OUTA SIGHT—About three quarters of this machine vanished from view Friday when it cracked through a thin layer of mud and snow in a Kenyon Township bog. Three bulldozers tried unsuccessfully to free the Ontario Hydro machine last week. Early this week, the equipment was still there.

Hydro equipment gets bogged down

A 30-ton piece of equipment owned by Ontario Hydro almost slipped out of sight Friday while working in a bog in the Fifth Concession of Kenyon Township.

The machinery, estimated to cost about $250,000, was being used to service the Hydro line which runs about two miles west of Highway 34.

The equipment broke through the thin surface of the bog and slipped into the muck underneath.

On Monday, men and machinery were still trying to free the machine. On one try, a piece of the machine broke off under the strain of the pull.

Vankleek Hill Ontario Hydro Manager Dave Venutti said the machine was replacing joints in the line. The equipment has a long boom which reaches up over 100 feet to allow men to service high lines.

The equipment had already passed over the spot in question once before. On retracing its tracks, however, it broke through the surface.

"This piece of equipment has tracks," Venutti said. "It's supposed to go into some pretty inaccessible places."

A former resident of the property, which contains a small lake, said the area is known for its treacherous bog which has claimed cattle in the past.

The former resident said only about eight inches of crust separates the surface from a bottomless pit of mud. People have pushed poles down 35 feet and not struck bottom in some places, he said.

New members for committee

Teacher Garry O'Connell was elected chairman of the Char-Lan District High School committee Monday.

Other executive members elected were Robert Evans, a community representative, vice-president; Bea Feilotter, a student, secretary; and Sally Buchan, a community representative, treasurer.

The meeting also brought four new community representatives into the committee, bringing the total from that sector to eight.

New members are Bertha Theoret, Jock Howells, Odette Bedard and Mrs. Buchan.

The other community representatives, elected at an earlier meeting, are Robert McDonell, Dorothy Fawthrop, Anna Krol and Mr. Evans.

Other student representatives are Brenda O'Connor, Don Lapierre and Kathy Thomson.

Other teacher representatives are Suzanne Bowen, Domingo Binaday and Helene Gilbert.

Monday's meeting was called particularly to elect francophone community representatives, Mr. O'Connell said.

He said the absence of a francophone viewpoint was greatly missed by the committee during discussions held in the spring concerning the school's future.

School board guidelines suggest that there be at least four community representatives on a school committee, but Char-Lan has adapted the guidelines to enlarge that representation to eight. In addition, the school has adopted a policy whereby at least two parents, one teacher and one student must be francophone.

Mr. O'Connell explained that the committee wanted to accurately reflect the bilingual nature of the school.

The committee also discussed two business items—scholarships and lunch-hour activities.

Volunteers will be out in the community over the next year attempting to obtain ongoing scholarships for coming years. Such scholarships consist of placing a lump sum in a trust account and drawing on the interest each year.

The volunteers will also canvass for prize money and the committee hopes to raise additional funds by holding a homecoming dinner and dance.

Committee members were also asked to consult people regarding activities that could be held during lunch-hour at the school.

Mr. O'Connell said such activities as cadets, dancing classes or martial arts instruction could be carried on during the 70-minute break.

SD&G gives support to generating plant

United Counties Council has told Ontario Hydro it would welcome a new generating station in the area providing all environmental safeguards can be met.

Lancaster Village Reeve Bill Cumming, who served as one of three counties' appointees to an Ontario Hydro committee investigating possible sites, said it is clear that a power station will have to be built along the St. Lawrence River and the revenue and jobs created would be an asset to the United Counties.

Cumming is serving on the site selection committee with Warden Edwin Waldroff and Counties' Clerk Administrator Raymond Lapointe.

The committee has been meeting regularly in Brockville to consider the location of a nuclear power plant, a fossil fuel station or both, in Eastern Ontario.

Williamsburg Reeve Johnny Whitteker questioned the wisdom of supporting a plant. He said the effects of warming the river water and disposing of radioactive waste are serious concerns.

Cumming agreed that waste disposal is a problem but said the problem will exist regardless of which site is chosen.

Council adopted a resolution expressing "concurrence in the construction within the boundaries of these counties of a power generating station provided a suitable site is found and all environmental requirements can be dealt with to the satisfaction of the applicable environmental regulations".

Pleads guilty

Marcel Carriere pleaded guilty in court Monday to the murder of Helen Cuttler whose body was found in a shallow grave near Green Valley September 5, Lancaster OPP report.

The 50-year-old Montreal man will be sentenced at a future date.

Carriere was arrested four days after the body of his 33-year-old Montreal girlfriend was found in a bush area in the Seventh Concession of Lancaster, just east of Highway 34.

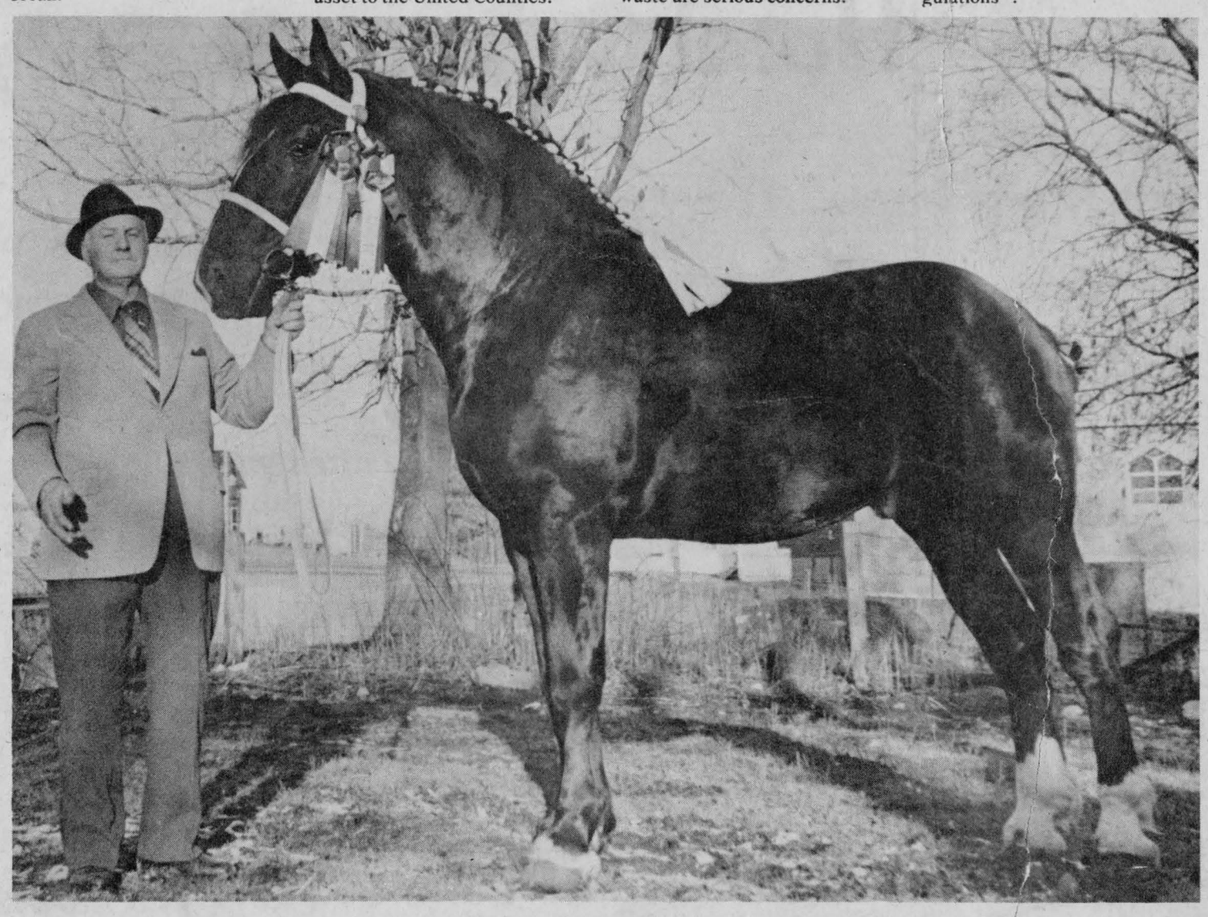
Blood ran over at bank

The blood donor clinic went over the top last week, and this, Chairman Philip Lloyd credits to a lot of behind the scenes work by the sponsors, the Richelieu and Lions Clubs.

The cubs, scouts and guides were also in on the promotion by earning a badge if they each brought in a donor.

There was a big line-up in the afternoon due to the heavy influx of students who donated. Students were present from Tagwi and Char-Lan as well as Alexandria, giving 80 pints. Many adults who came to donate had to leave because of the long line-up.

The objective was from 250 to 300 units but 302 pints were collected.



BEST AT THE ROYAL—Bob, a two-year-old Percheron owned by George Hope of Glen Robertson, was the junior champion Percheron stallion at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. Bob was two years old on March 20 and was purchased by Mr. Hope for $3,750 in Indiana. Since the horse moved to Lochiel Township he has won the junior championship in Ormstown and the grand champion stallion in Lachute.

Counties considering hiring own planner

United Counties Council decided last week to investigate the possibility of setting up a planning department.

The duty of the new department would be to co-ordinate the various plans which now govern different areas within SD&G.

In his inaugural address this year, Warden Edwin Waldroff said he wanted to have the planning requirements of the entire area standardized as much as possible.

Several planning boards now govern the area. The Glengarry Planning Board, North Dundas Planning Board and the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board support the appointment of a planner for the United Counties. The South Dundas Planning Board is opposed.

"I don't think any municipal politician has time to go through all of these plans and give the people of their munieipalities the proper answers," Waldroff said.

George Crites of Roxborough suggested the towns, villages and townships in SD&G should also have access to the counties' planner.

Williamsburg Reeve Johnny Whitteker and other representatives from the southern part of Dundas noted that their area has just completed its planning by-law and does not wish to have a new element tossed into consideration.

Charlottenburgh Township Reeve Adrian Gadbois said he is opposed to uniform planning standards because needs can vary in an area as large as SD&G.

The advisory committee on agriculture, reforestation and planning will consider the costs of establishing a planning department.

Bells will ring soon

Throughout the rolling hillside of St. Raphael's this Christmas the newly-installed church bells will peal forth. These can be heard for an eight-mile radius and are similar to those of St. Mary's Parish in Williamstown. A generous, but so far anonymous, person has donated these bells in memory of a deceased loved one.

Stations of the cross have been installed on the north wall of the church. These had been donated to the chapel of the old church by the Danny Jim MacDonald family in memory of Philip who had been killed overseas in the First World War.

When the chapel was being used for a hall in later years, the

Wardens honored at dinner meeting

Surviving former wardens of the United Counties were presented with lapel pins during an honorary dinner held recently at Glen Stor Dun Lodge.

The current warden, Edwin Waldroff, received a gold watch.

Although the United Counties traditionally presents its wardens with a watch, this is the first time all former wardens received the pins.

Alexandria Deputy Reeve Florence Villeneuve presented the gift to Waldroff and residents of the lodge presented the warden and his wife with a handicraft made at the lodge. The residents were represented by Myrtle Cavers and Mederic Lavictoire.

Kenyon Reeve Albert Faubert, chairman of the lodge's board of management, described Waldroff as "a good friend and a fine man to work with".

Faubert also made special mention of Gordon McGregor, former administrator of the lodge, who is leaving the counties' service. He commended McGregor for "his outstanding dedication to the advancement and well-being of Glen Stor Dun Lodge and its residents".

McGregor said the event presents "an annual opportunity to show the council what the board and staff are doing . . . I do have feelings of regret, but I leave with some pride in what has been accomplished."

WORSHIPFUL MASTER—A native of Dunvegan, Gillivray H. Tourism survey invites participants

The staff has been selected and work has commenced on Canada Works Project #1329 EK3 otherwise known as "Who's Who in Tourism". Project co-ordinator Laura Sabourin, along with survey compilers, Patricia Maclennan, Edward Gauthier, and Randall Milne has, to date, participated in a series of orientation meetings with resource person Robert Eadie. Mr. Eadie has been affiliated with the Seaway Valley Tourist Council since 1961, and is an authority on the tourism in this area.

The early stages of the project will deal with the organizational aspects of conducting a large scale survey of this type. One of the goals of the project group will be to compile a comprehensive master file of all services and facilities in the four counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and Grenville that would be of any use to tourists or members of the community. In addition to this, the group will also be supplying up-to-date information on any special events that will be occurring in the next twelve months.

