Close call:

Young man rescued from freezing Mill Pond waters by his17-year-old friend

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Life sometimes presents us with narrow escapes and hard knock lessons.

A 17-year-old from Alexandria likely knows that better than anyone right now.

Yanik Charbonneau was rescued from the cold waters of Mill Pond Monday night, after falling through the ice while riding his bike on the slippery surface with a friend.

The young man spent up to 20 minutes in the freezing water before his friend, Christian Bouchard, 17, could get a life line to him.

"Not a good experience," said Charbonneau in hospital on Monday.

"I've never been so scared."

Charbonneau, who was obviously in pain, said he was having difficulty breathing and was unable to feel his feet and most of his legs.

He said he was in a lot of pain Sunday night as his legs thawed and doctors told him he was lucky he didn't lose them.

The duo were riding their bicycles on the ice along the edge of the frozen pond, something Bouchard said they do every year and boasts the two are usually the first to do it.

Bouchard said they ventured out about 100 metres onto the ice when he could hear it cracking and turned back.

But Charbonneau continued and soon broke through the ice.

It was just after 9 p.m. and Bouchard said, "It was all black. I couldn't see him so, I just talked with him and he kept yelling back at me."

Bouchard ran to his truck that was parked nearby to get a rope.

He tied a baseball bat he had in the truck to the rope and went back on the ice to cast the line to his friend.

But Bouchard lost hold of the rope when he threw it, sending the rope past his friend by only a few metres.

"He was yelling, 'go get some help'," said Bouchard.

In a panic, Bouchard went to a neighboring house and asked for help.

The residents of the house said they would call an ambulance and Bouchard headed back to the pond.

"I said I haven't got the time to wait for an ambulance."

Stopping at his truck again, Bouchard got another rope, tied it to a jug of antifreeze he had in the truck and set back out onto the ice.

"I was so scared for him, I didn't have time to think about me," said Bouchard.

This time when he threw Charbonneau the line, it reached him and Bouchard pulled the young man across the ice to the shore where the ambulance was waiting.

"I'm so thankful for him, he saved my life," said Charbonneau.

Still shaken and fighting back tears, Charbonneau said he'll never go on the ice again.

"It's going to change a lot of stuff. I'm going to think about stuff before I do it."

Former Lancaster reeve pleads guilty to nine sex charges

Milton MacDonald to be sentenced Jan. 6 for assaults spanning 30 years

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

He was a respected community leader with a special interest in youth.

He would bring boys over to watch hockey videos or take them to help wash his car.

Then he would show them pornograhic videos or magazines until he thought they were sexually aroused. And then he would sexually assault them.

Milton MacDonald, a 71-year-old Lancaster village resident and former reeve, pleaded guilty to nine sex charges in Alexandria court Friday. He will be sentenced on Jan. 6.

It is the second time in 25 years that MacDonald has been convicted of a sexual offence.

In 1969, he pleaded guilty to indecently assaulting a male and was placed on two-years probation.

MacDonald, a long-time volunteer firefighter, choir member and village reeve in the mid '80s, was charged in March with assaults on young boys over a 30-year period from the mid 1960s to 1992.

All of MacDonald's victims were between the ages of nine and 14. They were either assaulted at his home, his car, a friend's home, a relative's cottage, a Lancaster area farm or near the Glengarry Park along St. Lawrence River.

The victims were often assaulted after being invited over to MacDonald's home to watch hockey videos, sometimes even when his wife was home upstairs, according to a written summary of the case facts entered into court as an exhibit Friday.

The assaults had a dramatic effect on one of the youths, victimized over a five-year period from 1987 to 1992.

The youth was introduced to MacDonald's alternate intentions one day while at the man's home watching a hockey video.

MacDonald pulled out the video and replaced it with a pornographic video. After a few minutes, he told the youth he should be sexually aroused by now, then assaulted him.

MacDonald made the youth a regular victim, assaulting him two to three times a week and becoming more sexually aggressive as time went on, the court summary said.

MacDonald fostered the relationship by giving the victim gifts of money, loaning him videotapes and by buying him beer.

During the stretch of time he was being assaulted, the victim missed numerous days at school and became abusive toward his parents, eventually being charged with threatening his father with a knife.

He eventually found himself a girlfriend and even that relationship became abusive, resulting in him being charged with assault.

But the youth's relationship with MacDonald also suffered as a result of having a girlfriend.

According to the court paper, at that time, MacDonald's relationship with the youth began to wane.

But that did not stop MacDonald. He continued to pursue the youth, driving by his home continually and phoning the youth repeatedly.

MacDonald would carefully select his victims, seeking out fatherless youths in need of a male role model. In one case, he sought out a mother's permission to become a father figure for her young boy

He offered to take him to a National Hockey League game in Montreal, which according to the court statement, the mother thought was strange because to her knowledge MacDonald had never even taken his own son to a NHL hockey game.

On the way back from the hockey game he started talking about his own perverse sexual ideals, began fondling the youth and then sexually assaulted him.

The boy's sister and her friends noticed when he ran into the house upon returning from the game that he wasn't himself and after that incident, the youth used every excuse to stay away from MacDonald.

The youth was interviewed by the police after the incident, but nothing ever came of the investigation.

Another victim was grabbed from behind by MacDonald after being invited to his home to watch television and play video games in the summer of 1992.

He told his mother about the incident later that year, after breaking down and crying while watching a video on how to report sexual abuse.

Boot company hopes Alexandria has plenty of soul

Kaufmann eyeing town as possible site for factory

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

It was a disappointing turnout Friday and Saturday for a Kitchener boot company looking for employees for a prospective Alexandria operation.

About 20 people showed up for interviews and tests for Kaufman Footwear, which is considering establishing a satellite factory in Alexandria, according to Jurgen Walther, manager of human resources.

Alexandria is one of three sites that the company is considering for a satellite plant to increase production of its Sorel boots. Walther would not say where the other potential sites are, only that one is in Ontario and the other is in the United States.

The company placed an ad in last Wednesday's News inviting industrial sewing machine operators to an office at 206 Main St. for interviews and tests Friday evening and Saturday morning.

But the turnout was disappointing for the company's human resources manager.

Walther had hoped for 40 experienced sewing machine operators to show up for interviews, but with just 30 minutes left in Saturday's session, only 20 people had come out to talk to company representatives.

The company wants as many experienced seamstresses — it needs 40 workers altogether — "to make it a quicker start-up" for the satellite plant, which Kaufman hopes to have in operation by March.

Kaufman feels there might still be a nucleus of experienced operators in the community that the company can draw on for a boot-making plant here.

"In order to start it quickly, get it going, you need to have some skills," Walther said at the interview centre Saturday.

For whatever reason, those 40 skilled workers Kaufman hoped would be around, are either no longer in the area, or unwilling to show up at the rather public interview sessions.

Walther said that, from what he heard from other applicants, "everybody knows each other" and some may have been reluctant to show for an interview for fear of being seen by others.

But the poor turnout does not mean Alexandria has been ruled out as a possible location. "This is still a possibility," Walther said.

Recount confirms Gwen Morris as reeve of Kenyon Township

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

It's official.

Two weeks after the municipal election, Gwen Morris has been reaffirmed as the reeve of Kenyon Township after a recount of ballots on Monday.

The recount was called for by defeated incumbent reeve Wilfred Vallance, who on first count lost the race for the top spot by five votes to former councillor Morris.

Now the record stands at 695 votes for Morris and 687 for Vallance.

"I have no regrets," said Vallance, 68. "I've been out in public life for 40 years, it's getting to be time to change the pace of life."

Vallance said in a telephone interview Tuesday that he had intended this to be his last term.

"Now it means my past term was my last term."

He added he has many obligations working on his farm with his family and looks forward to being able to give that work more of his attention.

Morris was not available for comment by press time.

The recount was requested by Vallance on Nov. 15 at the urging of some of his friends, said Vallance.

Following a request for recount, "the individuals have to be notified by registered mail or hand delivery," said Kenyon Township Clerk/Treasurer Mary McCuaig.

And a date for the recount must be set within 21 days.

The individuals involved are allowed to be present during the recount with a lawyer and a scrutineer.

The Kenyon recount was begun by McCuaig at 11 a.m. and was completed by 3 p.m.

Vallance was present at the recount.

Boudria hurt in head-on car crash

Area Liberal MP Don Boudria received a broken nose and bruises in a car accident on Monday morning.

Boudria was on his way to a meeting in Hawkesbury at about 7:30 a.m. when an oncoming car lost control and smashed into his vehicle on Hwy. 17.

He was taken to the Ottawa General Hospital for treatment and legislative assistant Marc Giroux said the MP returned to his office Monday afternoon for a vote.

Boudria is expected to be back in his office today, black eyes and all.

"He counts himself lucky to just have a broken nose," said Giroux.

is not the only factor being considered in the process. There is also the question of building availability, cost and terms.

Walther was to look over the building owned by developer Jean Clement on Saturday,which currently houses clothing manufacturer Finica Fashions, which is supposed to move into the former Brown Shoe plant.

"You've got some good people here. You have a lovely town. Impressions are excellent," Walther said.

He also had praise for Alexandria's mayor, soon-to-be-former mayor, Jean Paul Touchettte. "He was the driving force behind this," Walther said.

Sorel, which has its main plant in Kitchener, makes about 15,000 boots a day and is considered a leader in the sports winter boot market.

Anyone interested in working at a possible Alexandria satellite plant can still send in their resumes. They can be sent to Kaufman Footwear, 410 King St. West, P.O. Box 9005, Kitchener, Ont., N2G 4J8 or by fax at 519-742-0034.

Touchette said Saturday, that interested applicants can also drop off their resumes at the town office to be faxed.

Touchette had announced the possiblity of Kaufman Footwear locating here at the end of last Tuesday's council meeting.

Touchette said he received a call about a month ago from a former Brown Shoe employee Richard Hurtubise, now with Kaufman Footwear, asking to visit the town and the Brown Shoe building.

Hurtubise stopped by the Brown Shoe plant in Perth to get a list of the former Alexandria employees and also had wanted to meet with Joanne Trottier of Glengarry Interagency to find out what resources were available here, Touchette said.

After the initial contact, Touchette said he didn't hear anything from the company for a couple of weeks. Then he received a call from Walther, who told him he wanted to interview prospective employees and use machines to test their skills.

Hospital board members having second thoughts about new medical clinic

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Some hospital board members are having second thoughts about building a medical clinic to attract doctors to Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Two board members say they were told at a recent Ontario Hospital Association convention that building a clinic may not be the best way to attract doctors.

Gwen Morris, a member of the GMH board, said at a meeting Thursday, she was told by OHA President Dennis Timbrell to be cautious about jumping into a medical clinic.

Morris said Timbrell told her there are better ways available to attract doctors. The OHA president said he would be willing to meet with board members and provide some advice if needed.

Board member Liz Huntting said she was also warned to be careful about how the medical clinic is set up. If it is too easy for doctors to come and go, it will not be good for the clinic, she was told.

She suggested other ideas, like attracting doctors in their residency program from university in Ottawa.

The plight of small hospitals and heir difficulty attracting physicians was the main topic at the three-day convention, Morris said.

A provincial factfinder has been appointed by the government to look into the problem, and was at the OHA convention.

"They're looking at different ways to staff emergency departments in the province," she said.

She told board members said that the OHA and the factfinder from the Ontario Ministry of Health were already well aware of GMH's problems finding doctors to staff its emergency department.

And surprisingly, they also knew about the hospital board's plans to build a medical clinic to attract more doctors, and thus eliminate the staffing problem.

Dr. Theo Jaggassar, GMH chief of staff, said he asked the provincial factfinder Graham Scott to use the GMH medical clinic idea as a pilot project.

Jaggassar said the medical clinic was a big drawing card in Maxville when he began his practice there. And clinics have also proven to be a way to draw doctors for numerous other small municipalities.

Jaggassar said attracting resident doctors would be difficult because local family doctors would be needed to teach them.

Kurt Pristanski, GMH chief executive officer, said getting young doctors out in a residency program may be a good recruiting method though.

The residency will allow them to become familiar with the hospital and town, and maybe they will be enticed to stay full time after they complete their residency, he said.

The board still has much work to do if it does decide to pursue a medical clinic, according to Pristanki.

There is a lot of "red tape", namely, eight stages the hospital must go through to get approval for a medical clinic. And the clinic needs government approval, whether it is built on or off hospital property.

He said it takes more time and money to get permission for a medical clinic than it takes to actually build one.

And there is always the chance the Ministry of Health will tell GMH to close hospital beds and locate the clinic in the existing hospital structure, he said.

The board has petitioned a number of area municipalities to apply for infrastructure funding for the construction of the medical clinic. Pristanski said the board has received at least two favorable responses to so far.

Pristanski also reported no progress in the drive to recruit new doctors for the emergency department. He said two potential recruits have since declined coming to GMH and one other has still not responded.

Reeve pleads guilty

In another incident, MacDonald exposed himself to a youth in a tent during a camping trip after telling his son to wait outside.

Another youth, 12 or 13 years old at the time, was assaulted while sleeping in a tent during an overnight campout in the 1960s when MacDonald was a Cub Scout leader.

A few weeks later, while helping MacDonald take measurements for work he was doing along a concession road, MacDonald exposed himself to the youth, then undid his pants and fondled him.

MacDonald orchestrated a number of other sexual assaults by luring youths to the St. Lawrence River near Glengarry Park under the premise that they would help wash his car.

When they would arrive at the river, MacDonald would convince the youth to go skinny-dipping instead, sometimes giving the youth pornographic pictures to look at before hand.

Once they were in the water, MacDonald would attempt to have sex with them, but was rebuffed by his victims.

On one occasion, MacDonald made sexual advances on a youth he had taken for a boat ride on the St. Lawrence River. He was rebuffed by the youth and the trip ended without incident.

MacDonald also used his vehicle to commit sexual assaults.

In one case, he grabbed a youth in a sexual manner that he had picked up to wash his car, but was rebuffed by the youth.

In another case, he offered a youth that he had picked up along the road the steering wheel to drive his car.

When the youth reached over, MacDonald grabbed his hand and tried to force him to commit a sexual act. The youth broke free and jumped from the slow moving car.

MacDonald is currently at Royal Ottawa Hospital undergoing tests before his Jan. 6 sentencing.

Group wants Lochiel to back dump site fight

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Calling the United Counties mega dump search "flawed and floundering," Alexandria veterinarian Janet Lalonde challenged Lochiel council Tuesday "to take the initiative to stop the whole process."

Dr. Lalonde and her Glen Robertson road neighbors organized Lochiel Mega-Dump 37/39 Opposition Group, battling nearby dump sites which "threaten our homes and our livelihood."

Reeve Ron MacDonell put the group's request on the agenda Dec. 13, for the first meeting of Lochiel's newly-elected council.

Dr. Lalonde criticized United Counties Council for not voting to slow down the dump process at a recent meeting.

She asked Lochiel to "take the lead in this issue, stop or slow down the process till spring, when a new government will be elected in Ontario which will throw out the whole dump process."

She warned "things are going to get really ugly in this battle. We are all being stymied by a n NDP government which tells us what to do, while opposition from citizens gathered at steering committee hearings, lies in a vault somewhere not even being considered."

Reeve MacDonell explained that the waste management steering committee has been slowed down because it will take three or four months to evaluate input from citizens at recent dump site meetings.

"Hopefully all the questions people brought up at these meetings will be answered," MacDonell promised. "All information from the vaults will be looked at."

Dr. Lalonde said "you are going to be exposed to tremendous animosity if this process is not stopped."

Councillor Bill Hagen pointed out "we still have to deal with our garbage problems, it has to go somewhere."

The current plan is "wrong," Dr. Lalonde said. "The government is going to change, both opposition parties have said they will stop this waste management project, hopefully there will be an election by spring."

United Counties (waste management steering committee) work should not be shut down completely, Dr. Lalonde admitted.

"The 3R recycling program is excellent," she said. "There are other ways to handle waste than landing us with a mega dump which no one wants. There must be time to consider other alternatives."

She pointed to "new information on incineration, which the NDP won't permit at present. With a change of government incineration might be approved, we could then redirect energies to finding other alternatives, and municipalities could discover more ways to prolong the life of present dumps - given more time."

Dr. Lalonde was supported by Roy MacMaster from the Clean Kenyon Coalition, a group opposing four candidate mega dump sites in Kenyon Township.

MacMaster told Lochiel council "my group is going to Kenyon Council Nov. 29. They will support us for sure and vote to stop the dump process."

Lochiel resident Eric Covington explained that all dump opposition groups in Glengarry, where 10 of the 14 candidate dump sites are located, have banned together into a coalition.

"We need moral and financial support from Lochiel council," Covington said, "and a clear signal from United Counties Council that they are not going to ram this dump down our throats."

Reeve MacDonell asked "we're already paying consultants to pick out a dump site, why pay to have people fight against the dump?"

MacDonell explained, "all 20 United Counties municipalities agreed to the dump site study. Lochiel tax dollars have already been spent on that study, we're all together on this project because garbage sites are a concern right across this province."

MacDonell cautioned that the township dump could be closed down "tomorrow by provincial inspectors and it could cost us $20,000 or $30,000 to fix whatever problem they found and get it open again. We are vulnerable."

Covington said the anti-dump coalition has applied to the waste management steering committee for "intervenor funds" but have had no reply yet. Provision for intervenor funds were put in place by the province to help groups who object to dump sites.

Animal hospital hearing delayed

Too much evidence to handle for OMB

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

A decision in an Ontario Municipal Board hearing to decide the fate of a proposed animal hospital in Alexandria has been delayed until the first week of January.

The hearing began last week and was supposed to rule on whether or not the town of Alexandria followed proper procedure in passing a zoning bylaw allowing the hospital to open.

The decision in the hearing, chaired by OMB member Michael Milling, was expected by Nov. 24, but has been delayed because of the large quantity of evidence to consider.

"Prior to any evidence being presented they decided there was too much," said town planner Terry Hart who is representing Alexandria at the hearing.

Following brief submissions on Nov. 23, the second day of the hearing was turned into a pre-trial of sorts where "what would be permitted as evidence," was discussed, said Hart.

All sides were advised of procedural guidelines followed in such a hearing process and outlines were given for what type of evidence will be heard.

Yet to be presented are lawyers's full submissions representing veterinarian Janet Lalonde who petitioned the municipal board; veterinarian Donald MacLeod, the proprietor of the proposed hospital and the town of Alexandria, defending its decision to allow the hospital.

"We're there to defend the position that we did do the right thing," said Hart.

Along with the submissions, the three sides are expected to present witnesses and procedures for examining and cross-examining them were discussed at the pre-trial.

"They laid down the ground rules for the lawyers as to how information would be exchanged," said MacLeod.

"They also asked for more case law to be presented," said Lalonde.

Last October, Alexandria town council passed a zoning bylaw that would allow a full service animal hospital, with facilities for X-rays,

Lancaster village water now safe to drink:EOHU

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

It is safe again to drink water in Lancaster.

Too little chlorine in Lancaster's water treatment system lead to an advisory for residents to boil their cooking and drinking water over the weekend.

The advisory, issued by the Eastern Ontario Health Unit, was lifted on Saturday following testing that showed the water supply to be safe.

"The water supply will continue to be monitored to ensure the constant distribution of potable water," said Dr. Robert Bourdeau medical officer of health in a Nov. 28 news release.

The health unit issued the advisory on Thursday, instructing residents to the boil the water for at least five minutes before use.

The advisory came after routine testings from four different places along the Lancaster water works found coliform bacteria in the samples.

The bacteria was found in concentrations of 14 colonies per 100 mls of water and included one part E-coli, found in human feces, per 100 mls of water.

