Investing in Cornwall's Future

James Lavigne, Canadian Tire's new associate dealer in Cornwall, has officially turned the sod on the stores $16 million expansion, to be located at the northeast corner of Sydney and Ninth Streets. The new store will be three times the size of the present store and will be completed by October of this year. It is expected that 20 new jobs will be created, in addition to the current 100 full time and part time positions. Pictured above are (left to right): Stephen Alexander, City Planning; Bob Kilger, M.P.; Mayor Ron Martelle; James Lavigne; Bruce Maynard; Alderman Susan Carter; John Cleary, M.P.P.; and Frank Hoffman, Canadian Tire Corp. Program Looking For Buddies & Pals

Parks, Recreation and Convention Services is currently seeking volunteers to assist in providing leadership for the 1996 Summer Playground Program. The City of Cornwall Summer Playground Program, in one form or another, has been a part of the community for over fifty years. Every summer thousands of youngsters, ages five to twelve years of age, spend July and August in their neighbourhood parks participating in organized games, sports, arts and crafts as well as special events. It's an opportunity for safe, creative play in an environment where learning can also be fun.

One thing that the program has always relied upon is a dedicated staff of students and volunteers. Pals are recruited from area high schools, colleges and universities. Last year special volunteers or Buddies were also recruited to work one on one on the playground and in the pools with children who have special needs. The program worked so well that we are hoping this summer, to invite along some more dedicated people who are interested in sharing a few hours a week with children who need a little extra attention.

Cornwall Student Wins Provincial Award

Myla Hum, a student at T.R. Leger Alternative School in Cornwall, was one of twelve students from across Ontario who received the Marion Drysdale Award. On Monday, March 11, 1996 at the annual meeting of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, President Earl Manners and General Secretary Malcolm Buchanan, presented the award in the advanced level essay category to Myla. Over 600 delegates from across Ontario welcomed the public secondary school student award winners.

This is the tenth year that the Marion Drysdale Awards have been presented by the OSSTF for written submissions in six essay categories: Grade 9, basic, general, advanced, French and adult; and three in the creative category: painting/sculpture, video/audio and computer graphics/animation. The students receive a cash award and a gift of a book.

Myla's essay, "Is It Just A Tomato", tells us in a very humorous way not to judge people by the way they look but to see what is beneath the surface.

Teacher Brenda Baxter encouraged Myla to enter the contest.

OSSTF/FEESO, founded in 1919 has 50,000 members across Ontario. They include public secondary school teachers, occasional teachers, teaching assistants, psychologists, secretaries, speech-language pathologists, social workers, plant support personnel, attendance counsellors and many others in education.

Choosing A Mutual Fund

By Scott Hambleton

With more than 1000 mutual funds sold in Canada, choosing which mutual fund to invest in can be difficult, even for the seasoned investor. But, by exploring the possibilities and deciding exactly what goals you have in mind, the choices can be narrowed down to a few funds, some of which are eligible for tax shelters like Registered Retirement Savings Plans.

While there are no guaranteed techniques for picking a top performer in the mutual fund field, there are a number of trends the investor should examine before making an investment decision.

Past performance is one of the best ways to judge a fund. Although past performance doesn't always accurately reflect the way a fund will perform in the future, it will reveal how a fund performed under particular market conditions. For example, some funds might perform well in strong, active markets but not fare so well when the market takes a downturn.

An excellent tool for examining the various funds and their performance records is the newspaper. The Globe and Mail, The Financial Post and the Financial Times publish surveys of mutual fund performance on a monthly basis. The Financial Times, for example, publishes six performance figures for each fund: one month, three months and one year; and average annual compound rates of return for one year, five years and ten years.

Another method of researching the funds is to use the various databases that can be accessed through your computer modem or at a public library. There are a number of organizations such as Infoglobe and Infomart-On-Line, that specialize in financial research and will gladly help you gather information on mutual funds. Newspaper libraries are often also open to the public.

You might be wondering: what is more important, short-term or long-term performance? Many investment professionals consider mutual funds to be long-term investments. But investors should also examine the fund's current performance as it may reveal some changes that could conceivably cause an investor to change or reconsider their investment.

For example, a well-established fund with a long and proven record may begin to fall behind competing funds in a market that is recovering from a crash. This could be an indication that the fund manager has changed his or her strategy or is being ultra-conservative, believing that the market is not ready to recover. Or, more ominously, a change of fund managers may have occurred.

It may be difficult for the average investor to ascertain why the fund has taken a turn for the worst, despite all the research tools at your disposal. The answer might lie in the fund's quarterly report or with an independent mutual fund specialist or stock broker who tracks the performance of that particular fund.

MUTUAL FUND PORTFOLIO REVIEW

Do you own the right mutual funds?
When was the last time you did a mutual fund tune-up?

Consider these questions:
- Are you holding the right funds in your account?
- Do they suit your investment objectives and risk tolerance?
- How are your funds performing?
- Are you properly diversified?
- Do you have access to up-to-date, ongoing research?

Everyday, you are probably bombarded with ideas, statistics and articles about your RRSP and the investments in it. In the midst of this confusion, it may be difficult to know who to turn to.

Canada Employment Centre For Students

The Canada Employment Centre for Students (CEC-S) will be open for the 1996 summer season. The Centre will be located at 111 Water Street West.

The Cornwall CEC will act as the focal point for information on summer jobs or activities for the young people in the community. A Student Employment Officer, Francine Rivette, as well as other Placement Officers, will assist students in finding summer employment and aid employers in their search for summer help. As of May first, they will be ready, willing and able to serve all employment needs.

This Canada Employment Centre for Students is one of over 100 points of service that will be operating across Ontario this summer, staffed by over 300 young people.

Students are encouraged to drop by the CEC-S and meet with the officers to discuss summer employment. The Canada Employment Centre for Students is a free service that helps employers find qualified, skilled and reliable students to fill their employment needs this summer.

The Canada Employment Centre for Students is an integral part of the Federal government's employment strategy for Canada's youth. The CEC can assist employers with information on government grants available to them to help subsidize the cost of hiring a student.

The Canada Employment Centre for Students seeks support from the Community to achieve their summer goals. They hope to place 1000 students, exceeding last years rate of 991 student placements. Remember to Hire a Student!!!