Anyone wishing additional information or who has information which he feels would be useful to the project is invited to write to: Who's Who in Tourism, 825 Second St. E., Cornwall, Ont. K6N 2A5, Tel. 933-4953, November 22, 1977.

Local doctor attends seminar

Mrs. and Dr. Dieter Hardtke and staff of Hardtke Chiropractic Clinic returned this week from a four-day advanced training seminar conducted by the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation.

Highlighting the basic curriculum of the November 17-20 event were special guest appearances by comedian Dick Gregory; marriage expert and author Rebecca Liswood, M.D.; and famed minister and author Norman Vincent Peale, D.D. Also featured were author Les Giblin and Raymond Charles Barker, D.D., minister of the First Church of Religious Science in New York City.

Guest instructors included Dr. Russell Erhardt of Madison, Wisconsin, world recognized authority in the field of chiropractic X-ray, and Drs. Major DeJarnette and David Denton, acclaimed researchers in sacro-occipital technique.

Headed by Dr. James W. Parker, the Research Foundation, based in Fort Worth, Texas, has pioneered developments in chiropractic care and improved doctor-patient relations.

In his opening address to the New York gathering of more than 4,000 Foundation members, Dr. Parker said, "In a society that is plagued by the legal and illegal use of dangerous drugs, the challenge to more natural, preventive methods of health care is greater than ever before. Chiropractic offers alternatives and the world must know about them."

Increase in licence fees

The first increase in motor vehicle registration fees since 1972 goes into effect December 1, 1977, Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow has announced.

The fee schedule was announced in last April's Ontario Budget.

The new fees increase the cost of registration for a four-cylinder car from $23 to $30; a six-cylinder car from $32 to $45; an eight cylinder car from $40 to $60. Motorcycle registration fees are up $5—from $15 to $20.

In addition, any automobile with an engine displacement of more than 6.5 litres (397 cu. in.) which is registered for the first time, will cost the owner $80.

Under the new schedule, 1978 registration fees for all privately-owned passenger cars and motorcycles in the northern half of the province have been reduced to $10.

The 1978 registration fee for mopeds and trailers remains unchanged at $5, as does the $10 fee for snowmobiles and historic vehicles. The fee is the same in northern and southern Ontario.

Licence renewal stickers go on sale at 311 licence issuing offices across the province December 1, 1977 and the deadline for having your new licence renewal sticker is February 28, 1978.

To complete the renewal procedure, motorists are required to present their Motor Vehicle Permit, proof of insurance and the appropriate fee to purchase the blue 1978 stickers.

stations had been removed and were stored in the attic of the parish house. Thus they escaped the fire when the church burnt in 1970.

This past summer the Catholic Women's League had the stations refinished by Preceptor Francis, an artist who had been living at Iona. Thus a former part of the old church now lends a link to the new.

Smaller stations which had been transferred to the church from the Iona Academy chapel when it was operated by the Sisters of the Holy Cross will be placed in the Bishop MacDonell Memorial Chapel at St. Raphael's, between the ruins and the new church. They had been a gift from Angus H. McDonell.

A new pulpit, complete with microphone, has also been added to the church. It is a stained wooden structure, crafted by a parishioner, Eric Pilon, which blends in well with the woodwork of the church.

A new sign, donated by the Knights of Columbus, telling the time of mass, will be erected on the church lawn in the spring.

The parish council has decided to give recognition of these and other persons who have given large donations towards the new church, by placing a plaque in the church entrance.

The cemetery committee has drawn up a booklet of rules and regulations. The St. Raphael's Cemetery shall be governed by a board composed of nine persons. Rev. Gary Ostler shall be the secretary-treasurer of the board. The chairman will be appointed by the elected parish council of St. Raphael's and the other seven members shall be appointed by the chairman of the cemetery board and approved by the parish council. A general meeting will be held each year prior to the first of May. The new tariff rates have been filed with the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations in Toronto.

An ad hoc committee was set up to examine the possibilities of formulating procedure on the formation of a parish council. This committee will begin its work early in the new year.

"I've got a dream," is the theme of Advent Liturgy this year, culminating with the celebration of Christmas. The decorations in the church will grow over the next four Sundays with the help of the pupils at Iona, the youth group and the banner committee. The extraordinary ministers will explain the basic meaning at the beginning of mass A young children's choir is now being trained and they will add their talents to the choir.

New officials were elected to the Youth Group. Their theme this year is "community," and they will each be matched with an older person from the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria.

The hours of mass at Christmas are midnight mass and 10 a.m. The 10 a.m. mass is a special children's mass. New Year's masses will be celebrated at the regular hours of 8 p.m., 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Maxville parents discuss teaching

A group of Maxville and district parents met in the auditorium of the Senior School last Tuesday evening for discussion and explanation of the SD&G Board's proposals concerning the teaching of French in area public schools. The meeting was chaired by Ken Jones of the Maxville Public School committee. Due to conflicting engagements no representative of the board could be present, but the Maxville committees wished to assess public opinion and present their recommendations to that board before the deadline of Dec. 15, and concurrently with all other area school committees.

Principal Alice Ferguson outlined the system of French instruction presently in use in the public school . . "Ici On Parle Francais" twenty minutes a day starting in Gr. 3, to 6, oral. In addition there was a French immersion class which is in its first year of operation. Principal Mel McCormick outlined the school board's paper on the teaching of French with the background information that the Ontario government is committed to raising the level of French instruction in this province, mainly by massive incentive grants to provincial school boards. It was noted again that all programs are entirely optional, and the school board is anxious for input of ideas and opinions from every school district.

The most likely improvement seemed to be implementation of the first step . . . the Core program . . . with a regular daily period of instruction in French, from Kindergarten to Gr. 8, with the "Comment Dire" program slowly replacing "Ici On Parle". Several parents promptly objected to the present "French one day-English the next" kindergarten. Mrs. June Nixon felt it forced a small child to struggle with his little problems in a different medium every other day. Ken Davies inquired "Who is teaching your child English?" in the midst of the French immersion . . . with the reservation that a child immersed in French will never attain the same level as his peer group in his own mother tongue. Peter Addison presented his own brief to the committee, based on the experience of the Ottawa-Carleton district where the entire French program has been operating for eight years, and is presently being phased down. The basic problem is not French, but rather the appalling state of English in Canadian schools . . . subject always to the inroads of TV and massive washes of American culture. It is essential that good basic English be taught intensively in our schools, and any other program such as French be merely supplemental. Principal Mel McCormick added to these comments that efforts are presently being made to raise the level of English instruction in the schools, admitting that this is an area of major concern.

Again Ken Davies pointed out that the objection is not to French as a subject in school, but to the increasing encroachment of French culture. No apparent thought had been given to the ultimate effects of a long French immersion program . . . what happens when these students are dumped back into English high school or university? He approved "Learning French . . . but not learning in French." Peter Jack agreed, opting for a 40-minute a day program with French simply as one more subject which would not be optional. The serious disadvantage to a multiplicity of optional programs . . . in a rural district like Maxville . . is that it leads to an impossible fractionation of classes and teachers. Particularly in view of the present straightened economy and increasing shortage of government funding.

Bill Freeland reminded the audience that these same proposals had been presented . . . and batted down . . . in this area four years ago. He wondered why the funds flowing into the program could not be used to hire some of the excess teachers and set them to work in some of the increasing empty school space where a French program was desired . . . without disrupting the English public school system. Bill Van Loon could only see the present immersion system as "resulting in a bunch of badly mixed-up kids" and thought French as a subject should only begin in Grade 6. Mrs. John Williams pointed out that it is almost impossible for a teacher to hold the attention of an oral class for more than twenty minutes . . . church sermons that go on for longer than this raise the comments of the congregation.

There was the additional complication of parental guidance or the lack of it on behalf of children too young to make any choice of their own. Both principals agreed that in an optional program, even when a child is obviously suffering in the wrong program, the schools are powerless to insist on any change.

A summary of the main topic of discussion was drawn up by Chairman Jones, and the meeting adjourned, agreed on the fact that there were so many unexplained ramifications, and incompletely thought out options to the French proposals that a second meeting will have to be held very shortly, with a member of the board present in order to clarify these points.

Col. MacLachlan

Addressed gathering at St. Andrew's Ball

The onset of the first big storm of the season did very little to dim the gaiety and brilliance of the St. Andrew's Ball sponsored by the Glengarry Pipe Band Association. Hardy gents and their ladies, most of them in full Highland regalia, braved snow and icy roads to enjoy the traditional dinner and dance. The head table was piped in by Frances McCormick, Cathy Hay and Darlene MacLennan, and introduced by Ivan Cameron, M.C. for the evening. Pipe-Major and Mrs. John MacKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve, Lt. Col MacLachlan, Mrs. Sarah Hudson, Mrs. Norma Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hutchinson, Pipe-Major and Mrs. David Danskin, and Mr. Ron Allison. A Scottish grace was given by Beth Danskin.

With a flourish of pipes, Roger Martin and Peter Ewing escorted Arnold Munro bearing the haggis, and Ray Brodie the whiskey, to the head table where their offering was received by Hugh Hutchinson who then proposed the toast to the pipers. Osie Villeneuve proposed the toast to the ladies. The toast to St. Andrew was given by the guest of honor, Lt. Col. MacLachlan, D.S.O. who served overseas with the Calgary Horse Regiment, and is past president of the Ottawa Pipers' Club. He gave a brief scholarly review of the rise of the Scottish clans from being considered ignorant savages to the magnificent Gaels. A people ahead of their time . . . St. Brendan having visited these shores centuries ago. The Scots had given women's lib a good start by having their women come into battle with them . . . terrifying the Romans who were unaccustomed to such solidarity on the field. He also had special compliments for the very successful Glengarry '77 in Ottawa. Ivan Cameron thanked the gathering for their attendance on such a stormy night, and complimented Lanthier and staff on the excellent dinner.

The tables were cleared away, Sylvester MacDonald and the Clansmen took their places in the bandshell, and Pipe-Major John MacKenzie accompanied by Lynn Campbell and Peter Ewing led everyone onto the floor in the "Grand March." This was followed by a lovely waltz, and some lively reels. After the dancing, the Glengarry Pipe Band came on for their part of the entertainment . . . fourteen pipers and ten drummers . . . with the march-in, drum tattoo, and a medley. They accompanied eight of the MacCulloch dancers in a strathspey, jig, and reel, then a group of ten in the gay jubilee hornpipe. The band played again . . . the haunting Glencoe . . . and marched off with another medley.

On behalf of the Pipe Band Association, Arnold Munro presented William Campbell with a cheque for $525 towards the Maxville Sports Complex building fund. Mr. Campbell expressed the appreciation of the building committee, pointing out that this was a considerable contribution from an organization that has limited fund-raising opportunities and heavy expenses. He also mentioned that they were within $4,300 of attaining their goal of a paid-off building.

There were two spot dances . . . one prize-winning couple was Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacCulloch, and the other Lori MacGregor and Scott McMillan. Some beautiful country dancing followed with brilliant swirls of kilts and evening gowns as rows of couples lined up and went through the graceful measures of the "Dashing White Sergeant" and "Strip the Willow". The president of the Ottawa Piping Club, Mr. MacPhadden, took the opportunity to welcome all Scottish dancing enthusiasts to the Jubilee Ceilidh to be held in Ottawa on Dec. 28. There were more hours of dancing, then a bountiful lunch, and the gathering wended its way safely homeward.

We have just learned that Brian Filion has just received the Most Valuable Player award on the University of Waterloo soccer team. The coveted trophy was received at the annual awards banquet held recently at the university.

Brian was one of the team members who won the B class of the Canadian University soccer finals. Several friends from this area were in attendance the weekend of the tournament finals and we hear a good time was had by all. That is probably putting it mildly. However, congratulations from all your friends back home, Brian.

Quite frankly, we don't know where Brian will store this trophy. We figure he has cleaned up on all the sports trophies there are around here, soccer and otherwise. Could be Adrien and Edna will start adding a new wing on the house.

Isn't it nice that our John Wensink is doing so well in the big time? John is as usual, adding a lot of color to the team he plays on, and he certainly is an incentive for us to watch the Boston games on the old TV screen.

We're happy to see John's picture in the November 28 issue of MacLean's magazine. On page 63. It is one thing to make the NHL but when you make MacLeans on top of that, man, you are really up there!