The health risk of the bacteria has been described as "minimal" by Bourdeau.

The health unit sent out media releases to area newspapers and radio station advicing residents of the water problem.

Notices were also hand delivered to public places including stores and schools.

Residents give support to Dalkeith fire station

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Lochiel Township is one step closer to having it's own fire station in Dalkeith.

At a public meeting Wednesday night, 60 residents gathered with representatives from Lochiel Township council and the fire marshall's office and gave their support to the venture.

"People are positive about it and they want something in Dalkeith as soon as possible," said meeting chair Councillor William Hagen in a telephone interview Monday.

Hagen said residents asked questions about the cost of building a station and the effect the price would have on local tax bills.

But accurate answers are not available yet as the Dalkeith station is to be a partner in a joint venture between Lochiel and Lancaster townships and the village of Lancaster.

"It will be a minimal cost to the taxpayers," said Hagen.

The cost of the station, which is to be the second built after a Lancaster station in Glen Robertson, will depend on how the joint stations venture is worked out.

"We'll have to see what arrangement we make between the three municipalities," said Hagen.

Besides gauging public opinion on the project, the meeting was also a call for volunteer firefighters.

Twenty-five people volunteered for firefighter training which is sufficient to operate the station, said Hagen.

The next step in the process is for the three municipalities to meet early in the new year to plan to build the Dalkeith station by the summer, said Hagen.

"We're doing what the residents want but we're still a long piece from having it established," Hagen said.

Joly praises council members, throws 'mud pies' at The News

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly had kind words for fellow councillor members in what amounted to a farewell speech at a council meeting last Tuesday.

But he saved his venom for The Glengarry News, throwing — in an extremely emotional speech — two figurative "mud pies" with "sour cream" on top at News Publisher Joe Banks and Editor Greg Kielec.

It was the normally soft-spoken deputy-reeve's final meeting after being stunningly defeated by Alexandria Councillor John Hope in the Nov. 14 municipal election.

But he was civil to council members — even to his opponent Hope, who doubled him at the polls by a tally of 1,205 to 597 two weeks ago.

The next council meeting would normally be the time for farewell speeches as the old council exits and the new council holds its inaugural meeting.

But Joly, who said he is unable to attend that final meeting, reserved the right to say his farewells at last Tuesday's meeting.

Joly was clearly the hardest hit of council's three top members, breaking down into tears and stopping to regain his composure at the Glengarry Sports Palace during his consolation speech after his loss election night.

The emotion was once again evident as he struggled to keep his emotions in check as he thanked and praised fellow councillors at the table.

Joly thanked council members "for a wonderful three years." But he then took a dramatic turn, chastising The Glengarry News, but not specifically mentioning what the tongue-lashing was for.

And in an emotional crescendo, he defended the work he has done during his time on council.

"I'm proud to serve 17 years. And I've done it because I love my town."

Joly received praise all around from council members.

"Nobody was ever more heartfelt than Jacques was," said Councillor Archie McDougall, who praised Joly as "a fine human being."

"No one gave as much to Alexandria as Jacques did."

Councillor Gary Shepherd said it was a pleasure to work with Jacques.

His thoroughness and hard work was an inspiration to him.

Joly also praised town staff for their help during his time on council. They were always available, "and that I will always cherish in my heart."

Locals have their say at social reform forum

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Local residents told the government how it should change the social security system at a public forum meeting on Saturday.

Held by area Liberal MP Don Boudria, up to 50 residents met to discuss the education, welfare and unemployment insurance systems.

Their comments and suggestions will be compiled by Boudria's office as part of an across-Canada public forum to help the Liberals make changes to the social system.

"It was a promise in the 'Red Book' to have reform of social programs," said Boudria's Legislative Assistant Marc Giroux in a telephone interview Monday.

Giroux said the forum was arranged after Human Resources Development Minister Lloyd Axworthy tabled a discussion paper entitled 'Improving Social Security in Canada' in the House of Commons on Oct. 5.

"I think we heard a lot of comments not necessarily on the comments in the paper but on the regime in general," said Legislative Assistant Marc Giroux.

"It was a chance for people to tell the House what Canadians think of the discussion paper and what should be done."

Those attending the forum were broken into groups to discuss the three issues and comments were recorded for submission to the human resources development standing committee by Dec. 9.

A report including public feedback will be tabled in the House of Commons by the standing committee in February 1995.

No longer tolerable

Readers will doubtless take notice of the story printed on page 1 of this week's edition, detailing the nine sexual assault crimes for which former Lancaster reeve Milton MacDonald has been convicted. It brings no joy to us to print the account, and we understand that it may strain the limits of the community's sensitivities.

And for the parents of children, it is likely of little consequence that the conviction summary was far more graphic than the descriptions of the crimes outlined in the story.

Nevertheless, and unfortunately, it is a story that needs to be told.

Milton MacDonald was a respected member of the Glengarry community. He was a highly-regarded village politician and longtime member of the fire department. He devoted hours of volunteer time to the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, Boy Scouts and the highland and historical societies. He was given positions of trust time and again.

This speaks to the nature of pedophilia; it is not always an ugly, twisted monster who snatches young children off sidewalks and into idling vans. They do not always reside on the lowest rung of the community's social ladder.

A pedophile can be anyone.

It becomes important, then, that justice must not only be done, but it must be seen to be done. No person, regardless of their standing in the community, is above justice and the subsequent publicity after they commit such crimes.

These are not minor acts, after all. They are serious, grievous crimes that are symptoms of the behavior of a sick man who either did not understand or care about the fallout of the crimes he was committing.

Now that a verdict has been rendered, however, the community's concerns for the victims must be paramount. Part of their healing process must involve understanding that the person who victimized them has received appropriate punishment. And they must be satisfied that steps have been taken to ensure it will not happen again.

At the same time, the less obvious victims — Milton MacDonald's family — need this community's support. They have suffered in different ways, through no fault of their own. And now they must continue to live with the anger and pain and sorrow for the victims.

If nothing else, the publicity surrounding this case, MacDonald's conviction, and the eventual sentencing will underscore the seriousness of sexual assault on any human being. Surely this county has long since passed the age of benign ignorance, in which feigned innocence and passive acceptance is tolerable.

Once again, we are reminded that our rural, tranquil haven is not immune to those crimes we expect happen only in the urban jungle.

A jolly time of year

The Christmas season begins in earnest this weekend, if one goes by the myriad of events happening around the county, events that lend a festive kick-off to both the shopping and celebratory aspects to the season.

Obviously, Glengarry knows how to celebrate Christmas. Consider not just tree-lighting hayrides and old-time carolling decked out in Dickensian costumes, but also the services, the parades, the parties and the pageants.

And, of course, there is the benevolent effort of the Alexandria Lions Club which yearly spearheads a program to get food and gifts to the county's needy.

Each of the above represents an excellent effort to entice the Christmas spirit from every one of us, at a time when it is frequently difficult to do so.

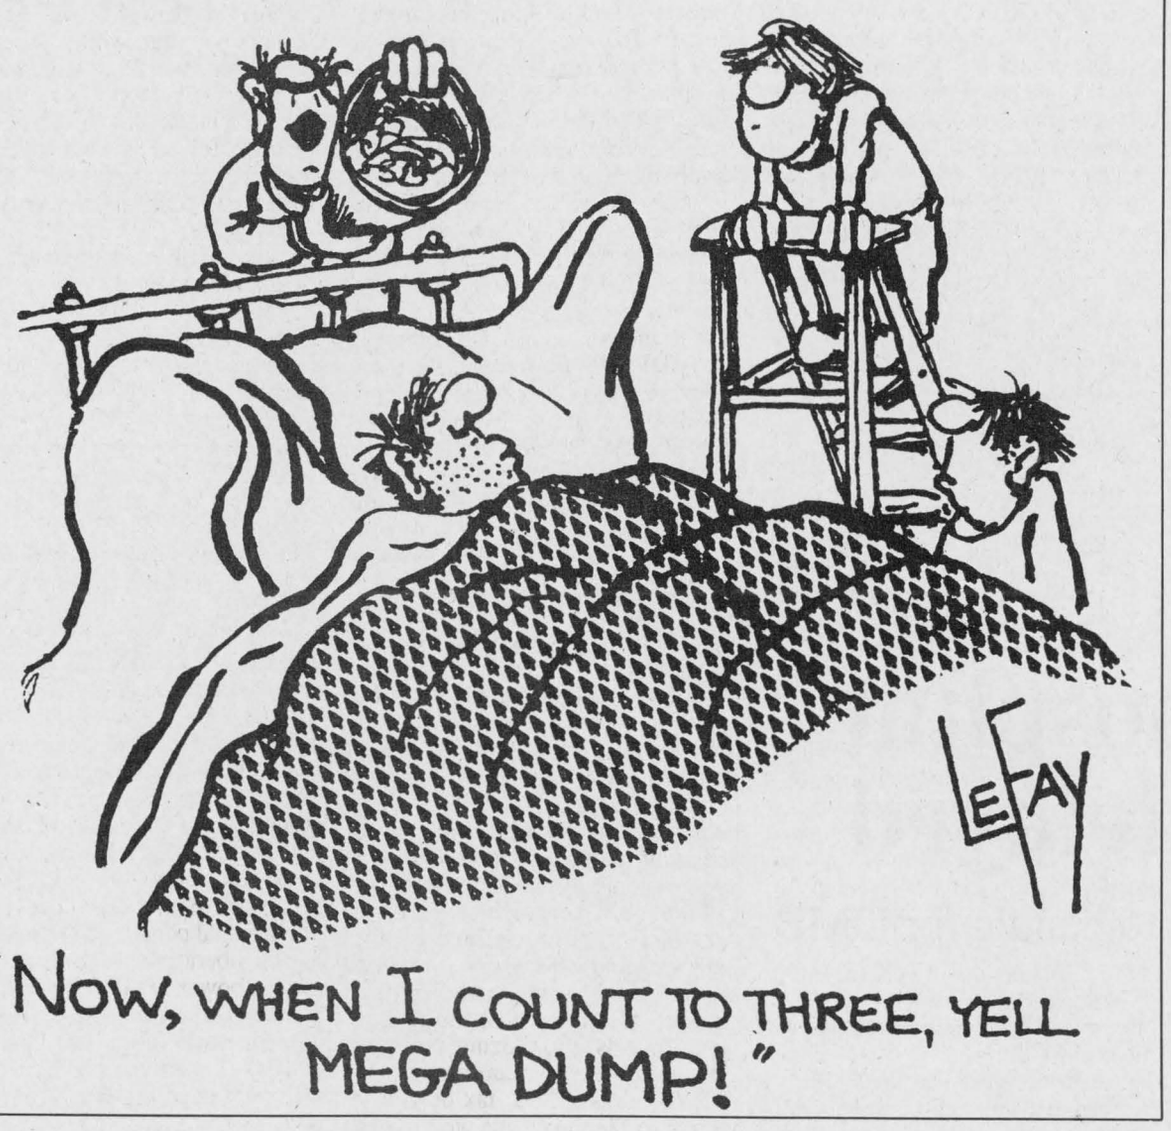
Simultaneously, merchants have presented to the shopping public some outstanding and imaginative promotions aimed at keeping the dollars rolling over locally. Consider the Alexandria Business Improvement Association's Christmas loans program, where consumers can borrow from $300 to $1000 from the Caisse Populaire for Alexandria "dollars" at favorable interest rates, with a nine-month repayment plan.

Not only is it a great idea, but it is an example of what the BIA, not even a year old, can do for its members and the public in cooperation with private enterprise. It is very much a win-win program that we hope will be successful.

And there is Lancaster Village's "Lucky Bucks" program, where $1,000 worth of merchandise certificates to be spent at participating stores is being drawn. Again, this is a program that emphasizes cooperation between members of the Lancaster business community.

In between, there are the Santa parades (this Saturday in Lancaster, and Sunday, Dec. 11 in Alexandria), the countless recitals and choir concerts, all of which can be enjoyed for free or at little cost. Of course, the Alexandria chamber is staging its annual candlelight caroling parade and tree-lighting ceremony this Friday night, with hay wagons touring around the town to pick up and drop off citizens — all for free.

This county is fortunate that there are still so many people willing to devote increasingly scant time and energy into making the holiday season a jolly time for every citizen young and old.



Pool proposal could live again

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

Four and more years ago, a small group of volunteers led by area residents Gilles Paradis and Jocelyn Brunet got the community thinking about building an outdoor public swimming pool in Alexandria.

The "Fondation Piscine Glengarry Pool Foundation" aroused interest, raised some seed money, was registered as a charitable organization and eventually with money from the province, the town and the townships of Kenyon, Lochiel and Lancaster, tabled a somewhat flawed but acceptable feasibility study authored by some Ottawa consultants.

But after proving by survey a huge public need for such a facility, and with about $4,000 in the bank, the foundation hit a wall. Within a year the economy ran into a recession. The political will to pursue the project had never really taken root; outside of committing to a few thousand dollars for the cost of a study, municipal politicians of the day were suspicious of the survey results and were not in the mood for taking on high-priced capital projects. Budgets got tighter and the province's grant program went into the drink.

Interest was all but lost. Dispirited, the foundation slowly drifted apart. Paradis and Brunet returned to their day-to-day lives, silenced by the negativity and ill-will that greeted them.

The two still get together once a year to file the necessary paperwork and briefly ponder whether there would be any interest in renewing the proposal, usually coming up with the same bleak answer. Meanwhile, the study gathers dust.

Last week, however, we came across some evidence that a window of opportunity exists to oil the foundation's cogs and help it get back on its feet.

The timing, in fact, may never be better.

The political changes in Alexandria and elsewhere in north Glengarry County could bode well for the pool proposal, and the cadre of people who still deeply want to see it become a reality.

During a chat last Wednesday morning, the town's new mayor-elect showed more than a passing interest in the construction of a pool here. Grant Crack campaigned on a desire to see the park rejuvenated. And without being aware of the contents of the foundation study, he even conjectured that if one were ever built, an ideal location for it would be the park — the same location recommended in the 1990, 85-page study.

The next morning, I asked a Grade 11 English class, sentenced to stay awake through a speech about the peaks and valleys of journalism, what recreation facilities in Alexandria they'd like to see if they had a choice.

One or two said a pool hall. A few agreed a youth drop-in centre would be nice. Some more said a movie theatre.

All of them, however, in a show of hands, believed an indoor swimming pool ("and don't forget the jacuzzi!") was the preferred choice. About five said they would get involved in a fundraising campaign through the high school whose goal it would be to assist the foundation.

On Monday, the just-confirmed reeve-elect of Kenyon Township, Gwen Morris, who sat on council when the pool proposal first surfaced, rightly observed that a pool would not just give the kids somewhere to go. It would greatly benefit senior citizens like her, scores of whom are driving to Hawkesbury to use the pool for therapeutic aquatic exercise.

"So many of the seniors have said we don't need a $450,000 recreation centre (planned to be built in Alexandria.) But they'd like to see a pool."

On their own, the hopes and words of these people do not a swimming pool make. Even the study that indicates about 91 per cent of the respondents in Alexandria, Kenyon, Lochiel and Lancaster favor a new outdoor public swimming facility is not enough. Opinions, after all, are the cheapest commodity of all.

So such a project needs the broadest possible support, the kind of support that comes from a positive spirit of achievement that political sea changes can inspire. Political will is key, but equal to that is the energy of individuals to work hard at making it happen. Nothing that is worthwhile comes easily.

Some good work went on here four years ago, work that should not be wasted. And the numbers, as daunting as they are, are within the ability of all stakeholders, from the service clubs to the school boards to municipalities to businesses to the ratepayer, to pay for it.

A pool may still seem to be an extravagance, especially when Alexandria's Main Street, park and infrastructure is crying for some public investment. But consider that no facility cuts across as many age and social groups as a swimming pool, from the tiniest baby enrolled with mom in a "water babies" program to the 90 year-old chronic care patient seeking arthritic therapy, and of course, everybody in between. No type of recreational facility provides as many health-related and social benefits as a swimming pool.

It was true four years ago. It's true now.

Words unbecoming a deputy reeve

News to me

by Greg Kielec

It was a rather unfortunate public display at last Tuesday's meeting of Alexandria council from the last person one would expect to carry on in such a manner.

I knew it was Jacques Joly's voice, but I could have sworn it was someone else's lips that were moving.

Of the defeated three top members of Alexandria council, Joly was the one that seemed to take it the hardest on election night Nov. 14.

His painful outburst at his final meeting of Alexandria council last Tuesday, served to reinforce that assessment.

I would venture to say that Jacques is a better man than his bitter words of last Tuesday night, would serve to indicate.

Wishing figurative (at least I certainly hope they weren't real) mud pies with sour cream on top for News Publisher Joe Banks and I, would seem at first glance to be kind of silly — maybe even a little bit childish.

But the heart-wrenchingly emotion of the speech was a clear indication that the long-serving deputy reeve was not clowning around and was seriously faulting The News for his election loss Nov. 14.

The newspaper has always been, and will always be a convenient scapegoat for politicians out of touch with reality and living in their own little insular world.

Blaming the newspaper for your misfortunes is a much better therapy then the other alternative — taking responsibility for your actions or lack thereof.

It could almost be expected that a group of people holding the reins of power so long would be somewhat less than gracious in relinquishing their strangle hold on Alexandria's power politics.

Both Mayor Jean Paul Touchette and Reeve Bruno Massie have reacted admirably in what was a stunning defeat at the polls. If there have been any darts thrown (and it is almost certain there have been) they have been thrown in private.

Whether Joly was speaking for all of them with his tirade last week, is another question. The threesome have been a united front in their victories on council. It would follow that they would be unified in defeat as well.

There is still one more meeting left for the outgoing council. It will be interesting to see restraint and civility is the order of the day or if the defeated members will use the soapbox of a paid public meeting to one more time blast their enemy, the press.

I would hope not. It is neither desired, nor deserved.

The Glengarry News never endorsed any candidate prior to the election and went to great pains to ensure everyone received equal coverage.

And I find it hard to believe a wise and experienced politician could even believe a 700 vote loss margin could be attributed to what has been written in the local newspaper.

It was the hard work, determination and vision of Joly, Touchette and Massie's opponents that made the difference this past election, coupled with a large voter interest in the campaign and large voter turnout.

Joly is giving the voters of Alexandria far less credit than they deserve for this election outcome. They made up their own minds based on what they saw of the candidates and what they had to offer.

The need for change was painfully obvious. They did-

The Duke's Statue

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

There it stands on top of a mountain, dominating the countryside for miles around -- the 127-ft. statue of George Leveson-Gower, first Duke of Sutherland, also known as "the Murderer." As the Earl of Stafford, this English-born millionaire married, towards the end of the 18th century, Elizabeth Gordon, Duchess (in her own right) of Sutherland. He then became the Duke, and with the title came over one million acres of land -- almost all of the County of Sutherland. This vast area had been the homeland of the MacKays from time immemorial, and the Duke decided that they were cluttering up the landscape with their miserable black houses and their miserable children. It pained His Grace, when passing through this beautiful part of the Scottish Highlands, to have to look upon the ill-clothed and ill-fed MacKays. They offended his sense of righteousness. That their condition was due entirely to the fact that their rents had been increased five to ten fold on his orders did not seem to enter his mind. They were a nuisance and they had to go. Their homes were burned down, their furniture and possessions thrown out and the people forced to the rocky shores of the Atlantic, where they tried to scratch out a living for their families by picking up whatever they could eat from the storm-lashed shore. Often they could see their croft houses burning in the distance. Sometimes the smoke from the fires deliberately set on orders from the Duke was so thick that ships miles out to sea could not see the land for weeks at a time. Lowland sheep were brought in to replace the people. They were more profitable than people, especially during the Napoleonic Wars, when mutton and wool were in great demand. Later, when prices dropped, tens of thousands of acres were turned into deer forests so that the Duke's wealthy friends could stalk stags as his guests, or could rent the land for the joy of slaughtering these magnificent beasts. Even deer were worth more than men, particularly after Waterloo, when soldiers were no longer needed to fill the ranks of the famed Highland regiments.

