ARENA WILL NOT OPEN AFTER COUNCIL REJECTION

Directors Decide To Sell Gardens Will Not Be Opened

Faced by Town Council's Tuesday decision to forego action on a community take-over of Glengarry Gardens, directors of the arena met last night and came to two decisions:

The arena will not be opened for the winter season;

Every effort will be made to sell or lease it at once, for whatever purpose.

All members of the directorate were present at last night's meeting except Lloyd McHugh who was attending an EODA meeting in Brockville. The decisions were made unanimously.

Contacted following the meeting, a spokesman for the arena owners reported they were shocked and disgusted by the attitude of the council.

"It had already been decided that the citizens of Alexandria would have the final say on purchase of the arena," he pointed out. "Why then should four or five members of council decide arbitrarily that the people should not be allowed the privilege of voting yes or no on the question"?

Some members of council have been less than lukewarm to this centennial plan, he inferred; and they are using these estimates of costs as an excuse to ditch the entire idea. "Some of these same councillors who now find $70,000 spread over 10 years, impractical", he recalled, "are the very ones who a few months ago suggested we spend $70,000 on a new police station."

In view of this development, the arena spokesman declared, our directors have lost all interest in plans to re-open this winter. The public should have had an opportunity to say whether or not they wanted the Gardens to remain.

CENTRE OF CONTROVERSY—We can't afford to take over the Glengarry Gardens as a community centre say members of council. Other citizens think Alexandria can't afford to lose its arena. Our editorial on page 2 was written before council made its startling about face Tuesday night. We still maintain past grievances and petty politics should not enter the picture.

No Seconder For Motion When Council Finds Estimated Costs Not Practicable

Alexandria's centennial planning was left high and dry Tuesday night when Town Council decided it would be impracticable at this time.

After two hours of discussion no seconder could be found for a motion by Councillor J. P. Touchette to give first reading to the by-law authorizing council to put the plan before the voters on December 7th. Councillor Touchette was chairman of the committee named to further plans for the project.

In refusing to proceed with the steps leading to the December 7th referendum, Council reversed its stand of September 1st when approval was voted to purchase Glengarry Gardens as a centennial Community Centre. At that time it was decided to hold a referendum at the same time as the municipal elections in December when the taxpayers would be asked to approve the project.

Councillor Bruno Pigeon cast the only dissenting vote at that time.

Tuesday night Mayor Raymond Periard made no comment. Reeve Lloyd McHugh felt unable to vote on the question due to the fact he is a director of the Gardens. Councillor Sam Brunet was absent and all other councillors refused to second the motion for first reading.

The consensus of their opinions as recorded in the minutes was that "although there was a need for a recreation centre, that our obligations to provide sewer and water services to encourage industries and the development of our town within the next year, estimated at close to $65,000, would render purchase of the arena impractical at this time."

Councillor Bruno Massie suggested that council meet with the Gardens' directors to discuss a possible increase in grants by the town and surrounding municipalities who make use of the arena. This idea was endorsed by other councillors.

The lengthy discussion on the centennial plans followed a report on estimates by local builders of the cost of adding public library and lounge facilities to the front of the arena. Excluding cost of books and furnishings for the library and lounge and later costs of maintenance and administration, two contractors had estimated the cost at in excess of $70,000. This sum included the $50,000 purchase price.

These estimates were much higher than had been anticipated and led to the lengthy discussion and the decision to take no action.

Earlier council had heard by invitation from Bruno Lalonde who had reported on the condition of the ice-making plant at the Gardens. The machine is seven years old but in good condition, Mr. Lalonde declared. The complete ice-making plant is in good mechanical order, he felt, and no large expense may be expected other than normal maintenance.

We Have Put The Country To Work Resources Minister Tells Liberals

Hon. Arthur Laing, Minister of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources addressed approximately 75 members of the Glengarry Liberal Association at their annual meeting last night in Alexander Hall.

G. G. Aubry, president and C. C. Fraser, English secretary, were re-elected unanimously. Mr. Aubry and Mr. Fraser expressed appreciation and both stated they would resign from these positions next year as they felt "a change of blood at the top would be a good thing for the Association". They have been in office since 1958. Roger Roy was elected unanimously as French secretary to replace Bruno Carriere who has moved to Montreal.

Seated on the platform with the president and secretaries were the Hon. Arthur Laing and Mr. Gibson of Ottawa who accompanied him, Viateur Ethier, MP, William J. Major, Dr. D. J. Dolan and John MacLennan.

Election of Vice-Chairman and Poll Chairmen for each municipality took place.

Viateur Ethier, MP, pointed out a few of the improvements made in the farming industry during the 18 months the Liberals have been in power. He stated that the butter carry-over had been reduced by millions of pounds and that grants totalling $60,000 had been given to the Glengarry and Prescott cheese manufacturers.

Mr. Ethier introduced the guest speaker, the Hon. Arthur Laing who said "We have a record of which we can be proud. We are in the difficult position of not possessing a majority but Liberal times will always be good times due to the faith we have in our tremendous resources."

Mr. Laing pointed out that unemployment is at the lowest level since 1956; that when the Liberals went into power Canada owed Great Britain and the U.S. $750,000,000—this has been paid back; family allowances have been increased and extended to the age of 18 for students; old age pensions have been increased to $75 per month and he said there would soon be an increase in veterans' pensions.

"We have put the country to work again and have established confidence which is growing greater each day" said the speaker. "Every single thing we have in Canada is in a seller's market today. Many of the natural resources in other countries are dwindling and they will look to Canada for resources to keep going. We have to be wise in our decisions to protect our interests and resources."

Mr. Laing said "No province can operate independently of Canada, a strong national government is necessary. We must be one united nation and if we are, the future of Canada is very, very great and the best asset the Liberal Government has today is Mike Pearson. Continue to support a man who has your interests at heart and who, by his reasonable approach to problems, will give you the representation you want."

The speaker was thanked by Mr. Major.

