Town approves second casino vote

Proponents convinced council vote was close enough to warrant another campaign

By Lynn McCuaig
News* editor

Alexandria will have another casino referendum vote in the new year.

Town council awarded a second vote to casino supporters at its meeting Monday.

Casino proponent Ernie Sauer approached council with about 35 supporters from the business community promising this time the campaign would be different.

"We would like to have a second chance," Sauer told council.

Sauer said that because the margin between the yes and no sides was only 74 votes and only 53 per cent of town turned out in the referendum, the casino proposal deserved another chance.

"We believe the no side went out and voted and the yes side stayed home.

"They assumed it would slide through – well it didn't."

Sauer said that this time a casino committee will be struck to handle the yes side's publicity letting he and his son, Chris, "step back."

He said the committee will take the focus off his family and highlight how the town will benefit.

"This committee will give a different view that the town also has to live," said Sauer.

According to Sauer's research, the vote could be held as soon as the second week in January but council didn't set a date.

Again this time, a private group will have to pay for the referndum.

All council members voted in favor of the a second vote except Deputy Reeve John Hope.

Hope urged council to respect the first vote and asked if the referendum was going to turn into the "best two out of three."

"If the no side would have lost would we have given them the same chance?" Hope asked.

Councillor Archie MacDougall said he would offer them the chance. He said if the no side came back later there would be another vote because council can't take sides.

"As long as I don't have to commit myself to the issue," he said.

Clerk Leo Poirier reminded council they could be faced with a third referendum later.

"As long as they pay for it," said councillor Gail Abrams.

"I have no problem if "no" people come and ask for a third referendum. I have no problem to give it to them," said councillor Fern Seguin.

"It's their right if they want to," added Francine Richer.

Hope maintained that another vote would belittle the whole process.

"It's kind of spitting in democracy's face," Hope told The News after the meeting.

"I'm not anti-casino," he added.

"I feel the no side won and that's what the people decided.

" It's a total lack of respect for the people's vote."

At the meeting, Sauer promised more information and to try and get the casino's investors to the table.

"We assumed that everyone would trust us, but I guess that was not so," he said.

The Sauers are also planning to suggest an alternative site at the north end of town in addition to the Hub site to offer a choice.

He wanted to assure people that there would be more studies done after the vote to make sure it's good for the town.

"This is our town and we have to fight for it, if we don't do that nobody will," said Sauer.

GMH moving to 'right size' operation to ensure future

By Todd Lihou
News* reporter

Glengarry Memorial Hospital will be implementing several cost-cutting measures – including layoffs – to help them in a "right sizing" endeavour.

"It is pretty well taken there will be some layoffs," said Kurt Pristanski, chief executive officer at GMH. "At this point we're not sure how many. It could be two or 20, we're just not sure.

The cost of all labor, salaries and benefits is 75 per cent of all expenses (at the hospital)."

GMH employs 106 full-time and part-time staff.

Pristanski says he rathers the term "right sizing" to "down sizing" because "a lot of hospitals are using the term down sizing. It's a negative term. We like to keep things positive."

In a paid advertisement in the News Nov. 20, GMH said it was recommended they close 14 active beds and relocate chronic beds to the active unit, to eliminate duplication of one of two nursing stations.

Active beds are used for short-term care, while chronic beds are used by long-term patients.

This change would help balance the hospital's 1997 budget because the provincial government is planning two more funding reductions of between $125,000 and $175,000 on April 1, 1997, and between $125,000 and $225,000 April 1, 1998.

There is a possibility these funding reductions could be higher than expected, but the hospital is hoping this will not occur.

Pristanski said the mood around the hospital is predictably sombre.

"When you are working in the public sector there is very little job security compared to a few years ago," said Pristanski. "The staff are very much concerned about their employment, and I can't blame them."

By closing 14 beds, GMH is taking a big bite out of an avoidable expense.

According to hospital officials, there are an estimated 18 empty beds at GMH every day. This change would help lower the bed/population expectation of the government.

Currently the number of active beds at the hospital is over 100 per cent higher than figures used by the Health Services Restructuring Commission - a government sponsored committee that has already closed hospitals in Thunder Bay and Sudbury.

The Commission is travelling to every hospital in Ontario in an attempt to streamline health care and save as much as possible.

Pristanski says "they will be here sooner or later. They have to be here before Sept. 30, 1997."

Reducing the number of active beds "should not affect the patient care" said the advertisement in last week's News.

"Right now these beds are empty," said Pristanski. "If they were full then there would be a big concern. We haven't touched long-term care. There is no change in emergency or chronic care beds. Just acute care beds."

Pristanski said the hospital is also making changes so "we can ensure we will be here in the next three or four years."

GMH is attempting to recruit at least three more doctors to compliment the three they already have, and following the bed closures, they will open rooms to outside health agencies.

Pristanski has been in contact with several doctors and outside agencies, but no one has made a firm commitment to the hospital.

"We're always recruiting, but (doctors) are hard to come by," said Pristanski. "We have some very good candidates, but no definite response. It's first come first serve."

Pristanski said once a doctor confirms their position at the hospital, it could be another three to six months before another is hired.

"We don't want them competing for business at the same time."

Rental space will be provided "at cost" to any outside agencies.

"I've talked to a few already, but I can't name names just yet," said Pristanski who isn't impressed with the position the government has taken with regard to health care.

"No one is, whether it is me or a nurse or a lab technician. Nobody is impressed."

Teachers closer to strike vote

By Todd Lihou
News* reporter

English Catholic school teachers in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry are sticking to their self-imposed deadline that will see them either ratify a new employment contract with their Board of Education counterparts by the end of today - or begin a process to hold a strike vote.

If the teachers cannot come to terms with the board, then they will meet together tonight at 7 p.m. to inform union members a strike vote will be held Friday.

The teachers began a new round of negotiations with the board yesterday at 2 p.m.

Results of the meeting were not available at press time, but Ray Barnes, chief negotiator for the teachers, was not optimistic.

Town withholds payment on police accounts

By Lynn McCuaig
News* editor

Alexandria council decided it's not going to pay anymore police bills until the town reviews the budget.

The decision came at Monday's meeting after Councillor Fern Seguin estimated the police service will be $100,000 over budget by year's end.

"I'm sure all of us have to justify this to the tax payer," he said.

Because of the vote, only the police payroll will be paid this week.

Town Mayor and police board member Grant Crack urged council to pass the accounts. He pointed out that town businesses like the Alexandria Drug Mart, Pro Photo and a town contractor won't be paid this week.

"The board should have thought of that before it made its budget," said Seguin.

Seguin accused Crack of not representing council's interest on the police board.

"You seem... to represent your own interest," said Seguin.

"I'm surprised council has not asked you to resign (from the police board) before now," Seguin said.

Crack defended the police board and said the overspending is due to many unexpected expenses.

Moulding fire brought quickly under control

By Todd Lihou
News* reporter

Fire swept through a contained area at Alexandria Moulding Nov. 21, halting production for nearly six hours, but causing little in the way of damage.

The Alexandria Fire Department responded at 1 p.m. when employees, returning from their lunch break, noticed flames and smoke coming from the pipes surrounding the auger and pulverizing unit at the rear of the plant.

Lift truck operator Alain Lajoie was returning from his lunch break when "the guys started to smell smoke," said Lajoie. "The auger (pipes) were red hot and then just burst into flames. But the guys worked quickly with the hoses and fire extinguishers to get it under control. Everything was going well when the fire department showed up.

"Everything happened so fast, I bet they (the fire department) were here in about two or three minutes."

The fire is believed to have started following a routine replacement of a blown hose in the mill system. When the old hose let go, pieces of it are believed to have landed on the conveyor belt leading to the auger and pulverizing unit.

A new hose was attached, but pieces of the old hose went unnoticed.

When the pieces of the hose entered the auger and were churned up, sparks were created and thus a fire broke out.

Alexandria Deputy Fire Chief Maurice Brunet said Monday, the fire was contained inside the pipes leading away from the pulverizing unit.

The auger and pulverizing unit take blocks of wood and turn them into sawdust. The sawdust is blown through a pipe across the street to Hubert Sabourin Inc. where it is bagged and sold to local farms.

The blowing system was shut down in order to contain the fire at Alexandria Moulding.

John MacDonald, manager at Alexandria Moulding, says his company is very fortunate, as the results could have been much worse.

"It was a very minor fire," said MacDonald. "But these things are going to happen, it's a reality. A lot of people were coming up saying 'You guys are very lucky.'"

MacDonald said there was no real damage to the plant and the system was up and running by 6:45 p.m. that evening.

"The guys put it out, cleaned the pipes out, tested the pipes and away we went," said MacDonald. "We might have lost five or six hours of work."

MacDonald says the reason why the pipes appeared to glow red hot is because the wood residue clinging to the inside was smouldering and forcing its heat outwards through the pipe.

"This is the first time we've ever had a fire in the auger," MacDonald explained, although the plant itself is

It's a go: Alexandria seniors centre clears final hurdles

By Lynn McCuaig
News* editor

The seniors' support centre got another boost Nov. 13 as the town officially took ownership of the Legion building on Elgin Street.

The building will be totally demolished to make room for the town's brand new seniors' centre.

The new $501,000 centre will have two stories of 3,100 square feet each.

Legion branch 423 president Bev Fournier signed over the building to town Mayor Grant Crack for the price of $1 and an assurance her organization will have a permanent rent-free home in the new building.

"We've been waiting a long time for this," said Fournier as she signed the agreement.

In fact, the centre has been seven years in the making.

"After almost seven years of planning, consultation, design and redesign on a second site, the project has completed the tender phase with construction to begin as soon as the ministry's final approval of construction cost is received,"said town Reeve Francine Richer.

Construction on the support centre, a co-operative effort of the united counties, the Ministry of Health and the town.

Though its been the product of all three governments, once the centre is built, full ownership will be given to Alexandria.

Its building isn't the only donation the Legion has made. It's also supplying a wheel chair lift for the new facility and is paying for the ongoing operating and occupancy costs of it.

The Legion will be given 2000 square feet on the lower level. Also on that floor are a board room, washroom and utility room.

The upper level will house the seniors' programs in two halls, a kitchen, bathrooms, office and reception area.

The town will provide space to the Legion as well as the Glengarry Outreach Services which is sponsoring the seniors programs and services.

Outreach will continue satellite services it currently provides out of the Legion building and may expand in the new site.

Right now, outreach is already providing meal programs, emergency response, transportation, footcare, home help and maintenance, day programs, and referral service as well as information and educational programs from Elgin Street.

Alexandria holding Christmas tree lighting Friday evening

Join the Christmas carolers in Alexandria for the fifth annual tree lighting ceremony on Friday, Nov. 29.

The parade of carolers will leave the Loeb parking lot at 7 p.m. to light the town's giant Christmas tree at 7:30 p.m. in Mill Square.

Free hot chocolate and candy will be distributed along the way.

Or for those who don't want to walk, jump on a passing hay wagon that will circle the town.

The wagons start at 6:30 p.m. and will rendezvous with the carolling parade at Loeb and Mill Square.

After the event, the wagons will return along the route to drop people off again.

Town won't pay accounts

He said many upgrades were needed just to bring the police service up to minimum legal standards.

"The Alexandria Police Service does not provide that standard," he said.

He maintained that new acting chief Guy Binet's salary is an extra cost and said officers have come in with banked overtime accumulated since 1993.

"What has gone on for years is coming to a head," said Crack.

A lengthy investigation that resulted in three arrests has also accounted for the deficit.

Budgets have been "unrealistic in the past. They depend on activity in the town as well as other factors."

Councillor Gail Abrames reminded Crack, "You can't get everything in the first year."

Council also asked Crack why the board built a wheelchair ramp in front of the office when it was short of money.

Crack said the board was planning to build it next year and didn't approve the expense.

"It was just done. Someone went ahead and did it," he said.

Town works department head Jean Guy Levert said the town's acting chief Binet told him to do it.

"I've got a wide back, but I'm not going to carry that one," said Levert.

"The acting chief took it upon himself to do it and it got done, who do you blame?" said Crack.

Seguin said his main concern was that council was never told about the overrun.

"The police board hasn't made an effort to approach council," he said.

Crack said the board only found out about the deficit at the same time as council did.

Councillor Richard Lefebvre said he wanted the police board to know "they haven't got a carte blanche. They have to limit what they spend."

All council members except Crack and Gary Shepherd voted against paying the bill.

Archie MacDougall couldn't vote on the night's accounts because of a conflict of interest, but said if he had a vote he would have supported paying the accounts.

"There's a precedent being set here and I'm not quite sure what to think of it," Crack said.

"I can't believe council's position on this.

"You would imagine there are some things you have to do and we're doing it."

Correction

In last week's edition of the News, Alexandria Reeve Francine Richer was inadvertantly identified as having missed a council meeting. Richer has in fact been present for all council meetings since June 3. The News regrets the error.

well aware of how fire can destroy a business.

Twice in Alexandria Moulding's 53-year history the building has been destroyed by fire. MacDonald says working with wood on a day-in, day-out basis can have its drawbacks.

"Because of the nature of the product there will be some problems," said MacDonald. "But we have all kinds of safety (precautions). The effects are minimal when you have the proper safety in place and good employees who know what to do."

Brunet said he can't remember the last time the fire department was called to Alexandria Moulding.

"That's good, especially with a product like that. You would think you'd get more fires," said Brunet, who pointed out several fire fighters working at Alexandria Moulding were quick to begin dousing the flames.

"We have some firemen who work there," explained Brunet. "They did a good job by being there at the beginning."

No one was injured in the fire.

According to Brunet, information regarding the cause or damage from the fire wasn't readily available.

Roy's officially unveils its new image 2000 look

By Lynn McCuaig
News editor

Roy's Garage unveiled its "Image 2000" with a big splash on Friday night.

Hundreds gathered in Green Valley to christen the newly renovated building while checking out the new models and listening to Wayne Rostat perform.

The image, which cost Roy's about a quarter of a million dollars, added 4,000 square-feet and made heavy renovations to the 20,700 remaining square-foot area.

All that's left to do is the final live-in touches, said owner Robert Labonté.

"Everything is where it should be," he said.

Roy's renovations, which began in April, were modeled after General Motors' image 2000 plan that sets its dealerships into a new brand-recognizable look.

GM's goal is to have all its dealerships in similar colors and styles.

Since Roy's was already looking at renovations to its garage built in the 1960s, it decided to go along with GM's image 2000.

"The timing was good, we were ready to do something anyways," said Labonté.

The 28-foot tower facing the road is an example of the image that will be quickly noticed as Pontiac-Buick.

Other amenities like office furniture and service centers will be common between dealerships.

"They're trying to do some brand advertising," said Labonté.

Roy's is the first garage in the united counties to go with the image. Only Perth, Ottawa and Montreal have dealerships with the new image.

> "The timing was good, we were ready to do something anyways."
> Roy's owner - Robert Labonté

Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealerships will have a different set of colors and styles to set them apart.

So far, the new renovations have gotten thumbs up from customers, said Labonté.

"The customers through seemed to be more excited about it than we were," he laughed.

Clearly marked signs above each work area can now help clients to get where they want to go – fast.

"When people come in the door, they know pretty much where to go," said Labonté.

The service garage can now offer an oil change in 29 minutes or the next one is free.

With one bay dedicated only to oil changes, Roy's can do 42 oil changes a day.

And with the drive-in garage, customers don't even have to get out of their cars until they're inside.

"It's a little easier getting in and out and you don't have to get wet if its raining," said Labonté.

The dealership has a pro-shop which will sell miniature cars and GM memorabilia.

Also new is an indoor show room and indoor washroom, both of which were outside before.

Labonté isn't expecting a return on his $250,000 investment right away, but is hoping the renovations will heighten efficiency and customer service.

And since Roy's is planning to stay as a Pontiac-Buick and Cadillac dealership for while, the time and money to renovate are more than worth it.

"We're going to be here for a long time," said Labonté.

Quebec union workers protest in Alexandria

By Todd Lihou
News reporter

A small but vocal group of Quebec union workers made a visit to Alexandria Nov. 20 to protest a lengthy labor dispute in their home province.

Members of the National Confederation Union picketed and shouted loudly in front of the home of the Sisters of Ste. Croix on Sandfield Ave. in Alexandria to protest a labor battle they have been fighting since April.

Union members, who work at St. Joseph Hospital in Montreal, owned by the Sister's of Ste. Croix, have been embroiled in a labor dispute with their bosses, over payment insurance.

As a form of protest union members have been stopping at the homes of Ste. Croix nuns to picket with large placards and several loud voices.

Union officials say their protests often don't last that long as they have to get back on the road to picket at another location. They have made stops all over Eastern Ontario, Western Quebec and Northern New York state to voice their displeasure.

The picketers lined the sidewalks but were otherwise peaceful.

No one answered the door at the home during the 40 minute protest.

Town carnival queen contest begins today

The contest for Alexandria's carnival queen is already in the works and potential royalty have only one week to get involved.

The deadline to enter the carnival queen contest is Dec 4 and is open only to females 13 to 19 years old who are Alexandria or area residents and attend school in the area.

The criteria to win isn't based on looks, talent or public speaking as are many contests.

The carnival queen will be the lady who's willing to get out there and sell tickets for a draw.

For every book of tickets sold, the contestant's name goes into a draw for the queen's spot to be chosen before Star Night on Feb. 6.

"The more tickets they sell, the better chance they have to be a queen," said carnival Chair Aline Gareau Hébert.

The first girl whose name is drawn three times in a row will be the carnival queen.

The second one whose name appears three times will be first princess and the third will be second princess.

"We didn't want to do the same thing as the Star Night and come out with a talent," said Gareau Hébert.

As an extra incentive to sell tickets, the contestant who sells the most will get a $100 prize.

Each book has 12 tickets which are $2 a piece or three for $5. Prizes are $500, $300 and $200.

The night of the carnival queen draw, contestants will be dressed in a winter outfit they'll get to keep.

The carnival committee will find each girl a sponsor to buy the outfit and in return the contestant will wear the sponsor's name on a sash when selling tickets and at different activities.

The queen will have to visit events and represent the carnival at activities and events from Feb. 6 and 9.

To sign up, call Aline Gareau Hébert at 525-1361 on or before Dec. 4.

$480,000 tender awarded to second lowest bidder

By Lynn McCuaig
News editor

Alexandria council awarded a $480,000 tender to have its sewers grouted to SewerMatic Services.

SewerMatic was the second lowest bidder, but council awarded the job to the company anyway on a recommendation from engineering consultant Bill Knight of MS Thompson.

SewerMatic came in $70,000 higher than the lowest bidder, Drain-All Ltd.

Knight advised council to go with the more expensive tender because the Drain-All does not use the same materials specified in the tender contract.

"If the specifics are not honored. we cannot consider it," said Councillor Fern Seguin.

Jim Smith, sales manager for Drain-All and a delegation from the company met with council to say its product would do the same job as the one specified.

But Knight pointed out Drain-All's product has not yet been proven in the area.

The grouting has only been used in Valleyfield and has not been put to a long-term test. The company is installing it in Kanata, but has not started the work yet.

"I respect your opinion, but it is an opinion," Smith said to Knight.

Council decided against the savings and followed its engineer's advice.

"Since taking on Bill (Knight) he's given us nothing but good advice,' said Councillor Gary Shepherd.

