A DREAM COME TRUE—Such progress is almost unbelievable, but here it is, the brand new hospital addition. The original building can be detected by its dark roof at the right rear of the structure and the new addition evidently more than doubles the size. This aerial view is taken from the west side and takes in the town to the north east. At left, MPP Osie Villeneuve addresses the crowd at the official opening and a small segment of the 500 or so who gathered can be seen in front.—Photos by Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald

Larger Glengarry Memorial had opening

The official opening of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital addition was held on Monday, exactly ten years after the official opening of the original building.

Weatherwise, history repeated itself—it was a balmy sunshiny day with a gentle breeze. Peoplewise—most of the same officials were back too, still working on a project dear to their hearts.

Chairman G. G. Aubry, Q.C., rejoiced "in the fulfillment of a great dream," and remarked that the hospital was probably appreciated most by the families in the community who had been treated here.

"In some places they say, 'Let's talk about it'; in Glengarry we say 'Let's do it'," said Chairman of the Glengarry Hospital Board, Mrs. Enid MacDonald, "and it is due to the participation of so many that we have this fine service for the community."

Dr. Jaggassar, Chief of Medical Staff at the hospital felt that the community could enjoy no greater present than this fine facility and said it was the aim of the entire Board of Directors and personnel to continually improve patient care. His expression of appreciation to Dr. Dolan was endorsed by the whole crowd with warm applause.

Administrator Jerry Adams said the new addition would solve many problems and create others, but the entire staff who had pitched in all along to put up with the inconvenience of building would continue to serve in the same spirit of togetherness.

Mr. Aubry welcomed Jack Jamieson who was here from Toronto, one of the government officials who assisted the primary building committee and a former resident while employed with Ontario's first Health Unit here. He also paid tribute to the Women's Auxiliary and welcomed back its founding president, Mrs. Aime Lalonde.

Reeve. J. P. Touchette read a message from Denis Ethier, MP, expressifng regret that he was unable to be present.

Mayor Bruno Massie brought greetings from the Town of Alexandria and expressed great pride in the institution "which was outside the town limits but still considered part of the town."

Warden Whitteker was also present and remarked Counties Council was well aware of the institution to which it had granted $300,000 in funds. He, however, felt it was money well spent.

Lions President Lorne Lawson called on Royal Bank Manager Andre Boyer to present Administrator Adams with a cheque for $40,000 which the Lions had pledged three years ago.

Mr. Lawson also presented a plaque to Mrs. MacDonald, Board Chairman, with a list of names of all who had participated in the Lions Walkathon on May 4th to raise $14,000 in pledges.

Guest speaker, Osie Villeneuve extended best wishes from the Ministry of Health who was unable to attend. He congratulated the community for its determination in persevering with the addition and remarked that we probably would not have had the services of such fine doctors if it were not for these facilities. "Not many doctors would endure what Dr. Dolan did for so many years."

"I received over one hundred letters from residents at the south end of the county protesting the closing of hospital beds in Cornwall while an addition was going up here," he stated, "but the Department of Health feels people in a rural community must also have services close at hand."

Following the ribbon cutting the crowd of 500 or so toured the hospital where members of the staff conducted them through the bright new quarters.

The total cost of the new addition was $1,600,000 which includes $300,000 of equipment. The architects were Helmer, and Associates and M. J. Lafortune was the contractor.

The major improvement to the community reports Administrator Adams will be in the emergency and outpatients departments where the additional treatment rooms will eliminate waiting. The physiotherapy department is also completely new.

Child on bike hit by car

Scott McDougall 7, suffered a concussion but was released from hospital later Saturday after his bike was struck by a car in front of 176 Bishop St North. The accident occured about 10.50 a.m. and police report charges may be laid against the driver of the car.

Scott is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McDougall.

Pen presented to Dr. Dolan

Here to attend official opening of the hospital addition, Dr. D. J. Dolan was presented with a Schaeffer desk pen by the medical staff of the hospital. The presentation was "in appreciation for your services to the Glengarry Memorial Hospital."

Since retiring last fall after 50 years of medical service here, Dr. Dolan has been residing at North Bay.

To get degree

William August Johnson of South Lancaster will be one of over 400 senior students at Worcester, Mass., Polytechnic Institute to receive a degree at commencement ceremonies to be held May 31. Mr. Johnson will receive his Bachelor of Science degree at the institute's 107th commencement.

Out to grass fire

Firemen were called to control a grass fire just west of the bridge on Lochiel St West, Wednesday, May 7th. Police report the fire had been set by a juvenile and the matter is under investigation.

A decision has yet to be made whether the youth will be charged or the parents will be assessed costs of the fire department outing.

Dundas not happy with redistribution

Voters in Dundas County are not happy with the riding boundary changes announced recently, notes a news report in the Winchester Press.

The new plan divides the historical Grenville-Dundas riding, which has contributed several cabinet ministers and a premier, and links Dundas County with Stormont and Glengarry.

Osgoode Township, at the same time, has been cut off from the Carleton East and becomes a part of Grenville-Carleton.

The consensus of opinion in both Dundas and Osgoode seems to be that the two areas, closely linked socially and economically, should be part of a strictly rural riding.

The thinking seems to be that Dundas has no ties with Glengarry but is, and always has been, closely linked with areas to the North and West.

It is understood Premier Davis did not favor the redistribution scheme and both Opposition Leader Nixon and NDP Leader Stephen Lewis have also voiced their disapproval.

New salary schedule for police includes 15 % salary increase

First class constables in Alexandria now are entitled to a salary of $13,744.27, according to the salary schedule agreed to by the local Police Commission and the Alexandria Police Association.

All three members of the local force under Chief Cleroux are second class constables and as such they are being paid at an annual rate of $12,707.69. First class status requires three years service plus qualification at the Ontario Police College. All three constables have attended the College.

For 3rd class constables the yearly pay is $12,229.27 and a probationery constable would earn $10,183.

Retroactive to Jan. 1st, 1975, the new agreement was reached March 15th and was formally approved in mid-April. It is in force for one year.

Fringe benefits include 1½ days each month in sick leave credit. If a constable leaves the force he gets payment at prevailing rate on termination. All constables are covered by the OMERS pension plan with the Police Commission meeting 50 per cent of payments. Retirement is at age 60.

They work a 40-hour, five-day week and if called out for extra duty at any time are credited with two hours, at time and a half. There is provision for two weeks holiday after one year's service; three weeks after three years, and four weeks after 10 years.

The Commission pays health premiums as well as coverage on $20,000 life insurance for each constable.

Other benefits cover travel and time spent in court during off-duty hours.

Injured in car accident

A 35 year old resident of RR 1, Alexandria, was admitted to Glengarry Memorial Hospital Tuesday night following a car accident.

Gilles Chabot was proceeding north on Highway 34 when a tire blew out and he lost control of the car, striking a tree near County Road 21.

He is suffering from multiple lacerations to his face and head.

Clerks of E.O. municipalities had meeting here last week

The seven Glengarry municipalities played host to 87 clerk-treasurers of Eastern Ontario municipalities at their semi-annual spring meeting held here last Wednesday. The visitors are members of zone 6 of the Association of Municipal Clerk Treasurers of Ontario. The zone extends from Kingston and Deep River, east.

The meeting and luncheon wereheld in the Acropolis Room of Alexandria Pizzeria. Guests at the luncheon included Mayor Bruno Massie, Reeve Alex McDonald of Lochiel and Reeve Albert Faubert of Kenyon.

Amendments to the municipal Act were chief subject of discussion and these were outlined by Jerry Yarimovich, chief supervisor, Stanley Melski and K. Kimura of the Ottawa regional office, Ontario Ministry of the Treasury and Economics. The clerks were informed mobile homes must now be either licenced or assessed. They can no longer be taxed both ways.

Presiding was Lloyd Barkley, clerk-treasurer of Morrisburg, who is president of Zone 6.

The ladies walked too

The so-called weaker sex walked, too, in the recent Lions walkathon and some of them were rather miffed their accomplishments were not reported on in last week's story.

Walk officials report at least a dozen ladies were walking and at least four completed the entire 30-mile stretch. They were Mrs. Robert Trottier, Mrs. Gerald Trottier, Mrs. John Larocque and Mrs. Billie Gebbie.

Glengarry's drinking problem Let it be ! Let it be !

Officials of Glengarry Inter-Agency were grossly disappointed with the lack of response from people in the County following their appeal regarding the drinking problem.

In news releases in April, a report on drinking in the area was made public. It had been compiled by a minister, Rev. Peter Barkway, a social worker in Glengarry, Rick Bough and a high school guidance counsellor, Jim Baker. The public were asked to call certain members of the Inter-Agency to indicate if they were interested in a follow-up study of the matter to see if any degree of control could be worked out.

The people whose names were listed to contact reported the following response: Allan Vallance, Maxville, none whatever; Rick Bough, Glengarry Memorial Hospital, none whatever; Chief Cleroux, Alexandria, one phone call, one letter; Rev. Barkway, one letter, no phone calls, several comments ranging from: "Well, you people have killed all chances of any industry coming here," "It's always in schools," "It's never in schools."

The only organization that replied was St. Raphael's Catholic Women's League who were wholeheartedly in favor of study of the matter, and sent in fifty names in support of the endeavor.

The only comments this reporter received were in the vein of "Wasn't that a fool thing to write in the Glengarry News."

The Glengarry News received one letter regarding the report.

However, two more people at the meeting, Rev. Denis Vaillancourt and Ann MacPhee volunteered to join the original committee who formulated the report to help promote the project.

Allan Vallance, vice-chairman of Inter-Agency was skeptical that anything further could be done. "If people are so apathetic, nothing can be done," he insisted, "Our report has been ignored."

The meeting, however, decided to try to keep the topic alive and the committee will meet again to decide what further action to take.

Jim Baker, chairman of the original report was unable to be at the meeting and has since told this writer that he had received several calls, offering encouragement and a desire to study the matter further.

Ottawa judge presiding here

Judge M. J. Fitzpatrick is no longer coming to Alexandria and the bench here will be occupied by Judge Patrick White of Ottawa, who will deal with most of the cases.

Judge White has increased fines dealing with some liquor charges. Anyone found in possession of liquor outside his residence will be fined $25,; and double that if the liquor is in a car.

Drinking under age will bring the same fines—$25, and $50, if in a car.

Former mansion at Thornhill lost at South Lancaster

Older residents of the Lancaster area are looking back with nostalgia in the wake of Saturday night's fire that destroyed the former mansion of Thornhill Farm. At one time the showplace of South Lancaster, the big manor house had been vacant and badly vandalized in recent years.

A representative of the Fire Marshall's Office is being assisted by Lancaster OPP in an investigation of the origin of the blaze. The fire was noticed about 9 p.m. Saturday and hundreds of residents and motorists from the adjacent highways 401 and 34 gathered to watch the spectacular fire. The Lancaster brigade was assisted by firemen from Glen Walter and Williamstown.

The big house was totally destroyed and only sections of the high brick walls still stand.

Many Glengarrians will remember Thornhill for the fine tree-lined driveway that stretched from Highway 34 to the mansion erected a century ago by A. G. McBean, at one time a partner of Glengarry's cheese king, D. M. Macpherson. That attractive driveway was lined on both sides by small cedar trees that had been planted in a series of adjoining clusters. The cedars, in those early days, were kept trimmed to form cones that stretched from highway to home.

