Report makes strong case to keep Consoltex here

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

The waiting game began this past weekend after the Consoltex Recovery Committee wrapped up its case to keep the Alexandria plant open in a 25-page document delivered to the textile company head office Friday.

Committee chairperson Pierre Aubry said he was, "much more optimistic (Friday) than Monday."

Earlier in the week, Consoltex president Marcel Thibault, in a phone call to MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde, had rescinded the offer to give the committee an extra week, until Nov. 14, to submit its proposal.

One development welcomed by the committee is the news that the American owners of the company came to Montreal to review the proposal, which suggests that Consoltex is seriously considering the proposal.

Already fighting an uphill battle, the recovery team had picked up its pace earlier in the week. North Glengarry council held an emergency meeting; committee members dropped their work obligations; and the MPP made advances on the provincial front to create a formidable proposal.

The meat of the argument to keep the Alexandria plant open over its counterpart in Cowansville, Quebec rests on four points: severance costs, higher wages in Cowansville, tax considerations, and an attractive provincial program.

In making the case, chairperson Pierre Aubry said, "we provided them with information we believe they don't have."

First, the group stated its belief that severance costs are far more expensive in Ontario than they are in Quebec.

"In Ontario, employees are compensated one week for every year they have worked," Mr. Aubry said. "At the Alexandria plant, the junior worker has 14 years experience, with the vast majority over 20 years.

"Twenty years for 150 people, we calculate to be over $1.6 million and would have to be paid within seven days of plant shutdown."

Mr. Aubry understands the situation to be different in the province of Quebec, where companies can have the employees work off their severance, by giving them sufficient notice

The committee's second argument lies in their belief that wages are higher in Cowansville.

"We were able to get information regarding the Cowansville contract," Mr. Aubry said. "And we understand the people at Cowansville are getting 25 to 30 cents more an hour. Over a five-year period, that is substantial dollars."

Thirdly the group presented Consoltex head office with a comparison tax table which shows it is cheaper to do business in Ontario, than in Quebec.

Finally, committee member James dePater, executive director of the SDG Community Futures Development Corporation, uncov-

McDonell wins big in South

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

Having family roots deep in Glengarry certainly made a difference in Jim McDonell's bid for the mayor's chair in South Glengarry.

Mr. McDonell, who toppled the incumbent mayor, Dave MacDonald, by a decisive 2,286 vote margin in Monday's election, was supported throughout his campaign by a vast network of family and friends.

This widespread support resulted in Mr. McDonell's winning every single poll in the municipality. He referred to his helpers as "the dream team."

"They kept me up at all hours working," he said in his acceptance speech.

Mr. McDonell, who was thronged by well-wishers at his victory party at St. Mary's Centre, said he was looking forward to the next three years working with his new team.

"We've got some good members in place here. I am proud to be able to serve South Glengarry and I want to earn the trust the people have given me."

Mr. McDonell, who credits his wide involvement in community events along with his "dream team" campaign members for his victory, is a graduate of Queen's University and is employed with Bell Canada as Network Engineer for Eastern Ontario. He lives in Williamstown with his wife, Margie, and their three teenaged children, Marion, Chelsea, and Bernie.

"It's been a tough eight weeks," he said of his campaign. Mr. McDonell identified residents' concerns primarily as rising taxes, dissension, the waste of taxpayers' money, and integrity, and said that acting on those concerns would be his priority.

A deflated Dave MacDonald spoke graciously in defeat, praising his supporters and administration and staff for their loyalty.

"It was a truly rewarding experience during the last three years. God bless you all."

Mr. Mac-Donald said he was looking forward to spending more time with his family in the months ahead, saying family time had been at a premium recently.

Franklin's back, edges Depratto in a close race

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

Sweeping Maxville and the rural wards of Kenyon and Lochiel, North Glengarry Mayor Bill Franklin managed to overcome challenger Mike Depratto's sizeable advantage in Alexandria and return to the head of the council table.

When all the votes were counted, the mayor was re-elected by a slender margin of 250 votes, 2674 to 2424, down from his margin of 394 in the 2000 election.

Not surprisingly, when the numbers flashed up at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Mayor Franklin said his feelings were hard to describe, even though "the results were not far from what I expected...

"Of course, I am exceedingly happy that is the way things turned out...I think the voters have said they prefer my municipality to his. I think they prefer positive, and positive is what they are going to get."

For his part, Mr. Depratto also thought the vote result was predictable, but his feelings were much clearer.

He described the election as a predictable nightmare.

"People at the arena were waiting to hear (the election results) from the clerk," Mr. Depratto said. "They didn't find out. But my kids were listening on the TV at home, they found out. They phoned us up and told us we had lost.

"I'm extremely frustrated with the whole process, it was bad from the start."

Settled in his Alexandria home with supporters, Mr. Depratto detailed disasters with the phone/Internet system.

"When people by the hundreds are having to rely on the clerk and some assistants to register their votes," Mr. Depratto said, "there is something wrong with the system.

"People are supposed to be able to vote in private... People were phoning in, they were not getting through. People were going up to township hall getting duplicate copies.

"Dead people voted. People who have been out of the county years and years voted. The whole thing was a screw-up."

Mr. Depratto fared well in Alexandria beating Mayor Franklin by close to 400 votes, 1004 to 609.

Yet the incumbent showed strongly in Maxville garnering 277 votes to his opponents 80 and in Kenyon receiving 947 votes compared to 630. Lochiel was the tightest race with the mayor getting 841 votes to his challenger's 701.

The mood was festive at the Alexandria Curling Club where faithful supporters joined with the mayor to celebrate.

In his speech he thanked the volunteers in his campaign and gave a special thanks to his family, "who put up with me like a bear with a sore paw."

Fellow councillor Julie Akkermans, at this point piped in, "you are always like that," and got a big laugh from the partisan crowd.

He responded, "Am I going to have to put up with three years of you like that."

Seeing some of the township staff in the audience, he thanked them for keep their noses clean during the new election process and for all the work they've done for the township for the last three years.

"You have made my life most pleasant," he said.

Boudria overcome by emotion at PM's last caucus meeting

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

Few people will be as sad to see Jean Chretien retire as Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria. Mr. Boudria, who has worked closely with the Prime Minister over the past 37 years, admits that he wept openly at Mr. Chretien's final caucus meeting.

"Last Wednesday, he came to the House of Commons for possibly the last time," Mr. Boudria told The News. "It certainly was an emotional experience. I started my career as a messenger in Jean Chretien's office in the late 1960s."

Mr. Boudria fondly recalls his first election victory and sitting in Parliament with Mr. Chretien.

"When Mr. Chretien became Prime Minister, he made me a Minister," says Mr. Boudria, who is Leader of the Government in the House of Commons.

Mr. Boudria says that one of Mr. Chretien's greatest assets is that everyone thinks of him as a friend.

"People always say that they're comfortable around the Prime Minister," he says. "World leaders feel they have a friend in him and I even overheard an opposition leader once say that Jean Chretien could be anyone's neighbour."

Mr. Boudria's colleague, Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh MP Bob Kilger, certainly sympathized.

"I don't think anyone has worked as closely with the prime minister as Don Boudria has," Mr. Kilger said. "He was very emotional."

Glengarry's clerk, Leo Poirier, on the lips.

Ms. MacPherson enjoyed the largest margin of victory among the four contested council seats, beating Lochiel incumbent Ron MacDonell, by a 906-659 margin.

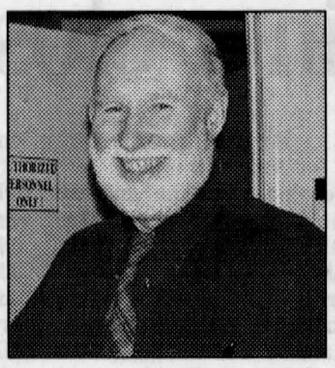
Re-elected Mayor Bill Franklin, congratulated her by saying: "Now you're really going to learn to fight, you big blonde."

Mr. Franklin's margin of victory was much tighter than Ms. MacPherson's.

Strangely enough, the mayor's challenger, Mike Depratto may have learned of the election results before anyone else. He chose to remain at his campaign headquarters on Alexandria's Main Street rather than join his fellow candidates at the arena. He learned of his defeat at about 8:30 p.m., when his children called from home to tell him that the television station was reporting that Mr. Franklin was victorious.

"I really thought I had it won," a crestfallen Mr. Depratto said.

The narrowest margin of victory went to incumbent Deputy Mayor William Hagen, who edged out newcomer Maryanne Kampouris by a scant 16 votes. Mr. Hagen captured 2,564 votes to Ms. Kampouris's 2,548.



SMILING: Mayor Bill Franklin

Nonetheless, seconds after the results were posted, Ms. Kampouris was heard offering encouragement to her team.

"It was a great campaign," she said, remaining in good spirits.

As luck would have it, Julie Akkermans walked through the doors just in time to learn that she had been re-elected in the Kenyon ward after defeating Bob Linney. Ms. Akkerman's had to take a sick daughter to the hospital and so she didn't arrive at the sports ered a potential deal-making discovery.

He found an Ontario Small Town and Rural Development Infrastructure Program (OSTAR) designed to help businesses grow in rural Ontario.

"We didn't know whether OSTAR would survive the change in government," Mr. Aubry said, "but Jean-Marc (Lalonde) heard the program is a go and that there is left-over funding from the last fiscal year."

Recovery committee members including Consoltex employees, North Glengarry mayor Bill Franklin, township treasurer Annie Levac, and Derek Moodie of the Futures Corporation.

All of them dug in to complete the program application process Thursday.

Under the OSTAR program, the company, in partnership with the municipality, would secure funding to assist it with water recycling and effluent treatment at its Alexandria plant.

Landing the OSTAR program funding, "would be huge," Mr. Aubry said. "The company benefits on one hand from lower water costs. Secondly, they have to do something at Cowansville to deal with their effluent.

"Their existing set-up won't handle all of Alexandria's production, so the program saves Consoltex money and helps them with future environmental upgrades."

Mr. Aubry added the benefits for the town are obvious. It would give Alexandria greater use of its water and sewage, and "should put the boots to the development freeze."

Complementing the OSTAR funding is a feasibility study to be provided by the National Research Council, instructing how to implement the water recycling and effluent treatment.

The recovery committee chairperson said all team members have responded well to the challenge.

He also commended the Alexandria Consoltex union and employees for working hard and keeping positive, "despite tremendous weight on their shoulders."

The recovery committee should hear a response to their proposal this week.

GR man receives Legion's highest honour

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

The Royal Canadian Legion rewarded a Glen Robertson resident with its highest honour at a ceremony held at the Alexandria branch Saturday night.

Presented with the Meritorious Service Medal for his contributions as a 54-year member of the legion was Howard Barclay, the branch president of Col. AGF MacDonald Memorial Branch 423.

The prestigious award goes to less than two per cent of the Legion's members.

Honours and awards chairperson Audrey Austin not only commended Mr. Barclay for his stellar work within the local legion, but also noted his outstanding volunteer efforts with groups like Meals-On-Wheels.

In an interview, Mrs. Austin said, Mr. Barclay "is always there when we need any assistance. With the energy of somebody much younger, he is very well liked in the legion, like a special grandfather."

For his part, Mr. Barclay was very surprised by the award. "I didn't expect it", he said. "I thought they were talking about somebody else."

As part of the 1st Canadian Army, Mr. Barclay served in the second World War with the British 8th Army under General Montgomery.

"I was first in Italy," Mr. Barclay said. "They called us the D-Day Dodgers." After his tour in Italy, he served in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

Now plugged into the Glengarry community, Mr. Barclay also sings in the choir in the United Church on the hill. His mother, he said, was a Macdonald from Apple Hill.

Mayor Bill Franklin and MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde, who presented an official certificate from the province marking the occasion, both attended the ceremony.

Premier Wire seeks new steel suppliers following shutdown

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

Trouble at the Ivaco steel producing plant, located in L'Orignal outside of Hawkesbury, is having adverse effects on an Alexandria-based business.

Premier Wire shut down its weekend shift, and expects to go through two or three months of instability as it scrambles to find raw material for its products.

"One of our major suppliers is Ivaco Rolling Mills," said Premier Wire vice-president of sales, Kevin Larkin. "And I think the area probably knows what has happened to Ivaco.

"Not too long ago they went into bankruptcy protection. There is a problem of supply of rod which is the raw material we use to make our products."

About 20 people who work the three-day weekend shift at Premier Wire were affected by the shutdown. All of the employees at the company, which produces wire shelving, received lay-off notices in the event that there is a plant-wide shutdown at the 60 employee company.

"We have a lot of work, but we've been having a hard time getting wire the past few weeks," Mr. Larkin said. "Lay-off notices were given so people would be notified in advance if steel wasn't coming in."

With the problems at Ivaco, Premier Wire is searching for alternate, affordable sources of steel.

"In the short term it may be painful," Mr. Larkin said. "Everybody is going to have to source out either in the U.S. or from abroad...There are always options to import rod, but it is not something you can do overnight.

"You have to import two or three months in advance, (for this reason) it could be two or three months of going through week-to-week (difficulties)."

The family owned business has two plants. Its Calgary-based operation isn't experiencing any shutdowns as it is supplied with steel by western companies.

Even though Premier Wire is busy now, the forecast for the year ahead is not all sunshine. The company exports a lot of its product to the United States.

"We have standing orders now," Mr. Larkin said, "but certainly exporting into the US market next year will be more difficult with the increase in the Canadian dollar.

"It'll be a touchy next year for us ...but we are fighters."

GHS learns of rare storybook

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

Dr. Kathleen Toomey is looking for a book.

And it's not any ordinary book either. Dr. Toomey is looking for a one-of-a-kind book, that's over 200 years old and was written by the grandmother of famed Canadian explorer, Simon Fraser.

A historian from Montreal, Dr. Toomey was at Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum in Williamstown last Thursday evening to make a presentation to the Glengarry Historical Society. Although she had a lot to say about Highland history, Dr. Toomey made it clear that her biggest priority is discovering the fate of the book.

Ahh, but to learn about this book, we must go back to Scotland in 1715 where we will meet a beautiful young lady named Mary MacDonell.

"Mary was taught to read and write Gaelic and she also showed talent as a poetess," explained Dr. Toomey. "She wrote down all the epics and legends she was told as a girl."

Dr. Toomey says that the Highland culture in which Mary was immersed was very much an oral culture.

"Very little was written down. So what was written became a treasure."

In addition to her talent as a writer, Mary MacDonell was reknown for her beauty. Dr. Toomey guesses she stood about five-foot-nine and was blessed with long thick raven locks.

"She had three suitors," Dr. Toomey said. "But she married the richest one, William Fraser. He was her father's choice."

Together, William and Mary Fraser had an enormous family, nine sons and five daughters. Over the years, Mary wrote more and more in her book until she had a fairly impressive-sized tome.

Then, around 1745, there was an uprising in the Highlands. Mary's son, Simon, left for North America and he took his mother's book with him. He died in jail during the American Revolution.

"That book is an absolute treasure," says Dr. Toomey. "It's likely that it was destroyed in the revolution, but there is a chance that it still exists."

She says that the entire book is written in Gaelic with a fine Irish hand.

Natalie Gauthier, Elda Rouleau
It was fun and we learned a lot of stuff about drugs. We learned about a guy in Cornwall who smashed into a transport when he was on drugs. They had to use the jaws of life to get him out and they had to cut off both of his legs.

Patrick LeBlanc, Ste. Marie
I learned that I shouldn't take drugs. They are very bad for you and you can die from them. My favourite part of the event was the track racing because it is very competitive.

Marie Bertrand, St. Joseph
I learned that drugs are not good and they are way too expensive.
I'd rather spend my money on other things like a new car or house or pool.

Jenna Desautels, Ste. Therese
It was really fun. I learned that drugs are bad and all sorts of things.
They affect your heart rate.
I know that I'll never use drugs. I really liked the track racing because it is so competitive and I enjoy racing anyways.

Stephanie Tessier, Laurier-Carriere
It taught me not to take drugs or drink because there will be consequences like death or jail or a handicap that will stay with you for the rest of your life.

Billy Pavlounis, St. Finnan's
I learned not to drink or take drugs. I was also surprised to learn how the police save people who have been hurt because of drugs.

Electronic election making history in several ways

OBSERVATIONS

JT GROSSMITH

Of the many interesting developments that occurred during this year's municipal election campaign, the most unusual came not from any local source, but rather The Ottawa Citizen in its 16-page election supplement published last week. The first 15 pages of the publication dealt with the Ottawa races, but on the last page the supplement contained a list of all the races in eastern Ontario, accompanied by a fairly large full-colour map. The map was intended to allow readers, not familiar with the surrounding areas, to get a fix on where the various races are taking place.

Accordingly, Prescott-Russell, Leeds-Grenville and Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry were identified as united counties on the map. The only problem is that the map used geographical boundaries applied to those ridings rather than the actual counties themselves. Of course, the only county affected is Glengarry, which has been divvied up between Stormont-Dundas and Prescott-Russell.

So, on the Citizen map, only a tiny rump of Glengarry comprised of the former Charlottenburgh Township is included in the SDG boundaries. The greater portion of Glengarry including North Glengarry and the former Lancaster Township is just a part of greater Prescott-Russell. Oh, the indignity!

One of the few calculations that could quickly be made for this edition, once the municipal results finally were released on Monday night, is to determine the impact of selected voting in the South Glengarry councillor races. With nine candidates to choose from, many people evidently decided to cast their votes for just one or two candidates in the hopes of giving their vote more weight in determining the winners.

Last time around, possibly as many as three out of every 10 voters chose to vote for either just one or two of the candidates rather than their full allotment of three. That estimation is based on the raw vote cast for mayoralty candidates and those for council candidates. The two mayoralty candidates received a total of 5,165 votes, while the four councillor candidates combined for 11,830, which would work out to 3,933 ballots cast if each person had voted for three candidates – a total of about 1,200 ballots less than were recorded in the mayoralty race. This time around, with nine candidates to choose from, the percentage of weighted ballots, not surprisingly, appears to be considerably higher.

In addition to those who wanted to give extra clout to their one or two choices, for many others the unusually large number of candidates made it harder to sort through. Under those circumstances, the easiest route may have been to just pick the one or two names most familiar to them, and leave it at that.

Despite all the tribulations accompanying the introduction of electronic voting here, Glengarrians can take some consolation in knowing that they are breaking new ground in North America, according to a story in the Globe and Mail. In the article, CanVote president Joe Church speculates that Monday's election is the first full Internet vote on the continent.

Although the implementation of the process left much to be desired, causing some major headaches at times for voters and municipal staff alike, the initial reports heading into Monday's vote were, nonetheless, positive.

