BISHOP LAROCQUE ADDRESSES CONGREGATION — The Cathedral was filled to overflowing on Sunday as people from all across the Diocese were here to welcome their new Prelate. Bishops from as far away as Saskatoon were present in the sanctuary to join in the celebration. Township named after Villeneuve

Premier William Davis and Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier signed their names to the provincial scroll sent out recently to 358 persons and families who had Northern Ontario townships named after them.

Osie Villeneuve, (PC—Glengarry) was among the members at Queen's Park who had their names used. Names for the townships which were formerly lettered and numbered, were chosen from 55 provincial members, mayors and reeves of northern communities, Indian chiefs, historic persons, and Second World War dead.

Cathedral packed by clergy, laity as sixth Bishop of Alexandria installed

Standing room was at a premium in St. Finnan's Cathedral here Sunday afternoon as clergy and laity occupied all seating accommodation to witness the installation of Most Rev. Eugene Phillipe LaRocque, sixth Bishop of Alexandria.

In the sanctuary were Archbishop Guido del Mestri, Apostolic Pro-Nuncio to Canada, and Archbishop Joseph Wilhelm of Kingston, who conducted the installation ceremony, as well as 20 bishops from across Canada. Some 60 priests present included many from the diocese of Windsor.

A native of Windsor, Bishop LaRocque was ordained a bishop Sept. 3rd in St. Ann's Church, Tecumseh, Ont., where he had been serving as parish priest. He succeeds Most Rev. Adolphe Proulx, now Bishop of Hull.

In his homily, delivered in fluent English and French, Bishop LaRocque returned frequently to the theme of unity.

I am not Bishop Proulx, nor Bishop Brodeur, who gave of their talents in serving you, he reminded. I am Bishop Eugene LaRocque possessing the gifts God has given me, with my capabilities and my weaknesses. As such, I trust the faithful of this diocese will give me their charity.

Touching on the need for reconciliation the theme of holy year, the bishop remarked, "he who blames his brother rather than himself will never be an agent of reconciliation. As Catholics, we must heed this call to reconciliation, otherwise our very act of worship in the mass is hypocritical. We are not here speaking of a unity which does away with differences to achieve a bland and lifeless uniformity, rather, of a dynamic unity which is achieved in diversity.

I am here to serve all, Catholics, poor and rich, no matter their nationality; and non-Catholics. Perhaps the most succinct manner in which I can express this willingness to serve all peoples is to end by telling you what I told the parishioners of the bilingual parish to which I was sent some six years ago: I have a great respect and love for the French language and culture—I taught both at the University level for some 12 years; I speak English fairly well; I also have a command of Spanish as a result of my two summers of work with the Canadian University students among the poor of Mexico—But I am not a French Bishop, nor an English Bishop, nor a Spanish Bishop—I am a Catholic Bishop—here to be of service to my brothers, sinners like me but still precious in the eyes of Christ.

Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, administrator of the diocese since the departure of Bishop Proulx, read the papal document and the new bishop was escorted to the throne by the papal-nuncio and Archbishop Wilhelm. There his pastoral staff was presented to him and Archbishop del Mestri spoke briefly.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Oliver of Cornwall, representing the diocesan pastoral council; Rev. Raoul Poirier, chairman of the senate of priests, Sister Mary McAlear, representing the religions of diocese; Miss Diane Thauvette and Shawn Redmond, representing youth, brought greetings to Bishop LaRocque.

Sister Laurette was organist and the impressive singing was by L'Ensemble Musique et Harmonie of Cornwall under direction of Mrs. Michele Cadotte. The youth choir of St. William's Parish, Martintown, under Roch Desjardins, was also heard.

At the dinner which followed in Ecole Rouleau, Bishop Rosario Brodeur welcomed Bishop LaRocque and extolled his many fine qualities. Mayor Bruno Massie of Alexandria, presented a plaque bearing the keys of the town to the new bishop.

Among those in attendance were Bishop LaRocque's parents, a brother and two sisters.

Awards made to million milers

Six drivers from Glengarry Transport have received special awards for having driven over 1,000,000 accident free miles. Plaques in recognition of their achievement were presented to them at the annual Safety Banquet and Awards night held in the Holiday Motel in Hawkesbury on Saturday, September 14th.

Recipients of the awards were Henri Nolin, 13 years; James McMillan, Emmanuel Roy and Roger Ouimet, 12 years; Andre Lefebvre, 11 years and Jean Claude D'Amour, ten years.

Employees from all eleven of the Glengarry Transport terminals were present for the occasion.

The president, Gerard Lefebvre also presented safe driving awards to over two hundred other drivers ranging from one year to 33 years.

Pickpockets hit two at reception

Two area men had their wallets lifted on Sunday afternoon while attending the ceremonies here in honor of Bishop LaRocque.

Jim McDougall of Green Valley, and Lionel Glaude of Alexandria; were at the reception at Ecole Rouleau following the church ceremony when they noticed their wallets were missing. Mr. McDougall had $206 in his wallet and Mr. Glaude was carrying $86.

Both men remembered being bumped in the crowd by a man of the same description. There were about 1,000 people in the school at the time where the standing room was crowded and some other people questioned remembered being bumped into by a person of similar description.

Police claim this is a common occurrence when pickpockets are working in a crowd, it gives the thief an opportunity to determine the pockets where the wallets are carried.

Greatest challenge of church is the preservation of spiritual values, Bishop LaRocque feels

One of the greatest challenges facing the Roman Catholic Church today is the preservation of spiritual values in a secularized world, the new Bishop of Alexandria said at a news conference Friday as he prepared to take up his new duties.

"The (Roman Catholic) Church is involved in the difficult task of maintaining spiritual values in a secularized, materialistic world," Bishop Eugene Phillipe LaRocque told the gathering. "We have to have a spiritual dimension, preservation of spiritual values is important."

The new bishop said he believes the young people of today are rejecting many of the materialistic ideals embraced by their parents during the post-war era and are striving to return to a more spiritual way of life.

"Young people are trying to tell us by the way they dress and their poverty that there are more important things in life than materialistic goods."

"I'm very glad to be in Alexandria diocese," Bishop LaRocque said. "This is my first adventure as a bishop. I'm looking forward to meeting the people here."

He said the people in his new diocese closely resemble the people in his home county of Essex and that, like Essex, this area was a working man's community.

Donna Sproule, 18, of Maxville was treated at Glengarry Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises on Saturday night when the car in which she was a passenger left the road and struck a tree near Maxville. Driver of the car, James Michaud of Maxville wa uninjured, but the 1965 Ford received damage in the amount of $550.

A Laval couple, John and Dolores Valiante were also treated for cuts and bruises early Sunday morning at Glengarry Memorial Hospital when their car failed to negotiate a curve immediately north of the village of Glen Robertson. There was $1,100 damage on their 1974 Comaro.

Vote for $600,000 arena

Town council voted, Tuesday night, approval of a $600,000 expenditure toward a new arena.

