Golfers among hydro victims

BY GREG PEERENBOOM
News Editor

The Glengarry Golf and Country's Club's good name made the Ontario Legislature last week.

The club became a poster boy for the outrage many residents have felt after being hit by huge increases in their Hydro One electricity bills.

"I found out that Hydro-One is nothing but a money grabber," said Prescott-Russell-Glengarry MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde in the legislature last Wednesday.

"The Glengarry Golf Course in my riding had their meter read by Hydro-One on June 13 when the rate was 3.22 cents per kilowatt hour (KWH).

"Then Mr Speaker, the July and August bills showed only an estimate and, guess what Mr Speaker? The estimates were zero and zero.

"Mr Speaker, I wonder if this was because Hydro One knew all along that hydro rates would be going up and planned to rip off small non-profit organizations like the Glengarry Golf Course?

"Mr Speaker, Hydro-One finally got around to reading the meter on Sept. 11 when the rate was at 8.573 cents per KWH and they got a whopping bill of over $7,400.

"Mr Speaker, due to the ineffiencies of Hydro-One, the Glengarry Golf Course was hit with an increase of over 165 per cent in comparison to the June rate.

"Why did they not read the meter in July and August when the rate was lower?

"I am warning all Ontarians check your Hydro bills closely to make sure that Hydro-One... the money grabber is not taking advantage of you."

The golf club's situation is even worse when comparing electricity costs from June to September to an identical span in 2001.

Golf club general manager Ian MacKay told The News the club will pay $10,092.90 this time around. Last year, it was $2,576.24.

Such a hit has a drastic effect on running a golf course, business or family household, Mr. Lalonde said.

"It's not going to bankrupt us or anything, but it does put a crimp on a lot of things," Mr. MacKay said.

"We were intending to do fall maintenance – we won't be able to do that now."

Mr. MacKay said Hydro One was contacted, but nothing has been promised, except for an employee to re-check the meter.

Mr. MacKay also hopes Hydro One will issue a rebate.

One of the regulations put in place after the electricity open market hit in May was a cap increase of 3.8 cents.

Mr. MacKay wasn't happy with the response from Hydro One.

"They were pretty coy. They said they would put in a request on a meter check up, but told me to pay the bill in the meantime.

"That's a fine if you give me a $7,500 credit all year, but you're making interest on our money."

Hydro One spokesperson Al Manchee said there is little else his company can do. As a wholesaler, the company has to pay whatever the spot market has set down.

What Hydro One will do is wait.

"If you can't pay the bill, we will work with (the golf course) on a payment schedule."

He said a rebate is in the hands of the electricity generators, principally Ontario Power Generation (OPG), which supplies about 80 per cent of the power.

OPG spokesperson John Earle said rebates will be determined based on a number of factors.

Two factors are the amount of energy bought by the wholesaler from OPG, and what percentage of power OPG supplies the market.

Mr. Morris said the rebate is also based on the entire year, so while eight cents per KWH is high there have been periods when the rate was lower.

Mr. Lalonde is forwarding a petition asking that Premier Ernie Eves call an election over the issue.

Some elementary school enrolments rising

BY KRISTINA WILSON
News Reporter

There must have been a baby boom in Glengarry in the late 1990s, if county school enrolment figures are any indication.

Two of the four boards which operate schools in Glengarry have reported enrolments for the 2002-2003 school year and for the most part, numbers are looking up.

École Terre des Jeunes in Alexandria, run by the Conseil des écoles publiques de l'Est de l'Ontario, continues to grow by leaps and bounds, as it has since it first opened in 1993 with 40 students.

Current enrolment is hovering around 207 students, up significantly from last September's figure of 165.

"We have been growing by 30 to 40 per cent every year," said principal Paul Hurtubise.

"We even have a waiting list of 20 to 30 students."

The school installed two additional portables during the summer to accomodate the ever-increasing numbers.

Enrolment is also up at the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario (CDSBEO)'s St. Joseph's School in Alexandria.

Principal Michael Crossan said the slight increase of eight students, for a total of 151, is a positive sign.

"It's reflective of the good things going on here," he said.

"Our Kindergartens are now split, which means smaller classes. That's attractive to many parents because it means the kids get more one on one time."

Iona Academy in St. Raphael's, also operated by the CDSBEO, is reporting the exact same number of students as last year, with 244.

"It's funny how things balanced out," principal Charlotte Rouleau said.

"We have a big Junior Kindergarten class this year, with 26 as of Oct. 1. Usually, our JK is around 20, so we've grown at that level which is a good thing."

With some families moving out of the area and others arriving, enrolment evened out.

Things are quite different at The Alexander School in Alexandria where enrolment stands at 127, down 30 from last year.

Group wants to bury Dunvegan quarry plan

BY GREG PEERENBOOM
News Editor

Another classic confrontation between residential property owners and an industrial developer is taking shape near Dunvegan.

Residents are organizing to oppose Grant Ready Mix. The Cornwall-based business intends to excavate a portion of a 1,100-x 400-metre lot about one kilometre east of Dunvegan.

Also proposed are construction of asphalt and concrete plants.

To contest the development, the concerned residents have united to re-form "Quarries are the Pits" (QP).

The construction and subsequent operation would lessen neighbours' quality of life and lower property values, said QP member James Joyce.

Mr. Joyce also operates two successful businesses on his property, one of several home-based companies which dot the immediate area.

"The quarry would be smack between two properties where people are living," Mr. Joyce said.

"Other quarries in the area are on back roads, they're adjacent to remote farmland. This one is not - the impact is 200 feet away."

However, the buffer land will be greater than that, said Grant Ready Mix co-owner Peter Grant.

James Joyce

Nonetheless, off-property effects will be felt, Mr. Joyce said.

"In the village, there's going to be more traffic, noise, and the smell of asphalt, depending on which way the wind is blowing."

Again, the effects will be far from constant, Mr. Grant said.

"Typically, a quarry in a rural area is operated intermittently, with 15 people on site, plus trucks."

"The other concern," Mr. Joyce said, "Of course, is the aquifer. Already wells in the Lions Club focuses on Halloween "Sight Night"

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

The Alexandria Lions Club dares not refuse this mission.

"Our charter from conception was sight, helping anyone with visual impairments," said Lions member Brian Proulx.

Hence, the Lions have undertaken "Sight Night" for this Halloween.

Members hope to recruit hundreds of school children.

"If you have unused eye glasses and sunglasses you can deposit them into the kids' bags during their trick or treating," Mr. Proulx said.

"It's very convenient that way."

So far, two English Catholic schools, St. Joseph and The Alexander, and one English public, Laggan, have come aboard. Schools which participate receive a participation award.

"Then the kids bring them to the schools. The Lions will co-ordinate the pickup and forward the glasses to the needy."

The children also have a nifty jingle to let residents know of their project - "Jeepers, creepers we need your old peepers".

Residents who do not participate in Halloween can still donate glasses by depositing them at Glengarry Memorial Hospital Tuck Shop.

"This year we just want to get up and running, work the bugs out," he said. "Next year we would like to expand it county wide and involve the other Lions Clubs in the area."

The collection is being assisted by Lenscrafters, which not only distributes the glasses, but also classifies, repairs and cleans them. The company also supplies the promotional material for the Lions.

Once the glasses are ready, they are forwarded to a Third World field operation where volunteer doctors perform eye exams and give away them away.

Enrolments are up

Principal Larry Harrison attributes the decline in what he calls a "top heavy" enrolment.

"We graduated 33 students last year," he said, "and we only had four new enrolments in Junior Kindergarten."

The Alexander School will likely be faced with a similar situation next year, as the current Grade 8 class stands at 30 students.

"You can speculate (on the reasons for declining enrolment), but there is no definite answer," Mr. Harrison stated.

Anne Perron, CDSBEO superintendent of education, said the board is "comfortable" with current enrolment figures.

"We're very steady," she said.

"We're always hoping to attract and engage students. And of course we have the faith dimension as well as academic."

The Conseil scolaire de district catholique de l'Est ontarien said figures don't come in from schools until Oct. 31, after which the board writes up a report out in November.

Upper Canada District School Board's Lynn Schefield said figures for 2002 aren't known yet, but are expected soon.

Bury Dunvegan quarry plan area are severely stressed.

"If you dig big holes in the ground, the water drains into them. They would be draining the aquifer.

Grant publicized its project, as required by the environmental assessment process, by taking out two advertisements in newspapers. One is to seek a extraction licence from the Ministry of Natural Resources. The other – to seek an Official Plan and zoning amendment from the Township of North Glengarry.

"We've been expecting this to happen for seven years," Mr. Joyce said, adding QP members needed to be vigilant in order to voice their opposition.

"They were hoping we were all tired of watching."

He and other residents expect to receive registered letters from Grant, another step in the approval process.

Mr. Joyce believes QP is in for an intense battle.

"They're used to getting their own way. "We're up against an extensive company, with deep pocketed resources."

Indeed, his company has commissioned numerous studies over the last three to four years to satisfy the provincial and municipal government requirements, said Mr. Grant, who declined to give a cost.

Topics included hydrology, blast drilling, planning, natural environment, surface drainage, site access and agricultural.

All these reports have been filed with the MNR and North Glengarry Township.

Mr. Grant believes his company has done much to assuage neighbours' concerns.

"This will help keep everybody happy," he said, noting "the rock is basically on the entire property, but rather than extract the whole property, we've opted to keep a substantial setback of 500 metres."

Another way of reducing noise and dust is locating the road down the middle of the property.

Mr. Joyce harbours little faith at influencing the MNR.

"The MNR is basically a rubber stamp; they no longer get involved in the process of reviewing of community complaints."

He said the MNR's policy of letting excavating companies provide the studies on their own is akin "to having the fox in charge of the hen house.

"It's at (municipal) council, where we'll have to make them aware of our concerns."

Besides all of the perceived drawbacks, the township has little economic benefit from another quarry.

"There have been studies that have shown we have more than sufficient aggregate," Mr. Joyce said.

Mr. Grant said this quarry would place the company in a position to bid for North Glengarry Township road maintenance contracts.

However, Mr. Joyce said another lucrative opportunity is waiting to happen.

"It's obvious they want a piece of the (Highway) 417 pie," he said, alluding to an impending refurbishing of 417's westbound lane. The $27-million reconstruction of the eastbound north of Glengarry is virtually complete.

"That would probably be something we would be interested in doing," Mr. Grant said.

The first round of the approval process takes place during a public meeting on Nov. 11, 7:30 p.m. at Laggan Public School. Residents can view the proposal and studies and ask questions.

QP members will be holding their own meeting tonight (Oct. 16), 7:30 p.m. at the Dunvegan Recreation Hall.

Blood donor clinics depend on regulars

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

When it comes to doing a good turn for his fellow man, Alexandria resident Guy Boyer rolls up his sleeves and gets to work. Literally.

Mr. Boyer gave blood for an impressive 35th time at the Canadian Blood Services blood donor clinic in Alexandria last week.

"It's a good action for people to take," he said.

"It saves lives and helps people."

Mr. Boyer said he gets a feeling of personal satisfaction in contributing to the well-being of others. At the same time, he feels physically re-energized after every donation.

"I always get a boost of energy," he said.

"I didn't understand why at first, but I found out this is normal: (giving blood) regenerates cells."

Joe Haché, co-ordinator of donor services for Canadian Blood Services in Ottawa, is thrilled with the turn-out at the Alexandria clinic.

"We had 104 units collected. That's awesome," he said.

Mr. Haché said the clinic reached 72 per cent of its target of 144 units. A total of 119 people came out to give blood.

"Four lives can be saved per unit, so (Glengarrians) touched 416 lives."

Credit also goes to the organizers, the Alexandria Optimist Club, for its sponsorship.

Mr. Boyer goes to every blood donor clinic he can and even expressed a desire to give more often. A healthy person can donate blood every 56 days.

"I would give every 2 months if they were here," he said.

Mr. Boyer – and the rest of the community – will get the chance to give again when the blood donor clinic returns on Feb. 3.

"Come out and save a life," Mr. Haché encouraged.

Fund-raising Angels soar to new heights

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

A fund-raising organization for leukemia and bone marrow transplant patients with strong local ties is on the verge of becoming internationally recognized.

"We're being featured in a highly popular magazine," said Dalkeith's Bob Hardy, who can't reveal its identity until the issue is published.

Mr. Hardy, the new president, and wife Vicky are two of the key volunteers for Little Angels Leukemia and Bone Marrow Transplant Fund. Founder Diane Wiggins of Ottawa has stepped back somewhat.

Until now, Little Angels' profile on the public's radar screen was through local fund-raising events in Ottawa and in Glengarry.

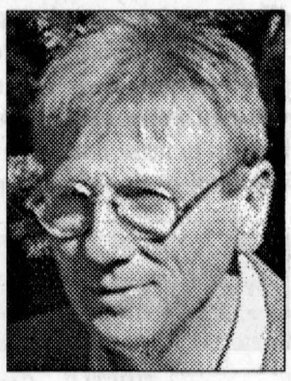
"CJOH has been very supportive," Mr. Hardy said.

Leukemia patients at the Ottawa Hospital General campus 5th floor are automatically told about the organization.

The magazine article, it is hoped, will give Little Angels the wings to eventually cover Canada.

"One doctor said there is no other organization like us (in Canada)," Mr. Hardy said.

Little Angels does not fund-raise towards curing leukemia but rather assists patients financially.



Bob Hardy

Mr. Hardy, a recovering leukemia patient, and his family know all too well.

For months after his bone marrow transplant, he fought a daily struggle with the adverse side-effects as the body adjusted to the procedure. With his income virtually halted and assets liquidated, the family went into debt, Mr. Hardy realized the disease's other long-term effects.

That's where Little Angels steps in, even if it's to help out with the small things in life.

"The fund pays for rent, child care, house cleaning, medications, food, accommodations and transportation costs for family, including parking, renting a TV at the hospital, special bed mattresses and warming blankets," Mr. Hardy said, almost anything to improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

"We are also renovating the (Ottawa General's) 5th floor lounge. Instead of a cold, sterile room, there will be a play area for kids, with a stereo, all new furniture. We've got $20,000 raised just for that."

Most of the money flows to lower income patients. But even those who had six-digit annual incomes can feel the pinch.

"Suddenly they can't work, because the wife can't work because she's looking after the husband. Meanwhile they're paying a big mortgage."

When their resources are exhausted, Little Angels steps in quickly, he said.

"Little Angels has a bank account at the hospital which the hospital social workers can tap into. They decide based on need.

"We don't even know who they are," he said, of almost all of the 52 patients assisted.

The fall is a quiet period for fund-raising, said Mr. Hardy, whose last fund-raiser for Little Angels was the punishing Rideau Lakes Bike Tour last summer. He is still adding to the $7,500 already collected.

"We are going to have a Christmas raffle, with prizes from major stores," he said. Corporations provide the lion's share of donations. For every $7,000 raised through an event, corporations kick in about $40,000.

Little Angels is also going on the internet, he said. A website is under construction in connection with a major corporation with help from a grant through the federal government's InfoCan.

Another exposure tool being developed is an annual brochure.

Then in the new year, the Hardys want to start planning for an inaugural curling bonspiel in honour of Lancaster's late Amy Ward, to continue the event she started in 2001.

Homework help, the 21st century way

Stuck on question 10 of your math homework? Just pick up the phone or jump on the computer.

An innovative partnership between francophone school boards and TFO – the French language counterpart of TVOntario – now allows students to get help with their homework over the telephone or on the internet.

