleton had five goals and three assists in the championship series, edging out last years

Rebels opening camp

The Char-Lan Rebels junior B hockey team will open its training camp this Saturday with a dry-land session beginning at 11 a.m. at Char-Lan District High School.

All players wishing to try out for the team are invited. The club's first on-ice session is Thursday, Sept. 13 at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre. Players wishing to attend the 8 p.m. skate should contact Rebels coach Randy Larocque at 347-3221, or team president John Chafee, at 347-3650.

About 40 players are expected to attend the camp.

League needs players

The Glengarry Border Hockey League will be holding a player draft once again this year.

League organizer Jim McDonell says the draft has been tentatively scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 20 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

To be elgible for the draft, players must first send a cheque to McDonell, at RR1 Williamstown Box 7700, for $150.00. Players are also asked to indicate their position.

Locals spreading the word

Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

It's definitely team week around here with playoff championships being knocked off at a torrid clip, and two of the winning clubs deserve special mention — their feats are often overlooked.

They are Glengarry's soccer ambassadors, if you will, spreading the word of this county's dominance in the sport throughout the region and across the province.

Dominance is the key word as far as the Glengarry Junior Farmers Mixed Soccer Team is concerned. The club recently won its 11th provincial title in the last 13 years, competing Aug. 18 in Kemptville at the annual Junior Farmers Provincial Summer Games.

Last year they actually struggled in the final before winning one of their toughest games in years in an overtime shootout. This time it was business as usual, with the club sweeping past its opponents in two games played.

Why all those championships? It's pretty simple. "We've got a lot of good soccer players in the county and all the players we sign up play in the Glengarry Soccer League," team organizer Millan MacPherson said.

The Glengarry team's trump card is the skills its female players posess. In junior farmers competition, there must be at least four female players on the pitch at all times. While other teams sometimes put their female players out on the wings — "it's almost like they're trying to keep them out of the play and out of the way," MacPherson says — Glengarry's girls often occupy the key strategical positions on defence, the half and up front. "It hurts the other teams when they keep their female players out of the action," MacPherson said. "It's almost like they're playing shorthanded.

"Our girls really make the difference out there — they're involved in the play."

Then there's the Heart of Glengarry ladies team, which just last week won its third straight Cornwall and District Soccer League playoff championship.

The team has only been in the league, which is one of the top calibre female divisions in the region, for four years. They've manhandled the competition — which includes teams from Cornwall, Morrisburg, Embrun and other Eastern Ontario locales — during the regular season too, winning the Knockout Cup challenge three times.

Quite something, considering all of the players for Hearts compete in the Glengarry Soccer League and the Cornwall league is only a secondary concern. "It's hard to play in both," said player and former team organizer Ann McMillan. "The Cornwall league is fairly rough and not too many players want to risk getting hurt for the Glengarry league."

But enough talented players have signed up each year for Hearts to make sure the trophy spends the off-season inside Glengarry borders.

Alexandria's Laurent Ladouceur rallies for track points championship

Most of the fans Sunday at the Cornwall Motor Speedway were on their feet, as the Player's Ltd. Classic turned out to be just that — one of the most exciting races this season.

Kingston's Doug "The Ox" Carlyle (earlier voted the track's most popular driver) won the 50-lap Modified feature, but there were two bigger victors on the evening.

Rookie driver Dave Camara was one of them. Camara, from Poultney, Vermont, finished fifth in the race, but earned a spot in Syracuse in the process.

The top four finishers — Carlyle, Alexandria's Ovide Doiron (second), Alexandria's Laurent Ladouceur and fourth-place finisher Danny O'Brien — had already qualified for Syracuse, giving Camara a coveted spot in the race.

There was an even bigger winner than Camara, however, and that was Ladouceur. Ladouceur made DIRT history on the evening, becoming the first driver to win three track championships in one year.

Having already clinched track championships at Edelweiss and Can-Am, Ladouceur captured the points crown at Cornwall Motor Speedway for the 1990 season, placing third Sunday.

Ladouceur entered the race trailing Kingston's Pat O'Brien by 17 points in track championship standings. After each driver won their respective heats, O'Brien clung to his 17-point cushion, and Ladouceur's chances of usurping the track crown seemed slim.

They worsened before the race even began, as Ladouceur had to start from the rear after going to the pits, to blow up a tire, during driver introductions.