Following the death of Mr. McBean, Thornhill farm came into possession of a nephew, W. D. McBean of Winnipeg. Later it was the home of Colonel Bowie of Montreal, who had been involved in building of the St. Polycarpe-Cornwall branch railway. Some 25 years ago it was in use as Waverley School for Boys and after the school closed it had a succession of owners and tenants as it gradually deteriorated. Vacant in recent years, it had been badly vandalized.

Stretching from Lancaster's boundary to No. 2 highway in South Lancaster, Thornhill Farm embraced some 350 acres before it was cut up by Highway 401 and fringe housing. It was bounded on the West by the Raisin River and a resident of South Lancaster, Mrs. Mabel Mossop vividly recalls the wonderful views on all sides provided by the big windows of Thornhill manor. To the south was the St. Lawrence, to the west, the Raisin, and Lancaster Village was seen from the north windows. Mrs. Mossop remembers those views and the finely-finished woodwork that was another feature of the big house.

Thornhill and its tree-lined driveway will long linger in the memories of area residents.

Eight OFY grants allotted

Several grants under the Opportunities For Youth have been approved for the area, according to a report from the office of Denis Ethier, MP for Glengarry-Prescott-Russell.

$5,185 goes to Glen Robertson for Supr TVGR. Under the leadership of Paulette Larocque, Louis Ouimet and Jocelyn Lortie supervision and recreation will be provided for children from five to 15.

An Environmental Study Day Camp in Summerstown will receive $3,480 to offer activities to children from four to 12 under the direction of Shelley Baker, Michelle Clark and Julie Sauve.

Friendship Conception Amitie in Alexandria will be allotted $7,055. Heading the project will be Richard Legroulx, Cathy MacKinnon, and Susan Sabourin and they will endeavour to act as a liaison between high school students and the farmers and businessmen who need short term or part time help. They will also work on theatre drama and have an evening coffee house.

Winona MacGregor, David Danskin and Rhonda MacInnes in Maxville will receive $2,464 to compile a history of piping in Glengarry.

In Alexandria, Cathy MacDonald, John McRae and Linda MacDonald will have $5,242 to provide recreation for the mentally retarded children of the area. They will endeavour to promote better understanding between the normal and retarded by running an integrated program.

The children in North Lancaster will be supervised under Recreation Summer run by Carmen Poirier, Louise Major and Sylvie Dupuis. They will receive $3,585 for their recreation program.

Production Louise in Alexandria will receive $6,890 for the making of a film dealing with assimilation. It will be headed by Jacques Menard, Michel Ramsay and Anne Whiteside.

The Boys' Club grant which had originally been turned down was re-approved following pressure by Mr. Ethier, we understand. The grant in the amount of $5,120 will provide arts, crafts, sports and recreation for children in Alexandria and area under the direction of Joanne Rozon, Bernadine O'Connor, Nancy Laplante, Barry MacDonald, Michel Vaillancourt and Gerald Cholette.

Council and Consolidated Textiles closer to agreement on effluent

Representatives from Consolidated Textile and the Ministry of the Environment met with town council in a lengthy session Tuesday night when the problems of plant effluent and sewage lagoon improvements were discussed.

The plant representatives outlined a proposal for cost sharing in line with present cost estimates and Ministry spokesmen advised that they will accept a surface aeration form of mechanically operated treatment.

Consolidated will give council its proposal in writing and the Ministry will also give its agreement on lagoon improvement.

A delegation of residents of the East Boundary Road was present to press for water and sewage services and council will ask Lochiel Township for assurance of co-operation in the project.

Arthur Duggan was present to ask council's co-operation in a land severance plan and Leo Lauzon complained of a flouting of the building by-law in the area of his home.

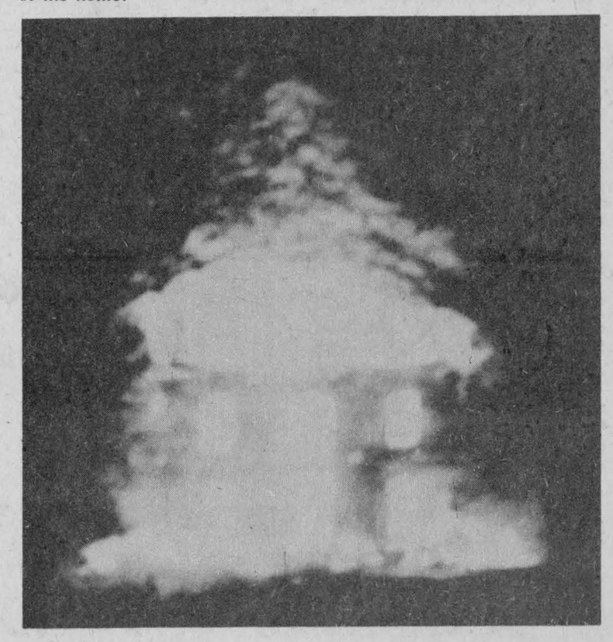
Restriction on motorized bikes

Bicycle licences are now available reports Police Chief Cleroux and arrangements have been made with Shepherd's Glengarry Sport Shop for sale of licences. Price is 50 cents.

Chief Cleroux notes that the new motorized bikes cannot be driven on a highway or street by anyone less than 14 years. There have been instances, be reports, of youngsters riding their older brothers' bikes.

Barbed wire loot

Rolls of barbed wire to a value of $435, were stolen from an enclosure on the property of Alexandria Milling, Main St South, during the night of May 6th. Alexandria police are investigating.



EYE-CATCHING IN THE NIGHT—Empty mansions have a ghost-like appearance and this picture of Lancaster's Thornhill mansion engulfed in flames presented an eerie silhouette in the night as hundreds gathered to watch the old landmark disappear.

Martintown rumor mill

by Art Buckland

Early last Saturday morning I met a wizened old leprechaun singing "Keep right on to the end of the road," wandering aimlessly about Upper Glen Falloch. I asked him why he looked so washed out and he explained that he, John Walker, Rob Taylor and Dame Fortune had gathered together at St. Mary's the night before to help Eileen and Billy (River Road) Johnston celebrate 25 years of continuous (or almost) nuptial bliss. It was such an enchanting evening of wonderful music by the Brigadoons, with wonderful people, that he had been carried away by it all. He had danced the buckles off his shoes to the lively reels of Rob Taylor; he had marvelled at the nimble-footedness of the Cains, Poapsts, Fourneys and Bucklands during that square dance; he had spent all his money on John Walker; he had been overwhelmed by all the lovely eligible young ladies, particularly S.C., D.V. and V.J. Unfortunately, he said, he had spent so much time looking at the ladies that Dame Fortune had frowned and left him for that handsome and wealthy young bachelor rarely seen at dances, that farmer from Martintown east, Daniel W.

The leprechaun asked me if he could plug in his 4,000 foot extension cord. I said yes and asked him if he was going to shave on top of Whiteface Mountain. He said no, but that he had taped some jig and reel music of the Brigadoons and that he was going to practice up for the Marathon jig and reel contest to be held at the Martintown Recreation Committee's Farmers' Spring Planting Dance on Friday, May 30th, at Yon Bonnie Glen. With that he disappeared into our West woods tiptoeing through the trilliums, dutchman's breeches, dogtooth violets and around the wild garlic and fiddleheads, carrying his tape recorder in his rucksack and trailing 4,000 feet of extension. I stood there transfixed, that is until my wife started up the garden tiller, tied my wrists to the handles with a doublegranny knot and pointed me and the machine to our west garden, saying "toil in the soil is good for the soul."

Ah, fond memories of a wonderful couple celebrating a happy occasion. Many more happy anniversaries Bill and Eileen.

Corrie Van Loon is constructing the first metal silo in the area. The Van Loons lost a carriage shed and part of their barn roof during our last windstorm.

The Van Rooi's of Glen Falloch, have a relative visiting them from Holland.

In Glen Falloch we do not have to worry about road maintenance; our farmers are doing their own resurfacing . . . with farmer's gold.

Onagh Ross reports that a rummage sale is coming up soon at Eleanor McPhadden's. There will be a meeting of the Junior Horticultural Society on May 19th. Phone Onagh for details. The Ross's have had their corn in for two weeks.

Ray and Ella Markell were pleasantly surprised by the Apple Hill Legion on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Son Larry had a major part in the organization of the event. Ella told me that sometimes it feels as though she has been married three years and other times 300 years.

Charlottenburgh Minor Hockey people held their awards night banquet last week at Precious Blood church in Glen Walter. The walls may still be resounding from the exuberant youngsters' voices.

Rae MacCulloch, out talented dance teacher, congratulates the following people who have successfully passed tests administered by Miss Sadie Simpson of the British Dancing Association.

Tracy Van Loon, Andrea Buckland, Susan and Kelly Aubin, Nicole Parette, Lee Ann Christie; Bronze Medal in Highland or Step dancing. Lindsay MacCulloch earned his pre bronze in step dancing. Deborah MacCulloch (now convalescing with a bad arm boil) earned the second highest medal—the British Award for Highland Dancing. Congratulations all.

My contest continues until May 23rd. Make as many common English names as you can from "Glengarry" and describe in prose, poetry or photo, "Spring in Glengarry". Prizes will be given out at our May 30th dance at Yon Bonnie Glen.

The news from Charlotte Sansom was that the Glengarry club dance in Ottawa with Sylvester and his Clansmen was a great time.

A prominent local farmer was telling me that he is extremely pleased with the treatment his son is receiving at the Smiths Falls Hospital "It just couldn't be better," he stated sincerely.

Last Friday the MacCulloch Dancers (Martintown clan) were fortunate to be chosen to appear on the CTV television program "Heritage Scots." The televising took place in the Martintown School and will be shown sometime in October. There will be a recital of the Martintown Dancers, organized by Mrs. MacCulloch on Wednesday, May 21st, at the Martintown Public School gym.

Martintown Mac was up to our National Arts Centre to see James Reaney's play "The Killdeer" and told me that he was impressed with the animal imagery. In particular the comparison of two female country gossips to two crows looking for another rotten carcass to peck on. Mac says "don't be a crow, but crow for positive achievements of mankind."

See you on May 30th at Yon Bonnie Glen.

A BIG, BIG, DONATION—It took three years, a lot of organizing and even more co-operation from the public, but the Lions managed to raise $40,000 to donate to the new hospital addition. The main sources of revenue were from draws, First of July celebration and two walkathons. Here, Lion Treasurer Andre Boyer right, makes the presentation to Administrator Jerry Adams.

Facilities of St. Lawrence Parks Commission open for season

"Old times, good times not so far away" swing into action again this year on May 15. Another season blending recreation, history and enjoyment for the whole family is awaiting visitors to the facilities of The St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

Stretching almost 170 miles from the Bay of Quinte to the Quebec Border, the Parks offer 14 major campsites. Many are equipped with electricity, boat launching facilities, picnic tables and sandy, supervised beaches. Riding and Nature Trails, a beautifully groomed 18-hole golf course are open to everyone who's looking for a bit more than rest and relaxation. A Marina and grass landing strip for light aircraft offer more than the average means of transportation to and from the Parks and Upper Canada Village located in the Crysler Memorial Battlefield.

