VICTORY SMILES—In the political limelight since 1945, Osie F. Villeneuve has had many occasions to practise the smile of victory he showed Tuesday night following announcement of the election results. Critical Of Liberal Campaign

Victorious in his 9th election campaign since entering the political arena in 1945, Osie F. Villeneuve was critical of some aspects of the Liberal campaign in his speech to supporters Tuesday evening.

He congratulated NDP candidate Tom Aitken for his conduct of the campaign but stated he could not do the same for the Liberal candidate. He did not, however hold personally against Mr. Brunet some of the tactics used by his workers.

Mr. Villeneuve said in part: "I have always run an honest campaign and sincerely hope the citizens of Glengarry county, no matter what party they represent, will respect the dignity of the Elections Act so we can live in a free democracy in the future, as in the past."

In expressing warm thanks to his supporters and workers he extended a warm welcome to the Glengarry riding to those from Stormont and Prescott who now vote with us provincially.

Mr. Villeneuve entertained at the Bonnie Glen while the Liberal party was at Green Valley Pavilion.

Water Line To South Underway

The Public Utilities Commission's new water line to better serve the south end of Alexandria was started Tuesday by Menard Construction.

The line will run south on Park Ave. from the filtration plant, across the Perpetual Help schoolyard to St. James Street. From there it goes east to Main and south on the west side of the street to William where it underpasses Highway 43 and goes east on William.

There will be 4,254 feet of 10" pipe, 770 feet of 8" and 148 feet of 6".

Main Street south is presently served by 2" pipe and residents of the area will get much better pressure on the line's completion.

Work on the PUC's new substation is progressing and the steelwork is going up this week.

NOW IT'S COMMUNITY OWNED—Glengarry Gardens passed from private ownership to the status of a community centre, Tuesday afternoon, when final papers were signed to complete purchase of the arena. Gardens' directors split $56,000 on their investment in community recreaton made more than a decade ago and Alexandria and district residents can look forward to a winter season in which artificial ice will be available again right in their own hometown. Now using the arena for storage, the Carnation Company expects to quit the Gardens at the end of this month and it is hoped ice will be available Nov. 15th, reports Duncan A. Macdonell, town council's chairman of the rink committee. His committee is to meet Tuesday to consider the applications for the post of arena manager. Seen at the signing ceremony are Councillor Macdonell, Mayor Raymond Periard, bearded Clerk-Treasurer Don Collin, Wilfrid Menard, president, and Claude Lemay, treasurer of the Glengarry Gardens directorate.

Villeneuve Plurality Virtually Same At 1444 As Conservatives Again Sweep Eastern Ontario

Osie F. Villeneuve won election in Tuesday's provincial voting in Glengarry and by virtually the same plurality as he had rolled up in 1963.

In that election he had finished on top by a 1,384 margin. In the expanded riding of 1967 his plurality was 1,444.

The unofficial vote tallies, Tuesday, were Villeneuve, Conservative 6,211; Brunet, Liberal, 4,767; Aitken, NDP, 745.

As in Glengarry, the Robarts' government again made a clean sweep of Eastern Ontario ridings, returning all 12 members to Queen's Park.

Mr. Villeneuve, running in his 9th election since 1945, picked up pluralities in the new sections of the riding as well as in Glengarry proper where he led by more than 900 votes. He gained some 350 votes in the Finch-Roxborough area and another 200 over Gerard Brunet, Liberal, in East Hawkesbury.

In his first bid for the senior levels of government Mr. Brunet was given strong support, especially in the front of the county. The 753 votes garnered by Tom Aitken showed a big gain over NDP support in previous elections when the total was often below the 200 vote mark.

Despite a steady drizzle of rain throughout the day, some 75 per cent of the 15,000-odd eligible voters went to the polls. There were 11,723 ballots counted.

For the first time in many years the election boards were missing from the News Office front but the office phones were busy throughout the evening as people sought news of the election or phoned in results.

Poll 8, Lochiel, at Quigley's reported in just 14 minutes after the polls closed at 8 p.m. No. 9 Charlottenburgh at Glen Roy and No. 3 Lochiel at Glen Sandfield were others early reported and by 8.45 Villeneuve was leading by 500 votes and an almost certain winner.

An Ottawa radio station tried to make a battle of it in Glengarry, however, after 9 p.m. it was reporting the Conservative lead at only 40 votes when it actually was more than one thousand.

Returning Officer Noel Casgrain and his staff tabulated returns in the PUC building and only scattered polls were unreported at 10 p.m.

The vote by polls will be found in an adjoining column.

Sandy Kennedy Now In 90th Year

Sandy A. Kennedy, a native of Alexandria, reached his 89th birthday on October 7th. A turkey dinner in his honor, was given by his daughter, Miss Janet Kennedy and was attended by members of his family and friends, to make Thanksgiving an extra special day.

Mr. Kennedy who now resides with his wife and daughters in Montreal, is enjoying the very best of health. He attends daily mass and takes long walks every day. He still enjoys reading and television, especially where sports and politics are concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McPhail and family, St. Andrews West, joined her parents for this festivity.

Teacher Hurt In Two Car Crash

A Hawkesbury teacher was injured Saturday night in a two-car crash on Highway 34 about six miles south of Vankleek Hill.

Peter M. Whetstone, 25, of 407 Nelson St. East, suffered severe facial cuts and was treated at the Smith Clinic in Hawkesbury.

