Antique Show Was Drawing Card

A large attendance, including many from out-of-county, featured the fourth annual antique show and sale sponsored by the Glengarry Historical Society last weekend in Green Valley Pavilion.

Ten outside dealers were showing their wares in addition to the antiques and other items contributed by society members and other area residents.

Attendance was encouragingly heavy Friday afternoon prior to official opening of the show at 6 p.m. President of the Hudson (Que.) Historical Society, D. J. Walkington and other members were among those present.

Col. W. J. Franklin of Ottawa, officially opened the show and in his brief remarks referred to the unique qualities of Glengarry. "Just the word "Glengarry" has something magical about it—I'm sure you'll find it in the spirit of the people as well". He complimented the chairman of the show committee, Mrs. V. F. Crowley for her organizational leadership and recalled some of the achievements of the Glengarry Historical Society which boasts two museums.

The society's official piper, Archie McDonell of Greenfield, piped in the head table at the dinner which followed opening ceremonies.

Saturday's attendance was also reported good and dealers were reported well satisfied with sales.

Baby-Sitting Daughter Of Former Glengarrians Slain At Hamilton

Gail MacDonald, 16, whose parents are both native Glengarrians, was a murder victim at Hamilton, Saturday, while baby-sitting at the home of neighbors.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton MacDonald of 209 Oakland Drive, Stoney Creek, who left Cornwall two years ago to reside at Hamilton. Mr. MacDonald is a native of Lancaster while the mother of the young victim is the former Helen McRae of Glen Nevis.

Gail met death in the recreation room of the home of Klaas Van Eyk where she was baby-sitting with the three daughters of her neighbor. Police said the girl's throat was slashed with a knife.

A pillow was found nearby and police speculated the victim may have been smothered before the knife wound was inflicted.

A Hamilton youth, Richard Kordus, 20, was arrested Monday and charged with non-capital murder.

Police were assisted in their search by a description provided by 10-year-old Karen Van Eyk who was awakened by noise and went to investigate. She received a cut to the head from the slayer before he fled the scene.

A Grade X student, Gail is survived by her parents, an older sister, Colleen, a younger brother Earl and sisters Lynn and Patricia. Also surviving are her grandmothers, Mrs. Margaret MacDonald of Cornwall and Mrs. Duncan McRae, a patient in the Cornwall General Hospital Annex. She was a niece of Ivan MacDonald of Cornwall and Clayton MacDonald of Lancaster.

The funeral was held Tuesday to St. Eugene's Church, Hamilton, with interment in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Council Will Buy Former P.O. Building Endorses Plan For United Counties Library

A resolution accepting the offer of Crown Assets Disposal Corporation of $10,500 for the former Post Office building was passed at Tuesday's meeting of town council.

Crown Assets will prepare transfer of the deed and council expects to proceed with the work of transforming the building to its needs this winter.

Prior to the resolution, Mayor J. P. Touchette reported on an inspection of the building which, in his opinion, is in very sound condition and which will readily adapt to use as police office and cells, library, senior citizens lounge and administrative office space if such be needed.

On motion of Reeve Duncan A. Macdonell, council passed a resolution asking Counties Council to establish a Counties Library.

Members of the fire brigade were given permission to hold a tag day this weekend.

Reeve Macdonell gave notice that at next meeting of council he will introduce a resolution to have council look into the matter of low-cost housing for senior citizens and low income families.

34th Clan MacLeod Society Gathering Enjoyed An Entertaining Program

The thirty-fourth annual gathering of the Clan MacLeod Society of Glengarry was held in Dunvegan Hall on Friday evening, September 4th. The president, John Allen MacLeod of Ingleside, was chairman for the evening. Business included minutes of the 1969 annual gathering read by Mrs. Leslie Clark, secretary, a report of the nominating committee by Harold MacLeod, a report on behalf of the cairn committee by Wm. D. MacLeod. John K. MacLeod reported on progress made by the historical committee and ten completed histories were on display. The auditor's report was given by Alexander MacLeod.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen MacLeod will represent our society as official delegates at the 1971 Clan Parliament to be held in Dunvegan Castle, Skye, Scotland.

The president announced the sale of clan membership tickets for our society and following this, Mrs. Joan McEwen gave a reading on "What it means to be a clan member".

MacPherson included the following, pipe music by Heather MacPherson, Karen McEwen, Sherrill Macgregor and Ann Kennedy, Accordian and piano selections by Mrs. MacPherson, Debbie and Betty Fraser, Scottish songs by Judy and Linda Ross, accompanied by Mrs. Joan McEwen, violin selections by Ian and Darrel MacLeod, accompanied by Mrs. R. Refreshments were served under the convenership of Mrs. Lynus MacPherson and dancing was then enjoyed by all to the music of Mrs. MacPherson and her cousins which brought another successful clan gathering to a close.

Two Barn Fires In Avonmore Area

Two devastating farm fires within a period of less than 12 hours kept Avonmore firemen busy and resulted in high property loss.

Late Saturday afternoon the large, well-equipped barn on the farm of Cornelis Michels, about three miles west of Avonmore on the Newington road, was completely destroyed. While actual cause has not been determined it is believed that the fire was sparked by some foreign object passing through a corn blower being used at the time to put some hay up into the barn. In spite of the prompt action of district firemen nothing could be done to save the structure. The family managed to save 14 head of livestock from the building. A few pieces of farm machinery were also salvaged. However many other machines, along with the year's crop, were destroyed.

The Michels received the immediate offers from neighbors Harry Dusomos and Edward Sloan to use their barns to house their large herd of cattle for the winter. Within hours a subscription list had been opened and the neighborly spirit prompted many generous gifts.

Shortly after a heavy electrical storm passed through the district late Saturday night, a fire on the farm of John Dore, Fifth Concession of Roxborough, midway between Moose Creek and Avonmore, levelled Mr. Dore's large barn with all its contents. It is believed that the building had been struck by lightning and fire had smoldered for a time before engulfing the building.

Estimates of actual loss in the two fires was not immediately available but it is known that it will run into thousands of dollars.

Second Leather Style Award For Products Of Alexandria's Brown Shoe Industry

The Pedwin shoe, manufactured in the Brown Shoe Co. plant here, this week won a leather style award at the Canadian Shoe and Leather Fair now underway in Montreal. It was presented by the Leather Bureau of Canada for the local plant's "contribution to the Canadian leather fashion industry in creating and popularizing designs which have made good fashion and quality available to the mass market."

The award was the second such won this year by the Brown Shoe Co. on products of the Alexandria plant, reports Ed Phillips, plant superintendent. The Buster Brown won a Leather Bureau of Canada award earlier this year in the children's shoes classes.

Mr. Phillips and members of the sales staff were among Brown Shoe officials attending the Fair in Montreal this week.

He reports the local plant is now producing a new range of dress shoes for pre-teen girls to be called "Flips".

The threat of a slow-down in production at the local plant no longer exists, at least for the present, reports Mr. Phillips. The T. Eaton Company is to serve as an outlet for the Pedwin shoe and this, together with strong demand for the other lines produced here, promises full employment of all personnel.

The plant is this week looking for additional employees.

The home of Jean Guy Andre, Kicardine St., was also entered and some $300 worth of clothing and personal effects was taken.

Landowners Object To Location Sewage Lagoon For Lancaster

The Village of Lancaster's new sewage system moved a step forward Tuesday when a hearing of the Ontario Water Resources Commission was held there.

Main purpose of the hearing was to determine objections, if any, to establishment of a sewage lagoon, about 12 acres in extent, on the west bank of Finney's Creek. It would be just north of the railway line, a short distance east of the village.