Both South Glengarry clerk-treasurer Mike Samson and North Glengarry clerk Leo Poirier reported that early tallies of voter activity were very promising. In particular, Mr. Samson estimated that as of last Friday, 25 per cent of eligible voters in South Glen had cast their ballots. In the end, however, only 500 more voters cast their ballots than in 2000.

The introduction of electronic voting also proved particularly useful in SG because it allowed cottage property owners to cast their ballots without having to trek back to South Glengarry as in past elections. As well, both municipalities put on a push to ensure that local snowbirds, wishing to head for warmer climes before the election got their voter identification data enabling them to vote from down south or wherever they were headed.

■■■

Interestingly, one of the key Glengarry administrators of the electronic vote could identify with some of the problems experienced by would-be voters who didn't have access to touch-tone phone service or the Internet. North Glen clerk Leo Poirier discovered he still had an old pulse telephone line making it impossible for him to utilize that option.

THORN – Sparks fly over lifting rate cap

It shouldn't come as any surprise that some local business people are thoroughly ticked off over the announcement by the new Liberal government that it will lift the cap on hydro rates.

After all, Liberal MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde was a strong advocate for rate relief before the Ernie Eves government brought in the cap. Now, his leader, Dalton McGuinty has essentially cut the feet out from under him.

Nonetheless, the public's perception of the electricity issue changed dramatically after this summer's blackout. And, there is also the issue of the huge deficit assumed by the new government. While most people don't like the idea of paying higher hydro rates this coming winter, particularly those who heat with electricity, there is more of a recognition that changes have to be made.

Ideally, it would be better if any rate increases could be phased in over a one-year period or more but that's not likely to happen given the size of the deficit.

If there's one lesson to be learned, it's that promises made by opposition political parties should be taken with a grain of salt.

THISTLE – SG reconsidering S-K application.

It's not guaranteed that Shaver-Kudell will receive consent for its application to sever its property, but council's decision to revisit the issue is the right one under the circumstances.

As noted two weeks ago in this space, if the two operations on the property were using the same septic system, it would be a different matter altogether.

In defence of council and the Planning Advisory Committee, who initially recommended against the freeze, neither party appears to have had as much information about the request as has subsequently surfaced after the proposal was turned down.

THORN – NG hamlets' water problems.

The decision to proceed with a new well for Apple Hill will certainly be welcomed by users of the hamlet's community centre who have had to make do without drinking water since early summer. Interestingly, the $35,000 effort is just the first upgrade North Glengarry must undertake to deal with the issue.

A much bigger problem, however, remains.

Virtually everyone agrees that most all of Apple Hill's wells are polluted as are wells in other hamlets across NG.

For the most part, the culprit is out-of-date septic systems.

None of the candidates at the All-Candidates' meetings during the election campaign had any concrete plans on how this problem is going to be handled in the next couple of years, much less solved.

THORN – Ambulance tenders jolt council.

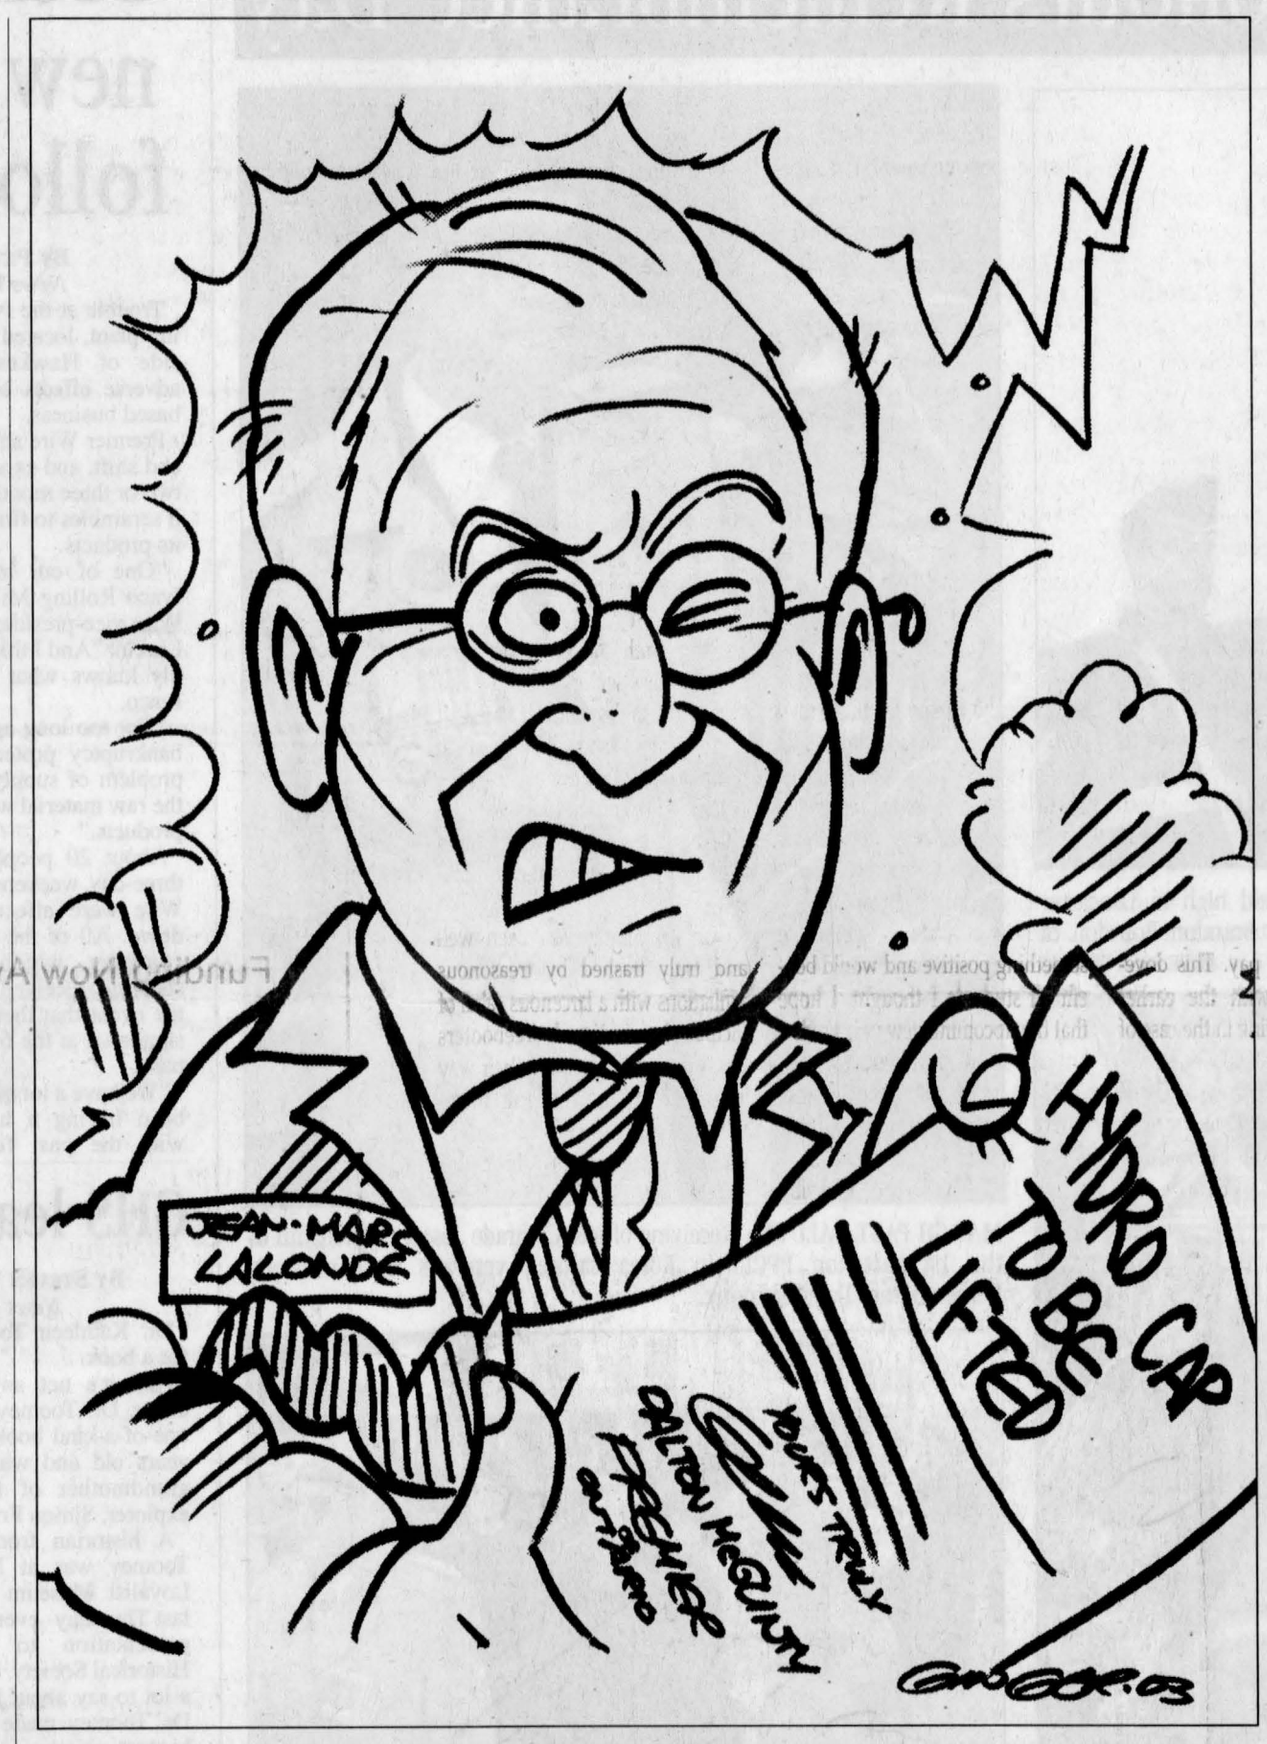
North Glengarry council got a rude surprise when the tenders for the ambulance addition were opened 10 days ago and the lowest bidder was more than $115,000 higher than anticipated. Still, council seems willing to accept the higher costs as long as an appropriate lease can be worked out making this is one of those issues that is not getting its due because another level of government is going to pick up the tab. In this instance it will be the United Counties by way of Cornwall.

Still, it's the property taxpayers of North Glengarry who will end up paying. The bill won't be on the local levy, but rather on SDG's.

THISTLE – Skateboard parks proposed.

This is one of those instances where the old maxim, better late than never, applies.

Still, there's a lot of local fund-raising to be done before a shovel even breaks earth on the recreation association's plans to have parks built in Apple Hill, Maxville, Glen Robertson and Alexandria. The sooner communities can raise their share, the sooner their parks will be built.



Lessons about drugs

Last Wednesday, I accepted an invitation from the Cornwall Community Police Department to attend a Racing Against Drugs activity at the Cornwall Armoury. And did I ever have a good time.

I enjoyed myself immensely because I was in the company of several of Glengarry's Grade 5 and 6 students – many of whom told me that drugs are disgusting and terrible and evil and bad and that they're never going to try them ever!

PEN IN HAND

STEVEN WARBURTON

Kids, you've no idea how happy I am to hear that. I've seen drugs ruin many lives. My best friend is in the midst of turning his life around. He's in a Narcotics Anonymous program and he's taking back control of his life day-by-day. But it isn't easy.

And kudos to the various police departments as well. The Racing Against Drugs program is not only educational, it's very entertaining. The whole event has a racing theme and students were encouraged to take part in mini drag and strip racing. They also tried to walk a straight line while wearing goggles that "simulated" drunkenness. Hopefully, the lessons learned at Racing Against Drugs will follow these kids into their teenaged years.

■■■

And the award for best line delivered by a South Glengarry municipal candidate goes to: Janette Abbey.

At the All Candidates Meeting in Glen Nevis last Wednesday evening, Mrs. Abbey, a 23-year-veteran of municipal councils, shrugged off notions that she may have been in office too long by observing that "an older broom sweeps cleaner than a new one."

■■■

I found myself in conversation with Don Tillman of Glen Robertson recently and I discovered that the two of us have something in common. Both of us are scared to death to cross Main Street in Alexandria for fear that we'll get hit.

I'm not sure what it is about that street, but some motorists seem to think that the object of driving a car is to do so as fast as possible, regardless of the circumstances. No wonder the would-be pedestrians are standing on the street corner cringing in fear. They know that attempting to cross the street may be putting their lives at risk.

Possibly the offenders are non-local motorists who still think they're on the 401 or 417.

Memo to motorists: Alexandria's Main Street is not a drag strip. It's only a matter of time before some poor soul gets run down by an discourteous schmuck who just can't make the small sacrifice to slow down while in town.

Eliminating ward system a worthy idea

In the recent municipal election in North Glengarry nearly half of the council members (3 out of 7) were returned to office unopposed. In the areas where there were competitive elections (Mayor, Deputy Mayor and the Lochiel and Kenyon wards) there was a wide measure of agreement on major issues which resulted in a campaign that was less interesting and less productive than it should have been.

One of the areas where there should have been more debate and more evidence of fresh thinking concerned the ward system and the impact it has on local government in our area.

GUEST COLUMN

BLAIR WILLIAMS

At the candidates meeting in Apple Hill the contestants were asked whether they support the current ward system whereby councillors are elected from four wards (the old townships of Maxville, Kenyon, Lochiel and Alexandria), or if they would like to see that system changed. All of the candidates expressed their strong support for the current ward system, perhaps because they thought that's what the people wanted to hear. But it can be argued that the "debate" over the ward system reflected questionable analysis and narrow thinking on the part of the candidates.

Nearly all of the candidates argued that there is a need for "local" representation (meaning representation from four distinct wards) in our municipal government. However, North Glengarry with a total population of slightly more than 10,000 people is tiny when compared to other jurisdictions in the province. It is extremely difficult to argue that there is a need for regional groups to have special representation in a municipality of this size.

Moreover, it must be recognized that North Glengarry residents have shared concerns that should lead to shared problem solving. Alexandria's water problems, for example, cannot be dismissed or ignored by those of us who live outside of the town because if Alexandria stagnates we all pay a price in terms of our economic development and quality of life. If Maxville has a problem with vandalism we can't simply ignore it because for many of us the village is at the centre of our social and cultural lives.

The future of North Glengarry will be much brighter when we have strategies that clearly address the well-being of the entire municipality -- strategies that promote the township, encourage economic development, preserve our heritage, and bring people into the area. Such common strategies require that our elected councilors always ask themselves, "What is best for North Glengarry?", not "What is best for Lochiel, Kenyon, Maxville or Alexandria?"

Based on what was said at the Apple Hill meeting, it seems clear that most of the candidates have not thought much about the distribution of population and electoral history of this area. They argued that we need a ward system to prevent Alexandria from dominating local government in North Glengarry. However, it's hard to see the basis of this concern since Alexandria has fewer voters than Kenyon ward, and barely more than Lochiel. If anything, it seems more likely that a council without wards would be dominated by Kenyon residents where the level of political activism is demonstrably higher than it is in Alexandria.

Finally, none of the candidates in the recent election seemed to realize that the quality of our council would improve if the ward system was abolished.

It would put an end to councillors being acclaimed and returned to office when they really should be challenged and put to the test. Getting rid of the ward system would mean that exceptional candidates (such as Julie Akkermans and Bob Linney in Kenyon ward) would each have a chance of being elected in a wider municipal pool.

The new council in North Glengarry should reconsider the ward system. South Glengarry doesn't have a ward system, and their local politics has benefited as a result.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Patience needed

I'm writing in response to the article on front page (Nov. 5) on flawed voting. In our situation, my husband received two letters for voting with two separate numbers. Therefore, he is able to cast two votes.

I'm sure there is a collection of problems that will arise from this being the first electronic vote.

We need to be patient with changes and bring forward any difficulties that may happen to improve the system.

For myself, and in discussion with others, we have found in the past it is very inconvenient to vote.

The electronic system should improve the amount of people voting.

The other side is the not understanding the reason or importance of voting.

This would be a good article to be included in school curricula with true on-going issues in our municipalities.

It is all ages that do not fully understand the concept of our voting.

Many questions

In JT Grossmith's interesting analysis of the top ten Glengarry electoral issues (News, Nov.5) he cites the dominant role in recent months of the topic of mega hog farming and wonders if the current activist group is "...just the tip of the iceberg."

Given the responses of the candidates and Mr. Franklin in particular, at the Nov. 3 All Candidates Meeting, together with the alarming information contained in Deborah Henderson's latest letter (News, Nov.5), it seems almost certain that this will continue to be a matter of grave concern. Furthermore, a neglected facet of the issue has now been introduced. Maynard Gertler's letter (News, Nov.5) invites comparison to traditional and more humane farming methods and the ethical treatment of animals.

The latter is a particularly thorny issue. In a civilization where, for the most part, humans do not even treat each other ethically, most people have been reluctant to bring this dimension to the ILO debate.

Observing the Nov. 3 All Candidates Meeting in Alexandria I noted the format was very tightly controlled. The conventional opening statements by the candidates were immediately followed by three previously prepared questions. It was never explained who formulated the questions and how the priority of the topics was determined, but it did serve to restrict the amount of time available for questions from the floor.

Midway through the meeting attendees were finally invited to present questions. But, only general questions directed to all candidates, or to both candidates for any given position, were allowed. No rebuttal was permitted and it was made crystal clear that questions addressed to an individual candidate would be disallowed.

There was no opportunity to ask questions about the candidates' published platforms and publicity, or to challenge an individual candidate's response. Thus, the meeting really only paid lip service to the democratic process.

One attendee asked if North Glengarry would follow the East Hawkesbury model in delaying approval for mega hog farm permits until various Ontario studies are complete. This is in accordance with recent written recommendations to the Mayors in Glengarry Prescott Russell from MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde.

All candidates replied that they would not endorse similar restrictions for North Glengarry. Mr. Franklin went further by stating categorically that there was no scientific evidence to support such action. He was able to make such an outrageous assertion in full knowledge that any challenge from the floor would be disallowed.

One question had to do with the candidates' ideas and proposals for economic development in North Glengarry. In his response, Mr. Franklin stated that all new investment would be welcome, including additional mega hog farms. He thereby demonstrated his intransigence in the face of serious opposition from local groups and from a representative of a more senior level of government.

In the process, he exposed his shaky knowledge of elemental economic theory. He obviously has yet to learn that ILO's have a negative and impoverishing effect on and do not contribute to the expansion of local economies.

Mr. Franklin in his capacity as Mayor, represented power and authority. Because none of his outrageous statements could be challenged, it is probable that many people left the meeting believing that everything he said was correct.

Thus, it is not surprising that at some point in the meeting one attendee was driven to express her frustration by uttering a well-known scatological expletive, which resounded around the room.

