Wave Of Local Break-Ins And Thefts Solved With The Arrests Of Local Youths

A Green Valley man and two Alexandria youths are in custody and local police and the OPP at Lancaster report their arrest has solved a wave of break-ins and thefts, including the Green Valley Post Office case and the $3,000 loss in the break-in at Glengarry Sport Shop, here.

Gerald Cuerrier, 28 of Green Valley, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary at Montreal last week for possession of a sawed-off rifle. Local police hope to bring him back here to answer to charges in more than 10 break-ins as well as thefts of under $50. These include the Post Office and Sport Shop entries as well as the break-in at Sauve Freres cottage, 9th Lancaster, last year.

Douglas Dumouchel, 17, Alexandria, has pleaded guilty to all the charges, Chief Cleroux reports, and Larry MacLeod, 19, of Alexandria, has applied for legal aid.

Chief Cleroux reports he has also seized a 1962 Chevrolet car Cuerrier had traded in locally on another. The car had been stolen in Montreal last August.

In court at Montreal last week the Green Valley man had pleaded guilty to the charge of possession of a sawed-off rifle.

"But the gun was unloaded and had no firing pin," Cuerrier said in dismay when sentence was passed.

In my opinion a weapon of this type is used for only one purpose—to commit holdups," the judge told the accused.

Sergeant-Detective Ernest Hebert, court liaison officer, testified that Cuerrier was arrested early Tuesday morning in a parking lot on St. Dominique Street, near Dorchester Boulevard, with the rifle in his possession. He added that the juvenile with him at the time was turned over to social welfare officers.

Board Of Education Asked Consider High Schools On Language Lines

Enrolment at St. Lawrence High School may become restricted to French - speaking students in time, if the new United Counties Board of Education accepts a suggestion made Friday night by Rosaire Leger.

The former assistant superintendent of education for Cornwall's three public high schools recommended that CCVS offer courses for English - speaking students only; SLHS offer courses for French-speaking students; and General Vanier Secondary School offer courses for both English and French-speaking students.

Initially, the proposal would affect grade nine students only being a step toward full conversion. He suggested the program start in September.

When asked why his recommendation only affected Cornwall schools, Mr. Leger said that at the time a survey was taken with parents to see if such a program was warranted, rural areas didn't come under his jurisdiction.

The project would involve only grade nine students for a start, because of housing problems.

Mr. Leger said a similar program could be instituted in rural areas at a later date.

The recommendation was referred to the French language advisory committee which will submit its own recommendations at the Feb. 11 meeting.

Mr. Leger said the Hall-Dennis report recommended establishment of French - language schools where there is a sufficient concentration of French - speaking students.

Of a total of 2,909 students in Cornwall at the secondary school level, 1,754 are bilingual.

"Little or no hardship would be imposed on students because only students leaving grade eight to enter grade nine would be affected, said Mr. Leger.

Members of the French language advisory board hinted they would accept the recommendations but asked for time to study the report in depth.

Charged With Forgery

A resident of the 4th Kenyon, Roland Berniquez, 20, formerly of Hawkesbury, has been charged with forging a cheque cashed in a local grocery. In the same case, George Bellefeuille has been charged with uttering by Chief Cleroux.

Bellefeuille appeared in court Monday and was remanded to Feb. 3rd when he requested legal aid. Berniquez failed to appear and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

A local woman has also been charged with false pretences as a result of issuing cheques without funds.

John G Proulx Heads Legion

Zone Commander Ed. Riviere of Cornwall, was here Wednesday, Jan. 8th, to install the new officers of Alexandria Legion Branch. He was accompanied by Comrade J. Nevill, zone Poppy Fund chairman.

Several officers. among them incoming Branch President John G. Proulx, were absent through illness and they will be installed at the February meeting. The new president succeeds in that office James Hubbard who had presided over Branch affairs over the last two years.

An extensive renovation of the clubrooms is now underway, including the installation of an acoustic tile ceiling in the men's lounge room and two-tone walls. A tile drain is to be installed around the building later in the spring and the new president is also planning new furnishings for the ladies' lounge.

A busy year of fund raising and other activities is also planned.

Child Recovering From Injuries

Unconscious for 24 hours after being struck by a car, Friday, near his home on Lochiel Street, Noel Lajoie, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Lajoie, was able to leave Glengarry Memorial Hospital for home on Tuesday.

The youngster suffered head injuries when he ran out of his driveway past a high snowbank and into the path of a car driven by Rene Jeaurond, 21. No charges are being considered reports Chief Cleroux.

Nine Month Term For Fatal Crash

Charles H. Meldrum, 36, of Alexandria, was sentenced to nine months in reformatory, Monday, in the hit-and-run traffic death of Mrs. Phyllis Mosher, here, July 24th.

Meldrum was sentenced to nine months in reformatory for criminal negligence and to a similar concurrent term for failing to stop after hitting Mrs. Mosher at the intersection of St. Paul and Bishop Sts. His driver's licence was suspended for two years.

Evidence indicated he was travelling at a high rate of speed and went through a stop sign.

Judge Fitzpatrick found death was caused directly by the injuries she suffered and that the driver did not stop, but fled the scene.

"He acted in a most cowardly manner in attempting to escape criminal liability when he failed to stop," said the judge.

Counsel Ronald Adams asked for leniency because of the accused's family, also stating that the criminal negligence was not a premeditated act.

Crown Attorney Duncan J. MacDonald felt severe punishment was in order and hoped this would be warning to other people who might be similarly involved in such offences.

"You may have lost your head, but having regained your sense of balance, you might have reported it to the police. But you did no such thing," said the judge.

Road Subsidies Lower This Year

Lochiel Township will be eligible for $4,000 less in road subsidies this year than in 1968, township council learned from the Ontario Department of Highways at its inaugural meeting last week.

Newly - elected Reeve Gerard Massie was in the chair and he welcomed the new deputy - reeve, Alex McDonald and one new councillor, Hugh MacPherson, in addition to councillors Leo Trottier and William Fraser.

Officials were all re-appointed and a by-law was passed authorizing borrowing up to $259,000 to meet current expenditures in 1969. Road accounts to the amount of $14,000 were passed for payment.

Laurent Sicard and Real Huot of the District Welfare Office were present to discuss welfare problems.

Snowmobilers Want Minimum Regulation

Owners of snowmobiles in Alexandria want more freedom to use the streets than the proposed new by-law would allow them. Police Chief Cleroux has been informed.

To be discussed by council at its next meeting, the by-law would regulate travel from home to certain streets on the town's periphery which give access to the lake and open fields. Some owners want to be able to use their snowmobiles for running to post office and other such errands in town, Chief Cleroux has been informed. He feels this would preclude all regulation of the machines within town limits.

An esteemed resident of Lochiel throughout her lifetime, Mrs. Patrick Hammill died Monday in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, following a lengthy illness. She was 65.

The former Mary Margaret Macdonell, Mrs. Hammill was a daughter of the late John A. Macdonell and his wife, Flora McDonald. She taught in area schools for many years and had been active in the CWL of St. Alexander's parish.

Pembroke Man Suggests New Route Should Run East From Monkland

Ontario highways department's proposed route of a fourlane freeway to link Ottawa to the Quebec border has been challenged by a Pembroke man, A. C. Russell, on the basis of length and economy.

