Permit granted pet shop

Originally Town Council wanted to withhold the granting of a business permit to Brian Nice of Williamstown for the purpose of a pet store at 18 Main St. North. However at Tuesday's council meeting they directed the Town Clerk, Don Collin, to issue the necessary permit.

Mr. Nice will be opening his business under the name of "Pets and Pastimes" sometime between Feb. 1st and 10th and will include the sale of registered pups, tropical fish, birds and the necessary equipment and supplies.

"As for any possibility of there being a smell from the pets," said Mr. Nice, "We intend to clean the animal litter twice a day, weekends included, and no large dogs will be kept so the chance of noise is virtually eliminated."

"I'm new to the area," he said, "and it's my first business venture so I do want to get along with all concerned."

Snowfall was expensive

The snow fall on Monday, January 10th cost $5,200 to remove, according to a report given by Councillor Raymond Jette at Tuesday night's meeting of Town Council.

This included the obvious cost of town employees as well as the hiring of additional snow removal equipment. There was an additional expense of $2,700 for the replacement of the truck motor used with the snow plow.

Father Rudolph Villeneuve heads public school board

Father Rudolph Villeneuve, co-pastor of St. Theresa's parish in Cornwall, was elected on January 12th, 1977, as Chairman of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education.

"We have a rich educational tradition in these three counties dating back almost two hundred years," stated Father Rudy in his inaugural speech.

"Specific problems today seem to me to fall into five main headings: public confidence, financial, labor, declining enrolment and changing society.

"With the rising cost of education, people everywhere are clamoring for accountability and are inquiring about the educational standards of our schools. One of my priorities will be to assure a greater cooperation between the County Board of Education and the Separate School Board to see where we can cut common expenses while still conserving our identity."

The 53-year-old native of Maxville is one of the separate school representatives on the County Board for the city of Cornwall and has been Vice-Chairman of the Board for the past two years. He was elected over Lucien Chenier, the only other candidate for the post.

Father Villeneuve is also Vice-Chairman of the Board of Governors of St. Lawrence College and President of the Cornwall Christian Council. He is also chaplain of the Newman House of St. Lawrence College and professor of sociology of the Cornwall Campus of the University of Ottawa. In 1976 he was Conservative candidate for the riding of Cornwall in the provincial election. He is a former vicar general of the Diocese of Alexandria and former pastor of St. Francis de Sales Parish, Cornwall and Precious Blood Parish, Glen Walter.

A native of Maxville, the 53-year-old priest was educated in local schools and at the Seminary of Philosophy and Grand Seminary of the University of Montreal.

Ordained in 1947 for the Diocese of Alexandria, he holds a Doctorate Degree in Sacred Theology and a Master's Degree in Social Work from the University of Montreal and a Doctorate in Sociology from Fordham University, New York. He is a former President of the Association of Children's Aid Societies of Ontario.

He is a past Chairman of the Cornwall Branch of the Canadian Red Cross, the Cornwall Juvenile Court Committee and the Mayor's Committee on Youth. A former member of the SD&G Children's Aid Society, the Cornwall Family Service Bureau, Laurencrest Boys' Home, the Cornwall Community Chest, he brings a wealth of experience to the post of chairman.

In 1972 he was named "Citizen of the Year" for the City of Cornwall.

Reporting Davis trip to Israel

Readers of the Toronto Globe and Mail are following the nine-day visit of Ontario Premier William Davis to Israel through the reports of staffer Peter Mosher.

Eldest son of the late Mrs. Phyllis Mosher of Alexandria, Peter has been a reporter with the Toronto paper for several years and was chosen to accompany Premier Davis on his trip to Israel.

Queen crowning opens Lancaster Carnival

Miss Rita Trottier was crowned queen of the annual Lancaster Carnival at a contest held Thursday, January 13th in St. Joseph's Hall, Lancaster. The first princess was Miss Harriet Fielotter and the second was Karen Owen. Karen was also named "Miss Congeniality."

Other contestants were Lorraine Belanger, Bonnie Bonneville, Kim Enberg and Sharon Tyo.

To qualify, the girls had to sell at least 100 books of tickets on the carnival draw. One hour prior to the contest, the girls were given a choice of three subjects on which to make an impromptu speech.

Lorraine Belanger spoke on the importance of exploration—the vast fields there were to discover even if we just considered the area of stars, galaxies and planets and the possibility of discovering life similar to ours in another space.

Harriet Fielotter thought "the qualities most desired in a friend," were honesty, sincerity and staunchness, but above all, respect. A friend lets you be yourself, she felt and should possibly possess qualities you do not yourself have, to complement you.

Rita Trottier's topic was "The most fascinating person you know" and this person she claimed was one you saw with your imagination, touched with your heart and it was left to the individual to establish a unique and personal relationship with him.

For your future goal in life, it is important to set your goal and aim for it. This may require many different courses and jobs, meeting people, going places and doing things but all will be accomplished if one does not lose sight of one's purpose, said Karen Owen.

Education today presents a broad program—one that lets you be almost anything you want to be providing you are willing to work for it said Bonnie Bonneville "and if you really want to do something, you can."

Speaking on what city she would like to visit and why, Sharon Tyo said she would like to go to Gagetown, N.B., to visit the army base where her brother is stationed, to learn about army life.

Kim Enberg spoke of the influence of television on the world around us. It can become a habit, a part of daily routine, she felt and would be more beneficial if educational programs were offered.

Judges were Mrs. Darquise Lapointe, Mrs. Nicole Smith and Andre Marchand, all of Cornwall.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Jean Pierre Bourdeau.

While the judges were making their decision a dance program was featured by Mrs. Sandra Ruest and several of her pupils and Junior Lalonde and his boy gymnasts.

Miss Suzanne Andre, last year's carnival queen, crowned the new representatives and commented on the enjoyable and worthwhile experience it was to enter the competition, whether one won or lost.

Blaze controlled

Alexandria firemen were able to control a fire in the home of Herve Ouimet, 8th Lancaster, on Saturday, with a minimum of damage.

Chief Gerald Charlebois reports a chimney fire had spread to the wall of one bedroom but the brigade was able to contain it before much damage had been done to the house.

The call came at 1:15 p.m. Saturday.

Tagwi students conduct poll on drinking

The role public opinion plays in the shaping of laws within a democratic country was the main objective of a survey conducted at Tagwi Secondary School last month. The topice under discussion was the possible reform of some liquor laws within Ontario including a modification to the legal drinking age.

The survey was supervised by Surinder Gupta and his grade 11, 12 and 13 law students who drew up the questionnaire used in the compiling of statistics.

The 937 students in the school were supplied with a questionnaire and asked to give their thoughts on each question without giving any more personal information other than their sex and age.

The questions were: "Do you think the drinking age should be lowered, raised, left the same as it is, or unspecified?"

"Do you think that minors should be allowed to drink in a licenced place if permitted by their parents?"

"Do you drink, and if so on the average how often, once a week, twice a week, four times a week, more than four times a week?"

"If you drink, where? At your home, someone else's, in a licenced place, in cars, any other place?"

"Do your parents know you drink? If so, do they object, (mildly, very mildly, strongly, very strongly, not at all?)

"Do you think drinking is a serious problem with teenagers today?"

The questionnaire also included a brief outline of today's liquor control laws.

Of those answering the survey, 60.2 per cent favored the drinking age limit as it presently stands, (18 years of age). However a further analysis of the statistics revealed that 48.7 per cent of the junior students and 73.5 of the seniors were in favor of the present age limit. Also, 15.5 per cent wanted the age lowered while 13.9 per cent wanted it raised.

As for the question of drinking in a licenced place with parents' permission, 66.7 per cent answered yes.

"Do you drink?" produced a positive response of 66.2 per cent with no significant difference between the male and female students. However, the survey indicated that 33.8 per cent of the school population don't drink at all. (22.7 per cent of seniors and 45.4 per cent juniors.)

Of those who said they did drink, the survey revealed, the greater number of them were also those who drank the least (less than once a week) numbering 37.7 per cent. Once a week drinkers were 22.6 per cent, with the twice-a-week crowd numbering 21.5 per cent.

A still further analysis of these figures showed that about one-fifth, or 18.9 per cent of the students who drink, do so in a licenced place although the majority of them would be under the legal age of 18.

Asked if their parents were aware of their drinking, 65.1 per cent said they were, with 17.8 per cent stating that their parents had no knowledge that they drank at all.

"Do your parents object and to what extent?" gave a 77.5 per cent answer of yes, however of these only 39.1 per cent objected mildly with 16.4 per cent objecting very mildly, 14 per cent strongly and 8 per cent very strongly. No objection at all gave a response of 22.5 per cent.

"Do you think drinking is a serious problem with teenagers today?" showed that a strong majority of 70.1 per cent felt it to be a serious problem.

A News reporter interviewed a grade 13 class and asked if this survey had anything to do with government presently considering a change of drinking age from 18 to 19.

"No," said one of the students. However, they did admit to the fact that the proposed change could have a large proportion of the problem removed from the schools.

Advertising appears to be the best answer, said some, judging by the attitude people have taken towards driving and drinking in recent weeks following the Liquor Control Board advertising campaign.

Some felt that there wasn't much point in putting a control on it, as they said, "If we want to get to the stuff, we will anyway, with or without our parents' permission."

"Our main objective in conducting the survey," said Mr. Gupta, "was to show the students the part they could possibly play in the changing of liquor control laws. However, since 60.2 per cent of the students are in favor of the law as it now stands there wouldn't be much point in meeting with a Member of the Legislature."

Why are so many in favor of keeping the 18 years of age limit? the students were asked, and the general response was that they don't think it should be lowered, and to raise it would be to take away an established privilege.

"How can we control the existing laws without making any changes to them?" was one question put to the students.

"We could clamp down harder," said one, "and make the punishment for breaking the law more strict."

LAW AND LIQUOR—Members of this grade 13 Tagwi Secondary School law class conducted a survey recently on the drinking habits within their school. Supervised by their teacher, Surinder Gupta, they discovered that the majority of their school mates preferred the age limitations on drinking as they now stand.

Martintown Rumor Mill

Art Buckland—528-4261

Robbie Burns is having birthday celebrations around this earth this month. We should remind ourselves about this fellow who lived two hundred years ago.

He started out as a farm laborer—what better start could a man have? From that point, he went on to other things; he developed a love for the three 'I's': literature, ladies and liquor. However, his most creative period seems to have been the time he farmed 118 acres (and that's quite a few hectares too). Such poems as "To a Wee Mousie" (a dialogue with a mouse disturbed by his plowing); "The Cotter's Saturday Night"; "Death and Dr. Hornbrook" (a satire against the village medicine man) are examples.

