CRUISING ROUND THE LAKEFRONT—The upsurging interest in canoeing currently sweeping the country prompted GDHS teachers to instruct their students in the rudiments during Phys Ed period. Seen here are Stanley Fraser with his Grade 12 students who learn the safety rules over a two week period. Jean Yves Jeaurond is also instructing the Grade 10 occupations group in the same procedure on the Alexandria lake. GDHS has purchased three canoes and six are rented from a marina.

Counties Council Discussed Alternative Plans For Restructuring But Came To No Decision

Representation of the various municipalities at Counties Council, possible amalgamations of several municipalities and how to deal with the threat of regional government occupied much of the attention of counties councillors when they met in finance committee Monday morning.

An executive committee, headed by Warden Gerard Massie, outlined some of the alternative proposals the council can take under the law.

One proposal raises the number of electors required before a municipality can have a deputy reeve from the present 1,000 to 2,500. This would eliminate deputies in all municipalities except Charlottenburgh, Cornwall, Lancaster Township and Osnabruck.

All others would be represented only by their reeve, and all members of council would have but one vote, whether reeve or deputy.

Another alternative permitted under the Municipal Act would be to abolish the post of deputy reeve in all municipalities, but with this alternative, called "27b", the remaining reeves would have several votes each, according to their electorate, more or less.

This would rectify the drawback to the other plan, which would give such municipalities as Finch village and Alexandria an equal vote. Under plan "27b", Alexandria's representative would have three votes, Charlottenburgh's four, others two or three approximately, according to size.

The discussion of this report, which Mr. Massie emphasized is only a review of alternatives, sparked a discussion on what to do on the larger question of reorganization of regionalization.

Several members, notably Malon Zeron of Matilda and J. C. Whitteker of Williamsburg, and the reeves of Lochiel, Kenyon and Alexandria, who have already discussed amalgamation, were in favor of further steps, once the initial step of reorganizing under "27b", or some other plan, is taken.

But there was some emphatic oppostion from such veteran members as Cecil McNabb of Winchester and Keith Graham of Chesterville. Mr. Graham said council should avoid the onus and responsibility of restructuring itself, or in effect planning its own downfall.

Instead, he and Mr. McNabb urged that no action be taken and the Ontario government should take the blame for changes they believed local people do not wish to accept.

Mr. Whitteker pointed at one of the problems of the present situation; the government insists on change and says changes will be made, but gives no guidance to municipalities on the direction they should take.

No clear definition of restructuring could be arrived at.

First Hint Of Snow

Pupils trudging to Alexandria schools got their first hint of snow, Tuesday morning, out of a cold, cloudy sky. "It wasn't exactly snowflakes, as one student put it, but neither was it rain".

From Glen Sandfield comes a report of snow that morning that came down briefly but in no uncertain terms.

NFU Critical Of Drains Policy

Discussion at the National Farmers' Union meeting held Tuesday night in Alexandria centered around the current government proposal to remove the grant regarding municipal drains.

The subsidy at present amounts to one third of the cost of the drain with the landholders paying the remaining two thirds of the cost. Next April the government proposes to remove the present grant.

The NFU local of which Mrs. Helena McCuaig is president, decided to send a strong protest to Osie Villeneuve, MPP; Bill Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Premier Bill Davis.

They also intend to contact neighboring locals to seek support for their resolution.

Plans For Addition To Char-Lan From First To Fourth Priority

The "juggling" of priorities in the 1974 capital expenditure forecast approved by the SD and G county board of education last week caused some trustees to question whether the board was getting all the information it needed to make decisions.

Trustee Joe Gunn was commenting on the fact the Cornwall Collegiate renovation project was made number one priority over an addition to Char-Lan District High School at Williamstown.

Based on a strong recommendation from the Cornwall Collegiate building committee, the board decided a renovation project at that school should be the first priority in the capital expenditure forecast for the next three years.

The administrative staff was given the authority to submit the proper forms to the ministry of education in an effort to have the $3 million project approved.

George Shaw, committee chairman, told the board the ministry of education would adopt a favorable attitude toward any application for a grant when a renovation and not construction of a new building was being proposed.

