Trucker kidnapped, cigarette load stolen

A trucker was kidnapped and his truck's load of $2.3 million worth of cigarettes stolen from the Curry Hill area Monday evening.

Edward Lockhart, 56, of Bowmanville, Ont., a truck driver for the R.J.R. MacDonald Tobacco Co. of Montreal, stopped his tractor trailer unit at a truck stop in Curry Hill at around 4 p.m. when he was kidnapped at gun point.

Ontario Provincial Police Staff Sgt. Jim McWade of the Lancaster detachment said Lockhart was handcuffed, had his head covered and was driven in the truck to Montreal, the origin of the load.

The truck driver was then released unharmed in the city.

He immediately reported to the Montreal police, who notified the OPP in Lancaster.

Investigators from both the OPP and Montreal police have been investigating since.

"Since that time we have been working with police to identify the individual responsible," McWade said Friday.

He added that police do have suspects in mind.

So far, police have not been able to locate the truck or the cigarettes, which were destined for the United States.

No funds for works: MOE

Town urged to adopt water meters

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria council members were told not to hold their breath waiting for provincial funding to address the town's sewage system problems.

They received the news in a meeting with Ministry of Environment officials Thursday, held to discuss plans to upgrade the town's sewage infrastructure to stop the infiltration of water which is overcapacitating the sewage pumping station.

The issue of funding has been a key concern of council and its environment committee as it wrestles with what sewage system upgrades it should do over the next five years and how to fund them.

They learned from the MOE assistant regional director for the abatement southeastern region, there is no need to concern themselves with provincial funding -- there is no provincial funding.

"I'm not the bearer of good news. As you know, the government doesn't have any money," said Al Symmonds, assistant regional director and manager for the region.

And he doesn't know if the situation will be any better in the near future.

"Anyone who is waiting for money from the provincial government should not be waiting with bated breath," he told council during the meeting at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

In fact the days of provincial grants could be numbered, Symmonds said. The province is examining the option of giving loans instead for funding.

But he said he still will try to obtain funding for the environmental work.

"We'll go to bat for you and see what we can do," he assured council members.

The no-funding news means council will have to come up with ways to raise money itself to do the work deemed necessary to the MOE and to be detailed in a long-term plan by council which is to be submitted by the end of January.

User fees based on the amount of sewage per residence are one option, and it appears likely that they will be instituted, likely sometime in the spring.

"We have no other option but to go with a user fee," Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly, chairman of the environment committee told MOE officials.

Mayor Jean Paul Touchette said that to do immediate work, the town can borrow against the user fees, using the fees to pay off the loans for environmental upgrades.

The ministry is also urging the town adopt water meters for homes which would keep track of and bill people according to the amount of water they use.

There was little reaction from coun-

Stolen truck used to vandalize cemetery

Police have charged two Alexandria men after a stolen garbage truck was driven through a cemetery in Alexandria earlier in the week, causing considerable damage to gravestones.

Andre Taillefer, 26, and Yvon Duval, 21, both of Lochiel Street, were each charged with theft of the garbage truck, mischief for the damages caused to the graveyard, and mischief for damages caused to the truck.

A one-tonne 1985 Chevrolet garbage truck was stolen from Bishop Street sometime overnight Dec. 15 and driven over about 10 grave stones at a cemetery behind St. Finnan's Cathederal.

The gravestones were either toppled or damaged, while the truck was extensively damaged.

Police recovered the truck at around 5 a.m. Wednesday and immediately began an investigation which led to the arrest of two suspects later in the day.

"Sometimes you look at a particular set of circumstances and some names come to mind," said Alexandria police Const. Jamie MacMaster, who refused to provide details of the investigation.

The two men were also charged on Wednesday by Alexandria police in connection with a theft of a 1980 Chevrolet, which was stolen from Glen Robertson on Dec. 12 and recovered in Alexandria.

Taillefer was to appear in court on Dec. 17, while Duval is to appear on Jan. 14.

Break-ins net Alexandrian jail term

Eighteen year-old had broken into local homes and businesses

The young Alexandria man charged with 13 counts of break, enter and theft and three counts of breach of probation has been sentenced to 15 months in jail.

Stephane Delorme, 18, was in court Thursday for sentencing. A presentence report was ordered on Nov. 19 after Delorme plead guilty to all offences.

Delorme had broken into several homes and businesses in Alexandria and Lochiel and Kenyon townships in August, September and October.

Defence lawyer Don Johnson reminded the court that Delorme's guilty plea and his help in recovering some of the stolen articles had saved the court and police considerable time and money.

"It (a trial) could have tied the court up for two to three weeks alone," said Johnson.

Johnson concurred that the presentence report was not a positive one and said, "He (Delorme) realizes he doesn't come out as a golden boy. He now realizes the folly of his ways."

But Johnson urged the court not to consider a lengthy jail sentence. Delorme had already spent two months in jail, he said, asking the court to consider "compassion, leniency and that he shows the possibility of rehabilitation."

This would be "a grand opportunity for the crown to stand up and say, 'give it all you're worth; this person should be put away forever.' The court can destroy this person. It would bring tears of joy to the community," said Johnson.

He continued, "the court could send the young man away for a long time and turn him into a career criminal or say 'you did it wrong; we'll give you a chance that will not destroy your hope'."

He reminded the court that this is Delorme's first conviction as an adult.

Grenkie said that Delorme had begun his crime spree shortly after he turned 18, and continued through to Oct. 25 when he was arrested.

Judge R. Masse cited aggravating factors as being the high number of crimes for which Delorme was being sentenced that day and his callous disregard for the property rights of othe people. Masse, however, cited as favorable factors Delorme's young age, plea of guilty and co-operation in the investigation.

Delorme was sentenced to 12 months in jail for the break, enter and thefts, and three mmonths for breach of probation.

"I hope you decide to do something with your life. You're young and shouldn't be throwing your life away," he told Delorme.

Glengarry Memorial will feel provincial budget cutbacks in '93

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The province's two per cent funding increase for health institutions for next year just got smaller for Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Although the province promised Nov. 26 a two per cent funding hike, the hospital will likely receive a funding increase of only 1.5 per cent for 1993- 94, hospital board members were told Thursday by Jerry Adams, GMH chief executive officer.

The news means finance committee members may have to go back into next year's budget again to find more areas to cut, Adams said.

Finance Committee Chairman Kent MacSweyn said he doesn't anticipate there will be a problem making up for the shortfall of funding, but ideally, it is a situation he would rather not be in.

"Anytime you get into cutbacks its difficult," he said. "It's always much easier and much nicer when you're in a growth situation."

The funding the hospital will receive is based on a formula which gives all hospitals a .5 per cent increase, hospitals with less than 50 acute-care beds an additional one per cent, and hospitals in high-growth areas another .5 per cent.

GMH will get the .5 per cent going to all hospitals and the one per cent going to hospitals with less than 50 acute-care beds. But it will not get the additional .5 per cent because it is not in a high-growth area, according to Jerry Adams, GMH chief executive officer.

"So the best we can look forward to is 1.5 per cent on our base budget."

As well, Adams announced that the funding will only be a one time payment. So if the hospital has a $5 million operating budget for next year, it will get 1.5 per cent extra funding, but will go back to $5 million the following year.

Hospitals across the province have been forced to submit preliminary budgets as a result of new provincial guidelines, but so far have been forced to draw their budgets with no idea of how much funding they will receive.

GMH has already submitted preliminary budgets to the province, but it may not be submitting any more, at least not until it receives some firm figures from the province.

All hospitals, fed up with trying to guess how much money they will get from the province, will — in a show of solidarity — hold back their budgets until they get exact funding figures, Adams said.

United Counties turns down Cornwall tourism board proposal

United Counties council said "no" Dec. 14, to joining Cornwall's new regional tourist board, following a discussion behind closed doors.

Alexandria Deputy-Reeve Jacques Joly moved the discussion in camera, after both Warden Jim Cook and Past Warden John Moss said they got the impression Cornwall Mayor Ron Martelle, "didn't care one way or another if we join them or not."

Moss said, "the city isn't willing to change the name of the tourist bureau to include us or to change their program. If we come in we have to play by their rules or not at all."

Joly wanted the press and public out, "because I don't think this is an issue we were all in favor of in the first place, we should find out how everyone feels."

After discussion council voted to stick with plans to promote tourism in 1993 through the SD&G Chambers of Commerce Tourism Association, set up last spring.

A $95,000 federal tourism grant is available to the chambers tourism group, along with the promised funding of from $25,000 to $35,000 from United Counties council.

The chambers will continue to advertise for an executive director and look for office accommodations.

Council also strengthened its representation on the chambers tourism board from one to four, including Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell, representing Glengarry, Sandra Lanville from Winchester, Douglas Leighton from Osnabruck, and Warden Jim Cook.

Alexandria Reeve Bruno Massie told the News, "we have not closed the door on joining Cornwall in the future, council decided we should have on-going talks with their tourist group, co-operate with them on promotions, keep a dialogue going."

United Counties council was surprised last month when Cornwall City announced it was scraping its tourist bureau and forming a regional tourism and convention board, inviting the counties to join and contribute $35,000.

Until the announcement, counties officials thought the city supported the newly-organized SD&G Chambers of Commerce Tourism Association.

Pellet-fuel wood stoves offer a way to enjoy wood heating without having to cut more trees.

The pellets are made from wood chips, bark, sawdust and other sawmill byproducts.

Their five per cent moisture helps them burn hot and clean in stoves, especially those designed to handle pellet-fuel.

Town pumping station 'obsolete'

cil members on the suggestion.

And there was news that the town, which is still paying the original loan for its sewage plant and a loan for its later upgrade, actually needs a new sewage plant.

"That pumping station is obsolete. We're not going to get away from that point," said MOE official Bill Spencer.

And the ministry also wants the town to do a study on the Delisle River to determine how its sewage is impacting its marine life.

But the item highest on the ministry's priority list was the completion of a longterm plan.

Ministry officials told council members repeatedly that they must draw up a comprehensive bar chart detailing the cost and estimated construction dates for upgrades over the next five years.

When the ministry receives the plan, it can then estimate how much flow into the system will be eliminated, thus allowing more sewage capacity to allow development to continue in Alexandria.

But Symmonds said council must be "diligent" and be able to show progress has been made before ministry officials can be convinced it is safe to allow more development.

"We don't want to be nickeled and dimed to death," he explained.

Council learned that it also will have to pay the MOE an additional $150,000 a year over the next four years for maintenance at the sewage lagoon such as sludge removal and berm construction.

The town has already taken a number of steps to reduce the inflow into its sewers, such as resealing leaky sewer pipes, fixing a sewer that was being infiltrated with water from an underwater spring and by having roof leaders of buildings disconnected from the sanitary sewer.

Symmonds said the work done so far by the town is "very admirable."

Looking up

Caisse Populaire d'Alexandria manager Jean-Marc Viau and the credit union's president, Jean-Pierre Claude, present a cheque for $10,000 to Centre Culturel fundraisers Marcel Francoeur of Club Richelieu and Gilles Cadieux, the club's president. Pennywise in Moose Creek

Couple launches publication to help cope in tough times

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

A handful of parents in Glengarry are getting a first-hand glimpse into a new publication aimed at helping parents tie loose ends.

Pennywise Parent, a newsletter founded, owned, written, produced and distributed by a Moose Creek couple, has been sent to about 100 people in Glengarry.

Libraries, the day care centre in Alexandria, and some schools have received a free copy of the newsletter produced by Gisele Grignon and Morley Seaver, an RR1 Moose Creek couple with three young children.

They don't know what the response will be in Glengarry, but so far it has been good from other areas in Eastern Ontario.

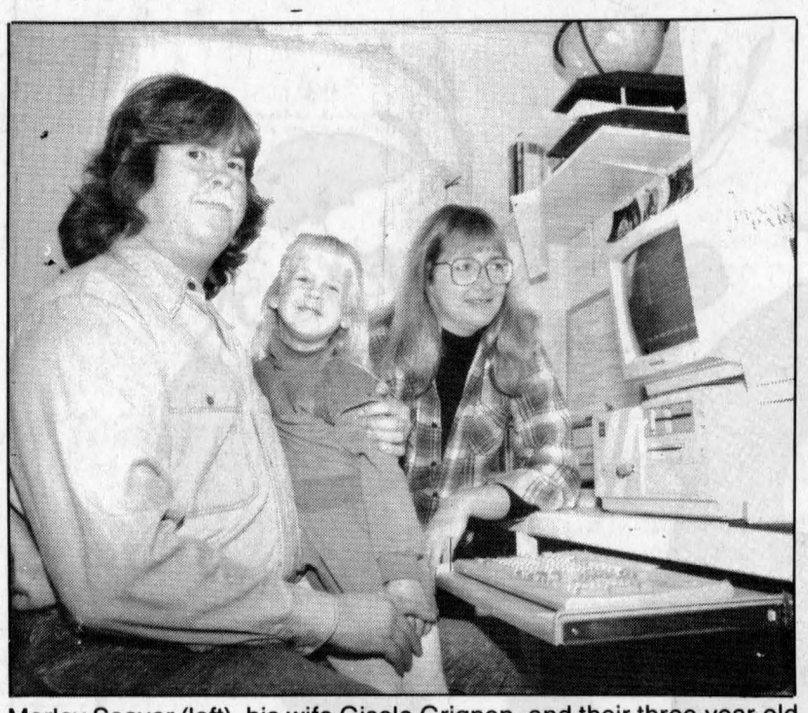
They have distributed about 3,000 copies of the publication in the Ottawa- Carleton area, where it was printed.

"It's better than we thought," Grignon said of the response.

She said many parents have called and written to the couple praising them for the advice the newsletter gives.

The bi-monthly publication features articles with advice for parents on how to save money, manage time, and still maintain a healthy home.

The newsletter prints articles on inexpensive but entertaining and educational toys, cheap but tasty and nutritious recipes, energy efficiency in the home, how to shop for good-quality second-hand clothing, and other articles aimed at helping a working couple cope with the rising cost of raising healthy, happy children.



Morley Seaver (left), his wife Gisele Grignon, and their three-year-old daughter Kaylie sit inside the office at their RR1 Moose Creek home where newsletter Pennywise Parent is produced. The new newsletter, recently created by Grignon and Seaver, caters to the concerns of ordinary parents trying to make ends meet.

Even the newsletter's production reflects the publication's goal of keeping costs down.

The newsletter is produced with a personal computer, a $50 desktop publishing program, and a dot-matrix printer.

Seaver said it cost him $600 to make 3,000 copies of the December issue, or 20 cents a copy — which indicates that the couple are expert cost-cutters.

The newsletter's cost-cutting advice for working parents seems to have found a niche that other publications are neglecting.

Grignon and Seaver, who both write for a living, have been wanting to set up a newsletter for working parents for six months.

According to their research, there are no publications catering to the concerns of ordinary parents.

"We couldn't find anything or any newsletter addressing the needs of everyday people," Grignon said.

The closest publication is an American-based magazine for single mothers.

Canadian-based Chatelaine and Canadian Living also print articles about parenting, but they tend to be aimed at more affluent readers, Grignon said.

She said there are no magazines dealing with the concerns of less-than-affluent parents.

After their market research, Grignon and Seaver found a free weekend in their busy schedule to sit down and work at the first issue, published for December.

For the past few weeks, the results have been promising.

In the first week, 12 people have signed up for the $18 a year subscription.

Grignon expects the newsletter will have about 100 subscribers in the next few months.

The couple hopes to have subscribers all over Canada, but are not yet setting any precise goals.

They are evaluating the newsletter every step of the way, and hope they'll be able to identify and weed out all of the bugs within six months.

Meanwhile, the couple is busy working on the February issue, which should be out by the end of January.

Seaver and Grignon invite anyone interested in a free copy of the December to call them at 538-2864.

Man fined $1,000 for indecent assault

A 63-year-old Glengarry man was fined $1,000 after being found guilty of a five-year-old crime of indecently assaulting a young girl.

The accused, whose name cannot be published to protect the victim's identity, was in court for sentencing Thursday after the facts of a crime he committed in October 1987 recently surfaced.

Defence lawyer Pat Rudden told the court the young victim's mother was recently briefing her about proper sexual relations when the victim told her what had happened in 1987.

The court was told that the incident occurred after the youngster complained of a sore stomach. The man, who was babysitting her at the time, asked her if she wanted her stomach rubbed. She agreed, but resisted when the act took on sexual overtones.

Rudden said the offence was an isolated incident, that the accused is remorseful and has otherwise led a good life of hard work.

"He toppled off the carriage of propriety," added Rudden, who asked for a suspended sentence.