It also authorized the Clerk to ask permission of the Ontario Municipal Board to dispense with a referendum of the electors in favor of a public hearing.

The 5 to 2 vote in favor of the new arena came after council had heard a report from the committee at large. It based its $600,000 estimate of cost on plans for the arena at Williamstown, which in early planning was estimated to cost $525. That plan was rejected in favor of the present arena now under construction at Williamstown.

Committee estimates put available grants at $370,000 which would leave $230,000 to be financed by local donations and taxes.

Some of these grant estimates were questioned by members of council.

Council later heard delegations from minor hockey protesting the raise in ice rental to $30, and $25 an hour for schools. This was referred back to the Park and Recreation committee for study.

Enlarged store has new lines

Reeve Marcel Ranger will hold Open House, Friday night and Saturday to mark the opening of his enlarged TV and furniture store on Main St. South. There will be no official opening ceremonies as such, reports Mr. Ranger, but he hopes the public will drop in in numbers to see his expanded set-up.

Floor space of the store has been virtually doubled to some 10,000 square feet as a result of the addition erected on the north side of the original store. The larger floor space will allow display of double the merchandise and several new lines of white goods are being added. The carpetting department is also being tripled.

Seeks Tory nod in Stormont

A native of Lancaster, Guy Leger of Cornwall, announced Monday that he will stand for the nomination of the Progressive Conservative party in Stormont on Sept. 20th. He is a member of Cornwall City council since 1972 and resides at 400 Leitch Drive.

Mr. Leger, 34 years of age, was born in Lancaster and attended High School in Cornwall. He is a graduate of the University of Ottawa, and fully bilingual. Mr. Leger has been an active citizen of Cornwall. From founding manager of Cornwall AVCO Finance office, he joined St. Lawrence College in 1968 as Manager of Administrative Services and now serves as coordinator of Continuing Education and Information Services.

His entry in municipal politics in 1972 as an alderman saw him pull the largest number of votes of all the candidates. While on council he was Vice-chairman of the Glen Stor Dun Lodge and the Public Library Board and is a member of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley Health Unit and the Children's Aid Society. He also sat as a member of the Industrial Committee and still is a member of the Emergency Measures Organization.

Mr. Leger is married to the former Lise Benoit and is the father of Claudine 7 and Chantal 4.

Collapse of stand at Maxville emergency exercise scenario

The big grandstand at Maxville Fairgrounds is supposed to collapse on Saturday morning during an imagined school field day, triggering an Emergency Exercise that may involve some thousand people and all the hospitals in these United Counties.

There will be approximately 200 casualties and to make the disaster even more serious in scope fire will be involved. The section of the grandstand that collapses is directly over the lunch counters and as a result propane stoves will explode, causing fire casualties as well as broken limbs and other injuries.

High school students will play the part of casualties and they will be enlisted at the various schools by Administrators of the hospitals at Cornwall, Winchester and Alexandria.

W. George Tyo, Emergency Measures Co-ordinator at Cornwall, will be in charge of overall planning and he has supplied us with a scenario of the disaster exercise.

At about 11 a.m. a teacher on the fairgrounds calls the Maxville fire department and alerts the local OPP that a portion of the grandstand has collapsed and there are some 200 casualties. Reeve Hubert Quart puts into effect the Emergency Alerting System and the Control Group requests provincial assistance after ensuring the scope of disaster is beyond the capabilities of the village.

Mr. Tyo will then co-ordinate all activities. Each hospital will supply a bus load of students who will arrive in Maxville to be made up as casualties by the Casualty Simulation group. They will then be escorted back to each hospital where emergency staffs will get some training.

Reeve Quart will assume overall control of the operation and he will have the co-operation of District OPP, Maxville Fire Brigade, the medical officer of health, amateur radio clubs, cadets and St. John's Ambulance brigade. Alexandria firemen will make available their rescue trailer and men.

At Glengarry Memorial Hospital, Administrator Adams explains, the new section of the hospital will be used to care for casualties. There will be some x-raying and other services and the staff will get experience in coping with many patients at one time. Hospital ambulances will not be used to convey casualties in case of need in real emergencies.

This is the largest emergency exercise ever attempted, Mr. Adams reports, and observes will be here from all across Canada.

Night courses are planned

Registration will be held next Monday and Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the school.

Interested in figure skating?

Figure skating might be on the agenda at the Community Centre this winter if there is a demand for it, reports Recreation Director Mike Depratto. There is also a question of teachers being available.

Anyone interested in teaching or learning figure skating could contact the director at 525-3600. There will be a meeting regarding this on Monday, September 23rd, at 4 p.m., at the Centre.

New physics teacher hired

Staff of Glengarry District High School was completed last month when John Van Loenen, head of the science department at Lindsay Place School, Pointe Claire, Que., was engaged to teach Physics. He replaces Lorne Whelan who has retired.

The GDHS staff now numbers 57 and there are 991 students registered.

Martintown rumor mill

(by Art Buckland)

Rae MacCulloch, that talented community-minded dancing teacher—wife of Alex, the man with the dry well but the full swimming pool, is beginning another season of country dance lessons. The children's lessons will begin Friday, Sept. 27, at half-past three in our public school gymnasium. The adult country dance lessons will begin Monday, Sept. 30, at half-past eight in the evening, also at our public school gymnasium in Martintown. Come along, have a good time and learn the country dance steps.

At a recent meeting of the Martintown Recreation Association held at chairman Bruce McCuaig's farm (the old Sansom place), a decision was made to hold a public meeting on Sept. 25th at eight o'clock in our public school gymnasium. The committee will be seeking suggestions and advice on how best to serve our area for all citizens. This is an important meeting because our activities for next year will be based on ideas presented that night. In addition, we have about eight hundred dollars to spend on community facilities and services.

Oops! I forgot to mention some Martintown students who are attending St. Lawrence College. How could I forget such lovely ladies as Ann Kitts and Denise Desjardins and such a talented fellow as Larry Markell, the fastest grease pig catcher at our fair?

What a wonderful picture of our own carnival queen in last week's News. Iris MacDonald graduated from the Canadian Forces indoctrination course with the top marks in her class. Congratulations, Iris, we are all proud of you.

Garnet Poapst of the Line Road is in hospital with appendicitis and some minor complications.

Enter the Glengarry place name contest and win a book. Send the three longest Glengarry place names (single words only, even though part of a compound place name) to me in Glen Falloch. Also answer this riddle: What has four legs in the morning, two legs in the afternoon and three legs in the evening? A man saved a city from the plague by answering this riddle.

Ewan Ross of Goderich, Ont., has mailed in a letter answering the riddle. He also suggests that Martintown can only be kept on the map if the stones are not removed, but remain "in situ". Thanks for the letters.

The Martintown Rollers are beginning a new season at the Olympia lanes the first or second week in October.

Church rumors are flying thicker than the early fall leaves of the butternut trees. I sincerely hope for some kind of village togetherness especially as a ten year projection points to the existence of neither a United or a Presbyterian Church in Martintown. A rumor has it from an altar boy and a janitor that the next priest in St. Williams will have the initials S. L.

