Diocesan Synod At Cornwall In May Will Be Miniature Of Vatican Council II

The structure of the Synod to be held in Alexandria Diocese May 19th to 22nd was outlined by Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve at a zone meeting of the English speaking delegates in Alexander Hall last Thursday night.

The synod is a council very much like Vatican II but will apply to our diocese alone. Similar synods have been held in other dioceses throughout Canada just recently.

Father Rudolph Villeneuve, a sociologist, has been acting as co-ordinator since plans for the event began back in 1968. The research he has directed has been compiled into 37 different booklets to date.

The initial study was a census of the diocese in which 8,000 Catholic families participated in 1968. This was followed by more detailed studies of parishes, youth groups, etc.

The changing pattern of life in the parishes calls for a renewal of structures within the diocese. Some of the rural parishes, once flourishing, have almost disintegrated due to the shift in farm population. Different conditions such as people renting their homes instead of owning them, women working outside the home, shift work and the changing structure of family life have caused social problems which must be considered.

Following the initial surveys, the diocese was divided into zones with representatives from each working in an advisory capacity. Then commissions were formed, 15 in all with delegates from the different parishes to study specific areas, such as family life, liturgy, education, etc., and all of these have compiled reports containing recommendations. These hundred or so recommendations have been compiled into a booklet and will be discussed and submitted to a vote at the synod.

The synod will be held in General Vanier Secondary School with approximately 450 delegates, and will be conducted along parliamentary lines with a speaker selected and rules of procedure set up at the beginning of the sessions.

The delegates from each parish will all sit together and one spokesman for each parish will make the views of his particular parish known but all delegates will have the right to vote. Parishes are currently holding meetings within their own areas to study the proposals submitted so each spokesman will be voicing a group opinion, not a personal one.

Several prominent keynote speakers will be present including Archbishop Plourde of Ottawa, Bishop Carter of Sault Ste Marie and Romeo Maione, Director of Development and Peace.

Car Missed Curve Ottawa Man Injured

An accident at the curve on Highway 34 at the southern limits of the town at 12.20 Tuesday morning sent an Ottawa man, Bruce Davis to hospital with throat and neck injuries. A companion, Rolland Cleland, also of Ottawa, escaped with a concussion.

According to the report of Constable Jean Guy Levert the Ottawa men were travelling north into town when their car went through the guard rail on the curve and hurtled 162 feet before landing on its side. The car was a total wreck.

Davis was treated at Glengarry Memorial Hospital by Dr. J. C. Nadeau before being transferred to Hotel Dieu in Cornwall.

Firemen Called To CNR Line

Alexandria fire brigade was called out at midnight Tuesday to control a blaze on the CNR right-of-way a mile west of Highway 34.

A section crew had been burning ties earlier in the day and the fire spread to the grass over a half-mile area. Three telegraph poles were damaged, one completely burned down, and some ties were burned before firemen controlled the blaze after an hour's work.

Sold Store At Glen

Albert Brunet of Glen Robertson, has sold his general store there to Renald Brunet of Alexandria. The new owner has already taken possession.

Glen Nevis Family Homeless By Fire

A family of nine was left homeless Tuesday at Glen Nevis when the brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmour Vachon one mile east of the church, was destroyed by fire. Lost were all the contents of the home as well as a shed in the rear.

The blaze broke out about 11.30 Tuesday morning while five of the seven children were away at school.

Lancaster fire brigade was called to the scene as was the St. Telesphore brigade.

Approve Senior Citizens Complex For Jean Street

Construction of 10 units for senior citizens under the Ontario Housing Plan will proceed on a site on Jean Street, town council decided Tuesday night. The OHC had recommended the site as the most economical land available.

Jean Street is west of Main between Lochiel and Victoria Streets.

Approval has also been received from Toronto for the Hope subdivision on the north side of Kincardine. It consists of 20 building lots.

The levy of Counties Council has been received. It asks $96,643 in counties rates from Alexandria, down slightly from last year's $100,026.

The contract for the dump site with Pat Brunet ends May 1st but Mr. Brunet offered to renew on a monthly basis. Mr. Brunet is not interested in maintaining the dump on his property if the landfill operation is required. The committee will meet with him and make arrangements pending the report of the Glengarry Planning Board which is studying the feasibility of joint use of dump sites.

Mrs. Macleod Died Saturday

Held in high esteem through 48 years of residence in Alexandria, Mrs. D. M. Macleod died Saturday in Glengarry Memorial Hospital. Her death at 84 followed a three weeks' illness.

The widow of Dr. Donald M. Macleod who was minister at Alexandria United Church at the time of his death in 1942, Mrs. Macleod had been active in the church and the community. Church organist for many years, she had played an important role in church societies as well as in the Red Cross, the CNIB and other community groups.

Born at Dudley Port, England, she came to Canada in 1912 with her family. She was the daughter Olive Mary of a Presbyterian minister, Rev. William Usher and his wife, Mary Reed. She was married at Lyn, Ont., in 1918 to Rev. D. M. Macleod and they came to Moose Creek in 1920 before taking the Alexandria charge four years later.

To mourn she leaves three sons and two daughters: D. Irving Macleod of Oshawa; Gordon K. Macleod, Ph.D., Guelph; Donald M. Macleod and Mary, Mrs. H. J. McAvoy of Toronto; Margaret, Mrs. R. A. F. Montgomery of Calgary.

Nine grandchildren also survive as do her stepmother, Mrs. William Usher of Belleville and one brother, Jack Usher of White Rock, BC.

The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. to the Church on the Hill where the service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Baugh. Interment was in the United Church Cemetery.

Pallbearers were J. Y. Humphries, Edwin Hay, Clifford Austin, Bruce Sova, Jim Wightman and Lorne Hall.

Roger Roy of Roy's Garage (Green Valley) Ltd. will enjoy a May holiday in Florida as a result of his company's high sales of new cars during February and March.

No Change In Train Arrivals

Daylight Saving Time comes into effect at midnight Saturday and readers are reminded to move their clocks and watches forward one hour before retiring Saturday night.

No changes are expected in train arrivals at Alexandria, according to CNR officials at Ottawa, except that DST will mean advancing the schedule by one hour.

Plans To Rebuild Barn Lost To Fire

Eugene Ewaschuk plans to build a new barn to replace the barn lost early Friday morning on his farm on the Glen Robertson road some three miles east of Alexandria.

The loss estimated at more than $6,000, included a cow, 13 sows and a large number of piglets, six thousand bales of hay and some farm machinery.

The fire is thought to have originated from heat lamps used in the barn. Mr. Ewaschuk was awakened by his dog about 4.15 a.m. to find the barn in flames. Alexandria fire brigade was called by a neighbor Mrs. Janet Leblanc, and a freight train passing on the CNR also sounded an alarm by blowing its whistle.

Firemen were soon on the scene and their efforts were concentrated successfully on saving the house.

Mrs. Ewaschuk was a patient in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, at the time, recovering from an operation.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Cornwall Boys Thought To Be School Vandals

The Grade 6 classroom of the Alexander School here, was seriously vandalized during Monday night and Cornwall police have been asked to locate three young boys thought to be responsible.

Forcing their way in through a window after ripping out the screen, the vandals made a real mess of the classroom flinging ink and a blue powder about, spilling out the drawers of the teacher's desk and scattering books and papers about. A small fire had been lit and some obscenities scrawled on the blackboard.