Atoms start play in Can-Am League

The Alexandria Atoms travelling team played their first game in the newly formed Can-Am league on Sunday at the Sports Palace. However, they didn't do any better than they did during the past month's exhibition competition.

The Atoms have yet to win a game this season. But Coach Guy Lanctot hopes that the 4-2 loss against Long Sault will be the end of a run of bad luck for his team.

Scoring for Alexandria were Andrew McCormick and Serge Levac.

The next home game is Sunday at 5 p.m. when they host Cornwall.

Alexandria 14-3 over Lochiel in Inter. B

Sunday's Grey Cup football game was reason enough to cancel the Intermediate "B" hockey game that same day, said League President Roger Levert.

The only other game played in that league was on Friday and it too could have been cancelled as Alexandria defeated Lochiel by the one-sided score of 14-3.

Scoring for Alexandria were Claude Roy with a hat trick, Roch Lajoie, Richard Jeaurond, Andre Poirier, Robert Lajoie and Ray Poirier, each with a pair of points and a single from Rod Shepherd.

Mike Kelly scored twice and Garrett McGillis once for Lochiel.

Volleyball tournament at Maxville

There was a volleyball tournament at the Maxville Senior School last Tuesday, with teams from Berwick, Laggan and Martintown playing off against Maxville Senior. The Maxville boys, and the girls each won in their division, and go on now from the Glengarry to the Tri-County tournament this week.

Bridge results

Results of Alexandria Bridge Club on November 23 were as follows:

Tied, first, Jack Raymond and Jim Dorsey; tied, second, Aretha Charlebois and Howard Cunningham; third, Archie Lebrun and Andre Ruest; fourth, Ray and Roger Lemieux.

Injured playing hockey

Billy McBean of Glen Roy is recovering in the Ottawa Civic hospital having been operated on Friday for a clot near the brain.

The clot is believed to have been caused as a result of being struck in the head by a hockey puck during a game at the Williamstown Arena three weeks ago.

Billy is a member of the Char-Lan junior "C" hockey club.

His aunt, Mrs. Donald McRae of Glen Nevis reports that the operation was an apparent success and that he is recovering.

Problems solved in Glens camp team playing as unit—Coach Kelly

By Brian Sherratt

"We are playing more like a unit with a much more positive attitude," said Glens' coach Joe Kelly, who bore the brunt of some team unrest last week.

The comment was made between periods of their Saturday night game against St. Isidore Eagles. A game the Glens lost 7-5 but a game that may well go into the record books as the most entertaining one the locals ever played.

During the past few weeks the team's players, coach and management have had some difficulty communicating. However, a meeting of the three groups last Wednesday apparently cleared the air.

"It gave everyone a chance to get things off their chest," said Coach Kelly. "The result is a more satisfied group of players. Maybe it should have been done a long time ago."

"We all have a more positive attitude now as a result of the meeting," he commented. "It has also allowed us to become a more organized team. Before the meeting we were unorganized and were taking any type of scramble goal we could get. Now the team has improved to the point where we are getting the goals that are coming to us."

However, the Glens didn't get quite all the points that were coming to them Saturday. It wasn't through any lack of effort on their part but more because of the unbelievable goaltending of Alain Sicotte of St. Isidore.

In the first period alone the Glens outshot St. Isidore 18-11 but finished the period behind 3-2.

The locals threw everything they had at the visitors net but Sicotte was just like a brick wall.

The Glens outskated St. Isidore for the entire first period and took the play to them in every way possible only rarely letting them out of their own end of the ice.

Paul Seguin was the first Glens' player to be robbed of a goal by Sicotte. Paul let one fly at the net from point-blank range. It bounced straight back at him and he let if fly a second time only to have Sicotte grab a piece of it and pull it down.

Then came Mike Bellefeuille who took a pass in front of the net after the goaltender had gone down. But he too was robbed. Seconds later Luc Poirier powered one at the net from the point, only to have it blocked.

By this point in the game the Glens should have been leading by at least three goals except for the brick wall St. Isidore had in nets. The locals spent so much time around the Eagles net that a person may well have thought the visitors were playing with a man in the penalty box.

However, Sicotte's luck and reflexes could only stand just so much pressure and Terry Epp scored after having been given a perfect pass from Leo Seguin. Leo took a pass at the point from Yvan Desautels. He carried the puck all the way around the back of the net. All the visitors and most of the Glens got bunched up in front of the crease expecting Leo to shoot as soon as he got in position. But he held his cool, passed the puck over to Terry Epp. Terry took advantage of the traffic jam and popped it in for the first point of the game. A classic goal in the true sense of the word.

Glens defenceman Luc Poirier scored their next point after taking the puck the entire length of the ice in a fine exhibition of skating and puck handling. Paul Seguin and Yvan Desautels were given assists.

The period ended in a blaze of fury on the part of Mike Bellefeuille who was sent off the ice with a penalty for fighting and a game misconduct. A slight shoving match started with only 48 seconds left to play in the first period. Mike, who wasn't involved in the argument, made a point of becoming involved for no apparent reason, resulting in the eventual fight and his eviction from the game.

The penalty, given Mike as well as one for roughing given Scott Grant, caused the Glens to start off the second period shorthanded resulting in St. Isidore scoring after only 40 seconds had been played.

No sooner was Scott Grant back on the ice than he was off again for five more minutes for fighting. Then three minutes after he was out of the penalty box he was off the ice again and this time for good, with penalties for high sticking and a game misconduct.

The Glens third goal was far from a classic scoring play. But they all count and Yvan Desautels made sure of it after taking a pass from Paul Seguin and Scott Hay.

The second period ended with the Glens behind 5-3.

After having been super-hot during the first period the Glens lost some of their steam during the second 20 minutes and on several occasions they allowed the Eagles to walk right in on them. The hustle lost by the Glens was quickly picked up by St. Isidore resulting in their lead.

Glens' goaltender Stephen MacDonell did all he could to keep the Eagles out of the Glens' net. But there is only just so much a goalie can do when his team is down a man.

For almost five minutes Stephen and the rest of the Glens held off repeated attacks but eventually one of their shots had to find its way through.

The Glens scored first in the third period after Paul tipped a pass from Scott Hay, bounced it off the goalie then popped it in after retrieving his own rebound. Walter Radford also assisted.

On two more occasions Paul was robbed by the lightning quick reflexes of Sicotte. The Glens must have been wondering what they had to do to get the puck past him.

The locals came as close as any team could have come to tying up the score. They out-played and out-shot the visitors during the third period and left them gasping for air. But still no goal. Until a scramble developed in front of the St. Isidore net and Leo Seguin was able to get some wood on the puck and lift it in, assisted by brother Paul and Luc Poirier.

The evening ended with the Glens losing 7-5. But the score was not a true example of the competition. The way they played that evening showed that when they get it all together they are a power to contend with.

It's too bad that some feelings had to be hurt before the teams' problems could be discussed openly. However, it was bound to happen and the "get if off your chest" meeting last Wednesday has made one powerful unit out of the Junior Glens.

If the Glens have any more problems they aren't obvious on the ice, with the exception of Mike Bellefeuille and Scott Grant who accounted for eight of the Glens nine penalties Saturday night.

The Desautel-Seguin line made its presence known by the time the game was over. Yvan Desautels, Paul and Leo Seguin, each scored a goal that evening and at least one of them assisted on four of the five points.

The Glens' Friday night game in Vanier saw them hold one of the top teams in the league to a five-all draw.

Paul Seguin scored twice and singles came from Harvey Primeau, Scott Grant and Walter Radford. Leo Seguin, Yvan Desautels and Luc Poirier each registered two assists and Raymond Bourdon, Mike Bellefeuille and Paul Seguin got one each.

The Glens next home game is Saturday, Dec. 3, when they host Vanier.

Junior 'C' wins at home score winner in last minute

By Brian Sherratt

The Alexandria junior "C" Glens won their only game of the weekend Friday and they did it against one of the top teams in the league. They hosted Embrun, who were members of the junior "B" division last year, and defeated them 3-2 scoring the winning goal with only 48 seconds remaining in the game.

David McDonell slapped in the winner with assists from Mike Willard and Cameron McCormick.

Mike Wray scored the first point of the evening unassisted and number two came off the stick of Lyle Ross assisted by Luc Seguin.

The junior C's are turning in a fine style of exciting hockey. General Manager Ray MacDonald said that "this was their best game this year."

After taking an early lead the locals laid off on their pressure and allowed Embrun to tie up the score. Alexandria had led the game 2-0 at the end of the first period, but were unable to score at all during the second twenty minutes. Embrun scored once in the second and once in the third period putting Alexandria in a pressure play for the win.

However, McDonell came through with the winning goal, his first goal of the season.

Hubert Sauve is missing from the lineup for an indefinite period with a knee injury. The team was also missing the services of defenceman Carter MacDonald who was attending his brother's wedding.

The competition was a relatively clean game with the locals drawing only eight penalties, to the five given Embrun.

Their next home game is Friday, Dec. 2 when they host Osnabruck Twp. at 8 p.m.

St. Pierre and Pidgeon joined in two-ring marriage ceremony

ST. PIERRE—PIDGEON

Rev. Sylvester Theoret officiated at the double ring ceremony which took place in St. Joseph's Church, Lancaster, on Saturday, Nov. 19, 1977 at 4 p.m., when Suzanne Pidgeon became the bride of Lionel St. Pierre.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Pidgeon and the late Hughie Pidgeon of Lancaster and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Pierre of Alexandria. Miss Bea Feilotter of Lancaster was organist during the mass.

Given in marriage by her brother, Wilfred Pidgeon of Dalkeith, the bride looked lovely in a floor length gown of poly-chiffon with long sleeves and high collar. Embroidered flowers and pearls trimmed the sheer bodice and the full length flared skirt led to an attached chapel train. Her headpiece was a four-tiered veil set with pearls and roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Rose Anne Pidgeon of Dalkeith, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of pink polyester and she wore a white picture hat trimmed with pink ribbon. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations, sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

William (Billy) Gunn, cousin of the bride, of Lancaster, was best man. Miss Barbara Sauve of Cornwall, niece of the bride, was flower girl and she wore a floor length gown of white nylon trimmed with navy blue. She carried a basket of light green carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Green Valley Pavilion, where Johnny Brunet of Cornwall was master of ceremonies.

For their honeymoon trip to Toronto and parts of the U.S.A., the bride wore a rust pant suit with tan accessories and a corsage of tangerine carnations and white sweetheart roses.

They will reside in Green Valley.

Friends and relatives attended from Cornwall, Montreal, Vanier, Ottawa, Cardinal, Bainsville, Dalkeith, Alexandria, Lancaster and surrounding area.

Retired counties sheriff is elected president of area UEL branch

R. Melvin Scott, retired sheriff of the three united counties, was elected president of the St. Lawrence United Empire Loyalists Branch, at the second meeting of the newly formed Branch. The meeting held at the Viscount Alexander School in Cornwall was attended by over 60 people from Merrickville east to Lancaster, and Ottawa south to Morrisburg.

Other officers elected were: vice-presidents: Mrs. Donald Hare of Iroquois; Stanley McNairn of Long Sault and Ian McMartin of Martintown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Douglas Leitch of Cornwall; recording secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Fleming of Long Sault; treasurer, Keith M. Casselman of Morrisburg; newsletter, Leslie Wismer of Long Sault.

The Genealogist Committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Blair of Dominion Headquarters in Toronto, coordinating chairman; area genealogists are, Miss Eva Baker, Ingleside, Alex Fraser, RR 1, Lancaster and Miss Lynne O'Brien of Morrisburg.

Alex Fraser, chairman of the Glengarry Genealogical Society explained to the group that the GGS had obtained a Federal Canada Works Grant of $29,892 to employ three people for one year, sorting and indexing and copying area church records and that at least one copy will be in a local library.

John Pescod, city alderman, showed an original land grant to his great, great, great grandfather Sgt. John Prescot in 1777 for the land that the school is now on, where the meeting was held.

Mr. Scott advised the gathering that the book entitled "Loyalists of Ontario" by William D. Reid is very helpful for somebody looking up their UEL ancestry and the book is available in the library for reference.

The branch will not meet until the spring of 1978 when the new executive will present by-laws, but anybody interested may contact any one of the executive for further information, or contact Dominion Headquarters at 23 Prince Arthur Ave. in Toronto.