But Judge R. Masse responded that jail would emphasize to the community the court's disapproval of this sort of act.

Crown Attorney Doug Grenkie said he would not request a jail sentence, but believed a fine and community service work would send a clear message.

He said the incident involved a "double breach" of trust; first, because the child was left in the man's care, and secondly because the crime had taken place while she believed he was trying to help her.

He added, the incident must have had a strong emotional effect on the girl or she would not have remembered it for so long.

Masse replied that imposing community service work was not a possibility because people convicted of violent crimes, which includes indecent assault, are not eligible for the community service work program.

To the accused, Masse said, "People generally go to jail for this type of offence. Everyone must realize we can't put up with that kind of behavior."

He added, the crown attorney and defence lawyer agreed this was not a case for jail, particularly considering the age and positive history of the accused.

"You live in a small community and I'm sure everyone will know what you did. Your reputation will suffer and that is punishment for what you did," said Masse.

The accused will be on probation for two years and must also seek counselling.

"It's a serious offence, but we've seen a lot more serious," said Masse.

Council undecided on funding ski trails

A request to Charlottenburgh Township's recreation committee for assistance in maintaining 20 km of cross-country ski trails was deferred recently because council felt it didn't have "enough information" on the proposal.

Councillor Don Kannon, Charlottenburgh's representative on the committee, said that a group of residents has asked that the township be responsible for the grooming and maintenance of the trails located in the forest off the Summerstown Station Road.

In the past the trails have been maintained by five volunteers with two snowmobiles — one purchased with a grant given the group, and the other belonging to one of the volunteers.

Kannon estimated the cost involved to the township in having two existing employees spend one day per week maintaining the trails during the season would be $1,800.

"What you're saying is that from now on we'll have cross-country skiing sponsored by Charlottenburgh Township," asked Councillor George Shoniker, who queried the estimated operating costs of the snowmobiles as being too low.

"If it costs us $1,800, this is a small amount for recreation for the many people who use these trails," countered Kannon.

"It's a very inexpensive program for valuable service. Cross-country skiing is a physical exercise, not like snowmobiling."

Reeve Dave MacDonald and Deputy-Reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy, however, had reservations.

Reeve MacDonald wanted to know where the machines would be stored and whether they would have to be trucked to the trails, while the deputy-reeve wondered about liability if the township were to take on the project.

"There's not enought information here," said MacDonald.

Council Briefs

The following are among the items discussed by United Counties council at its annual elections meeting held Dec. 14.

United Counties appointments

Along with the election of Jim Cook, reeve of Chesterville, to be Warden for 1993, appointments were also made to various United Counties boards.

Lancaster Reeve Charles Sangster will chair the roads and bridges committee, and serve on the advisory roads committee, the steering committee for waste management study, and the executive committee.

Ron MacDonell, Lochiel reeve, a past warden, will serve on the executive committee, the outreach program and home for aged committee, and on the board of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge.

Maxville Reeve Jim MacEwen will serve on the board of St. Lawrence Estate, and the board of governors of Cornwall General Hospital.

Lancaster Village Reeve Jennifer Charbonneau serves on the social services advisory committee. Leslie O'Shaughnessy, deputy reeve of Charlottenburgh will represent the United Counties at Children's Aid Society.

Charlottenburgh Reeve Dave MacDonald will serve on the suburban roads commission, and on the board of directors of the Family Counselling Centre of Cornwall and the United Counties.

Steve Preston, deputy reeve of Lancaster, serves on the County Library board. Kenyon Reeve Wilfred Vallance was appointed to the advisory roads committee.

Alexandria Reeve Bruno Massie will sit on the board of health for Eastern Ontario, and the board of directors, Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph Health System.

Jacques Joly, Alexandria deputy reeve, was elected to the steering committee for waste management study, and the board of governors of Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Pioneer appeal

While congratulating newly elected United Counties Warden Jim Cook, Don Boudria, MP for SD&G/Prescott-Russell, served notice he's coming to the counties for help next year to save a Williamstown landmark.

"The beautiful old pioneer Williamstown home of Sir John Johnson is falling into ruin and I can't interest any provincial or federal heritage groups in saving it," Boudria said.

"I will be asking your support, and the support of citizens to raise funds for this project," Boudria warned, "we must cherish and respect the contributions of our ancestors."

Court Report

The following are among cases dealt with by Judge R. Masse in Alexandria Provincial Court on Thursday, Dec. 17.

Were good boys

A crime of which two young offenders were convicted Thursday was said to be "completely out of character."

Defence lawyer Don Johnson, citing information obtained from presentence reports on the young men, said that despite this brush with the dark side of the law, the youths had led "exemplary lives."

"That's what bothers me about this case," replied Judge R. Masse. "All three are good kids yet they committed serious break-ins."

The youths were charged with breaking into a Glengarry school, stealing equipment of a "significant" value and causing about $600 damage.

Two of the three youths were in court Thursday and will each pay $200 in restitution. They will also be on probation for 12 months, must each complete 100 hours of community service work and must send letters of apology to the school board.

Johnson explained that the impetus for the crime could have been a test of manhood and a desire to "cross the line."

"They had a taste of the wild side and I think it didn't taste very good to them. You won't see them here again," said Johnson.

When questioned by Masse, the youths said they didn't know why they had committed the crime.

"I'm amazed. Two young men of your age and stature in the community would stoop to such behavior. Your parents . . . must have been terribly disappointed in you," said Masse.

"I want you to appreciate that jail could be the result in the future," he said, citing the disposition of a case he'd just handled which involved an 18-year-old jailed for break, enter and thefts.

"He's only a year older than you. He's gone. He's gone to jail."

Fined $350

A 34-year-old Cornwall man was fined $350 after being found guilty of driving a motor vehicle while having a blood alcohol level exceeding the legal limit.

Daniel Fortier was apprehended at a RIDE checkpoint in Charlottenburgh Township on July 2.

Breathalyser test results at the Lancaster OPP detachment reflected 112 and 118 mgs of alcohol in 100 mls of blood.

Judge R. Masse concurred with defence lawyer Harold Sherwood, that the readings were at the low end of the scale.

The accused has no prior record.

Acquitted on reasonable doubt

A 23-year-old man on trial for driving a motor vehicle while having a blood-alcohol level exceeding the legal limit was acquitted when it couldn't be proven that he was driving the car.

A witness testified that he found the accused in the driver's seat of a car which had left the road and was in the ditch on a Kenyon Township roadway, Aug. 2.

But the accused testified that he had not been driving, that he had given the keys to his vehicle to a friend earlier in the day. He said that he had gone to his car later to sleep and later woke up to find the car in the ditch.

Though he didn't see who drove the car there, and though there was no one else in sight, he assumed his friend had been the driver. He had only been in the driver's seat for a moment, while climbing over it to get out of the two-door vehicle.

Attempts to get his friend to testify in court were futile, said the accused.

Judge R. Masse concluded that there was a reasonable doubt that the accused had been driving the vehicle.

Father-to-be acquitted

A local man with two children and another child on the way was acquitted of a charge of committing fraud.

The man, who was accused of passing a non-sufficient funds cheque to a Glengarry business in January, was acquitted after evidence showed that he had been unaware that his account did not contain adequate funds.

Defence lawyer Harold Sherwood said it was a "true overdraught situation" in which the accused was owed money and thought it was, by then, in his bank account.

The accused had almost immediately paid the business what he owed, the court was told.

Lancaster Township

Council Briefs

The following items were discussed by Lancaster Township council members during a public meeting Dec. 16 at the municipality's hall in North Lancaster.

Retreat

Council members joked about going on a retreat to the Carribean to disuss township matters behind closed doors.

The News reported in its Dec. 14 issue that it is illegal for municipal officials to use taxpayers money to hold a think-tank retreat meeting on public matters, similar to what Charlottenburgh Township members have been doing.

Lancaster members joked about it and one member suggested going on a retreat to Montebello, Que.

"That's not far enough," Clerk Mike Samson said with a smile.

"Jamaica sounds pretty nice," quipped Deputy Reeve Steven Preston.

War zone bylaw

A paintball wargame operation east of Lancaster village cannot operate according to the zoning bylaw.

The General Splatters Inc. is located on land zoned agriculture resource, which doesn't permit a war game operation.

The township has written to the owner to tell them to stop the operation, or meet with the township to discuss the matter further.

Council may have to consider a zoning ammendment.

Clerk Samson said it's not yet certain which zoning designation allows a war games operation. He thinks the proper zone would be tourist-commercial.

Reeve Charles Sangster joked about it and suggested the land be designated a war zone.

No funds for playground

Council reached no decision whether or not to give funds to Ecole St. Joseph in Lancaster village for the school to build a playground in its schoolyard.

The school needs $20,000 to install swings and slides and is asking area municipalities and service clubs for funds.

Council did not delve into the matter, which will be brought up at a future council meeting.

Optimistic loto

Council approved a request by the North Lanacaster Optimist Club to hold a lottery draw for prizes valued at $10,000.

The township has concurred with the club's request.

The club must now submit an application to the province for official approval.

Why we exchange gifts

The following is the story of the three wise men, according to St. Matthew in the King James Bible:

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem.

Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen nis star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled . . .

Then Herod . . . sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

The Christmas Tree

The city had withdrawn into itself
And left at last the country to the country;
When between whirls of snow not come to lie
And whirls of foliage not yet laid, there drove
A stranger to our yard, who looked the city,
Yed did in country fashion in that there
He sat and waited till he drew us out,
A-buttoning coats, to ask him who he was.
He proved to be the city come again
To look for something it had left behind
And could not do without and keep its Christmas.
He asked if I would sell my Christmas trees;
My woods — the young fir balsams like a place
Where houses all are churches and have spires.
I hadn't thought of them as Christmas trees.
I doubt if I was tempted for a moment
To sell them off their feet to go in cars
And leave the slope behind the house all bare,
Where the sun shines now no warmer than the moon.
I'd hate to have them know it if I was.
Yet more I'd hate to hold my trees, except
As others hold theirs or refuse for them,
Beyond the time of profitable growth —
The trial by market everything must come to.
I dallied so much with the thought of selling.
Then whether from mistaken courtesy
And fear of seeming short of speech, or whether
From hope of hearing good of what was mine,
I said, "There aren't enough to be worth while."
"I could soon tell how many they would cut,
You let me look them over."
"You could look.
But don't expect I'm going to let you have them."
Pasture they spring in, some in clumps too close
That lop each other of boughs, but not a few
Quite solitary and having equal boughs
All round and round. The latter he nodded "Yes" to
Or paused to say beneath some lovelier one,
With a buyer's moderation, "That would do."
I thought so too, but wasn't there to say so.
We climbed the pasture on the south, crossed over
And came down on the north.
He said, "A thousand."
"A thousand Christmas trees!—at what apiece?"
He felt some need of softening that to me:
"A thousand trees would come to thirty dollars."
Then I was certain I had never meant
To let him have them. Never show surprise!
But thirty dollars seemed so small beside
The extent of pasture I should strip, three cents
(For that was all they figured out apiece)—
Three cents so small beside the dollar friends
I should be writing to within the hour
Would pay in cities for good trees like those,
Regular vestry-trees whole Sunday Schools
Could hang enough on to pick off enough.
A thousand Christmas trees I didn't know I had!
Worth three cents more to give away than sell
As may be shown by a simple calculation.
Too bad I couldn't lay one in a letter.
I can't help wishing I could send you one,
In wishing you herewith a Merry Christmas.

A sneak peak at Santa's wish list

After Thoughts
by Joe Banks

Well here we all are again, tucked snuggly into the issue before Christmas and that means it's time for me to again divulge the contents of the leaked list from Santa's workshop.

This list, I understand from sources close to the top, is taken from the array of "wish" letters sent to Santa before the holidays. I have here a good sampling of the requests from some of the folks throughout Glengarry County.

Brian Mulroney isn't from Glengarry, unfortunately, but he does have the longest list of requests on the list and is thus worthy of mention. It appears, however, that Santa has judged him a "naughty boy," and crossed out most of them. There's a scrawled note at the bottom that says, "No coal — only an election in 1993."

Here's the local list. It's not in any particular order as Santa does not deliver in alphabetical order. Here is the one for Lions Christmas basket co-chairman and town lawyer Pierre Aubry, who wants a 26 hour day, a time when Christmas baskets will no longer be needed and to be able to defeat his son at Nintendo baseball.

Former Lancaster reeve and noted Gaelic fancier Milton MacDonald is asking Santa for a vandal-proof "Ontario Welcomes You" sign on the 401 and a kilt with a steel hem for windy days.

Up in Maxville, village reeve Jim MacEwen and Kenyon reeve Wilfred Vallance both coincidentally are asking for the same gift: a new dumpsite extension from the Ministry of Environment. Failing that, Jim will take a garbage compactor or a new playground where everyone agrees it will be located.

Glengarry automobile magnate Bill Campbell said in his letter to Santa that everything is "fantastic," but if the jolly old elf was looking for a trade-in on his sleigh, he'd be willing to talk to him. He would also welcome a trampoline to help him jump higher in those commercials.

Manor fundraising chairman and Maxville chamber president James Joyce is asking Santa for a donation toward the building project, cash preferably. If not, he'd like to borrow some of his elves to join the canvassing team.

And here's a wish from Oakley Bush, the affable horseman of Kenyon, who would love to find out if Santa's sleigh is of Munro and McIntosh manufacture.

And here's one from Williamstown dairy farmer Ian Cumming, who tells Santa what he doesn't want — more government meddling in farmer's affairs, more organizations devoted to so-called farmer's interests and more people trying to tell him diplomatically to be more diplomatic.

Alexandria deputy reeve Jacques Joly would dearly love an approved sewage remediation plan from the Ministry of the Environment. Councillor Francine Richer asks that Santa get rid of those stupid red and white ribbons adorning the pole in front of The Glengarry News. Former councillor Fern Seguin is asking for some electronic listening devices that could be installed at town hall and high school art teacher Gary Harris, Fern's neighbor, would like to break the world record next summer for catching the largest bow-hunted carp in history. Unfortunately, he says in the list, the boat he will need to haul it aboard would not be able to fit in Santa's sleigh.

Well, there you have it, a small sampling of the wishes of some of our citizens. Wait, what's this? It's my own list, but I sure didn't ask Santa for a velcro hairpiece or an adjustable straight jacket. Must be another Joe Banks.

Merry Christmas everybody. See you in the New Year.

No circumventing Mother Nature

News to me
by Greg Kielec

What a feeling. Hurtling down the mountain at a break-neck speed. It seemed like nothing would stop me.

Hoping for leniency, I careened down the course. But when the law is gravity, plea bargains are an option.

In a flash it was over.

I lifted my face out of the snow, brushed off my glasses and whittled at the snow which now plugged my left ear.

Damn, I love skiing.

Thankful for that effect that people call drag — physicists call it friction — I cautiously surveyed my status: knees, ankles, arms, all checked out fine.

And after some difficult manoeuvres which required the strategic placement of weight over my ski poles to get just the right amount of lift necessary to get me back on my feet, I was up and on my way again.

What a feeling; the cold air on my cheeks, the rasping sound of my skis cutting through the tightly packed snow, the sense of helpless as my skis cross and I am momentarily suspended in time before hurtling head-first down the hill again.

It was only my second time skiing. The first time was when I was in high school, when with no lessons I flew down the hill in pursuit of a friend who was also an experienced — albeit slightly demented — skier.

That time too, I learned the fine art of face-sliding after trying to stop to help my wiped-out friend, not realizing I was travelling much too fast for my braking abilities.

Okay, so this time I didn't realize until too late that the hill I was to ski was of the blue, intermediate type, not the nice easy green type. And so there were a few icy spots which made stopping, even turning very treacherous.

But all in all, the experience was not that much different from that trip 10 years ago.

The feeling of awe as I surveyed the long slope from the chairlift was the same, the rush of adrenalin going over the first drop brought back memories of my first experience.

It also was a humbling experience, showing that despite all of man's scientific advances and wisdom, there is no circumventing mother nature. My skiing this past weekend is living proof.

A Christmas with Katherine

That's Life
by Lesley Cadham

Gib smiled at the young woman waiting beside him on the VIA Rail platform. He wanted to smile at everyone today. Everyone who would look at him, that is.

Today, he was on his way to see Katherine, the daughter he'd never had a chance to grow up with, but who had remained a constant source of happiness in the last 30 years of his long life.

He'd never spent Christmas Eve or even a Christmas Day with her, and now that he was sure the end of his days was drawing near, it seemed more important than ever to share those special days just once.

