Aime Menard Died At 46

Green Valley lost one of its promising young businessmen and Alexandria Curling Club one of its top curlers, with the death Monday of Aime Menard, Massey-Ferguson dealer at Green Valley. Mr. Menard died in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, after a brief illness. He was 46.

A son of Mrs. George Menard and the late Mr. Menard of Green Valley, he had resided there throughout his lifetime and was known and held in high regard by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. After long employment with Menard Construction Ltd., he had opened a farm machinery agency some five years ago which proved most successful.

A member of Alexandria Curling Club for many years he had long served on the directorate and had been not only a key officer but one of the club's top skips who had won many trophies both in club play and on outside ice. Mr. Menard had also served as coach of the Green Valley Rockets hockey team and had played his part in community and parish activities.

To mourn he leaves his wife, the former Marie-Laure Crevier of Green Valley, his mother, one brother and nine sisters. They are: Jean-Paul Menard, Green Valley; Mrs. Rene St. Germain (Dora), Mrs. Walter Maheu (Rejeanne), Mrs. R. Chevrier (Marie-Claire). and Mrs. Marcel Secours (Therese), of Montreal; Mrs. Leo Dubois (Clara) of Rigaud; Mrs. Jean Jacques Ranger (Leonne) of Dalhousie; Mrs. Carl Collette (Denise) of Lancaster and Mrs. Maurice Sauve (Colette) of Glen Robertson.

The funeral was held this morning, from the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home to St. Mary's Church and cemetery, Green Valley.

Mrs. J. Y. Baker Died Wednesday

Mrs. James Y. Baker of Alexandria, died Wednesday in Macdonell Memorial Hospital, Cornwall, following a lengthy illness. She was in her 90th year.

Mrs. Baker was the former Mary Sharkey, a daughter of George Sharkey and his wife, Mary Murray of Chesterville. She taught school at Vankleek Hill, in the Temiskaming area and at Dalhousie Mills before her marriage to Dr. Baker. Some 20 years ago they came to reside in Alexandria on his retirement from many years of medical practice at Dalhousie.

He predeceased her four years ago and she is mourned by two sons and two daughters. They are James Y. Baker, a member of the staff of Glengarry District High School here; Andrew G. Baker, Cornwall; Mary, Mrs. Frank McLeister, Alexandria and Patricia, Mrs. Harvey Hassard of London, Ont.

One brother, Garland Sharkey of Chesterville and one sister, Mrs. Annie Jackson of Dartmouth, NS, also survive as do twenty grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Friday, leaving the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home at 2.00 for St. Finnan's Cathedral. Burial will be in Dalhousie Mills cemetery.

MINISTER OPENS MANOR—The spirit of co-operation among people of Maxville and district was lauded by Hon. Fine Maxville Manor Admired By Throng Present For Friday's Official Opening

Manor Walkathon Earns $3200

The Maxville Manor fund will be richer by some $3200 as the result of Saturday's walkathon which saw more than 100 high school students and teachers, Lions club members and other adults walking the high road from Maxville to Moose Creek and return.

When all pledges have been paid up the Maxville High School student council expects to turn in $2,000 and the Lions Club another $1200.

It was a real community effort blessed by fine fall weather. At Moose Creek ladies of that community were dispensing doughnuts and coffee, soft drinks and other edibles were available at various checkpoints along the route.

Some of the younger marchers were out as early as 8.30 o'clock and the first finishers were Rene Paquette of Maxville and Andrew Duhaime, Moose Creek. They covered the 14 miles in two and a half hours. Mrs. Loretta McDonald of Maxville, one of the older golfers on the Glengarry course, trod the road to Moose Creek.

Last arrivals at the Manor about 2.30 p.m. were the quartette of Ovila Doth, Russ Hunter, Les Danley and Charlie Kitts. Wheelchairs were supplied to cover the last few yards and they were piped into the Manor by the pipe band which had entertained the walkers through the morning.

Chairman of the Manor board, Allan C. Vallance expressed appreciation to walkers and the many who had financed its success.

Hon. John Yaremko, minister of social and family services, cut the ceremonial ribbon, Friday, and declared officially open the fine new home for the aged, Maxville Manor. The large number in attendance was representative of the entire Maxville area as well as Cornwall and the United Counties.

Declaring the manor the equal of any such home in the province, Mr. Yaremko praised the initiative and spirit of co-operation among all segments of the community which had made possible its erection. "I know the forming of this organization required you to cross religious, racial and political lines in a true spirit of co-operation," he said.

The minister mentioned as one of the advantages of the manor the fact that many people will be able to live out their lives in their own community, instead of moving to a city late in life. In passing, he mentioned a new program of foster homes for the aged, a program, he said the department wants to encourage. This involves elderly folk living with families who will look after them, subject to supervision.

Chairman of the Manor directorate and of Friday's opening ceremonies, Allan C. Vallance welcomed the large assembly and reviewed briefly the early steps leading to erection of this home for the aged. The group responsible for originating the scheme had been impelled at least in part by the bad publicity given Glengarry some two years ago in the press when it had been referred to as "a rural slum". This example of what our people can achieve through community effort, declared Mr. Vallance, refutes the claim that we are impoverished and in a rundown condition.