The "SOS Devoirs" (SOS Homework) service is offered free of charge thanks to TFO. A total of 12 French school boards across Ontario are taking part, including the local Conseil scolaire de district catholique de l'Est ontarien (CSDCEO).

Students having problems with their French, math or science homework can access help using a personal code. With the code, they can speak directly with a teacher by telephone, Monday to Thursday, from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

École secondaire Le Relais students Amy Marie Menard and Steve Seymour, both in Grade 11, have already used the telephone service to get help with science homework.

"I was impressed with how fast and precise the answer was," Steve told The News.

"I will definitely use it often because it is so practical."

Amy Marie's experience was not so positive.

"The teacher wasn't able to answer my question, but I will use it again. I think it's a useful service," she said.

Other homework services can be accessed on the internet at www.sos-devoirs.org.

The new president of the Glengarry Chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation is inheriting a solid canvassing team.

Tom McCune of Lancaster had the honour of accepting a special award last month from the Ontario head office for the 2002 Person-to-Person Campaign.

During February, canvassers led by North Glengarry co-ordinator Dorothy Irvine and South Glengarry counterpart Dianne Crutcher, raised $53,405. The target was $49,000.

Under the co-ordinators, there were captains for various locales such as Williamstown or Dalkeith. The were in charge of small troops, who doggedly ploughed through the snow and cold to gather donations.

"They are quite the groups with their own identity," said Mr. McCune, a captain himself.

He said regional executive-director Susan David called the Glengarry chapter "one of the better organzied ones in the province."

Informing residents of the canvassing also played a part, Mr. McCune said.

Special credit goes to communications director Dane Lanken, who worked in cooperation with The Glengarry News to produce one of the best Heart and Stroke supplements in Ontario.

18 directors

The chapter draws on a very large board – 18 – which is annually attracting new members to replace departures.

Last month, retired Glengarry Memorial Hospital nursing director Bev Craig replaced Elizabeth McIntosh-Legge as health promotion co-ordinator.

The new secretary is Marion Dupuis, spelling off Jennifer Mitchell.

Mr. McCune himself only became vice-president last summer. He will serve as president for two years.

The chapter's next meeting is next Monday.

A Third World child could find plenty of treasures in a shoebox

By Kristina Wilson
News Reporter

Christmas is still over two months away, but the clock is ticking for Operation Christmas Child.

The organization which collects shoe boxes filled with gifts and distributes them to underprivileged children has a local deadline of Nov. 14.

This year, St. Joseph's School in Alexandria is an Operation Christmas Child depot for the area.

School council chair Heather Barilarro told The News she hopes the school will improve its own contribution of 37 boxes last year.

"It went so well last year. The kids are so open to it. Our goal for this year is to collect 40 boxes," she said.

Anyone interested in contributing to Operation Christmas Child can stop by St. Joseph's School during school hours to pick up information or an empty box to fill. There are also videos on the organization which can be borrowed on the honour system.

More than 18 million children around the world have benefitted from Operation Christmas Child since it was founded in 1990. They are victims of war, famine, natural disaster or extreme poverty, who wouldn't otherwise get any Christmas gifts.

To participate, decide whether you want your gift to be for a boy or a girl. Then, select an age category: two to four, five to nine, or 10 to 14.

Fill a shoe box with small gifts, including toys, schools supplies and hygiene items. The drop the box off at St. Joseph's School before Nov. 14.

Shoe boxes packed in Canada will be distributed in Central and South America, West Africa and Southeast Asia.

Operation Christmas Child is a year-round project of Samaritan's Purse, an organization that provides the basic necessities of clean water, food, clothing and medical aid to people around the world.

Samaritan's Purse staff and partners hand-deliver the shoe box gifts to an estimated six million children in nearly 100 countries.

Shoe boxes will be filled and donated by people in 11 countries, including the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, the Netherlands, Germany, Ireland, Austria, Switzerland, Finland and New Zealand.

How to pack your shoe box

•Get an empty shoe box. You can wrap it – lid separately – if you would like, but wrapping is not required. Or pick up an Operation Christmas Child box at St. Joseph's School.

•Decide whether your gift will be for a boy or a girl and the age category: 2-4, 5-9 or 10-14. Labels are included in the Operation Christmas Child brochure or on the internet at www.samaritanspurse.org.

•Fill the box with a variety of gifts using the list at the bottom as a guide. In a separate envelope, you may enclose a note to the child and a photo of yourself or your family.

•Enclose $5 or more to help cover shipping and related costs. Cheques are preferred to cash. Place the payment in an envelope on top of the gifts inside the box. Secure the box lid with a rubber band.

Suggested gifts:

•Toys: small cars, balls, dolls, stuffed animals, plastic kazoos, harmonicas, yo-yos, small Etch-a-Sketch, toys that light up or make noise, Slinky, etc.

•School supplies: pens, pencils and sharpener, crayons or markers, stamps and ink pad sets, colouring books, writing pads or paper, solar calculators, etc.

•Hygiene items: toothbrush, toothpaste, soap, comb, washcloth, shampoo (sealed in plastic), etc.

•Other: hard candy, lollipops, mints, gum, sunglasses, flashlights, ball caps, socks, t-shirts, toy jewelry, hair-clips, watches, small picture books, etc.

Do not include used items that are broken, stained or worn out; war-related items (toy guns, knives, etc.); chocolate, canned or perishable food items; cosmetics (makeup, nail polish, etc.); medicines (vitamins, cough drops, ointment, etc.); breakable items (mirrors, china dolls, snowglobes, etc).

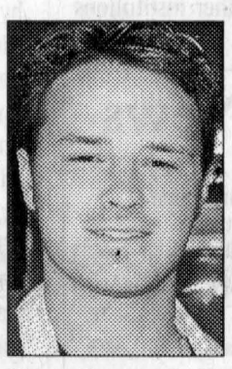
STRAIGHT TALK

In the long term, do you think it is necessary for Canada to keep the British royal family as our head of state?

– Amanda Portinari

Gilles Secours

Luc Ranger



Travis Hagen

Denyse St Denis, Alexandria:
Why should we change now, since we have had it this way always? For me, it doesn't make a difference.

Julie Lavigne, Alexandria:
I don't really think we need the Queen. I am not trying to deny our roots or anything, but is she really necessary?

Lorraine Shirlow, Glen Nevis:
I really think we need the Queen and the British royal family as our head of state. I really respect the Queen; I met her once when I was a Girl Guide in Nfld. I think that if we abolish this system, the monarchy could suffer.

Gilles Secours, Alexandria:
No, I don't think it is necessary. It could be done (changed) gradually and it should be done with respect to the Queen.

Luc Ranger, Alexandria:
Yes, we should keep the British royal family as our head of state because it has always been that way. The Queen is an important part of Canadian history.

Travis Hagen, Glen Robertson:
Right now, having the British royal family as our head of state is not necessary, but it is important that we remember its significance in our history.

Time to address the issue of the monarchy in Canada

EDITORIAL

For the better part of two weeks now Canadians have probably entertained more thoughts about the monarchy and its role in Canada then they have in the intervening years since the Queen last visited Canada. That in part is due to the fact that the Queen is here as part of her Golden Jubilee celebrations – marking her 50 years on the throne – and to no less extent by the remarks of Deputy Prime Minister John Manley.

Whether people consider his comments in response to questions from the press to be ill-timed and rude, at least they have served to stimulate some debate on an issue that warrants more discussion and interest by Canadians than had been the case prior to the visit.

While it's true that the role of the monarchy in Canada is ceremonial at best, its legal standing raises many issues, some of which are offensive and may soon be tested in the courts.

Leaving the present monarch aside, in this age when increasingly people are judged for who they become rather than their birthright, it seems to make little sense that one family with increasingly tenuous connections to this country should continue to hold such an official position.

Then there's the issue of race, gender and religion. Our constitution takes as a basic principle that there should be no discrimination as it relates to those issues, however the current provisions for succession dictate that the oldest male child be given preference and that Roman Catholics not be permitted to inherit the throne of England and, therefore, Canada.

Many people have expressed concern in the past about such provisions, not the least of whom is the current British Prime Minister Tony Blair who has acknowledged they are discriminatory, but who also considers them too complicated to change for the present.

Nonetheless, not everyone is overwhelmed by the difficulties in taking up such a formidable task. Former Toronto city councillor Tony O'Donohue is preparing to mount a legal challenge to the 1701 British Act of Settlement on the grounds that it is discriminatory. As he noted recently, such provisions are at once repugnant and insulting and he hopes the courts will strike it down as a violation of anti-discrimination provisions in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. Others make the point that such language wouldn't be tolerated if it referred to Jews or Muslims.

Still, there is a sizable faction in Canada who support the monarchy. Among their principle reasons is the notion that it costs little to maintain – the equivalent of about $1.10 per citizen per year ($22,000 from Glengarrians) – and that it is the last bastion against an American cultural takover.

Putting the cost issue aside as somewhat irrelevant – surely one could argue that it costs us more in credibility as a country by appearing to retain our colonialist links by having a foreigner as head of state – the argument that the monarchy is our last bastion against creeping Americanism is even weaker.

As Tom Freda, co-founder of Citizens for a Canadian Republic, noted recently, if "we have to define ourselves as Canadian (as opposed to being American) by embracing the system of a government across the ocean and by making ourselves more British and having a foreign monarch as head of state, we may in fact be inhibiting our growth as a nation."

Clearly, the time has come, just as it had in the 1980s when Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau chose to take up the cause of repatriating our constitution, that we should now be looking to finish that essential task of nation-building by developing our own standard for head of state.

Whether one favours a republican system with an elected head of state or some other form of appointed official, the decision should be in support of a Canadian in that position.

As a matter of civility, we don't want to be seen as deposing the existing Queen, but we should be addressing the question of succession, rather than leaving it in the hands of another country, and we should be doing it now.

This is the 21st century. Canada is no longer a colony, nor are we a White Anglo-Saxon Protestant (WASP) nation as define the qualifications for a successor to the Queen. Although the Queen may continue for many years, as did her ancestor, Queen Victoria, the need to begin the process is as urgent as many of the other matters currently on the political hot stove.

The question is, do we have the politicians or a political party with enough courage to tackle this potentially contentious question and provide leadership for the country as a whole?

According to current figures, Canadians with a specific view on the subject are evenly split, but of greater importance, most Canadians hold no real view on the issue. They are the ones that must decide.

It's been 30 years since a government body reported on the question. In 1972 a joint Senate-House of Commons committee on constitutional reform reached the conclusion that it would be preferable for a Canadian to be head of state. Sadly, like virtually every other house-senate committee in recent times, their work was for naught.

It has been said that the current Prime Minister is anxious to secure his legacy. He could start by developing guidelines that ensure that committees of the house and senate have some real authority. That in turn would open the door for his successors to appoint a suitable committee to start the process of determining the criteria to end Canada's association with the British Royal Family.

Thorns & Thistles

THISTLE – Grade 10s exceed literacy targets.

Anyone who entertained any concerns about the quality of education in Glengarry will at least have those doubts momentarily assuaged by the results of testing of local grade 10s.

Students at Char-Lan and Glengarry District High School scored particularly well in the province-wide testing, exceeding both board and provincial averages. The same is true for students at Le Relais.

In fact, only Brockville Collegiate Institute exceeded Char-Lan's marks, giving staff at both Char-Lan and GDHS something to shoot for in next year's tests.

For the moment, however, congratulations to both students and staff all three Glengarry schools.

THORN – Changing schedules worry VIA users.

Once upon a time, people could rely on rail travel to get them where they needed to go in this country.

The fact that the completion of a trans-Canada rail line is considered one of the most important accomplishments of nation-building in our country's history speaks for itself.

Nonetheless the convenience of the personal automobile plus the time-saving qualities of air travel have combined to diminish the importance of rail travel.

Still, in places like Glengarry, where there is no bus service or other public transportation alternative, the train remains a very viable and useful service.

The fact that it is not more widely used than is the current case has as much to do with the failure of VIA Rail to properly publicize the quality and usefulness of its service.

As it now stands, five westbound and four eastbound trains stop in Alexandria each day with commuter service available to both Ottawa and Montreal.

That's an enormous advantage for a community of our size and one that people should take greater advantage of.

At the same time the fact that VIA does so little to promote this service suggests that it would rather have its trains just slow down, rather than stop here.

Such a mind-set is going to require that users remain vigilant in monitoring schedules to ensure that VIA does not try to sneak through changes as was feared earlier this fall.

THISTLE – Groups combining Christmas events.

The decision by the Alexandria Richelieu Club and the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce to combine this year's Santa Claus parade and the Christmas Jubilee into one weekend makes a lot of sense providing a great lead-in for the holiday season for area residents.

Last year's holding of the parade on Sunday night by the Richelieu Club proved to be a stroke of genius as well as good fortune. Given that Sunday is typically the family day in this area, the timing of the parade allows families to enjoy the event together without having to deal with other scheduling conflicts that often pose problems for today's modern family.

As for the Jubilee weekend, the lighting of the tree on Friday night and the holding of the Gala dinner, dance and auction on Saturday ensures that there is something for everyone.

Also worthy of note is the Chamber's decision to spend some of its own money to help promote shopping in Alexandria at this time of year. Hopefully local merchants and other institutions will join in and support this initiative.

An endless list of possibilities

By Robin Morris
500 Channel Universe Editor

Well Gentle Reader, here we are on the first anniversary of what was to have been the edge of the brink of the verge of the extremity of the 500-channel universe. Our cable companies, in that spirit of generosity for which they have become famous, are offering us a spate of new programming choices.

Well, I don't know about you, but I've pretty well got my weekend planned out in front of me what with the expansion of the dial to include such must-sees as the all-cartoon channel, the all-space channel and the All-Ted-Turner, All-The-Time Network.

I'm gonna have to get a remote with a three-previous channel button just to keep up with the expanded selection. It's hard to believe how far we've come in the past 35 years when our choice was limited to CBOT, CBOFT, CJOH and WWNY.

Since I grew up closer to Watertown than Ottawa, my childhood was formed more by Danny Burgess and his execrable Kiddies' Karnival (Who could forget Danny B's sidekicks Billy Bee, Buzzy Bee and Super Bee? They're the kind of remembrances that are usually associated with Repressed Memory Syndrome) than by, say, the CBC's Razzle Dazzle.

By the time CEOH came along with Uncle Chichimas, Holly and Champ Champagne I was pretty well past kids' TV and was starting to get jaded by the four-channel universe.

Some people on our block even had aerials high enough to get Syracuse's WSYR which broadcast in, gasp, colour. But we had to take that as an act of faith since no one within 50 miles had anything but a black and white set so the NBC peacock could very well have been in colour but all we saw was a dozen shades of grey, just like the Indian's head that was on until noon. (And I'll swear that's why we had so many Chicago Black Hawks fans in our town. They were all cheering for the test pattern.)

No surprisingly many of the new stations are in straitened financial circumstances, having failed to take into consideration North American television demographics and Id like to see stations added that address this neglected portion of the population .

Why can't we get the Men's Food Network? There are those of us who want to know whether Cheez Whiz is a condiment or a staple (and not a few of us have tried to microwave a jar of it without first removing the metal lid, which can provide a really neat light show, especially if you douse the kitchen lights before zapping it). Is ketchup a vegetable? And is a Shopsy hot dog worth the extra at the check-out when a Lester, the official wienie of the soon-to-be-dearly-departed Montreal Expos, tastes just as good but isn't all beef? Or is it the other way around? Do you serve a lager with fish and an ale with beef?

And what about a channel dedicated to Indoor Life? Why would you want to watch the Outdoor Network? If you're that interested in the outdoors wouldn't you be there in the first place?