To Be "At Home" On Golden Date

Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. (Hughie Philip) MacDonald of Apple Hill, celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on November 15th when they will be "At Home" to friends in afternoon and evening.

Mrs. MacDonald is the former Mary Belle MacLennan of Apple Hill.

Hunter's Car Damaged By Blast

Hunters were more plentiful than deer this week as nimrods flocked to the Glengarry countryside during the four-day Open Season on deer. Quite a few kills were reported and one close call for hunters.

The rear window of a car was reportedly shot out by the blast of a shotgun which discharged as a local man was climbing into the car. Luckily there was no one in the back seat and no casualties except the car.

In Taxi Business

Gerald McGillis, Alexandria, is now in the taxi business, he having purchased the business of Jos. Lefebvre, veteran Glen Robertson taxi driver.

SD&G's Remain But Alexandria Loses 'D' Company

The SD&G Highlanders have survived Defence Minister Paul Hellyer's cutbacks in Canada's militia. But Alexandria is to lose "D" Company which will be consolidated with the rest of the unit in Cornwall.

Lieut.-Col. John Mullineux, OC, was in Ottawa last night to receive a full briefing on the changes. Captain Euclide Forgues of Chesterville, commanding "D" Company, could not be reached at the local Armouries where weekly drill was underway.

The NCO in charge had no word on the new developments and could not inform us whether the local Armouries would be permanently closed.

"D" Company has an over-all strength of 44 officers and men. This includes five effective officers and 32 effective men, one non-effective officer and six non-effective men.

An effective officer or man is one who attends parades on a regular basis. A non-effective classification is designated to an officer or man with spotty attendance.

Current strength of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in Cornwall, as of September 30, was 19 effective officers, 165 effective men of all ranks, and 16 non-effective men for an over-all total of 200.

Mr. Hellyer ordered re-organization of the reserve army as part of the government's economy drive to cut defence spending.

Commenting on the move Lt.-Col. John Mullineux said he is most gratified that the unit has been retained as a major militia regiment in the Canadian Army's reserve organization.

"The members of D Company in Alexandria will be invited to come to parades in Cornwall and will be more than welcome," he said.

The role of the Glengarrians as part of the country's militia strength will not change, according to Lt. A. E. King, army public relations officer at area headquarters in Kingston. Lt. King stated the SD & G Highlanders will perform four primary roles along with other militia units.

Their primary role will be to provide support for the regular army and form the framework for logistic and special units. Nation-wide this will require a strength of 9,000 officers and men.

The second role will be to provide a training force to support regular army field forces in a time of emergency and have trained reinforcements ready to supplement regular army units. This will require 18,000 officers and men from across Canada.

The third role will be for internal security purposes, the guarding of key installations in time of emergency, requiring a strength of 2,500 officers and men.

National survival makes up the fourth role of the militia which will require 1,500 officers and men.

This makes a total requirement of 30,000 officers and men, as laid down in the defence minister's report.

As a unit of major classification, the new strength of the Glengarrians will be some 300 officers and men.

Start Installing Looms On Monday

Another 54 men were hired for Square C Textiles this week and the first looms will be moved into the huge weaving shed Monday if the weather is favorable.

Rapid progress is being made on the dye house and equipment is being erected even as the finishing touches are put on the building.

Square C officials were here this week to sign on 24 more men for the weaving shed and 30 for the dye house. They will get on the job training. Another 27 men have been receiving training for several months at the Joliette and Ste. Hyacinthe plants.

EODA Citation Carnation Plant

An industrial award of merit was awarded the Carnation Company's Alexandria plant at yesterday's meeting of the Eastern Ontario Development Association in Brockville.

There to receive it was the plant superintendent C. W. Mutchler, who attended the meeting with Reeve Lloyd McHugh and Councillor J. P. Touchette.

Among other points brought out in the award of merit are the fact that this is the only Carnation plant in Canada producing powdered milk for the domestic and world trade. It is also the most modern of its kind in North America.

Presenting the citation to Mr. Mutchler were Hon. Stanley Randall, Minister of Economics, Toronto, and Ray Mucklestone, EODA president.

Messrs. McHugh and Touchette are members of town council's Industrial Committee which recommended the award.

Joins U.S. Navy

Dan Yates, 19, left yesterday for Albany, N.Y., from where he was to fly to Chicago to report at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station for service with the U.S. Navy. In general service tests for admission Dan scored 87, well above the 70 average.

A son of Cecil Yates, superintendent of the local Brown Shoe plant, and Mrs. Yates, Dan has been employed in the Alexandria plant for the past two years since graduating from high school in Jonesborough, Arkansas.

Friends tendered him a farewell party Tuesday night at the home of Bruce Poleet.

Two Wolves Shot Near Williamstown

Elmer Meek of the Street Road, three miles east of Grant's Corners, reported Friday he had shot two wolves within the past few days.

One was a pup and the other a mature animal.

"One of my sheep was killed some time ago, also a neighbor's calf. And I think the wolves were responsible," said Mr. Meek.

He will collect a $25 bounty on each wolf.

Suffered Fatal Seizure Sunday

George Gill, 52, of Dunvegan, suffered a fatal heart seizure, Sunday, while driving his tractor. He was pronounced dead by Dr. John Mutch of Maxville, who was called.

Mr. Gill had been in apparent good health and word of his tragically sudden death came as a shock to family and friends.

Born in Lancashire, England, Mr. Gill came to Canada in 1924 and some 20 years ago came to reside in the Third Kenyon. Three years ago he moved to the farm on the eastern outskirts of Dunvegan where his death occurred.

To mourn he leaves his wife, the former Wanda Antochuk and two children, George of Toronto and Ann of Brockville. Two brothers and three sisters also survive: Dan Gill, Fourth Kenyon; Jack Gill, St. Eustache, Que.; Mrs. Ernest Kercher, New Glasgow, Que.; Mrs. Paul Chiarella, Montreal, and Mrs. Harry Golsby, Ottawa.