Commissioner D. A. Moodie explained no decision would be made here, but that findings would be considered by the OWRC when all aspects of the program were established.

All land owners affected, Mrs. Agnes McArthur, M. G. McCuaig and Marinus Verkuylen, objected to the project but Mr. Verkuylen suggested if other suitable pasture land was obtainable it might be a good solution.

Gerald Dupuis of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley Health unit said that tests show water in 43 percent of Lancaster wells is unsatisfactory. Gerald McKenna, engineer, district staff, OWRC, said that the entire Lancaster project involves water supply as well as sewage disposal development at Lancaster, and the water will eventually come from two deep wells.

If and when the work is completed, the system will be owned by the OWRC and leased to the village.

Brigade To Observe Fire Prevention Week

Posters will also be used to get the message across—"Don't Give Fire a Place To Start".

The local brigade will also hold a tag day Friday and Saturday of this week. Proceeds will go to furnishing the new fire hall, now in process of erection, and the firemen are hoping for generous public support.

ESP Is Nothing Very New

Extra-Sensory Perception is nothing very new. In the old days it was called second sight and Miss Ethel Ostrom of Alexandria, provides us with the following anecdote related by the Rev. John Matheson one of Glengarry's early ministers.

This anecdote prompted Miss Ostrom to write a short story "Aunt Betsy" which we are publishing in this issue. It will be found on pages 7 and 8.

Miss Ostrom retired from her post as teacher of English at Alexandria High School some 30 years ago and she has done a bit of writing since, she admits. Her former pupils will be particularly pleased to read this work from her pen, and to know that she is in top health and active despite the advancing years.

The anecdote:

As a young man, the Rev. John Matheson many a time walked from his father's farm at Dunvegan to the Third of Kenyon road and then on to Alexandria. On one of these walks he fell in with a venerable friend, a Mr. O'Brien, who was also heading for Alexandria. As they approached a certain farm lane, Mr. O'Brien suddenly stopped, trembling visibly, pulled off his hat and stood tense, shaking his head impatiently at Mr. Matheson's repeated efforts to find out what the trouble was.

After a while he put his hat on again and continued his walk, but as he was still deeply upset Mr. Matheson kept prodding for an explanation until at last the old man said: "It's a fearsome thing, John, a fearsome thing. I don't talk about it at home or abroad, but once in a while I have what they call the second sight—see things happen before they happen. And just now I saw something — a funeral procession turning out to the road, and a strange thing about it was a team of grey horses that immediately followed the coffin. No one around here has a team of grey horses like that. And the people in the carriage were strangers. The family were in the second carriage, and a long line of carriages came after."

"Oh, don't mention it, John, don't mention it. There's a sick woman in that farm house, a very sick woman, and it would cause great consternation if word should get abroad that I have seen what I have seen."

The sick woman did die the next day, and when two days after her death the funeral procession was forming in the farm yard, a team of grey horses belonging to relatives from the Nation River became restive, then out of control, and swung into the lane immediately behind the coffin.

When telling of this experience of his Mr. Matheson always wound up, "Make what you can of that. I vouch for the truth of the story."

IT'S OUR OPINION

Don't Get Sucked In!

The call was from Toronto and the cultivated voice sounded friendly and interested as he asked, "How's business down in Alexandria?" We were in the process of telling him it wasn't so bad when he started into his spiel:

"I'm with —— & —— and we have a couple of nice prospects we think you'll find interesting. May we put you on our list ——.

That was as much as we wanted to hear and we cut in to suggest he was wasting his time. We get this type of call from the Bay Street bucket shops two or three times a year and it's a real pleasure to tell the salesman of questionable stock to buzz off.

The rosy hued, honey-coated sales appeal comes by phone, mail or the personal call but they're all designed to lead an unsuspecting public into deals that will leave them poorer, if wiser. The Leamington Post and News suggests that the following or similar statements are deserving of special scrutiny:

"You are one of the lucky few to receive this chance of a lifetime;"

"Your name has been given to us by a friend who wants you to have this opportunity;"

"A responsible business man has recommended you as worthy to be included in this offer;" or

"Only a few of these offers will be made."

Perhaps the sales talk is designed to appeal to your ego:

"As a leading business man of your community . . ."

"Knowing of your high standing in your field, we are . . ." or

"as a wise and good mother you can't afford not to . . ."

The sales pitch may play on your sympathy:

"Surely you want your children to have the same opportunities as do their playmates" . . . or

"Think how your boy will feel if he is not included."

These are but a few of actual sales "appeals." There are hundreds of others resembling these "come-on" introductions.

In any dealings with strangers always keep in mind that no reputable business ever takes exception to questions about its operations or products.

Your local retailer, supplier, artisan, service-man, or banker will welcome the opportunity to assist you before you sign or enter into a contract.

And if you do sign something without fully checking it out, remember the 48-hour "cooling off" period in which you can change your mind is now law.

Don't Give Fire A Place To Start

The siren sounded one day last week and the fire brigade was off to the Glen Robertson area where firemen could do little except stop spread of the flames as another barn burned.

Alexandrians have been fortunately free of serious fires in recent years but our brigade has responded to outside calls frequently enough to confirm the fact that fire is still a menace.

The siren will sound each noon next week to remind that we are again into Fire Prevention Week and the time of year when we should be inspecting our buildings with a particular thought in mind. The best time to fight a fire is before it starts, and that suggests we should not give fire a place to start.

A long winter lies ahead with its attendant strain on heating systems. Now is the time to have them checked and cleaned so as to be ready for a safe, trouble-free winter.

It is also house-cleaning time and the clearing out of accumulated litter is another important facet of fire prevention. Householders have an added incentive this fall to do everything possible to prevent destruction or serious damage to their homes. Housing is almost impossible to come by and families forced to flee a fire-ravaged home will find it very difficult to locate other quarters.

Fire Prevention Week is a time for planning for a fire-free winter.

They Call The Socialist Tune

A minor shuffle of some of his cabinet ministers was announced by Prime Minister Trudeau late last week and unhappily, in our view, the list of changes did not include the finance minister, Mr. Benson. He remains firmly in his cabinet post and that fact suggests the Benson program of tax changes outlined in his White Paper continues a threat to the national economy, especially so to small businesses and the farmer.

Finance Minister Benson has not been reassuring in his promise that criticism of the White Paper proposals will be taken into consideration before legislation is introduced. It is aimed at preventing the accumulation of private capital and the means of private investment. The federal government is to be the major source of investment funds if these White Paper proposals become law and the combined effect of estate tax laws introduced in 1968, with the proposed capital gains tax, can result only in confiscation by the government of family businesses and farms.

Whether Mr. Benson continues as finance minister or gives way to another probably has little bearing on the fate of the White Paper on taxation, or any other legislation. The cabinet minister is little more than a puppet in this Trudeau Government and the framing of legislation, if not its initiating as well, is primarily the work of the senior heads of the department, the bureaucrats.

If the provisions of the White Paper suggest a giant stride to socialist government at Ottawa, a possible factor could be the socialist leanings of Mr. Trudeau. The influential posts in the federal service now held by men with socialist backgrounds must also account for many of the proposed tax changes which are designed to centralize ever more power in Ottawa.

The Treasury Board is the top court of decision shaping most government policy and if federal legislation tends to be increasingly socialist in nature the make-up of that board and its top advisers no doubt plays a decisive role in the direction Canada is moving. That is definitely to the Left and a recent magazine editorial suggests how we come to be on that road.

When the Thatcher Liberals deposed the CCF in Saskatchewan some of the former government's top advisers and planners gravitated to Ottawa and are now in key positions of influence in the federal civil service.

