SG passes on buying old school

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

Hopes of having a library or other township use for the former Precious Blood School in Glen Walter, were dashed Monday night when South Glengarry council voted against purchasing the building.

The school board (Conseil scolaire de district catholique de l'Est ontarien) has recently placed the subject facility in the hands of realtors for disposal. The board has reportedly received a number of offers for the building, which has been listed at $125,000.

Regulations regarding the disposal of schools mean that they must first be offered to other school boards and municipalities before the general public has a chance to buy them.

The building was offered to the United Counties of SDG and to the City of Cornwall, in December 2000, but South Glengarry was omitted from the offer in error.

In the meantime, township officials were looking at the building as a potential branch of the SDG County Library system in the Glen Walter area.

But the price tag was too much for South Glengarry, which says that more money would have to be poured into the building in repairs and alterations.

"I'd like to make the public aware that it's the price that's stopping us," said Deputy-mayor Frank Prevost, who has been working to try to get a library/community building in the

No-wake zone on St. Lawrence River to be considered by South Glengarry

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

Drivers of personal watercrafts (PCWs) and other speeding vessels may have to slow the pace this season on the St. Lawrence River.

Fed up with the hazards caused by the boats, South Glengarry Township has been asked by landowners living by the river to implement a "no-wake zone," on a stretch of water reaching from Danis Point to the head of Hamilton Island.

As a result, council has agreed to hold a special meeting to consider the request.

Dwayne Hollingsworth, who was present at Monday's council meeting said that speeding boats were "throwing swells two and three feet high."

As a result, damage was being done to boathouses, docks and boating equipment, and there was continuous shoreline erosion.

Mr. Hollingsworth estimated he had spent $30,000 building a retaining wall to stop the erosion on his property.

In addition to the damages to property, the boats are a menace to swimmers in the heavily populated area along County Rd. 2, according to the residents. When driven at high speeds, the PCWs are excessively noisy, bothering those who want a leisurely and relaxing weekend at the river.

The area involved in the specific request is the inside channel, approximately 75 to 150 metres in width, and about 2.5 km. in length.

"This area has become a speedway for large high power boars and PCWs whose operators have little or no respect for slower moving boats or shore-line properties or equipment," said Mr. Hollingsworth.

Last year, residents living along the Raisin River in South Glengarry were successful in having the speed limit reduced for water travel, mainly because of erosion problems.

But while the township would be responsible for the purchase of speed limit signs on the waterway, there is much to be done with other levels of government before the actual "no wake zone" can be established.

Following the public information meeting, council must vote whether or not to accept supporting such a request. The Ontario government would then be informed. The province in turn must apply for federal approval and inclusion in the Boating Restrictions Regulations.

Enforcement of the speed limits would be done by the OPP.

South Glengarry administ-rator/coordinator Marcel Lapierre told council he would check the legislation to see how many days notice the township must give before setting the date for the public meeting to discuss the issue.

North Glengarry 'butts out' again on non-smoking

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

North Glengarry council has decided once again not to implement any kind of non-smoking bylaw in the township.

In fact, council decided not even to put the issue to the people to decide.

The decisions at its regular council meeting on April 28, came despite pleas from Maxville non-smoking advocate Ron Clare to ban smoking in bars and restaurants.

Provincial law already prohibits smoking in public places such as stores and government buildings.

Mr. Clare suffers from Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) after a lifetime of smoking – he quit in 1989. He now relies on an oxygen tank to ensure his blood-oxygen levels remain high enough to prevent complications such as damage to his brain.

He told council his oxygen tank costs taxpayers $400 a month. He has also been airlifted to hospital in Ottawa after suffering respiratory arrest, again at the taxpayers' expense.

Mr. Clare believes council should act, not only to protect the health of the township's citizens, but also to help cut healthcare costs.

"The community has to cut its health costs to pay for other important items, such as environmental degradation, housing, farm supports and protection at home and abroad," he said.

Mr. Clare now chairs the Fresh Air Association of Eastern Ontario, which offers free music lessons for three months and $50 to high school students who agree to quit smoking for those three months.

"We feel that we all have to do something to prevent costly sickness and death from the inability to breathe caused by tobacco," he explained.

Mr. Clare told council members it was their duty to make a non-smoking bylaw, since the provincial government has shown no indication that it will do so.

An unofficial telephone survey of some bars and restaurants in Alexandria, conducted by Mr. Clare himself last week, indicated that bar owners adamantly object to a ban, while many restaurant owners said they would have no problem with it if everyone had to abide by the same rules.

At its April 14 council meeting, held in Dunvegan, Mr. Clare had asked for a straw vote (a show of hands) from the public as an indication of how many would be in favour of a smoking ban. Nearly every person in the room raised their hand.

Eastern Ontario Health Unit medical officer of health, Dr. Robert Bourdeau, was also present at Monday's meeting. He said if North Glengarry council took the first step, other municipalities would follow.

He cited an example from the health unit's history: when "raw" (unpasteurized) milk was linked with a number of childhood diseases, the health unit pushed for pasteurization. The province would not act, leaving the decision up to the municipalities.

Towns and villages throughout the United Counties and Prescott-Russell eventually jumped on the bandwagon one by one, but not without a lot of public outcry at first.

Dr. Bourdeau said the situation then parallels the situation now. Second-hand smoke has detrimental effects on health, he explained, and council should act now.

Before opening the floor for comments, Mayor Bill Franklin said council members would speak first on the issue.

He spoke first, explaining that while the health unit only looks at the health issue, council has to look at a number of issues including "health, business, costs and other things that have to be dealt with.

"We cannot oversimplify it," he said.

Alexandria ward councillor Gary Shepherd corrected Mr. Clare, who had stated council might have reservations about a non-smoking bylaw because some members were smokers themselves.

"There is not one smoker on council," he stated.

"We're quite proud of ourselves."

Coun. Shepherd was the last smoking councillor to quit, approximately a year ago.

Rural churches lead the way over Cornwall in attendance

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

They may have a much larger population base to draw from, but it would appear that Cornwall's Catholic churches are not nearly as well attended as those in rural areas.

Figures provided by the diocese to its two committees studying parish restructuring, show an overall average attendance of 34 per cent for rural churches versus 27 per cent for city churches.

The number of parishioners in each parish was taken from the Canadian Church Directory.

Within Glengarry County, only the parish of St. Finnan's (Alexandria) and St. Catherine of Sienna (Greenfield) has an average attendance higher than 50 per cent, at 58. St. Finnan's Cathedral is also the largest church in the entire diocese, with a capacity of 850.

Running a distant second in attendance is St. Raphael's, with an average attendance of 44 per cent of its total parishioners.

Also included in the information the committees studied at their last meeting was a projection of the ages of the diocese's priests until 2010. Currently, throughout the diocese, there are six priests between the ages of 55 and 59, representing approximately 26 per cent of the clergy. By 2010, those priests will be between 65 and 69.

Again, the rural churches seem to be faring better than those within city limits, with seven rural parish priests currently under the age of 50.

Since each parish must have a parish priest or administrator, the documents studied by the committees outlined a number of possible scenarios, most of which exist in the diocese.

They include:

•one priest as parish priest of one parish, i.e. Ste-Croix (Cornwall)

•one priest as parish priest of many parishes, i.e. Sacré-Coeur (Alexandria) and Ste-Marie-de-l'Assomption (Green Valley)

•a parish priest with a vicar to assist him, i.e. Ste-Thérèse (Cornwall)

•a parish priest with a lay person to assist him, i.e. Notre-Dame-du-Rosaire (Crysler)

•one group of priests named collectively as parish priests of one or many parishes, of which there are no examples currently in the diocese.

In difficult situations, the document states, one parish can be confided to the care of a lay person under the supervision of a priest; this situation does not exist in the parish, but does exist in some parishes in Prescott-Russell.

In the event of parish restructuring, the document underlines that only the Bishop can establish a new parish and reorganize or dissolve existing parishes, in consultation with his council.

If two parishes are merged to become one, their resources and financial obligations are transferred to the new parish.

If a parish is dissolved, its resources and financial obligations are transferred to the diocese, because

Farm community input brings bylaw a step closer

By News Staff

North Glengarry is closing in on a revamped nutrient management bylaw after accepting recommendations from local farm groups.

Representives of beef, dairy and hog operations asked for the changes after council passed a bylaw on April 14.

Some of the changes were the sections on the definition of intensive livestock and terminology and requirements for a hydrogeological study.

The farm reps managed to increase the number of animal units to 300 from 150 to qualify for "intensive".

"You can't make a living with 150," Apple Hill hog farmer Linda Vogel told The News before the April 28 council meeting.

SDG planner Joanne Haley and North Glengarry planner Terry Hart will review the hydrogeological issue and then bring it back to council.

Mrs. Vogel said this is important because the cost of hydrogeological studies could vary between $5,000 to six digits.

Other changes dealt with application, administration, enforcement, violations, penalities and complaints.

At the April 28 meeting, Mayor Bill Franklin suggested that publishing the bylaw with the proposed amendments in the local newspapers would provide even more feedback. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture would be consulted first on the wording.

"It has an impact on everyone who has water," Mayor Franklin said.

Deputy-mayor William Hagen insisted the bylaw be circulated to more farm organizations. He also continued to stress his reluctance about supporting the township bylaw, because the counties already has one.

But the mayor pointed out the township bylaw deals with water; the counties does not.

"Water is the No. 1 problem in the province, becoming No. 1 problem in the world."

For more agricultural coverage, see Page 19.

PLEADS WITH COUNCIL: Maxville's Ron Clare hoped to persuade North Glengarry councillors Monday to create a non-smoking bylaw. Mr. Clare suffers from Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) from years of smoking and relies on an oxygen tank to help him breathe, as can be seen here. STAFF PHOTO was a difficult one and that legislation should ideally come from the federal or provincial governments. Failing that, they felt bar and restaurant owners should decide for themselves.

Coun. Shepherd suggested the issue could be put on the ballot during the fall municipal election, to see how residents felt. Kenyon ward councillor Julie Akkermans agreed.

"The province has passed it down to the municipalities," she said.

"We should take the plunge and look into it."

She also pointed out the smoking bylaw would not necessarily be an outright ban, but could be written to accommodate everyone. For example, restaurants would be smoke-free but bars would not, or smoking would be prohibited until 9 p.m.

When Mayor Franklin opened the floor, the room was decidedly divided, but there appeared to be more non-smoking supporters.

Most of the people opposed to a bylaw were restaurant and bar owners who feared loss of business.

Only Louie Pavlounis, owner of the Alexandria Restaurant and himself a smoker, spoke in favour of some kind of control.

"No smoker has a right to harm the health of other people," he said.

"Whether it's legislated or not, that's a political question," he said, adding a "practical" solution could be found to satisfy both parties.

"It comes down to dollars and cents. (Restaurant and bar owners need to decide) how much would they lose and how much would it cost to make a smoking and non-smoking section."

Mayor Franklin then asked councillors if they wished the question to be put on the ballot in the fall as a plebiscite.

It would be non-binding, meaning results would be an opinion poll only and council would not be obligated to act in any way.

In the end, only Counc. Akkermans spoke strongly in favour of putting the question to the citizens.

"Then it will remain the status quo," Mayor Franklin concluded, to cheers from the bar and restaurant owners and jeers from the smoke-free advocates.

according to Ontario civil law, only the diocese exists as a corporation. All parish property belongs officially to the diocese.

According to canonic law, each parish exists as an independent reality, with its own administrator (the parish priest) and its own financial council; the diocese oversee the administration of parishes.

Each parish is administrated separately: it has its own budget, opens its own bank accounts and pays its own bills.

"There are expensive repairs to be made," said administrator-co-ordinator Marcel Lapierre.

Mr. Prevost said the transfer of the building to private hands would be Glen Walter's loss. "It's too bad," he said. "It would have been nice to put it back in the community."

Increases in works for area school boards

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

The four local school boards will all see an increase in funding next year, the Ontario Ministry of Education announced recently.

The Conseil des écoles publiques de l'Est de l'Ontario gets the biggest increase at 5.01% followed by the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario which will receive a 4.25% hike.

The Conseiol scolaire de district catholique de l'Est ontarien and the Upper Canada District School board received smaller increases of 1.32% and 1.78% respectively.

The ministry recently released the General Legislative Grant Regulations for the 2003-2004 school year. The projected total of allocations to boards across the province is $15.3 billion.

The additional funding of, $1.1 billion compared to last year, corresponds to an increase of almost eight per cent, despite a projected two per cent decline in enrolment across the province.

The additional money is part of a commitment to implementing the recommendations of the Rozanski Report.

An additional $50 million will be allocated to schools in rural and remote communities as part of the government's Rural Education Strategy. There is also $19 million to be divvied up among eligible school boards to help address higher costs in small, rural and northern schools.

Waterworks notes

During the waterworks committee meeting of April 16, waterworks manager André Bachand reported on the gasoline spill in Maxville March 27.

According to the Ministry of the Environment, the estimated spill was 50 to 100 gallons.

The cost incurred by the waterworks department for the clean up was $7,637.09. An insurance claim will be filed for this incident.

Snowmobile problems

Cecilia Cormier appeared before council on April 28 to peaking on behalf of residents of the 7th Concession of Kenyon,.

Ms. Cormier was armed with 16 signatures of people disturbed by snowmobilers using the road allowance as a trail.

She asked council why the snowmobilers were allowed to use the road as a trail. With the arrival of spring, she added, there is now a problem with four-wheelers.

Mayor Bill Franklin asked clerk-administrator Leo Poirier to set up a meeting with SDG OPP to learn more.

"We will go into it in depth," he said.

Advisory committee

No one from the community has expressed interest in being part of North Glengarry's advisory committee for the disabled.

The new Municipal Act requires any municipality with a population greater than 10,000 to have such a committee. North Glengarry council decided to strike its own committee, rather than be part of a United Counties-wide committee.

Clerk-administrator Leo Poirier has advertised in local newspapers twice, requesting people to come forward to be part of the committee. There have been no responses so far.

Mayor Franklin instructed the clerk to advertise one more time. If no one comes forward, the township will appoint someone to the United Counties committee.

Trade Show weathers good crowd

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

The organizer and participants at the Alexandria Trade Show had no reason to curse the inclement weather that descended over part of the weekend.

Organizer Cassie Depratto of the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce laughed about the effect the cool, rainy Saturday had on the show.

"We had over 1,000 over the weekend," Ms. Depratto said, adding this year's show was at least on par with the 2000 edition while surpassing 2001.

There were 46 booths booked by a variety of businesses and non-profit organizations.

Once people arrived, they stayed for quite awhile.

"There were a lot more activities for kids. Some came back numerous times during the weekend," Ms. Depratto said.

Friday night attracted close to 400 alone, thanks to the ever popular Rick's Reptiles, brought in by Jim Picken's Floor Covering.