The meeting closed with refreshments being served, with members getting acquainted and comparing family trees.

Catholic youth in Glengarry work as one group on theme

by Father Gary Ostler

For the second year in a row, the parishes of Glengarry will work together in presenting to the youth a program of religious education. The deanery comprises Lancaster, Curry Hill, Martintown, St. Raphael's, St. Finnan's, Apple Hill and Williamstown.

The chosen theme this year is "The Christian Family". As a sub-theme to each of the modern-day concerns within the scope of family life is a sacrament. Each parish will host a session usually held on Sunday evenings.

On Sunday, November 13, the first deanery session was held at St. Raphael's. The get-together began with some folk singing prior to the opening session at 8 p.m. Name tags were provided and efforts were made to bring about warmth and friendship. The topic for the evening: The Christian family—the Christian community. The underlying sacrament was baptism. What better way to talk about the beginning of Christian life than to experience a baptism?

Thus the first part of the evening took place at Iona Academy. From the gymnasium, the youth were divided into two seminars. The first dealt with the Christian community and the second, with baptism. A music practice was then held in the gymnasium and young Ken McLaughlin, a 10-year-old grade five student, awaiting baptism was introduced with his family to the young people.

A good walk over to the church, and all experienced and shared the celebration of the new beginning for Kenny. Particularly touching, was the sign of the cross placed on his forehead by the young people. Another beautiful moment came when all sang, "This Little Light of Mine" as each lit a candle, all coming from the paschal candle.

Back to Iona, with song and cheer, a fiesta began—the joy of the Christian community in receiving a new member. Cake awaited the new Christian. A gift was presented to him by the youth group of St. Raphael's.

Each parish is to meet with their young people and deepen the notion of Christian family. It is felt that the "new" beginning was indeed a "good" beginning. There were 129 youth present from grade nine and up.

A report was given by Yvonne Carriere, that 500 pieces of clothes were given to needy families and that a donation was sent to North Cobalt for fire victims.

Rev. Desrosiers talked to the members about the month of November, to remember about our dear departed. He also talked about Christmas shopping and the joys of Christmas with Christ.

Committees were formed for coming events; Nov. 26 dance, Rejeanne Lajoie (lunch); Christmas party, Aline Seguin; Welfare committee, Yvonne Carriere; Villa Fatima Activities, Eva Lefebvre; Recruiting Committee, Micheline Lobb.

Don't forget our joint dance with the Knights of Columbus Nov. 26 at Sacred Heart Church. Lunch will be catered by the Daughters of Isabella. Proceeds for four parishes; St. Raphael's, Lochiel, St. Finnan's and Sacred Heart.

The meeting on December 1 and December 14 will be followed by the Christmas party for all members. Be there, a social evening full of fun is waiting for you. Santa Claus will be our special guest.

Attendance prize was won by Eva Lefebvre; the 50/50 draw won by Therese Theoret, but she was absent. No prize.

The meeting came to a close with "O Canada."

VITAMIN SUPPLEMENTS.

In winter, many people wonder what emphasis should be placed on vitamins in the diet.

No matter what the season, winter or summer, vitamins are a very important part of our diet. Vitamins are a group of organic substances that are needed in small quantities by the body. Without them, we would't be able to "utilize" our food because vitamins serve as essential catalysts during digestion, absorption and utilization of food nutrients.

Healthy people who eat a good diet, following Canada's Food Guide, should not need Vitamin supplements. A good diet alone will supply ample essential vitamins as well as other important nutrients. However, vitamin pills alone, which provide only a few of the nutrients needed, will not make up for a poor diet.

Mrs. Green is available to talk shopping to groups. Please write:

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Send us your opinions

One of the most difficult policies for newspaper editors to set is a "letters to the editor" policy.

In many newspapers, the editor simply exercises his prerogative and picks and chooses as he pleases.

Here at the News we have adopted a much more open policy—a policy which we feel recognizes our responsibility as the only medium available to the local community for the expression of viewpoints.

Our policy is to print every letter we receive, provided it is signed, not libelous and no more than 600 words in length.

In the case of letters of more than 600 words (about three pages typed double-spaced;) we must reserve the right to shorten the letter due to space limitations.

Although all letters must be signed, we will consider not printing the name and using a pseudonym instead, provided a valid reason is given (e.g. a teacher criticizing the school board and fearing for his or her job). We will not, however, use a pseudonym if the letter criticizes a particular individual (e.g. a reeve, councillor, director of education, etc.). Criticism of public officials is quite in order in our democratic system, but we feel that the person criticized should at least know who the critic is and be able to issue a rebuttal.

We realize there will be drawbacks with such an open letters to the editor policy. We could get some wierd viewpoints. But we do not feel we have the moral right to determine which viewpoints are valid and which are not. Everyone is entitled to an opinion.

It's all very well to editorialize (as we have in the past) on the virtues of democracy. Such fundamental principles as free speech are quite meaningless, however, if people have no medium of self-expression. In a small community, the local newspaper is the only forum available to people. Take away that forum and you take away a very basic right.

Being able to speak your mind is what democracy is all about—even if your comments do upset some people.

As we stated above, as long as the letters are signed and not libelous, we'll print them. Of course we expect such letters to follow the norms of good taste (e.g. won't be filled with profanities). This is your newspaper. We want you to use it.

Hanging issue stirs emotions

Thanks to Charlottenburgh Township Council, the issue of capital punishment has been in the news quite a bit recently.

A couple of months ago, council debated the issue extensively and it was clear from the meeting that most, if not all, of the councillors favored a return to the death penalty.

At that meeting, council passed a resolution calling for the federal government to hold a national referendum on the issue, preferably by including the question on the next election ballot.

Council also authorized its staff to send copies of the resolution to all 840 municipalities in the province.

The response has been overwhelming and it now appears that about half of the municipalities have replied with a 95 per cent majority favoring the referendum.

One of the biggest arguments raised at the Charlottenburgh meeting in favor of capital punishment was the deterent aspect of bringing the rope back. Murders were rising at an alarming rate, some of the councillors argued, and something had to be done about it.

Much of the debate surrounding capital punishment has been of such an emotional nature. Nobody likes a murderer. But there is little supporting evidence to indicate that capital punishment does deter murder.

The latest Canadian figures, in fact, show that murder has decreased since hanging was abolished in 1976.

Statistics Canada says police last year reported 616 deaths as murders, a 4.7 per cent decrease from 1975.

The federal agency said this was "a significant change from the typical annual increases in recent years of 10 per cent to 15 per cent.

Of particular note is the fact that in nearly 41 per cent of the homicides, the victim and suspect lived together or were related.

The figures will undoubtedly be used by abolitionists to bolster their contention that most murders are spontaneous crimes of passion and, hence, impossible to deter. The person gives no thought to consequences before committing the crime.

In the case of gangland-type killings, where premeditation is involved, it's doubtful that such professional killers would be deterred either, the abolitionists argue.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

We almost had a complete family re-union on the weekend as "the kids" came home from Montreal and Ottawa and Prescott and Toronto, to see Barry get "married up" to his Mary.

With Blair in a trade where the show must go on we had to manage without him as the WHA like the Junior B Glens doesn't allow any leaves for a marriage "unless it is your own." (We used to think army regulations were tough.)

And in spite of the storm warnings that we might all be buried under blankets of snow before morning, we ventured forth and the snowman was kind enough not to let loose until the celebration was almost over.

The ceremony was really enjoyable. Father Breton has a way of making everyone in the congregation feel involved in the whole deal. And this ceremony had a rather unusual pair in the wedding party—two little shiny-eyed flower girls who were watching their mommy's marriage vows. Not to mention one little two-year-old who wasn't old enough to get in on the bridal party but was old enough to notice mommy getting more attention than he was, which was unusual.

Lots of friends joined us for the reception and really made it an enjoyable one for us. Back at the house afterwards the family decided to keep on celebrating the occasion and since Blair and Carol were absent they had to do a little extra elbow-bending to make up for their missing contribution.

They were really concerned about Barry and Mary too. Called them up at 5:30 to tell them how much they missed them and how they should have stayed on at their own party. All heart, our kids.

Paw and I were really happy to be getting such a lovely new daughter. And if you accuse us of being prejudiced we will readily admit we are.

Just a reminder to parents who lament they haven't an equal amount of sons and daughters. In time you acquire them. It just takes a while longer. And they usually become as dear to you as your very own offspring.

We are delighted with the response we had from readers about the old mill in Peveril. Another staff member here with fond memories of Dornie when it was a flourishing country metropolis wanted to know if anyone had pictures of the old lumber mill that used to be in operation there. Perhaps in the files of some of our readers lies this copy. We would appreciate receiving this or other old pictures of industries that no longer exist.

The school children in the area are continually looking for historical information for their projects. A great many old stories were carried in the News in days gone by and maybe it is getting to the stage where we should start over again.

We must have some good history teachers in the area. They appear to be inspiring youngsters to dig out their roots and become part of the whole scene. We admire their zeal but would advise them to do their own clipping, when we print something they want. We would have a full-time job catering to the school projects if we did all the research in the files students would like us to do.

Perspective

by Bob Roth

Time for moderates to speak

The higher emotions run, the more ridiculous the language debate becomes.

The latest bizarre incident comes courtesy of the Richelieu Club of Cornwall, which has informed the Chamber of Commerce that it will not make a decision on whether to participate in the annual Santa Claus parade until the chamber sends its request in French.

The chamber recently sent letters in English to all service clubs, industries, business organizations and institutions asking them to participate in the parade, Sunday, December 4.

Richelieu Club President Jean-Paul Scott informed the chamber in a letter written in French that his club would be interested in the parade but would only decide whether to participate after it received the request in French.

It is precisely this type of pettiness that seeks to totally undermine any hopes we may have of reconciling our language difficulties.

If the Chamber of Commerce had wanted to be just as picky as the Richelieu Club, it could have refused to accept that club's letter in French. The chamber could have told the club that the chamber is predominantly English, that the official language of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce is English and that the official language of the Province of Ontario is English, just as the official language of the Province of Quebec is French. If the Richelieu Club doesn't have to accept letters in English, why does the Chamber of Commerce have to accept letters in French? This is just how ridiculous the situation could have become.

To its credit, however, the chamber refused to be drawn into this phoney war over language and, instead, simply sent the club a letter in French.

What is really at issue here, is not the Richelieu Club's desire for communication in French, but rather the antagonistic attitude that came through. The Chamber of Commerce has always written to all organizations in English, including the Richelieu Club. There was no reason to suspect the club would take offence this year.

It all depends, I suppose, on whether you're trying to resolve a problem, or intensify it. The Richelieu Club could have put its point across just as well by responding positively to the chamber (in French, if it so desired), indicating that it would appreciate future letters to be written in French. A perfectly reasonable request. Instead, it issues a belligerent announcement that the original letter has to be rewritten in French before the club will even make a decision on the parade.

The profound irony lies in the fact that the parade is supposed to be a focal point for a time of year promoting "peace and goodwill towards man".

What is particularly disturbing is that such a ludicrous squabble should have been instigated during a time when the issue of French language instruction is being so hotly debated in the schools.

As a senior official with the SD&G County Board of Education, you would think Mr. Scott would be fully appreciative of the need to exert a moderating influence on fast rising emotionalism.

As it is, his comments could only be most charitably described as ill-timed.

I keep hoping that somewhere along the line, the moderates—both English-speaking and French-speaking—will come forward and speak up. I know English-speaking people who are the same way. They can speak French, but insist on being addressed in English, even in Quebec. I can't stand that attitude either. What's the point of being bilingual if you don't want to use the skill?

As far as I'm concerned, language should be a means of communication, not an excuse for racial warfare.

I'm sure the majority of people in this area—of both ethnic backgrounds—have no desire to see division in the community. I also firmly believe that when the issue is fairly presented, each side has an appreciation for the other's linguistic and cultural aspirations. But it's time for the moderates to come forward. Through the consent of silence, we are letting the extremists give the impression they represent the majority. The longer that impression is allowed to persist, the more people will be polarized into two opposing camps.

Frankly, I'm fed up with the extremists speaking for both sides. Perhaps we should seriously consider starting a group of our own—Group Against Bigotry (GAB for short). The purpose of GAB would be to represent both French-speaking and English-speaking moderates in the community and to talk it up (or GAB it up, if you will) to offset the highly vocal extremists.

Anyway, I'll be sounding the idea out with some people in the weeks to come.