Fall is here; the corn is being harvested—the Murrays have two fields off on Glen Falloch road as of last Sunday evening.

The Ploughing Match is being held Sept. 24 to Sept. 28 in Halton County, just north of Toronto.

A by-election in Stormont is in the offing; would government hear inflation woes if a Conservative were not returned from Mr. Guindon's old seat?

We have had water in the well but not in the house, except when my wife carried it in, for quite a while. Last Saturday the problem was cured. Thanks go out to Irwin Cain from Cain's Corners, Ralph Westley from Westley sideroad, Tom Gill and Dan Bilmer from Ingleside north, Johnny Dewar and John Labatt from everywhere.

Martintown Mac says even though fall has come to your hair and face, keep spring in your soul, summer in your heart and you'll have warmth for the winter.

WMS met at Martintown

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, was held in the church with Mrs. H. MacMillan, the president, presiding and Mrs. L. Clingen at the organ.

The study was taken from the book, "For a time like this." It was led by Mrs. MacMillan assisted by Mrs. Ian Kennedy, Mrs. Duncan Christie, Mrs. Andrew MacLean, Mrs. Gordon MacDermid, Mrs. Lloyd MacGregor and Mrs. Alpin MacGregor.

The minutes were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Lloyd MacGregor and the roll call was answered with a Bible verse containing the word "hope".

A get-well card was signed by all to be sent to Mrs. Mason who was hospitalized.

The executive meeting of Glengarry Presbyterial to be held September 30th, in St. John's Church, Cornwall, was brought to the attention of the members. The offering was taken and dedicated by Mrs. Dan Ferguson. It was decided to have the annual Church Supper on Wednesday, October 16th.

Order inquest into drownings

A spokesman for Lancaster OPP reports a coroner's inquest will be held into the deaths of two men who drowned in a boating accident on the Raisin River near Lancaster early last week.

The bodies of Leo Evon, 27, Montreal and Ellie Chrystal, 28, Colombia, South America, were recovered along with the boat they had rented by Ontario Provincial Police divers, Tuesday evening. No date has been announced for the inquest.

Guides will resume

Leaders have been secured for the Alexandria Girl Guides and Brownies so the program will continue this season if registration warrants.

Heading the Guide program will be Mrs. Linda Killoran, Mrs. Adele Collin and Mrs. Glenda Vaillancourt. The first meeting will be on Monday, Sept. 23rd at the Legion Hall from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Jeanne Legault, Mrs. Anne Moore and Mrs. Beverley Young will be in charge of the Brownies and their first meeting will be on Wednesday, Sept. 25th, at Ecole Perpetuel Secours.

UCW rally set for Monday

Region 1 Fall Rally will be held Monday, Sept. 23rd in Hawkesbury United Church. Registration will be from 12:30 to 1:00 p.m.

The program will feature the guest speaker, Mrs. Margaret Kempling, from Cardinal. The theme for the afternoon will be, "Me!, A Christian?" There will also be Group Dynamics and a time for celebration as well as a book display, reports from the Summer Event and General Council and the usual business.

REPAIRS PLANNED TO ARENA

The Minor Hockey Association held an organizational meeting in the Maxville Community Hall last Thursday evening. Secretary for this season is Dirk Heemskirk of Apple Hill. Review Bell story at meeting society

The September meeting of the Glengarry Historical Society was held in the Church-on-The-Hill, Alexandria. The guest speaker was Mr. R. H. Spencer, Historian Bell Canada. Despite the fact that we are all prone to vent our anger at "Mother Bell" from time to time, after listening to Mr. Spencer it was impossible not to be impressed with the genius and dedication of Alexander Graham Bell, and the marvellous contribution he made to civilization one hundred years ago.

Mr. Spencer showed us the first primitive phones and ended with the latest Contempera phone. From humble beginnings, a pair of telephones attached to a wire, we have witnessed the barriers to communication being pushed back until there are no earthly limits to human speech and we now know communication literally out of this world.

His talk was spiced with many amusing and interesting anecdotes.

Our next meeting will be held at the Church-on-the-Hill, Alexandria on Thursday, October 3rd, 8:30 p.m., at which time the summer activities at the Dunvegan and Williamstown Museums will be reviewed.

Our 1974-75 meetings will be held in the Church-on-the-Hill thanks to the kindness and generosity of the Rector and the Board of Elders.

Hope to see you there.

The Wednesday, Sept. 25th show marks opening of the new season for Laggan Home and School Association.

A multi-talented veteran actor, Mr. Hayter presents a biographical sequence of excerpts, connected by narration, on the life and times of the poet. "I never knew poetry could be such fun," was the reaction of one young Hayter fan.

Ron Allison new president Alexandria minor hockey group

One of the largest attendances ever was present at the Alexandria District Minor Hockey League annual meeting held at Glengarry District High School on Tuesday, September 10th.

Outgoing president Jim Baker gave a report on the past year's activities and the treasurer's report was given by Rupert Epp.

It costs $52.60 to maintain a child in the minor hockey system, the executive reported according to figures worked out last season. A great deal of this is covered by donations, but the actual registration fees would have to be raised, it was agreed.

The election of officers was held with the following results: President, Ron Allison, Vice President, Archie McRae, Secretary, Mrs. Sylvia Crack and Treasurer, Rupert Epp.

Directors are: John Cormier and Archie Stewart who are completing the two year term they were elected to last year; Chris McDonell, Jean Yves Jeaurond, Jean Luc Caron, Mervyn and Cameron MacDonald, Jacques Campeau, Guy Cholette and Gilles Nadon.

Jean Luc Caron presented figures relative to the new arena and advised those present from the surrounding townships they would need to ask their local councils for pledges to the new arena. At least $20,000 would be needed from both Lancaster and Lochiel, he felt, and $10,000 from Kenyon.

Jean Yves Jeaurond explained that the high school budget for hockey had to be made up last year and was guided by the $5.00 an hour price for ice rental last season. The ice rental rates have been raised this year so the budget will not cover this and students will have very little ice time, as a result.

Representatives from Green Valley were very concerned about the west side of the village being in the Char-Lan zone. It was the feeling of the meeting that registrations from any child living within former boundaries should be accepted, providing it was agreeable to the ODMHA and the parents.

Pine Grove took final series in four games over Greenfield

by Hugh MacGillivray

The Glengarry Soccer League celebrated its 50th successful year of soccer and Pine Grove celebrated the championship in a hard fought series with Greenfield.

The best of five final series opened with Greenfield coming from behind twice and winning 3—2 on an overtime penalty shot by John Cadieux.

The second game went to Pine Grove, 3—0 on goals by Hugh MacGillivray, Ralph MacSweyn and Donnie MacLeod. Harold MacCrimmon provided the shutout.

The third game was extremely close and highly entertaining, as Donnie MacLeod put Pine Grove in front only to have Cleary Morris even it up for Greenfield. In the second half Coach Barry MacSweyn's strategy paid off as Campbell MacGillivray came through with a big goal to give Pine Grove a 2—1 victory.