The Indoor Life channel could address such burning issues as the La-Z-Boy versus the Barcalounger; which remote control is best for switching between current and previous channels when both the main screen and the picture in picture are used to track four NFL games. And when plastic milk containers can be used as decorating accessories.

If you're an apartment dweller, wouldn't something like a Lawn Channel appeal to you?

All grass all the time without ever having to cut it? Watch a Hydro One truck make its rounds and then stop at the nearest chip wagon on the Power Cable Network (sorry, due to the nature of the subject matter, slow motion replays will not be available)?

Anne of Green Cables? It would save you having to read the book, cover most of what the CBC shows and teach you how to pronounce Lucy Maude Montgomery all at the same time.

The Cableknit Network? Finally answering the question of the difference between an Arran knit and a Fair Isle.

The Fable Cable Network, featuring Jean Chretien's Red Book promises and a list of his pledges that have been kept. (This would be shown for only a few minutes a day, but extra GST – remember that promise – would be added to your bill for subscribing to the channel. Oh yeah, and you'd have to register your TV with the Canadian Firearms Centre.)

Cain and Abel Cable, in which Wally Cleaver finally offs the Beaver?

The Canadian University Sports Channel, this week featuring naughty Internet postings from former Simon Fraser female swim team members, hosted by Dennis Miller, who should come cheap seeing as how no other network wants him.

Other choices include The Referendum Network, which could be cancelled for lack of interest. ABC. The All Bank Channel, featuring videos of late-night drunks taken with hidden cameras at ATMs? (Although hidden service charges would soon drive your cable bill to $14,000 a year.)

LETTERS TO EDITOR

No return

Re: recent articles in the Ottawa Citizen and Montreal Gazette, and in it was mentioned a quote from a letter to your newspaper by one of your citizens, Ms. Sue Challinor, regarding Howard Galganov. She hit the nail right on the head, but please do not send Howard back to Quebec!!

He was nothing but a pain in a certain part of one's anatomy while he was here and, even though he pretended to take up the cause of the 'English' in Quebec, all he was after was his own grandeur.

In my opinion, he was nothing but a bully. He loved people to kowtow to him and unfortunately the seniors of English descent thought he was their saviour. Wrong!

(By the way I am neither English nor French and have lived in Quebec for 26 years, fully bilingual.) Anyway whatever you do, please keep him there and try and have a "Country Music Festival" every weekend. Also please ensure that he does not get the noise bylaw extended to the countryside. If he is unhappy then let him move further west, I said further west.

Apologies

I, Lilianne Diotte, would like to apologize to the children and the parents of the community of Glen Robertson. For the last six years I organized two summer trips, one to Super Aqua Club and one to La Ronde. I could not find it in my heart to charge $10 extra a person for the bus. The reason why is because the request for a bus was sent to the Social CentreCommittee of Glen Robertson and their response was that they had no money and they gave a lot this year to the children of the community. Then I took the request to the Optimist Club of Glen Robertson in July. After August 25 meeting, the president came to see me on the baseball field to ask if I made the trip. I said no, I was waiting for an answer from the club. The president told me even if they wanted to that day of the meeting, they didn't have a quorum. I waited for an answer since July, but even a yes answer would have been too late. School started in three days. I will try again next year. Sorry again.

Don't trust Russians when it comes to world's security

Letters To Editor

Scientists have moved the minute hand of the doomsday clock closer to the midnight hour believing mankind is very close to destroying itself with a nuclear holocaust. When the nuclear bomb was tested about sixty years ago, some people and the Canadian and American governments built fallout shelters, obsolete today because of the extreme accuracy of Russian nuclear warheads. Many eastern countries have acquired nuclear weapons. I do not agree with the many who think Russia is poor and defenceless, since the Berlin Wall fell. As I read Grant Jeffrey's well-documented book "The Prince of Darkness" and others, revealing she is much better fortified than U.S.A. (p.172). He also revealed how the world has been deceived by the set-up coup against Gorbechev and communism in 1991. (p.170). Russia has long followed the old Chinese strategy "If weak, appear strong; if strong, appear weak" and "all warfare is based on deceit". Last year, Putin asked our Prime Minister not to let U.S. build a missile barrier in Canada, her quickest route. Chretien refused, but doesn't it show Russia's ulterior motive, i.e., to control the Middle East oil? She has had a pact with Iran to aid her when she decides "to push the hated Jews into the sea". (see Ps.83:4) if she, in return surpresses any Muslim uprisings in the former Soviet's southern countries and gives her access to Persian Gulf oil, 65% of world oil. With the latter she could blackmail Europe and Japan to capitulate to Russian demands and so achieve her old-time goal of world domination, without risking a nuclear war. But, Israel's brilliant Defence Force and the power of U.S. stand in her way. Russian could wipe out the U.S. in 30 minutes with warheads pointed this way. Russia seems friendly now, but God who knows the end from the beginning, inspired Ezekiel, 2,500 years ago before man even thought of bombs, to write how the frustrated Arab nations, Persia, (Iraq, Iran), Libya, Ethiopia, Sudan and Eastern Europe would join Russia's army to attack Jerusalem, in a nuclear war but five-sixths of the army will be destroyed. (Ez.38,39). For some reason, the U.S. will not help Israel. This is not Armageddon, yet. Worried? Worry won't save us from the wrath to come (I Thess. 1:10 etc). but getting right with God shall. "If you confess the Lord Jesus with your mouth, and believe in your heart that a god has raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved." (Romans 10:9,10). It's your choice God said it, not I nor the doomsday clock.

Imelda Wheeler / St. Andrew's

Arab countries, not us, should take care of poor

May I dispute Prime Minister Chretien's remarks at the UN that poverty and failed states (African) are roots of terrorism. (Standard-Freeholder Sept. 17), even saying 9/11 resulted from failed states in far away places. He wants rapid plans to aid Africa, for our own security. If Iraq would release its deadly anthrax, small pox, etc., etc., while he is still in New York, or when J.J.'s south east winds blow them our way, he and Canadian activists won't have time to regret not supporting Bush in getting rid of Saddam. Israel destroyed Iraq's reactor about twenty years ago or Saddam would have been capable of fulfilling his fiendish plan of making U.S. a living hell, because U.S. supports Israel, the hated Jews.

We don't need to fear the poor in Africa made poor by rebel wars spawned by communists in the past and now by greedy leaders supported by radical Muslims; by drought and the ravages of AIDS.

Chretien hugged Mandela at Kyoto meetings. About 15 years ago, the U.S. asked Mandela to use his influence to stop the proliferation of nuclear weapons. He said "No, each country has the right to defend itself". Now, on the Kyoto bandwagon, Chretien will cause Alberta jobs, higher taxes, double the cost of gas spending millons on stopping emission from its oil and gas operations. Will Iraq keep our thermostats working? Why doesn't 'filthy' oil-rich Kaddafie of Libya help his poor neighbours instead of supporting 'terrorists' in Ireland and digging tunnels to store Russian tanks and fuel for its future attack on Israel. (See Ezekiel 38:1-23;39). Egypt has put money in weapons to join Syria against Israel (1967). Why don't Iran, Iraq, Saudi-Arabia (oil-rich) and Arafat help their poor African neighbours instead of wasting money and lives attempting to push the hated Jews into the sea. Are these the failed states in far away places Chretien claims caused 9/11? Charity must begin at home in Africa and the Middle East but also in Canada where rebelling hospitals, health services, fishermen, renters, university students are making themselves heard. "If anyone provides not for his own-he is worse than an infidel". (1 Timothy 5:8).

Imelda Wheeler / St. Andrew's West.

Beware of celebrating Halloween

Please publish my letter concerning Halloween celebrations. Many people do not know what they are doing by celebrating this Halloween thing. It is very bad influence for children. You must decide to please God or to please Satan. Satan will work very hard to enter or take over more and more of your mind and body. He is willing to destroy you under any condition to take your chances away from God. You cannot find inner peace or good heart by pleasing Satan. It is not too late for you to turn your life around. God will thank you. I know personally from my very sinful life, Satan had total control over my body. He almost took me into his kingdom. I became suddenly very sick and had to be airlifted to Ottawa General Hospital. I was in perfect health for 70 years. Then suddenly June 2001 Satan did his work on us. My wife had one stroke after another. One happened in the bathtub and it took me one hour to get her out. I was myself very sick. I lost the use of my eyes, everything became red and purple. I could not go to the hospital, my wife needed my help. But God did intervene. The Sisters of Alexandria, the Priests of Apple Hill came to my bed in the Glengarry Hospital. They did pray for me. Satan had to go. In Ottawa General Hospital they were working on me, the doctors and helpers for two weeks. I do not know what to account for. They saved my life and put my kidneys back to work through dialysis. Today I am very strong and thank God and his son Jesus for giving me another chance. So please, be alert and stop celebrating Halloween. Do not give the demons a chance to infest themselves in your body and soul. God will thank you for it and bless you for it. If only one person will take this advice I would be very happy. Now we have a good nurse Judy to take good care of us.

OPP awards ceremony honours locals

Police Briefs

Several members of the SDG detachment of the OPP were honoured at the OPP Awards Ceremony held Tuesday in Morrisburg.

Receiving a Police Exemplary Service Medal for 20 years of service was Senior Constable Dan Bissonette of the Long Sault office while Sr. Const. Joe Dupuis of the Lancaster office received his First Bar for 30 years of service.

Members of the public, as well as police officers, were honoured for their outstanding actions. Dean Brown of Maxville, Blaine Kinloch of Martintown and Dean MacDonell of Apple Hill all received Commissioner's Citations for lifesaving, along with RCMP Const. Ghislain Bourbonnais. The four men were in a vehicle together in the Merrickville area when they came upon a vehicle overturned in a ditch. The driver of the vehicle was submerged in water. They extricated the driver.

St. John Meritorious certificates were presented to Detective Constables Simon Hardy and Marvin MacDonald for their actions in saving the life of a Lancaster baby in October, 2001. The 10-month-old boy was choking on food. When they arrived on the scene, the two police officers administered first aid until the ambulance arrived.

Pedestrian hit

On Oct. 11, around 8:25 a.m., a 2002 Lincoln, driven by 67-year-old Micheline Cholette of Lancaster was north-bound on Main Street near Glengarry District High School in Alexandria.

At that time, 14-year-old Patrick Massia of South Glengarry attempted to cross from the east side of Main St. to the west side. He stepped into the path of the vehicle and was struck. He was taken to Glengarry Memorial Hospital by ambulance, where he was treated for minor injuries.

No charges are expected to be laid. Const. D. Morin is investigating.

Drugs seized

Shortly after midnight on Oct. 12, SDG OPP observed a seemingly intoxicated man urinating on a vehicle near the Atlantic on MacDougall St. in Alexandria.

As a result of dealing with the man, a quantity of marijuana was located in his vehicle.

Charged with possession of a controlled substance for the purpose of trafficking is 23-year-old Robin Rozon of Alexandria.

Motor vehicle collision

Shortly after 8 p.m. on Oct. 11, a 1996 Volkswagen, driven by 21-year-old Karine Crochetiere was on Tannery Road facing west.

In her attempt to get to the 417 on-ramp, Ms. Crochetiere pulled into the path of a second vehicle which was north-bound on County Road 34, driven by Paul Bell, 33, of Hawkesbury.

Mr. Bell's vehicle struck Ms. Crochetiere's vehicle on the driver's side. Both vehicles had two occupants, all of whom were treated at Glengarry Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

The North Glengarry Fire Department used the jaws of life to extricate Ms. Crochetiere from her vehicle. She is charged with failure to stop.

Const. B. Richardson is investigating.

Theft from business

Sometime between Oct. 5 and 7, a thief or thieves broke into a business on Duncan Street in Lancaster. Cash and a laptop computer were taken.

Const. S. McDougald is investigating.

Gardening expectations high from Russian scientist

MAXVILLE
GORDON WINTER
527-2888

We extend a warm welcome to the members of the Vasilenko family who have taken up residence in the home on Spring Street recently purchased from George Richer.

Dr. Vladimir Vasilenko recently joined the staff of the Ceres Corporation.

The family consists of wife Olga, and their two sons, Igor and Victor. Igor is attending Maxville Public School and is quickly becoming fluent with English. Victor is younger. Mrs. Vasilenko is working on her English conversation.

Presently, an aunt is visiting the family.

Dr. Vasilenko immigrated to Canada in 1998 and has his PhD degree in Plant Physiology. His experience is broad and his latest work, before locating here, was at the University of Guelph in the Department of Plant Agriculture where he was a research assistant.

We expect to see lovely flowers and vegetables around the home and in the large garden at the back next summer. No doubt we also have a well qualified gardening consultant in our midst now.

Let us all help to make this Russian family feel right at home while at the same time taking advantage of the skills that this plant scientist possesses.

50th anniversary

Nov. 8 is a special day for Murdena and Eldred Scott because it was on that date, 50 years ago, that they were married.

They have been residents of the village for that time and have lived in the same home on Main St. S. Mr. Scott has been retired from the Post Office staff for a number of years and has always been available to help out in the community as has Mrs. Scott.

Their three children, Wendy, Wayne and Allison, grew up here and are now on their own, with Allison the closest, living in Strathmore.

Our very best wishes and heartiest congratulations go to this couple.

Attended plays

Recently, Lorna and I were away for three days when we travelled to Stratford, accompanied by Dorothea and Ross Conners. Ross had made our motel reservations much earlier as well as purchasing tickets for two plays.

We planned the trip so that we would have the day free on Thursday to visit the Farmers' Market near St. Jacobs and to do some visiting in nearby Elmira.

We also knew that we wanted to see the play My Fair Lady so had to take whatever play was available on the other evening.

It was Shakespeare's The Two Noble Kinsmen, the playwright's last play and one that was unknown to us. However, it was very well done and we enjoyed it very much.

The musical was in the large theatre and all seats were filled. In fact, the production was supposed to close about now, but is continuing until near the end of November by popular demand. It was excellent.

The Farmers' Market up there is huge with many of the vendors, Mennonites. The fruits, vegetables and flowers were great but my only purchase was a jar of hot horse radish from a Mennonite lady. Lorna bought some other things. Actually, we didn't stay as long as we thought we would because it was very warm and the alley ways were packed with shoppers.

Our stop in St. Jacobs was very brief as we had done all the stores there last year.

It is worth going to Elmira just to watch the Mennonite farmers driving in and out of the town with their horses and buggies. They are not stylish, but practical. I believe the horses, in many cases, are retired race horses.

We called to visit the Conners' daughter, Terry Ormiston, her daughter, Catherine, and new son, James. Verna MacGregor lives nearby but when we went to visit her, we found that she was out at a church meeting.

We drove home in very heavy rain all the way and found that at home, the rain had been considerably less.

CWL meeting

The October meeting of the CWL of St. James Church was held on the 7th and was preceded by the recitation of the rosary and mass. President Jeannie Coleman called the meeting to order after which the League prayer and promise were repeated.

Claire Besner was in charge of the prayer service. The roll call was answered by 20 members.

The White Ribbon Against Pornography (WRAP) program is once again being supported and the week of Oct. 20-27 is the one set aside for special action. It is sponsored by Canadians Addressing Sexual Exploitation (CASE).

This year, two loop holes in the legislation are receiving serious attention. They are the laws pertaining to the age of consent and artistic merit. Members have the material which deals with these two laws and all churches and groups are being encouraged to participate in the campaign.

Father Jacques Labelle thanked the ladies for all their help in making the church supper such as success. Claire Gougeon and Christine De Repentigny were applauded for their competence as convenors.