One of the positions in the finance department, the assistant deputy minister of finance, Federal Fiscal Policy and Economic Programs Branch, is held by a former senior economic adviser to the CCF Government in Saskatchewan. He was a top adviser of Tommy Douglas who served Mr. Douglas after he became national leader of the NDP. A former deputy provincial treasurer in Saskatchewan's CCF hierarchy is now secretary of the Treasury Board and economic adviser to Prime Minister Trudeau.

Another deputy provincial treasurer in that CCF regime is now a senior officer in the federal Treasury Board and a former administrative assistant to the provincial treasurer is a senior officer in the finance department. The old CCF government of Tommy Douglas has contributed quite a lot of talent to the federal civil service and at least two of these key men in the former Saskatchewan government have senior posts in the federal Development Agency.

It is this Agency that will take over the financing of the country's industry after the White Paper proposals have siphoned off most of the capital now in private hands.

These men no doubt are knowledgeable and experienced administrators or they would not now be holding such key positions in Ottawa. Their backgrounds, though, suggest they are of one mind in influencing government policy, especially in the finance department where the Benson White Paper presumably had its birth.

The New Democratic Party not only supports the Benson tax reforms but would go still further in taxing business and redistributing the nation's wealth by government give-away.

If it seems surprising that a so-called Liberal Government at Ottawa is so firmly fixed on the road to socialism the answer may be only as difficult to find as the identity of those civil servants who hold key positions of power. How they got there would make for interesting study. How they are to be weeded out would demand leadership of a less socialist nature than Canada has now. They probably are so well entrenched no Parliament could remove them.

Politicians and party labels mean little in the socialist scheme of things. The real power rests with the department heads in government and the White Paper on taxation is only the latest evidence Canadians are being led down a road that will centralize all decisions among our so-called public servants.

They Wanted "Equality"

(Washington (Mo.) Citizen)

In many respects our economy is similar to that of communist Russia, except that in Russia the women must work, and in this country they work by choice. One difference is that in Russia women have full equality with men as far as jobs and pay are concerned.

Quite a few women in this country have been clamoring for "equality" in job opportunities. In Russia the women serve in jobs normally held by men in this country, such as bricklayers, plumbers, electricians, laborers in all kinds of work, ditch diggers, and anything else that comes under the heading of skilled, or unskilled labor. Is that what the "equality" seekers want?

The Penn Central System in Detroit gave in to the demands of several women office workers a few days ago for full job equality with men by giving them work as boxcar checkers. This is among the less demanding and one of the easier jobs in railroading. After a couple of days on the job, the women came up with a new cry — the work was too hard for them, and the company gave them the jobs so they would quit, and thus get rid of them.

One of the women said she would faint if she happened to find a hobo in one of the cars, or probably would rush out screaming if she saw a mouse! An older woman didn't know how long she would be able to take it especially if they switched her on night shift.

These few women asked for "equality" and they got it! Now they are blaming the company for giving them "equality!"

We could say, "Isn't that just like a woman," but we won't!

The Weeklies Say

ROYALIST SENTIMENTS

With the changing times, everything else has been affected more or less and it's borrowing anxiety to expect that Royalty and its impact on Canada isn't in for a change as well. Prime Ministers come and go. It will take more than the present one to make a dint in Elizabeth's tiara, regardless of what Trudeau hints. Time is the great adjuster.—Bridge River-Lillooet (BC) News.

MAXIM FOR LIVING

When we can honestly state that we are without fault, then that is the time to find fault with others.
—Vernon (BC) News

DRASTIC CHANGE NEEDED

Human life has become one of the cheapest commodities of our era . . . The daily bloodshed on our roads will not be stopped by warning road signs or by pious, pseudo-psychological exhortations from officials enjoining us to be "well-adjusted". What is needed is a drastic change in existing legislation, a change in the attitude of the courts, and a new moral outlook that will sympathize with the victim rather than the law-breaker. —West Vancouver (BC) Lions Gate Times.

LET'S FACE PROBLEM

There can be no argument but that we have a drug problem in Canada today, much as there is in other countries. And although this problem is almost unnoticed in the Campbellton-Dalhousie area, it is a good idea to face up to its potential dangers and discuss it with our teenagers who would be affected most by it.
—Campbellton (NB) Tribune

NO ONE CARES

Some claim that the underwater seismic work carried out in the area (the Canadian Arctic settlement of Tuktoyaktuk) last year chased away the whales. In the Old Crow Flats no one, apparently, cares whether or not the muskrat trapping is ruined for all time. It is absolutely immoral to allow oil companies to tramp all over . . . with no compensation for the people, who are told they have no rights to the land where they have lived so long.
—Whitehorse (YT) Star

WITH OUR

RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

A gossip is a person who creates the smoke in which other people assume there's fire.

ANOTHER SILLY LAW

We've just been reading the new guidelines for job opportunity advertising established by the Ontario Department of Labor and we're left wondering what all the fuss was about down in New York when the gals paraded and protested for Women's Lib.

In Ontario they've already got not only liberty, but power. The Ontario Women's Bureau, whatever that is, will administer the Women's Equal Employment Opportunity Act which comes into force Dec. 1st and we have a vision of some grim, dedicated feminist dropping into the office to lay down the new law to us.

It's going to be a sin, in our Help Wanted advertising, to specify whether a male or female is wanted. Occupational groups shall not be segregated in separate male/female columns on our Want-Ad page, the new edict insists.

Not only the newspaper is to be governed by this new Women's Bureau. Advertisers must give an equal hearing to qualified applicants of both sexes, married or single.

How absurd can things get? How much intrusion on our day to day existence are we to stomach from governments which are supposed to be our voice?

No longer may we list under Male Help Wanted such obviously manly needs as garbage collectors, steeplejacks, cesspool cleaners, even policemen or firemen. Unless the Women's Bureau has given the green light these wants must be filed under "Situations Wanted", or something only a bit suggestive, perhaps "Jobs Primarily of Interest to Men" (Women).

The housewife seeking a housekeeper or even a baby sitter must be prepared to give equal hearing to anyone applying who claims he's qualified. The garageman needing a grease monkey must as carefully consider the application of a miniskirted blonde as that of a matronly housewife.

The ramifications of this stupid law are but an added excuse for disrespect of all law and order. Women advertisers will scorn it, as will newspapermen. It serves no useful purpose. It will but clutter up the statutes and provide jobs for more government inspectors (the females can prove toughest to contend with).

We don't blame Women's Lib. for this latest bureaucratic imposition. Labor Minister Dalton Bales and Premier Robarts have but added to the frustrations of the man (or woman) who wishes to be law-abiding but cannot respect the law.

Female Wanted ads will soon be illegal. Next thing the government will be telling us we can't want a female.

A SYMBOL FOR BUREAUCRACY

The beaver have been busy and again last week the town's water supply was threatened by a beaver dam thrown-up by the little beasties below the control dam at Loch Garry. The services of Wildlife Supervisor Bob Ramsbottom had to be enlisted to blow up the beaver dam which has been rebuilt since he operated on it last year with a charge of dynamite.

Bob reports the busy little beaver had also put up a second dam below Fraser's Rapids in what could be a double-barrelled drive to make Alexandria a dry town. What a hope they have!

This dam building proclivity of the beaver suggests he might make an ideal symbol of government bureaucracy. He is forever busy at stopping the natural flow and isn't that what the bureaucrats are achieving with all their marketing plans, quotas, boards, tariffs, taxes and other impractical so-called improvements? The beaver uses logs, branches and mud to stop up the free flow of water and the planners of our socialist state have much the same goal in damming up what remains of individual initiative.