The fourth game saw Greenfield go ahead 1—0 on a goal by Dale MacDonald and goalie Bob Hansen continued to hold off Pine Grove's attack, making some brilliant stops. Late in the second half a penalty shot was awarded to Pine Grove. Hugh MacGillivray's last gasp shot tied the game and set the stage for overtime. In the second ten minute overtime period left wing Lynn Morrison picked up a rebound and fired the winning goal bringing the cup to Pine Grove.

Ralph MacSweyn, Pine Grove fullback was later voted the M.V.P. of the play-offs.

Now that the smoke has cleared it is time to congratulate both teams on hard work and good sportsmanship in a very close series. Also a word for the fine officiating of referees and linesmen and a thank you to the League Executive for their time and work throughout the season.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

The curtain was rolled down on the stage of the 1974 soccer season last Friday evening in a fitting manner by the awarding of more than a score of trophies in the cafetorium of GDHS. Close to 300 fans, mostly minor players, girls and boys sat down with their parents to plates of chicken with all the trimmings and polished off with tins of various pop drinks.

Morlin Campbell, a veteran soccer player and one of the game's most enthusiastic supporters, filled the role of chairman for the brief program. Alastair MacKenzie, this year's president, and secretary Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, along with their assistants, presented an attractive head table setting with the display of trophies.

It was a pleasant evening for this writer to see so many of our Glen's youngsters as active players which will ensure another 50 years of soccer. To be exact 506 players were registered this season and this was heart warming to those of us still around who launched this great game locally on an organized basis, with less than 75 players, a half century ago.

As we sat back observing the distribution of trophies we were hit by two flashback thoughts. First it was the fine season record of Pine Grove that sent us back to the Golden Twenties to muse over a thriller playoff between Pine Grove and Greenfield with Pine Grove the winner 1—0, in a two-game, total-goal series. And so on Friday night it was Pine Grove again much in the fashion of that early team of champions starring such greats, to mention a few, as Neil Blair, Wm. D. MacLeod and the late John Archie MacGillivray. This 1974 edition was the highest-scoring team in the senior loop, finishing in first place. They won the Glengarry Cup in the championship playoffs as well as the Archie J. Macdonald and Greenspon awards in cup play.

It was fitting to note that a grandson of John Archie MacGillivray, one of Glengarry's all-time fullbacks, Hugh MacGillivray, accepted the Glengarry Cup. Then Harold MacCrimmon, a son of another great soccer fan and Legionnaire, the late Jimmy MacCrimmon, carried away the Greenspon Cup while Leroy Robinson stepped up for the Macdonald award. For Pine Grove, Robinson is following in the line of this family's next-of-kin Brooks Robinson of Baltimore baseball fame and an older Robinson, a noted lacrosse and hockey star with Alexandria teams many years ago.

The second flashback for this writer to mull over had a real tinge of moss on it. Nine-year-old Danny O'Connor sparked this pleasant moment when he took over his share of the most-gentlemanly-play award in the sprite division. When this writer was a sprite fan, not a sprite player, we saw our first soccer game on the field beside Guy Decoste's welding shop, Highway 43 (Third Kenyon). The visiting team was from the Second of Kenyon and among the top bracket players we recall Danny's grandfather, Ranald O'Connor, Danny's grand-uncles John Alex, Dan and Thomas. Add John Angus "Grocer" McDonald and his brothers and you saw not only a fine group of soccer players but evidence of the game's popularity here on the fringe of lacrosse town Alexandria.

Nick Haramis joined his W. H. A. colleague, Ralph MacSweyn, in handing out the various awards. Voting was so keen that the judges had to settle for four ties, one a triple. Donnie Morris of Greenfield, and Lochiel's J. T. Hay were locked at the top of the senior scoring. In the girls' division Ellen MacMaster, Laggan, and Charlene Blaney, Maxville, got equal credit for their sportsmanlike play while two other lassies wound up in a tie as best goalies, Margaret McCormick, Alexandria, and Brenda Gordon, Char-Lan.

In the peewee loop, Ewen McCormick, Ourtown, and Laggan's John MacSweyn had equal goal tending records and in the sprites there was a triple tie in top sportsmen play between Guy Pilon, Glen Sandfield, Danny O'Connor, Alexandria, and Allan MacPhee, Laggan. Also in this sprite group Gary Myers, Glen Sandfield, was the first to be awarded the best goalie trophy, the Robt. Graham memorial donated this year by the Graham family. Ralph MacSweyn brought further honors to Pine Grove as he was voted the m.v.p. of the playoffs and a deserving tribute for secretary and general soccer help well done was the Shepherd plaque to Mrs. Elizabeth Barton.

Following the presentations M.C. Morlin Campbell and Prexy Alistair MacKenzie thanked all who had taken part in making the season so successful, solid evidence for further expansion and future recreation.

The head table guests were, Alistair MacKenzie and his wife, Nancy, Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, Morlin and Mrs. Campbell, Ralph MacSweyn, Nick Haramis, Jr., Mrs. Angus H. McDonell and the writer.

IT'S OUR OPINION

A new Bishop is welcomed

The diocese of Alexandria has a new bishop and Most Reverend Eugene Philippe LaRocque was tendered a warm welcome in St. Finnan's Cathedral on Sunday afternoon. The cathedral has seldom if ever seen so many prelates and priests assembled for such an occasion and the presence of so many visiting clerics was not only a personal tribute for Bishop LaRocque but a recognition of this diocese itself.

Bishop LaRocque is reported to be the first priest from the diocese of Windsor to be ordained a bishop. We are reminded that in an era when Detroit was established as a fort by Cadillac, the first bishop of Upper Canada, Bishop Alexander Macdonell, was leaving St. Raphael's to occupy his See at Kingston.

St. Raphael's is deservedly called the Cradle of Catholicity in Ontario and an item in our Eighty Years Ago column points up the part clergy and laity from this diocese have played. Rev. L. W. Leclair was tendered a farewell party at North Lancaster on his return to Rome where he had established the Canadian College. Many, if not all of the hierarchy in Canada, have studied at that Canadian College before being elevated to more prestigious posts in the Roman Catholic Church.

The new bishop of Alexandria may not have been aware he was coming back to the "cradle", but he is entering on an important new phase of his life. His elevation comes at a time when the christian church is going through a difficult phase of adjustment and when enlightened leadership is in demand not only in the church but in the state and other elements of society.

These are changing times and the new bishop is no doubt more aware of the problems than are we. Last week he was a stranger on our shore. Sunday's ceremony, we trust, was warm enough to give him the feeling he is at home in the diocese of Alexandria.

Noisy trucks and transports

The sounds of summer will not be so evident soon, as cooler weather ordains the closing of doors and windows. One of those sounds, the hum of traffic, has been assuming the proportions of a roar and it will be a relief to have that din muffled.