As of this writing the outcome of the election is not known. It is discouraging to realize that regardless of the composition of the next administration, anti-ILO activists will still have a lot of work to do.

No doubt they will be encouraged by the recent landmark ruling from the Supreme Court of Canada in the Quebec vs. Esso case, which clearly confirms the principle that the polluter must pay. This dovetails beautifully with the earlier Supreme Court ruling in the case of Hudson vs. the pesticide industry.

In that case the Supreme Court explicitly confirmed that a community has the right to protect the health of its citizens. Perhaps the incoming North Glengarry administration would be well advised to explore ways to protect the community from potential liability for future ILO cleanup costs.

Supports school

I'm writing this letter in support of Ecole St. Bernard School in the village of Maxville. It is in my opinion, an excellent school.

Both my children were enrolled there. The oldest has since moved on to high school, the youngest attends grade 2. It gives me a great sense of pride to know that they are learning the French language. I am confident, too, knowing that when they graduate they will be fluent in both official languages.

Being bilingual, in my opinion, is something valuable and almost essential today. I clearly remember the warm atmosphere that I felt when I first set foot inside.

It didn't take long to decide that Ecole St. Bernard was the right choice. It was also close to work and home, factors which I had also considered. Many friends and acquaintances wondered why, when I'm an English-speaking parent, I had chosen this school for my children. My reason was easily explained. I wanted them to learn French, be able to speak, read and write it at an early age, as well as learn about French culture. In my opinion, the attention given towards the students, and the smaller school setting is similar to what a private school might offer.

When I first heard about enrollment going down and children leaving the school because it might close, I couldn't help but wonder why. Personally I had no intention of removing my own children. I saw no valid reason for this. However, I sensed some sadness and frustration when my children came home and told of another classmate leaving. It was hard to believe, especially since a beautiful gymnasium had recently been built.

Surely this addition would be something positive and would benefit all students I thought. I hope that the upcoming new year holds a brighter future for this great school.

Otherwise we will see yet another empty building and a part of our heritage gone.

Lillian Ryner / Maxville

A low act

I'm writing this letter expressing my disgust for the persons that took my brothers' dirt bikes last week. The persons who stole from children. I have had things stolen from me in the past, like my stereo and speakers from my car, so I know how my brothers feel.

But it really hurts when my youngest brother's eyes tear up and he goes to his room to cry, which has happened a few times since he discovered his bike gone. These low-lifes have stolen something from children, something that will not be easily replaced.

Our mom is a single parent, still trying to get on her feet after being laid off last year. Her ex-husband doesn't pay a cent in child support. She's not going to run right out and buy more bikes.

They've taken from children, something that was important to these kids.

We live out in the country, it's not like there's a lot of entertainment just down the block. All my brothers talk about is dirt bikes and 4-wheelers. Now they have nothing, just a void and an empty barn.

If anyone saw anything or has any information about these bikes, please call Crimestoppers or the local police. Or, if these persons who stole from children have a heart, return the bikes. Thank you.

Latest outrage

I am getting a little uptight about the colonization process Canadians are currently enduring. With taxes, insurance, energy, health and education costs in an upward spiral in lockstep with the implementation of despotic laws of repression, it's impossible to determine if Canada's body politic is at the apex of patience and endurance or if the body is already comatose.

Our political flunkies are nothing more than lapdogs for the corporations.

Our sovereignty has been well and truly trashed by treasonous affiliations with a larcenous cabal of vicious international freebooters who are finally worming their way into the light and calling themselves "the New World Order." There is nothing new about this "World Order." These freaks have been showing up with their puppet dictators every century or so since time began. They're becoming an open book in this information age, although most people refuse to face the true horror of their existence. I guess we haven't bled enough yet.

Some might get the impression this individual is not a happy camper, and they'd be right. It is bad enough to watch our basic resources, our manufacturing, our infrastructure and, even our water disappearing into the black hole of international acquisition, but this latest outrage is totally beyond the pale. These so-called gurus are now setting up to steal our vote.

The Township of South Glengarry is having a municipal election and sent me an interesting document describing the new way of voting.

For my convenience, of course. I see CANVote at the top of the page and take this as an indication of a federal initiative for the future. We can now vote by touchtone phone or Internet.

Well, I'm sorry to have to rain on this Nazi parade, but, to keep elections honest, there is that small but important requirement for a paper trail to make recounts possible and facilitate investigations if needed. This new method is not only illegal, it's a sign of contempt and an insult to the intelligence of all Canadians.

Unless we're comatose, of course.

Students winning race against drugs

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

Jonathan Cater says he's never going to take any drugs. That's partly because last Wednesday afternoon, the grade six student at Laurier-Carriere learned first hand how dangerous drugs can be.

Jonathan joined hundreds of his fellow Glengarry students for the Racing Against Drugs (RAD) seminar, which ran at the Cornwall Armoury all last week. RAD featured about a dozen different booths that educated students on the dangers of tobacco, alcohol, and illegal drugs.

"Our mandate is to give students the knowledge, ability, and references to say no to drugs," said Blake Paquin, spokesperson with the Cornwall Police.

He added that the program has been specifically tailored to students around 11 or 12.

"That's the time when they have to start making decisions about taking drugs," he said. "So we teach them to choose a healthy lifestyle."

Even so, someone who just happened to wander into the armoury might be under the impression that they were at a racing convention. The central court was dominated by a large race track on which six different coloured cars raced at breakneck speeds. At the other end of the arena, a drag racing strip had been erected. There were also computer racing games and several real cars parked conspicuously throughout the area.

OPP officer Joel Doiron says that the police are using the sport of auto-racing as its theme.

AT THE TRACK: Students from across Glengarry excitedly cheer their schools on during the climactic race. The event was the finale of the Racing Against Drugs forum, an event that teaches kids of the dangers of drug use. STEVEN WARBURTON PHOTO

"We're doing this because the auto racing industry has zero tolerance for substance abuse," he says.

Mr. Paquin agrees, saying that the race car is a wonderful illustration that "you can get a high on other things than drugs."

Const. Doiron manned a booth that showed students, first hand, how disoriented they can become after consuming alcohol. He challenged students to don a pair of special "alcohol" goggles and try to touch the centre of his palm. Time after time, they failed to do so.

He also enjoyed putting the goggles on students who were playing the computer racing games.

"They always crash," he said. "They couldn't even get into a car with those goggles on."

While the goggles illustrated how disorienting drugs can be, the students also learned about drugs in the traditional classroom setting.

In another booth, various drugs were displayed along with giant posters that illustrate what happens to the human body once these drugs are in the system.

Mr. Paquin said that the event was a healthy mix of educational and interactive booths.

"We set it up to keep the kids interested as long as possible," he said.

It's obvious that the kids remained interested for the entire duration. The armoury was filled with delighted jabber and every now and then, you'd hear a group of kids scream the word: "No!" Obviously a response to the question: "What will you say when you are offered drugs?"

But the highlight of the day definitely came towards the end when various schools were pitted against each other in the final race circuit. All the students gathered around the tracks to urge their schools on to victory. The noise level, quite properly, was deafening.

In any case, it wasn't just the students and the police who believe the program is worthwhile. Jennifer Munro, grade six teacher at St. Finnan's school in Alexandria, also believes it's a good thing.

"I've been going to this program for four or five years now and it's always enjoyable," she says.

"I think it works too."

Amalgamated school is better, principal says

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

No one has to convince Ginette Forgues-Hurtubise that building a new French Catholic school in North Lancaster is a good idea.

Ms. Forgues-Hurtubise, who serves as principal of École Saint-Joseph in Lancaster and École Sainte-Thérèse in North Lancaster, says the new school will save a lot of money in the long run.

"Running one (new) building is more efficient than running three buildings, each of which is in need of repair," she told The News.

The as of yet unnamed school will replace both of Ms. Forgues-Hurtubise's schools as well as École Sainte-Marie in Green Valley. The new school will include a cafeteria, a double gym, and a bell tower.

But Ms. Forgues-Hurtubise says there are other factors besides money.

"By amalgamating the three schools, there will be fewer mixed classes," she says. "The students will benefit more from learning from specialized teachers – like phys.ed. teachers or music teachers.

"When teachers teach the subjects they love, (their enthusiasm) is transmitted to the students."

The new school spells the end of an era for the three older schools. Julie Rouette-Hope, who chairs École Sainte-Marie's parent council, says that parents have mixed emotions.

"Obviously, parents are sad to see their own little schools go," she says. "But they also look at this as a positive for the students because they will have a brand new school with brand new resources."

Ms. Rouette-Hope also deflected concerns that Green Valley parents may elect to send their children to École Elda Rouleau in Alexandria instead of the new school.

"Those students would be zoned to go to the new school in North Lancaster," she said.

She added that some students with special needs may qualify to attend Elda Rouleau if it's necessary for them to do so.

War medals back in Williamstown

WILLIAMSTOWN
SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279
sharring@glen-net.ca

What are the odds? Last week we heard of the return to Williamstown of a war medal belonging to the late Lt. Walter Govan, whose father, the Rev. Arpad Govan used to be the minister of St. Andrew's United Church.

This week another medal found its way back to Williamstown with a string of connections and coincidences that are unusual. Bill Cattanach, who has always had an interest in things military, filled me in. It seems that the late Mrs. Lapierre, a former Beaverbrook Road resident, whose family operated the landfill site there in days long past, had among her possessions, a medal belonging to the late Clarence Cattanach, Bill's father. One of Mrs. Lapierre's daughters traced the medal to Bill and arranged to get it back to him through her brother, Marcel.

At this point I must beg forgiveness and say that I should have spoken to Marcel to verify his role in the medal's return, but the timing did not seem to be right. South Glengarry's top administrative brass no doubt had other things to do on Election Monday!

Bill says he is not certain how his father's Victory medal from World War I ended up where it did, but he suspects the fire of 1946 had something to do with it. Bill remembers Clarence's uniform being burnt and sent off, among other things, to the dump.

The other coincidence is that Clarence's brother, Bill Cattanach, who was killed during World War I (and after whom Bill Cattanach was named) was present at the Battle of Hill 70, where Lt. Govan suffered the wounds that killed him a short time later.

Can you picture it? Two Williamstown lads who grew up together, both of whom attended the same church, fighting in the trenches in far-off France.

Dedication service

Michel Gravel gave a most interesting talk during the service on Sunday at St. Andrew's. He spoke about how he discovered Lt. Govan's medal and talked about the late soldier's war record. Michel visited Hill 70 among other battlefields and cemeteries during a recent trip to Europe.

The dedication service for Lt. Govan's medal at St. Andrew's was attended by several members of the Govan family. Dr. Walter Waddell came from Perth; Joan Beavis from Ottawa, along with Elizabeth Short and her husband, who are from Etobicoke, but were visiting in Ottawa. Also attending was Faye Waddell Sandilands.

Mrs. Beavis brought along a number of archival items belonging to her late Uncle Walter which were displayed at the church and were of interest to a number of people.

Remembrance Day

Remembrance Day services, held at the cenotaph in Williamstown on Sunday, attracted a smaller crowd than usual in recent years. The weather was cold, but the sky was bright – not the typical gray we have come to identify with Nov. 11.

The service was performed by members of the Legion in Lancaster, with the Char-Lan High School Band and the South Glengarry Pipe Band providing the music. As the veterans left the cenotaph they were given a round of applause by those who had gathered to remember.

Some of the wreaths were laid in advance of the ceremony and some were placed at the cenotaph during the service.

Bear returns

Something else besides medals and archival materials has been returned to the area. I'm happy to report that "Old Fritz," the adventurous teddy bear who was featured in this column many years ago, has found his way back to Glengarry and to his previous owners.

If you are "new" or if your memories are not, I'll try to recap the story. One day about 15 years ago, Werner Rossel did his good deed for the day and took some objects to the dump.

A while later, I received a telephone call from the then minister of St. Andrew's Church, Rev. Norma Baumet, to say that her husband, Marcel had brought her home a lovely present – from the dump. It was a teddy bear! Now Rev. Baumet collected teddy bears and was delighted with the new addition. She recognized that he had some character, and some worth and she described his outfit to me in detail.

Well, old flappy lips here decided it was a good story for this column, and proceeded to tell it. And up in the Martintown area, Mrs. Rossel settled in with her copy of the News and proceeded to read it.

Horrors! While reading about the found teddy bear, Mrs. Rossel grew increasingly uneasy. When she came to the part about his clothes, she rushed up to her sewing room where she had last seen Old Fritz, who was waiting for his pants to be mended. He wasn't there. Turned out Mr. Rossel had taken him to the dump with the rest of the garbage.

The Rossels then called Rev. Baumet, hoping she would return the bear, but no such luck. There ensued a custody battle like no other!

Old Fritz had crossed the ocean with the family when they came to Canada and was their daughter's beloved bear. But the reverend was of the "finders keepers; losers weepers," school of thought, had become attached to the bear and would not give him up. However, she did agree that upon her death, the bear would be returned to the Rossels' daughter.

The Baumets left Williamstown a year or so later and moved out west. Then, unfortunately, several years ago Mrs. Baumet died of cancer. Her husband honoured her bequest and Old Fritz was returned to the Rossels.

It's sunny days now for the bear. He graces, along with a female bear companion, the business run by the Rossels' daughter in L'Orignal. We hope he will live – as good bears should – happily ever after.

Christmas cards

Wanting to get your over-the-seas and faraway Christmas cards mailed off before those ridiculously early postal deadlines? Look no further than Williamstown for your cards and get at it.

Grace Gordon has Canadian Save the Children Fund cards available at $10 for a package of 20. Call her at 347-2990 to arrange for your cards and to support a good cause at the same time.

Reunion plans

Tonight (Wed.) is the night when planning gets under way for the Char-Lan High School reunion slotted for the 2004 Victoria Day weekend. If you would like to be part of the team, please come to the school library at 6:30 p.m. for this organizational meeting. Volunteers of all kinds will be needed.

Feedback

It's always good to get some feedback about items in this column. Mac Edwards says he has now received an excellent photo of the old mills that the Sir John Johnson Manor House Committee and Parks Canada can work with in planning their interpretive display on the Manor House grounds.

Thanks, Bill!

New baby

A baby boy was born to Sarah MacGillivray and Dave Brisson on Oct. 13, weighing 7 lbs. 14 oz. Sarah was visiting her grandparents' cottage for the Thanksgiving weekend, when little Austin Alexander decided to make his debut. However, the baby was considerate enough to wait until his mother had arrived at the Civic Hospital in Ottawa before doing what he had to do!

Sarah is the daughter of Ian and Sheila MacGillivray of Williamstown, the granddaughter of Jack and Kay Warden of Summerstown, and the great-grand-daughter of James and Lily Warden of Williamstown.

A fifth generation baby! Congratulations to all!

An eventful week

A couple of events in Williamstown drew good crowds this week. The lecture by Dr. Kathleen Toomey at the Historical Society's meeting at the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum, attracted visitors from way beyond our borders. Dr. Toomey was speaking about Bishop Alexander Macdonell.

The Christmas tea at St. Mary's was also well-attended. The day was sunny and fresh, and the mood convivial as Pearl Rozon did the pouring honours and the members of the Ladies Guild plied their guests with goods.

Winner of the door prize was Suzanne C. – whose last name I cannot find in the telephone directory and am afraid to try to spell!

New reporter

There's a new face on the journalism scene in South Glengarry. Shawn Fowler, son of Gail and Norm Fowler, has joined the staff of The Glengarrian, as a writer/photographer. Shawn is a graduate of Loyalist College in Belleville, and, being a local guy, has lots of information at his fingertips.

Congrats, Shawn! Look forward to seeing you at all the upcoming events.

Bridge Club

The results from the Williamstown Bridge Club for Wednesday, Nov. 5, are:

1. Jim Campbell and Elizabeth Marjerrison, 2. Marjorie and Rudi Mertl, 3. Rolly Fobert and Gordon Snook.

Election wishes

It is now early in the morning-after, and there is just enough time and space to wish our new council-elect all the very best for the next three years.

The first part of this column was all about medals: I think there should be medals for our 13 citizens who were brave enough to let their names stand in the election, don't you?

They ran a very competitive, yet clean, campaign and are to be congratulated, each and every one.

To Williamstown's Jim McDonell, the new mayor of South Glengarry and his campaign team, a very hearty congratulations!

ELECTION NIGHT: The mood of the evening could be seen in the candidates' stances. At left, at his home in Alexandria, Mike Depratto drew strength from supporters like Manon Lalonde. In the middle, acclaimed candidates George Currier and Chris McDonell empathized with Bob Linney, while victors William Hagen and Julie Akkermans, at right, enjoy a laugh together. PETE BOCK PHOTOS

North Glengarry

It's oh so close for Deputy-Mayor's post

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

In the tightest race in the county, North Glengarry Deputy-Mayor William Hagen defeated challenger Maryanne Kampouris by the slight margin of 16 votes.

Shortly after the numbers went up on the screen at the Glengarry Sports Palace, husband Michael Cowley-Owen probably said it best when he remarked, "It doesn't get any closer than that. Maryanne gave it her best shot."

Even the deputy-mayor acknowledged the efforts of his challenger.

"She has done very well and worked very hard," Mr. Hagen said. "The tide was probably a bit for change.

"The different style of voting, by phone and the Internet may have attracted a different crowd," he continued. "Change was probably in the air, but I'm pretty glad I won, it was a close race."

The final vote count showed 2564 for the incumbent and 2548 for the challenger.

Surrounded by family members, Ms. Kampouris was stunned by the numbers.

"I was totally amazed that it was that close," Ms. Kampouris said. "And I was very pleased that we had done that well.

"I was very pleased with my team. We worked hard, we did what we said we would do, stuck with our principles. I couldn't ask any more of anybody or (thought of) anything we should have done differently. So I am happy with the result."

The battle seesawed as the vote went ward to ward. In Lochiel, the deputy-mayor won by 53 votes, landing 809 votes compared to 756. In Kenyon, Ms. Kampouris commanded 121 more votes, 857 to 736.

Mr. Hagen secured his biggest margin in Alexandria, winning by 228 votes, 913 to 685. Ms. Kampouris countered with her biggest margin in Maxville, winning by 144 votes, 250 to 106.

With no apparent bitterness, and saying she'll have fun in whatever she does Ms. Kampouris said, "I've congratulated Mr. Hagen and expect he will enjoy the next three years...

"I look at this team and I very pleased with the makeup of this council and I expect them to be doing some very good things in the next three years."

For his part, Mr. Hagen said it was a hard fight, but he was very pleased with his campaign saying, "I had good people helping me."

On the topic of the road ahead, he said there are, "many issues we will have to look after the next three years.

