Minister opens new Lancaster library

Karen Haslam lauds community effort

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

The Ontario Minister of Culture and Communications Karen Haslam inaugurated Glengarry's newest public library Friday as a fine example of community work.

Haslam, who attended the ribbon-cutting ceremony at the library located at Lancaster Public School while touring Eastern Ontario, said the library shows what can be achieved when members of a community work together.

The school's staff, parents, county library staff, township officials and school board officials all pitched in to create the SDG County Library Lancaster Branch.

County Librarian Kathleen Hay said everyone is very proud of the new branch.

"This is a very unique project of which we are very proud," she said during the ceremony.

Haslam said the library is a fine example of multiple-use facilities, that is using one building for many different uses.

The Ontario government is encouraging multiple-use facilities as an efficient way of offering many public services using fewer public buildings.

The SDG County Library, the SDG Public School Board and Lancaster Township annnounced in June that they have come to an arrangement where a public library branch would be created in the township using the Lancaster Public School library.

Since then, the school's library has been transformed into a public one.

The library has new books catalogued according to the county library system.

But its use extends beyond the public domaine.

During the day, the library is used by students. After school hours, the library is for the public.

This arrangement saves taxpayers an extra expense for a new site for a public library to serve Lancaster township residents.

Haslam said schools are good sites for multiple-use facilities because of their central location.

"What's more central than where you drop your kids off to school," she said.

School gyms are used by sports organizations. School auditoriums are booked for shows. And school classrooms are used by community organizations to hold meetings and seminars.

Haslam said the Ontario education minister may be thinking along those lines.

"I think the minister of education is very interested in multi-use-facilities," she said.

Haslam, a former school teacher and librarian, was invited to inaugurate the library last June.

She accepted the invitiation since she planned to tour the area anyway.

The ceremony was attended by Lancaster township officials, school board officials, county library officials, teachers, area politicians, MPP Noble Villeneuve, and other members of the community.

The Lancaster Public School performed O'Canada, to the delight of Haslam who said the band was the best school band she had ever heard play.

A light lunch followed the ceremony.

Later in the day Haslam visited the Centre Culturel's new building in Alexandria.

Ontario Minister of Culture and Communication Karen Haslam reads a book to some Kindergarten students at Lancaster Public School Friday afternoon. She was at the school to inaugurate a new public library housed at the school's own library.

Budget squeeze prompts freeze of top GMH salaries

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Glengarry Memorial Hospital's adminstrative staff has become the first victim of cost-cutting measures aimed at the keeping GMH in the black.

The hospital board has adopted a blanket salary freeze of administrative salaries for 1992-93 as part of a long-term cost-cutting package aimed at saving up to $100,000 this budget year.

The package was adopted by the full hospital board after a 30-minute closed session at the end of its monthly meeting Thursday, according to board Chairman Sam Sultan.

The freeze, under a plan proposed by the board's finance committee, will hold salaries of hospital administration more in line with counterparts in hospitals of similar size.

The freeze comes a year after The News reported that top ranking GMH adminstrative staff had received raises ranging from 25 per cent to 34.5 per cent over an 18 month period without board approval.

But the blanket freeze is only for the 1992-93 budget year. After that, each administration salary will be evaluated according to how it rates on the salary grid for hospitals in GMH's size group.

It is not yet known how many salaries, now under review for the 1993-94 budget year, will be frozen for the board.

Salaries above the grid chosen by the board will remain frozen until the salaries of people in the same positions at similar hospitals catch up.

Those that are under a salary grid will gradually be bumped up to the proper level, based on the size of annual provincial grant increases the hospital receives.

Board Chairman Sam Sultan said the wage freezes, combined with other cost-cutting measures — some still under review — may save the hospital as much as $100,000

"I'd like to do that," he said Friday. But he added: "I don't know if I will be able to succeed."

With so little area available to cut costs, trying to keep the hospital in the black will not be easy.

"We are walking on a very thin wire. We have very little money coming in and (have) our expenses in the terms of salaries and wages and benefits (to pay)."

Kent MacSweyn, board finance committee chairman, said the cuts are being made in order to keep turning annual surpluses, something the hospital is well-known for.

The finance comittee does not want to begin running deficit budgets. It would rather have annual surpluses by keeping hospital expenses within its revenues.

"We wish to stay in that position," he said, adding: "The writing is on the wall. Tougher times are coming."

Door stood between paraplegic and voting

By Andre Perrella

For Green Valley resident Ray Bissonette, democracy stopped at Ecole Ste. Marie.

"I couldn't vote," said Bissonette, a paraplegic who was unable to cast his ballot during the Oct. 26 referendum because the polling station at Ecole Ste. Marie was inaccessible.

An Elections Canada employee failed to make sure the polling station set up at the school was free of all obstacles which cause problems for the disabled, especially people in wheelchairs.

All polling stations must be wheelchair accessible, according to the Canada Elections Act.

Ramps must not be too steep, and entrances must not contain obstacles, such as risers.

For every foot in length, a ramp must raise in height no more than one inch.

The approximately 18-inch high ramp at Ecole Ste. Marie should be at least 18-feet long, but is about half that length, making the ramp very steep.

Bissonette and his wheelchair have a total weight of 330 lbs, too heavy for a ramp that steep.

Bissonette said his wheelchair could have tumbled backwards on the ramp.

To compound things, there is a four-inch riser to climb to get through the front door.

His wife had to push him up the ramp quickly to avoid a fall.

Tom Saunders, another parapalegic who tried to vote at the school, needed help from other people to get him inside, and needed help to get out.

Saunders called Elections Canada which said the polling station is listed as wheelchair accessible.

Carla Shore, an Elections Canada media officer, when reached by The News, admitted that returning officers erred in listing Ecole Ste. Marie as wheelchair accessible.

She said before the referendum was called, employees were researching wheelchair accessible public buildings to be designated polling stations.

But when the national referendum was called, Shore said, Elections Canada employees were forced to rush.

"We had a goal to make sure every station was accessible. But unfortunately, a few places slipped through the cracks."

She said Elections Canada contacted Ecole Ste. Marie Principal Claude Mallette who said the school did have a ramp, making it wheelchair accessible.

Returning officicers took the principal's word and did not send anyone to the school to make sure.

In an interview with The News, Mallette said is not sure if the ramp and riser conform to government regulations with respect to wheelchair accessiblity.

Ministry turns down Alexandria's plan for sewage upgrade

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

It is back to the drawing board for Alexandria council. The Ontario Ministry of Environment has rejected council's long-term sewage remediation plan.

Council received the news in a letter from MOE District Manager Mike Holy, read to council by Alexandria Clerk Leo Poirier.

The environment committee, a subcommitte of council, had submitted a report by consultants Greer Galloway group detailing work to be done through the 1991 to 1995 period in hope it would qualify as a long-term plan.

Members found out last Tuesday that it did not receive a passing grade.

"I am not sure if this is intended to be your submission pursuant to my request for your long-term plan," said Holy in the letter.

"In any event, I must advise you that this submission is not satisfactory for that purpose."

And he is asking that council quickly get to work formulating a proper plan.

"The above matter is of serious concern to the ministry and it is essential that Alexandria provide a detailed correction program as soon as possible," Holy said in the letter.

The ministry's problem with the plan seems to involve what projects council has given priority to, as well as a lack of specifics about proposed work.

"Your priority system should be based on rectifying those problems where the environment is being most severely affected at the present time," Holy said.

"As an example, the trunk sewer from the town to the lagoon system and associated pumping station experience substantial bypassing of raw or partially treated sewage."

The ministry also wants the report to have an accompanying bar chart outlining on a priority basis where sewage works upgrading is needed, milestone dates including when applications would be made for the date and construction schedules.

There was little reaction to the ministry's rejection of the Greer Galloway plan at the council table.

Gary Shepherd, a member of the environment committee, said he was not surprised by the ministry's rejection of the approximately two-year-old general plan.

He said he anticipated the ministry would want a more specific plan aimed at the early solution of some of the more serious problems resulting from the lack of sewage capacity, such as overflows into the Garry River.

"They are looking for a more direct commitment than what they (committee members) sent them."

The committee is already taking some steps to address the sewage capacity problem. It is forcing home and business owners to disconnect roof leaders from the sewer system to reduce water going into the system.

It is also planning repairs to sewage works on Kenyon Street aimed at reducing water infiltrating the system.

Council considers building centre for elderly on parkland

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Green space between two seniors complexes could turn to cement and brick if council goes ahead with plans to build a seniors support centre on parkland in an Alexandria development.

Council has given Clerk Leo Poirier approval to look into using the parkland in the Les Investissements Demaca Inc. development in the northeast portion of town to build a seniors support centre.

Council gave the go ahead — despite some concerns and a lack of details about the plan — last Tuesday at the urging of Reeve Bruno Massie, who has been working over the past month to land the facility for the town.

Massie had announced a couple of weeks ago that the town may be able to tap into up to $450,000 in unused provincial grant money for the area to build the centre, to be owned and operated by the United Counties.

But his proposal to use parkland, and sell it to the counties for one dollar so the counties will have land to build the centre on, was not well received by council.

According to the Ontario Planning Act, a portion of land in any new development must be set aside to be used as parkland. If no parkland is available or desired, council can take cash in lieu of and use it for recreational purposes.

A municipality is allowed by law to sell parkland, but according to the planning act, the money from the sale must be kept and used for recreational purposes.

But if council sells the land to the United Counties for a dollar, there will be no money to come up with some recreational equivalent to replace the parkland.

Council members repeatedly said they are in favor of the idea of a seniors support centre.

But they are concerned it may con-

travene the spirit of the parkland guidelines in the planning act and have asked Clerk Poirier to get a legal opinion before proceeding.

Members are also concerned that because that is all the parkland allotted for the Demaca development, which could see the construction of hundreds of new home units, there will be no parkland for young families with children moving into the area.

Massie, however, said the land is wasted space where it is and should be converted to a seniors support centre.

"What will we do with a park there? Who will use it," he asked council members.

He added, "it is locked land," meaning there is no road access and therefore of no commercial value.

But Terry Hart, Alexandria chief building official, said the park is not landlocked, but is accessible by Bishop and Sandfield streets.

Door stood in paraplegic's way

He said the school board is the one in charge of making sure all schools are wheelchair accessible.

Jacques Michaud, a Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board superintendent in charge of wheelchair ramps, was unavailable for comment.

Bissonette said if he knew before election day that it would be impossible to enter the school, he would have voted at advance polls at the legion in Alexandria which is easily accessible for him.

He said the problem is that government officials do not know what wheelchair accessibility means.

Saunders said paraplegics should be the ones who determine whether or not a building is accessible.

"Who is the one that makes the decision whether it's accessible?" he asks.

"You have to have a person who knows what barrier free is."

He hopes Elections Canada will "smarten up" and take that approach for the next election.

Shore said things will be carried out more diligently next time.

Murder mystery launches ESRG career week

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

''Doctor'' Huguette Bourdeau presented a coroner's report as ESRG science teacher Laurent Rivard's body was hauled off the high school's stage Monday morning.

''I report that the victim was murdered due to a violent assault,'' Bourdeau said to more than 100 students at the cafeteriaàauditorium.

Hugeutte, who is not a medical doctor, played the part in a murder mystery to launch the national career week at ESRG.

ESRG students filled cafeteriaàauditorium at around 10 a.m. to listen to speeches about how important it is to make a proper career decision.

Then, screams and shrieks were heard coming from behind the curtains.

The curtains were raised, and lying on the stage was Rivard, surrounded by 10 ''suspects.''

Each dressed according to an occupation, and pointing a weapon towards the body.

For example, a chemist was dressed in a lab coat and carried a test tube containing what appeared to be poison; a chef wore the familiar fluffy and tall hat and carried a rolling pin which might have been used to beat Rivard to death; a mathematician carried rulers and pointy set squares sharp enough to stab.

The seven other suspects represented occupations from a comedian to a forest ranger.

Students have until Friday to figure out which person in which career used which weapon to carry out the murder.

The murder mystery is a unique way to promote the school's annual career week.

Students will be given a clue every morning until Friday, when prizes such as T-shirts will be given to those who solved the mystery.

ESRG staff members wearing clothes representing different occupations point weapons from baseball bats to mathematical set squares towards a teacher who played dead in a murder mystery to kick off the school's career week Monday morning. Intended to encourage students to research various career options, students must figure out which person of which occupation used which weapon, or tool, to carry out the murder.

ESRG head guidance councillor Carole Clermont said the murder-mystery is a fun way for students to research various careers as they plan their futures.

A group of students came up with the idea of the murder-mystery.

Students will be required to research only 10 occupations for this excercise.

However, Clermont said, the number of career choices are numerous.

As a result, teachers will be holding class exercises where more careers will be examined.

Guest speakers from various occupational backgrounds will talk to students about their careers.

Also, La Cite college will be setting up kiosques at the school throughout the week.

Clermont hopes students begin to consider careers other than traditional professions of law and medicine, where the future job market is bleak.

The growth industry is in technology and services.

Jobs in constructions, mechanics and other trades have gone beyond the blue-collar image and now require highly trained technicians capable of using robots, computers and other new innovations.

For instance, auto mechanics need a solid understanding of computers since new cars are computerized.

Various employment opportunities are also growing in the service sector, such as in social work.

Gerontology, or care for the elderly, is a growing industry because the population is aging.

There are many other promising careers students should consider.

ESRG guidance and career centres have government publiciations about future job opportunities.

Students can read them to find out which jobs will be in demand, how much they pay, and the training involved.

ESRG Prinsipal Richard Rozon said a decision won't be easy to make.

''To choose a career, for most of us, is one of the most difficult decisions,'' he said to the students Monday morning.

He said students often don't know enough about their own interests and aptitudes, and they often don't have enough information about different careers.

Also, Rozon said, students fear they might get stuck in an unfulfilling job for the rest of their lives if they make a bad career choice.

To prevent that, students must understand themselves well.

One of the biggest challenges students face in career planning is determining their interests and aptitudes.

Students can take interest and aptitude tests through several programs available at ESRG.

In the end, Clermont hopes students make proper decisions.

''When you know yourself, it's easier to find a career,'' she said.

She said even if a student wants a career in a stagnant or shrinking job market, such as in law, there is still hope.

A student is more likely to succeed in a very competitive industry if the level of determination to succeed is very high.

But, just in case, students are urged to make back up plans.

Or else students might be faced with no choices.

Also, it's important for students to keep in mind that a person changes careers three to five times in his or her lifetime.

Council Briefs

The following are among the items discussed at an Alexandria council meeting held on Tuesday, Oct. 27, 1992.

Chronic problem

Council turned down a request for a group supporting research into Chronic Fatigue Syndrome to sell lottery type tickets in town to raise proceeds.

Council, fatigued itself with seemingly chronic requests by outside groups to sell tickets at town businesses, felt Alexandria is already ''overcanvassed'' and does not need more groups drawing on townspeople for funding.

The request brought a humorous comment by Councillor Archie McDougall, who quipped: ''I have that all the time,'' after hearing from Clerk Leo Poirier what ailment the group supports.

Asked jokingly by Reeve Bruno Massie if he wanted that reported in the ''press'', McDougall replied: ''At my age, it doesn't disturb me.''

McDougall favored council's decision to turn down the request.

''If you don't put your town citizenry first, no one else will,'' he told council members.

Added Councillor Francine Richer: ''I think we have enough of our own organizations to look after.''

FAD appreciation

Council was thanked by members of the lobby group Freedom After Disability for work it has done to improve disabled access in the town.

In the letter the group thanked council for sloping sidewalks to make them wheelchair accessible and also praised the town for implementing handicapped parking areas.

The group encouraged the town to continue its work on behalf of the disabled, adding its members are available to act as advisors if needed.

$100 richer

Council accepted an offer of $100 for a small piece of land along the county road near town which the town owns.

''I think we should go ahead and be done with it,'' said Reeve Bruno Massie.

The pie shaped strip — basically worthless for the town — measures about 17 feet at its deepest point and stretches 30 feet along the road.

The person purchasing the land needed it to gain lawful access to his property along the road.

The counties had taken over the road a few years ago, just leaving the tiny portion of land in the town's possession.

Dispatch

Council concurred with a Finch Township resolution requesting that the police dispatch system be moved back to Long Sault from Kanata.

In the resolution, the township says dispatchers in the central system are not familiar with the area and are referring calls to fire departments in the wrong jurisdiction.

It adds, it is especially important because ''response time is very critical and can save many lives, particularly when the Jaws of Life equipment is required.''

Councillor Gary Shepherd said he has heard of incidents like those detailed in the Finch Township resolution.

''It makes sense. We should concur with this,'' said Reeve Bruno Massie.

Funding denied

The Ontario Ministry of Environment has turned down a request for funding to extend water to East Boundary Road residents whose wells have contaminated water.

In order for the project to qualify for funding, six of 11 dwellings there must have water quality problems. Five of the 11 homes have contaminated water.

''Until such time that at least six of the 11 dwellings exhibit water quality problems with respect to the Ontario Drinking Water Objectives, this area will not be eligible for a Direct Grant Project,'' said Rheal Delaquis of the MOE in a letter to council.

Not again Concern was expressed to council that the town may soon have another pit to complement another pit dug by town resident Arthur Duggan years ago.

Gilles and Carmen Renault, in a letter to council, said they are concerned about a second hole being dug by Duggan on his property.

''What we want from council is some assurance this 'hole' will not be just another security hazard and 'eyesore'.''

They added: ''Will you wait until some drastic event takes place before intervening?''

The town has tried to get something done about the first hole dug by Duggan, but to no avail. But it is taking action on the second hole.

Terry Hart, town chief building official, said Duggan has been issued an order to comply, prohibited from continuing his digging. A failure to comply within 14 days will mean he will be slapped with a stop-work order.

Parking problems

A complaint that customers from a town grocery store were blocking the driveways of neighboring buildings was referred to council's traffic committee.

The decision was made when after some debate, council members were unable to come to a consensus on how to solve the problem.

Clerk Leo Poirier suggested the complaining tenant should contact his landlord and have him deal with the problem.

Others suggested ticketing the cars or having them towed away to painting yellow markings where parking is prohibited.

Councillor Roger Levert said no debate over the topic in past years has been able to solve the dilemma.

''You can talk about it all night, but I don't think you can solve it.''

Remembrance services on Sunday

People throughout Glengarry will be paying tribute to those who gave up their lives in war for Canada during Remembrance services Sunday.

Services will be held in Williamstown at 11:30 a.m. and in Lancaster and Alexandria at 2 p.m.

A special part of the Alexandria ceremony will feature a salute base on Main Street. Former Glengarry resident Commander Allan F. Kennedy will take the salute, during a march past of Remembrance Day ceremony participants.

Kennedy, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kennedy, grew up in the Munroe's Mills area, attended Echo Vale School (SS 17 Charlottenburgh), and graduated from Char-Lan District High School.

Kennedy joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1961 as an Officer Cadet and attended Royal Roads and Royal Military Colleges. After training as a marine engineer in Halifax and England, he served as the engineering officer in the HMCS Kootenay and HMCS MacKenzie.

He has served in a variety of positions both ashore and at sea, including naval attache activities in Washington, D.C. and two tours in National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa, where he is currently serving in the Directorate of Ship Engineering

Wreaths at all ceremonies Sunday — Alexandria's will be at the war memorial at the north end of Main Street — will be laid representing the provincial, federal and municipal governments and businesses.

In Alexandria, laying the wreath in memory of Glengarry's war dead will be Silver Cross sister Harriet MacDonald, sister of John Leo MacDonell who served with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

He was in WWII action during D-Day and served throughout Northwest Europe until he was wounded while crossing the Rhine River and died March 24, 1945.

The Royal Canadian Legion branch in Lancaster village will hold two Remembrance Day parades Sunday, Nov. 8.

The first one will be in Williamstown.

Legionaires and ex-service people will form up at the United Church in Williamstown at 11:30 a.m., and march to the cenotaph for the Rembrance Day service.

The Lancaster Pipe Band will lead the march, and the Char-Lan District High School band will perform the hymns and play O'Canada.

A firing party will be supplied by the Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron 253, sponsored by the Lancaster legion.

The parade and service will be repeated in Lancaster village in the afternoon.

Marchers, band members and the firing party will form up on Oak Street, outside the Legion hall, and march to the cenotaph for the service.

The legion hall will be offering soup and lunch between parades.

The Maxville War Veterans Club will form up at the village cenotaph at 2 p.m. for a remembrance service Sunday, with pipers from the Maxville Pipe Band.

Hospital board saves with auditor

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

A little bit of competition has reaped Glengarry Memorial Hospital a bargain rate for auditing services for the 1992-93 year.

The operating board of Glengarry Memorial Hospital reappointed Thursday, auditors Deloitte-Touche to look after hospital books at a saving of about $2,500 over last year.

The firm in past years had been automatically reappointed at the hospital corporation annual meeting to the job without having to compete against other firms.

But this year, it was decided by hospital corporation members to delay the appointment of the auditing firm, and shortly after, a decision to tender for auditors was made.

Those in favor of the tendering process, argued that the competition would give the hospital a better rate for auditing services. And such was the case.

The Deloitte-Touche bid came in at $6,450, substantially lower than last year's rate of $9,000.

But in a strange twist, the price for the auditing of hospital auxiliary books and hospital books will not actually be the lowest bid.

Deloitte-Touche tendered at a cost of $6,450 for the hospital books and $1,350 for the auxiliary books for a total of $7,800. An Ottawa firm tendered at $7,000 for the hospital books and $500 for the auxiliary, for a total of $7,500.

But the board was unable to accept the auxiliary tender from the Ottawa firm because the hospital auxiliary had already appointed Deloitte-Touche as its auditors for the coming year.

Because Deloitte-Touche had the the lowest bid for the hospital books, more than $500 cheaper than the Ottawa firm, the board felt it should accept the Hawkesbury firm's tender.

But it was not without opposition from board member Wally Hope, who unsuccessfully proposed a motion that the tenders be cancelled and a new call for tenders be issued.

Hope contended the tendering process was flawed because the requirements were changed in mid process and he suggested the process be repeated from the beginning.

Originally, just bids to audit the hospital books were requested.

But during phone conversations with bidders, CEO Jerry Adams also asked for separate hospital auxiliary bids, not knowing the auxiliary had already appointed an auditor.

Hope said it is unfair to ask for separate quotes for the hospital and auxiliary, and then only take the hospital quote.

''In all fairness, we have to ask which way are we asking for a quote,'' he said during debate at Thursday's board meeting.