Ladouceur worked his way to the middle of the pack, but O'Brien was comfortably in second spot behind Carlyle. O'Brien saw his track championship slip away, however, when he blew his engine on lap 35.

Ladouceur was in fifth at that point, but he needed to place third in order to overtake O'Brien. Ladouceur duelled with O'Brien's younger brother Danny for third position, finally overtaking him for good on lap 49.

Ladouceur was also aided by Rick Wilson's breakdown on lap 45, eliminating him from the race. Wilson, of Kingston, was third at the time.

The race was one of eight events in the Mr. D.I.R.T. series.

Modified heats were won by Cornwall's Pierre Bissonnette, Carlyle, Ladouceur and Pat O'Brien.

Bill Mullin of Morrisburg won the semi-pro feature, with Akwesasne's Bill Benedict in second and Mario St. Pierre of Crysler coming in third.

The Semi-Pro championship at the speedway went to Guy Brisson of St. Albert.

In the Duke Stock feature, Leon Delormier of Cornwall Island captured the checkered flag.

Next week is a special 2 p.m. start at the speedway. The event is the Coca- Cola Classic, another Syracuse qualifier. The race features a 50-lap Modified feature.

John Wensink is one of six athletes to be inducted into the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame on September 12. See In the Glens, page 4, for commentary.

Laggan bantam girls capture GSL trophy

Wednesday was quite a night for Laggan ladies soccer. About a half hour before the seniors won the championship, Laggan bantam girls brought down the curtain on the minor league season with an upset win over Alexandria.

They beat their arch rivals 2-1 to win the six-point playoff final series 6-2.

Lisa Poirier's goal had given Alexandria a 1-0 lead, but Laggan rallied with the next two markers. Josee MacLennan tied the game, and Carolyn McIntosh netted the game-winner.

Border League series tied one game apiece

The Border Slo-Pitch League playoff final could be wrapped up tonight (Wednesday) in Williamstown. Game four in the best-of-five championship series between Glen Gordon and Williamstown gets underway at 7:15 p.m.

The teams split the opening games in the series last week. Glen Gordon needed an extra inning to post a 7-6 win Tuesday; Williamstown got even the next night with a 13-3 decision.

The third game was played last night (Tuesday).

If a fifth and deciding game is necessary, it will be played Tues day

Roy's wins mixed novice league playoff final

Roy's Pontiac Buick Cadillac won the Alexandria Novice Mixed Softball League playoff final Tuesday (Aug. 21), completing a two-game championship series sweep of Shepherd Motors with a 9-4 win.

Greg Lalonde and Pascal Decoeur each scored a pair of runs for the winners. Lynn Legault, Lee Leblanc, Roch Gauthier, Paul Sims and Michel Leo Quesnel crossed home with single runs.

Roy's took game one of the best-of-three series by an 8-7 final score.

Alexandria Police won the consolation final, winning in two straight games over M&D Sports. Eric Nielsen and Scott Nielsen each scored three times pacing Alexandria Police to a 16-15 game one win.

Alexandria Police wrapped up the series with a 16-6 win in game two. Eric Nielsen scored three runs in the contest. Scoring twice each was Jason Vickers, Ryan Nielsen, Jason Poirier, Jonathan Hamelin, Scott Nielsen and Jimmy Bray. Jonathan Wylie scored their other run.

Champions Roadhouse and Titley Auto to square off in final

It'll be Champions Roadhouse against Titley Chev-Olds for the 1990 Glengarry Golf and Country Club's Men's Twilight League championship tonight (Wednesday) in Alexandria.

Regular season play wound up last Wednesday. Final Glen Division standings are as follows: Champions Roadhouse (54 points, -190), Alexandria Moulding (50.5 points, -154), Burger House (44.5 points, -124), Guindon Tires (37 points,-82), Atlantic Hotel (24 points, +69).

Garry Division standings are as follows: Titley Chev-Olds (51 points, - 149), Glengarry Windows and Doors (43 points, -135), Dick's Paving Stone (41 points, -93), Roy's Pontiac Buick (39.5 points, -119), Gerry Deguire Plumbing (35.5 points, -46).

With one week left, most valuable player standings are as follows: First, Mike MacLennan (-19); second, Roch Menard (-18), third, Tor Denward (-16); fourth (tie), Yvan Flaro and Michel Lefebvre (-15).