The Village itself, 8 miles east of Morrisburg, or if you will, 20 miles west of Cornwall, is a step back into the history of the early 1800's. Among the thirty-five buildings are exhibits of a variety of home styles from the earliest pioneer shanty to the more comfortable homes of the well-established settler. They furnish a living heritage as the crafts and everyday tasks required then to sustain life are demonstrated by the interpreters in period dress. The development from cottage craft to small industry is shown in the woollen factory and saw mill. Many of the crafts actually made on site are sold in the Village Store in addition to pungent cheese and curds and freshly baked bread from the brick ovens.

Bread baked in the same fashion is made and sold at Old Fort Henry in Kingston, much as it was when the Fort was garrisoned in the 1830's. While "no shots were fired in anger" nor invasion accomplished, the troops were maintained in crack fighting order by constant drills and inspection parades. These precision maneuvers are performed daily to the delight of young and old alike. An extra special treat on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, is the Retreat Ceremony performed by the full Guard, some 100 strong, fife and drum, cannonades and bagpipes.

Both these historic sites and all the Parks are easily accessible by car or bus from Highway 401 and 2. Enjoy history and recreation in action at The St. Lawrence Parks Commission again this year starting May 15.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Allan of Toronto, and Mrs. Frank Willows of Lyn, spent the weekend with Mrs. W. J. MacLeod of Peter St. Other recent guests with Mrs. MacLeod were Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Green of Toronto, and Miss Katie MacCrimmon of Ottawa.

Nice to see Phil Guindon back home after a stay in the hospital.

The Maxville Lions' Club made a donation of $300 as their share of District A4's contribution of an operation microscope for the Ottawa Children's Hospital.

The regular meeting of the Maxville Manor Auxiliary will be in the auditorium next Tuesday evening, May 20th, at 8:00 p.m.

Congratulations to Fred and Bonnie Cappucino on the arrival of a new son, from South Viet Nam via Guam, safely to a happy home and many brothers and sisters in Canada.

Another in the Glengarry Old Time Fiddlers' popular concert and dance evenings at the Community Hall this Saturday; come out and trip the life fantastic with Sylvester MacDonald and the Clansmen.

The service in St. Michael's Anglican Church next Sunday, May 18th, will be Holy Communion at 9:00 a.m.

Home for Mothers' Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Osie F. Villeneuve were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Villeneuve and family of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Villeneuve and family of Hawkesbury, and Brian Villeneuve and Miss Trudi Schonwetter of Toronto.

The Maxville Guides and Brownies and their leaders would like to thank all the people who donated and bought and helped with the rummage sale; a record $250 was realized, and large donations made to the Montreal Men's Mission, the Ottawa Neighborhood Service, and a few bales of wipers for the local garagemen.

Mohan and Tibiki Cappuccino spent the weekend visiting Garth and Vivian Franklin.

Mrs. D. G. McNaughton spent a few days in Cornwall visiting relatives and friends.

The Glengarry Scottish Museum in Dunvegan will be open this holiday weekend, welcoming visitors and tourists interested in the artifacts of pioneer days.

Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Munro were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Higgins and family of Ottawa, and Mrs. Robert Higgins of Ottawa.

SCHOOL OF PIPING HAD CONCERT

The Glengarry School of Piping and Drumming held a concert in the Senior Elementary School last Friday evening; welcomed by Principal Mel McCormick, and with Ron Clare as M.C. for the program. In the appreciative audience were ten residents of the Maxville Manor, which is the school's neighbor.

A novelty for local audiences was Mrs. Helen Hunter's School Choir composed of pupils from Grades 7 and 8, with a good variety of songs: Amazing Grace, Four Strong Winds and Coulter's Candy. Malcolm Dewar's Junior Fiddlers, seven of them, played very well; they have a class every Saturday morning at the Maxville Public School. The very popular Trottier sisters showed their talents as step dancers, and Pipe Major MacKenzie accompanied the Jean Campbell dancers in highland fashion.

Both pipe bands were there, the eager juniors, and the polished perfection of the seniors. There were a few words of appreciation for the dedicated efforts of Pipe-Major Mackenzie, a thoroughly professional bandsman whose influence is always apparent in the style of the senior band. He later accompanied Caroline Smith and Karen Blair in a lively sailors' hornpipe. Three old-time fiddlers were there: Bev MacQueen, Don MacLeod, and Rene Trottier, and the excellent junior soloist Kim Clare. And more fine fiddling from Darrel and Ian MacLeod, pupils of Sid Plamadore of Alexandria.

Ron Clare again brought to the attention of the audience the incongruity of the attitude of the regional school board which, despite repeated protests, still will not consider piping a legitimate form of music, and worthy of a credit in school. Pupils can receive a credit for learning to play any other musical instrument, and this includes the drum, but not the pipes. Which means that half the school of piping and drumming can get credit officially for their work, but not the other half. Interested parents and supporters were invited to write letters of protest to the school board and the local members of Parliament.

Peter McInnes spoke briefly, thanking the audience for their interest in the School, and everyone enjoyed a light lunch in the cafeteria.

Tagwi local winners in Math contest

The results of the University of Waterloo sponsored Junior Mathematics Contest were announced recently. The contest is open to all students across Canada in their first three years of secondary school, and is divided into geographical zones. The zone which includes Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry consists of all schools in Ontario east of a line from Mattawa to Gananoque excluding Ottawa-Carleton. A school's score for the purpose of this competition is the total of its best five individual scores.

Tagwi's team, composed of Richard Termeer, Allan Macdonell, Elizabeth Brabec, Mickey Wolfe, and Douglas Marjerrison, with a score of 298 earned a greater team score than any other participating school in the three United Counties. This was Tagwi's first academic competition since it opened last September, and the results were received with particular pride there. The Tagwi team score earned a fourth place in the Eastern Ontario Zone behind schools from Deep River, Arnprior, and Smiths Falls.

Ontario includes organ donor declaration on drivers' licences

Minister of Transportation and Communications John R. Rhodes announced in the Legislature Ontario is the first province in Canada to include an organ donor section on drivers' licences.

Mr. Rhodes said the licence form has been redesigned to include a legal declaration which allows drivers to donate or allow transplantation of human organs after death.

"A driver who has reached the age of majority (18 in Ontario) has only to indicate his wishes, then sign the declaration," Mr. Rhodes explained.

The Minister went on to point out drivers are not obliged to sign the organ donor section of the licence. If a driver doesn't want to become a donor, he can detach and destroy this section of his licence.

"We sincerely hope that those among the more than four million licensed Ontario drivers who are eligible will consider taking advantage of this declaration," Mr. Rhodes said.

Outside the Legislature, Mr. Rhodes presented the first of the new licences to Dr. George A. deVeber, chairman of the Organ Donor Program Committee, the Kidney Foundation of Canada, and director of the Dialysis and Kidney Transplantation Program at Toronto Western Hospital.

He praised Dr. deVeber who played a vital role in bringing the idea of a donor declaration to his attention.

The new licences with the attached donor declaration will begin to be distributed this week as part of the normal renewal process based on drivers' birth dates at a rate of about 60,000 licences a week.

Those drivers whose licences have recently been renewed and who would like to obtain a separate donor declaration, may contact any driver examination centre, district or regional office of the Ministry's Drivers and Vehicles Division.

ALEXANDRIA

Sports piel

by Emile Hurtubise

It's that time of year again, when we walk the fairways and greens to evaluate the extent of damage the course suffered from the rigors of winter. We were out last week and found the course had wintered well except for the loss of a few trees. There is very little winter kill.

The club has been open for play for some ten days now, and golf enthusiasts have been out regularly enjoying an exceptionally early start.

Every season that long awaited trek across the fairways becomes more pleasant. The continuous improvement and grooming to the existing natural beauty of the layout has produced a golf course that draws raves from most visitors. Those responsible for this golf course becoming a reality can very well be proud of their achievement. Their project has become a valuable asset to this community.

Ben Kerr, a well known name in Ottawa and area golf circles was instrumental in planning the layout. The course, although quite short in yardage, has many natural hazards and well-placed bunkers that make the nine holes interesting to play and difficult to score.

A steady increase in both membership and green fee players is demanding expansion. Realizing this the club has recently acquired sufficient acreage abutting the existing nine holes to extend the course to a full 18 holes.

The shortage of junior girls creates unbalance in the membership. A special effort should be made to improve this situation. A more extensive golf lesson program could be the answer.

Juniors are the backbone of a club and without them we cannot continue to prosper. The club's executive this season has decided to increase the membership fees for juniors, a move that we can not agree with. The value of junior players by far outweighs the need of the few extra dollars it will realize.

The youngsters do not interfere with senior members or green fee players, their playing time is restricted to week days and after four on weekends. More consideration should be given these future players. We have a fine group of disciplined juniors. They need our help as much as we need them to ensure the guidance of this golf club in the future.

In the past we have had reason to be proud of some of our young players, among them Neil Macdonald and the late Kenny Parsons. These two put on several fine golf exhibitions and were always willing to help the younger ones.

The Twilight League, always popular with the membership, is expected to start shortly. However, the Wednesday night schedule may be shifted to Thursday evening. The Women's Twilight League was played on Tuesday evenings last year, but the lady golfers have expressed a hope to move their playing night to Wednesday if the men vacate that evening.

Good golfing everyone.

Sports Slants . . .

Henry Dumouchel is optimistic about the forming of a 7-man touch football league. The no body contact sport is expected to be played on the GDHS football field. An organization meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, at the Legion. . . The National Lacrosse League keeps Carman MacMillan hopping from the farm to the city of late and one Montreal scribe not agreeing with Carm's assessment of penalties in a recent game at the Forum wondered out loud why MacMillan officiated at all the Quebecois' home games. . . John MacDonald, a forward with the Quebec Caribous of the NLL, has Glengarry ties. The lacrosse player's father is from Glen Norman. . . Watching the Memorial Cup telecast Sunday, we can understand why the Toros were so high on young Mark Napier's services. Toronto Marlies' scouting system has to be rated among the best. Every year they come up with several draft choices and lately have had 18 year olds who have stepped into pro ranks and proven they belong there—the Howe boys, Mark and Marty with Houston and Wayne Dillon, one of the Toros top players the past two years; and now 18 year old Mark Napier and John Tonelli.

Cara Whitham in winning form

The area's championship dressage rider, Mrs. Cara Whitham, added three more championships to her list in Toronto on May 3rd.

Riding her four year old "Qui Vive," she won the elementary championship. On Sue Rothgeb's "Pegasus Playboy" she won the Medium One and FEI championships.

Centennial Farms in the Third of Kenyon will be staging a Dressage Show on Sunday, May 18th. There is no admission and the public is welcome.

David Smits of Lancaster and Glen Shoniker of Glen Walter attended a major dressage clinic in Toronto under the direction of Prof. Ed Rothkranz last week.

Soccer team to compete at Smiths Falls

In preparation for the EOSSA tournament on May 16th at Smiths Falls, the GDHS soccer team played an exhibition game vs Cornwall Senior Soccer Club, winning 4-1. Scoring for GDHS were John MacPherson (2), Brian Filion and Norman Laliberte, one each.

The winner of the Smiths Falls tournament goes on to the All-Ontario tournament in Newmarket on May 30th.