For those a little squeamish around the snakes and spiders satisfied their voyeurism by taking in the Elda Rouleau School Synchronized Dancers and the Giant Tiger Fashion Show.

And this was all for free. The chamber used to operate the trade show as a fund-raiser, but had to charge admission to realize a profit.

To offset the cost, the chamber ran a raffle for a patio set and swing.

The winner of the set was Fernand Menard of Alexandria. The swing went to Aletha Bougie of Summerstown.

Also a big boon, Ms. Depratto said was the recruitment of the eight "Katimavik Kids".

"We had one working for us full-time for a couple of weeks helping to make contacts for the weekend and man the chamber booth."

There were many other draws.

The $50 The Glengarry News gift certificates were won by Michelle Menard, Nicole Chenier, Jean Guy Goulet and Karen and Tom Gerlich.

A skill-testing contest by the RARE plant was won by Ivan Viau. He out-guessed about 600 other entries that there were 31,780 compressed cans squeezed together into a large cube. It was estimated there were 32,017.

Mr. Viau wins use of a hot tub donated by RARE manager Rene Jeaurond.

Cornwall Country radio station, The Blaze, gave away three t-shirts to Lucie Brazeau, Helene Campeau and Sylvie McLennan, and CDs to Ron MacDonell and Michael Willard.

A Sunday Community Breakfast by Glengarry Community Living employees, volunteers and clients was also a big hit. At least 250 adults came in for breakfasts, raising at least $1,500 before expenses.

Another spin-off from the Trade Show was exposure for the chamber.

"We had some interest from a few people. We hope they come to our next meeting on May 7, 7:45 a.m. at the Priest's Mill."

News Editor

One of Glengarry's most popular venues is almost ready to reopen its doors.

The still closed Domtar Forestry Centre will be welcoming visitors in a few weeks, said Jim Hendry, chairperson of the "Interim Friends of the Forestry Centre".

"We're opening the doors for a community event on May 25," Mr. Hendry said.

The forestry centre used to be operated by Domtar Inc. as an educational facility. Various programs were offered through two employees, but the company decided to discontinue these to focus on other centres which receive more exposure.

Since then, a group of volunteers from Glengarry, Cornwall and Akwesasne have banded together to transfer the forestry centre into a community-run facility.

Initial talks with Domtar were led by representatives of the Eastern Ontario Model Forest, which promotes good forestry management practices within the region.

"After about one year of discussions, we were able to sign a one-year lease with an option for five more years," said Mr. Hendry, who is the co-ordinator of the Resource Stewardship Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

At this point, he said one volunteer, Lionel Lustgarten of North Glengarry, is labouring on a draft constitution and bylaw.

To prepare for the May 25 re-opening, Mr. Hendry is inviting the public to an organizational meeting on May 9, at 3 p.m., at the forestry centre, located off the 1st Concession of Kenyon about 10 kilometres west of Alexandria.

The interim Friends would like to create a long-term utilization plan for the centre.

Mr. Hendry would be happy to receive more input. He can be reached at 933-7671.

In the meantime, the forestry centre is being used for the annual Envirothon for eight SDG high schools.

The Envirothon – a kind "environmental Reach for the Top – will be held at the Girl Guides camp on Thursday and then switch to the forestry centre for Friday.

Glengarry Celtic musicians deserve Hall of Fame

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

A small group of dedicated Celtic music supporters are banding together in an attempt to form a Glengarry Celtic Music Hall of Fame.

Inspired by a letter to the editor by Edna MacMillan published in The Glengarry News in 1998, Margaret Laplante called the first meeting of the group recently.

Ms. MacMillan's letter suggested there should be a Glengarry Music Hall of Fame to recognize those who have contributed to the preservation of Celtic music and culture in Glengarry County.

Ms. Laplante said the group differs from the proposed Glengarry Place for the Arts in several respects.

"(Their purpose) is mainly to get the building," she said. "We don't want to buy a building and be responsible for (it)."

She adds that there are "no hard feelings" between the Hall of Fame group and Glengarry Place for the Arts, a group to which she used to belong.

Ms. Laplante hopes the Hall of Fame will be started before any more of our older musicians pass on.

"If we don't get to (the hall of fame) now, to get the information, we're not going to get it."

The group hopes not only to establish a Hall of Fame, but also to set up an archives to assemble and preserve photos, recordings, information and other memorabilia.

"As long as they have contributed to music in Glengarry – they don't have to be from here – as long as they have contributed to the art in Glengarry," Ms. Laplante said, we want information on artists, writers and those who promoted it but can't play a note."

The many musicians of the past and present she has spoken to, feel the Hall of Fame is a "great idea."

A location for housing the Hall of Fame and archives has yet to be established, but it will be in Glengarry.

"It's not all defined," Ms. Laplante said.

"We need more help. We're wide open to suggestions."

The group is now looking for others from Glengarry and beyond – including artists themselves – who have the same Celtic interests at heart and who are willing to devote some of their time to promote these interests.

Members of the group so far include Margaret Laplante, Isabel McCuaig, Glenda MacDonell, Dan MacDonald, Allan and Chris MacPhail, Ann and Donald MacPhee, Kent MacSweyn and Ann McNaughton.

An information session will be held on May 21, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the St. Raphael's Parish Centre.

Upper Canada Board, teachers reach deal

The agreement was reached on April 16. Terms will remain confidential until both parties ratify the agreement.

Negotiations have been ongoing since November.

The board yet to reach a deal with its secondary school teachers, who have been without a collective agreement since September 2001.

Most people in favour of a public smoking ban

Straight Talk

What is your opinion on banning smoking in restaurants and bars?

– Thomas Trepanier

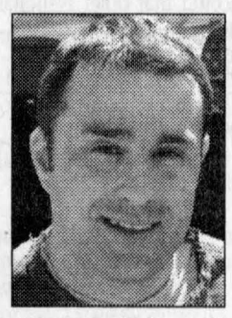
George Assaf

Bob Olsen

Judy Bourbonnais

Anita Oeschger

Joseph Monteferrante



Stephan Decaire

George Assaf, Alexandria: I think that smoking should have been banned in restaurants and bars a long time ago and not only for this area but for all of Ontario. My wife and I are both cancer survivors and neither of us have ever smoked. I would really like to see it banned.

Bob Olsen, Lancaster: I think that everyone should be allowed to smoke any place they please. I believe this because in the case of the bylaw that Ottawa passed their restaurant and bar businesses have suffered a loss. It's people's own business what they want to do to themselves and I think that banning smoking is a ridiculous idea.

Judy Bourbonnais, Alexandria: I would like to see smoking banned in restaurants and bars because I have a son that sings in a bar and I can't go and watch him because I just find the smoke too much. I am an ex-smoker so I know how hard it can be to quit but I still think it should be banned.

Anita Oeschger, Alexandria: I think that if there is a glassed off area in the restaurant or bar then it is okay to allow smoking. I don't see the point in having two separate areas because the smoke travels and will still get to the non-smokers. I don't think smoking should be banned in bars but I do think it should be banned in restaurants or any places with children.

Joseph Monteferrante, Green Valley: I think that it is a good idea because you have got to respect the rights of others. We all know that smoking is an addiction that has many health risks. Most people smoke to relieve stress, I think that they should find an alternate thing to do, like yoga. We spend millions of dollars on things like cancer research yet we still allow smoking in public places, so I really think it should be banned.

Stephan Decaire, Alexandria: I think that it would be a good thing to ban smoking, especially in restaurants. I think that they would have more family business and it would be more enjoyable to eat. I also think that smoking should not be allowed in bars. Look at Ottawa for example, the bars are still full and it encourages people to quit smoking.

Opportunity for MP to create a lasting legacy for Glengarry

What a muddle! Some six months after the electoral boundaries commission chose to reunite all of Glengarry for provincial and federal election purposes, the commission pulled an about-face, lopping off all of South Glengarry and placing it elsewhere.

For the former Township of Charlottenburgh, this latest development keeps it with its previous riding mates of Stormont and Dundas as well as Cornwall. Grenville, which for no apparent reason had been designated last fall to replace Glengarry – keeping the SDG element of the name intact, albeit incorrectly – has also returned to its former riding.

All's well that ends well they must be saying in the dark and deep abyss, where those entrusted with the responsibility of determining electoral boundaries go about their work, uncomplicated by common sense or knowledge of the real world.

Accordingly, they amuse themselves by cutting tiny slivers of population from one riding and pasting them to another in some misguided attempt to fashion a representative electoral map.

The two ridings housing splinters of tiny Glengarry are but the latest in a series of calamities that have befallen this county during recent electoral boundary revisions

It wasn't always this way. Since Confederation in 1867, there have been 15 occasions in which ridings were reviewed and adjusted.

For the first 47 years of Canada's existence, and the first four of those revision dates, the riding of Glengarry remained untouched, surviving through 12 elections and three by-elections in the process.

In 1914, for no apparent reason, the riding changed. Glengarry was merged with Stormont and the town of Cornwall to create the riding of

EDITORIAL

Glengarry and Stormont. That lasted but 10 years through two elections and one by-election.

In 1924, Glengarry became an entity onto itself again – one that would last for some 28 years, witnessing seven elections and one by-election, which saw the election in 1945 of the Prime Minister of the country, Mackenzie King.

Almost four years later, shortly after Mr. King had stepped down as Liberal leader and Prime Minister, fellow Liberal William J. Major lay claim to the honour of being the last federal representative of the riding of Glengarry.

Mr. Major, a poultry farmer, defeated fellow farmer and Progressive Conservative John D. MacLeod by a plurality of some 1,300 votes, 4,809 to 3,559. Lumberman John Joseph Fitzgerald, representing Social Credit, placed a distant third in the contest with a mere 300 votes.

In the subsequent 51 years, this once-proud riding has been mongrelized in a manner unfit for any self-respecting area, much less one with such a collective sense of history, heritage and tradition.

No one will argue, given Glengarry's limited population, that it should be allowed to remain on its own. But since 1976, respective commissions have butchered this area with no regard for its collective identity, nor the commission's own mandate to "respect the historical pattern of an electoral district, to preserve the unity of individuals with a common interest."

There's no question that Don Boudria has been a good constituency man for this area, but it is curious that he is entertaining notions of challenging the commission's latest proposals because he believes he should continue to represent the good people of the former township and village of Lancaster, even though they would be separated from the rest of South Glengarry as has been the case during his tenure.

If he really had our best long-term interests at heart, he would be fighting to ensure that Glengarry remains intact as a political unit , even if it means that it is no longer part of his riding and is more properly associated with SDG, its counties' partners of more than 150 years.

That would be a fitting legacy for our MP who, if political observers are correct, likely will not represent his riding, or what's left of it, in the next federal election, having stepped down or been appointed to another post when Jean Chrétien ceases to be Prime Minister in the coming year.

Thorns & Thistles

THISTLE- SDG official plan gets reprieve.

In its short life to date, the SDG official plan has known as many twists and turns as an old Glengarry county road.

At one time, approval for the plan seemed a sure thing, but that was before North Dundas began to raise concerns.

Now the possibility exists that it could be shelved altogether and lost with it would be an investment of some $152,000 of taxpayers' money.

Given the potential for such an outcome, counties council would be wise to heed the words of Glengarry's representatives on this issue.

Warden William Hagen, North Glengarry's deputy-mayor, set the tone for the discussion by encouraging members not to let the debate deteriorate into "personal conflicts or finger pointing."

North Glengarry Mayor Bill Franklin advocated patience when he told members that neither pushing forward nor stopping is the right thing to do.

Mr Franklin said the right approach is to "step back and look at the details" while at the same time checking with township planners to determine their needs.

Mayor Dave MacDonald of South Glengarry reminded councillors of the pitfalls of letting one township control its agenda.

"I find it difficult that something that was started at the county level, should be stopped by a township," he told council. "Today it's the OP, tomorrow it could be the roads system."

Still, the current reprieve is a temporary one and if the comments of representatives from North and South Dundas as well as South Stormont are any indication, there may be a few more twists and turns before the process ever gets back on course.

THORN– School comments misunderstood.

The trademark of the consummate bureaucrat is the ability to communicate views on issues in a manner that leaves no one other than him or herself quite sure as to what ultimately will be the result.

Based on what transpired recently at Cornwall council, Mark Phillips of the Ministry of Municiapl affairs and Housing (MMAH) seems to have mastered the process.

Mr. Phillips' recent performance at council rivals that of the late MacKenzie King, whose attempts to obfuscate his government's stance on conscription during WWll resulted in the memorable declaration: "...conscription if necessary, not necessarily conscription,"

In effect, the MMAH advisor appeared to be saying at different times to Cornwall council that, if necessary, the province would support an institutional designation within South Glengarry's official plan for a proposed new high school in the township, but that it did not necesssarily support a school in the site in question.

Certainly lives do not hang in the balance as was the case with Mr. King's famous statement, but the issue is of no small import to the township, the city, the board of education and, last but not least, the local community.

Later, Mr. Phillips clarified his comments stating that he did not rule out the possibility of a school being built on the site in question if all the tests and studies were submitted to local and provincial governments. There now, it's all clear as mud!

THISTLE – Local lines(wo)man making strides.

Although she's just 19, Glen Walter's Renée Lalande has already accomplished more than some officials twice her age.

In the past year alone she has worked games at the Canada Winter Games in New Brunswick and a national championship in Finland. Ultimately, the University of Ottawa student dreams of working an Olympics or two. Of late, the veteran of five years of officiating has been keeping busy working ODMHA games, which can involve breaking up the occasional round of fisticuffs between young male participants, often to the chagrin of the combatants. Next year she hopes to add to her resume by 'lining' games in the Women's National Hockey League.

Could that other National Hockey League ever be a possibility? Who knows? The NBA, pro basketball's premier league, currently boasts a female official.

When we were the U.S.'s 'crazy' good friend

Editor's note: The following piece by Maxville writer and publisher, Michael S. Baxendale, is excerpted from the book titled: Short of Babylon, published by Optimum Publishing Int. Inc., which deals with the 1991 Gulf War. Given the current state of affairs between Canada and the U.S., it provides some perspective on past relationships.

In the Gulf Air ticket line-up in Bahrain we met two American sailors off the battle cruiser USS Princeton. One was a helicopter pilot and the other a communications specialist. When they heard we were Canadian correspondents just in from the ground war, they whooped and insisted on buying drinks. We were dirty and dusty, sleepless in two days, trying to get to Qatar to interview our two CF 18 squadrons whose pilots had each flown 84 combat sorties in the war.

The Americans already had tickets and let us get ahead of them in the line-up. Miracle of miracles, Gulf Air had two seats available on the last flight to Qatar – but we would have a two-hour wait. We breathed a big sigh of relief, checked our bags through and headed for the bar.