It is estimated that over ten thousand men, women and children were "cleared" from Sutherland before the first Duke met his eternal reward. The lucky ones had saved enough to buy passage to Canada or Australia. The rest ended up in the slums of the cities of Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Dundee, among people who were foreigners to them, where they were swallowed up in an alien, non-Gaelic culture. After a generation or two, all that was left of their proud Highland heritage were their names.

Before most of the people had been cleared out of Sutherland, the Duke sent his agents around to raise money from his starving tenants to pay for the erection of the huge statue of himself which still stands overlooking his lands. On the base is inscribed "Erected by a grateful Tenantry." There is now a movement afoot in Scotland to tear down this monstrosity, or at least to build a much larger memorial to the memory of the Highland people who were betrayed by their leaders. It has taken over 200 years for the world to realize just what really took place in Sutherland and throughout the Highlands after Culloden. (to be continued).

St. Andrew's Day

Since today's issue of The News falls on Nov. 30th, St. Andrew's Day, perhaps we should say a few words about Scotland's patron saint. It is not entirely clear why St. Andrew, one of the twelve apostles, gave his name to Scotland's national day. He never came anywhere near Scotland. It is true that he was crucified by the Romans on a cross in the form of an X, and legend has it that his relics were brought from the east to the place in Scotland that was later named after him. Whatever the story is, St. Andrew is the official saint of Scotland, and his day is celebrated the world over, wherever Scots or their descendants and friends gather. So happy St. Andrew's Day!

Letters to the editor

Disturbing half-truths about gays

To the editor:

I am disturbed to see how half-truths are being promoted in our culture since the defeat of bill 167 in the Ontario Legislature, and now, with Mr. S. Robinson's proposed legislation, called Bill-C, changing the definition of a spouse to read, "The person of the opposite sex or of the same sex who cohabits (at that time with the taxpayer) in a conjugal relationship...." I have been reading, watching and hearing the media pump out the lie that the homosexual community are victims. It is vital that we have an accurate understanding of what is involved in providing special legal protection to homosexuals.

Homosexuals should have the same rights as everyone else. In fact, homosexuals have always shared the same legal rights and privileges as other Canadians. They share in equal access to education and healthcare; they share in equal rights to freedom of religion, freedom of expression and the right not to be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, sex or age.

Yet homosexual activists have managed to convince the federal government to promise to amend the Canadian Human Rights Act this year to include sexual orientation in its actual wording. This type of legislation involves special rights. According to Bob Nadeau, an Ottawa lawyer and an analyst of charter law, giving homosexuals "equality" because of their sexual orientation "requires society to stop treating homosexuals like everybody else and to grant them a sort of moral privilege on the basis of their sexual behavior."

Many homosexual activists do no just want tolerance -- they want public endorsement and societal approval of their lifestyle. Some homosexual activists are asking that schools offer curriculum which promote homosexuality and encourage students to explore alternative lifestyles and the possibility that they may be gay. Nor is it sufficient that homosexual ideology is promoted: any criticism of that ideology or agenda is immediately labelled as "homophobic" and deemed to be unacceptable. This kind of thinking deprives other citizens of their supposedly equal right to freedom of expression.

Race, ethnicity and gender are innate and unchangeable. They are not matters of choice like sexual behavior. In recent years various studies claiming to prove that homosexuality has a genetic basis have been publicized. Yet each of these studies has been rejected following scientific scrutiny (Scientific American, June 1993). Homosexuality has not been proven to be an inborn trait, and creating special minority groups based on behavior or preferences will eventually lead other groups to seek similar special rights.

Individuals do have the freedom to engage in certain behaviors, but that does not mean that society should sanction and support those choices. Some individuals in our society believe the laws should be written to sanction their preferences to have sex with children or animals. Individual's rights cannot be separated from responsibility.

If exercising a right has negative consequences which the rest of society must bear, then society is free to exercise its right to curb that behavior.

Homosexuals represent about one to two per cent of the Canadian population (Canada Youth and AIDS study). Yet homosexuals and bisexuals account for 87 per cent of all male AIDS victims in Canada (94 per cent of all AIDS victims in Canada are males) (Health and Welfare Canada). The average life span for a male homosexual who died of AIDS was 39, whether or not the deceased had a longtime sexual partner. The average lifespan for a male homosexual who died of causes other than AIDS was 42-41 for those with lifetime sexual partners and 43 for those without (What the Empirical Evidence Reveals about Homosexuality, Dr. Paul Cameron Homosexuality is clearly related to behavior which has medical consequences. The Canadian government currently provides $42 million per year to the National AIDS Strategy. Yet AIDS kills far fewer Canadians every year than heart disease, cancer, diabetes, drunk driving or suicide (Readers Digest, The Exaggerated Menace of AIDS, Sept. 1993). In 1992, 909 Canadians died from AIDS. That same year, 75,000 people died from heart disease. Although heart disease killed 83 times as many Canadians, the government only provided $18 million for cardiovascular research.

Approximately one-half of the money given to the National AIDS Strategy goes to scientific research and the care, treatment and support of AIDS victims. A large amount goes towards projects such as a series of pamphlets produced for young people by the Toronto AIDS Committee. The pamphlets promote "alternative safe-sex techniques: for oral, anal and S/M sex -- including sections on whipping and electrical torture. In other words, the money goes towards normalizing the very sexual practices that are fueling the AIDS epidemic. Your tax dollars at work! Isn't it about time we stopped dealing with the symptoms and got to the root of the problem.

Homosexuals should not be allowed to marry and adopt children. The homosexual lifestyle is not usually monogamous. A recent survey of the sexual habits of gay and bisexual men in Canada, done in collaboration with the Canadian AIDS Society, shows that many homosexuals (34 per cent) have an average of between two and five partners per year, while 14 per cent of gay men have 25 or more partners per year. Only 18 per cent said they were in a monogamous relationship.

Brian Mossop and his lover, Ken Popert, spent seven years in court battles and took their case to gain family status for homosexuals all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada. Yet they do not believe in the institution of the family. According to Popert, "I am in a web of relationships, but there is no centre and no boundaries. It's not structured and institutionalized, the way the family is. Each person can feel at the centre of it -- because in fact it has no centre." (Globe and Mail, June 27, 1992).

What kind of stability does a family like that have to offer a growing child? Why should our governments subsidize this kind of family unit? What will be the next kind of accepted relationships?

We have been a nation that has traditionally adhered to God's standard of living. But most recently we have begun to stray away. Take a look around at the condition of our days and ask yourself what has changed at the foundation?

I affirm both God's love for the homosexual person and His promise of the liberating, healing and sustaining power of the Holy Spirit that is available to the person struggling with homosexuality. But like Jesus Christ, I cannot condone their lifestyle struggling with homosexuality. But like Jesus Christ, I cannot condone their lifestyle ("Jesus declared Go now and leave your life of sin." John 8:11). The moral fabric of our nation is slowly being torn to pieces and it won't be long before all that remains will be rags. "Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a disgrace to any people." (Proverbs 14:34).

Wetlands policy is stealing property

To the editor:

Under the guise of conservation our land is being stolen!

The province of Ontario's Policy Statement on wetlands affects rural property owners throughout Eastern Ontario. Large areas are being declared provincially significant wetlands in which "development shall not be permitted." The lands within 120 meters (400 ft.) of a wetland area may be developed following an environmental impact study paid for by the landowner. In the Environmentally Sensitive Zone, established agricultural activities are permitted.

This year Kenyon Township adopted the wetlands policy into its Official Plan. Were we consulted on the rezoning of our properties? Was there any compensation offered for the devalued land? Did someone trespass to evaluate, classify and map the wetlands? Is this land-grab part of a larger scheme such as the North American Waterfowl Management Plan involving Canada, Mexico and the United States?

We are aware of the need to conserve wetlands; but we should be given sufficient notification and be properly consulted. Because we are concerned about this undemocratic process of dictating uses of our private land, we have joined the Association of Rural Property Owners. In addition, we are trying to fight this take-over by circulating a petition, which has been signed to date by over 40 landowners.

We are hopeful that we can reverse the wetlands policy or, at least, minimize its effects.

News has obligation to report on dump issue

To the editor:

What is news? Is it what journalists feel should be reported, or is it what the public wants to know? When hundreds of concerned citizens attend numerous meetings in different townships and discuss just one issue, when candidates in municipal elections discuss it as an election issue, wouldn't you consider it news?

As a community newspaper "The Glengarry News" has a responsibility to report the issues that concern its readers. Mega dumps in Glengarry county is certainly such an issue. It's a shame that our own paper doesn't feel the story to be newsworthy enough to cover.

When will it be news enough? Once the site has been chosen in our county? By then the information, unfortunately, has come too late.

Yours truly,
Julie Akkermans,

Two snowblowers stolen from Main Street business

Police Briefs

Two snowblowers were stolen from the Co-op Store on Main Street sometime overnight Sunday.

At 3:30 a.m., an Alexandria Police officer noticed the fence at the garden centre of the store had been cut.

It was later determined two red MTD snowblowers were missing.

Total value of the stolen property is $2,000.

Stolen car

A 1986 Buick Skylark was stolen from a residence at Bishop and Catherine streets overnight on Sunday and later recovered in Glen Robertson.

The car was taken from the backyard and was found at 10 a.m. Monday with front-end damage.

Pizzeria breaks

More than $2,000 in bulk food and cash was stolen during two break and enters at Alexandria Pizzeria on Main Street.

During the first break in on Nov. 21 bulk food was stolen from a storage building next door to the restuarant.

Stolen was: 15 cases of sodacrackers; 10 cases of tomatoes; 1 cases of vinegar; 1 5-gallon pail of pickles; 1 5-gallon jar of relish; 1 case of javel; 10 5-gallon pails of vegetable oil and 5 bags of flour.

Another break and enter occurred early Tuesday morning when theives broke in through a back door and stole $150 cash from the register.

Prestigious 78th Fraser Highlanders to perform fundraising concert at Nepean Centrepointe Theatre

The 78th Fraser Highlanders, a grade one band out of Toronto, will be holding a performance Feb. 18 at the Centerpoint Theatre in Nepean.

The performance is a fundraiser for the Glengarry Pipe Band and the Glengarry Club of Ottawa.

The 78th Fraser Highlanders are the first grade one pipe band to win six consecutive North American Pipe Band Championships in Maxville.

It is also the first pipe band in the world to have a recording sell platinum, first pipe band outside of Scotland to win a world championship and they sell out every concert in a Scotland tour.

The concert is entitled Live in Scotland, titled after the band's recent recording which was released in September, and is approaching the gold mark of 100,000 copies.

The Feb. 18 show will be their first performance of the Live in Scotland tour. The show is one of only three that will be given across all of North America.

The band had more than a dozen requests for performances.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. show are available for $20 each at Danskin's in Maxville. A Ceilidh will be held afterwards in the city hall glass chamber.

Many Glengarrians attended the band's Aug. 4 performance in Motherwell and said it was the best show they had ever attended, according to Gaye Leroux, spokesman for Glengarry Pipe Band.

n't need anyone to tell them that. The voters already knew.

Joly must realize that newspapers don't create the reality, they only mirror what is already there. The newspaper cannot change the reality, nor can Joly himself.

Joly can choose to ignore the reality, and it appears from his comments that is the path he has taken.

But that doesn't change what really is. What has happened has happened. And the voters of Alexandria made it happen.

That's the reality Jacques, like it or not. You can't change it anymore than you can change the rising of the sun, the luminescence of the moon, the soothing blue of the sea.

People come and people go in the game of politics. It is an accepted fact.

Certainly years of service is worth something, but when it comes down to the crunch, it is what and who you are today that matters.

In the majority of the elections over the past two decades, it is obvious that you were what people wanted at the time. Somewhere along the way over the past three years, that changed.

It hurts to be a loser. But everyone running for public office does so with the full knowledge there is a chance they may lose.

It is something every politician must be prepared for. It is something politicians in tune with the voters will know even before people head to the polls.

You were neither prepared or in touch Jacques. And in reacting so, you have tainted what should have been a dedicated, if not illustrious history of service.

May Alexandrians remember you for the polite, soft spoken, good hearted member that you were during 17 years as a municipal politician.

Despite the outburst at that Nov. 22, it would be unfair to remember those years of service any other way.

1994 PROPERTY ASSESSMENT

Attention Property Owners and Tenants in the Village of Maxville.

Your municipal council is considering a possible reassessment.

The date that the 1994 assessment roll will be delivered to your municipal clerk has been delayed to March 10, 1995. The assessment roll lists the assessed value of each property in your municipality.

Your 1995 property taxes will be based on this value.

The final date for appealing your 1994 assessment to the Assessment Review Board has been changed to March 31, 1995.

If you have any questions about the reassessment, please call the assessment office. The number is in the Blue Pages of your telephone directory, under assessment or property assessment.

Pour obtenir des renseignements en français sur votre évaluation, veuillez appeler le bureau d'évaluation. Vous trouverez le numéro de téléphone dans les pages bleues de l'annuaire téléphonique, sous la rubrique "évaluation" ou "évaluation foncière."

Council Briefs

The following items were discussed by Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry United Counties council Nov. 21 at a meeting in Cornwall.

Community Alert

A high speed emergency telephone network which can alert a population to evacuate quickly during a disaster is being investigated by United Counties Council and Cornwall.

Using Bell's data base, Community Alert Network of Albany, N.Y., can alert everyone in Cornwall in 20 minutes.

Network President Ken Baechel said the call system is particularly useful for alerting people in a small area when there is a hostage taking or a bomb scare.

Some cities use the system to call in extra police, prison guards or firemen. The system makes 100 simultaneous calls.

"We could have used that service to evacuate people when the gas pipeline blew last month near Williamstown," Charlottenburgh Deputy Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy said.

The system costs $18,000 the first year, and $14,000 the second year, with costs divided between the counties, Cornwall and local business.

People with unlisted phones must call Alert Network, to be put on line.

911 Lagging

911 emergency system consultant Carolyn Laflamme asked reeves from United Counties 20 municipalities to get their staffs busy processing civic numbers, names, and addresses to be sent off to Bell Telephone by the December deadline.

It takes a year for Bell to set up the data system for ambulances, police and fire to respond quickly to the right address, Laflamme explained. Information is flowing in much faster "since the municipal elections are over," she said.

United Counties hopes to have 911 emergency system in place by early 1996. Cornwall just got 911 on line last week.

Counties council agreed to pay for county road number signs at the intersections of township roads, making navigation easier for emergency vehicle drivers.

Tax spat

United Counties Council strongly supported a motion on Nov. 21 from Alexandria Reeve Bruno Massie to investigate why St. Joseph Health Centre in Cornwall, a charitable home for the aged, is being forced to pay property tax.

"It's only a matter of time until the home in Maxville, and other seniors' residence in the United Counties, will be taxed, if we don't fight this," Massie said.

Until 1992 all of St. Joseph Health Centre property was exempt from property taxes. Taxes since have totalled $310,344.

Road emergencies

Mountain Township Deputy-Reeve Estella Rose asked United Counties Roads department to have someone on call nights and weekends to cope with emergencies.

Rose got calls about road flooding on a recent weekend and couldn't get any help from the counties garage.

"We're running thin with no staff backup night and weekends, County Engineer Donald MacDonald explained.

Williamsburg Reeve Johnny Whittaker called it "false economy – a bridge could collapse or a culvert wash out."

Library grants unchanged

Operating grants to public libraries and First Nation libraries across Ontario will remain constant in the 1994-95 fiscal year despite overall spending cuts by the provincial government.

Ontario Minister of Culture, Tourism and Recreation Anne Swarbrick recently announced libraries will receive $34,032,513 in the current fiscal year.

"Our government is maintaining its funding to libraries in very tough economic times," Minister Swarbrick said.

"I am personally committed to ensuring libraries remain a reliable source of learning.

"Libraries are also key public access points to the world of electronic information and our government recognizes their importance to all."

The grant for public library boards in southern Ontario will be maintained at $7.52 per household and in the north, $8.28 per household.

Each county library board will continue to receive an additional $25,000 in addition to the per household grant.

Oh Christmas Tree!

Town workers were busy Friday morning erecting the town's Christmas tree. The donated tree in Alexandria's Mill Square will be the site of the town's annual tree lighting ceremony this Friday night. It was donated by Mrs. Victor Levac of Sinclair Street in Alexandria.

New ladies casual wear store fills another empty space

Business Beat

By Joe Banks, 525-2020

Good news continues to greet Alexandria's Main Street downtown business core.

On the heels of the opening of Dollar World in the former Stedman's building last Wednesday, Liz T's Creations will be opening up in the former Lalonde's Furniture store on Main Street, just south of the Hub of Glengarry restaurant. The grand opening is scheduled for this Thursday, Dec. 1 at 10 a.m.

Owned and operated by Lise Theoret, owner-operator of Lise' Contracting on Kenyon Street in Alexandria, the new store is unique in that it will be making what it sells; clothing will be manufactured in Lise' Kenyon shop and then sold on Main Street.

The new store will specialize in ladies' casual wear including "mix and match" cotton, silk and polyster blouses and jackets. Liz T's will also be offering western-style skirts and shirts and related clothing.

Contacted at her Kenyon Street shop on Tuesday, Lise said she will be offering sizes 10 to 32, clothing for larger women.

"There is no store that offers these sizes for women here," Theoret said.

Prices will range from $19.99 to $89.95, about the same as Reitman's, Theoret said.

New flea market

The Cornwall Flea Market and Factory Outlet on Hwy. 2, just east of Boundary Road in Cornwall, opens this Saturday, Dec. 3.

Co-owner Jim Desouza said last week that the 52,000 square-foot building, opening in two phases, will be a dream-hunters paradise. He said the outlet will house over 100 vendors, selling everything from leathergoods, to arts and crafts to furniture. A Tim Horton's booth is on site.

Hours for the new business are, Thursday and Friday, 1 to 9 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, 9 to 5 p.m.

Gift Basket Creations

The owner of Gift Basket Creations, Helene Picard, has started selling Christmas gift baskets again and invites everyone to drop in for a coffee and a chat.

Helene will be selling her creations until Christmas. The store, located at the Alexandria Auto Glass shop on the corner of Hwy. 34 and Conc. 2, Kenyon, will be open starting Monday, Dec. 12, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Christmas is in the air

Don't forget about the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce caroling parade and tree lighting this Friday night.

The chamber, which hosts the annual event, will be driving hay wagons around town to pick up residents to bring them to the Loeb parking lot, where carol sheets will be distributed. Participants will then begin a "glow stick" or candlelight walk to Mill Square, singing Christmas carols along the way. Children and adults are welcome.

Once the square is reached, the tree-lighting ceremony will take place, after which free hot chocolate and cider will be served at Champions Roadhouse.

For more details, see the ad on the back of this week's "Glengarry Favorites" Christmas cookbook and carol sheet.

Lancaster's business community welcomes St. Nick this Saturday at 1 p.m. for that village's annual Santa Claus parade.

Dollar World debuts

Dollar World, the latest addition to Alexandria's Main Street business section, opened with a flourish last Wednesday. Both the incoming and outgoing mayor of the town were on hand for the event. From left, mayor-elect Grant Crack, Dollar World purchasing director B.R. Grover and outgoing mayor J.P. Touchette snips the ribbon that officially opened the store, which has done a booming business since.