What the beaver comes up with holds more water than do most of these government plans. The beaver dam backs up the water to create a swamp. What the bureaucrats end up with is a sea of red tape more difficult to wade through than any morass.

The lowly beaver is not only dam busy; he's also building himself a home. Our power-hungry mandarins in Ottawa and the provincial capitals are as intent on empire building for each his own, and so our bureaucracies grow — and the public payrolls.

Difficult to contend with is Bobby the Beaver, as Bob Ramsbottom will tell you. He's snug as

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hebert and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Douglas of Cornwall, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tourangeau of Glen Walter, were recent callers with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Guindon.

Opening night dinner guests at the Glengarry Historical Society's annual Antique Show and Sale were Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve, and Mrs. W. C. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Douglas and family have taken up residence in their new house trailer on Mechanic St. West, just opposite the Manor entrance.

Miss Hattie Hughes spent a few days in Montreal visiting friends.

A huge crowd of over 900 persons turned out for the annual turkey supper put on by the parish of St. James Church in Maxville Community Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lascelle and family of Manotick spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Phil Guindon, and also went to the turkey supper.

Just north of the tracks on Main St. is Wallace Boivin's antique and secondhand shop, with an interesting collection of furniture, glass, crockery, etc. newly on display.

Marvellous road improvement in this area—a new tar and gravel surface on from Maxville to St. Elmo, to begin with.

But hear this—after one hundred years as the worst stretch of road in the province of Ontario the section of county road 9, from Arkinstall's Corner to Franklin's Corner is being completely done over into a good modern road. The filling, grading up, and straighening out curves has at times made this stretch almost impassable in the last couple of weeks, but this is almost complete now, and the worst is over. Even on sand the new road is a vast improvement over the old rough and winding moose trail.

Weekend guests with Rev. and Mrs. Iver D. MacIver were Dr. and Mrs. William McLean of Ottawa. Rev. MacIver had the evening anniversary service at Riceville United Church.

Dr. McLean was the guest speaker at the 106th anniversary services at Gordon Church, St. Elmo. His theme in the morning was "The Church in Our Time", and in the evening" Memory and Religion".

COUPLE CELEBRATE 40th ANNIVERSARY

Some 200 relatives and friends gathered at the King George Hotel recently to honor Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kippen, one of the best-known couples in the area.

Married at the Morewood home of Mrs. Kippen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reveler, Sept. 20, 1930, the couple celebrated their 40th anniversary.

O. F. Villeneuve, MPP for Glengarry, summed up the feelings of the large gathering when he said:

"Mr. and Mrs. Kippen have contributed much to this community over the years. On behalf of their many friends I would like to congratulate them and wish them many more years of continued good health and happiness."

Among those in attendance was Miss Rae Wightman of Ottawa, a bridesmaid at the couple's wedding.

The minister who presided was Rev. R. E. Newman of Chesterville United Church. Best man was the late Dr. James M. Reveler, brother of Mrs. Kippen.

Those in attendance Saturday night included the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Kippen and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kippen of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacRae (nee Isabel) of Waterdown, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. William Kippen of Maxville; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith (Natalie) of Trenton.

Other relatives and friends were present from Ottawa, Gananoque and from other parts of the district.

Twenty-eight relatives were present for a family dinner prior to the reception for the couple.

Later, neighbors and friends gathered for a social evening featuring dancing and a buffet luncheon.

Numerous speakers paid tribute to the couple during the evening. Mr. Kippen responded, thanking all for their kindness and relating some anecdotes on the couple's life in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Kippen were presented with a purse at the close of the evening.

PLAN CONCERT AND DANCE

The Glengarry Old Time Fiddlers' Association is planning another fine evening's entertainment on October 10th, in Maxville Community Hall. Their combination of first class imported talent and excellent local assistance with a lively dance after the concert has proved so popular that the audience is coming from miles away to enjoy them. The last concert brought visitors from the Vankleek Hill area, as far west as Chesterville, from Lancaster and Cornwall, and even a few American fans from Potsdam and Rochester.

The guest star for the coming concert will be Winston "Scotty" Fitzgerald, who was born in the little Cape Breton village of West Point, and presently resides in Sydney. From the age of eight he has devoted himself to the violin, developed his own band, and become one of the great Scottish violinists. He has often appeared on radio and TV and made several popular records, and is flying up from Sydney specially for this concert.

Also taking part will be Gilles Roy, the step-dancer from Cumberland, the MacCulloch dancers, and vocalist Sylvester MacDonald. The massed fiddlers will be making an appearance in the concert, and also playing with Mr. Fitzgerald for the dance afterwards.

TO HAVE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A hallowe'en masquerade party for the Young at Heart Club members is in the planning stage by Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, and her committee. This to be held at Maxville Manor, so that the residents there may participate, on October 28th.

Except for this one date, the club will continue to hold their meetings every Wednesday in the Maxville Community Hall.

The club membership is now up to 39, and things are really moving.

Hubert Quart, as the convener of Stewards Committee for the Maxville United Church, has donated carpet bowling equipment to the group. A generous gift very much appreciated by all members.

Should anyone have games equipment they are no longer using, such as checkers, crokinole, etc., the club would be most grateful for a donation of same. A call to 527-2996 will bring a speedy pick-up.

Mrs. James McCartney, now at home in Maxville again, has graciously accepted the office of refreshment convener bestowed on her in her absence. The social cup of coffee and snack to eat is much appreciated at the friendly conclusion to each week's meeting.

MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

The Maxville Horticultural Society had eight members registered at the annual convention, held in Moose Creek, Saturday, September 26th, with more members attending the afternoon session.

Phil. Dodds was the morning speaker. Mr. Dodds is 1st vice-president of the OHA, and a most ardent horticulturist. His talk covered a wide variety of subjects, all conected with horticulture. His enthusiasm was most contagious and heart warming.

Reports from surrounding districts were read, and Russell was awarded the cup for the most successful year's work.

Gordon Thom was unanimously re-elected District Director.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, President of Maxville Horticultural Society issued an invitation to all concerned to hold next year's convention in Maxville.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO NAG

"Man is by nature a lazy compriser. He is content to put up with second hand arrangements because he thinks it is too much of a nuisance to fight for anything better. Left to his own devices, he would still be carrying a spear in a forgotten forest, sleeping in the rain and scratching his back against the bark of a tree." Miss Bella MacLeod read this, and other excerpts, from the talk given by Sister M. Thomas, OSF, of Holy Family College, Manitowoc, Wisconsin, at the recent Women's Institute Triennial Convention, held in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Sister Thomas' talk, entitled "A Woman's Right to Nag—It is Inalienable and Essential" stated "naggers we can be and naggers we are. We have the name and the game. What should concern us, is not our reputation nor our methodology. What should command our attention is the answer to the question: What are fit subjects for nagging". Further she says "The world around us seems to be going to pot completely and we seem so helpless in the face of it. What seems to be the trouble? Change is the trouble. One little word: Change. Actually, change has been always with us. Change is inevitable. Circumstances are controlling us when we should be controlling them . . . all because we cannot adjust to the speed of change . . ." Sister Thomas, Miss MacLeod tells us, feels that women should ". . . launch a great nagging campaign . . . in the interests of guiding change in a world that needs it so badly . . .". She feels man is by nature too lazy, but woman . . . "Woman is made of more durable stuff. For her, life is one long crusade for perfection . . . it is only because of woman's pursuit of perfection that railroads and airplanes run on time, napkins are on the table, streets are swept, men shave every day and smell better, and homes have flower gardens. By being stern over such trifles, step by step she is making a better world for all".