Local Residents Love To Stick Their Heads In The Sand

PERSPECTIVE

By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

My congratulations to James Bateman, a certified professional addictions counsellor, for telling it like it is about drug use in Cornwall and SD&G.

Bateman recently made some strong, but necessary, public comments about drug abuse in the area; his statements were in frustrated response to the unbelievable ostrich-like, head-in-the-sand letters that have appeared in some newspapers defending the sickness that exists in our community.

The letters, and Bateman's retort, appeared after Judge Bruce MacPhee and lawyer Michael Edelson made public comments in Alexandria Court over the Alexandria area drug problem, specifically noting the local high school there.

As a former news editor of The Glengarry News in Alexandria, I know the area well. I also know the town's reputation for denial when crime, corruption or contemptible behaviour rear their ugly heads.

Far too many residents of Cornwall and SD&G want to sugar coat the bitter pill of social deviance that exists in the tri-counties. Whether it be drugs, abuse by the church, child abuse or teenage pregnancies - every time a social problem is identified, it is greeted with howls of denial.

"We are no worse than anywhere else," is the usual rationalization.

Sorry, folks, you're wrong.

In many cases, SD&G is worse, per capita, that other parts of the province.

When I was on SD&G counties council in the mid-80s, we had to budget money to hire a full-time lawyer for the Children's Aid Society because the case load of child abuse was so high. We had, at the time, the highest incidence of child abuse and sexual abuse in the entire province.

It was only a few years ago that the statistics also showed (and it may still be true today) that Cornwall and SD&G had one of the highest incidents of teenage pregnancy in the entire province.

It does not surprise me, therefore, to hear Mr. Bateman warn us that we have an escalating drug problem in this area.

Bateman has been working on youth drug abuse for seven years in Cornwall and his toughest job seems to be getting people to listen.

The community "boasters" are so interested in having everyone look at their community through rose-coloured glasses, that problems never get admitted, let alone solved.

"I have tried to express my observations and concerns that problems have been escalating," he said in his public statement.

"My concerns have continuously been shot down, ignored or minimized..."

He specifically criticizes Rev. Bernard Cameron and Richard Rozon, Principal of Ecole Secondaire Regionale Glengarry, for not taking the drug problem seriously enough (which, in turn, only aggravates the situation).

"I'm very sad to see what is happening and that so many people continue to rationalize the problems or deny they exist."

Here. Here.

He is right. Officials who attempt to smooth over public opinion by minimizing the degree of social deviance that exists in our community do us a disservice. Leave the boosterism to the Chamber of Commerce. Let's tackle the problems.

There are many good things about living in Cornwall and SD&G. But even the most beautiful garden perishes if the weeds are not plucked.

SEAWAY NEWS
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Concern About The Future of Ontario

Dear Editor:

Problems will occur at a more hectic pace than was thought possible if the provincial strike lasts longer than anticipated. The ball is being bounced around between management and labour for the 67,000 civil servants affected by the strike in Ontario. At present, the government of Ontario is saving ten million dollars a day in Ontario by civil servants picketing outside and not doing their job. Nobody ends up winning, even after accepting concessions on both sides of the fence. Everybody is blaming Mike Harris, the provincial leader, for the cutbacks and his dictatorial way of governing Ontario and rightly so. All classes of society are affected. Welfare recipients, considered the scum of the earth, are the first ones being hit - left, right and centre.

I disagree that all welfare recipients are at fault. Some persons on the welfare roll deserve this fate because they would rather stay at that level for different reasons and in some cases it's been going on from generation to generation and they don't know any better. The middle class, who mention that while they are working, are paying for both the welfare cases and the bureaucrats of society, the wealthy and the rich.

Even the six figure bracket persons should receive a slap on the wrist, especially if they are, or were, members of Parliament.

At certain conventions in Ontario, dinner costs are $100 to $1,000 a plate, which brings tons of beef for a meal - and that is a lot of bull, while I can only afford two double hamburgers for $2.00 at McDonald's.

I have never seen MPs reduce their salary scale or even freeze their salary for another two or three years.

I have never seen the government of Ontario reduce the number of Senators either in Ontario itself or another province. These are unnecessary spendings.

The elderly getting their old age security, disability, welfare or other cheques will be affected financially at the end of the month, but our government is not shy to give us our bills to pay.

Problems, problems, problems. What is the solution? God! Let's stop being selfish and greedy - stop thinking of yourselves and think of the less fortunate than "we" and pray for the betterment of our society.

In Ontario there is hope. With Mr. Harris, there is no hope. Remember, your next election Mr. Harris, it could be very questionable.

Concerned about my province of Ontario.

Ending Family Violence

Dear Sir:

I am writing to comment on the article written by Bob Roth in a recent Seaway News. Mr Roth has criticized the agenda of the Coordinating Committee to End Family Violence in particular, and the feminist movement in general. I completely agree with the views brought forth by Mr. Roth. I don't see how demoralizing and castigating men helps to end family violence. I don't even see how distorting reality helps to end family violence, and I don't see how an agency dedicated to ending family violence can omit any mention of where men go to get help after implying that they are the sole abusers. It is obvious that this agency has a hidden agenda that has very little to do with ending family violence.

The agenda of the feminist movement is limited to agencies that deal with women. As a graduate of the Social Service Worker Program at St. Lawrence College, I can tell you that this same agenda is taught as part of the curriculum for that program. In a course called Family Violence we were taught how there is no excuse for a man to abuse his wife, and at the same time how the system has failed to provide adequate support when a mother abuses her child. In short, the women was always the victim and focus of the course. I am proud of Mr. Roth and the Seaway News for printing an alternative view point, and I would like to say that there are plenty of good men out there, but we have been too complacent in allowing our gender to be the scapegoat of the feminist movement.

Yours Truly,
Joe Raso

Speaking Out Against Topless Waitresses

Dear Editor:

As a woman, I must speak up against the degrading activities taking place in a bar in the heart of our town, and Bob Roth's sanctioning of it. Yes, I am against topless waitressing. It degrades and dehumanizes women and publicly portrays them in a servile and humiliating manner, as sexual objects, with a loss of their dignity. It is incompatible with the recognition of dignity and equality of each human being.