Mr. Gunn pointed out the Char-Lan project had been the number one priority of the board for the past three years but the project had dropped to third by this forecast.

Rosaire Leger, director of education, replied the work at CCVS and the conversion of Maxville High School to a senior elementary school would cost an estimated $3,180,000 in the 1974 fiscal year.

"The addition of the Char-Lan project (estimated at $1,865,000) would bring the cost of the 1974 projects too high. We have found that in dealing with the ministry on money matters it is best to be reasonable." Mr. Leger stated.

He assured the trustees the Char-Lan project would be the first priority in 1975.

Other items slated for 1975 included additions to Elma Public School, Lancaster Public School, Harmony Glen School at Alexandria for Trainable Retarded Children and Gladstone Public School.

Cost of these additions, if implemented, would be $2,765,000.

Scarboro Company Has Plans To Build Nursing Home On Retreat House Property

Two Businesses Had Break-Ins

Alexandria police are investigating two break and entries into local business places during Saturday night.

At the Cosy Inn restaurant, entered through a rear window, cartons of cigarettes were taken. The juke box was broken open and the coin box was removed as well from the soft drink vending machine.

Gaetan Verdon's chip wagon, parked in his driveway, was also entered through a window and food estimated worth $50 was stolen.

Town Council will sponsor the Day Care Centre for a period of one year, it was decided at Tuesday's meeting. The Centre is located in the Curling Rink and is caring for 22 children of working mothers. Miss Colette Rochon is in charge.

Council endorsed a request from the Alexandria Snowmobile Club which is applying for a LIP grant to help build its trail.

Applications were considered from three persons seeking the post of Building By-Law Administrator. No action was taken. Approved was the application of Yves Joanette for a taxi licence. He complained of poor night taxi service.

The Community Nursing Homes of Scarboro who operate the Villa Fatima home here, advised that they have purchased the property known as Villa Fatima. They were enquiring if there would be any difficulty in obtaining a permit to build a nursing home on the property which would be separate from Villa Fatima. They will be advised their application for a building permit will be considered as are any others.

Council approved renewal of the lease on the courtroom for the next five years by the Attorney-General's Department.

A certifcate of approval was received for use of the dump in the 1st Lochiel under a landfill plan.

The police report noted that all the constables may be booked for their course at Police College for next year. This would result in short staff for some 40 weeks and Chief Cleroux suggested the solution was hiring of another constable.

Federal Government Subsidies To Reduce Prices Milk And Powder

Ontario dairy farmers who produce milk for table use will receive an additional $1.23 per hundredweight for their milk, effective October 1st.

An agreement between the federal and Ontario governments also provides for a roll-back of one cent per quart to the consumer from current prices, effective this week. A consumer price increase of some three cents per quart had been planned for Oct. 1st. This will be avoided because of the federal consumer subsidy of five cents per quart. The other cent will be used to stabilize the prices over the next year.

The $1.23 increase per hundredweight raises the farm price for raw milk in Southern Ontario from $7.90 to $9.13 per cwt.

Instant powdered skim milk will cost the consumer 17 cents less for a one-pound package following a federal agreement that went into effect Monday.

The reduction—effective across the country—results from a 20-cent subsidy to powdered milk companies to check rising food costs.

While prices vary widely by region the new price in Ottawa will be about 39 cents, down from last week's selling price of about 56 cents.

One pound of instant powdered skim milk makes about four quarts of milk—for a saving of about four cents a quart. There will be proportionate savings on larger sizes of powdered milk.

The Carnation Co. is one of those included in the agreement. Its Instant Milk Powder is made in the Alexandria plant.

Population By Language Groups

Other language groups include 75 German, 50 Ukranian and 120 classified as "other".

The official language of Glengarry residents shows 8,225 English only, 1790 French only, 8,430 classified as both English and French and 30 neither English or French.

Information in the report was collected on a sample basis.

John Flanders of the National Film Board, has done a photographic essay presenting interesting features of frame, brick and log structures to be seen in small towns and the countryside. Several homes in Alexandria, Apple Hill and Dunvegan are featured.