The bar had the look of an English pub. Over freshly drawn Bass ale our two new American friends told us the story of the mining of the USS Princeton and how the Canadians had helped them out of a fix.

The communications specialist told us: "We were forty one and a half miles off the coast of Kuwait when it happened. The explosion was loud and the impact shook the entire ship. We had hit a big Iraqi mine on the starboard side, aft of the forecastle. Luckily, only four of our guys were hurt, but we had a gash in our hull 60 feet long and our electronics were out. We were crippled, sitting ducks for air attack, and still in the middle of the minefield.

"When a big battleship is crippled it's a bit like being castrated. Everyone on the ship is affected, all that firepower and no way to use it. Impotent, is the word. We had to send out a call for help and we all breathed a lot easier when the Canadians responded immediately."

"I was topside on the (Helicopter) pad so I had a clear view." The navy pilot continued: "Out of the distance I saw a destroyer coming through the minefield. It was leading a big civilian tug. When it got closer I saw it was not one of ours. It was HMCS Athabaskan, the Canadian command destroyer. The destroyer stood off while we got hooked up with the tug, and then they led us out until we were clear of the minefield.

"The whole event had a strong effect on me." He reflected: "I can't say why, but somehow I felt that it was better that it was a Canadian ship, rather than our own. For the first time since I got here I felt we were not alone in this war, but had real friends we could count on. It was a good feeling."

The communications specialist continued: "From early on (in the war) the Canadians had a good reputation with us. They knew what they were doing out here. All our ships wanted the Canadians to refuel us with their supply ship the Defender (HMCS Defendeur) and asked for it. The Canadians had it down pat: No banging around, no time wasted, all business. In and out fast and clean."

"Canadians have always had a good rapport with the US Navy." the helicopter pilot added, "It probably goes back to WW11 but it's also from the war games we do together. The first captain I had – his name was Magnifico – swore by the Canadians. Once he told me: "...here is some good advice for you, sailor: If you are with the Canadians in war or exercise, listen to what they have to say, because they know what the ... they are doing."

We showed them some of our newly developed film from the tank battles, The Highway of Death and the liberation celebrations in Kuwait City. The events were only two or three days old and some of them were pretty dramatic. The shots of oil fires, the battlefield dead and smoking enemy tanks left little to the imagination. The helicopter pilot said. "You guys have to be crazy, you don't even have flak jackets and you are closer to the enemy than most of the Allied Army. They must pay you a lot."

I explained that we were freelance and not paid in advance by any network or newspaper and were there at our own expense. I told them we were there to do a book about the Canadian Forces in the Gulf War, our first official combat action since Korea, and the only way to get the full story was to be where it was happening.

"I told you" he said, turning to his companion, "Canadians are crazy. He signalled to the waiter, circling his finger in the air for another round. "But you know what, I'm glad they are on our side."

Important issue

In December 2002 the Township of South Glengarry approved a Re-Zoning amendment allowing the construction of a contractor's yard/log home/timber frame industry on the Johnston Road (County Road 19) north of Williamstown.

This business, situated on a small lot, is immediately adjacent to several properties containing private homes, placing the residences less than 120 metres away and thus directly impacted by the manufacturing which will take place there.

That same month, several of the neighbours concerned not only with the arrival of such a business in their back yards, but also with the precedent it will set for the future development of the Johnston Road, appealed the Township's decision to the Ontario Municipal Board.

For whatever reason and despite being advised of this at least three times, The Glengarry News and its reporters have decided to ignore the situation.

Therefore this letter is to advise all interested residents that the Municipal Board hearing will take place on May 1, 2003 at 11 a.m. at the Township of South Glengarry Hall in Lancaster, Ontario.

If you are at all concerned about how the present council and administration foresees your township or are interested in the appeals procedure in case this should happen to you, please attend.

It will be well worth your while, especially as we are in a municipal election year.

Thank you.

Wet conditions don't deter Pride Day volunteers

By News Staff

Despite wet and chilly conditions, many North Glengarry residents pitched in to take a little pride in their municipality.

Garbage and recyclables picked up alongside roadsides likely exceeded even last year, said recycling plant (RARE) general manager Rene Jeaurond.

The day's spirit might have been best exemplified by Scott McDougall of Alexandria who went to the furthest reaches of the township.

He took his two children and combed the Greenfield Road to pick up a truck load of garbage.

With 350 people scouring the roadsides and ditches, volunteer organizer Wendy MacPherson said the day was a success in other ways.

At the RARE plant, participants benefitted from a number of organizations which set up booths.

Dorothy Hamilton of the Raisin Region Conservation Authority gave out 300 white spruce seedlings and information booklets on drinking water protection.

The township's garbage site contractor, Lafleche Environmental Services, provided bags of potting soil.

The Friends of the Glengarry Trails Association provided information on its trails.

Children found something to do as the Family Resource Centre organized a craft table.

Mrs. MacPherson gave special credit to a number of other people.

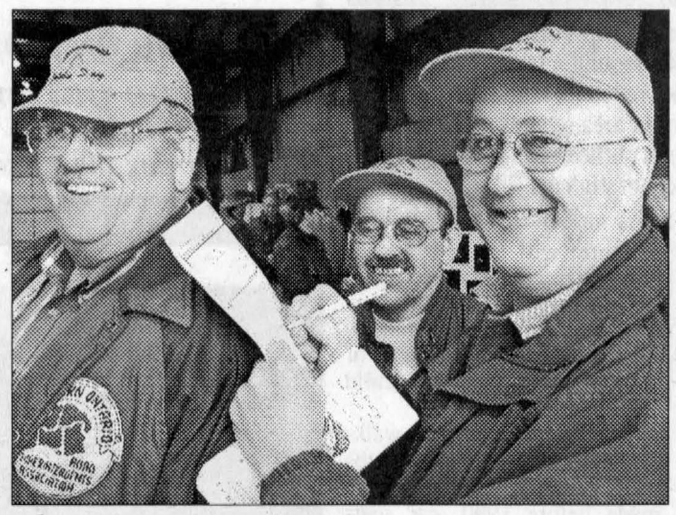
Mr. Jeaurond also organized tours of the RARE plant. He also picked up 17 bags of garbage himself along the Glen Robertson Road.

Two dump trucks were brought in by roads superintendent Jean Guy Levert and his crew.

Councillor Julie Akkermans worked non-stop to ensure everything went smoothly at RARE.

Hungry participants were satisfied when Mayor Bill Franklin supplied a second barbecue. He also left his pick-up truck so litter could be transported from the Dalkeith drop-off.

Mrs. MacPherson's mother, Laurie Eschbach and brother, Darren, the township's recycling collection contractors, helped all day long – even driving one visitor home when his car wouldn't start.



TAKING PRIDE: North Glengarry Pride Day received a lot of help from students who were marking time for their volunteer credit. From left, Alexander School student Stephan Fortin, Amy Vander Byl, Stephanie Vander Byl, Katherine Vander Byl, David O'Neill, Andy O'Neill and Johnathan O'Neill. They carried bags of garbage into two dump trucks. Pride Day also allowed people to get acquainted with the Adopt A Highway program under the United Counties of SDG. Bottom, right, RARE plant manager Rene Jeaurond, uses the back of North Glengarry roads superintendent Jean Guy Levert to formally sign his agreement to adopt County Road 10. Behind them is Adopt A Road co-ordinator Frank Lenneau.

Charges laid after shoplifting incident turns violent

Police Briefs

On April 19, just before 3 p.m., SDG OPP officers were called to a business on Main Street in Alexandria, after receiving a report of shoplifting.

A male was in the custody of a security guard for the theft of food items and was resisting arrest.

Information also revealed a female companion had assaulted the store employees with a hammer by swinging it at them, in an attempt to assist her partner in crime. The hammer had been shoplifted from another business nearby. Fortunately, no one was injured.

Andre Wallace, 32, and Christine Lapensee, 21, both of Cornwall, were arrested. Mr. Wallace faces charges of assault with intent to resist, theft, and breach of probation. Ms. Lapensee faces charges of assault with a weapon, possession of a weapon for dangerous purpose and assault with intent to resist.

Both will appear in Alexandria court on June 3.

Constable S. MacWhirter is investigating.

Assault leads to arrest

On April 21, around 9 a.m., SDG OPP officers responded to a report of a domestic situation at a residence on Kinloch Road in South Glengarry.

An 18-year-old female had been assaulted by her 28-year-old boyfriend.

Information also revealed the male had threatened the victim as well as members of her family. A tire was also slashed on a vehicle.

The male was held in custody pending a bail hearing on April 22, on charges of assault, mischief and three counts of uttering threats.

Const. M. Gadbois is investigating.

The SDG OPP Crime Unit is investigating.

Safe Kids Week 2003

If you have an old car seat that no longer meets safety requirements, do not put it out at the curb for garbage pick up, warns Sylvie Beaupré of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit (EOHU).

"Someone might go by and pick it up because it still looks to be in good condition," she said.

Instead, bring it to the Early Years Centre in Alexandria between June 2 and 6, during Safe Kids Week. This year's theme is "From Cribs to Car Seats, Are Your Kids Safe? Check it Out."

There will be a garbage dumpster, courtesy of Char-Lan Sanitation, available during the centre's operating hours for car seats and other out of date or unsafe baby and child equipment.

The list includes baby walkers with wheels, playpens, cribs made before 1986, baby gates made before 1990, car seats more than 10 years old, hockey and bicycle helmets more than five years old and bicycle helmets which have been in a crash.

North Glengarry firefighters will be destroying these items with the Jaws of Life so that they will not endanger the lives of any other children.

The event is joint partnerhsip of the EOHU, SDG OPP, North Glengarry Fire Department, Char-Lan Sanitation and the Early Years Centre, thanks to a grant from Safe Kids Canada.

Report illegal fishing activities

Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers needs your help to assist the Ministry of Natural Resources reduce the amount of fish poaching in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties.

Illegal fishing activity usually increases when popular sport fish such as walleye, yellow perch and Northern pike migrate to their spawning grounds in the spring.

The fish become very susceptible when they congregate in large numbers at these spawning sites. Disturbances to the eggs or removal of spawning fish at this vulnerable time can reduce future available resources.

It is illegal to take or attempt to take fish from a fish sanctuary or during the closed season, or to take these sport fish by means other than by angling i.e. spears or perch cages.

We need your information, not your name. You will remain anonymous, you will not have to appear in court and you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

This resolution excludes the three South Glengarry schools, Ecole Ste. Thérèse in North Lancaster, École Ste. Marie in Green Valley and École St. Joseph in Lancaster, which are slated to be replaced by a new school in North Lancaster.

The board also proposed the status quo be maintained at the following schools as to the number of regular classes:

•Laurier-Carrière in Glen Robertson

•St. Bernard in Maxville

•St. Joseph in Lefaivre

•Du Rosaire in Saint-Pascal-Baylon

•St. Joseph in Wendover

•Ste. Croix in Cornwall.

For secondary schools, the student-teacher ratio has been set at 22 to 1 for all the board's high schools for 2003-2004.

Junior gardeners learn and have fun

MARTINTOWN

VIRGINIA WINN
528-4379 uwinn@cnwl.igs.net

The Martintown and District Junior Gardeners met on Saturday, with 14 members and leaders, Judy Dancause, Tracy Myers and Jan Buckland.

The next meeting will be held on May 24 1 to 2:30 p.m. at the Martintown Community Centre and new members are welcome and encouraged to attend. Junior members make a craft or complete a project at each meeting, all the while learning about plants, gardening, conservation and the environment. For more information, call Judy Dancause at 528-4577.

The next meeting for the Martintown and District Horticultural Society will be held on May 7 at the Martintown Community Centre at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Jean-Louis Rochette who is an expert on the topic of Purple Martins. These birds consume huge quantities of mosquitoes making them desirable to attract to country properties, especially this year!

The spring plant auction will take place at the home of Elizabeth and John Peters on May 10. Members are asked to take along excess plants, gardening books and equipment, and replace those with someone else's garden surplus.

Do I have to come in?

I stayed out as long as I could on Monday evening, the strong southwest wind helping to propel last fall's left-overs. No matter how much one rakes up in the fall, there are always more leaves and debris in the spring, to say nothing of the sticks left behind by our last dear departed dog, a sad reminder.

Last season I attempted to down-size the rhubarb patch, digging and pulling and dumping huge snakey masses. Sure enough, as I was working in that area, didn't I come across more tightly furled dark green leaves pushing their way up and out in what was supposed to be an area of lawn. If anyone out there needs a root of rhubarb, would they call me to arrange a convenient time for a dig? Please!

Mama Mia

On the weekend we threw caution to the wind, and disregarding the advice of the World Health Organization, went to Toronto. This was because, back in the fall before anyone had ever heard of SARS, we and some friends purchased tickets to see Mama Mia. Tickets to shows like that require fancy financing, so we were not about to let them go to waste and we are certainly glad we went!

The show incorporates ABBA songs from the 1970s and 80s into a mother-daughter/ghosts from the past/wedding-on-a-Greek-island story with music and singing, choreography, costumes and staging that gladden the heart. The theatre was about 80 per cent full, but irony of ironies, "entrepreneurs" were selling tickets at a discount outside on the sidewalk, boasting of prices lower than box office. Anyway, we're home and feeling fine, but if you want to avoid us for ten days, I'll understand!

Cancer Society

Is it just my impression, or are we not all at more risk from cancer in this area than West Nile or SARS combined? We have lost a great many people in our communities to cancer, and there are many more who are undergoing treatment. Those of us who are collecting for the Canadian Cancer Society in the Martintown area should have already been to your home, but procrastination and busyness get in the way! The campaign is supposed to be in April, but I am hoping for an extension through this weekend.

Martintown Public School

Students from Grades 6, 7, and 8 enjoyed an outing last week when they went swimming at Nav Can, had lunch out and then saw the movie Holes. Practices for the school musical, The Wizard of Oz, are continuing. Next week ten students from the Grade 8 class will be attending mini enrichment courses in Ottawa, either at Ottawa U. or Carleton. It will be a week of early starts, but lots of fun and interesting stuff.

The book fair is on at the school this week between the hours of 12:30 and 2:30 p.m.

Frances Lafave retires

Best wishes to Martintown resident, Frances Lafave, who is retiring this week from a long career as administrator of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge. She will be sorely missed at the Lodge, but undoubtedly she will find lots to keep her occupied and involved in the community.

Charity Bridge Tourney

One hundred fourteen bridge players took refuge from the foul weather on Saturday afternoon and gathered in Martintown to play Duplicate and Party Bridge at the 8th Annual Martintown Charity Bridge Tournament. This year the tournament raised funds for the VON in support of the Martintown Seniors Diners Club. The Diners Club is organized by the Glengarry Outreach Senior services.