On Oct. 23, there will be a Spiritual Day at Shalom House. The Diocesan Executive meeting was at St. Bernard's School on Oct. 9.

The parish will be participating in Operation Christmas Child again this year and the boxes will be rounded up on Nov. 10 or sooner.

Lorraine Villeneuve and her group were thanked for the refreshments. President Jeannie Coleman remembered seven October birthdays with a delicious spice cake for the celebrants.

The November meeting will be on the 11th with Martine McDonald-Hill's group in charge. The meeting closed with a prayer to Our Lady of Good Counsel and a prayer for priests.

Diners' Club

The members of the Diners' Club at the Manor will be enjoying their first meal of the season on Oct. 24 at the Manor at 5 p.m. Any senior living in the community may be a member and new members are always warmly welcomed.

The theme will be Halloween and so the diners are encouraged to come in costume or to at least wear autumn colours. There will be a scavenger hunt throughout the Manor, too.

Glengarry Pipe Band

There are two announcements from the Glengarry Pipe Band. A raffle for a kilt was conducted over the summer and recently the name of the lucky winner of the kilt was drawn.

She is Elaine Healey from Toledo, Ont.

The band is once again sponsoring the St. Andrew's Ball and this year is a special one because it is the 30th one.

It will be at the Bonnie Glen on Nov. 23 and since it is a special one, the organizers are looking for band memorabilia. If you have some, the committee will be very pleased to have it or the loan of it. The contact for this project is Janice MacLeod who may be contacted at 347-2144 in Lancaster.

Bird news

There is still no interesting news about the birds. I expect this means that they are finding their natural food and will start coming to the feeders when they get hungry.

Of course, the blue jays are always looking for sunflower seeds to store but I haven't made my seeds available to them yet, but I have some sunflowers that have ripened and there are no birds picking out the seeds in the heads.

I have a sheet of questions and answers pertaining to the feeding of the wild birds.

The answer to the question about birds' feet sticking to metal feeders and perches in the wet winter weather, the answer is no so that metal does not have to be covered with plastic or wood.

The question about feeding straight peanut butter is a common one. The answer is that it is all right to feed it straight but it can be mixed with lard, cornmeal and/or grit.

Should grit be fed? One year I bought a box of grit for caged canaries and put it out but found that very little of it was used. This reference I am using indicates that grit at the feeders all year round is a good idea. An alternative is to use crushed egg shells. They are particularly useful in the spring by providing calcium for the birds' egg shells.

Euchre

At the Young-at-Heart euchre party on Oct. 7, the whole gang seemed to be out with the winners' lists containing many familiar names.

Claire Van Putten, Wilma MacMillan and Rita Seguin earned the top scores in the ladies' division while the prize winning men were Hormidas St. John, Mac O'Byrne and Oliver Gates.

The lucky ones in the 50-50 draw were Florence Harkin, Rita Lalonde, Violet McDiarmid, Nina Ryan, Mrs. MacMillan, twice, Lorraine De Repentigny and Gloria Rolland. Mr. O'Byrne won the door prize.

The next party will be on Oct. 21.

Dinner and movie

The Maxville Recreation Committee is holding a dinner and movie night at the Sports Complex on Oct. 18. The dinner will start at 6 p.m. and will consist of a hot dog, pop and chips for $2.

The movie that will be shown this time is Scooby-Doo and will start at 6.30 p.m.

After the movie there will be a youth dance from 9-11 p.m. and the cost for it will be $3.

There is a sign-in, sign-out policy for these events. All youth are welcome.

Unseasonable warm temperatures, blue skies, lovely music and a very interesting naturalist were part of the many components that went together last Friday to make a special afternoon visit to Cooper Marsh Visitor's Centre by some residents of Chateau Gardens.

Cooper Marsh Conservators and naturalist/biologist Bruce Doran, of the St. Lawrence River Institute of Environmental Sciences, greeted about 20 residents plus staff and volunteers, as they arrived.

Throughout the afternoon Jean Lajoie sang many familiar songs to the delight of those present, who sang along, clapped, and tapped toes to the music.

It is hard to miss the enthusiasm of Bruce Doran when he speaks on any topic and his address for this afternoon was no exception. Talking about wildlife on the marsh Bruce kept everyone's attention.

Refreshments were served, as everyone continued to visit and enjoy more music. All too soon it was time to leave. The residents gave a fond farewell to Mr. Lajoie, the Conservators, and Bruce, as they departed.

Church celebrates 215 Years

On Sunday, at 11 a.m., the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster, celebrated its 215th anniversary of Christian witness in the community.

This year St. Andrew's was pleased to welcome guest preacher, the Rev. Ian Victor, minister of St. Giles Presbyterian Church in Ottawa. Approximately 25 years ago Rev. Victor was a student minister in the South Lancaster congregation. Many families in the church still fondly remember him and his involvement. Anne Kanz on piano, and Ken Johns on clarinet offered special instrumental music. Following the service an Anniversary Luncheon was held in the church hall.

War Memorial rededication

Along with the invaluable assistance of the Claude Nunney, Lancaster Branch 544 of the Royal Canadian Legion, the Williamstown Green Thumbs Horticultural Society has completed a wonderful project to enhance and beautify the War Memorial in Williamstown.

The original memorial, of light gray granite, was dedicated almost fifty years ago. This dedication included a parade of veterans from Lancaster and Williamstown, marching with their colours.

Now that this recent project by the Green Thumbs is complete the War Memorial has new walkways, steps, an enclosing wall and lights.

There will be a rededication ceremony on Oct. 27. The public is invited to come at 11:15 a.m. to be a part of the special event. There will be many guests from all levels of government, historical societies, police departments, fire departments, and, of course, veterans of all wars. The Lancaster Legion will be a part of this ceremony and President, Pastor Chris Hill, will be presiding at the dedication.

An added note, I understand that the Green Thumbs have offered to carry out the same project for our memorial in Lancaster. How nice!

50th wedding anniversary

Not too many couples get to celebrate 50 years of marriage. But, recently two such celebrations have come to my attention. Last week it was congratulations to the Bourdons of South Lancaster.

While going in to check out the latest at Auld Kirktown, I had a chat with owner, Madeleine MacDonald, as we watched her "Elves" get things in order for this year's Christmas Room. Now this is a very busy time, but Madeleine, as always, has time for a little chin wagging. So that is how I found out that Ranald and Madeleine celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Tuesday.

With great excitement in her voice, Madeleine related to me her latest adventure. Her family moved this busy couple right out of their home so that they could make a surprise befitting such a special occasion.

Two and a half days later they were led into the house, eyes closed, and out to their gazebo to gaze upon a lovely miniature, wandering stream, running down a stone pathway on its way from the top of a hill to the gazebo.

Flowers and stones placed creatively along the way and fifteen special stones with each grandchild's name made a lovely sight. A beautiful, dish shaped plaque contained the words, "Fifty Years of Love." As for the sound of water, this was a poignant reminder of the sound that Ranald enjoyed in his youth in his Milles Roches home that is now under water in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

I think that official celebrations go on this weekend, just in time for the opening of the Christmas Room, for Madeleine's sister's birthday, for a friend's 25th wedding anniversary and for a great 50th celebration. MMM, no time to be bored!

Madeleine and Ranald are very grateful to their family, Anne, Susan and Christopher, Michael, Cathy and Bob, Randy and Lisa, Jamie and Brenda. The grandchildren with their names on the stones? Ranging in ages from 22 to three years: Jennifer, Lindsay, Andrew, Josh, Zachary, Ben, Hannah, Nicholas, Katie, Jessica, Kayla, Kelsey, Thomas, Madison, and Cameron. Congratulations to all!

Pacemaker's Luncheon

This Friday, is the monthly Pacemaker's Luncheon at the Lancaster Legion. Come to the Legion Hall and enjoy soup, a sandwich and a nice dessert with coffee all for only $5. Everyone is welcome.

Community Breakfast

Sunday, from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. For only $4 you can enjoy a hearty breakfast without a lot of work in your kitchen.

Bring the family to St. Joseph's Parish Hall and choose any or all on the menu: bacon and sausages, eggs, baked beans, pancakes, fresh fruit, toast, jam, coffee and juice.

This is a Lancaster Knights of Columbus event and all proceeds go to their charities, which are many. By the way, the Knights have a website. Just go to www.kofc-oneast.ca and click on Lancaster.

Reminders:

Every Wednesday morning until and including Nov. 7, there is Preschool Story Time at the Lancaster Library. From 10:30 a.m. our little readers of ages three to five can enjoy stories, rhymes, and songs. Call 347-2311.

Annual Harvest Fall Fair, this Saturday at Salem United Church in Summerstown. From 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Flower Arrangement and Potter demonstrations as well.

Exceptional guest speaker

Sister Elaine MacInness, recipient of the Order of Canada, and soon to receive the Jubilee Medal for her humanitarian work, will be the guest speaker at St. Andrew's United Church in Bainsville on Sunday. She will speak at the regular 11 a.m. Sister MacInness is the only qualified Zen Master in Canada and uses her skills to work in prison systems. Everyone is invited.

Harvest Ball

A celebration of 40 year's history of S. J. McLeod P.S. On Saturday, at the Char-Lan Arena, from 8 p.m. Tickets, $8 or $15 a couple.

Spirits of scarecrow

Well, the Scarecrow Festival is on and what a delightful idea. There are many imaginative displays and probably more to come as the deadline for entries has arrived. As you read this, the judging is ongoing and, you too, could have a vote. The proceeds go to Kids Can Save the Children.

On Friday morning, with my daughter and her two daughters, we drove by to get a close up. What fun! And what imagination! Kaytlin was entranced, but is too young to realize the amount of work that was done on these entries.

I hope that this becomes a tradition because this is the sort of thing that gives spirit to our community, and I don't mean Halloween spirits, although there is some of that too!

One entry sports a very tall chef scarecrow and his petite scarecrow wife, standing beside a table. Now I wonder who that could be? I'll give you a hint. They have a popular restaurant, and they are always getting involved in our community events.

Have a super week everyone!

S.J. McLeod ready for 40th BD party

NORTH LANCASTER

INEZ FRANKLIN
347-7666

At last the months of planning, discussion, phoning and meetings will come to fruition for the S.J. McLeod Public School 40th Anniversary Harvest Dance and Reunion. (Fit that on a banner!)

Committee members have tried to reach as many former staff, pupils, parents and friends as possible to spread the word of the party. With luck the ripple effect will have taken place and a vast number of people will arrive at the Char-Lan Recreation Centre in Wlliamstown on Saturday, at 8 p.m.

Plan for the evening

The plan for the evening is as follows: by 8:30 p.m. a short program of introduction and appreciation for those involved in the school's history will take place. Following those remarks the lights will dim, the band will play, and the party will commence! Everyone will visit until the night's end and enjoy a light lunch too!

A look at the past

A number of photographs and news clippings have surfaced and these will be on display for the duration of the evening. It will be interesting to see how many faces are recognizable from the sixties for those of us who were students when the school was known as Lancaster Township Area Public School.

The party is intended to be a community event as much as a reunion, and absolutely everyone is welcome, from parents of former students to the merchants who have so generously sponsored school activities over its 40-year history. If you've even driven by the place, you're welcome to celebrate with us! The idea is to celebrate the unique nature of the area and the school's role in the wider fabric of the community.

So, come one and all to the Harvest Dance on Saturday. Remember, it is the arena in Williamstown, not at the school itself! Bring your friends and join the celebration.

Ecole Ste Therese

Students are enjoying their fall field trips! Last week the Grade 3 and 4 class spent a day at Upper Canada Village. This Friday the Grade 1 and 2 students are invited to the Evergreen Riding Stable in Glen Robertson. Meanwhile, Grade 5 to 8 will visit a museum in Ottawa.

Happy Birthday!

On the birthday list is Bernice Coleman, who, in fact, celebrated in late September. Laughlin Franklin will be six years old next Tuesday. Best wishes to both!

Two more post-secondary students this week to report: Craig Calvank is off to Algonquin College, Natasha Brodie is taking her teacher's training at Redeemer University College at Ancaster.

Euchre cancelled

The euchre at Laggan has been cancelled on Oct. 17 because of a previous committment at the school. The first evening of play will be Nov. 14.

Dalkeith afternoon euchre will resume on Oct. 23 at the Optimist Hall at 1:30 p.m.

Brunch

The next brunch at the Optimist Hall is October 20.

Laggan Public School

Laggan Public School staff members and friends attended the school board's retirement dinner for Margaret Bartnikas, Lynda Evans, Myrna MacSweyn and Suzanne Poulin last Thursday evening in Cornwall. We wish them all the very best in their new careers.

The fire drill practices at the school over the past couple of weeks really paid off as the entire school was evacuated in less than one minute, shaving fifteen seconds off last year's time.

Each and every family in the community is encouraged to practice escaping their own homes in the event of a fire. It never hurts to be well prepared.

Student led conferences/progress interviews will take place tomorrow, Thursday from 6 p.m.- 8:30 p.m. for Grades 1-7 and Junior Kindergarten. Grade 8 conferences/interviews will be held the following Tuesday, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Senior Kindergarten sessions will be held later in November.

Congratulations to our Junior and Senior soccer teams which were very successful in a recent schools' tournament held at the Alexandria Island Park. The school and community are very proud of your efforts.

Flu season coming

Halloween may be a while away, but you can decide now if you will be dealing with a trick or treat come flu season.

"Anyone who wants to help avoid the sniffles, coughs, sore throats and aching muscles that usually accompany the flu should be getting a flu shot," said Juliette Denis of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

The Health Unit will be holding flu shot clinics beginning mid to late October. "If staying healthy throughout the fall and winter is a priority, then getting that flu shot should be an annual priority too."

The free flu shot is available to everyone older than six months. Juliette Denis says seniors and people with a chronic disease are especially encouraged to get immunized since they are the most likely to suffer the sometimes fatal effects of influenza.

Caregivers and anyone with regular contact with seniors or the ill, should also receive the flu shot.

Check your local paper for flu clinic times and locations. For more information about flu shots call 933-1375 in Cornwall or 1 800 267-7120 and ask for Health Line.

Glengarrians leading classes, seminars at Encore centre

By Kristina Wilson
News reporter

Some area residents are sharing their knowledge with others through Cornwall's Encore Seniors' Education Centre.

Ernie Spiller of Williamstown has organized an eight-week course on single malt whiskey and its appreciation.

Mr. Spiller will be joined by fellow Scotch aficionado Don MacDiarmid.

Throughout the eight weeks, students will study such topics as the geography of Scotland and where the distilleries are located, the history of alcohol, whiskey and Scotch and the chemistry of how whiskey is made.

Each session ends with an all-important tasting, during which students will learn to analyze the colour, the "legs" and the taste of various brands of Scotch.

Both Mr. Spiller and Mr. MacDiarmid are members of the Companions of the Quaich, a local Scotch appreciation society.

Tree Haven resident Gera Leblanc is involved in a three-part workshop at Cooper Marsh.

Mrs. Leblanc, vice-chair of the Cooper Marsh Conservators, will give an introduction and history of Cooper Marsh.

Later on, biologist Bruce Doran will lead a guided tour of the Marsh and talk about the biodiversity of marshland. During the third installment Dr. Brian Hickey will give a presentation on the birds of the marsh and migratory patterns of those birds.

Pat Ferguson of Lancaster is a familiar face at the Encore Seniors' Education Centre. She returns to lead a course in the ancient art of calligraphy.

Gerd Wiencke, a Martintown area resident leads a two-part workshop on the history of Canadian postage stamps and how to build a collection.