The publication of the second edition of his poems earned him 500 pounds (thank goodness he didn't earn that much under today's inflationary conditions). The money was enough to buy a farm, to marry, and to support some friends (Alison, Mary, Jeanie and Elizabeth among them).

In addition to his lyrical descriptions of the working man's world, we remember him as a collector of songs, many of which would be lost by now without Burns. Special mention must be made of the song he supplied for Guy Lombardo.

Farmers should note that he died at the early age of 37; note also that he did not spend all his time farming.

Local celebrations for Robbie take place Sat., Jan. 22 at yon Bonnie Glen when the MacCulloch dancers and Pipe Majors John T. MacKenzie and David Danskin and the Glengarry Pipe Band entertain, with dancing to Sylvester's Clansmen orchestra.

I also want to reveal my grand grandmother's recipe for Haggis:

Wash two lbs. of stolen pork liver in the burn. Boil slowly in poached sheep stomach until tender. Cool, save the liquid. Grind to a fine state by placing the pork on the cobblestones when the English troops are marching by; it makes them useful for once. Add four ground Spanish onions or eight medium or 16 miniscule. Add two imperial lbs. of poached deer, three lbs. pork sausage, two lbs. fine Glengarry oatmeal, two tsps. salt and a little pepper. Mix together and add the liver liquid.

Grease two granite or clay pans (hand and a half in diameter). Mould the meat, cover and steam on trivets in hearth kettle for four and one-half hours. Remove from mould and garnish with parsley and heather.

Hire John MacKenzie and pipe it into the main hall steaming hot. I would be interested in any other recipes of Haggis.

One reader has called for a change in the content of my articles; she wants more Scots and less scotch.

Please, no more phone calls about bookings for the Brigadoons. I am no longer their manager. Rob Taylor, new accordion and all, is handling the bookings at 933-5250.

Jamie Wood that fine vocalist and bass player has left the Brigadoons. Rick Link of Vankleek Hill, formerly with Cobblers, is now singing with the band. Rob says that he is very pleased with Rick as singer, bass player, tin whistler and flautist.

Margaret MacDonald, Sylvester's wife, reports that they have sold their 1000 'Clansmen' records. They don't even have one to go in the public library.

Rob Taylor managed to buy another lot of 'Canadian Celtic' putting them over the 1000 mark. So, if you haven't been able to get yours from the regular outlets, try again.

Annie Laurie Cameron phoned to tell me that Hughie MacDonell is the new singer with the Tartans.

This Friday night is family movie night in the Martintown Public School gym. Bring the whole family for an enjoyable outing together.

Adult dancing classes start Monday evening at Martintown, Jan. 24th. Great fun.

Martintown Mac reminds you of what Burns said two hundred years ago:

That Sense and Worth, o'er a' the earth,
Shall bear the gree, an' a' that.
For a' that an' a' that,
It's coming yet for a' that,
That man to man the world o'er
Shall brithers be for a' that.

For Cornwall Scottish lovers, they may dance to the Tartans and be entertained by the SD&G Highland Dancers on January 22nd at MacDonell's Inn. It will be a good time to hear Hughie MacDonell as MC, son of Billie (Willie Bill MacDonell of the North Branch), the new singer with the Tartans.

Martintown WMS studied system

The January WMS meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, was held in the church on Saturday, January 15th. Mrs. Ian Kennedy presided. "The Gate of the Year" was the theme of the call to worship. A hymn followed with Mrs. Lloyd Clingen at the organ.

The hopes and prayers for the New Year were expressed in meditations. "1977, What to do With the Baby?" presented by Mrs. Stuart Blackadder, "Winter House Plants" by Mrs. Andrew MacLean and "Facing the Future" by Miss Emily MacInnes, were interesting topics.

Mrs. Duncan Christie read the Scripture and Mrs. Dan Ferguson led in prayer. The minutes were read by Mrs. Lloyd MacGregor and the roll call answered by a verse containing the word "new." Membership was renewed in the Armagh Home and the supply allocation accepted. Members reported 25 visits to sick and shut-ins and leaders were chosen for each month of 1977. The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Henry Hald.

Members who had attended the Presbyterial Annual Meeting at St. John's, Cornwall, the previous day, discussed highlights of that event.

Mrs. Harvey MacMillan introduced the study packet "Canadian Concerns Christian Response" and reviewed the book by Douglas Roche "Justice Not Charity" which is a hard-hitting clear sighted appeal for a new global economic system. The book is unsettling, prophetic and timely, for while an affluent west enjoys a luxurious lifestyle, millions in the Third World starve.

Mrs. William Johnston presided at a Ladies' Aid meeting at which reports were received and plans made for 1977.

Report survey given to Inter-Agency

Report of a survey dealing with the needs of the mentally handicapped was presented to Glengarry Inter-Agency Group Inc. at their monthly meeting held on January 14th at the Church on the Hill.

Sister Lucille Champagne and Terence Cooke, both of Glen Roy had conducted the survey and presented their findings of a survey of 81 mentally retarded adults, their guardians and families. They discovered many aspects of the condition of the retarded in the area, most notable of which was that more intensive studies would be required to effect any real progress.

To begin with, the retarded are classified differently by different agencies. School boards consider an IQ of 60 sufficient for entry into classes for educable retarded; social services feel a score of 80 determines eligibility for a pension. The subjects of the survey were then, people who had been so labelled by one or more of the county systems.

The greatest number of retarded in the county—33, are between the ages of 20 and 24. There are 15 in the 25—29 range, 12 in the 30—34. They are equally distributed among the English and French speaking population, male and female. Five-eighths of this population live at home with a greater percentage in the towns and villages.

Integration into the community where these people can lead a comparatively normal life is the goal of the ministry. While some service is provided by the community in day programs such as ARC Industries, they are generally excluded from almost all other community activities usually enjoyed by the average person.

Recommendations were advocated in four areas—health, educational and vocational, social relationship and physical capabilities. It was the opinion of the researchers that this survey was but the first of others which would need to be done, and that a comprehensive assessment team would need to do individual program plans.

The subject of mental health and mental retardation had been one of the main topics of study by the Inter-Agency the past year.

A sub-committee of the group made up of Allan Burn, Sylvio Cleroux, Anna Margaret MacDonald and Dan Filliol in conjunction with Frank Szabadka, the regional representative from the Ontario Ministry of Social Services applied for a grant for a team of workers to do the research.

The Community Resources Branch provided the money for the research. Sister Lucille and Mr. Cooke had been hired to do the study.

Charlottenburgh township council discusses priorities

The newly elected council of Charlottenburgh Township was last week urged to think positively and "make things happen" if they want to see their community progress and prosper.

The appeal came from Reeve Adrian Gadbois during his inaugural speech to the 1977-1978 council in Williamstown.

"Nothing is going to happen by itself," he told the council. "We have to make things happen."

Reeve Gadbois said odd things would happen once in a while. "It is our responsibility to make things happen . . . happen the way we want it to."

"As far as our community is concerned, we can make it better. We will be required to work hard to keep the economy healthy," he continued.

Mr. Gadbois urged his council to make firm decisions in the best interest of the township and not be carried away by pressure groups.

The new deputy-reeve Ewen MacDonald said he would use every opportunity to continue the growth in the township. He said his main priority will be to upgrade roads and work towards obtaining more government grants for new projects in the township.

Councillor Morgan Major, elected for the second term in the Dec. 6 municipal election, said he is looking forward to "two years of continued progress."

The councillor said he will strive for better industrial relations with neighboring municipalities.

His other priorities, he said, will be better roads and better recreational facilities.

William Cooper, a new councillor, said he would like to see the township come up with an improved by-law on mobile homes.

A school teacher, Don Kannon, who previously served as councillor, said his two priorities are to maintain the high standard of their deliberations and keep spending to a minimum.

Rev. Bernard Cameron of Williamstown, who had earlier offered special prayers for the council, said he has seen nothing but progress since he moved to Charlottenburgh.

He pointed out that residents were proud of their arena, which is now being increasingly used.

Father Cameron urged council to hold up the interests of the people in their civic undertaking. He said council can play an important role in improving the quality of life in the community since it (council) has many occasions to guide people.

"Upgrading the quality of life should be part of your job," he said.

Blames Glenoco

Norbert Martin of 17 Peel St. has placed the blame on Glenoco for strong petroleum odors from the sewers of the immediate area.

Mr. Martin, who made his complaint in writing to Tuesday's Alexandria Town Council, said "It appears they are dumping gasoline and other harsh fluids down the sewer. The odor is enough to drive us out of the house."

More recently, he wrote, "they apparently dropped some 15 gallons of gas down the sewer and two or three days later it was some kind of cleaning agent. On New Year's eve it was gas, and on Jan. 3rd, gas again."

"As a tax-payer I hope something will be done," concluded Mr. Martin.

Mayor Bruno Massie suggested that council refer the entire matter to the Department of the Environment.

Terminates employment

Peter A. Charlebois, who for many years has served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Alexandria Police Commission, will be terminating his appointment as of Jan. 31st.

As a result, council has passed a resolution that "the same work be absorbed by the present town office staff," with no increase in pay for the additional duties.

Mayor Bruno Massie said that when Mr. Charlebois took on the position, no reduction in pay was made with the town employees therefore he didn't feel that any increase should be given with the return of those duties.

Group is now incorporated

Incorporation papers were received by the Glengarry Inter-Agency group on Friday, January 14th.

The documents were officially delivered by local MPP Osie Villeneuve to President Allan Burn, the day of the monthly meeting of the group.

Application for the right to incorporate was made last fall under chairman Allan Vallance. The group which consists of several area agencies felt it could operate more efficiently as a corporation. It is now known as Glengarry Inter-Agency Group Inc.

(Intended for last issue)

Happy New Year to the editor and staff of the Glengarry News and to all their readers. The very best in 1977.

Teachers and students are back to school again this week after the Christmas break.

We are sorry to hear Mrs. Russell Morrison is a patient in Ottawa Civic Hospital; also, Duncan Alex MacLeod is a patient in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. We hope their stays won't be long.

Festival of the Nine Lessons and Carols was held in Kenyon Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Dec. 26th at 8 p.m., with Rev. D. R. Chatreau in charge. Organist was Mrs. Peter Walsh. Those taking part in the readings were Ewen Hartrick, Norman Clark, Lorna Campbell, Susan Duval, Norma MacLeod, Janice Hartrick, Lois Nixon. The Intermediate Choir of six girls of the choir sang a number of the Christmas hymns. The solos were by Walter Davison of Vankleek Hill. Receiving the offering were, Kerry and Kim MacLaughlin, Joyce MacLeod, Bruce Tenger. Offertory Prayer was by Lois Nixon.