Local bridge players provided a great lunch which was enjoyed by all, and then there were draws for the many door prizes, with the raffle prize basket going to Joyce Egan of North Lancaster.

Bridge got under way at 1 p.m. with Linda Schmaltz from Montreal as Director of the 23.5 tables of duplicate bridge. The five tables of party bridge were managed by Bob Schofield of Martintown. The team of Kirk Malette and Voyteck Pomykalski were the overall top scorers and winners of the duplicate bridge trophy.

The final results are: Section A (The A Team?) North/South: 1. Nelsa Kalil and Janice Keen, 2. Carol Reus and Jeanine Alain, 3. Marg Evans and Barb Taylor, 4. Elizabeth Majerrison and Jim Campbell, 5. Joyce Harrison and Kay Colbran. East/West: 1. Kirk Malette and Voyteck Pomykalski, 2. Viviane Campbell and Les Atkinson, 3. Bill Tadgell and Bob Evans, 4. Jean Campbell and Audrey Pasco, 5. Joyce Egan and Nancy Taylor.

And for Section B, North/South: 1. Pat Cunningham and Inez Hatfield, 2. Bill Blackadder and Rolly Fobert, 3. Margaret Campbell and Maureen Walker, 4. Lorraine Gauthier and Evelyn Warren, 5. Gilles Lapointe and Joan Lapointe. East/West: 1. Rita Struthers and Brunelle MacDonald, 2. Dot Burnett and Barbara Ross, 3/4. Charley Lawn and Fern Blain, 3/4. Charmaine Quenneville and Jody Campbell, 5. Lorna Grant and Homer Grant.

Section C was reserved for Party Bridge players and the winners there were Bob Schofield and Larry Downs.

Duplicate Bridge

The winners of the Martintown Goodtimers Duplicate Bridge held on April 22 were as follows: North/South, 1. Claudette Hodgins and Bernice Barlow, 2. Jean and Jim Campbell, 3. Jane Troop and Kathy Eveleigh. East/West, 1. Allan McLeod and Henryk Rzepczyk, 2. Lorraine Gauthier and Margaret Kennedy, 3. Audrey Blair and John Roulston.

Party Bridge

The winners of the Party Bridge held on April 28 at the Martintown Community Centre were Bill Tadgell, Rene Butler and Lorna Snow.

Easter Seal Society needs volunteers

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

The Easter Seal District Council of Stormont and Glengarry urgently needs volunteers to get involved with the organization.

Approximately 90 people and their families throughout the two counties rely on the Easter Seal Society for financial assistance.

Money is needed to purchase necessary but expensive equipment such as walkers, wheelchairs, braces and communication devices.

Clients include children, youth and young adults.

District manager Marlene Harris said volunteers are needed in Glengarry to help out in a variety of ways.

"Volunteers are needed at two levels," she said.

"They deliver and pick up promotional material, such as the Paper Eggs (the recent Easter Seals campaign). We need them for every (fund-raising) event."

Volunteers are also needed to fill positions on the district council, which is based in Cornwall.

"We don't have enough people on this council," she said.

"We're a volunteer group, we decide on strategy, what we are going to focus on. We're lacking for positions."

In particular, the district council might appeal to people with a background in communications, fund-raising or business.

"Or anybody interested in helping," Ms. Harris said.

For further information, Ms. Harris can be reached by phone at 1-866-273-7261 or email her at: mharris@easterseals.org.

Lawn cutting tenders for township getting out of control

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279
sharring@
glen-net.ca

It may seem to fit into the "you know it's bad when..." category, but instead of plunging into my vast cauldron of social news this week, I thought I'd kick off this column with a little item from South Glengarry Council.

Council met on Monday and among the many things up for discussion and voting were the tenders for grass-cutting in the township. In the days of yore, i.e. before amalgamation, little men with lawn-mowers used to cut various patches in the three municipalities.

It was no different here in Williamstown, where one person did the fire station, one the township hall, another the cenotaph, etc. etc. Assorted men with assorted machines.

With amalgamation came the business of tendering on a wide scale. Little men were left by the wayside as three or four larger companies bid lower and lower prices. These companies possessed the latest in whirling gizmos – machines that severed and spat out blades of grass faster than the Cops for Cancer barbers could shave politicians at the Williamstown Fair.

As a result of this tendering, the prices went down, down, down – for the past four years. But this year? Up. Way up!

Last year, it cost just $7.50 per cut to do the grass around the Cenotaph. This year it will cost $18. Last year the Museum grounds were swiped for $10 a time. Now it is $25. The firehall – was $7.25; is now $20.

And in the craziest bid of all (only one company responded to this particular site), it would have cost $50 each time the four square inches of grass (a slight exaggeration), around the former Charlottenburgh Township Hall was cut. Last year? $6.50!

Fortunately the wileys on council spotted this one and decided to make "alternative arrangements," passing the tenders without the township hall site.

My math may be a little quakey – none of those calculator things for me – but I reckon that grass-cutting costs in South Glengarry (not including the "alternative arrangement" for the township hall), will be rising by just over $300 per cut this year. Taken on a basis of 20 cuts per year, it will cost an extra $6,000 this year to keep our public lawns pretty.

Can't wait to see what happens next year!

It's not a girl!

Hope my math is a little firmer than my ability to determine the sex of newborns. Profuse apologies are sent to the MacLachlan-MacLennan family on proclaiming that lusty young Roan Glenn MacLennan, born a few weeks back, was actually a girl-child!

Just found out, (you people are all too, too kind), when one of my neighbours told of her trot up the street to present a "congratulations-on-the-birth-of-your-baby-girl card" to Jennifer. Now a card is one thing; a pinky frilly dress, quite another! Sincerely hope no such object was delivered to the MacLennans as the result of my mistake.

The opportunity to make amends also allows me the chance to tell you that young Roan (pronounced Rowan) is a new grandson, not only for Lyall and Elizabeth MacLachlan, but for Janet and Rod MacLennan, as well.

What a lucky lad, having four Williamstown grandparents, wouldn't you say?

Condolences

Unfortunately, this has been a week of loss for several Williamstown and area families. Norma and Bill Cattanach have been bereaved by the death of Norma's sister, Isabel Hood, of Cornwall.

Isabel (nee MacCrimmon) died on Saturday at the Cornwall General and is resting at the Wilson Funeral home.

Our sympathy is sent to Norma and Bill and to Christena Crowe, formerly of Summerstown, who is also Isabel's sister.

Former resident passes on

The death of a former Williamstown resident Joyce (Stewart) Hagstotz occurred on April 15, at Williamsville, NY. She was the daughter of Charlie and Ruth (MacArthur) Stewart, formerly of Williamstown. Joyce was a niece of Isabelle MacArthur of Toronto, and of the late Keith Stewart of Williamstown.

She was also a cousin of Wendell MacLeod, Audrey Cumming, and Ruth McDonald and the late John J MacLeod.

Rick Forrester mourned

Former Char-Lan Principal, Rick Forrester died on Saturday after fighting very hard against cancer.

During Rick's time at Char-Lan in the late 1980s, the school blossomed into one of the very best high schools in Eastern Ontario. Char-Lan became a school where the arts were put on an equal footing with sports; where "academic" became something other than a geeky word.

It became cool to be informed – to belong to a team that brought honours to the school.

No school is just about its principal, but when a principal displays the enthusiasm that Rick did, something magic happens. During Rick's tenure, Char-Lan became famous for its very professional musical productions. Remember "Anne of Green Gables"? "The Sound of Music"? Not only were these wonderful entertainment for the community (and far beyond), they resulted in a sense of cohesiveness for the school. Few students were spared work on the productions – woodworking classes made phenomenal sets; art classes did scenery; family studies students helped with costumes. Everyone pulled together, and as a result the productions were a source of pride for everyone.

Rick was a multi-talented man – a football coach, a musician, a woodworking wizard, and a lover of the arts.

Our sympathy is sent to his wife, Dorothy, and family.

Bridge club results

Results from the Williamstown Bridge Club for April 23 are: N/S – 1. Norah Ruth and Dorothy Fawthrop; 2. Jim Campbell and Elizabeth Marjerrison; 3. Jacquie Thibert and Homer Grant.

E/W – 1. Audrey Blair and Francine Lang; 2. John Roulston and Garry O'Connell; 3. Gordon Snook and Bert Mosher.

Fitness classes go on

Often exercise and fitness classes stop for the summer. Not so Cheryl Sandilands' Aerobics class.

The next session starts on May 5 and will be held at the Char-Lan Recreation Centre, where there is air conditioning. These classes are high-low impact, and are for everyone from teens to sixties plus. For more information on class times, cost, etc., please call Cheryl at 347-3251.

Please note that the current session will finish off this week at the regular venue – Williamstown Public School.

Support for Rev. Kerry

The cars were lined up on both sides of Bridge Street on Sunday as the community demonstrated an outpouring of support for the family of Rev. Kerry McDonald, who is in Ottawa waiting for a heart transplant.

More than 300 people from the area enjoyed the full breakfast put on by the Knights of Columbus at St. Mary's Centre, then went home with goodies baked by the CWL. Both groups wish to express their gratitude on behalf of the McDonalds.

50th anniversary

Congratulations to Pete and Alda Major who are celebrating their big 50th anniversary on May 2.

The Majors have three children – Debbie, Wayne and Valerie, who, along with their families, wish Pete and Alda well on their special occasion.

As do all of us!

Cancer Society garage sale

Are you squirreling up all those treasures for the big community garage sale being sponsored by the South Glengarry Cancer Society on May 10?

Items for donation may be dropped off at The Meeting Place on the Williamstown Fairgrounds, on May 8 and 9. To find out the times that the building will be open, please call 347-1030.

I've been asked to tell you that not only will there be a garage sale on that day, but a bake sale as well.

Contributions of baking will be most appreciated for the sale, as will your support in buying them.

Quilt fundraiser

A reminder to pick up your tickets for the Gala Fantasy Dessert and Auction, being held on May 9 at Nav Can in Cornwall at 7 p.m.

This is a fund-raiser for Invitation; the quilt of belonging. Please call 347-2381 for more information, or drop into the project headquarters at the old township hall in Williamstown.

Montreal fiddler leads workshop in Apple Hill

APPLE HILL

By Ann MacPhee

On April 13 at the Apple Hill Community Centre more than 100 people attended the annual Fiddle Workshop sponsored by the Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society.

In attendance were fiddlers of varied ages and abilities from the local area, Ottawa, New York, Metcalfe, Kemptville and other nearby towns, who gathered to share music, stories and hopefully to learn some new tunes or variations of traditional ones.

The guest fiddler this year was Laura Risk, a California native who presently lives in Montreal.

Laura began playing Scottish music as a teenager, studied under renowned Scottish violinist, Alistair Fraser and has performed in the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada. She has produced several CDs including one teaching CD.

During her performances Laura's expertise on the fiddle delighted the crowd as they enjoyed her beautiful and diverse repertoire. From her flawless rendition of the haunting slow airs to the driving deliverance of the foot tapping strathspeys and reels, Laura's passion for the music and the instrument was obvious.

FINE FIDDLING: Fiddler Laura Risk lead a well-attended workshop in Apple Hill on April 13.

CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

For an hour and a half, Laura became a teacher as she taught the fiddlers a Celtic tune not heard before by them.

Without music to guide them, Laura led them through a reel first with humming and then with the instrument. In addition, she demonstrated several ways of adding ornamentation to the basic tune.

The students, who ranged in age from pre-teens to seniors, were rapt in their attention to the teacher and both Laura and the workshop were judged an unqualified success.

In addition to Ms Risk's workshop, fiddlers worked on a number of traditional tunes, fine-tuning them for later performances.

In addition, local fiddlers performed; among them were the Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society; individual fiddlers, Allan MacPhail, Bernard McDonell, Ian MacLeod, Kelsey MacDonald; flautist, Jean Duval and pianists Catherine Olive Defreitas, Ruthanna MacPherson and Linda Dowker.

This was also the recital for the Tuesday night fiddle class which performed under the direction of their teacher, Donald MacPhee.

To close the afternoon, the group enjoyed a light lunch as they visited with old friends and made new ones.

Local poet has many projects on the go

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

Maxville native rob mclennan's latest offering is a booklet of four Glengarry poems, called appropriately enough, "4 Glengarry Poems."

Currently living in Ottawa, Mr. mclennan works as a poet, editor, publisher, critic and visual artist. He is about to release his eighth poetry collection. (He prefers to spell his name in lower case).

His own publishing company, above/ground press, is celebrating 10 years this year with an anthology. Selections will be taken from the 300 or so items, including chapbooks and magazines, which the company has published over those years.

Since his first book of poetry was published about eight years ago, the Glengarry District High School grad has produced one a year.

"Right now, I'm completing a novel; I'm always working on poetry. I'm working on a collection of essays and a collection of interviews with Canadian poets," he said.

In addition to his writing and editing work – he's edited six anthologies to date, Mr. mclennan also has a long-term plan in the works: a genealogical project on the McLennan and MacLennan families throughout Stormont and Glengarry.

"I've been working at it for seven or eight years," he said.

"It could be another 15 years: I'm still in the 1800s and I've found 45 unrelated families so far."

Mr. mclennan spends approximately two to five months of every year on reading tours. This fall, he will be touring the United States and next spring, he is bringing his poems to Europe.

A future project which he hopes to do is an anthology of Glengarry poetry and writing.

"It's something I've always wanted to do," he revealed.

This anthology would include writers from Glengarry, writers who passed through and those who wrote about the county.

"4 Glengarry Poems" can be picked up at Second Time Around Books on Main Street in Alexandria. It can also be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope, large enough to accommodate the 4.25 in by 5.5 in pamphlet, with a $0.77 stamp on it to: rob mclennan, 858 Somerset Street West, Main Floor, Ottawa ON, K1R 6R7.

Rabies control program working in Ontario

The Ministry of Natural Resources announced on April 15 the province has started its annual rabies control operations for 2003.

Cases of fox-strain rabies have dropped dramatically across Ontario to only 108 cases in 2002, down from 1,500 before control measures were implemented in 1989, a 93 per cent drop.

Confirmed raccoon rabies cases dropped 57 per cent in 2002 to 19, down from 45 cases in 2001.

In jurisdictions such as neighbouring New York State, which did not have proactive, multi-partner programs, the number of raccoon rabies cases has climbed to more than 4,000 in the initial four-year period. Ontario's MNR program has led to only 111 cases being confirmed in four years.

MNR representative Adam McAllister said it's because of teamwork that the rabies problem in Ontario isn't that great.

"As times move along we learn more and more about rabies. We learn new ways of how to control by researching DNA strains. It's been a partnership approach and the public is one of those partners. We had a good amount of knowledge going in when the rabies virus was moving up the eastern seaboard of the United States. We did our homework and talked with people who dealt with rabies before. We developed plans of how to combat the virus when it expands."