Reeve Hugh W. Smith brought greetings from Maxville and Warden James Zeron presented a $15,000 cheque as first payment on the counties' grant. Dr. George V. McDonald of Apple Hill, spoke for the medical profession and expressed its appreciation of these fine facilities for the aged. Lawrence Crawford, director and Noble Drew, former director of the government service for care of the aged, complimented the community on the acquisition of such fine facilities.

Before reviewing Mr. Yaremko's talk in French, Hon. Fern Guindon lauded the fine spirit of co-operation and understanding which exists between the people of this area. If the people of our country could see the mutual goodwill that exists here, he suggested, most of Canada's problems would be solved.

Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP, one of the key organizers of the Manor, introduced the Minister and he was thanked by Dr. D. M. Gamble, vice-president of the board of directors.

Rev. W. E. Henderson of Maxville United Church gave the invocation and the building was dedicated by Rev. H. R. Ferguson of Dunvegan and Rev. Lionel Bourque. Maxville. Rev. I. D. MacIver of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church delivered the closing prayer.

Mrs. Verna MacGregor, secretary-treasurer of the Manor, received the keys to the building from the contractor, Noel Couture of Cornwall, and Peter Holtshousen, architect.

Prior to the 2 p.m. opening ceremonies visiting dignitaries had been entertained at a reception and luncheon served in the auditorium by the Manor staff, assisted by members of the Home Auxiliary. Later all present were conducted on a tour of the building under direction of the Administrator, Archie Hughes.

A silent tribute was paid the memory of one of the directors, John D. MacLeod of Dunvegan, who met accidental death before completion of the Manor. Other directors introduced by Chairman Allan Vallance in addition to Dr. Gamble and Mrs. MacGregor were Keith C. Franklin, Nick Haramis, W. R. MacEwen, Dan MacKillican, Hubert A. Quart, Erwin Shields, Ben F. Villeneuve, and Lionel Villeneuve.

Mr. MacLeod was travelling home from Alexandria early Saturday morning when his car left the Glen Robertson road, plowed through a ditch and struck a fence. Police said damage to the car was unusually light, only $200 to the late-model car.

The mishap was discovered by a passing motorist who notified police about 2.30 a.m. Constable R. J. Eamer of Lancaster OPP investigated.

Claude Decoste died early Saturday evening near St. Lazare, Que., while motoring to Dorion to visit his girl friend. His car left the road on a curve and slammed into a concrete culvert.

Hallowe'en Was Uneventful Here

Five young men paid fines of $20 each in Magistrate's Court, here, Monday, for Hallowe'en pranks which were attributed to "sheer stupidity" by the Magistrate.

Two local youths were charged with wilful damage in the Bar-B-Que restaurant while the other three, residents of Dalkeith and Cornwall, were caught throwing eggs at cars on Main Street.

These were the exceptions, Police Chief Cleroux reports, in a Hallowe'en that was remarkably uneventful. A lot of costumed children and adults were abroad but the beefed up police force had little to contend with except for the odd teenage hooligan.

Magistrate Reserves Decision After Completion Of Meldrum Trial

Magistrate M. J. Fitzpatrick reserved his decision until Dec. 2nd after hearing the last of 14 witnesses, Friday, in the resumed trial of Charles H. Meldrum, Alexandria. The accused had pleaded not guilty to charges of criminal negligence and leaving the scene of an accident which caused the death of Mrs. Phyllis Mosher, here, July 24th.

Meldrum remains out on bail pending the Magistrate's decision.

Evidence presented by the Crown was intended to link the car to the scene of the accident and in the summation of Acting Crown Attorney Duncan J. MacDonald he sought to certify that the accused was driver of the vehicle at the time in question.

"We have evidence", he pointed out, "that the accused, along with Laurier Jette, had been to an hotel then went to the Legion at 8.15 p.m., had a quart of beer and took the rest to Meldrum's home."

Mr. MacDonald maintained that Meldrum took Jette home about 9.15 and was seen by a witness, Lucien Leroux, after dropping Jette off at his home. The witness said that Meldrum made a U-turn to take Bishop Street.

The Crown charged that the vehicle proceeding north on Bishop Street, was going at a high rate of speed.

"Debris scattered over the area leads one to believe the vehicle at the time of the accident was operating in such a manner that there was no regard for the safety of other persons," said the Crown.

Defence Counsel Ronald Adams claimed circumstantial evidence created doubt in the case.

Grand Master At Williamstown For Centennial Of Lancaster Lodge

Lancaster Masonic Lodge 207, Eastern District, marked its 100th anniversary, Saturday night at a dinner held at Char-Lan High School in Williamstown.

Honored guest and chief speaker was Donald J. Gunn of Toronto, Grand Master of Grand Lodge AF and AM of Canada.

Some 300 members from Ontario, Quebec and Northern New York State heard the Grand Master urge untiring work so as to build for the future.

Rev. Douglas MacKay of Williamstown, gave the invocation and there was the introduction of the Grand Masters of Eastern District. The Charlottenburgh Scottish Dancers entertained.

Following the formation of the Grand Lodge of Canada at Hamilton on Oct. 10, 1855, Masonry began to expand from its original 41 lodges. A petition for a lodge at Lancaster was heard and granted on Sept. 12, 1868.

The first lodge room was in a building in South Lancaster since the village of Lancaster did not exist. After a short period of time, it was decided the location was not suitable since voices could be heard in the room below, thus taking the secrecy away from meetings. Persons climbing up the shed roof annex could see and overhear proceedings and it was always necessary to station a member outside the building during each meeting.