''I'd hate to criticize, but it's not done right.''

Board member Bruno Massie conceded the process was not the best, blaming poor communication for the problem, but said it is too late in the process to re-tender now.

He suggested the board approve the low tender this year, but also ensure the process is carried out properly next year.

Court Report

The following are among the cases dealt with by Judge Rommel Masse in Alexandria's provincial court on October 29.

Woman receives hefty fine

A 21-year-old Cornwall Island resident was fined $6,825 after being arrested in June for being in possession of a large quantity of smuggled cans of tobacco.

Fawn Cole was given three years to pay the fine, which represents twice the duty value of the tobacco, the minimum fine under the excise act.

Arrested in 1990, man gets $4,500 fine

A Cornwall man who was arrested in January of 1990 for having 10 cases of smuggled cigarettes in his possession was fined $4,500.

Kenneth Leaf, 25, was arrested in Lancaster Township with the smuggled cigarettes in the back seat of his car.

Leaf was also fined $200 for failing to appear in court on the first two occasions the case was scheduled to be dealt with by the courts.

Court orders donation

An Alexandria man was ordered to make a $100 donation to Shalom House, a drug and alcohol recovery centre, after pleading guilty to possession of $65-$70 worth of marijuana.

Alain Ladouceur, 21, was given a conditional discharge pending the donation and the completion of 12 months of probation.

Fine for broken window

A Cornwall man who broke a window in a Charlottenburgh Township house was fined $50 for petty mischief.

Ronald Johnson, 34, was arrested on Oct. 19 after a family dispute brought him to the home of his father-in-law in the early hours of the morning.

After Johnson had been unable to rouse the occupant of the house by knocking on the door, he turned his attention to a nearby window which broke when he attempted to knock on it.

Johnson had already paid to have the window replaced prior to his appearance in court.

Drunk driver fined

A 70-year-old Alexandria man was fined $400 after pleading guilty to drunk driving.

Charles MacKinnon was driving on Hwy. 34 north of Alexandria on Sept. 22 when his car collided with an oncoming vehicle.

When police arrived on the scene they detected an odor of alcohol on MacKinnon's breath. MacKinnon was taken for breathalyser tests which showed readings of 170 and 180, more than twice the legal blood-alcohol limit.

MacKinnon's driving privileges were suspended for one year.

North Lancaster man fined

A 41-year-old resident of North Lancaster was fined $500 after pleading guilty to drunk driving.

Renald A. Seguin was arrested on Dec. 9. 1991 after being pulled over as part of a police road check program.

Breathalyser tests showed blood-alcohol readings of 170 and 178 milligrams of alcohol per 100 millilitres blood, more than twice the legal limit of 80.

Because Seguin is a truck driver, the prohibition from driving anywhere in Canada was reduced from the usual 12 months to three. His Ontario driver's license will still be suspended for a full year.

Charlottenburgh attacks zebra mussel problem

By Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

The Purcell Water Plant in Glen Walter will be protected against the menace of zebra mussels before the year is out, following Charlottenburgh's decision to proceed with the Purcell Zebra Mussel Chlorine Pipeline project.

The project, which is 85 per cent funded by the Ministry of the Environment (MOE), has a cost of $131,500.

Wally Hernberger and Maurice Leger representing McNeely Engineering, the municipality's engineers, attended council's regular meeting Oct. 27.

Leger told council that the original estimated cost of the project had been in the neighborhood of $200,000, but that tenders for the external portion of the job had come in well below estimates.

The winning tender went to Greenwood Construction of Niagara Falls at a cost of $57.900 plus contingency costs of $10,000. The only other bidder was Louis Bray Construction of Cornwall, with a price of $61,850.

''I know you would like to see this going locally,'' said Leger, ''but Louis Bray is not a marine contractor and I understand he would be subcontracting the job out to a diving company.''

Greenwood Construction, on the other hand, has already completed four or five similar projects in the Niagara area, according to Leger.

Cost of the internal work involved in the project will be approximately $35,000, and will be looked after by the MOE.

Engineering costs will be $30,000, most of which has already been spent since the project was initiated in January 1990.

The job is expected to take about a week to complete and should be operational by the end of November.

There will be no interruption to water users during construction.

Central dispatching needs another look

There has been a rising concern over the effectiveness of new central emergency dispatching systems out of Ottawa these days and its ability to accurately place appropriate equipment and personnel in rural areas. That concern should heighten in light of the confusion that reigned over the dispatch of Alexandria Fire Department's extrication crew to an accident near Dunvegan on Oct. 21.

Obviously, an intensive and thorough review of central dispatching services is justified, not only because of this incident but others which have led to demands of action by area municipalities.

Fortunateiy, the Oct. 21 accident appeared far worse than it actually was, with the four people receiving non life-threatening injuries. But it involved an extrication, and had tragic potential.

The problem stemmed from faulty directions from the ambulance service in Cornwall, which is under the umbrella of the Ottawa Central Ambulance Communication Centre. The directions led rescue crew on a wild goose chase that cost them 15 minutes of response time.

In late August, at a level crossing accident on Hwy. 138 just south of Dyer road west of Maxville, a van collided with a train, resulting in the death of a person and injuring others. The resulting confusion over dispatching is a dramatic example of what happens with a central dispatcher, unaware of local emergency crews and equipment, and the area itself. In that case, the first call to notify police at OPP central dispatch in Kanata (west end Ottawa) was made at 8:47. The Long Sault Volunteer Fire Department was called shortly after by that dispatch, even though Moose Creek Fire Department was closer; it was not called to the scene until 9:30 a.m.

Maxville, Avonmore and Crysler departments were not called at all.

A subsequent editorial printed in the Sept. 2 edition of Rural Route noted: ''Since this new system has come on stream, many of the responses to accidents or crisis situations have resembled a Chinese fire drill rather than a precision rescue operation. Pumper trucks, ambulances, and police units often run up streets in search of the scene (as was the case . . . when an ambulance headed for the C.P. rail tracks on County Road 15 in Avonmore, turned around, then took off for Hwy. 138) rather than knowing exactly where they are going before they leave their stations. The directions and descriptions given to the services are unusually sketchy at best.''

That editorial led to a resolution approved by Finch Township, and which was passed by some Glengarry municipalities just last week. It stated that ''it is becoming apparent that central dispatch is not familiar with the boundaries of local fire departments and is referring calls to fire departments whose jurisdictions do not cover the location of the particular accident scene.'' It requests the Minister of the Solicitor General to relocate the dispatch system for the United Counties from Kanata to Long Sault.

That response, and the delay in the Oct. 21 accident near Dunvegan, underlines the deficiencies that exist with urban-based dispatching. The province's view is colored at Queen's Park by the needs of cities where streets and numbered addresses makes central dispatching sensible. It clearly brought the system in as a long-term cost-cutting measure but in so doing, it may be forcing rural areas to pay a dear price.

If the Solicitor General is not willing to listen to the municipalities here, then in the least a full review of central dispatching — and its impact on the rural areas it serves — should be held.

Lives are depending on it.

Improved war memorial

In case you haven't seen it, Remembrance Day ceremonies next week should give you more than enough cause to visit the reconditioned Glengarry War Memorial in Alexandria.

Then again, chances are, you have seen it, either driving or walking by, day or night; lighting has given the memorial a 24-hour stature unprecedented in its history. Most recently the silent guns adorning the grounds have been cleaned up and painted and flagpoles have been erected. Last year, the monument itself was re-pointed and a new Korean War plaque added, and an interlocking brick walk gave the memorial a new ambience it so richly deserves.

All of this was made possible thanks to a volunteer corps, mainly veterans themselves, who dedicated themselves to returning the memorial to its original appearance. Generous donations and some public fundraising ensured the resources were in place to carry out the necessary work.

Certainly, as time goes on, and as there are fewer people to recount the harsh realities of war, it becomes increasingly important to preserve, respect and enhance war memorials like Alexandria's.

May it stand in grace and dignity for a thousand years.

We simply don't want to stop

After Thoughts
by Joe Banks

My father's small general store was recently broken into and entered. The thieves knew exactly what they were going after.

They took about $800 in cigarettes. They left everything else, including other goods and some cash.

Fortunately, dad was okay, but he was angry. The anger stemmed from a sense of frustration at not having heard the thieves — and at having to pay the $500 deductable on the insurance claim. It was a tough blow for a small convenience store owner, who like many of us, is pressed by a lingering recession and the arrival of Sunday shopping.

I wasn't surprised to learn that the police told him cigarettes are becoming the most sought-after commodity during break-ins. We've seen the same phenomena around here. Couple it with the cigarette smuggling trade and, nationwide, the statistics begin to boggle the mind.

For instance: one in nine packages of cigarettes smoked by Canadians last year was either stolen or smuggled in from the U.S., according to the tobacco manufacturers council. That black market is worth about $1.4 billion.

Governments have lost about $1.1 billion in tax revenues, including a $460.4 million in federal duty and excise tax revenue, $88.6 million in GST and $426 million in provincial tobacco taxes.

All this black marketing is not confined to the city, either. Right here in Glengarry County, tantalizingly close to the U.S. border, there have been repeated cigarette busts. In mid September, police seized contraband cigarettes and tobacco valued at more than $300,000 in three different incidents. The highest total of that amount came from two men arrested after $240,000 in cigarettes was discovered in a boat they were hauling from Lancaster.

And just in case you believe these smugglers and thieves are your stereotypical jailbirds, guess again: diplomats to Canada are buying huge amounts of tax-free cigarettes, indicating they're probably involved in smuggling. The same report says ''five or six hundred'' diplomats bought 557,000 cartons of tax-free cigarettes for their personal consumption in 1991. That's roughly 1,000 cartons per diplomat.

The study blames — surprise, surprise — the high cost of cigarettes in Canada, created by high taxes from both levels of government.

But it's easier to blame somebody else — the black void over there that pays our unemployment and welfare cheques. If I were addicted to nicotine, I might feel the same way — to hell with Brian Mulroney and Bob Rae. I'm getting my butts as cheaply as I can.

I suppose that's what we've become, prisoners of our own narrow indulgences, willing to perpetuate the demand of an illegal practise that steals from us and our future, our children's future. And steals from my dad.

Will we ever blame us? Remember the law of supply and demand? As long as there is demand, supply will follow, legally or otherwise. Governments do not force us to smoke, and even though they're trying hard to get us to stop, nicotine addiction and the mild joy cigarette smoking provides is as chronic as the drug problem North Americans pay dearly for every day. The real problem is this:

We simply do not want to stop.

Voter revolt will bring change

News to me
by Greg Kielec

Two piles of documents, the bold face letters standing out like a beacon on each cover, lay neatly bundled, white cord holding the booklets together, intersecting at the top in the shape of a cross.

They are a symbol of what could have been and a testament to what was. The explanation on the exposed covers read almost cryptically, like a tombstone epitaph.

Consensus Report On the Constitution. Underneath, in slightly smaller letters, the word Charlottetown in capital letters, followed by the date — August 28, 1992.

Completing the cover page are two bold face words, with a thick black line underneath: Final Text.

And after years of recycled debates, the text will soon reach its final destination: Alexandria's recycling plant.

For now, the ominous black-and-white bundles sit, almost as if mourning an inconsolable loss, possibly the ending of an old era of political elitism which up until now had rendered masses powerless.

A newspaper writer analyzing the debate just prior to last week's referendum, portrayed the Charlottetown accord's imminent defeat as more a cultural progression than a political movement.

He said for the No side, the chance to defeat the accord was an issue of empowerment, not so much a decision on the issues addressed in the constitutional document.

If that is true, the Charlottetown accord was but an innocent casaulty on the long climb back by Canadian citizens to reclaiming control over their own destinies.

And it is reason for residents in Glengarry — those who voted for and those who voted against — to take heart. Maybe the sacrifice was necessary in order for greater things to come.

In the end, the Charlottetown Accord still was an agreement drafted by a handful of opportunistic premiers, each out to get the most for their province at the expense of the federation.

And although this deal had some of the things average Canadians wanted, those were outweighed by concern over what the politicians had fought for and included in the deal.

It was the politicizing of the deal by aligning certain sides and players with opposing and often contentious issues, which doomed the deal to failure.

It also brought home a harsh reality to many politicians — that no matter how much it hurts, the disgruntled and disenfranchised voting public has spoken, and if they want to keep their jobs, they better listen.

It is a message which has been slow getting through and took the demise of two constitutional agreements for politicians to finally realize.

Apathy and indifference has turned to anger and cynicism as voters increasingly lose patience with pandering politicians acting in their own — instead of the people's — interest.

The voters have spoken. Now it is the politicians turn. They must tell voters they are willing to set politics aside to address their concerns, to get on with what the people want.

It is an interesting concept — politicians doing what the people want. It also has been a long time coming.

The voters have revolted. May it bring positive, tangible, and hopefully lasting change for the future.

Women are not here nor there, yet

That's Life
by Lesley Cadham

Last week, I did something that would have been unheard of years ago, something that would have been more than just frowned upon and may even have been punishable by imprisonment. And I did it with millions of other women.

I voted.

I used to know a man who not only blamed women for the country's economical problems, but insisted that Pierre Elliott Trudeau would never have been re-elected if women had been denied the right to vote. We, being the weaker sex said he, were smitten by ''Trudeau-mania,'' unable to see the forest for the trees, unable to see past the pizzazz.

Right. Blame us.

It's exactly that kind of attitude which keeps organizations like the Ku Klux Klan alive, and which has forced feminists to enter male-dominated territory bearing arms.

At one time, women needed a battleship; a ''Bismarck of feminism'' to transport us across the stormy waters from oppression — to wherever it is we're headed.

The ship came in the form of Gloria Steinem, a name synonymous with feminism.

Steinem's okay; a little radical maybe. But cheerful acquiescence wouldn't have gotten results. Extremes get results.

Who's going to get out of a warm, cozy bed if the TV is only a bit loud?

The pipes of glory

Highland Paths
by Ken McKenna

Before the introduction of the violin in the 17th century, Gaelic Scotland had but two musical instruments in general use — the harp, or clarsach, and the bagpipe, the great war-pipe of the Gael, the piob-mhor (peep-vore). Although most nations had, from ancient times, some form of bagpipe, only the Highland bagpipe and the music composed for it have achieved universal renown. From an instrument once played by relatively few in Ireland and Scotland, it has become the chosen instrument of an estimated 50,000 people world-wide, many of whom have no Highland or even Scottish blood in their veins.

What is the appeal of the pipes?

The chanter of the pipes on which the melody is played has only nine notes and because it is so ancient, there is a slightly Eastern overtone to it. This is why the pipes have become so popular wherever Highland regiments have gone in the Middle East, India, and Pakistan. The Bretons of France, distant Celtic relatives of the Gael, are particularly fond of them and Breton pipers regularly compete at Scottish Highland games, often winning prizes. As the Scottish writer Neil Munro wrote in ''The Oldest Tune In The World'' — ''the Breton people canntarach* tunes too, like ourselves — soft-warbling them to fix them in the memory — the same wind blows through reeds in France and Scotland, and everywhere they sing of old and simple things; you are deaf indeed if you do not understand.'' Perhaps that explains the appeal of the pipes — something elemental, something that strikes a chord of distant memory, of a simpler and more natural time when we were more in tune with the world around us. Quoting Neil Munro again, he says ''the tune with the river in it, the fast river and the courageous, that kens not stop nor tarry, that runs around rock and over fall with a good humor, yet in no mood for anything but the way before it.''

The Spirit of the MacCrimmons

Any discussion of the great war-pipe of the Gael must include the story of the MacCrimmons of Skye, hereditary pipers to MacLeod of Dunvegan and teachers of the art of the Highland bagpipe at their college of piping at Boreraig for three hundred years, from about 1500 to 1800. In ''The Pipes of War'' by Sir Bruce Seton and Pipe-Major John Grant, we read: ''Today, cattle browse upon the site of the MacCrimmon College, within whose walls instruction on the piob-mhor had been given by the MacCrimmon family to countless students. Thither had come the best pipers of Scotland to receive the finishing touches to a piping education well-nigh perfect in itself, including representatives of the three other well-known piping families, MacArthur, Mackay and Campbell.''

The MacCrimmons taught ceòl mòr (kyole-more), now commonly referred to as pibroch, although that word simply means ''piping.'' It is the classical music of the pipes, consisting of a theme and many variations, which pipers in the Highlands of Scotland were playing long before that form was ''invented'' by J. S. Bach. The fame of the MacCrimmons gave rise to many stories and legends. This is one of them: Iain Dall (blind) Mackay, himself a great piper, having taught his son all that he knew, sent him to the MacCrimmons to perfect his playing. When he returned home after several years of tutelage he brought with him Patrick Og MacCrimmon, but he did not tell his father that Patrick Og was with him. ''My father will greet me,'' he said to his friend, ''and he will be eager to hear me play. When he asks me to let him hear what I have learned, you play in my stead.'' After Patrick Og had finished, tears came to the blind man's eyes. ''The light may have gone from my eyes,'' he said, ''but not the understanding from my mind. That is Patrick Og MacCrimmon himself, and no other.''

At Stirling, in the month of May, 1651, the King was reviewing his troops. He saw about 8(pipers standing around, all bare-headed except one old man in the middle who wore his Highland

Letters to the editor

Simple solutions to complex problems

To the editor:

The "Polls" like to say "There are no simple solutions to complex problems." Then how about simplifying the problems?

Take crime for example. We build jails and throw people into them, then we spend from the public purse to try and rehabilitate them. We finally turn them loose and spend more money on probation officers and half-way houses. Eighty per cent of the people we have incarcerated have committed no violent crime. Why incarcerate them? If we just jail the violent types for fixed periods and double the period every time they commit the same crimes we will eventually put them away for life if they don't cease.

All we need to keep them caged is a warm space with no frills. No visits, no writing privileges, no tobacco, no reading materials and no brutality from their wardens. If a violent wife beater draws five years for his first offense he serves five years. No parole board, no gained time, nothing!

What do we do with the non-violent types? The embezzlers, panderers, dope dealers, shop lifters, bribers, con artists, etc. We fine them and confiscate their assets both constructive and future until their fine is paid. The money we spend on rehabilitation we put into collection. Voltaire once said: "The law is equal, it fines the rich man for sleeping under the bridge the same as the poor man."

He was waxing ironical of course, but we should take a lesson and fine in accordance with the crime. If a poor man steals a loaf of bread, fine him a dollar. If a stock manipulator steals a million, fine him the million!

Abolish the Young Offenders Act. Let's go back to the common law, age of reason.

The aboriginals: Give them self government. Let's set up an aboriginal province within Canada consisting of all the present reserves. Let them create their own provincial laws within their territories, whether it is the Akwesasne or the Pigeon or Cree or Innuit.

If they want to sell cigarettes tax free on their territory or gamble to raise money instead of by taxation so what? As long as they respect the laws of the other provinces when they are visiting them.

Let them negotiate their land claims with the other provincial governments and the federal government but in the meantime give them the same tax transfer privileges as the other provinces.

What does it matter if their provincial boundaries are scattered all over the other provinces?

As for the constitution, the less said the better. The English have gotten along without a written constitution for over a 1,000 years, but if we must have one, make it a KISS constitution! (Keep It Simple Stupid). Do we really need a bi-cameral parliament? Abolish the Senate entirely and cut the parliament down to 20 or so from each province, but give the powers of veto and admittance etc. to the people by referendum.

The only way we can cut down the bureaucracies and by extension the bureaucrats is to take away their regulatory powers. Government must have the powers to tax and to spend for the common weal such as for health and roads etc. but this doesn't include subsidizing every Tom, Dick and Harry that might vote for the ins or contribute to their campaign funds. So let's eliminate subsidies entirely! Make the people at GATT happy! In short let's get happy ourselves!

James L. Dorsey,
Green Valley.

Disabled owed apology for access problems

To the editor:

For the first time since I have been married to my husband, an election has gone by without him voting. We've been married for the last 18 years. I am one of those people who believe that it is your duty to vote, so needless to say I was upset.

At this point of my letter, you must be wondering why any woman would write the editor about her husband not voting and why I would possibly want the readers of the Glengarry News (and there are many readers) to know. Well I would be more than happy to explain.

On October 26, 1992, I came home from school and was met at the door by my husband who had been waiting for my arrival so we could go and vote together. By now I have most readers really confused, so let me tell you about the turn of events that followed.

We drove to our polling station like everyone else in our area, the only difference is that that is as far as my husband got. He was unable to enter the building. Why? Because he could not elevate his wheelchair over the four-inch step.

For those concerned friends that offered to lift him into the building, we express our sincere thanks for you thoughtfulness, and we sincerely hope that no offence was taken when he refused this help. You see my husband is not any different than any other person, he has very much dignity and a whole lot of pride.

You have to realize that this building was marked down as wheelchair accessible, so he should have been able to enter like you and I to vote.

Imagine how you and I would feel if we went to vote at a given location only to find that there were no steps into that building. I, for one would not be impressed if I had to be lifted up to get into the door because it was three feet of the ground. I don't really think I need to go any further for people to see why it might be embarrassing or even degrading to expect a disabled person to be lifted into a building.

The reason for this letter — I believe my husband was not the only disabled person in Canada that ran into difficulty October 26, '92, and I truly believe that someone owes my husband, and all the other disabled people who had trouble voting, an apology.

Sincerely,
Faith Ann Bissonnette,
Green Valley.

"blue bonnet." The King asked who the man in the centre of the group was who seemed to be their leader. "Sire," he was told, "you are our King, and that old man, Patrick MacCrimmon, is the Prince of pipers." The King called him by name and gave him his hand to kiss. MacCrimmon composed, on the spot, the pibroch "I got a kiss of the King's hand," which is still played to this day. Another of Patrick Og's greatest compositions is "The lament for the children," commemorating the deaths of all of his eight sons from fever in a single year.

At the St. Andrew's Concert sponsored by the Glengarry Highland Society on Friday, November 6, at 8 p.m. at Glengarry District High School in Alexandria, we will hear both the war pipes and the small pipes and enjoy some of the songs, dances, and music that make up the Highland heritage.

Posties thanked for service

To the editor:

Personalized service lives on at the Alexandria Post Office. I would like to thank Roger Lemieux, Murielle Bellefeuille and Hazel MacDonald for their attention, time and effort in searching for an important letter which I wanted registered.

Thanks, once again for the personal attention! It was much appreciated.

Murmuring to a noisy crowd that you did something as globally insignificant as brushing your teeth this morning probably wouldn't earn more than a raised eyebrow or a curled lip. And no one's going to listen to women who are only a bit aggravated with the status quo.