Roy's Garage holds slim lead over Lanthier Bakery

Roy's Garage holds a slim lead over Lanthier's Bakery in Glengarry Golf and Country Club Ladies Twilight League action. Roy's has 42.5 points, Lanthier's stands at 39.5 points. Caisse Populaire is third (39), Royal Bank is fourth (30.5) and Masson Insurance is in fifth (28.5).

Low gross honors Tuesday went to Mildred Mutchler (45) while Dorothy Derry's 51 was low net score. Low nets per team are as follows: Lanthier's Bakery: Marie Laure Noseworthy (32); Masson Insurance: Sheila Pickett (31); Roy's Garage: Olive Chenier Richer (29); Caisse Populaire: Hazel Barker and Rhea Lemieux (32); Royal Bank: Thelma Coulbourne (30).

Low putt winners were Germaine Lalonde and Stephanie Chopp. Chip-in winners were Mary Harker and Mary Nixon.

Winner of the 50-50 draw was Betty Campbell.

MacDonell named Ontario Special Olympic exec director

Glengarry County native Glenn MacDonell has been named the executive director of the Ontario Special Olympics. MacDonell, under the direction of the president, will be responsible for the implementation and administration of the finances, policies and programs established by the board of directors.

The recent appointment means a move for MacDonell and his wife Lois and sons Tyler and Coady from Smiths Falls to the Toronto area.

MacDonell got involved with Special Olympics when the first Winter Games were held in Smiths Falls in 1981.

Senior champs

Award winners selected

MVP Andy McRae.

Two awards were voted on by the teams. Roy's Frank St. Pierre, the regular season top scorer a year ago, walked away with the sportsmanship award this time around. Champions' Todd Hambleton was selected top defenceman

The awards presented by the league go to Andy Meth of Champions (regular season top scorer) and Express goalie Guy Quesnel (regular season top netminder). Meth compiled 51 points (24 goals, 27 assists), while Quesnel led the league with a 2.44 goals against average.

League president Darrell Lewis says it's been another successful season. He says the cooperation of players (there were 125 of them this year), team reps, referees and time keepers helped to insure that everything ran smoothly.

Versatile Sauvé to be inducted into Glengarry Sports Hall

Inside page profile

By Angus H. McDonell

Rating among the great Glengarry versatile athletes of any era is Alexandria's Maurice Sauvé. His career in the realm of several sports began as a farm school boy playing bantam hockey away back when the parish priest of Glengarry, as he was popularly known, Father Gauthier, was rector of St. Alexander's Lochiel parish and Maurice's father, Adelard Sauvé, was considering that an income in the field or real estate would be greater than farm fields at Fassifern.

Son of Adelard Sauvé and his wife the former Rosabelle St. Pierre, Maurice has been selected by his peeres as a worthy candidate to be enshrined in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame and he will be inducted next Wednesday, Sept. 12, at the annual dinner following the formal ribbon cutting ritual declaring the opening of the new hall building.

From minor hockey and still only 15, Maurice Sauvé displayed soccer skills with ruggedness that impressed the management of the Lochiel club to sign this promising teenager. This was a wise move. Maurice played as a regular with Lochiel in the Glengarry Soccer League for the next 18 years.

Summer's gruelling soccer play was ideal conditioning for Maurice to participate in Glengarry District high school athletics. He was among the pillars of the Gaels in school football and found time to be a leader in track and field competitions. Maurice Sauvé set a 44 foot, 10 inches, 12 lb. shot putt record, shared with John Tkachenko, that still stands during the past 29 years. That year at the Glengarry Highland Games heavy events Maurice added to his laurels placing second in the caber toss. All the while, he has continued to play tennis.

And what, one may wonder, did Maurice do in the winter season? Ten miles, racing pace, cross country skiing nearly every day. This led to competitive racing and in again a gruelling sport, Maurice won the Alexandria X-C ski race loppet once and finished second in two other races. He also completed several X-C races and then moved up to the top class, the 55 km, participating in the Gatineau 55 World Loppet and the 50 km Montebello cross country ski race.

When Maurice retired from soccer, his former high school football coach, Stanley Fraser, knowing his natural talent, invited Maurice to team with him in the Raisin River spring canoe race. Old friend Stanley we will wager, never dreamed that his challenge would be the launching of Maurice Sauvé into a career of canoe racing that will last longer than the shot putt record.