According to a news report in the Ottawa Journal, Mr. Russell says new highway 417 should run southwards through Embrun and Monkland and 13 miles north of Cornwall and connect with the Quebec expressway at Dorion. This would, he says avoid "poor soil" conditions along the more northerly proposed route. It would also give speedier access to the U.S.

The new 63-mile highway will cost an estimated $70,000,000, Highways Minister Gomme said in a recent press release. A report of a study made in 1966 suggested $30,000,000.

The minister attributed the rise in costs partly to additional base needed for the road in bog areas along the proposed route.

Mr. Russell claims by routing the freeway farther south, much of this poor soil area would be skirted, and the project should not cost so much.

Highways department district engineer Campbell Robertson told The Journal Mr. Russell should keep in mind that the new highway is to serve Ottawa-Montreal traffic.

Cornwall area already has a good freeway to Montreal, along 401 Highway.

Mr. Robertson does not believe the route would be shorter either.

The proposed route is to link with the Queensway at Nicholas Street, and run from Ramsayville, just north of Casselman and Vankleek Hill to the Quebec border south of Pointe Fortune.

Morley Hurdis, of the district highways office at Ottawa, says the route is "not 100 per cent firm yet." Engineers may avoid some of the poor soil area. It could be a few miles north or south of a line drawn across a map published in mid-November.

Work is to begin almost immediately on the throughway, scheduled by the highways department for completion in 1975.

Brushing will begin along a five-mile stretch of the right-of-way east of Ramsayville Monday morning.

By early summer. workmen are expected to begin a second contract to grade the same stretch.

Highways Minister Gomme said "additional contracts will be scheduled to maintain a continuous sequence of construction."

Gammon Again PUC Chairman

Ray Gammon was re-elected chairman of Alexandria's Public Utilities Commission at the inaugural meeting held last Wednesday night. This will be his seventh year in the chair.

Mr. Gammon welcomed Mayor Touchette as the only newcomer to the PUC this year and he announced the town engineer will be at next meeting to discuss plans for improvement to the filtration plant this year.

The plant is now pumping to full capacity. It was built for a half million gallon capacity and has pumped close to 600,000 gallons daily. The Ontario Water Resources Board has ordered an addition to the present plant and meanwhile no new services are permitted to add on.

PUC employees attended the meeting seeking increases in wages. The Commission was to hold a special meeting last night to discuss the matter.

Fifty Area Clergymen Met At Retreat House To Discuss Today's Challenges

At Villa Fatima Retreat House, here Wednesday, 50 area clergymen met to exchange insights and common problems as they face the pastoral challenges of 1969.

The day began with a contemporary prayer service for christian unity. Clergymen of the various christian traditions led the different phases of this service. Bishop Adolphe Proulx and Archdeacon Bradley delivered homilies in which they emphasized the necessity of greater co-operation among the christian churches. Both achnowledged that great progress has already been realized in this essential apostolate.

After the prayer service, the clergymen moved to the conference room. Here they watched an enlightening and somewhat disturbing film entitled: "Modern Art and the Gospel". The main thrust of this film was to show that the modern artist is also a prophet, and, therefore, has something to say to present-day christians. The artist, like the biblical prophet, helps man to see himself as he really is. Such a vision is often threatening and challenging. Through artistic experience we not only discover the deeper meaning of reality. but we also are forced to confront the moral distortion that often lurch beneath the surface of our own life.

The discussion groups revealed the confusion and insecurity that plague so many clergymen as they face the religious indifference of our age. Feelings of self-doubt and insecurity showed through the defensive stance assumed by some of the participants. Other clergymen were willing to face these criticisms and negative attitudes in a spirit of courage and hope. All in all, this first ecumenical encounter of 1969 proved enlightening and helpful to all involved.

Two other sons, George, 11, and Randy, 10, who also suffered burns in the fire, have been released from the hospital and are staying with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Woods of Green Valley.

A trust fund for the Pratt family, opened at the Martintown branch, Bank of Nova Scotia by Rev. Kenneth McDonald, has now reached $1,500.

Worker Injured Shed Destroyed In Fire

IT'S OUR OPINION

An Economy-Minded Council

The new town council assumed its duties last week in an aura of harmony and mutual goodwill that was heartening. If the compatability that was so evident at the inaugural meeting can be maintained throughout the two-year term of office Alexandria should enjoy an era of peaceful progress under responsible leadership.

The responsible approach was indicated in the brief remarks of the incoming councillors and in the opening address of Mayor Touchette who promised economy would be the guideline. In later deliberations the new council gave evidence that it would be dollar - conscious when it found fault with Toronto's idea of a fair rental for the courtroom enclave and rejected a low bid on debentures.

These are the earmarks of a sound, businesslike administration and we can expect this same thoughtful consideration will be brought to bear on town affairs throughout council's term of office.

We have high hopes for our town under the new administration. Our mayor is not easily ruffled and his fellow councillors can be expected to keep their "cool" if and when matters contentious come before the board. Our civic growing pains almost assuredly will bring on minor crises over the next two years but these can be surmounted if council works in harmony.

Few can match Mayor Touchette in his drive for civic progress and betterment. This promising new council could be immeasurably assisted, however, if our Board of Trade was re-activated and had the support it has so sadly lacked in the past.

Every citizen should be a town booster, he suggested in his mayorality address. That should not need saying and it can be made most evident by active participation in a revived Board of Trade.

Let's get on with it.

The Need Has Been Shown

A public library is one of the few facilities Alexandria lacks and the need for such a service has recently been emphasized by the demands on the new bookmobile. So heavy was the run on the mobile library on its first visits here, the supervisor has already arranged for an additional trip to Alexandria every third Saturday.

Those who have long been advocates of a public library for our town must have found encouragement in the inaugural address of Mayor Touchette. Discussing plans for a new Youth and Projects Committee of council he specifically mentioned a library as something that is almost a necessity here.

This is also the thinking of bookmobile supervisor Herman Nyland. Reporting on the first month of operation of his mobile library, Mr. Nyland observed that Alexandria this year will have two full day visits every three weeks, and he added, "this town has the greatest concentration of urban population outside Cornwall and bookmobile service is not really the proper answer for its needs."

Alexandria, he stressed, needs a library. Bookmobile service can only serve as first aid, but the lack of space in the vehicle makes it a poor substitute for library service. There is no opportunity to browse quietly, reference service cannot be given to any extent, there is no place on a bookmobile to sit quietly and look through a book.

Alexandria, said the supervisor, is one of the first places where a library should be established. The overwhelming interest in the bookmobile has clearly shown the need.

It has been suggested that the fine new library facilities at Glengarry District High School should be shared by the community and it is possible the new Area Board will move in that direction. There are 900 students who should have priority on its volumes, though, and it is questionable whether the school book shelves would fill the need for adult reading too.

There are plans for a new post office on a new location and perhaps the present building would lend itself admirably for library purposes. No doubt council will have the knowledgeable advice of the bookmobile sponsors, the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System, if and when it gets around to seriously thinking of a public library for Alexandria.

It can't come too soon.

Outlaw Their Guns

The most bizarre murder case he had ever been involved in, one police officer described the gunning down of two men on the highway near Carp. Odd or unusual may have been the circumstances surrounding this double murder, but "horrifying" might better describe the impact of this senseless slaughter on most of us.