Bingo for Gerry this Saturday

The Glen Robertson Optimist Club is hosting a fund raising bingo this Saturday to help Gerry Beauclair Jr. in his fight with a brain tumor.

"We're hoping for at least 200 people," said Optimist member Sue Poirier.

The bingo is slated for 7 p.m., Dec. 1 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The jackpot prize will be $1,000 and many other cash prizes are waiting to be won.

Several businesses have also donated door prizes for the event.

The Optimist club held a bingo last August which saw 230 people attend and raised $3,800 for Beauclair's medical expenses.

As fund raising for Beaculair's cause started to wane, the Optimists decided to host another bingo in hopes of raising as much as they did in August.

"In participating in the bingo, the they will be able to help out and they have a chance of winning," said Poirier.

"There's a lot of prizes to be won."

Beauclair's treatment costs $8,200 a month and it will take at least four more months to complete the treatment.

Tickets are available from Beauclair's family members or Optimist members.

Call Sue Poirier at 525-5950 or Optimist member Diane Larocque at 874-2636.

LACAC officially designates four Charlottenburgh properties under the Ontario Heritage Act at ceremony

By Sue Harrington
News correspondent

Four Charlottenburgh properties have been designated under the Ontario Heritage Act since the municipality's Local Architectural Advisory Committee (LACAC) was established in 1991. Now they have the paperwork to prove it.

During a reception at the township hall in Williamstown on Nov. 20, framed certificates were presented to the owners (or representatives) of the properties: The Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum, the George and Carolyn Lang home, Avondbloem, and the Munro-Johnston house.

Doug Lambie, chair of LACAC, explained the criteria for choosing each property for designation, and gave a brief history of each.

Once designated, the buildings are protected by council, to which LACAC acts as an advisory committee.

Designation of a property allows council to control alterations to land and buildings and, to a certain extent, demolition or removal of buildings.

The Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum in Williamstown was designated on its architectural, historical and cultural value. Built in 1861 as a school house, the two storey Georgian-style brick building has been used as a museum since 1967.

The land on which the museum stands was deeded to Williamstown early in the 19th century by Sir John Johnson, for the purpose of some day building a school on the property.

The building is presently owned by the township of Charlottenburgh and the museum is governed by the Glengarry Historical Society.

Accepting the certificate of designation on behalf of the museum was Thelma Rose.

George and Carolyn Lang were on hand to accept the certificate for their property, located on the south-west corner of County Roads 27 & 18 (McCuaig's Corners).

The Lang house dates from 1825 and is an excellent example of an early 19th century farm house.

Made of fieldstone, the exterior is still in fine original condition and is typical of the Regency period. The one and one-half storey house features three fireplaces and has of particular interest, the arched stonework of the lintels above the windows and transom.

The Lang house was originally built by Alexander Ross and remained in the Ross family until 1902 when it was sold to Peter McCuaig. The Lang family bought it in 1979.

Avondbloem, owned by George and Evelyn van Beek, was formerly known as Dalcrombie, and was for many years the home of the McGillivray family.

It was recommended for designation on the grounds of its historical associations with John McGillivray, a wintering partner in the North West Company, and his famous family, among whom were his son, George Hopper McGillivray, and George's daughter, the novelist, Carrie Holmes McGillivray.

The van Beeks, who were unable to be present at the ceremony, have extensively researched and documented the history of their house and its owners.

The Munro-Johnston House, located on the North Branch Road, Martintown, was designated on two counts.

On historical grounds, the property was deemed important as it records its descent through a United Empire Loyalist family from the early 1800s to the present.

David Munro, a United Empire Loyalist received the land from the Crown in 1785. His son, Hugh, began to farm it, later deeding some of his property for what is now the North Branch cemetery.

The Munro family retained the property until 1948.

The present owner, Wesley Munro Johnston, a great-great grandson of Hugh Munro and his wife Mary, returned it to the family when he bought it in 1989.

The property was also designated on the grounds that its evolution through the local farming family documents the importance of farming in the last quarter of the 19th century in Martintown.

In accepting the certificate of designation for his property, Wesley Johnston expressed his pleasure.

"I'm really impressed with this and I appreciate the committee's efforts. Sometimes I get very tired with all the picky work, but receiving something like this is very inspirational."

Raisin region sets deadline for marsh plans

By Todd Lihou
News reporter

The Raisin Region Conservation Authority has set a Dec. 12 deadline to decide on a proposal regarding the fate of Cooper Marsh.

The Friends of Cooper Marsh, as well as the Charlottenburgh township, Lancaster township and Lancaster village, have both tabled proposals in an attempt to solidify an agreement.

The Friends wish to see the RRCA retain ownership of the Marsh and lease it to the Friends who will run it as a non-profit organization based on donations and volunteers. The townships want to gain ownership of the marsh and place a non-profit group in charge.

Councillors need to attend meetings

These days the town of Alexandria, like its surrounding neighbor municipalities, needs the devotion and commitment of every one of its municipal councillors. Unfortunately due to the continuing absenteeism of three of them, the town is being shortchanged when it can least afford it.

The three may feel they have good reasons, but there is in fact no justification for elected public officials to be regularly absent from council, board or committee meetings. Anyone who misses meetings more than a few consecutive times should resign in the interest of the public.

Maintaining a policy that protects truancy weakens the body the officials are supposed to be a part of, and it undermines the confidence of a financially-strapped public that is paying someone for not attending a meeting.

Town council members earn an annual salary of $4,053 or $168.88 per meeting. They are paid regardless of whether or not they attend the meetings and receive an additional $74 for any other meetings they may be attending as a representative of the town outside of town hall.

Since June 3, councillors Roger Lemieux, Richard Lefebvre and Fern Seguin have missed five of 11 council meetings. Their truancy was discussed at an in-camera session on Nov. 11 (a session which, by the way, was wrongly held behind closed doors because it fell outside of the guidelines for doing so under the Ontario Municipal Act).

Two of the men – councillors Lemieux and Lefebvre – missed meetings because of a hectic work schedule. Fern Seguin has had medical reasons for not attending.

Their reasons, though, however valid, aren't the issue. Neither is their record of past service to the community.

Attending public meetings where duly-elected council members are seen to be carrying out the work the public elected them to do, is the most basic of council duties. If this commitment cannot be met, then the role of council and the public meetings in which they make their decisions, is undermined.

Certainly, if only one of these men were absent as often as they have been, or if the absenteeism was only occasional, the effect on the municipality may be negligible – and something council could compensate for, and the public accept.

And in cases of medical circumstances, such as those experienced by Fern Seguin, special sick leave could be granted until the councillor was back on his feet.

But three of nine of them have been absent since June, sometimes simultaneously, when the town is debating serious issues from municipal amalgamation to the casino referendum to the all-important water and sewer project.

First, council needs to set a policy with regards to truancy and then stick with it. Second, it needs to implement that policy.

But whatever it decides that policy may be, the bottom line is, if a councillor can't serve, they should resign, step aside so that others could devote the kind of time the job requires at a critical time in the town's history.

Salute to excellence an inspiring event

The awards banquet held to honor Alexandria's top citizens recently was an outstanding community effort planned and coordinated by the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce. The event is a shining example of what a community can do when it comes together for a positive goal.

The banquet was a fantastic contribution to the town and area not only because it saluted some exceptional citizens, but because there were several community bodies which came together to make it a success.

Optimist clubs from Green Valley, Alexandria and Glen Robertson which devote themselves to youth, recognized an outstanding young person in their communities, in this case Polly Johnson, Marie-Josee Larocque and Mireille Beriault. The Alexandria and District chamber itself announced Giant Tiger owner Ron Poissant as its retailer of the year and saluted Alexandria Moulding as its most valuable manufacturer.

The town got into the act, awarding a special merit award to Dr. Laszlo Roman, who has served the town's hospital for 31 years.

And the fact that Alexandria Loeb, Giant Tiger and the town of Alexandria took the opportunity to honor their most valuable employees, was a special aspect of the event. It married both public and private needs to recognize excellence within the community's organizations.

Of course, the highlight of the evening was the presentation of the town's Citizen of the Year to John MacDonald, whose recognition by his fellow citizens was long overdue. This is a man whose big heart and gentlemanly ways earned him the respect of an entire town.

Still, if it were not for the chamber of commerce's resolve to begin again honoring the town's top citizens, chances are another year would have passed without this very outstanding and fitting salute to community and commercial excellence.

Indeed, the Alexandria and district chamber, like those they honored, deserve to take a bow themselves.

What we'll do to see the light

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

We each have our own personal crack of the starting pistol getting out of the starting blocks for the "holiday season." The Santa Claus parade, the call of the stores, the sound of Christmas music on the airwaves, and of course the conclusion of the Grey Cup.

And that's only the beginning. For the next month, a blinding myriad of preparation follows that kick-off, of which only a small part has to do with getting together with the family and enjoying the holidays.

Personally, I'm not under way until I manage to perform that most serious of seasonal traditions – putting up the house Christmas lights – without serious injury to either ego or body.

And despite pledges to the contrary at the conclusion of this traditional chore, that next year it will be much less complicated, it still comes down to wrestling with my neighbor's sliding ladder, too much height and too cold weather. Such combinations make chiropractors and insurance agents cringe.

This isn't humbug. I hasten to claim that I come by my lack of holiday handyman skills honestly. I was born the son of a man who, by his own admission, had difficulty driving a nail straight into a board, let alone untangling a string of aging Christmas lights made by the Canadian Marconi Company.

Of course in his day, they didn't have the comparatively "easy-to-install" sets available today. Everything, including the silly pins that hung on eaves, were made of metal which, though durable, required nails to hang and often electrified the also metal eavestroughs.

And my mother wondered why there were never many birds landing on the roof.

It seemed that putting up the lights was an all-day job for dear old dad.

Like father like son. While the set I bought offers three different hanging options (eavestrough, clipping to shingling or snapping onto screws; everything except what I need), the manufacturers obviously were not anticipating selling lights to a customer who got his handyman lessons from the Murphy's Law Library.

No, I did not blow my hand off testing the conduction of a socket. And I did not crack a vertebrae falling off the ladder. No, I did not even tear an inch of skin off peeling warm hands off a cold ladder.

I did, however, ensure the male end of the plug was installed at the wrong end of the house.

To spare myself the indignation of beginning the entire project anew, I stood back, examined the problem, drew up a plan of attack, listened to the advice of my advisor and then did what any self-respecting light installer would do. I got an extension cord. A very long extension cord.

And, of course, my utter incompetence was on display as our neighbors all around us chose to put up their decorations the same afternoon. They seemed to breeze through their chores, one whistling Christmas carols as he went.

"Seems like we just took them down," hummed one from across the road.

"I did, last May," I lied. It was actually July.

(I pathetically rationalized to myself that we wanted to leave them up until Canada Day to celebrate our patriotism. They were red and blue lights after all, you know, Canada and Quebec).

But the challenge comes not from the wee bits of personal humility the raising of the Christmas lights ensures year after year. The moment of truth comes when I'm closest to Divine Providence – at the top of the fully-extended ladder at what seems like a good 5,000 feet up, at the apex of the roof tree.

At moments like these, the mind wanders to those defining questions humankind has asked since first emerging from the primordial ooze: what would happen if the ladder suddenly gave way? Would the eavestrough support me if I grabbed onto it? Would the flowering almond bush below me break my fall? Is there a "simpleton occurrence" rider on my insurance policy?

It's at that moment that I suddenly become aware this is a dangerous task I am undertaking, one even circus performers do not do without nets.

But miraculously, every year, the job is done without the ladder collapsing. The flowering almond bush and the eavestrough are not tested. Injury is no more serious than a fractured hangnail that had to come off anyway.

The tradition is delivered once more.

Santa's landing lights are prepped and ready. Let the season begin.

Casino take two, well maybe three

When is a vote really final? Do we actually need a fat lady to sing?

Well if you're Alexandria council, you may need two or three fat ladies to sing. Maybe 10 or 12 if the council keeps awarding referendums on the same question.

On Monday night, eight out of nine councillors said they would grant as many referendums on the casino vote as they're asked for, as long as the request comes backed up with enough money to support it.

Council isn't paying for the votes, so why not give as many as they want?

Who cares about the democratic voice. When the people get the answer right, then we won't need anymore referendums.

Without even thinking about where the whole thing would end up, council agreed to try it a second time.

If the yes side wins, does that mean they can start working on their proposal, or will the no side just ask for another vote leaving the whole thing in the air again?

Can they really stop the ball from rolling now that it's started?

When does yes mean yes and no mean no?

The town has opened itself up to the same ridicule the separatists are suffering from after their second referendum. People across the country have been joking yes means yes and no means let's have another referendum.

The yes side said it didn't try as hard as it could have last time and that's why the vote went no. Their voters stayed home while the no voters came out in droves.

If Kim Campbell came back to parliament and said hey, I really didn't try hard enough last time, I'm sure if I give it another shot the Conservatives would make a much better government. The people who voted for the Liberals didn't really know what was good for them.

Or maybe the thousands of protesters who have made the trek to Queen's Park would like to re-vote Mike Harris out of office next week.

Whether we like it or not, Harris is in there for a least another two years. That's usually the way democracy works.

People get one shot at it, do your best and if you lose accept it gracefully.

To quote Mayor Grant Crack's reaction on election night, "The democratic process spoke. I think it was fair."

Council, as elected officials should have a little more respect for the power of democracy.

Maybe some people will decide they don't like their council and want to change that vote too.

The real issue here isn't a casino. It's not about whether council supported a casino or not. It's about the people's right to speak.

In effect, the entire council, except John Hope, has told hundreds people that their vote didn't count.

The yes side didn't really try hard enough you know, we're going to give them another chance. Even though it's the same product in a different package, I think you'll like it better this time.

Hope hit the nail on the head when he supported the election process. It was very surprising to see he was the only one to stand up to the thirty-some business people who crowded the town hall Monday.

An 1841 letter

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

Some time ago (April 1994, to be exact) Bill Costello of Cornwall sent me a copy of a letter written by the Sheriff Clerk of Cornwall, Donald McInnes, addressed to Mr. Ranald McInnes, Broadford, Isle of Skye, Scotland, in 1841. I mislaid it until now and must apologize to Mr. Costello and thank him for his kindness and patience.

The recipient of the letter was probably Donald's brother, although he does not say so. It is written in English, but the writer's native Gaelic phrasing is evident. He refers vaguely to having left his native home under some sort of cloud. Mr. Costello tells me that the original is the possession of a Mrs. McArthur in Australia, a descendant of Donald's. The letter tells much about conditions here in Greater Glengarry a century and a half ago. The complete letter is too long to reproduce completely, but here are some excerpts:

"Cornwall, Canada. 29th March, 1841. Dear Ranald, The reason of my silence so long was till I would see and hear some particulars concerning this good country, which it is, as old settlers here are well off, quite independent, but newcomers need not expect to find themselves comfortable at first, as they must undergo some hardships .... As you particularly wished me to write, so I do, and cannot from any feeling advise you to come here with your weak family unless you can bring with you 200 pounds sterling which would buy an ordinary farm, but not a good one, as farms here are very high. If you see a farm of 100 acres with any kind of buildings on and some clearance in a convenient place they will not sell under 150 to 200 (pounds). But if a man would volunteer to go into the bush in a far back place without settlement or Roads, lands there are cheap from 2 to 3 dollars per acre, which I am sure you would rather go to —— (Uist?) and buy a few cattle than to sit upon such a place to earn Bread for yourself and family slashing away with your Ax.....I came here without money or friends or any recommendation; I have not cut a tree, yet the Lord provides meat for me other ways: I had been into a country store for a short time — the place was dull and backward. I left it in the New Year. I engaged in this place with the Sheriff as Clerk. I feel very happy with him. I find he places confidence in me and I feel quite happy when I only think how I was hunted out of my own native country. My employer had me buy 100 acres of lands at a coup here which he paid for me..... There are about 8 acres of it clear and in a very good situation, and all settled round it with a good road through it..... My son is close by me into a store. I see him late and early — he grew wonderful big and is much regarded by his employers, real Scotsmen of the name of McDonald — original from Knoidart. We had a deep snow here from 4 to 5 feet deep and although more colder than I ever experienced in Scotland, yet very pleasant. The cold need not disheart any person from coming if they can at all have the good clothing; the houses here are kept as warm as in summer with stoves. This place is almost settled with real Highlanders and good looking men they are, and at their homes most hospitable. I was received with great kindness among them.... I saw a good deal of the country but no acquaintance, only John Fraser.... He lives upwards of 20 miles from here. Rodk. Bain Chisholm is close by him.... John (Fraser) told me this; Any man with a strong family coming here may do well if they only attend to their work and stay sober. Youngsters here are rather extravagant and amuse themselves rather too much, depending on the comforts at home, which won't be the case with any newcomers — in one word — if any man wants for his bread here it's his own fault not attending to his duties. Taking the physical out of education

To the editor:

Hope for the future lies in the youth of today. For the future to be strong the youth must be strong. And for the youth to be strong they must be taught to be strong, in body as well as mind.

However, our Minister of Education, Mr. Snobelen, doesn't seem to believe so in his new High School Reform and the new Report Card. He is willing to put young Ontarians at risk by making the Grade 9 physical and health education course optional at a time when statistics show we should be making it compulsory from Kindergarten to Grade 12.

Here are some facts:

•40 per cent of Canadian children have at least one risk factor for heart disease – reduced fitness due to an inactive lifestyle.

•The average Canadian child watches more than 26 hours of television and spends up to 30 hours sitting in school each week.

•In North America, 40 per cent of all five to eight year old children can be classified as obese. Forty one per cent of grade 11 students smoked cigarettes in 1995, and 40 per cent used cannabis.

•Lack of regular physical activity may be as detrimental to longevity as cigarette smoking.

•10 per cent of youth between the ages of 10 and 24 are active regularly enough to gain benefits of aerobic fitness.

These facts suggest that Canadian children are experiencing a health crisis.

It is critical that we provide our children with the attitudes and skills required for them to lead long, healthy and productive lives. Physical activity is an investment in the future of Canadian youth.

Don't get me wrong, I am fully in favor of a strong academic curriculum which challenges the minds and abilities of young people, but what about helping children realize their physical potential? Believe me, it brings a multitude of short and long term benefits. Studies demonstrate that school health education programs can have a significant impact on:

•Academic success:

- Students perform as well or better academically;
- students exhibit more positive attitudes about school, physical activity and self;
- students have less aggressive behaviors.

•Preventing chronic disease (diabetes, osteoporosis, cancer, hypertension, obesity, stress...;

•Preventing delinquency and criminal acts;

•Giving youth more self-esteem, self concept and enhanced health-related quality of life;

•Reducing the incidence of smoking, sexually transmitted disease, teenage pregnancy, child abuse and drug abuse among students;

•Reducing the cost of medical care and sick leave over an individual's entire life;

So, why are we cutting in physical and health education one might ask? To save money? Think again. Consider how much money we spend treating health problems associated with inactivity. For example, cardiovascular disease kills an estimated 80,000 Canadians annually at a cost of 2 billion in health care each year!

If Excellence in Education: High School Reform and the Report Card are indicators of this government's interest in the health and well-being of young people, the future generation of adults in Ontario will not be healthy enough to enjoy the thriving economy that the Progressive Conservatives are so desperately trying to achieve by balancing their books.

Healthy, well-informed children develop into healthy well-informed productive adults. These productive adults will not only add to society economically but will also be more independent as far as health care goes. The healthier the general population is the less money will need to be spent on the health care system. Mandatory Physical and Health Education courses from Kindergarten to Grade 12 may prove to be expensive to operate and difficult to enforce, however, I'd like to think of it as an investment in the future.