GDHS won the EOSSA championship three times in the past few years and are looking forward to a repeat performance.

Wider road sought by area residents

A meeting is being sought between Charlottenburgh Township council, United Counties advisory road committee and a delegation of upset township residents.

Purpose of the meeting is to convince the committee to make upgrading of County Road 27 near the Ninth Concession Road a priority item to receive attention this year.

Former council member Bruce Sova led a four-man delegation last week to learn if they can expect a 36-foot wide section of road to be widened.

Reeve Adrian Gadbois and Deputy Reeve Roger Lefebvre insisted they had pushed for the road since the beginning of the year but that the committee has decided County Road 27 is a low priority item.

"You have to convince them to not do another job and do this one instead," Reeve Gadbois said and urged Mr. Sova to return with a large delegation for the meeting.

One member of the delegation commented that the road is so narrow that during the blizzard in April a car slid sideways along the road and crashed into a tree without entirely leaving the road.

It is the only section of the county roads system that has not been upgraded, he added. Councillor Ewen MacDonald said it "makes no sense to have a 37-foot road today."

OHC tenants in Alexandria urged organize own association

Public housing officials strongly encouraged residents in Alexandria to organize a tenants' association and work with the Ontario Housing Corporation (OHC) and the municipal government in order to benefit fully from their community.

Don Porayko, senior area manager of the public housing agency, addressed Alexandria geared-to-income housing residents at an information session held in the town office last Tuesday.

"Not only are tenants associations allowed, but we will provide you with the professional organizers and community workers who can help you set this kind of thing up," Mr. Porayko told the residents.

He disclaimed rumors that the housing authority would evict anyone who tried "to stir up trouble" by establishing such community groups.

"Our motive is really quite selfish," explained Mr. Porayko, "since we find it much easier to deal with a tenants' association than with the 16 individual families living in the Alexandria project."

Encouraging the Alexandria residents to make the best use of the grounds available to them, Mr. Porayko added that arrangements could be made with the town for financing of other facilities if enough families in the project show interest.

"The OHC will even provide you with free athletic equipment if families can get together and form sports associations and establish leagues," he pointed out.

Mr. Porayko noted Alexandria residents were fortunate in having some of the largest land area per family of any unit in the province.

The remarks followed a day of the annual housing inspections carried out by authority officials.

Ottawa area manager Malcolm MacDonald and Hawkesbury and Alexandria public housing manager Andre Tessier, gave pointers to residents as to proper maintenance of housing units and obligations of OHC and tenants.

Since gross income can vary month to month, especially in periods of unemployment, the possibility exists that OHC might decide to reduce a family's rent until the breadwinner is able to return to work.

"It's the same with the family composition reports since we must ask for rent from anyone over 16 who has a full-time job and still remains in the geared-to-income unit," says Mr. Porayko.

He added that OHC asks only for $75 a month in such cases, no matter how much salary the extra worker is earning annually.

Mr. Tessier warned residents that any falsification of information on these reports could result in immediate eviction.

All three OHC officials said no resident could ever be forced to accept anyone into their home, even OHC officials, unless it consisted of an annual inspection of the premises.

"OHC guarantees you the quiet enjoyment of the premises by tenants," said Mr. Porayko.

Other policy matters such as modifications or additions, as well as the installation of other appliances not provided by OHC in units were reviewed.

Indicating the 1976 budget for the Alexandria complex would be made in July, Mr. Porayko told residents they should organize as soon as possible in order to have time submitting suggestions for inclusion in the proposed budget.

"You aren't limited to the facilities you've been provided with and can do as much as you want," he said.

"Look to your council for help and ask them for money and if they agree, then OHC could bankroll you for the rest if we agree the projects are worthwhile," he explained.

Mr. Tessier, who is directly responsible for the Alexandria and Hawkesbury OHC units, added that residents are responsible for their own internal affairs and should not expect OHC management to "scratch your backs all the time."

On a question from Mayor Bruno Massie, Mr. Porayko said he did not think it wise to build more units where present homes are located since "congestion brings on a lot of headaches."

"The town is quite fortunate in having such a large open space for units," he said. "It would be a shame to spoil it with too much construction."

Tentative arena budget at Williamstown set at $65,000

Charlottenburgh Township arena board last week presented council with a tentative budget requirement of $65,000.

James Alguire, chairman of the arena board, said it is anticipated that expenditures will be balanced or perhaps even exceeded by revenues from arena operation.

Mr. Alguire said it is unlikely there will be an increase in fees for use of the arena next year.

He proposed that council spend $4,500 this year to install a Crystaplex system—a fiberglas covering—for the boards.

He said upkeep of the boards now is expected to be $2,000 annually while the crystaplex system needs no upkeep.

He also urged council to consider hiring landscape architects to get rid of the "barn appearance" the new Williamstown arena, like most arenas, has.

Council accepted most of the recommendations as information until the budget is struck and members know how much money will be available.

Qualified recreation director is sought by Charlottenburgh

Township of Charlottenburgh is looking for a fully qualified recreation director and arena manager but not because they are dissatisfied with the present operation.

Township Clerk Reg Gagne explained that in order to qualify for provincial grants, which offset as much as one third of the director's salary, certain qualifications must be held.

He said the township began advertising for the position two weeks ago and that already he has received seven or eight applications.

Last Wednesday was the deadline for applications. Mr. Gagne noted the person will have to hold college or university certificates in recreation and arena management.

He added while it is hoped that it will be possible to find someone from the local community with the qualifications they might have to go elsewhere for the right man.

He said he will begin to review applications within the next week and that the person hired will start as soon as possible, probably towards the end of May.

The township recently appointed a seven-man recreation committee which has been in the process of developing a summer recreation program.

Mr. Gagne said that once the recreation director has been hired he will work closely with the recreation committee and the arena board in developing programs.

A new arena opened in Williamstown last fall and the new director will also be in charge of co-ordinating programs there.

Gaels on the Warpath

by Ellen McRae

Glengarry District was well represented by the track and field team of both boys and girls when on Saturday they competed at the Annual Legion Meet in Cornwall. Our school did very well, considering there were 900 participants from 24 different schools competing.

The Midget Girls finished with a total of 36 points, coming first; the Senior Girls placing second with 24 points accumulated.

Twelve GDHS students placed among the top three of their categories; they are: Gold Medal Winners —Deanie Bourgeois, 100m, long jump (new record); Heather McRae—shot put (new record); Sylvie Charlebois—discus (new record); Louyse Poirier —long jump.

Silver Medal Winners—Colleen Cameron, 200m; Alice Cadieux, discus.

There were nine students in the running for Students' Council for the coming 75-76 season, and in Tuesday's elections, four students were elected as heads. The two girls and two boys are: Ruth MacLennan, Debbie Menard, Gilles Gareau and Yvan Desautels.

South Branch road inquiry rules 100 foot allowance unreasonable

Expropriation of land bordering Charlottenburgh's scenic South Branch Road to widen the right-of-way to 100 feet has been ruled "unreasonable and not necessary for the achievement of the objectives of the expropriating authority."

Ken Bergeron, a Cornwall lawyer and expropriation inquiry chairman, made the statements in his report.

The two-part hearing was held in March and April.

Residents along the road charged that the 100-foot right-of-way was unnecessary and would make the peaceful artery a "raceway."

United Counties engineer Don McDonald told the hearing that the expropriation was trying to strike a balance between public and private interests.

Duncan MacDonald, solicitor for the protesting residents, argued that the case became a "confrontation between engineers who want . . . strict standards . . . and individuals who own land and who drive and admire the beauty and wish to retain the esthetic value."

United Counties council claims the 100-foot right-of-way is needed to ensure safer driving conditions and easier maintenance.

The counties, despite Mr. Bergeron's report, can continue with its plans.

The residents of the road which runs to Williamstown from Cornwall charged that an 86-foot right-of-way would accomplish what the counties wants to do.

The report states that counties officials would have been "prudent and wise" in hiring a landscape architect to work with the engineer on the project.

Such an architect was one of the witnesses for the opposing group. He said that the services of a landscape architect in the project would have helped.

Some landowners told the hearing that they have moved out from the city to get peace and quiet and don't want the road changed. Others protested that the changes proposed by the counties would take most of their lawn frontage and leave them with a house alongside the asphalt.

Under the original plan the counties would begin reconstruction on the first 2.5 mile section this summer. The section stretches from Kinloch Road to Glenbrook Side Road.

Two weeks ago a petition was presented to Counties council by the protesting residents. It contained 500 names.

A second petition received was critical of the opposing forces and contained 30 names. The petition said all who signed are living and working along the road and pay property taxes along the South Branch Road.

The petitioners were critical of those opposing the changes, saying they are recent residents and do not depend on the road for a living.

There was an unconfirmed report during the counties council session two weeks ago that the plans would be changed to an 86-foot right-of-way, which would not be protested by the residents.

Separate school budget to increase tax rates three mills

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board has approved a record $11,-916,313 budget that will increase taxes by two mills in Cornwall and an average 2.8 mills in the other 20 member municipalities.

In Cornwall, one mill is about $3 on the average residential assessment.

The spending estimates represent a 16.6 per cent increase over costs last year. The board overspent its 1974 budget by $100,000 an amount that is absorbed this year.

Salaries for teachers and administration make up 60 per cent of spending estimates. Salaries for the larger French panel are expected to rise to $4.3 million from $3.5 million. The English panel is up to $2.2 million from $1.6 million.

The cost per pupil will be $1.013 compared with $788 last year. An overall increase of seven teachers and a reduction of about 500 students will lower the pupil-teacher ratio from 18.3 to slightly less than 18. The board has 9,600 pupils.

Inflation and new programs are responsible for the remaining increases.

The French panel will add 11 teachers in special education, 3½ remedial teachers, (one is part-time) one consultant and one speech teacher. But the number of regular teachers will be reduced by 10.

The English panel will add six resource teachers, one psychometrist, one speech correction teacher, one teachers' aid and seven regular teachers.

The increases are further emphasized because the board's assessment base is down to $48.7 million. Because 88 per cent of total costs will be recovered through provincial government grants, the board must only recover $1,374,000 from local taxes and other sources.

The debt position of the board has improved over last year. Debt charges will cost $793,000 this year compared with $821,000 in 1974. Student transportation is up $740,000 from $630,000.

Business Administration will cost $312,000, computer services $75,000, instructional administration $290,000, school office administration $208,000, audio-visual $148,000, library $73,000, psychological services $35,000, other educational services $80,-000, attendance services $14,400, plant operations $1.4 million, plant maintenance $188,000, tuition fees $65,000 and capital expenditures $235,000.

Capital expenditures involve still undetermined repairs and renovations to various schools.

A board spokesman said the mill increase is slightly more for rural municipalities than for Cornwall because a mill rate subisdy grant available to rural areas last year has been discontinued. A further reason is special adjustments which are a residue from the old school board system.

Mr. Metivier described the mill rate increase as "reasonable" in light of the inflation rate and a $100,000 deficit which had to be picked up from last year.

"The trustees were very conscious that the mill rate should not increase enormously," he said. He added it is "imperative that students in the classrooms not suffer at budget time."

Mr. Metivier also pointed out that the 1975 mill rate will be lower than when the regional board was formed in 1969.