English catholics concerned

77 St. Lawrence St.,

November 25, 1977.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I wish to report that at St. Andrew's West, Ontario on November 24, 1977 a meeting was held of representatives of English Catholic Ratepayers in the jurisdiction of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Roman Catholic Separate School Board.

The purpose of the meeting was to study the recent language issue and its effects on Catholic education as a whole within this jurisdiction.

As a result of this meeting, a motion was put forth, duly seconded and carried, to notify the Board, the Ministry of Education, and the Press, of its intended action which is contained in the accompanying letter to our Board Chairman, Mr. Lindy L. Latour.

I thank you for your attention in this matter:

Mr. Lindy L. Latour, Chairman,
SD&G County RCSS Board,
1104 First St. East,
Cornwall, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Latour,

On behalf of an Ad Hoc Committee representing the English Catholic Ratepayers of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Roman Catholic Separate School Board's jurisdiction, please be notified that we intend to make a submission relative to language and its effects on Catholic education as a whole within the Board.

It is the wish of this group that no decision be taken on this issue by the Board until this submission is received at the Public Meeting of December 13, 1977.

Please be notified also, that if the Board does not respect this motion of the parents which in effect means we would have no opportunity to submit our view to the Board, that we will appeal to the Ministry of Education to intervene and call for a public inquiry on the policies of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Roman Catholic Separate School Board. Further, a copy of this appeal will be sent to Premier Davis with a mandate for a government inquiry.

Respectfully yours,
Fraser Cross,
Chairman.

Fire destroyed the old mill

96 Plymouth St.
Ottawa, Ont.
Nov. 21/77

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

In regard to the picture of the "Old Mill," on the front page of your paper, dated Nov. 16, I am almost certain it was the "Mill" at Peveril, Que., on River Delisle, a mile and a half east of Dalhousie Mills, which was destroyed by fire around 1920.

It was owned by a family by the name of Stackhouse and later by Mr. Bertrand.

The building at the right was the "saw mill," and was later moved to the end of the main stone building, facing the picture, which housed the grist and flour mill and the spinning looms upstairs.

The building in the centre housed the wool carding machinery, until years later when they made the fatal mistake and moved the wool carding operation into the main stone mill. It appeared to be matches in some wool going through the "wool-picker" that caused the fire.

Mr. John McCosham, now living in Eganville, Ont., was in charge of the carding mill operation at the time and could probably give you more information.

The small white building on the left was a small general store. I believe at one time it also housed the Peveril post office which was in existence at one time.

Our farm home, where I spent my childhood and youth was located just to the right of the picture.

Yours truly,
Herb Perry

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I received the News and I noticed the mystery photo.

I am an elderly person, I am 87, and this reminds me of a place in Peveril. I lived in Dalhousie Mills and as a little girl, I and some other children would go to a Mill near River Delisle. This was operated by a Scotch family (Stackhouse).

Years ago many people kept sheep for wool so this is where people went with the wool. The called it in French (Le Moulin a card). The wool was prepared in nice long curls, so I would like to hear for certain where this place is.

Nov. 21, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I am writing in regard to the mystery picture in the News of Nov. 16. I think I recognize this picture; it looks familiar to me.

I am not sure, but I think it is the old Charlie Stackhouse Mill at Peveril, Que. that is about three miles south of St. Justine Station, Que. on the river Delisle.

The large stone building was a grist mill and carding mill. The one in the centre was where Mr. Stackhouse made chairs, the other was a saw mill. The building at the back of the stone building was a store.

There is nothing there now as these buildings were destroyed by fire years ago. G. A. Perry's house is in the distance behind the elm trees. I hope this information is correct. I was brought up in that area.

I have a few copies of the News dated 1919, 1938, 1943, 1947, 1948. If the Glengarry Historical Society is interested in these copies I would be glad to send them to them.

Sincerely,
Neil McCuaig

Seeks to save game fish

Peterborough, Ont.
Nov. 16, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

A petition to bring back the size limit on game fish in Ontario has now 18,000 names. More importantly the petition seems to have about 95% of public support!

And still the Ontario biologists seem to be painting a rosy picture. The biologists, we suspect, are allowing themselves to be used by the Ontario politicians. That's why, Lee Wulff, a great sportsman-conservationist, is laying the blame for the deteriorating sport fishing squarely on the biologists: "They just don't have the guts to speak out. They are afraid of losing their jobs . . . Our only hope lies with some of the younger biologists."

Ontario is a land of lakes. But these lakes are nothing more than swimming pools carved out of granite with very few nutrients flowing in and a very short growing season. It takes an acre of water and a year of time to grow a scant 3 lbs. of pickerel flesh. The lakes are extremely vulnerable to over-fishing. Yet the bumbling "do-nothing" government has opened up the fishery wide and high as the prairie sky—and expects it to last!

All great successful movements start from the bottom, not from the top. POP (Preserve Ontario's Pickerel) is a movement from the bottom and it will be successful, God willing. POP is hereby making an impassioned appeal to all the sportsmen, concerned citizens and especially the retired men and women, who refused to be put on the shelf, to get behind this movement. It was the retired men and women of Oregon that in 1974 put over the top a similar petition and had the public rather than the legislature cast the final vote on fish laws in that state. Ontario could do no less.

POP needs about 2,000 signatures to reach 20,000—or enough, we hope, to spur the bumbling government into action! Anyone who can spend an hour's time in a shopping centre—enough time to get 75 signatures—should write to the address below and a petition with instructions will be mailed promptly. Thank you.

POP (Preserve Ontario's Pickerel), c/o Joseph Leslie, 641 Aylmer St. N., Peterborough, Ont. K9H 3X3. Tel. (705) 742-8095 (mornings).

Production Cost
$22.00 per ton

"THE GRASS MACHINE" is an environmentally controlled grower of young green grass which produces a new crop every day. Seed is simply poured into trays and, during the 7-day growing cycle, automatically sprinkled with nutrient laden water on a pre-set time clock schedule. One pound of seed normally produces 6-8 pounds of grass, at approximately $22 a ton. Spring grass is the most efficient means of feeding livestock, poultry, dairy herds and any other herbivorous animals because it provides most of the known vitamins, minerals, protein, hormones and enzymes necessary to good health. The grass is produced, thereby providing the animal with vitally important grass juice elements. In most cases, roughage is the only other feed requirement.

Roots of Alexandria

RR1, Lancaster, Ont.
Nov. 10, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

According to the article in the last issue of the Glengarry News, entitled, "French roots being probed," one would get the very strong impression that the town of Alexandria was founded by the French.

Alexandria as well as the majority of the area of Glengarry, not to mention areas in Quebec, like Cote St. George, Ste. Justine de Newton, River Beaudette, St. Telesphore, had a large influx of Scottish emigrants between 1800 and 1850. Glengarry in 1852 was over 95 per cent settled by Scots, one-sixth approximately of which were MacDonalds/MacDonells.

The Glengarry population in 1852 was 17,596 shown by a religious census of 16 different religious classifications. The top three religions were Roman Catholic, Kirk of Scotland, Free Kirk of Scotland, which consisted of 16,748 members in total.

According to a census in 1852 of the principal clans in Glengarry for 1852, 31 clans are listed from the MacDonalds/Macdonells with 3,228 members and the Cattanachs 50. These 31 clans totaled 9,956 people. This list does not include the population of family names like Wood, Bowie, MacAlpine, MacEdwards, etc., who also came from Scotland, nor does it include the Irish names of people who came from Ireland like Walsh, O'Connor, etc., nor the names of the English emigrants who came from England nor the names of the French families who came in from what is now Quebec, nor the Negro population of the time in Glengarry.

According to the 1839 census of Catholics in Glengarry of some 2,693 names, which was brought about by the Rev. John MacDonald, first parish priest of St. Finnan's, Alexandria. This census covers most of the county of Glengarry. The list I have, I do not think is totally complete, but of the 2,963 names, 138 are French names.

In Volume I, Gravestones of Glengarry, Williamstown lists the inscriptions from three cemeteries, which represents at least 2,600 names inscribed on the 832 gravestones. 282 are French names. This Volume I, covers the time period from 1791 to 1975, a spread of 184 years of burials as indicated by the information inscribed on the gravestones as of the time I copied them.

In Volume II, Gravestones of Glengarry, in the First and Second Concessions of Lancaster, listing the inscriptions from five cemeteries, which represent at least 2,700 names inscribed on the 854 gravestones, 360 are French names. This Volume II covers the time period from 1785 to 1977, a spread of 192 years of burials as indicated by the information inscribed on the gravestones as of the time I copied them.

In St. Raphael's Cemetery, as of 1974, at least 310 gravestones were standing, which represents at least 1,000 names of which 280 names are French. This cemetery covers a time period from about 1818 to 1974, a spread of 156 years of burials as indicated by the information inscribed on the gravestones as of the time I copied them.

In St. Finnan's Cemetery as of 1976 at least 611 gravestones are standing, which represents at least 1,900 names of which 341 names are French. This cemetery covers a time period from at least 1831 to 1976, a spread of 145 years of burials as indicated by the information inscribed on the gravestones as of the time I copied them.

I have not as yet copied the inscriptions from the gravestones in the Sacred Heart cemetery, but judging from its size, I would say there are about 300 markers which represent at least 900 names of which at least seven-eighths are French names. The Sacred Heart Church came into existence in 1909, so the cemetery and church are no more than 70 years old.

The greatest influx of French families came in the last 65 years. There has been intermarriage between the French and Scots of the county 150 years ago, but then it was not too common.

Although today there are a lot of French families in Glengarry, not too many of which can trace their French ancestry in Glengarry back beyond a hundred years, some of these French families can trace their Scotch ancestry in Glengarry back much further.

In the 1860s a quarter of the population left the county of Glengarry. This exodus of individuals and families from all walks of life, with a wide variety of talent, amounted to some 4,000 people.

Why such an exodus from Glengarry in the 1860s? There are many reasons, like the economics of the time and families had a tendency to be on the big side, from five to 15 children.

As the French moved slowly in to fill the gap left by the wandering Scot, they had less tendency to roam, thus, as the overall population of Scots deceased in the area for what ever the reason, the French families left Quebec or other parts for this county, for similar reasons as to why the Scots left it. To the French coming in at the time, Glengarry offered supposedly greener pastures and in many cases it has proved out just to be that and thus the French population increased to its present point and the present situation that the county now finds itself in.

The history of this area is diversive and deep and interesting, and if Michael Krupa of Don Mills is to do a fair and honest job of his study of the French, he has to take in the Scottish aspect of the area as well; the influences it created on newcomers and vice-versa. As to whether Alexandria "was a long-standing French-speaking community outside Quebec," his research might show that the way things are, or were, is not always the way people try to make out they are.

I hope that Mr. Krupa gets to read this letter as it might give him some interesting lines to pursue.

Yours truly,
Alex W. Fraser

Help for one-parent families

Since the beginning of these articles on the services of Family Counselling Centre of Cornwall and United Counties, the emphasis has been on marriage counselling.

The one-parent family comprises a large portion of our society today. True, the divorce rate is high, but Dr. Michael Novak, author, consultant, professor of Philosophy and Religion, stated at the seminar "Think about the Family," held in May 1977: "66% of all husbands and wives do stay together until 'death doth them part'." Using that figure, one looks at 34% one-parent families in our society, usually the mother as head of the family. Many people feel that separation solves all problems and this is even the idea of some professionals. One must look at the trauma associated with separation—the personal adjustment for the adults and children. Mrs. Y. and her family is a typical example of needs and benefits of counselling services.

Names are fictitious to protect the confidentiality of the clients.

The Y.'s had been married for twenty-one years, enjoyed an average standard of living. The four children had many more opportunities to join various activities in the community because of parents' interest and financial ability to pay fees. The children became more aware of the tension in the home and eventually were told "Mom and I are separating." It was a mutual separation agreement with the usual maintenance order, visitation privileges, and division of material goods.

Dad moved out—with promises to visit—he still loved the children. Mom was alone to cope with her personal adjustment, discipline, emotional support and budget. She became more worried, and withdrawn—she was not a happy person anymore. She knew she could not cope alone and upon the advice of her family physician, she came to Family Counselling Centre.

She was depressed, fearful of the future and her ability to be a good mother. Many mothers forget quality of time and not quantity of time is one of the components of a good relationship between parent(s) and children. The financial situation was worrying her—could she meet fuel expenses, keep the children well-dressed, etc? She was relieved to be referred to the Credit Counselling Division of Family Counselling Centre for a budget.