As a woman I find it very degrading to know that the reason men are coming to the establishment is not for food or a drink, but so that they can gawk at breasts. This lowers females to the bottom of the heap, nothing more than attractive flesh, an object for males to look at and lust for. Will these men go home satisfied with being sexually stimulated or will they go out to force their attentions on other women? Since there has been an increase in partial or complete nudity, there has also been an increase in sexual assaults.

One waitress stated that she justifies working there because now she is off welfare. I would much sooner live on welfare (which I have not needed) than to lower myself to serving men while half naked. Public nudity is much more degrading than welfare. (I'm not saying that to be on welfare is demeaning).

The Standard Freeholder states that businessmen frequent the establishment, thereby supposedly justifying it. If a businessman kills a per-

Arts & Heritage Award

The Seaway Arts Council, a non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of Arts and Cultural endeavours, established the Martha Preschern Arts and Heritage Award in 1993 to encourage youth in the pursuit of Arts and Heritage. Once again they are looking for nominations of enthusiastic youth to receive this award. The award will be presented at the Celebration of the Arts Gala on April 27, 1996. The deadline for submissions is April 8, 1996. For more details contact Doug Hill at 938-1636 or Karen Douglass Cooper at the City Arts and Culture Office, 932-6252 (loc. 570).

No Tax Hike

The United Counties Council has approved a $22.2 million budget that will not cost the ratepayers a tax increase. The budget is $43 million less than 1995. There has been no tax increase in the last two years, and in 1994 there was a 0.3% increase and 1993 saw a 0.59% increase.

Bylaw Officer Tied Down

The bylaw officer for Alexandria has been told to stop issuing tickets until council told him otherwise. Mark D'Cruz was hired to patrol the streets issuing tickets to illegally parked cars, but since March 11th, D'Cruz has been stuck behind a desk, with no reason given by council. He is to work 8:00 am to 4:30 pm, Monday to Friday (no weekends) and is not to leave the office. Before being confined, D'Cruz was averaging six to seven tickets a day and he guesses that he ticketed the wrong person's car.

Maxville OPP Get New Home

The Maxville OPP have just signed a five year lease on a new office in the village's medical centre. There were rumours that the detachment would leave Maxville due to cutbacks, however the new lease makes it likely that they will remain for at least a while.

Equipment Going "Down Under"

A large portion of the equipment used at the Winchester Cheese plant, has been purchased by Begar Co-Operative Society ltd. of New South Wales. The Winchester Cheese plant will be closing down this summer, leaving 145 people out of work. When the Australian company sets up its new cheese processing plant, it may require the skills of some of the Winchester workers familiar with the equipment. If the jobs are available, there are some people from the Winchester plant who are willing to make the move with the equipment.

MEANWHILE...

Who Were The Real Goons At Queen's Park?

It was a wild week at the Ontario Legislature and, when everything is said and done, you really have to shake your head in amazement at the silly antics of almost everybody involved.

Start with organized labour. It showed once again how irresponsible it really is. When its wild-eyed members showed up at Queen's Park to bully innocent bystanders and MPPs from entering the building, it expressed surprise when the riot squad was called out. Foul, they cried.

Then, the next day, Ontario Federation of Labour president Gordon Wilson unleashed a torrent of nonsense about the whole affair that sounded even smellier and reeked of an even fouler odour that showed how weak organized labour's position really is.

He said an "unsuspecting, unprepared group of persons" was subjected to an "ugly and unprovoked attack" by a "heavily armed" bunch of "goons intent upon beating and maiming" and who "attempted to beat the workers into submission on behalf of their employer". He called it a "beating frenzy".

And then, in the most menacing of statements to the head of the Ontario Provincial Police at Queen's Park, he said self-righteously: "The next time you and your goon squad attack, we will be ready. I can assure you that the next round of whack 'em and stack 'em will have a far different result and the kisses will be blown from a diametrically different direction."

What horsepoop.

I happened to be at Queen's Park that day. I was on my way to go to the visitors' gallery at the legislature for question period when I got the chance, firsthand, to see what happened. And I can tell you categorically that what Mr. Wilson says is flat wrong.

He has it all mixed up. There were goons at work, no question about it. But they were the goons of organized labour - bullying, threatening, cajoling anyone who dared go into the legislature. They were prepared to use force to intimidate and they did so. They didn't think twice about pushing anybody out of their way if they didn't like them. MPPs couldn't even get into the building because of them.

So the riot squad was called out. And why not? Isn't that what riot squads are for? When the loud goons with their picket signs abused their authority with menacing actions, the police had every right to act as they did. It was organized labour, not the police, that caused the problem.

Those self-righteous leaders of the labour mob who later complained and whined have only themselves to blame. It is one thing to protest. It is quite another to use force and physical intimidation to stop people from entering the legislature. Democracies do not take dictation from brutish mobs.

Next, we have the legislature, where I finally made it to question period two days later. Things weren't much better there. It was like going to the zoo. The opposition Liberals and NDP behaved like animals. Instead of conducting themselves with decorum and advancing fierceful debate, they chose to engage in the worst sort of behaviour: catcalls, shouting, ridiculing and taunting.

It turned out, when you finally got through all the loud opposition noise, that they wanted an inquiry as to whether or not the police had conducted themselves appropriately. What a silly request. At a cost of about $2 million, we will soon get our answer: of course they did. The real goons were some of the labour protesters. I saw it with my own eyes.

The government, which acted rather well throughout the whole episode in the Animal House legislature, made only one small mistake: it shouldn't have given in to the opposition requests because the whole affair will only end up costing us a ton of money. But then, not wanting to be seen as hiding anything, it agreed to the silly demands of the Liberal and NDP opposition. Better that than to hear the constant whining of Lyn Macleod and her unruly herd.

But the point is clear: no matter how badly some of the politicians on the opposition benches in Animal House behaved, the real villain in this piece are the goons of organized labour in Ontario. Their behaviour makes you cringe - and it is one good reason why the OPSEU strike will be lost.

Odd things, animals. Particularly the human one. Look at us. We can't fly like eagles or swim like dolphins. We can't climb like mountain goats, run like cheetahs or jump like kangaroos. Pound for pound, porpoises have bigger brains. Bears are fiercer, rabbits are nimbler, and your average sewer rat is a helluva lot tougher.