Keep in mind that the attitudes that children learn in school are the ones they will practice for life.

If you want the opportunity to have your voice heard and advocate for physical and health education, please write A.S.A.P. to the Minister of Education and Training at:

Hon. John Snobelen, Minister of Education and Training, 22nd Floor, Mowat Block, 900 Bay St., Toronto, Ont. M7A 1L2, phone 416-325-2600, fax 416-325-2608. The government is accepting input until Nov. 30.

Committee members want clarification

To the editor:

The members of the Kenyon Beaver Management Committee request that the following points be clarified regarding the item included in "Kenyon Township Council Briefs" in your issue of Nov. 6, 1996.

1) We regret the use of the expression "anti-beaver" as this indicates quite a negative focus. Our committee has been formed to investigate the means available to control the finding and implementing acceptable methods of avoiding or minimizing damage to property.

2) Some members of the committee have expressed the opinion that they would prefer to find alternative methods to trapping, such as beaver baffles and other water-level control techniques, if these are effective and reasonable in cost. No one, as far as we are aware, has said they "won't allow beavers to be trapped." It is clear that in some situations, this may be the only effective control measure.

undesirable aspects of beaver activity. It is not appropriate to call this anti-beaver. We are not opposed to the existence of beavers – rather, we would hope to assist our council in

Reader found roots in Moose Creek

To the editor:

Hello! My name is Bill Morrison from Midland, Ont.

I've been researching my family tree for almost four years now and I ended up in Moose Creek this summer in search of ancestors.

Much to my surprise, I literally stumbled on relatives I never knew I had.

Add to that the Maxville Highland Games and it's something I'll never forget!

The hospitality of everyone was just fantastic and it will be exciting running our clan tent at the 50th anniversary next year.

I've been in contact with some of the columnists from the paper and they have been so helpful and friendly.

I would like to thank Mr. Gordon Winter, Mr. Ken McKenna and Mrs. Peggi Calder for the advice they have given me in my genealogy work, as well as Mrs. Ethel MacKay of Dalhousie.

My search had dead-ended with my great-great-great grandfather Malcolm Morrison. He was born somewhere in Glengarry on March 25, 1821 and his father was a Scottish immigrant, but I know nothing else of him.

Malcolm married Nancy Ann MacCrimmon on Feb. 4, 1845 and their children were Margaret, Mary, Peter, Isabella, Catherine, Donald, Katy Ann, Duncan, Edward and James Ann (sic).

After his first wife died he remarried to Margaret Campbell and they had John, Mary Ann, Norman Malcolm, Donald Lodovick and William. William's sons Norman and Mickey still reside in Moose Creek.

Malcolm died in Aug. 14, 1911 and is buried in Dunvegan cemetery. If he had brothers, I do not know any.

I would also like to find a Gaelic bible.

I do appreciate all the information I receive (but it is nice to talk with all the friendly people!)

Le gach deagh dhùrachd!

P.S. See ya at the 50th anniversary!

Police investigate vehicle theft at GDHS

Police Briefs

Alexandria Police are investigating a vehicle theft at Glengarry District High School that occured on Nov. 20.

Culprits gained entry to a parked vehicle by smashing a passenger door window. They made off with personal items and identification.

Alexandria Police Chief Guy Binet estimated damage at close to $125.

No charges have been laid and the incident is still under investigation.

No parking after dark

The Alexandria Police Service would like to remind local residents that following Nov. 15, vehicles cannot be parked on any highway or street within town limits between the hours of 1 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Police would also like to remind motorists to refrain from parking in municipal parking lots between the hours of 1 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Doctor's cars and emergency vehicles are permitted to park in these areas for no more than one hour.

Any residents who have received parking tickets for winter parking on Nov. 17 need not pay their ticket, but regard it as a warning.

Busy weekend for OPP

Lancaster OPP counted 13 reportable accidents between Nov. 22 and 24 due to inclement weather.

One invloved a 66-year-old Cornwall woman who ended up in the ditch when her vehicle went out of control just south of Green Valley.

Jeannine Leroux suffered minor injuries in the single car accident that occured 3 km. south of County Road 25, Nov. 23.

Const. George Johann of the Lancaster OPP said "there were numerous accidents" because of blowing snow and white out conditions.

New 800–number

Lancaster OPP would like to inform Glengarry residents of a new 800-number available for Ontario residents.

The new number, 1-888-310-1122, is a province-wide number that will connect you with the nearest OPP communications station, anywhere in Ontario.

The old 800-numbers will be in use until December, 1998.

Check those tapes

Lancaster OPP would also like to inform merchants who use video surveillance cameras to check their tapes.

Const. George Johann of the Lancaster detatchment said some video from other offices throughout Ontario have been coming back so "ratted out" that more often than not, the perpetrators cannot be identified.

Maxville store robbed

CRIME STOPPERS ECHEC AU CRIME

Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers needs your help in solving an armed robbery at the Maxville Food Mart at 22 Main Street in Maxville.

At 7:10 p.m. on Jan. 17, 1996, a lone male armed with a knife entered the store and demanded cash. After an unsuccessful attempt at opening the cash register the suspect fled.

The suspect is described as a white male, 20-25 years old, tall, about 175 lbs. with a medium build. The suspect is further described as having round eyes, a wide chin, and his face and neck is covered with acne.

The suspect has long thin fingers and a generally scruffy appearance. At the time he was wearing a ball cap and a hooded 3/4 pull over jacket.

If you have any information on this or any other crime you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Remember we don't want your name, but please give us your information.

Call 937-8477 or 1-800-265-8477.

Area man charged, held

Alexandria resident Guy Cholette was charged with creating a disturbance when Alexandria Police were called to a fight on Main Street.

When police arrived it was determined there was no fight, but one man was intoxicated and began yelling rather loudly. Cholette was taken into custody and spent the night in a cell until he sobered up.

Cholette was released on a promise to appear in court on Jan. 9.

Drive pays for operation, makes donation to CHEO

The fund raising drive for Joyce Martineau has completely paid for expensive orthodontal work and contributed to the children's hospital in Ottawa.

"We're pretty happy about everything," said Gordie Kerr, one of the organizers behind the campaign.

The drive raised $1,200 to pay for Martineau's operation and came up with another $587 that was donated to leukemia research at the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario.

Fund raising began last summer after Martineau's mother wrote a letter to The Glengarry News describing the trouble her daughter was having because of a cleft pallet.

The letter spurred Kerr, John Goyette and Ron Poissant to try and help.

The group staged a car wash and a portion of revenue from the town's mini putt were donated.

Kerr said most of the money came from personal donations, managed by Sue Labelle and Yvonne Kerr at the Royal Bank.

Separate teachers strike vote inches closer today

make a whole lot of progress," said Barnes. "As long as we're talking it is productive. But it hasn't been very productive lately."

Kevin Lydon, acting director of education, refused to comment on the possibility of a strike until after talks yesterday.

If negotiations fall through and the teachers vote to strike they must give the board five days notice.

Barnes said he is unsure what kind of job action the teachers will take in the event of a strike.

"We've set a date to take a strike vote. After that we'll take things one step at a time," explained Barnes.

After talks last week the board of education maintained "a final offer is a final offer" according to Barnes.

"I hope what they say publicly is just for the public and the print," said Barnes. "But I can't really speak for them."

The board's final offer limits the health care package for teachers and cuts their weekly prep time by 60 minutes.

Barnes said the possibility of a strike is growing with every unproductive day.

"We've been going through this since January," said Barnes., "I've stopped getting optimistic about things because all of a sudden the bottom drops out."

Seniors centre gets go-ahead

services are provided to frail elderly and disabled persons of the area to support and assist them to remain in their own homes," said Richer.

The centre will also provide space for other members of the community like Girl Guides and seniors' social and recreational activities.

It's also anticipated the Alzheimer Society of Cornwall and District will use the centre for its day programs.

In return, the society may contribute profits from its nevada ticket sales at the Genuine Convenience Store in Alexandria.

Glengarry Interagency has also mentioned its interest and is planning to contribute.

The Glengarry Outreach Services will be fundraising to help furnish and buy equipment .

The town is also planning to contribute and will accept donations from citizens who care about the project.

The centre is also receiving $345,000 in provincial funding for which it had to comply with certain criteria.

It had to be located near a high concentration of seniors, there had to be a need for the services like Francophone services in Alexandria, community interest and commitment and collaboration from local groups.

Alexandria had no problem filling the requirements, said Richer.

An estimated 22 per cent of the town's population and 15 per cent of the county's is aged 65 and over.

Plus, about 65 per cent of the population is francophone.

The town also managed to secure help from partnerships like the Legion and outreach to get the project off the ground.

"The benefits and need for a seniors' support centre in Alexandria is undisputed," said Richer.

The centre is "a welcome and long-awaited addition to our community."

Another $86,000 is coming for the united counties, and the town will fundraise another $39,000.

Toy drive launched by business

Business Beat

by Joe Banks, 525-2020

Alexandria businesses and the Lions club are again combining resources to sponsor the 1996 Christmas Toy Drive for the needy.

And this year, some students from Glengarry District High School are helping out.

Alexandria Ford, Scotiabank, Canadian Tire, and The Glengarry News will be again spearheading the local toy drive in conjunction with the Alexandria Lions Club. The drive is intended to put a new or pre-loved toy into the hands of a needy child this Christmas.

Business class students of teacher Jasmine Richard from GDHS will help with the toy drive marketing and distribution to both earn credit for their studies and to bolster the program.

"This is to allow the students to practice business organizational skills and marketing and to show them how businesses are socially responsible," she said.

Last year's toy drive was highly successful, putting several hundred toys into the homes of needy area families. The Alexandria Lions Club coordinates the distribution of the toys along with food vouchers.

The drive also offers donors a chance to win one of five $50 Canadian Tire gift certificates.

Each donor is given a ticket for a draw for the certificates.

Donors are asked to please wrap each toy and indicate with a tag the age and the sex of the child the toy is for.

Toys can be dropped off and draw tickets picked up at any of the above businesses.

For more information, see the advertisement on page 6 of this week's issue.

Lucille Poissant has also offered her business – Lucille's Boutique Mode – as a drop-off point for non-perishable food items or clothing for St. Vincent de Paul.

The store, located in the former Dairy Queen on Main Street south, is centrally located for the purpose. Further information can be obtained by calling Lucille at 525-5266.

Santa's HQ opens Saturday

Santa's headquarters in Alexandria will once again be situated in the former Tabagie St. Denis store on the corners of Catherine and Main streets in Alexandria this Christmas season, and the jolly old elf will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday through the holiday season for photographs with children.

Starting this Saturday and Sunday, and carrying on every Saturday and Sunday until Dec. 22, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Santa's headquarters will be open.

Sponsored by the Alexandria Business Improvement Association (BIA), the public will not only be able to drop in and see Santa and have photos taken with him, but also have their gift wrapping done for a nominal charge, the proceeds of which will go to charity.

Of course, the season really kicks off in Alexandria this Friday night, when the popular annual Christmas candlelight caroling parade and tree lighting is held in the Mill Square.

Anyone wishing to ride aboard the caroling floats or walk along the town's Main Street can meet in the parking lot of Alexandria Loeb where things will get under way at 7 p.m.

Caroling sheets will be made available at the starting point and warm refreshments will be served at Mill Square in time for the tree lighting.

New owner at Archie's

There's a new owner at an Alexandria institution.

A 15-year employee of the business, Guylaine Cholette, has assumed ownership of Archie's Barber Shop on Alexandria's Main Street north.

Archie Roussin sold the landmark business to Guylaine two weeks after having owned and operated the barbershop for 33 years.

But that doesn't mean Archie will be laying down his scissors for good.

"I will continue part-time", said Archie.

The deal went through two weeks ago.

Why has Archie chosen now to sell?

"Well, I'll be turning 60 next year. I was more or less in a transition time of my life to slow down," he said. He chose to sell to Guylaine because of her long record of service to the business.

Best of luck to both veterans of the local hair cutting industry.

Anik's mad at midnight

The first annual Midnight Madness sale is planned at the Anik Plaza at the south end of Alexandria this Friday, Nov. 29.

This is a real midnight madness sale, with each of the businesses including Larocque Meats, Little Rikki's Pizza and Video Zone open until midnight for big specials.

To add to the event, Larocque's will be donating two per cent of Friday's sales to the Lions Snowsuit Fund.

Optimists and Creg Quay

The region's Optimists and Creg Quay are joining together to solicit restaurant packages for the facility's dining room – with half of the proceeds going to the club's youth work.

The Optimists will keep 50 per cent of the pre-tax dollars from the program and remit the rest to the production company that produced the project in Ottawa.

Manon Lalonde (525-4373) will handle Alexandria, Sue Poirier (525-5950) Glen Robertson, Richard Leger (525-5950) Green Valley, Normand Vaillancourt (347-2221) and Wilma MacDonald (346-5517) will sell for the SD&G family support services.

Police board in process of "starting from scratch"

The Alexandria Police Services Board is considering several policy changes - including major renovations to the police station - following a meeting with Bart Carl, police service advisor for the province of Ontario.

According to Police board member Grant Crack, Carl has briefed the board on deficiencies regarding operating procedures and policing policies.

"We have already addressed some issues and others are in the process of being addressed," said Crack. "Basically to quote him, 'we are starting from scratch.' In my opinion it will be a brand new police force."

Crack said while the faces behind the badges will remain the same, the police force will take on a better image publicly with a new building and a concrete operating plan.

"There's really been no cost figure" attached as yet, said Crack. "The greatest cost will be providing an adequate facility for the police. The existing building is in need of major renovations. We're looking at the cost of renovating versus the cost of relocation."

The board will be provided with a report outlining the future of the police.

Crack said the board is preparing for "one thick file, rather than things coming in piece-meal. We were aware of a number of deficiencies and we are required by law to fix them."

The board should receive the file by mid-December.

Crack is hoping "we'll be able to position ourselves so we'll be able to sell the police service and make it appealing to other municipalities we will end up joining after amalgamation.

Reform Party to re-organize

The Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Reform Party Riding Association has re-organized in accordance with the Canada Elections Act 1996.

The nation-wide population census taken every five years is the basis which Elections Canada used to determine each riding's voting populations and boundaries. Any general election held after Jan. 8, 1997 will be held in accordance with the new boundaries.

"This is the first organizational step each party has to take in preparing for the next federal election," says Reform constituency association president Eric McFee of Rockland. "I believe we are the first out of the blocks in this riding."

"Our directors and members in every part of the riding will now begin to focus on poll organization and fund raising," added McFee. "We will be working hard to get the Reform message out to as many people as possible before the next election is called and people cast their votes."

The 100-plus members of the Reform Party in Glengarry-Prescott-Russell recently held three meetings in Cumberland, Russell and Alexandria and chose a slate of 10 directors. These include George Clarkin, Russell; Sherrill Douglas, Vankleek Hill; Sam McCracken, Dalkeith; Brian McEntee, Russell; Eric McFee, Rockland; Wes McLeod, Embrun; and Ed Wright, Lan-

Life on the Farm Worth Waking Up For

What? You don't think that life on the farm is worth awaking at 5:30 in the morning. Obviously you have never experienced the joy of life in the country. The morning is brightened by the rising of the sun, the coming home of the cows and the chirping of the birds. In the city, no matter how early or late you crawl out of bed, the first sight and sound is that of the traffic hurrying about on the busy streets below.

On the farm, I have seen and helped many cows give birth. I have raised those calves and later aided them when they gave birth to calves of their own. Feeding and cleaning of these animals is an art of our daily chores. We do not have to drive miles and miles to see the beauty of nature; it is right in our back yards.

In the late spring, summer and early fall, family and neighbors gather together to help each other plant and harvest crops as quickly as possible while the weather is suitable. Not only are we out in the fields breathing in the fresh air and getting our work done, we are also getting to know each other a little better.

During the winter, especially Christmas holidays and March break, we join our parents in gathering the stove wood. Although we could take the tractor to the bush, we harness the team of horses and head to the woods with the sleigh. On our way to the bush we sing songs, but on the way home we curl blankets around ourselves as the sun begins to disappear behind the trees.

In early spring, we harness the horses again, but this time we load the sleigh with sap buckets. We tap our trees and hang the buckets, then anxiously wait for our first taste of the sweet sap. Everyday, we go back to the bush and gather the sap and bring it back to the sugar camp where we boil it. Hours later we are finally bottling the syrup we will be soaking our pancakes in.

The city may have more museums, stores and theatres than the rural community, but we do not need them. Everything we need and want to survive and be happy is right here on our farms. I would wake at 2:30 in the morning for life in the country rather than sleep until 11 o'clock and be stuck in the city.

Wanda McDonell,
Maxville

A Letter to a Big city Friend

Dear Heather,

It was wonderful to hear all about your life in the big city. I thought you would like to know about life here in rural Ontario.

Many people see country life as just farming. When they drive through the country side, all they can see are the cows and the endless fields of wheat, hay and corn.

As elsewhere, our dairy farmers are up at the crack of dawn and out working in the barn. The milking is done and the animals are fed. In our area, most of the dairy farms milk Holstein cows – those are the black and white ones; other dairy breeds include Ayrshire – the red and white ones or Jerseys – the caramel colored ones with the beautiful eyes. Beef farmers here have a lot of Hereford cows, but we also have Limousins, Charolais and a few Angus. Some farmers have goats, sheep and horses, as well as large poultry and hog operations. On my farm, we have goats and sheep, but we don't have to milk them as early in the morning as we don't ship milk. The sheep look after themselves.

But life in the country isn't all farming. The towns around here are not just little villages. Alexandria, which is not far from us, is a nice little town made up of both English and French speaking people. It has a high school for the surrounding area and a couple of elementary schools. I am in the high school which is two schools in one. We have both English and French kids together and share the same facilities. Our school has a reputable sports section and an excellent band. Last year we played in the Nationals and won a gold placing. As you might imagine, we were really pleased!

Another thing different from city life is the marvelous scenery that we receive in every single season. In the spring, we have the wonders of new life. The animals have babies, the trees sprout new leaves and the whole world returns to a lovely green. In the city, you probably don't get to experience this wonder of rebirth. I love being able to go out to the barn and watch the new kids and lambs being born. As they get older and go outside in the early spring, they love to bounce and run in the field always with an ear and an eye to where Mom is. One of their favorite games is "King of the Castle" which they play on the manure pile!

In the summer, country people have gardens full of new, fresh vegetables, corn and barley growing in the fields and the animals are fattening up to give us our meat for the winter. We increase our population many fold, as we raise a few veal calves, a couple of pigs and lots of chickens and turkeys for the freezer. It means a lot more work feeding them but our biggest problem is protecting from foxy-loxy. All country animals are not great!

In the fall, the whole country turns to marvelous shades of red, brown, orange, and gold. Of course, we have to go back to school! As we ride the bus, we can see the marvelous spectacle of colors. The fields of grains are at their peak and ready to harvest along with the pumpkins in our garden.

It is absolutely beautiful here in the winter. The whole world is a pure, beautiful white. For as far as you can see, the earth seems to be covered in a blanket of snow, sleeping away until awakening in the spring with a flourish of new life. I love the crunch of ice cold snow under my feet or the beauty of an ice storm as it covers the trees with glitter. (This can also mean downed power lines, slippery roads and no school but you have to take the bad with the good!)