This collection is on loan to the County Library Board and is being shown throughout the member branches of the County System. It will be on view in Alexandria until the end of October.

The 14th branch of the County Branch System was opened in Crysler on Sept. 25th with Board Chairman Keith Graham, Johnson Ouderkirk, deputy reeve of Finch, and Warden Gerard Massie officiating.

In the planning stages is a 15th branch to be situated in the Johnson Manor at Williamstown.

Inter-Agency Group Hears Talks On Dealing With Mentally Disturbed

This area will now benefit from a regionally based team to consult regarding mentally and emotionally disturbed children under the age of 16, Dr. Dorothy Thornton told members present at the Inter-Agency meeting held at Glengarry Memorial Hospital on Friday.

Dr. Thornton who is a psychologist and Miss Gail Cosgrove, a social worker, have been assigned to Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry under the Children's Regional Mental Health Unit. They will have offices in Cornwall, in St. Columban's Hall. As their services in the community are new, they will probably work with referrals from existing agencies such as schools or Children's Aid in the beginning but will welcome suggestions from community groups and address them if required to inform them of their service. Until this time the closest unit to help such children had been in Ottawa.

Inter-Agency is composed of representativ[illegible]om various community serv[illegible] school principals, police, nurses, doctors, Children's Aid, public health units, welfare administrators, clergy, etc. They meet once a month in the boardroom of Glengarry Memorial Hospital to discuss problems of mutual interest in their work for the community.

Also addressing the group was Ron Bert, a social worker on the staff of Cornwall General Hospital. To illustrate the work done by his department Mr. Bert related a specific family case; Mr. Jones, a young man in his thirties, is admitted to hospital. He has always been the parent in the family who made all the important decisions regarding his home and four children aged six to 12. Now he is faced with a serious operation which will disable him for some time. With no money saved he is so upset by this set of circumstances, loss of status as a wage earner, the knowledge that his wife is not used to shoulderisg responsibility, concern for his family and his own physical deficiency, he feels depressed and humiliated. At this point the social worker visits him and discusses the problems facing him. Help may be forthcoming from different agencies, depending on the need—Adult Education, Children's Aid, the Cancer Society, etc. A staff member calls on the wife of the hospital patient to reassure her of help and teach her how to cope. The mother is given an adult education course to help her support her family in the future; she is given advice on how to deal with problems on her own. The children are supported until she is able to be self-sufficient. When the patient's illness is found to be terminal he is assured that his family is going to be adequately cared far. The case illustrates how different agencies in the community work together to help in time of need.

A member of Mr. Bert's staff is Mrs. Valerie Ward who comes to Glengarry Memorial Hospital every Tuesday and Thursday. She can be reached directly or an appointment may be arranged through a family physician.

The social work department of Cornwall General is a specific department similar to physiotherapy, physciatry, etc., which participates in the total treatment of the patient. Heavily involved in family problems of the patients, it endeavors to make them aware of agencies in the community that can help. Some patients are so affected by their cultural or ethnic beliefs, their recovery or even their capacity to survive is gravely affected. This new community service in hospitals is relatively new and can best be utilized by an awareness on the part of the public of this treatment which aids the mental and emotional health of the patient as well as the physical.

When asked by members present at the meeting how they could help patients in distressed circumstances, Mr. Bert felt each person should try to make himself aware of needs in the community rather than wait to be asked for help.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Another Loss To Centralization

Poor Osie! He can't win. Just last week we were tossing him a bouquet for his successful work on the Highway 417 access at McCrimmon. And already we're in a mood for throwing brickbats because of the shift of personnel from the local Natural Resources office to Cornwall .

Our Member of the Legislature had assured town council this spring that no wholesale transfer of personnel from Alexandria to Cornwall was threatened, at least at this time. No doubt he had been given that assurance from higher levels in Toronto but it is his promise that is refuted by Friday's move and so the local Member must be held accountable for the sins of his Government.

