Free-for-all shaping up in SG – 13 candidates vie for 5 seats

BY SUE HARRINGTON
News Correspondent

Unlike their counterparts to the north, South Glengarry residents will have a lot of choice at the municipal election on Nov. 10.

South Glengarry Administrator-coordinator Marcel Lapierre says that 13 candidates had declared themselves and all have let their names stand at the Friday deadline.

Former reeve of South Glengarry, Charles Sangster, was a late entrant into the race for deputy-mayor, challenging incumbent Frank Prevost. Both mayoralty candidates, incumbent Dave MacDonald and Councillor Jim McDonell had announced their intentions previously.

Nine candidates will be vying for the three councillor positions. Incumbent Janette Abbey has been joined by fellow councillor, Ian McLeod, who waited until Friday to make his decision to run.

Also running for the position of councillor are Carol-Ann Ross, Victoria Stewart, George Johann, John Lounsberry – all of whom had previously declared – and Joyce Gravelle, John Warden, and Bill Madden, who added their names on Friday.

The only school board race in South Glengarry will be for the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario, where Ron Eamer will take on challengers Kevin Lydon, and Gerald Samson, with two to be elected. Representatives to all other boards have been acclaimed, including Art Buckland to the Upper Canada District School Board; Stephanie Perrault to the Conseil des ecoles publiques de l'Est de l'Ontario, and Georgette Sauve, Conseil de district catholique de l'Est ontarien.

Mr. Sangster, a Bainsville businessman, said he waited to see who was running for what position before he made up his mind to contest the election.

"I wanted to figure out where I could be the greatest asset," he told the News on Monday.

Mr. Sangster said his worries about council spending were what prompted him to run.

"The money the municipality has spent in the past three years has gone up by 55 per cent," he said. "In general I think I could be running things a little more efficiently."

He says that his 17 years of politicial experience, at both lower and upper tiers of municipal government, will benefit council.

"I just want to make sure the taxpayers get a fair shake and the services they need," he said.

Councillor McLeod said that time was a big factor in delaying his decision to run. With family and work commitments, he wanted to be certain that he would still be able to devote the hours necessary to be an effective representative.

"There were a lot of deliberations right to the end, but many people were encouraging me to run," said Mr. McLeod, a civil engineer who works mainly with municipally related projects for Thompson Rosemont.

Fewer candidates, races in North Glengarry

There will be only four races in the upcoming North Glengarry municipal election.

Michel Depratto is challenging incumbent Bill Franklin for the mayor's seat while William Hagen will defend his office of deputy mayor in a rematch against Maryanne Kampouris.

Only two wards will feature contests.

In Lochiel, Councillor Ron MacDonell is being challenged by Wendy MacPherson. In Kenyon, newcomer Bob Linney is taking on incumbent Julie Akkermans.

Councillors Gary Shepherd in Alexandria and George Currier in Maxville have been re-elected by acclamation.

Water closed down major NG industry

BY PETE BOCK
News Reporter

Alexandria's water problems forced North Glengarry Township to cut off supplies to one of its largest industries in February, resulting in the company shutting down its local operations for several days, The Glengarry News has learned.

The information became available as a result of a recent $32,046 settlement between the township and Consoltex.

But the amount is just a fraction of what it cost the textile manufacturer to transfer production to Quebec so that its customers could be served when the municipality shut off its water supply in February.

Township clerk Leo Poirier told The News last week, a pump failure at the Alexandria waterplant resulted in sufficient loss of pressure that the township was forced to approach Consoltex, "rather than having to shut down the whole system for the town."

Although not employed by the township at the time, Waterworks manager André Bachand explained what happened in February.

"One of our distribution pumps was not doing what it is supposed to do, it couldn't put out enough."

Problems with the main pump began on Feb. 9 and didn't start to improve until the township rented a portable pump on Feb. 11. That action was required, Mr. Bachand said, because the back-up pump, "just wasn't putting out what it should."

After bringing in divers to do exploratory work, and then having a new drive and pump installed, it cost the township $80,000 to bring its main pump back in order.

By Feb. 12 everything at the waterworks plant was back to normal, but not so for Consoltex.

Plant manager Claude Robillard said that in order to satisfy clients' demands, the company transferred some products into Montreal and Cowansville.

"This caused roughly $200,000 in extra expenses," Mr. Robillard said.

While Mr. Robillard hopes situations like this don't happen every month – he was told by the township that a long-term remedy to the situation is in place – he said Consoltex, "was simply acting like good citizens" when the township approached them to shut down operation. He said it was a normal reaction to a big problem for Alexandria.

Waterworks manager André Bachand said the township uses a different approach with its pumps these days. Instead of using one main pump all the time, it rotates the use of its two pumps monthly.

Mayor Franklin expressed gratitude for the help the township received from Consoltex.

"They are a very important business in town," Mr. Franklin said. "This is our way of repaying them for what they did, because we could have been in trouble had they not.

"I don't think it is any secret we had the problem; to me it was very logical that you shut down the business, before you shut down the town."

In the July 18 agreement between the township and Consoltex, North Glengarry agreed to cancel $32,046 worth of interest accumulated on taxes owed by the company. The company subsequently paid its tax arrears.

For his part, Mr. Robillard preferred that the township split the costs incurred by the company on a 50-50 basis.

"But it is like other things you negotiate, you get to the point where both parties find a solution to the issue. And it was accepted by both parties."

Reorganization keeps newspaper in family hands

One of Ontario's longest, continuously owned community newspapers is going to remain in its founding family's hands for the foreseeable future.

Members of the Macdonald family announced Monday that they had concluded a reorganization which would see two of the four brothers maintain ownership in The Glengarry News.

The family has owned The News since its inception in 1892. The founding publisher and editor was Lt.-Col. A.G.F. Macdonald. He was succeeded by his son Eugene in 1944.

In recent times, ownership of the publication has been maintained by Eugene Macdonald's four sons, Garth, Alan, Kevin and Neil, each of whom controlled equal shares.

Under the reorganization announced this week, the newspaper's president, Kevin Macdonald, will become principal owner with brother Neil retaining his share of the business. Brothers Garth and Alan will have a reduced interest in the business.

The new principal owner, Kevin Macdonald, said the restructuring lifted a considerable burden off the shoulders of all four brothers, who had been fielding offers since it was announced in January 2002 that the newspaper would be available for sale.

"We had several serious bids to consider," he said of the 21-month process, "but when it really came down to accepting one of those offers, there was a strong desire within the family not to sever our connection at this time."

Senior attacks OPP in course of arrest

A 71year-old man from North Glengarry assaulted a OPP officer, Const. Jay Brody, after being stopped Thursday night on County Road 22, east of Maxville.

The man, who was driving a 1991 Chevy pick-up truck, faces charges of Impaired Driving and Assaulting a Police Officer. He is scheduled to appear in Alexandria court Nov. 7.

SuperBuild plan turned down, next step not clear

BY SUE HARRINGTON
News Correspondent

You don't want a community centre? How about a sportsfield instead?

Those who attended a public meeting on the fate of the Smithfield SuperBuild Project were given that alternative after voting overwhelmingly against proceeding with plans for a $1.2 million community centre. At the same time, many of them said they'd be in favour of a less expensive community investment – a new $80,000 soccer field.

The meeting, which was held Wednesday night at the township hall in Lancaster, attracted less than 30 people. Most of them are opposed to the project.

Barry Millett (who along with Councillor Jim McDonell, Bruce Munro, and, in the early stages, Pierre Roy, were part of the Smithfield SuperBuild Committee) called for a vote when it became apparent the necessary support was not going to come from the community.

"I think we're riding a dead horse," said Mr. Millett. "Call for a show of hands."

Councillor McDonell explained the meeting had been called to gauge the public's opinion to a new, scaled down plan which could be built for the $1.2 million approved by the province. Under SuperBuild funding, the provincial and federal governments would cough up a maximum of $480,000.

The township's original request for a 38,000 square foot building, including a curling club, was turned down by the province.

The new concept, unveiled Wednesday, features a building that was downsized to 6,000 square feet. It includes a 1,500 square foot library, two meeting rooms with a movable wall between them, a kitchen, washroom facilities, and a seniors room at the back, where their furniture would not have to be taken down and put up again.

"In the future, if the curling club wanted to move, it could be built on to the seniors room," explained Mr. McDonell. "We've made it very practical so we can keep the costs down."

Mayor Dave MacDonald said that the whole project was based on community partnerships, some of which had not materialized.

"We've had letters of support, but so far there has been no local group that has pledged money," he said.

"Stand up now and let us know," he challenged.

Speaking on behalf of the Lancaster Curling Club, President Kirsty McLeod said she would still like to see the club be a part of the project.

"I was certainly for this," she said. "I thought it could only be a good thing. We were going to be paying our own way – $240,000."

The mayor clarified that the original proposal, which included four sheets of ice for the curling club, would have cost an additional $1.2 million, on top of the $1.2 million for the building.

The SDG County Library Board, which operates the Lancaster Branch Library, was also considered to be a partner in the project.

Speaking on behalf of the library, Glengarry Reference Technician Donna Parker said that the library board was willing to go along with whatever council decided.

Sharon Simonelis, who chairs the Friends of the Lancaster Library, said that during a recent door-to-door raffle ticket selling campaign in support of the library's 100th anniversary, she did not encounter anyone who wanted the library to move from its present location.

"We didn't solicit any information; people volunteered this. We weren't involved in the politics of this project," she added.

Mayor MacDonald said that the Friends of the Lancaster Library could qualify for Trillium Grant funding and this money could possibly be used to refurbish the present library building.

Objectors to the project appeared to be divided into those who were against the new building because it didn't address the recreational needs of the community, and those who felt the community could not afford a

Old high school gets new owners

BY TODD ANDERSON
News staff

Changes are brewing at the former Maxville high school.

According to North Glengarry Township planner Terry Hart, the building has been sold by one numbered company (1505530 Ont. Inc.) to another numbered company (6121454 Canada Ltd. Calabro).

Mr. Hart said he's expecting to receive information from the new company before the Oct. 20 planning meeting on what their intentions for the building are.

"At this present time the group which purchased the building are gutting it," he said.

"They're supposed to provide information on what they're doing. If it's institutional they'll be permitted to operate."

Mr. Hart added there has been no application received from the company yet to change the zoning from institutional.

Township tax collector Jean MacLeod said she received information from the firm Tolhurst and Miller in Vankleek Hill detailing the closing date for the previous ownership on Aug. 14.

new facility.

Several people criticized the lack of gymnasium space in the updated plan, even though Councillor McDonell pointed out the two meeting rooms could be turned into a basketball court because of the movable wall.

"Nothing really seems to be addressing the recreational aspect," said Peter Lebrun. "We still won't have a recreational facility for our youth to use."

Ian Macintosh agreed.

"This seems like a duplication of what we've got now. For a million bucks, what's the point?"

Others pointed out the financial impact of building the facility, which would cost roughly $100 per square foot to construct, $400,000 for infrastructure, and approximately $150,000 to acquire 10 acres of land

"As a taxpayer, I'm against it," said Bill McKenzie. "We should look at the need for this. We haven't even heard about the operational costs."

Mr. McKenzie said that the municipality didn't have the money and that it couldn't spend money it didn't have.

"Sure we'd like to have more; everyone wants to have more," he said, adding that council should spruce up its present Smithfield Park so that it looks attractive and people would want to go there.

Mr. McKenzie also suggested that council make "a nice soccer facility" on the site.

This suggestion gradually found favour with those in attendance, prompting Councillor McDonell to ask how many would support a sportsfield at a cost of $80,000 with the other levels of government paying 40 per cent.

"If the building isn't a go, we could go back and see if they [the province] would approve a soccer field, with lights. I'd just hate to walk away from it all."

Only four people were opposed to the sportsfield idea in a show of hands.

"It's been a good meeting," said Mayor MacDonald, who pointed out that there was already money in the reserves now for Smithfield Park that could be put toward the soccer field.

Candidates

"There are definitely a lot of things still to be done and corrected in the municipality," he said. "Many, many issues need way more time than has been spent on them in this present council."

Mr. McLeod described the past council as being "very, very closed," and not having all of council involved in decision-making.

He said he was impressed by the slate of candidates contesting the election and hopes those who succeed will form, "a good working council."

John Warden is making his first stab at municipal politics. Mr. Warden is the proprietor of both John Warden Fuels and John Warden Septic and feels his many years of business experience and proven record of responsible spending, will benefit council.

"We have had a substantial raise in spending in the past three years," he said. "Everybody's talking about it. You can't always talk up a storm and not let your name stand."

Mr. Warden said he wouldn't be making any promises he might not be able keep and was realistic enough not to think he could change the world overnight. However, he would work hard to see that council becomes more responsible in its spending habits.

Fiscal responsibility is high on the list of candidate Bill Madden's concerns as well. Mr. Madden was the last person to file his papers, nipping in under the wire on Friday.

There were no ulterior motives – he was just busy doing other things that day, he says.

Mr. Madden, a Green Valley area cash crop farmer and semi-retired aerospace consultant, also believes that good planning is important for South Glengarry.

"We need planning, fair taxation, and fiscal responsibility," he told the News.

Mr. Madden offers a wealth of municipal political experience – by association. He has been a member of numerous township boards and committees and is currently a member of South Glengarry's Planning Advisory Committee (PAC).

He has also been a director for six years of the SDG Community Development Corporation, where he is currently chair of the finance committee.

"We have been very successful in bringing business to SDG," he said.

Joyce Gravelle, a Martintown resident who works part-time as a consultant in the areas of economic development and marketing, has also been very active on township committees over the years.

Despite her late entry into the election race, running was something she has been considering for a long time. As a member of South Glengarry's Economic Development Committee, she is anxious to see the township's new economic development plan implemented.

"I think the time is right to sit at council," she said.

Describing herself as a "forward-thinker," Mrs. Gravelle sees economic development as a revenue generator for the municipality.

"I'm not running against things; I'm running for things – that's my platform."

She also believes her experience has given her a really good understanding of organizational skills which could be put to use for the benefit of the municipality.

Candidates for the election who declared themselves earlier have already been profiled in The Glengarry News.

Pipe and drumming school returns to Maxville roots

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

The Glengarry School of Piping and Drumming (GSPD) is back in Maxville after a two- year relocation to Alexandria.

Rob Wilson, President of the school's board of directors, says the school moved to Alexandria because it was unable to come to an agreement with its former venue, Maxville Public School (MPS.)

As such, GSPD enjoyed a brief hiatus to Glengarry District High School. In fact, Mr. Wilson says the move was not without its advantages.