"We have to deal with sewage treatment and the water treatment plant. It is important to work at having good water throughout all of North Glengarry, (for both the) small villages and Alexandria."

TIGHTEST RACE: Incumbent Deputy-Mayor William Hagen accepts congratulations from challenger Maryanne Kampouris. The two fought a tough battle, but one devoid of any political mudslinging. A swing of just nine votes for Ms. Kampouris out of 5112 ballots cast would have changed the outcome.

Akkermans tired, happy

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

After a tough issue-filled campaign, voters in Kenyon opted for experience returning Julie Akkermans for a second straight term to North Glengarry council.

The incumbent was tired, but relieved after the victory which saw her take all but one poll in the ward.

"It seems very long," Mrs. Akkermans said, "this whole campaigning and this Internet voting over five days.

"So I was glad that today (Monday) was the end of it. I was pleased when I saw the results of course, because I think I did fairly well, better than I sort of expected. I thought it was going to be a little tighter race."

Mrs. Akkermans beat her challenger Municipal Recreation Association chairperson Bob Linney by about 230 votes, totalling 898 votes to his 665.

Calling it an interesting race, with lots of issues, Mr. Linney hopes council hears the voice of Kenyon.

"The whole issue of property assessment and tax levels, the issue of high-speed Internet and whether CEO-net is the right answer," council needs to consider, Mr. Linney said.

"The issue of water in Apple Hill and anybody on a well – it is not just Alexandria, but a problem everywhere else."

CONGRATULATIONS: Challenger Bob Linney with winner Julie Akkermans.

The challenger wished he had more time to go door-to-door in the campaign and thanked his volunteers for the countless hours they put in.

"At the beginning of the campaign, it was who was Bob Linney and I think by the end of the campaign people knew. In that sense I think we got the message across."

Ethically opposed to using election signs or relying on campaign people to get her message out, Mrs. Akkermans tried to meet her electorate face to face.

"I feel that is important for the candidate to speak to the people and not necessarily a member of the team," Mrs. Akkermans said, "and that is why I (did) it myself...

"I basically tried to knock on every door, and if they weren't home, I left them a note, 'you were out I was here'.

"They at least knew I passed by and they had my phone number if they wanted to call me."

It was in her door-to-door work, that Mrs. Akkermans learned voters valued her experience at the council table.

Lochiel votes for change

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

If election night was any indication, North Glengarry council should prepare itself for a new councillor from Lochiel full of energy and enthusiasm.

Wendy MacPherson was ecstatic when she watched the results go up at the Glengarry Sports Palace, and she defeated incumbent Ron MacDonell, by almost 250 votes.

"I have the biggest lead," Mrs. MacPherson beamed. "And I'm proud of that. It goes to show that hard work and that good ethics of a campaign (pay off).

"People wanted a change and I think the numbers say it."

Mrs. MacPherson's numbers were impressive. From Glen Robertson to Lochiel, she took each poll in the ward – gaining 906 votes to Mr. MacDonell's 659.

From his election night post at the Glen Robertson Social Centre, the incumbent, and former reeve of Lochiel, was gracious in defeat.

"We are still living," Mr. MacDonell said. "I am doing fine. It is the people's choice. I guess they wanted a different representative."

He thanked the people of Lochiel for their support, and said they were good to him over the years.

"I'm still available," Mr. MacDonell added. "I'll be glad to help the people with any assistance, be it provincial, federal, county, or municipal."

A mother of three young children, and married to dairy farmer David, Mrs. MacPherson is looking forward to leaving behind her place at question period and becoming part of the decision making process.

FOR THE WINNER: David MacPherson gives wife Wendy a big kiss.

"I'm excited and ready to work hard," Mrs. MacPherson said. "There is a lot of work involved, people keep telling me...

"I spent two and a half years watching it and preparing for it. Now I'm ready for it. I think people have said, we'll give you three years and see what you can do."

One of the first things she plans to do is to extend a big thank you to the voters of Lochiel. It'll come telegrammed on the big wrapped bales that caught people's attention on the lawn of her Glen Robertson Road home.

South Glengarry

One late voter delays count in South Glengarry

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

The mood at the Recreation Centre in Williamstown was charged with excitement as candidates and their teams gathered shortly after 8 p.m. to wait for the results.

With the new telephone and Internet voting procedure, the announcement was expected by 8:20 p.m.

Instead, South Glengarrians had to wait until 8:52 before Administrator/Co-ordinator Marcel Lapierre read the results.

Residents of South Glengarry learned the results of the City of Cornwall's elections before they knew their own.

South Glengarry's man in charge of elections, Michel Samson, couldn't explain the delay other than that there had been one late elector who arrived at the township hall just before 8 p.m., without a letter.

"We had to give him a number and then let him vote," said Mr. Samson.

He estimated it was probably about 8:15 p.m., before CanVote, the company providing the election services, was able to begin its work.

Voter turnout appears to have increased over the 2000 election.

Mr. Lapierre said that 42 per cent of electors had already cast their votes by Monday morning. He estimated the turnout was in the range of 51 to 53 per cent.

The only other hitch with the new method of voting appeared to be the large number of abstentions. There were 172 who abstained voting for the mayor, 185 for the deputy-mayor and a whopping 2,088 abstentions for the councillors' positions.

Mr. Samson said he believed the latter figure resulted largely from the fact that many people choose to vote for only one, instead of three names for councillor.

Emotional appeal resonates with voters across township

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

Ian McLeod, whose trademark campaign speech endings, "Vote for South Glengarry, our home," evoked the emotional appeal of the Glengarry mystique, topped the polls in South Glengarry's municipal election, Monday night.

Mr. McLeod received 2,821 votes, 371 more than second-place finisher, John B. Warden.

Mr. McLeod, said he was surprised by his success in his bid to hang on to his council seat.

"It was very difficult to tell how the splits were going to go."

Mr. McLeod said it was an honour to have the people's support and he was optimistic that the new council would be able to sit down together and begin to do some planning.

Mr. Warden, a popular businessman from the Summerstown area, also had the advantage of a large group of family and friends supporting him.

He said something in his acceptance address that ratepayers were more than happy to hear.

"Let's hope the next three years we can come back with a zero, zero, zero, tax increase."

Mr. Warden had campaigned on the necessity of better money management at township hall.

The third councillor chosen by the electorate was incumbent Janette Abbey of Westley's Point, whose two daughters ran her campaign.

Mrs. Abbey's nearest rival was Joyce Gravelle, who was just 307 votes behind her.

Mrs. Gravelle seemed to twig to the political benefits of having Glengarry blood.

"I wasn't born in Glengarry, but I got here as fast as I could," she said in her campaign speeches.

Mrs. Abbey promised her supporters she would not let them down.

She wants to lobby the Ontario government to revamp the way rural properties are assessed – a timely promise considering that new assessment values have just been received by ratepayers.

Tallies for other candidates making bids for a council seat were Joyce Gravelle (1968 votes), Carol-Ann Ross (1620), Bill Madden (1581), Victoria Stewart (947), John Lounsberry (877), and George Johann (806).

Close call for Prevost

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

Incumbent Deputy-mayor Frank Prevost, who was re-elected last Monday evening, said he is happy to have the opportunity to finish a lot of the projects that had been started by the current council, and looked forward to continuing his push for a library and sidewalks in the Glen Walter area.

"I hope the rest of council will work with me on these," he said.

Mr. Prevost held on to his seat by a narrow margin of 177 votes, defeating veteran politician Charles Sangster. Both Mr. Prevost and Mr. Sangster are lifelong residents of South Glengarry: Mr. Prevost from Tyotown in the west, and Mr. Sangster from Bainsville in the east.

Mr. Sangster, was gracious, congratulating his opponent for running "a good, clean campaign."

He said he would help council over the next three years in any way he could.

Arkinstall enlightens crowd at KAS meeting

MAXVILLE

GORDON WINTER
527-2888

PETE BOCK PHOTO

At the dinner and annual meeting of the Kenyon Agricultural Society last Friday evening, Andrew Arkinstall was the guest speaker and gave a very enlightening presentation on his two years working and living in Austria.

An aeronautical engineer, Andrew was there to work on a certain plane of which he had photos as well as of other aircraft. Located in Salzburg, Andrew also showed views of that city and many more of the very interesting countryside.

The speaker was introduced by Eric Metcalfe and thanked by Paul Villeneuve, an Athol neighbour.

The dinner, which followed a social hour at the Glengarry Curling Club, was prepared and served by Triple C Catering. Claire Gougeon of Maxville is the contact person.

President Jack Fraser chaired the meeting. He announced that two key officers had decided to retire and expressed the Society's regret. Janice Blaney served as secretary for 18 years and for part of that time was treasurer as well. Sandy Blaney became the treasurer after the two positions were created. Fitting presentations were made to both ladies.

Scotiabank manager, Debbie Carroll presented a cheque for $5,000 to the president. Since the sum of $5,300 had been collected at the bank for the Angus Gray Hall Rebuilding Fund, the bank gave its donation as agreed.

Eric Metcalfe was named the Volunteer of the Year and was presented with the award by Andrew Arkinstall. Eric has been a hard worker with the Society since 1986.

Copies of the detailed financial statement were distributed.

The following slate of officers was announced: Past Pres.-Eric Metcalfe, Pres.- Jack Fraser, 1st Vice-Pres.-Andrew Arkinstall, 2nd Vice-Pres-Paul Villeneuve, Secretary-Betty McIntosh, Treasurer-Lorraine Alderson, Directors-Jerome Andre, Rene Auer, George Currier, Will Kippen, Ilze Hillier, Doug Munroe, Jeff MacLean, Garry MacQueen, Hilda Provost, Julie Robertson, Steve Rolland, Marlene MacCuaig, Lynne Snikeris, Ian Vallance, Kevin Villeneuve, Susan Clarke-Villeneuve, Johanne Wensink, Julia Addison, Gary Martin, Garry Howes, Michael Villeneuve, Dale Murray, Bill Shields, Sandy Blaney, and Janice Blaney.

Jean Metcalfe, the long-time secretary of the Home Craft Division, later provided the names of its executive and directors as follows: Past Pres.-Patsy MacKinnon, Pres.-Catherine Kippen and committee members Donna Addison, Gwen Arkinstall, Thelma Bender, Jean Campbell, Linda Fraser, Rosemary Gaudreau, Michelle Hartrick, Janice MacEwen, Maureen MacEwen, Martine McDonald-Hill, Ruby MacGregor, Nellie MacKay, Cheryl Munro, Betty Wright, Jean MacCuaig, Linda Leger, Helen MacRae and Nancy Fjarlie.

Happy birthday

Miss Donna MacInnes celebrated her 101st birthday last Monday at the Manor. Town Square was nicely decorated, there was a head table with birthday cake and several tables for the residents.

Miss MacInnes enjoys very good health but is very deaf. She enjoys a very active life style about the Manor and plays bridge on Saturday afternoons.

There was no relative able to be there for the party but this lady chose to have two of her good friends sit with her at the head table – Fern St. Denis and Fay Shaver.

Sadly we must report that Mr. St. Denis died very suddenly on Friday. He had been a very well known and popular resident who helped many residents in every way he could.

Visiting

Kathy Mayberry from near Ingersoll has spent a few days with her mother, Margaret Munroe, and brother Doug and his family.

*

Grace McIntosh from Toronto and Joyce McIntosh from Hamilton were home to visit with their three brothers, Donald, Ralph and Gordon and their families.

Local artist

Danny MacDonald, our local artist and crafter of pipers and fiddlers, is being featured at the Craft Barn these days. To find this large business, drive west at St. Andrew's to Power Dam Road and then south on that road towards Highway 401. The entrance to the Craft Barn is just before you come to the access for the Highway.

Baptism

On Sunday in the United Church, the beautiful baby daughter of Kim and Dean MacIntosh was baptized by the Rev. Dr. Kent Clayton with the names Ceilidh Ann Lillian. Mr. Clayton used water that he had taken from the River Jordan some years ago and the baptismal font was one that the baby's great-grandmother, Sadie, had given to the church in memory of her husband, Charles, in 1966.

There were many relatives and friends in attendance, including both sets of grandparents, Janice and Ken Moran, Cornwall, and Carolee and Robert MacIntosh, Pigeon Hill. This latter couple hosted a family dinner at their home after the service.

CNIB

The canvas for the C.N.I.B. in the Dunvegan area was very successful with the sum of $835 collected. All those who contributed to this fund are thanked.

Christmas event

You are invited to reserve the evening of Dec. 14 for Christmas carols, traditional hymns and readings in St. Michael and All Angels Church. There will be complete details later.

Customer Appreciation

Scotiabank is holding its Customer Appreciation Day in the bank on Nov. 28 during banking hours. All are cordially invited to drop in that day to visit with staff members and to enjoy some cookies and a cup of coffee.

Pot luck dinner

The Horticultural Society's Christmas pot luck dinner and annual meeting will be held in the United Church Hall on Nov. 19 at 6.30 p.m.

Members are asked to bring non-perishable items of food for the Agape Centre in Cornwall.

The guest speaker will be Lynn Guimond who has a greenhouse and grows exotic orchids. You will be welcomed at this meeting to hear this speaker and to enjoy the fellowship.

Going to jail

On Nov. 21, Maxville's Top Guns will be sentenced to one hour in the County Jail located in the Glengarry Curling Club. While serving their time there from 11-7 p.m., they will be phoning their friends, relatives and co-workers for pledges to raise funds for the Kidney Foundation of Canada, Eastern Ontario Branch.

Kidney disease is increasing at the alarming rate of 12 per cent each year.

From Nov. 11-21, Scotiabank will have the Kidney Foundation display a donation jar. The bank will match these donations. Many thanks go to Debbie Carroll and her staff.

If you would like to participate in this project or would like more information, you are invited to contact Dawna Miller, Round Up For Research Event Coordinator at 527-1391.

Santa Claus Parade

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored Santa Claus Parade will be held on Nov. 23 with the floats assembling at the Manor parking lot at 1 p.m. for judging and departure at 1:30 p.m. There are plans to fly Santa Claus in from the North Pole.

The parade will terminate at the Sports Complex where first, second and third prizes will be presented and where members of the Lions Club will serve hot dogs and hot chocolate.

It is hoped that there will be much support for this annual event from community organizations and individuals. For information and to enter a float you are invited to phone Carma Williams at 527-1438 or Audrey Evans at 527-3386.

Public School news

The November Newsletter from the Public School told about the Racing Against Drugs program for the Grade six students. It is a part of the curriculum and last Friday the students went to Cornwall for a special presentation.

Also, the Grade six students held a pumpkin raffle and face painting to raise $119.75 towards their trip to Ecole de Neige.

Students also participated in the Operation Christmas Child project with boxes of gifts prepared for children in overseas.

Carmen Bender donated apples for the Apple Walk-a-Thon which raised $1,361 to help purchase new team shirts.

The school raised $207 for cancer research through the Terry Fox Dedication Board.

If all those who make purchases at the M&M. Shops in Cornwall or Alexandria mention Maxville Public School at the time of purchase, the school will receive an annual rebate.

Diners Club

The November meeting of the Manor's Diners Club will be at the Manor on Nov. 27 at 5 p.m. If you plan to attend, you are advised to get your reservation in early by phoning Margaret at 527-2170, ext. 237. The deadline for reservations is Nov. 25.

Euchre

At the October euchre at the Manor under the S.O.S. program, Wilma MacMillan, Elizabeth Briere and Florence Harkins topped the ladies with Hormidas St. John, Homer MacLeod and George Jackson doing likewise for the gentlemen.

Cecile Currier won the door prize and the 50-50 draw winners were Mrs. MacMillan, twice, Helen Jackson and Mrs. Briere.

The November party will be held on the regular date, Nov. 26, but there will be no December party.

Bridge parties

The Saturday afternoon bridge parties at the Manor do not have as many players as at the euchre parties and additional players will always be welcomed. Last week, Russ Surtees and Myrtle MacMillan earned the top scores.

Trip to Midland one to remember

LANCASTER
MARG MILLETT
347-2207
FAX 347-1297

We just missed the Remembrance Day Service in Lancaster on Sunday. However, our visit to Midland was really a Remembrance weekend.

George Millett, a veteran of WWII and the Korean War, was treated to a family surprise birthday party last Saturday. George is Barry's uncle and one of our favourite persons. Recently he has not been well. He told me that he did not expect to see this birthday, but some medicines were changed and his health improved dramatically. Now he's back home and doing very well.

So, Barry's cousins (George's children) organized a wonderful afternoon to celebrate George's 80th birthday. The room was full of children, grandchildren, and lots of little babies. There was a dinner afterwards for the family and we all sat around visiting and renewing the 'ties of family' that are so nice.

Later Barry and I visited with George at his home. As we sat in his cosy kitchen area and traded family stories, I was reminded that it was George who taught me long ago, by example, how to lighten up and try to challenge the problems in life with humour. I'm also not sure who was the best storyteller that night, Barry, or George? ... Ahh..it's a family thing!

At one point George went into his bedroom and returned with a large envelope. He sat down and pulled out a long set of medals, recently polished. It turns out that George took part in the Remembrance Day Parade that morning, in Midland, proudly (as he should be!) wearing his medals.

The few hours that we shared flew by. George was witty and his conversation scintillating. His speech was not slow, no dwelling in a dark past but loving the history of everything. Yes, he told us war stories and alluded to the stark reality of war and lost comrades. He also brought us to tears of laughter with stories of his antics as a young serviceman. George would be called a youth today and never expected to have such responsibilities at the age of 15 and on.

Barry's uncle is very in touch with young people today. His beautiful granddaughter, Jackie, who sings like an angel, lives with him and they are kindred spirits.

So, at this time of remembrance, here's to you 'Papa George' and to all of the men and women who gave themselves for our freedom!

Women's Institute

At their meeting Nov. 5, Bainsville Women's Institute members wrangled over fee increases and wondered what was happening to the dear old WI, after hearing there'll be no WI booth at the Royal Winter fair this year, and that Saskatchewan WI is on life support and about to close down. Decline in rural populations and membership seems to be the culprit.

It was noted that member, Susan Robertson of Bainsville, was appointed to the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario Provincial Advisory Committee, at the WI Eastern Ontario convention in October.

For the program that evening Lancaster Esthetician, Sandra Wickware, explained potions, lotions, diets and lifestyle changes. Sandra challenged members to "be good to yourself and your skin. Get a facial. Watch what you eat. Moisturize and protect your skin against the sun. Exercise."

Sandra also discussed a new machine that gives non-surgical face lifts, shorting muscles and causing increased circulation.

President Shirley Walsh chaired this meeting in the Lan-Char Seniors Centre in Lancaster. The lunch committee included Diane Bowles, Guelda MacRae, Jackie Faulkner and Lillian MacGregor

The next WI meeting will be the Annual Christmas Supper. It will be on Dec. 3, at 6 p.m., at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall in South Lancaster.