But then Steinem isn't the kind of woman to mumble about dental hygiene. She'd be more likely to tap into a television broadcast and describe in detail how she'd flossed with some guy's arteries.

In some ways, the feminist movement has been good for us. Women now hold high corporate positions, not to mention places in the pulpit. But some would argue that rather than giving us a better place in a man's world, it's given us a room with a view in no man's land. We've rocked the boat and it's going to move crazily from side to side before it finally settles.

Maybe what we're feeling isn't so different from that of being resuscitated after near death; someone once said that drowning wasn't as bad as the moments after which she'd started breathing again.

A friend who had never read Gloria Steinem and who was more feminine than feminist once went on a date with a guy who refused to open the car door for her. He rationalized that if females wanted to be feminists, they'd have to learn to do the simple things that men have to do, like open their own doors.

Perhaps we're confusing feminism with the need for independence, which is something everyone should strive for. No one, if capable, should depend wholly on, or follow blindly, another human being.

I don't think being just like a man is what feminism is all about. It's not about emulating the opposite sex, right down to their boxer shorts, which is what fashion designers would have us do this year.

It's about options.

It's about having the God-given right to choose your own paths, to opt for a career, to stay at home and raise a family, to work at your husband's side on the farm, or to become the prime minister.

It's not about being pigeonholed, about being railroaded into choosing a career over a family life, and it's certainly not about growing old alone because the tide of the feminist movement is sweeping us away from being homemakers.

OPP received complaints over scam

The Ontario Provincial Police in Lancaster are investigating a possible credit card scam.

OPP Const. Gilles Ruest said the detachment has received many calls from local residents who have been telephoned by someone who says something like "Hello, you just won a free trip to..."

Ruest said most of the trips are to Florida.

The caller then asks the winner to give his or her credit card number to pay for incidentals during the trip, such as meals and drinks.

The free trip then ends up being something like a three-day cruise, but the winner must pay his or her own airfare to and from the cruise departure point.

Ruest said such a trip can cost more than if booked with a travel agency.

And once the trip's fee is paid, the victim may be unable to go because there may be no vacancies at any hotels.

Ruest said to avoid being a victim of such scams, credit card numbers should not be given over the phone.

This Flordia-trip scam started around two months ago.

A police investigation has revealed that the scam originates from the United States.

The OPP anti-rackets unit in Ottawa is continuing the investigation.

Egg crack-down

The Ontario Provincial Police's efforts to prevent juvenile delinquency on Haloween night were successful.

OPP Const. Gilles Ruest of the Lancaster detachment said trouble, such as egg throwing and vandalism, was anticipated in the Williamstown area, which suffered some Haloween vandalism last year.

But the two cruisers, four policemen and Neighborhood Watch volunteers who patrolled the hamlet seemed to have prevented any trouble this year.

"We frustrated the kids to hell," Ruest said.

There was no vandalism, and the youths that were armed with eggs did not mess up any property.

"They were throwing eggs against themselves because they were too afraid to throw them anywhere else," Ruest said.

Cruiser vandalized

The Alexandria Police Department cruiser was a victim of Halloween vandals.

Sometime overnight Oct.31, vandals scratched the cruiser, sprayed paint over it, and smashed the car's read window, causing about $800 in damage.

The incident happened sometime after 11:50 p.m., when two Alexandria police officers parked the cruiser in an alley beside the police station.

The police officers entered the building, and remained inside for about 30 minutes.

When the police officers returned to the cruiser, they discovered the cruiser was severely vandalized.

Witnesses saw two males running north on Main Street away from the scene.

Two hurt

Two men were injured in an accident in Alexandria last week.

Glen Robertson residents Jerome Lalonde, 67, and Viateur Sauve, 47, suffered minor injuries in a collision which occurred at the corner of Main and Lochiel Streets at around 3:30 p.m. Oct. 28.

Sauve, who was driving a 1982 GMC pickup truck, stopped when a car in front of him stopped to make a left turn.

Lalonde, who was driving a 1986 Plymouth, collided with the truck.

The truck sustained minor damage while the Plymouth was severely damaged.

Lalonde was charged with careless driving.

Unlocked vehicles

Various goods were stolen from two unlocked parked vehicles in Alexandria last week.

A box of assorted tools plus $10 in loose change was stolen from a 1986 Chevrolet van parked in a Bishop Street driveway sometime overnight Oct. 28.

Its glove compartment was rummaged and a red, five-drawer metal tool box was stolen.

On the same night, a CB radio, about $10 worth of Canadian Tire coupons and a $40 lamp were stolen from an unlocked 1988 Pontiac which was parked on Elm Street.

Blue ribbon

Alexandria police officers will be sporting blue ribbons in protest of the Ontario's government position on the use of firearms.

The government is considering passing legislation forcing officers to fill out an occurrence report after every time they use a firearm.

Police officers all over the province are upset that this requirement may cause an officer in peril to second-guess whether or not to unholster a gun, thus raising the chance that officers may be killed in the line of duty.

Ontario Provincial Police officers are not taking part in any protests.

Pumpkin returned

Thieves returned a 175-pound prize pumpkin they stole last week from a Charlottenburgh Township residence.

A $75 pumpkin which was stolen from a Concession 8 residence sometime overnight Oct. 27 was returned to the residence over the weekend.

The pumpkin was returned with a note from the guilt-ridden thieves apologizing for stealing the pumpkin.

Two people are needed to move the pumpkin police said.

Tracks near the scene reveal that a vehicle and a trailer were used to transport the pumpkin.

Crimestoppers targets Glen Norman thefts

Crimestoppers wants the public's help in solving a break and enter and theft that occurred in Lancaster Township.

The incident occurred between Sept. 20 and 27 at Lot 24, Conc. 9 at Glen Norman.

Stolen were a television, video cassette recorder, Nintendo with three game cartridges, 14 movies, and a Homelite chainsaw.

Connected witih the theft is a Nissan pickup truck with two-tone paint, the lower portion black and the upper portion light grey, with a roll bar and two lights at the top.

Anyone with information on this or any other crime may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000 and can call Crimestoppers at 1-800-265-8477.

Alexandria police Const. Roger Levert examines recently discovered stolen goods.

Stolen goods recovered, five people arrested

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

Alexandria police last week arrested five town males, one of them a young offender, and laid a total of 38 charges related to thefts which occurred since August.

Stephane Delorme, 18, Glen Maville, 18, Phil Collin, 29, Roch Lauzon, 21, and a 17-year-old male were arrested on Oct. 28 and charged with break-and- enter, break-and-enter and theft, mischief, possession of stolen property and other charges related to different thefts.

The arrest follows an Alexandria police investigation which led officers to one of the five suspects in the past week.

Police questioned the suspect, who then admitted to having taken part in the thefts.

"A can of worms opened up," said Alexandria police Const. Roger Levert, one of the investigating officers.

The suspect provided police with names of the four other suspects.

After questioning all of the suspects, police officers continued their investigation which led then police to recover about $4,000 worth of stereos, VCRs, televisions, power tools and other goods stolen from the Alexandria area.

Police are still looking for another $16,600 worth of goods stolen during break-ins in Alexandria and surrounding area.

The Ontario Provincial Police are also investigating various thefts which Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau said may lead to more charges against the five suspects.

Delorme, who is now at the County Jail in Cornwall, will appear in court in Alexandria on Nov. 5.

Court dates have not yet been set for the other four suspects, who were released by police.

Allan of the dogs to visit concert

Allan the Dogs (Allan MacRae) wandered the roads of Glengarry 100 years ago acting as unofficial dog catcher and chair-maker. Stories about him are still told in the area and some have been published, notably by Dorothy Dumbrille and Keith MacRae (no relation).

The howling of all the local dogs would announce his arrival as he tramped along singing his favorite song in Gaelic, English and French. He slept in barns and sheds, seldom being allowed inside a house for long as his personal hygiene left a lot to be desired.

In spite of his faults, legend has it that he was a great favorite with some of the less-fastidious ladies of the day.

Allan the Dogs will be attending the St. Andrew's Concert sponsored by the Glengarry Highland Society on Friday, November 6 at Glengarry District High School in Alexandria.

He is reputed to now be a changed character.

Joining Allan on stage for the ceilidh part of the program will be the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, violinist Allan MacPhail and his daughter Alana, the Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society, the Seanachies with special guests Ken MacKenzie, Gilles Losier, and Ralph Thompson.

The audience will be invited to join in the choruses of some of the Gaelic songs so popular in the area from the earliest days of the greater Glengarry settlement.

Halloween madness

ESRG News
by José Trottier

The school year is now in full swing; two months have already gone by oh so fast. Let me introduce myself. I am an OAC student at the school and, like all the others, I am operating on a very tight schedule. This is my first journalism experience so I hope you will please bear with me.

As I said, the year is in full swing: not only are we hard at work preparing for the midterm reports that will be out next week but we are having fun too. Halloween madness hit the school on Friday as all kinds of strange figures wandered the halls during the day.

In a brief contest during the morning health break, Luc Titley picked up a prize for his ''over-aged hippie'' getup and five OAC girls won with their cave woman costumes: Sophie Lauzon, Isabelle Séguin, France Paquette, Chantal Rochon, and Anik Desrochers. The day was capped with a Halloween dance in the cafetorium.

For the past two weeks Students' Council members have been selling class rings; these are a perfect memento of our short stay at ESRG. The campaign so far has been a great success. If you want to purchase a ring and didn't take advantage of this opportunity, don't be too concerned — the campaign will return some time in the spring. Now school sweatshirts will be on sale from the 11th of November to the 18th. This is the perfect Christmas gift idea.

The band members have started their annual citrus fruit drive to raise funds for their activities. If you want to purchase any, simply contact any band member — including me.

The ESRG ''Café chantant'' is gearing up for its first performance on Thursday, November 5, in the school cafetorium. This is a show you would not want to miss. However, there is a slight problem for those who want to attend; they have already sold every one of their 300 tickets. Wow! Next time we will have to get in line early. Good luck to the whole group.

On the same day, Nov. 5, the Red Cross is holding a blood donor clinic in the school gymnasium. If you are 17 years of age or older, please give the gift of life. The first two hours of the clinic (from noon to 2 p.m.) have been reserved for us, the students.

On the sports field, this year's efforts have really paid off. I would like to congratulate both the junior and senior boys soccer teams for their wins at the SD&G finals held last week at Char-Lan D.H.S.

That's all the news I have for this week. 'Til next time, have a good one!

Farmers spot weakness in lending agency

By Andre Perrella
News* reporter

A farmer identified a weak spot of the Farm Credit Corporation lending practises during an Eastern Ontario FCC seminar in Casselman last week.

After a panel of FCC representatives gave speeches Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 28, as to how committed the crown corporation is to serving farmers' financial needs, a dairy farmer's question revealed that the FCC's lending practice can be counter-productive for beginning farmers.

The farmer said that when the FCC loans money to a beginning farmer, the corporation holds much or all of the farmer's property as collateral, leaving the farmer without enough collateral to borrow money to buy feed, fertilizer and other needed goods.

The farmer asked what can the FCC do to solve this problem.

''It's one of the challenges for beginning farmers,'' answered Roger Shier, the assistant FCC vice-president for Ontario.

He began his response by acknowledging that the question was very challenging.

Another dairy farmer, Gerald Laplante of Sarsfield, said in an interview that Shier did not provide an adequate answer.

''I'm not satisfied,'' he said.

Laplante said the FCC should leave the beginning farmer with some property in order to acquire an operating loan.

''Leave something. Don't mortgage the whole farm,'' he said.

Guylain Castonguay, the FCC credit advisor for the counties of Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, said the FCC normally does not mortgage a farmer's entire property.

''In most of the loan applications, the (collateral) will be mostly real estate, cows and quotas,'' he said in an interview.

He said that leaves the beginning farmer with equipment, stocks, accounts receivable and other assets to use as collateral for an operating loan.

Castonguay said this may be a problem if the beginning farmer doesn't have enough assets left over for an adequate operating loan.

''It is a problem for beginning farmers.''

He added that in most cases, it's impossible for a farmer to receive a huge loan alone.

In most cases, a beginning farmer gets help from his father who mortgages part of his property.

Other than that discussion, most of the seminar's panelists discussed how the FCC works, and how farmers can benefit from it.

The FCC's seminar last week was held to inform Eastern Ontario farmers about the lending agency's services.

Panelists were going to discuss ammendments to the FCC Act, but did not because the ammendments were not yet presented to the House of Commons.

Wayne Gorman, FCC's Eastern Ontario district manager, spoke to the approximately 75 people in attendance about FCC's services.

He said farmers can apply for one-year to 20-years fixed mortgages at competitive interest rates, with different payment options.

Farmers can use the loans to build farm buildings and additions, purchase equipment, quotas and land.

Gorman added that farmers can also apply for an FCC loan to build a house on a farm.

Loan limits, which have been set by the Canadian government, are $350,000 for a single applicant and $600,000 for multiple applicants.

To determine a farmer's financing needs, a field officer will visit the farm with a portable computer which operates a modern financial analysis program.

And, a field officer will visit a farmer to discuss financing needs.

Therefore, a Curry Hill area farmer need not travel all the way to the nearest FCC office in Casselmen to negotiate a loan.

''Our credit advisor can approve a loan on the farm,'' Gorman said.

Gorman also dispelled some myths about FCC.

He said that contrary to what many people think, FCC has ample funds, it can finance operations of any size, and it no longer tends to give loans to younger farmers.

Gorman was the third speaker at the seminar.

Roger Shier, the first speaker, discussed the number of loans FCC has approved in Ontario over the past few years, and how FCC has improved its services.

One of the improvements Shier mentioned is that all FCC credit officers have been properly trained to use a state-of-the-art financial software which analizes farm records to help solve financial problems.

Castonguay, the second speaker, discussed information about the district, the number of loans issued, and other statistics about FCC's lending activities in Ontario.

The field office location for the five counties of Prescott, Russell, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry has been moved from Cornwall to Casselman because of the rural municipality's central location, Castonguay said.

The other Eastern Ontario offices are in Nepean and Kingston.

Council warns clinic to find its own funding

Kenyon Council will give $1,500 to George V. McDonald Memorial medical clinic in Apple Hill but warned the clinic board ''to end dependence on public funds.''

Council was told at its Oct. 27 meeting, that the clinic which was built in the 1960's by Apple Hill residents, needs a new roof and other renovations.

Deputy Reeve Donald Besner felt the monthly rental payment of $350 is ''awfully low, even though I know the residents don't want to lose their doctor.''

Councillor Blair Williams asked, ''is it justified for taxpayers of Kenyon to keep that clinic open, if it can't pay its way? Perhaps a 50-cent user fee should be charged.''

He suggested the clinic board ''form a committee and go out and fund-raise.''

Kenyon Clerk Mary McCuaig described the clinic's petition for funds, ''as a yearly re-occurring request which in effect pays their municipal tax bill.''

Deputy Reeve Besner said the clinic is heavily used by residents in the Martintown, St. Raphael's area, as well as Apple Hill.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance suggested ''with our problems of growing fiscal restraint clinics like these must devise a financial plan to end dependence on public funds.''

Correction

An article on page 3 of the Oct. 28 issue of The News detailing a crash involving a pickup truck and an OPP cruiser contained inaccuracies. The vehicles were both travelling west, not east as was stated in the article. And it was the driver's door, not the passenger door of the truck which was damaged.

Community support

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

Despite hard times and nasty weather, the Williamstown Fair continues to be a success, and President Ron Eamer knows the reason why. Speaking at the annual meeting of the St. Lawrence Valley Agricultural Society, held at St. Mary's Centre on Thursday night, Ron told members, "The community has rallied behind us like I think we've never seen before." Volunteer workers, the support of local businesses, and the many individual donors mean that the fair will continue, not only to survive, but to flourish.

Following dinner, greetings were delivered from several head table dignitaries: MPP John Cleary from the province; Ladies Division President Cheryl Wightman, and Glengarry Dairy Princess Meagan Robertson. Meagan said that agricultural fairs give the dairy industry the opportunity to show that its products are nutritious. She also warned that often scientific studies involving dairy products, "are taken out of context."

Guest speaker at the event, David "Bethune-Thompson" Anderson, gave those who attended a glimpse at some of the kernels he has gathered from his squirreling days at the archives.

David talked about the formation of the Highland Society and how one of its aims in the early nineteenth century was to promote agriculture by awarding prizes at the fair.

According to some of the MacGillivray documents still extant, these prizes were worth a bundle. In 1820, for example, the entrant with the best bull and cow was awarded the sum of 3½ pounds. That same year Fraserfield was awarded five pounds for having the greatest quantity of fruit trees. But in 1822, "a curious phenomenon" occurred. A Cornwall boy by the fascinating name of All Saints Chesley "cleaned up" at the fair, winning for practically everything.

After 1822, the Highland Society of Canada ceased donating prizes to the Williamstown Fair!

Mac Edwards presented the Ontario Agriculture Society Service Award to Lancaster area farmer, Grant Cameron. Merit awards were presented to Coleman MacDonald and his brother, Milton MacDonald, while Margo Patrick was acknowledged as this year's recipient of the Premier Exhibitor's Award.

Robert McDonell, long-time director of the fair board has resigned. In recognition of his many years of service, Robert will join Ruth Mowat, Francis Chretien, Archibald MacDonell, Neil Sangster and S. J. McLeod as an honorary director.

* * *

The fair board also accepted, with regret, the resignation of Marg Laplante from its board of directors. Marg is also a former president of the Ladies Division and will be missed.

Replacing Robert and Marg on the board will be Jerome MacDonell and Pat Hamilton. Other directors include: George Alguire, Dorothy Cummings, Sue Derochie, Ron Eamer, Brian Greer, Nancy Hallberg, Ray Howes, Glen Jurchuk, Duncan MacArthur, John R. MacDonell, John MacIntosh, Clarence Robertson, George Runions, Robin Thomson, Amy Ward, Marc Carriere, Angela Dorie, Bob Donkers, Mac Edwards, Don Hallberg, Ralph Humphries, Carolyn Laing, Garnet MacDougall, Garry O'Connell, Randolph Ross, Doug Sova, Tony Vogel and Jay Woollven.

The fair board's secretary-treasurer is Joan P. MacDonald.

Well Halloween '92 is now a ghost of the past and altogether it would appear that the number of eggshells on village pavements varies inversely with the number of police cars cruising around!

Thanks to the OPP's presence, this Halloween will rank low on the mischief scale, despite the rumors which were circulating in advance of the night.

Mention must be made of Halloween artistry in our area. Over near Kraft an eye-catching, car-stopping scene was played out in front of Barry and Lise Gordon's place. Frankenstein, ghosts and witches were all on display in grand fashion.

A display of Viola Pilon's crafts takes place this weekend, Nov. 6 and 7, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. at the home of daughter Anne McDonell, Hay Road, Summerstown. There will be a door prize.

This is also the weekend of St. Andrew's Church supper which takes place on Saturday, Nov. 7 in Irvine Hall, beginning around 4:30-5 p.m. and running until either people or food run out! Prices are reasonable and opportunity to socialize is great. So plan to attend and catch up on all the news!

* * *

Also on Saturday, though in the morning at 10:30 a.m., there will be the second in the library's four part story-hour series. This week's theme will be "the farm." All area youngsters are invited.

* * *

A special welcome to "neighbors," Nancy (Warden) Geneau and daughter Allison, who have bought the old Smith house, previously owned by the Whites.

I had meant to deliver this welcome "over the fence," but you are forewarned: a visit is pending!

Sympathy is extended to Cathy and Tim MacDougall and family on the passing of Cathy's father, George Lunan, last Friday.

Remembrance Day services will be held this Sunday, Nov. 8, at the Cenotaph in Williamstown at 11:30 a.m. It is to be hoped that parents will encourage their children to attend the service, now that Nov. 11 is no longer a school holiday.

It is also hoped that through traffic will avoid the area during the service, if at all possible.

After a stint in Lancaster, Ken's Craft Shoppe is returning to its former location in Williamstown on Heron Road. And on Nov. 5 (Thursday) there will be a grand opening to which you are invited.

The shop, beside Taylor's house, will carry not only crafts, but craft supplies as well. Workshops for both adults and children will be starting soon. These workshops will be held on weekends and will feature the making of one item per session. In other words, at the end of the two and one-half hour workshop, you take the finished item home with you. For more information on these workshops, call Dot Taylor at 347-2337.

Williamstown Public School Committee meeting will be held this Thursday. Speaking will be Dr. David Kaufman, chief psychologist of the S.D.&G. public board who will talk about communication within the home.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m in the school library.

You responded well last year when the plea was made, and once again the public school is asking for your help. The school is looking for reading "buddies" who will spare half an hour once a week to read to a group of young children during the noon hour.

If you are able to volunteer your services, please phone Cathy Kinloch, who is co-ordinating the program.

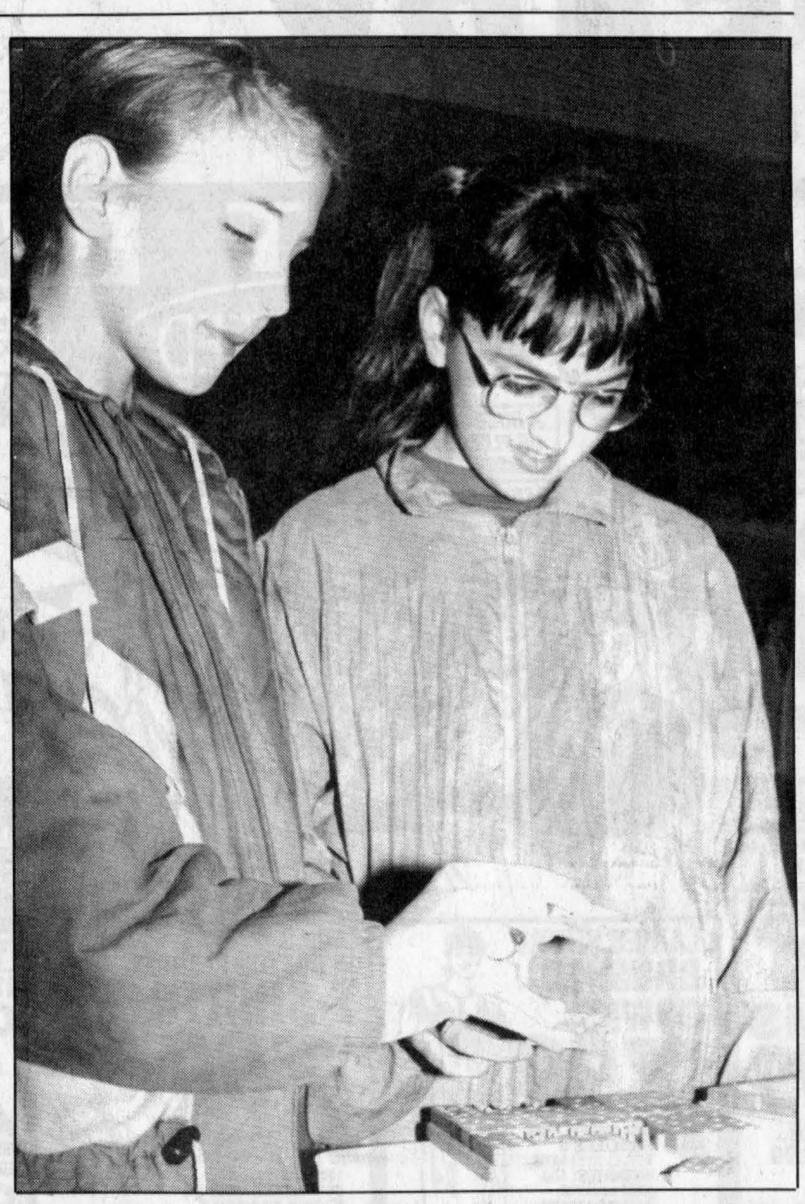
Char-Lan High School was the location, Monday, for a meeting of the Community-Education Liaison Committee (CELC).