"Alexandria was a better location from a classroom perspective," he says. "The classrooms were bigger and they weren't crowded with the students' personal belongings."

Still, he says it's good to be back home again.

Businesses celebrate return

"Maxville is closer to Ottawa and Cornwall," he says. "And many of the school's instructors are involved in the GSPD, which practices in Maxville on Saturday. That means that they'll have less travel time."

Mr. Wilson isn't the only one happy to see the GSPD back in town. Julia Danskin, owner of Maxville's Scottish Gift Shop, says it was a "terrible shock" to learn that GSPD was moving away.

"My husband, David, has been involved with the pipe band since the beginning," she says. "And both of our children came up through the school as drummers."

In addition to the sentimental attachment, Mrs. Danskin says that the school is a vital aspect of Maxville's business community.

"Maxville depends on things like (the GSPD) to stay alive," says Mrs. Danskin, a former president of Maxville's Chamber of Commerce. "We have so many students coming here with their parents and they contribute to the commerce of the town. They'll buy gas or go for lunch or even just get something in the hardware store."

COLOURS OF THE RAINBOW: If the Franco-Ontarien flag could talk, it would surely thank all of Glengarry's seven French Catholic schools for helping it celebrate its 28th birthday last Friday at Island Park in Alexandria. It turned out to be an incredible full-day party that combined a five-kilometre Terry Fox run in the morning with a full afternoon of Francophone pride immediately afterwardsThe students sat on the lawn, waved their flags, and danced to the music of Donald Poliquin. Each of the seven schools was ascribed a different colour of the rainbow. That way, the students, suitable garbed in their colours, could stand up and create a giant rainbow across the field. The seven schools participating were Elda Rouleau, Alexandria; Laurier-Carriere, Glen Robertson; St. Bernard, Maxville; St. Joseph, Lancaster; Ste. Marie, Green Valley; Ste. Therese, North Lancaster; and Le Relais, Alexandria. STEVE WARBURTON PHOTO

Music hall of fame another step closer

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

Local fans of Celtic music should set aside May 28, 2004 on their calendars.

Founding members of the Glengarry Celtic Music Hall of Fame took another step towards realizing their dream when they set a tentative date, at the Bonnie Glen next spring, to install their first honourees.

Formed in June, the Hall of Fame just finished candidate nomination forms, and now have an executive, officers, and both criteria and fundraising committees in place, says group secretary, Ann MacPhee.

The nomination forms were a hurdle for the criteria committee to overcome, Mrs. MacPhee said, "because there had to be some boundaries, but not too many."

The Hall Of Fame seeks "to recognize those individuals or groups who have contributed significantly to the advancement of Celtic Music in Glengarry whether by entertaining, instructing, or promoting."

Those nominating candidates for the Hall are asked to provide brief statements of support and accomplishments. While organizers hope to have forms available throughout the county, for now they are available from Margaret Laplante (931-3189), Ann MacPhee (525-1763) or Isabelle McCuaig (347-2653).

In an effort to raise funds for the Hall of Fame, founding members plan to host a special evening of entertainment and dancing featuring local musicians at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Nov. 8. The cost of the event is $7 per person, with a lunch being provided. In addition, a draw is to be held for a carved wooden piper donated by Dan MacDonald.

While the Hall of Fame is searching for its first inductees, it is also hard at work on a parallel effort to secure memorabilia according to the group's president, Margaret Laplante.

Interested in chronicling Celtic music history and memories in Glengarry, the group is looking for artifacts, and even stories.

The Hall of Fame is still looking for a home. It plans to look for space in an existing facility, rather than constructing a new building.

Election Notebook

Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde told a gathering of Glengarrians that Alexandria needs to improve its water system if it wants to expand.

"Alexandria has to increase the distribution of its water and sewage capacity if it wants to attract more businesses to the area," Mr. Lalonde told an audience of about 25 at a breakfast meeting last Thursday morning at Priest's Mill.

Mr. Lalonde, the riding's incumbent Liberal MPP, also said he was upset to lose South Glengarry from his riding.

"To me, Glengarry is one municipality," he said. "Everyone just has to work together."

Tom Manley, Green Party candidate for the Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh riding, says that when it comes to agriculture, free and fair trade does not exist.

As evidence, he says that the U.S. has raised tariffs on Canadian softwood lumber.

"They don't want to trade fairly," he says.

As such, Mr. Manley is bewildered that Canada is importing food from other countries when it can be grown at home.

"Why are we bringing in potatoes from Idaho or beef from Argentina?" he asked.

Mr. Manley also says that consolidation of agriculture is shutting out the small and medium sized farms.

Todd Lalonde, PC candidate for Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh, also offered his comments on agriculture.

Specifically, he said forming a caucus of Eastern Ontario MPPs would give the agricultural community a greater voice at Queen's Park.

He added that the SDC area needs to market itself better if it wants to attract agri-businesses.

Fire destroys cultural centre

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

Fire ravaged the Angus Gray Hall in Maxville early Tuesday morning leaving one of Glengarry's cultural centres – home to the Agricultural Wall of Fame – completely demolished.

Members of the Maxville and Apple Hill Volunteer Fire Departments responded to the blaze, located at the Maxville Fairgrounds, at about 4 am., according to an OPP report.

The hall was used for community dances at the Maxville Fair in June and at the Highland Games in August, said Kenyon Agricultural Society president Jack Fraser.

"People would use it for 25th anniversaries and weddings," Mr. Fraser added."The Ag Wall of Fame was in one end of it – and all the portraits and write-ups were there.

"A lot of memorabilia is lost forever."

The origin of the fire has not been determined.

The Office of the Fire Marshal has been contacted to coordinate the investigation into the fire.

Summer of financial accountability proves short-lived

OBSERVATIONS

JT GROSSMITH

Here are some questions that Canadians should be asking right now: Have we have hit rock bottom yet? Has all the dirty linen been hung out on the line? What other secrets remain tucked away in the closet? And, finally, when Paul Martin takes over at 24 Sussex Drive sometime in the next couple of months, will it officially signal the end of a brief, but astonishing, experiment of MPs actually performing a worthwhile function as guardians of the public purse? The answers in order are no, no, too many, and probably yes. For the good of the country, let's hope those answers are all wrong. Sadly, that's not likely to be the case with the worst of it being the last question.

Nonetheless, during this unprecedented period when MPs began to act like they were somebodies, rather than nobodies, as they were once labelled by Pierre Elliot Trudeau, a new dynamic emerged that is depressing in the short term, because of the information driving it, but at least offered Canadians some hope that their federal government might actually develop some notion of responsibility.

Here is the astonishing list of what has been uncovered in a relatively short, few months.

1. George Radwanski racked up more than $500,000 during his brief stint as Privacy Commissioner on meals, travel and other assorted unacceptable endeavours – all of which have been well documented here and elsewhere.

2. National Gallery of Canada director Pierre Théberge spent more than $100,000 eachyear of public money on meal and travel expenses over the past six years. During that period, he managed to rack up gas bills of $7,101 while charging for $13,863 in car rentals. On one occasion, he even deigned to provide a tip of $140 out of taxpayer's money. Sadly, the serving staff probably never realized how generous we all were.

3. The same Mr. Théberge also has been a driving force behind the millions in dollars of expenditures in Prime Minister Jean Chrétien's riding for art exhibitions as well as a new museum.

4. Charles Boyer, an aide to would-be PM, Sheila Copps, spent more than $30,000 per year over the past two years treating himself and others to fine dining and expensive wines. His appetite, it turns out, was so great that on one occasion he spent some $200 on a dinner and drinks early in the evening and then another $350 on drinks and food by 11:30 that same night. As well, he rang up a hefty bill doing public business on New Year's Eve!

5. Gov. Gen Adrienne Clarkson and husband John Ralston Saul embarked on a 20-day, tax-funded tour of Russia, Finland and Iceland with a host of friends and other that will cost taxpayers more than $1million. This nice little junket, by the way, is only the tip of the proverbial iceberg in terms of Madame Clarkson's expenditures. More on this at another time.

That's the top five for the moment, but we all know there's much, much more to come. The question, as posed earlier, is whether it's possible to pull it all together. The multi-party Government Operations Committee is responsible for the hearings on Mr. Radwanski that literally opened the dikes to the unprecedented flood of information as outlined above. Now, however, it has already shown signs of back-tracking on a similar inquiry into the spending habits of Gov-Gen Clarkson. Most observers attribute the committee's sudden change of heart to pressure by Paul Martin on chairperson Reg Alcock and other Liberal MPs who make up the majority of the committee.

It's not surprising that Mr. Martin would want to lessen the committee's influence for two reasons.

First, he hopes to go to the polls in the spring and the kind of publicity being generated by the committee tends to reflect poorly on governments, which is not a good re-election strategy.

Second, the real driving force behind most of these recent revelations is Canadian Alliance MP John Williams. Now that it's official that Mr. Martin will be Prime Minister, likely before the year is out, he has no interest in furthering the efforts of the Official Opposition, which Mr. Williams and his party represent.

Finally, there was another example recently of the likely short life of the concept of MPs wanting to be guardians of the public purse. One of Glengarry's two representatives, Don Boudria, announced that he favours MPs being given responsibility for what amounts to being a $50,000 slush fund for each of their ridings. This money would be handed out in dribs and drabs without any real mechanism of control. Clearly, it seems that this brief era of federal financial accountability was as short-lived as the summer during which it took hold. Now our MPs are back from vacation and ready to do as they're told, again!

On another front, it was interesting to see how Glengarry's representatives in Parliament voted on the Canadian-Alliance's motion opposing gay marriages. Bob Kilger broke ranks with Prime Minister Jean Chrétien and voted in favour of the motion while Don Boudria followed the PM`s lead and voted against the motion. Interestingly, Mr. Boudria, as well as Mr. Chrétien and Paul Martin, had been among the 216 MPs who had voted for a Liberal government motion in 1999 affirming that "marriage is and should remain the union of one man and one woman." This time around 56 Liberals changed their votes on a similar motion along with 1 PC, 1 BQ and 1 NDP. Those changed votes proved crucial, given that the motion was defeated by a narrow margin of five.

Thorns & Thistles

THORN – Lots of arguing, no debate.

It's not surprising that Liberal Jean-Marc Lalonde was less than enthusiastic about having more than one debate in the riding of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell.

After all, by virtually all accounts, he has little to gain and much to lose by doing so.

The fact that he agreed to a second debate in Hawkesbury but nothing was accomplished in terms of holding one here in Glengarry, just gives credence to the notion that we have mentioned before that Glengarry has little influence in terms of the outcome of the election in this riding.

Interestingly, in Stormont-Dundas-Charlottenburgh riding, there have been so many debates, including one in Martintown, that most people barely have enough fingers to keep track of them all.

Then again, there is no incumbent running and given recent elections it could be one of the tighter races in the election.

THISTLE – NG Council agrees to compromise.

Some of the members of North Glengarry council might still have been looking for blood when the soccer facility application came back to council last week, but the decision reached after much discussion makes the most sense.

As it now stands, council can still veto the application at a later date, but for the moment is allowing the local recreation associations the opportunity to press forward with their plan.

Nonetheless, if the Trillium Corporation does decide to grant the applicants suitable funding, it's hard to see how council could do anything but support the plan.

Particularly, if there is no new money required from the township's coffers other than that which the recreation commissions would have otherwise received.

THORN – Estimate high for community centre.

This is a good news/bad news scenario. The good news is that the mould will soon be gone, the bad news is that it could cost upwards to $500,000 to refurbish the existing building.

As well, the issue may become a polticial football in the election with the two candidates for mayor on opposite sides of the ball.

Mayor Dave MacDonald told council last week it would be less expensive to repair the existing building rather than build a new one.

Councillor Jim McDonell, who is running against Mr. MacDonald, took an opposite tack, noting that "everybody knows the building is a problem" and repairing it would be "just throwing money away."

Neither argument is too encouraging for local residents who just want to see the facility back in order without a tax increase.

THISTLE – NG approves pay raise.

Politicians raising their remuneration is never really good news but at least North Glengarry council has gone about it the right way by making the increases effective for the next council.

Readers may recall that South Glengarry members raised their remuneration almost immediately after being elected and gave themselves what amounted to four year's pay instead of the three-year basis on which they were elected.

Some might argue that the differences between determining increases now and later are semantic, but we disagree.

This way, North Glengarry voters know what they'll be paying their representatives after the November election. The same can't be said for South Glengarry residents. It will be interesting to see if SG candidates are quizzed on this issue during the campaign.

Part of the team

I would like to rectify an omission in my presentation on the 25th anniversary of Chateau Gardens-Lancaster.

We strive to foster a team approach at Chateau Gardens and Dr. Donal F. Conway has been an integral part of our mission.

He has been the medical director of the facility from the beginning and has been available 24/7 for queries regarding residents. He has been in every accreditation survey and on each occasion has been congradulated by the accreditor.

From the administration and staff, we would like to extend our sincere thanks for all contributions he has made to Chateau Gardens-Lancaster.

Rarely simple

The saga of the Dalkeith mega hog farm project is becoming more Kafka-esque with each additional fragment of information that emerges. North Glengarry Township Council calls a "special" meeting for the evening of Aug. 14, the stated purpose of which is to announce whether or not the much-contested permit would be approved.

The township even goes to the trouble of denying rumours circulating prior to the meeting. No discussion is allowed and it is announced the permit is granted.

Heavy excavation equipment shows up to start work on the multi-million dollar project at dawn the next day. (Deborah Henderson's letter, The Glengarry News, Sept. 17, 2003).

Obviously, the granting of the permit was a fait accompli long before Aug. 14, and the so-called "special" meeting was nothing more than an exercise in crass cynicism and a blatant insult to the intelligence of all North Glengarry constituents.

It is difficult to determine the motives of the mayor and council, but their collective actions, and the appalling lack of civility that has been much in evidence throughout the whole sorry episode, certainly raise many extremely uncomfortable questions.

What is becoming very clear is that those opposing the project have been victims of a conspiracy. Their arguments against the project, based on very solid facts, were never considered right from the outset.

Regardless of whether one is in agreement with or opposed to the mega hog farm project, all constituents of North Glengarry should take note.

The mayor and council are acting like a private club, and unfortunately it is at taxpayers' expense.

No matter what issues should arise in the future, the contempt towards those opposing this particular project raises red warning flags.

It could be a completely different issue next time around, but this administration has proved itself to be biased and untrustworthy.

No individual or group can be assured of having a fair and objective hearing.

For the moment we do not have all of the pieces in this particular puzzle.. But, as additional fragments of information surface here and there, we may eventually get at the truth.

However, as Oscar Wilde said "Truth is never pure, and rarely simple."