Parades of the Past

Thinking of the upcoming, 45th Santa Claus Parade brings fond memories of the time that we made a float for the Big Dipper as a member of our late (and sadly missed) Chamber of Commerce. I forget the theme but do you remember the TV series, Alf? Well, we created Melmac, (no, not those horrible dishes) Alf's home, on a flatbed borrowed from my friends, Faith and Aurele Lefebvre. With a vision of what Melmac must be like, we placed many, many, pillows underneath old white sheets to create the terrain. I borrowed jump standards from the stable where our daughter, Charmaine, kept her horse and covered them with foil. Roger Menard lent us a lot of old tires which I tirelessly (sorry, couldn't resist) covered with many strips of pastel colored crepe paper. The tires then went on the standards and, voila!, the trees of Melmac! Theresa Gunn, who worked with me at that time, was Alf and her daughter Amanda was the Cat. Alf really liked cats if you remember, but to eat, not as a pet.

I vividly remember one of the judges and a well known citizen, who shall remain anonymous, saying "Where the blankety blanc is Melmac??"

We didn't win a prize. Many children along the way called out to tell the cat to stay away from Alf. It was the most fun!

The theme this year is "A Postcard Christmas" and I can assure you that making a float and being a part of this wonderful tradition will be great fun. To register, call Janice at 347-2420.

News from St. Andrew's

On Sunday morning the 1st Lancaster Scout Troup held their annual church parade at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster. Close to 40 Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Venturers, as well as their leaders and families, joined the congregation and participated in the Remembrance Day service. St. Andrew's has been sponsoring Scouting for close to 50 years and it is always a privilege to have these young people join us for worship. Following the service a Coffee Fellowship Hour was held in the church hall.

The congregation of St. Andrew's collected 85 boxes on Sunday for the "Operation Christmas Child" 2003 campaign. Operation Christmas Child is a project of the relief agency Samaritan's Purse, which delivers special gift boxes to children who are victims of war, persecution, poverty, disease and natural disaster. The gift boxes will be distributed to more than 100 countries and are filled with small toys, school supplies, toiletry items and candy. The children especially enjoyed filling these boxes knowing that on Christmas Day someone, somewhere, will have a smile on their face thanks to their generosity and kindness.

St. Andrew's Sunday School is reminded that over the next few weeks Anne Kanz will be working with the children in preparation for the annual Christmas Pageant on Sunday, Dec. 14. All children are encouraged to be in regular attendance to learn special music to be sung that day.

Knights of Columbus

On Nov. 13 there will be an officers meeting at 7:15 p.m. A regular meeting for all of the Lancaster Knights will follow. The guest speaker for this evening will be brother Ken Lalonde. The topic for his speech will be "The Devine Mercy." Members are asked to attend this important meeting.

The next Knights of Columbus Community Breakfast will be held on Sunday, Nov. 16. The Lancaster Volunteer Firefighters will serve at this breakfast. Everyone is invited to come and support our Lancaster Fire Department. They will be fundraising that morning for a defibrillator. Come from 9-12:30 p.m. and enjoy a hearty breakfast with many good choices. Adults $4, children $3.50.

Coming up soon is the Knights of Columbus Annual Christmas Dance, on Saturday, Nov. 22. Buy your tickets ($5 each) at the door or call Richard Pilon 347-3745 or Michel Bourdeau 347-3281. Everyone is invited to join the Knights for an evening of fun.

Legion News

I called my friendly news confidant to discover some details of our recent Remembrance Day Service at the Cenotaph. Sheila Urquhart said that she was really pleased to see all of the youth that were present from Scouts and Guides. During the service, Alice Leger placed a wreath on behalf of the Silver Cross Mothers. Richard and Claire Leger placed a wreath for their son, Marc. Representatives from many other groups and organizations also laid wreaths. The salute was given to Joseph Applebaum of Montreal. Joseph has been a long time member of the Legion and grew up in Lancaster. It was nice to see that the bugler for this service was Laurie Lavigne, daughter of George and Linda Baker.

Recently the Lancaster Legion donated some money to help with the purchase of a new van for Glengarry Outreach Services and also some money for the Air cadets.

Friends of the Library

The Friends of the Lancaster Library are happy to invite the public from the communities of SDG to the Centennial Celebration of the founding of the Lancaster Library.

It will be 100 years that will be celebrated, on Nov. 19, 2003, and the Inaugural beginnings of the Lancaster Library, now part of the SDG County Library system. Displays, as well as demonstrations will take place at the Lancaster Library from 10-noon and at the same time, refreshments will be served at Gail's Kitchen next door. Come and enjoy together the long history and heritage of the Lancaster library.

Reminders

'Catch the Spirit' this weekend, at the Christmas Luncheon and Bake Sale at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. On Saturday, Nov. 15, lunch will be served from 11-1:30 p.m. in the church hall. Crafts and baked goods will be on sale as well. The children of St. Andrew's will have a candy table with proceeds going to the new Education Centre. Lunch is $5. The friendship and fellowship is free!

Keep Saturday, Nov. 29 in mind for another chance to buy great crafts and baked goods at the Lan-Char Seniors' Centre in Lancaster. Events run from 10-3 p.m.

Party Missed

Happy 50th Birthday, George Baker of Lancaster. It was a great party that you missed. As most of you know, George is a longtime volunteer fireman and was called to a fire, missing the festivities. I guess that shows a little of the nature of a volunteer firefighter's life. So, are you going to do a repeat of the party? Happy 50!

Have a super week everyone!

Knights thank breakfast goers

GREEN VALLEY
MARGO PEPIN
525-3581

The Knights of Columbus would like to thank everyone who came out to their breakfast brunch this past Sunday, and to all who helped out.

It's that time of year again, Christmas parties – have fun but please be careful. Don't drink and drive.

The Brown House Circle held its reunion on Nov. 5 with 43 members present and four special guests. One of them was Jim McDonell, a candidate for the Township of South Glengarry Mayorship who was a guest speaker. Members of the club were happy to welcome two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Cuhat. Entertainment was provided by Bill Bernacki, accordionist. The 50/50 winners were Angela O'Connor, Maria Lovasi, Pauline Lauzon (twice), Chris Sova, Dan Williamson and the monthly raffle was won by Chris Sova.

The Daughters of Isabella will hold their regular monthly meeting on Nov. 19. All members are asked to attend.

Don't forget the Knights of Columbus and Optimist Club are holding their Turkey Shoot on Nov. 29 at the Green Valley Community Centre from 7-11p.m. There will be games of chance and free turkey draws every 15 minutes. Entry is free so come on out for an evening of fun. Everyone is welcome.

Did you take time on Nov. 11 to remember our veterans? Those who made this country what it is, a free country.

Deepest sympathies going out to the family of Wendell Cousineau of Green Valley who passed away recently at the age of 41. Also, to the family of Richard and Lise Quesnel of Alexandria and Denis and Helene Quesnel of the eighth Concession on the death of their mother, Therese Quesnel, who passed away at the age of 89.

Jeanne Goulet will return home from hospital after a hip operation. She will live with her mother on the seventh concession because she is not allowed to walk or move around for several weeks. Her family will be looking after her until she is mobile. We wish her well and a speedy recovery. God bless and have a safe week.

Bantam B Rebs split

The Char-Lan bantam B Rebels won and lost in hockey action last week.

The Rebels trounced the Massena Raiders 9-1.

Michael Robertson with three, Leslie MacLeod with two, Shawn Fontaine, Grant MacDougall, Andrew MacKay and Jymie Jasper scored.

MacDougall, Kevin McLeod, Robertson and Leslie MacLeod each had two assists for Char-Lan.

Emily MacIntosh was solid in goal.

In their second game Char-Lan fell to Kemptville 2-1. It was their first loss this year.

Fontaine had the Char-Lan goal.

Rapids fall short

The Seaway Valley major peewee AA Rapids couldn't quite reach the playoff round during their first tournament of the season recently.

In their first game of the Sting Icebreaker tournament in Ottawa the Rapids faced a team in their own league, the Eastern Ontario Cobras.

Stone McCauley turned in a very impressive display in goal but the Rapids lost 4-1.

Joey Porporo scored in the loss from Adam Wensink and help from Rod Archer.

In their second game the Rapids faced a big club from Ancaster but didn't back down and won 4-2.

Justine Theriault led the charge with two goals while Wensink and Thomas Lang added singles in the win.

The Rapids needed a big win in their third game against Huberview to move on.

Despite playing in one of the best games of the tournament, the Rapids fell 1-0 after having a second period goal disallowed.

Emergency tourney

The North Lancaster Volunteer Fire Department is hosting their second annual emergency services (ambulance, fire, police) hockey tournament on Jan. 9 and 11 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The organizers are looking for teams that fall under one of those sectors be it professional or volunteer.

For more information or to register contact Geoffrey MacNaughton at 347-2255 or e-mail at geoffrey@glen-net.ca

The tournament will consist of 12 teams, with the deadline for entries being Dec. 5.

A new feature this year is a skills contest at 12 noon on Saturday for all players.

All proceeds from the tournament benefit the fire department's "small equipment fund".

Glens beat Glens

The Alexandria peewee house Glens clubs went head-to-head Saturday at the Glengarry Sport Palace with the # 1 team winning 4-2.

Jeremie Poirier led the way with two goals with singles going to Calvin Crack and Dylan Wellman.

Picking up assists were Richard Lunny with two, Jacob Nadeau and Mikael Giroux.

Moulding Glens split

The Alexandria Moulding # 3 bantam Glens picked up a pair of wins on the weekend.

At home on Sunday the Glens defeated Clarence Creek by a 5-2 score.

Westley Pidgeon and Matt Stones paced the attack with a pair of goals each.

Matt Pidgeon also added a goal and an assist.

A day earlier, also in Alexandria at the Glengarry Sports Palace, the Glens fell to Rockland # 1 by a 6-2 score.

Mathieu Beauclaire had a goal and an assist and Westley Pidgeon also scored for the Glens.

Optimist Glens lose

The Alexandria Optimist Club # 2 bantam Glens came up short against Casselman on Sunday at home.

The Glens fell by a 5-4 score after Casselman scored the game-winner with 1:12 remaining.

Alexandria's Catherine Leroux had tied the game at 4-4 with 2:47 remaining with her second goal of the game.

Thomas Shackleton and Alexandre Quesnel also scored in the Alexandria loss.

Desnoyers records Mustangs' shutout

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Maxville Mustangs picked up a weekend split of sorts earning three of a possible six points in three games.

In doing so the Mustangs have doubled their season totals and now find themselves just two points behind defending champion Vankleek Hill and three points behind Casselman.

Mustangs' head coach Kevin Lalonde said it was good to see the team perform so well for once.

"It was a big weekend for us. It was probably the best three game stretch we've had all year towards effort and play."

On Saturday at home the Mustangs treated the home crowd to their second win of the season. And it was in convincing fashion as Desnoyers turned in one of the best performances ever by a Mustangs' goaltender.

Mustangs 6 Cougars 0

Desnoyers recorded the second ever shutout in Mustangs history as he blanked the defending league champions Vankleek Hill Cougars 6-0.

In 2000 when Ivan Coleman was guiding the Mustangs, Patrick Huffman recorded the first ever shutout for the club.

On Saturday Desnoyers doubled the career team mark in that department.

He was given loads of support on the scoreboard as five different scorers found the back of the net in the victory. Jonathon Bray scored twice in the win while singles went to Leduc, Shane O'Brien, Ryan Villeneuve and Steven Stewart.

On Friday the Mustangs started off their weekend by travelling to the home of the first place Thunder in East Ottawa.

The Mustangs started off strongly but after what Lalonde said was some questionable officiating in the third period, Maxville left East Ottawa with a point after losing in overtime.

Thunder 6 Mustangs 5 OT

Thunder's Rene Bisson scored 29 seconds into overtime after his shot deflected off a skate and eluded Dan Desnoyers in the Mustangs' goal.

The goal allowed East Ottawa to come all the way back from a 4-1 deficit entering the third period. The Mustangs also had a lead of 5-2 with just over 15 minutes remaining.

That all changed though after the Mustangs were assessed five minor penalties compared to East Ottawa's two in the third period. The Thunder scored three powerplay goals on their four opportunities.

"They were questionable calls," said Lalonde.

"They got a couple of goals on the powerplay and that gave them momentum. I wouldn't say we panicked but we were the victim of circumstances that were handed to us."

Other East Ottawa goal scorers included league leading scorer Matt Blois with two, Guillaume Aubut, Daniel Gagnon and Sylvain Deleseleuc.

Hitting the board for Maxville were Pierre Lacombe, Dale Ferguson, Phil Menard, Chris Leduc and Stephane Denault.

Rebels win with thrilling comeback

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Trailing by a score of 5-1 midway through the second period, the Char-Lan Rebels had the visiting Brockville Tikis right where they wanted them.

Char-Lan scored six unanswered goals to steal two points with a 7-5 victory.

The win kicked off a four-point weekend for Char-Lan who now find themselves tied with Alexandria for second place in the division with 24 points, only two back of first place Kemptville.

The pair of weekend victories also pushed Char-Lan's winning streak to five games and give them an 11-3-0-2 record overall.

Rebels 7 Tikis 5

Mike King made his debut on the Rebels' top line during the game and his fourth goal of the season seemed to key the comeback.

It cut into the Tikis' lead to make it still a decisive 5-2 score but the excitement over the goal pushed the momentum in the Rebs' favour.

"King is not a big goal scorer and seeing him put one in was an emotional lift for the team," said Rebels' general manager John Chafee.

"The team seemed to feed off of it."

King's goal 10:36 into the second period was quickly answered by Rebels' captain Derek Duval's tally at 12:57. That goal came on a nice tip from Derek Duval on a Danny Lafave point shot.

"That's something you work on in practice and it's nice to see it pay off."

Just under two minutes later the Rebels made it 5-4 as Addison Pelkey scored.

Pelkey made up for a missed breakaway attempt minutes later which resulted in a shot attempt bouncing off the crossbar and sailing over the glass.

Just over a minute later the Rebels finished their second period comeback with a goal from Lafave.

All told the Rebels scored four goals in a span of 5:07 to knot the score at 5-5.

It took only 3:32 into the third period for Stephane St. Denis to put the Rebels ahead for good.

Derek Duval scored with 34 seconds remaining into an empty net for the win.

The goal capped off a four-point night for Derek Duval as Pat Johnson provided an unselfish play in supporting the goal. Johnson gave up an empty net shot to pass up the easy point to his linemate.

Glen Sandfield moves ahead of Northerners

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Glen Sandfield has moved ahead of the Northerners for second place in the Alexandria Women's Indoor Soccer League.

Glen Sandfield did that after defeating the Northerners 2-1 on Nov. 3 at Glengarry District High School.

Natasha Brodie moved into a tie for the league's scoring lead with Atlantic's Kelly Lavigueur and Char-Lan's Vanessa VanSleeuwen (six goals each) potting both in the win.

Pam Weldon replied for the Northerners.

Lavigueur had two of her team's goals in Atlantic's 4-2 win over the Springers on the same night.

Josee Legault and Sue Filion also scored for Atlantic.

Bobbi-Jo MacLeod and Colleen Poirier scored in the Springers' loss.

Char-Lan picked up their first win in four tries this season by beating the Springers 6-3 on Nov. 5.

VanSleeuwen paced the Char-Lan attack with three goals while Laine McDonell, Megan Brown and Andree Beaupre added singles.

Bonnie MacLeod with two and Poirier scored in the loss.

No men's league

There will be no indoor soccer league in Alexandria this year for men.

Hockey Canada releases body checking DVD

As promised Hockey Canada launched a DVD and educational campaign about body checking last month.

Canada's governing body in hockey released the DVD on Oct. 16, entitled Check It Out, and distributed it to all minor hockey associations.

Hockey Canada approved dropping the age of body checking is introduced from peewee (age 11-12) at atom (age nine to 12) last year only to reverse the decision in May after much disapproval and a controversy which questionned a study backing the original decision.

The DVD isn't a highlight reel of NHL hits, but instead walks through steps starting with angling and positioning to stick checking to body contact to body checking.

In Ontario and Saskatchewas there still is body checking at the atom level becase those associations, along with the Ottawa District Hockey Association, were approved by Hockey Canada to incorporate it with the goal of conducting research and gathering data for Hockey Canada.

Contact your local minor hockey associations if you are interested in borrowing the DVD.

Laframboise sneaks out point

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Nov. 2 action

Laframboise snuck out a point after scoring in the final minute to tie Rayco 2-2.

Laura Urquhart and Carol Bowman scored in the draw for Laframboise.

Rayco had goals from Josee Pomerleau and Karen Smith.

In the other game Top Notch won their seventh straight by a 3-0 score over La Maison.

Pam Norman had a goal and two assists in the win while Gail Fourney and Gillian Chaddock rounded out the scoring.

Men's action

The Matco Masters won their second game of the season last weekend leaving Lacombe's Custom Work still winless.

Both Matco wins have come against Lacombe's including Sunday's 2-1 victory.

James MacCulloch had a goal and an assist in the win while Ronald Leblanc had the other Matco goal.

Eric Villeneuve scored in a losing effort.

In the other game it took overtime to decide the second game of the season between Dave's Drywall and Farley Windows.

The two teams couldn't find the back of the net throughout regulation as Greg Saunders (Dave's) and Randy Cousineau (Farley) were solid in goal.

Finally Lee Casselman was able to solve Cousineau in overtime to give Dave's the win.

Rodrigue picks up first shutout

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

For the second weekend in a row Glens' rookie goaltender Jacob Rodrigue put together a solid game in between the pipes.

His start Friday against South Grenville would provide him with his first junior hockey shutout as the Glens blanked the Rangers 5-0.

A week earlier Rodrigue came up just short of a shutout beating Brockville 5-1.

Glens' head coach Raymond Lavergne has been surprised by Rodrigue's success this year.

"His goals against is very low. He's simply stopping the puck. He hasn't been playing against Kemptville, Char-Lan or Akwesasne. He'll play one of those teams in the next few weeks. Than we'll see where we are with him."

Along with Rodrigue's shutout, the other big news in Alexandria last weekend was the loss of Derrick Ryan, at least for a little while.

Ryan's junior A rights were traded from the Hawkesbury Hawks to the Ottawa junior Senators.

Ryan has reported to Ottawa as an affiliate and is still signed to a Glens' card.

"I heard about the news Saturday afternoon," said Lavergne.

"What can we do. He was a big part of our team and now he's gone. We have to turn the page. He wants to play junior A to see if he can get a scholarship."

Because he's still on a Glens' card Ryan could return to Alexandria if he doesn't like the situation in Ottawa.