The 55th Women's Institute Annual Convention will be held in Ottawa, October 21st and 22nd. Mrs. Roddy McRae, Maxville WI's president, arranged for five members, including the voting delegate, to travel to Ottawa for the second day's events.

Mrs. George Eppstadt read current events and Mrs. Gordon Munro, the afternoon's hostess, gave a paper on "The Future Belongs to Canada". Miss Bella MacLeod proved that her knowledge of Canada is excellent, and won the prize in a "true or false" game on that subject.

The afternoon concluded with tea and a social time.

Rambling . . .

a bug in a rug in his underwater habitat and it's just about impossible to come to grips with him to convince Mr. Beaver that the town of Alexandria holds the water rights on the Garry River. Bureaucracy is even more faceless and formless, zealously guarding its anonymity and unreachable to those who would insist on their rights as individuals.

The beaver is so steeped in his dam habits it has been found necessary to resort to dynamite, to destroy his very home, if the natural flow is to be restored. Will it not be tragic if some such drastic measure is needed some day to clear the red tape, to rid us of the dynasty that has taken over the powers of government and is so bureaucratically damming the road to national progress?

Hawkesbury Keeps High Scoring Pace In Senior Intercollegiate Football

by Angus H. McDonell

Hawkesbury's High School football team continued along their high-scoring trail last Friday as they overpowered Williamstown 44-0 and now have a total of 103 points while their goal line has yet to be trampled on in this EOSSA "B" school league.

Alexandria came up with an improved offence as they defeated the new entry of Plantagenet 42-6. Vankleek Hill scored their second win of the schedule with a 6-0 count over Maxville. The Hill juniors also won in Maxville 10-0.

At home here the Gaels were on the score board early via "Moose" McCormick's TD that was not converted. In the last minute of the first quarter Ray Dubeau counted another six points for GDHS and Murray McDonald was on target with the convert that gave the Gaels a 13 point lead as the teams chanded ends.

Plantagent controlled the early play of the second frame and picked up a major score by Schoenderr that was not converted. Near half-time Gaels hit again as Murray McDonald split the uprights for three and with the last minute flag in the breeze Duncan McLeod tallied Gael's third major and Murray McDonald was again true with the convert boot to make the half-time score read Alexandria 23 Plantagenet 6.

Plantagent rallied their forces in the third quarters to hold Gaels to one converted touchdown by Donnie Morris and Murray McDonald.

In the closing quarter it was all Gaels. Mike Depratto started the scoring spree with a safety two points and Wallie MacDonell added two more in the same manner just two minutes later. "Moose" McCormick lofted a single and then Ray Dubeau earned his second major of the game while Murray McDonald was true on the final play completing four out of five converts and one for one in the field goal bracket. Final, Alexandria 42, Plantagenet 6.

In Maxville where the Vankleek Hill students played their annual game; the fans saw a real ding-dong battle along the line with both defences refusing to yield. However, VCI salvaged six points on an unconverted TD by Michel Laferriere. In the loss column three Hill players were limping as the game ended. David Gibbs aggravated a previous shoulder injury, Michel Laferriere required dental attention and Marcel Pilon may have a fractured index finger.

In the second game of the double header VCI juniors boarded 14 points while holding Maxville scoreless.

Williamstown had no chance against the power laden Hawks in Hawkesbury yielding to a 44-0 score.

Tomorrow, Friday, both Maxville teams travel to Hawkesbury for the weekly doubleheader, senior and junior, while Alexandria moves into Williamstown and Plantagenet plays in Vankleek Hill.

Won At Golf

The father-son team of Roma Amelotte and Michael Amelotte took top prize in Sunday's Calcutta at the local golf club. Sharing their winnings was Maurice Lemieux who bought the winners prior to play.

Ten teams took part and runners-up only one point behind, were Cliff Rae and Myrt Leclair.

It was the last competition of the season and play will probably close Oct. 16th when the closing dinner-dance is to be held.

A Touch Of Flair At High School

(by Gail Guindon, Grade 12)

Once again we deligent students are back to the humdrum of school life, but this year with the help of teachers and staff, school has an added flair.

Preparations for more than 30 extra-curricular clubs have been carefully and patiently conducted by our hardworking teachers and next Wednesday sees the groups rolling. These clubs cover varied and interesting activities from boys' home economics (you'd be surprised at the turnout of boys willing to take on 'homemaking), to orienteering, the newly popular sport that requires a map, compass, and a zest for walking. Many sports are included, and among the recently introduced activities are ping pong, astrology, model parliament, the thinker's club, European handball and rocketeering (we, too, plan to send someone ? ? ? into 'outer space!)

We sincerely hope, as students, to make the best of these new opportunities that will surely add spark to this year.

Lucky Winner

Donald Levac, Brown House, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Levac, was the winner of the $150 drawn at the St. Raphael's Harvest Supper, in Green Valley Pavilion on Sunday night. He also claimed an extra $25 as seller of the winning ticket.

REMEMBER An hour of pre-planning may save years of life. Make regular fire drills a family affair.

Hot gases rise. The cleanest, coolest air is near the floor.

To break a window, use a chair or other heavy object, shielding the face against splinters. Remove jagged pieces from the frame.

A closed door provides some protection against fire or fumes. Keep basement or utility room doors closed at all times, and close all doors at bedtime.

Keep the fire department number near your phone, and memorize it. If you phone an alarm, give your address first, in case your call is interrupted.

Check your home for fire hazards, and eliminate them as you find them.

Presbyterian UCW Executive Had Meeting At Maxville

A well attended meeting of the full executive of Seaway Valley Presbyterial United Church Women took place recently in Maxville United Church, beginning at 10.30 a.m. In attendance were 16 executive members, 22 local presidents, and 10 visitors. Mrs. F. W. B. Shaw of Hawkesbury, Presbyterial president, opened the morning session with a brief worship service. Mrs. A. A. Morrison, corresponding secretary, read several letters expressing opinions on whether a copy of the minutes should go to each UCW. After discussion pro and con, a motion was passed that the minutes should continue to be sent to each local president.

Mrs. Allan VanAllan of Kemptville, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $1990.78. She stated that 64 locals had sent receipts for the Mission & Service Fund, and 57 had sent in their expense share. For the first two quarters, $14,710.45 had been received in Toronto for the M&S Fund, down $1174.70 from the same period last year.

Mrs. Wilbur Garlough, Stewardship Secretary, had some questions, and in answer to these it was confirmed that there is an adequate supply of ordained ministers and deaconesses, though there is still room for lay ministers for certain types of work. The two lay women recently appointed to the Montreal-Ottawa Conference executive are Mrs. Stanley Knowles, recording secretary, and Mrs. A. K. Wasson, president-designate—the first time a woman will hold the office of President.

Mrs. Shaw commented that Seaway Valley is the only one of the four Presbyterials in Montreal-Ottawa Conference which does not have a news bulletin. She asked that this be considered by the members.

The afternoon session began with the roll call. Mrs. D. J. Cooper, of Kemptville, Chairman of Citizenship and Social Action, presented three women to talk about three different types of drop-in centres. Mrs. Gordon Ennis reported on the Seaway Community Services Camp which has just finished its third year. This began in response to a dire need in Keelerville — a sum area in Dixon's Corners. She told how the camp had changed and progressed over the three years. They are now considered a full-time worker, winter and summer. Mrs. J. K. Jensen of Oxford Mills told of a program for Oxford Mills, Burritt's Rapids and Bishops Mills, for children and young people this summer who had nothing to do. She told of getting the use of the town hall, of a walk to raise money, of the young people painting the hall, of buying baseball equipment, of bus trips to various places of interest. Mrs. Shaw in turn told of a different kind of drop-in centre — a coffee house in the United Church hall in Hawkesbury, which was open from 12 noon to midnight, and of the problems encountered. She urged those present to read up on the problem, and give thought to a situation that is here with us now.