In our interview with Maurice, he stated: ''After my initial race with Stanley I really got serious with my entry into canoe racing.''

The following in sequence are the records of Maurice Sauvé's canoe racing with his partners at the time: in 1980 he won the Raisin River race with Tom Bryson; in 1981 a repeat with Maurice Deguire; 1982 and 1983 were firsts with Pierre Pinard; 1984 and '85 saw third and second respectively with Bruno Major; in 1986 he came first with Bruno Major and in 1987 he lost first by two seconds with teammate Bruno.

Maurice won the Ontario Masters solo championship each year from 1984 to '88 and finished second in 1989 and '90. In the Canadian Masters Solo championships Maurice was third and fourth in his two entries.

In the doubles, Maurice, teamed with Williamstown's Bruno Major, won the Ontario Masters championship three times; they finished second in two other races in this class; third in 1988 and fourth, in '89 all with Bruno Major.

In 1987 he came first in the North Bay 40 mile canoe race again with Bruno. Sauvé won several masters solo races in N.Y. state during the 1980's, and completed the longest canoe race in the world five times, 125 miles in three days ''La Classique International de Canot'' at Trois Rivieres.

In the last three years, Maurice completed the 70 mile ''General Clinton'' canoe race at Cooperstown, N.Y. in the average time of nine hours.

Despite the time consuming canoe racing activities during the past 10 years and his professional association with his father and colleagues at Sauvé Real Estate, Maurice is a genuine sportsman as evidenced by his organization and leadership in the interests of the community.

Maurice was the founder of the Alexandria Cross Country ski loppet, several canoe races in Alexandria, also triathlons, tennis tournaments and the Terry Fox canoe flotilla.

Maurice Sauvé will truly be the enshrinement of a versatile athlete in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame, one week from tonight.

Art Benton advances to championship finals, BMR takes consolation division lead

Art Benton has moved on to the Alexandria Ladies Softball League A division finals after beating ABS 6-3 Tuesday night at the Island Park.

This game was continued from August 15, when it had to be stopped due to rain. ABS was leading 3-2 after 2½ innings when the game was resumed on Tuesday. ABS couldn't regain momentum. Art Benton scored four more runs winning the game 6-3 and the series 2-0.

Pam MacCulloch hit a single and a double with two RBI while Helene Brossoit went three for three with one RBI.

For ABS, Nathalie Dupelle and Diane Lalonde each had one RBI.

A finals

Art Benton suffered its first defeat this year when Caisse Populaire topped them 11-7 Wednesday night in the first game of the A division finals.

There was superb hitting for the Caisse Populaire team, but the following girls led the way: Carol Oetelaar with four RBI, Joanne Lauzon with two RBI and Sylvie Menard who went three for four with one RBI.

Art Benton's Colleen Lacroix batted in three runs. Marjorie Massia hit a single, a triple and had two RBI.

B finals

BMR won the first game in the B division finals Tuesday night when they beat Roy's Garage 12-8. Even though Roy's were ahead 3-2 after two innings, BMR stayed on their toes, marking two points for every one Roy's scored, winning what ended up being a very exciting game.

Louise Sommers of BMR led the way when she went three for three on a double, two singles and four RBI. Sue Decoste followed with an impressive three RBI.

For Roy's, Janice MacLennan scored three runs and one RBI. Glenys Barlett and Jackie Prieur crossed the plate twice.

After suffering Tuesday's loss, Roy's Garage came back on Wednesday night clobbering BMR 21-6. Roy's controlled the game both defensively and offensively. Their super hitting was led by Jackie Prieur's single, three doubles and five RBI, followed by Glenys Barlett's double and four RBI. Sue Sauve and Janice MacLennan both got two RBI.

BMR's Denise Delorme batted in two RBI. Suzie Decoeur, Linda Menard and Cindy Reiley got one RBI each.

The playoffs resume this week with Caisse Populaire leading Art Benton 1-0 games in the A division finals.

Hockey schools signal start of another season on skates

By Margie Laferriere

Yes, another hockey season is arriving and in some cases it has already begun, in the form of hockey school.

To appreciate the value of close to home expertise, five schools have been visited during the month of August. They include the upcoming fall program of the 10th annual Glengarry Hockey School directed by Gilles Joanette, the Huron Hockey School in Cornwall, directed by Marc Crawford (head coach for the Cornwall Royals Jr. A), the Power Skating and Conditioning School, directed by Rick Ladouceur (Ottawa and District Hockey Association Program Co-ordinator), the Hawkesbury Hockey School, directed by Jacques Martin (Assistant Coach for the Quebec Nordiques) and the "ELITE" Hockey School, directed by Richard Houle.