But we blithely assume ourselves to be the superior species. Exactly why is that?

My Grade 10 biology teacher used to tell us that the human animal is superior because it is the only animal that knows how to use tools. I wish I knew where my Grade 10 biology teacher was these days. I'd like to call her up and say "Bunk".

I spent yesterday afternoon watching two sea otters bobbing in the surf off Stanley Park. They were floating on their backs, balancing a couple of flat rocks on their tummies. They were using those rocks to break open clams. They looked like they were at their own private cocktail party, gossiping over the chip dip.

If I turned my back on the otters and looked up, I could watch seagulls spiraling overhead. They were picking up mussels from the beach, flying over the parking lot and dropping them on the pavement to smash them open. I grant you, flat rocks and parking lots aren't exactly Skil saws and electron microscopes - but they are tools, by anyone's definition.

Not that my discovery was anything new. Chimpanzees have been photographed using sticks to fish termites out of termite mounds. Egyptian vultures have been documented dropping rocks on ostrich eggs to make their own omelets.

Now, from Down Under comes word of even more sophisticated tool use - by crows. Scientists from the island of New Caledonia, off the east coast of Australia, have been watching the island crows take tool use one step further. Unlike the chimps, the vultures, the otters and the seagulls, they don't just use whatever's lying around, they actually adapt it to their own purposes. One thing they do is bite off tree twigs that have secondary branches growing out of them. This forms a "hook" which the crows then use to snag grubs and maggots out of holes.

The other tool they fashion is even more lethal. The crows take leaves from a tree called the screw-pine and nibble them lengthwise to create a tapered shaft about eight inches long. Screw-pine leaves are naturally barbed. By the time the "craftscrow" is finished, he's got a multi-fanged gaff that's very efficient at rooting out worms, spiders, millipedes and all manner of creepy-crawlies hiding in the crevices of logs and tree trunks.

And that's just what the crows do. They grasp their "tools" in their beaks and poke and prod until they catch their dinner.

Doesn't surprise me. Anyone who's watched crows for any length of time knows that they're smarter than your average government bureaucrat. Or Chihuahua, come to that.

When I was a kid, my Dad brought home an orphan crow one day. We named him Sammy. My Dad was obsessed with teaching Sammy tricks. Sammy didn't seem all that keen. Not that he was stupid. He just had better things to do with his time.

One trick my Dad tried to teach him was "fetch the quarter". My Dad would pitch a quarter out in the grass and, birds being attracted to shiny objects, Sammy would go after it. Sammy found the quarter every time. Getting him to give it back was something else again.

My Dad tried cherries. He would hold up a cherry and say "Here, Sammy! Nice cherry! Give me the quarter for a nice cherry!"

Sammy the crow looked at him like he was out of his mind.

My Dad was not a patient man. After an hour or so of pleading, he'd pack up his bag of cherries and go in the house. Not me. I wanted that quarter. Enough to follow Sammy for hours if necessary, waiting for him to get tired of lugging the quarter around.

Besides, I knew Sammy really liked strawberries. All I had to do was get close enough to him with a strawberry or two and he'd drop the quarter straight off.

Of course, sometimes he'd fly half a mile over swamp and hills and burr patches. Other times he'd perch on the uppermost branch of a maple tree and make me climb about three stories high before he'd drop the quarter and gobble the strawberry. And I'd swear sometimes I'd see something like a smirk cross his, err, beak.

Sammy knew how to use a tool. I should know. I was it.

son does that make it okay? If a lawyer rapes a female does that justify the act? No! Morals and laws are not made because business people are or are not doing it.

Because there is sex and nudity on TV, in magazines and near nudity on the beaches, does not make it acceptable. There are many people who are speaking out against what is presented on TV and in the movies, we hope that the media will open it's eyes to the wishes of the people. (When family movies are made they usually are more popular than those that are not i.e. Santa Claus, Lion King, Mrs. Doubtfire, etc).

Mr. Roth, you misinterpreted the Bible. Adam and Eve in the garden knew that nudity was wrong after they ate from the apple, and covered their bodies. God helped them to cover up their nakedness by making them some clothes. May people today also have their eyes opened to the knowledge that public nudity is wrong.

Ontario has banned lap dancing. I hope that topless waitressing will also be banned.

Mayor Ron, please keep up the fight for good morals in Cornwall.

R2000 home may mean air quality problems

The "air tight" homes of tomorrow may result in poor indoor air quality, says a leading manufacturer of High Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA) filters.

More Canadians are purchasing R-2000 homes built to specifications that result in energy cost savings due to reduced heat loss. This air tightness, according to Jim Woods, Chief Executive Officer at Americair, reduces the amount of fresh air coming into the house, and requires a Heat Recovery Ventilator (HRV) to provide fresh air to the home and exhaust "stale" air.

"HRVs effectively reduce potentially dangerous carbon dioxide and carbon monoxide from stale indoor air by adding oxygen from the outside," says Mr. Woods, "however, they also suck outdoor air pollutants into the home, generally without an effective air cleaning system being installed.

"With effective air filtration, the amount of fresh air required in the home can be significantly reduced, thus reducing energy consumption," says Mr. Woods. "But the key benefit of the HEPA filter is that 99.97 per cent of harmful particles larger than .3 microns in size (about 1/25,000th of an inch) are removed from the indoor air."

Household cleaners and dust mites are just some of the many things that pollute the air we breathe.

These pollutants can include cigarette smoke, viruses and bacteria, dust mites, chemicals and gases, he says.

For more information on Americair, please call 1-800-268-7732.

Radiant hydronic tubing provides heating versatility

For a golf course in the heart of Canada's snow and cold belt, an extended playing season could be just the ticket to set the fairway apart from the competition.

Daryl Asher of Edmonton's Glendale Golf and Country Club made the competition green with envy after he buried radiant underground tubing beneath the grounds, putting hydronics to work to keep the course comfortable for a longer season.

Hydronics uses hot water to provide heat through radiators and flexible plastic tubing. The Glendale Club uses a propane-fuelled boiler, and pumps water through the tubes to gently warm the soil during the colder months and cool the greens in the hot summer. With the fully-enclosed system, water returns to the boiler to be reheated and recirculated.