What about discipline? She was over-compensating for the separation. Discipline had become lax and Johnny was playing one parent against the other. This is a common occurance in separations and one of the reasons it is imperative parents should continue to communicate re the children's needs, feelings and share problems. Visitations by the separated parent should not become a courtroom of questioning regarding the conversation between parent and children.

The next step was a session with mother and children together. What were the children's feelings: and together the response was "Mom is not happy, it's not the same at home. We understand the separation, but we want her to have fun too. Why does she never look pretty anymore?" They were truthful statements—maybe hurt a bit, but shocked Mom into reality. She joined a church group, Single Parents Association, and together, Mom and the children had a weekly social event.

Mrs. Y. is an intelligent woman, educated and able to explore possibilities of employment in her own field. She lacks self-confidence, but it is returning. The counselling sessions are continuing with Mrs. Y., and monthly with Mrs. Y. and the children. Peace and happiness are returning to this family. There is contentment and joy in Dad's visits and a greater acceptance of the separation.

The Family Counselling Centre has received enquiries about sources of referrals and confidentiality, which will be discussed next time.

Diocesan CWL welcomes new director at Glen Walter meeting

The celebration of mass by Rev. Bernard Guindon, assisted by Rev. Roch Bougie, preceded the CWL Diocesan meeting at Precious Blood Council in Glen Walter. Mrs. Therese Gaudet, diocesan president, chaired the meeting. Members were welcomed by the hostess president, Mrs. Guy Roy. Mrs. Gaudet introduced the newly appointed diocesan director, Rev. Roch Bougie. If interest and dedication is any indication, then the old saying, "As the director goes, so goes the Catholic Women's League," the members of the Alexandria-Cornwall Diocese, guided by their spiritual director, the pastor of Finch, will surely have a successful term ahead.

Father Bougie's message on "The Christian Family" was timely. "In order to improve the family we must begin by improving ourselves." Referring to television as the permanent guest in the home he said it insulates and separates us, it lessens communication between mother and child, reading is limited hence our vocabularly is void, leaving little time to think. Father Bougie suggested more strength at the parish council level, more thought to the reading of Scripture passages followed by reflection thereon.

Mrs. Kathleen McNaughton read a passage from Scripture. The minutes were read by Mrs. Beverley Kennedy, the roll call was taken by Mrs. Bernice Tessier and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Jeanina McCabe. Mrs. Gaudet then proceeded to give a report of the meetings she attended in Montreal, Kingston, and Renfrew. She urged the members to renew their interest in "The Cody Institute Scholarship" and "The Holy Father's Relief Fund". This year the league will be focusing its attention on "The Christian Family."

Mrs. McNaughton, Christian family life convener, encouraged the members to assist at the Priests' Day Mass at their specified time. She stressed the importance of attending "Cursillo" and "Marriage Encounter."

Miss Peggy Highley discussed the new "warmth" project to assist Sister Lefebvre at her three missions in Kenora, Ontario. She expressed her appreciation to the members for the knitted goods and blankets brought to the meeting. The response was far beyond her expectations and the goods will reach Sister for Christmas.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald, community life convener, reminded the members of their commitment to "Peace and Development." The funds raised which are matched by the federal government are used for "Pure Water" in the underdeveloped countries.

The film "The First Step" will be available to all Councils in January.

Mrs. Hilda Fox, convener of resolutions and legislation, urged the members to study the resolutions passed at the provincial and national conventions and to try to implement them at the parish level. She also encouraged the group to study the "Family Law Reform Act" and to avail themselves of all possible knowledge for the betterment of society.

Organization Convener, Mrs. Marion Haramis, noted the purpose of our program is to help us grow in love of God and our neighbor. She said through membership each of us has many opportunities to give good example and leadership in the formation of Christian attitudes. Communication convener, Mrs. Eileen Anderson, reminded us our role is vital in the image we present. Always stress the purpose for which a function is being held, e.g., a rose for Our Lady's Missionaries, a penny-a-day for the missions. Show appreciation to our editors for their publication of our reports.

Mrs. Theresa Quinn, Christian Family Life convener, reported on the workshop held in Renfrew. She stressed since the structured family—father, the breadwinner, mother, at home; is gradually disappearing, we must make every effort to strengthen family ties. She urged the members to support youth programs, Girl Guides and Scouts. A film entitled "Johnny Lingo" showing the influence of family members on each other followed. The discussion was led by Father Bougie, Therese Gaudet and Theresa Quinn.

Lunch was served by the CWL members of Precious Blood Parish.

1,848 reasons why we believe a Scotia Plan Loan is better.

1 Scotia Plan Loan approvals are fast.
Because the Scotia Plan Loan Officer you speak with has full authority to approve most loans on the spot. No need to check with computers or higher-ups.

2 You don't have to bank with us to borrow from us.
We want your loan business, no matter where you do your day-to-day banking. Mind you, we'd like to have that business too.

3 You can phone for a loan and get even faster service.
Call the Scotia Plan Loan Officer at our branch near you. If you've borrowed from us before, in most cases you can get an approval over the phone. If you haven't, you'll give us a chance to get most of the paperwork done by the time you drop in to sign.

4 We'll go into overtime to get your loan business.
If you can't visit us during banking hours, phone. We'll arrange a time that is convenient for both of us.

5 Approving loans is our business. Your reason for borrowing is yours.
Yes, a Scotia Plan Loan Officer will ask why you want the money. But that's because some loans (car loans, for example) can be approved more quickly than others, and the Loan Officer can save you some time.

6 Scotiabank has approved more than 5½ million consumer loans.
So when it comes to loans, we know what we're doing. We didn't get to be a leader in the field of consumer bank loans by turning people off or by letting them get into repayment plans that are too tough to handle.

7 to 1,848

Our 1,842 Scotia Plan Loan Officers.
Approving loans is their job. Each has been specially trained to put our money to work in the form of consumer loans. So you speak directly with someone trained in responsible lending, someone who is in business to approve loans. So when you think about a loan, think about a Scotia Plan Loan... and come to Scotiabank and grow with us.

Scotiabank has approved more than 5½ million consumer bank loans.

The GDHS Newsline

by Susan McLaughlin

This year's Blood Donor Clinic at the high school proved to be a great success. It was held on the afternoon of November 23 at GDHS. There was a great deal of participation from both students and teachers. In all, 345 people registered and 302 pints of blood were collected. Thanks to all those who came out and participated.

BOYS TRYING OUT FOR BASKETBALL

At this time, try-outs are being held for both the junior boys and senior boys basketball teams. We can look forward to some exciting games in the near future.

SURVEY CONCERNS AMERICAN INFLUENCE

The second survey on the people of this area concerns the effect of the United States on Canadian culture. Our lives are so filled with American television, magazines, and movies that it seems like what Canadian identity we do have left is in danger of being swallowed up by the American media. One History 550 group at GDHS set out to find how Glengarrians feel about the American cultural takeover, Canadian identity, and the preservation of Canadian culture.

The results were summed up by Robert Lemieux.

As the group had expected, most of those surveyed felt American television was generally better than Canadian television. However, several people mentioned the superiority of Canadian news and music shows. Most also felt that American movies were superior to their Canadian counterpart, but it was often mentioned that Canadian movies lacked proper financing and sufficient experience in the industry. More than half the people surveyed felt that Canadian magazines were as good as, if not better than, American magazines.

Most people knew what the CRTC (Canadian Radio and Television Commission) meant, but many disagreed with the "60% Canadian content" method of controlling our culture.

Many felt that the CRTC should be aiming to improve the quality of the Canadian media. In general, the problem of maintaining our individual identity amidst American influence was summed up by a question which the group was often asked; "What is the Canadian identity anyway?"

The solution which seems most logical is that the government should aim to improve the quality of the Canadian media. No concrete, earth-shattering revelations were reached as a result of the survey, but the group came to understand the thoughts and ideas of Glengarrians on American takeover.

GET WELL, MR. FRASER!

The students and staff of GDHS were sorry to learn of the illness of Stanley Fraser and wish him a very speedy recovery.

UCW report

The St. Andrew's United Church Women held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Pearl Thompson, Curry Hill.

"Peace" was the theme and an appropriate reading, written by Dr. McLellan, who visited our Canadian boys' graves in France, was read by Mrs. Robert Black.

Fourteen members attended and all the yearly reports up to date were submitted, and our president congratulated each officer for her good work and co-operation.

The December meeting is to be held the evening of December 15 at the home of Charlene Cusimano.

Funeral largely attended

A large congregation of relatives, friends, neighbors, fellow students and teachers, gathered at St. Andrew's United Church, Dalhousie Mills, on October 27, 1977 to pay tribute to their young friend, Gordie McNaughtan and to offer their sympathy to the family.

Rev. James Thompson led in worship, reading passages of Scripture and offering a comforting message of hope that death is not the end for our loved ones but a new beginning. Hymns sung during the service were favorites of Gordie's, and these were led by a combined choir of the charge. Mrs. Anna Margaret MacDonald, a long-time family friend, expressively read a poem "To All Parents," which although touching, left words of wisdom and comfort with all present. The recessional hymn played on the organ was "The Lord of the Dance" another favorite of Gordie's.

Pallbearers were close friends David McKay, Lance MacLeod, Emile Andre, Darryl McNaughtan, Paul and Donnie Smith of Hamilton.

James Gordan was born on June 7, 1961, the son of Duncan MacNaughtan and his wife Anne MacKenzie and is survived by six sisters, Myrna and Pamela of Vancouver, Deborah, Morag, Alison and Audrey at home.

Of a friendly, outgoing nature, Gordie was well liked by his Grade 12 classmates and teachers at Glengarry District High School which he had attended since completing Grade 7 at Cote St. George Public School.

A Scouting Group, St. Pie X NDSD of Verdun, who have camped on the family farm the last few years, have named Gordie an Honorary Scout because of his interest and participation in their group activities.

Iona News

by Andy McRae

ADVENT

The teachers and students of Iona are busy preparing for Christmas. Our Christmas concert will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 21, at one in the afternoon. All the parents are welcome.

VOCATION DAY

On Thursday, Nov. 23, the Grade 8 students of Iona went to Blessed Sacrament Church for a Vocation Day organized by Father Kevin Maloney and Sister Margaret Scanlan. Father Cameron was our host. Posters and essays were done in preparation for this day. The topics were "The priest, a man of service," and "A sister, a woman of our times." We all had an enjoyable day.

A CALL FROM THE WEST

The Grade 8 students recently received a letter from Premier Sterling Lyon of Manitoba. We had sent him letters to congratulate him on his success at the polls. Here is part of his letter: "To remain united, Canada needs the help of all its people, young and old, especially the young. Most importantly, Canada needs the support of its young people because they are the future of our nation."

THE ONLY WAY

Here is a poem which Debbie Sturkenboom found in "Today's Generation" magazine. We wish to share it with you.

"Unity is the Only Way"
People talk alike, think alike, look alike;
We love, hate, cry and laugh.
No matter what nationality, we all have our faults:
Selfish, impatient, brutal and stubborn.
If we are basically the same,
Why should language be our barrier?
For deep down, we all have hearts and souls.
We all have yearnings and failures.
Let not our culture and our language be our ax.
Let us not label one as being like this
And another as being like that.
But let us love and be loved
And keep the Canadiens and Canadians as one people; for Unity is the only Way!

Martintown Rumor Mill

Art Buckland—528-4261

The anniversary service to celebrate our 173rd year of continuous church worship in Martintown was a glorious event. The church was full and what a great thrill it was to hear the newly renovated edifice resound with the singing of that large throng. I hope the dust was not on pews I have never seen anyone sitting in in decades.

A kilted Reverend Edwin MacDonald shared this service with Miss Fraser (student minister at Apple Hill), and Reverend Kirker (Westmount St. Andrew's) whose sermon pointed out that we must build on old foundations. Mary Barkway (Line Road)—known for her talents in teaching music to area children and also for her patience and skill in teaching piano to the most thick thumbed (to name one area) of adult farmers and lumberjacks in our area—played the organ during the service. Thus 'twas a rare treat for regular organist Allison Murray (Line Road) to sit with husband Campbell and children and face the pulpit rather than listening to the sermon from the choir loft in full view of the back of the minister's head. Guest soloist Everett Rush of St. John's in Cornwall did an excellent job on his three hymns. Lunch afterwards, prepared and served by the ladies of the congregation, was a fine way to conclude the anniversary celebration.