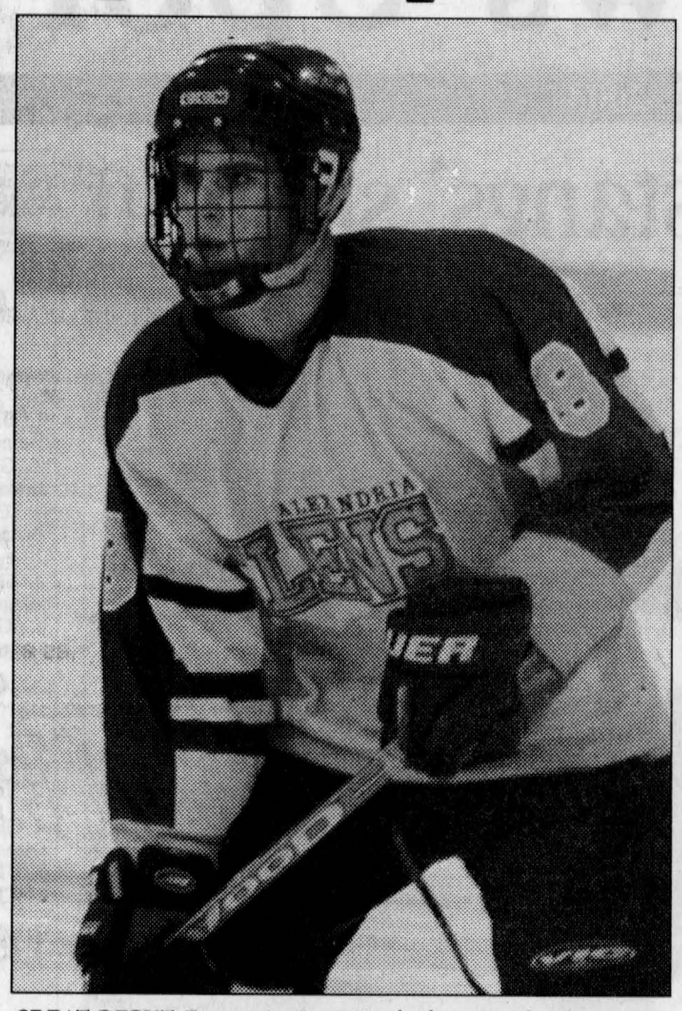
To fill in some of the gap left with the Ryan departure, Jean Phillipe Bourgeois has been signed by the Glens.

Bourgeois, 20, was also playing with the junior A Hawks but called Lavergne last week to ask if there was room with the Glens.

The Hawkesbury native made an immediate impact for Alexandria as his line including Simon Langevin and Mathieu Desnoyers had a big game against South Grenville Friday night.

Glens 5 Rangers 0

Supporting Rodrigue's shutout effort was the debut of a new Glens' line.



GREAT DEBUT: Former junior A Hawkesbury Hawks player Jean Phillippe Bourgeois had a strong start to his Glens career Friday night in Alexandria against South Grenville. Bourgeois had a goal and two assists in a 5-0 Glens win.

TODD ANDERSON PHOTO

Langevin scored two goals and two assists in his return from a two-game suspension while Bourgeois scored a goal and two assists in his first game in a Glens' uniform.

Desnoyers handed out an assist.

Derrick Ryan scored the other two goals in what might turn out to be his last game in Alexandria.

Alexandria scored three goals in the second period and their other two in the third.

The game was a tame affair as only six minor penalties per side were given out.

That couldn't be said for the Glens' game on Sunday in Westport.

Glens 2 Rideaus 2 OT

After a long Sunday afternoon drive to Westport and a hard fought 60 minutes of hockey, Lavergne was happy to leave town with one point.

The Glens took a 1-0 lead after 20 minutes thanks to a Patrice Brunet tally and led 2-1 after 40 minutes as Desnoyers scored Alexandria's second goal.

The Rideaus tied the game in the third period however on a Steve Biscaru marker.

Ryan Bruyere had the other Rideaus' goal.

Justin Martel (Alexandria) and Josh Blank were the goaltenders on record.

Martel made 29 saves in total while Blank turned away 44.

Rebels notes:

This Friday the Glens host the Gananoque Islanders for an 8:30 p.m. start.

On Sunday the Glens travel to Athens for a 7:30 p.m. start against the Aeros.

"Gananoque is always tough and we have to play tough against them to win but be disciplined."

Lavergne said he didn't know anything about newcomer Jean Phillipe Bourgeois before the weekend but was impressed with his play at both ends of the ice.

Lavergne also liked Langevin's ability to jump back in after a weekend away but wants more consistency to discipline from him.

"He has to learn to keep his mouth shut or he will be watching a lot of games."

Dominic Lamarche missed both weekend games as part of a three-game suspension he received for a slashing penalty assessed in a game against Akwesasne two weekends ago.

Lamarche was given only a five minute penalty on the play but the Wolves handed in a video tape of the incident to the league. The result was the three-game suspension handed down by Rideau-St. Lawrence division president John Shorrey.

Lavergne was upset by the seemingly ground-breaking method of discipline.

"We'll have to all get videos and the league can go through them every Monday."

Lavergne said there were two slashes in Sunday's loss that may have garnered suspensions, at least penalties. Lavergne said both Rideaus players' sticks broke after they slashed Glens' players.

Patrick Dore missed Sunday's game after falling on his elbow Friday. He's day-to-day.

Nick Adam is still day-to-day with an ankle injury.

As the Glens and Char-Lan Rebels (24 points each) are at the 16 game mark and the Kemptville 73s (26 points) are at 17, it's time to start thinking about the Boxing Day tournament.

The team with the best record after 22 games from the St. Lawrence Division gets the opportunity to compete in the tournament being held in Clarence Creek this year.

All three teams face off against each other in two weekends.

Le Relais junior boys qualify for EOSSAA

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Le Relais came within a goal of winning the Prescott-Russell championship but weren't able to finish off first place Plantagenet on Friday.

The host Plantagenet high school defeated Le Relais 2-0 in a shootout to win the championship.

The score after regulation was 1-1 as Eric Dinelle scored for Le Relais.

Because Plantagenet is a AA school, Le Relais claimed a spot in the A EOSSAA championships to be playing next spring. despite the loss.

Coach Hubert Gauthier said he was proud of his team's achievements but he wasn't surprised to come so close to winning the championship.

"We finished third in the regular season but the top four teams were closely matched."

With only three grade nine students on the team this year the majority of the club will move to senior next season.

Le Relais reached the final after defeating Casselman 5-0 in the semi-finals.

Nicolas Touzin recorded the shutout and goals were scored by Simon Sabourin with two, Dinelle, Matthew MacDonald and Julien Delorme.

Le Relais girls' soccer

Despite battling through horrible conditions, Le Relais' junior girls soccer team ultimately fell short in their goal of winning the Prescott-Russell championship on Nov. 4.

The club was quite satisfied with their effort however as they defeated the division champion L'Escale from Rockland 3-2 in overtime in the semifinals.

Natasha Larocque scored the golden goal three minutes into extra time.

Larocq ue and Josee Conway had the regulation goals for Le Relais.

In the final Les Interpides fell short against Vankleek Hill Collegiate Institute 2-0.

The weather was so miserable that the players sitting on the bench couldn't be used because they were so cold.

Coach Sylvie Leblanc is happy with the team's performance this year despite falling short in the final.

"The final was a shortened game because of the weather. Beating L'Escale, the first place team, was enough for us. They beat us 3-2 during the season."

Boys' volleyball

The junior Glengarry boys' volleyball team finished their season on Nov. 4 losing in the playoff semifinals to L'Heritage in three straight sets.

Scores of the matches were 25-22, 25-19 and 25-9 in favour of L'Heritage.

The senior Gaels won their semifinal matchup with Rothwell Osnabruck in three straight sets.

Scores were: 25-19, 25-14 and 25-10.

The Gaels were not able to claim the SDG championship however as they fell in three straight sets to host L'Heritage on Thursday in Cornwall.

L'Heritage has now won the past two senior boys' A division championships.

L'Heritage also won the junior championship defeating Tagwi 2-1.

Girls' basketball

The senior Glengarry Gaels' squad clinched first place in the senior A division after a 45-34 victory on Friday.

Sabrina Borsellino led the charge offensively with 20 points.

Kaela Lalonde added 11 points and Kristy Hlusko had six before leaving with an arm injury.

Natasha Neumann chipped in with four steals and three assists while Christina Nausbaumer had 10 rebounds for Glengarry.

Brittany Bruining led R-O with 17 points.

The Gaels will host Tagwi today at 2 p.m. in the playoff semifinals while Char-Lan hosts R-O at a time to be announced.

The junior Gaels will travel to Tagwi today for a 4 p.m. start while Char-Lan hosts R-O at 2 p.m.

The finals for senior play will be 2 p.m. at the home of the remaining team with the best record.

The junior final also goes Friday.

The junior Glengarry girls' basketball team picked up a 27-18 victory over Rothwell Osnabruck last Friday at home.

Emily Gareau paced the attack scoring seven points.

She was helped out by Jessica Neumann's six and four points from each of Ali Hargreaves and Jennifer Bourbonnais.

In Williamstown on Friday the Crusaders lost to unbeaten General Vanier 57-27.

Kelsey Thompson led Char-Lan with 14 points while Christina Julien scored five points.

Rebels

Johnson opened the scoring of the game five minutes into the first period.

Chafee said he's seen some great play from the captain and is glad to see him finally getting points.

"He takes the brunt of the punishment in front of the net and is instrumental in us getting goals although he wasn't getting points. It's nice to see him moving up the points leaders."

Brockville goals came from Ryan Hoss with two, Travis Wing, A.J. Howe and Blair Trewartha.

Anthony Fricchione was a winner over Cory Chevrier.

A day later the Rebels travelled to Gananoque and battled through a chippy affair to win their fifth straight game.

Rebels 6 Islanders 1

Because of different circumstances the Rebels lost the services of three of their five defencemen in the game so two forwards had to be dropped back to the blueline.

Josh Legue and Derek Crawford, who have both played defence before, were moved back in necessity to finish the game.

Along the way Sunday the Rebels lost the services of Jordan Reasbeck who was heavily hit into the boards and was complaining of headaches. He left the game early.

Danny Duval was given a game misconduct penalty with 9:51 remaining as was Ryan Major along with a fighting major with 9:18 left.

Major dropped the gloves with the Islanders' Lenny Horst after he laid a severe crosscheck on Rebels' agitator Pat Lemay.

It's the second weekend in a row where a Rebels' teammate has stood up for abuse against Lemay, one of the smaller players in the St. Lawrence division.

"If they want to play the rough and tumble style we can accommodate them," said Chafee.

The Rebels led just 1-0 after the first period on Major's first of two consecutive goals but opened it up to 4-1 after 40 minutes.

Major, Pelkey and Lafave scored in the middle frame.

Goals from Johnson and Jarvo in the third period made it a 6-1 final.

Tim Dickson had the Gananoque goal while Bryan O'Shaughnessy was a winner over Jamie Lalonde in goal.

Rebels notes:

This Saturday the Rebels host the South Grenville Rangers starting at 7:45 p.m. On Sunday the Rebels travel to Westport for a 3 p.m. start against the Rideaus.

Steve Jarvo missed Saturday's game with prior commitments.

Defencemen Cody Legue and Nathan Poitras missed Sunday's game with injuries.

Legue suffered a wrist injury Saturday and was having it looked at by doctors early this week.

Poitras was out of the lineup for the second straight weekend with an ankle injury.

Because he dropped the gloves in the final 10 minutes of the game Sunday, Major will be out the lineup this Saturday with a one-game suspension.

Chafee said Reasbeck won't be rushed back into the lineup despite Major being out.

Chafee said he was going to watch former Rebels' forward Kent McDonell play for the Columbus Blue Jackets in Montreal (Tuesday) and will board the bus leaving the Raisin River Pub for Ottawa on Thursday as McDonell and the Blue Jackets play the Ottawa Senators.board the bus leaving the Raisin River Pub for Ottawa on Thursday as McDonell and the Blue Jackets play the Ottawa Senators.

Mustangs

Steven Stewart handed out two assists.

Mathieu Loyer earned the win for the Thunder.

After two strong efforts by Desnoyers, Josh Ingram was tested in goal Sunday. He came up with another good effort for Maxville but was the victim of some mistakes which allowed St. Isidore to capitalize and win.

Eagles 5 Mustangs 3

Lalonde said it was the Mustangs who were responsible for the loss as some costly mistakes resulted in St. Isidore goals.

"I think we're up there when you compare our goalies to anyone in the league. We made mistakes in the third, mistakes we shouldn't be making."

The Eagles scored three goals in the third period to break open a 2-1 lead after 40 minutes.

Steve Frappier and Pascal Chartrand each had two goals in the win while Joshua Peladeau added a single.

O'Brien had two goals for Maxville and Matt Lalonde had a goal and two assists.

Fellow linemate Jordan Johnson also had two assists.

"That line really works well together. Lalonde has really impressed me. He's getting to open ice and he probably had half a dozen other opportunities to score Sunday."

Martin Thauvette won in goal over Ingram.

Mustangs notes:

This weekend the Mustangs will play their third one game weekend in the past four weeks.

They host the Embrun Panthers on Saturday starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Panthers spoiled the Mustangs' season home-opener winning 4-1.

"We've seemed to have a few one-game weekends and we should be rested up for them," said Lalonde.

"Embrun has picked up a few players including a goaltender from East Ottawa which should help them. I expect it will be a good game."

J.R. Besner played Saturday but missed the other two games due to a nagging shoulder injury.

Michaud returned to the ice last weekend but played sparingly because he also has a nagging shoulder injury.

Add Scott Carswell to that list, he injured his shoulder at work last week and his status was uncertain as of Monday afternoon.

Matt Lalonde missed Saturday's game due to work commitments.

Glens reach finals, can't take championship

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Alexandria peewee B Glens won their first two games of a South Grenville tournament but couldn't win the championship in the third.

The Glens fell to South Dundas in the A championship game by a score of 2-0.

The Glens opened the tournament, which was played on Sunday, by defeating the Loyalist Jets 4-0.

Ghislain Nadeau posted the shutout while Simon Pierre Lajoie, Tyler O'Brien, Joshua Collard and Brandon Picken scored in the victory.

In the second game the Glens defeated Gananoque 4-1.

Steven Cayouette allowed just one goal in the win.

Chad Borris led the attack with two goals while singles were recorded by Alex MacMillan and Lajoie.

French students honoured by Optimist Club

GLEN ROBERTSON
COLETTE SAUVÉ
874-2076

From Nov. 10-14 is the week for the appreciation of our youth.

Each year, the Optimist Club offers their congratulations to a child for his continued hard work and for his amicable and charitable personality.

Results will be revealed on Nov. 21.

The Optimist Club also gives a certificate to a student from a different level each month.

This child is chosen for his effort in talking French. Winners in September for pre-kindergarten was Brennan Nadeau and for October in kindergarten was Jennifer McDonald.

Congratulations Brennan and Jennifer and keep up the good work.

I know for a fact how such an action can please a child and boost his self-esteem because one Sunday night, I phoned my daughter in Kingston and my five-year-old grandson, Vincent, wanted to talk to me and all he said in his tiny voice was that he had been chosen as student of the month in the appreciation of the youth Optimist contest and he was so proud.

I congratulated him after which he said "I have nothiing else to say and said my mom will talk to you".

These little gestures do make a positive difference for the children.

A tip of the hat to M&M Meat Shops who actively participate in our school.

Every time you buy from M&M, just mention that your child is attending Laurier-Carrière and you will receive a percentage of the sales at the end of the year to help with school activities.

Many thanks to M&M Shops.

Conference

Petit aujourd'hui grand demain will hold a conference at the Centre Culturel in Alexandria on Nov. 18 from 7-9 p.m.

Animator will be Marielle Label and the topic will be "Playing with the little wee ones" and how to create toys at the house with familar objects.

If you have any questions, please phone after 4 p.m., co-ordinator, Diane Lacombe Garlough at 525-3935.

These conferences are for parents who have children from 0 to 6 yrs.old.

Get well soon

Speedy recovery wishes and all the best to Marilyn Wallace who is back home recuperating since last week after a major operation at the General in Ottawa.

Happy birthday

Belated and happy birthday wishes to our parish priest, Father Eric Robichaud, who celebrated on Nov. 10.

We are certainly lucky to have such a dynamic and young spiritual guide and we thank God for his presence amidst us.

Euchre cancelled

The euchre of Nov. 4 was cancelled due to some very icy weather.

The next one will be held on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m.

Rosary

The rosary is being prayed every Friday night – one bead is said before the Mass around 7:10; followed by the Mass and the other two beads are prayed after the Mass.

Everyone is more than welcome.

All it takes is about one and a half hours in all. We spend more time watching TV in a day than that and this is a very powerful tool against evil in our world.

Laurier-Carriere news

Gr. 2 children who will receive their first sacrament of confession in December have made an engagement pact at the church during the Oct. 19 Mass.

The ceremony engages the youngster in his spiritual road.

Special thanks to F. Eric and Madame Karine who prepared the hearts of these youngsters to receive all the graces of this sacrament.

The Post Office will remain the same and the plan is to move the Feed Mill business to the basement of the building. More details later.

On Nov. 12 the Dalkeith Recreation Association will hold a meeting at the library, north door at 8 p.m. Preliminary plans for the carnival will be made with dates chosen as Jan. 30-Feb.1.

Mark your calendars!

On Oct. 23 Ruth (Fraser) Keiller of Pointe Claire, Quebec, passed away in her 80th year.

Predeceased by her husband Evans Keiller, her son Brian, sister Evelyn and brother Lloyd, she is survived by a daughter Dale, son Ralph, daughter-in-law Catherine Keiller, David and Jennifer, all of Calgary.

Eileen MacGillivray, Kirkhill accompanied Joslyn MacGillivray, Kirkhill and her father Ewen MacPhee, Toronto, to the funeral on Oct. 28.

On Nov. 6, my cousin Christena (MacCrimmon) Crowe, Cornwall, was 85. Her daughters, Katherine Crowe and Sharon Arcand, planned a party.

Norma (MacCrimmon) Cattanach, her daughter-in-law Bonnie Cattanach, and Kathleen Hope, Williamstown as well as Jean Lothian, Lochinvar, May MacCallum, Vankleek Hill and I all enjoyed the luncheon and the visit to help celebrate the day.

"That Old Ace in the Hole" by Annie Proulx is the book chosen by the library Book Club to be discussed at the Nov. 27 meeting at 8 p.m.

Internet and computer lessons started on Saturday morning Nov. 8 at the Library and will continue every second Saturday morning.