The funeral was held yesterday at 2 p.m. from his late home to Kenyon Church and cemetery, Dunvegan.

Check Two Cases Of Vandalism

No incidents were reported in Alexandria Hallowe'en night. Chief Marius Dubeau had extra men on duty but he reports everyone was well behaved.

Ontario Provincial Police at Lancaster are continuing investigation into two incidents of vandalism which occurred Hallowe'en night.

At Martintown, pranksters turned vandals and caused slight damage to 10 tombstones in the United Church cemetery. And at Separate School No. 12 near Glen Robertson, another group of pranksters smashed 20 windows in the school building.

Police said one of the tombstones at Martintown was damaged when the pranksters moved the stones from their bases. However, it is believed all the stones can be repaired.

Lancaster police also reported the usual number of typical Hallowe'en pranks such as moving small bridges, outdoor lavatories and farm machinery.

New Bridges Opened

Two new bridges linking the west end of Montreal island to the mainland at Dorion were officially opened to traffic Tuesday.

The older Galipeault and Taschereau bridges, parallel to the new ones, will be closed temporarily for renovation.

St. Eugene Girl Drowns In Ditch When Trapped By Toppling Tractor

Linda Joan Capron, 13, drowned in a bizarre accident Sunday afternoon when she and her young brother were taking cows from one field to another.

The girl was a passenger on a tractor on the family farm at RR 1 St. Eugene. Her brother Winston, 10, was driving. The children were moving cows from one pasture to another.

As the tractor went down an embankment it rolled over into a gulley. Linda's foot caught in the machinery and trapped her, unconscious, with her head in a pool of water.

Rockland coroner Dr. W. C. Tweedie said the girl died of suffocation. There will be no inquest. The boy was treated at the Smith Clinic for a cut over his left eye.

The accident took place about a half mile from the family home. Winston ran back to tell his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Capron, who brought the girl's body home in the family car.

Linda was the oldest of five children.

Progress Being Made On New Hospital

With the new hospital administrator, Eric R. Gale, acting as guide, the editor made a tour of the new hospital, Tuesday afternoon, and was able to get a good idea of what the finished institution will be like.

Heat had been turned on for the first time that day and one of the two oil installations was more than adequate for the slow heating required to dry out the newly plastered walls.

Carpenters were busy fitting interior doors and other sub-contractors were laying tile flooring. The lay-out of operating rooms, reception and bedrooms on the top floor, the many service rooms below was explained, and we grew progressively more impressed with the compact hospital we are to have early in the new year.

Prizes And Certificates Presented At Exercises Of St. Maria Goretti

The annual graduation exercises of St. Maria Goretti Academy were held Sunday, October 25, in Sacred Heart Church at 4 p.m. Rev. Paul Lapierre celebrated Mass and preached the Graduation sermon.

After the Mass, a Marian ceremony was conducted at the altar of the Blessed Virgin. The graduates then gathered on the stage of Sacred Heart Hall for commencement exercises. Rev. Lionel Bourque presided. Miss Louise Filion gave the salutatory address. Alexandre Deschamps, inspector of Separate Schools, presented the certificates. Graduation presentations were also made to worthy students.

Misses Louise Lalonde and Ghislaine Routhier were the winners of special awards. Honors also went to Rosemarie Sicard, Christiane Legault and Ginette Lortie. Other members of the graduating class were Pauline Asselin, Madeleine Larocque, Patricia Leblanc, Lorraine Leroux, Margaret Regan, and Cecile St.-Denis.

The Academy choir sang: "La Fontaine" and "Our Prayer for You".

The Valedictory address was given in French by Miss Ghislaine Routhier and in English by Miss Rosemarie Sicard.

In his address, Father Bourque reminded the graduates of the importance of their vocation as Christians. He recalled the benefits conferred upon them by the gift of Baptism, a Christian training in the home, followed by religious formation in the schools and in the Academy.

ATTENDED SEMINAR — Miss Linda LeBlanc, a grade 12 student at Iona Academy, St. Raphael's recently represented her school at a United Nations weekend seminar held at Waterloo University, Waterloo, Ont. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. LeBlanc, Cornwall, Linda was the only representative from area schools at the seminar.

From Scotland, By Way Of Ireland And London, The Wanderers Return

We shall bring this travelogue to a close by taking you from Loch Katrine and the Trassachs, where we left you last week, all the way back to Alexandria.

We returned to Balloch a small town at the foot of Loch Lomond some 18 miles from Glasgow. We stayed at a nearby small roadside inn, the quiet, comfortable type that you find hither and yon in Scotland.

We had some shopping to do in Glasgow so to avoid traffic and parking problems we used the commuter trains. Glasgow, like most cities, has the traditional square and here it is known as George Square. Again you find several monuments as is the custom. Among those remembered we noted in particular those of Sir Walter Scott, Robbie Burns and the historical political leaders, William Gladstone and Sir Robert Peel, who was a free trade crusader.

The shipbuilding yards along the Clyde at Glasgow remind one of the paper mills in St. Catharines-Thorold and car plants in Windsor-Detroit. We thought Glasgow met with the needs of the working man and tourist. Most shops gave artistic displays of their wares and were staffed with personnel, the congenial type who go out of their way to help you. We liked Glasgow.

In the quiet of Sunday afternoon we drove leisurely to Glasgow and returned our petrol coach that had served us so faithfully for two weeks in the Highlands.

Our flight to Dublin was down the West Coast to the Isle of Man then a 20-minute hop over the sea to the green fields of Eire. Unusually fine autumn weather still prevails, so to

IT'S OUR OPINION

The Grim Reaper Is Having A Busy Year

These are changing times in Alexandria and one of the less happy evidences of change is the grim toll 1964 has taken among our senior citizens.

The death last week of Jack Morris removed another of our town's veteran citizens and further thinned the ranks of a generation that played a leading part in Alexandria's evolution. Our old families are being hard hit this year and several of our oldest homes have been emptied by death and serious illness.