The accident occurred about 8.15 p.m. when Mr. Whetstone pulled out to pass another southbound car driven by Andre Paquette, 25 of Dalkeith.

Police said Mr. Paquette, who was not injured, was making a left turn. His car is a wreck while Mr. Whetstone's sportscar received $500 damage.

South Lancaster Church To Dedicate New Addition On 180th Anniversary

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster, observes its 180th anniversary Sunday, Oct. 22nd, with the dedication of the congregation's centennial project, a new Christian Education building which has just been completed.

The new building cost approximately $30,000.

Members of the Presbytery of Glengarry will be officiating, along with the minister, Rev. John Fortier and officers of the church, at the dedication ceremony set for 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

The Anniversary Service itself, will be held during the usual hour of worship at 11.00 a.m., and the guest speaker will be the Rev. Wm. M. Brown of Howick, Que., recently returned from Scotland—the birthplace of Presbyterianism.

It is interesting to note that after the Revolutionary War, a band of United Empire Loyalists came to this part of the St. Lawrence River Valley and settled around 1784. Except for a few forts, these settlements were among the first in Upper Canada. The settlers had been given grants of land in recognition of their services and for the most part those taking up the land along the Lancaster Front were Presbyterians. Additional settlers came directly from Scotland and joined them there. Originally all Highlanders, these devout people first worshipped 'under canvas' on the river bank, south of the still-existent stone-wall cemetery in Kirk-Town, as it was then known.

In 1787, the Rev. John Bethune (who had been Chaplain to the Royal Militia in North Carolina and later to the Royal Highland Emigrant Regiment in Nova Scotia), received a large grant of land in Glengarry. During the following six years he was the only Presbyterian minister in Upper Canada, and organized congregations in Kirk-town, Summerstown, Martintown and Cornwall.

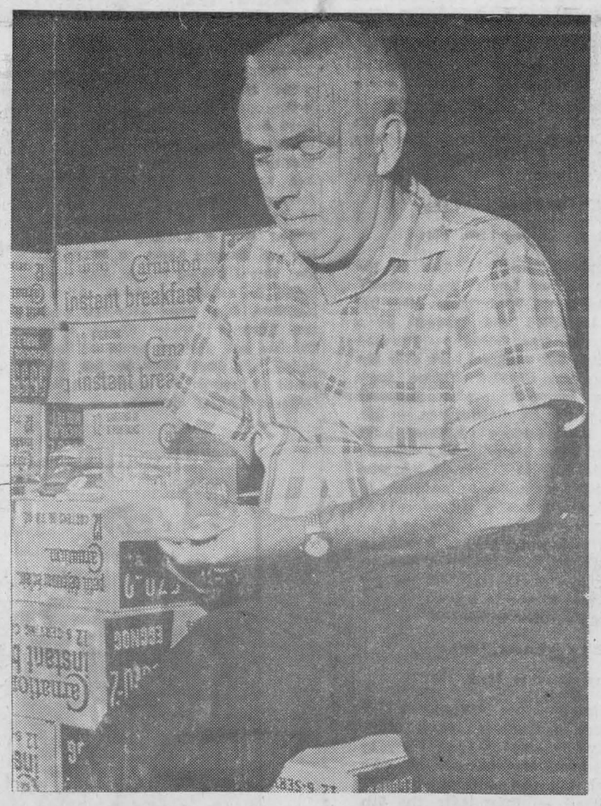
The congregation's first church, a log structure, was built in 1796 and was located on the east side of the old stone-wall cemetery. It served as a house of worship for some 65 years and was probably the first Presbyterian place of worship in Upper Canada. Construction on the second building, the present church, began in 1852 and was completed for dedication on October 20th, 1855.

Just prior to 1866, the orginal old log structure, the "Kirk of Kirk-town" was torn down and St. Andrew's, the "Old Stone Church" was left alone to carry on the witness of the Church of Scotland in the Eastern District.

Missionary Sister Returning To Brazil

Sister Mary Janet of Our Lady's Missionaries, has returned to Fortaluza, Brazil, after spending three months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angus S. MacDonell, Green Valley.

Sister is on the nursing and administration team of the Obstetrical Hospital for the University of Ceara. She and seven other Canadian sisters were invited to take a nursing administration position three years ago in order that the hospital might function as a teaching centre for the University.



EFFICIENCY PAYS OFF—Jim Keyes, a foreman in the local Carnation plant, is richer by some $1300, because he thinks. The Company welcomes ideas for more efficient production and cost-cutting methods and Jim has come up with two such suggestions on production of Instant Breakfast and the use of what was formerly waste material. One idea was found to be in the $800 range and another netted him some $500. Other employees at the local plant have won lesser amounts for smart thinking reports C. W. Mutchler, plant superintendent.

Start School Addition

Final approval of plans for the big addition to Glengarry District High School have been received and the contractor, John Entwistle & Sons, Cornwall, started excavating last week.

The addition will cost $1,714,000.

Lost Mill At Athelstan, Que

The sash and door and grist mill of Donald N. Racine at Athelstan, Que., was destroyed by fire in the early hours of Sept. 21st. The loss was estimated at $100,000, only a small amount covered by insurance.

The plant dated back to 1844.