Grand opening

Friends and local politicians gathered at Lajoie's Seasonal Centre on Hwy. 34, south of Alexandria on Nov. 19 to celebrate its grand opening. Among the guests were newly-elected Alexandria Mayor Grant Crack and his family with newly-elected Kenyon Reeve Gwen Morris. The Centre will specialize in gas fireplaces, wood stoves, spas, swimming pools and awnings.

The brand new building was erected by contractor Jacques Lajoie.

Lions Christmas baskets campaign and HOPE dinner to brighten holiday for the town needy

Alexandria's Lions Club will again be holding its annual Christmas baskets campaign for the needy — with a difference.

The annual campaign to get food into the hands of the community's most needy families this year will be delivering cash-equivalent vouchers that may be redeemed for food products at most local grocery stores.

Pierre Aubry, project co-chair, said the move to vouchers started two years ago and was designed to address the needs of one and two person families.

"After discussions with recipients and project volunteers, donors and sponsors, it was concluded that a voucher program might better respond to the needs of recipient families," Aubry said.

The Lions are seeking the financial help of people, businesses, churches, and community groups to ensure that the less fortunate families of the community receive some additional assistance during the holiday season.

Although the club will not deliver baskets, it will ensure that whatever food items are collected are distributed appropriately.

Last year, the club raised over $6,000 in donations that were used to pay part of the project's expenses in assisting 185 area families. The club is hoping to raise at least a similar amount this year.

Donations may be sent by mail to Box 1000, Alexandria, or may be dropped off at the offices of Macdonald and Aubry, Barristers and Solicitors, 40 Main Street North, Alexandria.

The club has recently received a charitable organization designation from Revenue Canada and therefore all donations will qualify for a charitable donation receipt.

Also helping to deliver a memorable Christmas Eve for needy or lonely people in the Glengarry area this year is HOPE (Helping Other People Everyday).

Held each Dec. 24 at the Sports Palace, the free Christmas Eve dinner served over 100 people last year. The goal this year, the group says, is to serve 200 dinners.

But in order for the meal to be offered free of charge, the group is relying on the cooperation of sponsors to make it possible. It is soliciting for cash donations.

Cheques or money orders may be made payable to H.O.P.E., Box 1164, Alexandria, Ont. For more information call Andre Lefebvre at 525-3260 or Gilles Martin at 525-5501.

surgery and overnight boarding, to open on Main Street south.

Shortly after the bylaw was passed, council received objections from nearly two dozen nearby residents claiming the hospital would overload the sewage system and smells and noise from the hospital would disturb the shopping and residential area.

Further objections presented by Lalonde raised the question of whether proper public consultation on the project was given.

The hearing will resume on Jan. 3, 4 and 5 at the Centre Cuturel on Industrial Boulevard.

Musical theatre making comeback at Char-Lan

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

If there were such a thing as a newspaper with sound effects, right now, as you read this, you would be hearing a blast of trumpets, or whatever instruments are used to announce a triumphal return.

Yes, readers, after what can only be described as a theatrical drought of several years at Char-Lan District High School, musical drama is making a comeback. You will remember, those of you with memories longer than a cork-screw, the glory days of theatre at our local high school. Heady days -- when talents were unleashed and classroom upstarts showed that all they really needed was a stage. Days when the whole school was involved in some aspect or other of the production.

An ever-running marquee lights up certain names of the past -- not all of them upstarts, of course: Forrester, Gordon, Bedard, Greer, Stones, Gordon (again), Sauve, Blumel, Hodsman, Foster, Stewart, Stones (encore), Wallace, MacDonald, Rose, Hall, Beaudette, Currier, Beaudin, Groulx . . . Groulx? Would that be Luc Groulx, veteran of the big city Glen Productions? Golly gosh darn, it really is!

Yes, Char-Lan teacher Luc Groulx along with Grade 12 student, Tania Keefe, will be directing a production of Rock and Roll, a musical set in the '50's, on Dec. 7, 8, 9 and 10, in the school's cafetorium, and it promises to be fun.

The action takes place in Pop's Pop Shop, a local teen hangout, and the characters reflect typical 50's students, with their chatter about football games, girls, school dances, boys . . . you get the drift.

Robert Goodbun is the show's musical director, and theatre-goers can expect a liberal shaking of 50's sounds throughout the production. They can also expect a refreshing change from the limitations of adolescent lingo of the '90's -- good, solid slang like "golly," "keen," "swell," and even the ultimate put-down, "Hardi-har-har."

Jitterbuggers make a comeback; cheerleaders are rah, rah, rahing and Corndoggie gets his girl. What more could an audience want? This is sanitized entertainment at its funniest, safe for your four-year-old son, safe for your 84-year-old mother.

Lead roles are played by Bucky Ross, Denise Keeler, Derek Abrams, Dan Gillespie, Jill MacKenzie/Stephanie Van Riel, Stephane Proulx and a million others whose names will soon join the electronic/galactic ticker-tape.

Oh, and by the way, . . . tickets ($5) are available at Alex MacDonald's Groceries, or by calling the school (347-2441) and asking for "Sharon."

Lots of school news this week. Char-Lan's Honor Roll at mid-term has been announced and the following students have achieved 80 per cent or better, and, it is hoped, some praise. (A Mercedes will do instead, says one wag whose name appears below!)

Grade Ten: Leesa Jarvo, Heather Kennedy, Danielle Kurchak, Billy Litshauer, Kevin Maurice, Joanne Menard, Jim Prichard, Laura Rawnsley, Jennifer Ross, and Kate Wright.

Grade Eleven: Janis Amell, Trevor Atchison, Shirley Bergeron, Kimberly Bold, Nina Craig, Daniel Gillespie, Kelly Giroux, Reid Guest, Amanda Hicks, Alain Lapierre, Lisa MacGregor, Richard Malo, Lisa McEvoy, Kevin O'Farrell, Sommer Robertson, Heather Smith and Ariana Winn.

Grade 12: Derek Abrams, Kimberly Allaire, Andrew Beaudin, Adam Blackadder, Sarah Henssen, Tania Keefe, Julia Leroux, Melinda Main, Kari McEvoy, Julie McIntosh, Jennifer McLeod, Patrick Menard, Benjamin Pregent, Katy Secord, Tina St. Denis, Heather Williams, and Krista Wind.

Grade 13 (OAC): Lesley Bethune, Jason Birch, Michael Bissonnette, Lance Brabant, Sarah Harrington, Michael Rzepczyk, and Laurie Schaefer.

She's busy in the kitchen these days, says her friend. Sure hope she's not having to make her own birthday cake!'

Take a break on Dec. 2, Gail Fowler, and have a wonderful birthday!

The Friendly Neighbors open euchre on Nov. 24 was their last one until January. Winners at it included Annette Chretien, Ann McDonald, Alda Major and Cecile Leblanc (Skunk). The men had no skunks, but several winners -- Donald MacGregor, Roger Pilon and Austin Abrams.

Beatrice MacDonald won the door prize, with 50-50 spoils going to Cecile Leblanc, Austin Abrams, Emily MacDonald, Alda Major, Rena Major, Therese Bourdeau and Terry Vendette.

The club's Christmas dinner will be held on Dec. 15 at noon at St. Mary's Centre.

So, Terry St. Onge was the lucky winner of the K of C trip to Florida for two, drawn at the dance held Nov. 19!

I'll bet there was plenty of mooching going on in J.D.'s following that announcement! Eat your heart out, (as they say) -- Terry has decided that his six-year-old daughter will accompany him to Disney World.

A reminder that the Knights Bingo will be held tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Centre. Ham, turkey, and 50/50 prizes will be yours to be won.

For the first time in 30 years, command of the SD&G Highlanders has returned to a Glengarrian. Lt.-Col. R. J. Brooks, CD, turned command of the regiment over to Lt.-Col. Brent Lafave, CD, of Williamstown, at a change of command ceremony held Sunday at the Armouries in Cornwall.

The last Glengarrian to be in charge was the late George Edgerton, of Lancaster.

The new CO has served the regiment in various positions for the past 15 years.

Congratulations, Brent!

You may have your Christmas lights up, but do you have your New Year's Eve plans finalized?

Once again there will be a "do" at St. Mary's Centre on Dec. 31. Music will be by Leisure Sound, there will be a hot and cold buffet, party favors, and plenty of whooping-it-uppers.

Tickets are $12.50 each and can be purchased at Ernie Larocque's garage or Alex MacDonald's Groceries.

Other forthcoming Christmas dates to keep in mind: this Sunday, Dec. 4, St. Mary's Youth Choir presents a Christmas music program at St. Mary's Church; Dec. 11 is White Gift Sunday at St. Andrew's United Church. The service is organized by the Sunday School and everyone attending is asked to bring non-perishable food items.

It was an evening of farewells at Charlottenburgh council's meeting Monday for George Shoniker and retiring reeve, Dave MacDonald who was presented with a plaque, complete with embedded gavel, by members of council in recognition of his service to the municipality.

"It's been an honor," new Deputy-Reeve Don Kannon said in making the presentation.

Dave admitted he would miss political life, "in lots of ways," and said it had been a pleasure to work with members of council in the team approach they had taken.

Annual Christmas contest planned

Martintown
by Lillian Rouleau

The Martintown and District Horticulture Society is sponsoring a Christmas decoration contest again this holiday season. The contest is open to all members and to all residents of the village of Martintown.

There is no registration fee, but the deadline to enter your residence is Dec. 18, by calling Leara Smith at 528-4247, or Helen Robertson at 528-4493.

The horticulture society will be ordering gardening booklets from the Toronto Garden Club at a cost of $5 each. Orders must be pre-paid and the deadline is Dec. 15. Titles available are: Drying and Preserving Plant Material, Growing Wild Flowers and Plants of Pioneers and Early Days in Ontario.

New members are always welcome and if interested, drop in on the meetings when they resume in April. There are always interesting guest speakers, demonstrations, prizes and refreshments. For information, the contact persons are Elizabeth Peters at 528-4554 and Eugenie Rossel at 528-4237.

Christmas Notes

The 11th annual Christmas dinner will be served to students and staff Wednesday, Dec. 7, in the community centre. Donations of food and money are accepted, and the contact person is secretary Bev Runions, at 528-4423.

Parents and students are asked to refrain again this year from bringing teachers Christmas presents.

Instead, the staff would like any monies earmarked for gifts to them to be directed towards a worthy cause. Each donation of $2 before Dec. 16 will go towards the purchase of turkey dinners for local needy families, and delivery will be made by a social services representative. It is hoped that this concept is received as a creative, useful alternative to teachers presents.

The school will hold its Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, in the school gymnasium. Plan to be there early, as it is usually "standing-room-only" by curtain time.

St. Andrew's United Church

On Sunday, Nov. 20, the congregation was pleased to welcome confirmants Meghan Bold and Janet Higginson to the membership of the church family.

On Monday evening, Nov. 21st, 11 UCW members met at the home of Bev Runions for their Unit 4 meeting.

Alison Murray conducted the worship, using the theme What's Your Name?, which tells us we should be known by our name rather than our race. Marion McCuaig was in charge of the program and showed a very interesting video on Grand Manan Island, where she visited last June.

Join us for coffee time at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, Dec. 4, in the church hall. The UCW will be holding their annual Christmas pot luck supper on Monday, Dec. 5, in the seniors room of the community centre, at 6:30 p.m. All ladies of the church are invited to attend. Unwrapped gift donations will be collected for Baldwin House.

The annual White Gift Service will be held at St. Andrew's United on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m., when the service will be presented by the Sunday School.

The program will include piano duets and special music by Penny Stokes and David and Peter Handy.

Make sure not to miss this service which is well worth attending as everyone who attended last year's service can attest to.

There will be a pot luck lunch of sandwiches and squares in the church hall following the service.

Candlelight Service

There will be a joint candlelight service with the members of St. Andrew's United Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening Dec. 18 in the Presbyterian church.

St. Andrew's United Church will hold a morning worship service at 11 a.m. on Christmas morning.

Christmas cards

The McKinnon Forestry Interpretative Centre will have free presentations between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., Sundays, Dec. 4 and Dec. 11, teaching how to make paper the old

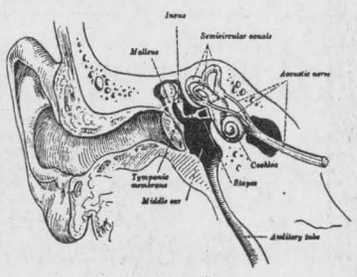
Caring for Life — Glengarry and Ménière's Disease

By Dr. George McKiel

Severe dizziness is so overwhelming that the people, between 40-50 years who are mostly affected, find themselves incapable of walking and must stay quiet in bed. It begins suddenly, may last for a few minutes or even all day. There is a hearing loss that begins in the first episode of vertigo and then is progressive as other episodes recur several times a week or irregularly over weeks and months. The feelings of spinning or the spinning around of surrounding objects is accompanied by a sense of pressure (fullness in one ear), nausea, tinnitus (ringing in the ears), vomiting, profuse sweating, and possibly a brief loss of consciousness as well as a rapid, involuntary eyeball movement.

The culprit or cause is still unknown but after two or three attacks, in the early stages, the disease burns itself out. Our sense of balance begins in the semicircular canals of the inner ear; the other portion, the cochlea, is concerned with our hearing.



The ear (external, middle, internal).

The semi circular canals are positioned in three planes, filled with a fluid and rich in sensitive hair cells that respond to the fluid movement. When the hair cells are displaced by gravity, linear or angular acceleration or deceleration, a neural impulse is triggered. Over stimulation, such as when we spin or tumble our body too rapidly, produces dizziness.

Ménière's disease is quite common affecting a significant number of Glengarrians (there are an estimated one million Canadians affected). Treatment is highly successful with a motion sickness drug and now the one mostly used is meclizine (Antivert). The doctor may also prescribe a diuretic such as Diamox or Diuril to reduce the pressure of the inner ear fluids. There are side effects to meclizine, drowsiness and, in men there could be bladder problems, maybe impotence.

A new surgical technique shows much promise. It's called "selective chem labyrinthectomy" and was pioneered at Tulane University. The op. has been done hundreds of times now with an amazing 100 per cent success rate. Basically, it involves making a small incision behind the ear and then inserting a flake of the antibiotic, streptomycin, into the inner ear. The antibiotic destroys the infecting organism. They can also sever the nerve from the labyrinth to the brain but this is more invasive and so only used in more complicated cases.

It's important to provide emotional support and reassurance for persons afflicted with this unpleasant condition of Ménière's disease as people often fear having an acute attack.

Clan Donald expands to Oka, Quebec

Clan Donald, the largest of the Highland Scottish Clans, which has clansmen and clanswomen who bear the name MacDonald, MacDonell and the many other spellings that have been adopted over the years, recently endorsed the formation of another Branch of their Society in Oka, Quebec.

The formation of a branch in Oka Quebec follows the formation last fall in the Kingston area, known as "Kingston and The Islands Branch."

In Canada, the Clan has now branches in Glengarry/Stormont in Ontario, five branches in Nova Scotia, Kingston and the Islands, also in Ontario, and the most recent addition of Oka, Quebec.

Currently the Canadian executive are considering branches in P.E.I., New Brunswick, British Columbia, and in Ontario, perhaps Ottawa, Hamilton and Toronto areas.

Rev. Thomas M. McDonald

E. Brundage MacDonald, Canadian High Commissioner for Clan Donald, who resides in Pictou County, Nova Scotia, indicated that the interim Commissioner for the new Quebec Branch was to be Reverend Thomas M. McDonald. The Rev. Thomas has been associated with the Clan Donald organization for over 20 years having joined in 1974 at the famous "Grandfather Mountain" Games in Linville, North Carolina.

He belonged to the Southeastern USA Clan Donald moving to the Great Lakes Chapter having located in Ohio and served as their convenor.

The Reverend is "of the Antrim MacDonnells" and his great grandfather, John McDonnell immigrated to the new world in 1875, and at the time was part of the Clan Ian Vhor MacDonnell.

Interested in history he has written "Sage, Cedar and Two Pipes," which reflects his family's Scottish and Indian Ancestry. As an avid genealogist and historian he has served a three-year term under the administration of Governor Richard Celeste in Ohio, as a member of the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board. He is currently serving as Pastor of the Oka Iroquois Church of God and is glad to be "back in Canada."

He and his wife Pat reside at 609 Rang Ste-Philomene, Oka, Quebec, J0N 1E0.

Brockville Touch

Meetings by the Canadian Secretary for the Clan, Duncan MacDonald, of Brockville, Ontario, and a native of Cornwall, with his ancestral roots in both Glengarry and Stormont Counties, and those of the Clan (or family) held at the Royal Canadian Legion at Lake of Two Mountains, Quebec, produced the new branch. Reverend McDonald became interested in renewing his relationship with Clan Donald after visiting the Clan Donald table at the Glengarry Highland Games this year, where he joined the Glengarry/Stormont branch.

4-H winners

The Glengarry 4-H club held its awards night at the Bonnie Glen near Alexandria on Friday night. The evening's senior winners (above) included (front row, left to right) Laura Patrick, Lisa Knight (accepted by her mother, Nancy Knight), (back row) Jennifer Magoon, Kris MacLeod, Donna McDonell and Todd McIntyre. (Below) junior winners included (front row) Heather Huxted, Rosemarie Huxted, Rachel MacGillivray, Kim Lauzon, Vera Cumming, (back row) Franziska Vander Byl (leader of the Glengarry Beef Club, winner of the top club award), Shannon MacEwen, Emily Carr, Brenda Van Sleeuwen and Jessica Goulet.

Clan MacGillivray organizes

Grant MacGillivray of Maxville has been named a regional director of a new clan organization representing the MacGillivrays.

Clan MacGillivray hasn't had a chief since 1942 when the 14th chief, John Farguhar, died. The last family of chiefs actually came from Glengarry County when the 11th chief, the Honorable John, inherited the title. Although born in Scotland, he spent most of his life in Canada, becoming a partner in the North-West Furtrading Company.

However, about five years ago, Col. George B. Macgillivray of Thunder Bay, was appointed Commander of the Clan, world-wide, and has appointed Commissioners in Scotland, Canada, the United States and Australia at least, with the idea of forming Clan Associations and giving his clanspeople a sense of belonging.

The Commissioner for Canada is Commodore Darroch Macgillivray, of Halifax, a retired naval officer. He has, in turn, appointed regional directors in most parts of Canada to assist in organization. The director for Eastern Ontario is Major Grant MacGillivrary of Maxville and he has listed all the MacGillivrays he can find and sent the lists to the Commissioner.

There is already a flourishing association in Nova Scotia with a quarterly newsletter, and the American Commissioner is working on one, and it is hoped we may follow suit here in Canada.

Grant would like to hear from any clanspeople interested in joining the family, and can be reached at Box 477, Maxville, Ont. K0C 1T0.

St. Andrew's events planned

GDHS News
Sarah Viau

St. Andrew's Day, a celebration of Scottish tradition, falls on Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Six students, Carrie Libbos, Becky Howes, Megan MacPherson, Wendy MacLeod, Ann McCuaig, and Ian Robertson, have convened with Stanley Fraser, our vice-principal, to organize activities for this special day. These activities include: a tartan competition, where home forms compete in having the greatest number of students wearing tartan, and the person wearing the most original tartan costume receives a special prize; a tug-of-war competition, with prizes for first, second and third places; a "pipers walk-about," a period of approximately 10 minutes during which bagpipe players tour the school playing Scottish tunes; and finally, a concert, which will take place during period two, which will feature highland dancers, the pipe band, the Maxville Public School Gaelic Choir, and the Glengarry Fiddlers.