And what exactly is CELC? This is a committee comprised of educators, career guidance officials, and representatives of industry and business, who meet to discuss how schools can better prepare students for the work place of the future.

Those present on Monday were given a tour of Char-Lan's new technology lab and design centre, and were unanimous in agreeing that our school is attempting to provide students with the technological education they will need when they enter the work force several years down the line.



Ten-year-old Sarah McDonald and Laura Bougie, 12, were two of many visitors who patronized the Glengarry Arts and Crafts Association 23rd Anniversary Craft and Gift Show held recently. The girls stopped to try their hands at a puzzle displayed by Alexandria artisan Don Lucas. Other artisans brought stain-glass ornaments, jewelry, smocked dresses, blown glass, stencilled boxer shorts, tole-painted hand-crafted wooden articles and homemade chocolate. Attendance was average this year, say participants.

Tartan Tea and Bazaar a success

St. Andrew's United

The United Church Ladies are pleased with the support from both buyers, workers and donators who helped make the United Church Ladies Tartan Tea and Bazaar a great success.

The scones were the biggest hit and we ended up running out of them so Sylvia Thomson ended up scooting home and whipped up some more and then served hot scones from the church oven. So many were asking for the recipe, so I promised to print it in this week's column.

Scones

2 cups flour, 1/3 tsp. baking soda, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 cup raisins, 1 egg yolk, 2 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1/3 cup margarine, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup sour cream.

Cut margarine into dry ingredients. Add raisins, vanilla and cream. Mix. Roll out one inch think, cut out and brush with egg white. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375°F for 15 minutes or until golden brown.

This recipe came from the Second Street United Church, Saskatoon, Sask., in our Let's Break Bread Together United Church Cookbook. Enjoy.

Nice to see so many friends from St. Andrews, Long Sault, Ottawa, Vankleek Hill, Williamstown, Cornwall and everywhere in between for the tea.

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, the 4-H members got a chance to carve their pumpkins for Halloween. There were many different faces and techniques.

After this, Angie Bold one of the leaders, then showed the youths how to do cross stitch. All turned out well! The cross stitching projects are to be handed in for achievement day.

For the next meeting Wednesday, Nov. 4 the youths are all reminded to take their wreaths.

Martintown Good-Timers

Bridge lessons are going really well on Wednesday mornings. Bert Mosher is indeed a fine teacher with lots of helpers for improving our bridge game, the only trick is trying to remember them, but members have a handy book to keep them on track.

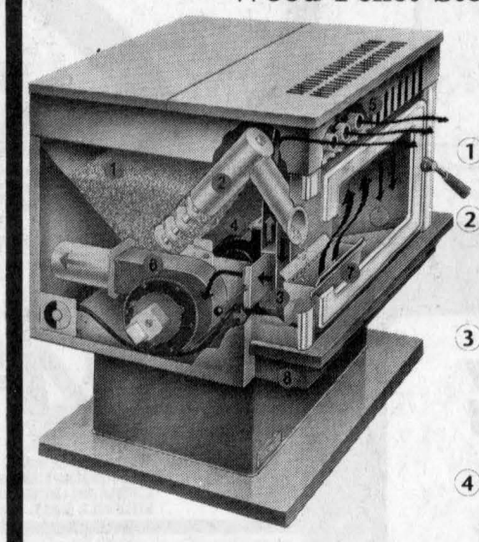
Wood Pellet Stoves



MAJOR COMPONENTS OF ENVIROFIRE

1 Hopper – Can hold up to 55 lbs of fuel.

2 Auger – A machine-crafted auger to provide the combustion area with a controlled amount of pellets.

3 Combustion Air – Fresh air enters the stove from the rear and is directed to the base of the grate to give the fire a constant supply of oxygen.

4 Combustion Fan – Forced air is not only directed across the face of the glass to keep the viewing area clear, but sent around the firebox, heated, then pushed out through the Heat Exchanger Tubes. 5

ENVIROFIRE

6 Exhaust Fan – The remaining exhaust gases, which were not expended in the initial burning process, are forced out the rear of the stove. Emissions are less than 1 gram per hour!

7 Burn Pot – The burn pot holds the pellets and allows interaction with the combustion air for the highest possible burning efficiency.

8 Ash Pan – An easily removable ash pan allows the leftover ash to be quickly thrown out without any unsightly mess.

VON CANADA Caring for Life By Dr. George McKiel

Do you get migraine?

If so, you are not alone, for 3.2 million Canadians do! We all get headaches but when do you know its a migraine? Try this quiz and analyze your headache:

DO YOU

1. feel the pain on one side of your head?	X
2. have a throbbing deep in your head?	X
3. feel sick, even vomit?	X
4. anticipate its coming before it hurts?	X
5. cry with pain, or think you're going mad?	X
6. look so wan your friends comment on how ill you look?	X
7. dislike noise - or light?	X
8. avoid being touched?	X
9. feel your sense of smell is different?	X
10. notice that it gets worse if you move?	X
11. get a tingling in your arms/legs?	X
12. want to get away by yourself when normally, if unwell, you seek comfort?	X
13. find your eyes go funny: see flashes or zigzags, things look dark, patterned or odd?	X
14. find it usually lasts between 4 hrs and 3 days?	X

If you circled any or several of these, you are likely a migraine victim but the list also tells you how varied and confusing migraines can be. Its been estimated our Can. economy loses $500 million every year in lost productivity because 77% of migrainers lose work or social pastimes because of an attack. Even after the migraine passes you may feel drained and exhausted so cannot resume normal activities for hrs, perhaps days afterwards.

CANADIAN MIGRAINE FOUNDATION

a not-for-profit, national organization states that a true understanding of migraine still eludes researchers. Certainly it is tied in with brain blood supply, a loss of tone in certain blood vessels, but an important chemical, serotonin, which passes signals from one nerve to another, fluctuates and this seems linked to migraine attacks. So present medical treatment is to use drugs that can mimic the specific function of serotonin.

Though coping with your migraine with icecold compresses, darkened room, quiet or medication, may be of some help, the better way is to be aware of migraine triggers and these fall into 4 main categories:

1) hormonal (migraines are twice as frequent in women)—Potential Triggers: menstruation, ovulation, pregnancy, menopause, contraceptive pills

2) weather (hard to avoid)—strong sun, especially glare, cold and driving rain, approaching storms, sudden climate change, quick drop in barometric pressure

3) stress (hypnosis, biofeedback, acupuncture, meditation and yoga, massage, may preclude or control migraine)—fatigue, over exertion, emotional stress (good or bad), too little sleep

4) food (you're in charge here!)—dairy products, esp. aged cheese, chocolate, citrus, fatty or fried, onions, tomatoes, beans, spinach, some meats, notably pork, some seafood, coffee and caffeine drinks, monosodium glutamate (flavor enhancer often called MSG)

A new medication, just released in Canada, called Imitrex (or sumatriptan) has some promise and is available in pill or injection form. However, since migraine is so variable, its best to consult with your physician before taking medication or starting unsupervised therapy.

Local involvement wanted for Remembrance Day

Next euchres will be Thursday, Nov. 12 and Nov. 26 at 1:30 p.m. at the Martintown Community Centre, with prizes and refreshments.

Bridge games are held on Monday afternoons at 12:30 p.m.

The seniors will be having the bake table at the Community Centre Craft Day, Saturday, Nov. 14 and would really appreciate the usual co-operation with this project.

Exercise classes are going great on Tuesday and Friday mornings. We have a good number of both men and women, but now that I'm getting in shape, I'm having trouble with stopping my curling stones at the Cornwall Curling Rink from ending up in the Water Street Arena.

Pot luck supper this year will be Dec. 9 at noon. Members and those who would like to become members are most welcome.

Martintown & District Horticulture Society

Pot luck supper will be the wind-up of this year's activities and it will be held at the Martintown Community Centre on Wednesday, Nov. 4 starting at 6:30 p.m. Election of officers will be held and members are reminded to bring along things for the auction.

Nov. 8 we will be having Mac Robertson also a lay preacher from Bainsville.

Communion Sunday coming up Nov. 15 with Rev. Clifford Evans back from his trip to the U.K.

Rev. Evans will also be with us Nov. 22. If you were thinking of having your baby christened soon, this might be an opportunity to do so, the contact person is Charlie Kinloch at 528-4486.

The Williamstown ladies will be having their supper Saturday, Nov. 7 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Martintown Public School

Mr. Bain is encouraging community involvement in the school's Remembrance Day ceremonies Wed., Nov. 11 being held in the gym at 11 a.m.

If any families, churches, or organizations (Optimist, guides, 4-H, Women's Institute or Masons, etc.) would like to lay a wreath, please contact the school as soon as possible. Wreaths are available through the Cornwall Legion.

Light refreshments will be served to guests.

Cheese sales deadline is Thursday, Nov. 19 with delivery being Thursday, Dec. 3. Parents are asked to save plastic bags.

* * *

Carpenters for bookshelves for encyclopedias for the library are still needed. Please contact the school and details can be worked out.

* * *

Personalized listening devices such as radio/cassettes/CD players with headphones are considered dangerous while jogging, walking, cycling or driving a motor vehicle, and the schools are publicizing the dangers, as they potentially interfere with a person's awareness of his/her surroundings.

Women's Institute

Don't forget the district WI is planning a fun rally at the Apple Hill Recreation Centre on Thursday, Nov. 5, starting at 6 p.m., with a pot luck supper. A warm welcome is extended to all members both old and new. Hope you will be able to make it!

The Martintown Branch has been asked to cater to the Cherry Crest Invitational Sale being held on Don Johnson's farm, just west of the village, Friday, Nov. 13. Alison Murray and Sylvia Thomson are in charge of this project.

You are reminded that folk attending such a sale arrive early in the morning, so donors of food should take their baking to either Sylvia Thomson, Alison Murray or Elizabeth Peters on Thursday evening Nov. 12. These three ladies plan to be on the farm site very early in the morning of Nov. 13 — ready for business. Your support would be very much appreciated.

Next Women's Institute meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 19 at the Presbyterian Church Hall at 1:30 p.m. Roll call is a responsibility of a good citizen, convenor is Mary Murray and program is citizenship and legislation.

Martintown Optimist

Next meeting is Thursday, Nov. 5 at 7:30 at the community centre.

Members have the okay from the municipality to go ahead with a library at the community centre, so any books area residents no longer require or are sitting around collecting dust, could probably be put to good use. Right now, members are busy cataloging what has been donated so far and getting ready to build the shelves. People with any donations for this purpose the contact person is me, Jean Butler at 528-4319.

What a fun-filled evening was had Wednesday, Oct. 28 when members had a bus trip to the Naismith Challenge Basketball game in Ottawa. The New Jersey Nets vs Cleveland Cavaliers.

The 11-year-old, Jory Steinberg (Miserables co-star with Cassandra Togneri) sent shivers up your spine when she sang the American and Canadian (bilingual) national anthems and received a thunderous ovation, the loudest of the night.

The fans marvelled at what some of the best in the business of basketball could do with a ball, their bodies and the combination of the two. I was particularly interested in the stretching exercises they put themselves through before the game. I think a lot can be learned from that as well.

Many of our Martintown youth had their friends from Williamstown and Lancaster sleep over, as there was school the next day. As our bus returned about 11:30, about 20 waiting cars filled up quickly with plenty of memories of this night, for their trip home to their warm beds.

Euchre winners for last week are: Isabel MacLennan, Lionel Glaude, Jeannette Laflamme, Mathieu Charlebois, Juliette Robertson, Fernand Carrière, Lionel Ouimet and Claire Boucher. Skunk is Mance Ménard, special draw winner is Perle Sabourin and draw winners are Keith MacRae, Donat Titley and Fernand Carrière. The door prize winner is Rosario Lacasse. Birthday of the month prize went to Perle Sabourin. Next euchre will be on Nov. 10.

Reminder

There are stories, games and songs for French speaking children from three to six years of age tomorrow (Nov. 5) at the social centre from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

* * *

Mrs. Mary Jane McIntosh died last week. She was the dear mother of Pearl Lalonde and Kathleen Picher. We offer our deepest sympathy to them and the whole family.

* * *

Bishop Eugene LaRocque was our special guest last weekend. He celebrated the masses both here and in Dalkeith, visited the sick, met with the parishioners and with some youths, visited the Laurier-Carrière School and performed two christenings with Father Denis Lefebvre assisting him.

We really enjoyed his short stay with us.

Congratulations to Ronald and Louise Carrière whose son, Pierre Luc was baptized last Sunday and also, to Pierre and Debbie Decoeur whose daughter, Stéphanie, was baptized in St. Martin of Tours parish last Sunday.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Marc Sauvé who will be nine years old today (Nov. 4) and to my sister Denise Collette on her 50th birthday this coming Saturday (Nov. 7).

The $1,000 Optimist monthly draw for November was held last Sunday and Paul Duval of Alexandria was the lucky winner.

One hundred and ten kids dressed in scary and funny costumes enjoyed the Halloween party last Saturday at the social centre. Winners for the drawings were: Jean Savoie, Julien Rozon and Tina MacDonald.

Pumpkin winners are Cody Cleroux, Ashley Lalonde and Kevin Van Den Oetelaar and family.

Costume winners are Veronique Lanthier, Christian Decoste and Christina Lalonde.

Many more prizes were awarded and the Optimist Club wish to thank area sponsors for donations. A few names were lost in the process and didn't have a chance to win a prize. The Optimist Club apologizes about the error and like the motto says, mistakes will happen and the only people who don't make any mistakes are the ones who do nothing. Most of us, being quite busy, I guess we'll just have to laugh and learn from each mistake. Have a good week!

Kenyon Township

Council Briefs

The following are among the items discussed by Kenyon Township council at its regular monthly meeting Oct. 27.

Arena costs

Maxville arena pays $12,000 a month for electricity Deputy Reeve Donald Besner told Kenyon council, and the arena board wants to switch to oil heating.

"Everything at the arena is powered electrically," reported Besner who represents Kenyon on the board.

Besner said board members figure they can save $14,000 a year heating with oil, and an additional $5,000 by installing new energy saving lights and ceiling fans.

The new energy plan must be presented to Maxville village council for approval and letting of tenders.

Dunvegan Museum

Councillor Blair Williams noted a 25 per cent jump in visits to Dunvegan Museum last summer and the possibility of a strip of adjoining land being donated to enlarge the museum grounds.

"We've got a really active Museum committee," Williams enthused, "they are looking at moving the old Legion Hall from Apple Hill to the museum site."

Williams said the Legion Hall, an old school building, was deeded to Kenyon.

Councillor Gwen Morris said the school was not from Kenyon area but came from Frog Hollow in Charlottenburgh Township. "I know because I taught in that school."

Williams said he would look into awarding a scholarship to a graduate student to research and write a history of Kenyon Township.

"Several municipalities have done this," Williams reported, "and they made enough from sale of the book to pay for the scholarship."

Clerk Mary McCuaig said township files are quite full and accessible for study.

Lot size

Council discussed the impact of an Eastern Ontario Health Unit rural lot-size resolution passed this fall.

Clerk McCuaig pointed out that Kenyon may have to ammend both its Official Plan and building bylaws, to conform to the minimum lot size of .3 hectares with 125' frontage recommended by the health unit.

Kenyon requires .2 hectares with 150' frontage for lots with septic systems and wells.

"Health Unit regulations could mean a whole mess of changes for us," Deputy Reeve Donald Besner said, "but I guess the unit wants to avoid problems like we have had at Maxville and Apple Hill."

Maxville installed a sewage system because of well pollution and Kenyon has applied for funds to correct water problems in Apple Hill where 55 per cent of wells are polluted.

Honorarium

Kenyon council voted a $400 honorarium to Kent MacSweyn for representing the township on Glengarry Memorial Hospital board.

Sheep killed

A claim to pay $100 for a sheep killed by wolves on the farm of Vernon Phillips was okayed by Kenyon council — the third animal felled in a month.

Reeve Wilfred Vallance asked the clerk to investigate avenues of compensation from the province.

"We've lost so many animals to wolves this year it's worth finding out if the Ministry of Agriculture and Food has a re-imbursement program."

Asthma is misunderstood

Asthma is an underestimated disease which can kill people, an allergy specialist told about 15 local medical professionals Sept. 30.

Dr. Anthony Ham Pong, who addressed local doctors to inform them about asthma, which kills 600 Canadians a year, is misunderstood.

"People used to think asthma didn't kill," Pong said during a telephone interview.

Pong, who works at CHEO, said too many people believe asthma is a temporary disorder which will go away in time.

That is false.

Asthma is an inherited disease which is not totally reversible.

Asthmatics have lungs which are sensitive to smoke and pollution. The lungs inflame, causing discomfort and breathing problems.

Asthma is irritated by allergies, exercise and pollution.

Recently, more asthma patients are dying per year.

Pong said the deaths may be due to increased pollution, or the type of drugs available to asthma patients.

Certain drugs immediately relieve discomfort, but do nothing to prevent the lung inflammation.

As a matter of fact, they can cause the inflammation to be further aggravated, but the patient won't know it because the drugs eliminate the symptoms.

As a result, asthmatics' conditions worsen with continued use of such drugs.

Pong said although such drugs are useful if used properly, there are other drugs which prevent the lungs from being inflammed.

"It might even help prevent long-term damage to the lungs," Pong said.

Lancaster Township

Council Briefs

The following items were discussed by Lancaster Township council members during an Oct. 28 public meeting at the municipal hall in North Lancaster.

New frontage requirements

Lobbying succeeded in forcing the Eastern Ontario Health Unit to relax a strict resolution over the size of future lots.

Lancaster council members and other municipal officials all over Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry opposed a resolution the health unit passed in spring whereby new lots in areas not serviced by municipal water and sewer systems have a frontage of at least 200-feet, twice as wide as what Lancaster Township requires.

Smaller lots will be considered a special case whereby the lot owner must spend about $2,000 for soil and drainage tests to prove to the health unit that the lot will not pose any health hazards.

After opposition from municipal officials all over SDG, the health unit passed another resolution lowering the required frontage for future lot sizes to be at least 125-feet wide.

Although Lancaster Township's bylaws require lot sizes be at least 100-feet wide, council members said the EOHU new resolution is reasonable.

Water treatment employee

The township will ask the Ontario Ministry of Environment to appoint an operator for a water treatment plant for a Concession 1 subdivision.

The treatment plant draws water from the St. Lawrence River and must undergo several chemical and treatment processes.

Under government regulations, the plant must be operated by an accredited water treatment plant operator.

Council concluded that since MOE has many people accredited to operate water treatment plants, the ministry will be asked to provide an operator for the Redwood Estates Subdivision.

Fix faulty dispatch service

Council agreed with a Finch Township resolution to ask Ontario's solicitor-general to relocate the emergency dispatch system from Kanata to Long Sault.

Finch passed its resolution in September in response to how rescuers were dispatched to the August fatal collision between a van and a VIA Rail passenger train at a Highway 138 level crossing near Dyer Road.

The Ontario Provincial Police central dispatch in Kanata first called the Long Sault fire department to the scene when in fact the accident occurred in the Moose Creek fire department area.

Dispatchers did not call other fire departments, such as in Maxville and Avonmore, which were also closer to the accident than Long Sault firefighters.

Finch council members concluded that since dispatchers in Kanata appear to be unaware of the different fire departments in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, the dispatch centre should therefore be relocated closer to the area such as in Long Sault.

Too many school boards

Council members agreed with a Georgian Bay Township resolution which opposes the formation of four school boards.

The Cousineau Commission on French Language Euducation Self Governance has recommended that Ontario have four school boards: anglo public, anglo Catholic, franco public, franco Catholic school boards.

Georgian Bay's council members feel that only one school board is necessary on the basis that four school boards will drive up property taxes and segregate ethnic communities which should learn together.

Although Lancaster township Deputy Reeve Steve Preston said the British North America Act guarantees Catholic school boards, council voted to agree with the resolution.

Noble's prize

Local MPP Noble Villeneuve has asked council to nominate two township residents for a commemorative medal to mark Canada's 125th anniversary.

Ontario's legislative members have been allocated 25 medals each, which they will award to riding residents who have made significant contributions to their community.

Council agreed to nominate two township residents before the Nov. 1 deadline.

Lancaster skit a hit at Glengarry Presbyterial rally

The Fall Rally of Glengarry Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society was held in St. John's Presbyterian Church, Cornwall on Tuesday, Sept. 29 with a good attendance.

The ladies and gentlemen were welcomed to the church and O Canada was sung. Grace was said and a pot luck dinner was enjoyed.

The Rev. Ian MacMillan, past moderator, brought greetings from Presbytery and some ladies from St. John's choir sang "Thank You."

There was a display of books from Lighthouse with Clifford MacRae in charge.

A hymn-sing was led by Vera MacEwen and pianist Lorna MacGregor. The worship service was conducted by the Dunvegan group on the theme, Stewardship, and ending with the Philosophy of Stewardship in unison.