A graduate of Alexandria High School, Mr. Racine served in the RCMP until taking over the Athelstan Sash and Door factory in 1953. He added the grist mill and had recently stocked builders' supplies as well.

As his personal centennial project, Mr. Racine played host in early July to a group of former classmates of the 1947-48 school year at AHS.

Two Of Injured Out Of Hospital

Injured in the accident which recently took the lives of their two uncles, Laurie 7 and Kimberley MacDonald, 5, are home from Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McDonell, Green Valley.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacDonald of Ottawa, have been in Montreal with the two older children who suffered serious head injuries. Karen 8, is reported improving but Donna, 10, remains in critical condition in the Neurological Hosptal.

In last week's report of the accident we inadvertently omitted the name of a fourth sister of the victims, Geraldine McDonell who is at home.

Pipe And Drum Classes To Start Oct. 28th

The inaugural meeting of the Glengarry Schools of Piping and Drumming was held in the Maxville Community Hall last Saturday with a goodly crowd present. including quite a number of prospective students and parents. Pipe-Major John MacKenzie, RCAF, who will be in charge of the School of Piping, was introduced by Major R. G. MacGillivray, and addressed the meeting, explaining how he proposed to run the school. He also represented Drum-Sgt. Kerr, who is to handle the School of Drumming, but who was unable to be present. After his talk he held a "question period" during which he answered all sorts of questions pertinent to the subject.

One question of general interest was "how soon can I play a tune?" The answer was "a good student might be able to play one tune in three months, not play it well, but play it." Another was "what about those who just can't learn?" The answer was "we'll know by the sixth lesson and we won't let you waste your money."

Pupils were then invited to register and 25 registered for piping and 15 for drumming. It is felt that there are at least another dozen who were not at the meeting and will register later. Pipe-Major MacKenzie stated that he was very happy with the result of the meeting and announced that the first class in each school will be held in the Maxville Community Hall, Saturday. Oct. 28th at 1.30 p.m. Students unable to be at the meeting can register at the first class.

Four Contracts For Menard Construction

Menard Constructon Ltd., Green Valley, has started work on the new south Alexandria water line and has been awarded three other contracts.

Development Road 982, the 6th Kenyon road west from Fassifern will get granlar base and compaction. The contract is for $10,-520.

In the Kingston area, Menard's will get granular base and comasphalt paving on the road through Athens. The Ontario Highways Department let the contract at $554,762.

Development Road 541-4 in the townships of Bagot and Blythfield in the Renfrew area will get five miles of granular base at a cost of $376,681.

Alexandria-Ile Bizard Twinning Ceremonies Being Held There On November 5th

Alexandria and Ile Bizard, off Montreal's north shore, are to be twinned following negotiations between the two councils which have been proceeding since July.

At its meeting Monday night council accepted an invitation from that community to attend official twinning ceremonies there on Sunday, Nov. 5th. In addition to members of council, presidents of local service clubs, religious bodies, school boards, etc., will be invited to visit Ile Bizard that day.

In years to come residents of Ile Bizard will be invited to take part in our July 1st celebration with the return visit to that community at Thanksgiving.

The island of Ile Bizard, off Ste. Genevieve on Montreal's north shore, has a population of about 3,000.

Prior to Monday's meeting members of council visited the home of Mrs. Louis Shepherd to present to her the 'Man of the Year' plaque which was to have been awarded her late husband at the annual meeting of the EODC. Mr. Shepherd was ill at the time and later succumbed before the plaque could be presented him.

Council has been advised the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs plans opening of a regional office in Ottawa.

High School Principal Lorne Lawson was present to ask council to obtain a street allowance along the north boundary of the school property. Council will contact the estate of A. G. F. Macdonald concerning the matter.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission has discovered local hunters are building duck blinds at the town sewage lagoons and asked council to discourage the practise. Council will post the area.

Approval was received from the Municipal Board for both the High School addition and construction of the new water line to the south end.

Police Chief Cleroux reported on the meters and suggested additional meters might be placed on St. Paul and Catherine Streets between Dominion and Main. This would be aimed at local residents who leave their cars there all day and would provide more parking space for out-of-town shoppers. The suggestion will be studied by the Public Works committee. That committee is also to meet with Lochiel Township Council to discuss a mutual roads maintenance agreement.

Romuald Lavigne applied for and was granted a trucking license for pick up and delivery, as well as for garbage collection.

Councillor Costello invited members to attend the opening of the centennial bonspiel at Alexandria Curling Club in early November.

Joins OPP

Stuart McDonald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McDonald, left early last week to report at the Ontario Provincial Police School at Toronto. After his indoctrination course he expects to be stationed at Downsview.

First Sod Turned Saturday In Project To Build Maxville Manor

First sod was turned Saturday afternoon at Maxville to signalize start of construction of Maxville Manor, the 91-bed home for the aged which is expected to be ready for occupancy a year hence.

Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP, wielded a gold-plated spade in turning the first sod.

Allan C. Vallance, chairman of the board of directors for the Manor, acted as chairman for the ceremonies. Mentioning that the new institution is the first in the area to feature the co-operation of Roman Catholic and Protestant people in building a home for the aged, Mr. Vallance opened the program by inviting Rev. Lionel Bourque, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church, and Rev. Iver C. MacIver, minister of the Presbyterian Church, to offer prayer and ask a blessing on the new home.