The province has a number of control measures in the fight against the deadly rabies virus: control measures at the point of infection (starting in early spring); trap-vaccinate-release programs (starting in late spring) and widespread aerial vaccine baiting (starting in late summer).

"Those control measures are done in places at high risk," said Mr. McAllister.

Mr. McAllister said there have been no confirmed cases of rabies in SDG and the closest the strain has been is in Spencerville. After the first case of rabies in Ontario was found in Brockville in 1999, is the virus heading this way?

"Because the virus spreads in more of a shot gun pattern we can't say if it moves in one way or another," said Mr. McAllister.

"It's not like the virus decides where it wants to move next."

Much of Ontario's success in controlling the spread of raccoon rabies stems from the introduction of a high-risk area in eastern Ontario since several cases of raccoon rabies were confirmed in 2000. It's believed some rabid raccoons travelled over the bridge from New York State on logging and other sorts of trucks.

"Raccoons do like to hitch hike and that's one way," said Mr. McAllister. They can also be relocated great distances after people find them to be nuisance because they get into garbage."

The first case of raccoon rabies in eastern Ontario was confirmed in 1999.

The rabies control program is a joint effort receiving input from a variety of partners including: regional health units, municipalities, wildlife rehabilitators, licenced trappers, wildlife control agents and aboriginal communities.

If a person is exposed to rabies and does not receive treatment before they show symptoms, the disease can be fatal.

Under the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, raccoons, skunks, foxes and most other wildlife cannot be kept without authorization. Keeping an orphan animal in your home could endanger you and your family.

Many Manor volunteers honoured

MAXVILLE

GORDON WINTER
527-2888

VOLUNTEERS MAKE A DIFFERENCE: The Maxville Manor held a Volunteer Appreciation Day on April 24. Volunteers were treated to a workshop by Betty Healey, a luncheon and a presentation by the Glengarry Toastmaster's Club. Volunteers marking milestone years were presented with awards. Here, from left, Gordon Winter (21 years), Barbara Lariviere (five years), Johanna Vandewielen (20 years). Mr. Winter was unfortunately overlooked during last year's volunteer appreciation ceremony, when he should have received a 20 year plaque. Absent are: five years (pin): Andre Bergevin, Leslie Chisholm, Bill McDonell, Rolland and Juliette Pommainville, John Williams; 20 years (plaque): Bev Gormley; 25 years (coin collection): Shirley MacGregor, Rev. Robert Martin, Mabel Watkins.

KRISTINA WILSON PHOTO

Thursday was the day set aside for the public identification of certain volunteers at Maxville Manor who had contributed fixed years of service to the volunteer program, there. This Volunteer Appreciation Event was held at the Sports Complex where about 100 volunteers were hosted.

Cuisine Volante from Alfred provided the excellent buffet luncheon.

After morning refreshments, volunteer co-ordinator, Phyllis Burtenshaw-Lalonde welcomed all and then introduced the speaker for the morning, Betty Healey, from Conrod-Jacques Consultants, Inc.

Her topic was "By Me, For Me" and in her talk she encouraged all to write their life stories, in which they would focus on their legacies and life-long contributions.

Five of those in attendance volunteered to tell stories of events that happened in the past and demonstrated how important it is to have all these stories written down.

After the luncheon, Mayor Bill Franklin brought greetings and thanked the volunteers for their contributions that enhance the lives of the Manor's residents.

Robert Kyle is president of the residents' council and he spoke with sincerity and humour in thanking all the volunteers. Mr. Kyle is 95 years old, did an excellent job in thanking and demonstrated how a gentleman at his age can still live life fully.

When it came time for the presentations, Mrs. Burtenshaw-Lalonde explained that she has a list of about 350 volunteers with 18 of them new this year and that there are 59 youths who visit residents on a weekly basis.

The volunteers who have served for five years received Volunteer Service Pins and they were Andre Bergevin, Barbara Lariviere, Leslie Chisholm, William McDonell, Rolland and Juliette Pommainville, and John Williams.

An inscribed plaque, for 20 years went to Bev Gormley and Johanna Vander Wielen. Gordon Winter's plaque indicated 21 years because he was inadvertently missed last year.

For their 25 years of volunteering, Shirley McGregor, the Rev. Robert Martin and Mabel Watkins were the recipients of a Canadian Coin Collection.

Helen Carrigy-McCaffrey, the Manor's Foundation manager, spoke briefly about a new outdoor recreation area that is to be developed from the Manor's front door down to the creek.

This project is to be the gift of a benevolent family and will be considered phase one of the entire development around the Manor for outdoor activities of the residents. The Foundation is raising funds for the balance of the project.

The Glengarry Toastmasters Club was responsible for the next hour of entertainment. Lorna Chapman, Barry MacDonald and Mrs. Healey gave presentations. The speakers also invited people to become better acquainted with their program.

Farewells were expressed at around 3 p.m. after an excellent day.

Sympathies

Suddenly on April 15, Tom Stritch died in his mobile home south of Alexandria. He had made friends here in the village when he and his late wife, Lucy, had moved into the home of Lucy's mother, the late Edna Rolland. In spite of his disability, Tom managed well and had made plans to visit his native Ireland.

Our sympathy goes to his son Patrick and Rebecca in London, to his daughter Kathleen and Stephane Therrien of Orleans and to his five grandchildren.

The wake was held here with the funeral in St. James Catholic Church.

Also Elsie and Kenzie MacLeod, Peter St. have been saddened with the death of a son-in-law, Chris Snippe, of Ottawa. The deceased was the husband of the MacLeods' daughter, Sandra. Our sympathy goes to all family members.

Home for Easter

Helen Hunter had her daughter, Margaret, home for Easter. For one day, they were accompanied by Marjorie and Doug Munroe to Orleans to attend the 75th birthday party of Mrs. Hunter's sister, Ruth Routliff.

Cindy MacLean, the wife of Mrs. Hunter's nephew, Doug, also paid her a visit.

Then Donald MacKillican from Kelowna, B.C., has been home to visit his sister, Margaret Munroe, and he, too, called on Mrs. Hunter.

Ag Wall of Fame

The late Ivan MacRae, a native of Athol, was a well deserving candidate for the Glengarry Agricultural Wall of Fame, last Friday evening. His wife, the former Hazel MacKercher, from London was here for the presentations and was accompanied by her two nieces, Joan and Betty.

Hazel grew up on the family farm, now owned by Gordon McIntosh, and has always had a soft spot in her heart for her home community.

Back from Florida

We welcome back home to Glen Garden Village, Barbara and Russ Surtees who have spent the winter in Florida.

Driving too fast

There has been mention in the local press that some motorists are travelling at excess speeds on Mechanic St. West. I would like to suggest that the authorities also monitor Main St. South and get the speeds used there under control. I see people travelling at speeds much higher that 50 km/hour almost every time I am on that street.

Benefits of urine

Some years ago, some area farmers diversified and kept pregnant mares for their urine that was collected and sold to drug companies. From this urine, female hormones were extracted and used as supplements for women.

For some reason, this explanation was never clear and still today, it is being said that the urine was used in the production of penicillin. Maybe it was easier to explain it this way but it isn't true.

Around 1940, Sir Alexander Fleming, accidently found that something was produced by a penicillium mould that would kill bacteria. This something was refined and became an antibiotic of great use during World War II.

The first pregnant mare urine farm that I remember was in 1946 and was that of the late Howard Kennedy. Many others came about and it was a thriving enterprise until the drug companies moved their facilities to the West. Now the P.M.U. farms are there.

Village clean-up

I was unable to use one announcement from YouthUNLTD but last Saturday had been set aside for members to help clean up the streets in the village. It was a wet day but I hope something was achieved and that we will notice the efforts of this group.

YouthUNLTD will be holding a rummage sale at the Maxville United Church this Thursday from 5-9 p.m., on Friday from 8 a.m.-9 p.m. and on Saturday from 8 a.m.- 2 p.m.

Items for the sale may be dropped off at the church to-day, Wednesday, all day, and on Thursday before the sale starts.

For information or to volunteer, you are asked to call the Youth Centre at 527-5251.

Euchre

The Young-at-Heart Seniors' Club is getting started to play euchre again. This year, a change is being made in the time of the parties.

As several people find night driving difficult, it was decided to have lunch at noon and begin the euchre party at 1.30 p.m. If there are some who do not wish to come for lunch, that will be perfectly all right, and they should plan to be at the Anglican Church for 1:30. There will be no lunch after the game.

All are encouraged to come out and have an afternoon of fun and fellowship and you may even win a prize.

The first party is Monday, in the Anglican Church Hall and one will follow every two weeks.

École St. Bernard

This is the April report from St. Bernard School, written by Michelle DeRepentigny.

There was lots of work to do in preparation for Easter and this included the Grade 8 girls decorating the windows.

A play was presented during Easter week and it dealt with Jesus' crucifixion.

On April 4, Mr. Marc Andre's class held a fund raising sport activity afternoon from 3-6 p.m.

For the week of April 7-13, the Eastern Ontario Health Unit challenged the students to avoid TV for the whole week.

On April 8, confessions were held at the school by Father Jacques Labelle. All students were encouraged to attend Palm Sunday services in preparation for Easter.

Our annual Jump Rope For Heart event to raise money for the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario was held on the 25th.

Last weekend, our school participated in the Alexandria District Chamber of Commerce Trade Show.

This week is Education Week and there are special projects on display.

Bridge

At the Saturday afternoon bridge party at the Manor last week, high scores were earned by Mary Nutter, Barbara Surtees and Margaret Anderson.

Curling club annual meeting

The Glengarry Curling Club held its annual meeting on April 26 and the following executive was elected:

President - Don Blaney, past president - Glenn MacKay, first vice-president - Mel Doucet, second vice-president - Audrey MacQueen, treasurer - Wally Welsh, secretary - Herb Holmes, and directors: Martine McDonald-Hill, Susan Hoar, Ann Kennedy, Betty McIntosh, Donald N. MacLeod, Elwyn McDonell, Carla Rolland, Janis Sobering, Michel Yelle, and Jonathan Morrison.

Emergency Preparedness Week
May 4 to 10, 2003
"Prepare now! Learn how!"

To all residents and businesses
Township of North Glengarry

As many of you will be aware, the Province of Ontario has now made emergency preparedness a mandatory responsibility for all municipalities. Your township has voluntarily had an Emergency Plan in place for several years. However, the Province's mandatory program now requires that we become more proactive in planning for potential emergency situations.

The effects of the Ice Storm of 1998 are still quite fresh in many people's memory. Incidents such as the recent train derailment near Belleville, the water crisis in Walkerton and the SARS health emergency are reminders that situations affecting the health and safety of all of us can happen at any time and in any place. Emergency preparedness week provides us with an opportunity to think about our own preparedness should the unthinkable happen.

All residences and businesses in North Glengarry will have recently received a brochure entitled "Be prepared, not scared". I ask that you not only read this brochure but that you act upon its recommendations. Emergency preparedness really starts with you and your family. If you have an emergency kit and are aware of the Township's emergency program then you'll be ready for whatever may happen. If you need advice on emergency preparedness, I recommend that you contact Garry Smith, the Community Emergency Management Co-ordinator, at 525-3818. He will be pleased to assist you.

On behalf of the Council of the Township of North Glengarry, I encourage you to observe Emergency Preparedness Week, May 4 to 10, by taking action to promote the health and safety of your family, friends and loved ones.

Bill Franklin
Mayor

Semaine de la Protection Civile du 4 au 10 mai 2003
"Préparez-vous maintenant! Apprenez comment!"

À tous les citoyennes et citoyens
Canton de Glengarry nord

Comme plusieurs d'entre vous doivent être au courant, la province de l'Ontario a maintenant donné le mandat à toutes les municipalités de préparer un plan de mesures d'urgence. Votre municipalité a volontairement planifié un plan d'urgence depuis déjà plusieurs années. Cependant le programme mandatoire de la province requiert maintenant que nous soyions plus proactifs en planification pour les situations potentielles d'urgence.

Les effets de la tempête de verglas de 1998 sont encore assez frais dans la mémoire des gens. Les incidents comme le déraillement d'un train qui a eu lieu près de Belleville, la crise de l'eau à Walkerton et l'urgence de santé du SARS sont des rappels que des situations affectant la santé et la sécurité de nous tous peuvent arriver en tout temps et à n'importe quel endroit. La semaine de la protection civile nous fournit l'occasion de penser à notre propre état de préparation si un incident impensable et désastreux arrivait.

Toutes les résidences et commerces de Glengarry nord ont reçu récemment une brochure intitulée "Se préparer non s'inquiéter". Je vous demande non seulement de lire la brochure mais d'agir selon les recommandations. La planification des mesures d'urgence commence réellement par vous et votre famille. Si vous avez une trousse d'urgence et êtes au courant du programme des mesures d'urgence du canton, vous serez donc prêts si quoi que ce soit d'imprévu arrive. Si vous avez besoin de conseils sur la planification des mesures d'urgence, je vous suggère de vous adresser à Garry Smith, the coordonnateur communautaire pour la gestion d'urgence au 525-3818. M. Smith se fera un plaisir de vous aider.

Au nom du Conseil du canton de Glengarry nord, je vous encourage à observer la semaine de la protection civile du 4 au 10 mai afin de promouvoir la santé et la sécurité de votre famille, vos amis et toutes les personnes que vous tenez à coeur.

Bill Franklin, maire

Elda Rouleau students to receive First Communion

This evening at 7 p.m. at the St. Finnan's Cathedral, our Grade 2 students will receive the sacrament of Confirmation.

Many thanks to the Knights of Columbus for their generous donation to the students receiving this sacrament. These same students will receive First Communion at Église Sacré Coeur on Sunday at 11 a.m. We invite everyone to assist in these special moments.

Karine Ranger-McCarthy along with the class representatives will participate in the pastoral gathering at Église St-Alphonse de Liguori in Hawkesbury on Thursday. During the ceremony the money collected at Elda Rouleau for CHEO ($184) and our friends in Haïti ($180) will be presented.

Many classes are organizing a card party inviting grandparents, parents, aunts and uncles to join in the fun. These card games will be held Friday from 12:30 p.m. to 13:50 p.m. as part of education week.

A special thank you to all the students that represented our school at the 5th Chess Tournament held in Cornwall. Congratulations to Julie Crevier for winning a silver medal and to Teri Currier for winning bronze. Thank you to Clothilde Howieson, Marcel Ranger, Curtis MacMillan and Diane Maheu for driving and supervising our young players!

Come and encourage our cyclists in the Big Bike event held Sunday to raise funds for the Heart and Stroke Foundation. The bike will leave from Subway at 8:30 a.m. Many students, staff members and parents will be representing École Elda Rouleau!

Best of luck to our girls' and boys' volleyball teams this week-end! They will be participating in the Franco-Tournament held in Cornwall.