After many moves to various sites the lodge now holds meetings in a building which was formerly a three-storey hotel.

Some 508 members are recorded in the lodge register as having entered the portals of Masonry through the Lancaster Lodge.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Taxing Of Churches Is No Solution

Premier John Robarts has assured the people of Ontario that churches will not be taxed while he is head of the government.

That assurance must be weighed though against rumors that the premier is planning to leave the political field next spring and the fact that a legislative committee is even now studying that recommendation made in the Smith report on taxation. All levels of government are desperately seeking more revenue and if the municipalities received taxes on church properties the pressure on Queen's Park might be eased a bit.

The government may have been kite flying when it named that committee, perhaps assessing the reaction of the Ontario people. Roman Catholics have been more vocal in their protests, but the Inter-Faith Committee of Ontario has endorsed the idea of petitions protesting such a move.

We doubt the value of petitions but if this is kite flying they might serve a purpose. Politicians are especially attuned to public opinion and long lists of names just might resemble voters' lists in their eyes.

There are arguments for and against taxing church property and in Ontario much of the property of churches already pays municipal taxes. Here in St. Finnan's parish for example, heavy taxes are imposed on Alexander Hall. The bishop's house, the retreat house, the convent, pay property taxes. Surely the cemetery should be free of the tax gatherer until he is carried there and Bishop Proulx has provided a cogent reason why the church building should escape the assessor's book.

Most of our churches were erected in a day when man was less materialistic, when the dollar was hard and governments were not so soft on socialism. (There is a connection between socialistic governments and today's cheap dollar).

St. Finnan's Cathedral was built on faith and hard-earned dollars. Its cost of erection nearly a century ago, with volunteer labor perhaps thrown in, would be infinitessimally lower than today's system of assessing property could possibly value it. At today's building costs we could not replace this impressive edifice.

Today's system of assessment might bring added revenue to municipal coffers but what would it profit the taxpayer if his church was being billed? If his rate went down one mill he would no doubt be more than making up for it in church collection to meet the extra cost of operation.

Governments refuse to face the fact they are over-spending. If Queen's Park spent as much time pruning its spending programs as it does in devising new methods of taxation it might be found that present taxes are already bringing in more than enough.

Are You Muddled Too?

Municipal elections are fast coming up and this year's nominations present a rather confusing picture because of the new educational set up. Not only must the citizen be politically aware enough to know whether this is an off-year or an election year in his own municipality. He is called on to elect trustees to the new counties boards which will be responsible for all school administration, public and separate, come January 1st. If he is more than a little fuddled as to what is expected of him there are probably many others equally confused.

The Department of Education and the interim area committee have done nothing to inform the general public since Education Minister Davis came here in April to address a public meeting. He was not overly informative on the local set-up and about all we have heard since was that counties' council had divided the counties into zones each of which would be entitled to elect one trustee to the board that will administer public and secondary schools.

Later came the move to amalgamate all separate schools under another such board and the counties are zoned differently for this purpose.

Alexandria, for example, is combined with Kenyon Township and Maxville in electing a trustee to the counties' separate school board. For public school supporters our town is only one of five which unite to elect a trustee to the board which will administer public and high schools. Alexandria, Kenyon, Maxville, Lochiel and Roxborough are to be represented by one trustee and nominations will be held in Moose Creek, on November 18th. Where and when our separate school supporters gather to do their nominating will no doubt be advertised in due course.

Perhaps no cloak of secrecy has been thrown over plans for filling these offices but certainly there has been a lack of information. We know, for instance, the general set-up of the counties' board to administer public and high schools. It will be made up of 16 trustees, ten of them representing public school ratepayers and the other six representative of separate schools. Of the ten public school people, three will be from Cornwall and one each from the seven zones into which the counties have been divided. Four of the separate school representatives will be from Cornwall and two from the counties.

Perhaps there has been information on how these six will be selected, or elected. If so it escapes us entirely. We have heard mention of some people planning to seek nomination for the counties' separate school board, but not yet has their been speculation reaching us on aspirants to represent separate schools on the public board. For all we know, the same people may end up serving on both boards; and yet are not these offices to be elective?

This is but one of the factors connected with the new set-up of regional boards, concerning which we find ourself very vague. Another weekly informs us the trustees will get an annual increment of $1,800, no doubt plus travelling expenses. No one on the interim committee has even whispered that much information and yet it would seem relevant for potential candidates to know what the salary scale will be before they consider seeking the post. There have been rumors for months as to the identity of the man who will supervise the public and secondary school set-up in these counties. One hears that his appointment but awaits the first meeting of the new board in 1969; and yet should not the trustees have the decision?

If we distrust the idea of these regional boards at least some of our fears may have been generated by the ignorance in which we have been kept. Surely before nomination day the ratepayer, this writer included, should be better informed of what is expected of him. Or is anything left for his decision?

Toward The Just Society

A Just Society is what Prime Minister Trudeau has set as his goal and who would not agree such is worth striving toward. Just what does he figure is just, though, many wage earners may be wondering in wake of last week's budget which imposes an additional two per cent income tax.