Sins of commission we term such wholesale transfers of personnel to larger district offices. They are further evidence of Queen's Park's continuing policy of centralization, a program that works to the detriment of the smaller communities and encourages the empire-building that is already rife in government ministries.

An evidence that the government knows well how unpopular are such transfers is seen in the secrecy with which they are effected. If a local sportsman had not tipped us off on Tuesday we would not have been aware the Natural Resources personnel were moving out later in the week. As the director of the district office at Cornwall put it when contacted, "We intended to put out a news release after the transfers had been completed".

Governments feel there will be less public reaction to a fait accompli and so the curtain of silence before the fact. No doubt the same policy will be in effect when our Glengarry Registry Office is closed and the records are transferred to Cornwall. And we can expect the same secret approach to transferring the local court hearings to Cornwall, when and if that is decided.

While the Davis Government talks piously of developing the have-not areas of the province this policy of centralization is continued remorselessly.

Doesn't Seem Fair

As most consumers realize, a period of inflation such as we are experiencing at the present time is a spiral—a vicious upcurve of mounting costs which lead inevitably to higher prices. Many of the sharp increases simply cannot be avoided when the cost of production is climbing so steeply.

There are, however, many instances in which even the dull-witted buyer can recognize all the hallmarks of sheer greed, suggests an editorial in The Wingham Advance-Times. Merchandise which we all know was manufactured many months ago has suddenly shot up by anywhere from 10 to 40 per cent.

Seldom is the local retailer responsible for these jumps in price. He does not have the storage facilities to keep several months' supply on hand and thus is forced to pay the higher tariff when he buys from the wholesaler. But back the line somewhere there is a monster rip-off under way.

One of the increases we do not like is the jump in gasoline prices. Despite all the statements from oil companies and government officials that there is no real shortage of motor fuels in Canada, the sharp demand in the United States has apparently been reflected in higher prices right here in Ontario.

Now, if you know anything about business you cannot blame the company which recognizes a seller's market and makes the most of his opportunity to turn a better profit. However, in the case of the oil companies the situation is somewhat different. The commodities they sell are pumped from the depths of the Canadian earth. The companies have not purchased any of these natural resources. They have been granted a right to market them because their operations will provide employment and tax revenue and a favorable trade balance (we hope). But the crude petroleum out of which they make their profits actually belongs to the people of Canada.

It would seem obvious, therefore, that Canadians should not be penalized in the purchase of their own natural resources because there is a better market for them in the land to the south.

Don't Give Fire A Place To Start

Fire Prevention Week was observed last week, but not editorially in this newspaper. Somehow we overlooked it but prevention of fire is something all of us should have in mind all year round and so we feel free to bring up the subject this week.

The week's theme, "Don't give fire a place to start", is particularly timely at this period of the year when we are readying for winter. Heating systems should be checked before being called on for heavy usage through the long winter and other potential fire hazards cleared up.

Major fire losses have not been too frequent in Glengarry this year but there were two lives lost in as many home fires.

The Canadian Underwriters' Association has provided a list of suggestions which can keep our homes safe from fire, and we reprint them for the assistance of every parent:

1—Never leave small children alone. Even if you are leaving for only a few moments, get a responsible person to stay with them. When going out for an extended period of time, employ a babysitter.

2—Small children and elderly people are the more frequent fire victims. If there are elderly persons in your household, plans should be made to get them out of the house quickly in case of fire.

3—Use care with cigarettes. Never discard a cigarette or drop a match without being sure it has been extinguished. It's a good plan to break a match after using, just to be sure it is out. Keep matches out of reach of children, and never smoke in bed.

4—Keep a flashlight handy for use in dark places. Never strike matches or carry lighted matches or candles into closets or attics.

5—Keep your electrical appliances in safe condition. Take them to a qualified repairman if they have loose connections or frayed or worn cords.

6—Throw out newspapers, magazines and other waste combustibles regularly, rather than let them accumulate in the basement or attic. These are the things on which fires feed.

7—Impress upon everyone in your household that in case of fire, first get everyone out of the house, and then call the fire department. Call the department from your neighbor's house, if need be; never re-enter a burning building.