It's a new twist on hot water radiant tube systems, traditionally installed under floors as an easy-to-install, flexible heating solution. The continuous tubing can be placed under any flooring or concrete, and the circulated hot water provides invisible heat anywhere for the home, swimming pool and walkway.

"Underfloor systems are gaining in popularity because the tubing is versatile and long-lasting," says John Goshulak, chairman of the Hydronics Marketing Group. "A great deal can be accomplished on one system, in many cases using one boiler. The tubing is being used in homes, hotels, warehouses, factories, parking lots... and even the golf course."

In a single project, buried tubes are often used in conjunction with slim baseboard-level and decorative wall radiators to provide maximum space and heating efficiency throughout the house.

"Hydronic systems are designed to function most efficiently with weather-responsive controls as well as modulating zone controls which carefully meter and proportion the distribution of heat in each room," says Goshulak.

"This results in no excessive bursts of overheated air and therefore ensures the best energy conservation, because users can direct heat where it is needed most."

For more information on heating with hydronics, please call the Hydronics Marketing Group, c/o Barrow Communications, (519) 836-6183.

Savings tips: refrigerators

(NC)—1. Don't put your fridge near a radiator, heating vent, dishwasher, cooking range or any other heat source.
2. Set the fridge at its proper temperature: 3 C (or 37 F) for the refrigerator compartment; -18 C or 0 F for the freezer.
3. Don't open the door unnecessarily. This allows cold air to escape - causing the unit to work harder.
4. Thaw food inside the fridge. This keeps the inside cool and eliminates wasteful use of the oven or microwave.

Seaway REAL ESTATE

Builder bankruptcy protection

ON THE HOUSE

Shrewd new home buyers who decided to take advantage of the relatively low interest rates and great bargains in the real estate market, are understandably anxious when they hear a builder declaring bankruptcy.

New home buyers can take comfort in the knowledge there is a warranty protection on deposits if the builder fails to close the deal on their home.

When you buy a new home you are protected against financial loss, including your deposit, to a maximum of $20,000 if the builder cannot or will not complete the sale, through no fault of yours.

Home buyers should be aware of the $20,000 coverage cap. Frequently, the Ontario New Home Warranty Program (ONHWP) hears from unhappy home buyers who gave builders down payments larger than the cap, mistakenly believing the entire amount was protected.

It is also important to understand the difference between 'completing the sale' and 'finishing the home'. If the builder files for bankruptcy prior to the completion of the home as set out in the Agreement of Purchase and Sale, then your deposit is protected. You should then register a claim with your ONHWP office.

Consumers may also be entitled to coverage for delayed closing costs if the house sale closed and the builder bankruptcy prevented the completion of the home on time.

However, if you and your builder sign an Agreement of Purchase and Sale and officially close the new home deal, then the sale is complete and the deposit protection is finished.

At that time, another form of ONHWP protection begins—coverage for breaches of warranty and incomplete work. ONHWP will 'stand in the builder's shoes' and honor the one year builder warranty on all materials, work and Ontario Building Code violations.

For homes enrolled on or after January 1, 1991, the builder provides a two-year warranty against water penetration through the building envelope including the basement or foundation walls. Electrical, plumbing and heating delivery systems are covered by a two-year warranty in addition to two-year protection against health and safety Ontario Building Code violations.

If your new home was enrolled on or after January 1, 1991, you have major structural defect coverage on your home for seven years. If your home was enrolled before that date, there is a five year warranty against major structural defects.

Protection on condominium deposits is similar to freehold dwelling deposit coverage except that condominium buyers are also entitled to interest on their deposit monies as directed by the Condominium Act.

Condominium buyers should note that ONHWP does not cover reservation fees on condominiums.

Normally ranging between $500 to $1,000, but sometimes more, a reservation fee is money paid by a potential condominium purchaser. The fee gives the interested buyer a purchase option on the condominium that is not yet constructed.

Since there is no Agreement of Purchase and Sale, the purchaser is not obliged to buy and the vendor is not obliged to sell. The prospective purchaser is paying for the first opportunity to buy a unit when more details are known.

In time, the condominium builder and the potential buyer may decide to enter an actual agreement or the buyer may back out and retrieve the fee. If the project does not proceed and the fee is lost, it is not covered by ONHWP's warranty.

During these uncertain economic times, consumers may purchase a new home under power of sale or foreclosure. New home buyers should be aware that these homes may not be eligible for warranty coverage. Consult your ONHWP office for more information.

Consumers who are involved in the purchase of a contract home can still receive up to $20,000 in financial loss coverage but the calculation to determine the amount they receive differs from condominium or freehold dwelling transactions. Contract home buyers typically own the property, hire a builder and give a down payment. Since the purchaser owns the land, anything built on that land is considered to be the purchaser's.

Subsequently, if the consumer gives an initial payment of $20,000 and the builder declares bankruptcy after having completed work valued at, for example, $11,000, only $9,000 of the purchaser's downpayment (total money paid out, minus value of work done) would be protected.

The Comfort Zone

INFORMATION FROM YOUR OIL HEAT DEALER

Home heating: Ten ways to save money

The Canadian Oil Heat Association has compiled this list of proven methods to cut energy consumption and save money this heating season:

Watch the hot water use!

Install a water-saving shower head that uses up to one-third less hot water, saving money and energy. And fix the drips: in one month, one drip of hot water per second from a leaky faucet will consumer the equivalent of 16 baths.

Heating with Hydronics?

If you have a hot water system, pre-set individual room controls to lower the temperature in less frequently used rooms. If upgrading a home heating system, a hot water boiler can provide heat and domestic hot water, which will reduce equipment and installation costs.

Service your heating equipment.

Have your boiler or furnace cleaned and adjusted annually, for maximum efficiency. And use the opportunity to discuss more efficient heating options with the technician.

Check the filter.

A clogged filter requires more fuel to heat the home. Remember to inspect furnace filters throughout the winter, and change them as necessary.

Time for a new furnace?

In addition to equipment and installation costs, consider the system's flexibility to heat your home and hot water, and review fuel price forecasts—the unit will have to serve you for 20 years or more.

You may not need to replace the entire unit. If your heating system is old and inefficient, replacing the burner with a higher efficiency oil-fired burner will cut costs by as much as 25 per cent a year—for a capital outlay of just a few hundred dollars.