The noise of traffic has been more bothersome this summer than we can ever remember it and that probably is accounted for by the increased number of transports and trucks that have been passing through town. Gravel trucks can be particularly noisy and they were shuttling down Main in numbers due to all the road building in the area this summer.

Perhaps because of their very size the big transports appear to be getting noisier, too, and the racket they can raise was brought home to us one night last week. A Northern Ontario couple had dropped in to the office to renew their subscription when our conversation was brought to a halt by the din of an oncoming truck. This was a particularly noisy one that signalled its approach through two or three blocks of increasing din that reached a crescendo as the big transport passed our door.

"My, isn't that an awful noise", the lady exclaimed, once the din had faded enough to make speech possible. "That's one good thing about living up North where we are", she continued, "it's so nice and quiet".

When are they going to smarten up and by-pass Highway 34 around the town, her husband wanted to know, and we wished we could tell him. Through traffic will be clogging our too-narrow Main Street for years to come, it would appear, and if we have to put up with it surely something should be done to hold down the noise level.

If trucks can be inspected to control their cargo weight surely the noise factor could be checked at the same time. Gravel trucks are real work horses and their punishing schedules permit little time for repairs. That may be why so many are operating with faulty mufflers and other noise-making equipment. Other types of trucks can be as noisy and the big transports apparently are being over-worked, too, if one is to judge by the racket that attends their passing.

The local constabulary has made some progress this summer in discouraging the hot rodders who once dominated our streets with their screeching tires and Hollywood mufflers. They can still jangle the nerve ends and waken honest burghers from a sound sleep in the early morning hours, but they seem to have a new respect for the boys in blue.

Perhaps the town's anti-noise by-law could be applied to all those noisy trucks and transports that so evidently are lacking proper mechanical maintenance.

So much wasted food

Estimates of how many rotten eggs will have to be destroyed by the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency by year's end have pyramided to 28 million in recent reports out of Ottawa. That is an awesome lot of bad smells and one is left wondering who is going to bury all those eggs where, and who will have to pay the tab.

Those surplus eggs may not constitute a total waste if they serve to turn the spotlight on the workings of these farm-marketing boards. There is much too much secrecy in the operation of these marketing agencies considering the widespread public belief that they are inefficient, wasteful and funded out of tax dollars.

Much is being written concerning Agriculture Minister Whelan's defence of the farmer in his battle with Mrs. Plumptre and we are left wondering how the average farmer has become involved in this argument. Most farmers no longer keep chickens. They buy their eggs at the grocery counter and might more correctly be ranked as consumers forced to pay inordinately high prices for those eggs. Egg production is big business, today, and those millions of eggs are not being produced by farmers.

It is the sheer waste of valuable food that has roused public opinion against the marketing agency, notes an editorial in The Wingham Advance-Times. Eggs can be dried or otherwise preserved for shipment to almost any place on the face of the globe. With millions of people starving in Africa and India the heinous crime of allowing so much food to go to waste is inexcusable. It may be true that Canada has no existing program to move so much food abroad, but if not it is high time that such a plan be put into action.

Only last week a Strathroy firm was forced to kill 25,000 turkey poults because sales of full-grown turkeys have slumped. Once more events have proved that Canada is capable of vastly increased food production. Only the vagaries of the marketplace prevent us from providing aid for the other four-fifths of a world which is dying for the need of what we so carelessly throw away or decide not to produce.

Much has been written in recent years about the grim outlook for the people who inhabit our planet. Scientists foresee that sky-rocketing populations will soon outstrip the total food production capabilities of the entire world. They are seriously studying the ways in which seaweed and even algae might be used to forestall universal starvation. They would do well to include Canada's egg-producing capabilities in their studies.

The most critical manoeuvre

What do you consider the most critical operation you perform regularly in your daily driving? The Ontario Safety League says the most critical manoeuvre in which the driver engages time after time each day is "passing."

You probably have driven enough to know that some passing situations can put your nerves on edge. Let's hope you also have learned that the passing manoeuvre, properly executed, is a smooth and controlled operation that causes no "catching of the breath" by you, your passengers, or other drivers.

In the old days, we used to edge up close behind the vehicle ahead, gun out into the passing lane and scramble to pass the other vehicle and crowd back in front of it. If traffic was coming in the opposite direction, it could be a hair-raising experience.

Now, we begin signalling for a turn into the passing lane further back and swing over easily. This gives us a clear view of the opposing traffic lane. If we have a clear passing lane at least three-quarters of a mile (at normal speeds), we step on the gas.

Today's engines have extra power for such emergencies (not for high-speed cruising!), so we easily pass the other vehicle. Having picked a time for proper passing, we have enough clear space to continue in the passing lane until we can see all of the passed vehicle in the rearview mirror. Then we signal for a turn and slide back into our lane and back to normal speed.

Driving has changed. What we did in the old days may get you into trouble in today's traffic. You can update your driving skills by taking the inexpensive defensive Driving Course.

Where is the mechanic?

(St. Mary's Journal Argus)

Something is happening in the car industry which looks like it may cause some trouble for the average motorist in the future. It concerns the repair and maintenance of the automobile and the shortage of skilled help to take on this work.

We are speaking from our knowledge of the local scene around West Elgin area, where at least half a dozen repair garages are in continuing need of licensed mechanics. Apprentices to the trade are also becoming very difficult to find. It's an occupation which has many attractions to its credit, but many young fellows today seem to have their eyes on "higher plateaus."

According to one local garage owner the Department of Labor is at fault in not allowing more apprentices to be trained. They permit only one apprentice to train for every five licensed mechanics employed on the same premises. In some parts of Europe this ratio is said to be one-for-one, giving each trained mechanic an apprentice under him to supervise, and at the same time increase his own efficiency because he has a greater part of his own higher-paid time to devote to his more exacting duties.

It has been suggested also that in this part of the country we are far behind in the practice of employing women to assist in service stations and garages. Gas pump duties, "jockeying" and delivering cars can be capably and pleasantly handled by the fair sex; witness this practice in Toronto.

No matter what steps are taken in the future to increase the availability of trained motor mechanics, it looks right now in this community and elsewhere as if some motorists are going to have to repair it themselves—or wait a little longer, and pay a little more, for work done at their friendly corner garage.

Too long have some of us taken these people for granted; have driven in and said: "Fix it, and I want it done right away!"

In future we will quite likely be making more appointments for repairs, tune-ups, muffler changes—and waiting a few days or a week, for our special day, and hour, to bring the car in. This is the way it is in England, for instance, and it is very likely to become the rule here soon.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

Eggs are going higher; and wouldn't you expect rotten eggs to be high?

A WORD WE GO FOR

It's a word we run into only infrequently, but we like the sound of it. It's a word that isn't even recognized by our office dictionary and we were very vague as to its meaning until locating it in another lexicon.

Even after digesting that definition we aren't too sure we've mastered that four syllable word "serendipity".