Mrs. Clifford Larmour, nominating chairman, reported that Regions 3 and 5 have no vice-presidents, and that other vacancies exist. She urged that suggestions be given her, to fill the vacancies. Mrs. Arthur Woodland, reporting for the Supply & Welfare Secretary, Mrs. Leslie Eamer, stressed the fact that bales should be between 10 and 20 lbs., as the cost for anything below 10 lbs. is prohibitive. The request for supplies discussed and difficulties cleared by Dr. Bill Milligan in Angola was up re sizes, etc.

The next executive meeting was set for January 18, Monday, at 10 a.m., place to be set later. With regard to the annual meeting of Seaway Valley Presbyterial UCW, the date was set for either Wednesday, Feb. 24 or Wednesday March 3rd, in Spencerville or Kemptville, the meeting to be planned by the sub-executive.

Regional rallies were discussed. For Region 1, Mrs. K. Dalrymple Regional vice-president, announced her rally would take place at Riceville on Wednesday, September 30, at 10.30 a.m., the theme to be "It's a Big Responsibility" in the form of a panel discussion. Mrs. Milton Hillis, Vice-president of Region 2, announced that her rally would be held in Cornwall Knox at 10.30 a.m., on October 7, Wednesday. During the afternoon session the 3 drop-in centres mentioned above would be discussed in much greater detail. Region 3: to be planned by Mrs. Garlough and Mrs. Forward. Region 4 and 5, plans not complete.

A motion was passed that the Rally minute books be returned to the January executive meeting, so they would be available when needed. Mrs. Morrison read a letter of appreciation received for greetings sent by Seaway Valley Presbyterial to Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterial's annual meeting. An expression of appreciation on behalf of those present to the ladies of Maxville for their hospitality was given by Mrs. David Frappier, recording secretary, and the meeting was adjourned.

WI Group Learns Japanese Customs

Japanese culture and customs were the theme for the meeting of Picnic Grove WI on Sept. 24th, at the WI Home.

The meeting was opened to all institutes and their friends and Mrs. G. Ferguson, the president, welcomed the representatives from the Martintown, St. Lawrence, Bainsville and Summerstown Institutes.

A short business meeting was held during which Mrs. Dora Fourney was presented with a life membership certificate and badge for 50 years of loyal and faithful service in the Institute.

The roll call, "Name a country you would like to visit and why", was answered by the 55 members and guests present.

The speakers, introduced by Mrs. D. Morgan, were Mrs. S. Toguri and Mrs. Tonaka of Montreal. Mrs. Toguri is a Canadian of Japanese descent and Mrs. Tonaka is a native of Japan.

Mrs. Toguri wove her talk around how she came to learn the various Japanese customes and culture. She started by explaining her desire to write and speak her mother language. While Mrs. Tonaka wrote the Japanese symbols on the black board, Mrs. Toguri pronounced the words in both languages. It was pointed out how graphic the Japanese language is.

From writing we went to the next form of self-expression that of flower arranging and the three basics, Heaven, Man and Earth. Three flower arrangements were made to demonstrate these basic principals and to show how extra flowers or foliage become adornments to a great theme. The flowers were donated by Wm. C. Hall of Bainsville.

Next we learned of the art of Japanese doll making. The body, head, hair and clothes are all hand made. There were seven dolls on display all made by Mrs. Toguri and Mrs. Tonaka. The dolls depicted by their dress the occupations or stations in life. There were three geisha girls, one an apprentice, one a dancer and an older geisha; a country girl; a bride; an older child carrying a baby; Pandora; and Tom Thumb in a rice bowl.

To further demonstrate the clothing of Japan, Mrs. Toguri assisted by Mrs. Tonaka donned the Kimono. She explained that it takes approximately ten minutes to dress oneself in the traditional style, the Obi, or sash, being the difficult part to manage.

The Japanese Tea ceremony was also explained and demonstrated. The rigid self-control and discipline that must be exercised during this hour-long ritual was stressed. Tea bowls, utensils and fans were shown.

Finishing this fascinating program was Japanese paper folding, demonstrated by Mrs. Tonaka. This is an art especially suitable for children. There were about 50 animals and birds each made out of a single piece of colored paper and folded into shape. These were later distributed among the audience.

Mrs. E. L. MacNaughton graciously thanked the two speakers on behalf of the whole group for this most absorbing and fascinating talk. Representatives from the other WI's also expressed their thanks to the speakers and to Picnic Grove WI.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Fourney, Mrs. D. Fourney and Mrs. R. Fraser assisted by the members.

Mrs. MacLennan Died At 78

An esteemed resident of the Baltic Corners area, Mrs. Hugh John MacLennan died August 22 in Cornwall General Hospital. She was 78.

Mrs. MacLennan was a daughter Jessie, of John MacDonald and his wife Mary Fraser. After graduating from Ottawa Normal School in 1917 she taught in area schools and in 1920 at St. Elmo married Hugh John MacLennan which predeceased her in 1962.

She was interested in the work of the WMS in which she was an active member for many years.

Surviving are one son, John Archie MacLennan of Maxville and two daughters, Annabel, Mrs. D. J. Hartrick, Dunvegan, and Mary, Mrs. Ernest Whitney of Timmins. Nine grandchildren also survive as do two brothers and three sisters: Allan MacDonald, Riceville; Duncan MacDonald, Smiths Falls; Mrs. Ernest Hiney, Ottawa; Mrs. Finlay McRae and Mrs. Lyman MacKillican both of Maxville.

The funeral was held Aug. 25th to Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan, where the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. D. L. MacMillan of Montreal.

Pallbearers were Fraser Campbell, John Stewart, Jack Fraser, Erwin Shields and two nephews, Bruce Hiney of Ottawa and Wilmer McRae, Maxville.

AUNT BETSY

A Short Story by ETHEL L. OSTROM

"Yes," said Aunt Betsy, raising her head from the pillows of her chair, "The Great Unknown steals into our consciousness in many ways. Before Duncan phoned this morning I knew that Martha had died."

My knitting dropped to my lap. I stared at Aunt Betsy apprehensively.

"Through the drifts she came last night," she continued calmly, "the wind flapping her tweed coat and whipping the MacGregor scarf about her neck, and the snow spiralling around her." Aunt Betsy paused and peered into the dark hall.

"But," I ventured, "Duncan said that they had kept watch by Martha's bedside all night."

Ignoring my remark, Aunt Betsy went on, "The door slammed after her as she came into the room, her hair a halo of frost. 'In spite of the storm,' she panted, 'I had to come, for I'm going, Betsy; I'm going. I'll wait till nine—nine, the hour is nine. The storm will be over and the stars all bright above the wheeling world.' The cold wind blew into the room as out she hurried into the swirling snow." Again Aunt Betsy peered into the hall. "I knew she spoke of death," she added quietly.

A shiver that had nothing to do with the falling temperature of the winter night rippled down my spine.

"But," I protested, trying to ward off I didn't know what, "Duncan said that Martha died at seven."

"What is time?" exclaimed Aunt Betsy, dramatically raising a white hand. "For all my seventy years I do not know; I do not know. At times the past I never knew, and the future too, unroll before my eyes—real—real." She sighed, and leaned back again among the pillows.

Another shiver ran over my back. How I longed for Jane! But Jane had left for Duncan's right after supper, and for the first time I was alone with Aunt Betsy.

An explosive crack startled me half out of my chair—Oh! Aunt Betsy roused up and peered again into the hall.