One of the 21 shorter workshops being offered by Encore Seniors' will be held at the Glengarry Outreach Seniors' Support-Rendezvous Centre in Alexandria. Hertha Felner von Feldegg will present a two-part workshop dealing with the Medieval storyteller.

For more information on all the courses offered by the Encore Seniors' Education Centre, phone 937-1525 or visit them on the internet at www.glen-net.ca/encore.

Grey coloured baby continues to grow

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279

We've been watching it grow, like anxious and caring parents. The baby in question here may be gray in colour and made of granite, but it is loved by its parents, nonetheless. And on Sunday, Oct. 27, our baby is going to go through its own sort of baptismal ceremony.

The "baby" is, of course, the Williamstown War Memorial, or more specifically, the grounds around it.

The Memorial has its own history. It was donated to the community by the Williamstown Community Club and was unveiled in November, 1953. The memorial stone initially stood in the little triangular island dividing William Street into the former Charlottenburgh Township Hall half and the Roads Department (formerly fire station) half.

Some years back it was moved to a larger, grassy, pie-shaped lot between the McDonell and Joubert properties, where it stood largely undisturbed (except for Nov. 11 ceremonies) until 2000.

At that time, members of our Williamstown Green Thumbs decided to live up to their society's mandate to participate in the beautification of their community. The Cenotaph grounds were chosen as the recipient of their attention and an ambitious program was embarked upon.

As the turning of the dreams into reality required some cash, the committee looking after the beautification work had to come up with a pair of unique fund-raising events. The first one was a tea and Tilley Endurables fashion show, scheduled for the Manor House lawn, but actually held at the recreation centre, thanks to unco-operative weather conditions.

The second event was the wildly successful tribute to the war years, held in July at the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Musuem, featuring the highlighting of our local veterans, the singing of period songs, food from then and now. It was such a success that it is contemplated that the evening is one which must be repeated.

Meanwhile, work was being done at the Cenotaph in stages. Last year saw the installation of a nifty foot path and steps leading up to the Memorial stone, and this past summer an impressive wall was built which sets it off.

The final phase involves the lighting of the Memorial, which will be completed before the ceremony on the 27th. Plans are to have the stone lit each evening.

So…..all of you are invited to come out and witness the re-dedication ceremony. Things get under way at 11:15 a.m. with veterans, pipers and dignitaries involved in the action.

This will be history in Williamstown in the making, so bring the family and be a witness!

Techno-turvy Thanksgiving

There was the eat-us-out-of-house-and-home Thanksgiving; there was the turkey-in-the bath Thanksgiving (or was that Christmas?), but this year will go down in my mythical journal as the techno-turvy Thanksgiving at the Harringtons.

Just three guests this year, but more than enough strain on telephone lines, fax machines and computers. MY computer. The problems began when the man of the house decided a couple of weeks ago to cancel the fax line, and, of course, forgot to tell me. I learned about it from Toyoko Marshall, actually, who had tried the fax line and was told the number had been changed to the one printed above.

"Not enough faxes coming in," said Dave, adding we could always plug the machine in if we were expecting something to be received. This was the case on Thursday and Friday when the machine hogged the phone line both days in order to accept the "top priority" sending of a piece of officialdom which was part and parcel of yet another family member's application to yet another place of higher learning.

It never came.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday there was frenzied fighting over the internet, with each of the five of us staking a claim more urgent than the next. The moment one person was off, the next person jumped on. One had to download class notes for an essay he was going to write over the weekend. And didn't. Another, in a spirit of altruism, said he was downloading a new anti-virus program to protect me. It took three hours. The third, was working on the application mentioned above, which HAD to be done on-line, and the fourth had a burning desire to prove me wrong when I told him that Kamil Attaturk had blue eyes. (He also claimed he needed to find a special two-hour turkey roasting method he had seen "somewhere" on the net last Christmas.)

All I wanted to do was to use the phone to call people and get some news for this column!

The woes are continuing with the on-line application due in today at 4 p.m. and our rural connection being lambasted by a city slicker used to a faster pace. The pile of hair on the floor grows higher and higher….

The above is written to apologize to all readers who called with news and were met with a variety of weird responses. Also, as a result of the weekend's shenanigans, the wedding supplement has been postponed until next week.

Open euchre

One of the few to get through to me was Shirley Bougie with news that there will be an Open Euchre sponsored by the Friendly Neighbours Club tomorrow (Thursday) at St. Mary's Centre, beginning at 1:30 p.m. There will be a lunch and new members and visitors are most welcome to attend.

If you like to play cards, plan to come out and give it a whirl. If you enjoy yourself, come back on a regular basis!

Activities galore

Last week I told you that badminton players were being sought for recreational fun on Wednesday evenings at Char-Lan High School, anytime between the hours of 7 and 10 p.m.

While bird-chasers are still needed, this week the call is out for volleyball players. Recreational volleyball will take place, also in the Char-Lan gym, on Friday evenings, and will appeal to those of you wanting a little exercise combined with a little fun.

The fee to play either of the above is $10 per person per sport. Registration for both takes place anytime at the Char-Lan Recreation Centre across the road from the high school. For more information, please call 347-2411.

Painting workshop

A workshop on tole and decorative painting of a wooden sign will take place at the recreation centre on Sunday, Nov. 3 from 12 until 2 p.m. Cost of the workshop is $12 and is suitable for all ages. Children over the age of seven may participate unaccompanied by an adult. Younger children must have a parent in tow.

Registration is required by Oct. 21 for this workshop.

Green thumb meeting

The next meeting of the Green Thumb Horticultural Society takes place at the Char-Lan Recreation Centre on Monday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

Program for the evening includes a presentation on how to make holiday wreaths. Participants are asked to bring along their own clippers, shears or scissors.

All are welcome to attend.

Aerobics course

A reminder that if you want to shed those extra Thanksgiving pounds, Aerobics 20-20-20 starts up at Williamstown Public School tonight (Oct. 16) at 6:30 p.m.

The program, run by Cheryl Sandilands, a YMCA certified instructor for 13 years, will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings and will consist of 20 minutes of cardio (hi/low impact); 20 minutes low impact using light weights (weights are optional) and 20 minutes muscle strength and conditioning.

For more information, please call Cheryl at 347-3251.

Annual fall roast

The supper we have all been waiting for arrives this Sunday, Oct. 20. St. Mary's annual fall roast beef supper will run at St. Mary's Centre from 3:30 to 7:00 p.m.

The cost for adults is $10; children aged six to 12 years , $5, and little ones under the age of six are free.

Many people work very hard to prepare this annual event - your support would be greatly appreciated.

Special program at library

A special program is being held at the Williamstown Library next Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 22, suitable for children eight years and over.

Children will learn the basics of stamp collecting, a hobby that is making a big comeback.

There will be some games, activities and the wherewithal to set up a local stamp club for children, if participation warrants it.

The program starts after school, between 3:30 and 4:00 p.m. and will last for about one hour.

160 students participate in "Francoderole" banner

ÉCOLE ELDA ROULEAU NEWS

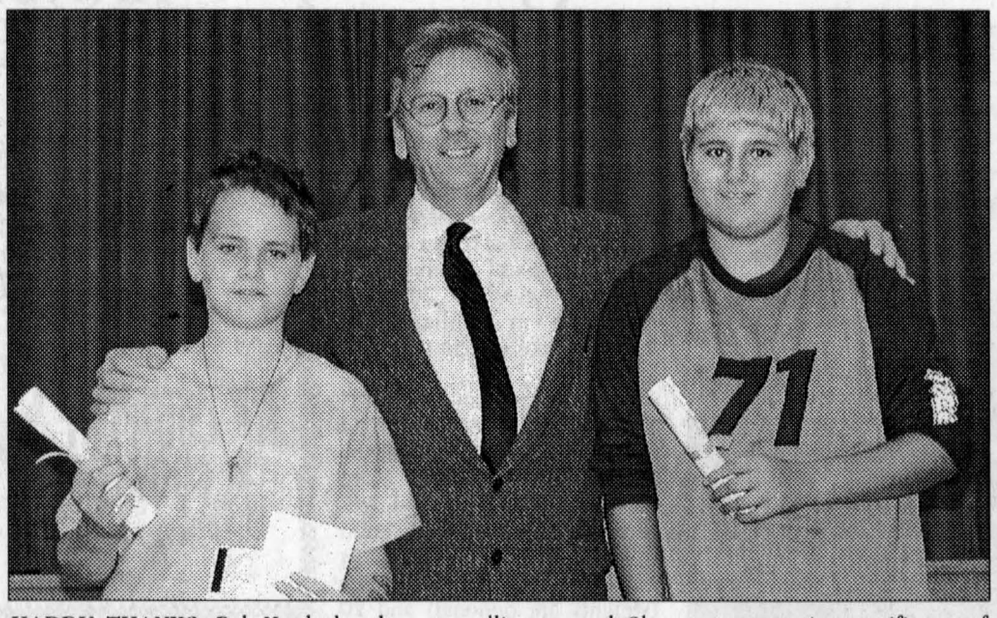
BIANCA BOURBONNAIS

About 160 students from Elda Rouleau got to participate in a project called "Francoderole".

"Francoderole" is a giant banner that will travel across Canada to 52 francophone elementary schools. Each school will get to add to a painted picture started by the first school to have the banner.

The finished masterpiece will be 832' x 10'. It will consist of the work of 10,000 students from the 10 Canadian provinces. We are extremely proud to be part of this francophone project.

Grade 4 teacher, Denise Lambert, and her students are preparing a Halloween play.



HARDY THANKS: Bob Hardy has been travelling around Glengarry, presenting certificates of appreciation to students who rose to his 100 kilometre challenge at this year's Terry Fox Run. Here, he presents certificates to École Elda-Rouleau Grade 7 students Thomas Berry, left and Stéphanie Sauvé-Dupuis, right. Thomas rode 27 km, the best result for his age group, while Stéphanie rode 6 km. Mr. Hardy hopes many more kids will take up the challenge next year and continue Terry Fox's legacy.

The little goblins are decorating their class and anxiously awaiting to present their work!

Teacher Rachelle Owens is motivating her Grade 2 class to do more reading. Congratulations to Mathieu Carriere, Jeremie Hebert, Catherine Lemieux, Anik Prud'Homme and Samantha Ranger for their outstanding efforts. Keep up the good work!

Thank you to Mrs. Agathe Binette and Mr. Jean Claude Binette for the beautiful Thanksgiving/Halloween display in front of our school! This beautiful work is greatly appreciated by students, parents and staff!

A Music Club, Dance Club and Academic Projects Club have been added to our list of Clubs offered at our school. These will certainly keep the students busy!

Have a great week!

All ladies are asked to attend this special meeting. The Daughters of Isabella will be hosting a card party on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Parish hall. There will be tables of euchre, 500 and bridge. Entrance fee is $2.50 and a lunch will be served. Everyone is welcome.

Shalom weekend

On Oct. 4-6, Pere Marcel along with four adults and 44 students held a weekend of Releve at Shalom in St. Raphael's.

Orchid Expo

Do you want to know about orchids? There is an international orchid exposition in Montreal the weekend of Oct. 26-27. It's held at the Days Inn on Guy Street. Can't go? You can always stop in and meet Lynne Guimond and Copernice Piexe on the 8th Concession. They would love to give you a tour of their greenhouse. I had a chance the other evening to visit and was given a tour of their greenhouse.

There were orchids of every size with flowers of different colours. They also have other plants such as Chinese slippers, flowers that resemble dancing ladies, flowers that flower from the roots of the plant with a heavenly scent. It was great. Lynne says she would love to meet and get to know the people from the area.

The students of ecole Ste. Marie enjoyed a trip to Rigaud last Thursday. The day began with mass by Pere Eric at the Sanctuary, then they were off to visit the field of stones, the gift shop and more.

God bless and have a safe week.

OBITUARIES

Robert Russell Craig

On the morning of September 13 Robert departed from us and entered his heavenly home.

Robbie will be fondly remembered and forever loved by his parents Dr. Russell and Mrs. Muriel (Mickey) Craig, Etobicoke. A brother Chuck (Joanne), Barrie, and a sister Laurie (Danny) Derbowka, Woodstock, survive their big brother with broken hearts.

He will be greatly missed by nephew Christopher Derbowka and nieces Nicole and Shannon Craig.

Robbie was predeceased by his adoring grandparents Ross and Katie Fraser, Lancaster.

Never complaining, and always maintaining his sense of humour, Robbie accepted his illness with dignity. He was a real intellectual and had a great love for history, reading, animals, camping and sports - especially the Miami Dolphins. A service was held at the Turner and Porter Chapel, Etobicoke, on Tuesday, September 17th with the Rev. Dr. Robert Fourney, officiating.

Over the sunset mountains
Someday I'll softly go
Into the arms of Jesus
He, who has loved me so.
Over the sunset mountains
Heaven awaits for me,
Over the sunset mountains
Jesus, my Saviour, I'll see.

NO TIME TO LOSE!: The Alexandria Squadron 379 Cadets came out for glider training at the Alexandria Airport on Saturday. Top photo, cadets rush a landed glider in order to drag it off the runway. This allows for the towing plane to land and pull the glider up with a fresh crew. One of the leaders was Flight Sgt Annette Lacasse, right photo, on right. She recently completed her Power Scholarship for her power wings, which allows her to fly one-engine aircraft. Other members, Sgt. Matthieu Provencal, Hawkesbury, and Sgt. James Lindeman, Rigaud, obtained their glider wings.

Glens win two in busy week

ALEXANDRIA JUNIOR B GLENS

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Alexandria Glens played three games in four days last week coming away with four of a possible six points.

The one loss came against an improved Wolves team in Akwesasne Thursday night, who tied their other two games on the weekend.

That loss didn't come without controversy however.

Wolves 5 Glens 4

After former Glen Ryan Kuhn Lalonde scored with 1:54 remaining in the third period, Glens coach Raymond Lavergne pulled starter Simon Pierre Lamoureux for the extra attacker in the final minute.

Towards the dying seconds of the game one of the linesman blew the play down after he counted what he thought was too many men on the ice for Alexandria.

An enraged Lavergne couldn't believe what was happening as the extra man was filling in for the pulled Lamoureux.

"One of our defenceman was just about to shoot on net when they blew the whistle. I could not understand that call with 45 seconds left. It means they weren't in the game. We didn't win a faceoff after that."

To the Wolves' credit though Lavergne said they did deserve the win.

"We didn't play in the second period and they beat us there. There's so much equity in the league that if you don't play 60 minutes, you lose."

The loss spoiled excellent statistical nights for three Glens' forwards.

Mathieu Desnoyers had two goals and two assists, Simon Langevin had four assists and Luc Lanthier had a goal and two assists.

The other Glens' goal came from Ben Desnoyers.

The Glens were outshot 50-38 as John Nimovities won in goal for Akwesasne.

Lalonde, Brent Lariviere with two, Glen Belmore and Derek Lyons scored for Akwesasne.

In their next contest the Glens responded with a win over the Morrisburg Lions.

The Glens won by a 6-4 score. No game results were available at press time.

On Sunday Alexandria travelled to Kemptville to face the league leading 73s.

Rebels veteran returns, scores OT winner

Rebels.

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Char-Lan Rebels, like all other St. Lawrence division teams, are realizing that it's going to be a tight race in the junior B division this year.

The Rebels played in a pair of close games last weekend but did manage to add three points to their league standings.

Miraculously those points came after Char-Lan gave up three goal leads in both games.

On Saturday night at home the Rebels held a 3-0 advantage late in the second period before the Winchester Hawks mounted their comeback.