The sound of the siren each noon last week must have reminded Alexandria householders the season for fires is ahead. Don't give them a place to start.

Political Juggling

Watching television reports of what goes on in Parliament at Ottawa and the interviews with members of Parliament, one wonders what real interest many of those members have in the welfare of the country.

Instead of playing politics with each other we wish they would get down to the business of pulling this country out of the quagmire, suggests an editorial in The Iroquois Post.

The NDP is playing a delaying game to see if they can hang on long enough to build up their sagging fortunes so that they can afford another election. The Conservatives are playing around with politics in the hope that they can someday frame the government into calling it quits or into turning over the reins to the PC party. And the federal Liberals are kicking the ball in all directions as they strive to hang onto power for another six or eight months until the "climate" is better.

Meanwhile, the rest of us suffer the consequences of all this struggling on Parliament Hill and are getting fed up with the bickering that goes on daily.

Now who in their right mind thinks that a vote of non-confidence is going to unseat the Liberals when really neither of the other two major parties wants this to happen just yet. Not one member wants an election in December now, or later. They wouldn't want it in the winter months either because of uncertain weather conditions in much of Canada. So that puts it off until spring or summer next year.

Yet each day we hear one of the opposition members almost pleading to get on with another election! They're either stupid or they take the population to be just as stupid . . . or both!

We really wonder what would happen to all three major parties right now if there was an election. They might all get the surprise of their lives.

Three Sides To The Question

(The Ridgetown Dominion)

As far as strikes are concerned, there are three sides to the question; labor, management, and the public.

While everyone sympathizes with the problem of labor to make their wages cover the rising cost of living and with management's problem of raising prices fast enough to cover the rising cost of labor, the public is beginning to be fed up with the whole strike pattern in which they are the victims.

The Canadian public is growing dissatisfied with the way labor disputes are conducted. Withdrawal of services is directed against the public and the public is getting increasingly tired of it. Recently strikes by the postal department, garbage strikes, hospital strikes, hydro strikes, and police strikes have threatened the general public, while shipping and railway strikes have threatened the welfare of the nation as a whole.

Outlawing the right to strike in essential services raises the problem of finding a way to preserve collective bargaining. Compulsory arbitration sounds well, but hasn't always worked in Canada. Isn't there some way that voluntary arbitration could be put into action for six months before the strike, rather than for six months after? If we so weaken our economy that we are taken over by a nation that does not permit strikes in their economy, we'll all be worse off, labor, management and the public.

We should all realize that we either work together or we'll all lose out.

The Weeklies Say

HOW DOES $50 JAR YOU?

Some people collect stamps, others go after butterflies or autographs of the rich and famous, but, for a growing breed, collecting may be just a glass, The Financial Post says. According to Dominion Glass Co., Montreal, Mason jars, the original container for home preserves, are now worth a minimum of $50 each. (At the turn of the century, they sold at 55c a dozen.) Prices can run as high as $150 for some jars. Glass tableware, lantern globes, lightening arresters, telegraph insulators, battery jars, street light globes in addition to medical and pharmaceutical containers are also sought by glass collectors. Not only that, but tin is up on world markets.

SUPPLY TEACHERS AND UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

(Rodney Mercury)

Editorials in the last two issues took up the cudgels of supply teachers' wages being reduced by the Board of Education, and even went to the extreme of suggesting that if the "supplies" do not obtain at least the money they received last year, they should draw Unemployment Insurance to which some are entitled.

"To which some are entitled" is the key to the situation, and once again proves what a ludicrous situation we have in our Unemployment Insurance system.

When the old Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, the forerunner of the New Democratic Party, formulated its Manifesto in Regina 40 years ago, and included what has become Unemployment Insurance, it is doubtful even the most extreme socialist had any idea unemployment insurance would go to the extremes it has today.

For all intents and purposes unemployment insurance was originally intended to protect workers from unemployment because of work shortages. But unemployment insurance coverage has gone far beyond the original intent-to the point of even supply teachers being included.

A few instances of supply teachers receiving Unemployment Insurance for months can be related, but local supply teachers are too professional and proud to accept the dole, even though eligible.