I would love for you to come and see for yourself the beauty of Glengarry. Feel free to come at any time. You will always be welcome at my house, and Mom says she has a guest manure fork!

Hope to hear from you soon,

Your friend, Laura Patrick

Fashion show was well attended

Dalkeith

by Jean MacLennan
874-2385

The fashion show held at Laggan school on Saturday night was a tremendous success. With weather unifit for man or beast, people came out and supported this fund raising endeavor.

As always happens, the young participants stole the show. Even babes in arms were outfitted with clothing from "Kids Only Clothing" and "Hodgepodge Boutique." Students and adults displayed "Paddy's" well-known attire.

Along with Elaine VanderByl as the convenor of this activity, many other volunteers provided the school and community with an evening of fun and fashion.

The products purchased from the "Christmas Shoppe" catalogue arrived and has been distributed to students. This was another very successful fund raiser.

Community and family members who purchased any items from our students may expect delivery of goods this week.

Donna McMillan, along with Shelley Carrier and another group of volunteers, who told on this project were extremely happy with the results.

Eash classroom will get a portion of the money raised to supplement one of their future activities.

Our volleyball and newcomb ball teams will be off this week competing in numerous sporting events. On Monday the senior girls' volleyball team followed the footsteps of the boys and made a trip to Iona Academy for an evening tournament. On Thursday, Nov. 28, senior girls, senior boys, Grade 6 volleyball and junior mixed newcomb ball teams will be travelling to Tagwi, Roxmore and North Stormont to participate in interschool tournaments.

Suzanne, Bruce, Rachelle and Caroline Polsky of chatham, N.J. spent some time with Merle Levac and other friends here and in Ottawa over the weekend.

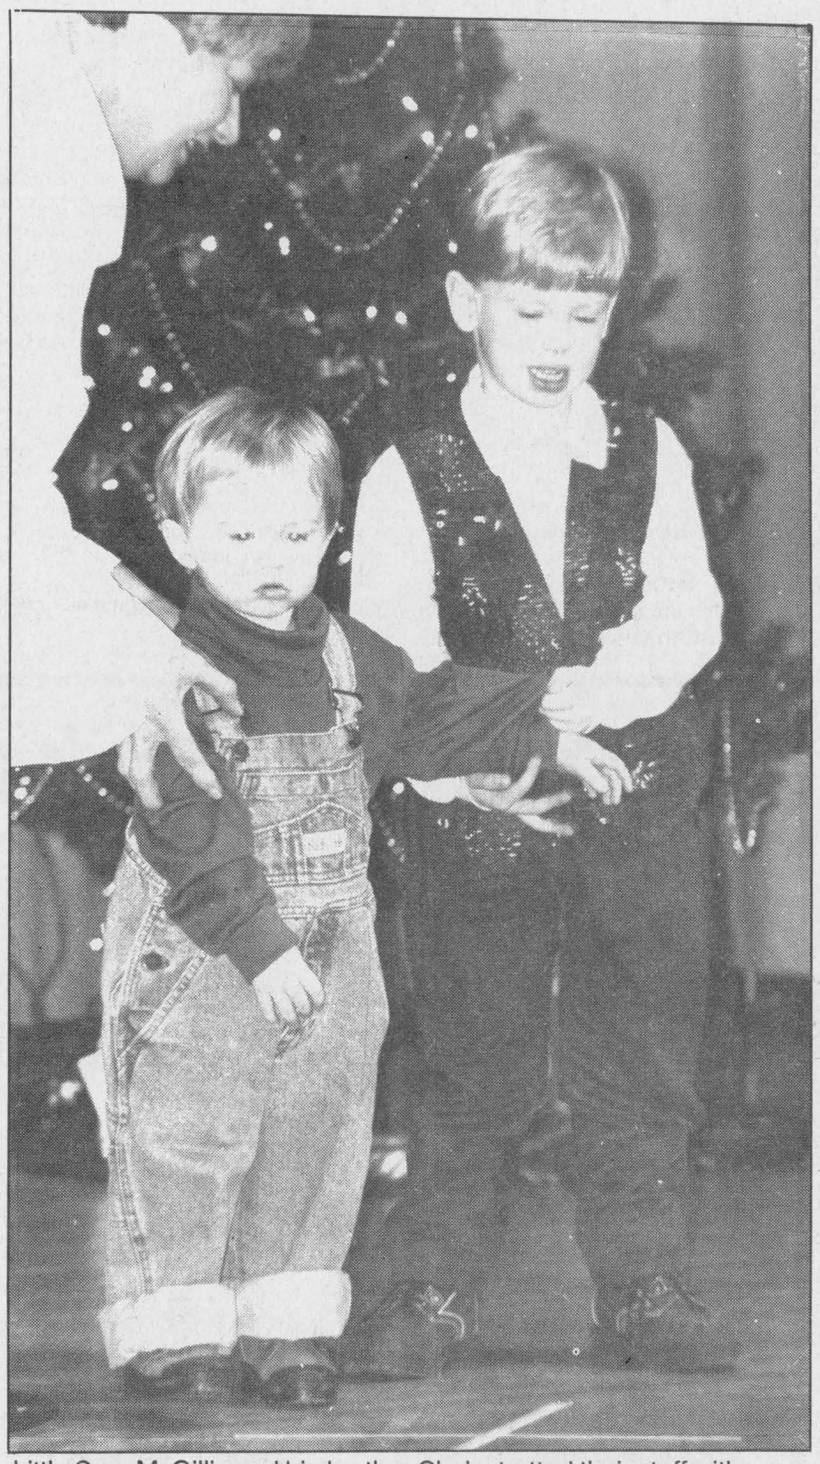
Euchre results form Laggan on Nov. 21 are as follows:

Ladies first, Jean Smith; second, Francoise Dubeau. Men's first, Ted Lapensee; second, tied, Norman MacLeod and Johnnie MacMaster. After three attempts at cutting cards failed, the men decided to split the prize.

The door prize went to Gerald McGillis and the 50/50 draws went to Isabel McPherson, Jessie Renwick, Murielle Poulin, Arcade Dubeau and Norman MacLeod.

Convenors were Henrietta MacSweyn, Lorna MacLeod, Audrey Kennedy and Joyce Bond.



Little Sam McGillis and big brother Clark strutted their stuff with some help from MC Margaret Bartnikas at the Laggan Public School fashion show Saturday night. Over 100 people attended the school fundraiser despite stormy weather.

Optimists of Zone 6 have weekend meeting in Cornwall

Green Valley

by Margo Pepin
525-3581

All the Optimist clubs of Zone 6 district of Eastern Ontario held their first weekend meeting at the Best Western in Cornwall on Nov. 22, 23 and 24.

I'm told there were 250 members at the supper and the special guest was the International President Cliff Katz and his wife Carol.

Representing the Green Valley club were President Richard and Noella Leger, Henri and Gisele Jeaurond, Ron and Ginette Aubin.

The weekend was very instructive and everyone came back with new ideas for the new year.

All heart

The local chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation presented special certificates to a pair of local heroes prior to Sunday night's Alexandria Jr. B Glens hockey game at the Billy Gebbie Arena. Bernice Coleman of Lancaster Heights and Bob Donaher of Williamstown were recognized for their recent life-saving actions and were asked to drop the puck for the ceremonial face-off. Pictured are (left to right) Glens captain Daniel Methot, Coleman, Heart and Stroke Foundation representative Walter Winkiewicz, Donaher, Morrisburg Lions captain Jeff Hyndman and Glens president Robert Lajoie. Winkiewicz conducted a CPR clinic in the arena lobby prior to the game.

Keeping communication lines in Charlottenburgh

Kibby Lutz, Chairman of the Committee of Adjustment, appeared before Charlottenburgh council on Nov. 12 to comment on the case of a township resident.

The resident's application for severance had been denied by the committee, and had subsequently appeared before council in an attempt to see that members of the public were given more information on making an application.

Council decided to allow him to reapply for the severance without charge.

Mr. Lutz said he was coming before council "to keep the lines open."

In this particular case, it did not matter that the applicant did not have all the information about lot size, because that was not the factor deciding the rejection of his application.

"We could have changed his lot sizes at the table," said Lutz.

Reeve O'Shaughnessy said he did not want to rehash the issue but said that perhaps "we can make an avenue where, if someone objects, we can tell you beforehand, and you can be present (at council)."

Although Lutz said he would be happy to oblige, Deputy-reeve Don Kannon didn't like the idea.

"I don't think it's a good idea to bring council and the committee of adjustment together.

Then council would become an arbitrator. You're just inviting confrontation," said Kannon.

What's Alexandria's former mayor up to?

J.P. Touchette enjoying life as a public servant

By Todd Lihou
News* reporter

Former Alexandria Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette is still enjoying life in politics – sort of.

Touchette was appointed to the Canada Pension Plan Review Tribunal just over a year ago and is enjoying life back in the political arena.

As a member of the tribunal, Touchette is responsible for awarding disability and old-age pensions.

Touchette says his time as a politician in Alexandria - a total of 20 years as mayor - prepared him well for his new job.

"The cases I'm hearing now a mayor hears everyday," said Touchette. "There's an awful lot of needy people out there. Actually, this is just a continuation of my career."

Touchette received his appointment by "submitting my name when I was finished with the town. It's an appointment by the Governor General."

The tribunal consists of three people: one from the field of medicine, law and a member of the public. Touchette falls into category three.

"I was supposed to be in the Ottawa region," says Touchette. "But it is more like Eastern Ontario. We meet in places like Trenton and Cornwall. I've even been as far as Kapuskasing."

Touchette hopes his career on the tribunal will continue for some time.

"The terms last about three years," he explained. "After that they must check out how you feel and then decide if you should continue. You either get it, or you don't.

"I enjoy it. I'm 68, but I could do this for a few more years yet."

29 — Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen,
When the snow lay round about,
Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Though the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gathering winter fuel.
Hither page, and stand by me,
If you know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?''
''Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain,
Right against the forest-fence,
By Saint Agnes' Fountain.''
''Bring me flesh, and bring me wine,
Bring me pine logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear them thither.''
Page and monarch, forth they went,
Forth they went together;
Through the rude wind's wild lament
And the bitter weather.
''Sire, the night is darker now,
And the winds blow stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how;
I can go no longer.''
''Mark my footsteps, my good page
Tread thou in them boldly,
Thou shalt find winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly.''
In his master's steps he trod,
Where the snow lay dinted;
Heat was in the very sod
Which the Saint had printed.
Therefore, Christian men, be sure,
Wealth and rank possessing,
Ye who now will bless the poor,
Shall yourselves find blessing. .

30 — Ça Bergers

1. Ça bergers assemblons-nous
Allons voir le Messie
Cherchons cet enfant si doux
Dans les bras de Marie
Je l'entend, il nous appelle tous
O sort digne d'en vie!
2. Laissons là tout le troupeau,
Qu'il erre à l'aventure,
Que sans nous sur ce côteau
Il cherche sa pâture.
Allons voir dans un petit berceau
L'auteur de la nature.
3. Que l'hiver par ses frimas
Ait endurci la plaine,
S'il croit arrêter nos pas,
Cette espérance est vaine.
Quand on cherche un Dieu
rempli d'appas,
On ne craint point la peine.

Hark, the Herald Angels sing

Hark the herald angels sing,
''Glory to the new-born King,
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled.''
Joyful, all ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies,
With the angelic host proclaim,
''Christ is born in Bethlehem.''
REFRAIN:
Hark, the herald angels sing
''Glory to the new-born King.''
Christ, by highest heaven adored,
Christ, the everlasting Lord,
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of a virgin's womb,
Veiled in flesh the Godhead see,
Hail, the incarnate Deity,
Pleased as Man with man to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel!!
REFRAIN:
Hail, the heaven born Prince of Peace!
Hail, the Son of Righteousness!
Light and life to all He brings,
Risen with healing in His Wings,
Mild He lays his glory by,
Born that men no more may die,
Born to raise the sons of earth,
Born to give them second birth.
REFRAIN:

32 — O Christmas Tree

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
How beautiful and bright
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
How beautiful and bright.
The sight of thee at Christmas tide
Spreads hope and gladness far and wide,
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree
How beautiful and bright.

33 — The First Noël

The first Noël the angel did say
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay:
In fields where they lay a-keeping their sheep
On a cold winter's night that was so deep.
REFRAIN:
Noël, Noël, Noël, Noël,
Born is the King of Israel.
They looked up and saw a star,
Shining in the east, beyond them far
And to the earth it gave a great light,
And so it continued both day and night.
And by the light of that same star,
Three wise men came from country far
To seek for a King was their intent,
And to follow the star wherever it went.
The star drew nigh to the northwest,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest.
And there it did both stop and stay,
Right over the place where Jesus lay.
Then entered in those wise men three,
Fell reverently upon their knee,
And offered there in His presence
Their gold and myrrh and frankincense.
Then let us all with one accord
Sing praises to our heavenly Lord,
That hath made heaven and earth of 'nought,
And with His blood mankind hath brought.

34 — It Came Upon A Midnight Clear

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold;
''Peace on the earth, good will to men,
From Heaven's all-gracious King.''
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.
Still through the coven skies they come
With peaceful wings unfurled;
And stil their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plains
They bend on hovering winds,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds
The blessed angels sing.
But with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And man, at war with man, hears not
The love song which they bring;
O hush the noise, ye men in strife,
And hear the angels sing.
And ye, beneath life's crushing load
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the climbing way
With painful steps and slow,
Look now! For glad and golden hours
Come swiftly on the wing,
O rest beside the weary road,
And hear the angels sing.
For lo! The days are hastening on,
By prophet bards foretold,
When with the very-circling years
Comes round the Age of Gold.
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendours fling,
And the whole world give back the song
Which now the angels sing.

FOLD ON DOTTED LINE...

The Glengarry News, Alexandria, Ontario

1 — Angels We Have Heard on High

Angles we have heard on high,
Sweetly singing o'er the plains
And the mountains in reply
Echoing their joyous strains.
CHORUS:
Gloria, in excelsis Deo.
Gloria, in excelsis Deo.
Shepherds, why this jubilee?
Why your joyous strains prolong?
What the gladsome tidings be
Which inspire your heavenly song?
Come to Bethlehem and see
Him whose birth the angels sing.
Come and adore on bended knee
Christ the Lord, the newborn King.

2 — We Three Kings

We three Kings of Orient are,
Bearing gifts we traverse afar,
Field and fountain, moor and mountain,
Following yonder star.
REFRAIN:
O star of wonder, star of night,
Star of royal beauty bright;
Westward leading, still proceeding,
Guide us to that perfect light.
Born a King on Bethlehem's plain,
Gold I bring to crown him again,
King forever, ceasing never,
Over us all to reign.
Frankincense to offer have I,
Incense owns a Deity nigh,
Prayer and praising, all men raising,
Worship Him, God most high.
Myrrh is mine, its bitter perfume
Breathes a life of gathering gloom;
Sorrowing, sighing, bleeding, dying,
Sealed in the stone-cold tomb.
Glorious now behold him arise,
King and God, and Sacrifice!
Alleulia! Alleulia!
Earth to the heavens replies.

3 — Le Reveillon du Jour de l'An

On m'avait invité à réveillonner
Pour fêter l'arrivée de la nouvelle année
Moi qui es toujours gai, je n'ai pas refusé
Et à mon arrivée j'ai entendu chanter,
Ah que c'est bon prendre un verre de bière,
Avec la cuisinière dans un p'tit coin noir
Et si c'est bon, bon à l'oréal
Y'a pas de mal là dans l'temps du Jour de l'An
Mais il est arrivé, on lui souhaite la Bonne Année
La bière est de cote et on prend du Brandy, on a tous mangé
Je me suis enivré, et toute la Sainte journée
Je me mets à murmurer
Ah que c'est si bon, bon . . .

4 — Santa Claus is Comin' to Town

CHORUS:
You better watch out, you better not cry
Better not pout, I'm telling you why:
Santa Claus is comin' to town.
He's making a list and checking it twice,
Gonna find out who's naughty and nice,
Santa Claus is comin' to town.
He sees you when you're sleepin',
He knows when you're awake,
He knows if you've been bad or good,
So be good for goodness sake.
Oh! You better watch out, you better not cry,
Better not pout, I'm telling you why:
Santa Claus is coming to town.
1. I just came back from a lovely trip
Along the Milky Way,
I stopped off at the North Pole
To spend a holiday;
I called on dear old Santa Claus
To see what I could see,
He took me to his workshop
And told his plans to me. So,
Chorus
2. Now Santa is a busy man,
He has no time to play,
He's got millions of stockings
To fill on Christmas day;
You'd better write your letter now
And mail it right away,
Because he's getting ready
His reindeers and his sleigh. So,

5 — Jingle Bells

CHORUS
Jingle bells, jingle bells
Jingle all the way
O what fun it is to ride
In a one-horse-open-sleigh.
1. A day or two ago,
I thought I'd take a ride
And soon Miss Fanny Bright
Was seated by my side,
The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seemed his lot,
We ran into a drifted bank,
And we, we got upsot!
CHORUS
2. Dashing through the snow
In a one-horse-open-sleigh,
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way,
Bells on bob-tail ring,
Making spirits bright
What fun it is to ride, and
Sing a sleighing song tonight!

6 — Away in a Manger

Away in a manger,
No crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus
Laid down His sweet head.
The stars in the bright sky
Looked down where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus
Asleep on the hay.
The cattle are lowing,
The Baby awakes,
But little Lord Jesus
No crying He makes.
I love Thee, Lord Jesus;
Look down from the sky,
And stay by my side
Until morning is nigh.
Be near me, Lord Jesus,
I ask Thee to stay
Close by me forever,
And love me,I pray.
Bless all the dear children
In Thy tender care,
And fit us for heaven
To live with thee there.

7 — Winter Wonderland

Over the ground lies a mantle of white,
A Heaven of diamonds shine down thru the night
Two hearts are thrilling in spite of the chill in the weather.
Love knows no season, Love knows no clime,
Romance can blossom any old time,
Here in the open, we're walking and hoping together.
Chorus
Sleighbells ring, are you listening?
In the lane, snow is glistening,
A beautiful sight, we're happy tonight,
Waling in a winter wonderland
Gone away is the blue bird,
Here to stay is a new bird,
He sings a love song, as we go along,
Walking in a winter wonderland.
In the meadow we can build a snowman,
Then pretend that he is Parson Brown,
He'll say ''Are you married?''
We'll say ''No, man! But you can do the job when you're in town!''...
Later on we'll conspire
As we dream by the fire,
The face unafraid, the plans that we made,
Walking in the winter wonderland!

8 — White Christmas

The sun is shining, the grass is green,
The orange and palm trees sway,
There's never been such a day
In Beverly Hills, L.A.
But it's December, the twenty-fourth,
And I'm longing to be up north.
Chorus
I'm dreaming of a White Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know,
Where the tree tops glisten
And children listen
To hear sleighbells in the snow.
I'm dreaming of a White Christmas
With ev'ry Christmas card I write.
May your days be merry and bright,
And may all your Christmases be white.

9 — What Child Is This

What child is this, who,laid to rest,
On Mary's lap is sleeping?
Whom angels greet with anthems sweet,
While shepherds watch are keeping?
CHORUS:
This, this is Christ the King;
Whom shepherds guard and angels sing:
Haste, haste to bring Him laud,
The Babe, the son of Mary!