Our thoughts and prayers were for Jean Canham and family whose son, Randy is seriously ill. Linda Carmichael sang, Lift Me Up, which she had composed and which was very moving.

Shelagh MacDougall, treasurer, commented on her report that the offerings were more than in 1991 to this very day.

Helen Stewart gave an interesting account of General Assembly highlights and referred us to the report in the Presbyterian Record.

Mrs. MacRae introduced the guest speaker, Lynn Dent, wife of the Rev. Dr. Jonathan Dent of St. John's. She is a Newfoundlander, moved to Montreal to learn French, then to British Columbia for further education where she met her husband and lived in several areas of Canada before coming to Cornwall.

Her message was on Stewardship. To be a good steward you must hear what Christ is saying, and make him Lord of your life, and to be like Him and to spend time with Him. Like Jesus we must know the scriptures and attend church. We must also spend time in prayer by ourselves, Be still and Know that I am God and imagine that He is with us. She related many areas of her life where God helped her.

The Lancaster group presented a skit, "The Perfect Church," setting in a Manicure's Salon; Martintown, a reading from a diary, and Maxville, a skit by The Singing Grandmothers in costume and with dancing called "I'm Having the Time of My Life." There was lots of laughter from these presentations.

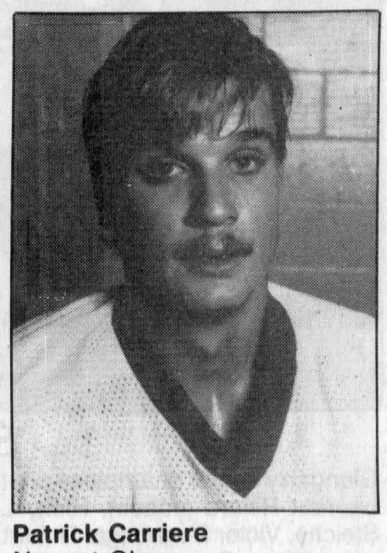
Glens assistant captain Jeff McLean cuts in front of Athens goaltender Andy Moorhead in action from Friday's Junior B game at the Glengarry Sports Palace. The contest was marred by a game-ending brawl in the third period.

Patrick gets second chance with Glens



Patrick Carriere
Newest Glen

Defenceman Patrick Carriere, who walked out on the Char-Lan Rebels two weeks ago, is skating in junior B once again.

The Green Valley native has come full circle by signing with the Alexandria Glens, the team he skated with at the beginning of the 1990-91 season.

Carriere quit the Rebels because of differences with new Char-Lan Coach Philip Brown, who had cut back the former Rebel blue-liner's ice time.

''They didn't like the style I played,'' said Carriere, who played a regular shift under Randy Larocque's tutelage last season. ''They wanted younger defencemen and they wanted them to be disciplined like little robots.''

What the situation in Char-Lan boiled down to is the fact that Carriere didn't want to spend his last year of regular junior eligibilty riding the pine.

''I was getting less and less ice time. I don't need that at my age (20).''

But Carriere holds no grudges against the Char-Lan coaching staff.

''I don't have anything against them. Things just didn't work out.''

Fright night to fight night

Pre-Halloween clash halted by third period brawl

For the second year in a row, a junior B game involving the Alexandria Glens has been cut short because of a brawl.

But unlike last November, when the Brockville Tikis were forced to forfeit to the Glens after every Brockville team member had been assessed a penalty, last Friday's game against Athens ended when the Aeros skated off the ice and did not return.

Athens, up 4-2 at the time of the brawl, thus defaults to Alexandria. The matter will likely be reviewed by the league this week.

The trouble started 3:56 into the third period when Alexandria's Randy Gebbie got into a fracas with Athens goaltender Andy Moorhead and then with defenceman Bill Dixie.

Despite the officials efforts to get both teams to go to their benches, only a few Athens players complied and skaters from both teams were milling around in the Athens zone.

The officials were still concentrating their efforts on chasing the players to their benches while Dixie was starting to get a clear advantage in his fight with Gebbie.

Pat Carriere, playing in his first game with Alexandria, came to his teammate's aid and several other skirmishes developped.

The Athens players who had gone to the bench then rushed in to join the melee, followed by the Alexandria bench and then the rest of the Athens bench.

After some measure of order had been restored, Athens coach Brent Scott walked onto the ice and directed his players to accompany him to the dressing room.

Scott had a brief exchange with referee Marc Lafontaine before leaving the ice, and soon after the Aeros had departed the scene, two minutes were put up on the clock.

After those two minutes had expired, Lafontaine called the game and awarded the win to Alexandria.

Serge Bellefeuille scored two goals in Sunday's loss in Westport and continues to be Alexandria's top scorer.

A total of 312 penalty minutes, including 22 game misconducts, were called as a result of the brawl - 160 to Athens and 152 to Alexandria.

The Aeros were the ones called for leaving the bench first, a fact Scott disputes.

''I held my guys, they were the first ones to leave the bench,'' maintains Scott. ''The referee obviously lost control of the game.''

Scott also had some harsh words for Alexandria.

''That (fighting) has always been their style,'' he said of the Glens. ''It's the same thing every time we come down here.

''One of our guys (Bill Dixie) got kicked during the fight and that's the kind of chickens--- things that they (the Glens) are known for.''

Scott also didn't appreciate the way Lafontaine handled the end of the game.

''He was looking for an easy way out and I guess he found it. He's a chickens--- too.''

Scott denies he was told by the referee that he had two minutes to get his team back on the ice as the Aeros were leaving, but says he may not have returned even if he had known that Athens was in danger of defaulting.

''It would have depended on how the penalties were called...but there's no way I'm going to go out there with players who need stitches,'' he said referring to Dixie, who suffered a deep gash on the side of his head.

While it's safe to say that the two teams should share the blame for the original outburst of violence, the only question that remains is who was responsible for the scene developping into a pier-six brawl?

''The referee called them for leaving the bench first and that's the way we saw it too,'' said Alexandria coach Lee Taillefer.

He denies that there was any premeditation to the violence.

''We weren't looking for a brawl,

Gael streaks alive

All three Glengarry basketball teams kept their current streaks intact last week after SDG games against Cornwall Collegiate (Tuesday) and North Dundas (Friday).

The senior Gaels dropped both games and have now lost four straight. On the flip side of the coin, the juniors have now won four in a row while the midgets have put five in a row in the win column.

In Maple Ridge on Friday, Tania McClements hit for 12 points, including a pair of three-pointers, in a 28-24 Glengarry win over the North Dundas juniors.

Miranda Burgess added six points for the Gaels, now 4-1.

Christine Harper had 12 points for the Devils.

The senior Gaels dropped a 40-34 decision as Brenda Kennedy scored 20 points for the winners.

Renata Clingen had 16 points for Glengarry while Wendi Lawson had 10.

The Glengarry midgets crushed North Dundas 36-2 as Rachel Denner paced the offence with 20 points. Meghan MacPherson added 10.

At CCVS Tuesday

The Glengarry juniors steamrolled the Golden Raiders in Cornwall on Tuesday, claiming a 46-10 decision.

Julie Aube led the offence with 13 points, followed by Laura Urquhart with 10 and Mandi Newland with eight.

The seniors were routed 46-20 as Tobi Bedard led CCVS with 15 points.

Wendi Lawson had 12 points to lead the Gaels while Carol MacLeod chipped in with six.

The midgets cruised to a 35-5 triumph as Jacinda Rudolph and Rachel Denner scored 10 points apiece. Sarah Dalby added nine.

Seaway sweeps Char-Lan

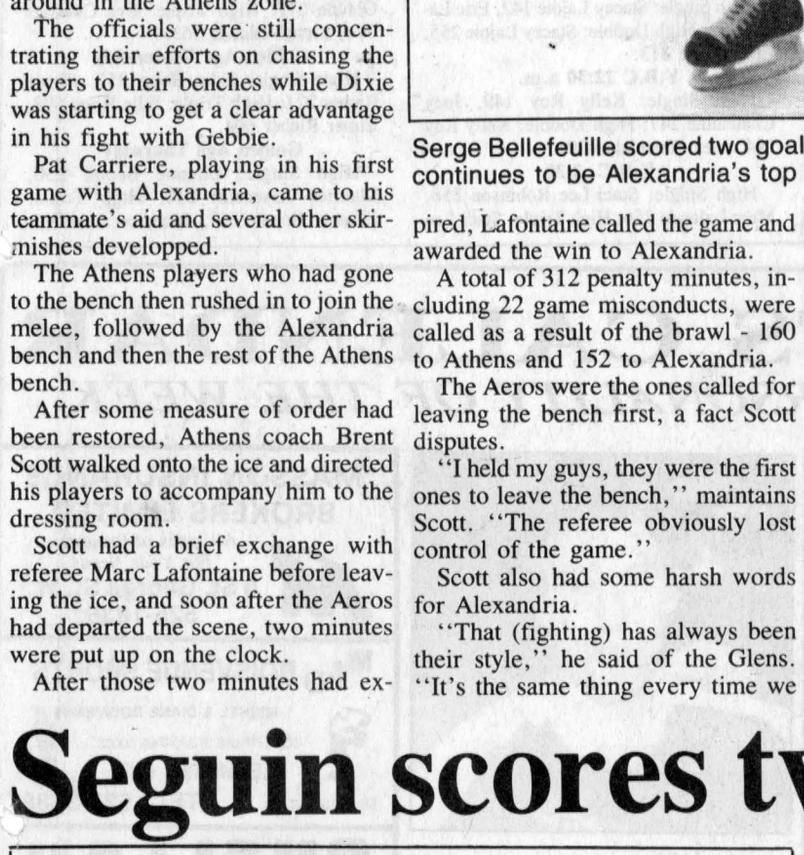
The Char-Lan girls basketball teams went oh-for-three against Seaway District High School last Monday as the Spartans swept senior, junior and midget contests.

In an ugly, low-scoring senior game, Seaway edged Char-Lan 20-19. Char- Lan's Katharine MacLachlan had seven points to lead all scorers while Marianne St.Pierre lead Seaway with six

Dianna Barton scored 14 points to lead the Seaway juniors to a 54-20 victory over the Crusaders, who were led offensively by Joanne Legault's six points.

The Char-Lan midgets lost 14-12.

Seguin scores two as Rebs blank Rangers



Trevor McMillan recorded his first ever junior B shutout in Char-Lan's 7-0 win over South Grenville on Sunday afternoon. The Rangers have now been shut out in three consecutive games.

Rebels.
JR "B" HOCKEY CLUB

The Char-Lan special teams clicked for five goals - three by the penalty- killers and two by the power play unit - as the Rebels evened their record at 4-4 with an easy 7-0 win over the South Grenville Rangers on Sunday afternoon in Williamstown.

Trevor McMillan stopped 26 Ranger shots to record a rare junior B shutout while the Rebels fired 61 shots at beleaguered South Grenville netminder Dan Torg.

Midget affiliate Pierre Seguin, playing in his first game with the Rebels, scored twice and added an assist while centering a line with Cory Maxam and Denis St.Jean.

Seguin was pressed into action when two centremen, Dan Desjardins and Dave McDonald, went down with injuries and a third, Martin Laroche, left the club to hook up with the Tier II Brockville Braves.

''He's a real fireplug,'' said Char-Lan coach Philip Brown of Seguin. ''We'll definitely call him up again.''

Another newcomer to the Char-Lan lineup on Sunday was defenceman Craig Gabri, formerly of the Cornwall Colts.

''He'll stabilize our defence a little bit,'' said Brown. ''Our defence was weak at the beginning of the year but we're forming a pretty good base (for a solid defence) now.''

Gabri scored once on Sunday as did John Edgerton, Denis St.Jean, Greg Wylie and Terry O'Farrell.

The goals scored by Gabri, O'Farrell and one of Seguin's two goals came while Char-Lan was playing shorthanded.

It was just a generally ugly game for South Grenville who would have lost by much more were it not for a strong performance by goaltender Torg, who made 54 saves.

Because of the Rangers' dismal effort, it was difficult to tell how much the Rebels had improved from the previous weekend when Char-Lan lost both of their games.

''It's hard to judge your own team when you play one of the lower teams in the standings,'' said Brown. ''You don't want to develop any bad habits in a game like this, that's why we called a timeout (in the third period with the Rebels up 6-0).''

Char-Lan's next two games will also be against sub-.500 teams from the Rideau Division. The Gananoque Islanders will be in Williamstown on Saturday and the Rebels will be in Brockville on Wednesday.

Rebel Yells: St.Hubert players of the game on Sunday were Cory Maxam (offence) and Bob Bowles (defence)...Gabri's arrival was timely as defenceman Derek Ryan was thrown out of the game after a first-period fight and Tom Post was ejected after picking up his third stick infraction early in the third. That left Gabri, Bowles and Chris Petry as the only three blue- liners on the bench.

Absent is Norm Jeaurond.

Char-Lan minor hockey house league seasons get underway

The Char-Lan Minor Hockey Association house league is well under way as 18 teams in four divisions have hit the ice for the 1992-93 campaign.

In the atom division on Saturday, the Glengarry Kinsmen defeated Cornwall Aviation 6-2 as Jason Gales led the winners with two goals.

Shawn O'Bery, Leigh Thomson, Matthew Tyo and Jamie Leger had single markers for the Kinsmen while Scott McKenzie and Denis Guay scored for Aviation.

On Friday, Willie Larkin scored two goals to lead Aviation to a 4-3 win over McCuaig Plumbing.

Andrew Jarvo and Sylvain Pilon had the other Aviation scores while Chris Knight, Scott McKenzie and Phil Hadzocos replied for McCuaig.

In previous atom division results, the Kinsmen defeated McCuaig 4-2 and 3-1 and Cornwall Aviation 5-2. McCuaig and Aviation also split a pair of games with McCuaig winning 4-1 and Aviation taking a 3-1 decision.

Novice division

Fontaine Renovations registered a pair of shutout victories in novice division action as Matthew Proulx scored three of his team's four goals.

Proulx had the only goal in a 1-0 Fontaine victory over the Williamstown Fire Dept. and scored twice in a 3-0 win against Curry Hill Lumber.

Justin Lalonde had the other Fontaine goal in the Curry Hill game.

Peewee division

Scoring has been at a premium of late in the peewee division with only one goal in the last two games.

Williamston Fire Department's Steve Jarvo has been the only goalscorer in that time as WFD defeated Munro Fertilizer 1-0.

Malyon Excavation and MacDonald Grocery played to a scoreless draw earlier in the week.

In prior games, Kalrim Sports defeated Munro 3-2 and Longevity Acrylics downed Malyon 7-3 as Patrick Dubeau led the way with five goals.

Bantam-midget division

Mac's Marina had goals from six different players in a 6-1 bantam-midget division win over Dan's Place on Oct. 25.

Reid Guest, Dustin Bleile, James Nichols, Brennan Cameron, Chris MacDonald and Travis Guest scored for Mac's while Patrick Menrd replied for Dan's.

Dan's rebounded the next day for a 2-1 victory over Poirier Bus Lines as Derek Abrams and Chris Boisvenue fired in goals for the winners.

John Primeau had Poirier's tally.

Earlier results include; Gauthier's Greenhouse 6 Dan's 2, Kalrim Sports 2 Munro Fertilizer 1, Dan's 2 Kalrim 1 and Mac's 4 Gauthier's 2.

Midgets open with wins

The Char-Lan midget Rebels have come out of the gate strong for the 1992-93 season, claiming back-to-back wins while holding each of their opponents to a goal.

The Rebels travelled to Kemptville last Monday (Oct. 26) and took a 2-1 decision on goals by Jason Corput and Kirk McDonell.

Char-Lan then hosted Smiths Falls on Thursday and posted a 4-1 win as four different players — Kirk McDonell, Pierre Seguin, Stephane Vialette and Steve Gareau — scored goals for Randy Larocque's team.

Rudi's, Bombers tied at top

Rudi Payer Sport and the Dalhousie Bombers are the only undefeated teams remaining after four weeks of play in the Cornwall Indoor Soccer League.

Both clubs are now 3-0-1 after the Bombers won in convincing fashion on Sunday while Rudi's was held to a tie by Filion Trophies.

Three players — Brian Cameron, Marc Seguin and Steven Cameron — had two goals in an 8-1 Bombers win over La Maison.

Pasquale Mongillo and Robert Meth also scored for the Bombers.

Meanwhile, Rudi's and Filion played to a 4-4 draw as Benjamin Pye and Jeff Robertson scored two goals apiece for Rudi's.

The two other Glengarry teams in the men's division went head to head on Sunday with the Apple Hill Flyers emerging with an easy 8-1 win over Frenchie's.

Scott McPherson and Matthew Steiche each notched hat tricks for the Flyers while Albert Bott and Nelson MacPherson fired home singles.

Mike Lavigueur had the lone Frenchie's tally.

Other men's results were: St. Lawrence Roadrunners 8 Mr. Sub Patriotes 1; Filion Jewellers 5 Moviola Cafe 5; Town Hall Rovers 3 Courtaulds 0.

In a major women's division upset, the MiniMax Hearts, 2-0 prior to Sunday's action, dropped a 2-1 decision to Jovana's Restaurant, who were winless in their first two games.

Katie MacLeod had the only goal for the Hearts, who now fall into a three-way tie for top spot in the division with Kirk Hill and the Bergeron Electric Chargers.

Kirk Hill took a 3-2 win over the Raiderettes on Sunday as Lisa Poirier scored twice and Brenda MacMaster once.

The other game in Week Three saw the Chargers edge the Chumps 2-1.

Rapids go 1-for-3 at Big Nickel

The Seaway Valley Major Bantam Rapids had to settle for one win in three tries at the Big Nickel Major "AAA" Bantam Tournament in Sudbury this past weekend.

The Rapids started with a 6-4 win over Chinguacousy as Chad Duguay had a hat trick and D.J. Zaluski had a pair of goals and Joel Trottier a single.

Seaway then lost a goaltender's duel against Kingston 1-0 as the Rapids wasted a strong performance in goal by Ryan Derry.

The Rapids were then eliminated by a 5-2 loss to Sault Ste. Marie. Ryan McDonald and Troy Brownell scored for Seaway Valley.

Char-Lan indoor preview

Glengarry Stars looking for fourth consecutive title

The 1992-93 Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League season got under way on Monday at the Char-Lan high school gym in Williamstown with the Glengarry Stars returning as three-time defending champions.

If the first week's play is any indication, competition in the league should be a little tighter than last season, when three teams (the Stars, Rudi Payer Sport and Cornwall F.I.S.T.) dominated the three other clubs (Ingleside, U2's and SDG Nomads).

Here is a close-up look at the teams with special emphasis on the three Glengarry entries.

Rudi Payer Sport - 1991-92 record: 11-1-3 (First place): Rudi's took the regular season championship by one point over the Stars but turned in a flat performance versus Glengarry in the two-game final.

Payer figured to be solid offensively with scoring champion Bruce (The Minister of Offence) Mitton returning and outdoor sensation Gareth Pye joining the club but the future of both players is now in question.

Mitton, who accounted for 17 of Rudi's 54 goals last year, was roughed up in a pre-season win over the Stars and chose not to show up for the season- opener.

If the good minister's departure is permanent, it will be a tremendous blow to the Rudi's offence.

Gareth Pye, meanwhile, may not be available because of work commitments.

"Dipsy-Doodle" Andy McCuaig has joined the team but he is currently hampered by a knee problem.

Other newcomers include Char-Lan high school senior team members Innes Fraser and Jeff Robertson and goaltender Mike Laframboise. Junior Blanchette, who can play both in goal and up front, is also new to the team.

Returnees include the father-son duo of Taff and Benjamin Pye, Greg Deschamps and Bruce Tessier.

Glengarry Stars - 1991-92 record: 11-2-2 (Second place): The Stars are back with pretty much the same lineup that won the club's third consecutive league title last spring.

Rookies Steve Watt and Scott McPherson are being added to a lineup that already includes GSL rookie of the year Matthew Steiche, GSL playoff MVP Darrell Hay and Victor Denobriga, the winner of the Char-Lan indoor loop's top goaltender award last season.

Jeff Lowe, the Stars' netminder two years ago, has re-signed with the team, potentially freeing up Denobriga to move up front where he can also be effective.

Donald Pidgeon, Craig MacSweyn, Wade MacNaughton, Robert Meth, Harry Wilson, Robb Starkauskas, Lyndon MacNaughton and Steven Cameron are among the other returning players.

Scotty McDougall, Marc Seguin and Randy Gebbie are the only members of last year's club not signed for this season.

Char-Lan U2's - 1991-92 record: 3-11-1 (Fifth place): One of the most disappointing teams last season could be one of this year's most pleasant surprises.

Roy MacDonell led the team offensively with eight goals last season and he figures to get some help up front from Phil Poitras and Scott Arnott, who should both be regulars this year after playing part-time with the U2's last season.

The U2's had a revolving door in goal last season but Poitras' younger brother Roger looks like he may nail down that position full-time in 1992-93.

Shawn McClements, a former Stars player, is a newcomer to the team while Ed Swerdfeger, who was second in team scoring last year, will not play this season.

A 2-2 tie with Rudi's on Monday could be a precursor of dramatic improvement for the U2's this season.

The "Outsiders": The other three teams in the league include the always tough Cornwall F.I.S.T. team (8-3-4 last year), the sophomore SDG Nomads (a dismal 1-13-1 in their league debut) and the Avonmore Warriors, playing in their first CISL season.

Cornwall was a solid third last year and could be even stronger with the return of Guy Carriere, the league's runaway top scorer two years ago.

F.I.S.T. also features a balanced attack and three capable goalies - Scott Dumoulin, Andre Gravelle and Tim Snyder.

The Nomads hope the tough lessons they absorbed last year will pay off this season, their second in the league.

SDG was blown out of the gym on a regular basis in 1991-92 and Monday's 3-2 loss to the Stars was a moral victory of sorts for the Nomads.

Les Bradshaw and Frank Hakvoort lead a veteran Nomads team, which also includes local product Mike Lavigueur and rookie Kevin Armstrong.

The Warriors will likely replace the Nomads as the league whipping boys.

Avonmore is long on youth and exhuberance but is short on talent and experience. The most prominent Warrior is Maxville's Rod McKillican, a member of the GSL's Greenfield Marauders.

Late goal gives U2's tie

Phil Poitras scored late in the second half to give the Char-Lan U2's a 2-2 tie with Rudi Payer Sport on the opening night of the Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League on Monday.

Andy McCuaig had given Rudi's a 1-0 in the first half but Roy MacDonell of the U2's evened the score at one before the midway point.