There apparently was no motive. Three alleged murderers are in custody and police have yet to uncover any connection between them and their prey. It seems this was another "thrill" murder, committed for "kicks". The horrifying aspect is that not only one twisted mind was prepared to trigger any number of casual travellers into eternity. Three men were involved, all in their twenties, at an age when maturity might be expected to put a governor on any killer instinct lurking in the diseased mind of one of them.

Were they doped up? Was rape of the victims' wives in their minds? Surely police questioning has established the motivation and the public has a right to know, if only for its own peace of mind.

If these killers prove to have been fed on too steady a diet of gunsmoke on television certainly this senseless slaughter, only a few miles outside Ottawa, should move Parliament to clear this type of violence from CBC fare.

No matter the motivation for this cold-blooded twin killing, members of the Commons should keep it fresh in their minds when they consider amendments to the criminal code, due to be debated in the House in the next few weeks.

We know not what provision, if any, will govern the carrying of arms without a hunting licence or permit. If the Government is at all interested in restoring law and order, in preventing gang wars and clearing the Cosa Nostra from Canada, it should be stiffening the penalties against bearing arms. A mandatory jail term of not less than five years for anyone having an unlicensed gun in his possession might soon rid us of goons who are trigger-happy for criminal purposes or simply for their idea of fun.

In the U. S., today, honest citizens feel compelled to arm themselves in the interest of their own security. Surely Canadians would feel safer from slaughter if everyone was disarmed.

No Incentive For Long Term Lending

Town Council is finding it difficult to sell a debenture at a satisfactory price and this is not a problem faced only by our municipality. It is of a piece with Finance Minister Benson mourning the current sad state of the bond market. He terms it "most unhealthy"; but it is not the bond market that is sick.

The unhealthiness is in the failure of the Government to act seriously against inflation. The sad condition of the bond market is effect rather than cause.

There wouldn't be much wrong with the bond market today, points out an editorial in the Montreal Gazette, if anyone buying a long-term bond could feel assured that when his bond matured he would be paid back in full. But no one today can have any shadow of such an assurance. He will, according to the contract, be paid the same number of dollars. But it is not the number of dollars but what they are worth that matters.

The state of the bond market especially the market for bonds with longer terms, is exactly what one might expect as the result of the Government's policies over many years. The Government has never really controlled its spending. And when it has spent heavily in a period when inflation was general, it has only sped inflation on its way, almost with its blessing.

The most that the Government has done in recent budgets is attempt to reduce the yearly rate of increase in its spending, never to cut back the spending from what it was the year before. But even this has not been successful. The Government, in the spring, promised a balanced budget. But in the autumn it faced a fantastic deficit.

In order to get its deficit in hand, the government proposes to transfer the open-ended welfare programs to the provinces. But there is no guarantee that the federal Government will see to it, over the years, that the provinces have sufficient tax resources to keep paying for these swelling programs.

This manoeuvre would relieve Ottawa considerably. It does nothing to counteract inflation; it only transfers the inflationary spending from Ottawa to the provincial capitals. After all, it is all the same country, and the same inflation, no matter whence it originates.

Any pretence that spending is being controlled is destroyed by the federal Government's insistence, at such a time as this, in going ahead with its medicare scheme. The massive spending program, highly inflationary, is being imposed on many provinces who do not want it, because they cannot afford it.

Under conditions of this kind, it is odd behavior to deplore the want of health in the bond market. The bond market is being sickened by the same government whose Finance Minister weeps over it.

Mr. Benson does well to weep. But he weeps for the wrong reasons. And, surely, he must know it.

The prevailing epidemic of "flu" during the past several weeks has claimed many victims in the county. An unusually sad double bereavement, as a result of flu, was the passing within two days of each other of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. McDonell, at the old family home, 24-4th Kenyon. — J. A. McCrimmon was elected reeve of Lochiel township in Monday's vote. — Alexandria Curling Club was represented in the Granite Curling Bonspiel in Montreal, by two rinks. A foursome consisting of James Kerr, J. J. Morries, D. J. Cuthbert and J. T. Hope, skip, was defeated 19-8 by their Lachine opponents, while O. Luckhart, D. Connell, F. C. McRae and D. N. McRae, skip, won 12-11, over a Thistle Club entry. — The Misses Teresa Macdonald, K. Costello and Mary M. MacDonell, who spent the holiday season at their homes here, have returned to Brooklyn, N. Y.

FRESH AIR NEEDED

In our long, cold winters we become accustomed to cars running for hours to warm up engines, defrost windows, move their wheels. But carbon monoxide is an insidious enemy . . . The engine of your car is pumping out lethal clouds of gas; you must have equally large supplies of oxygen in order to survive. —Whitehorse (Y.T.) Star.

Victory For The World's Squares

(The Bowmanville Statesman)

One of the major by-products of the unbelievable achievement last week by the United States spacemen will be, we hope, the inspiration they have passed on to young people of the world.

These three courageous men and other thousands involved in the project are products of the present educational system in the United States, that certainly cannot be as useless as some of the young protesters would have us believe.

Their training, discipline and physical condition should provide a fine example to those mixed up, insecure young people who have tried to remove themselves from our society by becoming hippies, yippies or what have you. The astronauts have shown quite clearly that adventure and opportunity is very much a part of today's living, if only they are willing to make the effort and the sacrifices required.

The moon shot is certainly a great victory for the squares of the world who believe in honest effort, in ambitious effort, courage, self-control and the full use of man's abilities and potential.

All those who would give vent to their frustrations by giving up should take note and govern themselves accordingly. They could be on the wrong track and it may not be too late to change their course.

The Press And The Prime Minister

(by Danny Theriault, Grade 12)

"I think the prime minister is an over-publicized phony" — the expert opinion of an every day housewife who probably knows about as much about the prime minister as she does about launching nuclear missiles. She was possibly even one of the many who voted for him "because he is cute".

Many people such as this particular lady believe that the press is largely responsible for Prime Minister Trudeau's popularity and exorbitant styles, and believe that his publicized activities should be curtailed to the confines of Parliament Hill.

But can you blame the press? They are out to sell papers and what better sellers could they ask for than stories of our prime minister? They play on his apparel, humor and social activities. Trudeau's fashion consciousness though is an aspect of his own character not something created by the press.

Inversely though, I think Mr. Trudeau plays on the reporters' aim of selling a paper. By playing on the press the prime minister has blended and moulded our national character with that of his own. His swinging image has opened the eyes of many Americans who are just realizing that we do have a prime minister, in fact, their concept of our country as a whole is being revolutionized. Many candid American opinions of Mr. Trudeau range from identification of him with fashions to the once eligible suitor for Jacqueline Kennedy. But at least through constant publication in newspapers and magazines, they know he's here and we're behind him.

Presently Mr. Trudeau is representing Canada at the Commonwealth Conference in London where he has stolen the centre of attention. The world is identifying our character with him so it is of relative significance that he holds the limelight.

After all, lady, Trudeau is really like that. Through his individuality he has shaped and blended the Canadian personality with that of his own. Be proud of him, for with the help of publicity from the press, he is putting Canada into the international spotlight where he should be proud to stand.

RAMBLING REPORTER

IT MIGHT BE WORSE

The snow keeps snowing and blowing and there's no sign yet of the January thaw to warm the outdoors. This is the worst time of the winter, we always think, and if we can get through the next two weeks February will be along with spring in the wings.