Cool down while you sleep.

Estimates show that by reducing your thermostat by just five degrees Celsius overnight, homeowners can cut as much as 14 per cent from their fuel bill. A thermostat timer can do it for you—it's inexpensive and easy to install.

Weatherstrip.

Check doors and windows for drafts and block them now—before the very cold weather arrives. With a side-wall vented furnace, be sure to keep fresh air intake vents open—furnaces need the air to ignite the fuel.

Let the sun shine in. Open drapes and blinds to increase solar heating; close them at night to minimize heat loss.

The Miscelleous File.

- Keep your radiators free of objects, dust and dirt.
- Close fireplace dampers when not in use.
- Inspect the attic for insulation tears or broken windows.

For more information, contact your fuel oil dealer—look under "Oils-Fuel" in your yellow pages.

POWER SMART®

A heat pump is one of the more energy-efficient heating systems you can buy. It doesn't burn fuel to generate heat. The same heat pump technology that helps heat your home can heat your water, too. When connected to your water heater, the heat pump is the most energy-efficient water heating system available. Power Smart—it's good for you and the environment, too. Contact your electric utility for more information.

HOROSCOPES

March 24 - 30

Aries – March 21/April 20
Your ambitious nature will take over and get you what you want in business. When making important decisions this week, be sure to consider all options. What seems logical at first may not be the best choice. Be spontaneous when it comes to your social life. Good times are awaiting.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
Try not to take frustrations out on loved ones. If you're feeling irritable, you'd be better off keeping to yourself rather than dealing with others. Choose your battles carefully when it comes to making positive change in the workplace. An unexpected gift will brighten the weekend.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
A new work project will get your creative juices flowing. Don't be afraid to offer opinions and new ideas. Surplus energy should be directed towards projects at home. Consider redecorating for a refreshing change of scene. A close friend will do something out of character.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Follow your heart rather than your head when it comes to making important decisions. Personal relationships will thrive this week. A new closeness with a family member brings old problems out in the open. At work, a Libra will be instrumental in your quest for perfection.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Avoid taking on too many work projects at once. All work and no play makes for a very frustrated Leo. A current problem at home could be resolved if you are willing to swallow your pride just a bit. A stubborn attitude will get you nowhere. A Pisces will offer some good advice.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
This week will have its share of ups and downs. There could be a bit of chaos and confusion early in the week, but try not to let it get the better of you. Stay cool and you'll be able to handle problems. A former associate could be the ticket to a brighter future. Keep in touch.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
Although you may feel you could do just about anything, there are some things that are even out of your grasp, Libra. Think twice before you bite off more than you can chew. A friend's less-than-enthusiastic response to your good news should tell you something. Not everyone has your best interests at heart.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
Be a team player and the work week will go smoothly. Don't be afraid to share your knowledge and expertise. On the financial front, you may have to reevaluate your budget in order to get ahead. Cutting corners here and there could lead to big returns. Good news comes late in the week.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec21
Be realistic when it comes to making long-term goals. Your overly-optimistic attitude will prove detrimental when reality finally sets in. Reassuring news from a loved one in a faraway place will alleviate any worries. Tuesday will be a lucky day for those looking for love.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
When someone tells you personal information this week, be sure to keep it to yourself. Even if it's an interesting conversation piece, you could really hurt and anger a friend who put trust in you. Think about it. Don't lend treasured possessions to those whom you hardly know.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
Domestic affairs and matters of the heart will take priority this week. A troubled loved one will need your support and understanding. Your cheerful nature will be welcomed. This is not a good week for making major purchases or signing contracts. Postpone any such activities.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
Crawl out of that cocoon you've wrapped yourself up in lately. Get out and see old friends. Even if you're in a bad mood, a night on the town will probably be the best thing for you. Feeling sorry for yourself will get you nowhere. Aim for positive change and you will get it!

Two teams, both Division Champions, both won three games in the regular season series, both easily captured their CJHL quarter final series, both play in an older arena with a great atmosphere, both want to be in the CJHL final series. Cornwall and area, I hope you're prepared for a great battle. This rivalry goes all the way back to the beginning of our league. It's time for the Smiths Falls Bears to go head to head with the defending CJHL Champions, your Cornwall Colts.

The first game will take place this Sunday, March 24th at the Si Miller Arena. Game time is 7:30 pm. The Colts ticket office will open at 10 am Sunday morning. Get your tickets early in the day and avoid the line ups. We hope you'll come out and make some noise, as your Colts look to start this series off on the right foot. Season ticket holders are reminded that game #3 tickets will be honoured on this night.

Tuesday, March 26 we travel to Canada's Chocolate Town for game #2 at 8:00 pm.

Playoff Season Over For Johnson's

Against division leading Potsdam, the Aces couldn't muster any offence against them, despite the fine effort done by both goaltenders, Chad Prevost and Christopher Lortie in a 5-0 loss. In Alexandria our boys faired much better but with the same results. All goals in the game were either scored on the power play or short handed play. Scoring for Cornwall was Terry Tillaart.

In an exhibition game against Canterbury, the Johnson's Antiques boys came out victorious in a wild shoot-out, prevailing 6-5. Scoring for Cornwall was Chris Lavergne with 2, Joshua Labelle, Shawn O'Brien, Phil Gray and Rodney Wilson with one each. Johnson's Antiques next outing brings them to Brockville for a spring break tournament.

Peewee Typhoons Off To Provincials

The RCAFA Peewee "A" Typhoons qualified to compete at the Ontario Provincial Championships by defeating Kingston in regional playdowns. The girls took the first game in Kingston 1-0. Vanessa Beveridge slammed home the winner on a set up from Karen Paquette and Crystal Vachon. Goalie Cheryl Wright turned away the Kingston shooters to notch the shutout. The girls found the range in game 2, winning 4-1 to advance. Lacy Francis and Beth Depratto each picked up a pair with assists going to Jay McLeod, Kelsey McPherson and Kristen Seguin. Congratulations girls and good luck at the provincials.