"It was nothing, Aunt Betsy, "I explained, gulping, "nothing but Jack Frost playing pranks on the roof of the house."

How Jane would have laughed, twinkling fun through fear itself! She loved to play with fear. As children we never went to pick violets in Fraser's bush but Jane would say, "Let's go down to the old sugar camp; perhaps like Aunt Betsy we'll see Min Ross hide her bustle in the old elm." Then down we would go daringly, only to scamper back through the startled triliums should a chipmunk scurry across a fallen log, or a flicker suddenly begin to drill. Once over the old snake fence, however, we would fling ourselves into one another's arms and laugh and laugh, unwilling though to try the sally again—until next time.

But tonight there was no light laughter, and all alone as I was with Aunt Betsy, incident after incident in her long strange life came skeltering into my head as on electric wires, spreading gray-pimples, with hairs bristling, over my arms.

Yes, when Aunt Betsy was twelve she had seen Min Ross—Min Ross whose body had been found thirty years before in the river down by MacGillivray's Bridge—had seen Min Ross take off the bustle she was wearing to school and hide it in a hollow elm in Fraser's bush, lest her mother should find out about it.

Of course no one believed Aunt Betsy when she came racing home into the kitchen, breathlessly announcing what she had seen. Uncle Roddie, fourteen then, let out a derisive whistle, "Whoopee!" he mocked, "another taradiddle—a great big fat one this time!" And Grandfather shushed her to silence with a stern "That will do!" Grandmother adding, "You are surely old enough now, Betsy, to distinguish between imagination and reality."

But that night, even after she had said her prayers, Aunt Betsy insisted to Mother, who was six years older, "I did see her, Peggy, I did. She had on a blue dress and slipped away toward the river."

It was too absurd for words. Mother just turned over in bed and said nothing.

The first real jolt to the family's equilibrium had come about a month after Aunt Betsy's Min Ross announcement. Toward the end of breakfast one morning Betsy suddenly asked, "We'll all go to the funeral, won't we Father?"

"Whose funeral, Betsy?" asked Grandpa.

Betsy gave him a look of surprise, but answered, "Of course . . . Tommy."

"How would it be if you killed him first?" quipped Roddie.

"Well?" bridled Betsy, her eyes snapping.

"Well, what?" mimicked Roddie. "My, but you think yourself smart, Mr. Roderick Ross Munro? But I don't think a funeral is a thing to joke about—especially your own cousin's," Betsy pronounced scathingly.

"What are you driving at, child?" asked Grandpa.

"Why, what Cousin Sandy told us," answered Betsy, turning her chin up sideways and frowning.

"You've been dreaming, dear," said Grandma gently.

With a little jerk Betsy turned her chin and frown toward her mother. "It was real," she said determinedly, Cousin Sandy . . . told us, 'In the dead of night . . .'" She then hesitated—looked bewildered—

Burlesquing heroic despair, Roddie began to sing, "Take me out, sink me in the Ga-a-arry dee-ee-eep . . ."

Just then the long shadow of someone passing the kitchen window fell across the table, quick footsteps sounded on the verandah, the door opened, and in walked Cousin Sandy Munro.

"It's sad news I bring," he said; "little Tommy died of croup in the dead of night, before I got back with the doctor. The funeral will be the day after tomorrow. I'm on my way now to Glen Alan for the coffin—must be off at once."

Betsy herself was nonplussed, but catching a puzzled look from Roddie gave her head a triumphant toss.

Grandfather rallied quickly. "Nothing! nothing! Just a dream and a coincidence," he declared, "a dream and a coincidence." For what other rational explanation was there?

At intervals over succeeding years, Aunt Betsy had struck Grandfather and Grandmother all of a heap by sudden predictions which time later uncannily confirmed. But Grandfather, though he might be baffled and perturbed for a day or two, had that same sure talisman for upholsting himself erect and steady upon the rock of reason: "A coincidence, a simple coincidence," he would pronounce. And that settled that.

Even so, the airs that Aunt Betsy was giving herself increasingly were not so easily dealt with.

"That Betsy!" Roddie would groan, "Melpomene Munro! Always putting on an act!"

The problem, however, exploded when Betsy was seventeen.

One afternoon in May, as she and Grandfather were returning from Glen Alan and their horse slowed to a walk up Stony Hill, Betsy exclaimed, "Oh, look, Father! By the pasture fence! The blood-root! Not one was out this morning when we passed to the village, and now!—like a snow-drift!"

But as she gazed, a wind ruffled the blossoms eerily. They changed.

Betsy shrieked, "It's little Margaret Ross! On the stones! She's dead!"

"Tut, tut! Nonsense, nonsense!" said Grandfather impatiently.

He stopped the horse, however, and followed Betsy, who rushed wildly over to the white patch.

"See, nothing but blood-root," he remarked, coming up to her. "They always come as a surprise, don't they?

Papaveraceae sanguinaria canadensis, the books call them. Ridiculous name, eh, Betsy, for such a delicate flower? How tenderly the leaf enfolds the flower-bud! Now jump into the buggy and stop your silly trembling, child." He laughed, then patting her shoulder he added tenderly, "You did get a fright, didn't you?"

But Betsy couldn't stop trembling, and was no sooner home than she went fluttering through the orchard to the Ross' home. Here to Margaret's parents, Finlay and Jessie, she poured out an incomprehensible tale about "danger to Margaret", and "stones", and "blood-root", and "Margaret lying dead", and "Margaret not being there", poured it out with such agitation that Finlay and Jessie were much more perturbed by the tumult that was running her amuck than by any portent in the words that came tumbling pell-mell from her mouth.

"Pooh, pooh, pooh, and again pooh!" exclaimed Finlay at last, wholly exasperated. "Stop all this pother! If you don't pull the reins up good and tight on yourself, Betsy, you're going to land in Bedlam. No harm is coming to Margaret," he thundered; then

The minimum wage is going up.

An announcement on the new Minimum Wage and some improvements of Employment Standards in the area of job security.

As of October 1, 1970, the general minimum wage goes up to $1.50/hour, and the construction minimum to $1.75/hour. Then, on April 1, 1971, the general minimum jumps to $1.65/hour, and construction to $1.90/hour.

If your wage depends on the established minimum, get the whole story on the rising minimum wages by writing or phoning the Regional office of the Ontario Department of Labour nearest you.

At the same time the minimum wage goes up, new regulations come into effect to improve your job security.

For example, if you work for one of an associated group of companies and are assigned to another company in the group for a period of time, you'll get paid for any overtime you work just as if you were still working for the original company. All the other provisions of the Act apply the same way.

If, for any reason, your company closes down, all wages owed to you (up to $2,000) have preferred claim against the assets of the employer.

The same rule covers any vacation pay you may have coming (vacation pay must now be held in trust for you by your employer).

How much vacation are you entitled to? The law says you must get at least one week's paid vacation after your first twelve months of employment, and two week's paid vacation after each of the next twelve months.

Some new teeth in the law.

The Employment Standards Branch has the power to assess any money owing to you, either wages, overtime or vacation pay, and to collect it from your employer on your behalf.

Employers must also pay the Department a 10% penalty for withholding any money from you.

For the whole story on what these changes mean to you, write or phone your nearest Employment Standards Branch.

Aunt Betsy

striding out of the room he banged the door after him.

"Never mind him, Betsy," said Jessie soothingly. "But why get so distracted because you thought you saw something that wasn't there? We will take care of Margaret. Now slip off home before Finlay comes back in."

But the very next day little Margaret did lie dead among the flowers, where Fraser's bull had tossed her.