These weeks of midwinter can best be survived by developing one's imperturbability and doing some positive thinking. How lucky we are the winter isn't worse; isn't it nice there've been no sleet storms to interrupt power service and stop our heating units. This kinda thinking can do wonders in easing you through January.

A magazine advertisement shows a couple of coffee-colored kids down in the Caribbean who've never seen snow. Isn't that a shame, one thinks; and one is tempted to wrap up a pound or two of the stuff and mail it down to them. Thing is, the Post Office might not accept the parcel.

Even more warming is to let one's mind dwell on those poor riggers who're looking for oil up on the Arctic fringe. That must be a cold job, and winter hangs on a lot longer up there.

How cosy the house is when one comes in outta the cold; and doesn't bed feel good when there's frost on the windowpane. Gee whiz, we're getting warmer just rambling along like this.

Wouldn't it be awful if we had no cold weather at all? No curling, no bowling, no snowmobiles, no excuse to follow the birds to Florida.

Woops. we shouldn't have mentioned that Sunshine State. It's hard to keep thinking positively when your television set shows you thousands of people sitting in their shirt-sleeves watching that football game in Miami.

Thing to do in a case like this is try and remember it gets cool at times down there, too; and they're not equipped for the cold. Visualize all those oranges shivering in the trees as Jack Frost sneaks up on them. It might help, too, to remember all those girl hurricanes that blow in from the Caribbean.

Think positively, dear reader, develop your imperturbability and maybe you'll be able to live through the rest of this blessed January cold.

Way back when we were young Florida water was scent. Now one goes to Florida waters.

THEY AIN'T WHAT THEY WAS

A note in another weekly reminds that the sideburn, now almost a must for men, is actually a burnside, named after one of the generals of the Civil War era in the United States. General Burnside may not have been any great shakes as a warrior but he got into the history books by a whisker and it doesn't seem quite fair that someone, sometime, put the cart before the horse in referring to that cheek fuzz.

The burnside he affected is now called a sideburn and let that be a lesson to this new generation of men who seem to think letting their hair grow untended will put them above the common herd.

Actually the sideburns most of them are affecting now are not the natty ear muffs that were distinctive in an earlier day. Our mind goes back to the late "Spike" McDonald one of the nattiest dressers of our era whose sideburns were trimmed and shaped to the nth and in which he took deserved pride.

Contrast them in mind's eye with the woolly outcropping on the cheeks that most young men affect today. There's nothing distinctive about them. Most leave the impression the guy wearing them just started his razor a bit low and happily tomorrow he'll set his sights two inches higher. Sideburns should be assiduously trimmed and shaped or they look like a dirty patch of fuzz.

Seems they're the thing to wear, though, if you want to be in style. A fellow from New Jersey was telling us last summer one doesn't dare go into New York City without sideburns or one is considered a hick. No doubt guys who go for a clean shave can now buy paste-ups in the dime store for wearing on trips to Wall Street or Madison Avenue, or even Main Street.

If every man's got to go in for letting his hair down below his ears maybe it's time the man of distinction resurrected the well-trimmed burnsides and left the sideburns to the great unwashed.

Latest definition of a hippie is a Jack who looks like a Jill and smells like a John.

Airport Reportedly Will Be In Quebec

OTTAWA — Recent rumors that a site near Cornwall might be selected for a new International airport to serve Montreal and Ottawa have been discounted here.

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer has indicated that a decision on the site will be made in the next few weeks as work to prepare for the jumbo jets must be started soon. Montreal's present Dorval airport is not considered adequate for the purpose.

Mr. Hellyer said that convenience to Ottawa would be about a five per cent factor in choosing the site. At the start, some 21 sites were under consideration and this number has been reduced to five, all of them in Quebec and only one west of Monteral.

The Drummondville area is believed to be one of the leading contenders. Mr. Hellyer said there were no scheduled overseas flights using the Ottawa airport and many people from the capital area travelled to Montreal airport to catch overseas flights.

Illness Prevention Role of Family Doctor

Choose a family doctor before you need one, advises the Council on Family Health.

Waiting for an emergency before finding a family doctor is out of step with the advances in modern medical service. Today, a very important part of modern medicine is preventing illness. Your modern family doctor is able to do this through a never-ending study of what is new in medical service. He is also aware of the many and varied social, emotional and environmental factors that influence the health of his patient, and his patient's family.

Choosing a family doctor is such a major decision that the Council suggests consideration of some primary points:

Are you satisfied that you chose your doctor on the recommendation of sources you can trust, such as the local medical society or the local hospital?

Is he within reasonable distance of your home?

Do you feel comfortable in his presence?

Does he instill confidence in you?

There's more to the relationship between the doctor and your family than merely keeping his telephone number handy. You have to do your part to make the relationship as beneficial as possible.

Cooperate with the doctor when he is treating you or a member of your family by following his directions to the letter. Give exact dosages of medicines at the prescribed times.

Never use left-over prescriptions for another illness or another person than for whom they were prescribed without consulting your doctor.

Remember that preventive medicine includes routine check-ups, innoculations and booster shots. Don't hesitate to ask your physician about them.

A doctor considers the best interests of his patients, and seeks the best possible medical care for you and your family. On occasion, he may recommend consultation with either a specialist or a colleague, if he is not satisfied with the progress you, or a member of your family, is making.

No matter how busy your family doctor is, you should tell him as briefly as possible the symptoms, anxieties and fears you have. Even things that may seem trivial to you may help the doctor head off illness or costly emergency treatment at a later date.

Regional Government For Area At Least Five Years Away

Several political figures in the United Counties have forecast regional government for this area as soon as 1972.

L. Cameron Kennedy, United Counties clerk-treasurer and a member of the St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology board of governors, has worked with township and county governments for more than 34 years and is a firm believer that regional government is at least five years away.

"There has been no study in this area and the government doesn't have immediate planns for a study," Mr. Kennedy pointed out. "I think it will be some time before the government does make a study of this area."

The veteran clerk - treasurer ranks uniform assessment, something which is still a long way off, as a "must" before regional government is instituted.

Mr. Kennedy said a Queen's Park oficial recently told him that regional government is "at least" five years away for the United Counties.

"There are numerous problems which would have to be ironed out before regional government would be workable in this area," Mr. Kennedy said.

Mr. Kennedy, who plans to retire within the next six years, wouldn't express his views on regional government other than to say he "wasn't opposed to the idea."

Mr. Kennedy pointed out regional government is not as necessary in Eastern Ontario as it is in areas near Toronto and in Southern Ontario.

"Regional government is needed in urbanized parts of the Kitchener, St. Catharines and Oshawa areas," Mr. Kennedy said. "Eastern Ontario is not as urbanized as these areas."

The clerk-treasurer noted that the government has not set a target date for its regional government plan.

At United Counties council's January session opening next week, John Pearson of Toronto, regional studies program co-ordinator, will address council.

"Mr. Pearson is coming to Cornwall at the council's request but I doubt if he can tell us much about the government's plans for the United Counties," Mr. Kennedy said.

Santa Present For Sunday School Party

Santa Claus himself arrived in good spirits at the annual Sunday School party of St. Andrew's United Church, Martintown. A good number of children were on hand to greet him. Assisted by Mr. Wilbur McArthur, Sunday School superintendent, Santa distributed candy and fruit to all children present.