Maxville man awarded contract

Peter Addison, RR 1, Maxville, has been given a $22,400 research and development contract to do work for the environment department Supply and Services Canada announced last week.

He will map the biophysical resources of national parks, with emphasis on Nahanni National Park, a new facility in the Northwest Territories now in the early stages of development.

It was one of 362 unclassified federal contracts, each worth $10,000 or more, awarded to Canadian companies during the week ended April 25. Total value of these contracts was $45,-415,397.

Farmers union had meeting

The National Farmers' Union District 1 Board meeting was held on Tuesday, May 6th. At the meeting, the District Junior Director, Gilbert Desjardin, reported that five young people attended the Youth Seminar in Toronto, April 25-27th. These people were, Dee and Gilbert Desiardin, Betty Ann den Otter, and Lynden and Dennis Jackson. He also said that the youths studied the different methods of land ownership and leasing. He indicated that the debate became quite heated at times because some of those present had purchased land within the last few years. The meeting made some recommendations to the national board to study the situation. The Union policy on land ownership remains as it was established at the founding convention in 1969. This policy is "broadly based ownership and control by farm families of the basic resources for food production."

Betty Ann, who was also present at the Board meeting, said that the young people discussed all the different farm organizations including their historical background and their strengths and weaknesses. She termed the seminar as being "enlightening and enjoyable" for all those involved.

The locals reported that they would be holding their annual meetings in the near future. They also said that their collective bargaining programs were proceeding well.

Bridge results

Sun., April 27th (Overall)—Alex Cardinal and Martin Clement; Maurice Lemieux and Jean Marc Viau; Maurice Lagroix and Dan J. McDonell; Mary Jane Macdonald and Florence Villeneuve.

Sunday, May 4th—Maurice and Raymond Lemieux; Aretha Charlebois and Jack Raymond; Yvonne Ladouceur and Angus R. MacDonell; Florida Thauvette and Rose McDonald.

OPP have a special display

During Police Week, this week, the Ontario Provincial Police extend an invitation to the general public to attend their display on the Woolco mall in Cornwall .

A safety village has been set up and there will be electric car rides and cheetahs for the kids. There will be unformation on OPP identification and pamphlets and brochures will be distributed on crime prevention.

straight answers on vinyl siding

Made from B. F. Goodrich GEON® VINYLS

WILL VINYL SAVE ME MONEY?
Yes. — in three ways. a) On repairs and replacements. b) on heating costs — a saving of up to 25 per cent is possible and c) on the cost of repainting — about $400 - $500 every three years.

2 WILL VINYL INCREASE THE VALUE OF MY HOME?
Definitely. A home is a long term investment and with vinyl siding your home will remain looking good for 20 years and more, while other homes depreciate in market value.

5 DOES THAT MEAN LOWER HEATING COSTS?
Absolutely. Depending upon your present siding, heating costs can be cut as much as 25 per cent after fitting vinyl Siding.

8 IS VINYL EASY TO MAINTAIN?
Very easy. It is the one-cost, last cost siding. It cleans with a sponge and soapy water and washes off with a garden hose.

3 WILL I EVER HAVE TO REPAINT?
No. Vinyl's color is impregnated right through and lasts the life of the siding.

6 HOW IS VINYL SIDING APPLIED?
Easily. With basic carpenter's tools and giving professional looking results. Vinyl saws, shapes and nails quickly and smoothly.

9 IS VINYL FIRE RESISTANT?
Definitely. It is non-combustible which means it extinguishes itself as soon as the source of fire is removed, making your home a safer place to live.

4 WILL VINYL INSULATE MY HOME?
Appreciably. It does not conduct heat or cold making a perfect insulation and more comfortbale, less costly, living.

7 OVER ANY KIND OF HOUSE EXTERIOR?
Anything you can hammer a nail into. Vinyl is in demand both for new homes and for giving old exteriors a new life.

10 IS VINYL SIDING COVERED BY GUARANTEE?
Yes. Applied in accordance with printed specifications, it is guaranteed against peeling, flaking, cracking, blistering and denting under ordinary conditions for 20 years.

Queen's students are wed

MacDONALD—BOURBONNAIS

A lovely spring wedding took place in St. Mary's Church, Green Valley, on Friday, May 2nd, when Celine Bourbonnais became the bride of Murray MacDonald. Rev. Gilles Deslauriers officiated at the 8 p.m. nuptial service and Mrs. Diane Poirier was organist and soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bourbonnais of Green Valley, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell MacDonald of Dalkeith.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned floor-length in white nylon chiffon fashioned with long full sleeves, deep cuffs, high round collar and bodice of lace overlay studded with pearls. Her full-length veil was outlined in lace and extended into a train. It was secured by a circlet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Margaret Johnston of Mississauga, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ann McRae of Glen Nevis, and Miss Catherine Hart of Ottawa. They wore blending shades of aqua pompadour crepe with matching floral capes and carried bouquets of blue daisies, baby's breath, cornflowers and gardenias.

The best man was Jim Frejeau of Kenora, and the ushers were the bride's brother, Pierre and the groom's brother, Robbie.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the Alexandria Curling Club where guests were present from Washington, Kenora, Montreal, Toronto, St. Catharines and the surrounding area.

For their wedding trip to Jamaica, the bride wore a beige linen dress with matching jacket, yellow orchid and brown accessories.

The couple will reside in Kingston where the groom, who has just graduated from Queen's in electrical engineering, will now study for his Master's Degree and the bride will enter her third year at Queen's for her Honors B.A. in French.

JH Michaud died at 83

Well known as an employee of the Town of Alexandria for many years, John H. (Louis) Michaud died in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, May 5th, following just a few days' illness.

He was born in Alexandria on August 6th, 1891, the son of the late John H. Michaud and his wife Rita Lascelle. He married the former Rosalie Michaud and he worked as a farmer in the St. Raphael's and Lancaster areas before returning to reside.

He is survived by one son Archille of Alexandria and four daughters: Cecile, Mrs. Mercule Sabourin of Alexandria; Eva, Mrs. Gerald Ouelette of McMasterville, Que.; Rita, Mrs. Laurent Levac of Plantagenet and Alice, Mrs. Albert Maheu of Green Valley. Two foster sons, Leo of Cornwall and Robert of Prescott also survive.

He leaves also one brother, Paul in Hudson Heights; a half brother, Dolphus in Cornwall; two sisters, Julienne, Mrs. Albert Poulin of Alexandria and Mary, Mrs. Edward Petersen of Cornwall.

The funeral was held in Sacred Heart Church on Thursday, May 8th, with Rev. Raoul Poirier officiating, assisted by Rev. Denis Vaillancourt and Rev. Gilles Deslauriers.

The pallbearers were: Raymond Periard, Paul Dicaire, Gerald Bellefeuille, Roger Campeau, Roland Theoret and Emile Viau.

Honorary pallbearers were Oscar Joanette, Rheal Vaillancourt, E. Doucet, Theodore Desjardins, Wilfrid Menard and Wilfred Farrell.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Herbert Loney died at 79

A resident of Summerstown Station, Herbert Loney, died April 12 at Cornwall General Hospital following a seven-week illness.

Mr. Loney, 79, became ill while he and his wife were spending the winter at their home in Punta Gorda, Fla.

Mr. Loney was a son of the late Henry Loney and his wife Margery Gaudie. As a young man he went West, where he became farm manager for the late Major John Cameron of Avenhirst, Sask., and Alexandria. He came east in 1923 and married Catherine Oxley. The couple resided on the same farm for 52 years.

He is survived by his wife, two brothers, Howard and Arthur, both of Cornwall, also by the Rev. Arnold McDonald, Vernon McDonald and Mrs. Chas. (Reta) Heath. Mr. Loney was predeceased by a sister Edith; and a brother, Peter.

Funeral service was conducted by Rev. F. H. Rennie of St. John's Presbyterian Church in the chapel of McArthur and MacNeil Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Fred Davis, George Laurence, Chas. Heath, George Croll, William McMath and Lloyd Masterman.

Burial was in Salem Church cemetery.

FIFTY YEARS WED—Both former Glengarrians, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred P. MacDonald of Taylor, Mich., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on February 22nd when their family "surprised" them.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Now ready to serve us even better

Ten years ago we were hailing the opening of our new Glengarry Memorial Hospital. The anniversary was most fittingly observed on Monday when many of the same people who had been present a decade ago were back to see the hospital addition opened.

Glengarry Memorial has doubled its space and though only a few hospital beds have been added, facilities will be much improved. Treatment of outpatient and emergency cases will be facilitated in the new wing and there will be services that were not available in the original building.

At that opening ten years ago a sense of achievement was dominant. The hospital had been five years in the planning stage; it was at last a reality and there was satisfaction in the accomplishment and perhaps some conjecture as to how the new institution would measure up.

The first decade of service has probably touched intimately the lives of every family over a wide area. If there were those who argued against the need for a hospital here, they must long ago have learned from experience what a tremendous asset out hospital is to town and county and strangers in our midst. It has provided non-stop service, twenty-four hours each day since the doors were opened. And it has been a comfort just knowing the personnel at Glengarry Memorial were standing by, prepared to extend the best possible care if and when such might be needed.

At Monday's ceremony a decade of accomplishment was reviewed. There must have been a warm feeling of satisfaction imbuing members of the board, the auxiliary and staff who had played parts in building the fine reputation of Glengarry Memorial. The medical fraternity had key roles and it is as true that our hospital facilities helped ensure the area an adequate number of doctors. number of doctors.

With these added services and improved facilities our hospital will be in a position to serve Glengarry to even a greater degree in the years ahead. It deserves our continuing interest and support.

Dundas resents redistribution

Glengarry and Dundas have little or nothing in common except a United Counties' council board and so it is understandable that some residents of both counties look with disfavor on the recent provincial redistribution that has fashioned a new united counties constituency. Just as some area people resent the removal of Vankleek Hill and parts of the neighboring Prescott townships from our riding, there are people in Dundas who rue its separation from Grenville.

An editorial in last week's Winchester Press suggests that Dundas County got a raw deal in the Redistribution Act. Briefs to that effect were sent to the committee and to Premier Davis and direct representations were made in behalf of Dundas; all to no avail, the editorial notes.

Dundas goes north and south, not east and west, the Press editorial reminds. Culturally, socially, economically, geographically and historically the county, despite its association with the United Counties, is more involved with Ottawa, Kemptville and Osgoode Township than it is with Alexandria, Maxville and Lancaster.

This editorial is not to suggest that Dundas county will not become an integral part of the new Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry constituency. Of course it will, the Press affirms. A county that has produced nothing but high level cabinet ministers for the past 50 years has both tradition and greatness going for it regardless of any committee's flimsy decision. And the role it will play in the new constituency will be as useful as the role it has played in its long and historic association with Grenville. This is not the argument. The argument deals with the application of common sense not to mention the rights and the desires and the wishes of the people who want and deserve adequate representation and, equally important, the opportunity to serve the province. The ultimate, then, will not be achieved in a decision based on numbers and convenience, but excluding people.

Redistribution of ridings has some of the elements of a shotgun wedding. We can resent the necessity to come together but there is precious little we can do but try to make the best of it.