At best supply teachers only work a few weeks or months a term, so contribute very little to the fund. When they are paid $50 weekly Unemployment Insurance they draw more in one week than they could contribute in two years if they taught full time and were paid the minimum wage.

Obviously, the situation is ridiculous and should not have been permitted to happen, but when supply teachers' wages have been cut about 2 percent, you really can't blame them for at least considering getting on the Unemployment Insurance bandwagon and taking it for all the ride it is worth.

RAMBLING REPORTER

WE'RE SICK OF JEANS

All kinds of items like food and gas and fuel are reported in short supply in this money-mad economy. Even blue jeans are scarce in some market areas, tis said. So much part of the youth culture are blue jeans, the manufacturers of denims from which they are made, can't keep up with the demand.

That's one shortage we could take in stride and we imagine a lot of fond parents would sigh with relief if all those machines that produce denim started making another cloth more pleasing to the eye.

Blue jeans were never haute couture but they were acceptable in small doses for summer wear and they had the advantage of being cheap. Now every kid from six to maybe 30 is wearing jeans, even to church, and the one thing they must not be is dressy.

Even straight from the factory they have to be made to look tatty before the storekeeper can offer them for sale. They've gotta have patches in the seat and a shredded look where the cuffs once were. Jeans are the in thing in shorts, but only if the cut is ragged at the thigh.

We've long been sick of the sight of them, especially on girls who lose all their sox appeal.

Now if the girls would throw out the jeans and the boys would get a hair cut it might come to pass we'd know one sex from the other when we came to pass.

As the editor put it—blue jeans make Genes blue.

TOO MUCH ELECTION SPENDING

The U.S. of A. has a new Vice-President and our neighbors to the south must also have a lot of food for thought as a result of the forced resignation of Spiro Agnew from the vice-presidency.

His admission of guilt in taking rake-offs from contractors while Governor of Maryland must have a lot of Americans worrying about a system of government that has so little control over the type of person who can aspire to wield all the powers of the presidency. If Nixon had been prey to an assassin's bullet or had died anytime over the past five years he would automatically have been succeeded by a person who has now been shown to have enriched himself by graft and income tax evasion.

That possibility is always present, of course. Agnew is not the first politician to accept graft and the practice is not confined to any one country.

Coming as it does at the time of the Watergate hearings, this vice-presidential gambit should provide U.S. citizens with second thoughts concerning election campaign funds. Millions of dollars in available Republican party funds made possible the election shenanigans of which the Watergate break and entry was but one of many unlawful acts. One of the charges against Agnew concerned appropriating payments by contractors to his personal use.

Elections are costly below the border and each party must enter national, state or big city elections extremely well-heeled. All those millions are donations from big business, unions, the crime syndicates and individuals seeking future favors. Until there are stringent curbs on election gifts and spending politicians will continue in the debt of these moneyed interests. Lavish campaign funding as well leads to outright bribery and corruption as apparently was the case with Agnew.

Here in Canada the Trudeau Government has had plans for election reform that would limit both party and individual spending. The federal treasury would reimburse serious candidates for a share of their election expenses. That bill is making slow progress, if any, and Liberal party strategists may have decided the next election is so important the limits on spending might better wait until another federal vote has been held.

That might be smart politics but delay won't prove popular with voters across the country. It has been estimated that the parties and their candidates spent $31 million in the 1972 federal election. It cost the Treasury another $20 million to take the vote and that total of more than $50 million in election spending was a lot of money for the insipid minority government we got.

In the wake of Mr. Agnew's resignation, Parliament should lose no time in providing a new election format with curbs on spending and severe penalties against accepting donations.

The new Vice-President, Congressman Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, is said to be a friend of Canada. This country can use friends in the Nixon administration.

The new Vice-President is from Michigan, from whence come almost all Fords.

Two Undefeated Teams Meet As Gaels Play In Plantagenet

(by Angus H. McDonell)

The top bracket of the Glen-Pres-Russell school football league standing is almost a carbon copy of the CFL east group, following last Friday's play. Alexandria, Vankleek Hill and Plantagenet are still undefeated after four games and tied for first place while Hawkesbury is right on their heels with one loss but three wins in a row.