According to the dictionary, serendipity is the faculty for making desirable discoveries by accident. Sounds like a convenient, labor-saving characteristic that's maybe akin to the luck of the Irish. But it seems to us a fellow could enjoy the good life without possessing even an ounce of serendipity.

Nevertheless it's a word we like to roll around on our tongue and we've been trying to figure out the affinity. It can't be the first syllable because Sarah is not one of our favorite names and we don't rap with Saran wrap. It's not the last syllable cause pity, though a charitable reaction, is nothing to go into ecstasies over.

Maybe we like serendipity because its got serenity in it and piety; tender and eden. Those are all calm and happy words but we have a sneaking suspicion our fondness for serendipity is based on a song from out of the past. We're trying to recall a catchy tune that featured those last syllables of serendipity and we get only as far as dipity-do-di, dipity-de. Maybe that rings a bell with one of the two readers of this column, but maybe not. It wasn't the type of tune that topped the hit parade even though we seem to recall Bing Crosby including it in his repertoire long, long ago.

We'll probably never find a place for it again in this column, but don't be too sure. Gee, but we like to roll out those syllables. What a pleasure it is to come across such a free-flowing word as "serendipity". It's a fine antidote for that hateful "hopefully" people frazzle our nerve ends with.

If someone with serendipity accidentally came up with a replacement for "hopefully", we'd find it a most desirable discovery.

PAGING OUR MPP

Our section of Highway 417 is to be opened to traffic next month and one result will be that Ottawa will be less than an hour from Alexandria. North Glengarry should benefit to some extent we were thinking last weekend when an Ottawan seeking housing in this area took out a subscription to the paper.

Until now it had seemed to be Montreal area residents almost exclusively, who were in search of the good life in Glengarry.

It will be handy for area motorists to have a choice of two thruways to Montreal but the greatest impact of Highway 417 will probably be felt in that unknown country north and west of Glengarry that we have usually referred to as "The Ridge".

St. Isidore, Moose Creek and Crysler could get a shot in the arm from the proximity of 417. And how about St. Bernardin, Fournier, Limoges, Plantagenet, Casselman and other such centres that were off the beaten trail and remained relatively undeveloped?

Somebody loses, somebody wins; and that will probably be the case when the new thruway finally opens. Those towns along the Highway 17 killer strip will undoubtedly lose some business when traffic takes to the new highway. Motels, restaurants and service stations may have to adjust to a lesser volume of business but there will be such advantages as less traffic and safer driving conditions.

Morrisburg, Prescott, Cardinal and other towns along old No. 2 highway have proven since 401 went operational 10 years ago that by-passing a town is no mortal wound to the local economy. Residents of L'Orignal, Alfred and Rockland will probably enjoy the comparative quiet once through traffic ceases to use their streets.

If only Alexandria could look forward to a Highway 34 by-pass of the town. Can you give us any hope, Osie?

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Editor's note—The following letter has been received by our Martintown columnist, Art Buckland, from a Martintown native, Ewan Ross of Goderich.

Sept. 12, 1974

Dear Mr. Buckland:

As an old Martintown boy, I've been both amused and informed by your "Rumor Mill". Congratulations on a witty and newsy bit of writing. It did help the "News"—maybe also Martintown. I look for it and read it each week anyway.

I'm sort of interested in the history of Glengarry and so of course have done a bit of work on place names—old and new. So for your longest name contest I'll suggest "Ballagudeaich". It was just east of Martintown on the River Road. Have a talk with Rhodes Grant about it. There's a story in it. It's Gaelic, of course, and means between the town and the Creek. Rhodes will show you both the town (Martintown) and the Creek. It too is still there.

However, I didn't write this to enter your contest, which I suggest you should probably confine to local entries but to compliment you on your "piece" which I and many other former Glengarrians enjoy.

Keep it up and keep Martintown on the map. This can only be done however if the stones are allowed to remain "in situ". If they were all removed the whole area would be at least 10 ft. lower and come next spring we'd have a new and much bigger Loch Garry. It has been suggested before—please don't do it.

Sincerely,
Ewan Ross.

Report urges stiffer fines to curb drinking drivers

Better police enforcement and new penalties to catch and punish drinking drivers are needed to slow Ontario's increasing traffic accident rate, says a special government committee report published last week.

The report urges the Ontario government to reassess the penalties now imposed for conviction of a drinking-driver offence and to reassess the rehabilitative role of traffic courts.

It also says more drinking drivers might be detected by assigning a higher enforcement priority to the offence and by increasing law enforcement at specific times and places.

Contents of the report were revealed Wednesday night by Attorney-General Robert Welch at an international alcohol and traffic safety conference.

The report says alcohol-impaired driving is the largest single cause of traffic accidents in Ontario and that government efforts have so far failed to improve this situation.

Mr. Welch told conference delegates "it seems apparent that there is a need to take a close look at law enforcement procedures for drinking-driving apprehension, and to give careful consideration to our sentencing practices."

He said he is about to begin "an immediate review with Crown attorneys across the province of existing federal and provincial statutes to ensure that adequate penalties are being sought within the framework of existing legislation."

The 107-page report, completed in one year by an interministerial committee set up by the justice cabinet committee, doesn't call specifically for tougher penalties.

However, it does discuss the advantages and disadvantages of substantially higher fines, mandatory jail terms for first offenders and increased length of licence suspension, saying these three changes would have substantial deterrent effects.

At present, Ontario motorists convicted of a drinking-driving offence can be fined between $50 and $500 with an added three-month jail term for a first offence and a mandatory minimum 14-day jail sentence for a second offence.

Offenders also receive an automatic three-month licence suspension and, if there is injury or property damage, a six-month suspension.

IMPORTANT NEWS FOR NEW CAR BUYERS.

Some 1975 cars require the use of more expensive unleaded gasoline which is not readily available.

We want you to know...

All Ford of Canada 1975 carlines can be refueled with any gasoline, at any pump, at any station, anywhere. This also means you can select the gasoline price that suits you best.

In order to meet the new Canadian exhaust emission standards, some 1975 cars will be equipped with catalytic converters. The catalytic converter is an emission control device that requires the use of more expensive unleaded gasoline. Because this fuel is not readily available throughout Canada,* all engines (with the exception of one, the optional 2.8 litre V6) for all 1975 lines of Ford of Canada cars have been designed to meet the new Canadian exhaust emission standards without requiring catalytic converters. This means they can be refueled with any gasoline – unleaded, premium, or the lower priced regular. Thus, when you're driving a '75 Ford or Mercury line of car you can select the gasoline price that suits you best.

Ford of Canada believes that this will mean a lot to motorists who will not be able to find unleaded gasoline available in their normal driving and fuel-shopping patterns. Particularly those who travel in rural areas where availability is substantially less than major urban centres.

"ECONOMY EXTENDERS"

In addition to convenience of fuel availability and choice, there are a number of features engineered into every 1975 Ford of Canada car line that contribute to fuel economy:

- Steel-belted radial ply tires that extend tread life and reduce rolling friction for better gas mileage.
- Solid state ignition that eliminates the points and condenser and improves fuel economy over long periods due to a more stable spark plug performance.
- Improved engine tuning on many engines that results in increased fuel economy and performance.
- Optimized rear axle ratios that contribute to less engine wear and lower fuel consumption by proper matching to load and use requirements.

