Doctor gets Liberal candidacy

by Jamie McDonell

A Morrisburg surgeon has won the provincial Liberal candidacy for the Three United Counties.

Dr. Gerry Rosenquist, 43, beat former United Counties Warden Bill Cumming to become Liberal candidate in the March 19 provincial election. Rosenquist has been a municipal councillor for the last four years and has been involved with the local Liberal party since he moved to Ontario from Western Canada 20 years ago.

Three hundred and fifty-four delegates and another hundred party supporters crowded into the hall of the Finch Community Arena to hear Rosenquist, Cumming and provincial Liberal leader Stuart Smith speak at Monday night's nomination meeting.

Smith told an enthusiastic crowd the main issue in the upcoming election would have to be the state of the provincial economy. He said that the fact that Ontario has the slowest rate of economic growth in the country is the fault of recent Conservative governments, who, he said, had learned to win elections by giving the appearance of activity while doing nothing at all.

Smith said he was glad that Premier Davis made his election call on Monday, but that he had a hard time understanding how Davis could have described Liberal calls for a winter election a few weeks ago as irresponsible. He also said that Osie Villeneuve was playing games with the electorate when he announced his resignation and then said that he might run again.

Other speakers at the meeting were Denis Ethier, MP for Glengarry-Prescott Russell; Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette and the Liberal candidate in the last provincial election, John Whitteker.

Factors they cited as important for the upcoming election were neglect and mismanagement of the educational and health care systems in the province, and regional inequalities in agricultural support.

In winning the provincial Liberal candidacy, Rosenquist said that he was achieving the third of three goals he had set for himself when he moved to this area 20 years ago; to open a medical centre in Morrisburg, to complete his qualifications as a surgeon and to become the local member of the provincial parliament.

Senior home ready

The keys to Florence Villa, the new senior citizen apartments in Alexandria were handed over yesterday to the Housing Authority from the Robert Bourgon Construction Company.

Bill Hulls of the Cornwall and Area Housing Authority and Alex McDonald representing the County of Glengarry acted in the official capacity.

All is in readiness for occupants to move into the 30 apartments and residents will be expected to come in a few at a time until all are filled.

Rents for the apartments are geared to income.

There are 1,129 such apartments in the Cornwall district, 50 of which are contained in the two housing units in Alexandria.

Osie may return

Osie Villeneuve may seek re-election as the provincial member for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Although the 75-year-old veteran has already announced his retirement, Mr. Villeneuve said he is reconsidering.

He says he will be discussing the matter with riding executive members later this week.

Some people have been urging him to run again and he admitted there is a "great temptation" because he feels the Conservatives may form a majority government.

Many political observers feel the seat would be a safe Tory bet if Villeneuve stays on. He has been elected for nine terms.

Liberal candidate Gerry Rosenquist said he would not be afraid to meet Mr. Villeneuve in the election arena.

Referring to the incumbent's earlier retirement announcement, Mr. Rosenquist said the MPP has "cried wolf three times now" and will lose "credibility" if he runs again.

He said it was also questionable that Mr. Villeneuve would be able to finish out a four-year term.

Victim dies

Thomas Tweed Sproule, 57, died last Wednesday, one week after a train-car collision on Highway 138 south of Moose Creek which instantly killed his wife, Evelyn Sproule, 55.

The Ottawa couple were on their way from Ottawa to Cornwall when the accident took place. Mr. Sproule was taken to the Ottawa General Hospital where he was listed in critical condition until his death on Wednesday.

Drainage ditch done

A drainage ditch constructed in Lancaster Township only four years ago must be rebuilt because minimum design standards were not in effect at the time.

The Wood Creek drain runs for about eight kilometres south through Lancaster just east of Bainsville and empties into the St. Lawrence River.

The drain was built in 1976 at a cost of $91,000 and the cost split equally between the 26 landowners, the provincial government and the federal government.

However, the ditch has not functioned properly and the landowners have petitioned the township to correct the problem.

The township's consulting engineering firm of Stidwill and Associates found three major problems.

—The drain was silted in on the upper end in places as much as 30 to 60 centimetres while in the lower end it was at or just slightly above the design grade of 1975.

—Some tile drainage outlets installed at or below the existing ditch grade.

—In some places cattle had been allowed to tramp in the ditch sides.

The report gives two options: improve the existing ditch at a cost of $94,400 or rebuild it with major relocations at a cost of $118,500.

The landowners will be asked to comment on the alternatives.

The Eastern Ontario drainage petition review committee, which comments on drainage petitions in the area, says it will only recommend one-third funding from the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement if the Ministry of Agriculture and Food's drainage guidelines are followed.

Murray German of Ontario's Environment Ministry says drains should last at least 10 years.

While in this case there were several problems, "the main one seems to have been the lack of minimum criteria to follow in the design and construction."

The guidelines came into force last year.

Ministry not committed to building bypass route

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications will not commit itself to building a highway bypass on Highway 34 around the west end of Alexandria at this time.

"The traffic problems are largely internal," is the reason given by the MTC Regional Director W. G. Wigle. This conclusion is based upon a feasibility study recently conducted by the Ministry and explained to the town in a letter received on January 20.

This initial review of the traffic problem indicates that a Highway 34 bypass to the west of Alexandria would remove on the average of 1,000 to 1,400 vehicles per day travelling in both directions through the town. The Ministry estimates that only 12-14 per cent of the diverted volume would be commercial traffic, which would represent between 150-200 trucks per day.

"Due to this low through-trip volume and Alexandria's draw for local vehicles, a bypass would cause only a slight decrease of internal traffic," the letter states, "Inconveniences, delay and congestion would continue to exist."

It was a 29-name petition of Kenyon Street West residents complaining about the heavy traffic past their doors and asking for a bypass route which prompted the bypass feasibility study results. The petition was handed to council in late August shortly after the town declared several town streets "No Truck Routes" in the face of a petition of Kincardine and area residents complaining about the heavy traffic in their neighborhood.

At that time Edna Peterson, author of the cover letter accompanying the petition said "The noise and fumes are intolerable. We won't let this drop until we get some action." She added that the designation of certain streets was understandable. "But we are taxpayers too and want some consideration."

It appears the town is behind the petitioners and not ready to accept the Ministry's study results.

After discussing the letter at the Property and Traffic Committee meeting, Clerk Don Collin was advised to obtain statistics and information from the municipalities of Winchester and Chesterville on the effects that the highway bypass has had on their area as well as copies of the feasibility review by the MTC and the cost of the bypass.

"We want to get more information from other towns which have had bypass routes built to see the

Carnation okays two-year pact

Carnation employees ratified a two-year contract yesterday which gives them a $1.50 per hour wage increase plus improved benefits.

An across the board 75-cent raise for 1981 will give workers hourly rates ranging from a low of $8.10 an hour to a high of $9.08.

Another 75-cent raise in 1982 will bring the range to $8.85 to $9.83.

The company will also introduce a pension plan for the approximately 125 members of Branch One of Local 304 of the Canadian Brewery Workers.

Union unit Chairman Bob Lacombe noted there has been no strike or lock-out at the plant since the union was formed in 1963.

He attributed the record to honest, straightforward bargaining.

"There is a lot of respect on each side," he commented, noting there were "good people on both sides of the table".

Plant manager Ken Brown echoed Mr. Lacombe's sentiments saying "we try to keep the lines of communication open".

In addition to the new pension plan, workers will receive improvements to several benefits including their dental plan, sick leave plan, life insurance plan, over-time, vacations and bereavement leave.

The contract was settled after four days of negotiations.

Council passes parking bylaw

Alexandria Council approved a bylaw regulating the town's Municipal Parking Lot at their general meeting on Tuesday evening.

Car owners will be permitted two hours of free parking. The penalty for violation would be the same for a street parking violation, $4.

Winter parking conditions would prohibit the parking between the hours of 1 a.m. to 8 a.m. from November 15 each year to April 15 of the following year and winter control operations will prohibit parking in the lot while the work of removing snow or ice is in progress.

The bylaw authorizes any vehicle parked contrary to the provisions of the winter parking and winter control operations to be towed away and result in the payment of the current fees applicable for towing by the operators of tow trucks to a maximum of $50 by the owner or driver of the vehicle involved.

For those whose source of employment is located in the immediate area of the parking lot, parking permits will be issued. The fees set are $25 for six months and $50 for one year.

Road Superintendent Jean Guy Levert reported to the Property and Traffic committee meeting last Wednesday that additional free public parking has been offered by Sam Sultan, owner of Alexandria Drug Mart, if the town would provide the necessary street direction signs.

Drug arrests made, one warrant remains

Two warrants for the trafficking of narcotics, outstanding from the drug raid staged on Thursday, January 15, have been filled.

Jean Marc Lacombe, 18, of Glen Robertson, was arrested by Alexandria Police last Wednesday. Mr. Lacombe will also face charges of possession of illegal drugs as a result of the arrest.

Maurice Leroux, 26, of the Ninth of Lancaster, was arrested by town police on Thursday, January 22.

One final warrant for the trafficking of narcotics remains outstanding from the drug investigation in the area which resulted in 21 charges against 12 individuals, under the Narcotics Control Act and another charge for bootlegging.

The two men will appear in Alexandria Provincial Court on March 26 with the remaining individuals facing charges as a result of the investigation.

Colorful opening

A colorful spectacle, the "Mardi Gras On Ice" at the Glengarry Sports Palace on Sunday evening marked the beginning of Carnival Week in Alexandria.

Mayor J. P. Touchette officially declared Feb. 1 to Feb. 8 Carnival Week then lifted the cover on a hamper of helium filled balloons to signify the opening.

President of the 1981 Carnival, Maurice Sauve, welcomed all in attendance, and then introduced the contestants for Carnival Queen.

The official ceremony was followed by more than an hour of skating, as young and old alike fashioned a wide array of costumes, none more appealing than that of Bonhomme himself who was by far the most popular

Federation expresses displeasure to MPP

The Federation of Agriculture for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry has made it known to SD&G MPP Osie Villeneuve that it is not happy with the Ontario government.

The concern was expressed at a closed meeting recently between Mr. Villeneuve and the executive members of the federation.

The farmers' group has since made public a letter sent to the MPP.

With the exception of Prince Edward Island, farmers of Ontario receive the least support from their provincial government, the letter charges.

Quoting statistics given by Mr. Villeneuve, the group noted approximately $1.5 billion of Ontario taxes are transferred to Quebec through the federal tax transfer system.

"The Ontario group of farmers finds this deplorable since Quebec farmers enjoy the most financial assistance through their provincial assistance program."

Ontario farmers cannot compete under these conditions, the group says.

It demands the province assist its farmers or insist the federal tax system be changed.

The group made five recommendations:

—It endorsed the Ontario Federation of Agriculture report entitled, Agriculture and Food Strategy for Ontario.

—It called for a clearly stated agriculture strategy to achieve self-sufficiency of supply of agricultural products to replace the $2 billion in imports.

—It demanded an increase in the availability of long-term, medium-term and short-term financing at reasonable rates comparable to tile drain loans (eight per cent).

—It said non-dairy farmers in Eastern Ontario have to transport most of their commodities to Toronto or Montreal because of a decrease or lack of processing and storage facilities in this area and demanded action be taken to alleviate this problem.