Unaware of the vandalism, Acting Chief Leo Lemieux and Constable Jean Guy Levert noticed three young boys in the Kwik-Wash about 5 a.m. Tuesday. Investigating they found cakes that had been stolen from a Lanthier truck. The 12 and 13-year-old boys were questioned before being sent back to Cornwall.

Hours later when the school vandalism was discovered Cornwall police were given the names of the youngsters and asked to round them up.

Food Forum Set For Next Wednesday

See Early Start On New Church

An early start on the new church at St. Raphael's is expected and the parish committee is now awaiting final approval by Bishop Proulx.

If that is forthcoming a start on the footings could come next Monday.

In the plans is a building 50x102 feet with a 20 foot ceiling. Part of the new church will be on the site of the former winter chapel which was torn down this winter. To cost about $100,000 the church is being planned for use as a community centre as well.

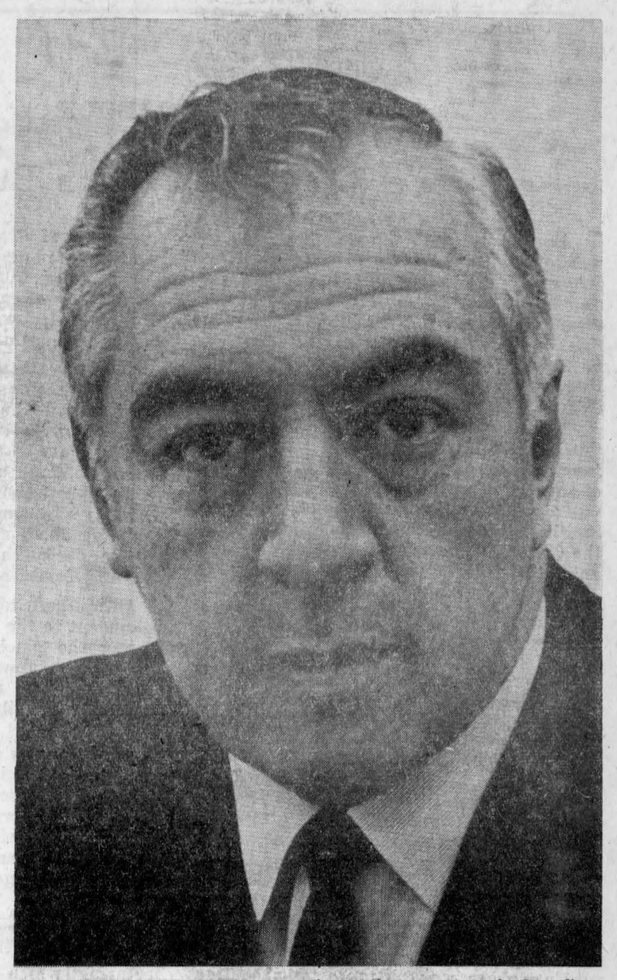
The old church ruins are to be looked after by the Heritage Foundation and the Glengarry Historical Society in conjunction with the Township of Charlottenburgh.

Alexandria Hotel Safe Recovered

The small safe stolen from the Alexandria Hotel, April 2nd, was recovered Monday afternoon from a ditch flanking the Fourth Kenyon road just west of Dornie.

The front of the safe had been "peeled" open with a crowbar. The money, some $600, was missing but Lloyd McHugh was happy to recover personal papers that had been left in the safe or were scattered about it.

Robert Campeau, 13, who lives in the area saw the safe, now free of its snow cover and notified Hugh McDougall. He called Mr. McHugh and Alexandria police and the OPP were alerted.



TO ADDRESS SPORTSMEN—A preview of the new season in Canadian football may be in store for those attending the annual Sportsmen's dinner Monday, May 8th, at the high school. Jake Gaudaur, Commissioner of the Canadian Football League, will be the top speaker at this year's dinner and clubs of the Eastern Conference will be represented in the guest list of sports celebrities expected. A native of Orillia, Mr. Gaudaur played his first pro football with Hamilton at the age of 19 and has been associated with the sport as player and executive ever since. With Hamilton Ti-Cats most of the time he also saw service with Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes. Rowing and lacrosse were other sports in which he excelled.

Town Favors Police Commission Inquiry After Report Cleroux Will Not Settle

Town Council is asking the Alexandria Police Commission to take immediate steps to hasten the investigation by the Ontario Police Commission into the conduct of Police Chief Cleroux.

Council's decision came after reading of a letter from Cleroux's lawyer, Pat Rudden of Cornwall. He noted Mr. Cleroux had rejected an offer of $8,000 by council's lawyer and Mr. Rudden felt Council should re-instate the chief now that he had been declared innocent in court.

The $8,000 offer is in addition to $5,000 already paid Mr. Cleroux and councillors felt that in view of his public rejection of the lawyer's offer the next step should be an inquiry, already requested, by the Ontario Police Commission.

In a statement to the press last week, Mr. Cleroux "categorically" refused an offer from the council for an $8,000 settlement in return for his resignation from the force.

A letter from the town to Mr. Cleroux's lawyer Pat Rudden of Cornwall, dated April 14, advised Mr. Rudden that the town "would be prepared to settle all issues outstanding upon payment of $8,000 to Cleroux".

The letter added that the town would dismiss charges against Mr. Cleroux under the Police Act and drop thoughts of having a police commission inquiry.

In exchange, the town asked for Mr. Cleroux's resignation from the Alexandria police force, and asked him to discontinue a civil action he has taken against the Town of Alexandria and the Board of Commissioners.

Mr. Cleroux was suspended as police chief of Alexandria in Feb. 1971. He was acquited earlier this year of five charges in two trials. Two charges were also dropped during trial proceedings. All seven charges dealt with fraud, theft and breach of trust.

Mr. Cleroux said Friday the only action he had taken against the Town of Alexandria was to obtain all back wages and be reinstated as police chief.

"I have refused the $8,000 offer," he said, "because I am only interested in being reinstated. I have the backing of about 75 per cent of the population in Alexandria."

In addition Mr. Cleroux said he has received the backing of the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police, who have assured him they would do "everything possible to obtain Mr. Cleroux's back wages and have him reinstated."

Traced Burglars

The Montreal men who stole three portable television sets from Lemay TV and Radio are known but there is not enough evidence to convict, reports Acting Chief Leo Lemieux.

Montreal police found the car used was a rental and traced the lessee who has a police record. A search warrant found no sign of the loot which was probably disposed of.

Veteran Of 154th Died At 74

Seven weeks following the death of his sister, Mrs. Albert Willdig, the death occurred of Donald Angus McDonald at the Mary Vale Nursing Home, Glen Nevis. He was 74 years old on March 29th.

He was born in the 9th Concession of Lancaster, a son of the late Alexander (Grocer) McDonald and his wife Mary McDougald. In World War I he went overseas with the 154th Battalion. On his return from the war, he resided in Souris, Manitoba, until 1940 when he returned to Alexandria.

To mourn his loss he leaves three brothers John. John Angus of Alexandria, and Donald of Grande Prairie, Alberta.

The funeral was held Sunday, April 23rd, at 2 p.m. to St. Finnan's Cathedral where the Libera was offered by Rev. Leo MacDonell. The funeral Mass was offered Monday morning at 10.