Everyone had a candle and these young people had charge of the Candle Lighting ceremony; Donna Clark, Debbie MacLeod, Bruce Tenger, Joyce MacLeod and Kim MacLaughlin. All lights were turned out and just candles were burning. Reading by Billy Gowland and Rev. D. R. Chatreau closed this service.

The collection for these evening services was turned over to the Christian Youth Fellowship for the Outreach Project for 1977.

Don't forget the annual meeting of the Kenyon congregation which will be held on Saturday, January 22nd, at 2 p.m. in the church. Everyone is most cordially invited to attend.

AT THE MANSE

On New Year's Day, at 8:30 in the evening, the Deacon's Court and The Board of Trustees and their wives met at the Manse as guests of Rev. D. R. and Mrs. Chatreau for a lovely turkey dinner prepared by Mrs. Chatreau and served by candlelight. Everyone enjoyed this meal featured by relaxation and fellowship together to mark the opening of the new year of 1977.

Sympathy goes out to the family of the late D. H. MacIntosh of Skye, whose funeral was held in December. Rev. D. R. Chatreau conducted the service in Kenyon Presbyterian Church.

Miss Audrey MacQueen spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bev MacQueen, Garry and Mrs. J. A. MacQueen.

WINNERS AT CARD PARTY

On Monday, Jan. 3rd, Dunvegan WI held their euchre party. Winners were as follows: Ladies, Mrs. Andy Couture, Greenfield; Mrs. Sarah Presley, Finch. Low, Mrs. D. J. MacLeod, Dunvegan. Men, Mallory Franklin, St. Elmo; Gregor MacEwen, St. Elmo; low, Ron Evans, Greenfield. Door Prize, Finlay MacDonell, Greenfield.

DUNVEGAN

Kenyon Presbyterian Church congregation and community was deeply shocked and very saddened on Monday, January 10th to learn of the sudden death of our minister Rev. Delbert R. Chatreau, BA, BD, whose death occurred at the Manse.

On Thursday afternoon a large funeral was held in the church. Minister, representative Elders and Deacons, trustees, young people, Boy Scouts and a body from the Presbytery of Glengarry were well represented.

Rev. D. R. Chatreau will be missed by all societies of this congregation and others who knew him.

Rev. Kenneth MacLeod BA, BD, moderator of Glengarry Presbytery conducted the Service at 2 p.m. assisted by Rev. Dr. Iver D. MacIver of Maxville.

Sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Chatreau (Beth), Mrs. Don Bose (Lois), Mrs. Philip Schuyler, Deborah Chatreau and all their family.

On Sunday, Rev. Donald N. MacMillan of the Montreal College was guest preacher. Dr. and Mrs. MacMillan were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. MacLeod, Skye.

The annual meeting of the congregation will be held in the church on Saturday, January 22nd at 1:30 p.m. Plan now to be with us for that important meeting.

Mrs. E. L. Blair hostess to meetings of WMS

The January meeting of the members of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek, was held in the home of Mrs. E. L. Blair with eleven members present.

Mrs. Angus Bethune opened the meeting with the Call to Worship, repeating a well known hymn. Mrs. Murdie MacLean led in prayer. Mrs. Bethune read the Scripture Lesson taken from Genesis Chap. 1 verses 1—13 followed by interesting meditation on the Scripture Reading.

The hymn 399 "Come let us Sing" was sung. Mrs. Norman McCuaig read an informative letter from Rev. Glen Davis of Taiwan who is presently home on furlough. Roll call was answered with the paying of membership fees for the year 1977. The correspondence was read and considered.

It was decided that we hold our meetings on the first Thursday of each month.

Law student killed in crash

David Alexander Ekdahl, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ekdahl of Navan, was accidentally killed in a head-on crash near Navan on Christmas eve. His mother, Mrs. Larry Ekdahl, is the former Violet McDermid of Apple Hill.

David was a second year student of law at Queen's University, Kingston.

Glens in fourth place after two victories

Those attending Saturday night's Jr. Glens game at the Glengarry Sports Palace were treated to several opportunities to cheer as the locals defeated the Metcalfe Jets 11 to 2.

Thanks to the efforts of Glens' goaltender, Dean Macdonell, the sting was taken out of the opposition in the early minutes of play.

Shots that normally would have made their way past a goalie were stopped in what appeared to be an easy manner. "Impressive" and "super hot" were the comments of some of the fans when referring to Dean.

Robert Lajoie, who in past has been the spark and muscle of the Glens but has missed the past few games due to injury, made his presence known Saturday. He not only scored two goals in a row but helped give the team that much needed extra bit of sting.

Referee Bud Grant had a virtually penalty-free first period when he handed out only one a side. But the second and third periods were another style of game with the end result 15 penalties to the Jets and 17 to Alexandria, including a game misconduct to Cameron McCormick.

The first period featured fast, end to end play with both teams giving it their all for the first five minutes. There was only one whistle during that time.

The Glens first goal came in the first period when Luc Poirier was set up in a classic way by John Charlebois. John passed from the corner, out in front to Luc who wasted no time getting the shot off and in.

The first period saw the Glens outshoot the Jets but Metcalfe goalie, Luc D'Aoust, also had his hot moments and held them off for a good part of the time. However, he lost his cool later in the game and after allowing seven goals was replaced by Paul Pritchard.

Paul gave it his best but had a couple of unlucky breaks. One of these was a goal credited to Luc Poirier when his shot went wide of the net, hit the boards, bounced back and went in the Metcalfe net off the goaltender's back.

The Glens second point came off the stick of Frank St. Pierre with the first assist going to Luc Poirier. Luc set this one up in fine fashion when he was able to pull the goalie to one side and pass over to Frank.

The Glens' third goal came from Yvan Desautels, assisted by Ewen McCormick, when the Jets had two men in the penalty box.

Immediately after that Cameron McCormick was given his game misconduct penalty.

Cameron's penalty appeared to put still more life in the Glens and they were able to keep the puck in the Jets' half of the ice with only four locals on the rink to the Metcalfe six. Featured was the line of Desautels, Lajoie and Charlebois. As good as that line was, the Jets were able to get past them and put one behind Dean. Paul Nooyen got credit for the goal with the assist going to Arden Robitaille.

This never robbed Dean Macdonell of his cool. He continued to take the sting away from the Jets by making some saves which were ticketed for goals.

The Glens' fifth goal came from Claude Roy when they had a two-man advantage. Assisting were Seguin and St. Pierre.

Paul Seguin made it six for the Glens thanks to the help he received from Frank St. Pierre.

The beginning of the third period started with an interference penalty against Metcalfe's goalie, Luc D'Aoust.

Robert Lajoie made the next two points with the first coming unassisted from the face-off, following which the Jets changed their goalie.

The locals' ninth point was the one off the back of the Jets' netminder, with the 10th coming off the stick of Wayne Cameron, assisted by Charlebois and Poirier.

The Jets began to pour on the steam late in the third period and showed a style of hockey that would have helped the game had it been displayed earlier; but it was too little too late.

However they were able to put one more past Dean when they had a man advantage, credit for the goal going to Daly McLaughlin.

The Glens 11th and final point was made by Claude Roy with assists from Laliberte and Poirier.

With only two minutes remaining in the game, and virtually no way for the Jets to win as they were down 11 to 2, two Metcalfe players, Gary Isenor and Daly McLaughlin, continued to give it that extra effort in a never say quit style of hockey.

Friday night also provided the Glens with a win when they defeated Vanier 2-1 in Vanier.

Alexandria point getters that evening were Paul Seguin and Yvan Desautels with the Vanier single coming from Ron Morrison.

Both wins put the Glens firmly in fourth spot. However they must hold at least this position as this year's play-off series is limited to the top four teams as opposed to all six in past series.

Their next home game is scheduled for Saturday night when they host Vanier at the Sports Palace. Game time 8 p.m.

Peewees in Char-Lan tournament

The Alexandria Peewee team made its presence known in the first game of Saturday's Char-Lan hockey tournament when it defeated Cornwall "B" 7—1.

However, the Peewees were bumped out of the finals when Long Sault downed them two to one.

Scoring for the locals in the first game were Kennedy MacDonald, with four, and singles off the sticks of Joey McRae, Darrell Hay, and Richard Caron.

Their second game saw the lone Alexandria point come from Andy McRae. "This was not from any lack of effort on our part," said Coach Gaetan Giroux, "but more the fault of superb goaltending on the part of Long Sault."

"A special mention should go to Joe McRae," said Coach Giroux. "We have nicknamed him 'Joe the pest' because of his checking. He drives other teams silly, he does it so well."

IN SHE WENT—A fearsome trio were these three Jr. Glens when they made their way to the Metcalfe net Saturday night. Paul Seguin, 14, was able to turn this play into a goal to go along with his previously earned two assists. Claude Roy, far right, scored two goals that night and Yvan Desautels, second from right, was credited with a single. —Staff photo

Stars win second game Pierre Theoret scores five

by Carman MacMillan

On Saturday, January 15 at 11 p.m. at Canterbury High School, the Glengarry Stars played their second league game against the Maple Leaf Oldtimers and again came out on top by a 16 to 5 score.

The Oldtimers just couldn't cope with the young legs and the good passing plays of the Stars. It turned out to be a rough second half but with Gerald Chenier taking all the knocks the rest of the club was scoring all the goals.

The Oldtimers seemed to play out early and decided to knock the Stars around but the young Stars were not intimidated by them and continued to play sound soccer.

Our big line this game was Pierre Theoret who scored five goals and Herbie Maley with one. The other goals were scored by Earl MacLennan 3, Andre Chenier 3, Gerald Chenier 2, John MacPherson and Mark Barlow with one each.

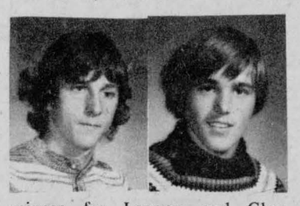
The boys decided to play the walls and pass the ball a lot more. It certainly paid off as the score kept mounting after superb passing and control.

Also, if it wasn't for some outstanding goal tending by Norman Laliberte, the score might have gone higher for the Oldtimers. It just showed that the boys were up and ready for this game and they know now that they have to keep winning to maintain control of first place.

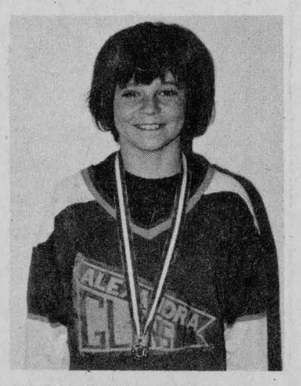
Next game is at Laurier High School at 11 a.m. against the Blue Hawks.