His daydream of a tall, fragrant, glittering Christmas tree, a succulent roast turkey and his grandchildren's joy at unwrapping their gifts was momentarily disrupted by the arrival of the train. In just four hours. In just four hours . . .

But his old legs weren't what they used to be, when he could walk miles in the bush in search of a good duck-hunting spot. Those old limbs were betraying him now, when he needed them the most. If he couldn't even make it up the steps . . . visions of turkey and gaily-wrapped presents and a warm hearth began to melt away. And then he saw a young, slim hand reach down for his. An angel of God?

No. the young woman on the platform. He was embarrassed, but he took her hand anyway and before he knew it, the two were seated side by side on their way to Val D'Or.

"I'm going to see my daughter, Katherine," Gib told the young woman. "She and her husband and kids live in a really big house in the country. They'll be coming to pick me up at the station, for Christmas you know. Katherine will probably bring all the kids. She'll make a turkey and . . ."

Gib's voice trailed off as he carefully unfolded the weathered brown paper bag he'd been holding. From the bag he drew out an even more tattered package wrapped in wax paper, and offered the young woman half of

A Highland Christmas

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

It is surprising to find that there are very few Christmas carols in the Gaelic traditions of Ireland and Scotland. Most of our Christmas customs did not originate in the Gaelic world. The Christmas tree is a German adoption and the nativity scene originated with St. Francis of Assisi. The Gael observed Christmas as a purely religious feast, exchanging gifts and saving celebrations for New Year's Day, as did the French until more recently. At the time of the Reformation, an attempt was made to expunge Christmas entirely, and anyone NOT working on Christmas Day was required to appear before the Kirk Session and explain why. This did not apply, of course, to those who were not Calvinists, but it served to discourage any outward signs of Christmas observance in Scotland. That is all in the past now, of course, and Christmas is now observed by the Scots in much the same way as in the rest of the world. Although most of our Christmas carols originate in England or the continent, there are some Gaelic carols of great beauty; Taladh Chriosda (The Christ-Child's Lullaby) and Leanabh an Aigh (Child of Joy) are two of them. The Glengarry Gaelic Choir sings both these songs.

This is the story of Taladh Chriosda (Talla Chrissda, phonetically), translated from the Gaelic: "The legend that attends this song has been well-known in the Hebridean islands of Eriskay, Eigg and Uist for many years. There was once a shiftless laddie in one of the Isles who had lost his mother, and that is a sad tale, but he had got a stepmother in her place, and that is sometimes a sadder tale still. He was not like other children at any rate, but wise where they were foolish, and foolish where they were wise: and he could never do or say anything but would put anger on his stepmother. There was no life for him in the house, and if out he should go, as out he would, that was a fault too. His neighbors said that he was growing into the grave. His stepmother said that he was growing up to the gallows. And he thought himself (but his thoughts were young and foolish) that he was growing towards something which fate was keeping for him. On an evening there was, he brought home, as usual, the cattle for the milking, and if they gave little milk that time, and likely it was little that they gave, who was to blame but the poor orphan. 'Son of another,' said his stepmother in the heat of anger, 'there will be no luck in this house till you leave;' but whoever heard of a luckless chick leaving of its own will?' But leave the shiftless laddie did, and that of his own will, and ere the moon rose at night, he was on the other side of the ben.

"That night the stepmother could get neither sleep nor ease: there was something ringing in her ear, and something stinging in her heart, until at last her bed was like a cairn of stones in a forest of reptiles. 'I will rise,' she said, 'and see if the night outside is better than the night inside.' She rose and went out, with her face towards the ben; nor did she ever stop until she saw and heard something which made her stop. What was it but a woman, with the very heat-love of Heaven in her face, sitting on a grassy knoll and song-lulling a baby son with the sweetest music ever heard under moon or sun; and at her feet was the shiftless laddie, his face like the dream of the Lord's night. 'God of graces!', said the stepmother, 'it is Mary Mother, and she is doing what I ought to be doing — song-lulling the orphan.' And she fell on her knees and began to weep the soft warm tears of a mother; and when, after a while, she looked up, there was nobody there but herself and the shiftless laddie by her side. And that is how the Christ Child's lullaby was heard in the Isles."

This is a translation of the first verse:

You are my darling, my love, my dearest one
You are my new treasure and my joy

Letters to the editor

Bishop LaRocque's Christmas message

Dear Friends:

St. Luke records the words of the Spirit-led Simeon, "a good God-fearing man," who held the child Jesus in his arms when He was brought to the Temple: "my own eyes have seen the salvation which you have prepared in the sight of every people: a light to reveal you to the nations and the glory of your people Israel." (Luke, 2,30-32).

Jesus, the Son of God, comes to reveal to all the nations on earth the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the only true God, Creator of heaven and earth and all that these contain. Jesus comes to reveal the Father, to make Him known and loved and served by all peoples: "No one knows the Father except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal Him." (Matt. 11,27). The prayer which Jesus taught us, the Our Father, is an expression of our living faith, that light which shines in the darkness of error, of ignorance, of sin, of violence and of death in order to point out the Way of truth which makes us free, of grace which makes us patient and humble and loving (God-like) and of eternal life already begun which drives away the victory and sting of death.

Jesus is also the glory of God's chosen people, Israel; He is the long-promised Messiah of the tribe of Juda and of the family of David. Born in the Town of David, Bethlehem, he will die enthroned on a cross, crowned with thorns and with the title over his head written in Hebrew, Latin and Greek, Jesus of Nazareth King of the Jews (INRI). The first believers, most of whom gave their lives for their faith, were all Jews. To them were made the promises and from among them comes the Savior, the only Savior of the whole human race. He comes to restore man and woman and the whole of creation to the Father's original plan — a world that will give Him honor and glory because all His children, redeemed in the Blood of the Lamb, live in justice and peace. For some 2,000 years the Jewish people have preserved their identity; they are now back in their promised land; they await the Messiah and the peace he will bring.

We Christians believe that Jesus will come again in glory to complete the work of salvation begun by His death and resurrection and continued in His Body, the Church.

On this Christmas 1992 may we be grateful for His first coming at Bethlehem; may we be open to His coming now in grace, in pardon, in the Eucharist, in our neighbors in need; and, in the midst of the encircling gloom of starvation, genocidal wars, unemployment and the looming competition of hemispheric trading blocs, may we be certain that Evil will not have the final victory. For this Christmas reminds all believers of Jesus' promise to return in order to make all things new.

Glory, honor and praise to the eternal Father, through his beloved Son, Jesus the Messiah (the Christ), in the power of their Holy Spirit, One God — the source of all blessings now and for the new Year of Salvation 1993!

the sandwich that waited inside. She declined without looking up, and Gib followed her gaze. He saw a frayed hole in the knee of his trousers, and a couple of brown stains that were probably coffee from heaven knows how many months ago and suddenly he was sorry he hadn't gone to the church rummage sale to pick up something tidier for his journey.

He adjusted the brown paper bag to cover the hole but suddenly he was conscious of his shabby overcoat and tattered wool scarf. As regrets and memories of financial failure began to weigh down his buoyant mood, he turned to the window and feigned an interest in rapidly passing houses.

Gib later awoke to a hand gently shaking his shoulder. It was the young woman and they were in Val D'Or. He looked out the window. This couldn't be Val D'Or. He couldn't see Katherine or his grandchildren or their car. The place was almost deserted.

But the sign on the station couldn't lie. Gib got off the train and silently wished he'd saved half his sandwich for this moment. He was hungry and it was cold and beginning to snow. He took a seat on an outside bench, not wanting to wait indoors in case Katherine drove up, didn't see him and assumed he hadn't come.

The young woman on the train offered Gib a ride.

"Katherine will be coming. She'll pick me up in their big stationwagon and all the kids will probably be with her. They have a really nice house, you know," replied Gib.

Reluctantly, the young woman left. But she couldn't shed the feeling that there was no Katherine, no grandchildren, no house in the country. And three hours later, when her doubts returned her to the station to find Gib in the dark amidst heavily falling snow, she thought her suspicions had been confirmed.

Somehow, she talked Gib into coming home with her. Whatever his problem, he didn't deserve to sit out in the cold alone, two days before Christmas.

As the young woman's car headed for the street, Gib swallowed a familiar sadness that had once again welled up in his throat. He looked back at the bench where he'd settled, three hours earlier, with such joy and hope.

At that moment, he saw a stationwagon swerve up to the station. A young woman got out and ran to the tracks. Katherine! It was Katherine!

Gib had the door open before the car had stopped moving and with previously-hidden agility, he flew up the steps to the station, calling his daughter's name.

Katherine turned. "Daddy. What are you doing here today? When someone told me a man had been sitting at the station since 3 o'clock, I had to see if it was you. You weren't supposed to come until tomorrow — Christmas Eve."

Gib thought today was Christmas Eve. He'd never been good with dates. But it didn't matter now. All that mattered was that Katherine was here. She hadn't forgotten him. Despite all the years he'd not been able to provide for her, despite all the dreams that had been torn asunder, and all the sadness they'd endured, Katherine was here because she wanted him with her.

He wanted to smile at everyone today.

Thanks from town police

To the editor:

The members of the Alexandria Police Service wish to thank those anonymous donors who contributed to our Christmas Party.

The event was a great success and your generosity and kindness will not be forgotten.

We wish to thank all the citizens of Alexandria and the surrounding area a Safe and Happy Holiday Season.

Christmas

You are my little, handsome, elegant son
I am not worthy myself to give you birth.

Taladh Chriosda will be sung at Midnight Mass this year at St. Finnan's Cathedral by the Gaelic Choir.

The other Christmas song already mentioned is Leanabh an Aigh (Child of Joy — Lenav an Aye). It was composed by Mary MacDonald, the poet from the Isle of Mull, and although the words are not the same in the English version, it is the original of Morning Has Broken. This is a translation of one of the verses:

Child of joy, child of Mary
Born in a stable, King of the world
He suffered for us all
Happy are they who draw near to Him.

The Gael may not have had many Christmas songs,but these two are unsurpassed.

Next time: A Highland New Year Celebration.

Grace before dinner

Father Cameron, the rector of St. Finnan's Cathedral, says grace before a dinner held at Le Palais seniors' home in Alexandria Wednesday night. The home's administration held the dinner for the residents, their family and friends. More than 120 people attended the dinner.

Offensive board game inspires petition drive

By Andre Perrella
News reporter

Local MP Don Boudria's office is being inundated with demands for a petition against a board game based on murdering babies.

More than 100 people from Boudria's Glengarry-Prescott-Russell riding asked for a copy of a petition asking the federal government to oppose the Canadian release of "Serial Killer Board Game," which has been released in the United States.

The board game's kit is wrapped in a body bag, and the pawns moved around the board are tiny plastic babies.

Boudria said a resident called him two weeks ago to complain about the board game and asked for a petition.

In about two days, Boudria prepared a petition in accordance with Parliamentary style, and mailed it out to the resident.

He will be collecting signed copies of the petition and present them to Parliament when it resumes after the Christmas break in February.

In the past two weeks, about 100 more residents called him for a copy of the petition.

"People are upset over the existence of this sort of thing," he said.

He said that if 50 people sign each petition, he'll get about 5,000 names, which should urge the federal government to take action.

Boudria said the government could ban the game in Canada under the Criminal Code, which prohibits hate propaganda or any sort of game which promotes crime or hatred.

Boudria said the game obviously breaks the law because it promotes serial killing and hatred of babies.

"This is absolutely gross," Boudria said.

"How could somebody who ever invented it even go to bed at night?"

The game has upset people in other ridings as well.

Boudria said his office received a call from the Carleton-Gloucester MP office requesting a copy of the petition.

The Ottawa media has also been reporting about the game and the outburst of opposition it has inspired in the area.

Public sought to solve break-ins

Sgt. Dave McDonald of Crime Stoppers needs the public's help in solving a Nov. 14 burglary in Charlottenburgh Township.

A basement window was opened at a Loyalist Road residence and several electronic and other goods were stolen.

Stolen were: a 21-inch Toshiba TV with the serial number of 78487568, model number CX21521; a Sanyo portable radio with serial number 00017720, model number MCD 230; a Sanyo telephone answering machine, model TAS 340; and a Minolta 35mm camera.

Anyone with information on this or any other crime may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

Crime Stoppers doesn't want your name, only your information.

Call Crime Stoppers at 534-8477, or for long distance caller, call toll-free at 1-800-265-8477.

Stolen car wreaks havoc in Charlottenburgh

Police Briefs

A stolen car caused $3,000 damages to a wharf after it crashed into the St. Lawrence River sometime overnight Wednesday.

A 1990 Chevrolet, which had been stolen from Cornwall, crashed through a wharf and into the Gray's Creek Marina area.

Police believe that the car also damaged 23 sign posts in the area, and was doing power-turns at a marina parking lot.

Police are investigating the incident.

Clothes stolen

More than $1,000 worth of goods were stolen during a burglary in Lancaster village last week.

A house was entered sometime over the weekend and assorted clothing and some loose change were stolen.

Police have no suspects.

Severe damage

A truck was severely damaged in Glen Sandfield Wednesday morning.

A 1983 Chevrolet pickup truck was westbound on County Road 21 at around 9 a.m. when it lost control on the icy road surface and smashed against a guard rail.

No one was injured.

Kenyon Township

Council Briefs

The regular meeting of Kenyon Township council was held at the township hall in Greenfield on Tuesday, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m. Councillor Gwen Morris was not present. The next council meeting will be held Dec. 29.

The following items are among those dealt with by council.

Waste committee response low

A lack of applications for membership on the planned waste pick-up and recycling program committee has led council to submit nominations.

As of Dec. 8, the township had received only one application for the three or four positions on the committee and council members have decided to contribute names of ratepayers they believe would like to serve.

The nominations will be reviewed at the Dec. 29 council meeting and a decision is expected in January.

Quality of life issue

Kenyon Township council has concurred with a resolution from the village of Cardinal which is trying to keep buildings designated for seniors, exclusively for senior citizens.

The village wants to oppose a change in provincial policy that will allow people of all ages to move into buildings formerly designated for seniors. The village wrote, this "no longer allows our seniors to feel safe and secure and no longer provides seniors with the quality of life they deserve. These people moved into these facilities expecting to live with people their own age, only to see a policy change."

Kenyon Township council's resolution responded that allowing younger people to move into the geared-to-income housing "will have a detrimental effect on the quality of life for senior citizens living in neighboring apartments."

Ratepayer to be cautioned

Kenyon Township will be warning a ratepayer council suspects may be disposing of bags of garbage at the disposal site gate.

The name of the violator may have been discovered through an envelope found in one of the garbage bags, and the township plans to warn him against leaving any more waste outside the site.

The new waste disposal system, only just over a month old, means that waste is collected door-to-door. It also means the Apple Hill waste disposal site is open only on Wednesdays, and the Dunvegan site is open Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Bylaw again to wield power

The new property standards bylaw, not even a month old, will be used for the second time, now to force a property owner to clean up the aftermath of a house fire.

The new bylaw, adopted at the Nov. 24 council meeting, includes a clause that says: "Accessory buildings which are dilapidated, collapsed, destroyed by any means or are not maintained shall be removed from the yard . . ."

Township under watch

The Neighborhood Watch signs have been erected for the "Northeast" Kenyon group at a cost of about $500 to Kenyon Township.

The newly established watch area means the entire township is covered by Neighborhood Watch.

Cultural cheque

Obituaries

William John Ladouceur

William John Ladouceur of R.R. #1, Martintown, died on December 15, 1992 at the age of 74.

Born at Martintown, he was a son of the late John William Ladouceur and Annie Merpaw.

Mr. Ladouceur is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Merpaw. He is also mourned by a sister Mrs. Mary Michaud of Cornwall.

Funeral services for Mr. Ladouceur were held at St. William's Church, Martintown. Rev. Thomas Villeneuve officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Parish Cemetery, Williamstown.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Ladouceur, Lawrence, Richard and Rene Prieur, Richard Senecal and Bill Ladouceur.

Charlottenburgh Township

Council Briefs

A regular meeting of council was held on Dec. 8, following a closed committee of the whole meeting. The next regular meeting of Charlottenburgh council will be held Jan. 12 in Williamstown. The following are among the items discussed on Dec. 8.

Old house designated

Council agreed to a request from its Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee to designate the property of George and Carolyn Laing at McCuaig's Corners, "as being one of the significant architectural and historical merit."

The designation means the owners can apply for grants from the province for restoration work.

The stone farm house, which dates from 1825, "is an excellent example of early 19th century rural vernacular domestic architecture in Eastern Ontario."

Council convention policy review

The establishment of a policy for convention attendance will be considered when council attends its strategic planning session in Gananoque in January.