Called a social development tax it is a bit different from ordinary income tax in that a limit of $120 is placed on the amount any taxpayer must pay for social development. People in the upper tax brackets may end up paying much less than two per cent of their taxable income while the bulk of wage earners will be paying at the full rate.

This is not just in the view of many workers, but then there is no justification for the entire income tax structure which bears most heavily on wage or salaried earners while permitting many classes of society to escape its toils with token payments.

An editorial in the Pictou (NS) Advocate points up another grave injustice fostered by successive Ottawa governments. It deals with fishermen but there are many other types of seasonal workers benefitting from the Unemployment Isurance fund at the unjust expense of other contributors. The editorial reads in part:

We hope the next step by the government will be to eliminate injustice in the Unemployment Insurance program.

Here is one example. An employee earning $4,500 a year pays into the fund week after week for years on end; the employer must contribute a like amount.

Several employees pay $57.40 a year, plus another $57.40 not available to them because the company must contribute on a like basis.

A fisherman, during the months he operates, can contribute up to $1.40 weekly and the company he sells to is obliged to provide a like amount.

At the beginning of December the fisherman can start collecting benefits at a rate up to $53 weekly. This is if he has a dependent and has contributed at the maximum rate.

The fishermen (and other seasonal workers) can collect five weeks benefits for each six weeks they have worked.

After a fisherman works 27½ weeks and contributes $1.40 weekly to the UIC fund, he is entitled to draw $53 a week for 23 weeks. This is a total of $1,329.

Many good fishermen net more than $10,000 for themselves in six months of lobster and scallop fishing. If they don't work during the winter they can get an extra $1,219 from the UIC fund.

The $1,219 does not have to be declared for income tax purposes.

It is unjust that a man who works 52 weeks a year (less two weeks for holidays) and earns $4,500 must contribute part of his earnings to provide untaxed income up to $1,219 a year for a man earning $10,000 a year who works only seven months.

The Advocate submits that UIC contributions should be on a basis similar to Workmen's Compensation rates. Those workers and companies that claim the most would contribute at a higher rate than those who seldom or never make claims.

The Weeklies Say

'SHOULD PROTEST'

When the subject of peaceful demonstrations is brought up, a lot of questions come to mind. Are peaceful demonstrations by thousands of persons really possible How can hordes of so-called good citizens be considered peaceful when they stop traffic, make unnecessary noise, shout slogans and taunt police?

The really peaceful demonstrators are those who sit back, study the situation with all their wits about them and use their vote to protest. The quiet majority has had to endure a noisy minority for far too long. It is time to protest — against protesters.

OPEN MEETING

Council should be wary of falling into a bad habit, already shared by far too many councils. We refer to what might be termed "government by committee." . . . Everyone wants to see an "action" council, a council that gets things done. But that alone is not enough. The very word democracy implies the people have a right to know. not only that things are being done, but what is being done and why. We feel it is our duty to holler loudly if this right of the people appears endangered; and we feel it is the duty of every alderman to be just as zealous in safeguarding it.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

ON POSTAL INCREASES

The editor,
Glengarry News,

On the subject of postal increases, the News October 17th, the Ottawa Citizen writes in one of its editorials: "It hits where it hurts", but they don't seem to think that they will lose thousands or even hundreds of rural families as a result. In fact, the Citizen strongly favors the increase, and I'm sure they are just as concerned about rural readers as the Ottawa Journal is.

To quote an Ottawa correspondent: "The press, knowing that the pen is mightier than the sword, has worked on the emotions of the public against the postal bill so that it, the press, can protect its subsidy."

It has been revealed, that the cost of subsidizing the newspaper barons, amounts to an estimated $37 million a year.

And so it goes . . . the faults or virtues of the "give-away" government, depends a great deal of who is "gettin the givin".

Yours truly,
Gerry Dextras.

"WE WERE FIRST"

The Quebec Indian Association has learned the rules of the white man's new game of "we came first" with commendable speed . . . The Indians have concluded that if separaism is sauce for the separatists, it's sauce for the Indians as well. If language, culture are being here first are the criteria, who has a better claim than the Indians?

Young Opinions . . .

Student Power

(by Bob Benn, Grade 12)

Today's college (and to a lesser extent high school) students have taken a dangerous and immoral path as of late. The "in" things seems to be to riot and take over by force the institutions of higher learning. This anarchy must be brought to a halt immediately or we face grave consequences.

Granted, some of these places of education are far from perfect, but generally our youth seems to take one thing for granted, which is just not so. They seem to feel that higher education is a right which society owes them. This is wrong! Higher learning is a privilege, not a necessity. College students are by no means forced to attend specific universities, so if they disapprove of anything it is their prerogative to leave, not to destroy and illegally seize property. Any student who engages in this immoral activity should be prepared to have the full weight of the law brought upon him.

By condoning or being indifferent to these acts of flagrant anarchism, we are sealing our own fate. If basics such as respect of persons and personal property are lost, we cannot expect anything but a reversion to the days when might made right.

RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

THE ISLAND'S CALLING

Stanley Island was a summer resort for the wealthy when we first knew of its existence. Your Rambling Reporter probably will get a new feeling of affluence next summer when he rambles over the nine-hole golf course on the island, no doubt digging rich divots as he swings at the ball.

Already he's been invited to sample the course by its new Alexandria owners. He's thinking of brushing up on his swimming so he can safely navigate that reach of water that separates the island from Summerstown.