Others have died in this year of 1964 but the loss has been most pronounced in a rather closely knit group long identified with the town's social and business life. The death of Miss Ella Macdonald in January was followed by those of Mayor Simon and his sister, Mollie. Clarence Ostrom, Michael J. Morris, Mrs. Donald A. Macdonald and now Jack Morris, are others of that generation who have gone from the local scene.

They knew the booming Alexandria of the horse and buggy days, witnessed the evolution of Henry Ford's horseless carriage into the smooth riding, chrome-plated automobile of today. They saw a Carriage Works that in 1903 produced six thousand buggies reduced to scrap because of the auto age and they lived through a decade of depression to see their town on the road back to prosperity. Born in the Victorian era they survived three wars and two decades of a continuing Cold War.

Theirs was an era of unparalled progress on the technilogical front. They drove the first cars in Alexandria, owned the first radios, went to the first movies, saw municipal lighting and water services installed. This generation lived with change, saw the top hat and the bearded faces of their fathers give way to less stilted styles, even unto the topless bikini.

They had to be adaptable, these people whose life spans stretched from the Gay Nineties, through the sombre 30's, into the sizzling 60's. But they were the type of solid citizen every community must have if it is to grow in depth as well as in mere size.

Death is as inevitable for each of us as is tomorrow. The changing scene, even in a small town, sees new families coming in to replace those that move on. We can hope our senior citizens of tomorrow will have some of the stature of those we are losing today.

Shop At Home Among Friends

Christmas is coming, our mail informs us as a succession of colorful catalogues reach our desk en route to the wastebasket. These so-called wholesale buying guides suggest big savings in almost every conceivable line of Christmas shopping. But we know not with whom we are doing business, we cannot examine the goods for quality and we sense a mistrust that is mutual.

These people suggest pre-payment by money order or certified cheque. If your cheque is not certified delivery will be held up ten days, presumably while your cheque is being cashed. They don't trust the customer but he must trust them with at least $25 of his hard-earned cash and hope the purchases come through, and as advertised in these flashy catalogues.

We distrust this kind of a deal and so out goes the catalogue. We'll do our Christmas shopping at home where we know with whom we are dealing and where we can examine what we are purchasing. Where, as well, we can return the goods and get our money back if we have second thoughts.

It is primarily to meet the competition of these catalogues that local merchants again are sponsoring a shop-at-home campaign under the aegis of the Board of Trade. Shopping dollars that go out to these so-called wholesale houses are totally lost to the local economy. They help pay no municipal taxes, support no community activities, meet no Alexandria payrolls, help finance no improvements to property.

The Christmas shopping that you do in your local stores helps serve all these purposes and the Board of Trade is to be commended for organizing the campaign. The grand prize of a holiday in Florida is incidental; but who knows, someone's dollar spent here is going to win that trip south or a commensurate cash prize, and it just could be you.

Through this shopping promotion your friends among Alexandria business people are inviting you to at least drop in and compare the quality and prices of their merchandise before taking your Christmas shopping out of town. You may be pleasantly surprised to find local prices compare with those even of the discount houses.

And you won't be required to carry a certified cheque when you shop among friends.

What Happened Is History

In another month Alexandria voters are to be asked to endorse our centennial project, the purchase of Glengarry Gardens and its transformation into a community centre complete with public library and hall.

A majority of the voters must endorse the plan or we are left with no project to mark Canada's centennial in this community. The go-ahead must be given town council now or we lose the help of the special centennial grants.

We may also lose our artificial ice rink which could conceivably be sold at any time by the present directorate. They have considerable of their capital tied up in it and they have through the years lost hope of ever seeing realized their dreams of a going concern that would be at the same time a real asset to the community. Early this year we came within an ace of seeing it turned into a manufacturing plant. Transformed into an industrial site, it would have depressed real estate prices in one of our prime residential areas, might have written finis to town planning even before council got started on this essential for a growing community.

As a centre of community recreation the arena has been losing ground for several years under its present management. Criticism of its operation has in some cases turned to open hostility and this ill feeling has drained away any incentive the owners may still have had to attempt to put new life into the Garden's management.

Proponents of the centennial plan feel the only hope for future success of arena operations lies in community ownership and new management under a qualified recreational director. They have reached agreement for purchase of the Gardens under terms which appear to be very fair from the community angle. All that is needed now is the endorsation of the citizens in the December 7th referendum.

That should be forthcoming if we are to judge by the endorsement given the plan at last week's Board of Trade meeting. Some forty businessmen were not only unanimous in favoring community ownership; the feeling was that every Board member should get out and work to ensure that the vote carry.

They are aware of the undercurrent of resentment which at times is expressed in the argument, "Let them close up the Gardens for good; we'll build a new arena". Men who recall the destruction of our first arena by fire in 1952 are also aware that an all-out campaign for funds to rebuild brought in only some $12,000. It was this very limited public support that loaded the new Gardens with debt and forced the present owners to take control lest Alexandria have no arena at all.

The men who 12 years ago found financial support so limited understandably are doubtful others could raise $100,000 today to build a second arena. And in the event they see waste and duplication the community can ill afford.

Town Council is now getting estimates on the costs involved in adding library and other facilities to the present arena. Information on available grants and the financing required to complete centennial plans is to be provided prior to voting day. It will then be up to the citizens to make a considered decision one way or the other.

If that decision is to be in the best interests of the community there should be a moratorium on all those complaints concerning past performance in arena management. This is to be a new deal and fresh thinking on the future of the Gardens is a must.

Wear A Poppy

The red flower of remembrance, the Poppy will be on sale in Alexandria this weekend. Glengarrians need no reminder of its significance, the visible evidence that we shall remember those who gave their lives in war.

Funds raised through the sale of poppies are used exclusively to aid needy war veterans or the families of those who died while serving.

You are reminded not only to buy and wear a poppy but to give generously to the Poppy Fund.

Dear Sir,

Re your coverage of the fire at Leo Bougie's hatchery, RR 1 Martintown.