10 — Joy To The World

Joy to the world! The Lord is come!
Let earth receive her King;
Let every heart prepare Him room,
And Heaven and nature sing.

Joy to the earth! The Saviour reigns,
Let men their songs employ;
While fields and floods,
Rocks, hills and glades
Repeat the sounding joy.

No more let sins and sorrows grow
Nor thorns infest the ground,
He comes to make his blessings flow
Far as the curse is found.

He rules the earth with truth and grace,
And makes the nations prove
The glories of His righteousness,
And wonders of His Love.

11 — O Come All Ye Faithful

O Come, All Ye faithful!
Joyful and triumphant,
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem,
Come and behold Him,
Born, the King of angels;
O come, let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.
God of God.
Light of Light.
Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's womb;
Very God,
Begotten, not created;
O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.
Sing, choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of Heaven above;
"Glory to God
In the highest;"
O come let us adore Him,Christ the Lord.
Yea, Lord we greet Thee,
Born this happy morning
Jesus, to Thee be glory given;
Word of the Father, Now in flesh appering;
O come, let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.

12 — Mon Beau Sapin

1. Mon beau sapin, roi des forêts,
Que j'aime ta parure!
Quand par l'hiver, bois et guérêts
Sont dépouillés de leurs attraits,
Mon beau sapin, roi des forêts,
Tu gardes ta parure.

2. Toi que Noël planta chez nous
Au saint anniversaire,
Joli sapin, comme ils sont doux,
Et tes bonbons et tes joujoux,
Toi que Noël planta chez nous,
Par les mains de ma mère.

3. Mon beau sapin, tes verts sommets
Et leur fidèle ombrage,
De la foi qui ne ment jamais,
De la constance et de la paix,
Mon beau sapin, tes verts sommets
M'offrent la douce image.

13 — Il est né Divin Enfant

REFRAIN
Il est né, le divin Enfant!
Jouez, hautbois, résonnez, musettes;
Il est né, le divin Enfant;
Chantons tous son avènement.

1. Depuis plus de quatre mille ans
Nous le promettaient les prophètes:
Depuis plus de quatre mille ans
Nous attendions cet heureux temps!
REFRAIN:

2. Ah! Qu'il est beau, qu'il est charmant!
Ah! ques ses grâces sont parfaites!
Ah! qu'il est beau, qu'il est charmant!
Qu'il est doux, ce divin enfant!
REFRAIN

3. Une étable est son logement,
Un peu de paille est sa couchette;
Une étable est son logement:
Pour un Dieu, quel abaissement!
REFRAIN

4. O Jésus! O roi tout-puissant!
Tout petit enfant que vous êtes,
O Jésus! O roi tout-puissant!
Régnez sur nous entièrement.
REFRAIN

14 — Star of the East

Star of the East,
Oh Bethlehem's star,
Guiding us on the Heaven afar!
Sorrow and grief and lull'd by thy light,
Thou hope of each mortal,
In death's lonely night!
Oh star that leads to God above!
Whose rays are Peace and Joy and Love
Watch o'er us still till life hath ceased,
Beam on, bright star, sweet Bethlehem star!

15 — Shepherds In The Fields Abiding

Shepherds in the field abiding,
Tell us, when the seraph bright
Greeting you with wondrous tidings
What you saw and heard that night.
REFRAIN:
Gloria, in excelsis Deo.
Gloria, in excelsis Deo.
Gloria, in excelsis Deo.

We behold (it is fable)
God incarnate, King of bless,
Swathed and cradled in a stable,
And the angel strain was this:
REFRAIN:

Choristers on high were singing,
Jesus and His Virgin-birth.
Heavenly bells the while a-ringing,
"Peace, good will to men on earth".
REFRAIN:

Thanks, good herdsmen, true your story,
Have with you to Bethlehem;
Angels hymn the King of glory
Carol we with you and them.
REFRAIN:

16 — O Little Town of Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem
How still we see thee lie!
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go buy;
Yet in thy dark stareets shineth
The everlasting Light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ is born of Mary;
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wondering love.
O morning str, together
Proclaim the holy birth,
And praises sing to God the King,
And peace to men on earth.

How silently how silently,
The wonderous gift is given!
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of His heaven.
No ear may hear His coming;
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive Him, still
The dear Christ enters in.

O holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend to us, we pray;
Cast out our sin, and enter in;
Be born in us today.
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord Emmanuel.

17 — Noël a la Campagne

Comme nous sommes des bons Habitants,
Envoye, Envoye la p'tite jument
Le jour de Noël est important.
Envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument,
Le jour de Noël est important.
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument,
En cas de beau temps, mauvais temps
Envoye, envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.
En cas du beau temps, mauvais temps,
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument,
A la messe de minuit on se rend
Envoye, envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.
A la messe de minuit on se rend
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument
On s'en retourne tous content
Envoye, envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.
On s'en retourne tous content,
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument
Avec tous nos amis du rangs
Envoye, envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.
Avec tous nos amis du rangs,
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.
On vas fêter cet événement
Envoye, envoye la p'tite toute p'tite
Envoye, envoye la p'tite jument.

18 — While Shepherds Watched

While shepherds watched their flocks by night,
All seated on the ground,
The angel of the Lord came down,
And glory shone around.
"Fear Not," said he (for mighty dread had seized their troubled minds);
"Glad tidings of great joy I bring
To you and all mankind."

"To you in David's town, this day
Is born of David's line
A Saviour, who is Christ the Lord;
And this shall be the sign.
The heavenly Babe you there shall find
To human view displayed,
All meanly wrapped in swaddling bands
And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the Seraph and forthwith
Appeared a shining throng
Of angels praising God who thus Addressed their joyful song.
"All glory be to God on high,
And to the earth be peace,
Goodwill henceforth from Heaven to men
Begin and never cease."

Trois Anges 19 — Sont Venus

Trois anges sont venus ce soir
M'apporter de bien belles choses;
L'un d'eux avait un encensoir,
L'autre avait un chapeau de roses.
Et le troisième avait en main
Une robe toute fleurie
De perles, d'or et de jasmin,
Comme en a Madame Marie!
Noël! Noël! Nous venons du ciel
t'apporter ce que tu désires,
Car le bon Dieu Au fond du ciel bleu
Est chagrin lorsque tu soupires!
Veux-tu le bel encensoir d'or,
Ou la rose éclose en couronne?
Veux-tu la robe, ou bien encore
Un collier où l'argent fleuronne?
Veux-tu des fruits du Paradis
Ou du blé des célestes granges?
Ou comme les bergers, jadis,
Veux-tu voir Jésus dans ses langes?
Noël! Noël! Retournez au ciel,
Mes beaux anges, à l'instant même;
Dans le ciel bleu
Demandez à Dieu
Le bonneur pour celui que j'aime!

20 — L'enfant Au Tambour

Sur la route...
Petit tambour s'en va...
Il sent son coeur qui bat...
Au rythme de ses pas...
Oh! Petit enfant...
Où vas-tu?
Hier mon père...
A suivi le tambour...
Le tambour des soldats...
Alors, je vais au ciel...
Là, je vais donner
Pour son retour
Mon tambour.
Tous les anges...
Ont pris leurs beaux tambours...
Et ont dit à l'enfant...
Ton père est de retour...
Et l'enfant s'éveille...
Sur son tambour...

21 — Bonhomme! Bonhomme!

Bonhomme', bonhomm', sais-tu jouer, (bis)
Sais-tu jouer de ce violon là. (bis)
Zing zing de ce violon-là. (bis)
Bonhomme!
Tu n'est pas maître dans ta maison
Quand nous y sommes!
Bonhomm', bonhomm', si tu jouais (bis)
Si tu jouais de cett' flûte-là (bis)
Flûte, flûte, de cett' flût' qui flûte (bis)
Zing, zin, zan, de ce violon-là (bis)
Bonhomme! (bis)
Tu n'est pas maître dans ta maison
Quand nous y sommes!

22 — Petit Papa Noël

Petit papa Noël
Quand tu descendras du ciel
Avec tes jouets par milliers
N'oublie pas mon petit soulier
Mais avant de partir
Il faudra bien te couvrir
Dehors tu vas avoir si froid
C'est un peu à cause de moi.

23 — Sainte Nuit

1. O nuit de paix, Sainte nuit!
Dans le ciel l'astre luit;
Dans les champs tout repose en paix.
Mais soudain, dans l'air pur et frais.
Le brillant choeur des anges
Aux bergers apparaît.

2. O nuit de foi! Sainte nuit!
Les bergers son instruits;
Confiants dans la voix des cieux,
Ils s'en vont adorer leur Dieu;
Et Jésus en échange
Leur sourit radieux.

3. O nuit d'amour! Sainte nuit!
Dans l'étable, aucun bruit;
Sur la paille est couché l'Enfant
Que la Vierge endort en chantant;
Il repose en ses langes
Son Jésus ravissant.

4. O nuit d'espoir! Sainte nuit!
L'espérance a reluit:
Le Sauveur de la terre est né;
C'est à nous que Dieu l'a donné.
Célébrons ses louanges:
Gloire au Verbe Incarné!

24 — Vive le Vent

Sur le long chemin, tout blanc de neige blanch,
Un vieux monsieur s'avance avec sa canne dans la main.
En tout là-haut le vent qui siffle dans les branches,
Lui souffle la romance qu'il chantait petit enfant:
REF:
Viv' le vent, viv' le vent, viv' le vent d'hiver!
Qui s'en va, sifflant, soufflant,
Dans les grands sapins verts! Oh!
Viv' le temps, viv' le temps, viv' le temps d'hiver!
Boul' de neige et jour de l'an, et bonne année grand-mère!
Joyeux, joyeux Noël aux mill' bougies,
Quand chantent vers le ciel les cloches de la nuit; Oh!
Viv' le vent, viv' le vent, viv'le vent d'hiver,
Qui rapporte aux vieux enfants leurs souvenirs d'hiver.
Et le vieux monsieur descend vers le village,
C'est l'heure où tout est sage, et l'ombre danse au coin du feu,
Mais dans chaque maison, il flotte un air de fête,
Partout la table est prête et l'on entend la mêm' chanson.

25 — D'où viens-tu, bergère

D'où viens tu bergère
D'où viens-tu?
D'où viens-tu bergère
D'où viens-tu?
Je viens de l'étable
De m'y promener
J'ai vu un miracle
Ce soir arrivé.

26 — Noël Blanc

Oh, quand j'entends chanter Noël
J'aime à revoir mes joies d'enfant
Le sapin scintillant
La neige d'argent . . .
Noël, mon beau rêve blanc.
Oh, quand j'entends sonner au ciel
L'heure où le bon vieillard descend
Je revois tes yeux clairs, Maman!
Et je songe à d'autres Noël blancs . . .

27 — Le p'tit renne au Nez Rouge

On l'appelait, Nez Rouge
Ah comme il était mignon
Le p'tit renne au Nez Rouge
Rouge comme un lumignon.
Son p'tit nez faisait rire
Chacun s'en moquait beaucoup
On allait jusqu'a dire
Qu'il avait le nez partout.

Une fée qui l'entendit
Pleurer dans le noir
Pour le consoler lui dit:
Viens au paradis ce soir
Comme un angè, Nez Rouge
Tu conduiras dans le ciel
Avec ton p'tit Nez Rouge
Le chariot du Père Noël.

Quand ses frères le virent d'allure si leste
Suivre très digne les routes célestes
Devant ses ebats
Plus d'un renne resta baba.
On l'appelait nez rouge
Ah comme il était mignon
Le p'tit renne au Nez Rouge
Rouge comme un lumignon.
Maintenant qu'il entraîne son entratraîne char
A travers les cieux
C'est lui le roi des rennes
Et son nez fait des envieux.

Vous fillettes et garçons
Pour la grande nuit
Si vous savez vos leçons
Des que sonnera minuit
Ce petit point qui bouge
Ainsi qu'une étoile au ciel
C'est le nez de Nez Rouge
Annonçant le Père Noël.

28 — Sainte Nuit

Sainte Nuit, à minuit
Le hameau dort sans bruit
Dans l'étable repose un enfant
Que sa mère contemple en priant
Elle a vu le Sauveur
Dans l'enfant de son coeur.

Charlottenburgh

Council Briefs

A regular meeting of Charlottenburgh Council took place on Nov. 12 in Williamstown. The following are among the items discussed by council.

Sir John Johnson house delegation

Led by former Charlottenburgh Reeve Archibald MacDonell, a delegation appeared before council to give an update on what has been happening with the Sir John Johnson Manor House, a national historic site located in Williamstown.

MacDonell outlined the progress that his committee had made over the past two years in getting work done at the site in co-operation with the building's owner, Parks Canada.

He paid tribute to the co-chairs of the committee, Bev Schaefer and Jean Fraser, for what they had been able to get accomplished in that time.

The committee asked council for a donation of $3500 to meet the expenses of becoming incorporated as a non-profit group, to provide a pump so that water may be drawn from the Raisin River for the gardens to be established on the grounds, and for furnishings for the house.

Plans are to set up a community meeting room in the portion of the building currently under construction and to implement a resource/geneological archives for public use.

Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy thanked MacDonell for his presentation and said the group would hear back from the township in early February.

Residents not notified of change

Calling it "an advertising glitch," Administrator/clerk Marcel Lapierre said that residents living on private roads were not notified that winter garbage pickup regulations had come into effect on Nov. 1.

The contractor had been told that garbage should be picked up at the public access area after that date, but unfortunately, the public did not know this.

In the past, the rule was "after the first snowfall." It was implemented on Nov. 12 last year, but this year the municipality decided to settle on the firm date of Nov. 1.

Water service to area

A public meeting with residents in the Gilmore Hill/Sutherland Drive area will be set up in early December, to explore the extent of support for water service from the municipality's watermain along Hwy #2, west of Glen Walter.

Renewed hospital process system approved

The Cornwall General Hospital, The Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph Health Centre of Cornwall (Hotel Dieu Hospital) and the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario have agreed to a process which would lead to a renewed hospital system proposal by March 1997.

The Hospital system Renewal Project is a collaborative effort between the hospitals and the District Health Council to determine what is the best possible solution for Cornwall and area.

Across the province, changes to Ontario's health care system are being discussed and many people are worried about losing essential health services in their community. What will happen? When will it happen? How will this affect my family? Why does it need to happen?

These changes are being proposed in order to create a "seamless" health care system which would provide opportunities for better coordination of services, easier access, as well as more efficient and cost effective services.

The province wants an integrated system of hospitals and other health centres, including pharmacies, emergency services, laboratories and other health care providers. That is to say these services would all work together as a close network to provide a full range of health-related services for patients and consumers.

To fulfill this vision and participate in a province-wide action plan, each community responds with local initiatives.

The Hospital System Renewal Project began in March 1996, under the direction of a steering committee. Since the beginning, more than 14 work groups dealing with clinical and support programs have been gathering information and reviewing four options. The options range from maintaining the actual system to moving towards one site and one management.

In the next few weeks, the District Health Council will be asking the public to participate in a public consultation process in order to obtain feedback and comments. The overall objective of the Hospital System Renewal Project is to maintain excellence in health care services, to achieve operating efficiencies while ensuring accessibility of a full range of health services to the community.

On Wednesday, Nov. 20 the Martintown/Williamstown Diner's Club was held at the Martintown Community Centre. Approximately 50 people turned out not only to socialize and enjoy a delicious meal, but to be well informed on the Automobile Insurance Rate Stability Act (Bill 59).

Lloyd Rozon gave a detailed session on the changes taking place with our automobile insurance. A question and answer period took place after the session.

A special thanks to all the volunteers who help make the day a success – also it was especially nice to meet the new members of the club.

Door prize-50/50 winners were: Anna Goudie, Eileen McIntosh, Alford Quinn, Gladys Seguin, Clarence Bethune, Guy Leduc, Len McDonald, Helen McMillan and Gladys Seguin.

Keep the following dates open: Wednesday, Nov. 27, Alexandria Diner's Club, Legion Hall; Thursday, Dec. 12, Glen Robertson/Dalkeith Christmas Diner's Club; Wednesday, Dec. 18, Martintown/Williamstown Christmas Diner's Club; Alexandria Christmas Diner's Club, date not scheduled as yet as our regular date is Dec. 25.

All our Christmas Diner's Clubs will have special entertainment.

Rapids waste 2-0 lead vs. Kanata

The Seaway Valley Major Bantam Rapids settled for a 2-2 tie against Kanata in an Ottawa District Minor Hockey Association "AA" game at Maxville's Osie Villeneuve Arena on Sunday.

The Rapids had a 2-0 lead on goals by Steven Van den Oetelaar and Travis Albers, but Kanata rallied to score twice in the third period for the draw.

Kurt MacSweyn had a pair of assists while Darcy McCormick and Van den Oetelaar each set up one goal.

On Saturday, Derek Wintle and Ian McConnell scored in the Rapids' 5-2 loss to Outaouais. Derek Wagar had two assists while Nigel Newland had one helper.

On Thursday in Nepean, the Rapids lost 7-1 to the Raiders.

Kurt MacSweyn set up Brad McMillan for the only Seaway goal.

Colts tie Braves, defeat Raiders

The Cornwall Colts upped their Central Junior "A" Hockey League record to 11-7-2 with a win and a tie last week.

On Thursday at the Si Miller Arena in Cornwall, ex-Rebel Jamie Herrington scored twice in a 6-3 win over Nepean.

Williamstown's Brent Lauzon was one of the other Cornwall scorers.

On Friday in Brockville, former Rebel David McNally scored in a 1-1 tie with the Braves.

Brockville earned a bonus point by winning the shootout.

Trottier reaches 20-goal plateau

Green Valley's Joel Trottier scored the game-wnning goal as the Ottawa 67's defeated the Oshawa Generals in Ontario Hockey League action on Sunday.

The goal was Trottier's 20th of the season. The third-year winger becomes the fourth OHL player to reach that plateau.

Trottier also assisted on an insurance goal for the 67's, the first-place team in the OHL's East Division with a 17-3-2 record.

Novice Glens, Royals split games

The Alexandria Maggie's Bar-B-Q Glens and the Cornwall Royals split a pair of Upper Canada Minor Hockey League novice division games last week.

The score was 3-2 in both games and on each occasion it was the visiting team coming out on top.

On Thursday in Cornwall, Martin Delorme, Scott Cameron and Luc Beauclair had the goals as the Glens edged the Royals.

Cornwall evened the score with a 3-2 win at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday afternoon.

The Royals took an early 2-0 lead, but late first-period goals by Corey Willard and Francis Latulippe evened the score at 2-2.

Atom Glens win three

It was a busy and profitable weekend for the Seaway Express Atom Glens.

Alexandria's atoms recorded three consecutive wins, including a 12-0 trouncing of the Cornwall Royals to cap the weekend on Sunday at the Billy Gebbie.

Patrick Decoste and Philippe Richer both had hat tricks, Julien Quesnel added two goals and Shane O'Brien, Jocelyn Major, Matthew Lalonde and Roch Beauclair each had single goals.

Christian Decoste and Jeremie Lalonde shared the shutout.

On Saturday in Prescott, goals by Julien Quesnel and Christopher Van Overbeek and a strong effort by the team's four-player defensive corps carried the Glens to a 2-1 victory over the South Grenville Rangers.

On Friday in Long Sault, the Glens downed the South Stormont Selects 5-2.