The pallbearers were six fellow members of the Alexandria Legion Branch, Jim Weir, Gavin MacDonald, D. A. MacPhee, Angus R. MacDonell, Donald E. MacMaster and D. O. Collin.

Interment was in the family plot in St. Finnan's cemetery.

Retired Sports Writer In Mexico Is A Descendant Of Glengarrians

by Leroy L. Guldan, St. Paul, Minn.

The narratives, anecdotes and histories of Glengarry County are replete with tales of the successes of political figures, financiers, railroad men, lumber and mining people and others whose travels along life's way are catalogued in old newspapers and in books.

These Glengarrians and their descendants have travelled, in many cases, far from their place of origin and so their claims to fame and renown have been forever lost in the memories of those who still reside in and within the confines of Glengarry County.

One of the descendants of an old Glengarry family has made a name for himself and his family although none of his relatives in Glengarry have ever met him.

He is John A. McDonald, known all over the United States in sporting annals as Jack McDonald.

Jack McDonald's forebears came from Lot 15-4th Kenyon, Glengarry. His great grandfather was a John McDonald, married to a Margaret Campbell. This union produced a family of nine children, Roderick John "Rory", Catherine, Mary, Christine, Ranald John, John Arthur, Archie John, Margaret and Annie McDonald.

Rod Rory McDonald's two daughters married two MacIsaac MacDonald brothers, John Vincent MacIsaac of Superior and Ashland, Wisconsin and Ranald J. MacIsaac, who took over the MacIsaac farm at Lot 29,-2nd Kenyon.

Catherine Rory McDonald married Ranald I. MacIsaac of the north end of Lot 25, 4th Kenyon. Mary Rory McDonald married a Dan McDonald. Christine Rory McDonald became the second wife of Alexander McDonald, from which marriage Mrs. John Alex Shago of Alexandria is descended. Ranald John "Rory" McDonald left Glengarry, settled in Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire, Wisconsin and married Martha McCann, the first white girl to be born in Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin. John Arthur "Rory" McDonald also emigrated to Wisconsin and married Martha McCann's sister, Williamette McCann. Archie John "Rory" McDonald married Christine McDonald; Margaret "Rory" McDonald married Matt Riley and settled in the far west while Annie "Rory" McDonald married Duncan Smith of near Greenfield and both are interred in St. Catherine of Sienna cemetery at Greenfield.

Ranald J. "Rory" McDonald worked in the logging and lumbering industry in Wisconsin, as well as at Thief River Falls, Minnesota. He was at one time a timber cruiser and estimator for various lumber barons in that region. Several of his children were engaged in the newspaper business in various locations, Eau Claire, Wis., Thief River Falls, Minn.; in Iowa and in Omaha, Nebraska. Ranald J., his wife, Martha McCann, her father and several of Ranald's children are buried in Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

The present day Jack McDonald also followed in his father's footsteps as a newspaper man.

Enlisting, underage in World War I, he became a Navy radioman and after the cessation of hostilities, went to the west coast of the United States where he, in his career, worked for each and every newspaper in San Francisco, California. Initially he covered a regular news beat but slowly

IT'S OUR OPINION

We Keep Our Station But . . .

Another tie with the railroad is on the way out with the removal next month of Alexandria's station agent. Perhaps we should consider ourselves lucky to be even retaining our station building. Ours and Smiths Falls' will be the only ones left in a wide area, but there is an ominous ring even to the announcement that our station must stay.

The order of the Canadian Transport Commission allowing removal of the last four working agents in the area and closing of stations at Barry's Bay and Arnprior, stipulates that waiting rooms be maintained at Smiths Falls and Alexandria. "As long as the CNR provides passenger service at these points", is the rather chilling codicil.

It hints of a day when the railroad may write-off these two towns, as passenger points; and then the station buildings may be due for removal, just as have so many others that were once focal points of activity in many a community.

Old-timers can probably still recall a day when our station on the Canada Atlantic Railway boasted its own restaurant and was an important shipping point. Go back still further and you'll find this stretch of railroad between Montreal and Ottawa was started by a group of ambitious Alexandrians. Even in the days of our youth the station was an exciting place to visit, the focal point of all who travelled, the shipping point for the buggy from Glengarry. Young eyes had their fill and ears were attuned to the bawling of calves, the squealing of pigs from the stockyards, that rose above the clatter of shunting freights.

Highway transport has taken over express shipments and even much of the freight, and the automobile has dealt a mortal blow to travel by train. There are still people who want and need rail travel but not enough of them to offset the high costs of passenger train operation demanded by today's featherbedding unions. These are changing times and nowhere is the change more apparent than along the right-of-ways of North America's railroads.

Cities and towns that owed their development to the coming of the railroad are feeling the pinch as highways take over. The smaller towns and whistle stops are hardest hit and many will not survive the razing of the railroad station that was their raisin d'etre.

Alexandrians can count themselves lucky that their town is the intersection point of two highways, secondary though they may be. We will survive the strangling of rail traffic because of the chance of our location but we are all among the losers when railway services degenerate.

A Dream Of Decentralization

Even when we're listed as an incentives area it seems just about impossible to lure new industry to Alexandria. We're doing all right mind you to our way of thinking, but another small industry or two wouldn't hurt. There are even those among us who won't rest happy until we land a really promising prospect, something along the line of Steel Co. of Canada or General Motors.

We'd settle for less, and an editorial in the Dutton Advance brought the glimmer of an idea you need not take too seriously. If we can't attract an industry, why don't we concentrate our efforts on bringing a ministry of the overblown federal government to this green garden we call Glengarry.

The Dutton editorial had to do with federal decentralization. The Royal Canadian Mint is being moved to Winnipeg as part of that decentralization and another probable relocation is the headquarters of the Canada Development Corporation to Vancouver.

If this goes on, the Dutton editor foresees the Fisheries Ministry in St. John's, Newfoundland; Agriculture in Regina; National Defence in Edmonton to be ready to defend the North. The Canadian Senate, of course, is a natural for Victoria, BC.

That left us with the thought decentralization need not be quite so farflung. Just an hour's drive from Parliament Hill, Glengarry has just the kind of greenery the National Capital Commission feels is so necessary to the good life of civil servants. If we could induce the government to move one of its ministries here, the influx of public servants would be as beneficial to the local economy as a fair-sized industry.

If you're going to dream you might as well do it in technicolor so we got to conjecturing which of Ottawa's departments we might go after. It would be a feather in our cap to have the PM and his huge inner cabinet based in Glengarry, but we gave up that idea. Our hills aren't high enough for skiing and Mr. Trudeau already has a haven up the Gatineau.

Practically every place in Canada would be clamoring for the Department of Regional Economic Expansion because of its high spending proclivities. We ruled that out because we felt Jean Marchand would already have a place in Quebec picked out for DREE. Several other ministries might fit into the local scene but we finally settled on the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development. It would be a natural for Glengarry because we have the Indian Lands and the St. Regis reservation is right on our doorstep. If the Department was based here we might even see some progress on that affair of Stanley Island and Tree Haven that has yet to be settled.

Northern Development should be right up our alley, too. For many years some of Glengarry's more adventurous sons have been heading North to uncover its untold wealth. Right in our midst are many veterans of the gold trails who could advise on development of the Northern wastes.