Luckily for them, one of their veteran players was back in town for the holidays.

Defenceman Pat Smith, not a true goal scorer by any means, potted the overtime winner.

Rebels 4 Hawks 3 OT

Smith's goal, 1:01 into extra time, saved the Rebels from giving up two vital points.

"I thought we played pretty well despite blowing a three goal lead," said Rebels head coach Eric Fontaine.

"Both goalies played well but if it wasn't for them it may have been a different story."

Down 3-0, the Hawks got goals from Andrew Katcharak and Shawn Smail in the final 2:27 of the middle frame to come within a goal.

12:22 into the third period it was 3-3 as Chris Thompson scored.

TRIUMPHANT RETURN: Char-Lan Rebels veteran defenceman Pat Smith was home for the holiday weekend and played in both Rebels' games. The Toronto university student made the best of his stay scoring the overtime winner against Winchester Saturday in Williamstown.
TODD ANDERSON PHOTO

Char-Lan had built up their lead on a Pat Johnson first period goal and two early second period markers from Troy Sinfield and Derek Duval, who also added two assists in the win.

Winchester's Greg Griffith was outstanding in goal as he turned away 43 Rebels' shots in the loss.

Steve Lacelle earned the win for Char-Lan.

Fontaine said Smith would be a strong commodity with the team this year.

"He's the type of guy who would help the rookies. He leads by example, he's like a soldier. He plays with a lot of heart and is nice to have around."

Smith is attending school in Toronto. His availability to the team will be looked into down the stretch of the season.

A slow start in the Rebels' next game was costly although they did manage to score a 2-1 lead after 20 minutes.

Rebels 4 Wolves 4

Call the Rebels lucky in this one.

Despite firing just five shots on goal in the first period, Char-Lan escaped with a 2-1 lead after 20 minutes in Akwesasne Sunday.

They picked up their play somewhat in the second period scoring two more goals for a 4-1 lead.

The young Wolves club displayed their never-say-die attitude by potting three goals in the third period to rally into a draw.

"I told the guys before the game that although we beat them 8-1 in our previous game that they would be better. I saw them versus Alexandria (Thursday) and I think the whole league will be tight. There will be no walk-overs this year."

Steve Jarvo and defenceman Danny Lafave scored a pair of goals each for the Rebels.

Lafave actually had the hat trick for Char-Lan according to Fontaine but Jarvo was credited with one of the goals.

"Danny likes his offence and everything he touched (Sunday) went in," said Fontaine.

"He goes for all the marbles when he has the puck, sometimes it's the right decision to give him the green light. Other times you emphasize defence first."

Ranald Pecore picked up two assists.

For Akwesasne, Devon Bancroft (a 2001-02 Rebels' affiliate), Pascal Gallant, Derek Lyons and Sheldon Cessanish scored.

Ryan Kuhn Lalonde handed out three assists.

Anthony Fricchione was in goal for Char-Lan and Matt VanEgmond played for the Wolves.

Char-Lan was outshot by Akwesasne 36-34.

Fontaine said his team actually started off the game well but the finish wasn't impressive.

"We played well for 40 minutes and then an undisciplined third period," said Fontaine.

"The Wolves came into that period and outworked us. They won all the battles and we had no life at all. In this league you have to play for 60 minutes or you'll pay for it."

Rebels notes:

This weekend the Rebels will travel to Morrisburg Friday night for a 8:15 p.m. start against the Lions. Then they'll be at home Saturday night for a 7:45 p.m. start against the Kemptville 73s.

Look for ex-Rebs Andrew Banville, Stephane St. Denis and Sean Roseman to be in the Kemptville lineup.

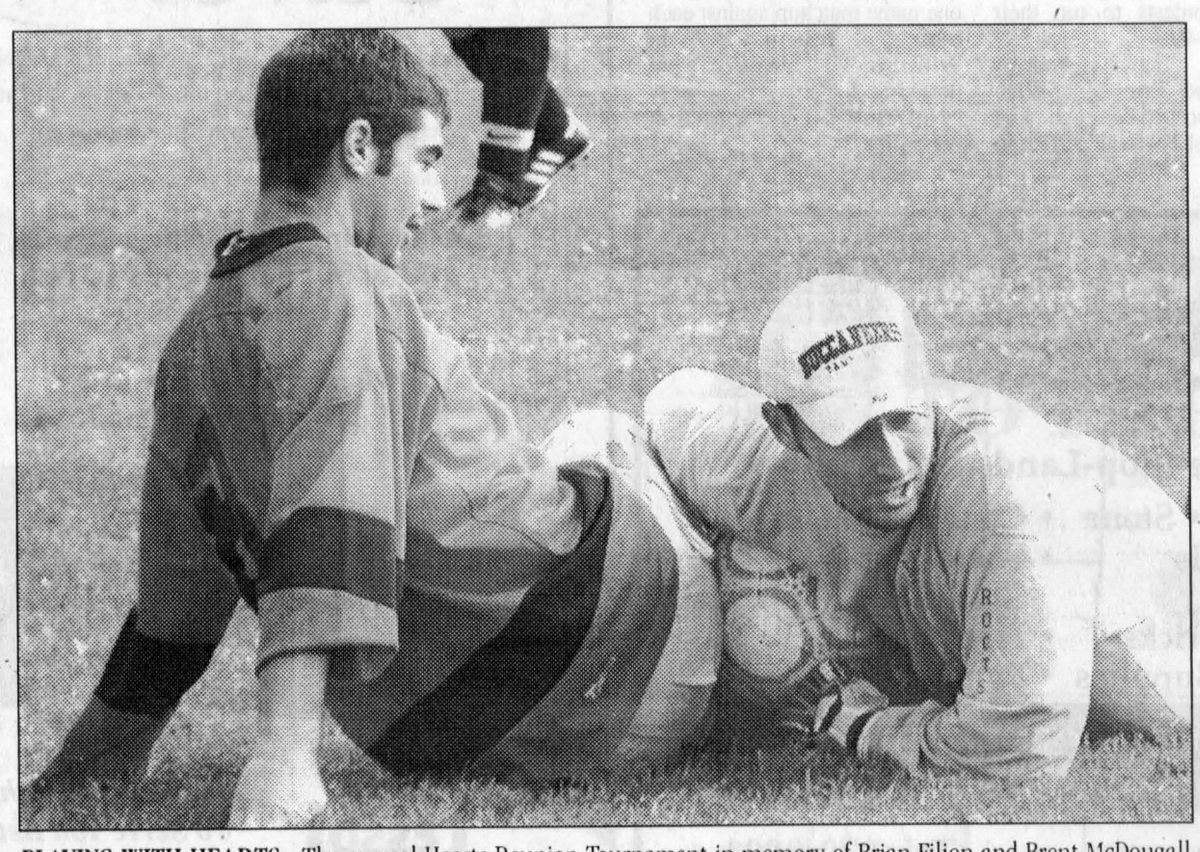
Although it's early into the year, the Rebels have to be happy with their involvement among the league's top scorers and goaltender rankings.

Rookies Steve Lacelle and Anthony Fricchione hold down two of the three top goaltending positions with Fricchione (2.60) in first and Lacelle (3.20) in third based on goals against average.

Kemptville's Andrew Cohn (2.69) is second.

In scoring, captain Derek Duval and linemate Pat Johnson place in a tie for third with 14 points behind Kemptville's Adam Spirk (16 points) and Morrisburg's Wayne Garlough (15 points).

Steve Jarvo is seventh with 13 points.



PLAYING WITH HEARTS: The annual Hearts Reunion Tournament in memory of Brian Filion and Brent McDougall took place Saturday at Alexandria Island Park. Kevin Bellefeuille, right, makes the save against an unidentified player during one of the contests.

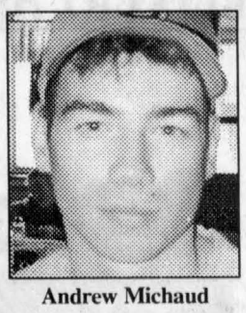
Mustangs pick up first win over Panthers

MAXVILLE



Andrew Michaud

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Maxville Mustangs picked up their first win of the season Friday night but head coach Andre Paquette said he's still not happy with the effort from the team.

The Mustangs strolled into Embrun Friday night for their first of two away games during the weekend.

Despite trailing 2-0 after 20 minutes the Stangs came back to steal two points from Embrun winning 4-3.

Returnee Andrew Michaud got his team on the board midway through the second period to give Maxville a little bit of life.

Michaud asked for his release from the junior B Alexandria Glens last week because of a lack of playing time there.

Five minutes later though Embrun restored their two goal cushion.

Glens: Lavergne feels lucky after win

Alexandria made it two in a row with an impressive 4-1 win over Kemptville.

Glens 4 73s 1

Although they won by a three goal cushion Lavergne feels his team may have been a bit lucky.

"Felix (Limoges) made some big saves at the beginning of the game and the puck wasn't bouncing for Kemptville all night. It was nice to see all three of our lines score though. That was the first time they've done that all year."

Alexandria and Kemptville actually played to a 1-1 draw in the first period before the Glens scored two in the second and one in the third.

Raymond Lavergne

Mathieu Desnoyers, Chris Van Overbeek, Lanthier and Dominic Decoeur all found the back of the net in the win.

Limoges made 32 saves while his counterpart Andrew Cohn made 27.

The Glens were assessed just eight minor penalties in the game Sunday.

That impressed Lavergne.

"I spoke with Louis (Brisson) and Simon (Langevin) and they've improved 100 per cent. Those two have to work to improve 300 per cent though. There's been a big improvement over the last three games but they still have a lot of work to do."

Glens notes:

The Glens will host the Akwesasne Wolves in Alexandria Friday night starting at 8:30 p.m. then will be back in action Saturday in Winchester for a 7:15 p.m. start against the Hawks.

The Glens' roster was reduced by two over the past couple of weeks.

The team is looking for a pair of forwards after rookie Andrew Michaud asked for his release and returned to his 2001-02 junior C team Maxville Mustangs.

Veteran Michael Lauzon of Alexandria has also been released and has signed with Akwesasne.

It looks like the trio of Decoeur, Lanthier and Jeff Lobb will remain as a line.

"Those three have played together since peewee I guess," said Lavergne.

"It's easy to see that they should stick together."

The other two lines will continue to consist of Mathieu Desnoyers and Langevin on one unit and Ben Desnoyers and Louis Brisson on the other. Lavergne said he's not sure who will fill in the third spots on either line.

A fourth line is starting to become an afterthought for the coach.

"It's hard to play with four lines when there's so many powerplays and penalty kills this year," said Lavergne.

Lavergne said the Glens continue to desperately look for a new trainer. Long-time trainer Henke vanden Oetelaar left the team a few weeks ago.

With only 10 forwards on the roster currently, the Glens would use affiliates from the junior C Casselman Stars if needed.

Senior boys' soccer title up for grabs

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Three schools out of four will be in contention for the senior boys' soccer SDG A championship this year.

Glengarry had a one point lead over Char-Lan in the standings heading into yesterday's final regular season game of the year.

The two teams were battling for first place.

Meanwhile in Avonmore the Tagwi Warriors have put together a strong season sitting four points back from GDHS before yesterday with one game in hand.

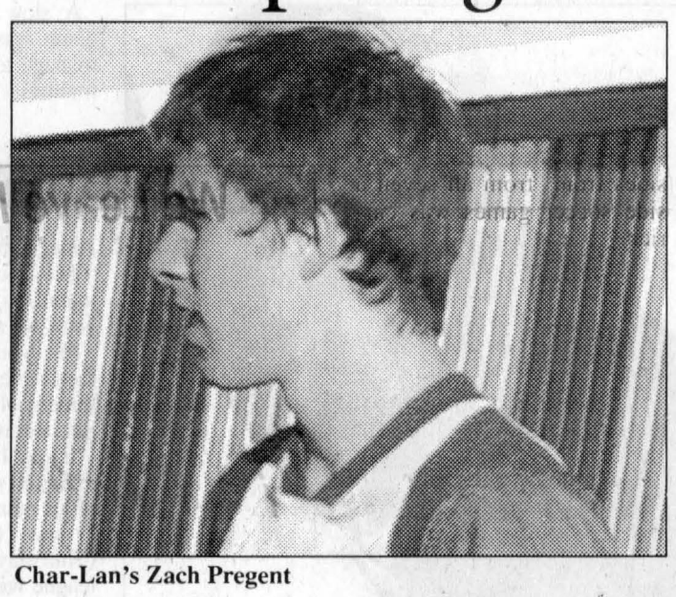
The division's fourth team, Seaway, shouldn't be a factor in the playoffs as they have yet to earn a point this year.

In action played Oct. 8 in Alexandria, Tagwi had an inconsistent day earning a draw with GDHS before being whipped by Char-Lan.

In a physical affair played at GDHS the Warriors and Gaels played to a 1-1 draw as both goaltenders stood on their heads to give their respective teams a chance for three points.

The game remained tied though as the final whistle went as Travis Hagen for Glengarry and Brad Looyen for Tagwi scored.

GDHS earned a draw in their next game as well playing to a scoreless draw with the AA division leading St. Joe's squad.



Char-Lan's Zach Pregent

Char-Lan played both of their games at the Billy Gebbie Arena field and opened up with a 1-1 draw with St. Joe's.

Gary Lee had the goal.

A few hours later Lee turned in his best effort of the season scoring four goals in a romp past Tagwi.

The Warriors fell behind 2-0 early and were forced to make some adjustments to try and get back in the game that made their backfield weaker on defence.

Willie de Wit with two and Zac Pregent also scored in a 7-2 win.

Tagwi got goals from regular fullback Grant Middleton, who moved up to forward after the early deficit, and Chris Leduc.

In junior play Glengarry won a pair of contests to run their record to 6-0.

Against Tagwi Andrew Libbos and Eric MacMillan scored two goals each and Brock MacLeod was perfect in between the pipes.

The next game resulted in a 5-2 win over St. Joe's.

Bobby McNab with two, Jason MacDonald, Brendan Ryan and MacMillan scored in the win.

Char-Lan doubled Tagwi in a close contest 2-1.

Adam Barton and Josh Gibeau scored for Char-Lan while Jacob Benton replied for Tagwi.

In their next game the Crusaders shut out St. Joe's 4-0.

Matt Leishmann with two, Barton and Gibeau scored.

Jeremy MacDonald posted the shutout.

GDHS (18 points) remains atop the junior division three points ahead of Char-Lan while Tagwi is third with four points.

Both GDHS and CLDHS senior and junior teams played a one game matchup against each other yesterday in Williamstown while Tagwi hosted St. Joe's.

No results were available at press time.

Ladies tier II division joins GSL

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Glengarry Soccer League will add a new division next year.

During the league's annual general meeting Oct. 9 it became official as a women's tier II division is set to begin for the 2002-03 season.

League disciplinarian and veteran player Vivian Franklin brought up the motion to add a new division to the league.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Players will be 30 years of age or older or may play if they were not signed with a senior women's team last year.

There has already been a large amount of interest from women wanting to join the league.

Also during the meeting the executive for the 2002-03 season was elected.

Mike Depratto will return for his fourth year as chairman but hinted that it will likely be his last.

"Four years is plenty and I hope you vote in a vice-chairperson who wants to be here next year."

That position went to Greenfield's Chris Derepentigny.

Mike Duval relinquishes the position of vice chairman and moves into the referee-in-chief role.

Senior referee assignor will be taken over by Tim McCuaig.

The two jobs fell under the same category last year but the league felt there should be two positions for the different tasks.