Mr. Villeneuve said there is a great need for community effort in the fund drive to construct the manor. But, he continued, one of the things the Maxville district was best known for was the way people work together to achieve worthwhile objectives, and he was confident this would continue to be the case in this instance.

Reeve Alfred Sloan of South Plantagenet township, congratulated the local group and said he was sure the new home would be an asset to the whole area. Rev. Russell Ferguson of Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan, and Rev. W. E. Henderson of the United Church in Maxville, offered brief remarks of congratulations and commendation to the committee.

Dr. George McDonald of Apple Hill, and Dr. Theo A. Jaggassar, of Maxville, added their comments and appreciation for the new project, which they said will prove a great asset to the community and especially to the many older folk in the area who may need institutional care and would rather spend their closing years near their old homes.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Vallance invited the considerable audience to the official opening in August next year. Members of the firm of architects and engineers, Sorenson, Holtshousen, Thompson, Laframboise and Mallette explained features and location of the building both on the site and in the community hall, where the plans and drawings were on view. Representatives of the construction firm of Noel Couture Construction Ltd., were present to meet the public and discuss details of the location and methods used to build the structure.

In spite of a cold, dismal afternoon an estimated 150 persons attended the ceremonies, which were followed by a short reception at the community hall, to permit members of the public to meet the designers of the building and members of the board.

Expect Many Registrations Tuesday For Night Classes

The usual number of applications for night classes are being received at the local High School and Principal Lorne Lawson expects many others will be present next Tuesday night for registration.

Among new courses to be offered this year if sufficient interest is shown are Advanced Welding, as well as the introductory course, physical training and drafting.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Raising Hopes Along The Raisin

It may yet be several years short of realization but the dream of restoring a summer flow of water to the Aux Raisin River has moved to the realm of the possible. Ontario Hydro has agreed to supply water from Lake St. Lawrence and the International Joint Commission is expected to approve the plan since it is merely a case of diverting the needed water at the river's sources and returning it to the St. Lawrence at Lancaster.

The waters of Lake St. Lawrence turn the turbines of the Long Sault Power Project and the plan to divert a flow through the Raisin depended primarily on Ontario Hydro's willingness to supply sufficient water from its man-made lake above the dam. That permission for a limited diversion through the three months of summer is seen as the go-ahead signal by members of the Raisin River Conservation Authority who have done extensive planning in recent years.

The Authority expects to divert lake waters into both branches of the Raisin, at Long Sault and Hoople's Creek. A series of control dams on both the South Branch and North Branch, and at the confluence of the two, should provide an even flow through the months of summer when the river now is but a trickle in its upper reaches.

A major clean-up job will have to be done, especially along those upper reaches of the Raisin's two branches, before the river can be restored to anything like its original state. But what a boon it promises to residents of the front of Cornwall and Charlottenburgh Townships.

Fishing types and cottagers know it well in the Lancaster-Williamstown area where some summer flow remains. The river's potential for recreation will be multiplied many times if a controlled flow can be returned to Martintown and St. Andrews, and above them, between the now waterless banks of the North and South branches right up to their sources.

Tied in with the river's potential for recreation are irrigation, land redevelopment, reforestation and many other improvements which could change the face of a large area over the next decade.

It was to the Aux Raisin River our first settlers came and it took less than two centuries for their land-clearing axes and today's chain saws to dry up the watershed. Now Conservation Authorities are needed along most of Southern Ontario's rivers to restore the streams to something of their original state.

We are fortunate that there are men along the Raisin willing to take up this gigantic task of restoration. Their biggest hurdle, the attaining of the needed water supply from Lake St. Lawrence, has been surmounted. Much remains to be done but we can hope it is only a matter of time until youngsters at Martintown can go cruising down the river almost any summer afternoon.

Tragedy Can Be Just Over The Next Hill

Tragic accidents on Canada's highways are an almost daily occurrence but seldom do they hit home with any impact unless people we know are involved. An entire family may be wiped out in some distant crash but we have become so conditioned to reading of these unhappy happenings we are but momentarily moved to compassion.

Such was not the case in the recent two-car crash at North Lancaster which took three lives, and had such tragic overtones. Sympathy remains warm and widespread for the parents who lost their only two sons; for Mrs. Campeau, left a widow with three young children; for Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacDonald whose four young daughters were involved, two of them critically injured.

There is regret, too, that a young couple's wedding day was marred by family tragedy. The loss of the bride's two brothers and injury to four nieces followed only minutes after the ceremony. Also adding poignancy was the fact of Mr. Campeau's death only a few hundred yards before he would have turned off the road at his own gateway.

That county road, like many others, is inadequate for today's traffic and records a steady toll of accidents. So narrow is the paved portion that drivers are inclined to hold the centre of the road and when visibility is curtailed by a hill the potential for just such a head-on crash is ever present.

The high cost of highways engineered to today's traffic safety standards precludes the possibility our roads will ever catch up to the steadily increasing demands on them. And the human factor remains. Accidents are still happening on our super-highways, whether from mechanical faults in the vehicles or because of irresponsible driving habits.

Accidents there will always be; but surely their frequency and severity could be much curtailed. If public opinion ever became aroused to the point of demanding action surely our traffic laws, our licensing procedures and our traffic courts could be better geared to remove unskilled and irresponsible drivers from the wheel. Driving should be a privilege to be earned, rather than the natural right of everyone old enough to pass a cursory test. The permit to drive should be more arbitrarily removed for cause than is the custom today when much of an MPP's duties involve getting the transgressor off the hook.