Please register at the library to reserve a time.

Christmas and Halloween seem to go hand in hand

GLEN SANDFIELD
LORNA CHAPMAN
874-2408

How quickly Christmas decorations came out in many of the stores after Thanksgiving.

One store had Halloween and Christmas decorations all on the same counter.

November has just begun and Christmas tapes and CDs are being touted on nearly every channel on the TV.

It is lovely to have carols and holiday music but aren't we getting just a wee bit premature?

I have often said that we could buy that Santa outfit and wear it for Halloween first and save the cost of one costume. Not so?

Too bad that we have really trivialized a truly beautiful time of celebration, so that now it has become a party- time extravaganza.

It's a pretty far cry from the original Christmas, wouldn't you say?

Don't you think that we have lost something special?

The closest one may get to that old time feeling, in my opinion, is during the local church choirs' ecumenical Festival of Carols and during the Christmas Eve services at our own churches.

Nothing I write will change the way the world greets Christmas today, I suppose, but looking back to a simpler time everything has changed too much and, for me, not totally for the better.

Bible Study Resumes

Twelve members of the Stonecroft Bible study group met at the home of Barbara Ewing on Friday, November 7, for the first gathering of the fall season.

The leader, Wanda Hay,began the new study book which is called Who Is Jesus?

It promises to be really interesting.

The next meeting will be held in Glen Sandfield, at our house, at 1:30 p.m. on Friday Nov. 21.

Food Collection

People are reminded that the annual collection of unperishable food items for Christmas baskets will take place at the Diners Club dinner this Thursday, Nov. 13.

Everyone has always been so generous and we know that this year will be no different.

Thank you.

Worship services

Sunday worship services are held each week at 10 a.m. in Glen Sandfield United Church and at 11:15 a.m. in East Hawkesbury United Church.

Visitors are always welcome.

Business Beat

Celtic Iron Works, at 19740 Cty. Rd. 43 near Alexandria, held its grand opening last Saturday.

Owner Catherine Ledevin specializes in such things as garden decorations and iron furniture. She can also do welding repairs and custom work.

"We turn our clients' artistic concepts into reality," she says.

One Stop Christmas Shoppe and Tea this Saturday

MARTINTOWN

VIRGINIA WINN
528-4379 uwinn@cnwl.igs.net

CELTIC PARTY: The turnout for Glengarry Celtic Music Hall of Fame fundraiser at the Sports Palace in Alexandria Saturday night overwhelmed organizers. Over 260 people attended, raising $1700 for the project. Performers included the Glengarry Old Tyme Fiddlers. Shown here from left are, Albert Seguin, Cornwall; Marland Murray, Martintown; and June Raymond, Apple Hill. The Hall of Fame committee is looking for nominations for inductees from the community. PETE BOCK PHOTO

This Saturday, Nov. 15, is the day for the One Stop Christmas Shoppe and Tea at the Martintown Community Centre from 10-3 p.m. The Goodtimers will serve refreshments during the day in the Seniors' room – sandwiches during the lunchtime period, and tea, coffee, soft drinks and homemade goodies throughout the day. The bake table will also be sponsored by the Goodtimers, with proceeds going towards the upkeep of the Community Centre. Donations of baking and homemade candy, etc. will be much appreciated and can be dropped of any time after 9 a.m. that day. Plan to attend and, who knows, you may get your Christmas shopping done in the twinkling of an eye.

St. Andrew's Night

There will be many-a-Martintowner in attendance at the Glengarry Pipe Band St. Andrew's Night at the Bonnie Glen on Nov. 22, both as performers and revelers. Social hour begins at 6:30 and dinner is at 7, with dancing to follow at 9. The two Paddys, Kelly and Maher, will be playing the tunes for dancing, but before that, the Pipe Band and the MacCulloch Dancers will perform. For tickets, call Janice McLeod at 347-2144.

South Glengarry Pipe Band

Donnie Ross has kindly informed me about the South Glengarry Pipes and Drums, based in Martintown, and the fact that members practice once a week at Martintown Public School under the direction of Laurie MacDonald. The Pipe Major is Robert Kitts and the head of the drum section is Al Cooper and in total, there are 21 pipers and 10 drummers ranging in age from 17 to 83. The band performs more than 40 times each year locally and in Eastern Ontario, Western Quebec, New York and Vermont. They played at the Remembrance Day Services in Williamstown, Lancaster and Cornwall and are getting ready for several upcoming Santa Claus Parades. Keep up the great music!

St. Andrew's United Church

On Sunday, Nov. 2, at St. Andrew's United Church, Rev. Andrea Harrison baptized Cole Devon Price, son of Karen and Todd Price, and brother of Alexandra. In attendance for this special occasion were grandparents Pauline and Chris Armstrong of St. Andrew's West and godparents Wendy Price, Todd's sister, and Lincoln and Mary Price, Todd's brother and sister-in-law. One observer remarked that Cole is a dear little red-headed baby and somewhat unusual these days. Takes after his Grandma!

This past Sunday a Remembrance Day Service was conducted at St. Andrew's United Church in Martintown. Don Blackadder of Martintown, the new Pipe Major of the S.D.& G. Highlanders, resplendent in his full dress uniform, played the pipes. Onagh Ross read the roll call of the names of those who died in the World Wars. Marjorie Blackwood recited In Flanders Fields, and Muriel Elms spoke of her husband's war experiences, having worked on the Bridge on the River Kwai and as a prisoner of war. Wreaths were laid in memory of soldiers lost in the Wars. Bill Chambre, husband of Rev. Andrea Harrison, showed slides of the Groesbeek Commonwealth War Cemetery in Holland and the Vimy Memorial to Canadians in France, pictures taken this past summer. There were also pictures of the graves of local S.D. & G. Highlanders buried overseas.

Bear and Bunny Orders

Friday, Nov. 14 is the last day for orders for the Canadian-made dressed Teddy Bears and Bunny Rabbits being sold as a fundraiser for St. Andrew's United Church in Martintown. Perfect for Christmas gifts, these stuffed toys can be ordered by calling Dayna 528-1022 or Campbell 528-4347.

October Baby

The population of Martintown increased by one small person in October, and it took until this week for me to find out! On Oct. 6, Daniel Ross Flaro was born, weighing 8 lbs. 14 oz. He is the son of Tanya and Robert Flaro and a brother to Cassie and Robbie. This lucky little fellow has his granddad, Donnie Ross, and two grandmothers, Mildred Flaro and Carol Ann Ross living right in the village. Congratulations and best wishes to all the family. Someone in our house was born on Oct. 6, way back in 1950 (not me), and it means that birthday parties often include turkey and pumpkin pie.

New Great-grandchild

Martintown's May Thompson, has another great-grandchild to boast about, and this time it is a little girl! McKenna May Kelson was born in Ottawa on Saturday, Nov. 1, All Saints' Day, weighing in at 6 lb. 11 oz. She is welcomed by Mom, Sherry Thompson Kelson, Dad, Lanny Kelson and big brother Will as well as grandparents, Melvin and Debbie Thompson of Martintown. Congratulations to Sherry and Lanny and to all the family, and best wishes to little McKenna.

Horticultural Society

Members of the Martintown and District Horticultural Society met for the final meeting of 2003 on Nov. 5 and, after a pot luck dinner of "out-of-this-world food and great desserts", the following people were confirmed as the executive. Ginny Blair continues as President, First VP is Marilyn Blackwood, Second VP is Judy Dancause, Mary Lou Leroux is the Recording Secretary, Suzanne Ross, the Corresponding Secretary, and Doug Murray is the Treasurer. Members responsible for the various branches of the Society are Monique Quenneville, Flower Show Convenor, Eugenie Rossell, Telephone Coordinator, Brad Taylor, Williamstown Fair Convenor, June Taylor, Refreshment Convenor, Sylvia Thomson, Community Planting, and Jan Buckland and Tracy Myers are on the Junior Gardeners Committee. Donald Thomson acted as the auctioneer for the fun auction and over $350 was raised. The Martintown Society boasts 88 members. The first meeting of the new year will be held on the first Wed. of Feb., 2004, and it will begin with a pot luck dinner as well. New members will be accepted at that time, so anyone who loves good food and gardening may want to take note!

Get Well

The reason that Donald Thomson filled in as auctioneer at the Horticultural Society Meeting is because John Peters, who normally steps into that role, has just undergone triple bypass surgery and a valve replacement in the Ottawa Heart Institute. Best wishes go out to him for a speedy recovery.

Martintown Public School

Members of the School Council will be hosting a Teacher/Staff Appreciation Luncheon on Friday, Nov. 14 as a way of expressing thanks to the staff of Martintown Public School for their continued dedication to the children of Martintown Public School. Parents are grateful that their children are able to attend a caring rural school within the community and feel that thanks are in order to all who continue to create a nurturing environment for learning. Students and parents are reminded that cheese orders are due back at the school on Mon., Nov. 17, and that Tues., Nov. 18 is the day for the Operation Christmas Child boxes to be returned.

Conference for Parents

On Thurs., Nov. 18 there will be another in a series of conferences aimed at parents of young children. These conferences, jointly called petit aujourd'hui ... GRAND DEMAIN, are sponsored by the Centre Culturel in Alexandria Les trois p'tits points.... The next session will be led by Marielle Lebel and is titled, Jouer avec les tout-petits, and is about making toys at home from familiar objects. The conferences are conducted in French and are free of charge, and this next one takes place from 7-9 p.m. On Sat., Nov. 22 there will be a children's show with Zazou the clown. For more information, call Diane Lacombe Garlough at 525-3935.

Tai Chi classes

A new 6-week session of Tai Chi is about to start at the Martintown Community Centre and there is always room for new participants. The sessions run from 11-noon on Mondays and the cost is $25. For more information or to register, call the Char-Lan Recreation Dept. at 347-2411.

Diners Club

Diners Club is scheduled for Wed. Nov. 19 at the Martintown Community Centre. To reserve a meal that day call Glengarry Outreach at 347-1175.

Duplicate Bridge

The winners of the Martintown Goodtimers Duplicate Bridge held on Tues., Nov. 4 were as follows: 1. Marg and Sam Wolynec, 2. Bernice Barlow and Del Roulston, 3. Ruth Edgerton and Margaret MacLeod. There was speculation over the density of the mould being removed from the basement of the Martintown Community Centre, but the loud hammering from down under did not deter or drown out bidding upstairs. It was a good afternoon for Ruth Edgerton who not only scored some masterpoints but also won the bingo bridge.

Friday Night Bridge

The results of Audrey's Friday Night Bridge held on Nov. 7 were: 1. Lorna and Homer Grant, 2. Jacquie Thibert and John Roulston and 3. Henryk Rzepczyk and Audrey Blair.

Party Bridge

The winners of the Party Bridge held on Monday, Nov. 10 at the Martintown Community Centre were Bill Tadgell, who has been climbing steadily in the ranks these past few weeks, Bob Evans and Jackie Trepanier.

In Memoriam

STANGLE–In loving memory of a dear mother Dorothy who passed away November 15, 2001
Between a mother and her daughters,
There is a special loving tie
That binds us to each other
As the days and years go by
Our very close relationship
It's not like any other
Which makes your daughters proud and glad,
To say yes, you were our Mother.
–Sadly missed and always remembered by Janet and Cathy. 46-1p

STANGLE–In loving memory of a dear wife and mother Dorothy who passed away November 15, 2001
No one knows our heartaches
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the griefs that we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.
–Sadly missed and always remembered by Arthur and Ron. 46-1p

MacCRIMMON– In loving memory of Stanford MacCrimmon, a dear husband, father and great-grandfather who passed away November 13, 1997.
–Fondly remembered and sadly missed by Bertie and family. 46-1p

KIPPEN– In loving memory of my beloved brother, Linden, who left us on January 18, 1999.
Those whom we love go out of sight
But never out of mind.
–Forever loved and dearly missed by your sister Margaret Turpin. 46-1p

LAROCQUE–In loving memory of a dear brother Larry who passed away April 8, 1992.
We would be celebrating your 60th birthday November 11, 2003. I think of you every day and miss you. You would be very proud to see your three beautiful granddaughters Laurence, Camille (Julie) and Emmi (Alain). God bless you.
–With all my love, your sister Marlene Cholette. 46-1p

APPLEBAUM, Toby G.–In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away November 15, 2000.
The beautiful memories you left behind,
The little things you said are embedded in our mind,
You taught us so much.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED DETAILED ROUTE PURSUANT TO PARAGRAPH 34(1)(b) OF THE NATIONAL ENERGY BOARD ACT

IN THE MATTER OF the National Energy Board Act (the Act) and the Regulations made thereunder.

IN THE MATTER OF the Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity OC-48.

IN THE MATTER OF an application by Trans-Northern Pipelines Inc. (TNPI) respecting the determination and approval of the detailed route of a petroleum products transportation pipeline along TNPI's existing pipeline easement from Montreal to Farran's Point.

TNPI proposes to construct a petroleum products pipeline and related facilities to follow a detailed route which is shown in Exhibit "A", attached. The proposed detailed route will parallel the existing TNPI pipeline right of way and is located in the Township of South Glengarry, Geographic Township of Charlottenburg, Province of Ontario and more specifically the route will cross those land parcels noted in Exhibit "B", attached. This Notice is being published to comply with the requirements of paragraph 34 (1) (b) of the Act.

Any person who anticipates that his or her land may be adversely affected by the proposed detailed route of the pipeline has the right to make representation to the National Energy Board (the Board) by filing with the office of the Board within thirty (30) days following the date of publication of this Notice a written statement opposing the proposed detailed route of the pipeline. Any such statement must set out both the nature of your interest in those lands and the grounds for the opposition to the proposed detailed route of the pipeline.

The location of the office of the Board is:

National Energy Board, 444 7th Avenue S.W., Calgary, Alberta T2P 0X8
Attn: Michel Mantha, Secretary

If a statement is filed with the Board within the time limited for doing so, the Board shall forthwith order, subject to certain exceptions as noted below, that a public hearing be conducted within the area in which the lands to which the statement relates are situated with respect to any grounds of opposition set out in any such statement.

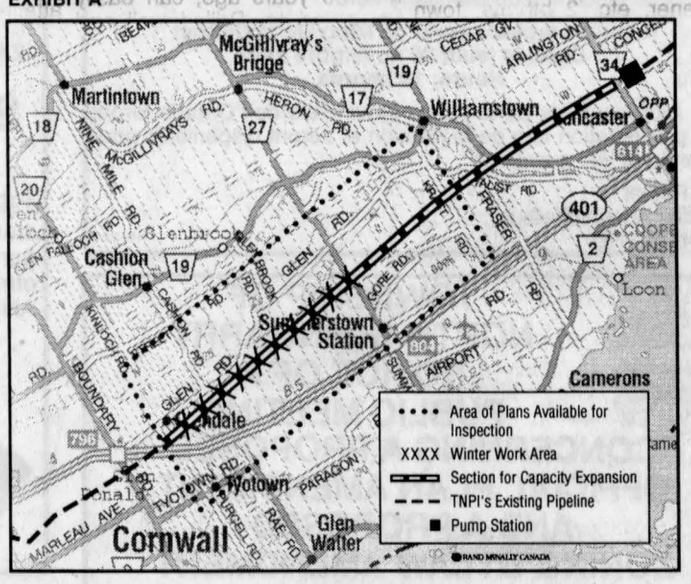
The Board is not required to give any notice, hold any hearing or take any other action with respect to any written statement filed with the Board and may at any time disregard any such written statement if the person who filed the statement files a notice of withdrawal, or it appears to the Board that the statement is frivolous or vexatious or is not made in good faith.

If the Board determines to hold a public hearing, the Board will fix a suitable time and place of the hearing in at least one issue of a publication, if any, in general circulation within the area in which the lands proposed to be acquired are situated. The Board will also send such notice to each person who files a statement with the Board.

The Board or a person authorized by the Board may make such inspection of lands proposed to be acquired for or affected by the pipeline construction as the Board deems necessary.

At the hearing, the Board will permit each person who filed a written statement to make representations and may allow any other interested person to make representations before it as the Board deems proper.

EXHIBIT A



The Board will take into account all written statements and all representations made at the hearing to determine the best possible detailed route of the pipeline and the most appropriate methods and timing of constructing the pipeline. The Board may impose in any approval such terms and conditions as it considers proper.

Where the Board has held a hearing in respect of any section or part of the pipeline and approved or refused to approve the plan, profile and book of reference respecting that section or part, it will forward a copy of its decision and reasons to each person who made representation to the Board at the hearing.

The Board may fix such amount as it deems reasonable in respect of the actual costs reasonably incurred by any person who makes representations to the Board at such a hearing and the amount so fixed will be paid forthwith to the person by TNPI.

A copy of the plans, profiles and book of reference for the detailed route is available for inspection at the offices of the Board, TNPI, the Registrar of Deeds or Land Titles for the registration district where the affected lands are situated, and at municipal offices for locations identified in Exhibit "A", specifically:

Land Registry Office 63 Kenyon Street West Alexandria, Ontario K0C 1A0	Township of South Glengarry 6 Oak Street Lancaster Ontario K0C 1N0	Trans-Northern Pipelines Inc. 5763 County Road 34 Lancaster, Ontario K0C 1N0

For further information, please contact TNPI at 45 Vogell Road, Suite 310, Richmond Hill, Ontario L4B 3P6, or telephone (collect) Gary Robinson, Manager, Environment Health and Safety, at 905-770-3353, Ext. 272.

TOWNSHIP OF NORTH GLENGARRY NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED OFFICIAL PLAN AMENDMENT AND A PROPOSED ZONING BYLAW AMENDMENT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of North Glengarry will hold a public meeting on the 17th day of December, 2003 at 7:00 p.m. at the Township Office, 90 Main Street South, Alexandria, to consider a proposed Official Plan Amendment under Section 17 of the Planning Act and a proposed Zoning Bylaw Amendment under Section 34 of the Planning Act.

An application will be reviewed to change the Official Plan designation and Zoning Bylaw designation on a parcel of land located on the south side of Jacques Street and on the west side of Main Street (Hwy #34) known municipally as 10-12 Jacques Street, Alexandria. The parcel has an area of 0.37 acres (0.17 ha.) and is described as Part of Lot 38, Concession 1, Part 4, Plan 14R4479, Township of North Glengarry (Alexandria Ward).

The purpose of the Amendment to the Official Plan is to redesignate the property from Residential to Commercial to permit the development of the property into a professional type building use. The Zoning Bylaw Amendment requests that the property be rezoned from Residential Second Density to General Commercial Special Exception that would permit a professional commercial building for use by ie: dentist, real estate, etc. The attached Location Map highlights the lands affected by the proposed amendment application.

Additional information relating to the proposed Official Plan and Zoning Bylaw Amendments are available for inspection at the Township Office during regular office hours.