Maintaining the 'party' theme, games were conducted which all enjoyed, and several presentations were given which included piano solos by Janice Murray, Kathy Ann Thomson and Donna Lee Thomson; accordion solos by Hugh and Alan McGregor; songs by Sharon, Shirley and Mark Hargrove, also Bonny Hamilton. Martintown does not lack in musical talent.

Singing of "We wish you a merry Christmas" brought the evening to a successful conclusion.

Beautifully decorated by Linden Urquhart and Findlay MacIntosh, the old stone church at Martintown, St. Andrew's United, was the scene of the annual vesper service presented by the CGIT girls. The service was originally scheduled for the night of the 17th and had to be postponed on account of the dreadful weather. The CGIT girls were grateful for the co-operation of all who came a week later to this service.

The theme this year was the Christmas message as told through scripture, hymns, and praise. Leaders were Janice Murray and Muriel Ioss; candlelighters Margaret Watling, Claudette Quenneville, Iris Macdonald, Elizabeth Murray and Gail Poapst. Special anthems were sung, the organist being Mrs. Douglas MacKay. During the service, a pageant was presented by members of the Sunday School, played by the following —Mary and Joseph—Sharon Hargrove and Murray Hamilton. Shepherds, Douglas Murray, Gary Hamilton, Kevin Robertson, Alexander Ross and Don Thomson. Wise Men — Hugh MacGregor, Douglas West and Linden Aitken. The little angel was played by Kathy Ann Thomson. Ushers were Robin Thomson and Robert Aitken. In charge of the costuming were Mrs. Donald Thomson and Mrs. Campbell Murray.

The CGIT group and their leader, Mrs. Leslie West, thank all who assisted them in this sacred hour of worship.

Area Board Studying Possibility Of Joint Use Of School Buses

Liaison with the separate school board to establish joint routes for transportation of pupils is one of the possibilities under study by the SDG Board of Education.

A report on transportation also revealed the new board will determine educational, financial and other implications of a board owned transportation system; a privately owned system; a system utilizing buses leased to the board by a private agency; or some combination of the mentioned systems.

The board will also assess advantages and disadvantage of using joint elementary and secondary school bus routes and feeder routes which would eliminate long runs by buses to pick up individual students.

However, the board has recommended continuation of the present system until June 30, 1969 when most current contracts terminate.

Results of various surveys indicate elementary school boards operate 125 routes, transporting 4,390 pupils at a daily cost of $2,259 with secondary school boards operating 91 routes, transporting 3,829 pupils at a daily cost of $2,357.

The retarded children's authorities transport 86 pupis at a daily cost of $184.

Total expenditure to school boards is $959,866 per year. The total ceiling approved for grant purposes during the 1967-68 school year was $891,116.

Prior to this time, expenditures for transporting pupils to schools for retarded children were included as part of the cost of operating of the retarded children's authorities. Grants were based on cost of operation.

Of the 185 buses involved in the 1968-69 elementary and secondary school operations, 11 are board owned and operated; two privately owned and leased to the board; and 172 privately owned and operated.

Average daily cost per pupil for the 1968-69 term appears to range from 18 cents to $1.03. Distance has effect on the average daily cost per pupil.

Included in immediate problems to be resolved by the board are appointment of person to authorize cancellation of transportation in adverse weather conditions and establishment of basic minimum insurance coverage. Recent judgments indicate the $100,000 coverage carried by some operators is inadequate.

NEVER ON SUNDAY

The Union of British Columbia Municipalities . . . resolution asks the government to allow the municipalities to grant permission for paid admissions to Sunday sports and entertainment events...

The old idea of a Sunday in which the entire family spends its day, dressed in finery, sitting primly in the parlor, has long since disappeared in most households. Most families, even those who attend church services in the morning or evening, would not object to having something interesting to do for the rest of the day. —Salmon Arm (B.C.) Observer.

Farm, Industrial Equipment Show Set For Toronto

The anticipated 150,000 visitors to the Canada Farm & Industrial Equipment Show, January 22nd to 25th, at Exhibition Park, Toronto, will revel in an atmosphere never before experienced in a show of this kind.

"Cotter pins to Combines; Twine to Railway Tracks".

Each one of the five main floor buildings will have its special feature. Machines and devices never before revealed, many designed by Canadians to do precise jobs which only yesterday would have seemed impossible.

A machine which will clear, level and provide a read bed through dense bush all by itself and in one operation.

A Canadian product, accepted as the best in North America, for highway weed control.

Labor-savers in multitude to serve both large and small holdings, plus red-carpeted aisles to walk on as you examine them and define your needs, will be featured in the Industry Building. Here, also, will be found wheels, wheels and wheels—all the offerings of the major agricultural suppliers resplendent in their variegated glory along Main Street of this huge Show Hall.

While the Ontario Soil & Crop Improvement Association Convention, with its variety of advice, instruction, lectures and pictures "carries on" in the upper East Annex, vegetation control services will be displaying their units on an actual railway track especially installed for the purpose. In the surrounding areas, the specialized grower can browse for seeds, fertilizers and insecticides as well as handling and packaging supplies.

Your local Farm Equipment Dealer will be pleased to give you free admission cards. Only adults require these. He may, as most do, be sponsoring excursion coaches. The agricultural suppliers provide this Show, sponsored by the Ontario Farm Equipment Dealer's Association, for the elevation and education of all those whose endeavor is participation in Canada's greatest industry—farming.

McLaughlin-Eastman

St. Columban's Church Cornwall, was decorated with red and white carnations for the marriage of Audrey Eastman, daughter of Mr. Harold Eastman and the late Mrs. Eastman, to Patrick McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix McLaughlin of Martintown. Rev. Thomas McGillis, CSB, uncle of the bride, officiated at the Dec. 28th ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length A-line gown of silk organza with scoop neckline, featuring lily point sleeves with inserts of Alencon lace. The bodice was trimmed with pearls, crystals and Alencon lace. A full chapel train was held in place at the waist by a large silk organza bow. The two-tier scalloped silk illusion veil edged with minature pearls was attached to a flower of silk organza and the bride wore a cultured pearl necklace, gift of the groom. Her bouquet contained pink roses and white carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jacqueline McLaughlin, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and bridesmaids Miss Elaine McLaughlin, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Donna Eastman, cousin of the bride wore identical gowns of emerald green velvet complimented with white fur stoles.

Best man was John McLaughlin, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were Terence McLaughlin, brother of the bridegroom and Tom Brownell, cousin of the bride.

Following a reception at MacDonell's Inn, the bride donned a coat and dress ensemble of mint green shantung for a honeymoon trip to the south. The bodice was trimmed with pearls and she carried a corsage of bronze mums.

Guests attending were from St. Catharines, Thorold, Ottawa, Toronto, Waterloo, Guelph, Montreal, Long Sault and Martintown.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by her aunt.

Plan Services For Maxville Manor

A committee of district ministers and priests has organized to provide regular church service at the Maxville Manor, which presently has 27 residents.

A service will be held each Sunday afternoon at 3.30 p.m. An organ has been donated to the chapel, and each minister will bring his own organist and choir. In consideration of the age of the congregation the service will be a bit shorter than usual, lasting for about 40 minutes, with the sermon interspersed with hymns and prayers.

Ten members of the clergy will take turns conducting this service. Mass will be celebrated by Father Lionel Bourque of Maxville in whose parish the Manor stands. Rev. H. Preece of Long Sault will conduct the Anglican service.