Public opinion must be mobilized against the wanton toll of death and injury on our roads. With that end in view this paper intends to publish as many pictures taken at accident scenes in this area as are procurable.

We Were All Rebels Once

Quit coddling the kids. Let them grow up and develop a sense of responsibility.

This is our reaction to a news report out of Toronto covering the actions of a group of hippies. Its reading left us with the solid conviction that if the Ottawa government is sincere in its resolution to cut federal expenditures a good start could be made by wiping out the Company of Young Canadians.

That welfare scheme is undoubtedly "for the birds". Modelled on just as zany a U.S. program, it is providing federal funds to subsidize such nests as Toronto's Yorkville for weaklings in our society who would rather loaf on Cloud Nine than get down to the sordid work of building their own futures.

A University of Toronto dropout, David DePoe, 23, has become prominent as a spokesman for the hippies who infest Yorkville, a midtown Toronto coffeehouse district. He receives living expenses and $35 monthly as a worker for the Canada Youth Council and there was widespread criticism of the CYC in August when DePoe was among a group of hippies arrested for creating a disturbance.

Admitting that he is a hippie himself, DePoe thinks the world is a pretty bad place and "I guess I want to do something about it". A son of CBC commentator Norman DePoe, he was sent to Yorkville last November to work with them "in an effort to start the hippies participating in democracy—which is what the CYC is all about. "He describes himself as a "core member" of the Diggers—a self-help group founded in Yorkville "to get the kids involved in looking after their community".

Talking about hippies, DePoe says one is basically a youngster "who dropped out of what is usually defined as normal social occupations because he is deeply disenchanted with the way society is run.

"What a hippie is really doing is trying to find for himself some meaning in life, some meaningful living which doesn't compromise his ideals. He is not concerned with the rule of morality laid down by someone else. He wants to find his own by his own experience."

In one classification are those mainly concerned with their own lives and their own personal inward development. DePoe says this type thinks drugs such as LSD are important.

The second group is more of an outgrowth of the civil rights movement than the beat generation. Concerned "with personal things," these hippies also want to form some ethical view and spread it.

DePoe doesn't like the word hippie. He notes the public looks on Yorkville's residents as "some curious sub-species". Rather he sees them as "not freaks but warm intelligent people".

We can credit young DePoe with sympathetic dedication to the cause of these hippies and even grant that many of them are warm and intelligent. The fact remains that they are rebels from society and their families and are contributing nothing constructive to their own or the community's development.

They are young and probably unaware that that spirit of rebellion is common to all young people in their late teens. It is a part of growing up and if the generation before theirs was at times termed communistic it had the excuse at least of reaching maturity in the depth of depression.

In those dirty 30's a Prime Minister could find not even a nickel for welfare and the rebels of that era were left to work out their own salvations. Somehow they reached maturity and earned a respectable place in society. The same spartan diet might work wonders in reducing the hippie population of our cities. Over-indulgent parents and too-generous governments are encouraging today's young rebels to live in sloth on a comparatively full stomach.

Newspapers and magazines are playing up their psychedelic binges to the point the sordid life of the hippies is made a lure for other youngsters to let their hair grow and escape to this never-never world.

Let's leave them in the obscurity they pretend to seek. An empty stomach and an empty existence will smarten them up.

An Alexandria brother and sister proved it's a small world when they met in a Milwaukee church while taking in the World Series. Miss Terry Kennedy, RN, of Montreal, was unaware her brother Corbett of Wawa, Ont., planned to be there. — A widow and her five children were left homeless when the home occupied by Mrs. Alma St. John, east of Martintown, was destroyed by fire. — Laurier Lefebvre was elected Faithful Navigator of Bishop Alexander Macdonell Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights, at a meeting Monday. — Cumming Bros. cattle had a share in Ontario's winning of the state herd award for Ayrshires at Chicago's International Dairy Show.

Father Lacombe And The Indians

Father Lacombe persuading Chief Crowfoot of the Blackfoot Indian tribes to allow the Canadian Pacific railway to be built across their land. This was one of the few obstacles encountered by the CPR as it pushed its tracks across the prairies from Winnipeg in 1831 to Calgary in 1883 and the Rocky mountains in 1884. Up to six miles of track was laid in a day. Settlers from eastern Canada thronged into the west via railway to take up homesteads. Towns mushroomed around railway stations.

Father Lacombe was one of the first Catholic missionaries in the northwest. He came to Edmonton in 1852 and started the first school west of Manitoba. In his immense parish he ministered to the scattered Indian and Metis population between the Bow and Peace Rivers and from the foothills to the Saskatchewan forks. His parishioners held him in great respect. He was able to persuade Chief Crowfoot and his tribe to accept other lands to replace those needed by the CPR.

Crowfoot as a young brave had been regarded as a fierce warrior. Many victories in tribal wars enhanced his reputation. But he soon came to realize the folly of tribal wars, and with Father Lacombe he was able to influence his people not to join Sitting Bull's hostilities against white men. Later Crowfoot and Lacombe prevented the Blackfoot tribes from joining the Northwest Rebellion of 1885. Crowfoot was eventually given a pension by the CPR for keeping the peace. He died near Calgary in 1890. Lacombe died in 1916 after many years of service to his people. his church and his country.