Presently council members are eligible to attend two conventions each, per year. A staff report recommends that a policy be established that will decrease this number to one each, with a report on the convention to be tabled at a subsequent council meeting, and a strategic planning session to be funded with the savings to the municipality.

Noise bylaw stands

A complaint from a township resident over noise made by a grain bin/corn dryer on an abutting property failed to find support from council.

The owner of the dryer, who obtained a building permit for it from the municipality, said that he was "just trying to make a living."

The noise of his operation does not contravene the township's noise control bylaw.

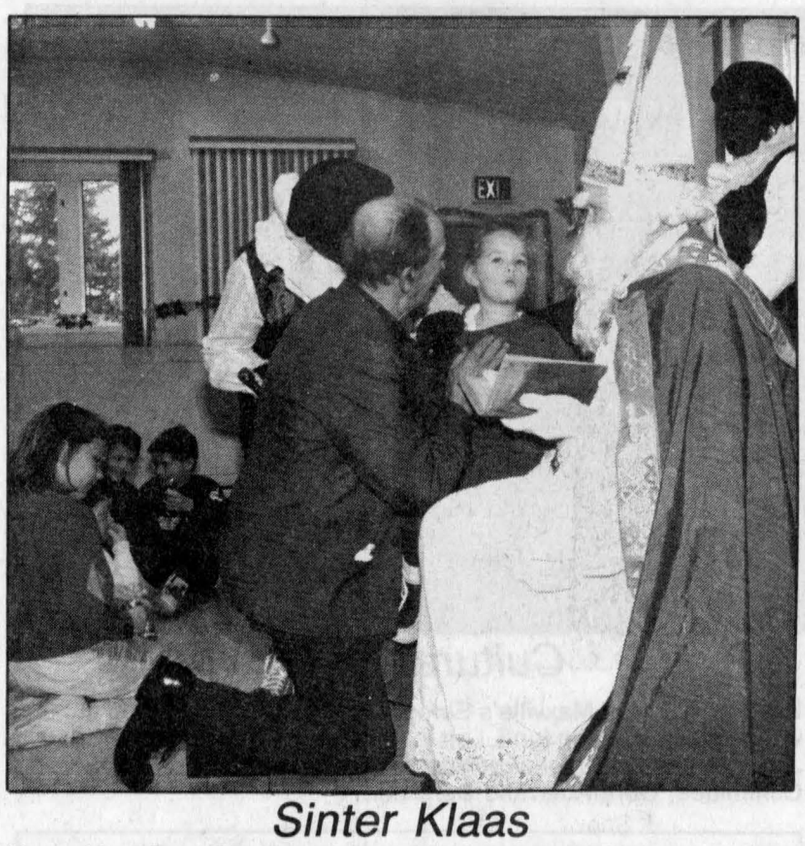
Council decided that amending the bylaw would "curtail the farming industry," and since Charlottenburgh is primarily a rural and agricultural area, residents will have to live with the noises created by today's farming operations.

Legal representatives to change

Charlottenburgh will be represented by different solicitors in 1993. Effective Jan. 1, the township will use the Cornwall firm of McDougall, Dancause, Shields and Airey.

For many years the township has used the services of Fennell, Rudden, Stevenson and Levesque as its appointed law firm by bylaw, without retainer.

The decision to change was made without discussion in open council.



Sinter Klaas

Harry Van Den Oetelaar brings his four-year-old granddaughter Genevieve Provic to talk with St. Nicholas of Holland, who paid a visit to local children in Alexandria Sunday, Dec. 6. St. Nicholas, also called Sinter Klaas in Dutch, was known for his kindness to children while he was a bishop in Holland about 1,500 years ago. Every Dec. 6, his birthday, he and his helpers give candies to good children, and a whipping to the bad ones. All of the children who visited him at the Legion Hall Sunday were good, and they all received candy gifts.

Water master plan given go-ahead

The Steering Committee of the SD&G Waste Management Master Plan has given the go-ahead to the plan's consultants to proceed with the next phases of the plan.

At a Nov. 19 meeting in Winchester the committee formally instructed the plan's consultant to proceed with the diversion system report, and to begin landfill constraint mapping.

This way the plan works on parallel streams, to ensure that both diversion systems and siting issues are addressed together, thus meeting new Ministry of Environment terms of reference designed to speed up and streamline the process.

The Waste Management Master Plan is a co-operative effort undertaken by SD&G's twenty municipalities to develop a long term, efficient and environmentally sound way of looking after SD&G's waste.

The proposal for the diversion system report had caused some earlier concern for the steering committee when it was learned that the report could cost $12,000.

After a request from MOE Assistant Deputy Minister Drew Blackwell for time for MOE to study the proposal, concerns were resolved with a letter from the ministry indicating that there will be no overall increase to the cost of the study.

Council Briefs

The following are among the items of business considered at a Maxville Council meeting held on Tuesday, Dec. 8. The next meeting will be January 12 at 7 p.m. at the council chambers.

Playground chairperson honored

Marilyn McGale, chairperson of the playground committee had been invited to the council meeting.

Reeve Jim MacEwen thanked her on behalf of council and the community for her dedication to this village centennial project.

MacEwen indicated that many positive comments had been made in favor of the playground and that Mrs. McGale's hard work had been appreciated, obviously, and that it was well worthwhile.

Councillor Ewen MacDonald presented Mrs. McGale with a hand-colored card that had been done by a young person and signed by 70 others.

McGale thanked council for the support of all members, complimented the members of her committee and said she was looking forward to the spring landscaping which will complete the project. Afterwards, the official opening will be held.

Regarding the thank you card, Mrs. McGale was assured that it will be kept on permanent display as a lasting memento of the project.

Community Futures Program

Janice Peters addressed council in regards to the potential of the Community Futures Program to create employment opportunities in the village.

After a video was shown, council members were challenged to come up with creative ideas to provide at least four permanent jobs for people in the village.

Then assistance would come from her program to help pay the salaries.

Cross-walks for students

There is concern for the safety of the students crossing streets on their way to one of the two elementary schools.

It was noted that the counties road department would co-operate in the painting of lines on the road pavement.

Before any more planning is done, the parent committees of the two schools will be asked for input.

Nevada tickets

Permission was given for the sale of these tickets at Scott's Convenience Store.

Profits from the sale will go to the Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers' Association which will use them for reward money when crimes are solved.

This move means that there are three outlets now for the sale of these tickets in the village.

Waste management meeting

Reeve MacEwen reported that he, along with Noble Villeneuve, MPP and Kenyon Reeve Wilfred Vallance met with four Ministry of Environment representatives recently in Toronto.

MacEwen feels that the above representatives reacted favorably to the problems being faced with the Maxville-Kenyon waste management agreement and that they would report to the minister in a positive manner.

The next step is a meeting with the MOE Minister Ruth Grier who is the only one who can grant special permission in regards to the agreement reached between Maxville and Kenyon councils.

Bottled support

Town to be charged

The Ontario Ministry of Environment will be charging Alexandria for pollution monitoring it does beginning in January, "another add-on to our expenses," according to Mayor Jean Paul Touchette.

Charges for drinking water tests range form $6 for alkalinity, $8 for coliform analysis to $12 for hardness and $38.50 for a metal analysis package.

Wastewater analysis, including raw sewage, sludge and final effluent tests run from $6 for ammonia and dissolved ammonium to $21.50 for Biochemical Oxygen Demand, $14.50 for uranium and $27.50 for the metals package.

The ministry estimates it will cost a municipality submitting three samples of effluent over a two month period $330.

For water testing, in which two samples from each of three water systems is submitted monthly, it will cost $10,332, or $9,298 after the 10 per cent discount for municipalities with a one-year contract.

Job descriptions not ready

Alexandria Councillor Francine Richer will have to wait until sometime in the new year for job descriptions for office staff.

Richer recently asked for the job descriptions, saying it will help employees define their roles and help council members understand as well what employees' jobs entail.

Councillor Gary Shepherd said he is concerned well defined roles for employees in such a small office could cause problems. For example, someone may refuse to answer the phone because it is not in their job description, he said.

Richer said however that she consulted office staff prior to making the suggestion and they all were in favor of it. "At least we will know where we're going," she explained.

While Richer said she was willing to wait until January for the descriptions, Councillor John Hope was less patient.

"I think you should have them if you asked for them," he told Richer. "What are they waiting for?"

No one shows at meeting

A public meeting — held at the end of the regular meeting Dec. 8 — to allow input into a zoning change for a town residence was not a big draw.

No one, not even the proponent of the zoning change, which would change a residence at Kenyon and Dominion streets from Residential First Density to Residential Fourth Density Special exception, showed for the public meeting.

The zoning change will allow the home to be turned into a two-storey duplex. The special exception allows for less than distance requirements from roads and neighboring buildings.

The proposal was approved by council. The town has 15 days to give notification of zoning change, after which people have 20 days to file any objections.

It's just about now that the Christmas countdown starts to be measured in minutes instead of hours, and the laggards among us vow never, never to leave things this late again. On the other hand, those whose preparations were completed weeks ago, are dying for the whole thing to be over with so they can get started on their valentines!

No matter which camp claims your allegiance, I wish you the best for a happy holiday season.

Last week's concerts at our local schools proved that one does not have to travel to the big city in order to see top-notch entertainment. Those who were fortunate enough to take in "A Christmas Carol" at Williamstown Public, marvelled at the professionalism of the production. We shouldn't have been surprised, however. With staff like Una Thain as the Director/Producer and Rosemary Sookman as the Musical Director, things are bound to be polished.

"A Christmas Carol" gave rising young stars like Bucky Ross (Scrooge) and Kate Wright (Marley), a chance to showcase their talents. Look for these two names in future drama reviews!

Gerry Goulet appeared as Charles Dickens himself, narrating the play. Jamie Leger was the nephew, while Loes Van deNieuwegiessen and Megan Sloan played two charitable gentlemen. The Christmas ghosts (past, present and future) were played by Jennifer Green, Laura MacKenzie and Jennifer MacNaughton respectively. Nancy Benoit was a businessman.

The Cratchit family consisted of Ryan Fielding who did a great job as Bob, Scrooge's overworked and underpaid assistant, Jackie Leduc as Mrs. Cratchit, Christine Sandilands as Martha and Eric Cumming as Peter.

In every performance there is a "show stealer," and in this one the honor went to young Winston Anderson as Tiny Tim. With an oversized cap and a gamin face, he looked as though he had been plucked straight out of 19th century Camden Town.

What made this version of "A Christmas Carol" a little out of the ordinary was the addition of the Kids Connection Chorus, a group of singers who performed such lively numbers as "Spirit's Gonna Get You," and "Holiday Hoedown." There were dancers in it, too; Karie Andre and Lisa Grant, and the eightsome of Kaylee Fraser, Erica Cumming, Margaret Cumming, Vera Cumming, Colleen Atchison, Kim Lauzon, Katie Cumming and Laine McDonell.

Singers included Maria MacDonald, Lisa Grant, Allison Blair, Chelsea Thompson, Laine McDonell, Kirsty MacDonald, Katie Cumming, Tammy Poirier, Jennifer Bateman, Krystle Smith, Colleen Atchison, Christie Rankin, Mary MacGregor, Christine Paquette, Kim Lauzon, Debbie Warden, Angela Meilleur, Stephanie Seymour, Krista McLellan, Margaret Cumming, Jessie McDonald, Jena Noseworthy, Nara Anderson, Terri Gillespie, Vera Cumming, Puran Guram, Christie Thompson, Sara Struthers, Jeana MacDonald, Erin Hamer, Alexandra Rose, Erica Cumming, Jessica Hedley, Laurie MacNaughton, and Kaylee Fraser. Production staff included Set Design: Lise Houde, Maria MacDonald, Laura MacKenzie, Karie Andre, Sarah McLean, Laura Rawnsley, Jackie Leduc, Jennifer MacNaughton and Stephanie Bateman.

Sound: Sean Rose, Stage Crew: Simon Harrington, Frank Hodgson, Shawn Fowler and Barry Warden. Props: Cheryl Lariviere and Laura MacKenzie. Costumes: Verna Warden. Program: Barbara Kinnear. Choreography: Anne Tuppert, Terry Tuppert, and Laura MacKenzie. Video: Terry Tuppert. Make-up: Sharon McCullough.

While most producers/directors can relax after the final curtain call, not so the ones mentioned above. Rosemary is the director of the Glen's big musical in February, while Una will be the producer of "Scenes from Glengarry School Days," in April.

Char-Lan's Christmas Concert, held Sunday in the school's cafetorium was also first rate. The evening featured the concert band, the jazz band, the Wednesday night players, and the choir.

Samantha Schofield, A. St. Denis, Lana Jarvo, Heather Williams, Carol Stott-Menard, Melissa Currier, M. McLeister, Melinda Kainberger, Neil Emberg, Erica Tyrell, Christina Beaudin, Lisa Buriak, K. MacDonell, Sarah Henssen, Kirsty Buchan, Denis Nacreto, Kirk Wallace and Geoff Noseworthy.

The band, directed by David Irwin, delighted its audience with several zippy numbers, including "Dinosaurs" from the television series by that name, and, in keeping with the season, "Rudolph in Wonderland." Two senior students, Heather Johns and Caroline Blacker showed their musical excellence as Heather played a flute solo with Caroline accompanying her.

The schools choir, which has grown over the years in both size and reputation, also presented a something-for-everyone repertoire. From the traditional "Little Drummer Boy" to a timely medley from "Beauty and the Beast," the Char-Lan singers and their conductor, Ken Johns, provided some very eclectic entertainment.

The Wednesday Night Players (Dave's Kids, as they are known in some quarters) also performed, although as their names were not listed in the program, it appears they prefer to remain incognito. Their wishes will be respected!

If you suspect a sombre strain running through the above report, blame it on the following bombshell in the bandshell. Scarcely had the sounds of Sunday's concert abated, than word broke that Mr. Irwin would be leaving Char-Lan at the end of the semester to become the principal at Martintown Public School.

The shocking effect of this news was systemic. Tears flowed and spirits drooped. Mr. Irwin, you will be greatly missed!

A reminder that New Year's Eve celebrations will be occurring right here in Williamstown on Dec. 31st at St. Mary's Centre. If you have not got your tickets from Ernie's or Alex's yet, please do so soon. There will be a hot and cold buffet, prizes, favors, and music will be by Leisure Sound.

If the purpose of the exercise was to shock people, then it was successful, indeed. I'm referring to the "Drama in Real Life," (or was it a recreation of "Rescue 911"?), which was played out in front of the High School on Tuesday. But it still seems like an "Unsolved Mystery" to me. The scenario, a staged accident by students at the high school, in co-operation with the OPP, Fire Dept. and Ambulance Service, in order to promote safe driving during the holidays, was made extremely realistic by the presence of very thick fog that morning. From the flares lining the road, to the errie flashing of the emergency vehicles' lights, the horrors of such an accident were really brought home.

Passersby gaped and gawked, their mouths opening in shapes that music teachers (and dentists) would have died for. Ghouls stopped cars by the side of the road and went to have a look (maybe I'm being uncharitable — they no doubt wanted to help). Children at the public school across the road were wild with curiosity and their ensuing questions had teachers perturbed.

I know that organizers did not plan the weather that day, but one really must query the wisdom of staging such a spectacle under such conditions. An impetuous child, dashing across the street in the fog to see what was going on; vehicles stopping abruptly in the fog; (one lady said she was afraid to drive by because she thought a power line was down); and the worry caused to residents who heard there had been an accident in front of the school — was it worth it all? Crash test dummies!

WI discusses citizenship

Martintown
Jean Butler
528-4319

Is there anything you'd like to know about citizenship? If so, just contact Mary Murray; Mary is the convenor for citizenship and legislation for the Martintown WI and at the November meeting, held in the Presbyterian Church hall, she gave a complete meaning to citizenship. She had delved into this subject very well, using excerpts from government leaflets, pamphlets, and magazines. Roll call was "A responsibility of a good citizen," answers to which just added to Mary's presentation.

Also at the November meeting, Director Hazel Driscoll read a great humorous article on "When your husband is ill" — a good thing there weren't any husbands present!

The December meeting was held in the seniors' room of the community centre and as usual it was exceptionally well attended, roll call being to bring a gift for your secret friend and a contribution to the food bank. Four guests were welcomed by President Jo Van Loon.

Emily MacInnes reported that plants for our shut-ins were purchased and were being delivered.

Advance Notice: District annual meeting this year will take place on Saturday, May 1 at Dunvegan.