The United Church will be represented by Rev. W. E. Henderson of Maxville, Rev. John Wheeler of Apple Hill, and Mr. Gerald McFarlane of Riceville. The Presbyterian ministers in the group are Rev. I. D. MacIver of Maxville, Rev. H. Russell Ferguson of Dunvegan, Rev. Kenneth McDonald of Martintown, Rev. James McGowan of Vankleek Hill, and Mr. David C. Robertson of Moose Creek.

Bookmobile Is Pilot Project Of E. Ontario Regional Library System

In order to clear up any misunderstanding that may have arisen regarding the Regional Library System's Pilot Project presently underway in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, the Board of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System wishes to draw your readers' attention to the following points:

(1) For various reasons, the United Counties were chosen by the Director and the Board of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System as the site for a demonstration project to illustrate various kinds of county library service. The bookmobile, with which many of you are familiar, is one part of this project. The establishment of three demonstration branches and the strengthening and improvement of already existing libraries are other facets of the undertaking.

(2) The Council of the United Counties gave the Board of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System permission to conduct the project within the Counties. No further engagement on the part of either body was undertaken. The Eastern Ontario Regional Library System Board did not ask for, nor was it given, any financial assistance from the Counties' Council to conduct this experiment in library service.

(3) While the establishing of demonstration branches required a small local contribution, the entire expense of the bookmobile service is underwritten by the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System. No local money from any source whatever is involved.

(4) The books and personnel for the bookmobile are rented from the Cornwall Public Library through a contract between the Board of that institution and the Eastern Regional Library System Board. The vehicle itself is the property of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System, which pays all expenses of upkeep, etc.

(5) Because the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System's responsibility extends considerably beyond the borders of the United Counties' a project which would have provided total, counties-wide service could not be considered. Our repeatedly-stated aim has been to provide a sample service wherein necessarily limited staff and equipment could be used to best advantage.

(6) The Regional Board intends to continue the project for three years. In the meantime, it will be up to the Counties' Council to decide whether it wishes to establish a county library, which would continue the service and extend it to presently unserved areas.

AVONMORE

UCW MET

The January meeting of St. James United UCW, Avonmore, was held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Park. Mrs. Maldwyn Watkins' group was in charge of the worship service and the Christian mission, theme of which was "Toward Understanding China and the Chinese People".

The worship service entitled "Hope for the New Year", was conducted by Mrs. J. M. Rielly. Mrs. Elmer Park and Mrs. F. C. Eligh.

Mrs. Watkins introduced the mission theme and by means of prepared questions and answers proceeded to develop the topic. Many interesting facts concerning China were presented to the ladies. A letter written by a Canadian housewife who visited Canton in 1966, gave a very vivid picture of life and customs in that city.

The business part of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Watkins. The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. Charles Rielly, proved that 1968 had been a very successful year financially.

Plans were made for the annual congregational meeting on Jan. 16th and for the induction of Rev. Funge at a later date.

A social hour followed.

GOLDEN DATE MARKED

On the occasion of their wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. (Nettie) Eamer were honored by their relatives, neighbors, and friends who assembled at their home in the Second Concession of Roxborough to extend their congratulations and good wishes.

Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons and O. F. Villeneuve, member of the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. Eamer were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, including those from members of their family and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Eamer were married in the Methodist Manse in Avonmore, on Jan. 14. 1919, the ceremony solemnized by Rev. Mr. Blanchard. Since that time they have resided in the Second Concession and they are among the best known and most highly respected residents in the community.

Mrs. Eamer, the former Rettia Loucks, was born in the Ninth Concession of Cornwall Township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Loucks. Her mother's maiden name was Mary Warner.

Mr. Eamer was born in the Second Concession of Roxborough, not far from where he now lives. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eamer. Mrs. Eamer was the former Bertha C. Bride.

He and his father were partners in business for many years, first in the village of Avonmore in the operation of a bake shop, an ice cream parlor, and a farm machinery outlet. Later they went into the heating and plumbing business and in the later capacity Mr. Eamer is presently identified.

For many years the Eamers were known throughout Eastern Ontario as prestige exhibitors of vegtables at fall fairs, showing at as many as 33 fairs from Peterborough eastwards in one season.

Mr. and Mrs. Eamer have one daughter, Eileen (Mrs. Bud Mayhew), of Ottawa, and two grandsons, Garry and Vern. Mr. Eamer has one sister, Miss Phyllis Eamer, Don Mills. Mrs. Eamer has two brothers, George Loucks, St. Catharines, and Basil Loucks, Long Sault.

Christmas candy was distributed to the senior citizens and shut-ins of our community. Mrs. Lasalle had a book contest which was won by Mrs. Keith MacMillan. Christmas Carols were sung and Mrs. Kevin McGee favored us with accordian music. Post Office gifts were numbered and sold. Mrs. Alcide Taillon spoke on her hobby which is collecting salt and pepper shakers, she informed us she has over five hundred pairs.

Refreshments, buffet style were served, consisting of the rolls baked along with salads, cake and tea. Mrs. Nixon thanked the ladies, and Mrs. Lasalle invited the meeting for January.

Montreal Milk Shippers Nominate 10 Members To District Syndicate

A representative turn-out of whole milk shippers attended a meeting at Maxville, called by the newly-organized Syndicate of Montreal Producers.

There are 186 whole milk shippers in Ontario who have been represented by the Whole Milk Producers for the last nine years. This organization was suspended last year by the Quebec Agricultural Marketing Board, and a new group must be chosen to represent local farmers shipping whole milk to the Montreal market. The reorganized Producers' Board called a meeting in Alexandria a few weeks ago, and presented their case. The Syndicate feels that their group will be better able to represent the milk shippers since if they can obtain enough members and support they have been assured of affiliation with and backing of the Catholic Farmers' Union, which has a very powerful voice in Quebec argricultural policies.

This Syndicate was organized in Quebec last January. The 3,000 whole milk shippers in the Montreal area were divided into 14 districts, of which the Ontario district is No. 8, with a present membership of 33 out of a possible 186. In the other 13 districts Syndicate membership seems to average two-thirds of the total — indicating considerable Quebec confidence in this group. An exploratory referendum answered by 1500 farmers in September, who were offered the choice of representation by the Co-Op, the Producers' Board or the Syndicate, resulted in approximately the same two-thirds majority for the Syndicate.

The next step will probably be another referendum, in order to decide whether the Producers' Board or the new Syndicate will represent the whole milk shippers. No matter which group is elected, the goal is to devise a unified policy for these shippers within a strong provincial organization, such as the industrial milk shippers have in their federation.

Ten directors were nominated at the Maxville meeting to represent the Ontario Shippers. Of these one will be elected president with a seat on the Syndicate board of directors. They were Gerard Massie, of Lochiel, who has been the local contact, Neil Bourgon, Donat Leduc, Fernand Lalonde, Laurent Souligny, Ronald McRae, Louis Lefebvre, Rolland Massie, Laurier Charlebois and Eugene Carriere.

Several farmers objected to one point of the Syndicate's organization. Under the old Producers' Board the two delegates to Montreal had full voting privileges. However, the Quebec Agricultural Marketing Board has passed a ruling that no outsiders can have a vote in provincial agricultural matters. The local president would be a liaison officer, for contact and information, obviously contact must be maintained with such a large market, voting or no the members felt.