Rudi's retook the lead on a goal by Taff Pye but Poitras' late tally gave each team a point.

The defending champions Glengarry Stars had all they could handle in their game against the SDG Nomads as a 3-0 Stars lead became a narrow 3-2 victory.

Wade MacNaughton, Craig MacSweyn and Matthew Steiche scored for the Stars while Robin Basara and Les Bradshaw replied for the Nomads.

Cornwall F.I.S.T. whipped the expansion Avonmore Warriors 7-1 as Guy Carriere and Chico Teodoro each scored two goals.

Tim Snyder, Jamey Myers and Dennis Acheson had singles for F.I.S.T. while Brad McNicol replied for the Warriors.

Benton hands Tapis loss

A second period goal by Art Benton's Debbie Nadon, the first allowed by Tapis Richard Ranger this season, was the only scoring of the game as Benton knocked Tapis from the ranks of the undefeated in Ladies Sponge Puck League play last Wednesday.

Benton's 1-0 win puts the defending league champions in a three-way tie for first place in the standings with Tapis and SunLife. All three clubs are now 3-1.

SunLife picked up a share of top spot by crushing L.C. Electric 10-0 last Wednesday.

Cathy Grant led the SunLife attack by firing in four goals while Wendi Lawson and Gillian Chaddock had two goals apiece. Manon Carriere and Chantal Legault rounded out the scoring.

The other Wednesday night game saw M and D Sports and MacMillan Insurance fight to a 1-1 tie.

Sandra McDonell and Line Gareau exchanged goals for the teams that share fourth place in the league with 1-2-1 records.

Alexandria Glens

we were looking for a good third period to get back into the game. But one of their guys attacked Randy Gebbie, then their goalie got involved and it just sort of went from there."

If Athens chooses to protest the result, they'll have three strikes against them: they refused to continue the game, the penalty distribution doesn't show Alexandria as the clear aggressor in the brawl and the referee called Athens for leaving the bench first.

The matter should be decided within a matter of days.

Glens lose in Westport

Todd Mallette had four goals and three assists to lead the Westport Rideaus to a 10-4 win over Alexandria on Sunday afternoon in Westport.

Mark Skeggs added a pair of goals for the Rideaus while Ryan Turnbull, Mike Gray, Mike Prevost and Jason St.Pierre had singles.

Serge Bellefeuille scored twice for the Glens while Randy Gebbie and Martin Boisvenue had one goal apiece.

Glenformation: Stephane Pilon, a member of the Alexandria juveniles last season, was signed by the Glens prior to Friday's game...Jeff Gebbie was in the lineup for both games this weekend. Gebbie, who has looked good in limited play with the Glens, somehow wasn't good enough to make the Alexandria midget team and was cut...Jeff McLean and Randy Gebbie had scored the Alexandria goals before Friday's outbreak of hostilities...The Glens are in Morrisburg on Friday and host Winchester on Sunday.

*Based on Transport Canada approved test methods. Rating based on 1.6 litre engine with 5 speed manual transmission. Your actual fuel consumption may vary. These offers may not be combined or used in combination with any other offer except the College Graduate Program. Offer applies to 1992 and 1993 new and unused, or demonstrator models purchased from dealer inventory. Offer valid for a limited time starting October 22, 1992 while quantities last and applies to retail deliveries only. Cash back offer includes GST. Financing offer available with no limit on the amount financed, to qualified retail buyers financing their purchases through GMAC on a maximum 48 month contract. Example: For $13,610 financed over 48 months at 1.9% APR, the monthly payment is $294.16, the cost of borrowing is $534.16 and the total amount to be repaid is $14,144.16. Assuming a rebate of $2000 as the alternative, should you choose the reduced financing rate, legislation requires that the amount of the rebate must be included in the cost of borrowing in order to arrive at an effective interest rate. In the example given, the effective interest rate would be 8.64% APR, and the total cost of borrowing, including the rebate not taken, would be $2531.16. Some conditions apply. See your participating dealer for complete details. †Based on a 48 month GMAC lease as indicated. Lease rate of 1.9% in effect for a limited time only on approved credit. Seguin stars as Glen Nevis defeats Kinsmen

Leo Seguin, the Border League Hockey Association's top sniper with 18 goals in four games, scored four times and added three assists to lead Glen Nevis to a 9-2 win over the Kinsmen on Sunday afternoon.

The victory moves Glen Nevis to within two points of the league-leading Kinsmen with Glen Nevis keeping a game in hand.

Rodney Craig added two goals for the winners while Don McRae, Stewart MacDonald and Findley McLeod had singles.

Carter MacDonald had both goals for the Kinsmen.

In the other Sunday matchup, Champions Roadhouse defeated the Rebels 7-3 as Gerry Blanchette led the Champs attack with four goals.

Kevin Wilson scored twice for the winners while Garth Franklin had a solo tally.

Ron Lefebvre, Ryan Currier and Wesley Jurchuk replied for the Rebels, who have now lost three in a row.

Champions, meanwhile, has now won back-to-back outings after losing their first three games on the schedule.

Thursday result

On Thursday night, Jamie Poulin registered the shutout and four players contributed two goals each as the Kinsmen whipped the Rebels 8-0.

Carter MacDonald, Kennedy MacDonald, Ron MacDonald and Bill Labonte each had two-goal nights for the victorious Kinsmen.

Legion gets treat, Ernie's gets tricked

Legion Br. 423 treated themselves to their first win of the season in a Halloween Saturday meeting with Glengarry Windows and Doors in Alexandria and District Industrial Hockey League play.

Alain Giroux paced a potent Legion attack with four goals in a 13-6 victory.

Steve MacMaster and D. A. MacMillan each had a hat trick for the Legionnaires, Mike Campeau scored twice and Lynden Cameron added a single.

W and D, which falls into the league cellar with the loss, got two goals from J. C. Ranger and Rheal Lalonde and solo markers from Andy McRae and Rene Robichaud.

On the other end of the spectrum, Ernie's Cement Works lost for the first time in five games this season as Decoste Welding pulled off a 9-3 upset.

Mario Dumont had three goals for Decoste, Danny McKay and Joel Doiron each had a pair of tallies and Stephane Bellefeuille and Sylvain Levert had one score.

Marc Just, Glen MacMillan and Ewen McCormick had the goals for Ernie's who had enetered the contest with two wins and two ties in their first two games.

Dick's Paving and Brown House, the top two teams in the division, both had the week off.

The winners of Altar Boy of the Month at St. Joseph Church in Lancaster are (for October) Robert Pilon, son of Suzanne and Richard Pilon and (for November) Shaun St. Pierre, son of Pat and Madeleine St. Pierre, all of Lancaster. Their sponsors were the Knights of Columbus, and town businesses. A new group will be starting called Knights of the Altar. This is for senior boys, 12 years of age and up who have made their First Communion. Their installation will be at the 11 a.m. mass on Sunday, Nov. 15. Everyone is welcome to attend.

For more information, please call Richard Pilon.

Ecole St. Joseph in Lancaster is now known as the Little School with a Big Heart, says Principal Gisele Decoeur-Lafrance. October was special for the students as swimming lessons began for grades Pre-Kindergarten to Grade Two, while grades six, seven and eight made some projects on aviation and studied the play Phantom of the Opera before going to Ottawa to visit the Aviation Museum and see the play.

For the Abuse and Violence made on Children month, the students were encouraged to work on projects of their own such as posters, plays and sculptures which were then presented to their friends and families. Some of these efforts are now in prominent places in Lancaster for all to see.

Grades four to six participated in an Intra-Mural soccer tournament. The Canada team which included Graham Charbonneau, Lyne Lefebvre, Jennifer Prieur, Randy Lepine, Celine Dupuis, Scott Laframboise, Kimberley Larocque and Michel Primeau were the winners. At Talents a l'Honneur for the month: Alexa Doering, Manon Racine, Tracey Lalonde, Drew Hart, Alicia Alepins, Shaun St. Pierre, Randy Lepine, Glen Ferlotte, Mila Leboeuf and Amy Laframboise were cited for their leadership, communications talent and creativity.

The grand finale for the month was Halloween Day, organized by Louise Lafontaine. A pumpkin contest took place and the winners were as follows: First prize — Steven Rummens, second — Danielle St. Pierre and third — Meaghan Gareau.

Workshops were planned by the teachers and students had fun disguising themselves, viewing a Halloween movie, making play-doh sculptures and playing different ability games.

The day ended with a costume parade and five students were chosen for participating. They were Manon Racine, Alexa Doering, Jennifer Prieur, Stephanie St. Pierre and Nicole Jones.

A fond farewell to Apple Hill readers from correspondent

Apple Hill
by Vince Marleau
527-3293

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Myles Kennedy on the recent death of his only remaining son, Ranald. Ranald also leaves to mourn his sister Christine. Many of the people in Apple Hill will miss seeing Ranald in town.

Victor Sarrault Sr. and family moved out of Apple Hill recently. The Sarraults will be missed in town, since they were such good neighbors to all. Victor Sr. moved his family to the farm where he was brought up on the 43 highway. Everyone wishes the family much happiness in the future.

Relatives of Victor Sarrault Sr. moved into their former residence. They are Noel Dumont and family and we welcome them to the village of Apple Hill.

Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Claire Van Putten on the recent loss of her father, Paul Emile Durivage.

Council 9780 of the Knights of Columbus is pleased with the number of people who came out to their community breakfast held at St. Anthony's hall.

The ghosts and goblins were out in full force Saturday evening. It's always so enjoyable to see the little ones so full of joy on this big day for them. The costumes were very well thought out this year. It's possible that Apple Hill was the only town that had a real live walking shower. There was too many good costumes to mention here.

* * *

There are a few belated birthdays to pass on to you. They are Doug Modler on Oct. 19, Chantal Lapointe on Oct. 23, Father S. J. Theoret on Oct. 28, Pam MacCulloch and J. P. Piette on Oct. 30, Ray Lalonde Sr. on Oct. 31. A very happy belated birthday to you all!

* * *

It is with much regret that I will be leaving my post as the Apple Hill columnist. Due to the lack of time that is available to me, I feel that I am not a just service to the Glengarry News and the people of Apple Hill. I would like to thank everyone who passed on news to me over the past few years. I would also like to thank the members of staff at The Glengarry News who helped me and made this such a memorable experience. Hopefully it won't be long before someone else will venture to the reins as columnist for Apple Hill. Again, thank you.

Home-grown boy tunes talent in Glengarry

Graham Greer begins a path toward a rock and roll career

By Lesley Cadham
News* correspondent

All right I killed her, now my secret is out
My hands are red and I just can't wash it out
Oh Mary, Mary, tell me, are you dead?
I can't hear a thing with all the voices in my head.

You've come a long way, baby.

From a Kindergarten soprano belting out Simon and Garfunkle's El Condor Pasa — acapella — at the top of his five-year-old lungs, to a Wallflower.

Not the kind that lacks confidence and hangs back from the crowd at social functions.

We're talking about one with the endearing appeal of a down-home boy, who looks like the lead singer of the rock group INXS and who has an undeniable charisma.

He's 21-year-old Graham Greer, and yeah, he's a down-home boy. A Williamstown boy.

He leans back in his chair and looks at me through a tangle of long brown hair which has fallen carelessly over one eye.

In his jean cut-offs, emblazoned white T-shirt, faded denim jacket and multi-colored friendship bracelet, he looks every bit the part of a rock and roll musician.

In fact, he looks like he's always been one, like there's always been a charismatic band leader hiding under what was once a short-haired Char-Lan District High School Student.

He's at ease with the press, seems earnest and forthright, and has a good sense of humor. Perhaps someday, just perhaps, material for Barbara Walters.

But at the moment, Greer is a student who has just finished two years at Ottawa U. and has embarked on studies at Carleton.

When he's not studying English he's being a Wallflower - guitarist, vocalist and songwriter for the band of that name which has played to various Glengarry audiences and has recently released its second tape, Birdman, comprised of music and lyrics created by Greer.

Not bad for a kid who says piano lessons made him sick to his stomach.

But his was not an aversion to music; only a dislike for the systematic instruction required to learn the piano.

When he learned to play the guitar, there was no teacher, only a 15-year- old soon-to-be musician and a vintage $12 Harmony acoustic-electric guitar - an instrument that had withstood the ravages of time, not to mention the playfulness of three young children.

Rock and roll fans may have seen the Wallflowers play here in Glengarry, at places like Berrigan's, Champions and Bob's.

Other Glengarry folks may have seen Greer in Char-Lan District High School productions such as Sound of Music, in which he played Colonel Von Trapp, and in Anne of Green Gables, as Gilbert Blythe.

Greer's high school music and English teacher Luc Groulx says he's not surprised by his former student's success. Heck, he wouldn't even blink if someday he heard that Greer's band was the main attraction at Toronto's Skydome.

"Graham was involved in musical theatre, and I always found he had talent. He could write quite well. He had a natural ability. He was always into tunes, playing the guitar, and you could see the talent right away.

"He wasn't your typical student...He was quite a remarkable individual, really. He was a h--- raiser and always managed quite well. Everyone can attain their dreams. When you're going for things like that, it can happen," says Groulx.

With Greer, it's easy to believe that dreams can come true.

Greer met the band's bass guitarist Glenn Forrester through Glenn's father, Rick Forrester, who was at the time principal of Char-Lan District High School.

Though the young Forrester was a Cornwall Collegiate Vocation School (CCVS) student, he helped out with Char-Lan's musical productions. The guys had "a good chemistry and hit it off almost right away."

And Forrester's father had a studio of sorts; more of a soundproof room, really, but great for trying out tunes.

In 1989, Greer was spending half his school day in the arts program at CCVS. Enter Bob Tamas and Phil Inouye, the guys who would soon complete the Wallflowers.

Graham Greer, Williamstown native, has been playing venues throughout the area, including around his home town.

In fact, it was early that year at CCVS that the band made its public debut.

"The first time we ever played in public, which is a real stretch, we opened for air bands at CC. People were just getting there when we were playing," says Greer.

Three weeks later, the band played at Char-Lan, again opening for air bands, but the appearances only whet Greer's appetite. He wanted more.

"I bugged the heck out of everybody. No one would give us the time of day because they didn't know who we were."

Then, in the spring of '89, they got their first big break. Berrigan's in Lancaster hired the band for one night, to open for The Stand, another local band.

"I held onto that mike stand like it was a life preserver. My knuckles were white.

"But we were all so intense and concentrated on what we were doing that it came off all right. We had people dancing and we've played there ever since - four summers, 40 nights. There's a big sign on the wall saying 'Home of the Wallflowers,' says Greer.

A fifth member, added to the band in 1990 gave Greer an opportunity to put down his guitar and concentrate more on vocals: A "liberating" experience.

But the liberation came to an abrupt halt when the fifth member was forced to leave for personal reasons. And recently, the band survived yet another change: guitarist Inouye's departure and the addition of Al (Hoss) Morier.

Despite last year's upheavals, the band has managed to land several gigs, including one following raft races in Caledonia, where the guys played to about 2,000 people, at the Downstairs Club in Ottawa, Chump's and Moviolas in Cornwall, and Sandy Hill Community Centre.

In August 1991, the Wallflowers got another break. They competed and took second place in a competition held by a Kingston radio station.

Though semi-finals were held on a Monday night, Greer's father Brian rented a van and transported a team of the band's fans and friends to Kingston.

The band played six of Greer's songs, one of which Greer had finished writing on the way to Kingston.

Composing lyrics started, says Greer, with "just me sitting in my bedroom." He wrote his first piece, Sunshine so fine, at a time when like many teens, he was looking for guidance in his life. He was supposed to be studying for an exam, which he failed when he took it the next day; but he gained a victory when he put the words to music and played the song for his band.

"I saw their enthusiasm and it invigorated me. I wanted to do it again. Someone had opened the floodgates and I had no control over it. Now," he says, "there's a more calculated flooding."

It was in a house on a quiet street in Lancaster Village that Greer wrote one of what he considers his best songs, and arranged three other favorites: Daddy's Cadillac, Misplaced and Birdman.

It was also there — in the house dubbed "Jacuzzi Studio" that the band recorded the Wallflowers' latest tape. Greer recalls having to stop taping when trains rumbled past on the nearby railway tracks, and having to do the vocals in a closet. The studio wasn't perfect, but the job got done.

Greer's success is supported by his mother, Elspeth, with his father coming in at a close second, by his 16-year-old brother David, 17-year-old sister, Ruth and long-time girlfriend, Lori Hope.

Says Greer, "When I started I had no idea it would go this far and that I'd be doing what I'm doing now. Creating music is a real rush.

"The four of us are dedicated to taking it as far as it will go. We've got contacts at record companies and radio stations.

"I'm the kind of guy who takes it day by day. I hate planning ahead. And I'm not afraid of anything. I feel I could do anything and it would turn out all right."

The Wallflowers' next planned appearance in Glengarry will be at Berrigan's, Boxing Day. They're also booked to play New Year's Eve at Moviolas in Cornwall.

Dunvegan WI members complain they were left out of enumeration process

The members of Dunvegan Women's Institute have been busy lately. On Oct. 20, Peggi Calder, Marion Loewen and Eunice Nixon attended the area convention at Crysler. Peggi was the official delegate, and brought back an excellent report to the regular October meeting.

Members were pleased to learn that one of our local girls, Julie Addison, had received the 4-H area scholarship. Julie is attending Guelph University this year.

The new WI board member for Subdivision 1 is Vivian Fawcett from Winchester. The area convention will be held in Renfrew next year.

Oct 22 was the date that Dunvegan WI went to Alexandria to serve a free hot luncheon to the clients and staff of ARC Industries. The WI has been doing this annually for over 10 years and it is always very much appreciated.

This year, the clients and staff presented six members, who had come to help serve the dinner, with a lovely corsage.

Elizabeth Chisholm, on behalf of the clients, very nicely thanked the ladies for the lovely dinner. The WI members consider this annual event to be an important contribution to the community.

Oct. 29 was the night of the regular WI meeting. The topic was Resolutions and the roll call was What's your beef? This brought forth several responses but the one most frequently expressed was the poor organization of the polling stations in the recent referendum.

Members felt it made no sense to have half the people in Dunvegan going to Maxville to sign their ballot when there was a polling station located at the DRA Hall in Dunvegan.

Other members complained about not being enumerated and the difficulty encountered in the advance poll at Hawkesbury.

Resolutions convenor Marion Loewen suggested that members write to their federal MP Don Boudria, expressing their views.

Final plans were made for the district WI rally being held at Apple Hill on Nov. 5. Members were reminded to bring their own dishes and utensils for the pot luck dinner.

Thank you letters were received from the Maxville Manor and the family of the late Allie MacKinnon.

New owners to take over hardware store in Maxville

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Effective Nov. 16, the Home Hardware Store will be under a new owner. The Shields family has served the public well over the last few years and have seen fit now to give this thriving business up. Erwin and Olive have been there longer and have been most obliging clerks. They now deserve a most deserving retirement. Their son Bill and his wife Wendy formed the two generation partnership more recently and have decided to look for a new venture. We wish them well in their new choice.

The new owner is John Laviolette from Rockland. He has had much experience in the field so this village business is in good hands. Mr. Laviolette's son Luc, is actively involved and with his wife and two daughters has taken up residence in the former David Munro home on Church St.

We welcome the Laviolettes to the village and assure them of our support.

We are always pleased and proud to report on the success of one of our young people and this week it is Ralph Williamson. At the recent award ceremony for the 1992 Algonquin College graduation, Ralph was honored for having the highest marks in his graduating class of Architectural Engineering Technology for Working Drawings.

In attendance at the awards ceremony and reception at the Woodroffe Campus with Ralph were his wife Julie, his parents, Beth and Don and his grandparents, Chris and George Chase.

Congratulations are extended to Ralph along with very best wishes for the future.

To Andy Code and his bride, Flora Marie Leblanc, we offer very best wishes. The couple is living in Mr. Code's home on the 5th Conc. Roxborough.

As last week's Glengarry News indicated, a very highly regarded young man from Glen Norman lost his life in a farm accident. He was Stéphane Deguire who was the great grandson of Mrs. Albert Boisvenue, Catherine St., and the grandson of Estelle and Alderic Bray of Tayside. We extend our sympathy to these relatives as well as to all others and friends.

It was jotted down for last week's column but this correspondent couldn't understand his notes. So very belatedly, Dorothy Crawford, Strathmore and her daughter Wendy Shields, Peter St. are jointly wished a happy year ahead after celebrating their birthdays on October 23.

The Rev. Frank and Felicia Bailey have taken up residence in their new home on Peter St., recently purchased from Stanley McDonald. The Baileys have moved from the United Church manse in preparation for their retirement next year. Best wishes are extended from all their friends for peace and contentment there.

A surprise 40th anniversary party was held for Mary and Bob Ramsbottom, Bancroft, at the Old Mill Restaurant in Toronto recently. Attending the party from this area and bringing best wishes from all their other friends here were Catherine and Archie Stewart, Alexandria, Jean and James Campbell, Margaret and Angus MacRae and Jean and Bill Metcalfe.

Mrs. O. F. Villeneuve has been in the hospital for eye surgery and to assist her over the recovery period, her son Ronald and his wife Lynne have been here from Dalhousie, N.B. Other family visitors were Mrs. Villeneuve's son, F. B., Ottawa and her granddaughter, Becky Clement and great grandson, Christopher Clement, from Orleans.

Sunday guests with Trudi and Warren MacIntosh were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes from the Vernon area.

Lenora MacDonald, 4th Con. Kenyon, made many friends in this area while she was a recipient of the seniors' services from the Manor. Unfortunately, Mrs. MacDonald is confined to Glengarry Memorial Hospital now but is a regular Glengarry News reader and would enjoy visits from these friends.

Gwen Hamilton, Amherstview and her son, Kevin, Carleton University, were Sunday guests with Eileen and Gordon Scott.

"Something has to be done about Halloween" was the usual comment after Saturday evening's trick or treaters. The children were well behaved, polite and certainly well dressed for the occasion, but there were too many of them.

"Are you from Maxville?" would be asked. "No, from, (naming their village)." "Why do you come to Maxville?" "Because we get better stuff."

Meet the meat vendors

Leo and Carol Currier held the grand opening of Currier's Meat Market in Maxville, Saturday morning (Oct. 25), amid a non-stop flurry of business. The Curriers also reside in Maxville, and opened the doors on Sept. 16. Officiating at the event were Kaye Rolfe, mother of Carol; Shana Currier, daughter of Leo and Carol; Carol Currier, owner; Maxville Reeve Jim MacEwen; owner Leo Currier; Bill Campbell, owner of the building; and Grace Doth, the store's first customer.