This week's photos are Pierre Theoret and Mark Barlow.

Pierre played soccer in the minors for Laggan and Glen Sandfield and he played last season in the senior league in Glengarry for Lochiel who went to the finals against Pine Grove. Pierre also played the last half of the season in the Ottawa League for the Glengarry Stars. He turned out to be a good goal-scorer there and it seems to be following him into the indoor league. Also he played for the GDHS soccer team who are going to the finals in Smiths Falls in the spring. Pierre also scored five goals on Saturday.



Mark Barlow played for Glen Sandfield minors and played in Glengarry for Glen Sandfield seniors. This is his first season playing for the Stars in the Ottawa league. He, along with Pierre, are two more rookies who will certainly help the club this season. Mark plays defence and plays it well. His great play and ball control will certainly make it easier on our goalies.



BELLEFEUILLE M.V.P.—Maurice Bellefeuille, of the Alexandria Atoms Travelling team was voted most valuable player of his team at last Saturday's Maxville hockey tournament. Maurice scored eight of the 16 points the local team made and was the lone point getter in its 3—0 victory over Maxville. Maurice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bellefeuille of Lochiel St. east.

Gaels on the warpath

by Warren Everson

It has been some time since this column appeared, either holidays or snowstorms seemed to interfere, so perhaps a short summary of the sport action at our school is called for.

In basketball the senior boys have so far recorded a 2 and 4 season and with only two games left they are unfortunately denied a spot in the play-offs.

The junior boys, too, have apparently no chance of post season play, so both teams will play out the remaining games against La Citadelle and Osnabruck, then retire until next season.

The midget boys, however, still have a chance at further competition. Since they do not play formal league games their key competitions will be in tournaments. Last Saturday they attended the first of these, in Char-Lan. After losing the first game to Williamstown, by three points, they went on to defeat General Vanier by one point in overtime to take the second game. The boys should soon be playing in a larger tournament to determine the teams eligible for EOSSA competition.

Girls' Volleyball gets underway this week. The girls play in La Citadelle on Tuesday in the first formal competition. Last weekend, they travelled to Hawkesbury for an exhibition match, the juniors won it easily but the seniors were not so fortunate and were defeated. Coaches Kelly and Cairncross both have plenty of experience and success in this sport and with some hard work and luck they may both be able to produce champion teams.

Outside the sports field the Gaels have been busy, also. With exams coming up soon the pace of activities has slackened, but the first issue of the new student newspaper has been released and the second issue is planned for immediately after the exams. Though the paper is still in its formative stage, the staff is hopeful that it may become an important school activity in the next few months.

N. Lancaster on top losing streak broken

North Lancaster defeated second place Trottier Bros. 3 to 2 Thursday when John Vincent opened the scoring early in the first period.

Leroy Robinson got the second North Lancaster goal and then John Vincent put them ahead 3 to 0.

That goal proved to be the winning one as Trottier Bros. fought back scoring two goals near the end of the game, but a little late.

Guy Secours and Rejean Menard did the scoring for Trottier Bros.

That win broke North Lancaster's 3-game losing streak.

The other games saw B&M Bulls keep their play-off hopes alive as they downed their fourth place rivals Lochiel 3 to 2 in a wide open game.

That win brought the Bulls to within two points of fourth place with only six games remaining in the regular season.

Gilles Delage, Joe Martin and Marcel Lapensee did the scoring for the Bulls. Michel Decoeur replied for the Lochiel team.

Alexandria Moulding just can't seem to put things together. They were walloped by third place Glengarry Hotel 7—0.

Ron Leblanc had a good night, scoring a hat trick. Aurelle Decoeur added two more and Theo Oetelaar and Ron MacDonald got the other two.

Alex Duperron had an easy time in goal registering his seventh shut-out of the year.

Monday night B&M Bulls defeated Trottier Bros. 4—0 but they still remain two points behind fourth place as Lochiel came back from a two-goal deficit to beat third place Glengarry Hotel 3 to 2.

North Lancaster clinched first place with an easy 3—0 victory over Alexandria Moulding.

Butch MacFadden, John Vincent and Gerald Flaro got the markers for the victors.

Gerry Laferriere registered his 17th shut-out in 25 games.

A great battle for play-off positions is ahead as only six points separate second and fifth place with five games remaining in the regular schedule.

Atoms took honors at Maxville

The Alexandria Atoms travelling team won their third tournament championship when they defeated all comers in Maxville and walked off with the "A" series trophy last Saturday.

Maurice Bellefeuille was the star of the series when he scored 8 of the 16 goals totalled by Alexandria.

The team's first game was against Maxville in an impressive 3 to 0 victory with all three points coming off the stick of Maurice.

Their next win was over Char-Lan in a 6 to 4 victory. Scoring for Alexandria were Maurice Bellefeuille with another 3, and singles from Jean-Luc Menard, Yves Poirier, and Luc Cuerrier.

The series winner came in a 7 to 1 victory over St. Isidore with local points being made by Maurice Bellefeuille and Yves Poirier who each got a pair, and single points from Luc Cuerrier, Roch Sabourin and Jean Lauzon.

The previous two championships won by this team were on Dec. 18th when they won the "B" series in Long Sault and on Dec. 28th when they captured the "A" series trophy in Cardinal.

WHEN YOU'RE HOT YOU'RE HOT—Alexandria goaltender, Dean Macdonell, was super hot Saturday night when the Glens defeated the Metcalfe Jets 11—2 at the Sports Palace. Dean didn't do it all alone. Help was given in the defence department by, 25, Norman Laliberte and 17, Luc Poirier. Luc also made his presence known at the other end of the ice scoring two goals and adding four assists.

The Tweens, coached by Agathe Seguin, lost to Gananoque 6—3, and later played Alta Vista with a 9—1 loss. Scorers were Lorraine Grant, 2 goals; Michele Menard, 2 goals; Carole Poirier, 2 assists and Rosalie Rice, 1 assist.

The Petites, coached by Irene Dore and Roger Menard, lost 13—0 to Gloucester. The Belles, coached by Louis Lauzon, were defeated 14—0 by Metcalfe, a top calibre group which included a member of the Eastern Provincial team.

Jean-Yves Jeaurond, President of the Alexandria Ringette Association, reports he is well satisfied with the Alexandria girls' performances since they are so new to the game. He said both the girls and coaches gained in experience and picked up tips on technique and strategy at Gloucester which will encourage them to work harder to improve their game and give them a picture of how top teams function. Mr. Jeaurond said there were no incidents or injuries during the tournament and that everyone enjoyed themselves.

Some interest in ringette has been expressed by girls at Laggan and Vankleek Hill. To assist them, Mr. Jeaurond will hold a clinic on Friday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 at the Laggan Public School rink.

Committees named by counties council

Counties council appointed its committees on Monday, with Ewart Simms, reeve of Mountain Township as chairman of finance. As such he can expect to be warden in 1978.

Next in line is Maxville Reeve Hubert Quart who will serve as chairman of roads and bridges. George Crites, reeve of Roxborough Township, is chairman of the social services committee.

Delbert Link of Winchester Township, was acclaimed chairman of the agriculture, reforestation and planning committee.

The four committee chairmen along with Warden Waldroff and past warden William Cumming will form the executive committee of council.

Council Monday also decided on its appointments for committees and boards on which it enjoys representation.

Emergency Measures committee: Warden Waldroff, Simms, Quart and Crites.

Checking committee: Warden Waldroff, Simms.

Personnel committee: Warden Waldroff and Simms, Quart, Crites, Link, and the chairman of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge and the chairman or vice chairman of St. Lawrence Sanatorium.

Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge: William Dillabough, Albert Faubert, Warden Waldroff.

Osnabruck reeve warden

Reeve Edwin Waldroff of Osnabruck Township was acclaimed as the 127th warden of the United Counties, Monday, at the inaugural meeting of counties council.

Mr. Waldroff, chairman of the 1976 finance committee of council, succeeds William J. Cumming, reeve of Lancaster Village.

Mr. Waldroff's election was merely a formality. It is a long-standing tradition of council to elect the previous year's finance chairman as warden.

To keep things in proper balance, Mr. Waldroff, a Stormont member, was nominated by John Whitteker of Dundas county and seconded by Albert Faubert, of Glengarry.

In a brief inaugural address, the new warden said he will push for uniform planning procedures across the three counties.

He said the four planning areas in the counties should be consolidated into one body to eliminate differences in regulations to obtain land severances.

Warden Waldroff also said he hopes Matilda will join the county library system in 1977. The township is the only member of United Counties that is not a member of the library system.

The warden added that by the fall of 1977, county roads will have metric speed limits.

He mentioned the need for continued co-operation with the city and also pointed out that municipalities within the United Counties will have for the first time the long-desired option of issuing separate school and municipal tax bills this year.

Winner of draw

Winner of the Basket of Cheer drawn by Green Valley Recreation Association was Francois Leroux, RR1, North Lancaster. The Basket was donated by Roy's Garage, Green Valley Ltd.

Hay skips two winners

Sixteen rinks from the area took part in the Alexandria Mixed bonspiel for the Boisvenue trophy at the curling rink over the weekend.

The local rink skipped by Kay Hay was high two-game winner. Playing with him were Bernice McDonald, vice-skip, Robert Labonte and Micheline Ouellette.

Runners-up were the foursome skipped by Bill Wereley, Lancaster.

Coleman MacDonald's Lancaster rink was one-game winner with the runners-up Walter Price's Hawkesbury four.

A rink skipped by Kay Hay also won the Christmas turkey bonspiel at the local rink. With him were Germaine Lalonde, Michel Samson and Estelle Brazeau. Runners-up were the four of Jack Paavila, skip, Sandra Lawson, Claude Ouellette and Susan Ashley.

Winners of chickens were the team of Jerry Adams, skip, Claudette Larocque, Wallie Hope and Jeannine Deschamps. Consolation winners were Hugh A. McDonald, skip, Lise Paquette, Harold MacCrimmon and Germaine Boyer.

Midgets tie and lose

A tie and a loss was the best the Alexandria Midget travelling team could do last weekend when they met both Maxville and Cornwall.

In their Friday night game here against Maxville they were able to hold it to a tie with all three local points being made by Mike Sullivan. However such was not the case Sunday when they hosted Cornwall and lost 9 to 2.

Cornwall was able to get their first 5 points in the first period and the only goals coming from Alexandria were off the sticks of Mike Crack and Mike Sullivan.