An indication of general interest in this meeting the CBC sent a member of their staff who taped parts of the discussion for use on the noon farm broadcast.

Federation May Import Tractors From Britain

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture took another firm step towards the formation of a General Farm Organization in the province. The members also voted to keep open the necessary channels employed in importing tractors.

The move came during a regular monthly Members' Meeting at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto last Thursday. Much of the agenda was carried over from the annual convention in November.

In an amended resolution the OFA chose to confirm "its position as being in favor of a General Farm Organization in Ontario, based on the principles of financing by a check-off from all agricultural commodities plus a voluntary membership where desired."

The members further invested the executive with the power to work out any details in the complex action.

The last portion of the resolution states that the executive of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture "requests the Minister of Agriculture to provide the necessary legislation to conduct a farmer vote to form a General Farm Organization and collect the necessary funds to adequately finance the same via a commodity check-off."

Concerning the further importation of tractors. the members voted to allow the executive to take any necessary steps to continue the importation if deemed necessary by demand. The OFA recently imported seven tractors from Britain at a saving of about $20,000 to the purchasing farmers. The input prices on the Canadian markets make the same tractors twice the price of those imported from the United Kingdom.

Ladies Night At Sandringham

The ladies of the Sandringham Social Club were entertained on Friday evening Dec. 6th at the Civic Centre by the men of the club.

The evening was opened with cards and games. Then the President, Norman Prebble, introduced E. A. MacKillican of Moose Creek who took us on a world tour with slides of the trip he and Mrs. MacKillican had taken. This was enjoyed by all present with the hope that some day they could do the same. Mr. MacKillican then answered a lot of questions on the different places and people they met.

Linton Fraser moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. MacKillican for coming and sharing their trip with us.

A door prize of a Chocolate Layer Cake donated by Norman Prebble was won by Mrs. Marcel Legault.

Now the activity starts! A bean supper with all the trimmings, including, cake, squares, cookies and coffee and all served by the men of the club.

Mrs. Archie MacGregor moved a vote of thanks to the men. They had done such a wonderful job of the evening it was hoped they would do it again in February.

This was a grand evening for the ladies as the men did the whole show, even to sweeping and straightening up the Centre.

This is the first time such an event was undertaken by the men and the ladies enjoyed it all the way.

Next on the agenda is a Christmas party and this will be taken care of by the West Group.

Co-Op Medical Group Reports Business Boost

At a meeting held at the co-op office in Cornwall, Sam Smolkin of Cornwall was elected president of Stor-Dun-Glen Co-operative Medical Services.

With Mr. Smolkin is first vice-president Herbert Hill of Monkland, and second vice-president William Wilkinson of Maxville.

Directors are Eric Casselman, Chesterville; Aldebert Thauvette, St. Anne de Prescott; Omer Boileau, Cornwall; Hubert Cameron, Cornwall; Aime Brabant, Casselman and Harry Williams, Mountain, Ont.

William Legault, in his manager's report, cited heavy utilization of the insurance plan, a 20 per cent increase in claims over the same period last year and the board of directors approved an increase of benefits effective Feb. 1, 1969 by including a drug plan in lieu of major medical. Under it drugs will be paid by the co-operative on a first dollar basis. Lab tests which were formerly a part of major medical claim will now be included as a benefit in the surgical plan.

Authorization was given to pay the 1969 Ontario Medical Association Tariff of fees when enacted.

This new drug plan will also be available to all employee groups in Eastern Ontario who are not now participating in the co-op plan.

Delegates To Milk Marketing Board Annual Report Discussions

The third annual meeting of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board was held on Jan. 8th and 9th at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto.

One of the highlights of discussion was a report on the National Dairy Policy. The board asked for increases in the market price of industrial milk and federal subsidy assistance to industrial milk producers. The report asked that the Canadian Dairy Commission's market price for industrial milk—now $3.54 a hundred weight — be increased by 25 or 30 cents a hundred weight based on increased product - price support for butter, skim milk powder and cheddar cheese. It was also recommended that the government absorb the cost of export assistance now deducted from farmers' subsidies.

Industrial milk now brings $4.64 a hundred weight — the $3.54 market price plus $1.31 federal subsidy with 21 cents deducted for export assistance.

If the market price were raised by 25 cents and the 21 cents deduction absorbed by the government, the combined return would total $5.10 a hundred weight. The board also asked that federal dairy policy be announced in general terms over five years instead of one year periods, thus providing more security to the dairy industry since approximately 25 percent of a farmers gross returns are coming in the form of a direct payment from the federal government.

The board also proposed changes in the national quota policies to encourage larger dairy operations.

The Canadian Dairy Commission now forbids re-allocation of subsidy quotas to individual producers who already have a quota of 300,000 lbs. or more of milk. The maximum for partnerships or father-son operations is 500,000 lbs.

Board members believe these maximum levels are too low in relation to what a well-run one-man, or two-man, dairy farm operation can produce today. These maximums tend to discourage the kind of adjustment needed in the industry.

The board recommended a maximum of 500,000 pounds for individual producers and 700,000 for partnerships.

Some of the county delegates were hesitant about the possibility of repercussions from price increases and there was much questioning about producers for re-allocating subsidy quotas.

Delegates were told an increase of 25 cents in the market price for industrial milk would raise the price support for butter by six cents a pound, skim milk powder by a cent and a half or cheddar cheese by three cents. Present price supports are 65 cents a pound for butter, 20 cents a pound for skim milk and 42 cents a pound for cheese.

"Any increase in product prices is likely to carry with it a diminution in the sale of the product," Dr. S. C. Barry chairman of the Canadian Dairy Commission told the meeting.

Most complaints came over quota re-allocation. The board recommended support of the Canadian Dairy Commissions' "limited entry" policy for subsidies on industrial milk.

A farmer is eligible for subsidy only to the limit of an assigned quota. Last year the C.D.C. announced no new quotas will be issued after the 1968-69 dairy year. A new shipper will not qualify for subsidy payments unless he can buy a herd from a producer with a federal quota and arrange to have that quota re-allocated to him.

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board's advertising program was also discussed. A proposed $1,250,000 will be spent in the advertising field from Sept. 1st, 1968 to August 31 st, 1969. This expanded program is planned to meet and compete with the competition from other beverage and artificial dairy products.

A proposal for an OMMB sponsored Mastitis Prevention and Control Program was received with much debate by the delegates. This would be quite an expensive program and it was decided to discuss it more thoroughly at the county and regional level before adopting such a program.

There was also an open session on present and future policy with topics from the floor.

Glengarry committee members attending the meeting were: Arnold MacRae, Doug Murray, Lynus MacPherson, George Marjerrison, Malcolm Grant, R. D. MacLeod, Milfred Lefebvre, Cameron MacDonald and Omer Beriault.

ATTENTION FARMERS

OF GLENGARRY COUNTY

THE NEW ESTATE TAX DOOMS YOUR FAMILY FARM

There is no hope of sons carrying on the farm which which you helped to build.

Your farm can be destroyed in a generation by a new estate tax, unless the law will be changed.

Why:

The old way, an estate worth $40,000 or less was exempt from estate taxes,

The new law: The exemption is cut to $20,000.

There is no estate tax on widows who inherit a husband's property.

BUT: When they die, the estate becomes taxable at sky high rates.

The victims will be YOUR FAMILY.