About the smell

An open letter to Mayor Franklin and those responsible for voting yes, allowing the huge pig farms to operate in North Glengarry.

You chaps try to make us believe that they do not emit any smell.

I beg to differ! Mr. Mayor, you should take an hour and drive to the outskirts of St. Eugene (towards La Montee.)

Even on a windless day, you will no doubt smell the stench of the pig farm.

Good job, boys.

Guy and Anita Picard / North Glengarry

P.S. I have not even touched upon the lowering property values or water contamination.

Customer service

On the eve of the provincial election, there has been much valuable discussion on many interesting issues. One which has remained out of the limelight is that of customer service. In essence, as taxpayers, we pay the salaries of our MPPs and they should treat us as valued customers.

Unfortunately, this has not been my personal experience with our MPP Jean-Marc Lalonde. I have written letters to Mr.Lalonde on three occasions in the last two years asking specific questions regarding government policies and programs. I have yet to receive so much as a form letter acknowledging receipt of my inquiry, much less a useful answer.

I stopped in at Mr.Lalonde's campaign office to inquire as to what had happened to my correspondence. The lady at the office indicated that Mr.Lalonde was "very busy" but that she would try to "get an answer for me soon."

That is much appreciated, but I fail to see why it is that I should have to go chasing after my answers from my own employee.

If I was treated this way in a store, I guarantee I would never purchase anything from them again; it would be as if the cashier were too busy to take my money. I have anecdotal evidence from other people that they have has similar experiences.

We need to demand more of our elected officials, particularly it would appear, our member of Provincial Parliament.

We employ these people to address our concerns and represent our interests.

Customer service is basic to any business and so it should be business of governance.

Tax responsibilities

Charles Sangster, in his recent letter to the editor , indicates he has "been watching the debate on higher taxes in South Glengarry" as have most of our taxpayers.

Mr. Sangster as Reeve was ultimately responsible for the budgets of 1999 and 2000, should he not accept responsibility for a portion of the increase?

Facts important to the understanding of the budget have not been included:

a) Farmland assessment has been increased by 50% but is taxed at 25% of assessed value.

b) Assessment increases for Commercial, Industrial and Multi Residential are capped at 5% by the Province.

c) Assessments on churches, schools and government properties are tax exempt.

d) While provincial funding has increased it is not enough to cover the expenses downloaded by the province.

e) Government grants only cover 12% of our overall tax bill.

The Fact: Residential taxes in South Glengarry increased by 18% between 1999 and 2003 – they are the second lowest when compared to those of members of the United Counties and Cornwall.

Further, in the same issue of The News Sue Harrington reports that building of a new facility in Martintown for a combined fire hall and community centre at an estimated cost of $1,400,000 is supported by Jim McDonell who is quoted as saying: "in the last 10 years almost $80,000 worth of repairs have gone into the facility." (Community Centre).

However, he has overlooked mentioning that approximately $70,000 has been paid by insurance following the ice storm. It is overlooking of fact to support a position.

If the figures quoted are correct, the real cost of $1,000 per year has been well spent, the building has served us well at a reasonable cost.

This facility serves more community groups than any other in the country.

Your Mayor Dave MacDonald has a complete breakdown of where your tax dollars are spent.

Get the facts, simply ask.

Lions ready to roar after 50 years in Alexandria

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

Unlike many area residents, Richard Quesnel has some very fond memories of the ice storm that devastated Eastern Ontario in 1998.

A member of the Alexandria Lions Club, Mr. Quesnel spent much of that time visiting families who had been evacuated from their homes.

"We spent a whole day going around to the different community centres where the families were staying," says Mr. Quesnel. "We brought them cards, games, and gifts."

It's all part of a day's work for the Lions Club, whose motto is 'We Serve.' Whether it's a struggling individual or a charitable organization, this pride of Lions takes pride in serving its community.

Now, the Alexandria Lions Club is preparing to celebrate its 50th anniversary on Oct. 4 at the Glengarry Sports Palace. The event will feature a gourmet dinner, guest speakers, and an 18-piece big band.

Of course, the Lions themselves will be at the heart of the celebration. As one of Glengarry's oldest service clubs, the Lions have a big reputation for helping local organizations and individuals in their time of need.

As just one of several examples, Lions' President Pierre Burelle says the Lions have donated over $50,000 to the local cadet squadron over the years.

"We've donated between $2,000 and $4,000 a year for 20 years," he says.

The cadets are far from the only organization the Lions help. They've also contrtributed over $50,000 to the Hopitâl Glengarry Memorial Hospital and between $7,000 and $10,000 every year for the children's Christmas drive.

"Last year, there were about 90 needy families in Glengarry," says Mr. Burelle. "We asked how old the kids were and we bought them (appropriate) presents."

Mr. Burelle added that each family received a food voucher of $25 per child.

Although the Lions help many organizations, lifetime member Wally Hope says the club's greatest passion is helping the visually impaired.

"Our first goal is sight," he says. "Sight first."

As such, the Lions club is committed to a $6,000 donation to the opthamology unit at the Cornwall General Hospital. Mr. Burelle adds that the Lions also buy special computers for the visually impaired.

Of course it isn't just the visually impaired that the Lions help. Mr. Burelle says that the Lions field about three or four requests every week.

"We get people asking for wheelchairs, special eyeglasses, false teeth – we even had someone who needed a pair of specially made boots for $400.

"We get requests from all kinds of people with medical problems. We do our best to help them out."

In fact, one of Mr. Burelle's favourite memories of the Lions club came 10 years ago.

"We read about a local kid who had a disease," he says. "So we set up a trust fund for the kid's family at the Bank of Montreal and within a couple of weeks, there was $38,000 in that account. That was a pretty awesome event. All we did was set up the account. The community did the rest."

Since its inception on Nov. 16, 1953, the Alexandria Lions Club estimates it has raised approximately $1 million for various charities. It's purchased Jaws of Life for the Alexandria Volunteer Fire Department, an eye slit lens for the Glengarry Memorial Hospital, and a van for ARC Industries. It's also raised a lot of funds for diabetes research, the Heart and Stroke Association, the Cancer Society, the Lung Association, and Big Brothers/Sisters.

Today, the Lions raise most of their funds through conducting bingos. They also raise some money running the Crown and Anchor booth at Alexandria's Canada Day festivities, but they admit that the bingos are the biggest fundraisers.

Even so, the Lions have only been doing the bingos for the past three years. Before that, the biggest fundraiser was the July 1 car draw. Unfortunately, that had to be discontinued.

"The car draws just became too much," says Mr. Burelle. "It was okay when we had 40 people in the Lions club but when membership dwindled down to 20, it was just too much."

Low membership or not, Mr. Burelle says he has no regrets of joining the club.

"I've been a member for 11 years," he says. "I joined because I wanted to do something for my community."

The Lions hope their friends and families will celebrate with them on Oct. 4.

The cost of the evening is $50 and includes the meal, wine, and dancing.

Lions aren't the only club serving Glengarry

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

As the Alexandria Lions' Club prepares to celebrate its 50th anniversary, local youth continue to reap benefits from the efforts of two other service clubs in the region.

The grandaddy of all area service clubs is the Richelieu Club of Alexandria, which marked its 50th anniversary in 1998.

The most diverse of the area clubs is the zone 6 Optimist Club – with branches in North Lancaster, Dalkeith, Glen Robertson, Green Valley, and Alexandria.

Founded in December of 1948, the Richelieu Club of Alexandria has a charter to help young people, says Stéphane Ranger, a former president of the club.

"This could mean helping youth with health problems or youth who are unable to afford registration for sports activities," Mr. Ranger said.

It is not unusual for the club to listen to requests from Alexandria minor hockey officials or residents concerned about children unable to afford braces for their teeth.

Word of mouth is the norm for contacting the Alexandria-based group.

Le Pain Richelieu, which takes place in May, is the club's main fundraiser. After Mass at area churches, members of the club offer bread for donations. The club also operates a booth at the Canada Day festivities.

Also helping the young people of Glengarry, the Optimist Club works in close liaison with local schools, according to zone 6 Lieutenant Governor Richard Theoret.

"The local clubs partner with (their) schools," he says.

"For instance, the Dalkeith and Glen Robertson clubs focus on Ecole Laurier Carrière."

The club sponsors and promotes public speaking and essay writing contests.

"The children learn how to speak in front of people," Mr. Theoret said, adding, "it helps the kids build confidence."

Contest winners earn money toward college.

The group, which has 168 members, also promotes safety through involvement in the "Say No to Drugs" campaign and with bicycle rodeos.

The five different branches of the Optimist Club have each been in existence for at least 15 years; Glen Robertson has the oldest club with its 20th year approaching next year.

To finance its efforts for area youth, the Optimist Club zone 6 branches host a variety of fundraising activities including brunches, bingos, raffles and car washes.

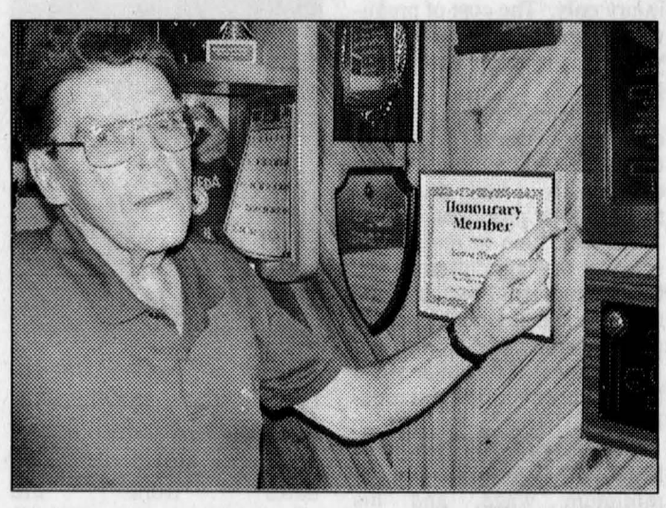
Charter Lion and lifetime club member looks forward to special 50th celebration

By Steven Warburton
News Editor

One person who definitely won't miss the Lions' 50th anniversary is Dunc Mcdonell. The 77-year-old Alexandria resident is a charter member of the club.

"I've served as club president twice," Mr. Mcdonell told the News. "I'm really looking forward to this celebration. There's not too many of us old fellows left."

In addition to his two stints as president, Mr. Mcdonell has a lifetime of community service under his belt. In the late '60s, he served as councillor, and reeve, of the town of Alexandria. He's also a former president of the Alexandria Men's Fastball League and, in 1998, was declared an Honorary Member of the Hopitâl Glengarry Memorial Hospital for "exemplary volunteer service."



PROUD LION: Dunc Mcdonell points to some of his Lions' memorabilia in his basement. STEVEN WARBURTON PHOTO

You could say that the hospital is a cause near and dear to Mr. Mcdonell's heart, and feet. He says his happiest accomplishment as a Lion is all the money he helped raise for the hospital. He even remembers doing a walk-a-thon where participants walked from the hospital all the way to Maxville.

"We started walking at 10 in the morning and we finished around four," he says. "When I got up the next morning, my feet were swollen."

Of course, Mr. Mcdonell played a big role in the annual car draws, which served as the Lions' major fundraiser for many years. Now, he says that he doesn't go to very many meetings.

"When you get to my age, you don't have to go to the meetings," he says. "But if there's anything going on, I'll try to attend it."

He adds that the 50th anniversary is one meeting he'll be sure to attend.

"It will be great seeing all the other members," he says.

Mr. Mcdonell was born in St. Raphael's. He ran a general store in that town until 1952, when the store burned down. Since then, Mr. Mcdonell has operated a feed store and is a former owner of the Atlantic Hotel.

Feisty GPR campaign continues at debate

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

In a campaign marred by bickering and last-minute debate- location changes, it came as little surprise that the going would be hot and heavy on one of the few occasions that all of the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell candidates were in the same place at the same time.

Such was the case last Wednesday night at the Plantagenet High School where 130 people sat through three hours of give and take between the four candidates.

Among those ready to do battle was fiery Liberal Party incumbent Jean-Marc Lalonde, who drew cheers from supporters on many occasions including one instance where he rebutted Progressive Conservative candidate Albert Bourdeau's claim that the economy is in good shape.

"The economy is not only not running well, it is not even on its feet," he told Mr. Bourdeau.

In addition to Mr. Bourdeau and Mr. Lalonde, Guy Belle-Isle of the Ontario NDP and Louise Pattington of the Green Party, also participated.

For the most part, it appeared as though Mr. Bourdeau was in a lions' den and being attacked from all sides. But the Tory did not rest on his heels, striking back and than holding his ground, especially on issues like taxes and education.

"Many of you can remember the horrendous deficits the Liberal and NDP governments wrapped up from 85-95," Mr. Bourdeau said. "Dalton (McGuinty) wants more of your hard-earned money.

"Our party believes people should be able to keep more of their hard-earned money."

The PC candidate also stood firm on his party's stances on education, noting it believes students come first and shouldn't be held hostage in labour negotiations. He reminded the audience that rural schools benefitted when his government brought in education equity reviews.

Both the Liberals and the NDP hold the Tories responsible for a hostile relationship with teachers which they claim has damaged the system.

The Green Party candidate, Louise Pattington said, "there is lots of room for re-inventing the system and distributing dollars with more diversity.

"Home schooling needs to be given more support...and not encouraging diversity in language is like stealing money from our children's pockets."

Charles Lanthier, a teacher from Hawkesbury asked Mr. Bourdeau what he would do if elected about re-establishing funding for special education programs.

Mr. Bourdeau said funding is essential to ensure good schooling. He added that his government recently allocated $50 million to schools, "and now it is up to school boards to distribute it."

But the Liberal candidate drew more reaction from the crowd with his counter, "the $50 million must be hidden in a drawer because no money has been given out."

Yet it was on the environment and the crippling of the public service where the Tory candidate received the most fire.

All three opponents, and an environmentalist on the panel, attacked Mr. Bourdeau's stances, and his party's record.

Ian Walker, a farmer and environmentalist from Plantagenet, instigated the fireworks when he asked Mr. Bourdeau to clarify his position on the Francoscènie project and the health of the South Nation River.

The PC candidate is a founding member of the Francoscènie project. He later told The News that the Francoscènie is a theatrical festival (similar to the one in Stratford) that is slated to open in June 2004.

Mr. Bourdeau said that windfalls from the project could bring an estimated $6 million annually to the area. Mr. Bourdeau said that the project was approved by the United Counties of Prescott-Russell but has been relegated back to the Ontario Municipal Board following an objection by a neighbouring resident, and backed by an environmental committee.