On a more serious note, Thursday, Dec. 1 has been declared World A.I.D.S. Day. Some peer helpers are busy arranging small activities to raise awareness on this tragic issue.

Christmas time is a time for sharing and caring, and spreading love in hearts, young and old. Sister Jane Francis, the school chaplain, is organizing an Adopt-a-Grandparent program so that students from the school can visit people at the nursing home. What better way to spread the Christmas spirit than to bring together the young and the elderly?

Richard Moore's World Issues class is, once again, holding the 30-hour Famine on Thursday, Dec. 1 and Friday, Dec. 2. Students from Grades 12 and OAC sign up to take part in this cause. They obtain pledges from other friends, teachers, and family, and the money is donated to World Vision.

fashioned way. You will go home with at least one Christmas card of your own making.

Santa's Fund

A reminder that jars have been placed by the Optimist Club in village businesses to collect funds to help Santa in his visits to village and country homes this Christmas season. Donations of children's books and toys in good condition are accepted by Jim Pratt, project co-ordinator (528-4443).

The club will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, 7:30, in the community centre.

Dates to remember

Dec. 4, deadline to register for "Christmas Tree Ornaments" workshops at Cooper Marsh Visitors Centre on Dec. 10 and 17. Tel. 347-1332.

Dec. 11, Martintown Christmas Parade, 1 p.m.; contact person to enter a float, Doug Lafave at 528-4094.

Dec. 7, school turkey dinner for staff and students at the community centre.

Dec. 14, Goodtimers' Christmas pot luck luncheon in the seniors room of the community centre.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Martintown's own Denis, Robert and Alan Flaro, sons of Donald and Mildred Flaro, on the growing success of their well-known business "Martinville Hockey Sticks."

They were featured in the latest issue of the Hometown publication, Nov. 26, and are soon to relocate to a larger facility, where they project a production of 160,000 to 200,000 hockey sticks for 1995.

A success story for a Martintown family business which had its humble beginnings in our village some 50 years ago, when dad Donald Flaro was making hockey sticks with his cousin Lloyd Flaro and Gerald Desjardins.

Euchre results

The following were winners at the Goodtimers euchre party held Thursday, Nov. 24 in the community centre.

First ladies, Mildred Dufresne, second ladies, Shirley Dixon; third ladies, Yvonne Jarvo. First men, Maurice Dufresne; second men, Donald MacGregor; third men, Fern Carriere; door prize, Ella van Putten. Special draw Donald MacGregor. Fifty/fifty: Howard Eamon, Florence Harkin, Onagh Ross, Donald MacGregor and Marie-Claire Campeau.

The next euchre party will be held Dec. 8 at 1:30 p.m. There will be refreshments and extra prizes.

Lancaster Public School News

On Tuesday, Nov. 22 the school band, under the direction of Walter Nowickyj, performed at an appreciation dinner for retiring Warden Charlie Sangster.

Student Council heads Kim Cumming and Graham Charbonneau thanked Mr. Sangster for his many years of support and wished him well in any future endeavors.

Playing that day were band members Mandy Astle, Vicky Williams, Andrea Carrier, Kathy Meier, Christine Owen, Jessica Goulet, Angela Brown, Katherine Sangster, Elizabeth Ogilvie, Ronny Couchman, Mark Castonguay, Lindsay Coleman and Michelle Martin.

The band also played in Lancaster on Saturday, Nov. 26 as residents gathered to celebrate an "Old Fashioned Christmas."

On Thursday, Nov. 24, the Grades 4, 5 and 6 students enjoyed a live theatre performance at Aultsville Hall of The Wizard of Oz.

The Memory Lane production consisted almost entirely of local students and was extremely well done.

After the show, David Runions encouraged any students in the audience to join the theatre group if they wished to become a part of any future production.

On Tuesday, Nov. 29 the Senior Kindergarten to Grade 3 students will attend a performance of Snow White.

The staff and students will once again be entering a float in the annual Santa Claus Parade to be held in Lancaster on Saturday, Dec. 3.

The Grades 7 and 8 girls and boys volleyball teams have had a busy month.

The senior girls were involved in the Iona invitational tournament on Nov. 14. They did a commendable job winning five of eight games.

On Nov. 21, the boys participated in the Iona invitational tournament.

They did an outstanding job coming home with the "B" championship.

On Thursday, Nov. 24 both teams participated in the Glengarry public school board tournament held at Iona.

The girls team made it to the "A" championship, but lost to Iona in the finals. The boys also made it to the "A" finals and managed to defeat Iona two games to one.

Both teams were coached by Robert McCleary.

Members of the girls team were Christine Owen, Katherine Sangster, Mandy Astle, Vicky Williams, Kim Cumming, Jessica Goulet, Megan Danaher, Jill Robbers, Laura Rombough, Connie VanDeLigt and Kathi Meier.

Members of the boys team were Adam Rombough, Ronny Couchman, Nigel Newland, Graham Charbonneau, Matthew McCleary, Peter Magoon, Justin Leith, Joel Hamelin, Andrew McIntyre and David VanDeLigt.

A special happy 84th birthday is sent for Nov. 29 to Edna McDonald of Lancaster.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women held their regular monthly meeting on Nov. 16 in the church hall.

Special guest speaker for the evening was Rob Montcrief and friend Laura from L'Arche Community in Glen Roy.

L'Arche, French for "ark" conveys the Biblical concept of a refuge, and was begun in 1964 by Jean Vanier.

There are now over 100 communities worldwide in 26 countries. Each community functions as a family unit bringing the mentally handicapped (core people and non-handicapped assistants) together to live out the Gospel invitation.

Rob and Laura gave the group their impressions of daily life within their close-knit and caring family.

During the business portion of the meeting, decisions were made concerning donations to various charities.

Among those chosen were: L'Arche Community in Glen Roy, the Lancaster Optimists Snowsuit Fund and Baldwin House in Cornwall.

Recent contributions had also been made to Jill Foster, Chaplain, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, Concordia University, a Guatemalan community project through Presbyterian World Service and Development as well as a contribution to help in the purchase of a "talking book" for Grant and Val Pattingale of Smiths Falls.

President Peg Ferguson closed the meeting with a poetic prayer of thanksgiving.

The following are open euchre results from Lan Char Senior Centre for two weeks.

For Friday, Nov. 18: lone hand winners were Anna Verkuylen and Donald McGregor.

Fifty/fifty winners were Donald McGregor, Lorne Bennett, Theresa Bourdeau, Ileen Latreille and Jack McDonell.

For Friday, Nov. 25: the November and December birthday party was held before cards.

The cake was made by Ileen Latreille for celebrants Beatrice Labelle, Florence Bennett, Lorne Bennett, Terry Vandette and Florida Legroulx.

Lone hand winners were Shirley Lizotte and Lorne Bennett.

Fifty/fifty winners were Theresa Bourdeau, Jack McDonell, Cecile Legroulx, Dorothy Roy, Tony Wetering, Terry Vandette, Eva Collette and Annette Chretien.

On Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 22 the centre hosted a farewell wardens banquet to honor Charles Sangster. A big vote of thanks goes to all the volunteers who helped and good luck wishes are sent to Charlie from everyone at the Lan Char Senior Centre.

Confirmation to be held at St. Margaret

North Lancaster
Bernadette Campeau

The work week began with a forced holiday as Mother Nature covered the land with snow, ice, slush and dangerous driving conditions which prompted the school board to keep buses off the road. I guess we had it coming with all the beautiful weather we enjoyed this fall. Tomorrow is Dec. 1st and the days before Christmas are getting fewer and busier.

Tonight, Nov. 30, the students of Grades 7 and 8 will be confirmed in St. Margaret of Scotland Church. The ceremony begins at 7:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

There was a contest held recently at Ecole Ste. Therese where students had to write a short text on why they would like to be principal (Grades 7 and 8) for a day, secretary (Grades 5 and 6) for a day and janitor (Grades 3 and 4) for a day.

A jury came up with the winners and they are Principal, Mélanie Claude, Grade 8, Secretary Mélissa Dupuis, Grade 5; janitor, Danielle Major of Grade 4. Congratulations to you.

Students of the school did very well in a volleyball tournament held last Saturday at ESRG in Alexandria.

The first team, coached by Christianne Elie was made up of Mélanie Claude, Penny Amstutz, Martine Poirier, Alain Campeau, Roch Brunet, Marc Lalonde and two spares: Sophie Guerin and Stéphane Beriault. They won six out of seven games. Bravo.

The second team, coached by Jacques Elie there was Amanda Paaw, Caroline Desjardins, Kateri Dubeau, Chris Corput, Alain Pitre, Stephane St. Denis and two spares: Sophie Bourbonnais and Phillip Legroulx.

They won five out of eight games. Way to go!

Thanks to Paul for the bus and to Celyne for driving.

Morrisburg's Francis Briere (white jersey) tries to cut in front of the Alexandria net as Alexandria Glens goaltender Pascal Gasse hugs the post. Glens defenceman Nygel Pelletier applies a stick check to Briere while forward Karl Hehn (25) looks on. The Glens won Sunday's game 8-4 to extend their Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League winning streak to six games.

Red-hot Glens wrap up berth in annual Boxing Day tourney

The Alexandria Glens gave themselves an early Christmas present on Friday night in Winchester by defeating the Hawks 5-4 in overtime.

The victory clinches a berth for the Glens in the annual Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League Boxing Day Tournament, which will be held in Metcalfe this season.

It's the first time the Glens will be taking part in the Boxing Day tourney since 1991, when Alexandria had an automatic bid as host of the event. The Glens haven't qualified for the tournament since 1989.

The win over the Hawks also extended Alexandria's most recent winning streak to five games. Make that six games with the Glens' 8-4 victory over the Morrisburg Lions at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday night.

Alexandria's season-long roll also includes 13 wins in the team's last 14 games, nine straight home-ice victories and a 15-3 overall record, good for a 10-point bulge over the second-place Kemptville 73's in the St.Lawrence Division standings.

The best news of all for the Glens is that they have been able to avoid the mid-season tailspin that spoiled a quick start last year. Last year at this time, the Glens were mired in an eight-game losing streak after winning 13 of their first 16 games.

It's a lesson that isn't lost on the team's returning players.

"The wins don't come by themselves, you have to work for them," said Glens captain Carl Bougie, who scored the overtime winner against the Hawks and had a four-point night against the Lions. "It's a good challenge for us to keep winning and try and stay on top."

Bougie doesn't expect to see a repeat of last season's slide.

"We're a younger team this year and we're more willing to work as a team. Last year we had too many guys that were playing as individuals.

"The guys never quit, that's been the key. You can never let up because in junior B, it's not unusual to see a team score two or three goals in a minute."

With a goals against average under four, the Glens have been doing an excellent job of avoiding the defensive lapses that sunk the club last year.

Alexandria's penalty-killers played a big role in Sunday's win over Morrisburg.

The Glens gave up only one power play goal in nine chances while scoring a shorthanded marker.

"That was the difference in the game," said Glens coach Robert Boisvenue. "Especially in the second period when we killed off three penalties including a couple of five-on-threes.

"When you play shorthanded that long without giving up a goal, it really gives your team a boost."

The penalty-killing helped the Glens overcome a shaky start by goaltenders Kevin Lemire and Pascal Gasse, who each let in a 65-footer as Alexandria fell behind 3-2 after one period.

Lemire was pulled after Tim Casselman's shot from outside the blueline eluded him at the midway point of the opening frame. Casselman pulled off the same trick on Gasse with 50 seconds left in the first.

"Those goals made me think of last year," said Boisvenue, referring to the Glens goaltending problems in 1993-94.

"But you have to expect that sometimes, (both goalies) have been playing very well this season. We weren't even sure if Lemire was going to play this weekend because he's got new pads and he says he's been having problems with them. That's the only reason I pulled him."

The rest of the team bailed out the netminders by outscoring the Lions 6-1 in the final two periods.

Jason Hall and Carl Cadieux each scored twice for the Glens while singles were added by Bougie, Randy Gebbie, Hamish Cunning and Luc Chaumont.

In addition to Casselman's two goals, Ryan Warner and Mike McAllister scored for Morrisburg.

The Glens had five different scorers in Winchester as Bougie, Cunning, Cadieux, Chancey Lajoie and Nygel Pelletier each contributed a goal.

Rob Raistrick had a hat trick for the Hawks while Warren Holmes scored once.

Glenformation: Both members of Morrisburg's Glengarry connection were out of commission for Sunday's game. Former Glen Ricky Latreille sat out because of a fluid build-up on his elbow while North Lancaster native Patrick Loyer is on the sidelines indefinitely with ligament trouble in his left knee...Ryan Cunning has quit the team. The rookie had been used sparingly by coach Robert Boisvenue, with most of his ice time coming in penalty-killing situations. Cunning will now play junior C hockey with his hometown Vankleek Hill Cougars...An interesting race is shaping up in the battle for the Glens' goalscoring lead. Jason Hall and Carl Bougie have been running neck-and-neck for the honor all year, and the two are currently tied with 19 goals apiece. Derek Durocher (12) and Randy Gebbie (10) are the other Alexandria marksmen in double figures...Recent arrival Mike Closs and defencemen Marc Menard and Michel Jeaurond are the only members of the current roster who have yet to score in 1994-95...The Glens host the Athens Aeros on Friday in a battle of division leaders in the Rideau-St.Lawrence Conference. The weekend also includes a trip to Westport on Sunday.

Payment, St.Jean return as Rebels split pair of games

The Char-Lan Rebels have enlisted the help of a familiar duo in an effort to get back into the St.Lawrence Division playoff race.

Forwards Corey Payment and Pete St.Jean are back in Char-Lan uniforms after being released by the Cornwall Colts of the Central Junior A (Tier II) Hockey League last week.

Both players were in the Rebels' line-up on the weekend as Char-Lan split a pair of games.

St.Jean had an assist as the Rebels defeated the Winchester Hawks 6-1 at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre on Saturday night while Payment scored a goal in Char-Lan's 6-2 loss in Kemptville on Sunday.

The Rebels are hoping that the twosome will help kick-start an offence that has struggled all year to score in key situations. The lack of consistent goalscoring has left the Rebs with a series of close losses and an eight-point deficit behind the division's fourth-place team.

"I think they should be able to help us get more offensive chances," said Rebels general manager Randy Larocque. "They both have some experience at the junior B level so we're looking for them to give us a hand in the goalscoring department."

St.Jean was one of the Rebels' big guns last year, collecting 35 goals and 107 points while playing on a line with Marc Bellemare and Denis St.Jean.

Payment had six goals and 11 assists in limited playing time, but was one of the Rebels' best players in Char-Lan's first-round playoff loss to the Morrisburg Lions. He was slated to be one of the Rebels' top forwards this year before cracking the Colts' line-up in September.

The duo's talent has never been questioned, but there has to be concern about whether the players' hearts and minds will be accompanying their bodies on the weekly trips to Williamstown.

For now, Larocque is willing to give his new players the benefit of the doubt.

"I'm not sure about Pete, I know he has to be disappointed (about being sent down), but he's shown up for the first two games so I have to assume he wants to play. As for Corey, he wants to get back to junior A, so I think he'll be playing to prove that he belongs up there."

Rebels overpower Hawks

Char-Lan used the power play to its advantage on Saturday, clicking three times in eight opportunities in beating the Hawks.

Brent Lauzon, Dave Campbell and D.J. Zaluski scored the man-advantage tallies while Tim Corput, Terry O'Farrell and Rob Curran scored with the Rebels at even strength.

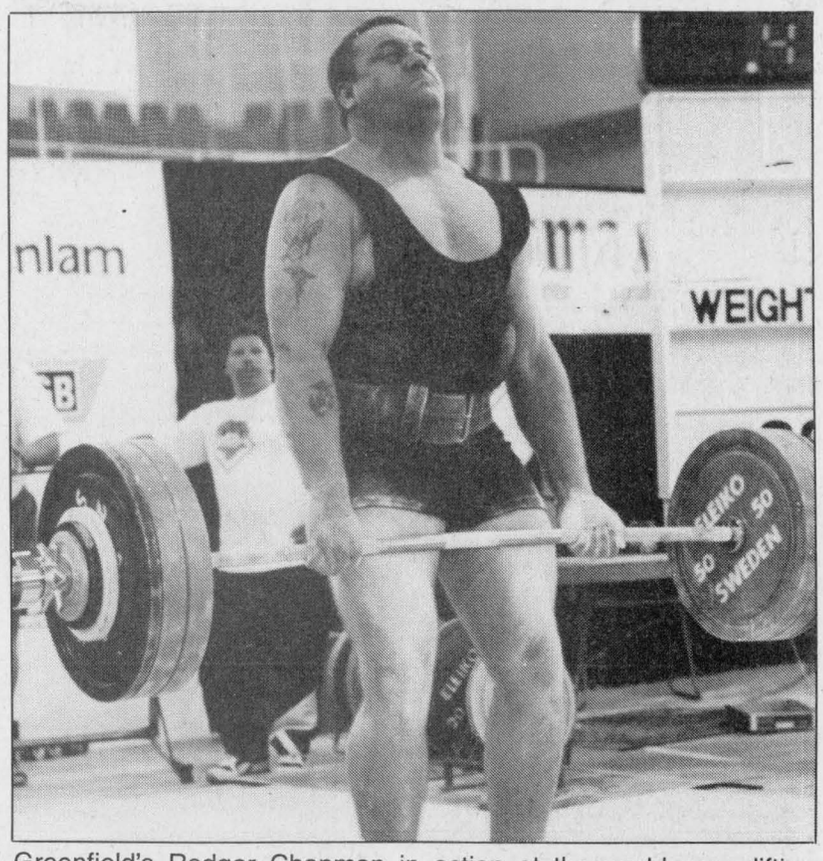
Mike McCabe had the only Winchester marker.

On Sunday in Kemptville, the 73's stormed out to a 4-0 lead by the 13:01 mark of the opening period and coasted to a 6-2 win.

Jeff Ricci had three goals for the 73's while Rob Gavalucci, Shawn Forbes and Eric Jansen had singles.

Curran and Payment connected for the Rebels.

Rebel Yells: While Pete St.Jean and Corey Payment were added to the roster last week, defenceman Dan Carriere has quit the team. Carriere had already missed considerable playing time in the early part of the season because of suspensions and indecision about his hockey future...Lyle Sproul's future with the Rebels is in doubt after the 20-year-old winger was a no-show in Kemptville...The Rebels dressed defenceman Darrell MacDonell as an affiliate on Saturday...Char-Lan's St.Hubert players of the game against the Hawks were D.J. Zaluski (offence) and Terry Lauzon (defence). Brent Lauzon, who played a strong physical game in Kemptville on Sunday, was named the Chumps Road Warrior...The Rebs have three games on the menu this week, including visits to Brockville tonight and to Kemptville on Sunday. The Westport Rideaus will be at the Rec Centre on Saturday.



Greenfield's Rodger Chapman in action at the world powerlifting championships in Johannesburg, South Africa earlier this month.

Local lifter ninth at world championships

By J.L. Lefebvre
Sports editor

After nine years of hard work and intense training, Greenfield's Rodger Chapman has established himself as one of the world's best powerlifters.

The 35-year-old member of Maxville's Highland Athletic Club finished ninth in the superheavyweight division (125 kg and over) at the world powerlifting championships in Johannesburg, South Africa earlier this month.

Chapman - who was crowned Canadian champion in Antigonish, N.S. this past May - lifted a total of 800 kg in his first appearance at the world championships. Chapman's best result came in the bench press, where he lifted 207.5 kg - a new Ontario record.

He also had a 300 kg squat and established a new Canadian standard with a 292.5 kg dead lift.

The 800 kg total was 20 kg more than Chapman's previous best in competition.