Diocese bought

The caption under a picture of the new St. Finnan's rectory in last issue stated the home "was purchased by the parish recently." The purchase actually was made by the Episcopal Corporation of the diocese.

Bantams came close at Iroquois

The Alexandria Bantam Glens, coached by Wayne Crack, were runners-up in the "A" category, at the Iroquois hockey tournament, Saturday.

Winning the first two games they came within a hair's breadth of taking the third game and first place. However, due to a ruling regarding overtime play, they were defeated by Iroquois 6 to 5.

The Bantams had a 4 to 1 lead halfway through the game, but Iroquois turned on the heat and tied the game up, forcing a five-minute overtime period.

At the end of that period the score was still tied and both teams were forced to take their goaltenders out of the game.

This is a ruling imposed by the arenas as they have a responsibility to those who have reserved ice time and must force the end of games.

As a result of Iroquois winning the face-off, the locals lost their chance at the winners' circle when Iroquois made the sudden death point at nine seconds of the second overtime period.

Scoring for Alexandria in that game were Grant Oke, Kieran McCormick, Carl Campbell, Sylvain Gareau and Grant Crack.

Leading the way for Iroquois were B. Armstrong with four goals and K. Brown who tied the game with only three minutes remaining and scored the winning point in an empty net.

Kieran McCormick was awarded a trophy for his outstanding play in the final game and was voted the MVP of his team.

The first game of the series saw the Bantam Glens down Athens 5 to 4 with the locals' tying point going in with only 15 seconds left in the third period, thanks to the efforts of Sylvain Gareau.

Overtime saw the winner scored off the stick of Gilles Depratto, assisted by Kieran McCormick and Carl Campbell.

Also scoring for Alexandria were Grant Crack with a single and Carl Campbell with a pair.

Their second game gave them a victory over Chesterville whom they shut out 4 to 0.

Scoring in that game were Kieran McCormick, Carl Campbell, Jed Barker and Grant Crack.

"I'm very satisfied with the efforts of all the team," said Coach Crack, "They showed good determination, especially after falling behind by three goals in the first game and then making a comeback with a win in overtime."

MOST VALUABLE — Richard King of the Canterbury team of Ottawa, was chosen Most Valuable Player while helping his teammates win the championship in the Chesterville tournament for C's on Saturday, Jan. 15. Richard is the son of former Glengarrians, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel King (nee Jacqueline Bougie).

Tom Kemp died at 89

The death of one of Alexandria's oldest residents, Thomas Henry Kemp, occurred at Cornwall General Hospital on Friday, January 14th, following a brief illness.

He was born in Alexandria on February 2nd, 1887, the son of the late George Kemp and his wife, Harriet Rolland. He had lived here during his lifetime. His wife, the former Nora Bell Leroux predeceased him on April 16th, 1935.

He is survived by four sons and one daughter. They are: Lester and Louis of Alexandria; Leonard of Prescott, Basil and Irene, Mrs. Hacala, both of Montreal. There are nine grandchildren.

The funeral was held to St. Finnan's Cathedral on Monday, January 17th at 2 p.m. where Rev. Leo MacDonell offered the funeral mass. The body was placed in the vault for spring burial in St. Finnan's cemetery.

Pallbearers were three grandsons, Thomas, Robert and Ronnie Kemp; Clifford Austin, Stanley Bradley and Harvey Legault.

Maxville hosted atom tournament

The Maxville and District Minor Hockey Association hosted a very well attended and successful Atom Tournament last Saturday. Teams from St. Isidore, Alexandria, Char-Lan, Cornwall, Brasher Falls, N.Y., Osnabruck Township, and Maxville competed. The Alexandria Atom Glens won the Bonnie Glen Trophy for the "A" division championship. In the first game they won over Maxville Smith Atoms 3—0 which was regarded as no surprise to the Atom Glens since they had solidly beaten the Maxville team earlier this year. In a semi-final game they managed a 6—5 win over Stewart Fourney's Char-Lan team. In the final game the Atom Glens met St. Isidore . . . last year's defending champions . . . outskating and outscoring them 7—1 to win the championship. The MVP medallions in the "A" division went to Maurice Bellefeuille (gold) Alexandria, Marc Charlebois (silver) St. Isidore, and Tommy Pasco (bronze) Char-Lan.

Colbourne's Restaurant's "B" Championship Trophy was won for the second year in a row by the Tri-Town Atoms of Brasher Falls, N.Y. They lost their first game 5—3 to St. Isidore, but went on to win the "B" semi-finals 3—2 over Cornwall Atom B Travelling team, and the "B" final against Osnabruck Township by a score of 2—1. The MVP medallions went to Steve Yandoh of Tri-Town (gold), Tim Brownlee of Osnabruck (silver) and two bronze, to Marc Halle and Steven Norman.

Allard had landed on the farm of Roy Barton, lot 9-8th concession of West Hawkesbury, for a visit, according to the police report. In attempting a take-off, a ski was lost and the pilot lost control. The 1970 Champion Citadria suffered damage of $5,000 to undercarriage, fuselage and left wing.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

Operation "Push" (People United to Save Humanity) has launched a campaign against songs with suggestive lyrics—"sex rock" as they are more commonly called.

Operation Push is a Chicago-based civil rights organization conceived by its national president, Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, as part of his program for excellence in education.

The director of communications for Operation Push, Rev. Frank E. Watkins describes Rev. Jackson as "Probably the most powerful black spokesman in America."

Six conferences are being scheduled across the U.S. between January and September which will involve record company executives, program directors for radio stations and Federal Communications representatives. The sessions will focus on the ethical basis of the music industry.

A Canadian campaign will be organized if enough concerned groups feel the American program is worth promoting.

Rev. Watkins explains the organization will attempt to ban "Irresponsible" and "hedonistic" songs—the type that advocate that pleasure is the only good and proper goal of moral behavior; songs that say "Do whatever you want, whatever you feel like," songs that offer sex without responsibility.

Operation Push is totally opposed to government censorship of the media but feels that since radio and TV are such powerful instruments for transmitting moral values, these media should assume the ethical responsibility which goes along with that power.

I remember back some years ago when the, "Don McNeil and his Breakfast Club" program was a feature of early morning radio. He refused to play the song "Sixteen Tons"—which contained lines such as "Sixteen tons and what do you get?—another day older and deeper in debt."

It had a catchy rhythm and was highly popular at the time but McNeil would not use the recording because he felt it promoted a communist theme designed to spread discontent among the working class and this he felt would be detrimental to American society as a whole.

Here was a man who stood by his principles without excuse that he had to cater to some mythical public. There must be more people like this around today in radio and TV and perhaps it is time a concerned public called or wrote them to advise accordingly.

One song that really roused my ire was "The Harper Valley PTA." Here was a song that ridiculed an organization that tried to establish liaison between teacher, parent and pupil, a very necessary communication in our society. It pictured this very sincere organization as a gossip-mongering group of immoral busybodies.

PTA groups across the country just about disintegrated overnight.

Since that time, parents have been crying they don't know what is going on in schools. Teachers have been deploring the lack of communication with parents. The children bore the brunt of the loss in the relationship.

Only now are PTA's being revived. But they are being called school committees. Do you wonder why?

The power of a song is probably one of the most effective means of stirring a whole population. We could go back in history and remember the results of "La Marseillaise" in France or "John Brown's Body" and Yankee Doodle" in American history. We won't get into "Bonnie Prince Charlie" and the Irish songs because that is enough for more than one series of books.

Look what "Convoy" and "Teddy Bear" did for the CB radio trade in the past year.

A dozen or so years ago I clipped a column of one of Canada's best known newspapermen, Gregory Clark. I believe it is from the "Family Herald" and bears more truth today than it did when it was written because we have seen what has happened to magazines, movies and songs since that time. It reads:

"If I were a Communist, I would get the bosses in Moscow to let me have $10,000,000 a year. The first thing I would do would be to most discreetly subsidize the publishers of dirty magazines and smutty paperbacks so they could afford to employ the brightest minds in the business. I would found recording companies devoted to the production of the wildest and goofiest jazz. Doing a scientific research job on each city, I would seek out the sleaziest streets with the tawdriest night clubs and joints, and see to it that the slimiest of them never wanted for a little support, and a kind thought from the aldermen.

Hoodlums, dope peddlers and gamblers would never want for the best legal talent whenever they got into trouble. Wherever the teen-age problem boiled up the hottest, I would lend generous support to those social service agencies and personalities who could express most eloquently the solicitude of society for these misguided victims of their environment.

Inside of ten years I could have all the old standards so beautifully undermined that a frightened and desperate populace would welcome, nay, invite the iron discipline of Communism, and not a shot fired."

More than ten years have passed since Gregory Clark wrote these paragraphs. A very significant change has taken place.

Who is going to do something about it? Does anybody have any ideas—local municipal councils, local service clubs, women's groups, church committees, school boards, or private individuals?

Or better still, youth groups, because it is mainly at you wonderful young people this subversion is aimed. To you who cry "Peace," remember it may take a war to keep it; the battle of the pen, the telephone, the protest march, the boycott.

Would appreciate hearing from anyone, by letter, phone or otherwise.

ALEXANDRIA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1977

SECOND SECTION

Big job well done

The winter's first big storm dumped almost a foot of wind driven snow on town and county Monday of last week and the fast, efficient job of snow removal that came on the heels of the storm is worthy of commendation. Road crews lost no time in opening highways and secondary roads that had been closed to traffic Monday afternoon and by midweek winter driving conditions were again excellent.

But it is the Alexandria street program that we wish to particularly commend, not only for the work crew's response to that storm but for the high level of road and walk maintenance that citizens may come to take for granted. We doubt any other town or city in Ontario can compare with Alexandria in snow removal operations and the credit must be shared by an enlightened town council and the roads department staff under Superintendent Jean Guy Levert.

Council has acquired sophisticated equipment, especially the sidewalk plow, and workmen are using it effectively to maintain excellent walking conditions right across town.

Citizens must have appreciated the fast clean up that followed last week's storm. The winds died early Monday evening and within the hour workmen were on the job clearing the walks and removing snow from Main Street. By noon Tuesday the connecting links were almost free of snow and work continued on all the other streets and walks in town. There had been little snow prior to Monday's storm and it appeared as though the work crew was attacking the snowpiles with unusual energy and fervor.

Much of the snow removal equipment is now owned by the municipality and the new plow attachment on the Bombardier is doing a particularly fine job of keeping the sidewalks almost completely free of snow.

There will be other storms before spring and it is probable the bill for snow removal will again be a costly item on our tax rates. It is an expenditure though, that most citizens must view with more equanimity than many other council bills.

Our snow removal program is in good hands and Mr. Levert and his workers are to be congratulated on a job well done.