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed amendments. Written submissions must be sent to the Clerk of the Municipality at the address below. If a person or a public body who files a notice of appeal of a decision of the Township of North Glengarry in respect of the proposed Amendments does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or does not make written submissions to the Township of North Glengarry before the proposed Amendments are adopted, then the Ontario Municipal Board may dismiss all or part of the appeal.

If you wish to be notified of the adoption of the proposed Official Plan Amendments or Zoning Bylaw Amendment, you must make a written request to the Township of North Glengarry at the address below.

DATED at the Township of North Glengarry this 7th day of November, 2003.

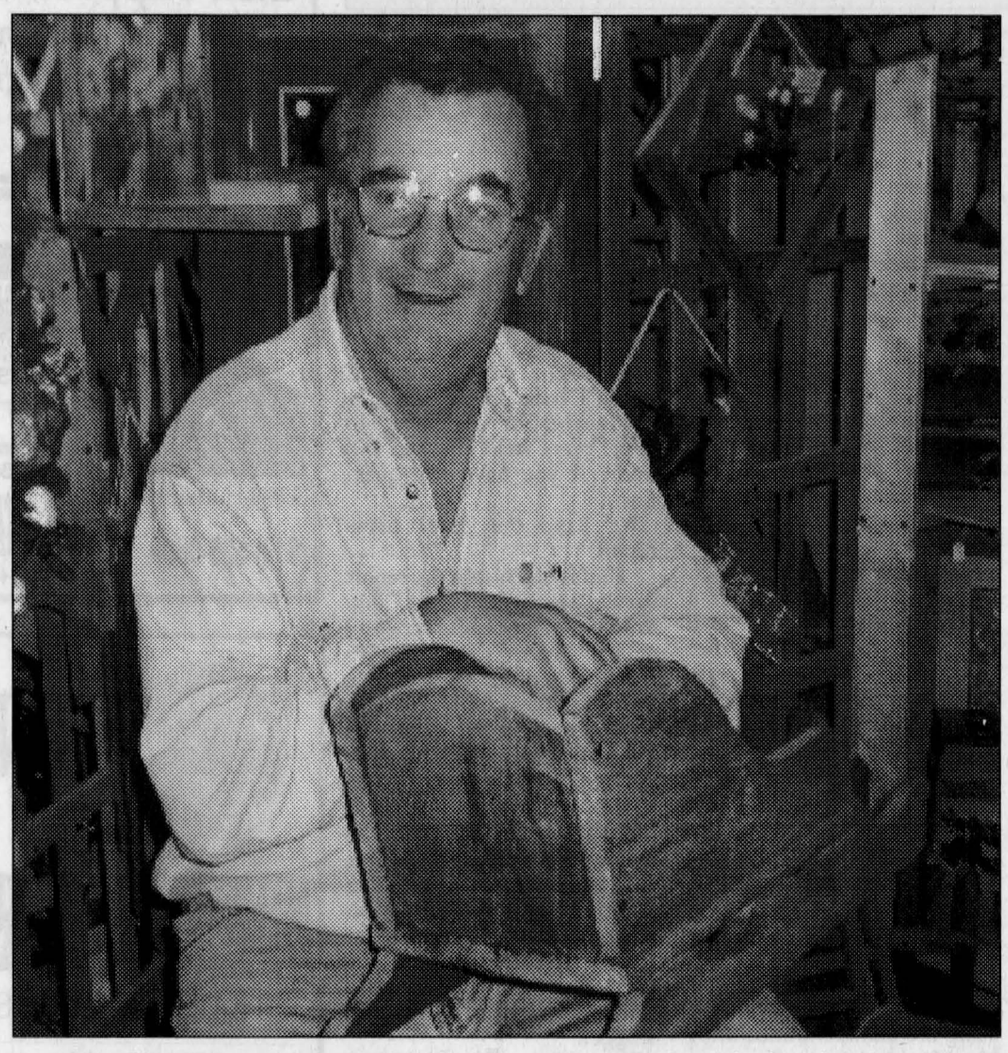
"Ultimate recycling" in Glen Sandfield

ARTS

LORNA FOREMAN
347-1338



SHOW ROOM: Bill Pottie of Glen Sandfield's show room is packed with his barn board products all waiting to be displayed at the number of craft shows in the region.

Bill Pottie of Glen Sandfield describes his hobby of making picture frames out of barn wood as "the ultimate recycling."

Recently retired from Air Canada, Bill knew he wanted, and needed, something to do.

"Actually I got coerced into making frames out of barn wood for my wife, Carolyn." Bill explained.

"Her nature photographs needed a less formal frame. I had never done any woodworking, in fact couldn't even drive a nail in straight, so I wasn't too interested.

"However, once I started, I figured I'd venture out to do bird feeders for our yard. That grew to making trellises – again for our garden.

"Then it was bird houses and so Once a Barn was born."

Bill signed up for the SEA program which his wife Carolyn had taken a few years ago.

That program has launched quite a few of the entrepreneurs and artisans I have interviewed over the years. It is an excellent program and enables the artist to learn the business end of selling their work.

That area is often where the person fails to understand.

"I was a millwright." Bill told me. "I figured that if I could make it out of metal I could make it in wood."

Bill uses barn board, that wonderful aged wood that not only has a fabulous gray colour but interesting texture as well.

It can be sanded smooth but something magical is lost in that process.

I love the soft colour and how it seems to fit into any environment. He decided to use barn board for Carolyn's frames and fell in love with it.

I wanted to know where he got his wood and he said from anywhere he can. So if anyone out there has some barn board for Bill, give him a call.

"I accept commissions." Bill informed me.

"That's where some of my good ideas come from. I also produce garden benches and am starting to branch out into indoor furniture like armoires and tables."

Bill explained that the great thing about what he is doing is that it can be done even when he is in his 80s.

Some of his items get decorated with grape vines and often Carolyn will paint a small design on them.

Bill and his wife go into craft shows as a team.

They share ideas and their work complements each other.

Because it is one thing to produce wonderful, sellable items, sellable is the operative word, so you will see Bill at several shows throughout the region.

Recently he was in the Heritage Craft Show in Cornwall, The Boite de Noel in Dorval, The Holiday Inn Show – a juried show held once a year in Montreal.

They can be seen most every weekend at Finnegan's Market in Hudson and coming up Nov. 28-30 will be in the Tri-County Show held in the Civic Complex in Cornwall.

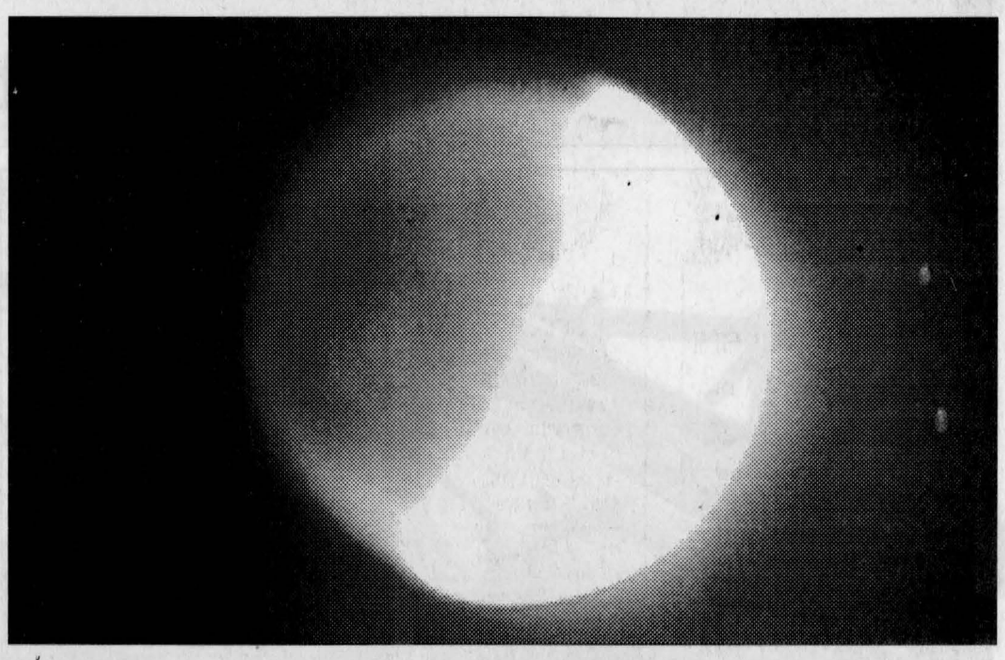
His work can be found at the Cottage Blue, Lancaster, Merrickville, and Alexandria.

The bird houses are what caught my eye.

What sets them apart are the creative and innovative perches.

Bill uses golf balls, bottle cap openers, handles and even buttons off old radios. I am sure that the birds love them.

Bill can be reached at 874-2939.



GET MOONED: Many Glengarrians enjoyed a partial lunar eclipse last Saturday evening.

Funeral goers travel to Michigan

NORTH LANCASTER

INEZ FRANKLIN
347-7666

A large contingent of cousins from the Bridge End "Gill" McDonell connection travelled to Plymouth, Michigan last weekend.

There they paid their respects to Larry Turner, whose courageous battle with cancer these past several months was lost on Nov. 5.

Larry is survived by his wife, Brenda, who is the daughter of the late Myrna McDonell, formerly of Bridge End,and Robert Harrison.

Though Myrna and Bob spent most of their married life in the Detroit area, their visits "home" were frequent and a deep bond developed among the many children of that generation and the first cousins have remained as close as siblings.

Larry will be missed at the Tartan Tournament where he golfed each year with his Glengarry team on the Turner family's annual Highland Games visit.

We offer sincere sympathy to Brenda, Gail and David, Richard and Andrea and share their loss.

Heads up to everyone for the Amaryllis Choir Concert at St. Margaret of Scotland Church on Nov. 30 at 3 p.m.

Mark your calendars and look for more information on the concert next week.

We say good-bye and send best wishes for happiness in their new home to Margo and Jack Patrick and their family as they leave Glen Nevis and move east to Nova Scotia.

Glengarry Gatherings

Linda Lafrance, a Nurse practitioner in the Outpatient Respiratory Health Clinic at the Cornwall General Hospital, will be in Dunvegan on Nov. 18 to speak about the ins and outs of COPD. (Chronic Obstruction Pulmonary Disease, such as Asthma, Enphysema, Bronchitis.)

The event, which runs at the Dunvegan Recreation Hall from 2-4 p.m., is sponsored by the Fresh Air Association.

■ ■ ■

The Encore Seniors' Education Centre presents a free seminar on personal safety, frauds, and scams. The presentation, by OPP Community Services Officer Joel Doiron, will be held at the Community Youth Centre in Island Park, Alexandria, on Nov. 13 from 1-3 p.m.

■ ■ ■

On Wednesday, Nov. 19, the 39ers Seniors' Group is holding a craft and bake sale at the Alexandria United Church from 2-4 p.m.

■ ■ ■

The Cornwall chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Society is holding two fundraising sales in Cornwall on Nov. 15. There will be a craft sale at Cornwall Square and a Bake Sale at Zellers.

Both events run from 9-2:30 p.m.

4-H awards near

4-H NEWS

TRACY MYERS
874-1046

There is a certain excitement in the air as our annual awards event approaches. 4-H members wait in anticipation as they wonder who will be the new winners of the various awards.

I, for one, am anxious for this event to happen. What a wonderful way to honour those members and volunteers who have given of their time in order to help with the growth and development of our local youth in Glengarry county!

Make sure to mark Nov. 23 on your calendars. The event will take place at the North Lancaster Optimist Club from 2-4 p.m. Following the presentation of awards, refreshments and food will be served. In order to involve everyone we will be doing this in "pot luck" fashion and are asking that each 4-H family bring a contribution. It doesn't have to be fancy – sandwiches or a dessert go over very well! Please call Tracy if you have any questions.

We have one final press report.

"This is the last press report for the South 4-H Horse Club. We held our wrap-up meeting at our leader's house. We enjoyed a pizza party and a movie called Dancing with Horses which is about an alternative training method – becoming one with your horse's movements.

We voted on donating the money we raised from our second-hand tack sale to 'Heaven can wait equine facility'. It is a place that rehabilitates horses and places them in new homes. Happy trails to everyone, Ashley Koggel."

Please keep in mind that, even though our 2003 4-H year is wrapping up, new clubs are just around the corner. If there is a specific club that you would like to see happen, please let me know and I will do my best to see that we are able make it run.

Until next week, yours in 4-H, Tracy Myers.

Recollection of somber feelings at KAS meeting

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

An expanded Maxville Fair, a successful Highland Games, and a Relay for Life event which raised over $200,000 for the Cancer Society were some of the highlights in a productive year for the Kenyon Agricultural Society.

But recalling the Sept. 30 fire that destroyed the Angus Gray Hall cast a few somber moments over the group's otherwise joyous dinner and annual meeting, held at the Maxville Curling Club Friday evening.

In his speech, Society president Jack Fraser told the audience of 90 about how volunteers looked after the Angus Gray Bar at the Highland Games for the last time and how it "turned out to be a bittersweet moment for me."

While Mr. Fraser mentioned the enormous losses from the fire, he also thanked the local bank for jumpstarting the re-building process.

"To start the KAS off on the right foot, the Bank of Nova Scotia stepped forward immediately," Mr. Fraser said, "and offered to match contributions to $5,000."

With appreciative applause from the audience, Maxville branch bank manager Deborah Carroll presented the society president with a $5,000 cheque.

The bank donation brings the agricultural society's fundraising purse for a new building over the $10,000 mark, and will be added to $100,000 worth of insurance money. The KAS plans to start fundraising events with a January bonspiel.

It is also looking for input into its new building's design.

"To look ahead to what might replace the Angus Gray," Mr. Fraser said, "the KAS is asking the community for what features could be incorporated.

"Some of the feedback so far includes a building with good acoustics, a building with washrooms."

After the summary of the year's events, the KAS took time to honour two long-standing members of its executive who relinquished their posts this year.

Secretary Janice Blaney, who served for 18 years, "is the face and the voice of the Kenyon Agricultural Society," Mr. Fraser said.

Calling treasurer Sandy Blaney, "a polite and persistent force," executive vice-president Paul Villeneuve said the two ladies, "have been the cornerstone for the KAS for the last few years."

The society also celebrated its volunteer of the year, Eric Metcalfe, and named its new executive.

Sitting on the executive are past-president Eric Metcalfe, president Jack Fraser, 1st vice-president Andrew Arkinstall, 2nd vice-president Paul Villeneuve, secretary Betty McIntosh, and treasurer Lorraine Alderson.

Andrew Arkinstall, who recently spent two years working in Austria, showcased the beauty of Salzburg in a slide show.

Blackwater Bob provided the night's musical entertainment.

The MacDougalls of Cape Breton

Last week I quoted from an unpublished article by Allan J. Gillis on his MacDougall forebears of Judique, Cape Breton. Allan believed that particular MacDougall family got their nickname "the Killicks" from ceallag, the Gaelic for a hand-fashioned anchor. I don't know the actual historical circumstances which gave rise to the nickname but it inspired the following amusing story, taken down by Allan on one of his visits to Cape Breton: "The late Alex Graham of Judique once told me a story in Gaelic relating to this nickname. It goes as follows [in the English translation]:

There was a man in Judique who married one of the Intervale MacDougalls. Many years later, after her death, he became rather senile and began to wander the woods and roads. One of his sons was out searching for him one day and met one of the neighbours. 'What are you up to today, Donald?' the fellow asked. 'Och, I'm just looking for the old man, he's gone adrift again. We don't know how to keep him at home!' said the son. 'Well', says the other fellow, 'why don't you just put another ceallag on him?' "

Allan Gillis has done a great deal of research into the origins of the MacKellaig MacDougalls of both Cape Breton and Scotland. After reading all the information amassed by Allan on the MacKellaigs, I regret not having asked my late friend Archie MacKellaig, the laird of Glenfinnan, about the origin of his name when I last talked with him. Archie was a remarkable man who viewed all the comings and goings of the visitors and tourists to the area through his one good eye. It was a shock to hear that he was a champion rifle shot until it dawned on me that one eye was all that was needed to sight a gun! Archie was also the custodian of a set of bagpipes that were reputed to have been played at the Battle of Culloden in 1746 by MacDonald of Clanranald's piper. As I noted in the first Highland Paths book, certain parts of these historical pipes, Archie admitted to me, had been replaced over the past two and a half centuries, including the bag, the drones, the chanter and the blowpipe but, in Archie MacKellaig's memorable words, "they are still the original pipes of Clanranald, right enough!" Perhaps the interpretations of Gaelic family names may sometimes be as mysterious as the authenticity of some historical relics.

In almost all translations of Gaelic names into English, strange distortions are found and sometimes the truth is very difficult to find, as with Archie MacKellaig's pipes. Allan Gillis goes on to give some other possibilities for the origins of the MacKellaig name and gives various spellings of the name: MacKeilid, MacKillican, MacGluckan, MacCeilaic, MacCealic, MacKillich, MacUilcein, MacQuilken and MacMhuilcein. There is also a theory that the Irish name Kelly and the Scots name Kellie are derived from MacKellaig. Allan goes on [from a letter sent from a Charlie MacFarlane from Glenfinnan]: "As an example of how a name can change, a John MacVarish had his name entered in the Church register of his marriage as John McOwen, as an English rendering of MacEoghainn. Eoghainn was the name of his father! As it happened, his children and descendants all changed their name to MacDonald!"

Allan Gillis continues with some remarks on the difficulties of tracing Gaelic families: "The anglicization of Gaelic surnames has led to many dogmatic assertions as to the 'correct' spelling of these names. I have used the most common Inverness County [Cape Breton] spelling of each surname except where an individual or a family branch prefers a certain spelling. There have been cases where brothers have spelled their family names differently and some instances where they have chosen completely different names ... MacVarish/MacDonald. It doesn't really matter how one spells one's name as long as a person knows how he or she fits into the family. There are also variations in the translation of some personal names. The name Domhnall can be either Donald or Daniel, with Dan being a diminutive for both. Padruig can become Patrick or Peter even though there is also Peadar for Peter. Similarly Raonull can be Ranald or Ronald."

Allan goes on to tell a story of what he calls "misplaced pride" or "keeping up with the Joneses." It is about a Neil MacDougall and a Thomas MacDonnell [spelled as it is usually in Cape Breton, with two "n"s]. "Each had taken up fairly large grants of land... A few years after, for taxes... the government assessed the properties... MacDonnell's property was rated slightly higher than MacDougall's. Far from being pleased at saving a few shillings, MacDougall complained bitterly, saying that his farm was as good as any in the district and that he could afford to pay as much as MacDonnell any day!"