Quite a discussion took place regarding the proposed new building for the FWIO. A complete article on this project is to be found in your "Home and Country" issue Winter 1992, copies of which were distributed at this December meeting. Found on page three "A view from here," this issue is most interesting as there seems to be something for everyone, even to "winter driving tips."

Marion Schofield, our hostess caller, had a delightful surprise gift for everyone present; it was a handcrafted ceramic bell, trimmed with white ribbon, an ornament for your Christmas tree. Thanks Marion, for such a lovely gesture, and well appreciated.

The Christmas program once again retained its "pot luck nature" — poetry, games and bits of fun — thanks to all who helped in this respect. Of course the super lunch was enjoyed by everyone — hostesses Mona Street, Lillian Munro, Charlotte Sansom and Hazel Driscoll really outdid themselves.

Jo van Loon, president, extended

Caring for Life
By Dr. George McKiel
Seniors & Families in Glengarry are Fortunate

When the time comes to find the best situation for the elderly family member who can no longer be cared for at home, we can now call 1-800-267-4699 and the Placement Coordination Service (P.C.S.) does all the footwork. The program, administered by the VON and funded by the Min. of Health, helps people select the most appropriate "Home", be it a nursing home, retirement home or home for the aged. It used to be a very confused situation with concerned families rushing around checking out the many and varied facilities.

Now, Heidi Jaeggin, coordinator of PCS, arranges an assessment — medical, social and cultural, provides families with information about the community services, makes referrals and keeps a registry of available beds. For Alexandria it will likely be Louise MacDonald, coordinator for Glengarry, who will respond as the advocate and arranger for many of our placements to go on the waiting list (Alexandria's Community Nursing Home currently has nine on its waiting list).

PCS began back in 1979 and is now available in some 22 areas across Ontario. For our five E. Counties, Dr. Larry Gray of Winchester Veterinary fame, and a Board Member of VON, was a key figure in bringing PCS to our area. Both Heidi and Dr. Gray recommend getting a copy of "How to Choose the Right Place", available from PCS, Home Care of EOHU, your nearest VON office, or the InterAgency office. In this booklet is an excellent account of services available in your own home which helps delay moving to another "Home". These include Meals on Wheels, Home Help Services such as light housekeeping, Handiman Services, Shopping Services, Respite Care, Transportation to medical or other essential appointments, security checks and friendly visiting - enough to make aging a most intriguing prospect!

Louise MacDonald points out that if the senior is in hospital, the Discharge Planner will work with their family and PCS so that the client gets the best, most sensible care. As part of that assessment the family will be encouraged to visit a few facilities and then advise PCS of their preference. Heidi Jaeggin makes a strong point. The ideal situation is to provide counselling and make the family and their senior member aware of their choices BEFORE a crisis intervenes. For instance, when you are under OHIP and require at least 1 and 1/2 hrs. of skilled nursing a day, you apply for extended care, receive a Certificate of Eligibility and, when admitted to a "Home", OHIP pays for you directly. The standard ward is always less than the combined pensions (OAS) + Ont. Guaranteed Annual Income System (GAINS). Which means you will have some money left for your personal use.

Remember PCS — 1 - 800 - 267-4699

Louise McDonald

Ms. Mcdonald is a graduate in Social Sciences from the University of Ottawa. She has been with Placement Coordination Services for the past two years as coordinator for SDG. She is also very involved with the Family Counselling centre of SDG where she is currently serving as President of the Board.

She resides in the city of Cornwall with her nine year old daughter and in her spare time, enjoys travelling, reading and singing.

Sending citrus

Over 1,200 cases of citrus fruit were sold by the 60 members of the GDHS/ESRG senior and jazz band for their annual fundraiser, a record number of sales. The funds will go toward purchasing instruments, banquet at school year end, bursaries, financial help for needy students studying in music and trips. Above, music teacher Pierre Vaillancourt and student Robert Campbell help unload the fruit for another trip. RARE, the recycling operation, allowed the group to use its loading and unloading facilities to ease the burden. Had more fruit been available, the organizers say more could easily have been sold.

Consultants deny doing unsolicited work for Kenyon

Consultants working on obtaining Kenyon Township's emergency certificate of approval say they have not done any work that was not specifically requested by council.

In a Nov. 24 letter from consultants Golder Associates Ltd., it was written, "Since the council resolution, the consultants have not undertaken any work which was not specifically requested by the township. We have also not done any work on the project since the Sept. 29, 1992 council meeting."

Council passed a resolution on Aug. 11 to stop work and billing, when it was learned that provincial funding was not available this year.

Council has been deferring the payment of about $3,000 in what are claimed to be unexpected bills from consultants and lawyers.

The bills were accumulated when consultants formulated a proposal that if accepted would have cost the township $8,000 but may have saved money in the long run.

Kenyon turned down the proposal, presented to council on Sept. 29, but soon after were billed for work to prepare the proposal and more recently have received notice that the township will receive another bill for the actual presentation of the proposal.

In a telephone interview last week, Reeve Wilfred Vallance said the proposal contained a suggestion that an appeal be made to the Ministry of the Environment senior officials.

Vallance and Maxville Reeve Jim MacEwen, with the aid of SD&G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve, made the pitch to MOE themselves.

> "Since the council resolution, the consultants have not undertaken any work which was not specifically requested by the township."

Vallance also said he believes the bills will eventually have to be paid, but hopes they can be whittled down.

Councillor Blair Williams, whose surprise at receiving every bill has been apparent, said last week, he doesn't think the township has seen the end of the problem.

Ladies invited to meeting

Christmas greetings to all and best wishes for a happy and safe 1993.

The January 1993 meeting takes place on the 21st, 1:30 p.m., at the Presbyterian Church hall, roll call "A school time memory."

As usual, the same words conclude this write-up by Irene West: All ladies of the district are welcome to attend — we meet on the third Thursday of each month; come and join us. And Irene sends along her good wishes for the holidays.

School students carol village residents

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Last Wednesday was not only unusual weatherwise, but it also was the day of unusual activities at the public school. During the morning it was the time for spreading Christmas cheer to others.

A group came uptown to sing carols. Two buses supplied by Highland Motors took carollers out to the country. Some students visited shut-ins, others made Christmas cards for the Manor residents while still others worked on other crafts. Every student was active in an activity which involved thinking of others.

Enthusiasm ran high during the morning and continued afterwards with the success of all activity considered.

In the afternoon of the same day, the primary/junior choir and the Grade 1/2 class participated in the Christmas concert at the Manor. It too, was a real happy event and as usual the residents appreciated having the children with them.

Clifford and Olive Kippen were home from Calgary with his brother, Bill and Catherine recently. During the visit a real family Christmas dinner was held a bit early to take advantage of the presence of the Calgary visitors. Present were Bill's sister, Isabel and Bruce MacRae, Waterdown, their daughter Cynthia, Marc, Alec and Isabel Villeneuve, Russell, Bill's other sister,Natalie and Roy Smith, Ottawa, the Kippen's daughters Brenda van Berkom with husband Koos and children Corey and Kate, Orleans and Bridget from Ottawa. Other guests were Verna Reveler and Glenn MacGregor, Morewood, Glenn Forestell, Shannonville and farming sons Wayne and Willie from next door.

Dorothea and Ross Conners returned on Friday from a month's visit to Australia and New Zealand. While there, the couple joined daughter Cathy on her sojourn in Australia.

His friends are happy to know that Edgar Runions is back home and ready to commence work in the new year.

Heather and Julie Williams are home from Guelph University for their Christmas vacation. However, to help make ends meet, Heather is working at MacEwen Petroleum some days.

Lorna and Gerald Blair are presently visiting their three sons, Gerry, Gordon and Ken and their families in the west as a special Christmas in recognition of their 40th wedding anniversary. At home for the holidays is son Erin from Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island.

Florence Clare is to be commended on the much improved appearance of her home on Mechanic St. W. which she has had renovated into two apartments. Years ago this was the St. Louis home and later that of Mr. and Mrs. D.J. McEwen.

It pays to be honest. Ruby MacGregor has had a sidewalk sign in front of her store and on it she invited people to come in and snoop. Many accepted the invitation. Mrs. MacGregor has always known that people like to snoop but felt a bit guilty about it. Her invitation cleared the way and incidentally increased business.

Colleen and Bill Blair, Ian and Eric from Tecumseh are home for a week with Lorna and Gordon Winter.

The winner of the recent rocking horse draw, sponsored by the Playtime Pals Co-op nursing school, was Steven Montcalm of Moose Creek. The ticket was drawn at the Manor by Flora-Anne MacGillivray, a resident. The supporters of the school extend thanks to Ramsay Baker, Moose Creek, for his time taken to construct the rocking horse and to those who assisted in this fund raising activity.

The newsletter from the St. Bernard School gave the program for the Christmas concert last Tuesday. It was held at the Sports Complex with one presentation in the afternoon for the students and another in the evening for the parents. All grades took part with songs and dances. Some of the pieces were composed in class.

On Friday, all students of the school enjoyed a Christmas dinner at noon. Even the junior kindergarten members were picked up an hour earlier so they could attend. Afterwards, there was skating at the arena.

The last two winners in the Playground hocky pool were Diana Legault and Bruce McDonald.

The community cookbooks have arrived. Their numbers are limited and they will prove to be great stocking stuffers for last minute shoppers. Profits from the project go to the Recreation Committee. The books are on sale at the Meat Market and at Ruby's Country Store.

This is a reminder that tickets for the New Year's Eve Dance are on sale at the Complex and Rei-Jan's, or from Ruth MacQueen and Ewen MacDonald, that Brandy and Port will be playing and that tables may be reserved by phoning the Complex.

Judging for the outdoor Christmas decorations competition was conducted last Thursday evening on behalf of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society. Thirteen householders entered and the judges were impressed.

The winners are as follows: Front window: Eileen and Basil Tait, Ellen Bissonnette, Greenfield.

Front door: Annie and Adrian St. Denis, Greenfield, The Taits, Audrey Nixon.

Tree: Edythe and John Coleman, Grace and Gregor McEwen, The Taits.

Overall: The St. Denis's, The McEwen's, Dorothy and Howard Morrow, The Taits, Shirley and Roger Villeneuve.

The weather conditions last week made is very pleasant for the birds and meant reduced feed consumption at the feeders. However, one day we had a male cow bird come to the cracked corn that is there for the mourning doves so far.

Readers are asking about the absence of the evening grosbeaks. We have had them once, only. We will have to wait to see if they are out there when the storming weather comes.

Does anyone else think that the birds sense a coming storm and come to the feeders in greater numbers prior to the spproach of rain or snow?

Another question: Do the woodpeckers wait in line somewhere for their turns at the suet feeder? I seldom see two woodpeckers at a time and it appears that they wait somewhere for their turns.

Sixty years ago Father Gauthier was transferred to Apple Hill and Father Bishop became priest here. It was during the depression and I remembered Father Gauthier coming to the school to hand out pencils to us. It is also interesting to note that then, Greenfield was the centre of the parish and now it is Maxville with Monseignor Rejean Lebrun living here and under him Greenfield in the capable hands of Sister Gertrude.

Ten St. Bernard school students were honored with youth appreciation certificates from the Kenyon Optimist Club at the school's Christmas concert on Tuesday. Pictured with the students are club president Marie Peters and Lucien Bonin, vice-president.

On Sunday, Dec. 6 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was distributed to 120 members and visitors.

During this special Advent service, two hand-quilted banners, symbolizing the Christian faith,, were dedicated by Rev. Ian MacMillan.

Mrs. Kathleen Leek's hard work, craftsmanship and commitment to this project was gratefully appreciated by the congregation.

Audrey Pasco, President of the Presbyterian Women's Group, presented Mrs. Leek with a gift.

Hugh and Joan Gibson led in the singing of two Advent carols.

Before communion was served, the Kirk Session was pleased to welcome into the church family, by Transfer of Membership, Donald and Shelagh Ferguson.

Following the service a fellowship hour, hosted by Marion Thompson and Sheila Wilcock, was held and much enjoyed by all.

The worship service was led by Doris Jonasson and Millie Mitchell.

The guest speaker for the evening was Jill Foster — who spoke about her upcoming work with Iner-Varsity Christian Fellowship at Concordia University in Montreal. Her faith and dedication to this challenging but rewarding ministry was very evident.

Everyone thanked Jill for her presentation and wished her all the best in her calling.

The evening continued with a Christmas game, carol singing, and the exchanging of secret friend gifts.

Refreshments were served by Eileen Fourney, Guelda MacRae, Annabell McNaughton and Audrey Pasco.

Here are two reasons why all GSL title roads lead to Laggan and Glen Nevis

Glen Campbell

GLEN NEVIS

Don Campbell says his son Glen has been actively involved in soccer in the summer and hockey in the winter since the Campbell family moved from Ottawa to Glen Nevis in 1978.

Glen Campbell was nine years old at the time and he's been accumulating awards, accolades and admiration for his proficiency and conduct in both sports ever since.

Talk to anyone who has ever coached him or played with or against him in that time and the same words keep popping up — gentleman, competitor, respect.

While words of praise have always followed Campbell throughout his careers in both sports, so have team trophies.

In the last four seasons of his stellar six-year Junior B career with the Glens, Campbell played on three St. Lawrence Division championship clubs and Alexandria went all the way to the Junior B final twice.

In soccer, the 23-year-old Campbell played on a Cornwall Blazers team that won the second division in the Ottawa Soccer League this past season and of course is a key member of the Glen Nevis soccer club that has a streak of title wins that currently stands at three.

Individually, the son of Don and Sheila Campbell was a quadruple winner at the Glengarry Soccer League awards banquet in September — taking home trophies for being the league's top scorer (with 22 goals), best forward and Most Valuable Player and sharing the coach of the year trophy (with Dunvegan's Scott Graham) for piloting a game but not wildly successful Glen Nevis ladies team.

It was the second time in three seasons that Campbell has been selected as MVP and continues a stretch of Glen Nevis dominance for the award that stretches back six years and includes wins by Andrew Meth and Sheldon McDougall.

Campbell was also named as the Glens' most valuable player on two occasions and won a host of other team and league trophies during his half-dozen junior seasons.

But like co-winner Bonnie MacLeod, what is most impressive about Campbell is not just all the trophies that he's won but the fact that he's done it without stepping on any toes along the way.

It is Campbell's quietly effective style that has won him the admiration of his coaches and teammates and the respect of his opponents.

In another sports era, he would have been referred to as a player's player.

Campbell adds a touch of class to whatever activity he participates in — whether it be the Glengarry Soccer League final or the glorified pickup hockey that is the Glengarry News Cup.

Explaining Glen Nevis' success

Campbell says Glen Nevis has continued to be successful because of the fine-tuning that has been done to the roster during the past three seasons.

"That's been really important for us — adding a few young players every year and making a good mix with the older players," said Campbell, who is currently in the fourth year of his studies towards a bachelor of science degree at the University of McGill, a school his sister Heather also attends.

"Recently, we've added Phil Poitras and Dean Poirier and they helped us a lot this year. You have to keep improving yourself if you want to stay successful."

Along with the change, there has been a few constants like the goaltending of Stewart MacDonald, the stellar backline play of Sheldon McDougall and the offensive wizardry of Andrew Meth.

"That Andy is going to score is a given. We just take his goals for granted at this point.

"Andy wants the ball and you just know he's going to score. He's made a big difference for us because in the past, we were never able to score the big goals at the right time.

"That's what Andy gives us."

Campbell, who started playing for Glen Nevis in his mid-teens, senses that teams give a little extra effort when they play the three-time defending champions.