Your son will need to refinance your farm business to pay estate tax.

This new tax became effective on October 22nd, but it has not been debated yet. There is time to repeal or change it.

Write to your Federal Member of Parliament or see him.

Write to your Federal Minister of Finance.

Tell them that this new tax will destroy the family farm and with it the oldest and strongest element in Canada.

Ontario Rebate To Owners, Tenants Brings Million Dollars To Counties

Homeowners and tenants in the United Counties are gaining a total of more than $1,000,000 this year through the Ontario Government's new system of reducing taxes on residential properties.

The system was introduced by Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough as a means of easing the burden of municipal and school taxes. Ontario makes the payments to each municipality, which in turn reduces the taxes for each house or apartment.

In the case of rented units, the landlord is allowed the reductions by the municipality and he is required by law to pass on to each tenant the full amount to which he is entitled.

So far, the amounts for individual municipalities in the counties range from $6,642 in the Village of Finch to $725,855 in the City of Cornwall. The following is the list in these counties to date, excluding only the municipality of Roxborough for which the total has not yet been confirmed.

Town of Alexandria, $49,527; Township of Charlottenburgh, $106,435; Village of Chesterville, $23,296; City of Cornwall, $725,855; Township of Cornwall, $58,247; Township of Finch, $29,727; Village of Finch, $6,642; Village of Iroquois, $14,391; Township of Kenyon, 40,011.

Township of Lancaster, $43,695; Village of Lancaster, $12,425; Township of Lochiel, $46,305; Township of Matilda, $39,394; Village of Maxville, $16,465; Village of Morrisburg, $30,595; Township of Mountain, $34,664; Township of Osnabruck, $46,086; Township of Williamsburg, $36,725; Township of Winchester, $337,159; Village of Winchester, $27,884.

UCO Urges Unity For Ontario Corn Growers

London, January 8 — An urgent and overdue need for "one voice for Ontario corn growers" was asked for today by United Co-operatives of Ontario at a public hearing on the province's corn industry called for by the Ontario Special Committee on Farm Income.

The 25-page UCO brief to the hearings indicated that "an informed voice is required to speak for corn producers." The brief urged the corn growers to obtain that voice through a plan developed under the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act.

The brief asked the Canadian Government to extend to commercial "off-farm" elevators the same provision for more rapid depreciation allowance that is being offered for "on-farm" storage.

It also called for as much attention to be given to "off-farm" storage as is presently being given to "on-farm" storage. To this end, it requested both the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food and the Ontario Agricultural College to do more research into commercial elevators and equipment aimed at lowering both construction and operation costs of these facilities.

The brief also urged ODAF to review both terminal storage and shipments by water, and to extend its research into corn production and marketing.

The presentation was made by UCO president Fenton Cryderman, of Thamesville and UCO general manager Leonard Harman and seven UCO corn specialists, either elected or on staff. It requested the Ontario government to raise the ceiling of $100,000 on loans to any one co-operative. It also requested farm organizations, government, and communications media to step up the amount of factual information available on corn.

The brief indicated that help to corn growers was already being provided by UCO, with a comprehensive survey of co-operative facilities for marketing grain now underway. In addition, a more extensive cost analysis of local co-operative grain elevators is being started and plans for grower financing are being studied. Co-operative programs to communicate information on corn will also be increased.

Near Million Dollar Saving For Province's Largest Co-Op

The 1968 operations of the largest farm supply co-operative in the province, United Co-operatives of Ontario, generated, before tax, savings of $975,000, reports President Fenton Cryderman of Thamesville. This compares to 1967's unusually low, before tax saving of $318,000.

A financial review was to be featured at UNC's annual meeting, Co-op Showcase '69, being held at the Western Fair Grounds in London, this week. An estimated 5,000 people and voting delegates are expected to attend. It will highlight new techniques in today's agriculture and combines the annual meeting with an informative trade show.

Income taxes, at $340,000, reduced UCO savings for the year to $635,000. Some $66,000 will be returned in patronage dividends to the close to 25,000 corporate and individual UCO members. Payment of preference share takes $111,000, and the remaining $158,000 goes to general services.

Sales for the year amounted to $88,262,000, approximately the same as last year. Assets climbed more than a million dollars and now total $34,963,000.

How these assets are working for the farm member-owners of UCO and retail co-operatives will be the subject of the "walk-through" look at Ontario agricultural co-operatives — by means of slides and displays — created especially for Co-op showcase '69.

Also at the show, fact-packed information sessions will delve into topics such as "Establishing Prices for Corn, Wheat and Soybeans," "The Plain Facts for Fertilizer Economics," and "High Grain Feeding for Dairy Cattle."

The meeting will elect four members to UCO's 12-man board. Completing their three year terms are Tyson Langman, of Hawkestone in Simcoe County; Robert McKercher, of Dublin, in Huron County and Charles Huffman, of Harrow in Essex County. The fourth director, Chester Hopkins, of Haileybury in Northern Ontario, died Christmas Eve. He served 12 consecutive years on the UCO board.

WORKING HARD

Each June thousands of earnest hard-working students graduate from our high schools, universities and other institutions. Many young people take part in recreation and sports programs, demanding a high degree of fitness. Others share in working with other young people, or with youth groups. Yet no one ever hears about these activities.

These young people are the ones who are creating the news, not the isolated ones who may be in the limelight for some misdemeanor. More emphasis should be laid on these "unmentionables" the young people who are living happy, contented lives and working hard to create their own future. These are by far the largest segment of young people today. —West Vancouver (BC) Lions Gate Times.

MORE THAN TALK NEEDED

In practical terms, Indian families have incomes much lower than the Canadian average. They find it difficult to compete in the white man's world, sometimes from lack of understanding but more often from lack of opportunity. More than talk will be needed to solve this problem. Conferences between Indian representatives and civil service people may result in a better Indian Act, but it will take more than a legislative enactment to solve the fundamental problems of the Indian people. —Chilliwack (B.C.) WAIT AND SEE

For many years it has been customary for northwestern Ontario leaders to blame the provincial government while ignoring the responsibility of the Ottawa government. Under the Just Society, with four government members speaking for northwestern Ontario, it will be interesting to see what Ottawa does for northwestern Ontario. —Fort Frances (Ont). Times.

Says Cow Should Give 40,000 Pounds Milk In Year

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Oxford and District Cattle Breeding Association, cattle nutrition expert, Professor J. B. Stone of the University of Guelph, stated that at the present time, the top limit for production for a Holstein cow would be approximately 40,000 lbs. (16,000 quarts) in 305 days on twice-a-day milking. This is assuming that the cow has the genetic ability, the right body conformation and is fed and managed under the best possible conditions.

Professor Stone warned that few cows have the genetic ability for such production and that feed would have to be of top quality at all times to achieve such a level. He stated that it was economical under present conditions to feed for high production and felt that there was a tremendous potential for increased production in the dairy industry if up-to-date feeding and management practices were followed.

Professor Stone noted that the greatly increased use of corn silage in recent years had resulted in a significant improvement in production and recommended this feeding approach to dairymen. He warned, however, that additional research was needed to determine what supplementary feeding was required to maintain a high yielding herd in top condition on a corn silage program. It was his feeling that in future we will see a decrease in the use of hay, an increase in the use of corn silage and the growing of higher yielding grain crops to supplement the corn feeding program in our dairy herds.