This fall, beginning Sept. 16, the 10th annual Glengarry Hockey School (incorporated with the Alexandria & District Minor Hockey Association), directed by Gilles Joanette of Glen Robertson, will operate for four weeks of 1½ hours of ice time — three times per week of intense fundamentals on skating, stick handling and shooting. The program features four levels consisting of 4-7 year-olds, 8-10, 11-13 and an elite 14-17 category with qualified instructors and coaches from travelling teams.

The school will be considering having prizes for the participants with heart as well as for the talented players. "I need to motivate and keep upgraded with the youngsters, they learn very fast and I must present programs to prevent them from becoming bored," says Joanette.

The Alexandria and District Minor Hockey Association plays a major role in the Glengarry Hockey School, by enabling the school to run under their insurance policy. "The fact that 99.9% of the participants play in the ADMHA, the association agreed to incorporate to help cut the costs for the participants so they can take part in such a school and for those purposes only," says Mike Boisvenue, past president and active member of the ADMHA.

The school also has an old-timers program which began last year and which threatens to be moved to St. Isidore, due to the interest of participants in that area. "In St. Isidore, there is a six team league and they would like conditioning before they begin the season and therefore the program could move to compliment the majority," says Joanette.

This year the school will be expanding with a women's program. Joanette is hoping to have at least 20 participants; with the program consisting of four sessions of 90 minutes with the last session being a game.

The school has proven to be beneficial training for participants who take their hockey seriously and have a good time. Registration for the school is open for boys and girls between the ages 4-17 and forms may be picked up at Shepherds Sport Shop or M&D Boisvenue Sport. The forms cost 50 cents per player.

To be eligible to register for the following summer hockey programs, boys and girls are selected through direct mail or by word of mouth.

"While joining a summer hockey school program does not present a problem nowadays, the selection of an improvement oriented program is much more difficult," says Richard Houle, director of the Elite program held in Hawkesbury from July 21 to August 19.

To excell in hockey, emphasis on skating is an important priority. "I decided to co-ordinate a hockey school six years ago, due to the need. I would see parents trying to teach their youngsters how to skate and it just was a natural response of mine to originate a school of my own," said Houle, who played hockey in the Quebec Major League and was drafted to play for the Detroit Red Wings.

The Elite program consists of 15 separate on-ice training sessions in a five weekend period of three hours per weekend under the supervision of qualified instructors. The program strives to give the young hockey player the opportunity to learn and improve his/her ability through an intensive specialized hockey and skating training program with emphasis on the basics and techniques of skating, stick handling and positional play.

The main objective of each school is to compliment the needs of the participants by promoting competent instructors, varied schedules, low student/instructor ratio, supervision on and off the ice and good meals.

"The main priority is to let the kids have fun and meet with NHL players; I believe scouting is for the older participants," says Yvon Decaire, administrator of the Hawkesbury Hockey School, directed by Jacques Martin formerly of Vars and who before branching out on his own, instructed for a number of years with the Huron Hockey School.

The Hawkesbury day-school/residential program has been operating for the past nine years and began with the need to assist players to advance in the sport. The program which runs from August 5-17, features an advanced (7-12) concentrating on skating techniques, as well as power skating and other fundamentals. The Elite (13-17) designed to meet the needs of the bantam and midget aged player. Goaltending (7-17) is designed to develop the full range of goalie skills. The program also includes the presence of NHL players as coaches, three one-hour ice sessions per day (last session being a game), video analysis and lecture sessions, conditioning session, swimming session, personalized skill evaluation report, daily hot lunch and a hockey sweater.

The Huron Hockey School, directed by Marc Crawford, is a day-program operating from Aug. 5-24 at the Cornwall Complex and has been operating for 20 years, with 12 years being held in Cornwall. The three week program has features ranging from the beginners, minor development, advanced, elite travel team, specialized goaltenders for boys and girls of all ages and skill levels, NHL players as instructors, video analysis, personalized evaluation report, off-ice sessions, conditioning and recreation programs and game situations.