At least we escaped paralysis

More than a month after we had been vaccinated we have finally shaken off the after-effects of the swine flu vaccine. What's left is an uneasy feeling it was all for naught. We have been protected against a swine flu epidemic that may have been but a figment of someone's imagination or, worse, a downright hoax.

Few health matters in recent years created more indecision and controversy than the recent swine flu scare.

This applied to health authorities as well as the general public because there were doctors who refused to take the shot. The vaccination program now has been abandoned for different reasons and we hear charges that the whole deal was a gigantic hoax.

This comes particularly from the U.S. where Dr. J. Anthony Morris, formerly the government's top expert on vaccines, says "swine flu is not contagious and not a killer. The vaccine is worthless. There's no evidence that it will protect you against swine flu because there have been no cases to test it against."

The U.S. government also is accused of not giving the true facts as to deaths resulting from the vaccination. Instead of admitting to only 41 it is claimed that at least 113 people died shortly after getting their shots and more may have been unreported.

These facts plus the report there are persons in a London hospital suffering from paralysis as a result of the inoculation must make more than 1,000 persons in West Elgin who had the shots wonder if they've been "taken", suggests an editorial in the Dutton Advance.

It does look as if someone may have panicked and that insufficient investigation resulted. Some persons who were supposed to have swine flu were found to have only the ordinary variety—which, of course, is no joke.

The regrettable part of the whole deal is that health authorities may have lost some of their credibility. In future, there could be a similar "scare" and people who should be vaccinated will be reluctant or refuse to do so because of memories of the swine flu program.

The most recent revelation, that one third of the 10-million doses of the monovalent vaccine ordered was useless, is an unwelcome follow-up on a program that probably never should have been embarked on. We probably will never learn how many millions of dollars were wasted by the federal health department but we have the satisfaction of knowing we escaped paralysis from the vaccine.

Curing the consumer binge

Governments, like people, learn as they grow older. During the last eight years, the present one has learned a number of things the hard way—for us, writes Kenneth McDonald in his column "Ottawa and Small Business."

In 1969 it recognized the dangers of inflation. It then applied corrective measures, by holding wage gains to productivity increases, by trimming the money supply to the rate of real production, and by putting a lid on civil service growth.

The measures were right, for the long term. In the short run, however, they caused unemployment. The government was severely criticized by Opposition members and by the press. It retreated. The pressure was relaxed. The money tap was turned on again.

Deficit spending—living on borrowed money—created an artificial feeling of affluence. Everyone wanted more. The country went on a consumption binge.

But the country was consuming more than it produced. Imports ballooned. So did trade deficits. So did borrowing abroad to cover them. Canada's costs moved out of line. Exports suffered.

The period was characterized by the process known as "fine tuning"—short term changes in fiscal policy (tax adjustments, "incentive" programs, etc.) and in monetary policy (speeding up or slowing down the supply of money in circulation).

The paradox is that fine tuning, which is a prime example of central government "planning" destroys business confidence, because businessmen and investors don't know what to expect from one year to the next.

In its response to the debate on future public policies, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business has recommended a dual approach: sound, long-term, fiscal and monetary policy to control inflation; and a flexible small firms policy to create the necessary employment and regional development.

The hardest task the government faces is the short-term political problem of returning to fiscal and monetary responsibility, which is fundamental to long-term recovery. It will be accused again of heartlessness, of throwing people out of work, of cutting back on "essential" programs.

But that's the point. Many programs are not essential. They were spawned during the national binge and Canadians can't afford them any more. Already, with excessive social spending and too many imports, we're a long way down the British road. We must produce more of what we consume and export more goods and services to pay for imports.

It's not easy, as the British have discovered, but there's no other way.

Large classes more beneficial

(The Dutton Advance)

Size of classes continues to be one of the main stumbling blocks in salary negotiations between teachers and boards of education.

Teachers claim they can get better results with smaller classes. Trustees, on the other hand, realize that larger classes mean fewer teachers and thus a saving to the taxpayers.

In view of this difference of opinion it is interesting to learn that a survey conducted by the Economic Council of Canada reveals the best class size seems to be 30 to 40 students. This is in line with the trustees' rather than the teachers' preference.

Three researchers found increasing class size does not slow the students' achievement. Instead, students help other students with their work and this may be why smaller classes are not as efficient as larger classes.

We know some teachers will disagree with the researchers' findings. On the other hand, they will be approved by many older people who graduated from one-room schools where teachers taught large classes composed of all grades.

There should be no disagreement, however, on one aspect of the Economic Council's survey report. It stated that the most important influence on a students' performance still is his intelligence and family background.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

NEVER FIRED

Cornwall

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Some ten years ago, Harold L. Fickett enunciated in book form his Peter Principle according to which an employee is promoted because he is efficient. If still efficient in his new job, he will be promoted again for the same reason, and so on up the ladder, until he reaches the place where he is inefficient. Because he is not efficient, he will not be promoted and will stay there for the rest of his working life. Fickett called this "seeking one's level of inefficiency."

On the Dec. 9/76, Canada A.M. show, Mr. Douglas Hartle, teacher of Economics at Toronto University and formerly with the Federal Treasury Board debunked the above theory. He stated that in Government service it is so legalistically difficult if not completely impossible to fire an inefficient employee, that the Department Head often recommends him for promotion as the only method of getting rid of him! Thus the worker does not stop at his "level of inefficiency"; he just keeps "Rolling on."

Mr. Fickett, of course, wrote his paperback with tongue in cheek. Mr. Hartle was dead serious. It all goes to show that truth can be stranger than fiction.

One of our worst hates, that ill-used word "hopefully," is the latest pop word but it won't last. We get that assurance from Vancouver Columnist Eric Nicol who shares our aversion for what he sees as a stallism.

A stallism, he explains, is a preliminary noise, voiced to give the speaker time to think of a reply that won't incriminate him. Till recently this function was served by "actually" and still earlier by a variety of sounds, of which "duhhh" was the most dependable.

Hopefully serves as a slow spit of tobacco juice, without staining the floor, observes Mr. Nicol; and it does nothing for our national self-assurance. He sees it pathetic and the columnist suggests bold statements of the past would not have been improved by use of this errant adverb. He instances:

"Hopefully, the die is cast."

"England expects every man, hopefully, to do his duty."

"Hopefully, give me liberty or give me death."

"Damn the torpedoes and full speed, hopefully, ahead."

Hopefully, Mr. Nicol is prophesying correctly when he ordains a quick death for "hopefully." With it may go such monstrosities as "finalize" and "a point in time.

The only points in time are the hands of the clock.

PROVEN BENEFIT

We're gradually learning to adjust the seat belt before setting out on a car drive but we haven't yet reached the high level of those drivers who automatically buckle themselves in each time they enter a car. We're a bit too lazy to buckle up when our short drive won't take us out of town but someday we may be sorry. Accidents happen in towns, too.

These thoughts on seat belts were triggered by a news release from the Ontario Ministry of Transportation evidencing the safety potential of the harness. In the first nine months of mandatory seat belt law, 808 drivers and passengers were killed in traffic accidents, down from 937 killed in the same period one year earlier. That's a saving of 14 per cent and there was also a decline in the number injured of 17 per cent. That adds up to almost ten thousand fewer injuries among car occupants.

Even more interesting, of those 808 who died, 464 were drivers and of these 110 were known to be killed while wearing seat belts. Look at it this way, less than 24 per cent of drivers killed in that period were known to be wearing the safety belts at the time of death. Another 56.5 per cent were known to be not hooked up and details were lacking in the other instances.

If you're not worried about your own life, seat belts still are serving a purpose when they save us the expense of treating 10,000 injured in our publicly-funded hospitals.

If you're still not buckling up, what's holding you back?

CIVIL "SERVICE"

Do you remember back in the good old days when there was such a thing as service from government departments?

Now, however, the feeling frequently seems to be "we'll serve you at our convenience," suggests an editorial in the Renfrew Mercury.

One case in point is the closing of the post office Monday and Tuesday of last week. We were expecting Monday since it was the official Boxing Day holiday, but what holiday fell on Dec. 28?

I don't know how many other businesses in town found this an inconvenience but it really hurt the newspapers to have our access to the mails closed off for four consecutive dasy prior to publication.

But the post office is only one of price of consumer goods. The latest item to be brought to our attention is coffee. Floods, droughts, and frosts in the producing areas seem to be only partly to blame. Energy costs, speculation, and manipulation in the commodity market are also affecting prices.

I'd like to share with your readers some of my observations and forecasts about prices, demand, and market trends for a wide variety of consumer goods.

Food is likely to be a homemaker's primary concern. Here are my comments on this field: soda biscuits and potato chips are always in crisp demand; the milk market will continue to be fluid; there are considerable spreads in the butter, margerine, jam, and marmalade; jello will be firm, but candy floss is a more sticky matter; the demand for ice cream seems to be frozen; stewing meat continues to simmer. Bakers report that bread will continue to rise, except for specialized items, such as the Jewish Passover variety.

Housing is another basic item in each family's budget. Foundations are supposed to be steady, but wells are still going way down. I hear that there is something underfoot in the carpetting industry. Fortunately, roofing products seem to have reached the top.

Winter is hard upon us now, so let me offer some observations on items related to that season. Ice fishermen along the St. Lawrence River report few sales for their catch. (Who in their right mind would buy ice in the middle of the winter?) There are huge declines in alpine skiing activity, but cross-country skiing seems to be characterized by a variety of more moderate ups and dowhs. Tobogganing seems to be in a down-hill condition. The township's road graders continue to scrape along. A definite thaw is reported by purchasers of rock salt. There was a considerable plummet in mercury recently, but it is expected to begin a gradual climb in a few months.

Recreation activities of a more general nature are also likely to be of interest to the consumer. Gambling is considered to be a dicey matter, but accommodations for riding horses are stable. Depending on our weather, kites and sailplanes may soar. Yachtsmen will be interested to learn that channel markers will certainly be buoyed up in time for the opening of the next boating season. Fireworks have always been an explosive matter, and are sure to skyrocket before the end of May (July fourth, for you American readers). It is reported that the Anti-Inflation Board will not interfere with matters concerning children's balloons and campers' air mattresses. Blind readers say that braile publications are still a definitely touchy matter.

There is a variety of other items I would like to briefly comment upon. Gardners should note that morning glories are sure to climb, but roses are a more thorny matter. The pornography trade seems to have reached the bottom. Similarly, strapless brassieres continue to plunge, with considerable sagging in some situations. I have had little experience in the rather deep matter of speleology, but experts continue to state that stalagmites have always gone up, and stalactites have always gone down, regardless of all other economic activity. The Xerox Corporation hopes to duplicate most of last year's successes. Soft drink bottle manufacturers are beginning to see many returns from their production efforts.