While all four candidates back the merits of the project, some of them expressed concerns over the site's location, which is at the edge of the 30,000 acre Larose Forest in Bourget. Current plans call for 170 acres to be set aside, of which 27 acres will be developed for the project.

NDP hopeful, Guy Belle-Isle, who is in favour of the French cultural project said he believes it should be located in a less controversial area.

On the issue of water, he said the NDP, "would establish a watershed planning board across the province with the mandate and resources to protect the quantity and the quality of the watershed."

He added cuts to the public service over the last eight years are causing crises.

"It comes down to enforcing," Mr. Belle-Isle said, "you might have the law, but if there is nobody there to enforce it (there will be problems)."

Ms. Pattington said her party feels very strongly about the Larose Forest.

"We chose to launch our campaign in the Larose Forest, because it is a monument to sustainability.

"It should be served as an example of what can happen when things are not taken care of.

"It went from a virgin forest to a desert back to a virgin forest again. It is more sensible to have Francoscènie elsewhere."

GPR candidates meet with students at GDHS

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

Local students scored quite a coup Friday when they attracted provincial candidates to the only pre-election forum in Glengarry.

About 400 students packed the Glengarry District High School cafeteria to hear three of four Glengarry-Prescott-Russell riding candidates explain their parties' platforms and respond to questions.

Orchestrated by the school's student council, the hour-long event drew praise from Green Party candidate Louise Pattington who said it was the best-run debate she attended.

Student council president Audrey MacDonald said it took about ten days to organize the forum, which was linked to an Ontario-wide program called Kids Voting Canada.

"It was a difficult process to put together because politicians are not the easiest people to get a hold of," Audrey said.

NDP hopeful Guy Belle-Isle backed out of his high school appearance at the last minute due to a family emergency.

While the student leader feared her peers might be disinterested in the process, this was put to rest as students' hands shot up to question the politicians on issues like mega-hog farms, auto insurance, rural school funding, and the minimum wage.

The crowd reacted positively to Liberal Party candidate Jean-Marc Lalonde's passionate claims to "No to mega-hog farms," a need to raise the minimum wage, and his stance that students are being discriminated against when they are having to pay up to $3,000 in auto insurance premiums.

Offering similar views on mega-hog farms and the minimum wage, Ms. Pattington spoke of a 10-point auto insurance strategy.

Her party proposes to abolish mandatory private insurance and replace it with a public no-fault program for personal injury only. The cost of premiums would reflect a, " the more you use, the more you pay," philosophy.

The Progressive Conservative candidate, Albert Bourdeau, talked to the students more deliberately, and cautioned them of lofty promises.

He took time to remind the students that agriculture is the biggest industrial sector in the riding, and that all three parties are behind the Nutrient Management Act which seeks to provide environmental regulation.

After hearing the two other hopefuls talk about increases to minimum wage, and his Liberal opponent talking about big decreases to their auto insurance rates, Mr. Bourdeau remarked, "Well I can see this is your party.

"I can see my friends/candidates sending you all kinds of promises, however a government that is responsible has to make sure our promises are affordable.

"It is one thing to give all, it is another thing to ask your parents to send us more money."

Grade 12 student Tim Ryan was most impressed with the Progressive Candidate, believing he put forth good reasonable ideas. He pointed out the Tory plan to reduce auto insurance by 15 per cent, and then possibly an additional 20 per cent depending on coverage.

"I thought the Liberal was attacking everything the (PC) said," Tim stated, adding that only when Mr. Lalonde spoke first did he offer any substance.

"When he was going second or third, he attacked everything the PC said, he never really put forth any ideas." Tim was not impressed with the Green Party auto insurance plan.

While fellow grade 12 student Kyle Hartwick thought the event went pretty well, he was also disappointed with the Liberal candidate.

PETE BOCK PHOTO

"The whole point was to go over the platforms," Kyle said, and he (Mr. Lalonde) pretty much criticized the PC candidate and the PC government.

"The Green Party impressed me, they were very solid, they knew what they were talking about, and the PC candidate also. A lot of his answers were practical and made sense to me as someone who is going on to a post-secondary education."

Grade 10 civics teacher Joanne Strutynski and Grade 10 history teacher Sylvie Tremblay helped the student council pull off the event.

"They study democracy," Ms. Strutynski said. "It shows them the process in action, in real life not just in books."

Vice Principal Guy Lamarche was also impressed.

"I walked in there and it was wonderful to see so many hands up to ask questions. That is the whole point of the exercise."

Industry and water top GPR candidates' lists

By Pete Bock
News Reporter

If Glengarry is to move forward economically, provincial candidates believe diversity in industry, vibrant small towns, improvements to water and sewer systems, and opportunity for innovative small business should be at the top of our list.

"Agriculture is the most important industry in this riding," Progressive Conservative candidate Albert Bourdeau said after the debate in Plantagenet.

"We have failed to diversify into other serious industry, we have Ivaco, we have Montebello Metals, we have Alexandria Moulding."

"We have 103,000 people in this riding and you can count on one hand the serious industry we have. Who is going to employ the rest of us?"

Mr. Bourdeau claims nothing has been initiated at the MPP level to encourage needed infrastructure to entice industry

"We build parks, $1.9 million in parks in Alexandria. A park is very nice, but what about the water and sewer? Let's lead the way as a MPP.

"CERES in Maxville specifically said we are leaving because we don't have high-speed...how can you entice commerce to come in with no high speed (Internet)?"

While he fears for the fate of an area so heavily dependent on agriculture, Mr. Bourdeau talked about great pluses in this riding, including its three highways 401, 417, and the 174, its bilingual workforce, and its prime location.

NDP candidate Guy Belle-Isle said it is hard to attract people in industry to our area.

"For our party it all starts in keeping our small towns vibrant," Mr. Belle-Isle said "Make sure our schools, which are often the heart of the community, stay open."

He said that improved training and apprenticeship programs for young people would ensure a skilled work force, and in turn encourage employers to come to the area.

If elected, the NDP plans to institute a special fund for farmers and rural small businesses, and to help municipalities improve their waterworks.

Mr. Belle-Isle touched on the issue of mega-hog farms, saying his party would put a moratorium in place: "pork production is important, but we need to find how it can be done in humane and human ways.

Incumbent Jean-Marc Lalonde believes the biggest issue in Glengarry is water.

"If we don't improve the water situation, we may lose some (existing) industry," he said.

"We cannot expand, we cannot attract housing development or residential development. To attract industry you have to have people there."

To improve the water situation, he said it is paramount that the municipality and the MPP work together.

"I've always said my priority in Glengarry is water, but the MPP can do so much. If the municipal council does not want to proceed with a water system, what can I do?" Mr. Lalonde pointed out his lobbying efforts for Casselman led to rapid improvements.

Green party candidate, Louise Pattington said all of G–P–R "has opportunities for some really good, creative, innovative small businesses."

She believes any industry, "needs to be assessed from its potential damage point of view."

"One of the major issues in Glengarry is the threat of hog factories," she said.

"The voice of Glengarry seems to be a little quieter than Prescott-Russell, and may be the hardest-hit victim."

Run-walk to benefit cancer society

NORTH LANCASTER

INEZ FRANKLIN
347-7666

On what has become a rite of fall, folks near and far are preparing for the 4th Annual Glengarry 5k, 10k and Half Marathon (21.1k.) Run/Walk. Proceeds will be donated to the Canadian Cancer Society.

The event takes place this Saturday, Oct. 4. Start times are at 10 a.m.

Those who wish to walk the half-marathon can depart at 9 a.m.

Only runners and walkers who wish to be timed must pre-register. This can be done in four ways:

1) on line at www.eventsonline.ca/events/glengarry/

2) by mail: Glen Campbell, 21599 RR #1 North Lancaster, K0C 1Z0

3) email at campbellg@ucdsb.on.ca

4) by phone: 613 347 2205

Information regarding age categories, costs and start times is available online at www.geocities.com/glengarryrunwalk or in a pamphlet available at any local merchant in the area.

There are, of course, prizes to be won for the top three winners in each event and for various levels of pledges collected. It has been my experience, however, that every entrant wins, considering the spirit of camraderie and solidarity that pervades this event. You are encouraged to take part!

Walkers who do not need to be timed can register right up to 9:50 a.m. and their $15 registration fee will go to fight cancer.

This year runners and walkers can fill out a pre-printed placard to dedicate their efforts to honour someone special, be that person a victim, a survivor or one currently battling cancer.

All participants are requested to sign in at St. Lawrence Catholic Church located just north of Highway 401 on the 4th Line Road (Curry Hill) from 8:45 to 9:50 a.m.

Late registrations for the timed run/walk will be open at the church until 9:30 for a small additional fee.

Come on out and meet your friends, do somethiong good for yourself and for all who wish to fight cancer. See you there!

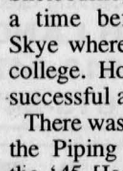
Do modern rules ruin traditional music?



HIGHLAND PATHS

KEN MCKENNA

We continue with excerpts from Old World - New World Music, Culloden and Highland Music by Angus M. Macquarrie from his Celtic Heritage magazine article in the May/June 2003 edition. Previously, the author told of how the ancient culture of the Highland Scots had been steadily and deliberately eroded by outside influences until the music and dances performed by expatriate Gaelic people in places like Cape Breton now are, quite possibly, closer to the original versions than that performed in Scotland itself. In today's column Mr. Macquarrie writes of the piping and dancing tradition and of how the isolation of Highland communities outside of Scotland tended to preserve an older tradition.

"However, back in Scotland all was not well. Bagpipe music began to change. The Highland Society of London, founded in 1778, held the first piping competition at Falkirk in 1781 and such competitions continue to the present day. While piobaireachd was the music under scrutiny at the first competitions, marches, strathspeys and reels soon joined them. From the simple traditional light march (which wasn't played with popularity in the Highlands) and dance tunes there evolved more intricate "exhibition" pieces, which were more difficult and so played more slowly. So what has evolved is that we now have competition marches that are too slow to march to and strathspeys and reels that are too slow for dancing. Marches never really took hold as they were not a part of normal Highland life and so were restricted to the army. There was no actual marching in Gaelic Scotland and collections of marches (mostly written after 1840) were for would-be army pipers.

Adding to change was the demise of piping schools. Of these, the most famous, perhaps, was the MacCrimmon college of piping on Skye, which had almost ceased to operate when its eighth hereditary principle instructor, Donald Ruadh MacCrimmon, emigrated to North Carolina in 1772. Actually, he lived in Shelbourne, Nova Scotia, for a time before returning to Skye where he re-opened his college. However it was not successful and soon closed.

There was also the closing of the Piping School following the '45 [Jacobite Rising].The MacLean school of Piping on Mull was closed in the 1760s by the Campbells of Argyll, an event that the MacLeans deeply resented... However, pipers were still seen to be of some value in the military and early competitions identified who would bring honour and prestige to their particular regiments.

Military piping, with its own set of demands. insisted that every piper play the same notes and the same embellishments, at the same time and on instruments that sounded exactly the same. Under military influence, bagpipe music began to lose its individuality and become standardized. Individual styles and individual differences in execution of notes being played were soon considered to result in inferior piping, as noted by Hugh Cheape in... The Book of the Bagpipe."

Angus Macquarrie goes on to discuss Highland dancing under the heading Dance Music: "The Gaelic [language] and old style Scottish music are intrinsically linked. Allister MacGillivray in his book The Cape Breton Ceilidh records vivid accounts of the passing down of dance tradition. Allan 'the dancer' MacMillan came from Lochaber in 1817 and taught dancing at Judique and Cregnish. Angus Ban MacDougall came from Moidart in 1812 and settled in West Lake Ainslie. Mary MacDonald, born in Scotland in 1795, was a noted dancer in Scotland before coming to the New World and starting a dancing school. In these communities, parish picnics would see as many as three platforms where pipers would play for step dancers. The entry fee was five cents with the prize [winner] probably leaving the field with the distinction of being named the top step dancer of the day.

In recent years, research has uncovered numerous accounts of people in Scotland who are aware of step dancing very similar to ... Cape Breton step dancing...

In the late 1700s and early 1800s in Scotland and the New World, Gaels ... lived a common heritage - the old reels and the solo step dancing. In Scotland, social changes and proximity to English [Lowland] neighbours produced change...the more robust reel became, for the socially elite, a Scottish country dance. In the New World, isolation helped preserve the purity of the dance that was being lost to the influence of the Saxon."

Angus Macquarrie's point is that it is very evident that older forms of Highland music and dance were still being performed in Cape Breton long after they were forgotten in Scotland. The same situation would have maintained in places like Glengarry well into the last century, but the regimentation of piping and dancing judges from Scotland might well have discouraged the local traditional forms. Now there is no difference between the piping and dancing in Scotland and the New World.

Citizenship Ministry honours 5 Maxville volunteers

MAXVILLE

GORDON WINTER
527-2888

Last Tuesday evening, five members of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society were honoured at the Ottawa Congress Centre under the Ontario Citizenship Ministry.

Six hundred volunteers from Eastern Ontario were nominated and presented with 2003 Ontario Volunteer Service Awards at the ceremony. There were different pins depending on the years of service ranging from five years up to 50 plus years.

Those receiving pins were Mabel Guindon, and Lorna and Gordon Winter for 30 years and District Director Ann Kerr for 25 years. Eileen Colboune was also nominated for 30 plus years but was unable to attend. Society president, Jean MacCuaig also attended as an invited guest.

Chamber's AGM

The annual meeting of the Maxville and District Chamber of Commerce was held at the Chieftain Restaurant last Wednesday evening and was preceded by an excellent buffet dinner.

It had been planned that Grace Doth, the recipient of the Year 2003 Citizen-of-the-Year award, would be present from Alexandria but because of a poor health condition, she was unable to be there. Claire Besner, her niece, accepted the award and thanked the Chamber on behalf of her aunt. Gordon Winter read an account of Mrs. Doth's life history and outlined all her volunteer activities over the years.

Julia Danskin was presented with a certificate of appreciation for her outstanding commitment to the community. This year marked the 35th anniversary of Danskin's Scottish Gift Shop. Mrs. Danskin indicated in her thank-you that she enjoys very much what she is doing, not only in the store, but also in her capacity as a member of the Chamber.

Carma Williams, retiring president after three years, outlined the Chamber's accomplishments for the 2002-03 year and indicated that the tartan banner project was the highlight of the year.

For the coming year, the following executive was named Past President Carma Williams, President Mike Baxendale, Vice-President Linda Fraser, Secretary Audrey Evans, Treasurer Doreen Crites, and Directors at Large Julia Danskin, Keith Jack, Bob Linney, Steve Rolland, and Peter Bain.

Mr. Baxendale spoke briefly when thanking Carma and outlined some of his hopes for the coming year.