Guardian Drugs Atom "B" Aces

The Aces had the "eye of the tiger", rarely missing an opportunity to strike and seldom letting down their guard. Their Potsdam rivals went down 3-1 on March 3 in a fast and furious playoff contest at the Si Miller Arena. Potsdam searched tirelessly for a hole in the Ace's iron defense but managed only 5 shots on net. Defensemen Chris Roy, Terry Maloney, Steve Viezel and Jason Lepine also played a key role in the opponent's end. In the second period, Ryan Roy passed to Jason Lepine at his blue line post where he thundered the puck into the Potsdam net. The Aces' second goal started with Steve Viezel's shot on net from the point. Matt Bergeron jumped on the rebound and set up Ryan Roy's goal. In the last period, Jason Lepine fired again from the blue line for the unassisted third goal. In Williamstown on February 28, the Aces out-shot the Char-Lan Rebels but failed to translate that into a win. Kyle Forrester scored the single Aces goal in the 4-1 contest, assisted by Matt Bergeron and Jason Leger. Jason Lepine was named "hustler of the game". The Atom "B" Aces would like to acknowledge the generous support of their sponsors, Guardian Drugs, Traditional Flooring, Cornwall Tire, A&B Cartage and Container Service, The Clansman Pub and Restaurant, Menard Group, Insurit Brokers Ltd., Leveque's Autobody, Harvey's Restaurant and Coca Cola Bottling Ltd.

Caller says, "there oughta be a law against mothers spending hours upon hours at the Nevada lottery booths in the mall, with infants and pre-school children. These kids are not fed or sometimes get junk food to keep them from screaming or the mother yells at them or slaps them. Isn't' this child abuse?" By the way, Family Allowance Day was yesterday, March 20th.

To the young people driving a blue Camaro, Lic. #093 WOL, on Saturday, March 16th, at 9 p.m. Were you showing off or did you not see the stop sign? You were at the stop sign, not me, so keep your finger to yourself!!

A big bouquet to the PHANTOM POTHOLE PAINTER for spray painting deep potholes and craters. We motorists thank you sincerely for your thoughtfulness.

Hey, is that really your GREY TOPCOAT? Are you sure? Gentlemen sure missed his coat last week when it was taken by mistake from Boulerice Funeral Home, on Tuesday, March 19th, between 2 & 5 p.m. Please call 932-2436 to return ... much appreciated.

A big bouquet to the young people on Pitt Street North, who stand out in all kinds of weather to sell roses. You deserve a dozen roses!

Parents of carriers send bats & bricks to local daily newspaper for changing times to early a.m. Many of the young carriers are going to be LOSING THEIR FIRST JOB since it means getting up at 5:30 a.m. to deliver paper at 6 a.m. Parents are worried about their children's schooling being affected since they have to be up so early.

The Toronto Maple Leafs were in such a bloody mess before Clark got back that they were going with the (Wayne) Presley, Muller, Sundin and calling it P.M.S. time!

Gentleman wonders where City truck #37 was going on Tuesday, March 19th, starting at 3:05 .m. The truck was apparently repairing potholes but drove without stopping from Sunnyside Street, North on Pitt, West on Tollgate to Power Dam Road, South to Saunders Drive to Second Street, then East on Second to Brookdale, South to Water Street, on to Montreal Road then North on Boundary Road at 3:30, then West on Tollgate Road (Street Road, unpaved), South on McConnell, back on Tollgate heading West, North on Pitt Street, West on Mercier ... taxpayer got tired of following him by 3:30 p.m.

Congratulations to MYLA HUM of T.R. Leger School, Cornwall on being awarded the Marion Drysdale Award in the advanced essay-writing category, sponsored for the past ten years by the Ontario Secondary School Teacher's Federation.

GUESS WHAT???

A five year deal between Contemporary Leisure Can. Inc. owned by Recreational Services Int'l. and the City of Hamilton to run the $10 million Chedoke Twin Pad Arena has gone bust.

JIM DURRELL, President of RSI, says the relationship with the City has not worked out and is headed for court.

The company guaranteed the City a minimum $455,000 of savings. ALDERMAN EISENBERGER said the company is "6 months in arrears in its guarantee to the City."

Judge: "What possible reason could you have for acquitting this murderer?

Jury: "Temporary insanity."

Judge: "All twelve of you?"

Caller congratulates the S.D & G. Catholic School Board for their cost saving measures which may result in a slight surplus at the end of 1995. Keep up the good work folks.

It seems ROGER MOQUIN, Allstate Insurance, had a novel topping on his apple pie last Sunday at Shalom House where he was at a retreat compliment of JACQUES LEDUC, local lawyer.

FUNNY LOGIC: People can't protest within approximately a hundred feet or a block of an establishment in some provinces, when trying to stop the murder of babies, or they would be fined thousands of dollars or in some cases served a jail term; but a union member is allowed to protest near entrances and stop anyone from entering an establishment, (for just wanting to do an honest days job!) Only in Canada you say!!

Congratulations to ROBIN GARDINER and good luck to his new venture "Phase One Fitness Center". Grand opening was on Sunday, March 17th, 1996 in Pembroke, Ontario.

To the employee at the Bob Turner (last weekend) who told the nine year old and the two year old that they couldn't play hockey in the hallway ... what were they hurting? They were passing the puck to each other (across a four foot distance), there was no one else around except the people they were with. I guess it's okay to run around the arena screaming and yelling, or jumping on and off the benches ... but it's not okay to quietly pass a puck back and forth ... next time you try to explain to the two year old what he was doing wrong.

Caller says that on March 19th, at 9:20 p.m., he phoned for a cab. The trip from Brookdale to the train station normally costs $4.70, but this time it cost $6.70. When he asked for a reason, he was told it's $1.00 more per person. Coming back there were three people which cost $4.70 ... why are the rates for additional persons not posted?

Did you see a HUBCAP at the junction of the 417 and Hwy 138 heading East on the 138 belonging to a 1994 Buick Century? Finder, please call 936-6878 after 5:30 p.m.

Why should valuable instructional time be used for daily physical education when parents allow children to watch countless hours of videos on the weekends? Why should schools assume all parental responsibilities?

Take heart RUSS, at Seaway News we know your name is Dewar!!

I enjoy a nice walk in the morning on Sydney Street, between Sixth and Seventh Streets. On the boulevard it's just enough to make you sick to your stomach, there's so much dog poop. No wonder we are sick. What is wrong with these people? They should bring a bag and a small plastic shovel to pick up their poop. Germs are everywhere. Let's start cleaning up our City.