See your nearest Ford or Mercury dealer today. He will be glad to discuss everything about the refueling convenience and operating economy of the '75 Ford and Mercury cars including the extended service intervals that contribute to reduced maintenance requirements and, therefore, lower operating costs. It can mean a lot to you.

Cottage owners urged remove valuables

If you haven't done it already, you will probably soon be locking up the cottage for the winter and by taking a few simple precautions as suggested by the Ontario Provincial Police, you can reduce your chances of having your place broken into and having valuable items stolen.

Cpl. W. B. McInnis of Long Sault OPP suggests that cottage owners, "take expensive items such as TVs and so forth home with them, secure all doors and, if possible, cover all windows."

He said that because summer cottages are left vacant for seven or eight months, it is an easy matter for "some prone to breaking in to places to go in and take something when there's nobody around."

Cottage owners often leave expensive goods in plain view of anyone passing by Cpl. McInnis said, increasing temptation and the chances of a break-in.

CORN SILAGE MANAGEMENT

Corn silage continues to be used to fill a greater proportion of our livestock feed requirement each year. As a feed it can vary from a very high quality product to a very poor source of nutrients, depending on moisture, grain content and maturity. In fact silage quality and value can be so variable that one farmer remarked "there is no term as meaningless as a ton of silage".

Good corn silage should be made from a crop that is well matured with ears fully dented and in the late dough stage or when the whole plant contains about 35% dry matter and 65% moisture. At this stage silos will seldom run, you will harvest the highest possible pounds of feed nutrient per acre and the resulting silage will be highly palatable.

Many corn crops are harvested too early. A silo that leaks or runs will deteriorate rather rapidly. Your corn crop is really only making money, or storing nutrients at a rapid rate, from the time it is in the milk stage to the time it is fully dented and firm. It is estimated that during this period the nutrient content of a crop will increase by 35%. Wet silage containing 75 to 80% moisture can be quite unpalatable as compared to a 65% moisture feed. A frost prior to silo filling is actually a benefit. This will reduce the moisture content of leaves and the only loss in nutrient value will be a slight reduction in vitamin A content.

Prividing you can depend on the availability of equipment and your land carrying equipment, don't get in a rush to fill that silo. A standing crop will make you more money per day in late September than at any other season of the year.

NITROGEN ADDITIVES FOR CORN SILAGE

The prices of protein supplements continue unstable and unpredictable. There have been many inquiries about the advisability of adding a nitrogen source to corn at time of ensiling to increase the protein content of this feed and reduce the protein required in grain rations.

Gary Buck, our Dairy Cattle Specialist, suggests that even at today's high prices, nitrogen silage additives are a very good buy. They are all good products and should not cause any bad side effects in your herd, such as digestive upsets, displaced abomasums, breeding problems or any other health problems.

There are four products locally available, aqua ammonia, pro-sil, urasil and urea.

Many local dairymen used one of these products in 1973 and we made numerous nutrient tests of these and other silages during the year. Corn silage, without an addition, averaged 2.82% protein on an as-fed-basis or 8.85% on a dry-matter-basis. Corn silages, with nitrogen additives, averaged 4.14% protein on an as-fed-basis and 13.5% on a dry-matter-basis.

Good, mature corn silage is a high energy feed but deficient in protein. The addition of a nitrogen additive increased the protein content from 4 to 5 percent. This provided almost a complete feed for wintering dairy heifers and developing beef cattle. It permitted dairymen on high silage rations to reduce the protein content of their grain ration from approximately 18% to 14 or 15%.

Some precautions should be taken in adding nitrogen to silage. No matter what product is used, know the tons of silage in each wagon load. Either weigh a few loads or obtain an estimate on the basis of 25 lbs. per cubic foot of 65% moisture material. Most people over-estimate the weight of material in a forage wagon. Application rates must be strictly adhered to. Make certain the material is thoroughly mixed to avoid palatability and possible nitrate poisoning problems. Do not add nitrogen to the last few loads in the silo. This allows for sealing the top and introducing cattle to non-protein nitrogen on a gradual basis. Most products generate ammonia fumes which can be very dangerous. Under no conditions enter a silo where an additive is being used. Do not even climb the chute or outside ladder unless the additive has been turned off and the silo has been ventilated or cleared of fumes with the blower. With or without additives, silo gases can accumulate for several days on top of a silo. If you have to go up, ventilate the silo with the blower.

In summary, follow the recommended application rates, apply the additive uniformly and beware of ammonia fumes and silo gases.

Jets remain in south loop

Metcalfe 'Jets' will be back in the St. Lawrence Division of the new restructured Ottawa area Junior 'B' hockey loop.

The season opens in less than two months and instead of the three separate leagues that once operated in the Ottawa Valley the entire area will fall under the jurisdiction of the newly-formed league which is divided into four divisions.

The original draft placed Metcalfe in the North East Division with clubs from Embrun, Hawkesbury, St. Isidore de Prescott, Navan, Buckingham and Gatineau. The Jets management appealed the decision and at a meeting last week the Junior Council agreed to allow Metcalfe to remain in the St. Lawrence Division.

The decision has to be approved by the O.D.H.A. but this is expected to be a mere formality since Junior Council decisions are very seldom questioned.

Martintown rates to increase

The customers of the Martintown Hydro network will be paying about 14 per cent more for their electricity on Dec. 1 and thereafter.

This was the decision of Charlottenburgh Council which now doubles on occasion as the public utility commission for the Martintown area. The primary reason for the change is a prospective increase of practically the same amount in the cost of bulk power supplied to the village by Ontario Hydro.

Ron Audet, consumer service supervisor for the HEPC, of Belleville, outlined the proposed rates for residential properties as: Minimum billing $3.00 (formerly $2.50) first block of power, 250 kilowatt hours, 2.6 cents per kwh (formerly 2.3) water heater block, 500 kwh where applicable, 1.25 cents per kwh (1.05) next block, the balance of requirements, 1.45, (formerly 1.25).

Mr. Audet indicated that, since energy is becoming a scarcer commodity, it was felt necessary to modify the former balance of charges which was intended to encourage large users of power. In future there will be a tendency to lower the advantage formerly accorded to large users.

However, the village system will still provide electricity at about the same margin below prospective rural Hydro rates as now applies. Next year's budget for the village system indicates the setup is functioning at almost exactly the break-even point and since there is a small balance for operating expenses, Mr. Audet said there does not seem to be any reason to change rates any more than necessary to make up for increased bulk power costs.

A large part of the time of the Tuesday meeting was spent on the problem of drainage. Council was urged to expedite the engineer's report on a drain near Williamstown.

The ARDA authority was criticized for allowing a new culvert to become blocked on the Clarence Grant drain.

