Cornfest - A Great Place To Be!

Despite a slow start to the festivities due to rain, people revelled on Saturday as the clouds broke and the sun shone on the Cornfest festivities. Great cobs of corn were doled out by volunteers; kiddie rides; face painting; buskers; musicians; hay rides and general camaraderie made downtown Cornwall a great and fun place to be. Pictured above are members of the Candlelighters, volunteering their services during Cornfest, (l-r): Dale Stanley, Val Stanley, Cathy Malyon, Jim Malyon, Kathy Helmer and Mona Burrows.

Big Brothers/ Big Sisters Month

September is Big Brothers/ Big Sisters Month in Canada.

The purpose of the Big Brother/ Big Sister program is to match boys and girls aged 6 to 16 from single parent families with caring, responsible adults who provide friendship and guidance to the child through this one-to-one relationship.

The Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Cornwall and District has been in existence for the last 24 years. During that time, the local agency has made 1042 matches in Cornwall and SD&G. At the present time, the agency has 95 matches with another 63 children on the waiting list. Brian Lynch, executive director for Big Brothers/ Big Sisters of Cornwall and District indicated that the agency's Promotion and Recruitment Committee has planned several special activities for September. "The purpose of these activities is to attract new volunteers into the program, particularly Big Brothers, as well as to celebrate the service provided to the 95 matched children in Cornwall and SD&G," he said.

He also stated that the agency is looking for caring, reliable adults who will volunteer a few hours each week to share interests, hobbies and activities as a friend to a child and to help the child develop greater self esteem.

Lynch advises any adult in Cornwall and SD&G interested in learning more abut the Big Brothers/ Big Sisters program to call the local office at 933-8035 or to drop by the office at 101 Third Street West, Cornwall.

According to the Chair of the Board of the Collège des Grands Lacs, Mrs. Lily Beaulieu, discussions have already taken place with the Ontario Council of Regents for Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology and the Ontario Ministry of Education and Training to establish the recruitment process for a new College President.

In the meantime, Mr. Robert Mayrand will remain as Acting President of the Collège des Grands Lacs.

The Collège des Grands Lacs of applied arts and technology is an innovative and dynamic postsecondary institution specializing in distance education in the Central/South Western region of Ontario. The College is dedicated to excellence in education.

French Courses Offered at T.R. Leger & SLC

The T.R. Leger School and St. Lawrence College recently announced a joint initiative in offering Conversational French courses to the community. T.R. Leger shares space for its Continuing Education program and its day programs with SLC in Moulinette Hall, Windmill Point.

Starting in September the T.R. leger School will offer Conversational French (Level 1) for people who are learning the language and need the basics. St. Lawrence College will offer the follow-up course (Level 2) to adults who complete Level 1, or to those people with a working knowledge of the language.

Continuing Education Coordinators at both schools are optimistic about the new partnership and see it as another way to amalgamate educational services in the community. For more information about the French courses please call St. Lawrence College at 938-1505 or the T.R. Leger School at 938-0120.

Provincial Read-A-Thon

Cornwall! Put your feet up, open a good book and boost your local literacy council. The Tri-County Literacy Council, in partnership with Laubach Literacy Ontario, is hoping many people will think collecting money for curling up with a good book is a great idea. A Read-A-Thon to raise funds for literacy is set for Monday, September 8th, International Literacy Day.

Thousands of literacy supporters and avid readers across Ontario are expected to take part in the Laubach Literacy Ontario Read-A-Thon. Laubach unites almost 50 Ontario literacy councils in their work of promoting a literate community. Each One Teach One is the well known phrase that describes trained volunteer literacy tutors working with students to brush up on reading skills.

The local Read-A-Thon will run from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm at Cornwall Square, 1 Water Street East. There will be refreshments and lots of things to read ... or bring your own good book and favourite pillow. Have a good read and help fund someone else to do the same.

All are invited! Tutors, students, family, friends, adults and children. Pick up your pledge sheets at the Literacy Office today. Please try to stay for at least one hour. Come and join the fun.

Plans for Cornwall Dialysis Clinics Will Move Forward

MPP John Cleary welcomed recent news that plans for a Cornwall dialysis treatment facility may now move forward after the provincial government dropped its appeal against Dr. Gerald Posen, an Ottawa doctor who plans to establish non-profit kidney dialysis clinics in Ottawa and Cornwall.

JOHN CLEARY

Mr. Cleary said, "There is an urgent need for dialysis services in our community and, now that the province has dropped its appeal, I hope that dialysis clinics will soon be established in Cornwall."