Christopher Van Overbeek scored twice with singles going to Philippe Richer, Julien Quesnel and Roch Beauclair.

Peewees tie Panthers

The Glengarry Tire Peewees Glens had a tie and a loss last week.

On Tuesday in Kemptville, the Glens rallied form a 3-1 deficit to tie the Panthers 3-3.

A third-period goal by Carlo Stante was the equalizer.

Michael Lauzon and Mathieu Lalonde also scored for Alexandria.

On Sunday in Alexandria, Blake MacMillan scored the only goal as the Glens lost 7-1 to the Brockville Warriors.

Glens feast on Hawks, Lions

By J.L. Lefebvre
Sports editor

The Alexandria Jr. B Glens continued their mastery over the St. Lawrence Division's cellar-dwelling teams by beating both the Winchester Hawks and the Morrisburg Lions on the weekend.

The Glens are 2-0-2 against the Hawks after claiming a 7-5 victory in Winchester on Friday night. Alexandria is 4-0 against Morrisburg following the Glens' 6-5 win over the Leos on Sunday night at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

As has often been the case this season, the Glens had to rally in both weekend games.

Alexandria had to come back from a 4-2 deficit against the Hawks and 3-1 disadvantage against the Lions.

"That's us, the Comeback Kids," said defenceman Marc Menard after Sunday's game.

"We always play well late in the game, but we have to play the same way in first period."

The veteran blue-liner says he's puzzled by Alexandria's poor starts.

"I don't know, maybe we'll have to change our warm-up. We have to find a way to start skating and hitting right away in the first period."

In spite of the Glens' early-game troubles, the team is on a decent roll with only one loss in its last six games.

"Things are going pretty well right now," Menard agreed. "The big thing for us is to use our speed. Speed leads the way for us.

"We're not the biggest team, so if we don't skate, we're in big trouble."

Team speed has been a strength for the Glens all season long, but what about Menard and the rest of the defensive corps?

"The big problem with the defence is that we give the puck away too much. That's probably why we've been having so many problems on the power play," said Menard. "And it hasn't been any one individual, we've all been guilty of it.

"But I think things have really improved in the last five or six games. There's still plenty of room for improvement, but I think our defence is coming around."

Ruest shoots down Hawks

Yves Ruest had three goals and an assist in the Glens' 7-5 win over the Hawks on Friday.

David Dumont had two goals and one helper while Olivier DeMeester and Miguel Delisle also scored.

The Glens scored five of the last six goals of the game to overcome a 4-2 deficit.

Eric Savard had a deuce for the Hawks with singles going to Shane Stroughair, Ryan Nichol and Garth Byrne.

Glens 6 Lions 5

Olivier DeMeester scored twice as the Glens edged the Lions on Sunday.

Miguel Delisle scored a highlight film goal early in the first-period to get the Glens on the board and later added a pair of assists for a three-point night.

Jason Poirier, Yves Ruest and affiliate Cameron Lajoie also scored for the Glens.

Richard Hutt and Daniel Methot each had two assists.

Cory McAllister netted a pair for the Lions with singles going to Marc Brennan, Nick Dixon and James Cooper.

Glens notes: It was an eventful night for goalie Sebastien Laplante on Sunday. Laplante drew an assist on Miguel Delisle's end-to-end goal in the first period and he picked up the win as the Glens beat Morrisburg. The rookie was also the victim of one of the oldest pranks in the hockey book as he raced onto the ice for the third period. Thinking his teammates were behind him, Laplante started an energetic lap, but he soon realized the rest of the team had remained at the entrance and was watching him in amusement...The Glens could soon be losing a player. David Dumont is off on a four-game tryout with the Central League's Gloucester Rangers. Dumont has been playing as an affiliate for Gloucester...The Glens host Athens on Friday and play in Westport on Sunday afternoon.

Rudi's extends CLISL lead with win over Seguin

Rudi Payer Sport won its fifth consecutive Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League game by edging Pierre Seguin Construction 5-4 on Monday night at the Char-Lan high school gym in Williamstown.

Pat Clarke scored a pair of goals for the winners.

Kieran Kennedy became the first CLISL player this season to reach double figures in scoring as he notched his 10th goal of the season. Courtney Mason and Richard Malo also scored for Rudi's, which now leads Seguin and the Glengarry Stars by four points in the race for first place.

Seguin replied with two goals by Gaby Gratton and single markers by Steve Proctor and Shawn Montroy.

Stars back on track

The Stars took advantage of back-to-back games against the league's lowest-ranked teams to climb over the .500 mark.

The defending champions are 3-2 after blanking the Nomads 3-0 and downing Cornwall Bar-B-Q 7-2.

Tim McCuaig netted a pair of goals in the win over the Nomads while Jonathan Hamelin chipped in with a single.

McCuaig also led the offence against Bar-B-Q as he turned in a hat-trick performance.

James Addison added a deuce and Chancey Lajoie and Jonathan Hamelin had singles.

Next week, the winless Nomads face a stiff challenge with games against Rudi's and the Stars.

Pierre Seguin Construction takes on Cornwall Bar-B-Q in the late game.

Malyon, Paquette trade hat tricks in draw

M and S Mechanical and Rozon Insurance skated to a 5-5 tie in Char-Lan Minor Hockey house league action last week.

Robin Malyon for M and S and Riis Paquette for Rozon led their respective teams with hat tricks.

Jordan Schaefer and Brendan Baxter also scored for M and S while Ryan Wereley and Adam Barton were the other Rozon marksmen.

Here are last week's other results:

Atom division

•Mac's Marina 3 (Tim McKay 2, Shawn Borris) Curry Hill Lumber 3 (Chad Carter 2, Adrian Eykens).

Shepherd Sports ups CISL win streak to six

Shepherd Sports is all alone in first place in the Cornwall Indoor Soccer League women's division.

Shepherd upped its season-long win streak to six games with a 3-1 victory over the Spitfires on Sunday.

Meghan MacPherson scored twice for Shepherd's while Katie MacDougall had a single goal.

Shirley Bergeron replied for the Spitfires.

The Blazers Under-19 team lost its share of top spot by losing 5-4 to the Minimax Hearts.

Bonnie MacLeod had a hat trick for the Hearts while Jessica MacLeod scored twice.

Laura Anderson's three goals and Kelly Van Diepen's solo marker accounted for the Blazers offence.

Tracy McNicol and Christie Howes each scored once to help the Raisio Rovers edge the Atlantic 2-1.

Tamara Hartrick scored the lone Atlantic goal.

In other results, La Citadelle downed the Blazer Heat 7-4, the Spitfires and Bold Signs played to a scoreless tie and Ray-Co Sports won by default against the St. Lawrence Roadrunners.

Rudi's puts Bar-B-Q over coals

Rudi Payer Sport pounded Cornwall Bar-B-Q 17-0 in men's first division play.

Kieran Kennedy led the goalscoring parade for the division leaders with four tallies.

Pat Clarke and Pat Burke had hat tricks, Benjamin Pye, Bruce Tessier and Innes Fraser each scored twice and Gareth Pye had a single.

Filion Trophies is still a single point behind Rudi's after a forfeit win over Villeneuve Milk Transport.

Mr. Sub defeated the Young Drivers 8-2 and La Maison downed La Citadelle 5-2 in Sunday's other first division games.

In Division II action, Bill's Sports Bar bombed the Roadrunners 18-1, Backstages edged the Osnabruck Cosmos 2-1 and Jim's Ski-Doo doubled Harvey's 4-2.

Who'll stop the 73's?

Kemptville extends Jr. B unbeaten streak to 17 games with 6-2 win over Char-Lan Rebels

Can anyone stop the Kemptville 73's?

That's the question the rest of the St. Lawrence Division has to be asking itself as the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League approaches the halfway point.

The 73's extended their season-opening unbeaten streak to 17 games by defeating the Char-Lan Rebels 6-2 on Sunday night in Kemptville.

The 73's now lead the second-place Rebels by six points (with Kemptville holding one game in hand over Char-Lan) and the third-place Alexandria Glens by 12.

Andrew Williams scored three times for the 73's on Sunday as Kemptville earned its 15th win to go along with two ties.

Glen Brown, Jeff Ricci and Jason Valcour also scored for the winners.

Mike Rankin scored both goals for Char-Lan – the rookie forward's fourth and fifth tallies of the season.

Kemptville is 4-0 against the Rebels this season.

Rebels roast Hawks

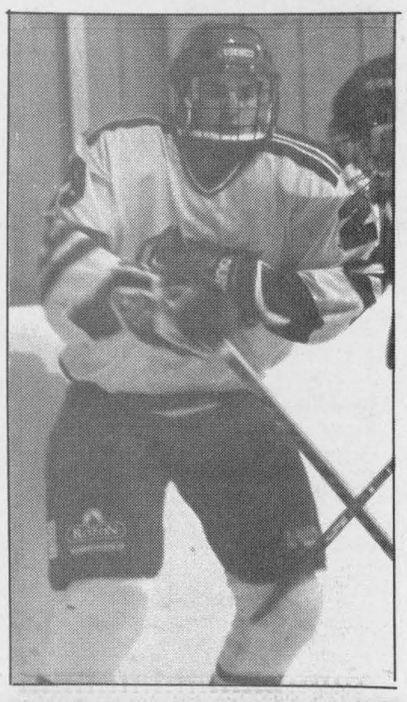
While the Rebels have struggled against the 73's this season, they've owned the Winchester Hawks.

Char-Lan earned its fourth straight win against the Birds in Williamstown on Saturday as the Rebels coasted to an 8-3 victory.

Seven different players contributed to the Rebels goal total, with Nick Brunet being the only multiple scorer.

Kevin O'Farrell, Dave Campbell, Tim Corput, Dan Dupuis, Lindsay Campbell and Mario Gibeault each scored once for the Rebels, who led 2-1 after one period and 6-1 after two stanzas.

Dupuis added three assists while O'Farrell and Eric Fontaine each had two helpers.



Nick Brunet scored twice as the Rebels beat the Hawks 8-3

The Hawks got two goals by Serge Bellavance and one by Eric Savard.

Rebels notes: The 73's outshot the Rebels 48-26 on Sunday...The Rebs need just one more win to gain entry into the Boxing Day tournament. The 73's have already clinched one of the two St. Lawrence Division berths...Char-Lan plays against the league's worst team tonight in Brockville. The Tikis have a 1-18 record with 58 goals scored and 136 allowed. The Rebels host the Westport Rideaus on Saturday.

Urquhart, MacLennan record GISL shutouts

The Springers are hot on the heels of the Atlantic in the race for first place in the Glengarry Indoor Soccer League women's division.

Jessica MacLeod scored two goals and Laura Urquhart was in nets for the shutout as the Springers beat Char-Lan 4-0 last week at the Glengarry high school gym.

Nancy MacLeod and Tina Bond also scored.

The win keeps the Springers (5-1) two points out of first place.

The Atlantic continues to lead the pack after extending its winning streak to six games by downing Shepherd Sports 3-1 last week.

Meghan MacPherson netted her league-leading 13th and 14th goals of the year for the Atlantic. Kelly Lavigueur also scored.

Mandy Duval replied for Shepherd's.

In last week's other women's game, Audrey MacLennan and the Northerners shut out Glen Sandfield 3-0.

Tracy McNicol, Lori MacMaster and Sherrill Norman each contributed a goal to the Northerners' attack.

M and D breaks into win column

A new order is establishing itself in the men's division of the GISL.

While the Storm and the Express dominated the league last season, parity has set in through the first month of the 1996-97 campaign.

The division's five teams are separated by only four points, including a three-way tie for the first place between Villeneuve Tank Lines, the Old-timers and the Express.

The defending champion Storm is sitting in fourth place with a 2-3.

M and D Sports closed to within two points of fourth spot by edging the Storm 4-3 last week.

The win is the first in five tries for M and D.

Robin Basara, David Wood, Ted Van Vorstenbos and goaltender Dennis St. Denis scored for M and D.

Scott McIntosh, Glen MacLeod and Sean MacLeod replied for the Storm.

The Old-timers grabbed a share of the division lead by downing the Express 6-4.

Stacey Kronwald scored three times with singles going to Gordon MacPherson, Alain Decoste and Hans Bauer.

Scott McDougall, Dave MacDonald, Lloyd Thomas and Ian Wilson each scored twice in a losing cause.

West is wild in SDG broomball

A terrific battle for first place continues in the West Division of the SDG Broomball League.

Dave's Drywall and Guy's Radiator have each lost only once in eight games this season, and Dave's lead over Guy's is a single point.

Both clubs won by shutout on Sunday morning in Maxville.

Dave Coir and Jamie Norman scored as Dave's defeated Farley Windows 2-0. Keith Presley had the shutout.

Sam Sabourin was in nets as Guy's blanked Cappuccino Express 6-0.

Marc Derepentigny scored a deuce for Guy's with single goals going to Ron Leblanc, Romeo Lacombe, Marc Duval and Rocky Lacombe.

Jeff Alguire recorded the shutout as The Uniform Shoppe beat Kelly's Sports Bar (formerly the King George Knights) 4-0.

Aurele Sauvé, Barry Benton, Danny Zoppas and George Carriere each scored once.

SUBWAY ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

CHRISTOPHER VAN OVERBEEK

The Seaway Express Atom Glens travelling team remained unbeaten in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League action this weekend, thanks in part to the contributions of first-year player Christopher Van Overbeek. On Friday in Long Sault, the 10-year-old North Lancaster resident scored twice as the Glens beat the South Stormont Selects 5-2. The Glens won on the road again on Saturday as Van Overbeek scored once in a 2-1 triumph over the South Grenville Rangers. The Glens capped a perfect weekend by pounding Cornwall 12-0 on Sunday.

Glens hockey is a family affair for the Ruest clan

By J.L. Lefebvre
Sports editor

When coaches want to emphasize the importance of unity and cohesion, they often preach that the team members must act as a family.

In the case of the Alexandria Jr. B Glens, that cliche can be applied literally.

First-year coach Michel Ruest is joined by his two sons – sophomore centreman Yves, 17, and rookie netminder Patrick, 16 – in the Glens' "family."

While the brothers played together one year at the atom level and Michel has coached both of his sons in "AA" hockey, it's the first time the three Ruests have been united on one hockey team.

Michel says he knew there was a chance there would be a Ruest Family reunion when he was hired to coach the Glens in the off-season.

"Obviously I knew there was a pretty good chance Yves was going to make the team based on his performance from last season," said Michel. "Patrick was a tougher case. All the goaltenders had an equal chance of making the club in training camp, it just happened that it was these two young kids (Patrick and Sebastien Laplante) who came up with strong efforts to win the jobs."

Ruest admits the controversy surrounding the Glens' goaltending situation this season (incumbent Gerry Goulet was released in camp, local product Julien Van den Oetelaar was released a month into the season) has been hard on him both as a parent and as a coach.

"There are some drawbacks to coaching your son. One of them is that you have to listen to people say that the only reason the kid made the team was that his father is the coach.

"That's not fair for the kid. Patrick has proven that he belongs here, especially the other night (Nov. 15) against Kemptville when he stoned (the 73's) in the shootout."

While accepting that coaching his sons creates special situations, Michel says he tries to put his parent's instincts behind him when he's at the rink.

"I certainly try not to treat Yves and Patrick any differently than the other players.

"The big difference is that I know their mental make-up and I know how each will react.

"Yves would probably say I'm harder on him that on Pat, but I think Yves is better at re-channelling the criticism into something positive. He won't look at the criticism as coming from a parent."

His oldest son agrees.

"Once I get to the rink, I don't look at him as my Dad, I look at him as the coach," said Yves, the Glens' leading scorer with 11 goals and 12 assists in 16 games. "He knows a lot about the game, so it's smart for me to listen to him.

"Once the game is over and we're back home, then he becomes my Dad again."

Father-son tandems

The Ruests are the fourth father-son, coach-player tandem in Alexandria Glens history.

The first came in the late 70's and early 80's when Gaetan Giroux coached Alain and later Charles.

Then, Jean-Yves Jeaurond guided the Glens when son Sylvain was a member of the team. Later, Jeaurond was an assistant coach when youngest son Michel played.

More recently, Robert Boisvenue was behind the bench when his sons Martin and Stephane wore the Glens uniform.

Michel was Leaf draft pick

Michel comes by his hockey knowledge honestly, he's a former junior hockey standout who was once drafted by the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs.

He was a minor pro defenceman for six years before hanging up the skates and settling in Cornwall to raise a family.

All of which brings up an obvious question – if Michel was a defenceman, how did he wind up with offspring that play up front and in nets?

"I don't know how that happened," Michel shrugged. "Yves always had the ability to score, so it was natural that he would play up front.

"Patrick played one year on the wing in atom, but he became a goaltender the next year because the team had only one goalie."

The younger son's choice in position limits the amount of player-coach interaction between Patrick and Michel.

"He tries to help me out as much as possible, but goaltending isn't his strong point," says Patrick.

Michel says Patrick brings out the parent half of his dual identity more than Yves.

"I'm a lot more nervous about Patrick when he plays than Yves. I want both of them to do well, the thing that makes it harder as a parent with Pat is that every time he makes a mistake, it ends up in a goal.

"But most of that nervousness comes before the game. Once the game starts, I have confidence in everyone and I try to forget that it's my son in nets."

Michel also tries not to think too much about the game at home, where hockey talk is kept to a minimum.

"It's not as intense as some people might think," said Michel. "We talk about the game sometimes, but for the most part I try to keep the hockey on the ice and in the dressing room."

A blast from the past

Hitting all the right notes

Tim Smith and Stuart Rutherford were just two of the performers at a benefit concert for the Alexandria youth centre project on Thursday night at the Glengarry high school cafeteria. The concert, organized by a Grade 10 Canadian studies class at Glengarry, raised $400 for the proposed youth centre.

Alexandria Santa Claus parade set to march

By Todd Lihou
News* reporter

Alexandria's annual Santa Claus parade is slated for Sunday, Dec. 15, complete with floats, marching bands, local dignitaries – not to mention the big guy himself.

Parade organizers say this year's procession will be special in that more participants are expected and things will be done a little differently.

Unlike previous years, the parade will be followed by members of the Richelieu Club, who will be giving out candy to children. When the parade is completed Santa Claus will be available for a Christmas wish session at the Cultural Centre, just behind the Glengarry Sports Palace, but only for those who have been good all year long.

Originally, candy was passed out at the arena following parade.

Parade chair Pierre Vaillancourt says economics was the reason behind the slight change.

"What we found is that the kids in the eight to 12 age group weren't waiting in line to see Santa Claus," said Vaillancourt, who didn't want to get stuck with loads of Christmas goodies. "We used to have to give them to the Lions Club."

Vaillancourt says all children are welcome to visit Santa, with an emphasis on those seven and under.

"It's a bit different this year," he said.

The parade is scheduled to begin around 1:30 p.m. at the Loeb parking lot. It will proceed north on Main Street to Kincardine Street, then west on Kincardine to MacDonald Boulevard and finally down MacDonald to the arena where it will finish.

Vaillancourt is confident this year's parade will include more participants than in the past.

"We had about 18 or 20 at last year's parade," said Vaillancourt. "We're hoping for that many this year and then some more. It's not unusual to assume those from last year will come again.

"The parade has picked up a little steam every year for the past three or four. Of course we could take on a few more (floats). That would just mean a longer parade. If we get this one off on time it should last about an hour."

Vaillancourt is already getting a positive reaction from the younger members of the community.