The nursery school at Williamstown, in the former Ste Alice school is nearly ready to open and a delegation visited council to discuss the lease and caretaking. All that remains to clear the way is final leasing arrangements for caretaking. Council indicated the lease would be signed and forwarded to the provincial authorities after examination by the township solicitor. Present registration for the new school is 24 and this is expected to rise.

Spark interest in rapeseed

Kemptville College is succeeding in efforts to launch full-scale rapeseed production in Eastern Ontario next year Carl Moore, head of the agronomy section, revealed last week.

A successful introduction of the major cash crop would help individual farmers stay in business, and aid Canada in its battle to meet the world demand for rapeseed, Mr. Moore explained.

About 75 Eastern Ontario farmers have queried college officials about the possibilities of growing rapeseed in the past five weeks, he said.

Interest was sparked after the college confirmed the successful results of five years of rapeseed experiments last July.

The experiments revealed that Eastern Ontario soil and climate can produce twice the yield per acre of rapeseed as in Western Canada. Majority of Canadian rapeseed production is undertaken in the western provinces.

Based on initial interest shown by local farmers for growing rapeseed, Mr. Moore predicted that 5,000 acres of it could be produced here in 1975.

"With the price of rapeseed at $8 a bushel, there'll be no problem getting 5,000 acres grown next year," he explained.

There are only 200 acres of rapeseed now being produced in Eastern Ontario.

He said world shortage was created by Western Canada farmers growing higher acreages of wheat due to higher grain prices. This led to a consequent decrease in rapeseed production in Western Canada.

Rooming houses exempt land speculation tax

"This morning September 4th cabinet endorsed in principle a submission made last week by the Ministry of Revenue to exempt from land speculation tax owner-occupied rooming houses," Arthur Meen, Minister of Revenue, announced recently.

He explained that the submission made by the Ministry arose from his concern that some home owners who normally rent spare rooms to students and other roomers may withhold such accommodation because of their fear of attracting the speculation tax on the sale of their property.

Under the Act as it now stands, an owner who rents a portion of his "Principal Residence" may incur speculation tax on the part he rents, if the house were sold.

In a clear cut example where the owner of a triplex lives in one unit and rents the other two units, two thirds of the profit from the sale of the property would be subject to speculation tax. Over time, the tax on rental accommodation is reduced and is removed entirely in ten years. The Minister pointed out that he did not want this tax liability to apply to home owners, who for added income, were making extra rooms in their homes available to students or others as roomers or boarders. However, the new exemption will not extend to self-contained apartment units within a residence.

"This decision made today will be formally implemented by regulation next week," the Minister explained, "and will be retroactive to April 9th, the date the land speculation tax act first came into effect".

Gaels play in Williamstown in season opener football

by Angus H. McDonell

When G.D.H.S. senior football team, a few years ago, was bulldozing its way over the high school gridirons, this writer suggested that the Gaels should join the St. Lawrence (Cornwall and west) League in an equalization move. Those were the days when the likes of Maxville's Don Bond with a mere handful of players facing a game with GDHS was like the battle poem, The Charge Of The Light Brigade.

Well our suggestion has become a reality all due to the realignment of school areas. No more bus trips to the north, Vankleek Hill, Hawkesbury and Plantagenet. It is now Westward Ho for Alexandria and Williamstown school teams. The only two Glengarry schools now link up with four from Cornwall, the new Tagwi and North Dundas. Thus we have an eight team senior school league. The four from Cornwall are, C.C.V.S., St. Lawrence, La Citadelle and General Vanier. The Indians out of Maxville are no more so far as the Maxville school is concerned. However the players and coaches, Don Bond and Bernard Julien, have moved into that new spacious and palatial school wigwam known as Tagwi located on highway 43 near Avonmore. Students will be bussed there from Finch, Avonmore, Moose Creek, Maxville and Monkland. North Dundas is located midway between Chesterville and Winchester.

Les Wert of C.C.V.S. is the league convenor. Cornwall school teams will play their home games on Thursday afternoons, kickoff time 2 p.m., while the four area school teams play at home Friday afternoons, same starting time.

Glengarry schools face each other in the schedule opener this Friday, September 20th, in Williamstown where Char-Lan will host Gaels. The complete schedule will appear in the News next issue.

Covering the school games for your favorite weekly journal always winds up a pleasant sport year for this writer. We anticipate an interesting season. Coaches Don Bond and Bernie Julien have gone from one coaching extreme to another, as they move into the new Tagwi (Indian name for meeting place) school. In Maxville they had to field teams from the smallest attendance of all schools in this area senior football. Right now their problem appears to be trimming down the numbers to a workable size.

Ourtown's coaches, Stan Fraser and Jean-Yves Jeaurond, have a rebuilding chore but we have seen this problem a lot worse in other years. Some 15 returnees from last year's EOSSA "B" champions are in training so that is a better than average start. Last year's quarterback, Brian Lawson, is at Waterloo University and Norman Laliberte is slated to call the signals for this year's Gaels. Laliberte was last year's backup skipper. Then there is that versatile athlete, Brian Filion, to jump in should Laliberte falter or be injured. Filion, despite the lack of weight, is among the top half backs in this school league. Last year's outstanding lineman, Rod McRae, is another grad and this leaves a big gap to fill on the offensive line. But another McRae, Keith, along with Steve McDonell, should be reliable anchors going both ways.

Barry MacDonald, last year's great ground gainer and point scorer, is sidelined due to a back injury received in a car accident. Rodney Shepherd will likely get the call to take over from Barry MacDonald with Stewart Dewar and John Charlebois being counted on for further offensive gains from the backfield.

At time of writing we have not yet reviewed the player prospects at Char-Lan but this will be relayed next week.

So with the first senior school game tomorrow (Friday) in one of the great sport centres for its size, anywhere, Williamstown, come on out folks for a couple of hours and see our young athletes of the Glens striving to be the Garney Henleys, Ivan MacMillans, Ron Lancasters, Jimmy Jones and Johnnie Rogers of the C.F.L.

Drug addiction discussed at meeting St Raphaels CWL

"Where there is love and discipline within the family unit and where they practice faith, hope and charity, then drugs and alcohol addiction become a minor problem among the children," Ken Seguin told members of St. Raphael's CWL at their September meeting.

Mr. Seguin is a probation officer with the Ministry of Correction Services of Ontario and showed a film on the effects of drugs and TV on children.

Rev. Charles MacDonald, Diocesan Director of the CWL was also present at the meeting and encouraged the women to continue their good work.

Mrs. Therese Valade who had convened the bake sale at the Williamstown Fair reported a profit of $85. This will be presented to Sister Maejanet MacDonell to continue her missionary work in Brazil.

President Mrs. Marie MacDonald expressed thanks to the ladies who clean the church weekly and appointed a new list.

Mrs. Rudolphe Levert reported 49 ladies had visited the St. Joseph's Oratory on the August pilgrimage and said additional names had been added to the rosary crusade in the parish.

Father O'Brien and Father MacDonald concelebrated mass prior to the meeting.