—It said the $25-million funding program for tile drainage should be increased to $38 million or $40 million annually.

Alexandria Police report thefts

Alexandria Police Force reports an assortment of thefts ranging from an encyclopedia to an automobile stolen throughout the past week.

Ronald Desjardins of Green Valley had his 1976 Monte Carlo stolen sometime between 1:15 and 1:25 a.m. on Sunday morning from a parking lot on St. Paul Street across from the Ottawa Hotel.

The car owner reported to police that he came out of the hotel at 1:15 a.m. to start the car, went back into the hotel, and came back out 10 minutes later to find his vehicle stolen. The vehicle had not been recovered at press time.

On Thursday an Encyclopedia Britannica sample manual, valued at $45 was stolen from a car owned by Paul R. Lauzon of 48 Main Street in Alexandria.

In yet another theft $172 in cash was stolen from the home of W. C. Austin of 247 Main Street North sometime last Tuesday. The money was in a wallet owned by Mrs. Austin which had been left on the kitchen counter.

On Sunday morning Gertrude Miller of 50 Harrison Street reported that two windows had been broken at her home. Police report that the windows appear to have been broken by chunks of ice. The damage was valued at $20.

Man injured in collision

Slippery road conditions on Sunday evening and Monday morning resulted in two motor vehicle accidents within town limits.

A late-model car collided with a telephone pole along St. Paul St. on Sunday evening, sending the driver to the hospital by ambulance and incurring $4,000 worth of damages to his vehicle.

Alexandria Police report that Jean Guy Carriere, 43, of 95 Clement Street was operating his 1979 Chevrolet westbound on St. Paul Street, 50 metres west of the Sandfield Street intersection, when he lost control on the ice covered road and hit a utility pole on the left side of the roadway.

Mr. Carriere was transported from the scene of the accident by ambulance to Glengarry Memorial Hospital, treated for minor injuries and released.

A two-car collision on Monday morning at 7:45 a.m. at the Elgin and Sinclair Streets intersection resulted in $1,300 worth of damages.

Police report that a 1978 Dodge driven by Jack Hambleton, 42, of RR1, Dalkeith, was travelling westbound on Elgin Street, attempted to stop at the "Stop" sign and slid into the intersection, colliding with a northbound 1977 Pontiac driven by John D. MacMillan, 69, of RR3, Dalkeith.

Damage was estimated at $900 to Mr. MacMillan's vehicle and $400 to the front of Mr. Hambleton's car.

No charges were laid because of the slippery road conditions.

Two other minor traffic accidents were reported throughout the week by town police.

Early Saturday morning a parked car was struck while stationed on Dominion Street but the resulting damage was never reported.

Pierre Arsenault, 21, of 114 Santoire Street in Valleyfield reported to Alexandria Police on Saturday morning that earlier in the day, at a reported time of 1:30 a.m., he was driving his 1979 Camaro on Dominion Street when he sideswiped a parked vehicle, facing south on the west side of the street.

No one was on the scene he told police so he reported the accident later in the morning. The vehicle had vanished by this time without the owner reporting the damage, said investigating officer, Paul Deveau.

Damage to Mr. Arsenault's car was estimated at $1,000.

A collision between two driverless vehicles on Thursday around 3:20 p.m. resulted in $2,000 damages.

Police report that Charles Hudson of RR1, Dunvegan had just parked his 1976 Ford van facing east on the north side of St. Paul Street and went to open the side door of the van when it slipped into gear and rolled into a 1978 Buick car parked further down the street, owned by Yvonne Girard of RR1, Alexandria, and a utility pole located in front of 17 St. Paul Street.

Damage to the van was estimated at $1,200 and there was $800 damage to the parked car.

Discuss downtown

The possibility of instituting a downtown revitalization plan in Alexandria will be examined by the town's planning committee, Chairman Bruno Lalonde told council Tuesday.

He said the county planner will be invited to discuss the possibility and provincial officials may be asked for input at a later date.

"I think our town needs an overall plan and I think we need Toronto to help us with that," Reeve Lalonde said.

The reeve said the plan would also take a proposed traffic by-pass into consideration.

Councillors said they wanted more information on a proposed by-pass before making a decision on the matter.

Councillor Fern Seguin said a by-pass could be "a good thing, but there are also voices against it."

He said the views of the business community would have to carry a great deal of weight.

While those in attendance skated to the music of Les Copains, the judging for the best costumes in the individual age categories took place. First prize winners were given $5 gift certificates and other contestants received McDonald Restaurant gift certificates.

Following are the top winners in each age category: 4-6 years, Eric Lobb; 7-9 years, Josee Landriault; 10-16 years, Stephane Landriault and in the adult class, Richard Gareau.

On Monday evening the Carnival Bingo was held at the Glengarry Sports Palace with 350 people in attendance. Marlene Cholette, in charge of the event, said the organizers were pleased with the turnout considering the weather conditions.

The evening featured a total of 21 games and the draw for a door prize of $100. There were 15 games for $50 each, six specials, with the winner taking 50 per cent of the pot and one winner-take-all game which saw one lucky woman take home $294.

Bonhomme made his appearance later in the evening to pick the winning door prize number.

effects on business, traffic, and why the province approved their bypasses," reports Aime Marcoux, Property and Traffic Committee chairman. "With this information we could go to the town merchants and see how they feel."

Councillor Marcoux added that all indications are that towns with bypass routes have grown instead of faltering. "I intend to push for it," said Mr. Marcoux.

The Ministry proposes that the town's traffic problems could be solved if they prohibited parking on Main and Kenyon Streets, thus increasing traffic volume capacity. Such action would necessitate the provision of parking lots with convenient access to Main Street, Mr. Wigle advised.

In other traffic business the committee recommended that Road Superintendent Jean Guy Levert be authorized to approach the MTC office in Ottawa with a request for a traffic review at the Lochiel and Main Streets intersection. The town is looking into the possibility of a second traffic light on Main Street.

Fate of the Lodge to be investigated

A $30,000 study will be undertaken to determine the fate of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge.

The counties-owned senior citizens home is not attracting sufficient residents, says Lodge Administrator Marlene Wert. At the end of the year it had 173, 28 fewer than a year earlier.

"It was noted in previous reports that the decline was probably due to alternative accommodation options available to seniors," she told counties council.

After last year's operation, "it was evident that not only our high per diem rates but our inability to provide comparable accommodations with the newer facilities," led to the decline.

Publicity surrounding the lodge's future may also have reduced admissions last year, she noted.

The lodge incurred an operating deficit of $242,106 in its $2.8 million budget in 1980.

Before applying to the province for a modernization program, the lodge wishes to conduct a feasibility study to include:

—A look at the existing building from architectural, structural, mechanical and electrical viewpoints.

—A thorough discussion with the staff to determine the type and extent of the accommodation needed.

—A comparison of estimated renovation costs with the cost of providing similar accommodation in new construction.

Maxville Manor earns award

Maxville Manor has won its second accreditation status award.

The accreditation program is an exercise carried on by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation at the request of individual health care facilities.

The standards developed by the council are used on a national basis and cover all aspects of all departments at the Manor, such as safety standards for fire and disaster protection, infection control, dietetic standards and the relation of the facility to the needs of the community as well as co-operative efforts with other health services.

Maxville Manor remains the only Home for the Aged in Eastern Ontario, outside of Ottawa, to have earned this status.

Only 16 homes across the province share the honor.

"The board and staff have worked diligently and conscientiously since the last survey and have well earned the distinction that comes with this award," Manor Administrator R. E. C. Munro said.

February brings busy sports program

by Velma Franklin

The Maxville Public School has a busy sports program underway this month. The skating program continues, every second Friday afternoon, and if enough snow falls there will be snowshoeing on February 19. This week the school is hosting the SD&G School Broomball Tournaments for the Junior and Senior Grades—with 35 teams registered. This is a major project. On the cultural side Mrs. Goulder's drama class has had several sessions. Twenty children are enrolled in the junior and fourteen in the Wednesday noon class at the Senior School. Earlier this year Mrs. Besner's and Mrs. MacGregor's classes participated in a theatre performance for primary children of "Hansel and Gretel" at Tagwi. There is a possibility of some students being entered in the board's annual music festival, and arrangements are being made for a performance ot the Penguin Theatre Company's "The Scarecrow Girl" on March 17.

Point Blank

by Brian Filion

The stark reality of life after a professional sports' career hit me last week. I had just read an article "The Broken Life of Billy Heindl" featured in Saturday Night and written by Peter Gzowski.

Billy Heindl jumped off West Perimeter Bridge in Winnipeg last September in an attempted suicide. He was an ex-professional hockey player who never made the big time and suffered from what psychologists may term "post career syndrome"—the mental depression felt when the cheering stops and the playing days are over.

Billy Heindl was 33 years of age, broke, had developed an alcoholic problem and his family had left him at the time he jumped over the bridge. The story goes that he had a few beers this day, was out for a run and "feeling sorry for himself...he ran toward Perimeter Highway".

Billy Heindl survived but he will spend the rest of his life in a wheel chair.

Professional athletes are the heroes, they are bathed with attention and everyone wants to identify with them. They are never lonely because the masses love sport stars. Then one day it's over and they are gradually assimilated into the masses. Some athletes foresee the end and they have planned for it, mentally and financially, for others it is hard to swallow and for others it means swallowing booze and pills. They cannot face reality.

The fact is that in sports, unless you are a superstar, the turnover is high and the years of eligibility are limited (with the exception of Gordie Howe). The management treats you like a god one day and when you are of no use to them, they crap on you.

Professional sports is a business and it has the potential of being as dirty as any other business.

The story of Billy Heindl is a touching one, an eye opener, told to Gzowski willingly so that maybe his tale could help younger athletes foresee an end and recognize a darker side of professional sport exists. Hockey players don't die when they retire.

I guess making a livelihood in sports is like anything in life, you cannot put all your eggs in one basket, you have to have something to fall back on. Here enters the importance of combining an education with an athletic career.

Blending with this theme was Eddie MacCabes's column in the Ottawa Citizen on Tuesday evening. MacCabe wrote about Bruce Baker, a first round draft choice of the Montreal Canadiens who has been toiling with the farm club, the Halifax Voyageurs, for the past several years and says he will probably pack it in at the conclusion of this season because he can't see himself making the big club. He told MacCabe that he figures he is still young, 24, and he can start something in his hometown of Ottawa. After all, he has his education.

Locally, Donnie Morris spent a year playing for the Kalamazoo Wings of the International Hockey League and he couldn't see much future in hockey, so he quit and now he is in teacher's college.

Donnie had his degree from Concordia to fall back on after playing there during his undergrad years.

For both these individuals it must have been tough. Imagine all that practise time invested, the sacrifices, the hope and then only to be frustrated.

Gzowski uses a quote from Eric Nesterenko, a former NHLer with Chicago and Toronto, to drive this point home. The two, Gzowski and Nesterenko, were talking back in 1960 just after Gzowski had quit Maclean's magazine and he was depressed. Nesterenko's quote: "So what, a guy in your line can come back and back and back again...Your experience counts. With us all the experience in the world is no good when your legs don't work anymore. We know that someday, somebody's going to come and tell us they don't need us. And that's it."