"I had two goals going in - to do at least 800 kilos and to finish in the top 10. I was able to get both of those things done," said Chapman. "I was pretty happy with the results. I guess ecstatic would be a good word."

Since returning from Johannesburg, Chapman has been forced to deal with the depression that plagues many athletes after a big competition.

"It's pretty hard to get back to the grind," he says.

Nevertheless, Chapman still looks forward to another year of competition which he hopes will culminate in a trip to the 1995 world championship in Finland.

"Before I can get back (to the world championships), I have to win the provincials and I have to win the Canadian championship. I don't think that will be a major problem, as long as I stay injury-free."

An inauspicious beginning

Competing at the worlds was the furthest thing from Chapman's mind when he first got involved in powerlifting nine years ago.

"I went to the gym because my back was sore," he explains. "I had been in an accident and my back was screwed up so I started going to the gym in Alexandria."

Chapman's visits to the gym eventually went from therapy sessions to involvement in a sport that would become a huge part of his life.

"I tried powerlifting and I liked it, but I never dreamed of getting to this level."

U2's weather Storm for win number seven

Scott Giroux scored twice as the CIMF U2's defeated the Atlantic Storm 3-1 in Cornwall Indoor Soccer League men's division action at St.Lawrence College on Sunday.

Taffy Pye rounded out the scoring for the U2's while Travis Giroux tallied for the Storm.

With the victory, the U2's extend their season-opening winning streak to seven games. CIMF has a 10-point lead over Cornwall BBQ in the CISL's second division.

Meanwhile, the Storm drops to 5-2. The Atlantic is one of four teams in a tie for second place in the men's first division. La Maison in on top with a 7-0 mark.

La Maison's seventh straight win came by a score of 3-0 over Rudi Payer Sport, one of the three teams that is tied with the Storm for second place.

The other two clubs in second are Roadrunners I and Mr. Sub. The Roadrunners edged Mr. Sub 5-4 on Sunday.

Flyers tie BBQ

Chad McRae had three goals as the Apple Hill Flyers played to a 5-5 tie against Cornwall BBQ.

Nelson MacPherson and Randy Lavigueur were the other scorers for Apple Hill, which earns its third point of the year with the draw.

In other men's division games, Best Western routed the Roadrunners second squad 9-0, Filion Trophies downed the Osnabruck Cosmos 3-1 and Jovana's and Jiggers played to a scoreless draw.

Blacker bounces Rangers

Oliver Blacker scored all three of his team's goals as the Atlantic Storm defeated the Ital-Can Rangers 3-1 in old-timers' division action on Sunday.

Rob Gravelle scored the only goal for the Rangers.

The Storm, the Rangers and Pizza Hut are all tied for second in the old-timers' loop with 2-3-2 records.

Pizza Hut moved into the group by upsetting division leaders Rudi Payer Sport 3-2.

Frank Chartrand, Gilles Plourde and Rick Rosendaal each scored once for Pizza Hut while Dave Brown and Doug Gray scored for Rudi's.

MacDonald shuts out Old Fort

Kirk Hill improved its women's division record to 4-2 with a 3-0 victory over Old Fort.

Lisa MacDonald recorded the shutout while Meghan MacPherson, Jenny Lowe and Lisa Poirier each scored once.

The Minimax Hearts moved back into first place in the women's division by beating Rudi Payer Sport 3-1.

Lynn Marie Legault had her second consecutive two-goal game for the Hearts while Wendi Lawson had a single. Kara MacDonald connected for Rudi's.

The Hearts are tied for first place with the Bergeron Chargers, one point ahead of the Bootleggers.

The Chargers defeated Paddy's 4-1 on Sunday as Rachel Denner scored three times and Carrie Rose added a single.

Aidan Burgess scored her third goal in two games for Paddy's.

Meanwhile, the Bootleggers were upset 4-3 by the Roe Lee Rovers.

Martin hat tricks lift Mac's Marina to a pair of victories

Mac's Marina won twice in Char-Lan Minor Hockey house league action last week.

The bantam-midget division club beat Alexandria "C" and Poirier Bus Lines as Scott Martin scored three times in each game.

Mac's edged the C's 6-5 thanks to Martin's hat trick and singles by Reid Guest, Dan Olsson and Ian MacDonald.

Guest and Jason Alguire added single goals to Martin's three-goal effort as Mac's defeated Poirier 5-1.

Eric Viau scored the only Poirier goal.

Gauthier's Greenhouse also won a pair of bantam-midget division games last week, beating Alexandria "B" and North Glengarry-Stormont by scores of 2-1.

Stephen Alguire and James Nichol had a goal in each of Gauthier's wins. Scott Willard accounted for the Alexandria "B" scoring.

On Wednesday, North Glengarry Stormont defeated Sam Cain Excavation 6-2.

Clinton Leroux had two goals for the winners while Steven Neville, Jason Charbonneau, Rob McRae and Tim Nuttall each scored once.

Brian Goudie scored both goals for Cain Excavation.

Peewee division

Scott MacKenzie scored twice to lead Munro Agromart to a 3-1 win over Malyon Excavation in a peewee division contest on Saturday.

Willie Larkin also scored for Munro while Nick Campeau replied for Malyon.

Also on Saturday, Kalrim Sports and Longevity Acrylics played to a 2-2 tie.

Andy Knox and Blake Roy scored for Kalrim while Denis Guay and Jean Normand Giroux connected for Longevity.

On Thursday, Longevity doubled Munro 4-2 as Giroux and Chris Knight each scored a pair of goals. Brendan Shoniker had two assists.

Scott MacKenzie and Eric Vande Nieuwe Giessen each had a goal for Munro.

RCAFA Villeneuve Tank Lines played to a 2-2 draw with Kalrim Sports.

Tristi MacSweyn and Vanessa Beveridge scored for RCAFA while David Carney and Shawn O'Bery tallied for Kalrim.

Atom division

McCuaig Plumbing and the Glengarry Kinsmen were the winners in atom division games played on Saturday.

Michael O'Farrell had three goals and an assist as McCuaig defeated MacDonald Grocery 5-1.

Robert Grant netted the other two McCuaig goals while Ed Hadzocos scored for MacDonald.

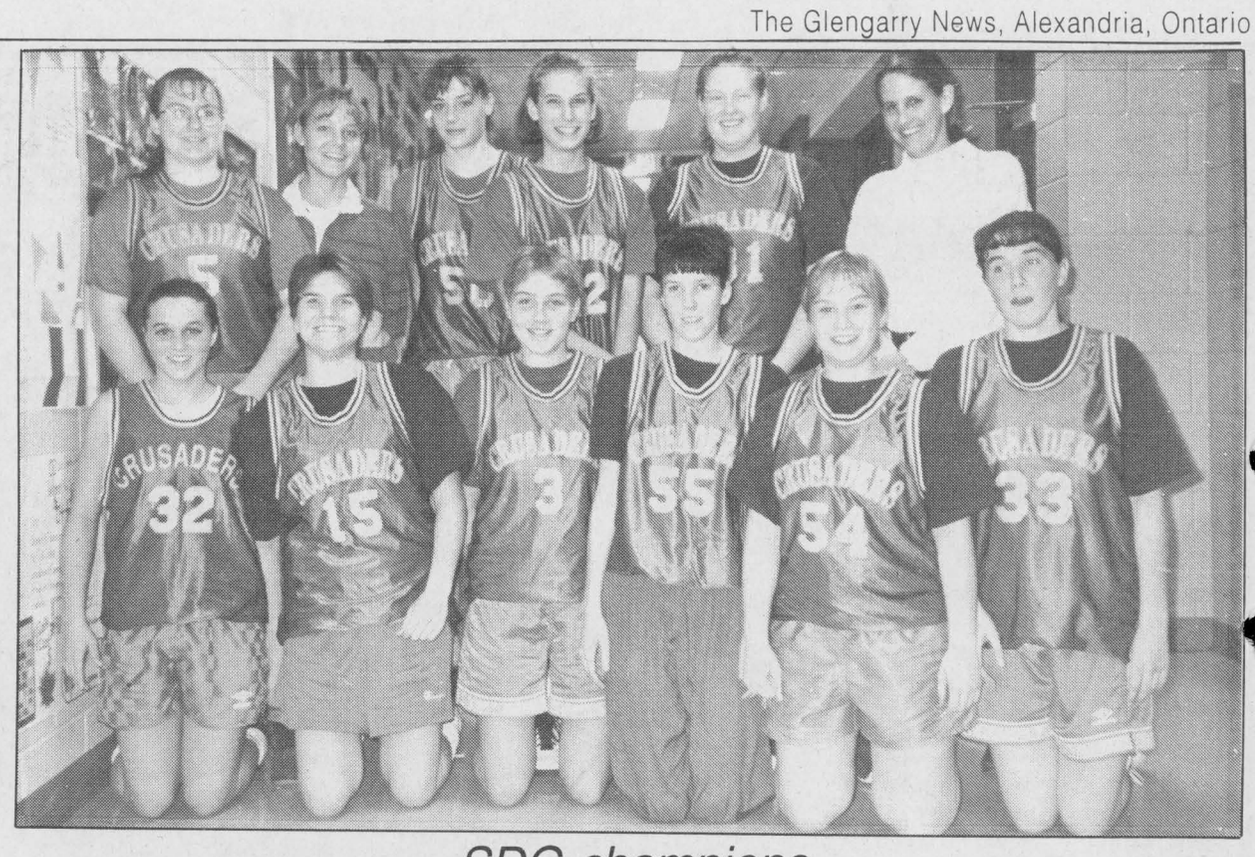
Meanwhile, the Kinsmen edged Cornwall Aviation 2-1.

Justin Lalonde and Kevin Larocque scored for the Kinsmen while Robb Schaefer found the back of the net for Aviation.

On Tuesday, the Kinsmen downed McCuaig Plumbing 4-2.

Lalonde had a deuce for the winners while Nicholas Buckle and Eric Larocque added singles.

Jean Charles Dumont and Robert Grant scored for McCuaig.



SDG champions

Tournament winners

M&D prevails in battle of winless sponge puck teams

Melissa Mallette and Sylvie Major each scored twice as M and D Sports cracked into the Ladies' Sponge Puck League win column with a 5-1 win over the winless Atlantic Hotel Storm last Wednesday night at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

After a scoreless first period, Major scored early in the second frame to give M and D a 1-0 lead. The Storm tied things up on a goal by Geraldine Wensink, but Mallette scored her first of the game with four minutes left in the middle frame to give M and D the lead for good.

Major, Mallette and Johanne Flaro scored insurance goals for the winners in the third. Chantal Legault had three assists while Kim Kennedy had two helpers.

The win gives M and D (1-3-1) a three-point lead over the Storm (0-6) in the race for fourth place.

Benton bombs L.C. Electric

Debbie Nadon scored a pair of goals and Nathalie Theoret had the shutout as Art Benton routed L.C. Electric 7-0 on Wednesday.

Standings

	G	W	L	T	P
Tapis Richard	6	6	0	0	12
L.C. Electric	6	3	2	1	7
Art Benton	5	3	2	0	6
M&D Sports	5	1	3	1	3
Atlantic Storm	6	0	6	0	0

Five different players - Barb Benton, Marie Bellemare, Sue Villeneuve, Karen MacDonald and Josee Guerin - chipped in with single goals for Benton while Joan Filion contributed four assists. Joanne Tessier set up a pair of goals.

The win moves Benton (3-2) to within a point of second-place L.C. (3-2-1).

Tapis Richard Ranger Carpet - which was idle last week - remains in top spot with a 6-0 record, five points ahead of L.C. Electric.

Hosts win at RCAFA tournament

The RCAFA Villeneuve Tank Lines Hurricanes girls' hockey team emerged victorious from their own tournament in Cornwall this past weekend.

The Hurricanes suffered only one loss in the competition, a 4-1 setback to Nepean in the preliminary round. The 'Canes avenged that defeat by beating Nepean 2-1 in the championship game on Sunday.

Glengarry products Tristi MacSweyn and Beth Depratto scored for RCAFA in the final. Depratto had been the Hurricanes' only scorer in the preliminary round game.

The team's other two games were won by a 2-1 score. Melanie Prince scored twice in a victory over Assabet Valley while Jennifer Pelkey and Leanne Laframboise connected as the Hurricanes edged Kingston.

Gaels are SDG midget boys champs in volleyball

Glengarry "A" won the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry championship in midget boys' "AA" volleyball on Nov. 21 at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational school.

The "A" Gaels - coached by Melissa Mallette - went undefeated through the preliminary round, knocked out North Dundas in the semifinals and won the crown by beating the Patriotes of La Citadelle in the final.

Remi Cardinal's "B" Gaels were also unbeaten in preliminary round play before losing to La Citadelle in the semifinal round. Glengarry "B" lost to the North Dundas Devils in the consolation final.

Earlier this month, both Glengarry teams established themselves as championship contenders with strong performances at an exhibition tournament. Glengarry "B" was undefeated in eight games while the A's were 7-1.

Campbell leads Rapids in North Bay

Team captain Lindsay Campbell scored six goals in four games as the Seaway Valley Longevity Acrylics Minor Bantam Rapids competed at a "AAA" tournament in North Bay on the weekend.

The Rapids compiled a record of 2-1-1 at the tourney, good enough for second place in their division but not good enough to advance to the playoff round.

Seaway Valley's only loss came by a score of 2-1 to division winner Mississauga. David Dumont had the Rapids' only goal.

Campbell had two goals in each of the Rapids' other three games, including a 3-3 tie against North Bay. Campbell also assisted on a goal by Eric Fontaine in the game against the hosts.

Seaway beat York-Simcoe 4-3 as Campbell scored twice while singles went to Dumont and Tyson Matte.

Campbell, Dumont and Lee Klazinga each had a deuce in the Rapids' 8-1 rout of Kitchener. Fontaine and Nick Brunet rounded out the scoring. Tim McCuaig lost his bid for a shutout with 52 seconds left in the game.

Stars take over sole possession of top spot

Alain Decoste scored twice as the Glengarry Stars defeated M and D Sports 5-1 in Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League action in Williamstown on Monday night.

Brian Cameron, Toni Boos and Malcolm MacPherson each scored once of the Stars, who move into sole possession of first place with the win. Robin Basara scored for M and D.

The Stars had been tied with Vanelli's Warriors going into Monday's action, but the Warriors were routed 9-3 by Rudi Payer Sport.

The contest was close until Rudi's scored four unanswered goals in the second half to pull away.

Danny Menard fired in three goals for the winners while Travis Giroux and Kieran Kennedy each notched a pair. Pat Clarke and Hank Kuchlen also scored.

Guy Carriere accounted for all three Warrior goals.

In the other Monday game, the Williamstown Thunder downed the SDG Nomads 4-1.

Jason Struthers scored twice for the Thunder with singles going to Brian Deschamps and Bruce Tessier.

Alain Duclos connected for the Nomads.

Atom Rebs shut out Flyers

Matthew Verdone had two goals and three assists to lead the Char-Lan Atom Rebels to a 5-0 win over the South Stormont Flyers in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League play last Wednesday.

Leo Dignard also scored twice for the Rebs while Scott Watson had one goal and three assists.

Daniel Desnoyers and Ryan Snider shared the shutout.

The win gives the Rebels five points in their last six points.

On Nov. 20, the Rebs played to a 1-1 tie against Cornwall as Matthew Verdone scored for Char-Lan.

The day before, the Rebels had defeated the North Dundas Demons 4-2.

Matthew Verdone had two goals and two assists while Scott Watson and Kyle Fraser had singles.

Novices lose pair

The Char-Lan Novice Rebels lost both of their outings last week, losing 6-1 to Alexandria on Friday and 5-2 to Kemptville on Saturday.

Chris Laperle was the Rebels' only goalscorer against the Glens while Devin Bancroft and Lachlan McDonald each had a goal against the Royals.

Crusaders drop both EOSSAA games

After an undefeated season which culminated in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry league championship, the Char-Lan senior girls' basketball failed to make the playoffs at the Eastern Ontario "A" division high school championships in Brockville on the weekend.

The Crusaders - who were seeded fourth in the six-team field - dropped both of their preliminary round games on Friday, losing 43-35 to Gananoque and 68-41 to Almonte.

Almonte gradually pulled away from Char-Lan as the Crusaders trailed by two points after one quarter and by eight at halftime. Any thoughts of a Char-Lan comeback were dashed early in the fourth quarter when Vicky Peacey fouled out of the game.

Joanne Legault led the Crusaders with 15 points, Kelly Lariviere had 11 and Peacey had seven before her forced exit.

While the loss to Almonte may simply have been a case of a better team winning, the Gananoque game was a far different story. The first quarter ended with the Trojans holding a 12-11 lead, but Char-Lan's shooting turned ice-cold in the second and third periods as the Crusaders managed only eight points.

The Crusaders were also uncharacteristically error-prone as Char-Lan turned the ball over on numerous occasions.

"We couldn't pass, we couldn't catch and we couldn't rebound," said Char-Lan coach Mona Le Blanc of her team's play in the middle quarters. "(The Trojans) weren't doing anything special like using a press, we just weren't executing the basics."

Peacey had a dozen points for the Crusaders while Lisa McEvoy poured in 10. Lariviere chipped in with seven points.

Despite the consecutive losses, Le Blanc says the team wasn't overly disappointed with its performance at EOSSAA.

"They're still pretty happy about their season. The goal at the beginning of the season was to win SD&G, and EOSSAA was just a bonus.

"The girls knew going into EOSSAA that the competition was going to be quite different, so I don't think they were too disappointed with how things went."

Le Blanc says that having a large group of parents and friends in the crowd for Friday's game against Almonte helped take some of the sting out of the season-ending loss.

The Crusaders can also massage their egos with the memories of a 10-0 season in United Counties league and playoff action.

"The team had a lot of things to be proud of this year, like having of an undefeated season and winning SD&G.

"They were a lot of fun to coach."

Novice Glens win again

The Eddy Oetelaar Novice Glens extended their Upper Canada Minor Hockey League winning streak to 10 games by beating Morrisburg 8-3 on Sunday in Alexandria.

Julien Quesnel paced the Alexandria offence with four goals and two assists. Patrick Decoste (two goals), Tim Owens (one goal, four assists) and Shane O'Brien (one goal, one assist) also had big offensive games.

Panthers on the prowl

The Alexandria Novice Panthers house league team was in Vankleek Hill on the weekend where they won a tournament.

Goaltender Craig Quesnel backstopped the Panthers to victory, allowing only one goal in three games.

Sebastien Cholette scored twice as the Panthers opened the tournament with a 4-1 win over Vankleek Hill. Pierre-Luc Marleau and Allan Charbonneau also scored.

Alexandria's game against Casselman ended in a scoreless tie, but the Panthers won the shootout 2-1 on goals by Charbonneau and Marleau.

Charbonneau and Cholette were the scorers as Alexandria blanked Richmond 2-0.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

Q. Can chiropractic help sciatica pain?

A. Sciatica (pain along the sciatic nerve which runs down the leg) has many different causes. The modern chiropractor will make a careful examination and differential diagnosis before treatment is begun. If the cause is a "pinched nerve", "slipped disc", or "sacroiliac slip", correction of the cause and relief of pain is often possible with the conservative methods of chiropractic (without drugs or surgery).

39ers learn about elder abuse Nov. 16

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

There will be no Sunday worship services at Glen Sandfield and East Hawkesbury on December 4 due to the absence of Rev. Peter Praamsma who is recovering in hospital after having surgery.

* * *

Don't forget the evening of carols at St. Colomba Presbyterian Church at Kirk Hill on Sunday evening December 4 at 8 p.m. Come and get that Christmas feeling when the choirs of 10 area churches all take part in this concert. Everyone welcome to what is fast becoming a lovely Christmas tradition.