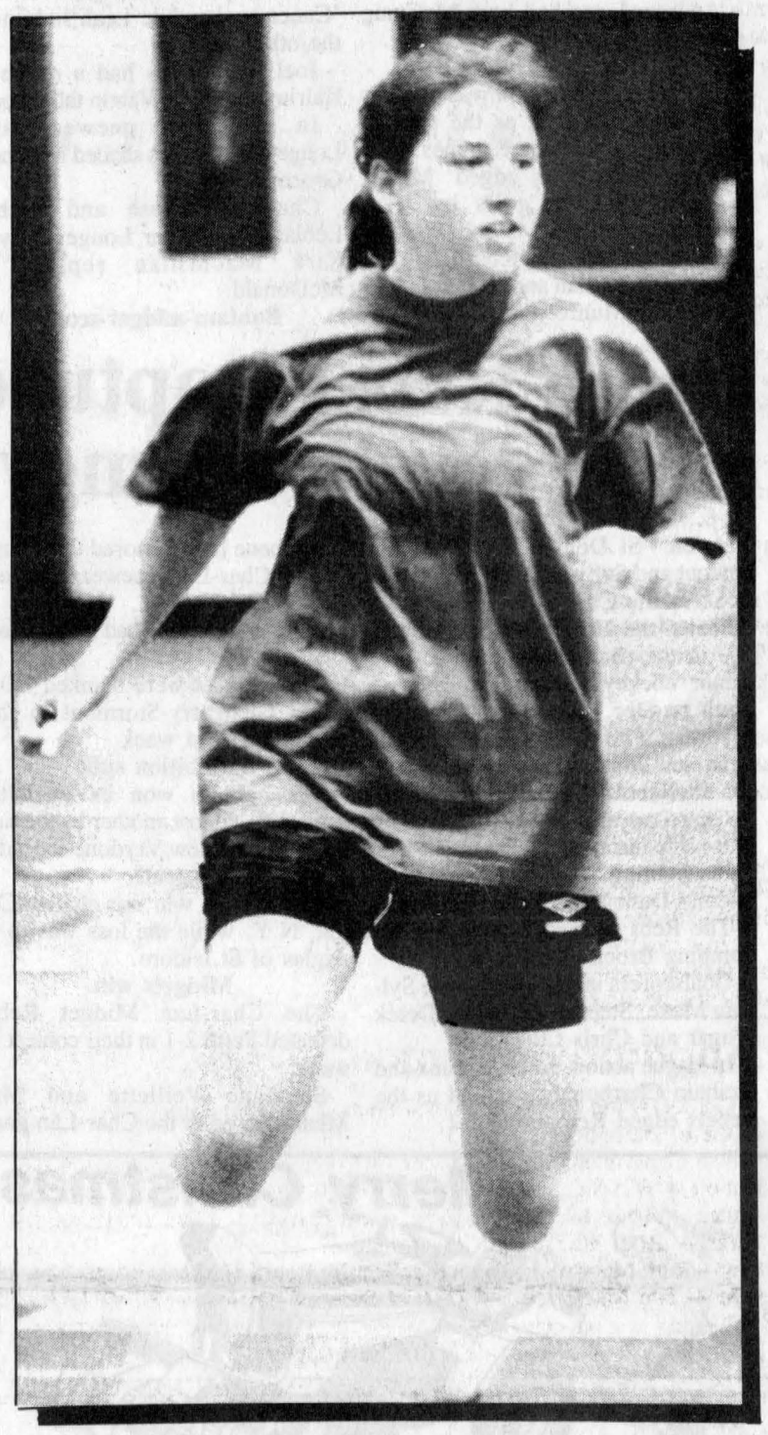
"There's no doubt that everyone is gunning for us a little bit, but that's always the way it is in any sport when you've won a few championships."

Even though Glen Nevis now has the chance to join such storied teams as the Pine Grove-McCrimmon clubs of the 60's and the Lochiel dynasty of the 50's as GSL franchises with more than three championships in a row to their credit, Campbell says he and his teammates haven't given the subject much thought.

"No, not really. We've never actually set a target number of years that we'd like to win the championship. I think it's best to just take it one year at a time."

Bonnie MacLeod

LAGGAN



Bonnie MacLeod and soccer. Soccer and Bonnie MacLeod.

The two go together like peaches and cream, like peanut butter and jam . . . like the Laggan ladies and Glengarry Soccer League championships.

Between playing for the Laggan senior team, the Hearts entries in the Ottawa outdoor loop and the Cornwall Indoor Soccer League, her work on the GSL executive and her minor soccer coaching with the Laggan bantam girls, MacLeod spends a lot of her waking hours in and around soccer year-round.

Of course, in this county, she's hardly alone in that regard, but what makes MacLeod stand out from the rest of the soccer crowd is how good she is at the sport.

MacLeod is a four-time winner of two of the GSL's most honored prizes — the Ellen MacMaster Memorial Trophy as the top scorer in the ladies division and the Shepherd Sports award for being selected as the league's top forward.

Along with Kelly Lavigueur of Alexandria B, MacLeod is a perennial candidate for the league's Most Valuable Player honor, winning the Milmac Farm Trophy once and coming close on several other occasions.

This summer, MacLeod won the GSL scoring race by a margin of 22-14 over her closest pursuer and the 25-year-old McCrimmon Corners native currently sits second in the Cornwall Indoor Soccer League individual scorers list with 10 tallies.

And while the individual honors continue to pile up, there's plenty of team-oriented hardware too.

The Laggan ladies have won three GSL championships in a row and with the core of the team intact, there's no telling how long the team will hold onto the crown.

MacLeod coached the Laggan bantam girls to a GSL minor soccer championship this summer and the Hearts contended for the Ottawa league title until the last game of the season.

The former Brock Badger also played on her share of championship teams while playing for the Gaels at Glengarry District High School.

But to call MacLeod a champion is to go much deeper than all the team or individual trophies.

In an era where it has become okay for athletes to draw attention to themselves, the unassuming MacLeod continues to do her job with little fuss or fanfare.

When asked about Laggan's success, the word "we" is sprinkled freely throughout her responses. "I" does not seem to be a big part of MacLeod's vocabulary.

Growing up with soccer

It's not that surprising that the daughter of John and Mary MacLeod is so deeply involved in soccer — she's been immersed in the sport since she was old enough to kick a ball.

The whole family gets into the soccer act as sisters Katie, Beth, Nancy and Kirsty are also involved in the sport. All but Kirsty suit up for Laggan.

"Soccer is a big thing in Glengarry because we all grew up with it. I remember going to watch my father play (for Glen Sandfield) when I was five years old," she said.

"The history (of the GSL) is one of the reasons why winning the championship is so important."

The importance of the Glengarry league was underscored when, late last summer, Laggan played on the same night of an important Ottawa league game for the Hearts, a team which has a large contingent of Laggan players.

"We chose to stay and play for Laggan and the Hearts wound up having only seven players for their game. It just goes to show where the priority is."

In fact, MacLeod points to that commitment as being the principal factor in Laggan three-peat success.

"It's the dedication for sure," she comments. "We all get along pretty well and a lot of us have been playing together since we were 10 years old."

That camaraderie, says MacLeod, is what allows the team to overcome adversity like losing top players like Ann McMillan to injury as was the case this past season.

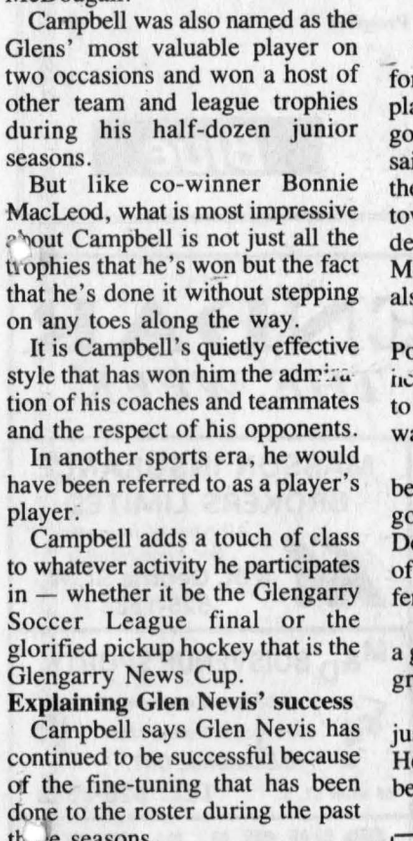
"Every year, something like that happens and somehow we all pull together and get it done. It's like we become more intense about what we're doing."

And despite all the defiant cries of "We showed 'em" after Laggan had wrapped up the GSL final against Alexandria B on Aug. 31, the players were less than confident of their chances of winning a month earlier.

"We really didn't expect to win this year, especially late in the season (when Laggan had to rally just to make the playoffs) and in the semi-finals (when Laggan struggled to eliminate Dunvegan)."

As far as hazarding a guess as to how many more titles the Laggan team can win, MacLeod has been around long enough to know that the team can't look too far ahead.

"Honestly, you never know from year to year. Laggan had a good bantam team so we've got some good talent coming up but so do the other teams. Like Lisa Poirier for Alexandria B — she's going to be a key factor for them for a long time."



Campbell: A stronghold for Glen Nevis

Campbell and MacLeod in the eyes of others

Peter DeRooy, who coached Campbell for four seasons on the Glens:

"I can't say enough about him. He showed up for every game and for every practice.

"He had the talent, he had the work ethic and you never heard a complaint from him. He's a complete gentleman.

"I still remember the time against Gananoque when he tore ligaments in his knee and was back in the lineup three weeks later.

"He was one of the best players I've ever had the pleasure to coach."

Dale MacDonald, coach of Glen Nevis:

"He's got a good attitude, gets along with everyone and he gives everything he does everything he's got.

"He gets the job done but still keeps the respect of everyone in the league, including the refs.

"He's a natural athlete and just a super, down-to-earth kid."

Sheldon McDougall, a teammate of Campbell's now with Glen Nevis and previously with the Glens and in touch football:

"Glen's the stronghold of the team. He's one of our two halves and everything revolves around him both on offence and on defence.

"In seven or eight years of playing with him in soccer and in two years of Junior B, I've never seen him raise a hand to anyone but at the same time, he never backs down from anyone.

"And then there's his attitude — he's always trying to pump everyone up before a game and he makes you look forward to playing. Afterwards, he's always the last one to leave.

"If I was going to make a parallel, I'd compare him to Steve Yzerman — a real gentleman, very polite but also someone who's a strong competitor and who never backs down."

Lorna Howes, one of MacLeod's Laggan teammates:

"She means a lot of goals for us, that's for sure.

"She's a lot like Ann McMillan in that we take her for granted because she's there all the time.

"I've heard her say a million times that soccer is her life. A lot of times when the rest of us are going out she'll go to the soccer field and shoot on net all by herself.

"If that's not dedication, I don't know what is."

Bruce Kennedy, Laggan's coach:

"She's a super kid and very easy to coach.

"She's got a strong will to win and she comes to play all the time.

"Bonnie's so determined too — she showed that when she hurt her leg this year but still came back to play.

"She's such a nice person too. She's always in a good mood and she's well liked by all the other players on the team. You never have to worry about her attitude."

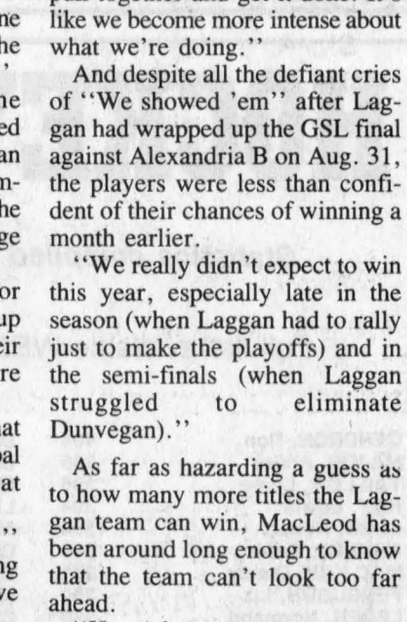
Jamie MacDonald, coach of rival Alexandria B and a fellow member of the GSL executive:

"She's one of the top players in the league. Her and Kelly (Lavigueur) are always waging a battle for all the top league awards.

"She's definitely been a thorn in Alexandria B's side in the past three years. We always try and mark her when we play Laggan to prevent her from getting on the scoresheet.

"On the executive, Bonnie was very helpful and did a lot of good things for soccer this year.

"The one thing about her is — she doesn't say much but she's very serious on the soccer field."



MacLeod: Lets her actions speak for her.

Hadzocos leads Aviation crew

Phil Hadzocos scored four goals as Cornwall Aviation edged the Glengarry Kinsmen 5-4 in the atom division of the Char-Lan Minor Hockey house league.

Hadzocos also assisted on Aviation's fifth goal, which was scored by Scott McKenzie.

Blake Roy, Leigh Thomson, Matthew Tyo and Shawn O'Bery tallied for the Kinsmen.

Aviation also split a pair of contests with McCuaig Plumbing in a busy week of action.

McCuaig won one of the games 2-1 as Andrew Knox scored both goals. Matthew Flaro replied for Aviation.

The Pilots took the second game 3-2 on goals by Phil Hadzocos, Scott McKenzie and Matthew McLeary.

Andrew Jarvo had both McCuaig scores.

Peewee results

Malyon's Excavation was another busy club last week as the peewee team won two of three games.

First, Malyon's edged Munro Agromart 3-2 on goals by Jesse Winkiewicz, Chris Malyon, Charles Leclair and Darryl Menard.

Kirk MacMillan and Joshua Jodoin scored for Munro.

Malyon's then snuck past Kalrim Sports thanks largely to Charles Leclair's four-goal performance.

Chris Malyon also hit the scoresheet for Excavation while Joel Plamondon (with two), Alex Pattingale and Pat Dubeau responded for Kalrim.

Kalrim rebounded two days later to defeat Malyon's 4-3 as Jason Varrin fired in a pair of goals.

Stephen Alguire and Joel Plamondon had Kalrim's other goals. Adam McCosham, Charles Leclair and Darryl Major found the back of the net for Malyon's.

Kalrim also played the Cornwall RCAFA Hurricanes last week, dropping a 5-3 decision.

Dominique Laroche had four of the 'Canes goals while Leah Jodoin had the other.

Joel Plamondon had a deuce for Kalrim and Jason Varrin tallied once.

In the other peewee game, Longevity Acrylics shaded McDonald Groceries 2-1.

Chad MacIntosh and Richard Leblanc scored for Longevity while Kirk MacMillan replied for McDonald.

Bantam-midget scores

Paul St.Denis' two goals were the difference as Gauthier's Greenhouse doubled Mac's Marian in bantam-midget division action.

Geoff McLean and Albert St.Denis had Gauthier's other goals while Steven Bleile and David Olson accounted for the Mac's offence.

Gauthier's lost their second game by a count of 5-3 to Dan's Place as Sam Cain paced the winners with two goals.

Jason Buriak, Dan Gillespie, and Robbie Lamarche added singles for Dan's while scoring for Gauthier's was Jason Alguire, Albert St.Denis and Paul St.Denis.

Finally, Mac's played to a 3-3 tie with Poirier Bus Lines last week.

Andre Hebert had a deuce for Poirier and Tom Heatley had a single.

Travis Guest, Steven Bougie and Dustin Bleile potted goals for Mac's.

Novice result

In the lone novice division game, Justin Lalonde scored twice to lead Fontaine Renovations to a 4-1 triumph against Rozon Insurance.

Also scoring for the winners was Phillipe Glaude and Robb Schaeffer while Addison McDonell scored for Rozon.

Atom Rebels capture Long Sault tourney

Adele St.Denis recorded the shutout and Sylvain Matte scored two goals as the Char-Lan Atom Rebels defeated the North Dundas Demons 5-0 in the championship game of a minor hockey tournament in Long Sault on Dec. 12.

Jordan Flaro, Graham Charbonneau and Jonah Leroux also scored for the Rebels in the deciding game.

Char-Lan also defeated Kingston Township during the tournament with goals coming from Sylvain Matte, Nicolas Dube and Stephen Lefebvre.

The Rebs opened the tourney by dumping Brockville 4-1.

Goalscorers in that game were Sylvain Matte, Stephen Lefebvre, Derek Wagar and Chris Corput.

In league action, Jonah Leroux and Graham Charbonneau tallied as the Rebels edged Kemptville 2-1.

Stephane Loyer scored three times as the Char-Lan peewees defeated Alexandria 4-1.

Kent McDonell had Char-Lan's other goal.

The peewees were blanked 1-0 by North Glengarry-Stormont in their other game last week.

Exhibition split

The novices won an exhibition game 4-3 and lost another by the same score as Matthew Verdone scored all of Char-Lan's goals.

The Rebels' win was against Canton, N.Y. while the loss was to the Aigles of St.Isidore.

Midgets win

The Char-Lan Midget Rebels defeated Perth 2-1 in their contest last week.

Stephane Veillette and Marc Menard fired in the Char-Lan goals.

Gaels sunk by Panthers' late-game points surge

The Glengarry Gaels gave the St.Joseph's Panthers all they could handle for about three quarters of their SDG high school senior boys basketball game — the teams were tied 35-35 at one point — but St.Joe's put on a late rally to claim a 50-41 victory last Wednesday in Cornwall.

Gaels centre Matt Williams was solid despite the loss and he led all scorers with 14 points.

Scott McPherson and Harry Wilson each added nine points for Glengarry while Robert Meth had seven.

Mark Poirier and Dave Klenavik each poured in nine points for the Panthers.

Juniors lose big lead

The junior Gaels appeared to be well on their way to a victory last Wednesday as Jack Paavila's club led by 12 points at three-quarter time.