Thank you to everyone that helped out in the preparation of the "Écoles Catholiques de l'Est Ontarien" booth at the Alexandria and District trade show last week-end! It was obvious that many hours had been dedicated to this! All the children enjoyed a bounce in the castle and free cotton candy! Volunteers from French Catholic schools in the region played a major part into assuring the successfulness of this project. A special thank you to Sylvie MacLennan for overseeing the schedule of the volunteers and making sure the entire weekend went really well!

Church not closing

GREEN VALLEY

MARGO PEPIN
525-3581

At mass this past Sunday at Eglise Ste. Marie, Pere Marcel assured everyone that contrary to rumours, our church, Ste. Marie, would not be closed. A round of applause by everyone greeted this news. Let's hope it's true.

Initiation

The Daughters of Isabella will be holding its initiation this Saturday, at Iona in St. Raphael's.

It all begins at 12:30 p.m. with mass at Eglise Ste. Marie at 5 pm. followed by a supper at the Bonnie Glen. All members are asked to attend this function. For more information call Monique Keeler at 347-7539.

Mother's Day tickets

For those who wish tickets for the Mother's Day draw at Eglise Ste. Marie on May 11 you can contact Gisele Martin at 525-3960. Tickets are $20 each with two chances to win $1,000 and five chances to win $100. If you don't have a ticket, you can't win.

50th anniversary

How long is fifty years? We could ask Aurele and Rejeanne (Campeau) Lajoie who celebrate 50 years of marriage this May 2.

As Rejeanne told me, there were good times and some not too good, but together their love grew stronger through the years.

From this union were born three boys, Roch, Robert and Jacques, and also eight grandchildren, four boys and four girls.

To mark the occasion, a reception will be held on May 24 at the Bonnie Glen and everyone is welcome.

As Rejeanne says, life continues and so does her work with doing trips. She still has a few places for the cruise from Montreal to Quebec on June 29 and a trip to Georgian Bay from July 12 to 18, La Petite Rouge from Aug. 11 to 15.

If interested in any or all of these trips, Rejeanne can be reached at 525-3700.

She would also like to send some members of her family birthday wishes: Marie France, May 5; Simon Pierre, May 9; her husband Aurele, May 14 and son Roch, May 28. We wish Aurele and Rejeanne many more years of wedded bliss.

Monthly meeting

The Green Valley Knights of Columbus will be holding its regular monthly meeting on May 6 and all members are asked to attend. Members are also asked to please return all tickets for the car draws as the drawing date approaches.

On Sunday, May 28 a brunch will be held in the Green Valley Community Centre by the Knights of Columbus to celebrate Pere Gerald Poirier, who celebrates 80 years of age.

Pere Gerald was the founder of the Green Valley Knights of Columbus council 9435 and he will be celebrating the 9:45 a.m. mass at Ste. Marie along with Pere Marcel.

If you wish to attend the lunch, call Yves Joanette for tickets at 525-2076. The cost is $10/person and there is a limited number of places.

God bless and have a safe week.

Generous donation of trees marks Earth Day

LANCASTER
MARG MILLETT
347-2207
FAX 347-1297

Now you see them. Now you don't. The Raisin Region Conservation Authority had a generous idea for the celebration of Earth Day. It was well advertised. They received many phone calls before the day and I even received a few calls about this project.

Come from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and receive 10 white spruce seedlings to plant. Make the Earth a better place.

Well, Barry and I were in Cornwall before the assigned time so we did a few errands. By the time we arrived, ten minutes after 10 a.m., the trees were all gone! And the cars were still pouring into the parking lot at Gray's Creek Marina.

Luckily, a very nice lady came walking back to the shed holding out two lots of trees saying that they would be too big. She gave me one bag. Some guy who was going to make the best of a bad situation, too grabbed the other bunch from my reach.

Never look a gift horse in the mouth . . or something like that. The RRCA was generous and had the best of intentions. Treehaven and Redwood Estate will have some nice white spruce growing up along with the next generations. From the literature provided it would seem that a possible life span for these trees, probably in the best of environments, is up to 300 years!

Good news from St. Andrew's

The month of April has been a busy month for the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. Following the morning service on Sunday, April 6th. a "Farewell Luncheon" was held in the church hall for Student Intern, Kelly MacPhail. Kelly's husband, Mr. MacPhail, has worked with the congregation in a number of areas, including worship, since September 2002. All enjoyed his presence, and faith. A beautiful book of memories was presented to him, as well as a gift of money, on his last Sunday with the congregation.

On April 13 the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was held and celebrated by 125 members and visitors. During the service the Session of St. Andrew's was pleased to welcome into the church family, Mrs. Sheila Robson.

On April 20, the Men's Fellowship Group hosted a bountiful Easter Breakfast to over 70 people. This was the second time for the group to serve breakfast prior to the Easter service, and, by all accounts, it won't be the last.

Worship was held at 11 a.m. with close to 200 people celebrating the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

On Sunday, the congregation welcomed Rev. Geoff Howard to its pulpit as part of the Presbytery of Seaway-Glengarry's Pulpit Exchange. Following the service the weekly Coffee Fellowship Hour was held in the church hall. At that time, Lyall MacLachlan presented Agnes Petrie a bouquet of roses in celebration of her recent induction into the Glengarry Agricultural Wall of Fame. Mrs. Petrie is an active member of St. Andrew's church and is involved in many aspects of St. Andrew's life and work.

The congregation of St. Andrew's is reminded and encouraged to invite a friend to church on Sunday. Anne Kanz, with Ken Johns on the clarinet, will present special piano music. There will also be a fun-filled program for the children in the church hall. Everyone is welcome!

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women are hosting a 'Mother's Day Tea, Bake Sale and Silent Auction' on May 10 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Some items up for auction include: a gardener's basket, an afternoon tea basket, a dinner table basket, and a baker's basket, to name but a few. Everyone is invited to this popular event.

Polar Express

I had a nice chat with Rosann Carr on Sunday afternoon. Recently Rosann returned from a nursing stint up north. She is very busy with a nursing schedule here and just being a mom, and also overseeing major renovations to the Carr home.

What was really pleasant was to see Emily, Rosann and Sheldon's daughter. She is home from school, from the University of Windsor, working on a degree in fine arts. Emily, who is a fine singer, is learning skills as an artist, and, who knows where that will lead.

Emily showed me her portfolio and it was full of dramatic and strong pictures. It's always nice to see what the youth of our community are doing. Emily has goals and it should be exciting to tune in and hear the adventures, as she finds her way in life. Now, take up writing, Emily, and you just might follow in the footsteps of a famous Canadian writer, and artist, by the same name... Emily Carr!

More news of our youth

On the same note, is the latest adventure of Chantal Chretien, formerly of Lancaster. Chantal's parents, Rene and Diane Chretien must be very proud of her. She is a regional marketing manager of Adidas, you know, the running shoes company. She lives in Toronto and travels a lot with her job

You may be aware that Adidas is a sponsor of the Boston Marathon. Since December, Chantal and some friends have been training for this Marathon and, with great excitement, took part in the most recent Boston Marathon of more than 42 kilometres. Needless to say it was a successful adventure and Chantal finished in some four hours and 20 minutes. A great time for a first effort.

If you watched the television coverage you may be aware that there are chips in the shoes. Online, it was easy to follow each runner, all along the route .. a modern way to keep a family in the picture of such events. Congratulations, Chantal!

Battle of the Atlantic

It's the 60th Anniversary of the Battle of the Atlantic. Legion Branches all over the country are planning special celebrations for this event in our history. A source of mine tells me that during that time 24 Canadian ships were sunk, as well, 50 U-Boats and 110,000 members of the Navy were lost. The Canadian Merchant Marines made 25,000 trips to the watery battlefields and lost 25,000 men in that effort. A time to honour these men and women, and our veterans, after 60 years, indeed.

On Friday, the Lancaster Legion will be holding its special celebrations. Come to the Legion from 6 p.m. for cocktails. This will be followed by a special service at 7 p.m. A hot buffet diner will be served at 8 p.m. Tickets, for $7 are limited. You may purchase them at the Legion bar or call 347-2290.

Sealed Auction still on

It's the end of the month again and the Sealed Auction for the Duck's Unlimited print, that sits in the Lancaster Bank of Montreal, will go to the highest bidder by May 1. Not too late to make a bid. Will let you know the results soon.

Winners

Well, Puddle Duck has retired for a while. His Easter Egg hunt at the Cooper Marsh was great fun for families. The Cooper Marsh Conservators would like to announce the winners of draw prizes for this event.

Congratulations to Zachary Jones, Delphine Buzay, Sarah Elliott, Roby McAfee, Catherine Proulx, Adam Pilon, Liette Lalonde, Jason Kuiders, Robbie Moffatt, Chanelle Pilon, Dianne Runions, Olivia Dirven, Julie Dobeil and Ashley, whose last name is unknown.

Conservators will hold their next meeting on Thursday at the Cooper Marsh Visitors' Centre. Come at 7 p.m. New members are most welcome.

Join in the outdoors fun

The Outdoors Club has a few nice things lined up for the first two weeks of May: yoga on the 3rd, a leisure hike at the Bird Sanctuary in Ingleside on the 4th, bike repair workshop on the 10th, and a moonlight canoe at Cooper Marsh on the 16th. It's canoe camping in Perth on the long weekend. Call Rose-Marie at 347-3677 for information.

Well, there are ducks swimming by our house, the songbirds and swallows are back and the grass is greening up. Happy spring. Enjoy yourselves and have a super week everybody.

NORTH LANCASTER

INEZ FRANKLIN

Plan to attend the annual St. Margaret of Scotland Parish Spring Bake and Plant Sale this Saturday, from 1-3 p.m. in the North Lancaster Optimist Club.

The good people of the parish are diligently poring over their recipe books and flower beds this week as they prepare their donations for this event.

It's always fun to see what new perennials show up for a trial in your yard!

New this year is the Mother's Appreciation Tea. It will be held with the bake/plant sale and provides an opportunity for you to treat a friend to a light repast over a spot of tea or coffee. Don't limit yourself to bringing your mother – a friend of either gender worthy of your appreciation is a candidate! Everyone is most welcome!

Firefighters' brunch

The North Lancaster Firefighters will be flipping and frying at the Optimist Club for their annual Sunday brunch from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

This event provides a hearty breakfast of sausages, bacon, eggs, home fries and more, all served by the firefighters of the village station.

Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment so your support may some day reap the benefits! The firefighters look forward to serving you this Sunday. Join them!

Ecole Ste Therese

CSDCEO hosted a parents' forum in Green Valley on April 29. Eight representatives from the Ste. Therese school community attended this venue to discover what plans the school board has for the coming year.

Teachers from Ste. Therese will attend a similar event at Ecole Elda Rouleau on Thursday, while four students will represent their peers at concurrent meetings. Student reps are Emilie Beriault, Sebastien Bourdeau, Michel Lapierre and Sylvie Samson.

To take their minds off administrative things students will be treated to a play this Friday. Pre-kindergarten to Grade 4 classes will attend the musical "La Ferme de Jo-Jo" at Ecole Ste. Marie while Grades 5 to 8 will remain at Ecole Ste. Therese to see "Memoire d'un Pays".

S.J. McLeod Public School

Plenty of activity lately keeping the SJM students busy! A number of aspiring writers from Grades 4 to 6, Brennan Gallagher, Amanda Oeggerli, Chris Sweeney, Steven Rattray, Jaclyn Cecereu, Annie Franklin, Kayla Cuggy, Chloe Kiddell, Maddy Poplett, Violet MacNeil and Hannah Arsenault-Daniels attended the Young Authors Conference last Wednesday at the Cornwall Civic Complex. There they joined students from schools throughout the UCDSB area to meet published authors Chris Jackson and Caroline Perry in two 50 minute sessions.

A number of activities was held during the day including sessions in which the students shared an edited piece of their own writing with other young authors.

All received a personal journal to continue with their literacy aspirations and a certificate of participation.

Thanks to teachers Roxanne McDonell and Cindy Danaher for facilitating this trip.

Bike Rodeo

The good souls of the Lancaster Optimist Club provided transportation to and from their annual Bike Rodeo for a group of willing Grade 3 participants.

The OPP and the Optimists put the riders through their paces on an obstacle course at the Williamstown Arena and helped put the kids on a path to safety for a summer of biking fun.

Many thanks to all who organized this event for the students.

Fantasy theatre

Last Friday the students of Roxanne McDonell's Grade 5/6 class gave a lively performance of two plays: "Once Upon a Hundred Years Nap" and "Live: It's Fairy Tale News!"

All classes attended and were vastly entertained by these talented actors! Their attention to detail in costumes, dialogue and expression earns them, and their coach, two thumbs up.

Taffy Party

A rite of spring took place last Sunday when Lorna (John J.) MacLeod and her family threw their annual taffy party. The weather co-operated beautifully and all who could pull their teeth apart from the sticky treat enjoyed the chance to visit with their neighbours and find out just which children belonged to whom.

Many thanks to Lorna and company for a very pleasant afternoon!

Congrats!

A sincere congratulations to Agnes Petrie on her induction into the Agricultural Wall of Fame! Her portrait has hung in my personal Gallery of Honour from way back when I was in Grade 1 and embarking on a long career of sleepovers at the Petrie home!

She has always been known for her contributions to the community, but also for the hospitality she and John offered to her family and friends.

A well deserved honour! Congratulations.

Community sympathy

Condolences to the family of Claude Bourdeau, formerly of North Lancaster who was buried in Lancaster last Monday.

Good wishes

A number of North Lancaster area residents were at the brunch on Sunday to benefit Deacon Kerry Macdonald who is in the Ottawa Heart Institute. We extend our best wishes for a return to good health and his good work in the very near future to Kerry.

Birthday wishes

Last but not least: the birthday brigade this week is led by a gentleman who happens to be a good friend of mine and a highly esteemed resident of the village and of St. Margaret's Parish in Glen Nevis. Leonide Rozon will turn 75 years young on May 12 and on behalf of his many friends we wish him a very happy birthday!

Leonide is the euchre-master of Glen Nevis and North Lancaster. He informs me that he will be organizing teams for a Seniors Euchre night at the Alexandria Legion every Monday night at 8 p.m. commencing May 5. Have fun!

Birthday greetings are also extended to Kathy Thompson, Ian MacDonald and Sylvie Rozon all of whom have or will celebrate!

JEAN MACLENNAN
874-2385

Although the rain cut the Laggan Recreation Work Day short this past Saturday morning, about 40 people gathered and were able to fix most of the soccer field areas, rake the lawns, clean the garbage and tidy many of the flowerbeds.

A special thanks goes out to the local cadets who really made a difference, the members of Laggan Recreation Association who organized and did so much work, Billie and Everett Nixon who just continue to dedicate so much time and effort to the school and the staff members, students and parents who came out and contributed.