The Weeklies Say

EXPO 67 SERVES TO HELP PEACE

Expo 67 is being acclaimed around the world as a huge success. It still has several weeks to run, and before Canada's showpiece closes it will have broken many records for world fairs. The humming busy crowds at Expo are perfect examples of people at peace. They serve as an inspiration to any optimists who argue that the world can live at peace, if all nations and all individuals are given a fair sense of what our globe has to offer.

CAN'T MAKE HIM OUT

It is the announcer, or rather the disc jockey, who is the imbecile of radio. All sound identical to their counterparts in the United States. Rapid-fire verbiage that can be neither explained or even understood. To make matters worse. they must change voice, grunt, growl, hoot and holler. Any seven year-old youngster would be spanked if he kept it up all day. Yet these same talkers are paid money and jabber over the Canadian airways.

PROVINCES MUST HELP SAVE WATER

Water resources are a provincial responsibility and it is up to the province to take the initiative in finding a solution to the water problems of the Pembina Triangle. Unless this is done quickly, existing industries may be forced to close, many agricultural crops will no longer be grown and the whole economy of the area will suffer immeasurably. — Rltona (Man.) SHOULD WE HELP?

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police the other week. in their capacity as guardians of the customs laws' seized medical supplies that the Quakers, as an act of mercy wished to send to North Vietnam via Canada.

Many of the citizens of the United States besides the 200,000 or so who comprise the Society of Friends, are unhappy over the Vietnam situation. A solution to the problem is not easy to find. Canadians generally also are unhappy over their neighbor's problem but wonder if interference with the Quaker efforts to alleviate suffering will help to end the war or merely be another evidence that "when the U.S. is at war, Canada is at war."

BOOKS SAVE MAN

Books are the chronicles of civilization. They record man's values, his dreams and aspirations, his achievements, his religion and his disappointments. And they prod man into the future by preserving insights which contribute to new syntheses. Books, then are civilizing things. And the more time and money we spend in building and using libraries, the more civilized we are.

RAMBLING REPORTER

HONOR THY HUSBAND

A neighboring weekly brings up a subject that has long been a source of irritation to us. Why do some women persist in using their maiden Christian names after marriage when reporting to the press.

It seems to occur most often in the reports of sport events. The trophies were won by Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Betty McDonald or Mrs. Madeleine Lefebvre. But we receive these reports in other news items, too.

We don't like them primarily because they are not informative. The newspaper's excuse for existence is to present the news but it's doing a lousy job of it if Mrs. Jones has to call up Mrs. Brown to ask who this Mrs. Betty McDonald is who won the trophy.

In Glengarry the problem can get even stickier with the multiplicity of McDonalds(Lalondes and other many-mansioned family names. It's difficult enough to recognize the various John McDonalds without having to remember the Christian names of the women they wed.

For years we fought against this trend, using the telephone to iron out the unrecognizable dames and substitute the name of the husband. But now we have dial and it takes time to dig out the needed information, even when we have a clue as to where it's to be found.

We realize that there are suffragettes still roaming the land, intent on women's rights, ready at the drop of even an unintended slur to take up the battle of the sexes. This so-called weaker sex has mere man beaten down to his knees and yet some seem to want to rub it in by robbing him of his name.

It used to be when a girl married she was mighty pleased to become Mrs. John Jones or Mrs. Jim Smith. It was that "till death do us part" and even the widow was jealous of her marital right to retain her husband's name.

That's the way it still should be if the newspaper is to do its job of informing.

SOMEBODY'S PROBLEM

We have another leap year coming up in 1968 and the mere thought moves the editor of the Smiths Falls Record-News to get all het up over our imperfect calendar.

Calendar makers were worrying long before Julius Caesar decreed the first leap year in 45 BC, our compatriot in Smiths Falls learnedly suggests. Calendars in general use before Caesar's time were based on years presumed to be exactly 365 days long, whereas, according to the time it takes the earth to complete its orbit around the sun, a year really is 365 days, five hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds long—according to our reliable information.

By the time Caesar came along, the errors which had been accumulating for a long time at the rate of more than five hours a year amounted to a total of three months. Winter was coming in what the calendar said was fall, fall was occurring in summer, etc. It seemed silly to Caesar to have to get into his long underwear—or the Roman equivalent—before summer (according to the calendar) was over. So he fixed up the Julian calendar, which brought the calendar and the sun back together and provided for an extra day every four years to take care of the annual discrepancy of more than five hours. Thus the leap year system was born.

The trouble with Caesar's calendar was that it added 24 hours every four years when it should have added only 23 hours. 14 minutes and four seconds — so the scientists say. Caesar's calendar created a discrepancy of one day every 128 years. so by 1583, when Gregory was pope, the calendar was approximately 10 days off.

Gregory abolished 10 days by having October 15 follow October 4 and modified the Julian leap year rule by providing that centenary years (those with numbers ending in 00) should not have extra days in the future except when such centenary years were divisible by 400, like the year 2000. The Gregorian calendar still fails by 26 seconds a year to coincide with sun time, so in 3,323 years it will be off a full day. Some scientists have recommended the introduction into the Gregorian system of a new corrective device. In addition to skipping leap year in centenary years not divisible by 400 these scientists would skip extra days on centenary years that are divisible by 4,000.