Franklin (discipline), Kelly MacKinnon (secretary) and D.A. MacMillan (treasurer) will return to their positions next year.

Lothar Schareina said there has continually been a problem with college or university students missing the final stages of the league playoffs because of school start dates.

He recommended the league condense play and move the Greenspon tournament to the end of the season.

On the flip side Carman MacMillan, representing the Glengarry Stars, hoped the season would be extended.

The issue of the length of the season will be discussed between the scheduling committee at the next executive meeting in January.

In another playoffs issue Fassifern Flames representative Jamie MacCulloch said he wanted the playoffs for the tier II men division to remain on given nights like regular season play.

Games during the regular season were played on Mondays and Thursdays and he said he would like to see at least one of those days be scheduled for playoff matches.

Schareina made the issue more complex as he raised his concerns with playing tier II games on the same nights as the senior men's division.

He wants games between those two divisions to be played on opposite nights.

Finals for the senior men's and women's division will be played on opposite nights.

Another change to regular season play proposed by Carman MacMillan would be to stop playing scheduled games on Mondays.

That would leave both Sunday and Mondays open for rescheduled games.

This may solve some of the rescheduling problems the league had last year because of rainouts.

Again the scheduling committee said they will look into all issues with scheduling at the January meeting.

One issue that was brought up and agreed upon without much discussion was that no games will be scheduled during the night of the annual Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame induction ceremony.

League secretary Kelly MacKinnon said she had a problem with a few players registration sheets last year and stressed that it's important to get the players themselves to sign them.

"If you pay for them and then forget the registration form and they don't want to play, you lose the money."

After discussions on amendments and other rulings were held, Depratto motioned that the customary honorariums of $300 for the positions of chairman, vice chairman, disciplinary, referee in chief and treasurer be given again this year. It was carried.

In an issue raised during the North Glengarry Recreation Association meeting it was decided that all field rentals (with North Glengarry) would require a cost of $150 per season.

That fee will be required during team registration.

Another issue that continues to arise is the fee of $3 charged at the gate of all senior men's games.

During a discussion after the AGM last week Depratto feels everything will remain status quo in that regard.

"There's four teams who want it to remain and two who don't."

Minor league fair play in the forefront

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Sportsmanship in the Glengarry Soccer League minor divisions was the main focus of the annual general meeting held Oct. 9 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Several new amendments to the constitution should provide the divisions with even greater fair play. They should also provide strength to divisions which suffered because of registration numbers last year, namely the U19 division.

New next season will be a rule that will see players aged 17 or under ineligible to register with senior squads.

The rule is in effect for both boys and girls.

Players who registered as a senior division player last season will be able to remain in the senior division.

Players of that age or under may play five games as a call-up but if a sixth game is played the senior team would lose the game by forfeit and fines may occur.

The amendment was motioned by Rosie McLeod who brought up the dwindling numbers in the U19 division over the past two years.

"There's kids playing senior and sitting on the bench just for the purpose of playing senior," he said.

"Later they give up the game because of a lack of confidence."

The issue concentrated the most time for discussion out of any during the night and several figures around the table had something to offer.

Although McLeod wanted to see all players under 19 years of age ineligible for senior soccer, Rob Lancaster suggested 17 and under would be a better resolution.

To make one-sided games more educational to young players Greenfield's Chris Derepentigny suggested creating a mercy rule.

Her motion stated that if there is a difference in eight goals the losing coach has the option to end the game and continue with no scoring being counted. The two teams may exchange players if they wish and the referee must remain for the entire game as disciplinary cards will still be counted.

The motion was carried.

Another issue brought up by league secretary Kelly MacKinnon was goaltender crossing the half line.

She felt this is a bad play towards sportsmanship as it usually occurs when one team has a large lead.

Although the league has no ability to change the rule governed by FIFA rules, members of the executive did say they would address the problem in a coaching package which will be given to coaches at the beginning of the year.

Lancaster discussed his concerns with offsides in all divisions from U10 and down.

He felt there shouldn't be any because of several factors.

"First it will be easier on referees. Second to add an extra rule at that age doesn't help the players learn the game. Third it's already a small field and there's lots of stoppages. We want to encourage the kids to have as much fun as possible."

D.A. MacMillan suggested instead of saying naming the division affected by the rule that the term 'seven a side soccer' should be used instead.

The motion to remove offsides from from all seven a side soccer games was carried.

Lancaster also discussed his desire to create and A and B pool playoff format for divisions with 10 or more teams. The scheduling committee will look into the idea at the next executive meeting in January.

Converting the U6 or co-ed divisions into two leagues was also discussed.

The two leagues would be based in Maxville and Alexandria.

Several factors have to be determined if this does occur.

Dunvegan expressed their desire to remain playing their home games in Dunvegan but may be able to work out home and away games with the Maxville teams. The same could be said about Laggan and the Alexandria teams.

The Alexandria U6 division should grow quite high in numbers this year because of the disbandment of the Alexandria and District Minor Soccer Association at the end of the summer.

"That's going to put us over 2,000 players for next summer," said league chairman Mike Depratto during his address.

Mustangs: Coach not satisfied with win

Not to be outdone, Maxville drew even with the Panthers as they scored two goals in the final 1:57 of the middle frame.

Jonathon Bray and Richard Redmond found the back of the net.

Then three minutes into the third period, the Mustangs took their first lead of the game as rookie Michel Parent scored.

That goal stood up as the winner as Embrun couldn't find the equalizer.

Matthew White, Pat Giroux and Patrick Hamel scored for Embrun. Dan Desnoyers earned the win in goal.

Despite his team's first win, Paquette was reluctant to be satisfied with the two points.

"It's a nice win to have but we played one period of hockey in that game, the third period. We had a speech for them after the second period and when the boys put their minds to it they can play good two-way hockey. The third period was our only positive from that game."

A day later the Mustangs would try their luck at coming together as a team against the Vankleek Hill Cougars.

Cougars 5 Mustangs 1

Paquette feels that his team is still timid about matches against Vankleek Hill because of their impressive record last season.

"The kids have a mental block and think uh-oh, here comes Vankleek Hill. We didn't even play half a period in that game. Discipline cost us goals."

Vankleek Hill 1-0 after 20 minutes and 3-1 after the second period.

The only puck to beat Cougars goaltender Bryan O'Shaugnessy came off the stick of rookie defenceman Ryan Villeneuve.

Chace Albright, Pierre Chaumont, Mike Cunning, Carl Lacroix and Brad Westgate all scored in the win.

Rookie goaltender Chris Decoste loss for Maxville.

The loss spoiled the return of defenceman Pat Lafleche and forward Ghislain Laferriere to the lineup who missed the first three games of the year due to suspension. Dale Ferguson also returned after a one-game suspension for fighting.

Mustangs notes:

The Mustangs will travel to Vanier Friday night for a 8:15 p.m. start against the Thunder.

On Saturday they will be looking to win their first home game of the year with a 7:30 p.m. start against the Casselman Stars.

Paquette said he expects to make some changes to the roster soon because he feels the team has too many players.

Paquette is now both head coach and general manager after Brian Wensink expressed that because of work commitments he wouldn't be able to full devote his time to the team.

Lyle Stewart, the father of rookie Steven, has joined the team as their new trainer.

Rookie Pierre Lacombe played his first game of the season Saturday after recuperating from a back injury.

New season for piping and drumming school

By Bernice Coleman

On Sept. 21, registration took place for the 2002-03 season. It was a very hectic morning with so many new and returning students. So far the figures have confirmed that there is a nice increase in enrolment and we welcome all our new students.

There was a hub of activity surrounding the registration desk with lots of greetings and catch-up conversations. Complimentary refreshments were available to all. Gradually teachers wandered to their classrooms and the students followed as registrations were completed. Our new students were given an introductory class. It is good to note that students are moved to appropriate classes as their skills improve, or may benefit from a particular teacher.

As the morning progressed we occasionally began to hear the pipes being tuned and once again the timid return of a tune or two. Our teachers include Ross May, Shelley MacPhee, Shawn McRaea, David Danskin, Kevin Murphy, Ann Margaret McCuaig and Brian Williamson (piobaireachd). We are pleased to announce Charlie Malcolm as our head drum inspector and welcome back Tina Bond. Plans are under way for a series of "guest lecturers" who will provide a wide range of special topics. Lectures will be publicized in advance. All students, as well as parents and the general public will be welcome. In most cases, they will be from 10-11am and will replace formal classes so that all may attend. Watch your local papers for dates.

Last weekend the focus of the senior classes was preparation for students who wished to compete in the solo piping competition "Knock-Out" series again being offered by the Ottawa branch of the PPBSO. Glengarry students were well represented this year. The comment made was "do they know any other tune but 'D.J.S. Murray' in Glengarry!" This is what happens when you pick a tune you know the best (it was part of a march medley that was learned in class and used in band competitions this past summer. A fun night filled with the electricity of nervousness. Two students placed - in A division, Ryan Ross was 4th; in B division Lindsay Coleman came in 2nd. Second competition in the series will be held at the beginning of November.

After all is said and done, welcome back to all teachers, students, volunteers and parents. This new year promises to be better than ever.

Babies with local ties christened Thanksgiving weekend

MARTINTOWN

VIRGINIA WINN
528-4379 uwinn@cnwl.igs.net

Thanksgiving Sunday was a time for two local families to give thanks at baptism ceremonies for infant grandchildren.

Here in Martintown, Andrew Thomas, son of Karen and Neil Dixon, was baptized at St. Andrew's United Church, Martintown by Rev. Andrea Harrison. Both sets of grandparents, Bev and George Runions, of Martintown, and Bill and Verna Dixon, Rosedale Terrace, were in attendance as well as great-grandparents, Carmel and George Belmore from Cornwall, Winnie Dixon from Cornwall, and Alma Runions from Maxville.

The baby wore a christening gown which has been in Alma Munro Runions' side of family for over 130 years, and which was worn two years ago by Melanie Dixon, Karen and Neil's first child.

Relatives and friends, over 40 people, attended a special luncheon in the church hall following the service. According to one proud grandmother, the baby was as good as gold all day and only cried when the water was poured on.

Also on Thanksgiving Sunday, Genevieve Elizabeth, the five-week-old daughter of Sharon and Marc Latour, and sister of Isabelle, was baptized in Ottawa at the Christian Reformed Church.

Her grandparents, Gerdie and Nick Huizinga of Glen Falloch East were in attendance, as was Mrs. Huizinga, Senior, of Cornwall, the baby's great grandmother. Gerdie made and transported a turkey dinner to the Latour's home in Embrum where a Thanksgiving feast was enjoyed by all.

September wedding

On Sept. 28 at St. William's Church Martintown with Father Tom Villeneuve officiating, the wedding between Kim Broome and Todd McIntyre took place.

Kim is the daughter of Doug Broome from Janetville, near Lindsay Ont. and Trudy McVey of the Coburg area. Todd is the son of Elaine McIntyre and Barry McIntyre, local residents.

Relatives from all over Ontario attended the wedding, with Kim's sister, Nina traveling from B.C.

Kim wore an ivory coloured gown with an A-line skirt falling into a train. The bodice, embroidered with flowers and pearls, had spaghetti straps and detachable chiffon sleeves similarly decorated. On her head she wore a small headpiece decorated with pearls and crystals to which a short veil was attached. She carried roses in yellow and orange, dotted with blue Stephanotis, and baby's breath.

The attendants all wore floor length gowns in hunter green. The maid of honour was Stephanie Broome, sister of the bride who lives in Toronto, and the bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Nina Broome, Todd's sister Mary Lynn McIntyre and Jennifer Brooks, a friend from Lindsay. The bridesmaids' gowns were two piece, with sleeveless bodices decorated with rhinestones.

The maid of honour's gown was backless with a halter top, and highlighted with rhinestones. The attendants carried flowers similar to the bride.

The best man was Raymond Lang, back from western Ontario for the occasion, and the groomsmen were Charlie Jack from Maxville, and Jeff Dowdall from Brockville. The groom and groomsmen wore black tuxedos with hunter green ties and vests. The reception, which included dinner and dancing, was held in Williamstown at the Char Lan Recreation Centre.

The bride and groom travelled to the Dominican Republic for a week where they enjoyed beautiful, though hot weather.

Kim and Todd reside in Martintown and Todd is employed in farming and Kim works in Cornwall. All best wishes from the Martintown community go out to this couple for a lifetime of happiness.

Log house revisited

Donald and Sylvia Thomson travelled to Chertsey, Que., about one hour east of Lachute, on Thanksgiving Sunday to visit a couple, Alain and Renee Mignot, who bought a log house from them in 1976.

The house was located on what was the MacIntosh farm, next to the Thomson farm and the original site is where Debbie Thomson and sons Neil and Leigh now live.

Twenty-six years ago a young married couple bought the log house, numbered the logs, dismantled it themselves and moved it to Quebec. Sylvia and Donald never heard the fate of the log house nor that of the people who bought it until this fall when a pair of strangers arrived at their door and politely said, I think we bought a log house in this area many years ago. They had come to Martintown to an auction sale at the Community Centre in September, the first time they had returned here since acquiring the house.

In Sylvia's words, "We were so excited as we always wondered what became of the log house. We had a great visit, were shown wonderful pictures, and a date was chosen for us to visit when the leaves were in full colour. We were not disappointed as the leaves were spectacular and the house was unbelievable. It is nestled in a wooded area with cascading waterfalls in the mountains right beside the house. The front door is the original door and the ceilings have the original 18-inch wide pine and hemlock boards. A giant stone fire place in the centre of the house was added and gives a warm welcome. Alain was quick to point out they had an Ontario chimney. What is the difference between an Ontario and Quebec chimney? Does anyone know? A cream separator, taken with the house is being used for plants."

The MacIntosh farm was deeded to Findlay MacIntosh in 1854. His son Alexander married a neighbour Catherine Thomson and continued living there. They were the parents of Findlay MacIntosh and Jean (MacIntosh) Barton, well known people from Martintown. Oh, if only the walls could talk!

Reception

There will be a reception at the Martintown Community Centre this coming Saturday, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in honour of Annette Huizinga and her husband, Pascual Oviedo, who were married on March 9, 2001 in Colombia, South America. It has taken a long time, but Pascual finally was admitted to Canada this summer.

The dance tunes will be provided by Johnny B Good and a midnight buffet is in the works. Annette's sister, Lori, who now resides on Vancouver Island, will be back home for a week or so to attend the reception. Annette, daughter of Gerdie and Nick of Martintown, taught Kindergarten and Grade 8 at Williamstown Public School last year after teaching for seven years in Colombia.

She and Pascual are now living in Belleville and she is teaching in Picton. All best wishes to Annette and Pascual for happiness in the years to come.

October wedding

Rumour has it that a wedding took place in Martintown on Thanksgiving weekend. Would some kind person call me or e-mail me with the details? I'd be ever so grateful!

Anniversary service

The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, is reminded that there will be no 9:30 a.m. service this Sunday. In its place will be a special anniversary service of worship at 2:30 p.m.

The guest minister for the occasion is the Rev. Ted Stevens who retired a few years ago as minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Ottawa.

Rev. Stevens is a gifted preacher and Rev. Ian MacMillan considers it a privilege to have him take part in this service. Special music will be offered by the Gospelairs, a local group of musicians, well known in the area for their talent and love of Christian music.

Following the service a harvest luncheon will be hosted by the ladies of the congregation in the church hall. Everyone in the community is invited to attend this special service and a warm welcome awaits.