Hawkesbury won at home over Char-Lan 14-1 while Vankleek Hill showed little mercy or sportsmanship by bombing the second year struggling Casselman school 79-0. Plantagenet defeated Rockland 32-7 while at home here Maxville held Gaels in check for the first half but faded in the second as GDHS won 41-6.

The first quarter of the Maxville-Alexandria gridiron battle was all in the front trenches with little ground yielded either way and no scoring.

Early in the second Gaels' Brian Lawson got his offence moving and on the Indians' five sent Barry MacDonald knifing through for a TD that Cleary Morris converted. A bit later Maxville's pinch hitting quarterback, Brian Kinnear, took command by hitting Neil Blaney with a strike. Richard Blair, injured QB, was out on the flank avoiding heavy contact and the next target for Kinnear and more yards. The third pass was also good to Adrien Lariviere who bumped to the Gaels' one yard. The GDHS front line shored up the middle to stop the first thrust but Kinnear on a keeper was through on the second down and a major that was not converted. This was the first crossing of Gaels' goal line this year. Just before half time Gaels were third down on Maxville's 20. Cleary Morris hoofed a field goal to give GDHS a 10-6 halftime lead.

Early in the second half Maxville were hit with a one-two punch. First their dependable two-way lineman, Eric Groves, was sidelined for the rest of the game. Then again on third down Gaels had to punt. Cleary Morris shanked a short one but quickly hustled through and like his namesake grandfather Bill Cleary, a lacrosse great, scooped up the ball and sprinted into pay dirt for a TD that he promptly converted. This appeared to be the turning around of the game as Gaels now had a 17-6 margin.

Morris, just four minutes later, from the Indians' 33 belted his second field goal and before the final end change Stewart Dewar, Gaels' left defence half, intercepted a Kinnear pass, running it back 35 yards for another major that Morris converted.

The final frame was three minutes gone when Brian Lawson for the second time sent Barry MacDonald through from the Maxville four and a TD. Morris was on convert target again. Norman Laliberte then took over from Lawson and pulled the trigger on a 25-yard pass to Brian Filion on the Indian 10 and into pay dirt for the final major that Morris converted to give him a perfect day with the boot and Gaels the game 41-6.

Gaels On The Warpath !

(by Tish Filiatrault)

Spirit, skill and sportsmanship seem to be the three main ingredients comprising the teams at GDHS this year.

Our sports season started off well, winning all the way and our Gaels have continued to be victorious. On Friday afternoon, our second home game, the Gaels kept up their image and unbeaten record with a smashing victory over Maxville. A strong defence came up with four interceptions while the offence was highlighted by Cleary Morris with 17 points, Barry MacDonald with 12 and Brian Filion 6 points.

On the soccer field GDHS was indeed well represented. Glengarry has won an Eastern Ontario Secondary School Athletic Championship. The boys' team won the trophy with four victories over Finch, Almonte, Lasalle of Kingston and defeating Carleton Place 6-0 in the championship game. Top scorers for GDHS were John MacPherson and Lynn Morrison with three goals each and Brian Filion with 2 goals. Defensively, Scott Campbell and Captain David MacMillan had outstanding games. Erwin MacLennan was unscored on in the four games.

Women's Lib was not to be forgotten for also on Saturday our girls soccer team won the Glengarry-Prescott tournament at Char-Lan. They beat Maxville 2-1, Hawkesbury 5-0, Char-Lan 4-0 and Maxville 4-1. Colleen McCormick and Mary Morris were outstanding. Recognition should also be given to Terry Gagnon, who although only in the nets since this September played a great game.

The girls' basketball teams were also following in the winning footsteps in Hawkesbury when our juniors beat the Hawks. Mary Morris led the way as top scorer. Our seniors came right behind winning their game 23-19. Leading the way in this game were Ellen MacRae and Colleen McCormick.

At home the juniors kept up their winning streak by beating VCI 35 to 15. The seniors, though putting up a close battle, lost their game 31-28.