If you can believe them

Members of counties council studying the possibilities of restructuring local government at that level need not bother their collective heads over the subject unless they actually favor the larger, regional grouping. They have nothing to worry about, if you can believe politicians at the provincial level.

The Davis Government has made it clear on more than one occasion that its policy of promoting regional government has run its course. Premier Davis has emphasized the point that initiative for such a move must now come from the local municipalities.

This official outlook is reiterated in an editorial in the current issue of The Prescott Journal. Acting on rumors that Queen's Park was feeling out local attitudes toward regional government, the Journal contacted the local MPP and he received government denial that there had been any enquiries made in the riding. The minister in charge of regional planning added: "Our staff generally are well acquainted with the Government's emphasis on the need for the initiative to come from the local municipalities themselves before any action is contemplated by us."

There you have it in black and white, Mr. County Councillor. No need to worry about restructuring, if you can believe the politicians.

A step in the right direction

In the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the session of the Ontario parliament, the Government indicated its determination to ensure that Ontario's cities and streets remain among the most secure in North America.

In pursuance of this aim the government is establishing a Royal Commission with the Honorable Judy LaMarsh as Chairman, to look into the effects upon society of violence as depicted in films and television. Parents have become concerned at the increasing portrayal and exploitation of violence in the commercial entertainment industry, notes an editorial in the Ridgetown Dominion.

There is a danger that exposure of young minds to extreme violence may be manifested in violence in the community. At least it would make the individual insensitive to the sufferings of others and make him consider violence an acceptable means of resolving human conflict and differences.

While action has been taken to regulate television advertising little has been done to diminish or restrict the portrayal of violence, brutality and killing which would also have some influence on the minds of impressionable viewers.

A study last summer indicated that the average child may be exposed to as many as 18,000 television killings by the time he reaches adolescence.

The government of Ontario is to be congratulated on recognizing this situation and seeking to take some action to correct it.

"IT'S A TRAINING EXERCISE FOR PEACEKEEPING DUTIES AT THE MONTREAL OLYMPICS"

WITH OUR

RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

WHAT A MESS!

Maybe they should call off the Olympics right away, rather than let the games be used as a pawn to keep Quebec labor under criminal domination. The way it stacks up now, either Quebec's construction workers will continue to run rampant or facilities for next year's Olympic Games will not be built on time.

Work on the Olympic site came to a halt last Friday when construction workers affiliated with the Quebec Federation of Labor journeyed to Quebec City to demonstrate before the provincial legislature. They were protesting against a government clean-up of the criminal element in the union locals. The Cliche commission recommended that four union locals be put under government trusteeship.

Premier Bourassa promised such a trusteeship the previous day but the record of his government suggests the unions can get away with anything short of murder.

If they are not cleaned up they may yet go in for murder. And if the government gets really tough the Olympics may be the casualty.

What a mess Montreal's in!

In Montreal the construction unions seem more bent on destruction.

LET US HOPE!

There oughtta be a law against the way a lot of people are misusing that word "hopefully". It leaves us more than a bit nauseous and the ailment seems to be spreading.

If you won't believe us, here's what an authority on proper use of good English has to say:

Hopefully. One of the most commonly misused words, in spite of what the dictionary may say. Hopefully should describe the way the subject feels. For instance:

Hopefully, I shall present the plan to the president. (This means I should be hopeful when I do it).

But it is something else again when you attribute hope to a non-person. You may write: Hopefully, the war will end soon. This means you hope the war ends soon, but it is not what you are writing. What you mean is: I hope the war will end soon.

See what we mean?

Calling them litter bugs doesn't shame people into keeping our streets clean. Let's try referring to them as environmental illiterates.

TOO MUCH MONEY

It may be the end of May before this year's Stanley Cup champions have been decided but for all intents and purposes the hockey season is over in this area. Les Canadiens have been found wanting in desire and have been consigned to the oblivion they so richly deserve.

Buffalo Sabres wanted in on Stanley Cup honors and they were hungry enough to use their limited talent to the utmost in eliminating a Canadiens crew that looked far stronger on paper but lacked the will to win.

How was it possible for a Canadiens team, capable of wiping the Forum ice with the Sabres in those two middle games, to lose the series? On the sports page of the Gazette, on Saturday, cartoonist Terry Mosher supplied the answer with his likeness of a Canadien player. There is no evidence of dejection on the face of the hockey star whose body is shielding a golf club.

The hockey season is much to long and most of the players are being paid so much money anything extra they may make in the play-offs will go to the income tax collectors. After almost a hundred games over an eight months stretch, hockey stars had their minds' eyes on greener pastures and swimming pools that had lost their ice.

And so you see the once-prized Stanley Cup being fought for by three expansion teams still hungry for a trophy that may increase the players' take-home pay. And while the hockey play-offs continue, affluent stars are sunning themselves in Florida. members

Must be some limit

(Leamington Post)

The pattern of recent events illustrates to what extent education costs are again getting out of control.

Though the provincial government ostensibly claims to be upholding spending ceilings, it has tacitly sanctioned salary settlements for high school teachers well beyond local boards' capacity to pay without risking the penalties imposed for violating the ceilings.

High school teachers claim their first loyalty is to high-calibre education and their students, and yet they mock this claim by pressing extravagant salary demands and using tactics which victimize students.

School trustees knowingly make settlements that strain unreasonably the public's ability to absorb tax increases. Then they ask the province to bail them out.

Soaring teacher salary costs are plainly the main reason behind Education Minister Tom Wells' announcement of another increase in spending ceilings. The ceilings—on which provincial grants are based—will go up another $50 per pupil. Last fall, the province raised the ceilings for this year by about 13 per cent, with extra provision for additional assistance to narrow the disparity between elementary and high schools.

The latest relaxation of ceilings means increases of 31.5 and 17 per cent respectively for elementary and high schools over last year's limits. Mr. Wells claims the increases are sufficient to permit "fair and reasonable" settlements between boards and teachers. But the additional money provided by the province won't cover unreasonably large salary settlements, the core of the problem.

The impression left by the whole discouraging series of events is that of a cycle feeding on its momentum. Increases in spending ceilings can't keep up with the steady escalation of teacher salary objectives. Nor, it should be obvious, can taxpayers.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

MANY LACK A GOAL

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

You asked for letters on the drinking-driving accident problem. Whenever I meet people with a clear, unselfish goal in life I have met people who would not drink and drive because it could lead to cruel suffering in the lives of others, if for no other reason. Many today lack a goal of real significance. The Manufacturer's Handbook (The Bible) puts it, "The people perish without a vision."

But where are people to find such a "vision" or goal? Obviously there is only one who really knows the future and us on deep levels and therefore it is only God who can reveal to each individual the goal (and path) that will deeply satisfy that person, young or old.

I used to wonder, "What on earth is Billy Graham talking about when he says, "You must have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ"? After years of researching as a 'doubting Thomas,' I had finally piled up enough facts that I dared to 'try' one of the hundreds of Promises (spiritual laws of the universe with conditions for our good) laid down in The Manufacturer's Handbook. It worked! I got an answer to prayer! I tried more and more and more of God's Promises until one day I realized that now I knew what Billy Graham had been talking about. With every answer to prayer God also revealed some facet of Himself to me! when I specifically asked about His will on specific points (James 1:5 and 6) I got specific answers. I began keeping notebooks, dated, with my questions, petitions and answers. Whenever I asked, believing one of the Promises and specifically fulfilled the conditions laid down in connection with it (conditions, it turns out, there for our necessary growth as persons)—I got an answer—every time—for over 15 years now! After 25 years of no answers, of not knowing if there was a God or any purpose to life—suddenly life was full of answers, guidance, even miracles of healing and all kinds of adventure! Who needs alcohol or drugs in a world of miracles and exciting adventures? I could write a thriller's book. So could anyone really walking with God.

Some young people once said to me—"You are high—really high —on God!"

"Yes," I replied, "I was an agnostic in a spiritual desert for so long that when I finally found out that Jesus Christ really Is God and really rose from the dead—I got 'high' and I haven't come down yet, for 15 years!"

They answered, "Wow—15 years! That's fantastic"! It is fantastic. But it's more—it's also Truth. And deep down no 'high' satisfies unless it's all deeply connected with the meaning of life—the answer to "Why am I here on this earth?" "What should I be doing with my life and also this day right now?" Anyone can get to know The One Who has the answers.

Consult The Guidebook, especially the section entitled The New Testament. (When life is full of The Real, who wants the counterfeit?)

Sincerely,
(Mrs) Joan Frederick.

DEFER REGULATIONS

Alexandria

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

We appreciate the coverage and report by the Glengarry News on the "Herbicide Spray Clinic" sponsored by the Glengarry and Stormont Crop Improvement Associations at the Bonnie Glen Pavilion on April 22.

As you noted, one of the program items that generated the most discussion was the regulations and licencing requirements that the Ministry of the Environment proposed to impose on Custom Farm Spray operators and distributors of herbicides in 1975.

I am pleased to report that since publication of your article the Ministry of the Environment has decided to hold these regulations in abeyance and review this particular program.

Farm Custom Spray operators will not be required to be licenced in 1975 nor will they be required to be examined, show proof of liability insurance or pass a medical. It would appear that this legislation was conceived a little too hastily by someone with too little practical agricultural background.

I would point out that farmers as a group are most interested and concerned about environmental protection as well as the misuse of pesticides, herbicides and other chemicals used in modern agricultural production practices. They as a group have the most to lose if short or long term damage or adverse publicity occurs as a result of improper use. They are not opposed to regulations if required and are practically applied and developed as a result of forethought and reason. They are opposed to regulations developed as a result of emotional reaction by groups or agencies with little real involvement or investment in the food producing industry.

Secretary,
Glengarry Soil and Crop Improvement Assoc.

APPRECIATED OBC CHORALE

RR# 3, Dalkeith, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

Last Wednesday evening (May 7) the OBC chorale from Toronto performed at the Vankleek Hill High School. The attendance was disappointing, especially in view of the quality of the evening.

The OBC chorale consists of 40 selected young men and women from the Ontario Bible College; most of them strive towards a degree in Sacred Music.

Musically this evening was an event of the first order; the arrangements of the music, the impeccable ensemble singing and discipline, the variety of songs and hymns for different voice combinations, the instrumental accompaniment, the direction by Mr. Adams and the visual presentation of the whole made for an evening of great variety and depth. The choir can climb the heights of full-throated expressions of joy and come down to a hushed whisper.

The evening was set in the framework of Christian testimony; this spiritual setting deepened the evening for all those present, since all songs and hymns related to the Christian life; from the lovely Prayer of St. Francis to the monumental passage from Mendelssohn's oratorio 'Elijah'.

I was sorry to hear afterwards that the area newspapers—although invited—were not there to cover this musical event 'first hand'. As a musician (and past choir director) I would like to amend this oversight by writing you this opinion.

Evenings of this quality are rare in this area; those who stayed home missed an evening of first-rate choral music and a banquet of 'soul food'.

Sincerely yours,
Yon van Berkom

Ottawa.

At the same time, the Commissioner presented Christian Lapensee, age 15, of Plantagenet, with the Commissioner's Citation for assistance rendered to the Ontario Provincial Police of the Hawkesbury Detachment. It was the first such citation to be presented.