But the Panthers dominated the final eight minutes of the game and, in a stunning turnaround, wound up beating Glengarry by nine points.

The juniors' record now drops to 1-1.

Meanwhile, Matthew Steiche's midgets are now 0-2 after dropping a 33-13 decision to St.Joseph's.

Char-Lan ups record to 3-0

Three players hit for double figures in scoring as the Char-Lan Crusaders took a 49-35 win over the Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers in SDG boys high school basketball action last Thursday in Ingleside.

Steve Proctor and Terry O'Farrell had 12 points apiece while Innes Fraser had 10 for Char-Lan, who are now 3-0 in league play.

R-O's Sean Peever led all scorers with 15 points.

The junior Lancers handed Char-Lan their third consecutive loss as Jason DeMary had 20 points in a 51-40 R-O win.

Travis Guest, with 11, and Derek Runions, with 10, were the top scorers for Mona Leblanc's juniors.

R-O also took the midget game, winning 31-22.

Kevin O'Farrell had six points for Char-Lan while Ryan Ross added five.

Sports scripts

By J.L. Lefebvre

Dear Santa,

I know you must get tired of every sportswriter and his dog writing a story about gifts to give to athletes, coaches and sundry other individiduals in the sporting community, but the truth is, at this time of year, our fried brains can't think of anything more original.

Besides, we see these sporting types throughout the whole year, and we know what they truly want and in some cases what they really, reeeaaally need.

I hope you'll see fit to leave a little something special under the trees of the following individuals or teams:

The Alexandria Glens: Where to start? Just about anything would be appreciated and is certainly needed.

A couple of Marc Sauve-type forwards and Luc Decoeur-ian defencemen would be nice but the Glennies would probably settle for a little stability, peace and tranquilty in the second half of the season.

A couple of wins now and then wouldn't hurt either.

The Char-Lan Rebels: This one's a gimme — having fans bring their fannies to the team's home games.

Okay, so the Rebs are a little inconsistent. But they're still in second place and are easily one of the most entertaining clubs to watch in Junior B.

Is it possible that there's still some resentment on the part of locals because the team went to Cornwall to get a coach and several of the team's top players?

Serge Bellefeuille, Alexandria Glens: Some company at the Junior B all-star game in January.

If all-star public address announcers are chosen, maybe Dan "Toots" Brunet can join the Alexandria captain at the mid-season classic.

Bobby Bowles, Char-Lan Rebels: A goal.

After terrorizing opposition goalies during the exhibition schedule, the Bainsville Bomber's goal well has run dry in the regular season.

The rightful return of Bowles' assistant captain's "A" would be nice too.

Stephan Nadeau, Alexandria Glens: a brand new, shiny orange pylon.

Stars, Rudi's led by rookies

Decoste and Struthers make marks in Char-Lan indoor debuts

A pair of rookies playing in their first Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League game led their respective teams to victories at the Char-Lan high school gym in Williamstown last Monday night.

Alain Decoste of the Glengarry Stars and Jason Struthers of Rudi Payer Sport each scored two goals in 6-1 vicotries by the top two teams in the CLISL.

The Stars downed the Char-Lan U2's to improve their record to 6-1 heading into the league's Christmas break.

Victor Denobriga also scored two goals for Glengarry while Matthew Steiche and Steve Cameron had singles.

Scott Arnott had the lone U2's marker.

Rudi's, meanwhile, were beating up on the Avonmore Warriors.

Rod MacKillican scored for the Warriors while Innes Fraser, Taff Pye, Junior Blanchette and Andy McCuaig added singles to Struthers' two goals effort.

McCuaig's goal was his eighth of the season and last as the league's top scorer is headed to the University of New Brunswick next month.

In last Monday's nightcap, the SDG Nomads held Cornwall F.I.S.T. to a 1-1 tie as Ted Van Vorstenbos and Guy Carriere exchanged goals.

The team records headed into the break are: Stars (6-1-0), Rudi's (5-1-1), F.I.S.T. (4-1-2), U2's (2-3-2), Nomads (1-5-1) and Warriors (0-7-0).

The league's top scorers are: Andy McCuaig-Rudi's (eight goals), Greg Deschamps-Rudi's and Guy Carriere-F.I.S.T. (six), Matthew Steiche-Stars and Tim Snyder-F.I.S.T. (four).

Eight players are tied for sixth place with three goals.

Rudi's makes tourney final

Rudi's was at a tournament in Kingston on the weekend of Dec. 12-13, and advanced to the "A" final before losing to the Kingston Cobras 2-1 in the championship game.

Rudi's advanced to the final by beating CFB Kingston 2-1 in the quarter- final and the Queen's Gaels in a shootout in the semi-final.

The team swept its pool games on Saturday, beating the Gaels 3-1, Goulburn Township 1-0 and the Prescott Gunners 2-0.

Andy McCuaig scored four goals over the weekend while Phil Poitras and Pat Burke scored three each. Gareth Pye had the team's other two markers.

Randy Burke of Rudi's was named as the tournament's top goaltender.

Free admission for C-L Rebels matinee

The Char-Lan Jr. B Rebels will be admitting all minor hockey players accompanied by an adult free of charge for the club's Sunday. Dec. 27 game with the first-place Morrisburg Lions.

Team management is hoping the added support will help the home team win its first game of the season against the high-flying Lions.

There will also be various draws for prizes at the game.

Players are asked to inform ticket seller-hostess Shannon MacLeod what team they play for upon entering the building.

Game time at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre is 1:15 p.m.

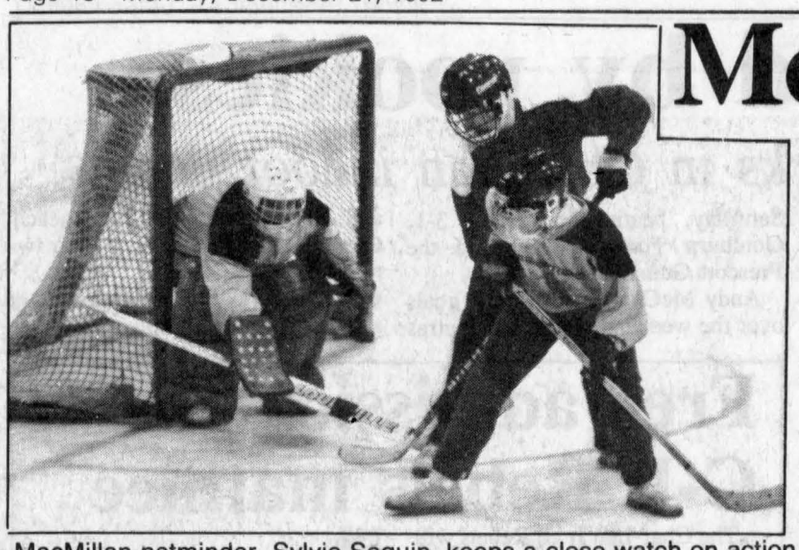
McMillan goal cancels Insurance



MacMillan netminder, Sylvie Seguin, keeps a close watch on action in front of her net as Tapis' Helen MacDonald and teammate Karen Poirier try to establish position.

Ann McMillan's goal with 5:14 left in the second period stood up as the game's only offence as Tapis Richard Ranger defeated MacMillan Insurance 1-0 in Ladies Sponge Puck League at the Glengarry Sports Palace Wednesday night.

The goal was scored with Tapis playing a player short and it was MacMillan's inability to capitalize on three power play opportunities that made the difference in the game.

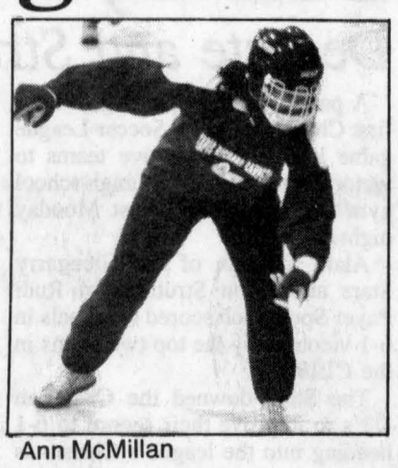
Sue Poirier gets credit for the shutout.

The win allowed Tapis to remain tied with Art Benton for first place as Benton beat up on L.C. Electric to the tune of a 6-0 win.

Benton spread out the offence with six different players - Andree Berube, Gino Lalonde, Louise Sommers, Karen MacDonald, Clara Juliao and Debbie Nadon - hitting the scoresheet.

Nathalie Theoret was in goal for the shutout.

In the last game of the night, Cathy Grant scored twice to lead SunLife to a 5-1 win over M and D Sports.



Ann McMillan

Wendi Lawson had a goal and two assists while Haley Flaro and Chantal Legault also had single markers.

Roxanne Lafrance had the only goal for M and D.

SunLife now has 15 points and trails co-leaders Tapis and Benton by a single point.

Individual leaders

Goals: Wendi Lawson-SL (15), Debbie Nadon-AB (11), Cathy Grant-SL (10), Gillian Chaddock-SL (9), Mary Nixon-TR (9), Wendy Hay-MI (9), Lisa Poirier-MI (5), Sue Delage-AB (5), Marie Bellemare-AB (4), Helen MacDonald-TR (4), Sue Stewart-TR (4), Chantal Legault-SL (4).

Assists: Wendi Lawson-SL (8), Ann McMillan-TR (7), Louise St.Pierre-TR (7), Cathy Grant-SL (7), Gillian Chaddock-SL (7), Sylvie Menard- SL (7), Gino Lalonde-AB (6), Janice Munro-SL (6), Karen MacDonald-AB (5), Carol Ann Baxter-TR (5), Chantal Legault-SL (5).

Game-winning goals: Debbie Nadon-AB (3), Lisa Poirier-MI (2), Cathy Grant-SL (2), Sue Stewart-TR (2), Sue Delage-AB (2), 17 tied with one.

Champs routs Rebs

Champions Roadhouse, bolstered by the recent addition of several former Brownhouse skaters and former junior stars Mike Lapensee and Luc Sabourin, racked up a 14-2 victory at the expense of the Rebels in Border Hockey League action on Dec. 13.

Lapensee and Sabourin each netted three goals as did Gerry Blanchette.

Richard Picard and Mike Seguin added two goals apiece while Andre Seguin rounded out the scoring.

Kennedy MacDonald and Jamie McIntosh scored for the Rebels.

MacDonald also scored three goals for his regular team, the Kinsmen, as the team downed Glen Nevis 9-8 in a shootout.

Carter MacDonald had two goals for the winners while Bill Labonte, Terry Aleinik, Steve Maisonneuve and Ron MacDonald each popped in a single.

Findley McLeod and Stewart MacDonald each bagged hat tricks for Glen Nevis with singles going to Don McRae and Rodney Craig.

V-ball Gaels tame Panthers

The Glengarry Gaels made life tough for the visiting St.Joseph's Panthers last Wednesday, sweeping their Cornwall "AA" rivals in midget, junior and senior play.

Tina Cairncross' senior Gaels inflicted set losses of 15-7, 15-7 and 15-2 on St.Joe's.

The seniors have yet to drop a set in two matches this year.

The juniors won by scores of 15-12, 15-5 and 15-12 and are now 5-1 on the season.

The Glengarry Gaels pushed their season record over the .500 by sweeping their St.Joseph's counterparts 15-10, 15-12 and 15-11.

Crusaders regroup

After dropping contests to "AA" rivals Glengarry, the Char-Lan senior and junior girls volleyball teams returned to winning form against "A" schools last Thursday by defeating the visiting Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers.

Both Crusader teams had opened the season with victories over Tagwi.

In the junior matchup, Erika Tyrell and Joanne Legault were Char-Lan's key players as the Crusaders eked out a 15-13 victory in the third and deciding game.

Char-Lan won the first game 15-5 as Char-Lan scored 12 straight points on Christine Sloan's serve, and dropped the middle set 15-4.

Meanwhile, the seniors had a team meeting prior to their match in an effort to regroup from the sweep the team had suffered at the hands of the Gaels in their previous game.

The pow-wow had the desired effect as Char-Lan won all three games by scores of 15-8, 15-7 and 15-9.

Christmas wish list

Steven Cameron, Glengarry Stars: a set of theft-proof hubcaps.

Jamie MacDonald, coach of Alexandria B: padded garbage cans at Father Gauthier Field in Lochiel.

L.C. Electric, Ladies Sponge Puck League: a win.

This one was on the wish list last year too, but judging from the team's results in 1992, that request must have got lost in the mail.

The Lavigueur family: the institution of Club 9-1-1 for the frequently hospitalized.

Those accumulating enough points under the plan would win an all-expenses-paid trip to Louisville, Kentucky, the world's leading manufacturer of crutches.

Doc Cuerrier, dentist and long-suffering New York Rangers fan: a new team to cheer for.

With the Blueshirts' stretch of futility at 52 years and counting, the Mighty Ducks of Anaheim stand a better chance of winning the Stanley Cup than the Boys of Broadway.

Alexandria novices, bantams and midgets: some signs of life.

We know the Glens travelling teams are playing somewhere out there, but you can't prove it by us.

There's a lot more suggestions that could be made, but I know how busy you are so let's leave it at that.

Thanks for your time and I hope to see you at a Dalkeith Outdoor Broomball League game this winter.

Yours truly,
J. L. Lefebvre

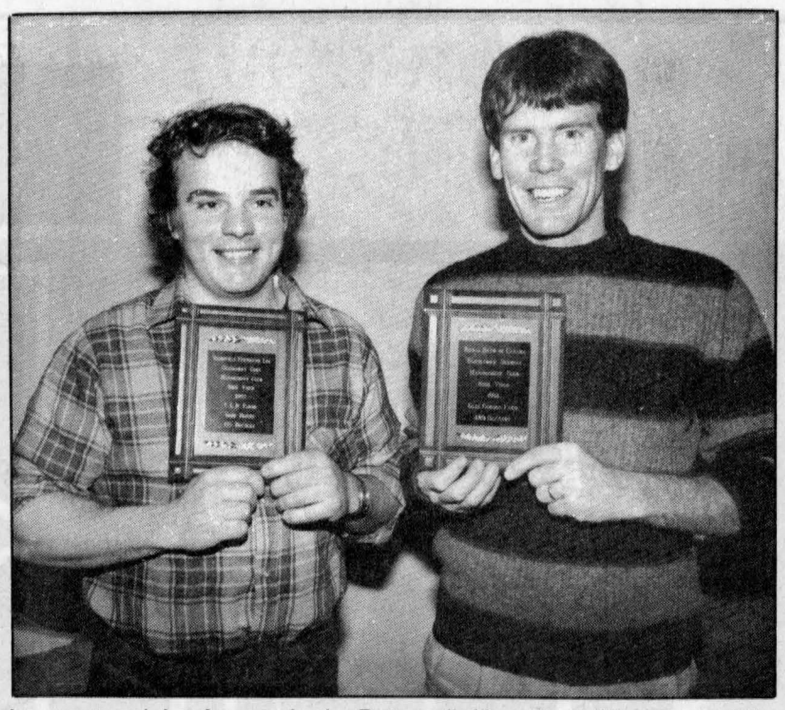
Crop and soil members honored for accomplishments

Greenfield dairy farmer Adrian St. Denis (left), Bainsville dairy farmer Charles Osborne, and two representatives of Lochiel Township, Deputy Reeve Maurice Montpetit and Councillor Peter MacSweyn, were each given the Soil Conservation Farm Award during the Glengarry Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting in Alexandria Dec. 9. The two farmers were given the award for protecting the quality of soil on their farms, while Lochiel was awarded for its work in filling up an old quarry with earth. Trees can now be planted on the covered pit. Staff photo — Andre Perrella



Lancaster dairy farmer Iggie Peters (left) and cash cropper John Ferguson, also of Lancaster, were presented the Soybean and Corn Club awards during the Glengarry Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting in Alexandria Dec. 9. Highland Heritage course to resume at high school

The Glengarry Highland Society is again offering a Highland Heritage course at Glengarry District High School in Alexandria every second Saturday from Jan. 16 to March 27.

It will be on Jan. 16 and 30; Feb. 13 and 27; and March 13 and 27; from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The course will consist of the showing of videos on various aspects of Scottish Highland history and traditions, with discussions to follow.

There is no charge for this series but donations to the Glengarry Highland Society would be much appreciated.

Space is limited so please register as soon as possible with Kenneth McKenna, (613) 874-2861, RR 3, Dalkeith, Ontario, K0B 1E0.

Although not sponsored by the Glengarry Highland Society, classes in conversational Gaelic will be given every Saturday from Jan. 16 to April 3, from 9 a.m. until 10:30 a.m.