Billy Heindl was not the first professional athlete to turn to the bottle and he won't be the last. He was shielded from reality for so long and then cast into society unprepared.

From this side of the TV it appears like the best job in the world. It can be, and then comes the end.

Glens snap streak with road victory

Alexandria Jr. "B" Glens snapped a three-game winless streak in Vanier on Sunday evening with a 10-4 victory over the fifth-place 72s.

The dismal period dates back to Friday, January 16 when the Glens cruised to an 11-2 victory over the hapless Clarence Creek Beavers. Two of the three defeats came at the hands of Navan, giving the Grads a five-point bulge in second spot and heading them for a bye in the first round of the playoffs.

With seven games remaining the Glens will be hard pressed to hold onto third place, a position coveted by both themselves and the St. Isidore Eagles. The two clubs are presently tied in the point standings with 33 points but the Glens hold one game in hand.

A third-place finish would mean playing Vanier in the quarter finals with the winner probably pitted against Navan in the semi-finals. A fourth place finish would mean a best-of-five series with the eagerless Beavers and then a showdown with South Ottawa. Both the Glens and St. Isidore would prefer to meet the Ottawa dynasty in the finals as opposed to the semi's.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1
GLENS 10, VANIER 4

Glens pulled out to a 5-1 first-period lead, the clubs exchanged goals in the middle stanza and the Glens dominated the third period, outscoring the 72s, 4-2.

Kennedy MacDonald led the Glens' marksmen with the hat trick while Laurie McRae and Frank St. Pierre hit for two goals apiece.

Andre Cholette, Leo Seguin and Brian Wensink scored one goal each. Seguin also collected four assists and Frankie Morris picked up three helpers.

Vanier got two goals from off the stick of Jean Charron and singles from Robert Bouthier and Kevin McGee.

Ed Williams was ejected from the contest with 4:29 remaining in the game along with the 72s' Rick Patenaude for fighting.

Alain Giroux collected the win in nets for Alexandria.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30
NAVAN 6, GLENS 4

Glens played one of their best games of the season but were robbed by Navan goaltender Marc Goneau and the heads up play of defenceman Gary Noel. Goneau made some saves that were labelled "goals" and Noel was there to clear the puck on most occasions.

Alexandria got on the scoreboard first with an early first period goal by Brian Wensink and then Navan replied with two markers with a time span of 30 seconds to pull ahead. Kevin Lawlor scored at the 12:42 mark and Mike St. Amand added another with 12:17 on the clock.

Frank St. Pierre tied the game 2-2 with his 50th goal of the season but Navan went ahead 3-2 heading into the second frame when Serge Seguin scored with only two minutes remaining on the clock.

Goaltender Alain Giroux held Grad forwards off the scoreboard in the second period while Luc Poirier found a hole in Goneau's padding on a power play to pull the locals even, 3-3, near the midpoint of the period.

Grads' Gary Noel put his club back on top early in the third period when he broke in unattended on Alain Giroux and beat him high. Don Godard increased the lead to two goals, 5-3, at the 8:32 mark. The Glens were given new hope when Brian Wensink scored with 2:36 remaining. They swarmed the Grad goal for the equalizer, but were thwarted time and again. In desperation Coach Gaetan Giroux pulled his goaltender but the move failed to produce and Serge Seguin collected his second goal of the game into an empty net.

Glens outshot the Grads, 45-37.

BANQUET HERE

Manager Bill Gebbie has informed The News that the Glens will be hosting the North-East Division Jr. "B" banquet at the Glengarry Sports Palace on Saturday, February 21. The banquet is slated to begin at 6 p.m., followed by the awards presentation and the naming of the All-Star team. Tickets are $7.50 and available from players and management.

Highlanders win first game of series

Two late goals within 25 seconds gave the Maxville Highlanders the first game in their best-of-three quarter final series with the Alexandria Jr. "C" Glens on Sunday afternoon in Maxville. Highlanders won the crucial first game, 7-5.

The two clubs were tied 1-1 after the opening twenty minutes with Ian MacDonald scoring for the Highlanders and Stephane Levac hitting for the Glens.

The clubs exchanged two goals in the second period before the Maxville club scored two shorthanded tallies within 10 seconds to send them into the period with a 5-3 lead.

Ian MacDonald with his second goal of the game notched one of the shorthanded goals and Wayne Kippen scored the other. Steve Kavic and Norman Bankley recorded Maxville's earlier goals in the period.

Mike Tessier and Jocelyn Ranger netted Alexandria's second-period goals.

Four minutes into the third frame, Alexandria had tied the match 5-5, on goals by Mike McDougall and Mark Cooper but despite running into penalty problems the Highlanders hung in and scored the winner at the 3:31 mark with Willie Kippen hitting the mark on a pass from Norman Bankley. With 3:07 remaining, Darren Rolland scored an insurance marker for the home club with Bruce Benton and Wayne Kippen assisting.

Rebels hold third place

Char-Lan Rebels held onto third position in the South East Division of the Ottawa Valley Jr. "B" League with a split of their games during the week but are only three points away from being out of post-season play.

The top four clubs advance to playoff action in the South East and only three points separate the third and fifth place clubs.

Morrisburg's 4-2 victory over the Rebels in Morrisburg on Sunday put the Lions only one point in back of Char-Lan in fourth place with the same number of games played while Cardinal is holding down fifth place, three points in the rear, with one game in hand.

Rebels recognized the importance of Sunday's game, said Manager Stewart Fourney and that may have been their downfall. The team was tight for the first half of the match and fell behind 3-0 before they caught fire and finished with a strong third period, but it was too late.

Two goals by Scott Gordon and a single by Leo Lafortune put the Lions up 3-0 before Scott Grant replied for the Rebels with 53 seconds left in the second period.

Gary Jarvis opened the scoring to start the third period and put the Lions up 4-1 before the Rebels took over and dominated play. However the locals could only manage a single goal by Dave Fontaine at the 16:21 mark.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28
REBELS 10, CARDINAL 5

A back and forth scoring battle was broken late in the second period when Char-Lan erupted with two quick goals to give them a commanding 9-5 lead heading into the final twenty minutes. Jim Baker and Dave Fontaine scored goals ten seconds apart during the last minute of the period.

Ray Bourdon led his team offensively with four goals while Kenton Spink, Marc Seguin, Jim Brown and Harvey Primeau notched the other singles.

Lancaster wrestles back first place

In the seesaw battle for first place in the Alexandria Intermediate Hockey League, Lancaster has wrestled its way back to the top.

Glen Nevis enjoyed the distinction of being the first place club one week ago but dropped two games since that time while Lancaster went undefeated in two. The key game was on Sunday afternoon when Lancaster doubled the Glen Nevis squad, 6-3, to reclaim sole possession of first. The two clubs were tied following Thursday night action in Williamstown which saw Bainsville upset Glen Nevis, 6-2, while Lancaster recorded a 6-4 victory in the second contest.

On Sunday Kerry MacKay led Lancaster with a two-goal performance while teammates Gerald Bardon, Maurice Andre, Glen Bethune and Cory Laframboise added singles. Ian Sandilands notched two for Glen Nevis and John McLeod got the other tally.

In the first game St. Raphael's won their fifth game of the season with a 5-2 win over Bainsville.

St. Raphael's got single markers from Terry St. Onge, Andy McRae, B. J. MacDonald, Rob MacDougall and Andy MacDonell. Garrett McGillis and Murdie Ross replied for Bainsville.

Pierre Rougeau was the star for Bainsville in Thursday's win over Glen Nevis with four goals and an assist while Murdie Ross and Maurice Rougeau accounted for the remainder of the scoring.

John McLeod and Ian Sandilands replied for Glen Nevis.

In the second game in which Lancaster downed St. Raphael's, 6-4, Lancaster goal scorers were Maurice Andre with two and singles by Allan Laframboise, Gordie Laframboise, Art Sinfield and Brian Reasbeck.

Replying for St. Raphael's were Wally MacDonald, Joey McRae, Ray Scott and Rob MacDougall.

Todd Rozon provided Rozon Insurance with a shutout over Gadbois Graders while Tony Wallis and Ken Hall scored for a 2-0 game.

In Peewee action Chretien Backhoe scored two convincing wins, the first a 7-3 upending of Cornwall Optical, despite a three-goal performance by Luc Decoeur. Jeff Watson and Ron Lefebvre scored two apiece, while Barry Avery, Andrew Page and Peter Kannon added singles. In their second game, two goals from Ron Lefebvre and Leon Sabourin lifted Chretien to a 7-1 shellacking of Rob McIntosh China, whose only goal came from Donald Russell. Four clubs prepare for Snowarama

Four area clubs are in the midst of preparing for the 7th Whipper Watson's Snowarama, a fund raising event for the Ontario Society of Crippled Children.

Members of the Alexandria Snowmobile Club and the Seaway Valley Snowmobile Club organize and participate in this annual event while members of the Alexandria Lions and Cornwall Kiwanis Club look after the administrative details.

Some 300 local riders are expected to ride in the 100-mile course which will start from the Alexandria Snowmobile clubhouse, east of Alexandria, at 7:30 a.m. on Sunday, Febrvary 17 and return to the clubhouse later that day. Snowmobilers will be circulating in the next few weeks collecting pledges from friends and associates for their endurance rally.

Snowarama was cancelled last year because of the lack of snow but organizers hope to make up for it this year and have set an objective of $20,000.

The money raised will be turned over to the two local service clubs which expend thousands of dollars annually providing braces, artificial limbs, wheel chairs, etc., for physically handicapped children. The balance goes to the Ontario Society which maintains an office in Cornwall staffed by a district nurse and secretary. The local nurse has a caseload of 120 children.

Other check points in the Snowarama include, McDonell's Inn, Martintown, Maxville, Moose Creek, Strathmore and Apple Hill.

For more information, snowmobilers are urged to contact the Alexandria Snowmobile Club or Doug McNaughton, Snowarama Co-ordinator (534-2358).

SKATING WAS GOOD—Although the periodic rainfall of late has taken its toll on our snow covered fields for recreational pursuits, the sunny cold weather on the weekend was conducive for outdoor rink games. The camera caught the activity at the Alexander School rink on Sunday afternoon.

Peewee Glens ousted early

Alexandria Peewee Glens have been ousted from the Ottawa District Playdown competition.

In their first game in playdown action last Friday, the Glens dropped an 8-2 decision to Osgoode in Manotick. Alexandria goals were scored by Laurier Rochon and Richard Daniels.

On Saturday the Glens hosted Arnprior and lost a closely fought game, 6-4. Michel Sabourin, Michel Miller, Glen Campbell and Andre Campeau recorded the Glens' goals.

In exhibition play on Sunday, January 25, Alexandria defeated Montreal North in Montreal, 2-1. Goals were scored by Laurier Rochon and Michael Daniels.

On Sunday the Peewee Glens took on some heavy opposition, their fathers and played to a 6-6 tie. Scoring for the Peewees were Glen Campbell with two and singles were notched by Michel Miller, Dominic St. Denis, Richard Daniels and Pierre Roman.