Local piper

Last week, the Glengarry News carried a piece on the concert in Carnegie Hall in New York City when the Ottawa Police Services Pipe Band performed. Steve Douglas, son of Sylvia and Allen, is a member of that band and was thrilled to be able to take part in that well known hall with the band. His friends and relatives here are happy to know that he continues to play the pipes with that highly recognized pipe band.

New residents

We have new residents on Spring St. in the home recently vacated by Hughie MacDonell and family. They are Dr. Jason Ricka, D.V.M. and Dr. Carli Forbes, D.V.M. Both are graduates of the University in Saskatoon and Jason is working in the Embrun Veterinary Clinic and Carli in the Williamstown Veterinary Services Clinic.

We welcome them to the village which is a long distance from their native British Columbia and Saskatchewan, respectively, and trust that they will soon feel very much at home here.

Jean and Orent Myatt have moved from the Alexandria area to an apartment in Glen Garden Village. We welcome them to Maxville and wish them much happiness in their new home.

Joanne Michaud and her two sons have also moved to a new home. It is the home that Joanne recently purchased from Emile Cardinal who has moved to a long term care facility in St Isidore. We wish both the Michaud family and Mr. Cardinal well.

Roasting Gary

We congratulate Gary Smith for the honour he received in being roasted last Friday evening at the Sports Complex in the presence of a very large crowd.

We thank him for all that he has done for the village and the wider community over the years. We also wish him continued good health and his congenial drive to continue his good works.

Holland trip

Rieki Jans is back home after a three week visit to her native Holland. She was very happy to be able to be present at her mother's 80th birthday celebrations as well as to be able to visit with other relatives.

Old roommates

Last weekend, Margaret and Harry Burt from Guelph were the guests of Lorna and Gordon Winter. The two men were room-mates in their student days at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Condolences

Margaret (Gretta) Kennedy died after a brief illness last Tuesday at the age of 92. She had been able to live alone in her home east of the village for a long time and enjoyed her independence.

Our condolences go to her son Jack and his wife Fairlie of Cornwall, and to her daughters Sheila Dore, Tholmie's Corners, and Grace, Cornwall.

Used book sale

The Glengarry Pioneer Museum holds a used book sale as a fundraiser each July at the Museum in Dunvegan. To assist those who may already have books to donate, there will be a Fall Book Drop at the Greenfield Hall on Oct. 4-5 from 1-5 p.m.

The more popular items include children's books, local and Canadian history, cooking and gardening and books in French. LP records, tapes and magazines are also needed to make this event a success.

For more information you are invited to phone the Museum's Curator, Karen Williams (527-5230) or Ronna Mogelon (525-4960).

Garage sale

This is a reminder of the Garage Sale at 28 Peter St. on Saturday in aid of YouthUNLTD's Centre on Mechanic St.

Also the young people are advised of the 6th annual Great Pumpkin Hunt Car Rally planned for Oct. 25. There will be complete details later.

Dart competition

The Dart Competitions are starting at the King George Hotel on Oct.12 at 2 p.m. Everyone will be welcomed and registrations may be made then or by phoning 527-2216 or 527-2158.

Card scores

This correspondent takes the blame for having two Young-at-Heart euchres to report. He forgot to pick the first one up on time.

On Sept. 8, the lady winners were Cecile Currier, Onagh Ross and Jean Smith while the high scoring men were Hormidas St. John, Mac O'Byrne and George Jackson.

The 50-50 draw winners were Mr. Jackson, Elizabeth Briere, Ina Sproule, Vina Brown, Helen Jackson, Rita Decaire, Eileen Johnson, and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Currier was awarded the door prize.

Last Monday afternoon, Arlene Munro, Dianne McMullen and Mrs. Johnston were the lady prize winners while Jack McDonnell, Mr. St. John and Mr. O'Byrne received the honours for the men.

Mrs. Sproule, Mr. St. John, Gladys Barton, Eileen Laperriere, twice, Mr. Johnston, Mr. McDonnell, Mrs. Brown, and Claire VanPutten received the 50-50 draw prizes while Mrs. McMullen took the door prize home.

The next party will be on Oct. 6.

Bridge scores

At the Saturday afternoon bridge party at the Manor, Barb Surtees, Charles and Marg Anderson were the high scorers.

Getting squirrelly

I am still questioning the genetics of the squirrels that are having a great time on our property, gathering butternuts, fighting with each other a bit, and being chased by a red squirrel.

We do not see the big ones all at once but there must be at least four. We see two black ones at a time as well as those two I have mentioned before. They are the ones that are a different colour a silver tail and a body colour that is reddish gray.

I don't mind the red one because it will hibernate for the winter and it does try to chase the others away.

The big ones will be a real nuisance at the bird feeders this winter and many of the butternuts they are hiding in the grass will never be used.

Martintown FD going door-to-door next week

MARTINTOWN

VIRGINIA WINN
528-4379 uwinn@cnwl.igs.net

Members of the Martintown Fire Department will be visiting every house in the district during Fire Prevention Week, October 4 to 11. Firefighters will be going house to house on both Saturday mornings, and also on Tuesday evening, October 7, to distribute fire prevention information and to answer questions relating to fire safety. This is also a good chance to thank these dedicated volunteers for being there for us and risking their own safety, so welcome them when they come calling.

The Fire Marshal's Public Fire Safety Council and Martintown Fire Chief Brian Hope want us to be aware that candles are one of the leading causes of fires. We are reminded to keep lit candles in sturdy holders on level surfaces and if possible, use a glass chimney. Candles can be easily knocked over so keep them out of the reach of children and pets and away from anything that can burn. Be sure to snuff out candles before leaving the room or going to bed. When it comes to smoke alarms, the message is No battery, no chance. This is the time of year to make sure smoke alarms are in good working order. We should all test alarms once a month by pressing the test button or cover until the alarm sounds. For battery-powered alarms, change the batteries at least once a year or when the low-battery warning chirps. Don't remove the batteries for any other reason. More reminders next week!

Fire Department fundraiser

The Women's Auxiliary of the Martintown Fire Department is looking for your support of their fundraising event with all proceeds going towards purchasing the Jaws of Life equipment. A bus trip to the Rideau Carleton Racetrack/Slots on Saturday, October 25 will leave the Martintown Community Centre at 5:00 p.m. and return around 11:30 p.m. The cost is $20 which includes the bus, a $10 voucher, a $10 deferred voucher, and the chance at winning some prizes. Call Tammy Kenny at 528-4907 to reserve a place.

St. Andrew's Supper

Members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church are planning their fall dinner to which we are all invited next Wednesday, Oct. 8, from 4:30 to 7:30. The menu is the same as in years past (why mess with a sure thing!), ham, scalloped potatoes, vegetables, rolls, salads, pickles, coffee, tea and the best pies in Glengarry. The price is $10 for adults, youngsters from 6-12 years eat for $5, 5 and under are priceless.

New baby

Kim and Todd McIntyre are happy new parents as they were able to bring little Hannah Marie home from the neo-natal unit of the Ottawa General Hospital on Sept. 21. Hannah was born on Aug. 29, two months prematurely and weighing only 3 lb. 13 oz., necessitating a three-week hospital stay. She is now gaining weight nicely. Kim was honoured at a baby shower this past Sunday held at St. William's Roman Catholic Church. Congratulations to Kim and Todd and a Martintown welcome to Hannah Marie. Best wishes for good health and happiness.

St. Andrew's United

This coming Sunday, Oct. 5, is Worldwide Communion Sunday and the congregation of St. Andrew's United Church will be having coffee and goodies before the church service which is at 11 a.m. There will be a meeting of the Martintown Anniversary planning group after the church service that day.

Women's Institute

The September meeting of the Martintown Women's Institute was held on Thursday, Sept. 18 at the Martintown Community Centre. There were 18 members in attendance and 16 guests from the Picnic Grove and Bainsville W.I. branches. The roll call, "Bring your oldest book", brought forth family Bibles, school records, poetry and story books. After a short business meeting the guest speaker, Mrs. Joan P. MacDonald, a director of the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum in Williamstown, spoke about museum artifacts and the process of having them authenticated by a professional before being incorporated into the museum. Members were interested in seeing several artifacts donated to the museum, one being a magic lantern, a type of early camera. Five women were conscripted by Alison Murray to help put on an entertaining skit titled What I want in a man. Onagh Ross read three poems. Sandwiches and sweets, along with coffee and tea were served by hostesses Alison Murray, Kathy O'Farrell, Del Roulston, Bev Runions and Sylvia Thompson.

The next W.I. meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 16 at the Martintown Community Centre at 1:30 p.m. and the roll call will be to tell a joke or a funny story. All area women are invited to attend.

Horticultural society

Tonight, Wednesday, October 1, the members of the Martintown and District Horticultural Society will be meeting at the Martintown Community Centre at 7 p.m. to learn more about bats from Dr. Brian Hickey, a researcher at the St. Lawrence River Insitute.

Duplicate Bridge

The results of the Martintown Goodtimers Duplicate Bridge held on Tuesday, Sept. 23, were as follows: Jean and Jim Campbell, Madeleine Laporte and Gracia Seguin, Mary Walton and Allan McLeod. Helen MacLeod and Elsie MacLeod. Next week on Tuesday, Oct. 7, duplicate bridge players will enjoy an Apple Pie and Ice Cream day at noon and everyone is encouraged to get there early. Bridge will follow pie. What, no blueberry pie?

The top scorers at Audrey's Friday Night Bridge held on Sept. 26 at the Martintown Community Centre were: 1. Dee Gaiger and Jean Murray (with a 74 per cent game), and tied for second and third places were Henryk Rzepczyk and Audrey Blair and Lorna and Homer Grant.

Party bridge

The winners of the Party Bridge held on Monday, Sept. 29 at the Martintown Community Centre were Pat Weldon, Andre Bergevin and Jim Robson.

Scarecrow Festival is ready for displays

LANCASTER

MARG MILLETT
347-2207
FAX 347-1297

The Second Annual Scarecrow Festival is open and participants should already have their display area finished or at least ready to finish.

The deadline is the last week of September. But, I have it from the horse's mouth that if you are a little late it's okay. Just get the entry ready for inspection.

Inspection you say! Yes. It lasts until Oct. 26. During that time, votes from the many shoppers at Rob McIntosh Fine China will be counted.

The winner of first prize gets $500, second is $250 and third prize gets $100.

Keeping last year's competition in mind, this should be a great event. The good people at Rob McIntosh China have designated the proceeds of this competition to go to the Wharf in South Lancaster. Keep you in touch!

Greenhouse Goodies

Auctions are fun but this is one of a different kind.

Make up your wish list for the Gauthier's End of Season Horticultural Auction, next weekend Sat. Oct. 4 at 9 a.m.

Rene and Pierrette Gauthier are downsizing after 40 years in the business and a Greenhouse Auction is a good way to do this.

There are over 300 trees and thousands of perennials to choose from as well as many horticultural accessories and accents.

On the commercial side there will be landscape compactors, cutting saws for interlocking brick, etc.

This is good news for all of our green thumb people. Come outside for the tree sale and in the greenhouse for other items. Bring a seat, and maybe a wagon for your wares. Canteen will be on site. Come and enjoy a day in the country.

Grant Refused

Wednesday evening a meeting was held at our municipal hall for discussion of the SuperBuild project.

I attended this meeting with some trepidation, since I knew that it would be the end of a long process of an idea and a vision that could be a really nice thing for our community. Barry already warned me that the project would probably be canned and the grant not be accepted for the proposed community centre. So it was difficult to motivate myself to attend.

Many people, including the members of our administration of South Glengarry worked on this proposal.

Originally, the project was a new idea for us. A few people, who saw the opportunity to get a community centre, approached Barry to make a presentation on behalf of our community.

This idea rapidly became an exciting vision of what could be, since our old Smithfield Hall was a place for another good organization. Now there was a possibility for a new centre.

Indeed, at the beginning, for the presentation to our council, many groups, businesses and individuals expressed interest, wrote letters (about 30) and gave support for a community centre that would house meetings, occasions and community celebrations in case of bad weather. Full support from many groups, I might add.

It has been a long process and all of the people involved have worked only for the fruition of a vision that would see us go into the future with facilities that would enhance our community.

That said, the support that was needed to further this project was not there. So, democracy rules as do the wishes of the majority of those people who actually took time to attend the meeting. The grant will be refused.

There were some good proposals such as better maintenance of the area that would allow the park to be more acceptable for use by adults and children. The village of Lancaster and the surrounding area just might be a tiny bit better for all that. Such is the slow road of progress.

News from St. Andrew's

Sunday was a morning of celebration for the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster. During the service Rev. MacMillan welcomed into the church family, by the Sacrament of Baptism, Oliver Jeffrey, son of Tom and Heather Hughes, and Roan Glenn, son of Sandy MacLennan and Jennifer MacLachlan. Elizabeth Ferguson presented children's Bibles on behalf of the Presbyterian Women's Group. Following worship the large congregation filled the church hall where a Sod Turning Ceremony was held for the Christian Education Wing. Rev. MacMillan, and Clark McCuaig, who is Chairman of the Building Committee, conducted a short service. There was an air of excitement and enthusiasm among everyone present as this new project got under way. After many pictures were taken a Coffee Fellowship Hour followed and was enjoyed by all.

WI Yard Sale:

The Bainsville Women's Institute's yard and bake sale last Saturday at the Lancaster Library Park attracted loads of buyers and fattened the WI treasury.

President Shirley Walsh thanks all donors and participants. Shirley promises that this sale is just the first of many events planned throughout the year to celebrate the branch's 75th anniversary.

Citizenship Awards

Congratulations to Mike and Pauline Ashton of Bainsville and Tom McCune of Lancaster. Volunteer citizens they are and all of them received an Ontario Volunteer Service Award in Ottawa last Tuesday from the Deputy Minister of Citizenship.

Carmin Howes of Dalkeith, Dianne Crutcher, Door-to-Door Chair for South Glengarry and Dorothy Irvine of Green Valley who is the Door-to-Door Chair for North Glengarry were also with this group from the Heart and Stroke Association.

There were volunteers of all kinds, from all walks of life, and from many parts of Eastern Ontario. Six hundred volunteers gathered at the Congress centre in Ottawa on Tuesday Sept. 23.

Each was presented with a special pin noting years of service and, of course, praised for their volunteer work.

Mike and Pauline and Tom were honoured for their tremendous volunteer work with the Heart and Stroke Association.

As it was noted at the ceremony, "they are among our provincial treasures".

News from St John's

The past few Sundays have been busy. St. John's Annual Memorial Service was held indoors due to inclement weather but at the end of the service the choir led the congregation out to the cemetery where Father Jim said prayers for the departed.