A concerned lady.

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

Cornwall is losing another popular talent and a fine citizen. Doug Grace, a musician and member of the "House Band" at the Army, Navy, Air Force Club on Marlborough Street, is playing his last gig with SHOULDER TO SHOULDER this Saturday. Band members Gaston Malette, Brian Leger and Enno Rehm are inviting all friends and other musicians to join the "send off" session for Doug at the ANAF Hall, starting at 3 pm on March 23rd. Doug will be leaving soon to take up residence in Western Canada, closer to two sons who are doing big things in music out Vancouver way. Good luck Doug & family.

Despite a late season weather scare, SPRING has officially arrived in Cornwall. Still time to enjoy the March food specials at the EAST END RESTAURANT located at the Eastcourt Mall. The specials include some terrific plates and you may wish to call for reservations and information.

The RCAFA is preparing another SUNDAY BREAKFAST at the RCAF Hall on Water Street this Sunday between 9:00 am - 1:00 pm. Everyone is welcome to enjoy both the breakfast goodies and the great scenery from the RCAF Building overlooking the St. Lawrence River.

OUR PICTORIAL SALUTE this week features a look back at a Cornwall and area landmark from years ago. The building with all the people activity in the foreground is a 1926 shot of the Algonquin, a popular hotel located on Stanley Island and owned by Mr. J.R. Duquette of Cornwall, who was also owner of the King George Hotel in Cornwall, at the time.

March 30th is Denim Night at the SINGLES DANCE held at the Navy Club on Sixth Street. You may also wish to mark the calendar for the first dance in April on the 6th as it will be a special Easter Dance.

Another date you should make note of is May 23rd, as that's when the petite Inuit singer/songwriter SUSAN AGLUKARK will be in town to perform at Aultsville Theatre at St. Lawrence College. Susan received two standing ovations following her sold-out show before Christmas last year in Brockville. This fine Canadian entertainer is bridging the gap between traditional Inuit chants, pop melodies and contemporary country music. She has a shelf of Juno and CCMA awards and a platinum CD to her credit after only three years of performing.

To celebrate the beginning of spring, LAKESIDE INN in Ingleside, has The Dave Moran Band playing classic rock & roll music on Friday and Saturday, March 29th and 30th.

THE GLENGARRY PIPE BAND is having a Fool's Day Ceilidh (pronounced Kay-Lee) at the Atlantic Hotel in Alexandria on Saturday, March 30th. The fun starts at 3 pm and continues until 1 am. The popular band HADRIAN'S WALL will be performing, as will be Glengarry Pipe Band Members, and musicians from Glengarry County. There will also be piping contests.

As we were quick to criticize Global TV, Rogers Cable, the NHL and/or sponsors or whomever was responsible for not allowing this area to watch the televised Toronto Leafs games, we must now say Thank You in response to what appears to be a negotiated agreement among the above and hockey fans are able to watch more of the games. Methinks the "speaking out" by fans here and throughout the area played a part in clearing up the TV blackout. With "Clarky" back in the Toronto lineup and the playoffs just around the corner, it couldn't have come at a better time.

It's that time of year again. A time when folks start looking for places to visit for a day or night out with food and entertainment. So, if you operate an establishment offering good food, or some form of entertainment coming up in the next few weeks, please let us know about your plans. You can call a friendly Seaway News sales person at 933-0014 and then follow up with a note to Night 'N Day. Let's hear from you for next week's issue. Until then G'Day and G'Night.

Using Your RSP To Purchase A Home With "The Home Buyer's Plan"

by T.P. (Tom) Burnside, Manager
T.D. Bank & Trust

Many taxpayers know RRSPs are an excellent investment resource for people saving for retirement. But fewer people realize RRSps are an even better deal for first time home buyers. RRSP's can perform a double duty for most first time home buyers, tax sheltered savings for retirement and an accelerated savings program for the purchase of a first home.

Just compare the figures needed to save $20,000 tax sheltered in an RRSP and the amount of income needed to save $20,000 without a RRSP ... and remember the experts all say, if you want to have a comfortable retirement you must begin your retirement savings early in life.

- To accumulate $20,000 in an RRSP in 5 years at an average rate of 6% you will need to save $132.34 every two weeks.
- To accumulate $20,000 if you do not use an RRSp and save for your home at 6% over 5 years in dollars taxed as income at 40%, you will have to pay out of your take home pay, over $100 more every two weeks i.e. $234,23.

The Home Buyer's Plan is an RRSP program, administered directly by the federal government, which allows qualifying first time home buyers who are RRSP planholders to withdraw up to $20,000 from accumulated RRSp savings tax exempt for the purchase of a qualifying home. For income tax purposes the withdrawal is treated as an interest free loan. To remain tax exempt this loan must be repaid to a RRSP in the name of the planholder of a period of 15 years beginning in the third year after the withdrawal, e.g. if you qualify and withdraw funds from your RRSp during 1996 to buy a home, your first repayment of 1/15th of the amount withdrawn, must be repaid to an RRSP in your name on or before March 1st, 1999. Individuals can participate in The Home Buyer's Plan only once in a lifetime.

If both partners in a marriage or other spousal arrangement qualify as first time home buyers, both partners are permitted to withdraw up to $20,000 each from RRSP savings, provided each person has RRSP(s) in their own name with savings worth $20,000 or more. If several people buy and occupy a property all of the purchases, who are qualifying as first-time home buyers, who will become registered as owners of the property, may each withdraw up to $20,000 from RRSP savings.

Qualifying homes under the Home Buyer's Plan include both existing properties and new homes under construction in Canada. Single-family homes, condominium units, apartments in duplexes, triplexes, fourplexes, or apartment buildings, mobile homes and houseboats are all qualified homes. A share in a co-operative housing corporation that entitles the buyer to possess and gives the purchaser an equity interest in a housing unit located in Canada, is a qualifying home. However, a share that only provides the purchaser with a right to a tenancy in a housing unit is not considered a qualifying home under The Home Buyer's Plan.

To find out more about starting an RSP savings plan, talk to your banker, or feel free to call the TD Green Infoline at 1-800-387-2092 or visit TD's Internet Site at http://www.tdbank.ca.