Females registering will be placed in programs according to ability rather than age and will be grouped with boys. The school will make every attempt to match skill levels when selecting programs for females. "I find it a pleasure teaching the girls, some of them demonstrate a strong interest," says Crawford, who was a student in the Huron School at the London, Ontario camp in 1977-1979.

From July 22 to August 2 at the Cornwall complex is the power skating and conditioning school, directed by Rick Ladouceur, who expresses some pros and cons parents must be aware of while selecting a program due to the competition. The pros include quality attention, fine-tuning during mid-summer or early fall, off-ice activities (video analysis, lectures, swimming, etc.), equipment selection, goaltenders specialization (the students receive extra attention at this point of learning), competent instructors (NHL and professional names).

"It's alright to have NHL and top names to be the main characters in the program, due to their expertise and qualifications to be instructors. The kids love to rub elbows with the pros and respect them, but the instructors must be able to teach and not just be an attraction to receive participants," says Ladouceur.

Some cons to be aware of are schools being too expensive. Some are not well supervised and not taken seriously. For some kids, the experience can be a nightmare because they are unable to cope away from home. They may be served non-nutritional meals and the substance of the program may be beyond their basic skills.

IN LOCAL BARGAINS

Births

FILION — Brian and Laurie (Condie) are pleased to announce the belated arrival of their first child, a girl, Riley Anne. Riley arrived on Monday, August 27, 1990 at the Riverside Hospital in Ottawa, weighing 8 lbs. 2 ozs. Beaming grandparents are Mrs. Adrien Filion and Mr. and Mrs. William Condie. Proud great grandparents are Mrs. Edna Black and Mrs. Elsie Condie. Special thanks to Brenda Condie for her help and support.

PEETERS — Garry and Kim (nee MacLennan) of Alexandria, are pleased to announce the safe arrival of their daughter Samantha Ashley, born Friday, July 20, 1990, weighing 9 lbs. 2 ozs. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacLennan of Williamstown and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peeters of Cornwall.

MacLEOD — Lance and Bonnie Lee (nee Hamilton) are pleased to announce the arrival of their daughter, Rebecca Lynn, on Wednesday, August 22, 1990 in Cornwall, weighing 7 lbs. 1 oz. A sister for Leslie. Proud grandparents are John and Lorna MacLeod of Glen Nevis, Lloyd Hamilton of Martintown, and Shirley Hamilton of Calgary, Alberta. Proud great grandmother is Mrs. Marcella Lafave, also of Martintown.

Deaths

MURPHY, Lillian I. — of Montreal, entered into eternal rest peacefully on August 7, 1990 following a lengthy illness. A native of Lancaster Township, she was the daughter of the late John Murphy and the late Ann Hay. Retired from Air Canada, Lillian resided in Montreal. Predeceased by one brother, Edward H., she leaves one brother J. Russell and one sister Margaret Benn to mourn her loss. Aunt of Lyndon and Bonita Benn, and Arleigh-Ann Simmons (nee Benn). Great aunt of Tristan D. Simmons. The remains rested at Morris Funeral Home and the funeral mass was held on Saturday morning from St. Finnan's Cathedral. Interment in the family plot. 36-1p

Cards of Thanks

DOTH — The family of the late Ovila Doth wishes to express its sincere thanks to friends, relatives and neighbors for their thoughtfulness at the time of his death. All expressions of sympathy, floral arrangements, masses, charitable donations, sympathy cards and food donations were greatly appreciated. Special thanks to Dr. Jaggassar, the staff at Glengarry Memorial Hospital and the ambulance staff. Sincere thanks also to the Munro Funeral Home, Monsignor Lebrun, Verna Hynes and Marion Haramis. These acts of kindness will always be remembered.
—Grace and the Doth families. 36-1p

THE family of the late Miss Lillian I. Murphy wish to express their sincere gratitude to all relatives and friends for their messages of condolence, masses, thoughtfulness, kindness and support during our time of grief. Please accept this as our warmest personal thanks.
—The Murphy family. 36-1p

MacCALLUM — Sincere thanks to my family, friends and neighbors for cards, flowers, gifts, food and phone calls received during my stay in hospital and at home afterwards. All is much appreciated.
—May (Mrs. Howard MacCallum). 36-1p

HINCKE — The Rev. Karen Hincke and Curtis Hincke would like to thank everyone who attended the social held in our honor on August 24. Special thanks to friends who organized the event, who worked and fed us all, and to the Seanachies, the Strathspey and Reel Society, and individual violinists who entertained. All your good wishes and generosity overwhelm us.
—Karen and Curtis. 36-1p