I hope these observations will be of help to you in planning your next shopping trip, or in deciding what field to invest your money. (We have a field right in front of our house that you are welcome to use for that purpose.)

Oh yes! I almost forgot to make mention of the cost of postage stamps. I'm sure I'll be licking that problem just as soon as I complete this letter.

ROXBOROUGH'S CONTRIBUTION TO INFLATION

Maxville, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

After reading the reports of the various inaugural meetings of council in the Chesterville Record of January 12th, I was amused and shocked to find that Roxborough Township Council's only business was "Pay Raises and Appointments" while other municipalities considered benefits and services to their respective regions.

At a time when we read so much about inflation and restraint I find it irresponsible for our council to award such large increases.

In past years being a member of council was considered as a service to your municipality, with a small honorarium for the service rendered, today it becomes a salaried position with an annual salary increase at the taxpayers' expense.

How could three new councillors who never attended a council meeting previously, approve a salary increase to themselves of $250 each, per year; $455 to Dep.-Reeve and $465 to the Reeve? Could they have been brain washed?

What a tribute to the three men who previously held office longer than any member of present council.

Convention Fees were also increased by $100; this should cover increased cost of a cup of coffee or other refreshments.

We hear plenty about the "Fat Cats" in Ottawa but believe me, they're not all on Parliament Hill. Roxborough Council can shake hands with the United Counties Council of Prescott and Russell as referred to by the Rambling Reporter in the Glengarry News of January 13th.

the government departments that treats people in this way. How often have you stood in line for one thing or another at a government office, wasting hours of your valuable time as you are shunted from the front of one line to the back of another, just to fill out a few forms that keep the civil servants busy.

And then, when the government does decide to cut back on civil servants, where do they cut from? Not the administrative end, not the promotion departments. Instead they cut back on the low-seniority personnel, the girls at the end of the line you wait at.

And as a result there is one extremely long line of taxpayers rather than three short ones.

Perhaps the effective way to cut back would be to simplify the maze of forms and papers that feeds the civil service. Then it wouldn't be so difficult to get through those lines, and at the same time there wouldn't be a need for so many people to process those forms.

An application is to be made to the Ontario government at the next session for an act to incorporate. The Glengarry & Stormont Railway Company with power to construct and operate a line of railway from a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway to the eastern border of Glengarry in Lancaster township to the Town of Cornwall.—With a view of perfecting themselves in the Terpsichorean art, a number of our young people contemplate having a professor from Montreal, in the near future, open a class here.—The Eastern Pipe and Construction Company have several big propositions under consideration, and prospects for 1912 for this our latest industry seem bright.

EIGHTY YEARS AGO

As striking evidence of the lawabiding people who inhabit the United Counties, it is pointed out that for three months prior to the incarceration of Mary Dupont, not a single inmate had occupied the counties goal at Cornwall.—Glen Robertson has, in the person of John McDonald (Turner), a 78-year-old resident of whom they may be proud. On Thursday of last week, Mr. McDonald walked from Glen Robertson to Alexandria on the CA Railway tracks, a distance of eight miles, without showing the slightest signs of fatigue.—B. The most important time of all to save electricity.

The demand for electricity in Ontario reaches its peak early in the evening on cold winter weekdays.

Between 4 and 7, everyone's asking for electricity. Many factories, stores and offices are still open. Street lights are on. The kids are home from school, parents home from work, evening meals are being prepared. And the heating system has to work harder. It all adds up.

Demands for electricity have been increasing at a pace that can no longer be met. The rate of growth must be reduced.

You can help by avoiding the big jobs like baking, washing and drying between 4 and 7. Make sure that unused lights, TVs and appliances are off. Take it easy on the hot water.

Please do all you can to save electricity.

Rev. Thompson opened with a Scripture reading and a prayer. The secretary, Arnold MacRae read the minutes. John A. Fraser gave the financial report and submitted his resignation as treasurer, an office he has held for about 50 years. The post is yet to be filled.

All the other officers have agreed to continue on in their present posts this year. The meeting closed in prayer and the company adjourned to the dining room where a lovely buffet lunch had been prepared by Mrs. Thompson.

D. N. MacLeod died at 68

Donald Norman MacLeod died suddenly at the Glengarry Memorial Hospital in Alexandria, on January 6, at the age of 68. He had been in good health until a few days before his passing.

He was born at Glen Norman, the son of the late Roderick Donald MacLeod and Catherine Sarah Morrison. He operated a farm east of Laggan for many years until he took up carpentry. For several years afterwards, he worked in Northern and Western Canada until he retired to the old homestead at Laggan. He remained single.

He is survived by his three sisters: Christine (Mrs. George Jack of Lachine); Mary M. (Mrs. Duncan Ross of Valleyfield); and Martha McLeod of Montreal. He was predeceased by another sister Catherine (Mrs. J. W. MacGillivray).

The funeral was held at the Morris Funeral Home on Saturday, January 8, with Rev. J. Forbes officiating. He will be buried at St. Andrew's Church, Dalhousie Mills, in the spring. The family appreciated the large turnout of friends at the service, regarding it as a tribute to the memory of a quiet, sincere man.

Indian village type project planned for Morrisburg area

At the final meeting of the year in Morrisburg the Directors of the Seaway Valley Tourist Council discussed the newest upcoming attraction in this area being created just east of the Upper Canada Golf Club on scenic Heritage Highway #2.

It will be an Indian Village type project to be called "The Land of Nenibush" a name that means Indian village and trading post. It will be an authentic depiction of Indian life including three long houses, a craft house where many different crafts will be made and sold, a restaurant, and an entertainment area. The staff of ten will increase to 40 as the project is fully finished. It is expected to open by June 1st, 1977, with a parking lot for 300 cars. The complete tour and visit will be around four hours long. Work is well underway and passersby can see a long cedar fence already in place.

This year saw the completion of an $18,500 Theatre Study for the live stage play "A Day to Remember" by George Blackburn. This grant was received by the Tourist Council from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation to study the feasibility of staging this play annually in the vicinity of Upper Canada Village. The project has advanced to the point that a non-profit organization has been formed by local businessmen to present a trial-run of "A Day to Remember" for a year or two in a tent-theatre similar to the first years of the now famous Stratford Theatre. Arrangements are underway for the use of land space adjacent to Upper Canada Village on Upper Canada Road. The production in addition to bringing and holding visitors here longer, will provide summer-long jobs for upwards of 40 local musicians, amateur actors and actresses, stage hands, etc.

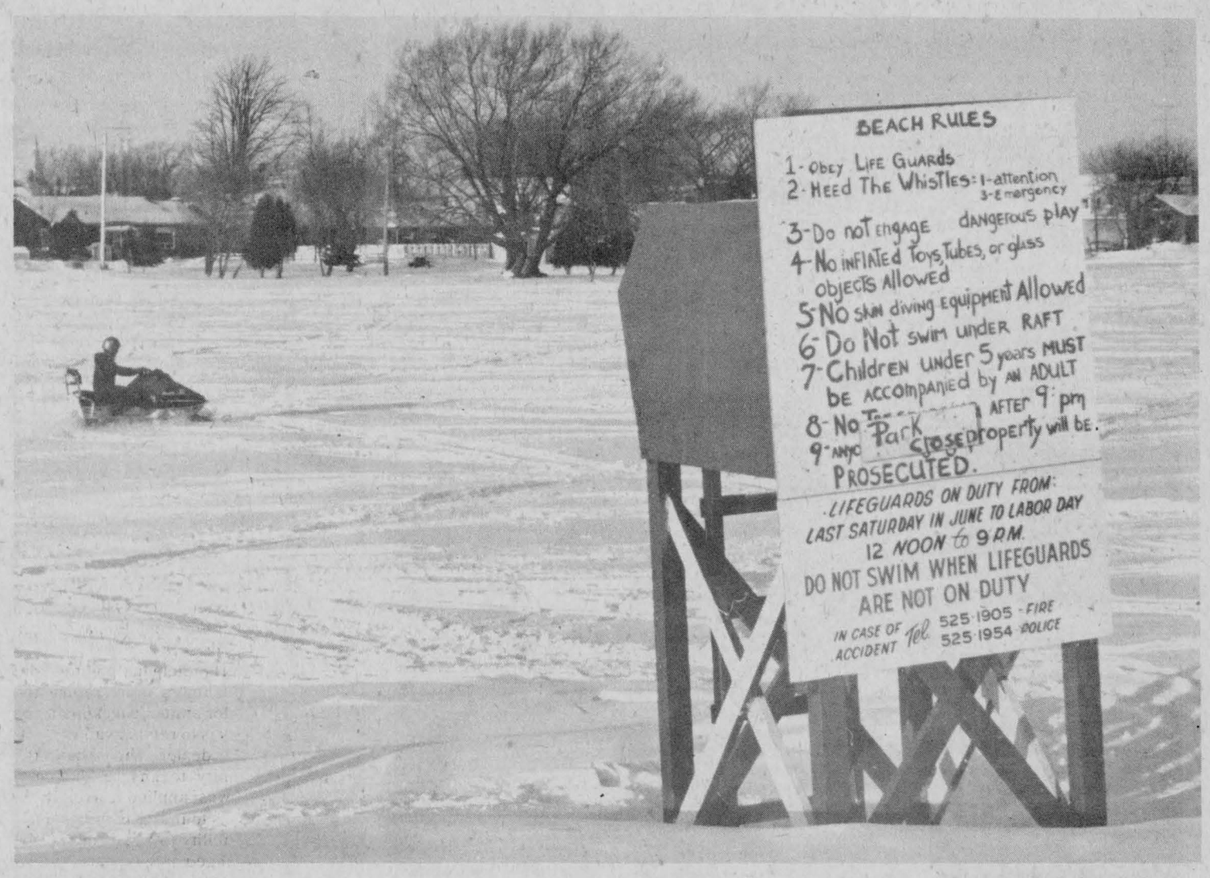
Other new attractions in Seaway Valley in 1976 were the opening of Auto Wonderland, an antique car museum just west of Upper Canada Village, and the Blockhouse Museum at Merrickville. This was the first season for the "Border Queen" boat tours located near the new Civic Complex in Cornwall. Osnabruck Tropical Gardens birds and fish attraction near Hoople's Creek is now open.

The Tourist Council was instrumental in assisting the promotion of the first Annual Applefest in Morrisburg paying tribute to the birthplace of the world's first McIntosh Red Apple tree at Dundela.