This business of dismantling and dispersing Ottawa's bureaucratic structure got us so excited we were on the point of making a pitch to the local Board of Trade. That's when we got cooled by the realization our town doesn't have one.

Maybe that's why we don't get new industry. Without a wide-awake Board of Trade how could we hope to attract a piece of the government?

Saturday Mail Delivery Might Help

Saturday mail delivery in urban areas may have to be re-introduced, Postmaster-General Cote declared last week in the House of Commons. There still is a problem of weekend mail, Mr. Cote admitted and if no other solution can be found Saturday delivery would have to be started again.

That may be easier said than done. The letter carriers have been enjoying their work-free weekends and can be counted on to do everything possible to thwart such a move. The response of the Letter Carriers' Union of Canada was to criticize the minister for making "erroneous and irresponsible statements" regarding Saturday mail service. The almost total lack of success the Post Office department has met with in past confrontations with its letter carriers suggests Saturday service may be slow in coming.

The Postmaster-General's original statement was made in a speech in Vancouver last week, when he mentioned the build-up of mail during the weekend that is not cleared until the next Tuesday. How right he is, especially in the matter of second-class mail such as this and other weekly newspapers. Even before Saturday deliveries were stopped our newspapers suffered from a lack of service in the large cities. The present situation is really sad for city or suburban readers whose papers may not be delivered in less than a week.

First-class mail may lose only a day or two because of non-delivery on Saturdays but here's how we see the treatment our newspapers are receiving in the city post-offices. Both sorters and carriers look down their noses at such second-class stuff. They have big plans for the weekend that preclude a decent day's work on Friday so these bags containing newspapers are not even opened or sent on their way.

Comes Monday and maybe a hangover. There are two days of first-class mail to sort and deliver so the papers again get the go-by. Some conscientious soul may get around to them Tuesday and they may or may not reach our readers eventually.

The April 6th issue of the Humboldt, Sask., Journal reached us on Friday, April 21st, and we have a good idea what must have happened during that 15-day odyssey. Our copy must have reached Saskatoon on a Friday to lie untouched in its bag in the main post-office. Perhaps Tuesday it was sent on its way and reached Toronto or Ottawa, again on a Friday. That would be the 14th and it required an entire week for the poor overworked staff of that distribution point to get it to us.

The same thing happens in reverse with our papers to the West, but there's no regularity in the snail's pace the Post Office people provides for our papers. Out in Vancouver two papers issued a week apart may arrive in the same mail. There are occasions when the earlier-issued is beaten by the better-serviced follow up.

There is no rhyme nor reason to the kind of delivery service our papers receive and we have come to the conclusion the culprit is a lack of harmony in the postal service. The letter carriers claim poor administration is to blame and the Ottawa brass ascribes it to poor attitude on the part of postal union members. Both share the blame for service far below the call of duty, we would suggest.

Anything would be an improvement, including Saturday delivery in urban areas. What is really needed in the Canada Post-Office, though, is a thorough spring cleaning that would remove all the dead wood and cobwebs that infest the service from top to bottom.

Our postal service, as presently constituted, is a living testament to the argument that private enterprise is much more efficient than any service government bureaucracy insists on providing.

More Care Should Be Given

(The Ridgetown Dominion)

While the recent episode of the prisoner out on leave to get married ending up in Spain was treated lightly and humorously, as was the previous episode of the prisoner who escaped by means of being given permission to flood a rink in April, the Canadian public should take a more serious view of the policies of the National Parole Board as a result of the activities and death of Thomas Warburton. He had a long record of previous convictions including armed robbery and breaking jail by violence.

Granted parole, and passes to leave his parole area he was shot by a police bullet but only after he tried to kill several policemen and endangered a number of bystanders.

Parole Board chairman George Street reports that parole violations increased 50% in 1971 over 1970 and that the board is tightening its standards for granting parole.

Statistics Canada gives the information that 40% of parolees commit serious offences within five years of being released.

On the contrary charges have been made that our prisons are full of people who have never been charged with violence.

It would seem that the public should demand that such charges of unfairness be investigated and that those who seem to be a good risk for parole be given a chance, while at the same time the public be guarded from parolees who seem to have gained parole by knowing the right people, or the wrong people, whichever way you say it.

LEAVING LIFE BEHIND

(Smiths Falls Record News)

Los Angeles, a city greatly admired by some politicians for its quick, instinctive grasp of automobile needs, has again distinguished itself in a way that must wring admiring cries from all who care about the urban environment. Some of those in Eastern Ontario who have opposed the endless construction of expressways have done so because of concern that grand vistas of concrete and companion clouds of carbon monoxide might not be what nature intended for living things. We might unwittingly be driving nature out.

Oh ye of little faith. Don't you know that with man's limitless ingenuity, to say nothing of his amazing technological prowess, there is an answer to every problem? As far as living and growing things are concerned, Los Angeles has the answer. The city's board of supervisors has decided that a two-mile stretch of a new boulevard will be decorated with pastic imitations of trees, bushes and flowers. These are claimed to be indistinguishable from the real thing, and will not require maintenance, watering or trimming. What more could you ask? As soon as the plastic factory has filled its quota of plastic trees, it can re-tool for plastic dogs.

If the trees are to be magnolia, we suppose later models should have snap-on blossoms as an optional extra; autumnal effects might be achieved by scattering brown plastic leaves around the boulevard. It all has a kind of cold, computer logic to it, but Los Angeles should not be surprised to end up as a city of plastic people. At least they would then be impervious to automobile fumes.

SOCIOLOGY OR NONSENSE

The parents of a teen-age girl may or may not care about her not wearing a bra. Or about how she goes to the bathroom. Or her political opinions. But the taxpayer certainly doesn't care enough to spend $500,000 in collecting such trivia. So Health and Welfare Minister Munro is on a bad trip, with his project to finance 300 youngsters this summer in questioning their peers on sexual, personal and political activities. He compounds this foolishness by cloaking it as sociology, a study of youth culture.

MUST SURVIVE

Because costs are so much higher and wages about equal . . . than British Columbia; a Yukon family is often in the position that to survive and stay in the Yukon, both husband and wife must work. And they're taxed to the limit for that privilege. We've had cabinet minister give us glowing accounts after visits to Russia, of how the Soviets get their north populated. The more isolated the place, the more incentives. Great idea! But when it comes to Canada, not bloody likely.

WITH OUR

by Ed.

LET'S CHECK IT!

Bank cheques are becoming more colorful instruments of commerce as Canada's banks move to the use of color printing and a variety of scenic backgrounds. The water was plunging over Niagara Falls on a colorful cheque that came our way last week and we've seen others in psychedelic colors almost to rival the new 10 and 20 dollar bills.

They're an improvement on the staid cheques that served our banking system so long. Could come the day when a cheque is welcomed not only for the cash value it represents but for the beauty of the voucher itself.

As usual the Yanks are one step ahead and we're not so sure we like the idea of personal cheques sporting the issuer's photo. A small bank in California started that fad and is turning out cheques showing family groups and even favored pets. A Chinese customer flaunts Chairman Mao on his cheques.

That could go too far. Government pension cheques might sport a likeness of the Minister of Finance or Welfare, or even of a generous Prime Minister. Even the townships might be paying their bills with cheques sporting a picture of Reeve Albert Faubert or Alex McNaughton.