It is great that Maxville has this to add to its reputation but I think each community has a responsibility to entertain its children on Halloween and if the community doesn't take this one, then the parents at least should.

Anyway, this correspondent had the opportunity to take his five-year-old grandson, Ian Blair, from Windsor out to visit a few neighbors and on the way home, shivering with cold yet very pleased with his bag of goodies, he summed it all up by telling me "It was the scariest night I ever sawed."

I am concerned about the amount of yard and garden wastes that is going out with the garbage at this time of the year. The composters that have been offered by the village are adequate for the usual amount of year-round household wastes but cannot hold the bags of leaves and of dead plant material that are being collected. Once again, I am suggesting that there should be a location where this material can be composted and later used by gardeners. Can someone pick up the challenge?

While visiting family members in the Grimsby and Windsor areas, I try to make observations that may be of interest to certain readers. Around Grimsby, the grape harvest was still in progress. The leaves have been frozen but the machine harvesting continues. Some grapes are left until they are well frozen and then used for a special wine, known as ice wine.

It was the time for the salmon of Lake Ontario to swim up the creeks. We saw these very large fish attempting to swim up a relatively shallow creek that had many stones. The scene was one of many battered fish, looking very tired being watched by a large crowd of people.

In the Windsor area, the soybean harvest is almost completed and these fields are being plowed. We think we have large flocks of sea gulls but up there, a freshly plowed area can be almost white with them. Like here, very little corn has been combined yet. The fall wheat fields are showing little growth yet and appear to be behind schedule.

There are large flocks of crows down there too. These wise birds must know that the milder climate makes winter easier for them.

The Maxville War Veterans Club is holding its Armistice Day service at the monument on Mechanic St. West at 2 p.m. on November 8. The members of the Club invite the public to attend this service which honors those who have served our country and of those who have paid the supreme sacrifice, in particular.

It is annual meeting time for the Maxville and District Horticultural Society and this year it is to be held in the Apple Hill Community Centre on Nov. 18. This location has been chosen to recognize the assistance members of the society gave to the landscaping project there last spring.

There will be a banquet first starting at 6:30 p.m. and catered to by Shirley Dashney. For those who wish to attend the banquet, tickets must be purchased at Ruby's Country Store by Nov. 12. Those who wish to attend the meeting only should arrive around 8 p.m.

Students from Tagwi High School will be there to provide musical entertainment.

All society members and those who wish to take out membership should try to attend this closing event of the year.

The second annual Pumpkin Festival was held last Saturday. At least 300 people of all ages enjoyed the crafts, tea room, games and pumpkin contests. The members of the recreation committee would like to thank Mona Brabant for organizing the event and to all those who helped her.

Winners of the contests were: Pumpkin Baking 1) Lena Michaud, 2) Julliet Lavigne, 3) Lena Michaud. Pumpking Carving, 1) Nathan McDonald, 2) Samantha Ranger, 3) George Bronowski and Robbie Munro, 4) Robert Stewart, 5) Matthew St. Louis. Costumes: 1) Dark Wing Duck, 2) Army Man, 3) Ninja Turtle.

As well as the Pumpkin Festival events Saturday was one of the first days children could enjoy the new playground equipment — and they certainly did. A little more work is to be completed this fall, leaving the planting of shrubs and installing of benches to be done next spring. The first two winners of the hockey pool, sponsored by the playground committee, were Pierre Tessier and Ewen MacMaster.

The Newsletter from the public school included a calendar for some of the November events planned. It is very inclusive and indicates the activities to which parents are invited.

A cross-country meet was held, and 31 students, coached by Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Lucking competed. Troy Stelmach earned a first place prize with other winners being Leslie Brown, Shawn McIntosh, Angie MacPherson, Bruce Libbos, Chris Coleman, Pieter Funnekotter and Jeff McKercher.

The Walk-a-thon results were tremendous with a total of $4,261.95 raised. Miranda and Sarah Sauve raised $150 as representatives of the top family.

The Students Council has a new slate of officers and we congratulate the following and wish them a good year in office. Head girl — Erin Crawford, Head boy — Troy Stelmach, Secretary-Treasurer — Eden Siwik, Grade 6 reps — Missy Marjerrison, Kevin Durocher, Grade 7 reps — Scott Coleman, Lindsay McIntosh, Grade 7B reps — Alyson Rolfe, Andrew Miller, Grade 8A — Jeff McKercher, Natasha Caron, Grade 8A — Chris Begg, Krista Glen; S.A. — Brandon Murray.

The referendum is over as is the triumphant Blue Jay win and the ensuing celebrations in Toronto. Television will not be the same without all the commercials for the former and the Blue Jay games.

Everyone has opinions concerning the referendum and why it went the way it did. We wonder what the future holds and all the negative opinions we will have to try to comprehend.

I recently purchased a pamphlet entitled Can Glengarry Manage Its Own Affairs? Facts and Figures relating to Separation (from SD&G). Maxville's first reeve, A. D. McRae, made his presentation on Sept. 7, 1906 but the movement dated back to 1892. The pamphlet contains copies of letters from several other county representatives that outlined positive experiences with separation.

In a financial statement of 1905, Glengarry contributed $9,431.23 to the revenue of the United Counties while it cost the Counties $8,114.55. The balance of $1,316.68 was sufficient evidence in favor of separation.

We are not sorry that Glengarry did not separate and wish that Quebec could find similar evidence to keep it within the confederation.

THANK YOU

ROBERT LABONTE, president
The friendly folks at Roy's would like to sincerely thank everyone who participated in their "Neighborhood Sale" event where you had a chance to win a brand new Pontiac Sunbird.
We sent out 10,000 keys and 3,082 people came in to try their luck. Unfortunately, the winning key wasn't amongst those returned so the car is still on our lot. It was a lot of fun though and we enjoyed meeting many new friends.
Again, a sincere thank you from all of us and remember...

Village of Maxville

Council Briefs

The October meeting of Maxville Council was held at 4 p.m. on Oct. 13th in order for council members to attend the "Yes" rally in Alexandria in the evening. Reeve Jim MacEwen was a speaker at this meeting.

Playground report

Councillor Ewen MacDonald reported that the project is completely on budget and that all equipment is in the process of being placed. It is anchored in cement, the cement is covered with sand to one and a half inches above ground and the sand is held in place with a timber wall. Landscaping will be done in the spring.

Peter Street sidewalk

With $18,000 budgetted for this project, the new sidewalk ends at Elizabeth Street because of its cost. It was noted that the residents at the east end of the street made it known that they do not require a sidewalk and therefore were not disappointed.

Four-way stop

Discussion on a four-way stop at the intersection of Main and Catherine Streets as a means of slowing traffic came to a head when both the local OPP detachment and the SD&G Counties Road Department made it known that they were not in favor of this means.

However a "bull nose" has been suggested at the intersection. This would involve building out the curb for two car lengths at the four corners on Main Street and this construction has been shown to slow traffic down.

If this is done, it might mean that Catherine Street could once again become two-way.

Councillor Bill Shields has maintained that a one-way Catherine Street has been bad for business on Main Street and that the above plan could remedy the situation.

A request will go to counties for the installation of the bull nose in the spring. Since Main Street is a county road, costs would be paid by the counties.

Tenders

Two tenders for snow removal were opened and a decision is pending.

MacEwen Petroleum Inc. had the low tender for fuel oil and is prepared to supply 12,000 litres to the village at 24.25 cents per litre.

Garbage disposal

To make good the agreement with Kenyon council, certification of approval for the Kenyon landfill site has been required.

Reeve MacEwen and Councillor Shields who worked as a committee on the agreement recently found out that no funds were coming from the Ministry of the Environment for it because the previous council had not made application last year.

With Kenyon council approval, Maxville council sees as a solution paying $7,000 to consultants for documentation and then asking for an apointment with Minister Ruth Grier to make a request for emergency funds.

The services of Noble Villeneuve MPP will be utilized for the appointment.

Application for funds for next year will be made immediately.

L.C.B.O. hours

The proposed closing of the LCBO store on Wednesdays has been met by letters from Reeve MacEwen, MPP Villeneuve and a citizens' petition opposing the move.

Chamber of Commerce newsletter

Council has agreed to pay for mailing the Chamber of Commerce newsletter to village residents, to assist with printing costs and to contribute material for the newsletter.

Lochiel Township

Council Briefs

The following are among the items discussed by Lochiel Township council at the regular monthly meeting Oct. 13.

Building permits rise

The value of building permits granted in Lochiel by the end of September is running $300,000 ahead of September last year.

Building Administrator Dorothy Irvine reported a total of $1.3 million in permits applied for this year, up from $1 million in applications by the same time last year.

In September $157,000 worth of permits were sought for a variety of construction projects, including two new single residences, two garages, two sheds and four house renovations.

Irvine suggested council might consider changing the fee structure for permits which had not been updated in five years.

"Most municipalities charge building permit fees on the number of square feet being built," Irvine reported.

"We charge a flat fee of $25 for an agriculture building no matter if it is a shed or a $500,000 dairy barn," she said.

Residential building permits cost $15 for the first $1,000 of construction, and $2 for each additional thousand of construction costs. The total permit charge for a $60,000 house would be $133."

Irvine said a square footage charge might be simpler to calculate and fairer.

Bourcier Bridge

The job of completely re-building Bourcier Bridge on River Road, southeast of Alexandria, was awarded by Lochiel council to Looby Construction of Dublin, at a cost of $283,473.

Construction costs, which McNeely Engineering consultant Leo Trembley estimated at $240,000, came in higher than expected.

Council chose the lowest of two tenders bid on the bridge. Eleven construction firms had been approached to bid on the job.

Reeve Ron MacDonell asked, "do we have to accept the lowest tender here? There's no way we want to go that high."

Consulting Engineer Trembley said there are $18,000 of GST charges in the Looby Construction bid, "$9,000 of which you can claim back, and there is also $10,000 built-in for surplus charges which you'll probably not have to pay."

Trembley estimated $20,000 could be knocked off the $283,472 construction costs when the job is finished.

Crossing guard

Lochiel Clerk Ray Charbonneau told council the parent of a child attending Ecole Elda Rouleau on Sandfield Street in Alexandria, asked if a crossing guard could be hired to help children safely across the road.

Charbonneau said the parent is concerned about the large number of buses pulling out from the school, and the vehicle activity at the Ontario License Bureau, across the road from the school.

Reeve MacDonell wondered who pays for crossing guards.

"We have never been asked for a crossing guard before and I don't know if it would be a charge on the township or the school board."

MacDonell promised to investigate.

"I don't know of any other rural area with a crossing guard except at the school in Green Valley on Highway 34," he said.

Accounts

Township accounts paid during September include $107,847 for roads; $3,176 on the municipal recreation account; $71 for Glen Robertson water works; $33 to Bell Canada for the mobile phone used by the community police officer, and $32,162 on the general account.

Clerk Charbonneau explained that $5,000 would be paid back to the general account because it is money used to update the recreation building in Glen Robertson for the Community Outreach Service.

Council gets a $25,000 grant to install a kitchen and enlarge the centre to provide Outreach services to seniors.

New animator at Centre Culturel

North Lancaster

By Bernadette Campeau 347-2572

In case you don't read this column right to the end I will give you some dates to reserve right now. On Sunday, Nov. 8 Glen Nevis parish is having a turkey bingo at the Ste. Thérèse school in North Lancaster. There will be 10 regular games, five specials and a door prize. The quilt draw will also be held that night. Everyone is welcome.

On Friday, Dec. 4, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. there will be a craft and bake sale at the township hall in North Lancaster . . . a good place to get some Christmas shopping done.

The following are the pupils of the month named by their teacher and given for improvement in one way or another: In Pre-Kindergarten, Alyson Jarvo, Kindergarten, Jean-Phillippe Leblanc, Grade 1, Lucie Major, Grade 2, Mathieu Claude, Grade 3, Matthew Poirier, Grade 4, Philippe Glaude, Grade 5, Sophie Bourbonnais, Grade 6, Penny Amstutz, Grade 7, Andrée-Anne Major, Grade 8, Derek St. John. Congratulations and keep up the good work.

Last Friday the Optimist Club was at the school to give out Halloween candy. The students were busy cutting up pumpkins and other Halloween decorations. Grades 3 and 4 did some entertainment for the monthly gathering in the gymnasium by reciting poems, singing songs and of course Halloween disguise.

* * *

We would like to wish a warm welcome to Diane Dumouchel, cultural animator (full-time) sponsored by the Centre Culturel. She will be keeping the students busy with theatre work, newspaper, radio. Other activities will be stamp collectors' club, card collectors, cooperative games in the school yard.

* * *

Remembrance Day is in the planning and there will be a poppy blitz along with wreath making. Wow! Sounds like something for everyone.

A short word on Halloween night; the youngest ones always seem to have the cutest costumes. I had a two-year-old girl disguised as a cow with an udder and would you believe milk in it. Another two-year-old modelled the most inviting pumpkin and another wore a black cat costume with a two-foot tail.

Hope everyone got through the night with no mishaps.

Happy birthday to Gerald Laferriere on Nov. 6 and on the same date happy anniversary to Pierre and Susan David.

TUBREX

LIME... FERTILIZE... SAVE...

IMPROVE THE pH... AND POTASSIUM LEVEL OF YOUR SOILS

WHAT IS TUBREX?
TUBREX is a liming material containing potassium (as potassium sulfate), sulfur, magnesium and trace elements.
It's fineness of grind makes it a very fast-acting and very effective product.

TUBREX FEATURES
- Rich in potassium (mainly as potassium sulfate)
- High calcium and sulfur content
- Very finely ground (99.3% passes through a 325 mesh sieve)
- More rapid and longer lasting effect on soil pH
- Also contains trace elements (zinc, copper, manganese, molybdenum) required for plant growth

WHERE DOES DUBREX COME FROM?
TUBREX is derived from finely ground natural limestone whose alkalis (potash sulfur, calcium) evaporate when heated at very high temperatures and become dust again when cooled.
This dust is then seived and stored in piles, ready to be spread on soil for fertilization and pH adjustment.

USE AND RECOGNITION
In 1979 with the increasing use of kiln dust, the U.S. Government commissioned Cornell University to carry out research into the rates and effects of this product. Results were conclusive and since then the use of TUBREX has grown and its value has been recognized.

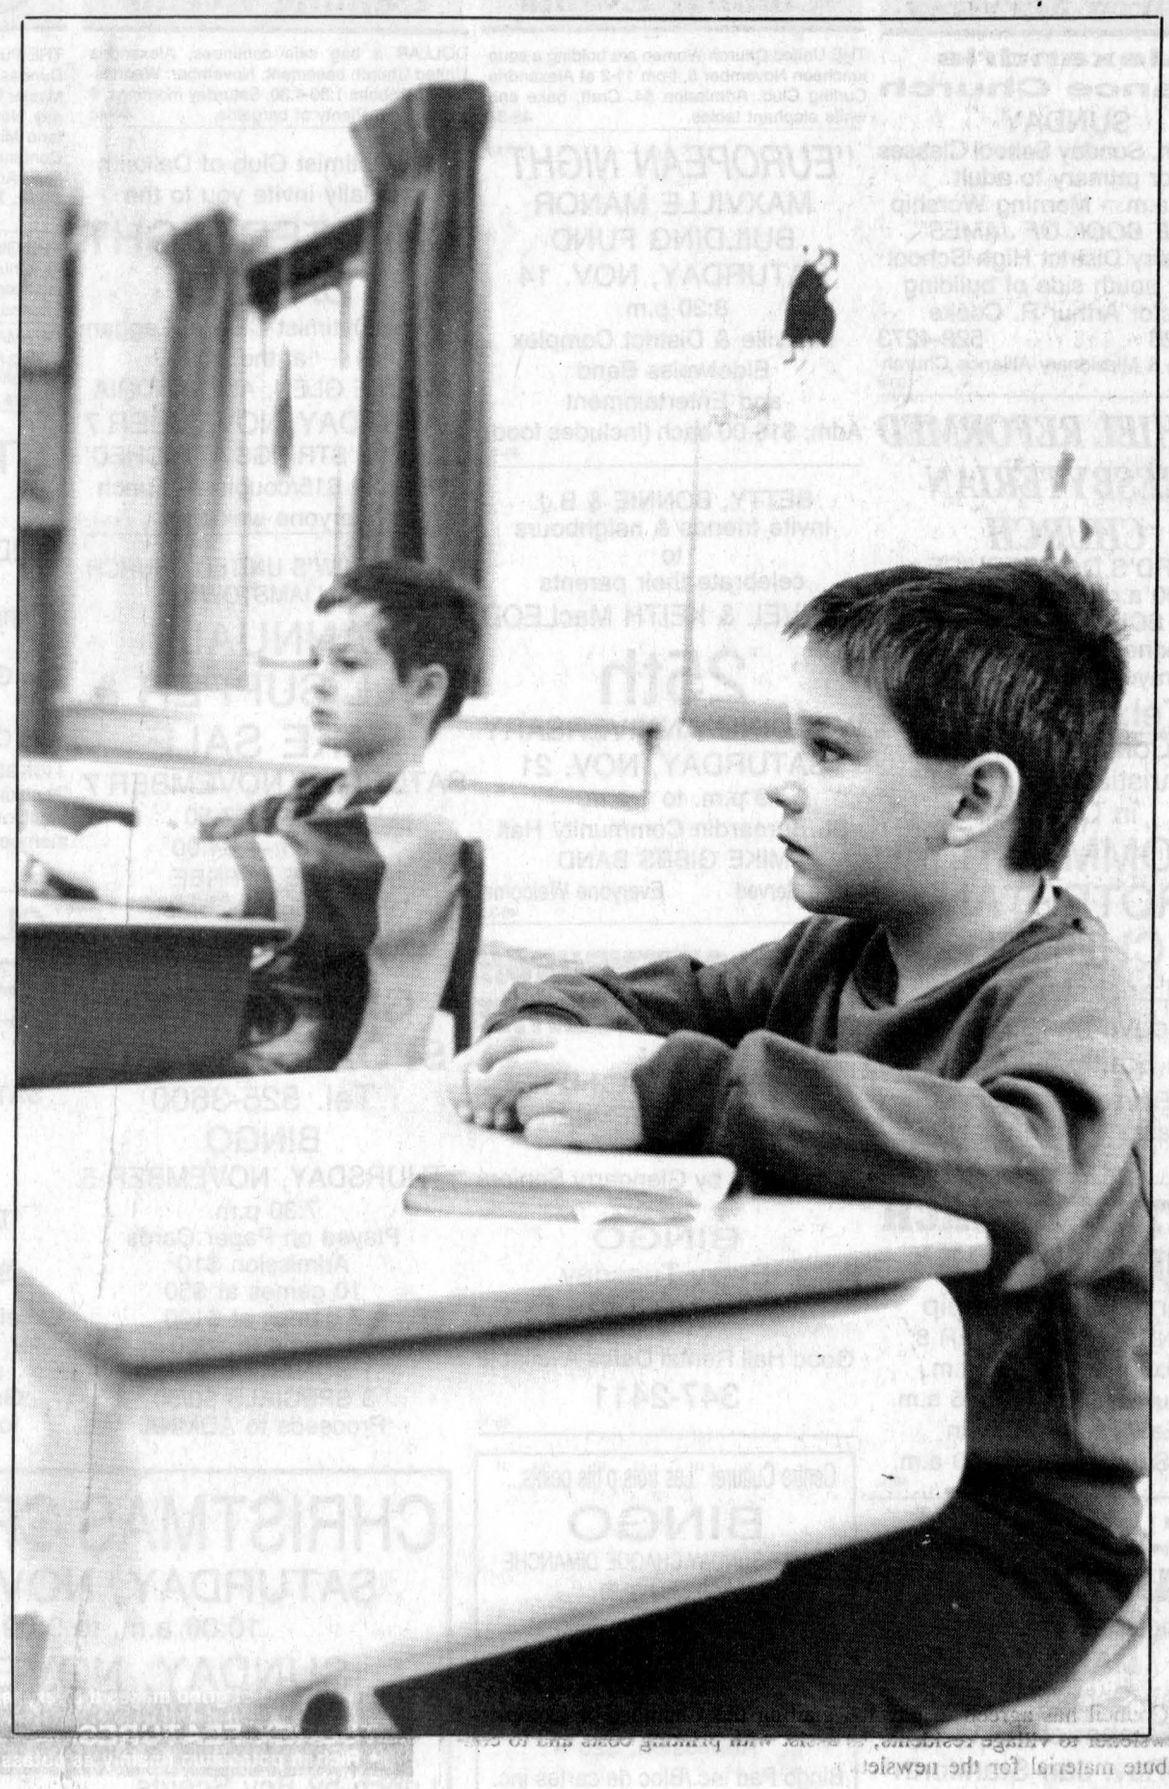
What are the hidden costs of cross border shopping? Take an educated guess.



Here are 24,670 reasons why you should spend your shopping dollars in Canada before heading off on a bargain-hunting trip to Northern New York.

That's the number of students enrolled in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Roman Catholic Separate School Board's schools last year.

And every shopping dollar spent outside this country is another dollar that will not help support the tax base that pays for the education of our children.

Businesses, and that includes the retail sector, in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry pay more than 60 per cent of the local taxes for the S.D.&G. county board's $89,100,000 budget and about $82,700,000 of the separate school board's tax bill.

And without the commercial sector's contribution, residential education tax rates would go through the roof - or educational services, both classroom and extracurricular, would have to be severely reduced.

And then who would end up paying the bill for these cross-border bargains?

Our children, that's who!