Another $1,500 went to the Town of Prescott to assist in their ever-growing summer attraction, the Prescott Military Pageant.

Through the spadework and the financial and physical efforts of the Tourist Council a local firm (Eastern Chemicals and Paper) now has for sale beautiful full-color Seaway Valley promotional placemats which clearly advertise our many attractions on quality paper.

The Seaway Valley Tourist Council is supported by per capita grants from the Counties of Grenville, Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry and the Town of Prescott and City of Cornwall. The 15 appointed directors meet monthly in the Morrisburg Civic Centre at 2 p.m. on the third Wednesday. Anyone interested in tourism may attend these open meetings. The President is A. C. Casselman of Cardinal, with vice-presidents Earl Baker of Morrisburg and A. D. D. MacDonald of South Lancaster. Marketing chairman and general-secretary is Robert Eadie of Cornwall.



NO SWIMMING—Members of the Alexandria Snowmobile Club have been ignoring the rules recently with the exception of one: "Number six, Do not swim under raft." However they have been making full use of both the lake and their club facilities located at Island Park.

Never missed a day's work

At the end of this month, Herb Perry, of Bell Canada's cable repair division will complete 34 years' service and graduate to retirement.

In preparing a suitable farewell, somebody pulled his work record and made an amazing discovery. In 34 years, Mr. Perry has not missed a single day's work.

A native of Peveril in the Dalhousie area, Herb is married and has one daughter. He now resides at Ottawa.

Winter driving tips

Following last week's blizzard, and numerous requests for police to attend minor accidents, Alexandria Police Chief Sylvio Cleroux felt he may be able to help reduce future accidents and troublesome situations by passing along the following winter driving tips.

1. Pack your trunk for emergencies. A shovel, bag of sand and tire chains could save a two truck bill.
2. Get off to a good start. Slow and easy does it. On packed snow or ice, start in second gear with manual shift, in drive with automatic. Start gently and gradually. In deep snow, turn your wheels a few times to clear a space, then straighten them and start gently.
3. As soon as traffic permits, try your steering, gas and brakes to get the feel of the road.
4. Watch out for temperature changes. Ice is more slippery near the melting point than it is at lower temperatures.
5. Keep a bigger cushion of safety. Stopping takes longer on winter roads. Allow more stopping room between cars.
6. If you have to stop in a hurry, pump the brakes. Jamming them on can lock the wheels and cause a skid.
7. If your car starts to skid, turn the front wheels in the direction the back end is swinging.
8. Remember bridges ice first when the temperature drops, so be extra careful on them. And watch out for shady spots where ice may stay longer after the sun has dried the rest of the road.

To remove dead elms along Raisin River

A program to relieve the Raisin River of dead elms will start at Lancaster early this year and as Art Chalk, resource manager of the Raisin Region Conservation Authority puts it, "we'll see how far upstream $13,269 takes us."

Mr. Chalk said the authority sought $79,000 for the tree-cutting project and renovations to the authority's warehouse. But the plan is going to have to be revamped.

The federal government Local Initiatives Program (LIP) announced the authority would receive $13,269.

Mr. Chalk said removal of dead elms will obviously not go as far as planned.

The trees, he said, have become a nuisance. "They not only fall into the river and create ice-jamming problems, but take a lot of the bank with them, causing erosion."

The resource manager doubts if the work on the warehouse will be touched with the limited funds.

"The money will be well used," he said.

Mr. Chalk said work is progressing slowly at another authority project, the Grey's Creek Conservation area at the eastern entrance of Cornwall on Highway 2.

He said the next step is piling for dock facilities and they are waiting for the required ice thickness.

"We hope to have something ready for next summer," he said.

This summer, dredging was completed from the basin to the St. Lawrence River.

Mr. Clark said he doesn't know if the authority will approve covered facilities at the dock.

The authority plans to have the docking facilities manned and he said this would reduce the possibility of items being stolen from boats.

When facilities become available, boathouses on the south side of Highway 2 at Grey's Creek are scheduled to be removed.

Warranty offered consumers

Consumers will be offered a new uniform rust protection warranty, Ontario consumer minister Sidney Handleman has announced.

Mr. Handleman said the warranty had been developed through the combined efforts of the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations and the Ontario and Toronto automobile associations.

"The warranty will apply for a period of five years or 50,000 miles," the minister said. "Consumers who purchase rust protection from a participating dealer are guaranteed that the underbody, frame and all enclosed parts of the vehicle have been treated correctly."

Mr. Handleman pointed out that consumers must return the vehicle for annual checkups if the warranty is to remain valid.

"The dealer then has the opportunity to ensure the compound was applied correctly. If the rust is found, it is the dealer's responsibility to repair or replace the damaged area or part, free of charge, even if the value of the repair exceeds the cost of the original rust protection job."

Under the warranty, dealers are totally responsible even if the compound used was supplied by an outside agency. They are also responsible if they refer customers to an independent rust protection company and receive remuneration.

In the past, Mr. Handleman said, dealers would not offer any warranty except that of the compound supplier. "These documents often contained so many loopholes as to be virtually useless.

"If the consumer took a rusting car back to the original dealer who had applied the compound, the dealer's excuse often was that the fault lay in the supplier's material. If the supplier was confronted, the problem was blamed on shoddy application by the dealer."

The minister said either way the consumer was caught in the middle. "We started receiving an increasing number of complaints and a thorough investigation of the rust protection business was started."

The result was the new standard warranty and an agreement from the industry to remove the term "rust-proofing" from all advertising material.

"The term tends to mislead consumers," Mr. Handleman said. "Rust-inhibiting compounds may offer several years of protection but they do not provide absolute rust-proofing."

The ministry and the associations have requested that all dealers offer the warranty to their customers.

Warranties provided by suppliers may be offered as well, as long as the basic consumer rights in the standard warranty are not diminished by disclaimers or hidden phrases.

"This new warranty will provide consumers with reasonable protection and ensure that dealers live up to their responsibilities in the rust protection field."

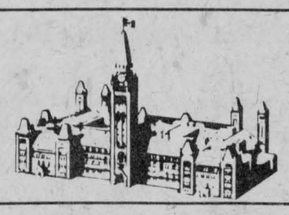
OTTAWA and Small Business



Quebec shares our problems

By KENNETH McDONALD

Jacques Parizeau, the new Quebec Minister of Finance, has indicated a policy direction which other provinces – and Ottawa – might well copy.

• • •

Deploring the absorption of scarce capital by grandiose schemes, he declared the new government's intention to encourage small and medium-size businesses which it regards as a "dynamic force".

• • •

This illustrates the true meaning of the recent Quebec election result. Quebec may be a province unlike the others for reasons of language and tradition. But it's one very much like the others in terms of an inflated and under-productive economy.

• • •

Too great a proportion of resources in the non-productive government sector, too much power in the hands of politically-oriented labour unions, too much power in the Big Government-Big Business conduit – Quebec's problems are different only in degree from the rest of Canada's.

• • •

There is a danger that politicians and other Canadians may misinterpret the Quebec situation as heralding a transfer of power from Ottawa to the provinces.

• • •

On the contrary, the dynamics of decentralization are to redress the balance of a democratic system which has become weighed down far too much on the side of big cities and big institutions. Not a redistribution of powers between levels of government, but a lessening of government power at all levels. In fact, the provincial governments are greater centralists than the federal government.

• • •

Instead of using the level of its taxing power to force the provinces into extravagant programs, Ottawa should provide, through the tax system, the incentive for individuals to invest in the new ventures without which no economy can retain vitality.

• • •

In a brief to Ottawa, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business has recommended increasing the loan ceiling under the Small Business Loans Act from $50,000 to $150,000, and permitting loans to be used for operating funds as well as the purchase of buildings and machinery.

• • •

Provincial tax incentives to encourage local businesses and individuals to invest in new local enterprises are restricted by the size of the provincial tax base. Intelligent use of the federal taxing power, by stimulating the "dynamic force" of owner-managed enterprise, is the secret weapon that will strengthen the whole country and maintain rational unity.

Reeve voices protests at inaugural meeting

Ontario should implement one education system rather than the present two, Reeve Adrian Gadbois suggested at the inaugural meeting of Charlottenburgh Township Council.

Two systems, he charged in his inaugural speech, are "only separating people and tearing them apart" instead of bringing them together.

"I know I am opening up all kinds of worms from these remarks," he admitted. "It is high time we should get down to basics as far as our education systems are concerned."

Reeve Gadbois pointed out he is not trying to stir up a controversy. "This is a very important issue and people should start talking, thinking and debating this matter."

"I know many people who are not really happy with the two systems of education. The system is not working out the way the province wanted. People are hesitant in saying anything about the systems," the often-controversial reeve said.

Mr. Gadbois, re-elected to his fourth term in the Dec. 6 municipal election, said some separate school teachers have admitted to him they are against the two systems.

"There is no doubt people are being separated," he told the news media shortly after the inaugural speech. "It is not like in the past when people were knit together."

The reeve said it is possible if they had only one system of education, the cost of education would go down. At the moment, he continued, education tops the provincial budget and is only number two to health.

Reeve Gadbois is also opposed to the public holiday the federal government is proposing for February.

Urging Ottawa not to legislate another holiday, Mr. Gadbois suggested a new holiday is not warranted at this time when we are trying very hard to curb inflation.

The Ottawa government is proposing to declare the third Monday in February a public holiday. The new holiday, if eventually approved, will be called Heritage Day.

Mr. Gadbois requested his council to send a resolution to the Liberal government urging them not to consider adding another public holiday this year. Council took no action on the suggestion.

Stormont SCIA draw future plans

Directors of the Stormont Soil and Crop Improvement Association recently elected Morris Shaver, Ingleside, President; Murray Manley, Berwick, Vice President; D. C. Miller, Cornwall, Secretary-Treasurer. Harry Pollock, Lunenburg and Barry Armstrong, Crysler, were again appointed auditors. Hugh Carruthers was elected to serve as a one-year director for Finch Township.

Murray Manley, who is presently Chairman of the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association was elected the County's representative.

The EOSCIA Crop Conference was held at the Nepean Sportsplex on Tuesday, January 18th. Theme of the Conference was "Managing The Land."

President Shaver solicited the co-operation of all the Township Directors to be actively involved in their organization. County Soil and Crop Improvement Associations are one of the most 'grass root' organizations that are available to farm people. He challenged Directors to increase the Association membership. In past years, the Stormont Soil and Crop Improvement Association has had 300-400 members.

The directors drew up project plans for the coming season. These include testing 2,300 heat unit corn hybrids, soybeans, spring wheat, winter wheat, forage establishment and the utilization of high moisture ground ear corn.