The fathers' team earned a most noteworthy penalty during the contest when Jacques Campeau was sent to the box for speeding.

The sons had strong vocal support from a select group of fans—their mothers!

Work begins on Morewood school

Work will proceed on phase two of Morewood Public School before provincial funding becomes available.

Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education made the decision last week after hearing that the school may be closed down by health inspectors if septic tank problems are not rectified immediately.

The first phase in the improvement program, which has been completed, was to build new washrooms at a cost of $82,000.

The second phase, which will cost $500,000, calls for building a four-classroom addition and renovating the school's existing classrooms to other uses such as a resource library centre.

The province has agreed to fund the second phase during the 1982-83 school year.

The work must be done prior to that, Trustee Lorne Thompson said.

Trustee Thompson, Chairman of the school's building committee said the faulty tile bed and septic tank must be repaired now.

"The situation is very bad and there is a real health hazard to our students," he said.

Board Plant Controller Dave Petepiece said the school might have to be closed if the improvements are not made.

"We are quickly reaching the point when we'll not be able to keep the school open as far as the health inspectors are concerned," he said.

Some trustees questioned spending money prior to provincial subsidy arriving, but agreed to make an exception.

Board Superintendent Ken MacLennan said the provincial funds might arrive ahead of schedule. If not, the board will have to pay a maximum $67,500 in interim financing charges.

The board hopes to start work this summer for completion by September 1.

Moose Creek Women's Institute held meeting

Mrs. E. L. Blair and Mrs. Wilfred Montcalm were joint hostesses for the January meeting of the members of the Moose Creek Branch of the Women's Institute branch, which was held in the home of Mrs. E. L. Blair.

The president, Mrs. Elmer McDermid, presided over the opening exercises. After welcoming all present, she read a thought provoking poem that asked the question "What will you do with the New Year?"

Miss Florence Gentles read the correspondence, including a card of good wishes from Mrs. James Boyle, a former president who now resides in Ireland.

The roll call on resolutions brought out many helpful hints for 1981.

The hostesses after welcoming and extending good wishes to all, presented a very interesting program. Mrs. Montcalm reminded the members that the year 1981 had been designated as the "year of the handicapped" and in her talk she urged that our care and concern must be shown in helpful action.

Mrs. Blair spoke of the history of the past year and the hopes for the year ahead. She read a poem entitled, "Don't Quit" and a second poem "The World is Mine."

Mrs. Blair introduced the guest speaker, William William of Monkland, who is a newly elected councillor to the Roxborough Township Council. Mr. William spoke on the "value of good basic principles and optimistic attitude in life." He was thanked by Mrs. Montcalm and was presented with a gift of appreciation.

Mrs. Blair reviewed the highlights of year 1980, month by month. A door prize was won by Mrs. Stanley McKay and a contest "Know your Canada" was won by Mrs. Gordon McKercher, Sr.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, the members expressed their gratitude to Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Montcalm for a most worthwhile and enjoyable meeting.

Moose Creek UCW held meeting at Maxville Manor

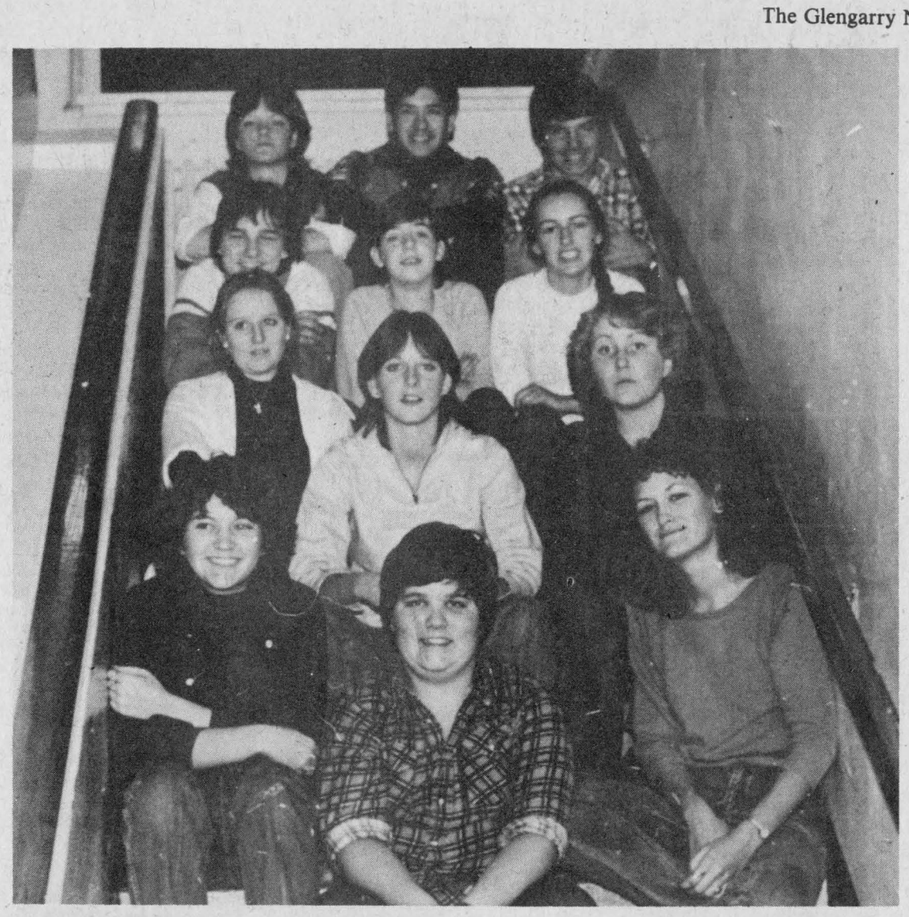
The January meeting of the members of the United Church Women of Knox United Church, Moose Creek was held in a sitting room in the Maxville Manor. The members had planned to meet there for the purpose of celebrating a birthday with a former member, Miss Lily McKillican.

The president, Mrs. Chester Valley, welcomed all and extended good wishes from the members. Her opening thoughts were that a new year means a new beginning and another chance to make it a stepping stone to a new growth in Christian living.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Elmer McDermid. Her theme was "What will you do with the New Year?" Mrs. Pearl Barclay read the Scripture lesson taken from Psalm 92. The meditation thought dealt with "Excuses and I haven't time." Mrs. McDermid concluded the worship portion of the meeting with a New Year's prayer.

During the business period of the meeting, plans were made for the February meeting including a Silent Auction—a financial project.

A very enjoyable social hour was spent over a cup of coffee and a gaily decorated birthday cake. Miss McKillican thanked all the members for their thoughtfulness and good wishes.



READY FOR PRESENTATION—Members of Le Sablier, a group of GDHS students pose between rehearsals of their play "Un monde de fous" which they will present on Thursday night, February 5, at 8 p.m. in conjunction with the Alexandria Carnival. From left front by rows: Danielle Massie, Roch Robinson, Sylvie Bédard; Sylvie Ramsay, Chantal Valade, Joanne Lalonde; Marcel Deschamps, Yves Leroux, Monique Lalonde; Liette Valade, Director Robert Bellefeuille, Serge Valade. Absent from group: Linda Sauvé and Francine Robinson. The play is a composition of excerpts written by Quebec authors like Tremblay, Garneau, Barbeau and Gélinas.

Seals money work continues

Although the 1980 Christmas Seal campaign officially ends January 31 the work of Christmas Seal dollars continues all year. Family Asthma programs are conducted, Smoking and Health programs in schools and Stop Smoking courses for adults are also offered.

Research and Rehabilitation programs are also funded through Christmas Seals.

This year's campaign objective of $30,000 was set by the needs of the five counties the Lung Association serves. To-date they are only $4,000 short of reaching their goal. Christmas Seals is the sole support of the Lung Association and they are hopeful this last appeal will bring in the remaining funds they need.

Send your donation today and help the Lung Association in their fight against lung disease.

To all who have supported this year's campaign the Lung Association would like to say "Thank You."

The year of the rooster

Tonight the wind is howling out there, the snow is driving down, it's the year of the rooster and Bill Davis has just called an election. Don't laugh. All these things are connected.

You see, the year of the rooster is 1981 and according to the Chinese, this is a year wherein caution is demanded in spending, travel and new adventures. Even new business should be postponed until the stars are more favorable. Are you listening Bill? Are you listening Pierre?

Now somehow, I cannot connect the upcoming Ontario provincial election with caution in spending. This is where the howling winds come in, you see. That violent gale blowing tonight is but a small taste of the violent hurricanes of campaign rhetoric the hapless voters of Ontario are to be subjected to when the Tories, Liberals and NDP come howling at the door for votes.

And there should be howling aplenty, what with strikes, layoffs, shutdowns, and declines in almost every business sector in Ontario, once the fat cat province of Canada.

Is Bill Davis really in trouble or will he win the majority he wants and hold onto power until 1985, extending the Tories' unbroken rule over Ontario to a magnificent 41 years?

The Tories may have trouble in this election with their leader's refusal to make Ontario officially bilingual. However, everyone, in every party, is so touchy about this issue that it may never make it as an election issue. If this thorny topic surfaces, however, we may have parties coming out of the closet on the always volatile, always Canadian issue of language rights. Perhaps even Mr. Trudeau will have to come up for air on this one.

Next, it's the farmers. The Federation of Agriculture for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry has levelled charges of lack of interest against the provincial government. The farmers of the United Counties note that Ontario farmers, with the exception of those in P.E.I. receive the least support from their provincial government. They presented their views, and their demands, to Conservative MLA Osie Villeneuve at a recent meeting. How the various parties deal with the suggestions put forth by the Federation will determine a significant proportion of votes cast by the much sought after Ontario farmers.

Now, industry. Robert Nuth, president of the Canadian Construction Association, says, "The industry's not expecting a recovery in 1981". He says that industry uncertainty created by the ongoing energy war is delaying millions of dollars in investment projects and that much of the heavy equipment used in such investment projects is made in central Ontario. Spiralling interest rates also discourage many types of construction because contractors are understandably reluctant to borrow.

And now for you and me. How've your grocery bills, heating bills, gasoline costs, rental and mortgage payments been lately? Been on strike, laid off or unemployed recently? Having trouble coping with the "cost of living?"

Well, now, let's see if we can force some change out of this election. Make your politicians respond to your needs. Don't buy just any old promise. Remember—exercise caution. It is, after all, the Year of the Rooster and right now Ontario's got economic egg all over its face.

Sylvie Ranger crowned queen

Sylvie Ranger was declared queen of the Alexandria Carnival last night at Glengarry District High School auditorium in the 15th annual competition sponsored by the Richelieu Club.

Suzanne Lalonde was chosen first princess and Gisele Vincent second princess and Sylvie Ranger was chosen Miss Congeniality.

This year, the club has awarded different prizes. Instead of the all-expense trip or weekend, the queen won $500 cash, about $265 in gift certificates, as well as several other gifts.

Second prize winner won $350 cash and the third winner got $250 cash. The two duchesses each won $100 cash and Miss Congeniality, $50. These winners also got several other gifts in gift certificates. The Town of Alexandria offers all candidates a commemorative plaque or key for their participation and the Richelieu Club presents each with a souvenir bracelet.