Another short work day will be scheduled soon to finish up what needs to be done. If you missed the opportunity to help and would like to contribute to the effort to tidy of the school grounds at the next work day give principal Gary Palmer a call at 525-3112.

The Grade 8 class has decided to attend Ecole Verte from June 9-11 as its year-end trip. In the next few weeks the students will be likely selling cookie dough and muffin mix in order to offset some of the costs. They would appreciate your support. As well, some Grade 8 students are attending the mini-enrichment courses next week at Ottawa and Carleton universities. Teacher Wendy MacDonald has been coordinating this excellent opportunity for some of our graduating students.

39'ers don many hats

GLEN SANDFIELD

LORNA CHAPMAN
874-2408

The 39'ers Seniors Club met on April 16 for its regular monthly luncheon meeting.

The buffet dinner was excellent with a really good variety of hot and cold dishes. The jellied salads were to die for (so to speak!)

O Canada opened the brief business meeting. Jock McCabe won Howard Barclay's 50/50 draw which was a nice birthday gift for him since Jock's was the only one celebrated at that meeting.

He proceed to give his financial report and as treasurer Jock inquired if the membership would agree for the club to be registered as a non-profit charity, so we could avoid the bank charges. He was told to go ahead with his inquiry.

The Fall Bake Sale was discussed again and everyone accepted the idea that baking should be the main fund-raiser but that other tables would be on hand as well; attic treasures and a craft table.

The date will probably be set for November and more information will be forthcoming in plenty of time for the event.

President Audrey Elliott adjourned the formal meeting and Howard's Jean Lajoie tape accompanied the Easter Hat Parade. Prizes were donated for the funniest hat and two for the prettiest hats. The men got into the act, like the good sports that they are, with Clifford Cuggy sporting a bunny-rabbit head band over his baseball cap. Actually there were nine models in all.

The funny hat models were Howard, Clifford Cuggy and Dot Burnett. The most charming hat parade included Shirley Cuggy, Lorna Chapman, Dot Lashta, Bev Hamlin and Kathe Persike. Dot Lashta had the prettiest hat, with Bev Hamlin's taking second prize.

I didn't envy the executive judges their difficult duties one bit!

Bingo games followed the parade with caller Howard Barclay on duty. The winners were Audrey Elliott, Dot Burnett, Clifford Cuggy, Christina MacKenzie, Sadie MacMillan, Oris Spencer and Jock McCabe.

The Bingo 50/50 game was won by Betty Malpass.

The next meeting will be held at the same place on May 21 with the meal at noon. We are to have a nurse come to talk to the group about the dreaded West Nile virus and SARS.

It promises to be a very interesting meeting. Members are invited to bring a friend as a guest that day. If you are bringing a guest, please notify the lunch committee ahead of time.

Sunday worship

Sunday morning worship is celebrated each week at 10 a.m. in Glen Sandfield United Church and at 11:15 a.m. in East Hawkesbury United Church. Visitors are always welcome.

Maxville Jr. C hockey club up for sale

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Maxville and District Lions Club announced last week that the village's junior C hockey team is up for sale.

According to Lions club member Harry Lalonde it was never intended for the Lions Club to own the Maxville Mustangs but rather to act more as a backer of the club.

"We don't want to own the team or have the responsibility to look after it," said Lalonde who also sits on the Mustangs' board along with Murray MacMillan, Garry Howes and George Currier.

"We're putting it out to tender. We've talked about this for months and decided to do this on April 21. It has nothing to do with the product on the ice, it's just we did not intend to be the owner. There's two or three local groups already interested."

The news may alarm fans of the club, which are among the largest attendance-wise throughout the league, but there should be a sense of relief because the team isn't going anywhere.

As part of a letter put out to prospective buyers from the Lions Club there's a list of conditions to the sale.

They include that the team will remain in the community for five years and in the event that the new owner (s) wish to relocate the team it must first be offered back to the Lions Club at the current owner's original price.

There is a reserve bid of $2,500 for the team which paid $1,800 in 1999 to join the league.

There was one step the Lions Club had to surpass before putting the team up for sale that may have seen the team relocate however.

The Mustangs (former Finch Express) were bought from Finch resident Barry Brownlee. As part of the purchasing agreement the team had to be offered back to Brownlee before it could be put up for sale. Brownlee declined.

Lalonde, whose son Kevin is an assistant coach with the Mustangs, said the staff have nothing to worry about.

"There will be no management changes."

There has been one move already though.

Team president Ron McCrory, also a Lions Club member said he will not resume his position as president, whether he's asked to or not.

Shying away from sharing too much of his obvious frustration with the current events, McCrory did offer some of his feelings about the sale.

"To keep it simple they don't want to be involved with the team. I'm stunned and have been since they told me. It's not a very good time for me right now. We put a lot of time and money into that team."

After initially contemplating forming a bid himself, with other local hockey enthusiasts, McCrory eventually decided against it.

Mustangs' general manager and head coach Andre Paquette said he feels there is a chance he may not be asked to come back.

Ron McCrory

Andre Paquette

"My job is never secure and to me it's a business but hopefully we can keep our positions. I would like to stay."

Like McCrory, Paquette said he was surprised to hear the news.

"If you're looking for a reason why the team is for sale, I can't answer. I heard some rumours here and there but I didn't listen to them. We never had any problems with the Lions Club and to me they did a great job. We have had probably the best crowd in the league the past couple of years."

As president of the NGS minor hockey system on top of his Mustangs' duties, Paquette said it's important to keep the team in Maxville.

"It's very important because we have great players coming up. If there's no junior C team, where are they going to play? Some of them look forward to playing with the Mustangs, if they don't see that opportunity maybe they will quit the game."

When told of the news that McCrory said he won't be back as president, Paquette admitted he heard that through the grapevine as well.

"Ron did a great job for years there. It's his decision to leave and maybe with new owners I'll be out too. He did the best he could for the team and Brian (Wensink) also did a great job."

All three men served with the team for all four years except for Wensink who couldn't fully commit himself this year because of out of town work.

According to McCrory the team made $2,800 in profits last season.

He added that it may surprise some to find out the finances it takes to run a junior C team.

McCrory rhymed off some of the costs for last season which totalled $25,267.01.

Insurance fees ($2,422), junior C team fee ($1,000), referees ($2,952), ice ($8,415), sticks ($2,500), pucks ($75), socks ($480) and other costs include tape, advertising, training camp, time keepers, team banquet and all-star program.

Lalonde said the reason for selling the team was not a money issue.

"The team has not cost the Lion's Club money. We're in the black thanks to donations and the booster club."

Over the years the team has formed a bond with Scotiabank in Maxville who have donated money to support them.

McCrory feels that if the ownership of the team becomes private, the bank may back out of sponsorship.

The first hurdle of the ownership however would be to seek approval from the league's executive.

All sealed offers will be accepted until the closing date on May 6 and a private opening of all tenders will be on that day.

Tender results will be available on or before May 7 and all parties who submitted bids will be notified.

For additional information contact Harry Lalonde at 537-2433 (day) or 346-2176 (evening).

Glengarry soccer teams undefeated

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Although the Char-Lan senior Crusaders played to a 1-1 draw with St. Joseph's Monday, all four of Glengarry's high school girls' soccer teams remain unbeaten this season.

Both of Glengarry District High School's teams are 4-0 while Char-Lan's junior team is 4-0 and the senior squad is 3-0-1.

Meanwhile in Avonmore both of Tagwi's teams are unbeaten with the juniors defeating St. Joe's Panthers last week and the senior squad playing to a draw against the senior Panthers.

On Monday GDHS and the Glengarry Sports Palace field hosted the most recent soccer action.

A strong wind set back the talent of all teams involved in the action Monday but with thunderstorms in the forecast and after coming off a snowy start to the season, the players didn't mind the weather so much.

At GDHS the senior Gaels opened their day with a 3-0 win over Seaway.

Laura McCorkell scored twice and Melanie Hamilton added a single.

In the senior Gaels' next game they defeated the Panthers 2-0 on goals from Emmaly McCorkell and Gillian McCauley.

Kristy Kennedy recorded both shutouts.

The junior Gaels also won a pair of games starting with a 4-0 victory over Seaway.

Sarah Chisholm, Katie Gallagher, Chelsea MacGillivray and Chelsea MacPherson scored while Leah Hardy recorded the shutout.

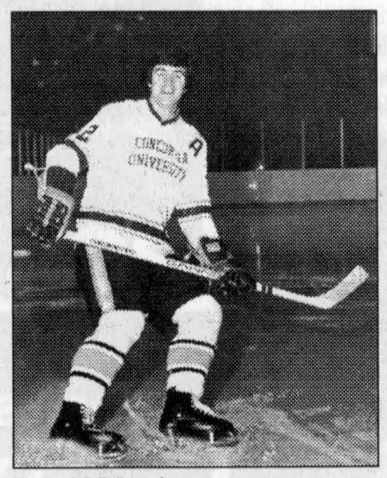
On Friday, April 25, 2003, Don Morris of Alexandria was inducted into the Concordia University Sports Hall of Fame.

Donald Morris was one of Concordia University's first great men's hockey stars.

The high-scoring defenceman was a two-time QUAA all-star and he was a CIAU All-Canadian in his senior year.

In his four seasons, he played 161 games, scoring 68 goals and adding 113 assists. These remarkable statistics earned him a place among the top 10 all-time scorers in Concordia history.

A strong puck-handler and an exceptional skater, he helped Concordia win its first conference title in 1974-75. The following year, he was a leader on one of the most dominant Canadian university men's hockey teams ever.



Donald Morris

The 1975-76 Stingers compiled a staggering 43-3-1 record. Donald was also a key contributor in the Loyola Warriors finals days, helping the team win one last championship in 1972-73.

Sharing in Morris's celebration were wife Debbie and daughter Erin; mother Gwen; brothers Bill, John and Cleary; sister Grace; sister-in-law Alana; cousin Maureen and friends Rodney and Darlene Shepherd, Lori Filion and Stanley and Jackie Fraser.

Colts good hosts during Fred Page Cup event

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

In the end it was the Quebec representatives who captured the championship, but Cornwall had plenty to be happy for after hosting the Fred Page Cup last week.

For the first time in team history the Cornwall Colts were named hosts of the event (which declares a champion among tier II junior A teams in eastern Canada).

The Cornwall Civic Complex was rocking throughout the week as the Nepean Raiders (Central Junior A Hockey League champions), Cornwall (host), Charlottetown Abbies (Maritimes champions) and Lennoxville Cougars (Quebec champions) butted heads for one common goal of reaching the Royal Bank Cup (Canadian championship to be held in Charlottetown this year).

Al Wagar

"We were very pleased with the support from the city," said Colts head coach and owner Al Wagar.

"The committee spent a lot of hours of hard work in organizing this and it was well put on."

After being eliminated in the first round of the CJHL playoffs by the Ottawa Jr. Senators, Cornwall held a mini-training camp to prepare for the event. It was difficult to get back into game shape.

"We were off for five weeks and when we weren't in the same shape as those teams who were just coming off their playoffs," said Wagar, a resident of Williamstown.

"I was pleased with the way the boys played though because we finished second in the round robin play. I would've liked to play Lennoxville in the final but they were very good and no team in that event was going to beat them."

In their first match on April 23 the Colts picked up a 3-2 win over the highly-touted Abbies squad.

Pat Turcotte scored twice and David Goodland added a single. Lennoxville got past Nepean 5-2 on the same day.

In their next game the following day the Colts fell to eventual champion Lennoxville 5-0.

In a surprising twist the Abbies were eliminated from the semi-finals after falling in consecutive games this time to Nepean 3-1.

Wagar said it was a lack of discipline that cost Charlottetown a chance to win.

"They were disgraceful towards hockey. They were trying to maim people and that's not what hockey's about. Nepean was a great team, they won our league. Lennoxville was a pleasure to watch."

In the Colts' final round robin game on April 25 they picked up their second win with a 2-1 overtime victory over Nepean. Jeremy Leroux and Jay Griffiths scored in the win.

Lennoxville escaped without any significant injuries but lost their game against Charlottetown 7-5.

On April 26 the tournament held their awards banquet.

Colts' goaltender Christian Boucher (picked up from the Cumberland Grads) was named most valuable player. Cougars' Julien Cardinal was given the sportsmanship award.

Tournament all-stars included: goaltender- Boucher (Colts), defence- Glenn Piercey (Colts) and Mathieu Pelletier (Cougars) and forwards- Pierre-Luc Gosselin (Cougars), Carl Gagnon (Cougars) and Andre Sandryzk (Raiders).

Later in the day the Colts and Raiders played in the semi-final match and it was Nepean who earned a berth in the final with a 3-2 overtime win.

Leroux and Jason Lepine scored in the loss. Turcotte had two assists.

Wagar said he wasn't overly pleased with the results from this season and several changes are expected for next year. Planning for the 2003-04 season begins today when Wagar meets with members of his scouting staff.

In the final on April 27 Lennoxville walked away with the championship after a 4-0 win over Nepean.

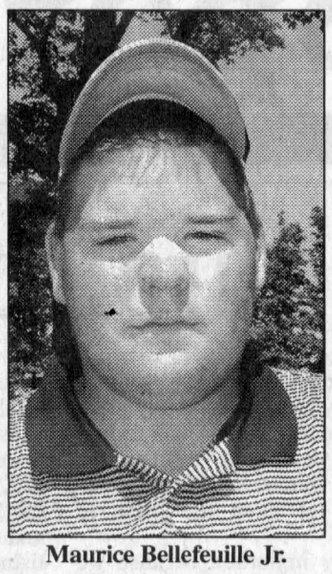
Local golfer snatched of scholarship opportunity

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

It had nothing to do with his playing ability but an Alexandria golfer lost his scholarship hopes from a golf school in the United States recently.

Maurice Bellefeuille Jr., one of the top up-and-coming golfers in Glengarry, made a trip to Dennison, Texas with Glengarry Golf and Country Club pro Chris Learmonth in late March.

Learmonth, a former student at Grayson College, used his connections to the school to get Bellefeuille a scholarship opportunity.



Maurice Bellefeuille Jr.

Upon arriving in Dennison (near Dallas) on March 26, the pair rested and headed to the golf course owned by Grayson College the following day.

While asking for their clubs at the pro shop the school's golf coach approached Bellefeuille with the bad news.

"He told me that the school cancelled the golf program because of budget problems," said Bellefeuille.

"I find that strange because they own their own golf course."

Despite the setback Bellefeuille was ready to point out the positives behind the news.

"It was a good experience to go that far and see some of the United States. We played 27 holes while we were there too. It's not that bad. Stuff happens for a reason. I'm planning to go to Humber College either in September or January in the professional golf management program."