Poor Betsy! At first she flung herself on her bed, sobbing uncontrollably; then gave way to the extremes of panic and despair as the real nature of her tragic gift dawned upon her: if what she saw was the future, she could not possibly avert it whatever she might do. She was in a trap; flat indeed was her balloon of pride. Oh, she did not want to see! She prayed to see nothing more, to die rather.

It would take too long to tell how Aunt Betsy, with the burden of her years descending upon her, had come at last a month ago to live with Jane and me. Since her coming, day after day had been altogether uneventful until this morning, when several times she had sighed out, "Nine—nine," staring disquietingly into the hall as though watching, watching. And tonight this talk about Martha. And no Jane.

Aunt Betsy was now lying back quietly enough among the pillows, but a strange something emanating from her kept brushing me lightly setting my nerves all out of control. Chills were holding high carnival over my skin, stirring at the roots of my hair, freezing my nose flat to my face, setting my teeth chattering. I tried desperately to concentrate on my work, but when my needles, meeting lightly in the garment I was knitting suggested the clicking of —oh, I won't tell you what, it was beyond all reason—I sternly summoned what little sense I had left, and stood up, stiffening my unruly legs, to put an end to the melodrama of near panic in which I had been starring.

"Martha!" exclaimed Aunt Betsy with a start, opening her eyes and stretching out her arms.

"It's M—Meg," I stammered, laying my knitting down fumbling on the table before me. "I'm going to the kitchen, Aunt Betsy, to warm your gruel and to get your hot-water bottle. It's going to be a very cold night. But I'll give the furnace a good stoking," I added matter-of-factly.

With that I took myself resolutely out into the hall, flicked on the light; then into the kitchen, flipped the switch, and put the gruel on to heat. Then down the cellar steps I clattered, gave the furnace a preliminary rattling, put on more coal, opened the dampers, and, making enough noise to scare any lurking shadows clean out of their sinister senses, I clapped and thumped up the stairs again, half afraid, like Mattie in Cranford, that something might catch my last leg. Safely up, I filled Aunt Betsy's bowl with the hot gruel. Before I had taken three steps toward the living-room—CRACK! The gruel splattered all over the front of my dress, and onto the floor. Tush! It was only Jack Frost again. I gave a little shivering half chuckle, thinking of Jane. Then into the sink I put the bowl, wiped the front of my dress off with a towel, mopped up the mess on the floor, washed and dried the bowl, and was filling it again with gruel when—WHIRR-R-R-R; and I stiffened alert. Oh, oh! It was only our old kitchen clock, unhitching itself to strike.

Just then a cold wind swept into the room from the hall. "Oh, dear! That nuisance of a door-catch again!" I grumbled as I strode through the hall. The door was open as I expected. I closed it, locked it. As I did this a glimpse of the great Orion, beaconing amid all the cold, vast pageantry of the winter sky held me for a moment spellbound. But I couldn't dally. I turned down the hall again, glancing casually into the living-room; but suddenly turned back, and into the room.

All still, wax-white, on the white pillows, Aunt Betsy lay dead.

It was nine the kitchen clock had struck.

And then—I felt—Martha—Aunt Betsy — far off — fade into the Great Unknown.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

Vega is here at last.
Now you can buy what we modestly believe is the best little car in the world.

It does everything well.

Everything? Everything.
Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, merges well, travels well, parks well, sits well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a totally talented car.
In highway tests, Vega has been getting around 30 miles to the gallon. Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.
The standard engine is a specially designed 140 cubic inch overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. You can order the optional engine which has a 2-barrel carburetor and delivers 20 extra horsepower. The brakes are something too. Discs are standard in the front, new-type drums in the rear.
The wheelbase is 97 inches. Width: nearly 5½ nice, stable feet. Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the standard sedan. Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches; horsepower: 90 SAE gross, 80 SAE net. Seating Capacity: four adults. Turning circle: 33 feet, curb to curb.
What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.

Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one. So we made four: a sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kammback wagon, on the left; and the little panel express truck, in the rear.
You have a choice of 10 outside and 5 inside colors plus a pretty fair selection of available options.

September 28th is Opening Day.

All Chevrolet dealers across Canada are handling the Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to find out more about it.
Chevy's new little car is open for business.
Look into it.

ODAF DATA

A report from your Glengarry Agricultural Office

by J. Y. Humphries

"Silage gases may be prevalent again this year, during corn silo filling time. If heavy concentrations of these gases are inhaled, the effect can be lethal."

Nitrogen silage gases are heavier than air, have a sickly sweet odor, and are colorless or yellowish brown. If their presence is noted, says Mr. Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, the following precautions should be taken:

1. Before attempting to enter the silo, always have another person standing by in case of difficulties.

2. Use oxygen or compressed air equipment when climing to remove the doors to the level of the silage. Alternatively, climb the outside of the silo and come down the inside to remove the doors.

3. When the doors are removed, run the blower for half an hour to dispel the gases. Stay well away from the bottom of the chute.

4. If there is any exposure to the gases, a doctor should be consulted immediately, even if no ill effects are felt.

It is most important to follow these precautions, says Mr. Wright, because the gases have a choking effect and paralyse the nervous system, and can cause death or permanent physical damage.

A number of farmers have submitted samples of corn to this office for moisture testing. Very few samples have reached a moisture level at which corn could be safely cribbed; especially with the high air temperatures prevailing. We would suggest that 30% moisture is the highest level at which corn could be safely cribbed and a lower level would be much preferable. While you may experience some field loss in the next ten days this is better than losing corn in the crib through mould or other conditions that might cause it to deteriorate.

Harvest safely! Disengage the power take off before going near that picker. Are all power take off shafts shielded? A picker is a simple machine but the hazardous one most farmers operate.

ing towns were present to wish Mr. and Mrs. MacRae many more years of happiness.

HONORED ON 25th DATE

At a gala party, marking their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McIntyre, a well known couple of the Avonmore district, were honored by a large number of relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were escorted into the hall by their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Aikman, Brockville.

During the course of the evening Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were presented with a purse of money on behalf of the many assembled friends and relatives. Allen McIntyre read the accompanying address. Glenn and Beth responded thanking one and all for the good wishes and gift.

At intermission a delicious lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were married at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McIntyre. Mrs. McIntyre was the former Beth MacMillan, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Dan MacMillan. For the first few years they lived near Finch but some years ago they took up residence, one mile west of the village of Avonmore along Highway 43.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre have four children, three sons, John, Reid and Dean, and one daughter, Melanie.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre are active supporters of all community projects and members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

GLEN ROBERTSON

Fast friends, Simpson Markson found the quiet of Paul Lacombe's room an ideal place to study when he was at McGill and the tenant worked at Stilwell's, a dining parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lalonde and children will move into a new house they are abuilding on the outskirts of that city where Mr. Lalonde works in the Counties' property assessment office.

THERE is a market at home and almost world wide for Canadian breeding stock. Buyers are combing the country constantly for cattle of nearly all breeds to supply this market. The first essential to establishing a top breeding herd is a farm of suitable proportions and suitable housing for man and beast.

WE have a listing on just such a property, 279 very productive acres, 2 large barns both of which are very well built, plus suitable sheds for machinery and equipment.

THERE are 3 homes—No. 1 is a lovely home for the owner-manager, all conveniences of course and 5-bedroom size. No. 2 is also fully equipped and most suitable for the right hand man, whether he be herdsman or farm manager. No. 3 is very adequate for extra help.

THIS farm is at present being operated as a dairy farm but most of the cattle are grades. The potential would be greatly enhanced by the establishment of a foundation herd of registered cattle.

IF you are interested in the theory of better cattle for better living you should see this property.