MacLEOD — Many thanks to all who called, sent cards, flowers and gifts while I was hospitalized and since I have returned home. They were all very much appreciated. Also thanks for care to Drs. McLeod, Suranyi and De Young and to staff in C.G.H. Emergency and 2nd floor north.
—Lorna MacLeod. 36-1p

In Memoriam

WILLARD, Hazel — In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother, and great grandmother who passed away September 6, 1989.
To a good life came a peaceful end.
She died as she lived, everyone's friend,
Upright and just in all her ways
Loving and kind to the end of her days.
We saw her suffer, heard her sigh,
We could do nothing but sit close by,
We have lost, but heaven has gained,
One of the best the world contained.
—Always remembered lovingly, Jean, Lucien, Sandra, Suzanne and Amanda. 36-1p

JAMIESON — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, William Jamieson, who departed this life one year ago.
Jesus said "he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."
—Ever remembered by Hazel and family.

In Memoriam

JAMIESON — In memory of a dear father and grandfather, William, who passed away September 10, 1989.
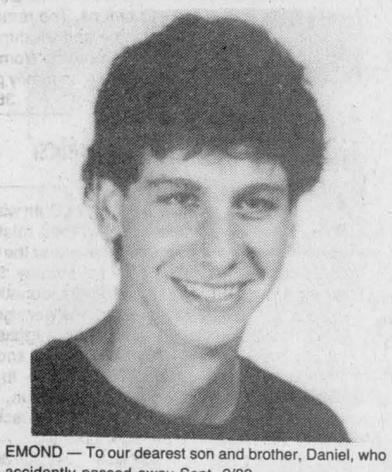
"No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love Him."
Your presence we miss,
Your memory we treasure.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter, Jennie, son-in-law, Fenton, and grandchildren, Greg, Becky and Rachel. 36-1p

McGEE — In loving memory of a dear beloved daughter and sister Margaret Ann, who died September 4, 1982.
—Sadly missed by her mother Claire, and brothers, Dan, Jack, and Kevin. 36-1p

SABOURIN — In loving memory of Yolande Sabourin, who passed away September 6, 1985.
Five years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.
— Carmel and Gaetan.
36-1c



EMOND — To our dearest son and brother, Daniel, who accidently passed away Sept. 2/89.
Already one year has passed since this tragic accident. Not a day passes by without us missing your gentle and sweet smile. We miss your hugs and sweet talk, your laughs and cries.
Frankly, we miss everything about you. You were such a happiness to our family, but we have to believe that God needed a happy angel like you to fill his heaven and look over the ones down below.
To your grave we go to share our thoughts with you, but no answer in return. Except for tears no one can understand. But possibly telling us that you are happy in God's house, free from all worries and sadness of this world.
We loved you son, But God loved you more, so he took you back to fill his large kingdom.
Be happy our Daniel
Son you are sadly missed.
Mom, Dad, Stephane & Lyne

PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED
ZONING BYLAW AMENDMENT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lochiel will hold a public meeting on September 11, 1990 at 7 p.m. at the Township Municipal Building to consider a proposed zoning bylaw amendment under Section 34 of the Planning Act.

The proposed zoning bylaw amendment is intended to rezone 2.16 hectares (5.35 acres) of land situated in the west part of Lot 15, Concession 1, Township of Lochiel (as shown below) from ''Agriculture Resource (AGR)'' to ''Rural Marginal (RM).'' The amendment would allow the property to be utilized for the erection of a single family dwelling and to facilitate the request for a land severance.

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed zoning bylaw amendment.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed amendment is available for inspection at my office during regular office hours.

Dated at the Township of Lochiel this 21st day of August, 1990.

PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED ZONING BYLAW AMENDMENT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Alexandria will hold a public meeting on September 25th, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. at the Municipal Building (90 Main Street South) to consider a proposed zoning bylaw amendment under Section 34 of the Planning Act.

The proposed Zoning Bylaw Amendment is intended to rezone approximately 1.051.66 m² (11.320.36 ft²) of land, known as Lot 21 Registered Plan 5 (29 Victoria East as shown below) from ''Residential First Density (R1)'' to ''Residential Second Density Special Exception Zone (R2-2)''. The amendment would permit the existing single family residence to be converted into a duplex (up & down) without increasing the size of the existing building.