Such an additional correction would hold the calendar error down to one day in every 2,000 years. It is an issue that must be met squarely before the year 4,000 rolls around.

Frankly, we are not interested. concludes the Smiths Falls editor who probably is feeling his age. Are you?

Vankleek Hill Footballers Score 12-0 Shutout Over GDHS

by Angus H. McDonell

Success becomes pretty heady wine, at times, even to mature pro hockey and ball clubs. If the GDHS football team had been sitting complacently on cloud nine as a result of holding the James MacArthur trophy for some time. they have been rudely awakened to the reality of being regulated to the same class as Montreal Alouettes, at least for one game.

Last Friday in Vankleek Hill the Alexandria students. perennial champions of our high school Senior Football League, were shut out by VCI 12-0. About the only other team in football unable to score a single point in 60 minutes are the hopeless Als.

This important win by the Hill team could very well mean a first place finish and a scramble especially by Alexandria and Maxville to meet VCI in the finals.

Jim Cunning, who previously had quite a day at Char-Lan, scored VCI's first major in the opening quarter as he bulled his way from 10 yards out through the GDHS defence like a Willie Bethea or Bo Scott. The convert try failed.

Alexandria still had a problem holding the VCI offence in the second quarter and finally VCI's other full back, Gerald McBain, plunged for short yardage into pay dirt to add another six pointer.

This convert attempt also failed and the score was 12-0 at halftime.

Alexandria held the homesters off the score board in the third quarter mainly by the old style of two bucks and a kick.

The final period was a repetition; however, GDHS did manage to work their way down field within scoring range. Quarterback, Barry Bethune got away a points target throw to Archie McPherson who was unable to latch on to the pass due to solid VCI coverage. That was Alexandria's most impressive play against a VCI team that was definitely "up" for this one.

CHAR-LAN 32; HAWKS 27

Taylor Coomb's Williamstown students came through with their first win of the season last Friday defeating Hawkesbury 32-27.

Tomorrow's games, Maxville at Hawkesbury and Char-Lan here to meet GDHS.

Expect Curling Ice By November 1st

The curling season here should get underway by Nov. 1st, reports club president Hugh A. McDonald. The ice-making equipment will be turned on this weekend and he expects both sheets will be ready in little more than a week.

In an effort to improve the ice large sheets of styrofoam are being placed under the piping this week to serve as insulation against frost heaving. The clubrooms are also being extensively improved with a new tile ceiling and interior wall painting.

A Hallowe'en party is planned for next Saturday night, Oct. 28th.

Golf Club To End Season Oct. 31st

The golf season will end at the local club Oct. 31st, though recent wet weather has prevented play. The clubrooms will close at month's end and members are reminded to pick up their clubs.

Workmen are now repairing the tees and a fence is planned across the front of the course.

Readying Curling Ice At Lancaster

Officers of Lancaster and District Curling Club met Monday to appoint chairmen of committees for the year ahead.

Harold Moran was returned as chairman of the ice committee and work has already begun on building the ice surface for play the first week of November.

President Ken MacLeod is looking forward to a banner year and notes the club will welcome new members.

Committee chairmen named are

ICE—Harold Moran.
House—Leonard MacLachlan.
Membership—Bud Alguire.

Seaway Valley Presbytery Met In Chesterville

Recently the newly-formed Seaway Valley Presbytery of the United Church held its initial meeting in Chesterville, host of the Rev. L. M. Ferguson. The Seaway Valley presbytery came into being through the amalgamation of the former presbyteries, Glengarry and Dundas-Grenville.

The newly elected chairman, Rev. H. W. Griffin of Ingleside. presided at the meeting with Rev. Leslie Dean of Iroquois as secretary and Rev. Clare Kellogg of Cornwall as treasurer.

Such a Presbytery includes some eighteen to twenty committees on the various areas of its interest and responsibility. At this special meeting, these committees came under three general commissions—a method adopted for the first time. Chairman of the Outreach Commission is the Rev. L. M. Ferguson. Chairman of the Congregational Life and Work Commission is the Rev. Cecil Dawson of Long Sault. And chairman of Administration Commission is Rev. Douglas Carnegie of Prescott. The chairman of the United Church Women will be later named when a similar amalgamation of the UCW will take place early in the new year.

In his opening remarks, the chairman, Mr. Griffin, stated that "In our age of change such an amalgamation of these two presbyteries was a wise and sensible accomplishment whereby the kingdom of God in our midst could be enhanced the better. Education makes good men that they may act nobly because they are good. But the responsibility of putting sound logic into the minds of those about us to foster human happiness and society's welfare is not of prime importance. Greater far, our main responsibility is that we create the rule and reign of righteousness far and wide; to trim the lamps of our various churches so that their light should shine brighter and farther. No amount of fine feelings may take the place of faithful doing."

The Seaway Valley presbytery now includes 35 pastoral charges, 28 ordained clergymen serving a charge with the same number of elected laymen, six student supply ministers, one deaconess along with several representative ladies who are corresponding members.

The bounds of this new presbytery run East as far as Hawkesbury, Lancaster, and Alexandria, as far as Maitland and Merrickville to the West, Kemptville, Easton's Corners and Jasper make the northern boundary with the St. Lawrence River to the South. It also includes the two Youth Camps. Kagama and Rideau Hill.