Happy birthday to Eleanor Bickerstaff on her recent special day.

Get well wishes go out to Claude MacNeil who is in hospital in Ottawa. May you soon be home and feeling much better.

Sincere sympathy to Ken McKenna and family on the recent death of his mother in Montreal.

A correction: McCrimmon WI members please note the change of date. Christmas dinner will take place on December 9 at St. Colomba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill.

Congratulations to Roland and Perle Poirier on the recent birth, on November 11, of their newest grandson Marc Antoine, who weighed in at 8 lbs. 8 ozs. He is the son of Rene and Josie Poirier of St. Isidore. Baby and mom doing very well, thank you!

* * *

Please call in your reservations for the ChristmasOutreach Diner's Club dinner in Glen Robertson on December 8 at noon. The regular cost is only $5, and just $3 for Meals on Wheels patrons. For reservations, call Rosemary or Simonne at 347-1175. Transportation by the van is available if you need it.

39'ers learn about elder abuse

The 39'ers met at the Church on the Hill hall on November 16 for their regular monthly meeting, starting with lunch at noon, with 43 present. The November birthday celebrants were Jane Wightman, Edith MacMillan and Florence Anderson. Betty Malpass and Anna May Barton were the lucky cup winners. The members were pleased to hear of a nice card from former member Margaret Dow. The singing of O Canada began the business meeting with President Stella Kingston in the chair. Elisabeth Groot gave a most encouraging financial report and accepted money for the trip to Ottawa. The nominating committee reported that they had most offices filled, but on requesting nominations from the floor, all the rest of the vacancies in the slate have been filled.

The annual meeting will be in January. The Christmas dinner will be again at the Pizzeria, on Thursday, December 15; members are asked to be there for 12:15 p.m. Muriel Moore reported that her painting had raised $109 in the draw for the St. Andrew's Church in Dalhousie Mills. The guest speaker drove up from Cornwall to speak to the club on "Elder Abuse" and she was most articulate.

Suzan Von Der Haar is co-ordinator for Elder Abuse Help in Cornwall at 932-4610. There are many kinds of abuse besides physical abuse. Verbal abuse is common which often causes the elder person to fee useless and hopeless. Financial abuse is unfortunately very common, when the elder person is confused about financial matters. All these things create stress that can well lead to depression and even suicide. Going into a "home" isn't always the answer either. If a senior lives alone, contact should be made periodically during the day by phone, and if you know they are at home, yet do not answer after several calls, then the best thing is to get someone or you yourself to go over and see if they answer the door; if not then call the police. If it is a false alarm fine, but rather to have it be a false alarm than have the senior in trouble from an accident or fall and not be able to get help. Don't allow yourself to become spiteful or a recluse. We all need friends.

Many seniors who are dependent on self care, sometimes suffer passive neglect, which can be a form of abuse; not changing a bed or diaper when needed, or giving a bath, or serving poor or scanty meals or under-feeding and depriving the person would all be classed passive neglect. Sometimes neglect can be unintentional, as when a dressing must be changed and the caregiver does not know how to change it properly. Neglecting to get a hearing aid for a deaf person means that they will miss much of what is going on; saying "oh you are so out of it that you don't need to hear,: can be abuse too, and it often happens. Many things can contribute to a person's sense of helplessness and depression. In care, people over 75 years old tend to be women and many are isolated people. She concluded by saying "The senior person is polite, expects to be treated fairly and is ashamed to have been cheated." Con artists tend to prey on seniors because of their mind set. The only way to prevent abuse is to be part of a network, that helps the victim face fears of retaliation or fear of abandonment. She answered many questions from her listeners and gave out several booklets and sheets of paper on her topic to the group. Lastly she asked the club to give their opinion on "you are happy." Eighty per cent to 90 per cent stated that they were happy but that they felt that most seniors are not happy; an interesting conclusion!

Cards and bingo, called by Denny Van Loon, filled the rest of the afternoon.

The 39'ers trip to Ottawa, for the Seniors' Day at Bayshore, was great fun and all enjoyed it very much. Meeting the CJOH celebrities was great! The only cloud over the day was at the end when several ladies waited at the wrong door and held up the departure of the bus for a while. Those huge shopping centres certainly can get confusing for first-time visitors. But all is well that ends well and they all headed home together, tired but happy.

The Glen Sandfield UCW will meet at the home of Gail Kronwald on Monday, December 5 for their Christmas luncheon meeting. Instead of a gift exchange the women are requested to bring toddler sized clothing for Montee d'Elle, the abused women's shelter in Alexandria. They have enough small baby things but are very short of larger sized night wear and under clothes. On the agenda will be Christmas thoughts or poems, carols, and possibly a recap of the cards and gifts to be given to the shut-ins.

The Christian Women's Club will be holding their Christmas coffee and dessert meeting in Lachute at the Villa Mont Joie on December 5 at 1 p.m. An interesting program and speaker will be provided and a local school choir will visit to sing a selection of Christmas carols. For information please call Nancy Campbell at 874-2096 or me at 874-2408.

* * *

The Stone Croft Bible Study group will meet at the Trillium Tea Room in Vankleek Hill at noon on Dec. 2 for lunch before going to the home of Wanda Hay for their meeting. Those members wanting to attend, must call Mrs. Hay for reservations for lunch ahead of time.

Knights to collect for Christmas baskets

Glen Walter
by Ron Holla
931-2658

A sure sign that Christmas is on its way is the increasing number of houses with Christmas decorations and the announcements of Christmas events throughout the community. Even Purcell Pete was seen helping his mother, Tyotown Tammy, set up her decorations although he tried to convince her no one would see them. It was something about not having her groundhog hole wired for electricity.

Turkey shoot

The Knights of Columbus are inviting all area residents to their annual turkey shoot planned at the Knights hall for December 9 at 8 p.m.

Among the planned events are black jack tables and turkeys drawn every ten minutes, Frank Prevost, Knight, said. Admission will be free.

Guignolee

Area residents are asked to be generous on Sunday, December 11, during the annual Knights of Columbus Guignolee. Knights will be knocking on doors to collect funds for their Christmas baskets for needy families.

Distribution of the baskets is planned for December 17.

Course offered

Seaway Baptist Bible Institute on Glen Road will welcome Reverend Shriver from the U.S. to teach a special course on Old Testament History from December 12 to 23.

Classes are scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to noon, Herman Underwood, school principal, said. People interested in taking the course are invited to call the school at 931-1711 for more information.

Caroling planned

The parents, teachers and students at Precious Blood Elementary School are invited to the second annual Christmas caroling outing planned for Dec. 17, Sandy Esdale, PTA president, said.

"We're planning to meet at the school and then drive around on the back of a transport truck to sing in the Glen Walter area," Esdale said.

For more information, parents are invited to contact the school.

Optimists seeking royalty for carnival

Dalkeith
by Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Father Guy Levac, Rouyn-Noranda visited with his brother Roland, and Helen Levac last week.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Marie Lajoie and her family on the death of Albert, age 84, which occurred Saturday morning, Nov. 26. Funeral service was held at St. Alexander's Church, Lochiel on Tuesday.

* * *

Winter weather has arrived with snowfall over Sunday night and freezing rain following. School buses were cancelled on Monday.

Laggan Public School

The Senior girls volleyball team went to the interschool tournament held at Tagwi Secondary School and captured the "A" division honors by winning all of their games.

On Saturday we had two mixed teams attending the Optimist volleyball fun tournament at GDHS. Both teams made an excellent showing by winning five of their eight games.

It's time to settle down to Christmas concert preparation with a very busy schedule between now and Dec. 15. With the buzz in the halls, we are betting this will be another concert to remember!

* * *

St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, has regular Sunday services in December at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Frank Bailey.

On this Sunday evening Dec. 4 an Ecumenical Christmas Song Fest will be at 8 p.m. at St. Columba.

As you have seen in coming events, a Christmas concert is to be held at Kirk Hill United Church on Saturday evening, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. It will feature The Stairwell Carollers of Ottawa. Refreshments will follow. Goodwill donations will be received with 75 per cent of the receipts to go to the John Poston Fund and the balance to the Canadian Angelman Syndrome Society, Priddis, Alta., to further research.

John, son of Robin and Nancy Poston, Macks Corners Rd., will be three on Dec. 19 and has this rare disorder, Angelman Syndrome.

The concert is being organized by friends and neighbors of the Poston's.

Optimist News

The winter carnival will be held Jan. 27, 28 and 29. Keep these dates open.

Organizers are looking for contestants, 13 years old and up, girls and boys who would like to become queen and king of the carnival.

Anyone interested please call Mrs. Helen Levac at 874-2935.

Brunches are over now for this year, and will resume again in January.

Thanks to all who attended the one we had last Sunday morning.

Juliette and Albert Quesnel, Therese and Fernand Bourdon, Mireille and Raymond Seguin, and Bertha Baron attended a charter night for the Optimist club of Caledonia, which was held in St. Bernardin Hall.

The Sandbag League had two stars in play on Nov. 18. Juliette Quesnel took the three top spots for the ladies -- high double 7780, high single 4060 and high square 1130. Rheal Cyr captured top spots for the men -- high double 7780, high single 4110 and high square 1200.

Teams position: 1, Les Anges, 36; 2, Les Canadiens, 29; 3, Les Rosette, 25; 4, Les Cinq Stars, 25; 5, Les Expos, 22; 6, Fleur et Fleur, 13.

Still missing four players to complete our teams. For information call Albert Quesnel, 874-2309.

At a tournament held in Valleyfield, Que., on Nov. 10 two Dalkeith teams won first place. They were Category B, Alain Piche, Pauline Piche, Yvon Paquette and Fleurette Paquette. Category D, Ghislaine Piche, Lina Arcand, Jos. Seguin and Carole Piche.

Eight teams in area bonspiel

St. Elmo
by W. MacKinnon
527-2348

David and Shirley MacGregor had a visit from their grandnephew Gordon Skinner of Ottawa this past weekend.

The ladies of Gordon Church Women's Guild wish to thank all the people who gave donations of food and children's clothing for Baldwin House and brought their donations to the church hall last Thursday and Friday.

Eight teams of senior curlers from Vankleek Hill, Alexandria, Cornwall, Morrisburg and Maxville Curling Clubs took part in the seniors curling bonspiel at the Maxville Curling Club on Saturday, Nov. 26.

Each team played two eight-end games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon with the following results: The team which came first with 25 points, having won two games, was from Vankleek Hill -- Emile Beaudette - skip and on his team, Eileen Bisson, Bud Bisson, and Harriet Benson. The second team also from Vankleek Hill had 10-1/2points with Keith Cameron - skip and on his team Murdie McRae, Jackie Villeneuve and Dorothy Conway.

Placing third with 19 points was a team from Maxville with Chester Valley - skip and on his team, Albert Quenneville, Gregor McEwen and Murray Mooney.

Taking fourth place in the bonspiel was a team from Alexandria with 17 points. The skip was Fraser MacLeod and on his team J. Ettrich, L. Norman and B. Cumming.

Card of Thanks

THE Auxiliary of Glengarry Memorial Hospital would like to thank all of its members and all the friends of the Auxiliary who helped make our Jingle Bells Sale such a success. Thank you to all our talented members who donated food, handicrafts and/or time. Winner of the 50/50 draw: Imelda McDonald, winner of basket: Lorraine Latulippe, winner of gift box: Gisèle Masson, winner of basket of preserves: Lucille Lalonde, winner of the mouse: Sandra Lawson, winner of the Noel decoration: Annabelle Hughes. These gifts included gift certificates from our donors. Special thanks to Canadian Tire, Giant Tiger, Loeb, Nestlé Canada Inc., Shepherd Motors, Uptown Hairdresser, Vicki Ladies Wear. 48-1p

THE family of the late Mary Agnes Miller wishes to thank all friends, relatives and neighbors for their visits, cards, mass offerings, floral tributes and food donations. Special thanks to Dr. Nadeau, the Community Nursing Home staff and Glengarry Memorial Hospital; also to Father Cameron and Father Marcel Larouche of Green Valley, the pallbearers and Munro and Morris Funeral Home for their kind support and comforting words to family.
-- The Miller family. 48-1p

OLD TYME CHRISTMAS CONCERT
Unbeknown to anyone in the Recreation Centre in Glen Robertson on Saturday evening, Nov. 19, Santa was watching the entire show and claims it consisted of better talent than any concert he has ever seen from the North Pole to the South Pole. I have to fully agree with Santa and do want to thank all the performers, the little elves and helpers, as well as all those who attended. We've been invited back for next year, so please let me know of any talent who might like to join us. Thanks again and Merry Christmas.

In Memoriam

MacEWEN -- In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Alexander Vincent, who passed away November 29, 1978.
Every day in some small way,
Memories of you come our way,
Though absent, you are always near,
Still missed and loved and always dear.
-- Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Pearl and family. 48-1p

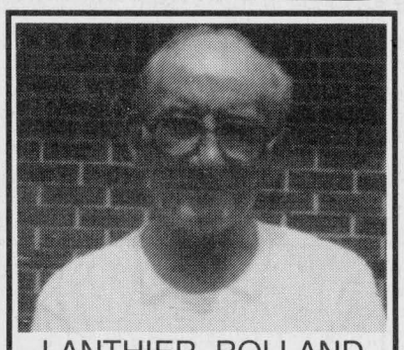
LEITCH -- In loving memory of a dear husband, stepfather, stepgrandfather, Malcolm, who passed away December 1, 1992.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew
He was so kind, so generous and true.
-- Always missed and loved by wife Claudette, stepdaughter, Cathy, stepgrandsons, Matthew and Nathan.
48-1p

ROBERTSON, Bill -- In loving memory of a beloved husband, dad and grandfather who passed away three years ago Dec. 3, 1991.
No one knows how our heart aches,
Only those who have lost can tell,
Of the grief that we bear in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Forever in our hearts.
-- Sadly missed by his wife Juliette, children and grandchildren. 48-1p

McDONALD -- In fond and loving memory of a dear mother, mother-in-law and grandmother Aggie who passed away December 2, 1993.
-- Shirley, John, Ronnie, Ian, Glenn and Scott McDonell. 48-1p

HURTUBISE -- In loving memory of a dear grandmother, Alma, who passed away December 4, 1993.
One year has passed my dear grandmother,
One I loved so much but could not save.
Such beautiful memories you left me,
I will cherish them always.
I was lucky to have you grandmother,
You always gave me so much love.
I miss you more as the days go by,
You always wanted me to have the best in life,
I did when I had you.
-- Sadly missed and always remembered by your granddaughter Julie. 48-1p

HURTUBISE -- It has been one year on the 4th of December, 1993 since we have not seen your loving face and smile,
And, we had to part with no goodbye,
But you are still in our hearts and always will be, Alma;
We always had good times, the bad times only brought us closer.
We miss you in all your enchanting ways, in a home that is very lonesome today.
Our only consolation is we know you're in the right place, with your dear mother Victoria and father Alex.
-- Sadly missed by your husband Roland, son Marcel and Florence and grandchildren Marc, Eric and Julie Hurtubise. 48-1p



LANTHIER, ROLLAND
In loving memory of my dear father who passed away November 20, 1990.
I hope you know how much I love you and think of you every day. I miss you.
Your daughter Odette

LAJOIE, ALBERT - suddenly at home on Saturday, November 26, 1994. Age 84 years. Albert Lajoie of R.R. #1 Dalkeith beloved husband of Marie Olivine Auger. Dear father of Barbara (Mrs. Bernard Massia) of Hawkesbury, Shirley Lajoie of Kingston, Mary Jane (Mrs. Gilles Chabot) of R.R. #1 Alexandria, Elizabeth Anne (Mrs. Thomas Cooper) of Cornwall and Linda Laferriere of Indian Rock Beach, Florida. Predeceased by one daughter, Laura Campbell and one son, Rene. Survived by several grandchildren, great grandchildren and great great grandchildren. Son of the late Elizabeth Massia and Frank Lajoie. Relatives and friends called at Munro & Morris Funeral Home, 114 Main Street South, Alexandria on Monday. Mass of Christian burial was held at St. Alexanders Roman Catholic Church, Lochiel on Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 11 a.m. Interment parish cemetery. As expressions of sympathy donations to the Diabetes Association, or the Heart and Stroke Foundation would be greatly appreciated by the family. 48-1c

Births

CROCKFORD -- Jim and Lucie (Campeau) are pleased to announce the birth of their daughter Chelsea Marlee, on Thursday, October 20, 1994, at 12:35 p.m., 8 lbs. 8 ozs. A sister for Nathan, Brigitte and Lindsay. Proud grandparents are Remi and Lucille Campeau of Alexandria and Olga Crockford of Sault-Ste.-Marie.

LEFEBVRE -- Deneene and Jacque are proud and happy to announce the birth of their first child. They thank God for his safe arrival. A precious little son born on November 7, 1994, weighing 5 lbs. 15-3/4 ozs., Luc Richard. He is a first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Lefebvre of Pennellville, N.Y., and a 16th for Hattie and Leo Massia of Alexandria.

JEAUROND -- Maurice and Liliane (Titley) Jeaurond of Alexandria are proud to announce the birth of their first grandchild. Their son Guy and wife Ruby (Godwin) of Calgary, Alberta, became parents of a son Dion Guy Jeaurond, on October 26, 1994 at Foothills Hospital. Dion weighed in at 6 lbs. 3 ozs. and measured 21-1/2 inches. He is the fifth great grandchild for Dorion and Constance Titley of Glen Robertson and the third great grandchild for William and Rita Jeaurond of Alexandria.

GAETAN and Sonia (Villeneuve) Martin are proud to announce the birth of their firstborn son, Benoit Rejean Martin on September 12, 1994. Proud grandparents are Andre and Mary Ellen Villeneuve of Athol and Rejean and Noella of Moose Creek.

Obituaries

Catharine Josephine MacDougall

Catharine Josephine MacDougall passed away at the Hotel Dieu Hospital on Wednesday, November 2, 1994. Mrs. MacDougall of Bestview Health Care Centre, Cornwall, was 92.

Born in Williamstown, she was the daughter of the late Maurice Lauber and Ada Pigeon. She was the beloved wife of the late John Alexander MacDougall.

Mrs. MacDougall was a teacher, graduating from Ontario Normal School in 1924.

She is survived by a sister Theresa Weekes of Watertown, N.Y., and by nieces and nephews: Howard Lauber (Patricia), Sudbury, Carol (Mrs. Gregory Morris) Cardinal, Karen (Mrs. Michael King) New Hampshire, Mary Ann (Mrs. Archie O'Connor) Alexandria, Margaret (Mrs. Donald MacCulloch) Apple Hill, and Leonard MacDougall (Beaconsfield, Que.).

Mrs. MacDougall was predeceased by a sister Stella and brothers Bernard, Dennis (Patricia McDonald, Cornwall), Harold (Eve Lauber, Dorval, Que.), John (late Yvette) and George.

The funeral took place on Saturday, Nov. 5 to St. Mary's Church, Williamstown for mass of Christian burial. Rev. Father Thomas Villeneuve officiated, assisted by Monsignor MacDougall and Father Connell, CSSR. Interment was in St. Mary's Parish Cemetery.

The pallbearers were James Goudie, Ken Goudie, Wendell Lafave, Bernard MacCulloch, John MacCulloch and Kerry McDonald.

Margaret Larocque

A lifetime resident of Alexandria, Margaret Larocque, died at the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria on October 17, 1994. She was 94.

Margaret was the last surviving member of the late John and Celina Larocque, a family of 11 children. She was predeceased by her father and mother, five brothers namely Joseph, Louis, Albert, Arthur and Clarence, and five sisters, Ida, Ella, Teresa, Lena and Pauline.