Let's not get carried away to personal cheques that are too personal. We have a warm feeling for people who write cheques in our favor but some of them are anything but photogenic.

Canada's banks may be changing with the times but they'll retain their interest on the dollar.

CAMOUFLAGE FOR VACANCIES

The Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up month of May is with us next week. So are the dregs of winter's snow and if it doesn't warm up soon we may have to move clean-up month back to June.

In the interests of a more attractive business section merchants might now be taking a good look at their store fronts. A new paint job may be in order and an attractively arranged store window display can also dress up the main drag.

On the other hand one of the more common eyesores in any shopping area is the empty store window. We haven't too many of these dismal blank spaces, thank goodness, for there's nothing more calculated to leave a poor impression of a community.

There are a few vacant business places, though, and we like the suggestion contained in a letter to the editor of another weekly. The correspondent suggests a simple way to camouflage all such vacancies.

Local service clubs or other groups with activities or events to promote, other merchants or even the town itself might obtain use of these empty windows from the owner or lessee of the property. A suitable backdrop could then be erected and the space used to advertise various aims or projects. Failing such, a bowl of flowers or a work of art might be displayed.

One such project that comes to mind is the hospital expansion campaign. A window display could serve as a reminder of fund-raising events or detail information on the planned improvement.

We doubt owners of such vacant business premises would hesitate to have them used for such purposes and the result would be a more prosperous looking business section.

Dressing up vacant windows might be an extension of the false fronts stores used to sport. They still serve women well.

INCOME TAX TIME

We're all the losers, one way or another, this weekend. We lose an hour's sleep Saturday night as we switch to summer time and that's in addition to the sleep some of us may have been losing over our income tax returns. They have to be in the mails no later than Monday.

We'll welcome the change to summer time if it brings a taste of summer with it. April has been uncommonly cold and its showers might have done a better job of removing the last of winter's snow had they not been such cold rains. Surely we can hope for greening grass and budding trees when May is in the meadow.

Most people are on salary and their income tax headache consists of working their way through those intricate forms with the object of earning themselves a tax rebate. The small businessman has a different problem. His audi-

A lovely lunch was served by Group IV.

TOURED SPAIN BY CAMERA

On Wednesday, April 12th members of the Young at Heart Club travelled through Spain.

They saw ornate, gold encrusted altars, and jewel-bedecked statues, alternately with humble peasants working their fields with oxen. Modern, wide-streeted, car-filled cities and produce-laden donkeys trudging dusty highways. Beautiful, colorfully-dressed senoritas and black-shawled, wizened looking women, old at forty.

A land of color and contrasts, of ancient and modern, and over all one felt the hot, hot sun.

The groups' courier was Mrs. J. N. Fitzgerald who has combined an innate sense of composition and color, with an appreciation of the dramatic, and captured all with her camera.

Members of the Young at Heart Club expressed their appreciation of Mrs. Fitzgerald's presentation most heartily.

The next meeting, on April 26th, will be a euchre, at Maxville Community Hall, at 2 p.m.

HAD WI SEMINAR

Members from four branches of the Women's Institute, Picnic Grove, McCrimmon, Dunvegan, and the hosting branch, Maxville, gathered together on Monday, April 10th, to attend a seminar, conducted by Mrs. Clarence Diamond, on Parliamentary Procedures.

Mrs. Diamond conducted the seminar in an informal manner, inviting the members to interrupt at will with questions, which they did, resulting in many discussions.

Although this was an all day affair, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a break for lunch, there was so much to hear and ask, that one day seemed all too short.

Seminars like this give a better understanding of the working of the Women's Institute, and so make for more efficiency in executives and members.

tor has probably taken care of the forms but he's left with the dismaying task of finding all that money his income tax report suggests he owes the government.

His griping about taxes is similar to that being heard in the U.S. where tax reform is reported becoming the top political issue in the 1972 election. Taxpayers are in near revolt against an income tax system that practically no one still defends, according to Time Magazine. "More loophole than law, it allows many big taxpayers to escape scot-free while it grinds ever more out of the small taxpayer."

Sounds a lot like Canada's tax system, doesn't it? Maybe one of these springs our taxpayers will decide to revolt too.

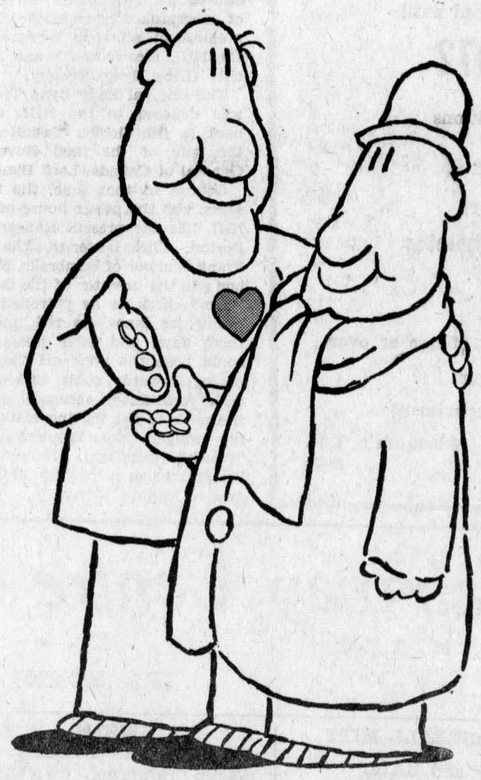
When it comes to drug store items why choose between discounts and druggists when you can have both.



There are lots of discount stores without a druggist to look after you (sniffle!).

And there are lots of drug stores with not-so-discount prices. (ouch!)

And then there's Guardian.

Every Guardian Drug store is owned and operated by a Pharmacist.

To advise you on the latest cold remedy, vitamins and cough drops.

To keep his stock fresh and full. His store neat and tidy.

And to give you friendly, personal service.

But there are 100 Guardian Drug stores with prices that any given day are just a few cents lower (or a few cents higher) than the lowest "discount" store in town.

Because of the combined buying power of all 100 independent Guardian Pharmacists, teamed up together.

So next time you want a druggist's service and a discount price tag, come get both.

At your nearby Guardian Drug store.

There are over 100 Guardian Pharmacists with fresh goods, good selection, low prices, bright stores and big hearts.

Golfers Hope To Be On Course Soon Plan Driving Range On Fairgrounds

There are still snow patches on the golf course but if the weatherman is co-operative it is hoped the work of cleaning up the winter's debris can get underway next week. Play could start the following week, again depending on warmer weather.

Meeting Friday night, the directors of the Glengarry Golf & Country Club completed plans for opening of the season. Archie Macdonald of Glen Nevis, a veteran golfer who has had considerable experience in the field, will be the new greenskeeper this summer and he will be assisted by the same ground staff who served last year. Harry Poole will be in charge of the clubhouse and he brings years of experience gained while serving at the Lachute club.

The greens appear to have come through the winter in fine shape, President Lloyd McHugh reported, but the extent of winter kill will not be known until warmer weather reactivates growth in the grass. Enlarged tees and larger sand traps are among the improvements golfers will find on the course this year.

A driving range where golfers can practise their distance hitting may be a new feature this year. Plans were approved to set up a driving range on the former fairgrounds just across the road from the Monastery.