Your information is most certainly incorrect—chickens were hauled to safety in the back of a half ton pick up truck shortly after the fire started. I spent four hours fighting that fire therefore I was in a good position to tell whether they were all destroyed or not.

Secondly the hen house you said to be fifty feet away was never in danger due to its cement block structure and tin roof, not one drop of water was played on that particular building.

We volunteer firemen receive little enough credit as is without having misinformed reporters writing up stories of our futile efforts. The roof never caved in but we removed the tin to get a better

BIG BAGS

The cult of bigness seems to have permeated right down to our little ones if we are to judge from the ambitions of those who were out on the town for a trick or a treat Hallowe'en night. From the size of the bags some of them were carrying, they must have been hoping to stock up with treats to last the whole family till Christmas.

The cold weather may have held down the number of costumed kids who called at our house; but we were struck by the number who this year went for the big bag, the 75-lb. potato sack it seemed like when that gaping maw was held hopefully open to receive our treat.

It left us feeling like a miserly louse when we went through the motions of dropping a few candy kisses, jelly beans and miniature chocolate bars into that bottomless pit. There were times we even added an extra jelly bean in an attempt to seem adequately generous.

But how many millions of jelly beans, or even apples, would it take to fill some of those cavernous carry-alls?

Some of the kiddies were conservative enough to proffer purses or no more than a 10-pound sack. That's the way we'd like to see it practised by all comers come next Hallowe'en.

When the bag's too big the treat looks like a dirty trick; or at least one is left with the feeling one hasn't adequately filled the role assigned stay-at-homes on Hallowe'en.

Let's not let the kids spoil the sport of Hallowe'en by seeming to ask more than we are prepared to give.

Big bags don't go with little kids.

THE RAINMAKER

There's always some sand on the floor of my car —
In fact, I'd feel lonesome without it.
But when it gets over the tops of my shoes
It's time to do something about it.
So once in a while I just roll up my sleeves
On a day when it's windy and brisk
Removing the sand and last year's autumn leaves
With the aid of a short-handled whisk.
At last, having got the interior clean
I might as well wash the whole car.
So out come the soapsuds, warm water and sponge
Removing all tarnish and tar.
I polish the chromium better than new,
The windows both inside and out.
No car in a showroom looks better than mine.
It's clean beyond shadow of doubt.
I put on good clothes and start out on a trip,
When storm clouds appear in the East.
And in a few minutes I'm driving in mud
For two or three hours at least.
Some fellow out West makes a living, I hear,
By causing some showers to fall.
He's made a small fortune by making it rain —
But ME, I get nothing at all!
Won't someone take pity and offer me dough
For bringing wet weather around?
I have my own system. I just wash my car.
Then everything near me gets drowned.
The weather forecasters are usually right
When they say what the weather's to be.
Doc Chase and his Almanac says: "Warm and Bright"
Or "Rainy, and Stormy at Sea."
But once in a while their predictions go wrong
While my way is better by far.
I just make the weather
Stay fine right along
By simply NOT washing my car!

Be Seein' Ya!

Teachers Met At Casselman

On Wednesday, October 21, a meeting of the Glengarry-Prescott Branch Secondary School Teachers, was held in Casselman. It had a double purpose. It served as an indoctrination meeting and as the fall business meeting.

Two skits illustrating discipline problems that teachers may encounter in the classroom had been prepared, one by Hawkesbury High School, the other by Maxville High School. Both these skits were followed by discussions.

Afterwards, the teachers withdrew to classrooms in order to choose a chairman for the coming workshop which will be held in Maxville in February. The teachers then proceeded to the cafeteria where a delicious lunch was enjoyed by all.

POPPIES IN SPRING?

Alexandria

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

Your editorial "Lest we Remember"—First of all may I say people who lost loved ones in wars do not need a special date to remember, they never forget. Why do World War 2 veterans have to honor their fallen comrades on Armistice day, after all World War 2 was a victory not an armistice. Why not Remembrance day on VE-day. Poppies would sell in spring just as well as in November.

It would be nice to know if anyone has the same opinion as me.

screen. The weekend football fare is about the only thing we like about the autumn season and about the only thing that will draw us to the television set.

But what a letdown we had this year as the Big Four failed to come up with more than a couple of games that could be called exciting. Montreal and Toronto failed to field teams of professional calibre and Ottawa's Rough Riders started strong only to turn into a bunch of patsies.

Only the Ticats have claws as the playoffs get underway and the brand of football offered by the other teams has been so sad your Rambling Reporter refused to even watch last weekend's games.

Our faith in Big Four football can only be restored if Rough Riders pull up their socks and start playing like professionals. If they can beat Hamilton in the Eastern finals our fervor will be back at fever pitch. But we're not even sure they can get by that miserable Montreal team.

Char-Lan's senior footballers come here Friday to meet GDHS in a play-off for the intercollegiate championship.

As a warm-up last Friday both finalists won one-sided victories. Undefeated Alexandria finished the season with a 42-0 win over Hawkesbury while Char-Lan took a 34-0 victory over Vankleek Hill.

Scoring majors for Alexandria were Jim MacGillivray, Myron McCormick and Burns McPherson, two each.

In the Williamstown win touchdowns were credited to Doug. Jarvo, Ross Annand, Bud McDonell, Roy Grant and Raymond MacDonald.

Plan Figure Skating Club At Maxville

With the installation of artificial ice in Maxville, plans are underway to form a figure skating club at Maxville. Registration will be held Wednesday, Nov. 11, from 3.30 to 5 p.m., at the Community Arena.

Crash Cuts Needed 90 Stitches

Two men were injured, one seriously, about 11.30 a.m. Saturday in a two-car crash on Highway 34, one-and-a-half miles south of Vankleek Hill.

Ninety stitches were required to close the wounds of Stewart Gordon Coulter, 22, of Toronto, driver of one of the cars. He also suffered a fractured skull and was reported in serious condition at the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury.

Earl Meech, 69, of RR 1 Vankleek Hill, driver of the second car, sustained a fractured right leg and was reported in satisfactory condition in the same hospital.