Charlie Ferguson (the Branch) is looking for a better fit in a coat as a result of the anniversary celebrations, that is he would like his own blue Croyden coat back. Phone Charlie if you know the owner of the size 40 coat Charlie had to take because of the mixup. I remember decades ago at a party at Charlie's when we were all chasing after those young Ferguson girls, all the city boys got their cars stuck and Charlie (Mr. Ferguson then) came out with no coat and showed us how they drive on the Branch. Arrive late, leave early, for the best coat and rubbers, may be a pragmatic approach.

PHONE PROBLEMS

Apparently Ma Bell is suffering from the same illness as the post office. The more we pay her the less she is able to deliver the goods. One neighbor told us of incessant phone ringing without anyone there; he had to send a letter to relatives setting up appointments for phoning so that he would know when they were ringing and not the phantom. Another man stated that he had three phones but only one was effective. Should we follow his lead to assure telephone communication? Our phone stopped allowing people to phone us and restricted our calls to the local area. On three occasions my calls for help were answered by a lovely voice which said, "Your phone will be fixed tomorrow, sir." Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. When the man arrived, do you know how he fixed the line?—Why he gave the junction box a kick. Do you suppose it had received a knock earlier to cause the problem? Perhaps it was the time the wife threw the plant pot at me and missed, or perhaps the indoor hockey games or the time my wife dropped the load of firewood near that spot. Do we dare report to Ma that the upstairs bedroom extension doesn't work? Actually, we only seem to get calls for this one when we're downstairs, or in the bathtub or . . .

FILM AT SCHOOL

On Friday, Dec. 9, your Martintown Public School Committee will sponsor a family night movie, "Babes in Toyland." Parents are asked not to forget their children when they come out for this film.

SCHOOL MEETING

At a recent meeting of Martintown Public School parents, with Trustees Wes Libbey and Sam McLeod, a resolution was passed as follows: "The school board should not extend French teaching, ie status quo, until a majority of parents in Glengarry, Stormont and Dundas request it. The committee on French language education should be disbanded."

The parents were agreed that learning French is important but not to the extent of the proposed extended or immersion sections of the board's proposal. The board's white paper was not so white after that meeting.

A child's education is the important thing and this should include French, but must be considered surely as a means not an end. What could be more important for a school than a library and a librarian? Or one grade per class or shorter bus routes or more physical education?

Parents will be meeting Monday, Dec. 5, to prepare a brief for presentation at the board's Dec. 15 meeting on this issue. All interested and concerned are invited.

DEATH IN THE FAMILY

Two roving dogs killed Heidi, a housepet goat out at our place last week. Millard Grant (Grant's Corners) was saying that where you see two or more dogs—look out, it could mean trouble for a farmer. He was so right.

MAC'S PHILOSOPHY

Martintown Mac says that we should think of brotherhood as we approach the Christmas season.

OPENED FRIDAY—The official opening of Char-Lan Farm Equipment, located one mile east of Martintown, was held on Friday. The new business is a sales and service centre for Allis-Chalmers and is operated by Don Ross.

Martintown rejects board's white paper

SD&G County Board of Education's "white paper" on the teaching of French as a second language received a hostile reception at Martintown Public School last week.

Following the two-and-a-half-hour meeting, attended by Trustees Wes Libbey, Sam McLeod and local residents, the meeting adopted a resolution from the floor that "the position paper be withdrawn; the ad hoc committee disbanded and any attempt to further French instruction beyond what is now being taught in any of the Three United Counties public schools be abandoned until such time as the majority of the people residing in these counties express a desire to have such programs implemented."

The board's ad hoc committee has outlined three options for teaching French and had hoped it could at least get public support to increase the basic core program from 20 minutes to 40 minutes per day throughout the board area.

A large number of parents said children were having enough trouble learning English properly.

Some questioned the adequacy of instruction in the present French classes.

One parent said data is being compiled to prove that sudden immersion at the kindergarten level is confusing students and creating learning problems.

PIPE BAND BALL

The St. Andrew's Ball sponsored by the Glengarry Pipe Band was a success in spite of the snow. Jock Howells told me that under penalty of death he was restricted to two drinks. The bartender also had the orders, but between them they worked everything out scientifically: Scotch #1, Scotch #1A, Scotch #1B and so on.

COMING EVENTS

This weekend St. Andrew's is celebrated at Alexandria's Sports Palace with the Brigadoons. On Sunday it's the Cornwall Santa Claus Parade, without Cornwall's Richelieu Club if they are still pouting. Farmer Cain's horseflesh will be there.

Saturday, December 18 at 1 p.m., there will be a big Santa Claus Parade in Martintown, sponsored by the Martintown Recreation Committee. Santa will be at the Fire Hall to greet the children afterwards, thanks to the efforts of our Firefighting Crew. Prizes of $25, $15, $10, will be awarded to the winning floats. Any area group may enter; phone parade marshall Mr. Allis-Chalmers, alias Donnie Ross 528-4369.

Open house held at college this weekend

The Cornwall campus of St. Lawrence College and the Cornwall campus of the University of Ottawa are actively preparing to make Open House '77 as attractive, interesting and instructional as possible.

Residents of the United Counties will get a chance to visit both institutions on Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3.

All departments have prepared a series of displays and exhibits. The Trades and Technology Department, for instance, have organized various displays and demonstrations, ranging from a talking micro-computer to quicksand displays and to demonstrations of welding techniques; visitors will also see demonstrations of the various equipment used in the teaching of trades. As well, many experiments have been planned by faculty and students of the Technology Department, and should prove interesting to the public.

The Business and Arts Department is also very active in preparing displays, exhibits and demonstrations. Visual and Creative Arts classes will be in action, with demonstrations in the art of jewelry making, sculpture, drawing, etc.

Films will also be shown on marketing, accounting and other business related programs. A model store will be in operation as visitors will get a chance to start their Christmas shopping early.

After visiting Aultsville, Wales and Moulinette Halls, visitors will be able to relax in the student lounge where coffee will be served free, courtesy of the Student Government.

Open House represents a living and learning experience. So why not come live and learn with us? On December 2 and 3.

At November meeting

House logs studied by Dunvegan WI

The November meeting of the Dunvegan WI was held on Nov. 24 at 8 p.m. in Dunvegan WI Hall. The roll call, "Name a song that was popular in your school days," brought out oldies such as "Red Wing" "Harbor Lights" and "White Cliffs of Dover." It was answered by 14 members and two visitors.

Mrs. Dan MacRae, president, extended the welcome to all. The motto, "You may not be ready for the scrap heap, but your years are showing if . . . you remember when a letter could travel for three cents, a loaf of bread cost eight cents, you remember when a barber gave three crew cuts in a row," was commented upon by Mrs. Ian MacLeod.

An invitation was extended to all parents, friends, WI members and other group members, to the 4-H Club Achievement Day to be held in Glengarry District High School at 1:15 p.m. on Dec. 10, 1977.

Mrs. Eunice Nixon and Mrs. Linda Heinsma, together with the girls served us a lovely dinner at the home of Mrs. Nixon.

Mrs. Leslie MacKinnon and Mrs. John Loewen attended a home economics course, "Salute to Vegetables" on October 26 and 27 in Alexandria. The first Branch demonstration was held in Dunvegan WI Hall on Nov. 15, the next one will be held in the hall on Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. Hope to see all members there.

A memo to all members: Your gifts to the Smiths Falls Hospital should be at Dunvegan post office by Dec. 9, 1977. Our next euchre party will be held in Dunvegan WI Hall on Dec. 5, 1977 at 8:30 p.m.

The topic for the evening was in the capable hands of our curator, Mrs. N. M. MacLeod (Skye) and her assistants. Mrs. R. B. MacPhee gave us a talk on the old schoolhouse in Dunvegan and Mrs. Peggi Colder discussed house logs, that is, a history of the house.

This could include who built the house, type of construction, site location, births, deaths and marriages of the past and present inhabitants, and any relevant data pertaining to the house. It is recommended that the book, of durable quality, be chained to the bannister or other suitable place.

We would ask of the readers formerly from Dunvegan or still resident, if they have any pictures of the Dunvegan Young Britons or Dunvegan Orange Lodge, which they would be willing to donate or make a photostat copy, for the Dunvegan Tweedsmuir History Book, in the care of Mrs. N. M. MacLeod (Skye).

Excellent slides were shown, courtesy of Miss Christena Ferguson, of houses past and present in Dunvegan; some gone, some renovated and some still in their original state. Our thanks to the ladies for their hard research with this program.

A report was given from the Eastern Ontario Convention, Nov. 22nd and 23rd, held at the Talisman Motor Hotel, Ottawa, by Mrs. Leslie MacKinnon. This year's theme was "United we stand." Miss McGhee, director of home economics, stressed that as individuals we have no power to speak; but in the WI we have the mechanism to spread information, especially through resolutions, public relations officers, the FWIO and provincial board, and can exert influence through such channels.

Glen Sandfield

Mrs. Lorna Chapman
874-2408

Belated congratulations to J.K. and Judy Robinson (Massia) on the recent arrival of a baby daughter, Angela Laurie, 5 lbs. 13 oz., at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. Another beautiful granddaughter for Eva and Dan Massia.

There will be a White Gift Service at Glen Sandfield United Church on Dec. 11th at 11:15 a.m., with the UCW ladies and Sunday School children taking part. During the service the children will take up their gifts of winter woollens and decorate the mitten tree. Then, until Christmas Eve the tree will remain in the vestibule for any more contributions for the Sandy Lake Indian Reservation.

Just a quick reminder to the ladies of the area who belong to the "39'ers" group in Alexandria. The Christmas dinner is scheduled for the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 15th at 1 p.m. They would like to be seated for 1:30.

We now have a hidden intersection sign at the corner, coming north. Surely it is about time we did something about the speed limit. Down to about 20 miles or 35 kilometres per hour would be about right; and how about a four-way stop sign? You take your life in your hands coming out of the sideroads. Particularly from the easterly direction.

MOOSE CREEK

Mrs. Harold Munroe of Smiths Falls spent last week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lynden Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Baker of Kingston spent the weekend at their home at Moose Creek East.

Mrs. Donald Urquhart, Miss Grace Urquhart and Mrs. Murdie MacLean visited last Saturday with Miss Muriel Duguid of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boisvenue of Ottawa spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Villeneuve and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boisvenue, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. George Villeneuve spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Marleau and family at Southampton, Ontario.

WMS MEETING

The November meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek was held in the home of Mrs. Arthur Blair. Mrs. Angus Bethune, president, opened the meeting by welcoming all present and giving the opening prayer.

Mrs. Alex McLean was appointed to record the minutes of the meeting. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Arthur Blair, after which Mrs. Ezekiel Blair gave an interesting scripture lesson. The message from the Glad Tidings was given by Mrs. Angus Bethune. The offering was collected and dedicated. The roll call was answered. Mrs. Murdie MacLean, treasurer, presented the financial report.

The December meeting will be held in "The Manse" on Thursday evening, December 1, at 8 p.m. A hymn was sung and the closing prayer was given by Mrs. George Robertson. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Blair.

Martintown WI study agriculture

Thirty-two members and three visitors were welcomed to the November meeting of Martintown Women's Institute, held at the home of Mrs. Mary Murray. The president presided, opening the meeting in the customary manner with the ode and collect. Roll call "My Pet Beef" brought out a variety of responses, many practical and others humorous.

A letter of thanks was read from Char-Lan High for the Branch's donation to the highest student in home economics.

The president reminded members that the short course "Salute to Vegetables" would be given sometime in January. Members were also invited to attend a "Rug Demonstration" to be held Dec. 1, 8 p.m., St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lancaster, also that the 4-H Achievement Day is to be held Saturday, December 10, at 1:15 p.m., in the Glengarry District High School, featuring "The Third Meal."

An educational presentation of the agricultural situation in Canada was given by Mrs. Sylvia Thomson. Titled "Test your shopping dollars and cents," a few facts brought out were: 1. Food prices were down in 1976, from 1975. 2. In the western world, only Americans get cheaper food than Canadians. 3. Contrary to popular opinion, marketing boards are operated by farmers and not government bodies.

Mrs. Onagh Ross, as Program Director, had a game called "Eyeball Benders." Members found they had to be gifted with a great deal of imagination and good eyesight to figure this one out. Needless to say, the game was most interesting and greatly enjoyed, winner being Mrs. Margaret Emond.