Cards Of Thanks

MacGREGOR — Earl and Jean wish to express sincere thanks to daughter Heather and son Ron, his wife Gail who organized the celebration of our 50th anniversary, to all our family, friends, relatives and neighbors who participated Oct. 11 and 12. Your visits, cards, gifts and flower arrangements are much appreciated. Thanks to our church, St. Andrew's United, Bainsville, for their special gift. Thanks to the municipal, provincial and federal government for their good wishes. Travelling from a distance, son Jim and his wife Janet, Vancouver, B.C., Tena Van Zutphen, Thunder Bay, Heather and Brian, Sudbury, Paula, Dave Toffali, Toronto, Fred, Edna Gunn, Hartford, Conn., Jack, Lorraine Gordon, Florida as well as Montreal and Cornwall district. 45-1p

GOULET — It is such a pleasure for us to thank our employees, family, friends and neighbors who gathered in Dalkeith to wish us a happy retirement. Your visits, cards, and gifts are much appreciated. A special thanks to our children who gave us a beautiful painting of our store. As well thanks to the Township of Lochiel for the lovely plaque they presented to us. Thanks also to our employees for the flamingos and the nice plaque on our last working day. We are so thankful to Betty and Barton McDonell who accepted to drive Virginie Goulet in an Outreach van, so she could be part of the party. A delicious lunch was served, thanks to all who helped to make it so and last but not least a very special thank you to Michael Gibbs who entertained us all afternoon with his wonderful choice of music and songs. We shall cherish that wonderful day. Best wishes to the Blythe family in their new venture.
—Yvette and Gerard Goulet. 45-1p

FLIPSEN — The kindness and generosity that followed the recent destruction of our dairy barn and its contents by fire was truly appreciated. To our friends, neighbors, family and all others who responded with assistance at this time of need, we want to say a sincere thank you. To Eddie, thanks for the awakening and enabling us to avoid a greater disaster. A special thanks to our volunteer firemen, who responded in a prompt, caring and professional manner. We shall, forever, remain grateful for your kindness and charity and, we want you to accept our heartfelt gratitude.
—The Flipsen family. 45-1p

ST. LOUIS — The family of the late Travis St. Louis wish to express their sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for expressions of sympathy, masses, cards, gifts of food, floral arrangements and support at the time of the loss of a loving son, brother, husband and father. Special thanks to the Emergency Staff of the Cornwall General Hospital, Knights of Columbus Council 9780 for prayers, Monsignor Réjean G. Lebrun, the organist and choir who sang at the funeral mass, and also to the Munro and Morris Funeral Home, Maxville.
—Brenda and girls, Joseph and Lillian St. Louis and family. 45-1p

McDONALD — The family of the late Clinton McDonald wish to express their thanks to all relatives, friends and neighbors for expressions of sympathy, masses, cards, flowers and food sent to the house. These kindnesses will always be remembered.
—McDonald family. 45-1p

VAN LOON — We would like to thank our family, relatives, friends and neighbors for celebrating our 40th anniversary with us. Also thank you for all the good wishes, cards and gifts that we received. You all made it a special evening for us and we will always remember it.
—Denny and Mary. 45-1p

LALONDE-CUERRIER — We would like to thank all the people who supported us at the time of the death of our mother Beatrice Lalonde (Cuerrier). We also want to give thanks to those who sent cards, flowers, donations and food. It was greatly appreciated.
—The Cuerrier family. 45-1p

FRASER — We would like to thank everyone who attended our 25th anniversary party and helped in any way to make it such a happy celebration. Everyone's good wishes, cards and gifts will be remembered forever.
—Sylvia and Neil. 45-1p

In Memoriam

KAUFMANN — In loving memory of my husband Philip who passed away November 8, 1983.
There will always be a heartache
And often a silent tear,
But always cherished memories
Of the days when you were here.
—Lovingly, wife Helen. 45-1p

MacMILLAN — In cherished memory of our friend, Mamie, who passed away November 6, 1991.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it is true,
Years that may come cannot sever,
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Martha and Helen. 45-1p

LONG, Daniel — In loving memory of Daniel Long who passed away Nov. 1, 1988, loving husband of Ethel, and father, grandfather and great grandfather who will always be remembered and loved.
—The family. 45-1p

HUNTER — In loving memory of William (Bill) J. Hunter who passed away Nov. 1, 1989.
Along the road of yesterday,
That leads me straight to you,
Are memories of those happy days,
Together we once knew.
And always every evening,
I seem to have a way,
Of wandering back to meet you,
On the road to yesterday.
—Sadly missed by wife, Willa.

Obituaries

Leo George Major

Leo Major died at his residence, R.R. #1, Williamstown October 24, 1992. He was 57.

Mr. Major was born in Williamstown, a son of Adolphus and Ada Major.

Mr. Major was a teacher at St. Lawrence College, Cornwall.

He is survived by his wife Phyllis Major (nee Knibbs) and by a son Ryan, at home, and by four daughters: Janice (Mrs. Armand Buote) of P.E.I., Cathy Larocque of Cornwall, Lori (Mrs. Scott Ireland) of Vernon, and Theresa Major of Cornwall and by six grandchildren.

Also mourning his loss are brothers Russell (Magella) of Ottawa, Bernie (Doris) of Brockville and sister Diana Chevrier, also of Brockville.

The funeral took place on Monday, October 26 at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Williamstown. The mass was concelebrated by Rev. Thomas Villeneuve, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Monsignor Donald B. McDougald, Vicar-General, Rev. Bernard Cameron, and Rev. Mr. Kerry MacDonald (deacon) of St. Mary's Church. Interment followed at St. Mary's cemetery.

Pallbearers were: George Alguire, Dan Schaffer, Tony Vogel, Fred Vogel, Hugh McDonell and Alex MacDonald.

Alexina (MacLeod) MacKinnon

Alexina (MacLeod) MacKinnon passed away peacefully on October 2, 1992 in her 97th year.

Alexina or Allie as she was affectionately known, was born on July 26, 1896 at Dalkeith, a daughter of the late Rory Neil and Maggie (MacNeil) MacLeod.

She married D. D. (Donald Duncan) MacKinnon in July 1936. There were no children born to this union.

Allie taught at many area schools and upon retiring, moved with her husband to Dunvegan. Several years later they moved into Maxville Manor where D. D. died one year later.

Allie was predeceased by her sisters Christy Harriet (Mrs. Dan MacLeod), Mary Ann (Mrs. Dr. MacMaster) and Anna Bell (Mrs. John T. MacDonald) and her only brother Neil J. MacLeod. She leaves to mourn sisters-in-law and many nieces and nephews.

Allie's funeral was held at Kenyon Presbyterian Church where she was a member for many years. The service was conducted by Rev. Robert Martin.

The pallbearers were Wallace (Bud) MacKinnon, Stanford MacCrimmon, Don Kelly, Ewen MacMaster, Darrel MacLeod and Allan MacLeod.

Peter McIntee

Peter McIntee died suddenly at Chateau Gardens Nursing Home, Lancaster on October 7, 1992. He was 89.

Mr. McIntee was the last surviving member of the family of the late Bernard McIntee and Emma Wylie. Mr. McIntee was born in Lochiel Township and lived most of his life in Glen Robertson. He was predeceased by his wife the former Margaret MacDonald.

Mr. McIntee is survived by two sons Daniel and Lawrence and by daughter Elizabeth (Betty), Mrs. Barton McDonell, and by six grandchildren.

Mass of Christian burial was held at St. Martin of Tours Church, Glen Robertson on October 10. Rev. Denis Lefebvre officiated. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Kelly McIntee, Jason McIntee, Jerome Lalonde, Wallace Hope, Everett Nixon and Clifford Hope.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF KENYON

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

The Council of the Corporation of the Township of Kenyon intends to consider a Bylaw to amend Zoning Bylaw Number 40-88. Pursuant to Section 34(12) of the Planning Act (R.S.O. 1990), council will hold a public meeting on Nov. 24th, 1992, to outline the content, effect of the Bylaw, as well as showing the lands affected. All those interested are hereby invited to attend the meeting and express their view on the amending Bylaw.

THE PURPOSE OF THE BYLAW
The amending bylaw rezones an existing parcel of land in part of Lot 16, Concession 17 I.L. The rezoning is necessary to recognize that the existing pit has been exhausted and the owner has surrendered the license under the Aggregates Act. The parcel is to be rezoned from Extractive Industrial (M4) to Rural Marginal (RU).

EFFECT OF THE BYLAW
The rezoning will recognize the fact that the pit has been exhausted and allow the land to be used in accordance with the Rural Marginal (RU) zone provisions as per the surrounding lands.

PUBLIC MEETING PLACE, TOWNSHIP OF KENYON, TOWNSHIP OFFICE, NOV. 24 at 7 p.m.

For further information or to review a copy of the Bylaw being considered, contact Mary J. McCuaig, Clerk-Treasurer, Township of Kenyon, RR #5, P.O. Box 11 Alexandria, Ont. K0C 1A0 or phone (613) 527-2090 during regular business hours

THE EXPROPRIATIONS ACT
NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL TO EXPROPRIATE LAND

In the matter of an application by the Corporation of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry for approval to expropriate land being part of Lot 24, Concession 7, in the Township of Kenyon in the County of Glengarry, for the purpose of:

WIDENING COUNTY ROAD NO. 30

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that application has been made for approval to expropriate the land described as follows:
Parts 9 and 10 on Plan of Reference deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of Glengarry on July 28, 1992 as Plan 14R-3776.

Any owner of lands, in respect of which notice is given, who desires an inquiry into whether the taking of such land is fair, sound and reasonably necessary in the achievement of the objectives of the expropriating authority, shall so notify the approving authority in writing,
(a) in the case of a registered owner, served personally or by registered mail within thirty days after he is served with the notice, or when he is served by publication, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice;
(b) in the case of an owner who is not a registered owner, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice.

The approving authority is the Council of the Corporation of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, 20 Pitt Street, Cornwall, Ontario K6J 3P2.

Corporation of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry
R.J. Lapointe,
Co-ordinator, Clerk-Treasurer

NOTES:
1. The Expropriations Act provides that:
(a) where an inquiry is requested, it shall be conducted by an inquiry officer appointed by the Attorney General;
(b) the inquiry officer,
(i)shall give every party to the inquiry an opportunity to present evidence and argument and to examine and cross-examine witnesses, either personally or by his counsel or agent, and
(ii) may recommend to the approving authority that a party to the inquiry be paid a fixed amount for his costs of the inquiry not to exceed $200, and the approving authority may, in its discretion, order the expropriating authority to pay such costs forthwith.
2. "Owner" and "Registered Owner" are defined in the Act as follows:
"Owner includes a mortgage, tenant, execution creditor, a person entitled to a limited estate or interest in land, a committee of the estate of a mentally imcompetent person or of a person incapable of managing his affairs, and a guardian, executor, administrator or trustee in whom land is vested;
"Registered Owner" means an owner of land whose interest in the land is defined and whose name is specified in an instrument in the proper registry, land titles, or sheriff's office, and includes a person shown as a tenant of land on the last revised assessment roll.
3. The expropriating authority, each owner who notifies the approving authority that he desires a hearing in respect of the lands intended to be expropriated, and any owner added as a party by the inquiry officer, are parties to the inquiry.

This notice first published on the 28th day of October, 1992. Second Publication - November 4, 1992; Third Publication - November 11, 1992.

NOTICE OF

PUBLIC MEETING

The Council of the Corporation of the Township of Kenyon intends to consider a bylaw to amend Zoning Bylaw Number 40-88. Pursuant to Section 34(12) of the Planning Act (R.S.O. 1990), Council will hold a public meeting on NOVEMBER 10th, 1992, to outline the content, effect of the bylaw, as well as showing the lands affected. All those interested are hereby invited to attend the meeting and express their view on the amending bylaw

PURPOSE OF THE BYLAW:
The amending bylaw rezones a portion of land in part of Lot 7, Concession II, so as to recognize the change in the potential for flood damages. This was necessitated following a site survey verifying the actual location of the floodline. As a result, a correction to the zoning map is required to more accurately reflect the actual findings.

EFFECT OF THE BYLAW:
The rezoning will allow above lands to be used for those uses permitted in the "Rural Residential (RR) Zone"

PUBLIC MEETING PLACE:
Township of Kenyon, Township Office, Nov. 10th, 1992, 7:00 p.m.
For further information or to review a copy of the bylaw being considered, contact Mary J. McCuaig, Clerk-Treasurer, Township of Kenyon, RR #5, P.O. Box 11, Alexandria, Ontario K0C 1A0 or phone (613) 527-2090 during regular business hours.

Bilingual GDHS needed—group

The bilingual nature of Glengarry District High School must be maintained to preserve the bilingual nature of the community, says the Association for the Preservation of Bilingualism in Glengarry.

The group, which is fighting against separation of the student body at the school, says it will make a formal presentation at the special SD&G County Board of Education meeting at GDHS next Wednesday, May 21.

"Lifelong friendships are formed at an early age and it is the sincere desire of the APBG to ensure that such friendships among the students of both linguistic groups be encouraged at the school level, so that Glengarry may maintain its historical character of free-flowing bilinguality," a press release says.

The association also listed the following other philosophical points which were endorsed unanimqusly by the membership at a meeting May 8.

"The purpose of the association is to help preserve the bilingual character of Glengarry culture, which is an historical fact.

"The association expresses its faith in the community that it is able to live in a bilingual, cultural and social environment in peaceful co-operation and joyful contentment.

"The children in school today are the citizens of tomorrow and will carty the burden of leading the community in public affairs, business life and spiritual matters.

"It is, therefore, important that at the educational level, every opportunity is provided to let bilingualism flourish among Francophone and Anglophone students."

Ward wins wet one

Cameron Ward carded an 18-hole score of 72 to capture the Labatt's Golf Tournament at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club last Wednesday in wet weather. A field of over 40 players teed off in the annual tourney.

Grant Crack came second with a 78 and Roger Bourgon took the low net honors with a net score of 60.

Julie Rouette won low gross in the ladies' division with an 81 followed by Nicole Vincent with an 88. Nicole also captured the low net with a net score of 62.

Coming events at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club include the Angus H. McDonell tournament on Saturday, September 12 which will be followed by the Men's Twilight Dinner that evening. On Saturday, September 26 the Annual Trophy Night and Banquet will be held.

Rebels get ready

Charlottenburgh Jr. "B" Rebels will open training camp on Wednesday, September 16 at 9 p.m. at the Charlottenburgh Arena. The 1981 camp will be minus seven familiar faces because of age limits.

"This should be no problem," reports Manager Stewart Fourney, "with our Char-Lan Minor Hockey Association we are producing more Jr "B" prospects every year."

The camp is open and players interested are urged to contact Mr. Fourney (528-4400).

Wendell Lafave will return to the post of coach for the Williamstown—based team after a one-year leave of absence.

The club is presently seeking a trainer for this season.

Rebels will be playing in the South East Division which includes Cardinal, Morrisburg, Prescott, Metcalfe and Winchester. Home games will be played on Saturday nights.

Players who have graduated from the junior ranks include Chris Nicol, Ray Bourgon, Harvey Primeau, Scott Grant, Kevin Casselman, Allan Black and Marc Seguin.

Laggan Optimist Club to be presented with Charter Saturday

Dalkeith
by Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Sunday, Nov. 1, His Excellency Bishop LaRocque celebrated mass at St. Paul's Church. Following the service the Bishop, Father Lefebvre and the parishioners enjoyed a luncheon in the Optimist Hall.

On October 25th local relatives attended an 85th birthday party for Verda (Capron) McNaughton. The event was held at the Osgoode Baptist Church at Vernon, Ont. when many friends and relatives greeted Verda. Your many friends in this area send along belated greetings.

* * *

On Sunday, Nov. 1, Carolyn Duval turned 20. Among the friends and family who enjoyed a birthday meal at her parent's (Lise and Guy Duval) home were her grandmother Alice Girouard, Hawkesbury, her godparents, Dianne and Robert Lanthier, her friend Gilbert Paquette.

Janna and Pieter Denboer, Midland, spent a few days with their daughter Audrey Sarrazin and family in Breadalbane.

The coffee shop is open again for the season. A visit to it is a great way to start the day with the "Gab Session" to think about all day!

Congratulations to Tara Smith of the Irvine Road, and Daniel Renaud who were married on Saturday.

Halloween came early for some local spooks! On Thursday when I was driving home from the school I met an '82 Ford — the wave was familiar but clothes and hair were not. It was Juliette and Albert Quesnel off to a Halloween event at the A La Page classes in Alexandria.

Saturday evening the village was buzzing with little spooks, middle-sized spooks and some "not so little" spooks. We handed out treats to 53 costumed people and most village homes had up to 60 callers.

The Dalkeith Optimist Club are proud to present the Laggan Optimist Club with their charter at a dinner and dance at the Bonnie Glen this Saturday.

Saturday evening the Optimist Club hosted a Halloween party in their hall when about 90 spooks attended and received the usual bag of treats.

Classes with the theme "Christmas Centrepiece" are being offered by Claudia Peterson at "Claudiola's Florals" on the Lochinvar Road on Nov. 25 from 9 a.m.-noon and Nov. 26 from 1 p.m. to 4. For pre-registration and more information contact Claudia at 525-5140.

The CNIB canvass has been completed in the Dalkeith area thanks to the great group of canvassers — Bob Christie, Andrea Berry, Rollande Denovan, Dorothy Rae, Jean Hambleton, Merle Levac, Patricia Carriere, Florence MacLennan, Phyllis Noble and MaryAnne Waterston, who among them collected $715.66. A great big thank you to them and to the generous donors.

On Monday, Oct. 26, Royal Orr, on his talk show on CJAD, was inviting people to call with stories or references to small towns and villages. One lady called with reminiscences of Dalkeith! Does anyone know who that lady was?

Optimist News

On Halloween night Optimists opened up the hall and gave treats to almost 100 goblins and witches. Volunteers helped put all the bags together and some disguised themselves to greet those scary creatures. They were: President Huguette Fournier, Albert Quesnel, Alain Piche, Betty Lanthier and Serge Piche. Members hope it will be another success next year.

Sandbag League Standings

Oct. 30: Les Concombres 28, Fido Dido 25, Number 1 Team 23, Jean and the Boys 23, Les Quatres AS 20, Club "300" 17, The Sweet Power 14, The "Fabs" 10

Highest Game: Men, Yvon Paquette, 7,570; Women, Fleurette Paquette, 7,250.

Couple renews wedding vows

Green Valley
Margo Pepin
525-3581

A 40th wedding anniversary was celebrated by Denny and Mary Van Loon of Green Valley on Oct. 25. They renewed their wedding vows on Saturday evening at mass in St. Finnan's Cathedral and after a party was held at the Bonnie Glen with their seven children and family and friends. Denny and Mary would like to thank everyone who came out, and a special thank you to their children, family and friends.

Don't forget the Green Valley Knights of Columbus will be holding a breakfast on Sunday, Nov. 15. They have club 400 tickets for sale so if anyone wants a ticket you can contact any KC 9435 member of Green Valley.

Happy birthday to my son Joël on November 4; Lise Ferland, November 6, Linne Bourgon, November 7.

* * *

God bless and have a safe and happy week.

Info Iona

Students for the month of October are:

Junior Kindergarten is David Belanger, son of Paul and Tracey of Lancaster. David listens very carefully, answers questions and follows routines very well.

Senior Kindergarten has two students, Cassandra Flipsen, daughter of Henry and Nicole of Williamstown. Cassandra is picking up French words very quickly and Sarah Abraham, daughter of Wayne and Claudette of Martintown. Sarah always does excellent work and she has a really pleasant attitude towards her classmates.

Grade 1 is Shawn Sommers, son of Martin and Emmy of RR#2 Williamstown. Shawn is a hard worker and strives to do his best.

Grade 1/2 is Kristie Hlusko, daughter of Marty and Carol of Alexandria. Kristie is a very pleasant student. She is always willing to help and is working very well.

Grade 2 is Charlene Kenny, daughter of Ronald and Brenda of Martintown. Charlene is very cooperative, friendly and polite.

Grade 3 is Emmaly McCorkell, daughter of Jim and Emma of Green Valley. Emmaly is a hard worker and an enthusiastic participant in all she does.

Grade 4/5 is Stephanie Rumke. Stephanie was chosen for her excellent work especially in spelling.

Grade 4 is Shelley Poirier, daughter of Mervyn and Joan of Summerstown. Shelley is an excellent worker and is so pleasant. She has a wonderful sense of humor.

Grade 5 is Lynn MacDonald, daughter of Allen and Lucille of North Lancaster. Lynn is a great leader in class.

Grade 6 is Eric Bishop, son of Richard and Helene of Bainsville. Eric has been taking a lot of pride in the quality of work done in class and for homework assignments.

Grade 7 is Kirk MacMillan, son of D.A. and Paule of Williamstown. Kirk is outstanding in science, excellent all round student and always striving to achieve.

Grade 7/8 is Gwen Tuppert, daughter of Terry and Anne of Green Valley. Gwen is a very pleasant person who is always willing to participate. She has been working hard this past month.

Physical Education students for the month of October are:

Primary is Kyllie Jansens in Grade 3. Kyllie was chosen for her overall great effort in class, Stunt of the Month and her participation in the Cross Country Run.

Junior is Jason Thauvette in Grade 6. Jason was chosen for his good efforts in class and continued participation in extra curricular activities.

Intermediate is Lisa Foster in Grade 7. Lisa was chosen for her ongoing effort in class.

A busy time during Halloween

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

Halloween in Glen Sandfield

Well this Halloween we had our usual array of goblins, clowns and ninja's. A garbage bag dragon was most original as were the varied princesses.

The witch seemed to be a most popular costume too. We had quite a few of those.

One mom came along as a ninja turtle; green knapsack all drawn out like a turtle shell and a slim red ribbon mask.

There were wee tots, too shy to speak and bigger kids, only too eager to tell about themselves. But all had the bag, nearly half-full, of goodies already procured from delighted donors.

Here, the children were greeted by a ''child'' (at heart) bows in hair and shoes and rose silk party dress.

It always makes them laugh to see a grown-up dressed as a child, I suppose.

She has been here for three or four years. Time for a change! We'll have to see what we can come up with next year.

The last one to come was a marvelous witch, with a hooked nose and wart, long hair, black with a silver streak down to her waist. She had a pointed hat, long silk dress and cape.

I screamed when I saw her (little girls are afraid of witches, right?) and gave her a goodie bag for each of her children who hadn't visited.

She scratched on a window pane of a neighbor who nearly passed out. Harmless fun and even the weather co-operated.

I guess it is the one time in the year when it's okay to ask for goodies and they make the most of it. Can't say I blame them.

Club 65 in Glen Robertson will hold their banquet and dance on Nov. 28. Supper begins at 5:30 p.m. Everyone welcome — non-members also.

The UCW Seaway Valley Presbyterial meeting in Vankleek Hill will take place Tuesday, Nov. 10. Registration is at 9:30 a.m. The meeting begins at 10 a.m. The theme will be squicks and shales on women of the Bible. Each lady should bring a Bible, a 36-inch square piece of fabric or scarf (if no scarf bring a bath or tea towel) a long scarf and your bag lunch and mug.