She leaves a sister-in-law Mrs. Nellie (Lauzon) Larocque, many nieces, nephews, grandnieces, grandnephews, great grandnieces and great grandnephews.

She had been a resident of Villa Fatima and the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria.

She will be sadly missed by a niece, Edna.

Mass of Christian burial took place at 11 a.m. on October 20 at the Sacred Heart Church. Rev. Luc Bouchard officiated. Interment was in Sacred Heart parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were four nephews namely Michel, Garry and Garth Larocque and Roger Leger.

Area petition against mega dump signed

Green Valley
Margo Pepin
525-3581

More than 100 people from the 7, 8 and 9th concessions of Lancaster Township attended a meeting at Ste. Marie's School on Saturday, Nov. 26, concerning the proposed mega dump site.

Petitions were signed by concerned neighbors. Opposition is greatly against this proposed dump in our region.

If anyone who hasn't signed as yet, would like to, petition sheets will be at the following businesses: Lucky Dollar, Green Valley Barbecue, Viau Ladies Wear and Vid-Com Valley.

Our hamlet is called Green Valley. With such a dump in our area, there would be no more Green in our Valley.

This is a follow-up to last week. I asked about information about Katherine Thompson who celebrated 107 years young in Regina, Saskatchewan. I have her maiden name. She was born Katherine Obleman. Her father's name was Archibald Obleman of Vankleek Hill and her mother was Mary McLeod originally from Scotland.

Mrs. Obleman had two brothers named John and Peter who also moved somewhere out West.

Mrs. Thompson's daughter from Regina, Saskatchewan has given me this, but now I need your help, dear readers, if you have any information, please give me a call at 525-3581.

Katherine also is Presbyterian and her birth papers were burned. Where and at what location I have no idea. Any help would be appreciated.

Private Water Study

OPEN HOUSE

Wednesday, Dec. 7, 1994

7:30 p.m. – Apple Hill Community Centre

Ask questions, make suggestions, register your views

M.S. Thompson & Associates Ltd. (MSTA) Consulting Engineers of Cornwall is currently conducting a multi-phase study to consider the history of water quality problems associated with inadequate wells and sewage systems in the community of Apple Hill. The ultimate goal of the study is to determine whether individual well correction is feasible on a community-wide basis to ensure a short- and long-term supply of safe water for the community.

Phase II of the study is scheduled to begin in January. The public is invited to attend an open house meeting to discuss the current findings, the proposed Phase II work program, and the estimated costs of implementing well correction.

Members of the project's liaison committee, the consulting team, and the Township of Kenyon Council will be present to describe the project and the current recommendations.

Horticultural members get meritous service certificates

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

For meritous service as members of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society, Dorothea and Ross Conners were awarded service certificates at the society's annual meeting on Nov. 16. Both Mr. and Mrs. Conners are past presidents and Mr. Conners has also served a five-year term as director of District One of the Ontario Horticultural Association. Mrs. Conners also serves a wide community as a Master Gardener.

Retiring president, Eileen Colbourne, chaired the meeting which followed a pot luck supper. The report of treasurer Colombe Raymond was circulated and indicated much activity during the year and a favorable bank balance.

Gordon Winter conducted the installation service for the in-coming executive and challenged the members present to play their parts in every way possible. The executive is as follows: Past President - Eileen Colbourne, President - Bob Humble, First Vice-President - Ross Conners, Second Vice-President - Ann Kerr, Secretary - Isabel McDonald and Treasurer - Colombe Raymond. Installed as directors were Betty Cousineau, Edythe Coleman, Hilda MacLean, Grace Doth, Gregor McEwen, Christine Jans, Iona Morrison, Thelma Colbourne, Beryl Clark, Eileen Scott, Eileen Van Blankers, Eileen Tait and Shirley Villeneuve.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Highland Fiddlers and the Four Star Squares from Alexandria. The enjoyable evening was concluded, after Mrs. Colbourne had been thanked for her leadership over the last two years, with a cheese and crackers buffet and good fellowship.

We are very pleased to announce that Maxville will have another business opening next week. Luc Joanette, Alexandria, has rented the building at the corner of Catherine and Main Streets and will be selling and repairing electric motors, water pumps, cow clippers and power tools. Next spring Luc will be installing and servicing swimming pools and spas and selling the chemicals and accessories for pools.

We encourage all our local readers to support this new venture in every way possible. We need businesses like this and at the same time, the proprietor needs you as customers.

It comes every fall when the threa of snow is in the air. Yes, the faith ful and exuberant euchre player have put away the cards for the Young at Heart Seniors parties unti spring. However, they will still be able to keep in practice in Maxville at the monthly euchre at the Manor.

Jessie Renwick, Vankleek Hill topped the ladies at this party on Nov. 14 and acquired the Queer Euchre title along with the prize money. Her co-commuter, Gladys Barton, earned second prize and Margaret Cadieux, Alexandria. third.

For the male winners, Kenneth MacLeod, Dunvegan, headed the list, followed by Bill Johnson, Martintown and Howard Eamon, Morrisburg. However, Clifford Losey, Lunenburg, holds the King Euchre title until spring.

Your correspondent does not know why but two door prizes were won by Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Barton. There seemed to be some extra 50-50 draw prizes handed out too. Mrs. Renwick was embarrassed yet pleased to win two and Mrs. Barton received one. The other recipients were from all over -- Cecile Currier, Moose Creek, Bill McMillan, Apple Hill, Lucien Theoret and Margaret Cadieux, Alexandria, Sarah Presley, Finch, Norbert Ryan, Casselman, Earl Emell, St. Andrew's, Vina Brown, Vankleek Hill and Ethel MacKinnon, Bertha Lalonde and Catherine (Dan) MacRae, from the village.

Jean Chisholm is thanked for ensuring that the results of these euchre parties are delivered to your correspondent after each party. She assures all that they will start again next spring.

On Nov. 19th, at the Glengarry Curling Club here, a bonspiel was held to raise funds for the Cornwall and District Snowsuit Fund. A sum exceeding $400 was raised for this worthy cause and the members of the club who curled in the bonspiel are to be complimented for their interest in this fund.

The snow on Monday did not bring many birds to the feeders. My niger seed feeder is going down very slowly, but the house and goldfinches are coming. The striped sunflower seeds are disappearing rapidly due to the incessant work of the blue jays in hiding them -- if only they remember and eat them later.

I have some wheat this year and plan to use it for the doves. This is an experimental venture. The cracked corn was good but there was so much waste from it.

In the Windsor area, the flocks of crows and starlings are numerous and the mourning doves are much more evident.

Another letter to my friend follows:

Dear C. R.:

Thanks for your phone call and your enquiries about things you don't read in the Glengarry news. Life will be back to normal for you now with your good wife home after her volunteer work way down in Central America. Should I book some speaking engagements for her in Maxville?

We have been away for a few days stopping first in London and then going on to Tecumseh. (The grandsons insist that I say Tecumseh rather than Windsor.) Before we left, we heard that there had been snow around Belleville and that 401 had been closed. Well, it was still closed at noon when we reached there. We had to detour down into Trenton and then come back to the highway. Actually, I think we came back sooner than we should have and drove for a few miles over slippery conditions. Later on we drove into flurries and had to be careful. When we left home, there was only a skiff of snow around.

The local election results in Kenyon would have interested you since we went to school with both Gwen and Wilfred. The five vote difference in Gwen's favor called for a recount which was Monday and it strengthened her majority slightly.

You may have read in one of my columns that "Fanny" Guindon was running for mayor in Cornwall. He has had lots of experience as alderman for 25 years but the voters put him in fifth place with two others trailing him.

I was thinking of you at Halloween. In those days it seemed so simple to dress up and do our street. In fact, I never really enjoyed going to houses as it seemed so much like begging. The kids don't feel that way anymore though. This year, Lorna had to turn the lights off after she had treated about 135 children and still the door bell rang afterwards.

You have no doubt read how the health care system is changing. I am getting some first hand experience as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Placement Coordination Services for Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. Now, applications for admission don't go directly to our Manor but to the P.C.S. either in Cornwall or Hawkesbury. Then the applicant is assigned to a long term care facility as fairly as possible. So far, local people have not had problems getting into the Manor as long as there was a vacancy or if he/she could wait until one came up.

It is too bad your cat finally used up its nine lives. If you are looking for another pet, I could suggest some red wriggler earthworms. They make no noise, there is no odor from them and they will eat your kitchen wastes. Actually, I have given mine back to the kind friend who gave them to me. I didn't find them practical.

If you really want another cat, there are some very nice ones living in the old sawmill. They are all colors, some with long hair and are regularly fed by a very kind lady who treats them very well. They are wild but this lady can pet them. Would you like to drive down for a kitten? We would have one but its care while we are away would present problems.

I could have given you an old bike to fix up for your grandson. Last spring, while walking by the saw mill we noticed a bike in the ditch. I reported it to the OPP office and

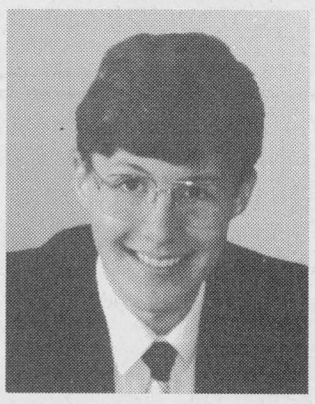
DEBATING PROWESS



Jesse Billett, aged 16, of Prescott, a Grade 11 boarder at Grenville Christian College in Brockville, was the top-ranked individual debater in the recent St. Clement's School debating tournament in Toronto. Taking part were top debaters from fourteen Independent Schools and two (even larger) Toronto Secondary Schools.

The Grenville debating team of which Jesse was a member, also placed first in team competition, closely followed by the Toronto French School and Lawrence Park Collegiate.

The G.C.C. debaters were coached by Dr. Gayle Hamilton, who teaches first-year university courses in English and French, under the Advanced Placement (AP) programme, to senior students at Grenville.

G.C.C. is an Anglican university prep school, boarding and day, for boys and girls from Pre-Kindergarten to Grade 12/OAC.

Horticultural members get meritous service certificates

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

For meritous service as members of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society, Dorothea and Ross Conners were awarded service certificates at the society's annual meeting on Nov. 16. Both Mr. and Mrs. Conners are past presidents and Mr. Conners has also served a five-year term as director of District One of the Ontario Horticultural Association. Mrs. Conners also serves a wide community as a Master Gardener.

Retiring president, Eileen Colbourne, chaired the meeting which followed a pot luck supper. The report of treasurer Colombe Raymond was circulated and indicated much activity during the year and a favorable bank balance.

Gordon Winter conducted the installation service for the in-coming executive and challenged the members present to play their parts in every way possible. The executive is as follows: Past President - Eileen Colbourne, President - Bob Humble, First Vice-President - Ross Conners, Second Vice-President - Ann Kerr, Secretary - Isabel McDonald and Treasurer - Colombe Raymond. Installed as directors were Betty Cousineau, Edythe Coleman, Hilda MacLean, Grace Doth, Gregor McEwen, Christine Jans, Iona Morrison, Thelma Colbourne, Beryl Clark, Eileen Scott, Eileen Van Blankers, Eileen Tait and Shirley Villeneuve.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Highland Fiddlers and the Four Star Squares from Alexandria. The enjoyable evening was concluded, after Mrs. Colbourne had been thanked for her leadership over the last two years, with a cheese and crackers buffet and good fellowship.

We are very pleased to announce that Maxville will have another business opening next week. Luc Joanette, Alexandria, has rented the building at the corner of Catherine and Main Streets and will be selling and repairing electric motors, water pumps, cow clippers and power tools. Next spring Luc will be installing and servicing swimming pools and spas and selling the chemicals and accessories for pools.

We encourage all our local readers to support this new venture in every way possible. We need businesses like this and at the same time, the proprietor needs you as customers.

I was thinking of you at Halloween. In those days it seemed so simple to dress up and do our street. In fact, I never really enjoyed going to houses as it seemed so much like begging. The kids don't feel that way anymore though. This year, Lorna had to turn the lights off after she had treated about 135 children and still the door bell rang afterwards.

You have no doubt read how the health care system is changing. I am getting some first hand experience as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Placement Coordination Services for Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. Now, applications for admission don't go directly to our Manor but to the P.C.S. either in Cornwall or Hawkesbury. Then the applicant is assigned to a long term care facility as fairly as possible. So far, local people have not had problems getting into the Manor as long as there was a vacancy or if he/she could wait until one came up.

It is too bad your cat finally used up its nine lives. If you are looking for another pet, I could suggest some red wriggler earthworms. They make no noise, there is no odor from them and they will eat your kitchen wastes. Actually, I have given mine back to the kind friend who gave them to me. I didn't find them practical.

If you really want another cat, there are some very nice ones living in the old sawmill. They are all colors, some with long hair and are regularly fed by a very kind lady who treats them very well. They are wild but this lady can pet them. Would you like to drive down for a kitten? We would have one but its care while we are away would present problems.

I could have given you an old bike to fix up for your grandson. Last spring, while walking by the saw mill we noticed a bike in the ditch. I reported it to the OPP office and

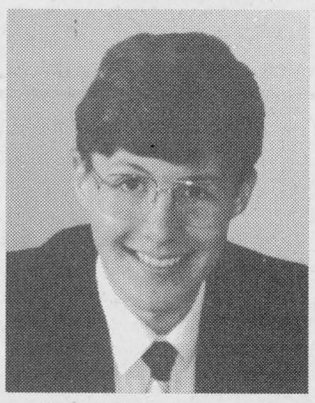
DEBATING PROWESS



Jesse Billett, aged 16, of Prescott, a Grade 11 boarder at Grenville Christian College in Brockville, was the top-ranked individual debater in the recent St. Clement's School debating tournament in Toronto. Taking part were top debaters from fourteen Independent Schools and two (even larger) Toronto Secondary Schools.

The Grenville debating team of which Jesse was a member, also placed first in team competition, closely followed by the Toronto French School and Lawrence Park Collegiate.

The G.C.C. debaters were coached by Dr. Gayle Hamilton, who teaches first-year university courses in English and French, under the Advanced Placement (AP) programme, to senior students at Grenville.

G.C.C. is an Anglican university prep school, boarding and day, for boys and girls from Pre-Kindergarten to Grade 12/OAC.

Glen's Christmas parish bazaar was a big hit

Glen Robertson
by Colette Sauvé
874-2076

Welcome home to Barton and Betty McDonell who have returned from a three-week vacation in Florida which they tell me they enjoyed very much. The weather was unusually hot and sunny but they were happy when tropical storm Gordon finally blew itself out after four days of very high wind and heavy rain.

Belated birthday wishes to Stéphanie Lefebvre on Nov. 21 and to her mom, Hélène Lefebvre who celebrated last Thursday.

Happy birthday wishes to Florence Montpetit tomorrow (Dec. 1st), to Emilien Proulx, my husband, Maurice Sauve and Jonathan MacDonald who are all celebrating this coming Friday, Dec. 2 and to André Pepin on Dec. 6. Congratulations.

We welcome Zachary Ménard in our hamlet. He is the son of Roch and Jocelyne Ménard and he was baptized in St. Martin of Tours by Father Denis Lefebvre.

* * *

Winners of the euchre on Nov. 22 were Fernand Rozon, Isabel MacLennan, Viola Hope, Pauline Roussin, Florence Montpetit, Viola Ledoux and Armand Paquette. The skunk went to Evariste Decoeur and the door prize to Tonie Oetelaar.

Draw winners were Therese Seguin, Therese Lafrance, Perle Poirier and Pauline Roussin.

November birthday prize went to Gisele Titley. Next card party will be on Dec. 6.

To celebrate the 20th anniversary of Club 65 a supper and dance will be held on December 13 at the social centre.

Christmas Bazaar

The annual Christmas parish bazaar last Saturday once again was a great hit.

The lovely weather certainly helped in attracting many people.

A beautiful cake graciously donated by Lise Ménard was won by Jeanne Mance Legault of Cornwall.

By the way, it's always so pleasant to meet and chat with former Glen residents.

A superb hand-crafted mirror by Mike Oetelaar went to Tonie Oetelaar of the Glen.

Draw winners: $100 -- Claude Massie of the Glen, $50 to Leo Theoret of Alexandria and another $50 to Judy Wylie of the Glen.

A nice container went to Margot Lanthier of the Glen.

Robert and Johanna Massie, Richard and Roseanne Theoret, Butch and Johanne McCarthy, Linda and Henke Van Den Oetelaar, my husband Maurice and I attended a charter presentation in St. Bernardin hall to inaugurate the brand new club of Caledonia. We certainly wish the president, Suzanne Piette and all her team the best of luck!

Laurier-Carriere News

Junior and alpha clubs have participated in the second district meeting last week at the secondary school in Casselman.

Four juniors -- Joel and Matthieu Massie, Marc Menard and Angelina V. D. Oetelaar and five alphas -- Eric and Mathieu Larocque, Richard and David Larocque and Angelique Massie participated in the games and various activities which was followed by a dance.

A mascot disguised as a racoon was on hand to the surprise and excitement of many.

Supervision was handled by Linda V. D. Oetelaar and Robert and Johanna Massie.

Volleyball tournaments

A fun volleyball tournament in which 15 teams participated was held at ESRG last Saturday and the youth Optimists played very well indeed.

There was no competition and it was strictly for pleasure and to meet other kids.

The team members were Steven V. D. Oetelaar, Luc Lanthier, Jeff Hagen, Sylvain Decoeur, Charles Cockerell, Melissa MacDonald, Judy Wylie, Dominique Lanthier and Christiane DeRepentigny.

The youngsters proved that patience was a good virtue to possess.

A special thank you to the organizer, Linda V. D. Oetelaar and to the Optimists for donating hot dogs and drinks.

On Nov. 14, Laurier-Carriere girls took part in a volleyball tournament at Iona Academy and made it to the A and B finals.

On Nov. 21, the boys with the help of two girls won in the A division at a volleyball tournament at Iona.

On Friday, Nov. 25 (St. Catherine's day) Jean Lajoie entertained the kids with his accordion and Joel Lavigne played a few good tunes on his guitar.

Agathe Brunet provided taffy for all the kids at Laurier-Carriere.

Appréciation de la Jeunesse

Last Wednesday, the Optimist Youth Appreciation program was held at Laurier-Carriere school.

Four people described their vocation to three different groups of interested children.

Paulette Larocque Rozon, organizer of the program described her duties as a fashion designer in Montreal.

Robert Massie, who is a farmer, talked about the products of the farm and he even brought samples of it.

Father Marc Piché, parish priest for Maxville and Greenfield, explained what his many duties are and how he loves every minute of it.

As an invited guest, I talked about the various chores of a homemaker and working with elderly people and how important it is to always be in a cheerful mood and how a simple smile can work wonders when visiting seniors in a nursing home.

Paulette stressed the point to all the kids that they were very important and of great value and if we want to have a better world, take all the multitude of negative messages that they receive and counter attack with positive thoughts and actions.

A question period was held in which many answers were given. Names were picked and a few students received a 10 year Optimist anniversary pin, caps and t-shirts.

Society members honored at annual meeting Nov. 16

this fall (at least three months later) I received a phone call to tell me that since no one had claimed the bike, that it was mine. When I picked it up, I found it was in very bad shape so gave it to Roger Rolland for parts.

Did you read in the Auld Lang Syne column of 80 years ago that the high school we knew so well was officially opened as a continuation school? That old part wasn't used for several years prior to the closure of the enlarged school. I walked through it one day and there were lots of memories buried in the dust and rubble.

I hear that the owner of the school property is doing work there now prior to offering rental spaces for businesses.

Best wishes for the holiday season to all.

THANK YOU
MERCI