Acting as Master of Ceremonies was Bobby Leroux, assisted by last year's queen Diane Claude. Gerald Lefebvre was prince consort to all the lovely girls for the evening and music was supplied by L'Escale under the direction of Jacques Castonguay of Hawkesbury.

Judging for the competition was based on: 25 points for charm, poise, carriage and personality; 25 for a three-minute speech and 40 for a display of talent. Ticket promotion earned 10 points.

Gisele Vincent, 17-year-old daughter of Jean and Therese Vincent has set her goal on an accountant's career. She was sponsored by Glengarry District High School. Her speech dealt with the trauma endured by so many children today when the parents break up and they are left to adjust to a one-parent household. Her talent presentation was a song entitled "Baby, Baby" against a backdrop of a couple silhouetted against the sunset.

The Knights of Columbus sponsored Sylvie Lajoie, the 17-year-old daughter of Rene and Claire Lajoie of Green Valley. Sylvie's ambition is to be a teacher in the primary division. "People are not grateful enough; they should express their appreciation more to those around them," Sylvie remonstrated in her speech. Her talent display, a monologue set in a bedroom dealt with the anxieties of a child who has to live with alcoholic parents.

The love of a child for his or her mother can hardly be defined, was the theme of Nathalie Binette's speech. Nathalie is the 16-year-old daughter of Donald and Agathe Binette.

Her love of theatrical work was demonstrated in the play which she wrote and acted entitled "Un Matin pas comme les Autres." Caisse Populaire sponsored Nathalie.

The big adjustment experienced by a child from the world of pre-school to school days was the topic of Sylvie Ranger's speech. Sylvie, who was sponsored by Alexandria Moulding, is the 17-year-old daughter of Constant and Rita Ranger. Her interests lie in early childhood education. A gymnastic routine on the balance beam and interpretive dance was her talent exhibition.

Masson Insurance sponsored Suzanne Lalonde, the 16-year-old daughter of Marc and Marlene Lalonde. Skating, baton-twirling, macrame and sewing are this young lady's hobbies. The love of the many different types of people that Suzanne met as a cashier in her early teens helped contribute to her development as a person, she said in her speech. In her talent display, she chose to demonstrate baton twirling and executed her routine to Steve Wonder's song "Master Blaster."

A sixth contestant Francine Massie was not able to take part in the activity because of illness.

Police give headquarters a facelift

Alexandria Police station is in the process of being renovated.

"It is a public office and it should look like one," said Chief Denis Larouche last Monday as town employees tacked up wood panelling.

The renovations include: carpet for the walking area; a security storage compartment for criminal case exhibits; an interview room; lockers for the individual officers; an identification counter for photo and finger printing; an enlarged office for the police chief and other minor alterations.

The public entrance to the police headquarters will also change with a reception desk replacing the counter and a new entrance door.

The police force have sought the changes for some time they report and their plans were recently approved by members of the police commission.

School closing battle begins

A fresh battle over the closing of small rural schools erupted at Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education last week.

The debate was sparked by a brief presented to trustees calling for continuation of the kindergarten French immersion program.

Although the provincial government scrapped financial support of the program last year deciding it was not viable, the SD&G board opted to continue the program without provincial subsidy and pick up 100 per cent of the cost.

Opponents of the school closings pointed to this board expenditure in comparison to the comparatively lower cost of keeping rural schools open.

Last week, Nicholas Zrymiak, chairman of Nationview School Committee argued the French program should again be funded by the board.

"We believe this program to be educationally cost effective," he said.

"It provides the channels for long-term educational benefit for the children of our communities. It develops the experience of a second language at an early age," he noted, and "recognizes and provides for emerging socio-political needs."

The acceptance of the program "can best be attested to by the enrolment figures of approximately seven per cent of kindergarten students," Mr. Zrymiak said.

Last year, the board picked up the program's $380,000 cost.

The trustees agreed to discuss the issue in their pre-budget seminar this year.

This prompted the Committee on Rationalization of Elementary Schools to suspend its work until a decision is made on the future of the French immersion program.

"If we decide to run a French kindergarten program that's going to cost us between $300,000 and $400,000, there is no way we can ask for the closure of schools to save $90,000," said committee member Trustee Harry Gatward.

White Cane Week now on

This is White Cane Week. The Canadian Council of the Blind reminds you to give your eyes the care and protection they deserve. Preventing blindness is everyone's concern. Make it yours.

Today doctors can restore sight to many cornea-damaged patients with transplant operations. This White Cane Week, The Canadian Council of the Blind asks you to fill in an eye donor card for the Eye Bank of Canada. Blindness is everyone's concern.

Blindness does not always mean the total absence of sight. Many people have partial vision, enough to allow them to read print—with low vision aids—and get around easily without a white cane. Unnecessary loss of sight, however, is always tragic. Safeguard your vision. Blindness is everyone's concern.

He farmed for a number of years and later was employed with the Department of Highways. He was later married to the former Isobel Wilcox of Verdun.

He was a well known violinist, and was widely acclaimed and highly esteemed by his host of friends and associates. In 1967 he suffered a stroke and was hospitalized for some time.

Area couple shares 68 years of marriage

by Marge Seger

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Menard of Alexandria quietly marked their 68th wedding anniversary on January 28.

They were married on January 28, 1913 at St. Martin of Tours Church, Glen Robertson, by the late Rev. Duncan (Baker) MacDonald, who was then pastor.

Mrs. Menard was the former Clara Leblanc and was born in Glen Sandfield on February 5, 1892, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leblanc, while Mr. Menard was born at Glen Robertson on February 21, 1890, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Menard. They were educated at the area schools, and farmed in Glen Robertson until they moved to Alexandria in 1946 when they purchased a home on Kenyon Street and resided there until 1978 when they moved to an apartment with their daughter Mrs. Laurier Lefebvre, 34 Catherine Street East.

Mr. and Mrs. Menard were the parents of three daughters, Aldea who died at the age of 12, Mrs. Rolland Poirier (Ida) who died in 1966, and Mrs. Laurier Lefebvre (Eva) of Alexandria. They also have seven grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

They have been faithful worshippers at Sacred Heart Parish where Mrs. Menard was a devoted member of the League of the Sacred Heart and the Ladies of St. Anne. They have been highly respected citizens of Alexandria for the past 35 years and are wished many more happy anniversaries by their host of admiring friends and relatives.

Jean Marc Lefebvre, a promising young lawyer in Alexandria is a grandson.

It is interesting to note that both their birthdays fall in February. She will be 89 on the 5th, and he will be 91 on the 21st. Mr. Menard is keeping very smart and is able to be out every day but Mrs. Menard's health confines her to her home.

Euchre planned

On January 6, Mount Carmel Auxiliary had its monthly meeting at Shalom House.

A very enlightening and touching talk was given by a councillor from a rehabilitation centre, Farm Cottage in Ogdensburg, N.Y. Her explanation of how Farm Cottage was established and run, gave each one of us a general idea of how Mount Carmel, in time will be operated.

A "Valentine Euchre" is planned for Sunday, February 8 at 8 p.m. in the Iona Academy gym. Come and bring your friends for a night of enjoyment.

Glengarry presbyterial holds annual meeting

The Glengarry Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, held its annual meeting in St. John's Church, Cornwall.

President, Mrs. William Ewing welcomed all and constituted the meeting with prayer. The theme for the day's proceedings was "zeal" and in keeping with this theme much enthusiasm was shown by all members attending the gathering.

Two members from Lancaster Presbyterian Women, Miss Annabell McNaughton and Mrs. Arthur Smith, conducted the devotional period.

It was announced that the annual synodical meeting would be held at St. Paul's Church, Ottawa, on April 8 and 9. Delegates to this meeting will be chosen from Maxville, Avonmore, Ingleside and Kirk Hill auxiliaries. Date of the council meeting in Toronto was announced as May 4 to 8, and Mrs. W. R. MacEwen was appointed delegate with Mrs. Gordon Fresque as alternate.

The May rally will be held in Vankleek Hill on either May 20 or 27. Auxiliaries will be notified at a later time which date has been chosen.

Miss Annabell McNaughton brought greetings from Council and gave a very interesting commentary on "Profiles on Missionaries." She highly recommended this booklet to be used at auxiliary meetings.

Mrs. Alpin MacGregor, Synodical president, brought greetings from that society.

Mrs. Ewing announced the death of Miss Mary Jane MacLennan and a feeling of sadness and loss was felt by all present. Miss Emily MacInnes paid tribute to the long years of service given to the Women's Missionary Society by the late Miss MacLennan.

Reports of the departmental secretaries were presented and discussed. The treasurer, Miss Isabelle McGaughey, reported on encouraging financial response and congratulated the various auxiliaries for their efforts.

A display of books and literature was set up by the literature secretary, Mrs. Gordon Fresque, who reported increased interest and sales this year.

Miss Emily MacInnes thanked all the ladies who had presented annual reports.

The morning session closed with prayer and the ladies of St. John's Church served a delicious luncheon.

At the afternoon meeting Miss Margaret Boyd, Area Consultant from Ottawa, led a panel discussion on the Conference for Presybterian Women, which was held in Ottawa last year. She was assisted by Miss Annabell McNaughton, Mrs. Mora MacGregor and Mrs. Isabel MacLeod. All members on the panel expressed their appreciation to the ladies who had planned the Conference. Some of the highlights mentioned in the discussion were: (a) Enthusiasm, (b) Dynamic Speakers, (c) Meeting the Missionaries, (d) Music (e) Wide variety of interest groups with excellent leaders, (f) Good facilities and delicious meals.

Lawrence Laflamme dies

The death occurred at Glengarry Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, January 27, 1981, of Lawrence Laflamme of Boundary Road, Alexandria, at the age of 66 years. He was born at St. Raphael's West, Ontario, a son of the late Joseph Laflamme and his late wife the former Victoria Taillon. The family moved to Alexandria some 60 years ago. He attended St. Margaret's Convent School and the Alexander Separate School and at the age of 13 he joined his father who was foreman with the United Counties SD&G Road Department, where he remained until last spring when he retired after 53 years service. He was a very quiet but friendly personality, was highly respected by his fellow workers, and held in high esteem by his friends and neighbors in Alexandria.

He was married on January 22, 1940 to the former Jeanette Lauzon of Alexandria.

Left to mourn the passing of a beloved husband and a kind and devoted father and grandfather are his wife Jeanette, one daughter Mrs. Claude Lalonde (Huguette) of Lachine, one son Rene, of Edmonton and three grandchildren. Also surviving are four sisters: Mrs. Victor Villeneuve (Albina) of Valleyfield; Mrs. Paul Leger (Dora) of Dalhousie; Mrs. Noella Taillefer and Mrs. Wilfred Decoeur (Lorraine) both of Alexandria; and six brothers—Leo of Windsor, Real of Ottawa, Arthur of Cornwall, Euclide, Fernand and Albert, all of Alexandria.

The very largely attended funeral was held at Sacred Heart Church, Rev. Roger Desrosiers, pastor, was celebrant, Sacred Heart Choir was in attendance.