Memories of Emily MacInnes

October is proving to be a busy month with more events piling up than there are nights and days of the week. One event not to miss is the evening of tributes honouring the late Emily MacInnes which is to be held on Oct. 25 at CCVS in Cornwall. Your recollections, stories and anecdotes about Emily are most welcome and will be included in the evening's presentations.

Please call Jane Foster at 931-1847 or e- mail her at g.j.foster@sympatico.ca. Tax-deductible donations towards a newly established Emily MacInnes Scholarship Fund for a graduating student at CCVS may be directed to Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School, 437 Sydney Street, Cornwall, ON K6H 3H9.

Appraisal fair coming soon

A meeting of the United Church Women of St. Andrew's in Martintown was held recently to put the finishing touches on many crafts for the upcoming Appraisal Fair and Silent Auction.

It is highly recommended to be there early because the wooden crafts, jam and jelly baskets and home baking always sell quickly. The date to mark is Oct. 26 beginning at 9:30 a.m. Checkerboard fudge will be one item in the auction. . . watch for it!

Cenotaph ceremony

On Oct. 27, a rededication ceremony will be held at the Cenotaph in Williamstown starting at 11:15 a.m. The war memorial dates from 1953 and recently a beautification project of the grounds has been completed, thanks to the efforts of the Williamstown Green Thumb Horticultural Society.

The Claude Nunney, V.C. Branch of the Canadian Legion in Lancaster is assisting in the coordination of the event, and their president, Pastor Chris Hill, will preside at the dedication ceremony. All residents of the entire area are most welcome to attend. It should be an event to remember.

Duplicate Bridge

The results for the Martintown Goodtimers Duplicate Bridge held on Oct. 8 were as follows: North/South, 1. Jean and Jim Campbell, 2. Claudette Hodgins and Bernice Barlow, 3. Peggy Seymour and Grace Leroux. East/West, 1. Joan Turner and Penny McLeod, 2. Audrey Blair and John Roulston, 3. Jacquie Thibert and Del Roulston. The bingo bridge winner last week was Andre Bergevin. The comments did not include the scores for the cherry tomatoes.

Party Bridge

Four tables of bridge players enjoyed a Thanksgiving Monday afternoon at the Martintown Community Centre. The winners on Monday were Marjorie Mertl, Rudi Mertl and Marion Schofield. Next Monday bridge will be held at the Char Lan Recreation Centre in Williamstown in a combined fundraising event in support of the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum. Party Bridge will resume in Martintown on Oct. 28.

NISA funding being distributed

Farmers across Canada will see a boost in their Net Income Stabilization Accounts (NISA) now that distribution of $600 million in federal transition assistance has begun.

The $600 million is the first instalment of a $1.2 billion expenditure, announced by Prime Minister Jean Chrétien and Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Lyle Vanclief June 20 as part of a $5.2-billion federal investment in agriculture. This assistance will be delivered over two years to help farmers deal with challenges such as drought and to help the transition to a new generation of more effective risk management programs under the Agricultural Policy Framework (APF).

The $600 million is in addition to existing Farm Financial Programs (Crop Insurance, NISA and the Canadian Farm Income Program) which are already in place for this year.

"Getting these funds as quickly and efficiently as possible has been our top priority," said Mr. Vanclief. "Everything is now in place and producers can now look for the funds to start appearing in their accounts."

Mr. Vanclief said while the funds will help producers throughout Canada, a significant portion will go to producers in Saskatchewan and Alberta where severe drought has taken its toll.

Payments to producers will be based on 4.25 per cent of their average eligible net sales over the past five years (1997-2001). Basing payments on eligible net sales will allow payments to be calculated quickly and fairly and will ensure the funds will begin flowing into producers' accounts by Oct. 4. As well, the minister is seeking the concurrence of his provincial colleagues to allow those producers who opted out back in to the program.

Funds are also being set aside for new entrants to the program, ensuring those producers not currently enrolled in NISA also have an opportunity to receive this transition assistance.

To receive assistance, participants must hold a NISA account. Producers without an account can enrol in the program by filing a NISA application before Dec. 31, 2002 and opening an account at a participating financial institution where their NISA funds will be held.

Program participants will be notified through the Deposit/Withdrawal Options Notice (DWON) of their withdrawal entitlements. If producers are entitled to withdraw from the account the NISA Administration will respond within 30 days to the producer's request for the funds.

THE STUDY

The Ministry of Transportation (MTO), in partnership with Ainley Group, has commenced a detail design study of the westbound lanes of Highway 417, from the Highway 417/County Road 17 interchange to Dunvegan Road, a distance of approximately 37 km.

Farmers watching Bill C-15B closely

News staff

Farmers across Canada, particularly livestock farmers, have been paying close attention to Bill C-15B, the federal government's Cruelty to Animals legislation, as it has been moving through the House of Commons.

The agricultural community has expressed concerns with a number of elements of the legislation, both before its passage and following, stated a release from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA). The Bill was passed on June 4.

Farm organizations have been told they will have an opportunity to push for amendments as the Senate reviews the legislation in September.

Farmers recognize the validity of tougher penalties for animal cruelty infractions, but there are certain aspects of the legislation that could have a negative impact on those who legitimately own and raise animals.

One key area of concern for farmers is the legislation's definition of an animal that includes "any animal capable of feeling pain." This, if taken to extremes, could arguably include fish and insects. There are other specific wording changes the agricultural community will be seeking from the Senate.

In addition, the provincial government has undertaken changes to the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act that are causing concerns for farmers.

Among the proposed changes are a system of offences and penalties and significantly expanded regulation-making powers for the OSPCA.

Some of the offences listed under the amended Act would be: failure to comply with the duties of ownership, causing an animal distress, operation of a puppy or kitten mill, obstruction of an inspector or failure to comply with an inspector's order, training an animal to fight, failure of a veterinarian to report suspected animal abuse or contravention of the Act or regulations.

The proposed changes would also include fines of up to $60,000.

Because of the potential impacts on farmers involved in livestock agriculture, the OFA and other farm organizations are asking farmers to write to Robert Runciman, Minister of Public Safety and Security and Helen Johns, Minister of Agriculture and Food, and express their concerns over the proposed changes to the act.

In a mile and half radius around us, 6 barns were destroyed. But there was no evidence of any damage of our Cover-All building. We just had to tighten the winches two clicks and it was solid." The Irish and the Highlanders: the Gaelic connection

HIGHLAND PATHS

KEN MCKENNA

Last week I ended this column with a question about why the Highlanders stood by so meekly while their glens were emptied of people during the notorious Clearances. When the same thing occurred in Ireland, there were often fierce and bloody reactions, sometimes giving rise to all-out rebellions. Why was the situation so different in Scotland when the Gaelic people were so closely related?

I'll never forget the expression of horror on the face of the middle-aged woman 30 years ago when I told her that the people of the Scottish Highlands originally came from Ireland.

She had been born in Glasgow and had come to Canada as a teenager, bringing the usual collection of lies and prejudices about the Irish with her. To think of those stalwart, tartan-clad Highlanders of her romantic world having any connection with the trouble-making, disloyal and incompetent Irish was almost more than she could bear.

I often wonder what the dear woman would think, if she were still alive, of the fact that the Irish Republic last year had about a ten percent increase in its GNP when the US and Canada could barely squeeze out three percent between the two of them.

How does that jibe with the commonly-held opinions of previous years that the Irish could not manage their affairs once they became independent of Britain?

And that the "south" of Ireland, known as "Eire" until some 50 years ago, couldn't possibly become more prosperous than Belfast and the six counties that surrounded it in what is known as Northern Ireland?

Perhaps the reason for the Republic's success lies with the fact that the people no longer feel oppressed and can break free from the depression of centuries. Perhaps conditions in the Highlands worked against any organized resistance to oppression as was certainly not the case in Ireland.

Of course, the reaction of many Irish people to the statement that what they perceive as a mean, nasty lot of "Scotchmen" are really their cousins is equally disturbing to people sharing the views of my prejudiced lady friend.

The policy of "divide and conquer" sponsored for a thousand years by the invader has been marvelously successful. But the relationship of the Gaelic Scots known as "Highlanders" to the Irish is just that. They share the same genes.

Of course there has been a great mingling of bloodlines over the centuries, from the time of the Romans, the Saxons and the Vikings to the present day and no sensible person would now believe that there is any such thing as a "pure" Gaelic race.

The fact is that the closest connection of the present-day Irish to the Scots (apart from places like Glasgow, which now has more Irish than Scots names among its citizens) is in the north-west of both countries, those areas which are or were Gaelic-speaking until the last century or so.

As a matter of fact, the common term in English or Scots four centuries ago for what we now call "Highlanders" was "Wyld Irische" and the Scots Gaelic language was often referred to as "the Irish language."

As Dwelly has it in his Scots-Gaelic dictionary under "céile", a wife, husband or equal, "The term Gaidheal is frequently erroneously translated "Highlander," which is only a political Sassunach word invented to keep Gaels asunder and consequently comparatively helpless." This juggling of words was a brilliant ploy. If any Highlander showed signs of rising up against oppression as his Gaelic relatives in Ireland were continually doing, it was often enough to simply point out to him, in the common lie of the day, that he was a Highlander, a separate people entirely from the lowly Irish. As anyone knows who is involved in modern advertising and sales, a lie repeated often enough can become the truth to many people. So it was with the Gaelic Scots.

Once they were isolated from their much more numerous Irish connections, they found themselves, by necessity, forced to fit into the general "Scottish" culture of a different language, different traditions and a different and often hostile culture which was quite at home with an allegiance to the larger "British" concept.

Having lost most of their unique culture, with landlords claiming the obedience given to their chiefs in former days, depressed by a new order in their small world which they could not fully comprehend, the Gaelic Scot knuckled down to accepting the inevitable.

Although many of them were familiar with weaponry and had served in the American Wars, the Napoleonic Wars and, later, the Crimean War, their strict adherence to military discipline dissuaded them from acts of rebellion.

When actual resistance did break out in places like the Isle of Skye in the latter half of the 19th century, it was generally led by the women, the men loath to upset the landlords who might, and often did, dispossess them.

The Irish may well have felt that their misery could not be much greater and that they had nothing to lose.

The Bible tells us, "Those who trust in the Lord for help will find their strength renewed. They will rise on wings like eagles; they will run and not get weary; they will walk and not grow weak," (Isaiah 40:31).

‡Financing on approved GMAC credit only. Down payment, trade and/or security deposit may be required. Discounts or other incentives may be available where consumers opt for a cash purchase price offer. By selecting the purchase finance offer, consumers may be foregoing such discounts and incentives which may result in a higher effective interest rate. †Don't pay for 3 months offer available only on approved GMAC purchase financing up to 60 months and may not be used in conjunction with $500 stackable RDC on Cavalier VL. ▼Factory to Dealer Retail Credits ($3100/$1000 for Cavalier VL/VLX) available on cash purchase only and will be included in relevant cash purchase price at dealership. The GMAC purchase finance rate is not available with and is not calculated on the "Cash Purchase Price" as shown. The difference between the price for the GMAC purchase financing offer and the "Cash Purchase" offer is deemed under provincial disclosure laws to be a cost of borrowing, whether or not the same represents actual interest, and is required to be expressed as an annual percentage rate of 8.40% (Cavalier VL R7A). ¥General Motors will provide the dealer with a credit equivalent to the value of air conditioning ($989). Cavalier VLX Coupe/Sedan/Cavalier Z24 Coupe/Sedan. General Motors will also pay the Dealer the equivalent GST on these credits. Photographer brings out subject's identity

ARTS

LORNA FOREMAN
347-1338

Over the four and a half years I have been interviewing artists for The Glengarry News, there have been many silly things that happen that will remain forever in my mind. Most are just funny and some are darn right embarrassing.

Such was the case when I interviewed Jacqueline Milner, photographer from Summerstown Station. Well it was funny as well but I will save the story for later.

I finally was introduced to Jacqueline at Mitchell's Flower Shop in Lancaster. I was the proud recipient of one of her cards for my birthday. I actually helped my friend choose it, not knowing it was for me of course. So here I was planning on the interview.

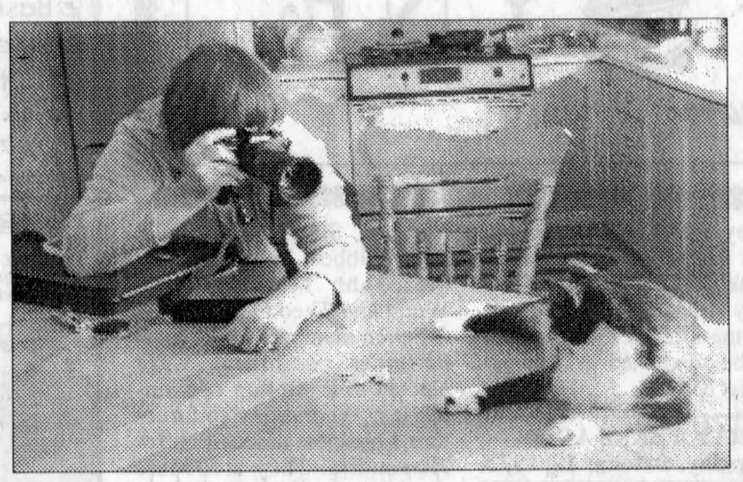
Jacqueline has been living here for about three years; moving from Montreal where she worked in the photographic industry. In their bright cheery home, I felt very much at home especially with all the cats draped around.

"I even repaired cameras at one point," Jacqueline told me. "But when we moved here I worked part time for a while before deciding to open my own business.

"I took the SEA Program at St. Lawrence College in Cornwall last March. It is a very intense month long course covering accounting, marketing and eventually you have to come up with a business plan.

"I specialize in environment portraits, events, commercial work and mostly in black and white," Jacqueline explained.

"My brochure states that I strive to create imagery that evokes emotion by personalizing each session according to the needs, likes and tastes of my clientele. The challenge is to create a work of art that captures the essence of my subject."



CAN'T RUSH THIS: Jacqueline Milner in action although it took some doing to get Mimi to pose for this photograph.

From the few photographs I saw from her portfolio, I would say she is successful.

Jacqueline has done studio work and she told me that it was not quite as simple as it would appear. Everything has to be perfect; lighting, background and pose.

"I will do colour," Jacqueline said. "But I am promoting myself as a black and white specialist. Mind you, I will often colour parts of them which gives quite a different feel to the picture."

Jacqueline has some creative ideas she wants to pursue.

"I do my own printing and processing for the black and white," she said. "But what I would love to do is embrace the digital technology. There is so much you can do with the digital images; manipulating them to create photographic collages that would be extremely difficult with film."

Okay Jacqueline. Suppose I want my portrait taken. What now.

"I first meet with the client and show them my photographic portfolio," Jacqueline told me. "I get to know them a little and find out what they want the photograph for and what it is to achieve. We make an appointment, making sure we have a rain date and then I film them.

"Usually it takes one to one and a half hours. I make proofs, show the client, they choose the one they want and we discuss size."

Jacqueline told me she was doing a short workshop with Joanne Cayer. Jacqueline will be showing participants how to take better family photographs in conjunction with Joanne's scrapbook studio.

The workshop is Oct. 26 between 1 and 3 p.m. Call Jacqueline for more information as there is a limited number of students they can accommodate.

Jacqueline's business is Image•ine Photography at 931-9090.

The embarrassing part of this interview came when I proudly pulled out my new digital camera. I have used it a half dozen times for interviews but for some reason I could not get it to work.

Imagine my red face – here I was interviewing a photographer and I couldn't even get a picture taken. So I thank you Jacqueline for instilling in my mind that it is only a machine and if I read the manual properly, all sorts of wonderful things can happen.