Monique Beauchamp, 19, a passenger in the Coulter auto, was treated for a fractured toe and leg cuts and released.

Police said the southbound Meech car was making a left turn onto County Road 13 when the collision occurred.

"To bring about the unity of all who have served in the allied forces; To render aid to those who need our assistance and above all to keep November 11th sacred to the memory of our fallen comrades."

You will not hesitate to work in unity to assure that the success of our Poppy Drive and Remembrance Day Ceremony will be truly a measure of our efforts as Legionnaires.

There will be no other invitation or recruiting—once again we need volunteers and not conscripts.

St. Raphael's Man Died Suddenly

The sudden death occurred Saturday of Paul Chretien of St. Raphael's. Aged 48, Mr. Chretien suffered a heart attack that morning at his farm home and died shortly after noon in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

Many relatives and friends learned with regret of Mr. Chretien's unexpected passing. He had been in apparent good health until suffering the seizure.

Born at St. Anicet, Que., Mr. Chretien was a son of Hector Chretien and his wife, Jeannine Lapare, who came to the Williamstown area in his youth. He had farmed in the St. Raphael's area for the past 15 years.

To mourn he leaves his parents, his wife, the former Delia Periard of Williamstown, two sons and four daughters. They are: Robert of St. Raphael's; Hector, Yvonne and Muriel, at home; Rita, Mrs. Elmer Lapierre of Martintown, and Shirley of Ste. Therese, Que.

Three grandchildren also survive, as do two brothers and two sisters: Bernard and Edward Chretien of Williamstown; Mrs. Andre Courville, Montreal, and Mrs. Jack Lalonde, Summerstown.

The largely attended funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home to St. Raphael's Church and cemetery. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, PP, chanted the Solemn Mass of Requiem assisted by Rev. Leo MacDonell and Rev. D. B. McDougald.

The pallbearers were: Alex King, Alex McBain, Walter and Charles McLean, Robert V. McDonald and Peter Major.

Couple Given Suspended Sentence

The parents of a 13-year-old Green Valley area girl who gave birth to a child on the family farm Oct. 19 and then abandoned the infant for several hours in a barn, were given two-year suspended sentences when they appeared in court here Tuesday.

Both parents were charged with abandoning a child under 10 years.

Although the baby was left unattended for some eight hours, it survived. The infant was found wrapped in newspapers in the back seat of a car which was parked in an area barn.

Both the mother and child were taken to Hotel Dieu in Cornwall. Both are reported to have done well since that time.

In other court action there was a further remand in the case against two Alexandria men charged with indecently assaulting a Lochiel woman.

Jean Paul Dupuis, 38, and Roger Ouimet, 32, were arrested Oct. 24 by Lancaster Ontario Provincial Police.

An address in French was read to them by Mrs. Decaire's eldest sister, Mrs. P. E. Gareau of St. Lazare, Que. and one in English by her youngest brother, Archille Periard of Montreal, Que. Another sister Mrs. Francois Daoust pinned a corsage on the bride of 25 years ago, as well as a boutonniere on Mr. Decaire.

A lovely television set was presented them by the couple's three sons, Robert, Henry and Jean Paul, as well as a well filled purse of silver dolars by nephew Lionel Periard of Hudson, Que.

Although taken very much by surprise Mrs. Decaire, on behalf of her husband, in a few well chosen words thanked every one present for the lovely surprise and gifts. A beautiful 3-tiered wedding cake, decorated by another sister Mrs. Paul Chretien of St. Raphael's, was enjoyed with a lovely lunch served by some of the ladies present. Before departing a sing-song was conducted by Mrs. Jan Oosting. Everyone present wished Mr. and Mrs. Decaire many more years of happiness and good health.

John K. MacLeod acted as chairman and in a few well chosen words expressed the nature of the gathering. Music was provided by Piper Edwin Sproule, songs by Heather MacPherson and Marion MacNaughton, accompanied by Doreen MacLeod, and piano selections by Mrs. R. D. MacLeod. Very interesting addresses were given by Rev. John Hurst, Rev. Dr. MacLean, John D. MacLeod and Wm. Diotte, following which an address was read by Leslie Calvank and the presentation of a well-filled purse was made by George MacLeod. Mr. MacLeod thanked all present for their kindness.

Lunch was served by the ladies and a very pleasant social evening was enjoyed by all.

On Wednesday, Sept. 16th, Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod were guests at a dinner at the home of Mrs. D. J. MacCrimmon and Mr. and Mrs. John N. MacCrimmon, and were joined by other members of the family. A pleasant evening of games and music was enjoyed by all. Mr. Kenneth MacDonald extended congratulations on behalf of all present, and a presentation was made by Mrs. Annie L. MacDonald and D. W. MacPherson of two modern swivel rocker chairs.

St. Finnan's CWL Had Meeting

The monthly meeting of St. Finnan's Council CWL was held in the church hall Tuesday night with the president, Mrs. A. M. MacDonald presiding.

Father McPhail opened the meeting with the League prayer and the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Gerald McDonald. Mrs. Jack Reid gave a report on the steps being taken to protect chidren and teen-agers from unsuitable films and TV programs.

Committees were named to be in charge of the lunch to be served to the cast taking part in the St. Andrew's concert Friday and Saturday nights, November 27th and 28th.

There will be a Diocesan Meeting at St. Andrews on Wednesday, November 18th at 8 p.m. when His Excellency Bishop Aurel Plourde will be guest speaker. Father McPhail expressed the wish that as many as possible attend this meeting — not only CWL members. Transportation will be provided, if needed, leaving from the Hub restaurant at 7.15 p.m.

The annual rummage sale of fall and winter clothing will be held at a later date which will be announced.

A workshop was held in regard to vocations for the sisterhood and the findings were given out and discussed by the president.

Father McPhail spoke briefly stressing the importance of active participation in the lay apostolate and urged all to read as much as possible about the work of the Ecumenical Council.