The pallbearers were Paul Leger, Serge Paquette, Fernand Laflamme, Arthur Laflamme, Albert Laflamme and Real Laflamme. The body was placed in St. Finnan's Vault to await spring burial in the family plot in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Relatives and friends attended from Ottawa, Windsor, Cornwall, Lachine, Valleyfield, Dalhousie and surrounding area.

Local soliciting questioned

An area man, who was victimized by fire damage to his house has been soliciting door to door in Alexandria for financial assistance with a letter of permission from the town office sanctioning the fund-raising. The approach has been questioned by a number of town citizens.

Alexandria Town Councillors reported at last Tuesday's general meeting that they have received queries about the authenticity of the door-knocking fund-raising approach.

Mayor Touchette told council that the issuing of a letter to people legitimately in need has been done in the past and a letter to the individual in question had been given.

People will learn to look for a letter from the town sanctioning a fund-raising effort. We have had some very suspicious groups soliciting funds within the town in the past, added the Mayor.

Clerk Don Collin said that the issuing of a letter from the town office is customary procedure after the clerk has checked with the Mayor and police and a legitimate need for help is established.

Entwhistle appointed to standards council

The Honorable Ed Lumley, MP for Stormont, Dundas, has announced that his colleague the Hon. Herbert Gray, has appointed Jack Entwistle of Cornwall to the Standards Council of Canada.

The Council's objectives are to foster and promote voluntary standardization in fields relating to the construction, manufacture, production, quality and safety of buildings, products and manufactured articles.

Mr. Lumley said that he "was very pleased that Mr. Entwistle has been appointed to this important national organization. The selection of Mr. Entwistle, the President of Jack Entwistle Construction Ltd., is excellent especially when you consider his experience as a medium size Canadian Businessman in the construction industry. I know that his contribution to the Council's decision making process will be as numerous as they will be pertinent."

SHOCK TALK

Ice storms, high winds or fallen tree limbs can bring hydro lines down. And even a fallen wire that seems dead can be dangerous.

So don't go near the wires, warn others not to and report the fallen wires to your local hydro or the police as soon as possible.

If a line falls across your vehicle, stay inside until a hydro crew removes the line. If there's a live power line touching your car, putting even one foot on the ground can be a fatal move to make.

Electrical safety is no shock to you.

The annual Robbie Burns celebration at yon Bonnie Glen last week would have made fun loving Burns himself happy. Pipers, MacCulloch Dancers, singers, men of the soil, vivacious ladies, good food, (including haggis) good drink and good company made for an enjoyable evening.

The MacCulloch dancers, the Glengarry Pipe Band, and Sylvester MacDonald and his Clansmen all performed to large (full house) appreciative crowd. Musing on the evening led me to write down a few words on Burns. Many people in the 18th century were aware that there existed natural poets who warbled their lyrics without influence of literary tradition. These primitive rustics were sought among peasants in the country, presumably unpolluted by fallout from civilized society. When Burns published his first book "Poems," in 1786, at age 27, he was immediately acclaimed by the critics of Edinburgh (the seat of all culture) as an example of the primitive genius, a heaven-taught plowman whose poems were the spontaneous outpouring of his native emotions. But, actually, this man celebrated the world o'er was very well-read, though self-taught. He had a sensibility and alert intelligence allowing him to make the most of his limited vistas. Though he was not fettered by the contemporary conventions of stale classicism his deliberate craftsmanship turned him to the older models of the Scottish oral literary tradition of folksongs. A man worthy of the annual ceilidh.

Last week's tug-of-war problem; the side with the Glengarry farmers on it won. This week's word problem: what do the following words have in common? Ton, call, scare, shag, coma, warm, wax, squeak, beat.

If dumb animals could only talk in understandable language, might they say something akin to the following?

Cat: if only I had nine lives. Dog: I have passed the last lamp post. Pig: I hope to save my bacon. Walrus: The time has come. Turtle: I live between plated decks which almost conceal my sex. I think it smart of me in such a fix to be so fertile and still be able to win races with hares. Camel: I feel the penultimate straw on my poor back. Cow: I think that it's better to have sickness in the house than in the barn.

Appointed to council

The Honorable Ed Lumley, M.P. for Stormont-Dundas, has expressed great satisfaction with the announcement by his colleague, the Honorable Gerald Regan, that Bill Dillabough, of Morrisburg, has been appointed to the National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport. The Council's mandate is to advise the Minister on all matters relating to fitness and amateur sport.

Mr. Lumley said that he "was very pleased that someone with Mr. Dillabough's experience and calibre has been appointed to this important national organization. The choice is excellent especially when you consider his involvement with recreation not only at the municipal level but also his amateur hockey background at every level. I know that his contributions to the Council's decision making process will be as numerous as they will be pertinent."

Respected resident dies

A very highly respected resident of the Third of Kenyon passed away at the Hotel Dieu Hospital on Friday, January 30 in the person of Roderick (Rod) O'Brien, at the age of 67 years.

He was born in the Third of Kenyon, a son of the late Dan J. O'Brien and his late wife the former Mary MacDonald. He was educated in the area schools and attended the Alexandria High School. Later he farmed on the homestead for several years before joining the Maintenance Staff at the Glengarry District High School and later was on Maintenance with Glengarry Transport Reg'd.

He was well liked and very highly regarded by his fellow associates. He has been in failing health for the past year, but his final illness was a great shock to his family and friends.

In 1943 he was married at St. Alexander's Church, Lochiel, to the former Donalda MacDonell and they have resided in the Third of Kenyon ever since.

Left to mourn the passing of a beloved husband, a kind and loving father, devoted brother and loving grandfather are: his wife, Donalda; three sons, Allan and Charlie of Ottawa and Danny of Alexandria; also three daughters, Mrs. Donald Cameron (Sharon) of Glen Roy; Mrs. Mac MacKinnon (Linda) of Ottawa, and Mrs. Denis Flaro (Margo) of Williamstown. Three brothers and three sisters also survive—Michael of Detroit; Edward of Williamstown; Angus of Arizona; Mrs. Steve Giroux (Mary Belle) of Montreal; Mrs. Don Trizisky (Florence) of Detroit; and Miss Helen O'Brien of Miami, Florida; as well as nine grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. John M. MacDonald (Janet) and Miss Agnes O'Brien, and by four brothers, John, Lawrence, Duncan Archie and William.

The funeral was held on Monday, February 2 at St. Finnan's Cathedral. Very Rev. D. B. McDougald, rector, was celebrant, with Rev. Bernard Cameron, pastor of St. Columban's, a cousin, concelebrating.

The augmented choir, under the direction of Sister Kathryn Cameron of Cornwall with Mrs. J. Daniel MacDonald as organist, rendered the funeral mass and appropriate hymns.

The pallbearers were: Lloyd Kennedy, Cameron McCormick, J. Daniel MacDonald, Keith MacPherson, Donald MacDonald and R. D. Chisholm.

The body was placed in St. Finnan's Vault, to await burial in the spring in the family plot in St. Finnan's Cemetery.

Relatives and friends attended from Cornwall, Ottawa, Toronto, Chesterville, Winchester, Montreal, Williamstown, Glen Nevis and other surrounding area points.

Green Thumb held annual

On January 26, 1981 the Williamstown Green Thumb Horticultural Society held their annual pot luck supper. The members had a very varied and enjoyable meal. Afterwards a social evening was held. Some members gathered around the piano for a sing-song, others sat around and talked about gardening. A good time was had by all.

Our next meeting will be held on February 23 at 8 in St. Mary's little hall in Williamstown. The feature of the evening will be a color film of Canada's national parks.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Glengarry Federation of Agriculture held annual at Green Valley

The annual meeting of the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture was held on January 26 at Green Valley Pavilion. Lawrence St. Denis chaired the meeting.

Guest speakers for the evening were Doug Jackson of Ontario Hydro and OFA executive member Ian Ballislle from Prince Edward County. Mr. Jackson spoke on future power lines from Lennox to Ottawa to Cornwall, projected for 1985. Ballislle outlined the procedure for farmers dealing with Ontario Hydro re land transactions. They were advised to remain calm, to accept no verbal agreements and to sign no written agreement before getting together with other farmers so affected and an OFA member who could help negotiate a fair deal for land purchased by Ontario Hydro. The right of way for power lines can vary from one area to another depending on the voltage and a farmer should be aware of the inconvenience of a tower in his field.

The following reports of local organizations were read: Glengarry Pork Association by Charles Myers; Eastern Breeders and Glengarry Holstein Breeders by Donald Thomson; Glengarry Plowman's Association by Charlie MacDonald, who also mentioned that the International Plowing Match will be held in Ottawa-Carleton in 1983 and Junior Farmers by Doug Sova.

A slate of officers was recommended and elected for 1981-82. For Lancaster Township, Jimmy Sangster and Charlie MacDonald; for Lochiel Township, William MacGillis and Hubert Duchesne; for Kenyon Township, Donald Besner and Raymond Leduc and for Charlottenburgh Township, Roger Leblanc and Bruce Sova. A chairman will be elected at the February 3 meeting.

Villeneuve discusses problems County Federation of Agriculture

The County Federation of Agriculture for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry met in Monkland on Saturday, January 24 at 1 p.m.

The meeting was chaired by Dan Harkin of Winchester. County presidents and Regional and County Directors attended.

Osie Villeneuve, M.L.A. was present to discuss recommendations to the Ontario Government prepared by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture re Agriculture and Food Strategy for Ontario.

Donald Besner, a representative for Glengarry County stated that if young Canadian farmers are to survive the Ontario Government will have to increase capital grants and subsidize interest so we can compete with other provinces. Donald Thomson mentioned that the Ontario government should not stop further inquiries into discounts and allowances in the food industry as recommended by the Leach Report and that O.F.A. petition Premier Bill Davis to refuse to accept the report.

It was mentioned that Tile Drainage Loans in the province for 1979 were over 30 million; for 1980, 25 million and insisted that the budget for '81 should be in the neighborhood of 37 million, considering inflation and the increased cost of tiling. They also felt that the differential in Hydro rates for farmers be reduced. As it now stands, urban rates are lower than rural rates and we feel it is discrimination.

Glengarry County was represented by Lawrence St. Denis, Donald Besner, Raymond Leduc, Donald Thomson, Roger Leblanc, Rolland Periard and Gerard Massie.

Many other subjects were discussed by Stormont & Dundas such as the South Nation River and Marketing & Storage for Eastern Ontario.

First Eastern Ontario Farmers' Week

Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology is co-ordinating the first Eastern Ontario Farmers' Week, February 16 to 21. The program is expected to draw more than 1000 farmers from across eastern Ontario.

"The college has been the site of various winter extension programs over the year," says Gary Pickard, head of the college's farm management section. "This is the first attempt to bring all of the extension programs under the umbrella of a one-week conference."

The conference features more than 50 speakers, including farmers, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food extension staff, Kemptville College staff and other specialists from Ontario, Quebec and New York State.

Eastern Ontario Farmers' Week opens with a day-long beef program, February 16. A dairy session and Ladies program are scheduled February 17. Soils and crops program and a small fruits program are being conducted concurrently February 18. A breed seminar and fresh market vegetable program are planned February 19, followed by the pork conference February 20. The final day is devoted to Dairy Goat production.