New. too, on the golf course, and unwelcome is a colony of beaver who have been working on the fine trees that make No. 8 tee so picturesque. The Lands & Forests' people have been called in to deal with the beaver and it is hoped the trees can be saved.

The season opening dance is set for Saturday, May 20th.

Charlottenburgh To Participate In Nation-Wide Nutrition Survey

The Nutrition Canada survey team arrives in Charlottenburgh Township on Monday, May 8th, to assess the dietary and nutritional habits of local residents. This is one of 28 Ontario communities to be studied in the national nutrition survey, sponsored by the Health Protection Branch of Health and Welfare Canada in co-operation with the provincial departments of health and local health units in Ontario.

The advance party will arrive in Charlottenburgh, May 8th. Households and the members to participate will be selected and a clinic will be held at McDonell's Inn, Eamer's Corners on May 16th.

The Ontario segment of the study begins in Ottawa on May 8th and ends in Fort William on the 17th of July, 1972. During that period of time more than 2,000 people living within selected areas of this province will be interviewed by the survey team.

The complete survey involves the participation of 24,000 Canadians in five geographic regions—Ontario, Atlantic, Quebec, Prairies and British Columbia. Population samples based on age, sex and family income have been selected in each area by Statistics Canada. An autumn-winter and a spring-summer study in each survey region will determine seasonal variations in dietary patterns.

The Nutrition Canada study is being conducted by Health and Welfare Canada with the co-operation of the ten provincial health departments. Its purpose is to provide information on the nutritional well-being of Canadians for planning public health programs and developing food legislation.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Among the features of the Alexandria Lions Club sportsmen's dinners is the presentation of awards and the prestige they carry. Gradually the number grew to five which is close to the limit, however, one more was added this year in order that our budding young hockey players of the Alexandria and District Minor Hockey Ass'n could have the opportunity to be honored at the conclusion of the dinner along with older outstanding athletes of the year.

Among those who have contributed greatly in the building of our club's dinner to its present level was Frank Boucher of NHL Hockey Hall of Fame. In return for this much appreciated support, as was the case with the late Vern DeGeer of the Montreal Gazette, it was the club's decision to present a trophy bearing Frank Boucher's name and to have the midget, bantam and peewee minors compete for this trophy annually. There is no greater example for them to follow than that of Frank Boucher and his record winning of the original Lady Byng Trophy emblematic of skillful and gentlemanly play in the National Hockey League.

So on Monday evening, May 8, here in the GDHS audttorium, a minor player, chosen by the coaches of the teams in the above mentioned groups, will have the honor to step up to the head table and with a hand shake and words of congratulations from one of the greatest of all time forwards in the NHL receive the Frank Boucher (Lady Byng) Trophy.

The original Lady Byng Trophy was donated to the NHL away back in the Golden Twenties by the wife of the then Governor General of Canada, Lord Byng.

Ottawa at that time, the Senators, was the power house of the NHL like the present Rangers or Boston. Their leader was the late Frank Nighbor of Pembroke. Nighbor was the inventor of the famed "poke" check as he patrolled the center ice lanes, no red line in those days, and with great skill could poke the puck off the opposing forwards' sticks and often with remarkable accuracy direct the puck to the waiting blades of his wingers Cy Denneny and "Punch" Broadbent. Rarely did Frank receive a penalty and he was a leading scorer.

Lady Byng was a fine hockey fan and a great admirer of Frank Nighbor's artistry on the ice, so much so that she presented to the NHL for annual competition a trophy to be awarded to the player showing a combination of skill and gentlemanly play over and above all other players.

Obviously Frank Nighbor was the original winner. Then came the first real expansion of the NHL. (The Patrick brothers sold the Pacific Coast players to Eastern clubs). In this deal the Ranger Hockey Club was founded in New York and the now aging veteran Conn Smythe grouped for the Broadway Blues and all time great line of Frank Boucher flanked by the brother Bill and Bun Cook.

Frank Boucher took over the brilliant mantle of Frank Nighbor who was fading into retirement. Our Lions great friend had no peers in the next era as he won the Lady Byng trophy something like six years in seven.

This tremendous example of skill and gentlemanly play was drawn to the attention of Lady Byng who had long since returned to her London home. The gracious lady hockey fan learning authentically of Frank Boucher's achievements suggested to the late Frank Calder, NHL president, that her trophy be given outright to Mr. Boucher and she would donate a replacement.

This was done and for many, many years the prized trophy adorned the Boucher living room among several more hockey mementos. Then tragedy struck. Fire destroyed the fine Boucher farm home near Kemptville one night and all the treasured contents. One item that Ag. and Frank Boucher didn't lose was their great friendly neighborly spirit.

And now, we can assure you, Frank Boucher will be as proud and happy as the youngster stepping up to the dais at our next dinner because Frank will consider that all was not lost in that unfortunate fire, not even the Lady Byng trophy.

LION TALES

(by Lyall Costello)

Attended the party of appreciation for Lion Lorne and Sandra Lawson Saturday night last and can reiterate the words of praise spoken by master of ceremonies Gabe Aubry. I always detected a note of refinement and decency in the character of Lorne but it was not until I conversed with Mrs. Lawson, Lorne's mother that she pinpointed its source. His grandmother was a Costello.

Bouquets to editor Eugene Macdonald and his staff for getting the circulation of his Glengarry News over the 5000 mark. His paper must be good. I saw him take a copy home to read.

Bouquets to Lion Pat Killoran for his second edition of the Glengarry Farmer. His article on stray dogs and bulls was of particular interest as we would like to eliminate a lot of "bull" which exists at the coffee break. At the same time I would also add a word of praise and appreciation for Lion Pat's wife Lynda and her partner, Mrs. Don Yule of Green Valley, and their associates for their efforts in organizing the Brownies and Girl Guides in Alexandria.

The response to the Lion's walkathon May 21st for the Hospital Extension is beyond our expectations. It is gratifying to see the enthusiasm of the students of the various schools who besides doing something useful are making a "fun" day of it. Chairman Bill Upper will soon have a progress report.

A novel way of raising funds has been successful for the Plantagenet Lions Club. It is a swim-a-thon of approximately nine frog men who compete in a two-mile swim on the Nation River with a parade of boats, etc. before. A collection is then taken up from the spectators. It makes an interesting Sunday afternoon.

Our regular general meeting was held Monday, April 24th and it was election night. Lion Jerry Adams is our new president for 72/73. A POEM

I hope my efforts did not fail,
And you've enjoyed what I have writ,
If not, I'll feel like a horse's tail,
Or worse, the closest thing to it.

Weaving Demonstrated At Re-Opening Of Lancaster Library

The library at Lancaster had its reopening Saturday afternoon after a thorough renovation and boasting a new stock of books.

The opening ceremonies were preceded by a demonstration of weaving by members of the Stormont Hand Weaver's and Spinner's Guild, many of the members in colorful costumes of an earlier era. At that time the library became one of the few, possibly the only one, with its own distinctive pattern of woven cloth, the creation of Mrs. Yvonne Perrault of Vankleek Hill, one of the weavers who was present.

At the actual opening ceremonies, the library board was represented by Miss Francoise Laflamme of Ingleside, who referred to the progress being made in the area libraries.

Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP Glengarry, congratulated the board and village on its improved library building. "Although we mature people get a lot out of it," he said, "the library is probably of greatest value and importance to the younger people."