On another occasion we celebrated the 50th wedding anniversary of Diana and Tom Macaulay in the Osborne hall. Sandwiches and a gorgeous cake were served for this happy occasion.

On Sept 21 our annual Parish Picnic was held. Once again, due to threatening weather, the service was held in the church. However, the weather improved and the picnic continued outside.

As usual all had a great time particularly the children with games including destroying the piñata.

Note: All children and adults who wish to be confirmed during the next visit of our Bishop should make every effort to attend a meeting scheduled after Sunday service on Oct 5. Plans for appropriate instruction etc. will be proposed.

Thanksgiving will be our annual "Thank You" for prayers answered. Those concerned will present a flower on the altar as a sign. Our congregation reports tremendous response to our prayers.

Alzheimers Coffee Break

In only three hours on a September Thursday, a total amount of $1364.60 was raised for this cause. Could it be the nice homemade muffins made at Chateau Gardens? The smiling hostesses? Yes, that combined with the local support of those who held stations, cash boxes and all who made donations.

Many thanks to Chateau Gardens, Lancaster Pharmacy, Mitchell's Flower Market, The Glengarrian, Lan-Char Senior's Centre, Rob McIntosh Fine China, Marleau Bros. Cornwall, Bank of Montreal Lancaster, Rozon Insurance Brokers, Lancaster Legion, Talk of the Town, McEwens Gas Bar, Gail's Place, Landry's Friendly Country Grocers, Big Lukes, Sangsters in Bainsville and the Knights of Columbus who donated the proceeds of their latest community breakfast. Well done!

View the Skies

Dan Bobka and the Cornwall Backyard Astronomers are doing it again. Come to Cooper Marsh on Saturday evening, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m. Bring your field glasses or telescopes and view the night skies with this group. Mars is still close and hopefully there will be lots to see. If it should rain there will be videos and slides inside. All welcome.

25 Years

"1978 was a very good year", says Richard Pilon. Now, we're not talking wine here but of the year that Richard started as custodian of Ecole St. Joseph in the village. In May of that year, Richard and Suzanne Brunet were married. In that same year Suzanne started to work for the Bank of Montreal here (many of us dropped by for her special 25th celebrations)

On Saturday, Oct. 24 the French Catholic School Board will have a dinner in St. Isidore for those teachers, secretaries and/or custodians who are retiring or celebrating 25 years with the board.

At that time Richard will receive a nice watch and best wishes from all.

Election Signs

It's a sign of the times. Dotted all over the countryside are the many signs of those brave people who have offered to run for office in our provincial government.

Soon, many signs of those who are running for municipal council will replace these signs. I say many because we have nine candidates running for councillor, two for Deputy-Mayor and two for Mayor. The new crop of signs should be plentiful.

As for the silly people who have nothing better to do than knock down signs, well, they should run for the job of taking down and returning signs to the appropriate persons.

Energy well spent but my guess is that they only work in the dark!

Have a super week everyone!

Impressive start

After completing an undefeated season in the Ottawa Carleton Soccer League division one this year, the U14 boys' Blazers started off the Youth Cup with an impressive 8-0 win over the Ottawa Internationals.

Richard Bovington led the way with three goals, Ben Martin scored twice and singles went to Alex Glasgow, Dan Gignac and Francois Charlebois. Mathew Stones and Dan Bougie shared the shutout.

Run-walk safety

This Saturday the 4th annual Glengarry Cancer Run will take place on 4th Line Road just north of Curry Hill. The event has already raised $52,500 for the Canadian Cancer Society.

To ensure the safety of the 300 or more participants, the 4th Line Road will be closed from the St. Lawrence Catholic Church to the 4th Concession from 9:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

U13 Hearts move on

The U13 Glengarry Hearts have moved on to the next round of the Ottawa Carleton Soccer League playoffs.

The Hearts got past the Ottawa Internationals in the first playoff round by winning their games 3-0 and 4-0. Riley Filion, Callie McLeod and Karine Major scored the goals in the first game played in Alexandria on Sept. 20.

Two days later Major, Brittany MacLennan with two and Kalica Koggel scored in a 4-0 win in Ottawa. Krystal Delage registered both shutouts.

Now the Hearts will move on to a round robin format with the three remaining teams in the playoffs. The two teams with the highest points total after the round robin will meet in the Youth Cup final on Oct. 4 or 5.

Rebels roster

The John Warden Fuels Char-Lan atom B Rebels have begun their 2003-04 season.

In the team's first exhibition game against Vankleek Hill they won 5-1. Eamon with two, Fraser, MacDonald and Payette scored in the victory.

In their second exhibition game against Alexandria the Rebels won 8-0. Eamon led the way again with three goals and two assists. Smith-Dionne also had a big game with two goals and two assists while Cecereau, MacDonald and Laplante rounded out the scoring.

Brent Small earned the shutout.

U13 Hearts move on

The Alexandria Restaurant U14 Premier Blazers girls' team has advanced to the Youth Cup finals to be held this Saturday in Richmond.

The team eliminated the Gloucester Hornets in the first round. In the first game, the Blazers won by the score of 1-0 as Becky Kirkby pounced on a rebound late in the game to give the team the victory.

In game two, the Blazers fell 2-1 to the Hornets, but advanced due to tie-breaker rules. Knowing the tie-breaker rules, the team actively defended the 2-1 score late in the game. Jessika Thompson scored the team's goal.

In the second round, the Blazers defeated the Ottawa Internationals by a score of 2-1. Claude Beaupre and Stephanie Higgins scored in the win. The Blazers followed that up with a 1-0 victory over Rockland United on Sunday, on a penalty shot goal by Natalie Zimmer, and another shutout by Andrea Montford.

Blazers shock Ottawa

The Hunt Insurance U17 Blazers boys' team is off to the final of the Youth Cup in Kanata this Sunday.

They accomplished that by defeating Ottawa Capital United 7-0 in the semi-finals.

The Ottawa team forfeited the second game because they had to win 8-0 to move on.

Capital United had lost only one game all season before the setback.

In the Blazers' victory, William Elshof with two, Markus Benoit-Noe, Shane Caron, Scott Meldrum, Stefano Zoppas and Chris von Bornhoft all scored. Eric Arajs posted the shutout.

Rebels shooters leaving their mark

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Char-Lan Rebels are sure to leave their mark against the opposition this year, especially on goaltenders.

The Rebels fired at will last weekend as they boggled the mind of Akwesasne Wolves rookie Seth Robinson with 54 on Sunday and (although there were no shots recorded on the scoresheet against Winchester Friday night) the Rebels surely eclipsed 100 for the weekend with another onslaught.

"The Winchester goalie stood on his head the first period," said Rebels head coach Eric Fontaine.

"On Sunday I think the goalie for Akwesasne played amazing. I give them credit for hanging in there."

All told, the Rebels scored 10 goals on the weekend and now sit one goal ahead of Alexandria for the league lead with 21.

On Friday night they took a big step in moving into first in goals scored in Winchester.

Rebels 7 Hawks 3

It took almost a full period but the Rebels closed out the opening frame with two goals in the final 2:38 to get the ball rolling.

Pat Johnson and Stephane St. Denis, with his first of the campaign, solved Hawks rookie Michel Bouchard to give the Rebels a 2-0 first intermission lead.

The Rebels doubled their lead in the second period when Steve Jarvo and Jamie Leger found the back of the net.

The four goal lead increased to five when Jarvo potted his second of the night with just under 14 minutes remaining.

Winchester finally found the scoresheet when Brad Casselman broke Anthony Fricchione's shutout bid on a penalty shot.

That seemed to light a spark under the Hawks but Char-Lan was able to match Winchester's two other goals to end the game.

Corey Gagnon potted both Hawks' tallies while Roch Lebrun scored his first of the season and St. Denis knotched his second of the night for Char-Lan.

Char-Lan has shown pride in capturing the goals against crown the past three seasons and Fontaine didn't appreciate the three goals against.

"I was disappointed to give up three goals. We talked to the guys about that before the game Sunday. Everything was running smoothly then they got the penalty shot and everything fell apart. The guys have to play 60 minutes to keep the goals down."

Two days later the Rebels hosted a young Wolves team for their first afternoon tilt of the season.

Rebels 3 Wolves 2

Backed by the goaltending of American Seth Robinson and the speedy forwards led by Ryan Kuhn Lalonde, the Wolves caused fits in Williamstown Sunday.

Still the Rebels showed their depth squeaking out a 3-2 victory.

The win came after what Fontaine admits were a few favourable bounces.

One of those lucky bounces came after Danny Lafave whacked in his first goal of the season short-handed (after the puck seemed to be trapped by Robinson) towards the end of the second period giving the Rebels a 2-1 lead.

It seemed like the goal came after referee Peter Bowen had blown the play dead but he decided it didn't.

The game-winning goal came on a powerplay (Jarvo's fifth goal of the season) with just under three minutes remaining.

"I thought for sure he would call (the second goal) off," said Fontaine.

"It was close but that was one of our lucky bounces. The powerplay was another one."

After a scoreless first period the Wolves opened up the scoring with a Samuel Raymond goal.

Johnson then put on a magnificent display of talent taking a nice feed from Jarvo and roofing the puck past Robinson for his fifth of the year.

Glens coach surprised with team's torrid start

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Even Alexandria Glens head coach Raymond Lavergne admits he didn't expect his team to have a perfect record after the first two weeks of play.

But that's the case as the Glens sport a record of 4-0 with two more wins on the weekend over Winchester and Morrisburg.

"I will be honest with you, I am surprised with our four wins," said Lavergne Monday.

"At the beginning of the year I didn't know if (Mathieu) Desnoyers, (Justin) Martel and (Chris) VanOverbeek would be here. We're playing some good hockey right now."

But Lavergne cautions that he expects things to get a little more difficult as the season progresses. Despite allowing just two goals against on the weekend, he feels his defence has to pick up their play.

He said he doesn't think they're playing with enough strength in their own end of the ice and wants to see improvement on using the glass when clearing the puck.

In goal Raymond said he expects no problems from the junior A experienced Justin Martel and he was intrigued by Jacob Rodrigue's first start of the season Friday in Morrisburg.

"He doesn't really have a nice style but I was talking to his coach from last year and he said the same thing. A lot of the time he dropped his stick and picked up the puck with his blocker. We're not used to seeing that. He'll play Friday night and we'll see how he reacts in front of our home fans."

Rodrigue would have an impressive start in his first game giving up only one fluky goal in a win in Morrisburg.

Glens 3 Lions 1

It took only 1:13 for Morrisburg to find the scoresheet as Tyler Lafortune had good fortunes from a weird play.

Teammate Matt McBean fired the puck into the Glens' zone around the boards and Rodrigue skated out of his net to play the puck. Before the puck reached Rodrigue it bounced off the boards and ended up in front of an open net on Lafortune's stick. He made no mistake on his shot.

The Glens managed to battle back midway through the period as Mathieu Desnoyers scored his second goal of the season.

With just under six minutes remaining in the middle frame Alexandria's Jeff Lobb scored his first of the season, the eventual game-winner.

Chris VanOverbeek added his first as well in the third to seal the win.

The game Friday night marked the introduction of Derek Ryan to the Glens. Ryan played the past three seasons with the junior A Hawkesbury Hawks.

It didn't take long for him to find the scoresheet in his second game with the club.

Glens 6 Hawks 1

Ryan scored just 59 seconds into his first game on home ice starting off a long afternoon for Hawks head coach and general manager Dominic Menard.

Menard was making his first appearance in Alexandria since leaving his general manager and assistant coaching positions in the off-season.

Dave's Drywall returns with win

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The North Glengarry Broomball League is back in action and it didn't take long for defending champion Dave's Drywall to pick up their first win.

Dave's defeated Lacombe's Custom Work 5-0 in the opening game Sunday night at the Maxville and District Sports Complex.

Jamie Norman led the charge with two goals and an assist.

Lance Ouderkirk and Gary St. Pierre also had three point games with a goal and two assists.

Lee Casselman rounded out the scoring for Dave's.

On the other side of the ice Mario Dumont scored the lone Lacombe's goal.

In the second game on Sunday Farley Windows earned a 4-0 victory over the Matco Masters.

Randy Cousineau picked up his first shutout of the season for Farley.

Robert Seguin with two, Paul Seguin and Victor Sarault scored.

Women's action

The Char-Lan women's Broomball League played their second games of the season on Sunday in Williamstown at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

Top Notch moved to 2-0 with a 1-0 win over Rayco.

Joan Benton scored assisted by Brenda White and Gillian Chaddock.

Anne Desrosiers posted the shutout.

In the second game another 1-0 score ensued as Laframboise moved to 2-0 and La Maison dropped to 0-2.

Joy Nichol scored assisted by Sandra Berry and Sylvie Willems.

Cathy Gagan registered the shutout.

Run-Walk event this Saturday

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The 4th annual Glengarry Run-Walk will take place this Saturday and over 300 participants are expected once again.

The event has raised more money year after year for cancer research and that has surprised organizer Glen Campbell, a teacher at Glengarry District High School.

"I have no number in mind. In the first year we just started it off to raise money. Since then the bar has been raised. I have no goals at all for this year, I just hope it's a good day. The weather is a big indicator of that."

Over the first three years $52,500 has been collected and donated to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Last year Alexandria Scotiabank came on as a major sponsor and donated $5,000 to the cause. Campbell said they're back on board again this time around.

"That's very fortunate for us," he said.

As in any event of this magnitude it's obvious one person couldn't do everything on their own.

Campbell said over 50 volunteers help out on race day and the support from local businesses and organizations is tremendous.

The North Lancaster Fire Department also volunteers their services in directing traffic at intersections.

Mustangs offense clicks in win over Stars

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

It didn't take long for last year's bottom-placed team from the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League to pick up their first win of the 2003-04 season.

There's a special feeling about this year's Maxville Mustangs squad and if Sunday night is any indication, this could go down as the best year in team history.

"Definitely I'm optimistic with what we have this year," said Mustangs head coach Kevin Lalonde.

"We have good players with good attitudes. I look forward to the season."

Backed by the addition of 10 new faces, the Mustangs rolled into Casselman Sunday night and picked up a win in their second game of the season.

The team won by a convincing score despite playing without the services of Shane O'Brien, Steve Stewart and Jordan Johnston, who will likely be three of their top players this season.

Mustangs 8 Stars 4

The Mustangs led 2-1 after 20 minutes as defenceman Martin Leroux and captain Pierre Lacombe found the back of the net.

Pat Audet had given Casselman a 1-0 lead.