Area farmers are invited to attend a banquet at the college on February 20. Hal Anthony, Ottawa open-line host, is guest speaker.

Eastern Ontario Farmers' Week programs are sponsored by area soils and crops improvement associations, several commodity groups, Kemptville College and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Cost of the daily programs range from $5 to $10 per day including luncheon. For more information contact Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, Kemptville, Ontario. K0G 1J0.

Watch for pneumonia in pork herds

Ontario pork producers are urged to watch swine herds carefully for any symptoms of haemophilus pneumonia, says Dr. Ken Fisk, community sales barn supervisor for the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

"Because of a recent outbreak of the disease in western Ontario, livestock inspectors have been instructed to clamp down and refuse any consignment pigs suspected of having the disease," he says. If there is any doubt about the pig's health, it will not be accepted for sale in order to prevent further spread of disease.

This acute form of pneumonia can affect all ages of pigs, but is primarily a disease of growing pigs, from weaning to market weight. Death rates resulting from this respiratory disease can reach as high as 25 per cent.

Symptoms of haemophilus pneumonia are sometimes difficult to spot. Sudden deaths of what appear to be healthy pigs may be the first evidence of the disease in the herd. Other signs include difficult breathing, coughing and huddling for warmth. Producers may also notice a stiff gait, reduced activity and reduced feed consumption.

This disease can spread through the herd very rapidly, so don't experiment with remedies," warns Dr. Fisk. "Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by a veterinarian is the only way to contain the disease."

To prevent the disease, minimize stressful situations including overcrowding, draughts, wetness, cold and changes in feeding programs. Always isolate newly purchased animals for at least 10 days to determine the health status before introducing them into the herd.

Haemophilus pneumonia is relatively new to Ontario. The first cases appeared in 1976, but the incidence is increasing. Current cold conditions combined with poor ventilation may have contributed to the most recent outbreak, says Dr. Fisk.

For more information about haemophilus pneumonia, contact your veterinarian or your local Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food veterinary services laboratory.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Carnivals weaving into culture

In search for substance of Canadian culture we need look no farther than the lively winter carnivals which are rapidly assuming a distinct and novel flavor.

These of course are just in the budding stage. With all the winter sports mushrooming in popularity we can foresee giant rallies and competitions tied in with each centre's annual winter funfest.

Skiing is no longer restricted to the upper class wage earners. Whole families today participate with cross-country style embracing an extended age group.

While hockey was once the stronghold of the boys, the girls now participate and have added ringuette as well as figure-skating. Broomball and soft-puck hockey have involved many more adults in the participaction race.

The back-to-the-woodstoves movement has produced all types of strong-arms to wield the chain and cross-cut saws in hearty competition.

The major pitfall we have to contend with is the unpredictable weather which this week cancelled out the snow sculpture contest planned for the Alexandria Carnival.

Altogether, it is a great Canadian process of dealing with adversity, by emphasizing the fact that there is fun to be had as well as inconvenience in our inevitable Canadian winters. A. M. MacD.

Branch plant losing leaves

The economic chickens are coming home to roost.

Back in the mid-sixties, The Royal Commission on Foreign Ownership of the Canadian Economy warned that American subsidiaries in Canada owed their primary allegiance to their U.S. head offices. In times of economic crisis, these subsidiaries could be expected to form a circle around their parent and protect it from the arrows of economic distress.

A major oil company, for example, diverted Canadian-destined shipments of crude oil to the U.S. when a shortage hit that nation a couple of years ago.

The latest manifestation of not owning our own country, however, is the plant shut-down cancer which is spreading throughout Ontario.

Many of these plants are being closed down, tossing hundreds of Canadian workers into the streets, because the foreign owners believe they can make more money somewhere else.

It is not that these plants are not profitable. It is just that they are more profitable in places where labor is dirt cheap and can be exploited with the aid of sympathetic governments.

Companies set up in Canada, promise to create jobs, stick their hands out for government grants, get them, turn a nice profit and then close down and move away.

Many organizations, including the Ontario Federation of Labor, say it is time the government took stock of our economy instead of doling out grants with no lasting commitments in return for that money.

Just how much the government is prepared to cover up for its corporate friends is shown by a secret Treasury Ministry report (since leaked to the public) which predicts further massive employment loss in the province's auto industry.

The documents, kept hidden by the government, question the future viability of the Canadian operations of Chrysler and American Motors and call into question the government's present policy of giving outright grants to multinational corporations.

When the OFL expressed similar concerns to the cabinet in mid-December, Premier Bill Davis accused the group of exaggerating the problems.

What will Davis say now that his own big, blue machine has coughed up the same "exaggerated" concerns?

Perspective

Catholics at war

Using the writings of the late Pope Paul VI as justification, 10 major Catholic groups in El Salvador have endorsed the insurrectionist forces in the beleaguered Central American nation of El Salvador.

In an official statement, the group affirmed that the Salvadoran people are engaged in a "just struggle under the right of insurrection."

According to the groups—which include the Federation of Catholic Schools and the El Salvador Archdiocesan Pastoral Council—Pople Paul VI, in his encyclical Populorum Progressio (The Development of People), allowed insurrection "in the case of evident and prolonged tyranny that seriously attacks the fundamental rights of the person and harms the common good of the country."

The Catholic umbrella organization then goes on to say that "as Christians, religious and priests engaged in pastoral, educational and social work, we too wish to be with the people at this moment, recognizing the justice of their cause and struggle and their legitimate right to insurrection."

Contending that for 50 years, the Salvadoran people have lived "under seriously unjust economic, social and political structures," the statement says that "freedom of expression, the right to vote and constitutional protection have been violated. The lawmaking system and the administration of justice have been corrupted."

I do not dispute the group's claim about the injustice of the Salvadoran government. Like so many other Latin American nations, corruption is the hallmark of administration.

What does puzzle me, however, despite Pope Paul VI's encyclical, is the justification of violence as a Christian response to the situation.

Nowhere in the teachings of Christ do I recall any justification for "holy wars."

If the practice of early Christians teaches us anything, it is precisely the opposite—that it is better to lose one's own life in martyrdom than take another human life.

The easiest thing to do when meeting oppression is to fight back. Turning the other cheek and blessing those who persecute you is difficult. But then, it is supposed to be Christian.

Lions feasted on many Christians in ancient Rome, but they didn't form guerrilla bands and fight back. Neither Christ nor his apostles preached insurrection. Quite the contrary.

Many "guerrillas" of the time were disappointed that Christ did not lead a revolt. They thought he had come to deliver them from the Romans as Moses had delivered their ancestors from the Egyptians.

Indeed, many references to the old testament can be used to justify violence, but the new testament is devoid of such references. Christ brought a new "truth." His message was one of peace and it was because of this devout pacifism that Christianity grew.

The spiritual strength of the early Christian martyrs was so inspirational—they loved their "brothers" so much that they would sacrifice themselves rather than kill—that it served as a tremendous catalyst to conversion. Had they fought back physically, they would have simply been viewed as just another one of the many armed groups which were challenging Rome's authority at the time. To fight back was to give in to human frailty and deny their faith in life after death.

The corruption of latter day Rome could easily be compared to that of modern-day El Salvador. Economic oppression, even slavery itself, was practiced by Rome.

But did Christ or his disciples call for a "just insurrection" against the system?

"Everyone must obey state authorities, because no authority exists without God's permission, and the existing authorities have been put there by God. Whoever opposes the existing authorities opposes what God has ordered; and anyone who does so will bring judgment on himself." (Paul's Letter to the Romans, 13: 1-2).

Again in Paul's Letter to Titus, 1:1, we get a similar instruction: "Remind your people to submit to rulers and authorities, to obey them, and to be ready to do good in every way."

Even slavery should be endured without resort to violence: "Slaves are to submit themselves to their masters and please them in all things. They must not talk back to them or steal from them. Instead, they must show that they are always good and faithful, so as to bring credit to the teaching about God our Savior in all they do." (Titus 2: 9-10).

Such statements as the above were used for years by both the Catholic and Protestant Churches in North America to justify enslavement of black people.

The scriptures were also used to support such philosophies as the "Divine Right of Kings," under which monarchs claimed absolute power over their subjects.

Paul implies that no government is bad government. It is there because God put it there. He leaves no room for political dissent, only moral dissent.

From a philosophical viewpoint, I can embrace the position taken by the Church in El Salvador, but I do not believe it can be supported by scripture.

Could it be that, faced with the prospect of becoming irrelevant to the people, the Church abandoned the bible and adopted its own standards—standards based less on scriptural accuracy and more on the degree to which they will win popular acceptance?

Are the scriptures unrealistic? Has the Church decided that it is better to pick up the gun than endure martyrdom as the early Christians did?

Are pacifist groups like the Quakers the only true Christians?

This is the Year of the Handicapped.

We have had other designated years—just recently the Year of the Family, and the Year of the Child.

Frankly, if someone came up with the Year of the Dog and Cat it would seem to be of more concern to us.

If the number of TV commercials dealing with these two animal species is any indication of our standard of living, our directives are pursuing an alarming trend. It might be a good project for a school to keep track of the number of dog and cat commercials, and their substance. Compare these to the number advertising baby food.

The same group could go into the supermarket and compare the shelf space given to dog and cat food as compared to that given to babies.

It could be a good topic of discussion for a lot of things—whether it is cheaper to raise babies or animals, what is becoming the important focus in our lives and the like.

This would be an easy project because almost every family has a dog or cat and since the animal can't talk back we could speculate easily as to what programs we might adopt to further the cause of these animals.

The "year" projects dealing with people are very different of course. People can talk. So in case we get some flak we would rather not hear, we don't bring up the subject any more than we can help. It's safer to stay neutral. Unfortunately this is not a means to progress, we note as we review what has happened the past two years.

In this "Year of the Handicapped" we have a challenge a bit different from the past. If for no other reason we have a selfish motive to propel us—if we live long enough we are all likely to become progressively disabled. The persons we benefit could be ourselves.

Let us though, take the other side of the coin. Surely when we meet someone handicapped we want to do something to help that person, if only in thanksgiving that we are able to help.

But how? This is where we are hesitant. Will the handicapped person resent our offer? Do we hold back too in case we might involve ourselves in future commitments? How much do we know about the problems of those with even obvious handicaps like blindness, deafness or arthritis?

Now let us get into the categories where we can't even tell one problem from another in areas more recently categorized—muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, cystic fibrosis, cerebral palsy and the like.

If we here in Glengarry in our current associations or in new groups specifically formed for this purpose made up our minds to become more knowledgeable of different handicaps, surely it would follow that we would be more understanding and then more involved.

We can "talk" forever and get nowhere. This year we should "listen." And then take action.

At all our meetings, why not invite the handicapped or those who work with them, and have them tell us the problems and their ideas for solutions or for help.

We at The News would appreciate hearing what you have learned so we can pass this on to others.

We are all in this together.

The handicapped possess the greatest qualifications to impart knowledge of their circumstance—actual experience. And for the group listening there is a sharing capacity as they become acquainted with people enduring specific problems. The closer we get to those less fortunate, the greater should be our understanding and concern.

Developing a theory

2 Carlton Street, Suite 1403,
Toronto, Ontario M5B 1J3

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I am developing the enclosed idea. I believe it is worth consideration, and I hope you will assist me. It may be interesting to your more mindful and contemplative readers.