Back around the turn of the century Stanley Island was a swank spot to summer holiday on and our newspaper files tell of some splendiforous balls held in its Algonquin Inn. Glengarry society once travelled the rough road to Lancaster, there to board the steamer carrying the cream of Montreal's 400 to a night, or was it a weekend, of banquetting and dancing at the Algonquin. Mine host Duquette was also owner of the King George in Cornwall in those days, if memory serves us right, and his hospitality rated reams of high-flown phrases in the flowery reports that then were triumphs of journalism.

The hotel had probably seen its best days when we visited it; and we won't say what year. Fellow members of the 1st Alexandria Troop, Boy Scouts, no doubt will recall that trip to Stanley Island and church service of a Sunday in the Algonquin. We scouts had been camping on Cameron's Island for a week or two and perhaps we were brought to Stanley for a solid Sunday meal.

Darned if we can remember the details and we're not even certain there was a golf course on the island in those days. We do remember, though, that it was a lovely spot on which to revitalize things of the spirit; and there's a faint recollection of bacon and eggs that were also satisfying.

Alas, along came a decade of depression and a winter's night when the sky over Summerstown was aglow with the reflection of fire. The Algonquin was totally destroyed and since then Stanley Island has changed hands more than once. One of its American owners brought electricity to the island and so today's cottagers are assured of all the comforts of home in addition to that special thrill of getting free of the rat race that island-dwellers enjoy in a special sense.

Comforting it is to know that storied Stanley Island is now in such good hands. Nice, too, is the realization your Rambling Reporter moves in such affluent circles he can look forward to visiting that off-shore playground next summer.

Funny thing about Stanley Island; it may have a future because it had the course.

A LOTTA TREAT

Today's kids have it a lot better in a lot of ways that did we in our day, and that includes Hallowe'en treats. At least that's what we were thinking on All Hallows' Eve as we shelled out for visiting goblins.

Most of those who came calling were real optimists, outfitted with huge pillow slips which they seemed intent on filling with enough peanuts, jelly beans, apples and assorted goodies to last them till Christmas. And some of those pillow slips appeared on the way to getting half-filled at least.

That's not the way we remember it way back when we were making the rounds. A purse, a paper bag or an old stocking was sufficient to our needs, perhaps because we kept nibbling at the treats as they came our way.

Today's youngsters may have more control over their appetites for they appeared to be postponing the feed till the roundup was over. Or had they been warned to wait, by mothers who wanted to examine the loot for hidden hazards such as pins. razor blades and such?

There was none of that sadistic stuff in our day and we hope never to hear of area kiddies being treated so badly. Those newspaper reports of razor blades and needles imbedded in apples, of mothballs coated with chocolate, are almost incredible. Sadly twisted must be the mind that would play such tricks with treats.

It didn't happen here, thank goodness, and area youngsters behaved themselves well compared with the hooliganism and even rioting reported from other cities and towns. Whoever turned in that false alarm should reflect on the fact it cost the municipality some $40 in firemen's pay. Those responsible for spoiling the paint job on parked cars should have more sense than to damage personal property.

Next time the spirits are abroad we can hope they'll all act like angels.

The most effective filter tip, Is the one that doesn't reach your lip.

A heavy 4 inch tray with bible verse, a 300 year old story book and a very old brooch were among many other exhibits.

Verses "Grandmother's Home" about her home garden and "A grandchild is the one you rock to sleep" were two read appropriate to the occasion. A guessing contest was won by Mrs. John Kerr another by Mrs. Lloyd McRae.

Mrs. James McKie had the prize for the oldest grandchild, Mrs. Lloyd McRae for the youngest. Mrs. Josh Fourney won the prize for the most prizes won at the Williamstown Fair.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the younger WI members.

The War To End War

Fifty years ago, the war which was believed to be the war to end war came to a halt at 11 o'clock on the 11th of November, 1918. "After four years, three months and eleven days of bloody conflict, the guns fell silent and over eight million dead belonged to history." The last Canadian to die, was killed in the streets of Mons only seven hours before the bugles sounded Cease Fire".

This cease fire will be remembered in many churches across the nation on Sunday, November 10th and at cenotaphs and Legion Halls in villages and cities on November 11th.

At St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, there will be a Remembrance Service at 11 a.m., on Sunday the 10th, to which all veterans are cordially invited. Piper MacLeod Acheson will play a lament, the choir will sing appropriate music and the service will be conducted by the minister Rev. William McLean, MBE, DD, who served in the First World War with the 124th Battalion of Toronto.

GIFT FOR ALL SEASONS

It is no coincidence that in Canada United Appeal campaigns are held during the Thanksgiving month of October. As Thanksgiving came about to mark a good harvest and to plan for the forthcoming year, so it is appropriate that October should signify the united way of taking stock of our human resources and of seeing how and where they can be improved . . . It takes so little from us as individuals to help the united way, but the sum total of community effort means so much. You give a little of yourself when you give a fair share gift for more than 60 service, through the United Appeal.—West Vancouver (BC) Lions Gate Times.

MAYOR OPENS HOCKEY SEASON—Alexandria's Glens dropped their opening game to Thurso Sunday by a 6-2 score but some 400 fans present saw the promise of better things to come when the team of young homebrews has had more seasoning. Glens' Captain Lee Taillefer and the Thurso captain lined up for the official face-off when Mayor Raymond Periard dropped the puck. Looking on are Andie Menard, president of the Glens club, Carnival Queen Madeleine Faubert and Recreation Director John Chornabay.