In the second period the Mustangs and Stars traded two goals each with veterans Jonathon Bray and Phillip Menard scoring for Maxville and Gino St. Louis and Mathieu Paquette replying for Casselman.

In the third period the Mustangs put the game away outscoring the Stars 4-1.

Bray added his second of the night while rookies Landon Shepherd, Scott Carswell and Brody Coleman also found their scoring touch.

Paquette potted his second of the evening for Casselman.

Dan Desnoyers, who was making his first start of the season in goal, was victorious over Louis Phillipe Raymond.

"Dan made some big saves in the first period that kept the game in our favour," said Lalonde.

The win came after a disappointing effort against Embrun in their home-opener a day earlier.

Panthers 4 Mustangs 1

The first game of the season wasn't a good one for Maxville as they let Embrun take charge in a 4-1 victory.

"I was disappointed with the game," said Lalonde.

"We were sloppy and the guys looked a little nervous. The teams have been on the ice more than us with more exhibition games."

Carswell scored midway through the first period to erase a 2-0 Embrun lead but that's as close as Maxville would get.

The Panthers added a goal in each of the final two periods for a 4-1 win.

Alex Cote, Jonathon MacLean, Philipe Bruyere and Pat Giroux scored for Embrun.

Joshua Ingram started in goal for Maxville after Desnoyers (the scheduled starter) was unable to show up on time due to car troubles.

Tom Rogerson picked up the win for Embrun.

Mustangs notes:

This Friday the Mustangs travel to Vanier for a game with the Thunder starting at 8 p.m.

On Saturday the Mustangs host Rockland starting at 7:30 p.m.

Lalonde is echoing the importance of discipline once again. This time though it seems there's enough depth to sit certain players if they don't listen.

"I said from the start that we want to be a lot more disciplined and try and get out of the reputation we've developed. It will not be tolerated this year. Guys who want to play, will play."

Lalonde said Lacombe will assume his position as captain again this year while Phillip Menard will be joined by Dale Ferguson and Steve Stewart as assistant captains.

GOLF WINNERS: The Subway Sandwiches golf team won the Ladies Friendly championship at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club. The team finished the season with 124 points. The deadline for on-line registration is Oct. 1.

People who intend to walk during the event register on race day.

Only walkers and runners who wish to be timed are required to pre-register. All non-timed walkers can register on race day between 9 a.m. and 9:50 a.m.

Registration will be at the St. Lawrence Church. Deadline for late registration is 9:30 a.m. Add five dollars to registration costs.

The start times for the events are:

runners- 10 a.m. (21.1 km) and 10:05 a.m. (five km and 10 km)

walkers- 9 a.m. (21.1 km) 10:10 (five km and 10 km)

The top three finishers in each category will receive a medal and the overall male and female winner of each distance will also receive a trophy.

The costs for the events are: five kilometre ($15), 10 kilometre ($20), 21.1 kilometre ($25). Walkers ($15).

Make cheques payable to Glengarry Run.

The course starts off just north of the railway tracks near the Curry Hill Truck stop on 4th Line Road. The half marathon turnaround point is just before Dalhousie.

Campbell had many reason to pick the location.

"I jogged it quite a bit. It's nice and straight and wide open. There's not many hills and there's good access to the highway and St. Lawrence Catholic Church who have been very good to help out."

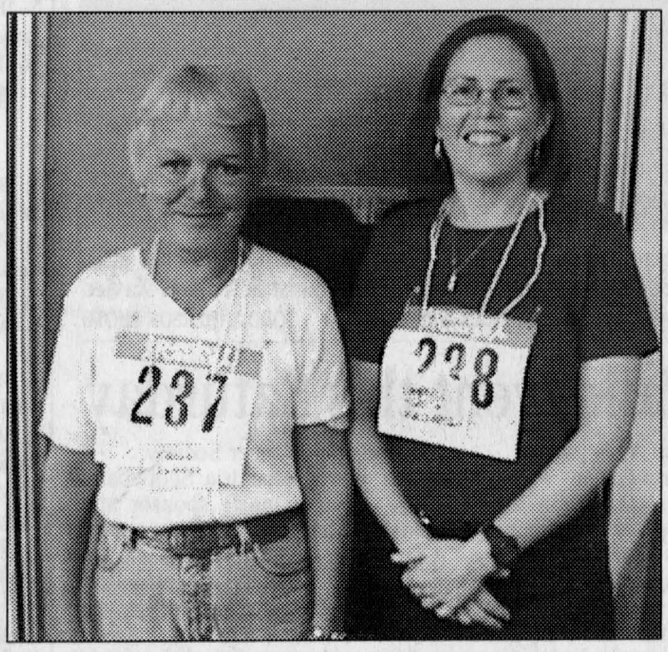
While the event offers a perfect landscape for competition, it's nice to have the whole family involved.

"It goes along with the focus of the event," said Campbell.

"The competitive runners can go on but bring their families as well and raise money for a good cause. It's great to see people visit before and after the race. It's a good social outing."

As of Thursday last week Campbell said 33 participants had pre-registered on-line and a total of 50 had committed.

He expects a large walk-up crowd of walkers as usual.



READY FOR RUN: Glengarry Run-Walk organizing committee members Nicole Campeau and Anne MacDonald sport sample bibs which will be worn by participants at this year's event. The run-walk goes this Saturday.

Soccer team enjoys European vacation

A soccer team comprised of 16 local teenage boys competed with six chaperons during a week-long trip to Europe recently.

The team dubbed the South Glengarry boy's soccer club, made stops in Holland, Belgium and France to take in some attractions and play a few exhibition games.

The trip, which was organized by Martintown resident Bill de Wit, consisted of mostly Char-Lan District High School students.

Joining Bill were his sons Willy and Alex, as well as Bill's parents Harry and Mary who vacationed in Holland at the same time.

Also making the trip were: Greg MacCulloch (who coached) as well as his son Bradley, Dan Daigle and his son Taylor, Bob Gauthier and his son Stephen, Jimmy van der-Burg, Kyle McIntosh, Stefano Zoppas, Adam Jarvo, Rory Sandilands, Mac Cumming, Andrew Fournier, Travis McKay and Brock Legault.

Williamstown natives and now North Bay residents Martin, Emmy and their sons Shawn and Steven, also made the trip.

The group stayed in three rented chalets situated in the town of Oosterhout located in southern Holland. Transportation for the 22 tourists was provided via five rental vehicles.

The sightseeing included visiting a functioning Dutch windmill, a day trip to Amsterdam, climbing the Eiffel tower, exploring Le Louvre Museum to see the famous Mona Lisa painting, a tour of Notre Dame Cathedral and a day tour to Ieper, Belgium where the group was humbled by the many Flander's Fields museums, monuments and burial grounds.

The group also travelled to Paris, France (where they were joined by Martintown resident Lyndsay MacCulloch who was in Europe on a work assignment) and travelled to Frankfurt, Germany.

In terms of soccer matches the team came home with a record of 1-2.

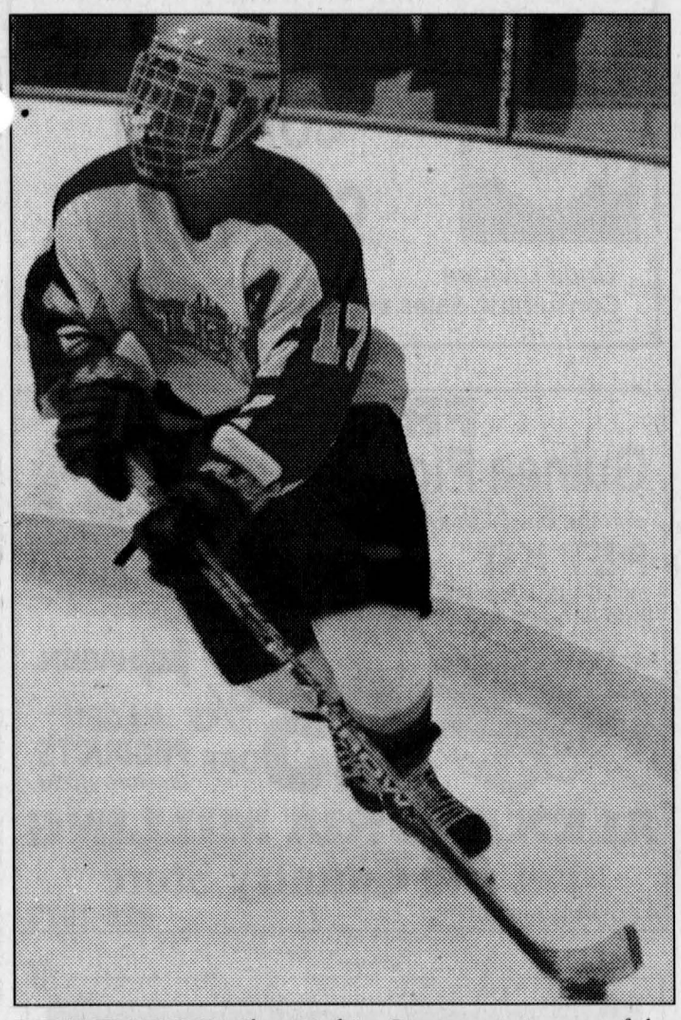
All games were played in Holland.

The first match resulted in a 6-1 loss to a regional club from the City of Made (pronounced Mada), population 26,000. Willy de Wit scored the lone South Glengarry goal.

In the second game South Glengarry dominated a club from a town called Wagonburg (population 10,000), however defensive miscues combined with the inability to capitalize on numerous scoring opportunities resulted in a 3-1 loss.

Taylor Daigle had the lone goal.

The team regrouped to win their third and final match by a convincing 8-0 score against a club from a small village called Oosteind (population 2,000). Brock Legault, Taylor Daigle and Stefano Zoppas led the barrage with two goals each while singles went to Brad MacCulloch and Andrew Fournier.



POINT PRODUCER: Glens Mathieu Desnoyers is just one of the veteran forwards on the club who should put up good numbers this season. TODD ANDERSON PHOTO

Glens

"Winchester is in a rebuilding year and we saw a lot of new faces out there," said Lavergne.

"They were young and we have a lot of vets."

Simon Langevin made it a 2-0 Glens' lead before the opening period was up.

In the middle frame it took just 59 seconds again for the Glens to score as Louis Brisson potted his third of the campaign.

With just under five minutes left in the period, the Glens allowed not only their second goal of the weekend but their second fluky goal.

Mathieu Desnoyers skated behind his own net uncontested until he reached the corner where he was met by a pair of Hawks. He inadvertently fired the puck in front of his own net before getting hit. The puck bounced off a Glens' teammate and beat Martel between the legs.

Winchester's Marc-Andre Fournier was credited with the goal.

The Glens didn't let that goal get to them as they made good on a two-man powerplay goal to start the third period.

Defenceman Christian Piquette scored his second goal and fifth point of the season.

Nicholas Adam and Derek Ryan closed out the scoring for a 6-1 Glens win.

Glens notes:

This weekend the Glens host the Kemptville 73s Friday night starting at 8:30 p.m.

On Saturday the Glens travel to Char-Lan for a 7:45 p.m. start against the Rebels.

"We've got a huge test this weekend especially against Char-Lan," said Lavergne.

"They'll be prepared for us, especially after we beat them in overtime (in the season opener). Kemptville is strong year after year."

Incorrect information was printed in last week's The Glengarry News.

Although Steve Owens, Mathieu Desnoyers and Jeff Lobb are currently wearing "As" on their shirt, they have not been named assistant captains for the season.

Lavergne said he hopes to make a decision on who will be in the next two weeks.

Derek Ryan, 19, is the older brother of fellow-Glen Jeremy, 17. The two are Fournier residents.

Lavergne expects the elder Ryan's stay in Alexandria to be a short one as he awaits a trade to another junior A club from Hawkesbury.

"I hope he's here for the year but I doubt it. He'll be a leader for us while he's here."

Lavergne said he's been holding discussions with a defenceman who didn't play anywhere last season.

He admits it's a long shot the player would skate in Alexandria this season however.

Rebels

"You know that line will show up every game," said Fontaine about Johnson, Jarvo and Duval.

"Last year they had to kill penalties and play powerplays, they got worn down. This year everybody has a job in different situations so there's a little bit of pressure off that top line. When it comes down to crunch time we can go with our best."

Sean Flanagan had tied the game at 2-2 for the Wolves in the third period setting up Jarvo's heroics.

"Heading into the game we knew they were young but they were quick," said Fontaine.

"We emphasized the importance of finishing checks."

Rebels notes:

This Saturday the Rebels host the Alexandria Glens starting at 7:45 p.m. in Williamstown.

On Sunday the Rebels travel to Kemptville for a 7:45 p.m. start against the 73s.

"Saturday versus Alexandria will be another battle," said Fontaine.

"They have quick forwards and I think it will be another up and down game. There will be lots of physical play and I think whoever stays out of the box will win. Kemptville we haven't seen yet this year but I hear they're big this year. It's never easy playing there Sunday night."

Sophomore Josh Legue has registered five points already this season. He had 10 all of last year. Addison Pelkey has three points already and had just 11 last year.

One of the main reasons for their improvement, is centreman Stephane St. Denis.

"He'll give those guys the extra boost," said Fontaine.

"They both started off strong and they have much more confidence than they did last year."

Fontaine said it was very difficult to miss the opening home game of the season when he had prior engagements.

"I called (Rebels general manager John Chafee) three times before the game and once after the first period. I never missed a game before either as a player or coach, maybe some as an assistant."

Fontaine said it should be the only game he misses this season.

Defenceman Ryan Major will be out of the lineup Saturday with prior commitments so rookie Cody Legue will take his spot.

U13 Hearts in Youth Cup finals

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Glengarry U13 Hearts battled through adversity in reaching the Youth Cup finals of the Ottawa Carleton Soccer League.

Needing to win by at least two goals to move on to the final, the Hearts defeated Gloucester 5-1 Monday night.

Brittany MacLennan with two, Myriam Benoit, Riley Filion and Lindsay Boisvenue scored in the game.

Now the Hearts will move on to the finals which will be played this Sunday in Ottawa starting at 3 p.m.

The Hearts needed the victory Monday night after losing their first contest of the year 2-1 to Ottawa South United earlier.

Riley Filion had the lone goal in that loss.

Three teams looking for Cup playoff berth

BY TODD ANDERSON
Sports Editor

The Glengarry Cup men's soccer tournament may come down to a three-way plus minus tie-breaker.

Heading into the final day of action Thursday Lochiel, Char-Lan and Lancaster all sport records of 1-2 and look to pick up the final two playoff spots.

If Alexandra (2-1) can knock off Lochiel in their match, Lochiel will hope the loser of the Lancaster and Char-Lan game will not surpass their goal total (which is at five heading into Thursday).