Day Of Recollection At St. Raphael's By Diocesan Catholic Women's League

The CWL of the diocese of Alexandria held their annual Day of Recollection at St. Raphael's Parish Church on October 24th. Attended by 150 members from the various parish councils in the diocese the services were under the direction of Rev. Stuart McMillan, vice chancellor of the diocese. Assisting clergy were Rev. M. J. O'Brien, PP and CWL Diocesan Director, Rev. Leo MacDonell, Rev. J. R. Donihee and Rev. Bernard Cameron.

Following registration at 10 a.m. Father McMillan spoke to the ladies on the Sacrament of Penance. At 11.15 a dialogue Mass, facing the people, was celebrated by Father O'Brien. During the entry to the church by the celebrant and his servers, Father McMillan led in the congregational singing of "Praise to the Lord". The wine and water to be used in the Holy Sacrifice were carried by the diocesan president, Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald and St. Raphael's parish president, Mrs. Cameron McDonald, while the congregation sang "Lord Accept Thy Gifts".

During the luncheon hour, the diocesan executor held a special meeting to discuss their plans for the diocesan meeting to be held on November 18th in St. Andrew's. Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald wishes each parish council to contact every CWL member to attend the St. Andrew's meeting to honor His Excellency, Bishop Plourde, who will be guest speaker.

The girls of St. Raphael's Separate School assisted in the explanation of the various vestments and sacred vessels used in Divine Worship and Administration of Sacraments. This was the second "Open House" at St. Raphael's to teach the laity the religious significance of them.

Father McMillan then conducted a Bible Service. During this celebration of God's Word, Mrs. Lloyd McHugh, Mrs. Edwin McDonald and Mrs. W. McLeod read passages from the Old and New Testaments. Following an explanation and meditation on them Father McMillan then recalled some of the prayer intentions of the day, namely: that the CWL under the guidance of the spirit, continue to be a force for good in our diocese and throughout our nation, that the apostolic body may show forth to our divided world, a true spirit of Christian unity and that there be an increase in vocations to the priesthood, the religious life and the lay apostolate.

The Iona Academy choir was in attendance for the Mass and again for Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament that closed the day.

Shortage Of Steel Delaying Work On Three United Counties Bridges

A shortage of reinforcing steel for concrete may hold up construction of three bridges in the United Counties.

Alan R. Ferguson, road superintendent, reports the shortage results from the large amount of construction underway in Ontario.

"All concrete structures, as well as concrete highways," he explained, "require reinforcing steel."

Contracts for construction of the three bridges were awarded recently, and work on all three has already begun.

"We expect," said Mr. Ferguson, "to have them done by the end of next January."

Contract for the first project, Beaudette River Bridge, County Road 18 at Bridge End, Lancaster township (at Quebec-Ontario border), was awarded to Entwistle Construction Ltd., Cornwall, for $27,470.

The counties will supply reinforcing steel, precast concrete beams, bridge railing and supervision, bringing the total cost to about $50,000.

Wexford Concrete Company Ltd., of Prescott, won a $15,245 contract for building the Inkerman Bridge, County Road 3 over South Nation River, at Mountain, Mountain township.

Materials supplied by the Counties bring the final cost to an estimated $51,000.

Dodge Construction Company Ltd., of Cardinal, was given the $47,130 contract to build the steel beam South Branch Bridge, County Road 2 over the South Branch of the Nation River north of Brinston, Matilda township.

The Counties are supplying steel beams, reinforcing steel and other materials, bringing the total estimated cost to $75,000.

Mr. Ferguson said he is awaiting Department of Highways approval before calling tenders for construction of McPhee Bridge, County Road 10 over Delisle River just east of Alexandria, Lochiel township. Total cost has been estimated at $75,750.

Construction of McPhee Bridge will begin as soon as the contract is awarded.

The four bridge projects are being financed with money borrowed from the Department of Municipal Affairs under the federal-provincial works assistance program.

The fifth project planned is South Branch Bridge, County Road 27 over South Branch of Raisin River north of Summerstown Station, Charlottenburgh township.

The late Mr. Campbell was born at Baltic's Corner, May 18, 1901, the son of Alex A. Campbell and his wife, Sarah Chisholm. Here he farmed until ill health forced him to give up the occupation and three years ago he moved to Dunvegan where he lived until his death.

From Scotland . . .

use the term green is no exaggeration.

We promptly moved into the countryside and although I had become accustomed to driving on the left side this Dublin petrol coach was not automatic so I had to refresh the old habit of gear shifts with four speeds forward.

Due to a bit of a problem in booking a London flight we had to draft a tight schedule; hence we were unable to take the coast road via Wicklow, Wexford to Cork.

By following an inland route to Tipperary we were well rewarded as we saw in many areas road construction creating a vast improvement in this main traffic artery to the south. Farm lands indicated fertile agricultural and sheep grazing fields, however, in contrast to Scotland and Germany the fenced acreage is smaller.

Some 20 miles south of Dublin in this area you drive by the Curragh race track known world wide as the site of the Irish Sweepstakes. The setting is not as posh as Toronto's New Woodbine, however, the green fields fronting and to the sides of the grandstand where the hurdles are placed to form the steeplechase course certainly make this an attractive sport centre.

Following a one-night rest in Tipperary, comparable to Alexandria in size, we called at the ancestral home of Glengarry's adopted Irishman—Tom Fahey (Syracuse).

Once again we were greeted with that characteristic handshake of warm welcome as we crossed the threshold of this typical Irish farm home. Denis Fahey heads the current generation ownership. The farm consists of 80 acres, all tillable, supporting a dairy herd of 20 grade cows and, as you might expect, a flock of sheep. Denis Fahey, like many Glengarry farmers, has his labor problems, too.

During our brief but pleasant "Kaylee" we observed among the photographs evidence of the Fahey's contribution to the teaching profession — an Irish tradition.

The subject was the late Denis Fahey in a college football championship team of Ireland about the turn of the century. Later he was ordained and became, as Father Denis Fahey, CSSR, not only a noted Dublin teacher but also a beloved Irish author.