On January 9, 1975, at about 9:00 p.m., the grade 9 student attending Plantagenet High School, overheard the breaking of glass at the United Counties building in Plantagenet, observed a car speeding away and becoming stuck in snow some distance away.

Despite threats from its occupant, who had just broken into the building, not to call the police, Christian assisted the police in locating the wanted auto and occupant. When the constable attempted to arrest the subject and it became apparent that the officer was in difficulty, Christian used the Police radio to seek assistance of other officers in the area. His courageous action assisted the Police in recovering over $1,000 in goods stolen from the United Counties building and ensured that the arrest was made without harm to the police officer.

The Commissioner presented the citation to Christian, in the presence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Claude Lapensee.

of the Boston Bruins, New York Rangers, Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings. Even in this early summer, Canadiens players may be heading south to join them, so long have their dreams been centred on unfrozen water and green grass.

NHL players are averaging $70,000 a season and that means the top stars are well over the $100,000 mark. That's too much money to keep them hungry as was evidenced by this year's New York Ranger team, priced out of all incentive to produce.

Television money makes these high salaries possible and it's ironic that the medium that provides hockey entertainment in the home is at the same time degrading the standards of play by spoiling the players.

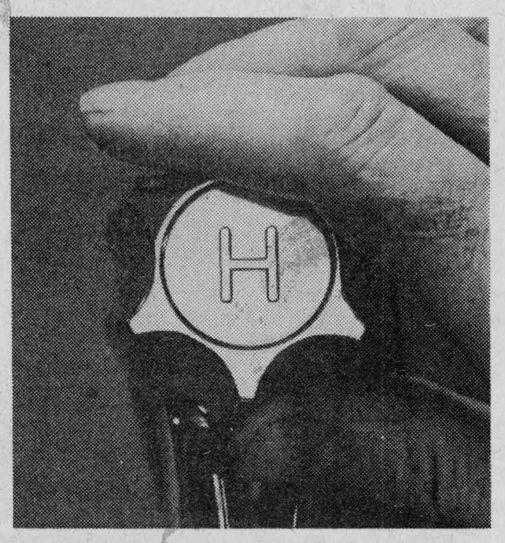
Use hot water wisely
Save energy...Save money



Apart from home heating, a family usually consumes the most energy in producing hot water.
Here are just a few small things you can do, that can add up to a considerable energy saving. Turn off hot water taps so they don't drip, fill clothes washers to match the size of the load, wait until you have a full load before using a dishwasher and remember showers usually require less hot water than baths. Try not to use more hot water than you need.

MRS. DAVIDSON VISITS UCW

The May meeting of the UCW was held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Nixon and there were sixteen ladies present. Our president, Mrs. Grace MacLennan opened proceedings with a prayer and a welcome to all the guests.

In her introduction of our speaker, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. MacLennan drew our attention to the lovely banners on the walls around us; all made by the talented hands of our speaker. Mrs. Davidson opened her talk by telling us of her inspiration for the lovely craft work that she does, and read some of her poetry. Mrs. MacLennan read one, also, and then went on to tell us that there may be a book out this fall, of Mrs. Davidson's poems. After her Bible reading, taken from Romans, chapter 12, our speaker read some letters written to several Biblical characters, in a most interesting and original way. The hymn, "Take it to the Lord in Prayer" was sung by all, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison; after which Mrs. Davidson resumed her talk. This section of her program was on the construction of the banners made of felt and displayed on the walls all around us; the themes, very pertinent to our troubled times, were love, service, truth and worship.

There were also many intriguing articles displayed on the dining table. Aprons, toys, place mats, serviettes, books and a delightful reversable doll. There was a cute little bouquet of flowers, made of glue and bread, that resembled china, when finished. She showed us how they were made, and most patiently answered our numerous questions.

At the close of her program, Mrs. MacLennan thanked our guest for coming up from Vankleek Hill to be at this meeting and for her most interesting presentation. Mrs. A. MacLennan thanked her and gave Mrs. Davidson a gift in token of our appreciation. Our president then closed this part of the meeting with prayer.

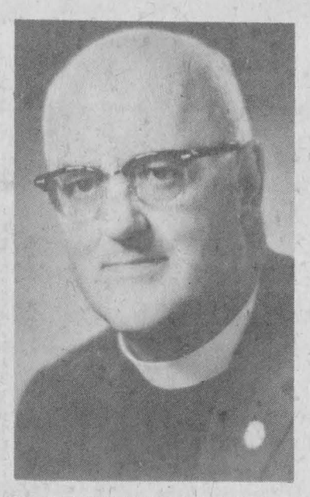
The business part of the meeting began by the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Chapman, and was followed by the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. H. Kronwald. Mrs. Greta MacMillan had a letter to read from the co-ordinator of the 50th anniversary program. The time of the evening meetings will be 8:30, from now until fall. The ladies have been asked to cater a wedding in June, and so arrangements for this were discussed and conveners chosen.

Next month we commence a new study book called The Feathered U.E.L.s about the United Empire Loyalists, and Mrs. A. MacLennan will have the first section at our next meeting. The offering was received and dedicated with prayer, by Mrs. Grace MacLennan. Everyone agreed with the choice of an organ, made by the committee, and the price seems to be acceptable to all.

The meeting closed with all repeating the benediction. Mrs. R. MacLachlan thanked Mrs. Nixon for having such an extensive meeting.

Our hostess served a nice cup of tea and a delicious lunch, and a social hour followed.

It was a truly rewarding evening, most enjoyable, and I am sure we all learned a great deal.



TO GET DD DEGREE—Minister at Kirk Hill United Church from 1952 to 1955, Rev. Samuel A. R. Delve will receive an honorary Doctor of Divinity at Convocation ceremonies of Queen's University, on May 23rd. Now in his 11th year at Cooke's-Portsmouth United Church, Kingston, Mr. Delve is the senior graduate of Queen's Theological College in the active pastorate in the Bay of Quinte Conference. Adding together the service of himself, his father and a brother, the Delves have been ordained ministers for 108 years.

Tough Choice.

The best value in your next grass-cutting machine calls for tough questions. Push it, ride it, drive it? Is 5 hp too much? Is 12 enough?

We've got some tough answers. No matter which IH equipment you choose — Cadet tractors or power mowers — it'll be a sound choice. Because you'll get a tough piece of machinery that gives more service because it demands less attention.

And we'll help you find the right size. Not too big. And not too small, either.

Versatile enough to handle all the chores you have. We have to fit you right, because we want to see you again. Even if it takes years.

2—BIRTHS

LEBLANC—To Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Leblanc (Johanne Lalande) at Glengarry Memorial Hospital, on Monday, May 12th, 1975, a son.

7—CARDS OF THANKS

McLEAN—We would like to thank our many friends in Glengarry who sent us their hearty congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of our 50th wedding anniversary, April 25th, 1975.
—William and Esther McLean, Ottawa 20-1c

MacRAE—We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped us in any way the time we were moving to our new home in Maxville. All this was much appreciated.
—Dan and Catherine MacRae, Box 361, Maxville. 20-1c

MacINTOSH—I wish to express my sincere thank you to relatives, neighbors and friends, for all visits, gifts, flowers and cards, while I was a patient in Hawkesbury General Hospital. Sincere thanks to Dr. Fitzpatrick, clergy, nurses and staff.
—Mrs. D. J. Macintosh. 20-1p

8—IN MEMORIAM

MacLEOD—Fond memories of a dear brother-in-law William J. MacLeod, who passed away May 20, 1974.
—Ever remembered, Donald D. and Anne MacMaster and Katie MacCrimmon. 20-1p

MacLEOD—Cherished memories of a dear husband and father, William J. MacLeod, who entered into rest May 20, 1974.
Time may heal the broken hearted
Years may make the wound less sore
But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved one gone before;
Who shall say the grief is lessened,
Though our smile may hide the tears,
Memories keep the wound still open,
Despite the passing of one year.
—Sadly missed by, Margaret, Marlene and Richard, Maxville. 20-1p

URQUHART—In loving remembrance of our brother, Angus, who passed away May 8, 1973.
Two years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home—it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Always remembered by his sisters. 20-1p

VAILLANCOURT—In fond and loving remembrance of a dear husband, Joseph Vaillancourt, who passed away May 14th, 1970.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden
Away from all sorrows and pain,
Someday when life's journey is ended
We will still be together again.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by wife, Imelda, Green Valley, Ont. 20-1c

VACHON—In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away May 18th, 1973.
He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come over us
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies in the heart concealed.
—Mrs. Laurette Vachon and family. 20-1c

Wood feed potential tremendous

A Kemptville College experiment will revolutionize the risky cattle-feeding business, produce a valuable chemical for the plastics industry and create a prosperous new production enterprise for Eastern Ontario farmers—if it proves successful.

The college is using a new process in attempts to prove that expensive feed grains can be substituted with poplar tree wood pellets in beef cattle diets. This would create a significant reduction in the cost of production if farmers weren't dependent on the unreliable supply of expensive feed grains.

The college's experiment with the "stake process," patented by the federal government, has already attracted the keen interest of the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and other government officials.

"I don't wish to appear overly enthusiastic, but the potential for it is just tremendous," Graham Hooper, head of the college's livestock production section, said in an interview.

The high-temperature, high-pressure process could also be used to convert poor quality hay, corn stover, and sugar cane remains into nutritious feed for cattle, Mr. Hooper emphasized.

It could therefore be used on an international scale to reduce the heavy demand for expensive feed grains.

The process is expensive. The cost of producing nutritious wood pellets is almost as high as feed grain prices, but a valuable chemical byproduct needed in the plastics industry would cover this cost, he expained.

A successful experiment would also create a huge demand for poplar trees. Thousands of acres of low quality land in Eastern Ontario are ripe for such a market, Mr. Hooper said.

Mr. Hooper doesn't expect to offer final recommendations on the experiment for at least a year. Interim results will be released in upcoming months.

Eight groups of 250-pound calves have been fed wood pellets diets ranging from zero to 80 per cent.

The wood is treated by a process called hydrolysis to allow the calves to digest the high cellulose content in poplar trees.

College researchers now believe the 60 per cent wood pellet diet offers the maximum nutritional advantage.

Minute quantities of seven special additives will be used to determine which additive allows for the best digestion of the wood.

The initial three-month experiment ends in three weeks. The calves will then be slaughtered to discover if the wood damaged their digestive tracts.

Researchers first launched the quest for less expensive animal feeds at least 50 years ago, said Mr. Hooper.

But they always encountered significant stumbling blocks that eliminated any hope of success.

The prohibitive expense of extracting the high energy value in wood and the harmful residues collected scuttled previous experiments, Mr. Hooper explained.

"But in our experiment, there is no chemical additive, and therefore no residue," he stated.

The Kemptville experiment is also the first time a valuable byproduct was produced in wood nutrition tests.

Shortage of farm land becoming critical: Stewart

Ontario will soon have to come to grips with the "sterile cap of asphalt and concrete" spreading over prime food land.

"We can't go on forever and a day," William Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food, told the annual meeting of the Ontario Institute of Agrologists in Kemptville. According to Stewart, rational changes must be made if future generations are to have access to prime land.

Stewart was sympathetic to the problems of small towns which must expand into agricultural land to attract industry. But he emphasized that such progress at the expense of food production could not be tolerated.