GDHS Retains McArthur Trophy As Seniors Win Play-Off Convincingly

(by Angus H. McDonell)

Among the assets of champions in any given sport is the ability to meet a challenge and conquer same in convincing fashion.

The Glengarry District High School football team has developed this important trait and it was on display with some to spare here last Friday as the local students came up with a superlative effort. They retained the James A. McArthur Memorial trophy, emblematic of the EOSSA "B" football championship by defeating Hawkesbury High 31-9.

The basic fundamentals of football are to block and tackle. GDHS blocked like freight cars at a crossing and gang-tackled for 50 minutes of the game and their 22 point margin was the impressive result.

Hawks controlled the ball in the first four minutes and the final six to score a field goal and their only TD.

There was an overflow student crowd in attendance but only a sprinkling of adult fans. The weather was ideal with a bright sun until the last quarter. By that time the scholars were not concerned with the elements as they sensed a repeat championship was in view.

GDHS kicked off and the Hawks took over quite forcefully in their first sequence of plays.

At the four-minute mark the visitors had moved the yard sticks all the way to about the GDHS 16, where the local defensive line dug in forcing the Hawks to try a field goal on third down. The boot by Pat Menard was good and the visitors were first on the score sheet with three points.

Hugh MacGillivray promptly got his GDHS offence platoon on a return march that was halted when an end zone pass to Paul Poirier was too high and a placement try was wide to provide a single point.

Hawkesbury were stopped in their tracks and forced to give up the ball and GDHS again took over, this time at center field. On second down, MacGillivray triggered a 50-yard pass to Paul Poirier in the Hawks end zone for the game's first major. The convert was good and GDHS were leading 8-3 as the teams changed ends.

The visitors gained ground for a while in the second quarter but were forced to give up the ball without scoring. Quarterback MacGillivray kept a sustained GDHS return drive going by sending Michel Boisvenue, Bruce MacGillivray and Brian Libbos through the line and around the end to the Hawks seven-yard stripe and Libbos plunged for his school's second TD. The convert was wide.

Hawkesbury were again hemmed deep in their own end when Glen Allan MacPherson recovered a Hawk fumble. Paul Poirier dropped an end zone pass then Peter MacLeod bulled his way to the visitors' eight. MacGillivray triggered a pass to Poirier but the play was called back for holding. Hugh MacGillivray then booted a three-pointer with the minute flag up and the half-time score was GDHS 17 Hawks 3.

Hawkesbury boomed the third-quarter kickoff behind the local goal line but Peter MacLeod galloped back to his 25. Here again the GDHS pilot, Hugh MacGillivray, took command with Boisvenue, Poirier and Libbos grinding out yardage. From the two-yard line Bruce MacGillivray went into pay dirt but a flag was dropped for roughing. On the next play MacGillivray aimed for Paul Poirier but this was going to be short. Just as a Hawkesbury defender was set to intercept Ewen MacLeod very alertly ran across to take the pass and score the third converted major.

Following the next exchange, Hawkesbury couldn't get across center field. Poul Poirier blitzed on an end sweep from the 53 all the way but the TD was cancelled as GDHS were called for illegal procedure.

Moving into the final quarter GDHS had first down on the visitors' 10. MacGillivray hit Ewen MacLeod for five yards, a shoestring catch, and then Peter MacLeod broke through for TD number four. The convert was no good.

Hawkesbury's defence tightened and forced MacGillivray to hurry a couple of long passes too far, forcing a punting setup. Glen Allan MacPherson hoisted a fine kick into the Hawks' end and they couldn't run the ball out. This raised the tally to 31 with six minutes to go.

Richard Morris was finally given some effective protection by his Hawk front wall and the quarterback fired two lengthy passes for his team's best march of the game. Then Morris came up with his third straight completed pass in the GDHS end zone to Raymond Timbers for Hawkesbury's only major. It was not converted. The clock ran out with no further scoring and the final was GDHS 31, Hawkesbury 9.

Thus ended another fine football season locally and as we left the field we heard a fan with authority say that on today's play GDHS could have beaten any team in the EOSSA "A" St. Lawrence loop.

Thurso Wins Hockey Opener

by Angus H. McDonell

Alexandria and Thurso resumed old hockey rivalry in the old Gardens on an old scoring theme, last Sunday as the visitors defeated our Glens 6-2 in the opening of the Ottawa Valley Junior "B" schedule.

Following the official face-off by Mayor Ray Periard, Glens President Andy Menard and chic 1968 Carnival Queen Madeleine Faubert, Thurso took over command with two quick goals by center Benoit Boulerice. This was history repeating as not so long ago when Ourtown's sprites and peewees played Thurso it was Guy Lafleur blasting goal scoring pucks like Bobby Hull or Boom Boom Geoffrion.

Peter Filion was set up by Michel Boisvenue and Lee Taillefer to score Glens' first goal and later Wendell Lafave evened the count on a double assist by Jimmy MacDonald and Ray Champagne.

In the second period Thurso pulled away with two unanswered goals by Jim Simpson.

Boulerice completed a one-man show by adding two more counters in the final period as the cagey center jumped into the league scoring race with a four-goal effort.