"The biggest reaction has been through the kids," he explained. "That's how we advertise. We send out flyers to the schools to let the kids know. They are the ones who have to make sure their parents get them out there."

Lancaster Township

Council Briefs

The following are a selection of items discussed at Lancaster township's regular meeting on Nov. 6 and Nov. 20.

New stop sign

The township is requesting the counties install four-way stop signs in North Lancaster.

The signs would be posted on County Road 18 where it intersects and Second Line Road.

Stop signs area already posted on Second Line Road.

Lease agreement

The township is leasing just under two acres around the pumping station in Green Valley to Ron MacDonald for $1.

MacDonald will be responsible for the upkeep of the land that touches his farm and cannot build any buildings there.

Dump closed

The township dump will be closed during the holidays on Dec. 26 and on Jan 2.

Minister's letter under review

A letter from Minister of municipal affairs Al Leach, addressed to council, has been referred to the Restructuring Committee for their review and response.

The letter was sent in response to the difficulties Glengarry has been undergoing over the issue of amalgamation - and splitting the county into two parts, north and south.

According to clerk Mike Samson, the letter essentially calls for "both sides to keep talking."

TASTEFUL HOLIDAY TREATS

Stuffed Pita Pockets

Individual sandwiches are always good to have on hand in the freezer. Pita bread reheats nicely in the microwave because it is less likely to overheat than some other types of bread. 8 pita pockets, 220 calories each.

1 pound ground turkey
1/8 tsp. fennel seed
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
1 tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. dried basil leaves
1/4 tsp. dried oregano leaves
1/8 tsp. garlic powder
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese
8 4-inch pita bread

1. Crumble turkey into 1 quart microwave-safe casserole. Add fennel; cover with casserole lid.
2. Microwave (high) 5 to 6 minutes or until no longer pink. Drain. Add tomato sauce, olives, Parmesan cheese, sugar, basil, oregano, and garlic powder.
3. Microwave (high), uncovered, 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is hot. Cool. Stir in mozzarella cheese. Carefully cut edge of bread rounds with scissors to open up on one side. Divide mixture among rounds. Place on baking sheet. Freeze until solid. Package in freezer bag, label, and freeze up to 3 months.
4. To serve: Wrap 2 pocket breads individually in paper towels. Microwave (high) 1-1/2 minutes. Let stand 2 minutes. Then microwave (high) 1 to 1-1/2 minutes or until hot.

TIPS:
If desired, use half lean ground beef and half ground turkey. Calories will be slightly higher.
•To heat one pita bread, decrease timings in step 4 to 45 seconds and 45 to 60 seconds.

1/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 cup flour
1/2 cup coconut, shredded

Topping:
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup Eagle Brand cond. milk
Grated rind, lemon or orange
1 cup icing sugar
1 cup or more coconut shredded

1. Base: Cream butter and sugar together. Blend in remaining ingredients until well blended.
2. Bake 350°F for 15 to 20 mins.
3. Combine all ingredients for topping, spread over base while hot, allow to set. Decorate with green or red cherries, optional.

Josée Bélanger

Drop Doughnuts

1/2 cup mashed potatoes (mashed with milk and butter)
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg beaten
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1-1/2 cups of flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1/4 tsp. baking powder
A little nutmeg and salt
Cooking oil for deep-fat frying

In a bowl, combine potatoes, sugar, egg, sour cream and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients: stir into potato mixture. Heat oil in an electric skillet or deep fryer to 375°F. Drop dough by teaspoonfuls, 5 to 6 at a time, into hot oil. Fry for 1 minutes per side, or until golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Roll in sugar if desired. It will make 3½ dozen. Good luck.

Scenes through the kitchen window

Williamstown

by Sue Harrington
347-2279

I'm thinking of re-naming this column, "Seen through the kitchen window." From my position over the sink I see things of great importance each day. Before you accuse me of being a lace-curtain voyeur, let me assure you that my stance before the window is definitely not voluntary. I am positioned there by the responsibilities of an onerous life-style which pin me in place for several hours each day. And while stuck thus, am I not even to have a peak?

What I could tell you about the comings and goings of your sons and daughters could fill the book I'll never write. But what I have learned about animals, I'll gladly share.

I already know that Williamstown is a dog haven. My cats have mentioned it on several occasions — usually in screams from the top of the nearest maple. But until this morning, I was not aware that there is a dog heaven. Not, that is, until I spotted Max.

Max Geneau, a taffy colored spaniel, lives next door, and he is often the first sign of life I see through the window each day. This morning Max seemed friskier than usual as he romped through the snow on his property. As I watched, he went through a strange little ritual. A little sliding run, then over on his back in the snow, then a curious flailing of his legs. Not exactly synchronized, but a fanning movement of each, all the same.

What on earth was he doing, I wondered, as the water overflowed from the kettle I was filling. Then it hit me. Max was out in the snow making angels! And if a dog makes angels, then he likely knows something about canine afterlife that we don't, wouldn't you say?

Somehow I don't think that cats are such believers. Despite being as white as snow, I just can't see Napkin Anderson on her back making angels. Can you?

The Sir John Johnson Manor House Committee would like to thank all of you who helped out with the recent book and bake sale at the house.

The donations of books and baking from so many of you in the area, not to mention those of you who made purchases at the sale, meant the event was quite a success indeed. The proceeds received should contribute greatly toward the acquisition of furniture worthy of the house itself.

As those of you might have seen if you had a peek through the door while at the sale, the west room of the house is currently being plastered, and should soon be able to be used by the public.

In the meantime, an annual book and bake sale is being considered. The committee now has a charitable number and is able to issue receipts for donations, should any of you wish to make a contribution to the re-establishment of this lovely house.

This morning when I was writing about the recent presentation of certificates to owners of properties designated by our local architectural conservation advisory committee, I came across the interesting information that it was George Hopper McGillivray, son of the Nor'Wester, John McGillivray, who was responsible for establishing Glengarry's first library. It was located in Williamstown.

Checking in "A history of Glengarry," I found that it was "probably established in 1894" and was housed "in an old store building on the south-west corners of the old (Williamstown) high school grounds."

I'm not sure what the authors' sources were for dating the library, and whether or not they had access to the old minute book for the library. The latter was given to me several years ago by the Cattanach family. It seems Clarence Cattanach was the last secretary of the local library board before it folded just before World War II.

The minutes, which date back to when the library was a Mechanics Institute in 1889, are presently kept at the Williamstown Library, and will be placed in the local archives once it is up and running in the Manor House.

And by the way, the library's founder was also the Clerk of Charlottenburgh Township for many years, as well as the postmaster at McGillivray Bridge.

Charlottenburgh and its pals, Lancaster village and Lancaster township, which are on the brink of amalgamation, are joining efforts before the big day and entering a float in the Lancaster Santa Claus parade on Dec. 7. The theme of the parade is "Peace on Earth."

When asked by council members if they should be on the float itself, Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy replied, "Not a good idea. Too easy a target!"

Char-Lan District High School will be holding its next school council meeting tomorrow night (Thurs.) Nov. 28, at 7.30 p.m. in the school library. All parents are encouraged to attend.

* * *

Hanz Schulz and Francine Lang teamed up for first place in Williamstown bridge club play last week. In second spot were Nora Ruth and Grace Leroux, while Garnet MacDougall and Garry O'Connell were third.

Garnet is back from a recent trip to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, which he attended along with Mac Edwards. While staying at the Royal York, the two got a first hand look at a wedding reception where "the sky was the limit."

Book lovers in the area welcome Gordon Day to their midst. Gordon has bought the house previously owned by Les Wert on Hwy 2 near Summerstown, and has established his collection there. Gordon buys and sells books and would like to hear from any of you interested in divesting yourselves of your libraries. He may be reached at 931-1301, and visited by appointment.

The Glengarry Community Club will hold its next open euchre on Dec. 11 at 1.30 p.m. at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

You may have to travel to Cornwall this weekend to do some "local" shopping, but it will be well worth the effort. Attending the Tri-County craft show being held at the Civic Complex on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, will be Williamstowner crafters, Mary Alguire, Delande Anderson, Phyllis Major, and Norma MacDonald. Give them your support!

We could see that Christmas was coming several weeks ago when the first decorations in Williamstown went up on the corner of Warren and Bridge Streets. The Boileau family is new to Williamstown and lives in the former Simpson/Stewart/Douglas house (to name, in reverse order, its inhabitants during my time).

And just like that tricky "Santa packs are coming" ad on television, I can tell you that "Christmas concerts are coming," too, although not quite by the truckload.

St. Mary's Junior Choir is the first to present its concert at St. Mary's Centre on Friday, Nov. 29 (that's this Friday), at 7.30 p.m.

Admission is by donation or food for the food bank, and you will have the chance to sing-along with choir members as they present their program of Christmas music.

Char-Lan high school's concert will be held on Dec. 16, I'm told, although I can't give you a time just yet. Please save the date in any case.

And although Williamstown Public has not announced a date, I'm sure there will be some sort of Christmas performance there too.

The Williamstown friends of Char-Lan teacher, Ken Johns, who attended his big "debut" last Saturday had nothing but praise for the occasion. More details can no doubt be found in the Maxville column. Bravo, Ken, from all your Williamstown fans!

Santa Claus parade and craft sale coming up

Martintown

by Martha Merchuk
525-4177

The annual Martintown Firefighters Santa Claus parade will take place on Sunday, Dec. 15 at 1 p.m.

Following the parade Santa will be at the fire hall giving out candy and listening to the wishes of all good boys and girls.

If you want to enter a float please get in touch with Brian Hope (528-4943) or Erin MacDonald (525-1986) or Bob Donaher (525-4744).

As usual prizes will be awarded in various categories.

Considering the weather on Saturday, Nov. 23, the firemen's dance was very well attended. Tickets had been sold for a door prize of a Lazy Boy arm chair which was won by Kelly MacDonald-Bannister.

Since Kelly was married this past July, I'm sure this will come in handy.

Before and after the Santa Claus parade, Dec. 15, why not drop into the community centre where the Optimist Club will be serving up soup and sandwiches.

We all know how cold it gets by that river.

At the same time they will also be having a Christmas bake sale, so if you have no time to bake, you can still stock up on homemade treats for Christmas.

The centre will open at 10 a.m. and we'll see you all there.

The craft sale at the school on Monday night was a success.

The organizers would like to thank all those who donated crafts and their time. They would also like to see you at the ham and turkey bingo to be held on Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. in the gym.

Light refreshments will be available with all proceeds going toward the year end school trip to Niagara Falls.

For more information, please call Connie Lafave at 528-4302.

A very happy belated birthday to Donny Ross who turned? on Nov. 23.

Congratulations to Cory and Johanna Van Loon who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary recently.

Following a mass of thanksgiving with the centennial choir singing, a dinner and dance was held at the Bonnie Glen.

Worth mentioning is the incredible generosity of the Van Loons who asked that in lieu of gifts, donations were to be made to the cancer and cystic fibrosis funds.

We all wish you many more happy years together.

Snowmobilers' fund raiser this Saturday

St. Raphael's

by Serge Dreimanis

347-2353

Please note that the Glengarry Snowmobile Club will be holding its opening dance for this season on Saturday, Nov. 30 at 9 p.m. and not on November 27 as announced in last Wednesday's paper. I apologize for this error.

Live dance music will be provided by the band "Been There." Lunch and refreshments will also be served. There will be a draw for two prizes – a snowmobile or $4,000.

Tickets for the draw will be sold for $5 each.

Everyone interested in the sport of snowmobiling and others are welcome. Admission is $3 per person.

Anna Margaret MacDonald reports that already 77 case loads have been handled by the SDG and Akwesasne Treatment Centre since its opening in Cornwall on July 17.

Roy Jodoin, one of the founding members gave the information to St. Raphael's CWL members at their November meeting.

The centre, which is dependent entirely on donations, was formed by local individuals familiar with the extent and impact of child abuse and the many social and adult problems stemming form the early victimization of children, the former police officer explained.

When abuse goes undetected and this victims untreated, the emotional consequences often continue into their adult years.

It causes social and financial costs in the budgets of psychiatric facilities and therapy, mental health clinics, family service agencies, addiction programs, prisons and police services, the founder of the Big Brother and Big Sister movements said.

The centre, staffed by a professional supervisor, social worker and receptionist, will enlist professionals "on loan" from agencies working in the field of abuse. Those with an interest in informally assisting children and families work as volunteers. Sometimes entire families are involved in the treatment process.

Complete confidentiality is assured.

Since previous experience has shown that there is little help from government funding, all funds for the centre will be raised in the community.

President Christine DeRepentigny presented Jodoin with a $100 cheque for the centre on behalf of the St. Raphael's CWL.

Please note that the Brown House Circle Christmas party will be held, as previously announced, on Dec. 4 in the parish hall. Tickets are $10 per person and must be purchased by members and/or guests before Nov. 27.

* * *

Lisa Ann Russell, daughter of Earl and Lorraine Russell of Sudbury, is attending Teacher's College in Ottawa and is staying with her aunt and uncle, Ewen and Lorraine MacDonald of Glen Roy while assisting Monique Quenneville (nee Valade) at Ecole Elda Rouleau in Alexandria.

The CWL of St. Raphael is involved in many projects. At the meeting of the League, held in the upper room of the church in November, it was noted that:

•Over 500 pairs of glasses have been given to Dr. S. M. Bacher for distribution to third world countries.

•A $35 donation was made to the Coady Institute to assist people from third world countries in furthering their education.

•The CWL and the Knights of Columbus are organizing a Christmas contest. Homes will be judged for their Christmas decorations but it must be in accordance with the theme "Keeping Christ in Christmas."

Tickets will be on sale this weekend and next for the CWL Christmas banquet and party scheduled for Sunday Dec. 8.

Because this is their 40th anniversary, all members of the CWL are invited at no charge, but a ticket is still needed to attend. Tickets for non-members or spouses are $10 each.

Julie Dumouchel, daughter of Lucie (nee Valade) and Yvon Dumouchel of St. Raphael's received the MacDonell's Farm's Trophy for being "outstanding junior" in her first year of 4-H in Williamstown.

Julie also received a medallion from the Glen Robertson Optimist Club for taking part in the workshop "Home for Holidays."

The regular euchre party at the parish centre was held on Nov. 17. There were 16 tables and 64 players. Winners were: First, Theresa MacDonald and Maurice Chretien; second, Soulanges Glaude and Orey St. Onge; third, Alice Dubeau and John Lapierre; looney, Glorissa Legroux and Donat Titley.

Door prize was won by Rene Poirier.

Winners of the 50/50 draw were Theresa Belafi, Alex Titley, Debbie Chisholm, Yvon DeRepentigny, Betty Chisholm, Angus MacDonald, John Lapierre, Theresa McDonald (twice).

Next euchre game will be held at the parish centre on Dec. 1.

Dunveganite tidbits sought for WI

Dunvegan

by Peggi Calder

527-5293

Ward and Mary Ellen Gowland were recently horrified to see their cat swat down a nuthatch that was feeding near their house.

When they rushed out to try to rescue the bird, they were too late, but in a strange twist of fate, they found that the little bird had a dried grape tendril wrapped around its neck several times.

Obviously that had slowed it down enough for the cat to be able to catch it.

Recently someone commented to me that with all the resurgence of Gaelic song and music in the area, is no one interested in learning any of the country dances?

It's amazing that you no longer see any of the old time dances done at local celebrations, when in other parts of Ontario the the whole hall will be up and doing a Schottische or whatever.

With our hall ready and available, would there be any interest in a Scottish country dancing group?

It's my turn for the WI scrapbook this month and I'm carefully going through area newspapers looking for tidbits about Dunveganites.

Did you know that there are about 15 scrapbooks and they are carefully kept up each month?

I really look forward to reading the past year's articles featuring our area residents.

Flora Chisholm is curator – give her a call if you are interested in seeing the books.

Wasn't the Grey Cup a fantastic game?

We caught it on an American broadcast that was peppered with phrases that sounded quite unlike our rather traditional Canadian announcers.

Several zippy runs with the ball were 'shake-and-bake' and when Toronto sent out all their big linemen to stop Edmonton, it was described as "there's a lot of meat out there!"

Maxville's Santa Claus parade was the best ever

Maxville

by Gordon Winter
527-2888

The weather on Sunday was crisp and sunny and the ground was white with Saturday's snow fall. Thus it was a perfect setting for the chamber of commerce's annual Santa Claus parade. And to make the story even better, the parade was the best one yet.

Robert Alderson, a weekend resident of the village, was instrumental in having the Canada Legion Band from Two Mountains, Que., lead the parade. The seasonal music provided by the band was a real asset.

A record number of floats assembled in the parking lot at the Manor where the judging was conducted. The St. James Parish float commemorating the 50th anniversary of the parish was awarded first place. The Manor float was second, Maxville Brownies received third place and the Home Hardware store got an honorable mention.

Prizes are gift certificates that must be used in Maxville. The businesses will honor them and then the Chamber of Commerce will reimburse the business.

Others who had parade entries and contributed to the success of it were Debbie's Country Corner, Kenyon Fire Department, Maxville co-ed soccer, Maxville Guides, Maxville Scouts, Maxville Sparks, Sharon Presley with her horse Blackie, Canada Post, Maxville Fire Department with Santa Claus and the Chamber of Commerce with Mrs. Santa Claus.

Many children were able to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus at the Sports complex after the parade which had travelled Mechanic Street West, south to Catherine Street and round about to Main Street South ending at the complex. Members of the Lions Club were in charge of arrangements there while the village coffers paid for the abundant supply of candy that was distributed.

A gentleman by the name of Duncan MacKinnon is arriving this Friday from Tobermory on the Isle of Mull to live here. This small island is off the west coast of Scotland, south of the Isle of Skye.

Mr. MacKinnon will be living with his daughter Anne and her husband, Dale Thompson and Children, Sean and Kayla, who live in the former Allan Crites farm house, north west of the village.

We wish Mr. McKinnon a very happy retirement in Canada and suggest that if he fears losing his accent, that he visit the Danskins and others for reinforcement, that is, if daughter Anne's accent is not sufficient.

The population of the village increased by one with the birth of a daughter to Madeline and Neil MacDonell, Spring Street. All the best goes to the family.

Aida Anderson and her son Bruce from Mississauga were overnight guests of Lorna and Gordon Winter, last week.

Heather Williams is home from Lakehead University in Thunder Bay and is at the Pleasant Corners Public School north of Vankleek Hill as a teacher-in-training.

All of Maxville was abuzz on Sunday afternoon as Santa Claus paid a visit to the village's annual parade, but the kids were particularly excited, as the faces of the passengers on this float will attest.

We express our congratulations and appreciation to Sharon Villeneuve who has received the Addiction Research Foundation's Community Achievement Award.

Since Mrs. Villeneuve's 17-year-old son, Daniel was killed in a car accident in 1989, she has been very active in preventing drinking and driving.

She is presently the regional coordinator of Operation Lookout.

Ken Johns was honored by family members and friends with a fine 50th birthday party last Saturday in the United Church.

Family members there included Heather from McMaster University, Brian from Waterloo University, his parents from Hamilton, an aunt and uncle, and his sister and family from Guelph.

A musical program was presented in which Ken participated with his clarinet. There was lots of reminiscing and delicious refreshments were served in the hall afterwards.

Our grocery store has new owners and we welcome to the village Said and Sally Gibara and their family who are living in the spacious apartment over the store. The family has moved here from Russell and had been associated with a similar enterprise in Metcalfe previously.