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed zoning bylaw amendment.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed amendment is available for inspection at my office during regular office hours.

Dated at the Town Office
This 29th day of August, 1990

Area man takes large muskie locally

Dalkeith
Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Editor's note:

Apologies from The Glengarry News. Issue 35 of the Dalkeith news was swallowed by a sea of paper, never to be seen again, much to the chagrin of loyal readers and writer Jean MacLennan. We will continue this week as if nothing happened.

* * *

The Dalkeith Optimist Club had their Walk-a-thon on Aug. 26 with 19 walkers. The club offers thanks to the sponsors, to Dalkeith Market and Sealtest, and the walkers and helpers.

* * *

From Aug. 23 to 25 the Dalkeith Optimist Club was represented at a convention in Peterborough by Juliette and Albert Quesnel, and Isabel and Valaire L'Ecuyer.

* * *

Now all you fishermen get this! The fish did not get away and Bill MacGillivray of Kirk Hill had his picture taken to prove it. While fishing in the River de Grasse (Rigaud River) east of Dalkeith, he hooked a 22½ lb. muskie. Bill had it on the hook a few weeks ago but it got away that time. This time there was quite a fight, but Bill ended up the winner.

* * *

Arnold McPherson, a resident of the Pleasant Rest Nursing Home, L'Orignal, was home with his parents, Kathleen and Vincent McPherson for Sunday dinner.

* * *

During the week, Vincent and Kathleen McPherson had visited his uncle, Stanley Cousineau, at the Woodland Villa, Long Sault.

* * *

Recently, Mireille and Raymond Seguin were in Toronto to visit his mother, Lorette Seguin, and his sister Rita and husband Dr. Peter Charlebois.

Lise, Eddy and Sandra Berry are happy to welcome Christina Novo Pérez, from Leon, Spain to spend some time with them as an exchange student.

We hope you enjoy your stay among us and bring a good report and happy memories of Canada and Glengarry home with you.

* * *

Pastor Paul DeGraaf, his wife Denise and family have moved into their home in Breadalbane. Mr. DeGraaf is minister at the Breadalbane Baptist Church.

* * *

Yvette and Gerard Goulet enjoyed the Expos ball game in Montreal on Sunday.

* * *

Now it is school time again. The students at the separate school, Glen Robertson were back to classes for a few days last week. The other schools opened on Tuesday, Sept. 4. Where have the last two months gone?

* * *

Visiting with Marybel and John D. MacLeod over the weekend were Betty (MacLeod) Crooks and her daughter Heather of Ottawa, Elaine MacLeod and her daughter Sonya MacDonell of Toronto. John D. entered Hawkesbury Hospital on Saturday. Best wishes for recovery John D.

It's a long way from May 'til December, but the days get shorter when you reach September.

Or so the song goes. Anyway it was a nice summer so I suppose we shouldn't kick. The new is sparse this week but here it is anyway.

* * *

Regular Sunday school will be starting at the Round Church in Dalhousie on Sept. 9 at 11:15. Everyone is welcome.

Lodge News

Visitors at the Lodge this past week were Derrek Weatherston, and Derrek and Joan Johnson visited with Ida Johnson.

Arnold Wenger's family visited with him.

Fidele Brunet's daughter Francine and husband Claude Seguin of Laval, Quebec stopped to visit him en route to attend a wedding at Vars, Ontario.

I hope to have more news next week.

Ovila Bourgon celebrates 100

The privacy room at the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria was packed with well-wishing friends and relatives last week to help Ovila Bourgon celebrate his centennial. Mr Bourgon turned 100 years-young Tuesday Aug. 21. Mr. Bourgon was joined by nephew Simon, Carmelle and Anne Gravel of Cornwall, nephew Louise and Sylvia Allard of Ottawa, Alphonse and niece Rachel Allard of Ottawa, Denise and Claude Ethier of Repentigny, Que.

SAFETY TIPS

1. Cross only at crosswalks and properly signalized crossings.
2. Before crossing, look both ways to make sure the way is clear.
3. Watch for turning cars.
4. Never cross between parked cars.
5. Walk facing traffic when there is no walkway or sidewalk.
6. Be particularly aware of strangers. Do not get into a vehicle with anyone you do not know.

You, the driver, know your responsibilities!