While the theory is contentious, I should like your readers to see a calm summary of the position.

What would you do if Canada were invaded?

Suppose the United States invaded Canada, what would you do? What would the results be, do you think, of American aggression?

Next, suppose Great Britain or France attacked Canada, what would you do?

What would the consequences be of such a take-over?

Now, suppose the Canadian Government refused to oppose a conquering army, again what would you do?

And, again, what would be the outcome?

A decision not to resist means learning to live in changed circumstances. It means refusing to kill—even if attacked.

Canadians should understand their society excels over virtually all other nations. Canadians would not only withstand any invasion; they would merge enemies into their way of life. What is superior in Canada would prevail.

After all, what would an aggressor do?

He envies and seeks us. Why should he spoil what he believes works well? That would be against his interests. A wiser course would permit Canadians to continue running the country while imposing yet another tax.

Is this more onerous than mass suicide?

Finally, once a stand is taken not to kill, you begin to treat all peoples better. You start at once to negotiate differences. You settle all problems regardless of difficulty, knowing you have prohibited yourself from murdering your opponent no matter how unreasonable he is. Your own code compels you to let everyone into your home; you co-operate with him to ensure he does not smash the furniture.

Hardships may have to be faced. Yet you do so, knowing you are in the right and behaving sanely.

It has been said, "In a nuclear war, the survivors will envy the dead."

If you agree—or disagree—please contact me.

Yours very truly,
Robert S. Karfell

Annual Dunvegan meet held

by Fraser Campbell

The future status of Gordon Fresque, student minister, highlighted the discussion at the annual meeting of Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan, held on Saturday, January 17. Rev. Robert Martin, Vankleek Hill, Interim Moderator, presided.

Rev. Mr. Martin informed the meeting that Gordon Fresque would be ordained into the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada by mid-year but he would be unable to accept a call to a charge before 1983. The Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church will designate the charge in which Mr. Fresque will serve for the next two years. The meeting unanimously supported a motion sponsored by Mrs. Alexander Stewart that the congregation apply to the Mission Board for an ordained minister and respectfully request that Mr. Fresque be appointed to the charge at Dunvegan.

A careful analysis of the reports read by the treasurer of the various groups indicated the actual givings for 1980, exclusive of Cemetery Maintenance amounted to $39,800.

The reports tabulated the following amounts: General Church Receipts including a sum of $3,872 for Missionary Budget purposes $29,309; Women's Association, $4,327; Repair Fund $2,267; Kenyon WMS $906; Skye WMS $720; Sunday School, including donations $867; Bible Society $321.

Kenneth N. MacLeod, Clerk of the Session, stated that there were 178 members on the Communion Roll. George MacIlwain reported that the sum of $5,438 was spent on maintenance and repairs to the church properties during 1980. The most important projects undertaken were the restoring of the stained glass windows and the insulation of the manse.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. Robert Martin and to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fresque for their spiritual leadership in the congregation. The following are two of the boards which serve the charge:

Kirk Session, Rev. R. Martin, Interim Moderator, Gordon Fresque, Dan J. Hartrick, Representative Elder, Mrs. Mary Fraser, Donald R. Campbell, Fraser Campbell, Malcolm Grant, Duncan N. MacRae, Dan N. MacLeod, Kenneth N. MacLeod, Neil B. MacLeod, Angus Neil MacLeod, Neil D. MacRae, Lloyd Nixon.

BE IN BUSINESS FOR YOURSELF

This is all it takes to start your Career as a Chinchilla Rancher . . . a love of animals — a garage or spare room, such as a basement which meets the climatic conditions required for Chinchilla. Chinchillas are one of the most valuable fur bearing animals in the world, in the fastest growing fur industry! Healthy, harmless, odor-free, Chinchillas can be cared for indoors and they eat very little . . . they're vegetarians. We offer to buy live animals and market pelts, as do other pelters and furriers.

This is not a get rich quick venture, but it should be expressly understood by the Breeder that he will have to exert financial and physical efforts in order to make this a going business.

News from Seaway Valley libraries

On the first day of the new year, the county library system reached its 10th birthday and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Library Board could look back at ten years of swift development.

The county library was born from a pilot bookmobile program, financed with special grants from the provincial government. This program started in November of 1968. An old-timer remembers that the first scheduled day of the then brand new Bookmobile #1 had to be cancelled because of icy roads . . . If this was an omen, it has not been a bad one, as the development has been swift and uninterrupted.

That first bookmobile brought to many parts of the area sorely needed service. This was quite obvious from the run on the vehicle's bookstock. During the first visits to Alexandria for instance, the borrowers had to be let into the restricted space in groups, while many crowded around the vehicle. There were times, in the first years, when the bookmobile circulated 280 books per service hour.

"This," says the present superintendent of county libraries, "could not be called library service. There was no way that the staff could assist borrowers. It was a case for most borrowers to grab, check out and run . . . or be pushed out!"

If this bookmobile was only first aid, it did demonstrate the crying need for a modern library system and in the fall of 1970 the council of the United Counties took action and formed a county library board, to take effect the next year. Eighteen of the 20 county municipalities took part in the newly formed board. Iroquois and Matilda stayed out at that time. Matilda joined later, but Iroquois remains independent to this day.

The first chairman of the board was the late Malcolm F. McRae of Avonmore, then deputy reeve of Roxborough. He died in the summer of that first year and his place was taken by Chesterville Reeve Keith Graham, who remained chairman until he retired from municipal politics in 1976. He returned to the board in 1978, as a non-member of council and has decided that this term, ending last December would be his last with the board.

Mr. Graham, a founding member of the board, told this newspaper that the county library could never have been as successful as it turned out to be, if it had not had the full and continuing co-operation of the Cornwall Public Library Board and staff. This board, he said, provided the book stock for the bookmobile during the years before the formation of the county Library. Cornwall also provided the necessary expertise and back-up services before the county, in 1971, again with the help of the city staff, started to build its own organization."

This close co-operation, no longer one-sided since the county board has come of age, has continued until the present day. There is a clear division of functions between the county and the city. Staff is being shared wherever possible; much of the equipment is being used jointly. The staff sharing alone, saves each library board an amount of about $30,000 per year.

When the board was first formed, it tied together a number of separate public libraries, the volunteer operation in South Mountain and three reading stations (Finch, Avonmore, Moose Creek) established in the late sixties with provincial grants. The library boards existing before 1971 were: Morrisburg, Winchester, Chesterville, Osnabruck Township (two branches) and Lancaster. Mountain library was established on a shoestring if ever a library was. The school board provided the building, for one dollar, when the old one-room school was closed. Some bookstock was transferred from the high school when this closed its doors. Staffing was done entirely by volunteers, until the county board became a fact.

In 1971 the existing libraries were improved and their collections brought up to date. In the same year, the board opened new libraries in Maxville and Alexandria. In the following years new branches were opened in Long Sault (1972), Crysler (1973), St. Andrews West (1975), Williamstown (1975), Brinston (1976), Dalkeith (1978), Williamsburg (1979).

Integrating the book stocks of the existing libraries with the collection established for the bookmobile proved a major undertaking. Aside from the books in Osnabruck, no attempt had been made at cataloguing or discarding of outdated and incomplete volumes, or proper repair of worn books.

One collection after another was sorted on the spot and the books being retained taken to Cornwall for cataloguing and proper processing. Anything remotely useful was retained, because of the weakness of the overall collection. Most reference books found in the branches were sadly outdated and had to be replaced as soon as possible. These reference books were made the major permanent part of the local collections; most other material was subject to exchange with other branches.

These exchanges made it possible to keep interest of the readers alive; previously they had been looking year after year at the same old books. Now, each year the adult fiction and non-fiction collections are replaced on a regular schedule. The request service makes it possible to provide all borrowers who want them, with the latest bestsellers within a reasonable span of time. Only occasionally are there waiting lists that require more than six weeks to fill all requests.

It may seem longer to many borrowers who read or listen to book reviews, because frequently these books are reviewed several weeks or even months before publication. It is not unusual that the libraries have a list of candidates for books that have not even been printed.

French collections were built up wherever the demand justified it. At present Alexandria, Crysler and Dalkeith are fully bilingual branches. If the local demand for French books is too slight for a local collection, the few readers are served from Headquarters.

Since 1975 the annual circulation has grown from 197,067 to 257,441, an increase of 31 per cent. The 1979 circulation figure was 231,562, so the increase in 1980 was 11 per cent over the previous year.

Even more impressive has been the growth in lending of specially requested books. This number has nearly doubled since 1975; from 6,537 to 12,312 last year. Since this "interlibrary loan" service was properly organized in 1972 it has increased from 750 per year to 12,312 in 1980. This is an increase of more than 154 per cent. It may be said without exaggeration that this request service has been a major factor in the booming popularity of the county library.

Aside from the request business, there are several other special situations. The county library distributes "talking books" on cassettes to those who are medically certified as handicapped in the use of standard books.

Those who because of infirmities or lack of transportation are not able to visit one of the branches, may register as "direct mail borrowers." They receive booklists from which to make their selection and the books are mailed to them, free of charge both ways.

As a matter of fact, all services performed by the county library are free. The cost of the organization is born by the province (about 30 per cent) and United Counties Council.

All residents of the counties (with the exception of Iroquois) may register free of charge in Cornwall. The same in reverse applies to city residents using county branches. The film and record collections in Cornwall are in this manner available to the borrowers from the counties. Unlike books that may be borrowed at one branch and returned at another, films and records must be borrowed and returned in person at Simon Fraser Library in Cornwall only.

The 1981 library board consists of Warden George Cooper (Matilda), Deputy Reeve John Moss (Township of Cornwall), Robert Gillard (Township of Williamsburg) and Bernard MacDonell (Township of Lancaster) and three appointees, non-members of council: Mrs. Carol Baxter (Alexandria), C. F. McInnis (Morrisburg) and Edwin Waldroff.

Of these, Mrs. Baxter is the only founding member left. She has served as treasurer uninterruptedly from the first. C. F. McInnis is a former chairman of the board (1977 and 1978). John Moss was chairman in 1979 and Kenneth MacLennan, now chairman of the Raisin River Conservation Authority, headed the board in 1980.

Jennie M. Ross dies at Manor

Jennie Ross died at the Maxville Manor on January 17, 1981, in her 98th year.

She was the daughter of the late Alexander Ross and the former Ellen Robertson of Williamstown.

Miss Ross lived at the Ross farm home on the River Road all her life until six years ago when she became a resident of the John Stewart Home and later of the Maxville Manor.

She is survived by a sister Mrs. Nickle Davis (Edith) of Smithville, Ont. She was predeceased by two sisters, Mrs. Peter D. McDermid (Bertha), Ethel Ross and a brother Howard Ross.

The funeral service was held in the chapel at McArthur and MacNeil Funeral Home, Cornwall. Rev. Arnold MacDonald of Summerstown officiated. Spring interment will be in St. Andrew's Cemetery, Williamstown.

The pallbearers were Alex Robertson, William Smith, Alex MacDonell, Gordon Munro, Hugh Douglas and Donald MacGregor.