The classes have been arranged to fit in with the Highland Heritage course so that every second Saturday, those attending the Gaelic classes can, after a coffee break, sit in on the heritage course.

There will be a charge for the Gaelic classes. For further information, contact Sine (Sheena) McKenna at (613) 874-2861.

Optimists distributing baskets for needy families

Glen Robertson
By Colette Sauvé
Tel. 874-2076

Next kids club will be held next Tuesday (Dec. 29th) at the social centre. You must call Cheryl at 874-2322 if you are attending. Admission will be one dollar.

The community of Glen Robertson is extending their most sincere sympath to all the family and friends of Mrs. Irene Lauzon MacDonald who passed away last week. Our thoughts and prayers are with you all.

* * *

A recent visitor with Martin and Sharon Lacombe for a period of two weeks was Martin's father, Doug Lacombe from Moncton, New Brunswick. Martin and Sharon are also sending him their best wishes for the holidays and the coming year.

Christmas spirit

Once again, this year, members of the Optimist Club will be distributing Christmas food baskets. This gesture of sharing with the needy at this special time of year is made possible partly by the great generosity of the Glen Robertson Recreation Centre and with the help of the Optimist Club and other donations collected in the community.

New Year's Eve party

People wishing to attend the New Year's Eve party at the social centre can get their tickets by calling at 874-2081 or 874-2076. Music will be provided by "Germain and the Crickets."

* * *

Only two birthdays to mention: Michel Rozon who will be a year older today Tuesday (Dec. 22) and his son, Julien Rozon who will turn 10 years old on the very last day of the 1992 year (Dec. 31st). The best to both of you!

* * *

To all the staff at the Glengarry News and all my column readers, I'd like to wish all of you a merry Christmas and a very happy New Year. May the spirit of peace gently fill your heart and home with love, joy and goodwill!

Dinner is served

Amanda Perralte, 12 of Alexandria, serves Pearl MacRae (foreground) also Alexandria, during a Christmas dinner for seniors hosted by the Glen Robertson Guides. The Alexandria guides were invited to come to the dinner and bring a senior along with them. The combined Alexandria and Glen Roberston group took care of the serving.

Students entertain with carols

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

A car-full of women, Wanda Hay, Bessie MacLennan, Doris Spencer, Betty MacNaughton and Lorna Chapman were among the 117 ladies present at the CWC meeting Dec. 14. The special program was on assembling beautiful Christmas baskets and decorations. Two lovely sleigh-baskets of dried and silk flowers were won as prizes. Fifty-one elementary school children, in a choir, sang a medley of Christmas songs and carols. They were delightful! The quilted wreath-candle holder centrepieces were quickly sold for a modest price. It was a really special day.

We would like to wish Perle Brunet a quick return to health and strength, now that she is home from hospital.

Get well wishes go out to little Shona Fraser, who is also home from the hospital in Cornwall. A really bad bout of flu had her quite ill. Hope you'll soon be really well, Shona.

Glen Sandfield will have Christmas Eve service at 8 p.m. It will be led by members of the congregation.

* * *

Christmas is for Children

Christmas is for children
This is oh so true.
For we are all God's children,
In everything we do.

Christmas is Christ's day,
To mark when he was born
The day that altered history,
Was that first Christmas morn.

Don't X Christ out of Christmas,
Without Him, there'd be none,
Keeping Christ in Christmas
Could make the whole world one.

The Prince of Peace, our Savior
Could unite us all in love
If all kept the Christ in Christmas
And revered the Holy Dove.

Don't let the shiny gift wrap
Obscure the real gift.
If we ancor to the Christ child —
None of us will go adrift.

Alliance congregation held concert

by Andre Perrella
News reporter

It is the area's quaintness and its people that has drawn Glengarry's newest pastor to become a permanent preacher here.

"As I went down I felt this was good. I should be here," said Arthur Cooke who was accredited pastor of the Alliance Church in Alexandria on Sept. 13.

The new pastor recently planned a large Christmas concert for his small congregation.

Cooke, had a choir from Ottawa and a three-member brass ensemble preform for the Alliance church's 30 members in Alexandria.

The concert, held at the United Church in town, was followed by a social hour when congregation members and their relatively new pastor mingled over coffee, tea and cookies.

Cooke, a Nepean resident, began holding Sunday services at the Alliance Church in Alexandria more than a year ago as a temporary replacement for Tom Felts, the former pastor.

Although he and his wife, an active member of his congregation, are thinking about moving to Alexandria, they have too many obligations in Ottawa.

His wife is a full-time elementary school teacher, and he is a part-time safety officer with the military.

But Cooke said he and his wife enjoy Glengarry's breathtaking beauty, and would like to move into the area.

"We like the area," he said.

"If our congregation grows, I could see us there in our own little lot."

The congregation is currently small, about 30 members.

Cooke drives to the Glengarry District High School every Sunday to hold weekly services.

He said if the congregation grows and becomes wealthier, he will not only move into the area, the congregtation will be able to afford its own building.

"We hope to purchase property, and within the next few years, have a building up."

He said the church has not selected a possible site because plans for a building have not yet been made.

In Memoriam

McNAUGHTON, Elmer — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather who passed away on Dec. 14, 1990.
You will never know how much we will miss you but our thoughts are always with you. You'll always be remembered and sadly missed by —Douglas, Linda, Jennifer and Eric.
52-1p

ANNA MAE McNEIL — In loving memory of a dear mother and wife who passed away Dec. 21/88.
When I am gone, release me, let me go
I have so many things to see and do.
You mustn't tie yourself to me with tears;
Be happy that we had so many years.
I gave you all my love, you can only guess
How much you gave to me in happiness.
I thank you for the love we each have shown,
But now it's time I travelled on alone.
So grieve a while for me if grieve you must,
Then let your grief be comforted by trust.
It's only for a while that we must part,
So bless the memories within your heart.
I won't be far away, and life goes on
So if you need me, call and I will come.
Though you can't see or touch me — I'll be near
And if you listen within your heart, you'll hear...
All my love around you, soft and clear.
And then when you must come this way alone,
I'll greet you with a smile and say
"WELCOME HOME!"
—From the family.

QUENNEVILLE — The family of the late Jennet Quenneville wish to express sincere thanks for the many acts of sympathy during the loss of our mother, when God called her home on December 3, 1992. Special thanks to Father Pedro, Father Holly and Sister McGloughin for their kind prayers during her last hours, Father Kevin Maloney, Father Kelvin Maloney, Father George Maloney, Father Lussier who came and said prayers during the visiting hours at the funeral home. Special thanks to Father George Maloney for celebrating such a beautiful funeral mass, and Father Lebrun for the words of kindness in assisting us in laying her to rest. For these people we thank God who has called them to serve in his name. Thanks to all the doctors over the years, especially Dr. Deslaurier who was there for her till the end. The nursing staff of the fourth and fifth floor of the Hotel Dieu Hospital, who made her last hours as comfortable as they could. The Nursing Homes she stayed at, who gave her the special care she needed, along with visits of the many friends over the years. Thanks to all the friends and relatives who prayed, visited gave food, mass cards, flowers, and donations to the Heart and Stroke Foundation and anyone who may have helped in any way. Special thanks to Mrs. Eva Amell and her staff for the meal after the funeral. Thanks to the Boulerice Funeral Home for the kind words and great manner in which they treated her and us. In final expressions of gratitude we wish to thank God, through Jesus Christ for the seventy-one years he gave us with the greatest mother ever.
—Sincere thanks, the Quenneville family.

"There's no place like Home for the Holidays."

Enjoy the warm, inviting atmosphere of Glengarry County.
Re-discover friendly, personal service that makes holiday shopping a pleasure.

Find great selection, convenient hours, free gift wrapping, plenty of free parking, gift certificates and a festive atmosphere filled with the cheery sights and sounds of Christmas.
Make this year's Christmas a Christmas to remember with the happy holiday spirit shown by your friendly Glengarry merchants.

—This Christmas, Shop Glengarry County—

Here are some reasons why we shop locally:

It's not worth it to shop across the border. By the time you get your dollar changed to 70¢, pay $4.50 bridge toll, gas, taxes and duty, you've spent more for each article than it would have cost you here.

Andy Lubbers
South Lancaster

Being in business myself, I shop locally to help support other small businesses and hope the owners do the same for me.

Carolyn Lahnemann
Bainsville

I feel our area businesses need encouragement and support. Also, if there is a need for exchange or I have a problem with my purchase I don't have to go far for adjustments. If I want to use a credit card, write a cheque or make a layaway, it is much easier when you live nearby.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

Auld Lang Syne

NINETY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 22, 1902

•The new bells of St. Finnan's are to be placed in position tomorrow and they will be heard for the first time when they call members of the congregation to assist at Midnight Mass. At the High Mass, on Sunday, the statue of St. Finnan, destined to ornament the niche of the new tower, was solemnly blessed by His Lordship the Bishop.

•Rory McGillivray of the Toronto Dental College, is home for the holidays.

•F. Renaud had a large bee hauling brick from Maxville on Monday, preparatory to erection of a large hotel at Apple Hill early next year.

•Sandy Robertson and Jim Hambleton of Glen Robertson, left Monday for Montreal, where they have secured employment as firemen on the Grand Trunk Railway.

•The choir of St. Finnan's with orchestral accompaniment, will render for the first time at Midnight Mass, a beautiful Mass in E flat, composed by Professor Hyde, the talented leader of the Citizen's Band.

EIGHTY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 20, 1912

•Four horses and 35 head of cattle were lost with the hay and grain crop, when fire destroyed the modern barn of Norman John McRae, Maxville, early Tuesday morning.

•E. Pigeon, who was removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, following an accident at the Carriage Works last week, had his foot amputated above the ankle on Tuesday.

•Harold Ostrom, late of the Union Bank staff, Cobalt, Ont., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Ostrom, this week before leaving for Winnipeg, to which office he has been transferred.

•David Theoret Jr. of Fassifern, met with a serious accident Monday, when he fell off a load of straw, fracturing a bone in his hip.

SEVENTY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 22, 1922

•A disastrous fire swept a section of Alexandria's business front, early Monday morning, when the Star Theatre, Jos. Lalonde's barber shop and the Grand Union Hotel were destroyed, with lesser damage to Ostrom's drug store and the J. A. MacDonald block. The loss is estimated at $25,000 and includes the dispossession of Dr. J. T. Hope and J. H. Prieur, notary, who had offices above the theatre and Dr. G. Monfette, whose office was above the Ostrom store.

•The Misses Eunice Simpson, Barbara Costello, Gladys and Alda Crewson, Johanna Kerr, E. Bouchard, Teresa MacDonald, Mary Chisholm and Della Douglas, students at Queen's University, Kingston, are at their respective homes for the holidays.

•The Laggan hockey club met on Saturday, when the following officers were elected: President, Fred McCrimmon, vice-pres., John T. MacDonald, sec.-treas., B. Goodman; manager, Alex McCaskill; assistant manager, R. N. McLeod; coach, Len Nixon; committee, Neil D. McLeod, Donald N. McDonald, D. D. McLennan, Benjamin Franklin, mascot, Tupper Goodman.

SIXTY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 23, 1932

•R. McKay, Maxville, and J. W. MacRae, Lochiel, president and secretary of the Glengarry Plowmen's Association, with F. C. McRae, agricultural representative, attended the annual meeting of the Eastern Counties Plowmen's Association at Chesterville, Monday. Peter McNeil of Williamstown, was named second vice-president.

•Miss Anne McLeod of Dalkeith, was among 18 trained attendants who received pins and caps on completion of their course at the YWCA graduation ceremonies in Montreal on Tuesday. Miss McLeod finished second in her class with 93 per cent.

•The young men of Fassifern west are building a skating rink at Fassifern and expect to have it finished this week.

•The people of the McCrimmon area held a poultry pool in McCrimmon Hall, Tuesday and Wednesday, when over 21 tons of turkeys, chickens, geese and fowl were graded and sold.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 18, 1942

•Branches of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at Maxville and Apple Hill closed their doors Saturday and the business has been taken over by the Maxville branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

•A native of Maxville, A. D. McLean, Controller of Civil Aviation in the Transport Department, Ottawa, has been awarded the Trans-Canada Trophy for outstanding service to Canadian aviation.

•Lieut. John McLaren of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, arrived at his Lancaster home last week after two years' service overseas.

•Pilot Officer Robert J. Gunn, of Summerstown, is reported missing and believed killed in air operations December 6.

•J. J. MacDonald, proprietor of Shirley's Restaurant, has purchased the business of Dumser's restaurant in Cornwall and will operate both under the name of Shirley's.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Friday, December 19, 1952

•Three young children of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Proulx, Green Valley, died in the flaming ruins of their home, early Sunday morning. Mrs. Proulx was painfully burned about the head and arms in a vain effort to reach them.

•Duncan A. Macdonell's store and the adjoining home of Lucien Glaude, at St. Raphael's, were destroyed by fire Friday night.

•Slippery under-footing on the weekend hospitalized Miss Janet Chisholm, Lochiel, who fractured her left arm in a fall while visiting here, and Frank McCormick who dislocated his shoulder in a fall.

•Arthur MacMillan, Glen Sandfield, is president of the Alexandria Concentrated Milk Producers Association formed among shippers to the Carnation plant here.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Thursday, December 20, 1962

•Mrs. Pierrette Coxen and Mrs. Albert Coxen of Maxville, were injured in a two-car crash in Cornwall, Saturday night.

•Harold Blaney of Maxville, was elected president of the Glengarry Crop Improvement Association at the annual last week. He succeeds Morlin Campbell of Laggan, in that post.

•Andre Depratto, 6, suffered facial cuts when hit by a car as he played on Bishop St. last Thursday.

•A delegation of women from Glen Robertson asked Lochiel Township Council to keep their sidewalks clear of snow this winter.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Thursday, December 21, 1972

•Annual election of officers of the Cornwall and District Real Estate Board were held Thursday night and Eldege Vaillancourt was elected president for the 1973 term.

•Lancaster OPP are searching for a suspected arsonist in connection with a fire last Friday morning in Lochiel Township which left four people homeless. The blaze gutted the inside of the home at Lot 29, County Road 21, owned by Frank Alteen. Glengarry News employee Lucy Theoret and three of her children lost nearly everything they owned in the blaze.

•Jacques Joly was appointed by Alexandria Town Council to the vacant seat left following the death in November of Raymond Jette.

•Alex D. MacLeod of Dalkeith took over the presidency of the Glengarry Holstein Club at the annual meeting held on December 10 at the Green Valley Pavilion. He succeeds Donald Thomson of Martintown in that post.

Candidates sought for royalty

Dalkeith
by Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Merry Christmas to the staff of The Glengarry News, fellow correspondents and all the readers of this column. Have a happy and safe holiday.

Florrie and Donnie MacLennan have a second grandson — Ryan Alexander Seguin born Dec. 10th, second son for Carol and Leonard Seguin, Green Valley. Best wishes to the happy family.

Heather and Rob Chapman and Sarah of London spent some days with Florrie and Donnie MacLennan and other family and friends.

The winner of the attendance prize among the altar servers at St. Paul's Church was Bobby Dewar. He won a lovely trophy and is very proud of it.

The Dalkeith Library is open on Dec. 22 and then closed for holidays until re-opening on Jan. 5th 1993.

The Dalkeith Optimist Club is asking for candidates for King and Queen of the Dalkeith Carnival. The Carnival will be on during the last weekend of January but these royalty candidates are needed now!

The Optimist Club sends holiday greetings to all the readers of this paper.

Midnight mass at St. Paul's Church will be celebrated at 11 p.m. on Dec. 24th with Father Marcel Laroche of Alexandria officiating.

The Kirk Hill churches have a Live Christmas Story presentation on Dec. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Beaty farm (halfway between Kirk Hill and Dalkeith). Come dressed warmly as it is an outdoor affair.

A Joint Christmas Eve service will be held at Kirk Hill United Church at 8 p.m. on Dec. 24.

On both Dec. 20 and Dec. 27 regular services will be at the United Church at 9:45 a.m. and at St. Columba at 11:15 a.m.

Joint winter services in January will be at St. Columba at 11 a.m.

The Kirk Hill UCW held the regular meeting on Dec. 3. President, Shirley MacDonald welcomed everyone and opened the meeting with a Christmas poem. Rhonda MacLeod, Brenda McNaughton and Jean Myatt were in charge of the worship. The theme was "Christmas" and their reading and scripture dealt appropriately with the theme. Everyone enjoyed singing their favorite carols. The roll call was answered by 18 members. After the meeting cookies were packed for the shut-ins.