In accepting a life membership into the Agricultural Institute of Canada, Stewart told the audience of 150, new demands would be made on agrologists. A drop in world food reserves in 1973 had caused the public to look on agriculture in a new light.

To meet the uncertainties of the future, Stewart suggested additional scientific training for agrologists. He added that agrologists would have to tackle distribution problems in agriculture soon and develop new crop varieties.

Unless agrologists continue to provide meaningful information to farmers, he said, they will not be fulfilling their role in society.

Counties school budgets for 3.43 mill tax increase

Education taxes across the United Counties will have to increase by a total average of 3.43 mills for the SD&G county board of education to meet the commitments of its 1975 budget.

The board approved the record $26.7 million two-part budget at a special meeting last week. Of that total, $9,479,644 will be spent on public elementary schools, an increase of $1.8 million from 1974 and $17,283,728 will be spent on secondary schools, an increase of almost $3.5 million over last year.

The mill rate average increase amounts to 2.42 mills for public elementary schools, supported by public school ratepayers only and 1.24 mills for secondary schools, supported by both public and separate school ratepayers.

Local assessment for public elementary school taxes will be $113,666,667 with one mill equaling $113,667. At the secondary level, local assessment will be $170,119,437 with one mill equalling $170,119.

This year's estimated average mill rate for public elementary schools will be 23.85 mills, compared to 21.66 in 1974. The average estimated 1975 mill rate for secondary schools will be 18.58 mills, compared to 17.44 last year.

As a result, the municipalities served by the board will be asked to contribute $3,187,447 for public elementary school requirements and $4,010,655 for secondary school exigencies. The remaining amount to make up the total budget will come in grants from the ministry of education and other revenues.

With the revelation of an over-assessment from last year of $729,129 at the secondary level in the auditor's report to the board April 8, it was hoped education taxes would hold the line this year.

However, Trustee Fraser Campbell, chairman of the board's finance committee, said the projected cost of the board's 1975 priorities at both elementary and secondary levels and the Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School renovation program at the secondary level had, "put the mill rate up a bit."

Taxes were lowered somewhat though through over assessment at the two levels. The over-levy at the elementary level as well as payments in lieu of taxes and telephone and telegraph taxation contributed to reducing the total amount levied to public school ratepayers by $476,954. The reduction at the secondary level amounted to $833,553.

Cost per pupil went up from $704 to $926 at the elementary level in the new budget and from $1,231 to $1,441 at the secondary level. Cost per pupil is set by the ministry of education.

The CCVS building program drew criticism from Trustee Sam McLeod who described it as, "becoming something in the nature of creeping arthritis," to which Director of Education Rosaire Leger agreed, "it has been a very tedious project."

But, he added, "it had to be a priority this year or the darn thing would never have been built."

The budget lists the amount required to provide facilities during the construction at $175,510 and the amortization of unfunded construction costs at $64,673 for a total of $243,183.

Trustee G. E. Desjardins noted there was not enough money in the 1975 budget for the actual cost of the CCVS construction program.

"I realize the CCVS program had to go on," Mr. McLeod said but he questioned the credibility of some of the cost estimates the board had received.

"We seem to be getting into a morass of expenditure."

Language lab. at GDHS in boards plan for year ahead

The $26.7 million two-part budget approved by the SD&G county board of education last week contains 46 priorities the board will implement in the 1975-76 school year.

After input and suggestions were provided by trustees, schools, school committees and recognized organizations, the trustees voted on the priorities at a seminar in Montebello, Que., March 14 and 15 and ranked them in order of importance.

"The priorities are the philosophy of the board translated into action," board chairman Wes Libbey said at a news conference to discuss the priorities.

He said the board's system of ranking priorities was unique in Ontario and is, "probably the fairest way to draw the line."

It will cost the board a total of $469,445 to initiate all of the programs this fall, with $200,206 to be spent at the elementary level and $266,239 at the secondary level.

Among the priorities at the elementary level are a French program for Grades 1 and 2, a French kindergarten program and a speech therapy program.

The French program for Grades 1 and 2 will be retained at 10 schools and expanded to include eight others at a cost of $6,700. The board also plans to extend the program in schools where the Grade 1 program is offered.

At the kindergarten level, the French program will be retained at 13 of the 24 schools with tentative plans to introduce the program in four other schools at a cost of $59,500 over 12 months.

The speech therapy program will cost $14,000 over 12 months.

At the secondary level, priorities include special education programs for handicapped youngsters, an intensive summer French program, vocational computer program and a language lab at Glengarry District High School, Alexandria.

The special education program will serve handicapped students who cannot be accommodated by a rotation system. Grants of $59,744 from the ministry of education will be available for the first time this year to help offset the $75,000 cost of the program over 12 months.

Five-week French immersion program for graduating Grade 8 students and secondary students will cost $45,250 from September through December.

The vocational computer education program will cost $19,750 from September to December and the language lab at Glengarry District to assist in language development will cost $20,000 over the same period.

A central fund of $8,100 over 12 months will be established to aid school committees with publicity surveys, meetings and other requirements.

Staffing allocation ratios in the priorities have been set at 17.1 for secondary schools and 19.1 for elementary schools.

Mrs. Vandette died at 70

Mrs. Ovila Vandette died in Dorion May 1st. She was a daughter of the late Duncan Cholette and his wife Louise Lacombe.

Born at Dalhousie Mills, 70 years ago, she attended school and spent many happy days in that community. After her marriage to Mr. Vandette they lived in Peveril for some time. Later they moved to Dorion and resided there. A few years ago they had the privilege of celebrating their golden wedding date. This was a happy event for them, surrounded by relatives and friends.

Mrs. Vandette was a kind mother and loving wife; she was known for her services to many organizations to help anyone in need. She is mourned by her loving husband, Ovila Vandette; two sons, Eloi and Avila; also one daughter (Lisa) Mrs. Guy Robillard. Also surviving are two brothers, David and Joseph.

Her remains rested in Dorion Funeral Home, where many paid a last respect to Mrs. Vandette. The mass was offered in Trinity Church, Dorion, and burial was in the parish cemetery.

Who should have responsibility Green Valley school crossing

Who bears responsibility for the safety of about 50 children crossing Highway 34 at Ste. Marie School, Green Valley, daily is the question confronting officials of two townships and the separate school board.

According to Charlottenburgh Township Reeve Adrian Gadbois, the SD&G Roman Catholic separate school board should provide crossing guards and cost should be shouldered by the board alone.

The board and Andre Lalonde, principal at Ste. Marie, insist it is up to the township to provide safe passage for the children once they leave the school grounds.

Lancaster Township council agrees that the townships share responsibility and is urging a compromise with all parties sharing the costs of installing traffic safety measures.

Parents of the children, fed up with the delays, were to meet Tuesday night at the school in an attempt to define a position and come up with suggestions to solve the impasse.

Mr. Lalonde told a recent board meeting the parents are threatening to send delegations to both township councils to demand immediate action before a child is injured crossing the highway.

Since the highway was upgraded recently traffic volume and speed past the school have increased to the point where children crossing the road are in danger, he said.

Speed limit through Green Valley is 40 miles per hour. Signs warning of school children crossing exist at either end of town.

Mr. Lalonde said a study by the ministry of transportation and communication indicated speeds dropped at peak crossing times but added children are crossing at other than peak times.

All parties agree safety measures are needed.

There are about 185 students at Ste. Marie, about 50 living in Green Valley which lies on the border of Lancaster and Charlottenburgh Townships. The rest are bused to school.

Mr. Lalonde noted there have been no accidents yet but potential exists and this must be rectified. He said he has spent eight months trying to get safety measures implemented.

Stalling the proposals is the question of who is going to bear the cost of crossing guard or traffic signs.

Reeve Gadbois said traffic signs or highway markings would be the responsibility of the ministry of transportation and communication.

He insists the township should not become involved with helping one school since it could lead to others wanting the same thing and it is not a township responsibility.

"Where do you draw the line?" he asked. "Every little school house would want a crossing guard."

He suggested either an older adult or senior student at the school could be installed as crossing guard by the school board.

But Mr. Lalonde said the oldest students at the school are 12 and could not handle the responsibility.

The principal said a lack of sidewalks along Highway 34 also contributes to the problem since children must walk along the shoulder.

Separate school board officials are arranging a meeting between the two townships, the ministry and the board to work out an answer.

Charlemagne Lamarche, director of education, said letters have been sent out and a meeting date will be set as soon as possible.

Reeve McNaughton feels it is vital authorities come up with the right solution since there are other schools in the same position.

"We have a responsibility," he said. "Personally, I do hope we can get something done for the safety of the children."

Charlottenburgh launches seedling giveaway program

Charlottenburgh Township's annual seedling giveaway will continue until an expected 78,000 seedlings—Red Pine, Poplar and White Spruce—are handed out to township residents.

The seedlings are being distributed at the township garage at Williamstown from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Each resident is being limited to 200 seedlings.

The first shipment is made up of 27,000 Red Pine and 3,000 Poplar. Reeve Adrian Gadbois said the next shipment will include white spruce.

Trees are being supplied to the township by the ministry of natural resources via Kemptville.

Reeve Gadbois said the second shipment has been delayed because of a shortage of help at the Kemptville Tree Farm. Apparently, the ministry sought 200 workers for packing and shipping but could only find 85 persons interested.

The ministry said it will supply 1,000,000 seedlings this year in the section of eastern Ontario from Cornwall to Brockville.

Last year Charlottenburgh distributed 65,000 seedlings.

Reeve Gadbois said that persons who want to plant on five or more acres should contact the ministry of natural resources in Cornwall to arrange a tree management program.

May rally this week

The 61st annual May Rally of Glengarry Presbyterial of Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will be held on May 15, beginning at 10 a.m., at St. Columba Presbyterian Church in Kirk Hill. Theme for the meeting "We Must Serve." Special speaker will be Rev. Wen-Chi Kim, Vice-Moderator of the Korean Christian Church in Japan.

Food shortage predicted for Ontario

One half of Canada's class 1 and one sixth of the class 11 agricultural land is in Ontario. Yet twenty-five years from now Ontario will have difficulty being self-sufficient in foods which can be reasonably produced locally.

According to a report by the Ontario Institute of Agrologists, even if productivity rises by 70 per cent over the next 25 years, Ontario will have a shortfall of more than a million acres. The solution could create considerably higher food prices. Up to 2 million acres of foodland with a lower food potential may have to be brought into productivity in Northern Ontario.

The report states that Ontario's most productive foodland is located in areas of high population. But because foodland priorities have been overshadowed by housing and industry, new policies will have to be developed to minimize the loss.

While acknowledging that Ontario grown food can be produced elsewhere, the report emphasizes the importance of being self-sufficient. It cites recent developments in the sugar industry as creating renewed interest in the production of sugar beets in Ontario. "The cutting off of soybean, even briefly, by the United States raised similar questions," the report says.

Among other things, the report recommends the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food be given the responsibility for rejecting or approving any public or private land development involving class I, II or III land. Soils in these categories are considered suitable for cultivated field crops.

At the conclusion of their annual meeting at Kemptville College, members of the Ontario Institute of Agrologists pledged to support the policies in the report. The organization has a membership of 1,200 professional agricultural workers, including the Minister of Agriculture and Food, William Stewart.