Bellefeuille will be joined by fellow GGCC golfer Matt Cooney at Humber in the same program.

Bellefeuille said he was thankful at the opportunity Learmonth and the golfing coach at Grayson were willing to give him.

"Chris also gave me a job at (GGCC) so that's pretty huge. He supports all the juniors really well and he's really happy when you do well. I'm sure the coach at Grayson is upset as well. He's the director of golfing so I'm sure his job isn't so secure."

As the 2003 golfing season begins, Bellefeuille is looking forward to his first season not as a junior.

"I'm very confident and I've been hitting the ball very well. I'm not a junior anymore so I'll be entering some bigger tournaments, a lot will be in Quebec where they have big amateur events."

Bellefeuille has already played six times in the United States and four times in Ontario this season. Including once in Lancaster.

Char-Lan juniors win another pair of games

In their next game Melanie Gauthier, MacGillivray and Mary Jane O'Shea scored in a 3-1 win over St. Joseph's.

Meanwhile at the GSP field the Char-Lan juniors also ran their record to 4-0.

In their first game against St. Joseph's, Ashley Finnamore recorded the shutout in a 2-0 win.

Kelsey Thompson and Claude Beaupre each scored.

In their next game Finnamore recorded another shutout in a 3-0 win over Seaway.

Beaupre scored twice and Callie Cothfaluse added a single.

The senior Crusaders opened with a 1-1 draw with St. Joseph's after the Panthers scored late to tie the game.

Jenna McIntosh had the Crusaders' goal.

Despite losing goaltender Renee Beaupre to injury and resting some of their key players, the Crusaders responded with a 5-0 win over Seaway in their next match.

Julianna Richard led the way with three goals while Andrea Beaupre and Christine Sandilands added singles. Bobbi-Lee Chatelaine replaced Beaupre in goal.

Action from April 23

The season opened at Char-Lan District High School in Williamstown on April 23.

The senior Crusaders opened their season with a 5-0 win over La Citadelle.

Christina Julien scored three times and Andrea Beaupre and Richard added singles.

Renee Beaupre recorded the shutout.

In their next game Beaupre recorded another shutout in a 6-0 win over North Dundas.

Julien added another three goals and Melissa Tierney added two. Jenny Larkin also scored.

The junior Crusaders were also 2-0 in opening day action starting with a 5-1 win over La Citadelle.

Thompson and Claude Beaupre scored two each while Hannah Humphries added a single.

In their next game Finnamore was perfect in a 5-0 win over North Dundas.

Allison Jarvo with three and Thompson with two handled the scoring.

Warriors results

Also on April 23 the Tagwi Warriors opened their season at home in Avonmore.

The junior squad was victorious over St. Joe's by a 3-0 score.

Dana Munro, Emilia Valanovo and Kaela MacMillan scored in the win.

In senior action the Warriors and Panthers tied 0-0 with Ann-Marie Wheeler recording the shutout for Tagwi.

The Warriors and Panthers won their scheduled games against Seaway on that day, 1-0 by default, because the Spartans failed to show up.

Tagwi will next see action today at North Dundas in Winchester starting at 1 p.m. while Char-Lan and Glengarry play at Cornwall Collegiate Vocational School and St. Lawrence both in Cornwall also today starting at 1 p.m.

"Opportunities of a Lifetime" for members

4-H NEWS

TRACY MYERS
874-1046

With most clubs either completing, or about to have their first meetings, it seems timely to talk about some of the opportunities available to 4-H members.

Don't forget to check your "Opportunities of a Lifetime" guide for a listing and description of all opportunities available. If you haven't received or have misplaced your guide call Tracy for one.

Deadlines for many of the events are quickly approaching. As well, you can visit the 4-H website at http://www.4-hontario.ca. You will be surprised at what is available for 4-H members!

Although June 1 seems to be ages away it will certainly creep up on us quickly. This is the deadline for "Careermania". This opportunity is geared for 4-H members between the ages of 14-17 (before Jan. 1, 2003).

It offers you the chance to explore the different choices that you have after high school. As well, you will gain practical experience in finding a summer job and in building your resume.

What a great way to learn how to reach your career goals. Careermania will be held July 22-24 at the University of Guelph. Other opportunities are available but the deadline dates of May 1 (that's tomorrow!) and May 15 are literally around the corner.

These include the National 4-H conference, the Cooperators and Harvest Trust Scholarships and the Ivomec 4-H Trust Fund. Once again, see the Opportunities Guide for more details.

I recently attended the 4-H Regional meeting in Kemptville and was truly amazed at how much our District is doing for 4-H and how they are working very diligently to provide exciting opportunities for our 4-H youth.

I certainly enjoyed putting a face to the many names that I have been in contact with over the past few weeks.

The North Glengarry Junior Calf club held its first meeting on April 15. Club officers were elected at this meeting. Emily Vallance was sworn in as president, Kayleigh McKendrick as vice-president, Scott MacMaster as secretary and Curtis Cummings as press reporter.

We certainly look forward to hearing from them over the next few months. It looks as though this is going to be a very informative club.

"Taking care of heifers and dry cows" will be the focus. There is still room to join.

If you are interested please call Robert MacDonald at 525-3471. The next meeting is scheduled for May 13 at the farm of Robert MacDonald (21015 Laggan Road). Don't miss out on this great opportunity!

We have one press report available this week.

Hello! Reuben here with the press report for the vet club.

This meeting we had hands-on-practice delivering stuffed animals from a balloon filled box. The balloons represented animal parts like kidneys and stomachs We also got to feel the inside of a uterus, courtesy of a box, a plastic bag sheathed in a nylon stocking with the lovely addition of jello. We all got a kick out of that.

Our leader, veterinarian Ingrid Bill showed us some of her instruments for sugary. She then proceeded to show us what a prolapsed uterus was, and while cutting the ligament holding the uterus in, she drop the scissors inside the 'cow'! Oops!

Ingrid then proceeded to show us how a C-section is done. After successfully removing a stuffed elephant, a monkey, and Kermit the frog, she went back in searching for the raccoon.

Our other leader, Margo Patrick, started making signs to one of the club members to get the surprise ready. It was at about this time that Ingrid gave a loud exclamation followed with "There's a cat in here!".

Pandemonium suddenly broke out with all the club members laughing out loud and clutching their stomachs and wiping tears from their eyes. Mrs. Patrick said that " Never in her 11 years of doing 4-H has she laughed so hard in a meeting."

This is one of the most incredible, informative and humorous 4-H clubs I have ever been in, and all the members will testify to this. We really learned a lot about anatomy, reproduction and deliveries and had a great time doing it. Too bad for you if you missed this club; however, you can always join next year!

All club members remember that your projects are due next week as well as your club books. Until then, Reuben Lindeman

Did you ever think that 4-H could be as exciting as this? You can never tell what will happen and what you will learn in these most informative and fun clubs.

Several people have been asking about the 4-H website. Check out http://www.4-hontario.ca to see what is going on in Ontario. To see what is going on or about to happen in Glengarry, look under the News and Events by region and click Glengarry. There you will find a calendar of scheduled events.

As well all The Glengarry News press reports are posted on the website, so that other areas of the province will know what is happening in our region. As well, don't forget to check out some of the opportunities for members. The deadline of this Thursday is quickly approaching.

Until next week, yours in 4-H, Tracy Myers.

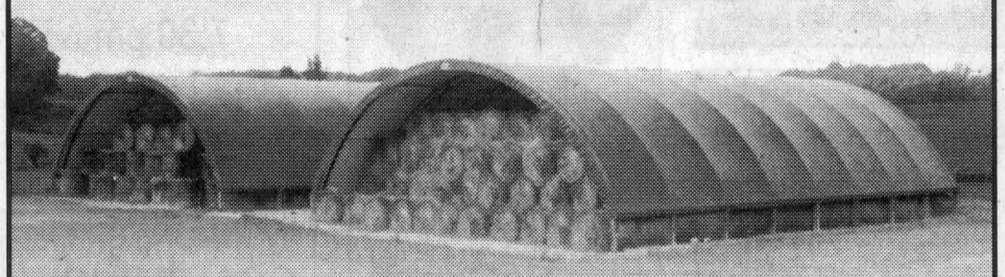
Hay Storage...
The Reasons Are Cut & Dried


Unprotected hay bales can lose up to 30% of nutritional value from mildew and rot within one year. A Cover-All® protects your hay bales from spoilage while maintaining feed value – recover your building investment quickly.
"Our 40' x 100' Cover-All provides us ample room to store hay, as well as a wide open environment to store the loaded hay wagons if the weather suddenly turns nasty. The Cover-All is cooler in the summer, and it doesn't sweat. I bought a Cover-All because of the quality and proven track record and I've given a number of referrals to interested customers. My only complaint is with me - I should have ordered a Cover-All years ago!" Elizabeth May - May Meadows Farms - Ontario, Canada

Sincere thanks to the caring and dedicated Bayshore Health Care nurses, the personnel of Para-Med Health Services of Orleans, Dr. Marleau, Community Care Access Centre and all the night shift nurses for their excellent care during Weldon's illness. The many phone calls, visits, letters, cards, food, floral tributes and charitable donations were a great comfort to us. In Memoriam

MacRAE–In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Ivan Forbes who passed away May 1, 1999.
O happy hours we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
–Loved and always remembered, Hazel, Marjorie, Norma and families. 18-1p

McDONALD–In loving memory of a dear mother Irene who passed away April 29, 2002
Mom, I felt a gentle breeze today,
I am sure I heard it say
That although you are not here with me
You are not that far away.
I paused a moment to take it in,
And smiled at the thought of you,
And it felt as real as ever it did,
The way it used to.
Often a smile comes upon my face,
Closely followed by the tears,
For all the memories I hold so dear,
of those many precious years.
–Forever in our hearts, Wilbert and Carol McDonald. 18-1p

McCORMICK–In loving memory of a dear father John Angus who died August 21, 1943, mother Ann who died May 1, 1959 and brothers Robert, March 13, 1995, Duncan, April 18, 1994 and Archie, May 3, 1992.
–Always remembered by Tena. 18-1p

MacGREGOR–In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother and great-grandmother Wilma who passed away April 28, 1985.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear Mother,
When we do not think of you.
–Remembered with love, the MacGregor family. 18-1p

AVERY
In loving memory of a dear wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, Anna, who passed away April 30, 2002.
One year has passed, our hearts still sore,
As time rolls on we miss you more,
Your welcome smile and pleasant face,
No one can fill that vacant place.
To a good life came a peaceful end.
She died as she lived,
everyone's friend,
Upright and just in all her ways
Loving and kind to the end of her days.
We saw her suffer, heard her sigh,
We could do nothing but sit close by,
We have lost, but heaven has gained,
One of the best the world contained.
Sadly missed and always remembered by husband Nelson and family 18-1p

Glengarry's connection with Cape Breton

HIGHLAND PATHS

KEN MCKENNA

Since Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, has much the same origins as Glengarry, Ontario, with both places sharing a large Scottish Highland past, it's good to keep the connection going. To help us do just that, we have Helen Masleck of Alexandria to thank. As Anne and I have not been able to visit Cape Breton any more annually, we really appreciate keeping in touch with activities there through friends and local newspapers.

We first met Helen a few years ago when she phoned to introduce herself. Her sister and brother-in-law from Cape Breton, Margaret Anne and Frank McKenzie, were coming for a visit to Glengarry and, as Frank sang in the Cape Breton Gaelic Choir, Helen wanted us to meet them. A little ceilidh was hastily arranged and we had a most enjoyable get-together at Kintail Farm, with fiddlers and Gaelic singers. Ever since, Helen has been one of my Cape Breton connections, from time to time sending me books and newspapers concerning activities on the island and on the Maritimes in general.

One of the most recent papers Helen sent me was The Reporter from Port Hawkesbury, C.B. In it was a column by Sandra Devlin called "Missing Links" devoted to tracing family connections. Ms. Devlin reported that a committee had been organized to trace the descendants of the Brudenell Pioneers of Prince Edward Island and arrange a re-union of them this year. These settlers arrived in the Brudenell area in 1803 from the central Highlands of Scotland under the leadership of James MacLaren and consisted of MacLarens, Gordons, Stewarts, MacFarlanes and Robertsons. Anyone who may be descended from the original pioneers is asked to contact Marg Hatcher, 18 Alexandra Ct., Stratford, P.E.I., C1B 1K8: Phone # (902) 569-3554.

Also in The Reporter was the obituary of James Chisholm of Margaree Forks, Cape Breton, son of Annie Mae and the late William Chisholm. I remembered meeting James and his father some 30 years ago outside the local church one Sunday. Anne and I were visiting Cape Breton with our friends Iona and Major Calum Iain MacLeod of Antigonish. Calum Iain at that time was head of the Celtic Department at St. Francis Xavier University and had offered to accompany us to Cape Breton to meet some local people who still had the Gaelic. After mass that morning, as we stood chatting on the stairs in front of the church, Calum Iain introduced us to some of the people who were gathered there, including the William Chisholm family. Someone mentioned that a well-known Scottish piper and wandering minstrel, Sandy Boyd, had recently been seen in the area. He was in the habit of turning up at peoples' doors and staying with them for various lengths of time until too much whisky inevitably caused him to wear out his welcome. As he was a fine musician he was admired for his musical abilities and for the teaching opportunities he offered as long as his various hosts could tolerate him.

That Sunday morning in Margaree Forks Major MacLeod said to the Chisholm standing beside him, with a laugh and a bit of a sneer: "I hear that Sandy Boyd camped on you for a month recently." It was then I was introduced to what I realized was true Highland pride. The answer came ringing back: "Sandy Boyd will always be welcome in the home of William Chisholm!" The grin disappeared from our friend's face.

The church at Margaree Forks, by the way, overlooks a short iron bridge over the river. As an example of how "The Breathing Place of the Gael is on Top of a Hill" as the old Gaelic saying has it, the day the bridge opened for traffic one of the onlookers was reputedly heard to say: "Wouldn't it look fine on the top of a hill!"

Another unrelated Cape Breton story concerns the grand opening of the famed Keltic Lodge at Ingonish. Everyone of importance in Nova Scotia was there. The Cape Breton Highlanders' pipe band was on duty for the celebration, playing along the edge of the swimming pool. After the band had played "The Road to The Isles" for the umpteenth time, the pipe major, an irascible and short-tempered man known throughout the Maritimes as "Black Jack" McDonald, announced in a loud stage whisper: "The next SOB who asks us to play "The Road to The Isles" is going to end up in that GD swimmin' pool!" Just then, the Lieut. Governor's aide de camp, impeccably attired in his dress uniform, ran up to Black Jack. "Oh pipe major" he said, "His Honour has a special request for his favorite tune - The Road to The Isles!" Black Jack hauled off and knocked the poor man into the pool. "Pack it up, boys!" Jack announced "The engagement's over!"