The Glens were more outlucked in the last two periods than outplayed or outbumped. Most of their misfortune could be charged to lack of polish on scoring thrusts, something that takes a few games to overcome and even NHL clubs go through this early season experience.

Glens play in Perth this Friday night and in Hull on Sunday. On Friday, November 15, Ottawa Nepean will be the oppostion in the Centre at 8.30.

AVONMORE

MARKS 95th YEAR

Surrounded by members of her family and close friends, Mrs. Carrie Hill, for many years a resident of the Monkland-Avonmore area, quietly observed her 95th birthday on Thanksgiving Day at the Ruppert's Nursing Home, Newington. It was a very happy occasion for Mrs. Hill who was able to greet all the callers at her "At Home".

Mrs. Hill enjoyed all the frills of a birthday party—complete with a candle-bedecked birthday cake. She received many congratulatory messages, flowers and gifts.

Born in Russell County, Mrs. Hill was a daughter of William Pillar and his wife, Julie Rupert. In 1899 she married Elgin S. Hill. They lived for many years in the Second Concession of Roxborough until Mr. Hill"s death on Jan. 14, 1928.

Mrs. Hill was a resident at the Cornwall General Hospital Annex for five years before coming to the Ruppert's Nursing Home four years ago. She is a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Monkland.

Mrs. Hill has one daughter (Leila Mae) Mrs. Fred Holmes, Madoc; four sons, William Hill, Cornwall; George A. Hill, London, Ont.; James R. Hill, Madoc; and Bruce Hill, Monkland. Mrs. Hill has nine grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

One son, Hugh Alfred, died a number of years ago.

$100 grows to $250 with Canada Savings Bonds

$250 for each $100. That's what you can get with this year's Canada Savings Bonds. Here's how.

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $95.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

At maturity, therefore, you can get back total interest of $150 plus your original $100 investment. This way each $100 Canada Savings Bond becomes worth $250. Other denominations can grow at the same exciting rate.

Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy Canada Savings Bonds. They are available in convenient amounts of $50 up to $50,000 for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. And, as always, Canada Savings Bonds are cashable any time at full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy Canada Savings Bonds and make your savings really grow.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

There were two classical examples of "team effort" football games played on the weekend. The first was right here in the Glens when GDHS defeated Hawkesbury High 31-9 on Friday and Ottawa Riders topped Argos by the same score in Hog Town on Sunday.

Not only were the scores identical but also coincidental was a similarity in the pattern of play. Canada's star mighty mite of football, Ron Stewart, was a key man in blocking protection for his buddy quarterback Russ Jackson. That is when he wasn't an offence decoy. This was pre-game planning.

At home here, Coach Stan Fraser discovered on Thursday that he had to drop a defence player due to age non-eligibility. So Fraser assigned Neil Macdonald to go both ways thus filling the gap.

Now as we have said previously, Macdonald in his school football field mannerism is not unlike Whit Tucker. Rangy, mobile and with a long reach, plus football know-how. Neil is a worry to any pass catching defence. With graduation in sight this may have been Neil"s last school game.

But this is the first step in the direction of team effort. Visions of latching on to a pass or two from MacGillivray for majors had to be submerged and the defence assignment came first. To Neil Macdonald's credit he put "team effort" before seeking any personal star role on offence and there is no doubt this was one of the sparks that helped ignite the overall "team effort".

We thought another example was late in the third quarter. GDHS were halted by referee flags for minor offensive move more so than Hawks defence. Behind lost yardage, Hugh MacGillivray drew a bead on Paul Poirier in the end zone and despite a rush got the ball away but dropping short. A Hawk defender moved up to intercept and then bursting into the line of fire was Ewen MacLeod to intercept legally and score the TD that was intended for Paul Poirier in the first place. That, folks, is what is known as the extra effort.

Ewen MacLeod came right back in the final quarter when he made a short-stop pickup of a five-yard pass from MacGillivray on the Hawkesbury five yarder that set the stage for Peter MacLeod's TD. Those are only three of the individual efforts that add up to team effort.

This writer would need at least two spotters to single out many more fine plays so we will settle for all by mentioning that Michel Depratto was quite a center anchor, Edwin Sproule, and Bruce MacCuaig were standouts as offensive guards while Peter MacLeod and Roger Jeaurond in the role of line backers were not unlike Don Sutherin's play on Sunday for Riders against Argos.

There was only one feature lacking in the grand finale. As the players carried shoulder high their coaches Stan Fraser and Jean-Yves Jeaurond off the field I stood back waiting for the chic cheer leaders to give their coach schoolmam Mrs. Trivers, the same treatment. But the cute mini-mini skirted gals bowed out gracefully like the chorus line on Jackie Gleason's stage in favor of their heroes. The GDHS cheer leader group were: Suzanne Amelotte, captain, Jackie Richer, Jeanne Brunet, Jill Caley, Diane Laflamme, Kathie Villeneuve, Joyce Sabourin, Diane Dubeau, Diane Faubert and Susan Conway, coach Mrs. Trivers.

BEWARE OF TI-CATS

This old hobby of predicting the outcome of football games by sport scribes is a lot of fun and sometimes one seriously awaits the results.

We thought Hamilton would be tough Grey Cup defenders and finish ahead of Ottawa. Now the opinion is thrown around that Hamilton will come to the end of the 1968 road in CNE stadium next Saturday.