Village reeve W. J. Cumming expressed the appreciation of the local people for changes made in the library and book distribution program, and outlined the history of the local library, using information submitted to the Women's Institute by the late Ross McRae and made available by Miss Bessie Cumming.

Mr. McRae in his notes recalled that the idea started when William Stewart and Sandy "The Squire" McLennan wrote John D. Ross of Chicago, asking for help in providing a library. In the end, after some correspondence, Mr. Ross bought the lot where the library now stands, at the centre of the village, and provided a total of $2,000 toward the building, a one-storey brick structure, erected in the early 1900's.

The present building is not the first library here. Mr. Cumming cited Mr. McRae's notes as authority that the first library was in the Mechanic Institute building, between the McArthur and Henderson blocks, which later burned, and then in the Fraser block, across the street and a little south of the present building. Mrs. C. W. Edgar was librarian in the early days.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Banfill, the president, the weaver's guild demonstrated many kinds of looms and woven cloth, from the inkle loom to the yard-wide floor loom, including bound weaving, overset weaving, a multi-harness loom, the Salish weave of the West Coast Indians, and the Egyptian loom. In the meantime, Mrs. Perrault was weaving her original pattern in honor of Lancaster Public Library.

The Library is in charge of Mrs. Anne MacLeod, assisted by Miss Marilyn MacDonald, and is open Monday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., except for the noon hour.

Herman Nyland, head of the United Counties library system, was master of ceremonies for the opening day events.

He has requested that time be allowed for an open question period, in order that parents and others attending the meeting will have an opportunity to discuss problems encountered in Respiratory Diseases.

Isabella Group Plans Activities

At the regular meeting of the Daughters of Isabella held April 19th at the K of C Hall, the members of the local council were informed of the many activities planned by the executive for the months ahead.

Mrs. Aurele Lajoie, regent, chaired the meeting. She asked the co-operation of everyone to make these projects successful.

May will be a month of travel when members will visit Montreal and especially the "Salon de la Femme" held at Place Bonaventure. Cornwall and Hawkesbury will hold initiations and again some members will attend. June 4th will be intiation day in Alexandria when new members will be welcomed in the local group.

Reports from various committees showed that during winter, the ladies were busy repairing clothes to be distributed to needy school children. Some 300 used spring garments were given and last month six school children were helped with new garments and shoes.

The recent bake sale was a success. Plans are now underway to hold a cooking school Sept. 25th at the High School Auditorium.

The annual Bal de l'Amitie held in November is also in the planning stage.

Rev. Maurice Lariviere, chaplain, answered questions from the members and explained the various stages of the work, leading to the Synod, which will be held in Cornwall during May.

Local Delegate Reports On Annual Of CNIB Held At Toronto

The 24th annual meeting on April 12th of the Ontario Division, CNIB, in Toronto, was attended by Angus R. MacDonell and Dr. D. H. Hamly representing the advisory boards of Glengarry and Prescott Counties and by others from as far away as Kenora and Fort Francis in North Western Ontario. They heard of recent developments in CNIB work. Ophthamologists emphasized the fact that aid should be given to children as early as possible and Dr. Keenleyside reported that a child of two had been fitted with contact lenses with good results. Our local eye clinics help a great many, but, parents, teachers, health officials and doctors are urged to report any children with sight difficulties to the CNIB as promptly as possible so that treatment can be started early.

A report was given on the CNIB Mobile Eye Clinic by Dr. W. H. Hunter. This toured Newfoundland last summer and the delegates inspected the larger and more sophisticated Mobile Clinic whose design was developed out of last summer's experience. This clinic will tour Northern Ontario commencing next month. The generous sum of $75,000 was given by the physicians who participated in the now discontinued PSI. Advanced planning has been considered necessary for the efficient work of the two ophthamoligists, a nurse and a secretary-driver who will travel with it, giving examinations, treatments and even minor operations. Local CNIB boards, school and health officials, Lions and Rotary Clubs are all playing a part in arranging appointments and bringing patients to the clinic. It is hoped that the staff may need work only from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., instead of the 7.30 a.m. hours sometimes needed in Newfoundland.

During his student days Dr. Hamly learned of the remarkable capacity of the late Col. Baker in encouraging and stimulating the blind. He considered that brain demanding work was essential hence useful aid should be given as would be the case with normal sighted individuals. All sorts of talking books are now available ranging from the serious to fiction and magazine books. The circulation of such books is now large, for the new cassettes and cassette speakers make for easy use. Last year the circulation per month reached 12,000 and in addition there were 2,000 braille books. Touch reading and writing systems are very important since they provide ready access to particular information such as braille file cards. In addition touch communication is valuable to those who are both blind and deaf. These methods have proved valuable in the case of Mae Brown ,both blind and deaf since 18, who is graduating from the University of Toronto this June. The number of blind students in Canadian universities is rising and the total now is 275.

Getting the blind into useful work both within and outside the CNIB organization is important both to give self respect to the individual and to teach the community that a blind person can fill a useful niche in society. Three new aspects of this relationship have appeared. Catering has become important. A Scent Garden with plants arranged on the basis of surface texture has been provided by the Ladies Garden Club of Toronto. The training of blind radio operators has been undertaken by the Canadian Amateur Radio Operators Association. Dr. Hamly who years ago was a radio ham was asked if he would like to undertake some of the work. The moral appears obvious that all citizens should consider what they can do to make the blind and sight deficient of Glengarry and Prescott more useful citizens.

K of C VETERANS HONORED—Older members of Glengarry Council K of C were recognized at Monday's meeting when honorary life memberships were presented to Sebastien Laporte and Dr. D. J. Dolan, second and third from left, front. Honorary memberships for 25 years service went to Elzear Andre, Wilfrid Menard, Francis Major; standing —Rheal Vaillancourt, Lucien D'Aoust, Lauriat Decoste. Gilbert Gauthier stood in for his brother, Arthur Gauthier of Montreal, an honorary life member and Peter A. Charlebois qualified as the longest serving Knight, since 1918. Oscar Joanette and Dr. Bertrand Primeau, also qualifying for 25-year pins were not present. The meeting heard plans for the new French school outlined by the principal, Claude Brunet. —Photo by Robert

Committee Meetings To Be Public When Counties Council Next Meets

Meeting in a three-day session at Cornwall last week, counties council discussed a move which will have an important bearing on the method of carrying on future meetings. Rather than meeting mainly in committee, the meetings of standing committees will be held in the main council chamber and will be open to public and press.

This is a new departure for counties council and Warden McInnis said it would be council's intention to have the procedural by-law prepared for the June session. The meeting would open with the usual ceremonies, consider and pass the procedural changes first, and hold the June meeting under the new rules.

One of the important features was the approval of a budget presented by Clerk-Treasurer L. C. Kennedy for the total amount of county levy against the constituent municipalities of $1,357,210. This is an increase of $7,500 over last year's levy, considered a modest increase.

A new feature in this years levy is the requisition of $65,000 for library purposes, applicable to all municipalities except those who are not associated with the county library system.

Some of the other levies are considerably reduced. Maintenance of county roads is to cost $628,500, last year $697,100 was levied.

Cornwall Township has the distinction of being the largest contributor, with a levy of $152,321.19, Charlottenburgh is a close second with $149,782.12. Among the villages, Morrisburg has the largest levy, $83,249.19.