The December meeting will be held on the 15th, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Helen MacMillan. Roll call "Exchange of gifts and gift for the Smiths Falls"; program 'Public Relations-Pot luck'.

Mrs. Margaret Emond thanked Mrs. Mary Murray for the use of her home and hostesses Mrs. Jenny McLennan, Mrs. Susan Clark, Mrs. Jean Thomson and Mrs. Gert McIntosh for the lovely lunch served.

Bainsville WI profits from OMAF course

Nine of the 12 Women's Institute members of Bainsville Branch, who agreed to attend the course "Salute to Vegetables" met at the home of the leader, Mrs. Harold Fourney, last week.

Booklets were passed around and while Mrs. Fourney demonstrated preparing several recipes, her assistant, Mrs. John Cusimano was in the kitchen popping scrumptuous dishes in and out of the oven.

At noon lunch was served and prompted many compliments.

An educational afternoon was spent answering a quizz prepared by the leaders on vegetables. All members appreciate the booklet and several circulars on canning and deep freezing, donated by the Dept. of Agriculture and Food. Before concluding the course, Mrs. Fred Ager, president of Bainsville WI, thanked the leaders.

Public relations is everyone's business says Sam Hill

"What do you seek and try to give in a friendship?" was the roll call at the November meeting of the Bainsville Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. D. A. Condie, Cornwall, and 19 members and five guests answered in various ways. Loyalty, honesty and cheerfulness were high on the list, an open ear and sealed lips were mentioned, but it was evident that these ladies were more concerned with what they could give in an effort to show friendship rather than what they would receive. Public Relations was the theme of this meeting and it was carried out further in the motto, "Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy" which was ably commented upon by Mrs. Harold Fourney.

The president, Mrs. F. Ager, reminded us that Saturday, Dec. 10, had been set aside for the Glengarry 4-H Achievement day and she, as leader of this last club, expressed her disappointment in the number of girls who had participated. It would appear that the 4-H Homemaking Clubs, although appealing to the girls and certainly, very beneficial, do require a vast amount of paper work with which many of the girls do not seem able to cope along with school work. Mrs. Ager suggested that, perhaps, it is time for the Ministry to review the 4-H programs and their requirements and she will make her views known to Miss Michels, our Home Economist.

Mrs. C. T. Upton, district secretary of FWIO, reported that there are at present three vacancies at the area level—the two members qualifying declined nomination at this time.

A white cross with poppies was brought forward at this time and Mrs. Ager read the memorable words of Dr. John McRae in "Flanders Fields"—the ladies stood for one minute in silent tribute to those who had lost their lives in the fight for freedom in the two great wars.

The chairman announced that plans were now finalized to have Mrs. Brattengeir demonstrate the art of hooking rugs. The secretary was requested to invite all WI groups in the area to attend this evening and it was agreed that there would be no charge made but that a silver collection would held defray the expenses

Mrs. G. E. Urquhart, public relations officer, introduced our guest speaker for the afternoon, Sam Hill, District Supervisor, Ontario Travel Information Centres. Mr. Hill, a very personable man and obviously well suited to his task of promoting tourism in the Seaway Valley area gave an informative and often amusing address. He reminded us that in human relations, "look after the little things and the big things will look after themselves." It is the smile of a waitress, the courtesy of a sales clerk, the availability of facilities for the comfort of a tourist which make the difference. In other words, public relations is everyone's job and "every citizen should become a goodwill ambassador and never lose the opportunity to promote our product —"namely that our area and our country is a great place to visit, again and again!"

As lunch was served by our hostesses, Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. I. McIntosh, a cup bearing the tartan of one of Canada's finest regiments, The Black Watch, had been marked and Mrs.

St. Lawrence WI held auction

The regular monthly meeting of St. Lawrence WI was held at the home of Mrs. A. Prieur.

Mrs. Donald McMaster presided. Fourteen members were present.

The Area Convention at the Talisman Inn, Ottawa, is to be held on Nov. 22 and 23. Mrs. McMaster is the Branch Delegate.

Plans were made for Christmas gifts to be given to the children and adults at Harmony Glen School in Alexandria.

The St. Lawrence Branch designated a donation to the Legion for a wreath to be placed at the Cenotaph on Nov. 13 in honor of Armistice Day.

Games were played at the close of the meeting and prizes were won by: Mrs. H. McDonald, Mrs. Alice Prieur, Mrs. H. J. Graham, Mrs. Donald McMaster and Mrs. Y. LeBlanc.

Various articles which were donated by branch members to be auctioned for money to be used for a bus trip in 1978.

Control illness

by Dennis McKnight,
Lecturer, K.C.A.T.

Mastitis is a recurrent problem in many dairy herds. It costs producers more money in lost production than most realize. Many would undoubtedly be surprised to learn that it was costing them $100 to $150 per cow per year. According to Dr. G. Fisher, Head of the Veterinary Services Laboratory in Kemptville, 97 per cent of the losses due to mastitis are not readily visible. Only through quarter sampling and laboratory test can a producer be sure of detecting mastitis and knowing which organisms are involved.

The following list, if followed closely, should give a good mastitis control: 1) Remove two or three streams of foremilk from each quarter and examine for abnormalities. A strip cup is a valuable tool for doing this.

2) Wash the udder with a warm sanitizing solution and dry with a single service paper towel. Some producers have found that newspaper works satisfactorily.

3) Attach the teat cups approximately one minute after washing, or when the teats are full of milk.

4) Machine strip when the milk flow slows (usually three to four minutes), but don't overmilk.

5) Immediately after milking, use a recommended teat dip.

6) Treat all clinical cases of mastitis.

7) Use a recommended dry cow treatment.

8) Use the California Mastitis Test (CMT) at monthly intervals.

9) Have the milking system checked twice a year by a qualified service man.

10) Quarter sample the herd at least once a year and more often if a flare-up has occurred. Treat as recommended.

A MUSICAL NOTE—Arnold Munro represented the Glengarry Pipe Band in its donation of $525 towards the construction of the Maxville and District Sports Complex. The presentation was made to Bill Campbell, chairman of the board of the complex, at the band's annual St. Andrew's Ball, Nov. 26. Staff photo-Sherratt

John Alexander MacLeod died at Dunvegan (Skye)

A widely known resident of Dunvegan (Skye) area throughout his lifetime, John Alexander MacLeod passed away on Nov. 18 at his home.

Born January 19, 1910, in Caledonia Township, a descendant of one of the pioneer families in the area, he was the son of the late Rory Wm. MacLeod and his wife Margaret MacCrimmon. He was the fourth generation living on the farm where he spent his entire life.

His sudden passing has cast sorrow over the community, where he was well known, a good neighbor and friend.

He is survived by two sisters, Penelope, Mrs. Rory MacGillivray of Alexandria, and Mary Catherine, Mrs. John D. MacLeod of Skye. He was predeceased by two brothers, James N. and Donald N. MacLeod.

The largely attended funeral was held at Munro's Funeral Home on Monday, November 21 at 2 p.m. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Iver MacIver, who brought a comforting message to the bereaved family. Interment was in Dunvegan cemetery.

The pallbearers were Archie MacRae, John Keith MacLeod, William K. MacLeod, Ross Fraser, Wallace MacIntosh and Ian D. Stewart.

Canadian Cancer Society goes over the top

The Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society exceeded its 1977 objective of $7.5 million by more than $30,000, it was reported by Donald W. Insley, president, at the Division's Annual Meeting held November 18 at the Hotel Toronto.

Outlining the society's use of these monies, Mr. Insley mentioned the opening of a "superlative" new cancer clinic in Kingston, a structure made possible through the donation of Cancer Society funds solicited by volunteers.

He continued: "One of the actions of the finance committee was the pleasant task of transmitting to Queen's University in Kingston the sum of $554,000 for the establishment of a Cancer Research Unit, scheduled to open in October, 1978."

The president also mentioned that a sub-committee of the Medical Advisory Committee has been established to deal with the special problems of the cancer patient in his relationships with family, friends, nurses and doctors. In recent years the Ontario Division has authorized an expenditure of funds for the training of professionals to assist them in their contacts with cancer patients.

"Now we are urged to organize discussion groups composed not only of patients and professionals, but also friends and family and other patients," said Mr. Insley. "This is an important new facet of our work in the interests of the cancer patient."

George A. Irvine of Toronto was elected president to succeed Mr. Insley.

Accepting funds for India relief

The Canadian Red Cross Society has sent $20,000 to India, where at least 12,000 people have died, hundreds of villages have been destroyed and an estimated $625 million of damage done to crops, homes and properties by what has been called India's worst cyclone disaster of this century.

The Canadian government also announced today it is donating $200,000 through the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) to be channelled through the Canadian Red Cross Society for relief work.

Concerned Canadians wishing to help India cyclone victims may send their cheques or money orders to any Canadian Red Cross branch, or to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 95 Wellesley Street East, Toronto, Ontario M4Y 1H6, marked for "India Cyclone Relief." Tax-deductible receipts will be issued.

Counties centre proposed

The Ministry of Community and Social Services has approved in principle a developmental services centre for the mentally retarded in the five eastern counties.

The proposal is geared to mentally retarded persons in Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell.

The plan calls for decentralization of services from Brockville to Cornwall. Phase one of the project is estimated to cost $800,000 and consists of establishing five developmental services units (one per county) with one, possibly in Cornwall, encompassing a central administrative-program co-ordination, establishing three group homes and one core residence for a maximum of 20 people providing care for severely retarded people.

The proposal is expected to create 20 jobs in Cornwall and a total of 80 for the five counties.

About 150 people from the eastern counties are currently in institutions in Brockville and Smith's Falls. The idea would be to provide services locally.

The proposal is the brainchild of a steering committee formed of ministry representatives, social workers and representatives from several mental retardation organizations in the five eastern counties.

The committee, in its proposal, argues that community centred approaches allow for more growth and development than institutions.

The committee says the plan could play a significant role in reducing retardation caused by socio-economic and cultural depravation.

At least 75 per cent of all retardation cases are caused by such depravation, the committee says.

Estimated annual operating costs for the centre could reach $1 million.

Mercury down

Mercury levels in the St. Lawrence River appear to be on their way down, according to provincial Environment Minister George Kerr.

Kerr said a recent report shows a decline in levels around Cornwall between 1970 and 1975.

The report says that reductions in mercury emissions from two Cornwall industries, Canadian Industries Ltd. and Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., have led to the decline.

In 1970, mercury levels in river sediment were traced from the source in Cornwall to an area about 20 kilometres downstream.

Kerr said mercury tracings now have been reduced to an area about 11 kilometres downstream.

Counties Lung Association has objective of $30,000

Although tuberculosis has been practically eradicated in Canada, diseases and disorders of the lungs remain a serious problem. For this reason the Christmas Seal campaign remains a worthy cause. The campaign is conducted annually in Cornwall and the United Counties by Eastern Counties Lung Association. Their objective this year is $30,000 and the campaign will run through to Jan. 31, 1978.

Funds from this campaign go towards research, medical and public health education and other programs designed to prevent and control lung disease. Anti-smoking clinics are conducted, asthma conditioning classes are provided along with similar efforts on behalf of those suffering with emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

The number of people suffering from lung cancer has been increasing at an alarming rate in recent years. Most doctors agree that the majority of victims are heavy smokers, for this reason the Lung Association's anti-smoking efforts are most important.

Please take time to answer your Christmas Seal letter. You can help in the fight against the "Lung Cripplers."

"It's a matter of life and breath."

High prices seen for forage seed

Alfalfa seed will sell at over $2.50 per pound and trefoil seed over $3.00 according to the Canadian Seed Trade Association. Even timothy is expected to go over $1.50 per pound.

Brome is acutely short, in fact supplies are the lowest since 1946. Canadian certified seed is almost non-existent. Red clover seed is also in short supply particularly in Ontario produced seed. We had the seed but not the weather to harvest it.

It's the bottom of the cycle of low forage seed acreage added to very poor harvesting weather. Much of the Canadian produced grass and alfalfa seed comes from the prairies. Better grain markets have reduced acreage to allow grain production.

Shortages on a world wide scale has resulted in considerable export of forage seed.

Factors contributing to Ontario spot shortages could be a switch out of corn with current corn prices next year. A fairly open fall in much of Ontario has resulted in sizeable acreages of land being plowed.