We are calling Ticats over Argos. Those tough guys from the steel mills must have one real good game to deliver despite being a step slower.

Argos with the help of the clock, legitimately of course, beat Als. Then they only scored one TD against Ticats when they played the most inept game of this or any other year. Last Sunday it was Argos defence platoon that scored their only major from a Rider fumble.

So if Zuger, Grant, Beathea, Barrow and Mosca are having a good day—don't sell Ticats short.

JUNIR "B" DEBUT

Alexandria moved into little big league hockey last Sunday when they played their first game in the Ottawa Valley Junior "B" League. This is quite a jump and we were not too surprised that our Glens lost 6-2. We were also not too surprised that the attendance did not set any early season record.

Why the powers that be start Junior "B" hockey before high school football has come to a close is something this writer cannot understand. Junior OHA all right. Even Montreal Metro that includes Cornwall Royals, but to our way of thinking it is nonsense to have boys exchange their cleats after football practise for skates to tune up for junior "B" hockey.

Youngsters today have forgotten more about corner line backing and off tackle gains than we old timers will ever know. So it is only natural that until Montreal Als and Riders are out of football and the Grey Cup game is over you just can't expect fans in the Glens to bypass TV football for junior hockey. We trust the Glens support will be forthcoming but we also hope the executive members who are paying the shot will realize that the early season lack of support is not indifference—it's due to football popularity.

HITHER AND YON

Memo to Wildlife Supervisor Ramsbottom . . . Bob should you in checking out the deer casualties come across a fine buck bearing a 1967 tag, as well as a 1968 number, don't be alarmed if a well-known Ottawa sportsman claims at least his 1967 tag . . . The most unique hunter has to be that meat-packer magnate from Verdun . . . Bill George . . . Bill, without shotgun, bow and arrow, hits for a sunny spot on the fringe of a deer run . . . sits comfortably with the Gazette, reading glasses, field glasses and other glasses that go along with a jug of ( ) coffee.

Mike Lowe has already hit a scoring spree with Loyola's hockey Warriors . . . Apple Hill's contribution to the Western Conference, Pierre Guindon, had a great wind-up day on Sunday with Peg Bombers . . . the U of M law student booted three converts, two field goals and one single . . . shades of the Hill's old guard the MacIsaacs, Sam the Widows, Marjerrisons and Sterlings . . . Burns MacPherson's St. FX teammate last year, Paul Brule, also made a fine showing with Winnipeg this year . . . Give Kelly Mote marks for tracking down Riders' Vic Washington.

Turning from football to music our favorite grand-nephew, Rory McCormick, is fingering the chanter scales . . . Won't the lassies drool when they survey this young piper in the kilt.

The Glens lost a staunch sports supporter in the untimely passing of Green Valley's Aime Menard—our deepest sympathy.

NOTICE

Project 2000, a province-wide blitz of Ontario farmers to determine their future needs, starts off in Vankleek Hill on Wednesday, Nov. 13, says Myles Edwards, president of UCO Glen-Pres.

On Nov. 13, we'll start canvassing farmers who are not now using their co-operative's services, with teams of two men from Vankleek Hill co-operative. These teams will consist of an elected representative of the co-operative and an employee'', he adds.

In all, at least 2,000 calls (this is how Project 2000 got its name) will be made in the province. The number could be several times that, though, as Mr. Edwards indicates, since the project has a lot of enthusiasm behind it.

''Only by finding out what farm people want can we begin to plan the facilities and services that will be required to service those needs. And, while we'll be urging farmers to buy co-operatively, we'll also be finding out if he knows the extensive range of services and products already available from his co-operative'', says Mr. Edwards.

The canvassers will do this by using a handy check list outlining products and services from early delivery fertilizer programs to bulk feeds services, to automatic petroleum delivery to silo unloaders—offered by the co-operative.

The last time UCO and its member co-operatives held such a large scale, province-wide canvass was in 1961.

8—In Memoriam

DIOTTE—In loving memory of a dear husband, father, grandfather, William Diotte who passed away two years ago, Nov. 5th, 1966.
When ties of love are broken
And loved ones have parted
It leaves a wound that never heals
A sad and broken heart.
To know I never said goodbye,
Will always bring regret
But hearts that love you dearly
Are ones that don't forget.
Joys we shared together
And memories so dear
Love and happiness you gave me
Will keep you always near.
It broke my heart to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of me went with you
The day God called you home.
—Sadly missed by his wife Mrs. Gilberthe Diotte and family.
Ottawa, Ont. 45-1c

—Always remembered by her nephew, Dougald MacMaster.

SLOAN—In deep and loving memory of a dear husband and father Howard, who departed this life on Oct. 26, 1967.
In Autumn time, when leaves come down,
Like a colored blanket, o'er the ground,
Sadden memories, deepen still,
As we think of Dad in Apple Hill.
He died in pain, of too long a length,
But in death, like life, he gave us strength,
At fifty six, he died so young,
His many projects, left undone.
Howard's memory, will ever linger near,
To those of us, who held him dear,
In the early fall, you may catch us crying
For like Dad in Autumn, the leaves are dying.
—Widow Catherine, children, Thelma, Glenn, Marleen, Dorothy.
Cornwall, Ont. 45-1c