This meeting of presbytery closed with a Communion Service conducted by the chairman and the message brought by the president of the Ottawa-Montreal conference, the Rev. M. J. D. Carson, DD of Ottawa.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

The EOSSA "B" senior interscholastic football league teams are quite close as the high school coaches head their platoons down the back stretch to the finish line. Bernie Julien has his Vankleek Hill squad in the favored rail position as the Hill students passed Alexandria last Friday at the halfway mark of the gridiron track winning 12-0.

VCI have played one more game than the runner-up schools and by still using race-track parlance. according to the chart form, the Hill team could win their two remaining games to finish first. They play the winless Hawks in Hawkesbury on October 27 and are at home to Char-Lan as the schedule closes November 3.

Alexandria with one loss. have Don Bond's Maxville youngsters on their heels. GDHS are at home tomorrow, Friday, as they meet Char-Lan then host Hawkesbury High on the only Tuesday game October 31. Alexandria travels to Maxville three days later November 3, for their windup game.

Should VCI win their remaining two games, then GDHS must win all three of their schedule to meet VCI for the championship.

Maxville's big game of the year appears to be the final with Alexandria. The Indian Lands crew to keep pace with the leaders must win in Hawkesbury (tomorrow) and at Williamstown a week later. Then, at least this is our understanding, Maxville would have to outscore Alexandria by more than 25 points in their final meeting to go ahead of GDHS.

In any case the final half of the school football season is bound to maintain keen interest to the last minute flag on November 10.

FATHER GAUTHIER AWARD

This writer has been assigned to quite a number of sport chores down through the years and we always tackled the work with only one objective in mind and that was to attain reasonable success.

Recently, along with a few pillars of sport in the Glens, we took, with more relish and enthusiasm than anything in the past, the first step in the direction of honoring one of the great sportsmen of our time—Reverend Father Charles Gauthier.

One evening our small group was discussing the Lions Club Jim McCaffrey Trophy and later the Father Duncan MacDonald Trophy emblematic of the outstanding high school (Glengarry) lineman of the year. Then the question was raised. "Why don't we close friends of Father Gauthier donate a trophy to the Lions Club to be awarded annually to the all round outstanding high school football (Glengarry) player of the year?" Of course this award would be the Father Gauthier Trophy. All agreed this to be a commendable suggestion.

High school football was chosen in view of the fact every corner in Glengarry is represented by student players at Maxville, Williamstown and Alexandria, thus ensuring county candidates all in one league and playing under knowledgeable coaching staffs. It will be the responsibility of the Glengarry school coaches to select both the outstanding lineman and outstanding football player of the year.

The winners will be announced and the trophies presented at the annual Alexandria Lions Club sportsmen's dinner each year.

The trustees of the Father Gauthier award are Henry D. Duggan, Campbell Fraser and the term president of the Lions Club.

Father Gauthier's sport record is only exceeded by that of his priestly labors in the Alexandria diocese for more than 50 years.

As a true disciple, race, color, or creed never hindered Father Gauthier in his priestly work. Many and many a boy played some of his first hockey with a factory-made stick thanks to Father Gauthier because it was always his belief that a boy occupied in sport would never become a juvenile delinquent. What church or school that boy attended made no difference to Father Gauthier; he still received a "buck". when needed, to buy a stick. And that is only one instance of countless deeds in the interest of sport.

The thinning old guard of Glen's sportsmen will tell you that Father Gauthier's athletic days were notable as he studied at Ottawa College. Charlie Gauthier was not unlike Ronnie Stewart on the football field and when it came to playing inside or outside home for Alexandria in lacrosse the dark haired youngster could pivot, stick handle and score with the best, including the famed Montreal Shamrocks in exhibition games.

The following two generations know full well Father Gauthier's contribution to the welfare of sport in Glengarry and now his invaluable efforts are to be remembered at least each year, along with those of Father Duncan MacDonald. when the awards are announced at the Alexandria Lions Club Sportsmen's Dinner.

HITHER AND YON

Sport fans in the Glens join us in extending "Get Well Soon" messages to Alex (Glen Robertson-Cornwall) McDougall in the Hotel Dieu, Cornwall; Vern (from You Know Where) De Geer in the Royal Vic Ross Pavilion and Cornwall-Western Canada "Hank" O'Day in the Cornwall General. Loyola (Montreal West) College is well known here in the Glens and so are some of the entrants to the Sports Hall of Fame to be enshrined this week at the 1967 Homecoming . . . We note that Dr. Bob Broderick and Dinny Dinsmore are among the 10 selected.

GDHS football teams, senior and junior, are well staffed with coaches . . . Jean Yves Jeaurond assists Stan Fraser and Jim Baker while Malcolm Fraser and Jim Milne are grooming the juniors in the basics of blocking and tackling . . . Allan (Hughie Finlay Duncan) Evans tallied a goal with Verdun Leafs in one of the weekend opening Montreal Jr. "A" Metro games .

Noted at the Cornwallis Elbow club last Saturday . . . When Seymour Wilson marched off that yardage penalty against Argos in the Als game; sometime Assistant Crown Attorney Angus Malcolm MacDonald raised quite a chuckle when he quipped, "Seymour is now the leading ground gainer in Eastern Canada" . . . Larry O'Dair almost fully mobile again following his misfortune of fracturing a leg at a Jr. Royals game almost one year ago.