Other provisions of by-laws passed include the fact that the counties will make grants in lieu of taxes on land held for forestry purposes within constiuent municipalities. Subject to Ontario Municipal Board approval a grant to Glengarry Memorial Hospital will be made in four installments of $60,000 each in the next three years and $20,000 in the fourth.

The grand jury report found both the county jail and Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge in good condition and apparently well administered. Dwayne Munro of Chesterville was appointed Dundas weed inspector.

MOOSE CREEK

ALCIDE A. LAFRANCE DIED SUDDENLY

A highly esteemed resident of the community, Alcide Alexander Lafrance of Moose Creek, passed away suddenly in his home on Tuesday afternoon April 11th, at the age of 54 years.

Mr. Lafrance had been in his usual health and had been about his daily duties when he suffered a heart seizure and passed away suddenly.

Mr. Lafrance, a son of the late Gideon Lafrance and his wife, the former Mary Jane Houle, was born in the Eighth Concession of Roxborough Township on September 11th, 1917. He had been a lifelong resident of this community and received his education in the local schools.

On June 1st, 1943, at Moose Creek, he married the former Leona Brisson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brisson of this place.

Mr. Lafrance was a member of the Knights of Columbus, a valued member of the Roxborough Fire Fighters Association, Moose Creek Dept., a former trustee of the Separate School Board. At the time of his death he was a bus operator for the Separate School Board, a position he held for over 12 years. On Saturday, April 8th an Award Presentation was held at Cornwall, at which Mr. Lafrance was presented with an award for 12 years of appreciation as a Safe Driver (no accidents).

He leaves to mourn his sudden death, his widow, one son, Victor Lafrance of Moose Creek, two daughter, Miss Claudette Lafrance of Cornwall, and Miss Helen Lafrance of Moose Creek; two brothers, Aime Lafrance of Cornwall, and Wilfred Lafrance of Moose Creek. A brother, Romeo Lafrance of Ottawa, predeceased him in 1957.

The body rested in the Munro Funeral Home, Maxville, from where the funeral was held on Friday morning, April 14th to Our Lady of Angels Church Moose Creek, where mass was celebrated by Rev. Bruno Pilon.

The pallbearers were Bernard Villeneuve, Donald McKercher, Joseph B. Theoret, Arthur Lajeunesse, Emile Quesnel, Fernard Bazinet, all members of the Fire Fighters Association.

The body was placed in the vault to await burial in the Moose Creek Parish Cemetery later.

Relatives and friends were present from Ottawa, Rutland, Vermont, Toronto, Brownsburg, Alexandria, Valleyfield, Spencerville and the surrounding area.

Retired Sports . . .

His sports stories of all major sports events were never headed by anything else but his name, "Jack McDonald". In addition to coverage of sports events for his newspapers, he also, for many years, wrote articles for that great sporting journal in the USA, "The St. Louis Sporting News".

In his work as sports writer and sports editor, he covered all the major boxing matches, football games, college and professional which took place in his working career. Name the event and one can be sure that Jack McDonald covered it. In the zenith of his career, he was the travelling reporter for the San Francisco 49'er pro football team.

Hours after Pearl Harbor, Jack McDonald altho in his 40's, presented himself to the Naval Recruiting office in San Francisco, California and altho eligible for a commission as a public relations officer, enlisted a second time in his lifetime as a Chief Radioman, U.S. Naval Reserve and for more than two years did convoy duty on British loaned corvette of the "Flower" class, performing anti-submarine patrol from Cuba to New York City, with but little relief from sea duty in all that two years.

Later, after requesting transfer for Pacific sea duty, he was ordered to the newly constructed destroyer escort, the USS Lamons, transferred to the Pacific theatre of action and participated in nine Pacific invasions, as well as taking part in the dangerous picket duty against Kamikase plane attacks.

After the end of World War II, Jack McDonald resumed his work as a sports writer for the San Francisco Chronicle under his by now famous by-line, "Jack McDonald".

Reaching the age of 65 years, he and his wife took a vacation trip to west central Mexico seven or eight years ago. Enthralled by the climate and the beauty of the area about Chapala, State of Jalisco, Mexico, they purchased a plot of land with several homes on it, returned to San Francisco, retired and moved to what he considers a heaven on earth, Chapala, Jalisco, Mexico, about 50 miles from Guadaljara, Mexico.

Jack, an exponent of the famous "hunt and peck" system of typewriting for well over 40 years of his life, could not stay away from that machine for long in his retirement, and since moving to Mexico, has travelled all over the country and writes Mexican travel articles for syndication, Oft times one of his articles is published by one of the Ottawa papers. And so, whenever Glengarrians see a Mexican travel article bylined "Jack McDonald", they are truly reading something written by one of their very own.

From his diaries of service in Two World Wars, several years ago Jack wrote and published a book of his experiences, "Navy Re-Tread", by Vantage Press of New York and is currently working, besides his newspaper travel articles, on a Mexican travel book.

Jack McDonald in his devotion to the sporting world was a good friend and contemporary of such notable figures in his profession as Red Smith, Bob Considine, Jim Murray, Bill Corum, Grantland Rice, Damon Runyon and John Lardner. In his long career, McDonald covered 18 World Series, 32 Kentucky Derbys, 70 championship boxing matches and 30 Rose Bowl football games. He rates the Archie Moore - Rocky Marciano fight as the greatest fight he ever covered.

On his retirement, January 25, 1967, he was tendered a dinner at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco, which was likened to a "Hall of Fame" because of the profusion of the greats of all the various sports who attended.

His by-line over travel articles appears in such newspapers as the New York Times, Chicago Tribune, San Francisco Examiner, London Times, Toronto Star and many more U.S. and Mexican papers. He also writes publicity for the Matson Steamship Lines as well as the Humble Oil Company.

Jack McDonald's one son (he also has one daughter) was on the staff of one time governor of California, Gov. Pat Brown; has served in the Washington Peace Corps office and in 1971, became one of the staff of Senator (once V-P) Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

A few of Jack McDonald's Canadian and U.S. relatives (unknown to him or them) are Mrs. John Alex Shago of Alexandria; Catherine McDonald Kelly of Mattydale, NY; Joanne McDonald, a former teacher in the Greenfield school; daughter of the deceased postmistress of Greenfield. Isabel McDonell McDonald; Sister Marie Regina, OP of Adrian, Michigan; Mrs. Duncan McDonell of Munroe's Mills; Angus McDonald of Capreol, Ont.; all the living descendents of Alex Ranald MacIsaac MacDonald of Greenfield, as well as all the living descendants of Ranald J. MacIsaac and Margaret MacDonald of Lot 29-2nd Kenyon.

The writer of this article is also related to Jack McDonald as his great grandmother, Catharine "Rory" McDonald was a sister of Jack McDonald's grandfather, Ranald John "Rory" McDonald and has continued a correspondence for a number of years with Jack McDonald in Mexico.

Jack McDonald, now about 72 years of age, has never trod on the hallowed grounds of his ancestors in Kenyon, Glengarry County, and at present the writer is trying with gentle persuasion to induce Jack McDonald to attend the 1972 Glengarry Highland Games in August.

If there be any of Jack McDonald's relatives who wish to correspond with him in an effort to influence him to attend the Games at Maxville, his address is

Jack McDonald,
Apartado 166
Chapala, Jalisco
Mexico.