All are busy at GDHS, our cheerleaders constantly keeping up team spirits are themselves practising for the annual Glengarry-Prescott cheerleader competition in Cornwall. We wish them luck!

Also in the line of enjoyment is our Extra Curricular Activities Week which is giving all students a chance to take part in something that they really enjoy. All you have to do is sign up. This year it is totally voluntary and after school hours—what better chance to meet your teachers and friends

With all these encouraging results we hope that all activities and teams reach their goal in victory!

AVONMORE

The Avonmore Community Recreational Association will be sponsoring a dance in the new Community Centre in Avonmore, on Friday evening, Oct. 12th. Music will be supplied by Sylvester MacDonald and the Clansmen. Daning will continue from 9 to 1. Lunch will be available. Proceeds will be directed to the building fund.

NEW COMMUNITY CENTRE USED FOR PARTY

Surrounded by members of their family, neighbors and friends, Mr. and Mrs. James Tinkess, on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary, were honored at a party in the Avonmore Community Centre recently.

Not only did the evening give the many friends an opportunity to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Tinkess and to extend their best wishes for continued good health and happiness, but also it was in fact the first public function to be held in the completely renovated building now known as the Avonmore Community Centre. Members of the Avonmore Community Athletic Association who were present were complimented profusedly on the transformation of the old public school building into a Centre of which its chief feature is its practicality for all community functions.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinkess were escorted into the main hall by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McElheran, their attendants at the wedding in St. Augustine's Anglican Church, Newington, on Oct. 4th, 1933.

After the bride's waltz, members of their family and friends joined them on the dance floor.

The evening was most enjoyably spent in dancing and playing cards.

Door prizes went to Mrs. E. M. Miller, Cornwall and W. M. Campbell, Avonmore.

The bridal party, Mr. and Mrs. Tinkess and their attendants, were escorted to the platform where their son, Perry, read a congratulatory and amusing address in poetic form, the composition of Mrs. Bill Eamer and Mrs. Everard Johnston. Their son Ronald, on behalf of all the assembled relatives and friends, presented his parents with a purse of money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tinkess voiced their appreciation for the good wishes and honors bestowed upon them and the assemblage responded with "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

A sumptuous lunch was served by the family.

Mrs. Tinkess is the former Evelyn Bender. They have six children: (Lois) Mrs. Eric McCartney, (Norma) Mrs. Everard Johnston, both of Cornwall; (Connie) Mrs. Harold Harris, Glenburnie; (Penny) Mrs. Dan MacNaughton, Kingston; Ronald Tinkess, Elgin; and Perry Tinkess, Avonmore. There are 12 grandchildren.

MAC ARBUTHNOT DIED

Relatives and friends throughout the district were saddened by the announcement of the death of MacMillan (Mac) Arbuthnot, which occurred at the Ottawa General Hospital on Tuesday, Sept. 25th.

Mr. Arbuthnot had been in failing health for several months and he had been a patient in the Cornwall General Hospital and the Ottawa General Hospital since last January.

Born at Northfield, 55 years ago on Sept. 5th, he was the son of Norman Arbuthnot and his wife Margaret MacMillan. He was educated locally and lived for the greater part of his life in Northfield until the family took up residence in Avonmore several years ago.

In recent years Mr. Arbuthnot had been a sales representative with Sanford G. Wells and Sons, Ingleside.

Besides his sorrowing parents, he leaves one brother, Alan, two nieces and four nephews.

The body rested at the Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, where many neighbors and friends called to pay their respects. Rev. W. E. Sayers, MA, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, conducted the funeral service at the funeral home and brought a comforting message.

Pallbearers were Doyle Wereley, Wallace Shaver, David Ferguson, Kenneth Ferguson, Gus Papic and Arnold Mills.

Relatives and friends attended the funeral from Toronto, Pointe Claire, Ottawa, Massena, Montreal, Kingston, Cornwall, Ingleside, Maxville and the surrounding communities.

Interment was made in the family plot in Paul's Hill cemetery, Avonmore.