Lancaster has eight goals so far while Char-Lan has five.

Alexandria isn't in the clear yet though.

If Alexandria loses to Lochiel, there will be a three-way tie-breaker by plus minus because Alexandria, Lochiel and the winner of the Lancaster-Char-Lan game will all have records of 2-2.

Round robin results

Alexandria 6 vs Kenyon 2
Lancaster 5 vs Lochiel 1
Kenyon 4 vs Lancaster 1
Lochiel 4 vs Char-Lan 2
Alexandria 8 vs Lancaster 2
Keny. 2 vs C-L 0 (default)
Kenyon 1 vs Lochiel 0
C-L 3 vs Alexandria 1

Oct. 2 Alex. vs Lochiel
Lanc. vs C-L
Oct. 5 Semi-final
1 vs 4, 2 vs 3
Oct. 9 Finals

If there are only two teams tied with a similar record, the first tie-breaker is head-to-head results then plus minus and then overall goals scored.

Kenyon wrapped up their round robin play with a record of 3-1 and guarantee themselves first or second place.

In their final game against Lochiel Sunday night, Cy Ihedoro scored the lone goal in a 1-0 victory.

In the other game Char-Lan kept their playoff hopes alive with a 3-1 victory over a short-manned Alexandria squad.

Alexandria started the game with 10 players but because of an injury and red card, lost two more during the game.

Dave Booyink, Steve Jarvo and Al Seguin scored for Char-Lan.

Al Decoste had given Alexandria a 1-0 first half lead.

In action held on Sept. 25 Alexandria had no problem against Lancaster winning 8-2.

Randy Lavigueur led the way with three goals while Marc Seguin and Al Decoste each potted a pair.

Kirk MacMillan scored a single.

In the other game Kenyon lost to Char-Lan but picked up the win after Char-Lan was given a forfeit loss after because of an ineligible player.

"Pie-less" party still popular at Museum

WILLIAMSTOWN
SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279
sharring@glen-net.ca

Something dreadful happened at the museum on Sunday. The pie ran out before the people did!

Apple Pie and Quilts was an overwhelming success for the museum this year, no doubt because the Nor'Westers and Loyalist was back on the Apples and Art official circuit tour after several years absence.

Organizers had solicited 22 pies, but before 4 p.m. they were scurrying around changing signs to read, "Ice cream and tea available," erasing any reference to the flaky, melt-in-the-mouth dessert that men love and women pretend not to eat.

And while late-comers may have been disappointed, they hid it well, perhaps sobbing behind the beautiful quilts which were also responsible for drawing the crowds.

Each year I am always amazed at how the museum volunteers are able to come up with a totally new display of quilts by different area quilters. This year it was Martintown's turn to shine, especially members of the Martintown W.I.

Contributors included Jan Buckland, with several quilts. One of these was the second one she ever made. Apparently Jan's first attempt at quilting "remains as yet unfinished." Husband Art was slinking around, wondering when the exhibit would be taken down.

"It was cold last night without my blankets," he teased.

Allison Murray also had several quilts on display. Sylvia Thomson brought along a wonderful Amish quilt and doll and also a quilt made by her mother-in-law, Jean Thomson.

Del Roulston had some very interesting wall-hangings as well as a "mystery quilt." Phyllis Rowland's "Variations on a Star" wowed the visitors and Bev Runions showed a crib quilt made by Lillian Belmore which has been passed down to her grandchildren.

Also in the display were works by Isabel Urquhart, Jeannette Schaak, Linda Norton-McLaren, Katherine Cumming, Bernice MacMillan, and Tracey Myers. Donna Bougie contributed, "Flying Geese," and Dwayne McRae lent a Dresden Plate quilt made by an unknown quilter.

Kentucky Rose, a quilt owned by Dorothy Campbell of Osgoode, was the subject of much speculation with the knowledge that the quilt was a very old one and that the materials used had been hand dyed using fruit and vegetable dyes.

"But the red is so red!" exclaimed one visitor, prompting others to speculate.

Could it be a fruit cocktail of strawberry and pomegranate?

A vegetable medley of tomato juice and, say, a few dribbles of blood to hold the colour fast? A mixture of red ants and red peppers?

Only the maker, long since gone, knows for sure!

Gayle Lipnicki's mother's bedspread was also an attention-getter. Falling slightly beyond the generally-accepted definition of "quilt," the bedspread was notable for having been knitted and crocheted out of grocery string. And Gayle remembers her mother making this labour of love.

It was wonderful to see the museum humming with people. As Heidi Krol pointed out, the committee and its volunteers have certainly been doing all the right things in recent years to encourage people to come and see our wonderful little jewel.

Quilt of Belonging

A quilt block from "Invitation: the Quilt of Belonging," was on display under glass at the museum. It was a nice touch, as Esther Bryan was to be found at the quilt project's headquarters, with the rest of the textile work of art.

Invitation was also on the Apples and Arts tour and received many visitors.

Craft nook

For Bob and Claudette Campbell, the inclusion of their Country Craft Nook on the tour was a wonderful thing.

Bob described the response from their visitors as "super," especially during the nice weather on Saturday.

People came from Oshawa, Hamilton, Cornwall, and places a little closer to home, but Bob said that at least a third of those who visited the shop and workshop on Wellington Street, were from Montreal.

Bob and Claudette were each busy making projects in the workshop while the visitors watched them. Meanwhile the retail shop was manned by their daughter, Shannon, and Alexandra Klazinga.

The Campbells served hot mulled cider and cookies to their guests, and made lots of new friends in the process. They would like to thank everyone who came their way on the weekend.

Sue, the map

Just where is Wellington Street? Believe it or not, I was asked that question twice by local people during the tour.

The short answer is: off Church Street, between Alan Sullivan's and Theresa Bridson's residences. It looks like a lane, but it's really a street.

Bob says he'd like to participate in Apples and Art next year.

Back home again

It was nice to see Christine Cattanach and her husband, Dave, home from Alberta for a visit with her parents, Norma and Bill Cattanach.

I'm sure I'll be forgiven for not using Christine's married name. When people return home to Williamstown, they automatically revert to their birth names in the minds of the residents.

Have a nice visit with all the family!

New baby

A new generation of the McDonell family has begun with the arrival, on Sept. 23, of a baby girl to Eliane and Kirk McDonell.

Olivia Mary McDonell was born at the Montfort Hospital in Ottawa, weighing 6lbs. 11 oz. She is the first grandchild of Linda and Bruce McDonell of Williamstown, and the 13th of Gerald and Rose Bourbonnais of Cornwall.

Eliane and Kirk are living between Vars and Limoges, not much of a trek where a new grandchild is concerned!

Congratulations to you all!

Wrong hurricane

Whoops! Last week's column had me experiencing a hurricane a year before it actually happened. Talk about an evil eye!

Lenny Joubert set me straight: Hurricane Hazel occurred in 1954, not '53. Lenny remembers it well. He and his sister, Marjorie Quenneville, were living in Bronte, On at the time.

Bronte is located in the Burlington area, which experienced a much more ferocious version of Hazel than we did in these parts.

Good eats

Hungry? The guide to fine dining supplement of this column is about to set out the "big three" suppers coming soon to Williamstown, so that you can arrange your lives around them.

First up is St. Mary's Roast Beef Supper, on Sunday, Oct. 19. (This one is always the week after Thanksgiving.)

Next comes the Williamstown Fair Board Dinner and AGM on Friday, Oct. 24, also at St. Mary's Centre.

And then there is St. Andrew's Turkey Supper, on Saturday, Nov. 1, in Irvine Hall. (This one is always the first Saturday in November.)

Note to campaign managers: Did you get that?

Note to supper organizers: Ask for extra pies, in case they did!

Municipal race

And they're off! Like fine sleek horses in the Kentucky Derby, our stable of municipal election candidates has left the starting gate. Race-track manager, ML, confirms there were no scratches on the card as of Monday.

Congratulations to all our horses, dark or otherwise, for agreeing to enter – and may the best ones win!

Like the Senators?

If you are an Ottawa Senators fan, or the fan of a team playing against the Senators, and want to get some season tickets or arrange a group night out, then Dwayne Spink is the man to see.

Dwayne has recently been appointed as the Ottawa Senators Regional Sales Rep for Cornwall/Glengarry, in order to promote the club's interests in this area.

Call Dwayne at 938-3937, or e-mail him at spinkd@ottawasenators.com for more information.

Coffee break

There was a wonderful response to this year's Alzheimers' Coffee Break, reports Sheila Urquhart. A total of $1,364 was raised in one day alone in the Lancaster area.

Thanks to the residents of Williamstown who donated to the cause, and to Betty and Alex MacDonald of Ye Olde Bridge Restaurant, for allowing them to do so.

Entrepreneurs

Congratulations to Maggie Lang, our young entrepreneur, on being enterprising enough to set up a "potatoes and pumpkins" stand on the weekend, selling the produce she has grown this summer.

Today potatoes and pumpkins: tomorrow CEO of some multinational grocery chain?

Yard sale

The Knights of Columbus would like to thank all those who donated goods to the Yard Sale last Saturday and those who came to check them out. It was a great success for the Council and will probably become an annual event. A large number of "treasures" changed hands; it may be interesting to see how many of them come back next year!

Bridge friends

On Wednesday the Williamstown Bridge Club held a special celebration to welcome back Jean Murray who returned from Edmonton for a brief visit with her old bridge friends.

Afterwards, the results of the game were:

N/S – 1: Jim Campbell and Elizabeth Marjerrison, 2: Grace Leroux and Evelyn McPhail, 3: Dorothy Fawthrop and Norah Ruth.

E/W – 1: Joan Owen and Bernice Barlow, 2: Hanz Schulz and Garry O'Connell, 3: John Roulston and Naylor Sargent.

Communion service

This Sunday, Oct. 5, is World Wide Communion Sunday, and children of St. Andrew's United Church in Williamstown are invited to bring any pumpkins or fall decorations (i.e. gourds) that they would like to sell to raise money for the Canadian Foodgrains Bank.

These items will be sold after the church service, which begins at 9:30 a.m. As usual, all are welcome to worship.

Pumpkin weigh-off

A reminder that this Sunday is also the Great Glengarry Giant Pumpkin Weigh Off, at Marlin Orchards on County Road 2. Unloading of pumpkins, which must be on wooden pallets, takes place between 10-11 a.m. with the weigh-off starting right afterwards.

Don't forget: Ron Ouellette, who is organizing the contest for the Green Thumb Horticultural Society, has many prizes for all kinds of pumpkins – large, small, weird, wonderful, etc.

Call Ron at 931-3357, if you would like more information.

Business Beat

One of Alexandria's newest businesses, MacGrubb Graphics, knows that a picture is worth a thousand words.

Its proprietor, John Robitaille, says his business is transforming photographs into a variety of gift ideas.

"We turn photographs into greeting cards, bookmarks, or enlargements," he says. "We also sell picture frames."

And since he's such a supporter of his fellow artists, Mr. Robitaille says he'll dedicate one of his store windows to showcasing local artistic talent.

MacGrubb Graphics is located at 128 Main St.

Much excitement is in the air as many 4-H members prepare for the Regional Championship show at the Metcalfe Fair.

This fair is the culmination of all local fairs in the region and provides members a great opportunity to strut their stuff with the best from other counties.

Those members participating at the fair are as follows: Kelly Kennedy, Heather Huxted, Sarah Quenneville and Kayleigh McKendrick (Horse division), Andrew and Laura MacMillan, Kevin and Merina Johnston, Bethany MacDonald, Jessica Sangster and Tyler MacDougal (Dairy Division) and Reuben Lindeman, Kalica and Ashley Koggel, Tristan Patrick, Kerry MacDonald, Emily Vallance, Bethany MacDonald, Sarah Krol and Sarah Ferguson (Lifeskills division).

We wish all members the best of luck with their entries!

The Metcalfe Fair runs this weekend and has something for everyone. So why not attend, have fun, and help to support our local 4-H members?

This is just another reminder that our annual awards afternoon is coming up in November and that previous members are asked to return their trophies by this evening. Please call Tracy at 874-1046 if you need them to be picked up.

That's it for now. Until next week yours in 4-H, Tracy Myers.

Laggan P.S. ready for election

DALKEITH

JEAN MACLENNAN
874-2385

Tonight, Wednesday Oct. 1 is the Laggan School Council's first meeting of the new school year. This is the election meeting and the school is looking for many new faces to carry us forward. It is very important that everyone who is interested attend tonight at 7 pm in the school's library.

The junior and senior soccer teams are in action this week, weather permitting. Congratulations to all those who participated and to those who gave of their time to organize and coach these competitions.

Student led conferences/ interviews for grades 1-7 will be held next Thursday, Oct. 9 beginning at 6 pm. Mrs. Vallance will be arranging specific interview times for new JK students, including Oct. 9. Grade 8 students will have their conference night on Tuesday, Oct. 14. Please plan to attend.

The school is still in need of volunteers particularly to assist with a remedial French program, a primary literacy program and the library. If you can donate an hour or two weekly your efforts would be greatly appreciated and our children would benefit so much. A criminal reference check is required for all volunteers working directly with children. The school board covers the cost of this reference check. If you can help in any of the above ways, or in any other way, please contact Deborah Adams at 525-4032.

The week of Oct. 6-13 is Fire Prevention Week. Students and staff have been practising emergency drills at the school. We would ask that you do the same in your own home.

On Sunday, Sept. 21, Don McGowan, host of the TV show, Travel Travel, took a trip down memory lane. Accompanied by his wife, Rosemary, he visited and reminisced with Janice (Vogan) MacIntosh, her son Lyle and Diana (Vogan) Lasalle. Don remembered the happy days he spent at the former Charlie Vogan farm, just across the road from Janice's, when he was a youngster. Janice's sister, Alice, who worked for the McGowan family in Montreal began the association by bringing older brother Kenny up for weekends. He was so enthralled with life on the farm that before long, Don and father Lloyd, a journalist, began making visits too, while Don and Kenny's mother Myrtle Cook McGowan, attended to her demanding involvement in the Olympics. The good times continued when the group gathered at the home of Janice's daughter Marilyn and husband Kent MacSweyn. They were joined by Lyle's wife Margaret and son Brent, as well as John and Karen Wilson. Eventually everyone sat down to a good old-fashioned supper of ham and scalloped potatoes with all the extras. All in all it was a most enjoyable day.

Wednesday euchre at the Optimist Hall will resume on October 15 at 1:30pm. Everyone is welcome.

Don't forget to be out to vote tomorrow (October 2). The Optimist Hall will have two polls there.