The five children are Nasreen who is presently a co-op student in the public school, Waseem and Bilal who are attending Glengarry District High School in Alexandria, and Ronia and Dalia who are at the local public school.

You will find these people very friendly. They are anxious to know you by name and do give them the opportunity to serve you. We need this store in the village and we should all wish to see it prosper.

While in Ormstown for the funeral of his cousin, Ross Winter, Gordon Winter called on Thelma Hughes who wishes to be remembered by all her friends and relatives here.

We extend our sympathy to Flavie (Mrs. Joe) Rolland in the death of her brother, Hormidas Sabourin, Cornwall.

The TV series, Ribbons of Steel, with the section on Maxville was shown over the weekend on the Life Channel. Advance notice had been promised but didn't come so this column did not contain it.

In any case, Maxville received some good publicity with extended pieces at the railway station and then shots up Main Street and Peter Street. Our village looked good to this prejudiced eye.

It was a privilege for me to contribute to the program with some reminiscing of the station. In case someone noticed it, I made at least one mistake and knew it shortly afterwards but couldn't very well correct it. The first train went through here in 1881 and not 1890 as I had informed. There was a bit of nervousness speaking off the cuff in front of the camera!

The annual meeting of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society was held in the United Church hall on Nov. 20. After the 50 or more in attendance enjoyed the pot luck supper, Ruby MacGregor gave a very interesting demonstration on the preparation of Christmas wreaths and other crafts appropriate for the approaching season.

Then, Ross Conners showed the prize wining entries in the slide competition at the 1996 Ontario Horticultural Association convention in Hamilton in June. Mr. Conners also encouraged those at the meeting to check the price list for the upcoming conventions and to consider entering slides.

To conclude the meeting, Gordon Winter installed the new executive and board of directors for 1997 and 1998. while some were a bit surprised to be asked to promise to fulfill the duties outlined, they learned what they could/should do while holding office. They didn't appear to have their fingers crossed while promising to hold the following offices: Past president, Bob Humble; president, Ross Conners; 1st vice-president, Anne Kerr; 2nd vice-president, Mable Guindon; secretary, Isabel McDonald and treasurer, Colombe Raymond.

Perhaps residents in the community who are interested in joining this active society know one of the following directors and will contact them before activities begin next spring. These are the directors installed: Betty Cousineau, Hilda MacLean, Eileen Tait, Christine Jans, Iona Morison, Eileen Scott, Eileen Van Blankers, Joyce Ferguson, Ruby MacGregor and Shirley Villeneuve.

Mr. Conners thanked retiring president, Bub Humble, for his leadership over the two years he served and wished all a happy holiday season with a winter that will have a minimum of bad storms.

Before the meeting closed, a draw was conducted for many interesting door prizes which had been donated by Ellen Bissonnette.

In another way, this meeting was special because the kitchen committee did not have to serve after the meal. Members of the church's youth group had been booked to wash the dishes and tidy up the kitchen.

We have been hearing a great deal about the amalgamation of local municipalities. The Huntingdon Gleaner is calling it "fusion". Three

Auld Lang Syne

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
Friday, November 20, 1896

•Town Council decided, at Monday's regular meeting, to submit a bylaw to the electors, on the 12th of December, which would authorize the reeve and treasurer to borrow $6,000 for thirty years, to make certain improvements and additions to the waterworks system. The bylaw gives the amount of the whole rateable property of Alexandria $202,202.00, and the amount of existing debenture debt, for all purposes including schools, totals $31,800.

•The new line now being built by the Canadian Pacific Railway between Montreal and Ottawa, will be completed as far as Vankleek Hill within ten days.

•Messrs. Munro & McIntosh have extended their trade to the U.S. This week they shipped to Dr. Hugh J. McDonald of Butte, Mont., a "Solid Comfort" cutter.

•There is a movement on foot to have a high school started in Maxville.

•The Maxville butter factory commenced operations on Monday, with Mr. Howey of Oxford Mills, in charge. It has given quite an impetus to winter dairying in the district.

EIGHTY FIVE YEARS AGO
Friday, November 17, 1911

•The accidental finding of the partial remains of a human skeleton on Lot 22-3rd Lochiel, last Saturday afternoon, has given local officials a mystery to solve. Two young sons of the tenant, Dennie Jeaurond, came across the remains, which consisted of a skull, lower jaw, hip bones, a thigh bone, and other lesser bones,while out hunting. A search of the area disclosed remains of clothing, a lady's gold ring, a small purse and other articles, which pointed to the fact that the body was that of a woman. Indications evidenced the fact that the remains have been exposed for years.

•The GTR Co. is erecting a most modern station at Maxville. The J. T. Schell Co. is preparing to shortly install the new interior fittings in the main post offices at Toronto and Winnipeg.

The Tuesday evening play goers boarded the bus in Vankleek Hill and in St. Eugene for the trip to Centaur Theatre in Montreal to see the play called The Vigil.

No one had a clue about the play but several people were familiar with the works of the playwright Morris Panyoh. He was nominated for a 1991 Chalmers Canadian Play Award and has received many other awards including the Governor General's Award for drama, six Jessie Awards and four Dora Awards (which was gathered must be like the Oscars of the movie industry.)

This play had received rave reviews in Vancouver, Toronto and Victoria. So with all of this in their minds, the group eagerly awaited whatever was to come. It is called dark comedy, and in fact was so much so that, unfortunately, several people left after the first act. That was a big mistake, because the second act drew it all together.

Some of the audience were outraged by the seemingly callous attitude of the young nephew to the predicament of his aged, ailing aunt. He seemed to be sympathetic at times and angry at others for her 30-year neglect of him. Michael Simpson was excellent as the resentful pitiable misfit whom nobody ever noticed.

Periodically, he would display a real need to be closer to her, bringing her meals, reading to her and fussing over her. But then he would switch and become the impatient beleaguered nephew with the huge inferiority complex. Annie Walker played the sometimes bedridden Grace and in a most difficult role, attracting the sympathy of the capacity audience right from the beginning. Not the least of his performance was the amazing balancing act that Simpson performed on top of his nearly empty suitcase when he curls up on it to go to sleep. He can't seem to do anything right, as the play unfolds, and his misadventures do become hilarious indeed. But he does bring them all upon himself. Of course everything becomes clear in the end with an almost furtive twist of development. When the reality of the situation finally dawns on the audience, the masterful art of the author is realized. It was a very cleverly written comedy, with underlying touches of pathos, which came to life through the totally engrossing performances of two very gifted Canadian actors. This was a most unusual evening and really one to remember.

In Memoriam

OUIMET – In loving memory of a dear son, André, who passed away November 26, 1993.
Our hearts still ache with sadness
And secret tears still flow
For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
When we are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong
We seem to hear you whisper,
"Cheer up and carry on."
Each time we see your picture
You seem to smile and say
"Don't worry I'm only sleeping, We'll meet again someday."
–Sadly missed and always remembered by Mom and Dad and brothers and sister and family. 48-1p

MacEWEN – In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Alexander Vincent, who passed away November 29, 1978.
The years are quickly passing
Though still we can't forget
For in the hearts that love him
His memory lingers yet.
– Mrs. Pearl MacEwen. 48-1p

MacLEOD – In memory of William K. MacLeod who passed away October 3, 1995. and of his wife Maud, our dear sister who passed away November 29, 1995.
– Lovingly remembered, Mary C. MacLeod and Dan J. Hartrick and family. 48-1p

LEITCH, Malcolm – In loving memory of a dear husband, step-father and step grandfather and brother-in-law who passed away four years ago, December 1, 1992.
We often sit and think of him
When we are alone
Fond memories linger every day.
– Sadly missed by wife Claudette, step-daughter Cathy, and step-grandsons Mathew and Nathan and the Rochon family. 48-1p

LAJOIE – In Loving memory of my dear husband Albert who passed away Nov. 26, 1994.
We made our vows together
And said "til death do we part
When God came and took your hand
My whole life fell apart
No one knows the heartache
I tried so hard to hide
No one knows how many times
I've broken down and cried
When I look back upon your life
Just one thing makes me glad
That you chose me to share with you
The precious years we had
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife, Marie 48-1p

Remember "Dad" with a Smile Today
He was not one for tears
Reflect instead on memories
Of all the happy years
Recall to mind the way he spoke
And all the happy things he said
His strength, his jokes, the way he laughed
Remember these instead
The good times he shared with us
His eyes that shone with fun
So much of him that never died

Card of Thanks

OLD Tyme Christmas Concert and Craft Show – I wish to thank Lucille's boutique and the models for the lovely fashion show and the artisans for their participation. The always willing and talented performers delighted the audience once again and deserve a special thank you. The donations of food, crafts and the assistance from the friendly elves certainly helped to make the event a success. As promised, the proceeds are being donated to the Canadian Cancer Society, so thank you again and Merry Christmas and Joyeux Noël.
– Audrey (Johnson) MacDonald. 48-1p

MITCHELL – Sincerest thanks are extended to all family, friends and neighbors for their visits and cards while a patient in Cornwall General Hospital, also to the doctors that attended me and to the nurses for their wonderful care. To the people that gave rides to my Dorothy, who came to see me almost daily, to the ministers who also came to see me and prayed for my recovery. These times will always be remembered by me.
– Sincerely, John A. Mitchell. 48-1p

MENARD – Daniel and Reina would like to thank our children, Stephane, Ginny, Manon, Anick and the family who helped to plan a surprise party for our 25th wedding anniversary. We thank everyone who helped.
– With love, Daniel and Reina. 48-1c

LUCIE (Lajoie) and JEAN VAILLANCOURT
would like to express thanks to our parents Micheline and Jean Lajoie, Nicole and Pierre Vaillancourt, Father Larouche, family and friends and all who helped make our wedding day, Aug. 17, 1996, such a memorable occasion. 48-1p

The next card party is scheduled for Jan. 14.

Bazaar

Reminder that our Christmas bazaar and tea will take place this coming Saturday, Nov. 30 in the parish hall from 1 to 4 p.m.

There will be a good selection of books, plants, homemade goodies and crafts.

Everyone is welcome!

Bingo for Gerry

Please support Gerry Beauclair's effort to raise money for expensive brain tumor treatments by attending an Optimist bingo for him. The bingo will be held Sunday at the Glengarry Sports Palace at 7 p.m. sharp.

Buy your ticket ahead of time to be eligible for the many prizes which will be drawn during the evening.

For more information, please call Dianne at 874-2636 or Sue at 525-5950.

Library news

The library has received beautiful Christmas books for children and will stay open up to Dec. 17.

It will be closed for the Christmas season and will resume its normal hours on Jan. 4.

Librarian, Rita Chartrand is sending happy holiday wishes to all her customers.

Community policing

Lochiel Community Policing Committee will hold their next meeting this coming Thursday, Nov. 28 at the Social Centre at 7:30 p.m.

Special guest speaker, Sherry Kalil will be speaking on Crime Stoppers. Welcome to all!

Perfumes fill the air at candle demonstration

North Lancaster

by Bernadette Campeau
347-2572

I hope the snow-covered land didn't give you the winter blues.

Many children and young at heart adults are happy to see the white stuff and store owners also feel that this will give customers the Christmas spirit.

One word of warning: Be extra careful on the roads.

Last Thursday evening, a few ladies met at Betty Glaude's house for a candle demonstration.

Irene O'Connor of Ottawa was the consultant and made a lovely presentation of many different colors, scents and candle holders.

The odor form the burning scented candles filled the room with a wonderful perfume.

We sang happy birthday to one guest, Estrida Watters, who turned the "Big 6-0" on Nov. 21.

Betty had a spectacular lunch table for the ladies to enjoy before returning home.

Glen Nevis parish held another card party last Sunday evening called "Ladies Night" where 25 gifts were donated.

Winners were Gisele Titley, Diane Roy, Pauline Roussin, Claire Van Putten, Florence Claude, Catherine Fraser, Cecile Campeau, Onah Ross, Dorothy McCormick, Eileen Johnston, Louise Maville, Therese Lortie, Judy Robinson, Marguerite McCormick, Claudette Pilon, Annette Lavigne, Solange Claude, Monique Delorme, Pauline Leroux, Helene Sabourin, Isabel MacDonald, Beatrice Lalonde, Lily Rozon, Dorina Theoret and Lilian Benoit.

A big thank you to those who donated the gifts.

The 50/50 draws were taken by Claire Campeau, Cecile Campeau, Yvon DeRepentigny, Claire Van Putten, Diana Giroux and Anna Campeau.

The door prizes went to G. Legroux, Marguerite McCormick, Claudette Pilon, Pauline Leroux and Gisele Titley.

The next card party will be after the Christmas holidays.

Don't forget the Glen Nevis tea and bake sale this Saturday, Nov. 30 in the church sacristy.

It runs from 1 to 4 p.m. and you will find many baked goods and also handmade crafts.

See you there.

Lynn McCuaig, formerly of Glen Norman, has seen a few changes in the past year as she went from being a single girl to a newlywed. Recently, Lynn was promoted to editor of The Glengarry News from reporter.

Congratulations and good luck.

Happy birthday to three girls on Nov. 29, Amanda Vachon who turns 6, Christianne Elie and Joanne Desautels whose ages we will not mention. Best wishes to all.

Baked goods disappear at weekend sale

Lancaster

by Marg Millett
347-2207
Fax 347-1297

All of the baked goods have long been consumed and no evidence of the great success of the Chateau Gardens annual bake sale remains.

However, the residents would like to thank the many people who seshared time, baked goods and preserves, and to those consumers, who generosity made this project so successful. Thank you!

A special Advent carol concert has been planned for St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster

On Sunday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m. guests from the Celtic Group, "Imaginary Heaven", will lead this service. They will present a repertoire of carols from the 15th century to present day.

This group has performed at the National Art Gallery of Canada, the Canadian Museum of Civilization, the National Library of Canada, as well as numerous churches from Vankleek Hill to Toronto.

Their blended voices in harmony, as well as the background instrumental music including the Celtic harp, flute, and acoustic guitar, is not to be missed.

Tickets for the concert can be purchased at the door. Children under 12 may attend for free.

Following this service a coffee fellowship hour will be held in the church hall. Everyone is welcome.

Kind hearts are the gardens,
Kind thoughts are the roots,
Kind words are the blossoms,
Kind deeds are the fruits.

This was the theme of Optimist Barry Millett's speech at the Annual Past President's Party on Saturday evening at Smithsfield hall.

As usual there was some roasting, not only the turkey and the other delicious food, at this "pot luck" dinner. But as Barry mentioned... were it not for the founding president Frank Nysten and his members... were it not for the efforts of the following succession of presidents and their teams, a whole lot of good in this community, for our children, would be left undone.

The Night Vision Band provided some wonderful music for the final part of this evening.

And now, for the Lancaster Optimist Club, it's back to work, back to the many projects that help the children in our area.

Speaking of the Optimists I notice that there has been some press notices regarding Lancaster's "Remembering Christmas Past" and of the Tree Lighting ceremony on Saturday.

I'd just like to remind folks that the tree by the library is the Lancaster Optimist tree, donated for that purpose and... what the heck... we're very proud of it!

Executive members of the Lancaster Curling Club, please jot down this date: Dec. 4 at 7 p.m.

This board of directors meeting will be held in the conference room at Creg Quay and all directors are asked to attend.

The Lancaster Recreation Committee is having another good fund raiser for the holiday season.

Tickets for the "Christmas Grocery Bonanza: cost only $2 and you can win $500 of groceries from Lancaster Freshmart.

The draw will be held at Berrigan's Pub on Dec. 13 at 9 p.m. Of course, all proceeds go to Lancaster Recreation.

We are only a month from Christmas. Wow! This must be the busiest time of year.

Santa will be coming to Lancaster on Dec. 7. All of the little children will be able to have a visit with him after the parade.

Please remember that we want all entries for the parade to pre-register with Marg at 347-2207.

Also, thanks to Florence Bennet there will be bins for collecting non-perishable goods on the main street for donations to A.G.A.P.E.

Florence tells me that donations have already come in, a good confirmation of how generous people can be.

By the way... happy birthday Florence.

Wen-Do. That's the name given to the defense tactics used in an 18-hour self-defense course for women of all ages.

If you are interested in this course sponsored by the Lancaster Recreation, call Marilyn at 347-2023.

The course runs on Monday, Dec. 2 and Wednesday, Dec. 4 from 6 to 9 p.m.

On the final day, Sunday, Dec. 8, the course will run from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

It will cost $60 for a full course but that amount may be reduced if the maximum attendance is reached.

There will also be a mother-daughter special reduced fee.

This will be instructed by fully trained women.

Sunday, Dec. 15 is the date for the next community breakfast served by those hard workers of the Lancaster Knights of Columbus.

A delicious breakfast of bacon and eggs, sausages, baked beans, pancakes, fresh fruit, toast and jam, coffee and juice, will be served from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at St. Joseph's Parish Hall.

The cost for adults is only $4, children $3.50.

On the same day you can return to the hall... or make it a mighty long breakfast... for the Knight's turkey bingo.

Come at 7:30 and enjoy 15 regular games, 6 special games, consolation and door prizes.

Admission is only $1 and seven cards are $1. Extra cards will be available.

Proceeds will go to Knights of Columbus charities. So, come along and join in the fun!

Turkey bingo to be held Monday

Apple Hill

by Louise Marleau
527-3488

Just a reminder that the turkey bingo will be held on Monday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Apple Hill Community Center.

There will be 10 regular games, five specials and a door prize.

The event is sponsored by Apple Hill Community Committee. Everyone welcome.

mayors were in agreement "that fusion would bring absolutely no financial benefits and that their communities are just too different to allow them to unite."

One mayor commented "this plan for fusion would lead to a no-win situation in which not only local taxpayers but also the provincial government itself would have to pay extra for nothing."

As predicted, the snow on Saturday and the lower temperatures brought many birds to our feeders. We have many finches, both house and gold, several chickadees and blue jays and one downy woodpecker.

Presently, the birds are being offered niger seed, striped sunflower seeds and a peanut butter mixture. Black sunflower seeds and cracked corn will be purchased this week.

Possibly, the same shrike that was reported earlier, has been seen in the vicinity of a neighbor's feeders.

CORRECTION

Please note there was a typographical error in the Loeb Alexandria ad in The Glengarry News of Wednesday, November 20, 1996.

The first prize of a gift certificate was shown as $1,000.000. The actual first prize is a Gift Certificate in the value of one thousand dollars. We regret any inconvenience this error may have caused.

It's The 1997 Alexandria Winter Carnival

"CROWNING OF THE QUEEN"!

Now Seeking Contestants to participate

CRITERIA:

1 - It is open to females only
2 - Ages from 13 to 19 (teenagers)
3 - Must be an Alexandria or area resident
4 - Must be a student at an Alexandria or area school
5 - Must be ready to sell tickets

RULES and REGULATIONS:

- You must sell tickets for a draw.
  –$2.00 each or 3 for $5.00–
  For every book of tickets sold (12 tickets per book) your name will be entered for the Carnival Queen draw. The first girl whose name is drawn 3 times will be the Queen. The next girl will be the 1st Princess and the third girl will be the 2nd Princess. It is important to sell as many tickets as possible in order for your name to have a better chance of being picked.
- If you are crowned Queen or a Princess, you must be available Feb. 6-9th for carnival activities.
- Contestant who sells most tickets wins $100.00 in cash.