Just before leaving for Cashel, Mrs. Morrissey, another of the Fahey clan, joined us and gave the writer a short letter from Tom Fahey, Syracuse. Among items of interest for the first time we learned that Yankees and the Cardinals both made the World Series.

Approaching the town of Cashel for some distance St. Patrick's Rock and Castle are quite visible. Cashel is caiseal or castle in Gaelic. History tells us that Corc, the King of Munster, established his capital here in the fourth century and it was such until the 12th century when it was given to the church.

There is a Glengarry significance to Cashel. From here the maternal side of the (Henry) Duggans emigrated to the Glens.

We whipped the Austin along to Cork then westward to Killarney. We were amazed at the general use of donkeys and small two-wheeled carts. These beasts of burden are able to haul quite a load of peat blocks or 12 gallon milk cans. At a petrol station we inquired as to this primitive transportation. We were told that these donkeys are used solely as we would a small half-ton truck in Canada. Heavier draft horses do the farm work. Tractors are plentiful in some areas.

We thought the lakes of Killarney to be more appealing than Loch Lomond. From our vantage point there was no commercialism. The park lands are surrounded by high steel and stone fences. A few private hotels face the shores at Killarney. If you feel like walking this is your privilege, however, jaunting carts are available to tourists wishing to ride for a half-hour drive.

In the mountainous backdrop of this beauty spot there is also the tourist attraction of riding horseback through the Gap of Dunloe. We settled for a few movie-camera, brilliant, colorful sunset pictures of the lakes and by-passed the Gap as we headed to Tralee, Limmerick, the Shannon River and Galway Bay.

This west coast line is very rugged and one will note more stone fences per square mile than in any part of Kenyon.

One of the better roads in Ireland connects Galway and Dublin. As you near Dublin there is a distinct improvement in farms, however, the fences, like Glasgow area, are high high hedges or stone, hence the countryside is just about hidden from view thus losing its appeal to the traveller.

Dublin is a fine city. Here in the Capital of Eire the modernistic airport buildings and city bus terminal are impressive indications of the new Dublin while the American dome-style Customs House holds a lofty rating among the public edifices.

As in all older cities you find the narrow streets housing the small shopkeeper and it is not unusual to see merchandise delivered by horse and dray. This might appear old-fashioned, however, it is still an important factor in the economy of Old Dublin.

The parks contribute in a great measure to the beauty of Dublin. Phoenix Park is exceptionally large with vast areas reserved for cattle and sheep grazing. In addition to recreation facilities you will also find the zoo which is the world's third oldest. It is well worth the 10-mile drive to Howth Hill, north of Dublin Bay, to view the panoramic setting of this city by the Irish Sea.

While waiting for flight time we had a brief but pleasant call with Mr. and Mrs. M. J. "Mike" Stephenson. Mike is a pilot with AER LINGUS (Irish International Airlines). Mrs. Stephenson is the former Marita (Archie Collin) MacDonald from Glen Nevis. Also present with the Stephensons was little Gregory Edwards. His mother is the former Lynn McPhee who has Glengarry ties.

Volumes may be written about London and as this effort couldn't possibly include coverage of the largest city in the world we will merely say we were disappointed with the exterior appearance of Buckingham Palace. Hyde Park was all that we visualized, including the soap box orator. The proximity of mercantile business to the Parliament Buildings robs the Mother of Parliaments and democracy of the quiet, impressive dignity this institution deserves. The Prime Minister's home, 10 Downing Street, although steeped in history with many dramatic chapters, is located nearby, submerged in the shadows. But this is aged London not a youthful Ottawa with boundless space surrounding government buildings providing a picturesque capital. We noted with keen interest Fleet Street, The Mall and Picadilly while along Embassy row the United States building vies with the Hilton Hotel for top honors.

At Canada House we met John (Alexandria) Dolan and for the first time since leaving the Glens we scanned Canadian newspapers. Our next port of call was CBC offices to meet Ron Laplante. Ron told us that not only had Yankees lost the World Series but also that Yogi Berra had been fired.

Ron Laplante is a graduate in journalism, Western University, and is a highly rated member of the CBC London office news and telecasting staff. Ron is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eddy John Angus MacDonald of Alexandria.

Glengarry hospitality was brought to the fore again as we were dinner guests of both the Laplantes and Dolans. John Dolan, veteran and valued member of External Affairs, and Mrs. Dolan left nothing undone to ensure a pleasant stay in London. This included spending an evening with Dr. Ken and Mrs. Kutschke, nee Francis Gauthier, at the Dolan residence.

A special boat train conveyed Empress of Canada passengers from London's Euston Station to Liverpool. The 27,300 ton flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet, in gleaming white from stem to stern, not only looked majestic but somehow made you leave behind at the dock all fears of a hangover in mid-Atlantic due to rough waters at this time of year.

At Liverpool we were escorted on ship by F. W. Wallace, of CP Public Relations at Liverpool, who showed us every courtesy.

We had viewed some magnificent sunsets in Lausanne, Strathpeffer and Killarney, however, leaving Liverpool and heading out to sea as the sun went down was another art work of nature long to be remembered.

What do you do on an ocean liner for almost seven days First there is plenty of entertainment, from swimming to fun and friendship parties in the ballroom. You may walk miles, by deck of course, or just read till your eyes pop. Add to this period of relaxation the serving of the finest cuisine at meal time and you experience the ultimate in sea travel.

The squawking of the sea gulls, Canadian, were musical notes as we plowed a deep furrow in the more calm waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Quebec shores began to creep closer as we noted land marks you observed at other times while motoring.

Disembarking calls for patience because of one's anxiety to get home. Now, at home, we will always remember that the pleasantness of our trip abroad was primarily due to the hospitality and thoughtfulness of our Glengarry friends directly and indirectly. Also to our new-found friends and acquaintances including fellow travellers and finally a bow to the weatherman as this was the finest European fall weather in 40 years.