Over a year ago, provincial Health Minister Jim Wilson announced that he would establish dialysis services in Cornwall. However, when it was disclosed that the provider's parent company was under investigation in the United States, Wilson terminated the agreement.

Since then, Wilson refused to act, stating that he would wait until court proceedings were completed.

Mr. Cleary affirmed, "We have waited a long time for this. Patients have been forced to endure the cost, stress and inconvenience of travelling to Ottawa and Kingston several times a week."

"After much hard work, I am pleased that Cornwall is one step closer to receiving a dialysis treatment facility."

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

One of the last fishing tournaments of the season is on this weekend. Its the first annual staged by the K of C #5068 at Glen Walter. There is also an early morning Saturday breakfast between 5am-7am in Glen Walter with plenty of cash prizes for the winners in pike, walleye, small and largemouth bass. Looks like the weatherman is going to co-operate with lots of warm sunshine, so good luck to everyone and enjoy. The derby is on Saturday starting at 7am. There will be an orientation night on Friday, August 30th.

On Monday, of this Labour Day weekend, they are holding a BENEFIT BAR-B-Q, steak or perch, at the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 297. The cookin' & servin' is between 4pm-7pm. The music begins at 2pm and will continue until closing time at midnight. The proceeds to RONALD MACDONALD HOUSE.

Congratulations to John Martel and the other organizers of the "camper's hoedown" that was staged on the grounds of Farran Park last Saturday. Despite some early rainshowers, and threatening black clouds, the hardy campers braved most of the dampness by erecting some temporary canvas shelters. The free BBQ, and music and plenty of prizes, kept everyone on their toes until closing time at midnight. Particular thanks to John, on behalf of all the campers, for sticking with this annual celebration over the past years. John indicates that he may not be around to chair this event next year ,so here's hoping one or more of the other long time Farran Park patrons will jump in and keep the idea alive. Good Luck.

Good Luck is also in order for all the skaters on the ice at the Cornwall Colt's training camp. The team owners and management are promising another exciting season in the CJHL with home games slated for the Civic Complex, Ed Lumley Arena. With the Colts rarin' to go, the minor leaguers and other local area pucksters anxious too, that surely is a sign that the NHL pro's can't be far off with their 1997-98 season start. As this is being typed, Ottawa Senator Daniel Alfredson is still not happy with the 2-million plus offer, and we may see him depart for greener ice pastures. Too bad, but its like so many have been saying over the last couple years about the ever-rising pro salaries. Not only will they price some teams out of existence, but teams like the Senators won't be able to keep their best players around. I like the free enterprise system...but 3 and 4-million dollar salaries per year is too piggish to me!!!!!

This week's movies at Brookdale Cinemas at the Brookdale Mall feature GEORGE OF THE JUNGLE, SHE'S SO LOVELY, and PICTURE PERFECT. The Port Theatre on Montreal Road is showing EXCESS BAGGAGE. And at the Colonial Drive-In see AIR FORCE ONE and MY BEST FRIEND'S WEDDING.

If I look into my crystal ball I too can see that the 10TH ANNUAL PSYCHIC FAIR is just a few days away. The Fair will feature astrologers, palmists, card readers, demonstrations and more. It is scheduled for the Civic Complex on September 5, 6 & 7.

Good entertainment, a new menu to peruse, and daily specials. That sounds like a nice mix and it is at The GLENGARRIAN PUB & RESTAURANT at 9th & Sydney Street. Those strip loin steaks are still popular and available at the buy one at regular price and receive a 2nd at half-price.

They sure have been working overtime at the Legion, Branch 297, at Cumberland and Second St. The committee is preparing for the big celebration of Legion Week coming September 14th-20th. Sunday, September 14th is the date for the ETHNIC DAY with a buffet, Cornwall's Ethnic community sharing their music & culture, and a dance in the Legion Hall from 7pm-llpm.

The Johnny Paycheck Show is coming to town this Sunday, August 31. The band will appear at the DEW DROP INN COUNTRY FEST at Bonville. The show runs from 2pm- 10pm and features special guests Ambush, Tammy McRae Band and even a lumberjack show. You are asked to bring lawnchairs too.

Until next week, G'Day and G'Night.

Excitement mounted high among our elementary school students when they began doing their gym exercises to music. During a demonstration, however, the teacher sparined his ankle, and subsequently he received an accident report form to complete. In response to the question: "Time of accident?" he wrote: "4/4".

For all our do-it-yourselfers - here is a way to Goof-Proof your paint projects. Avoid splattered paint on windows, metalwork and floors. Before painting a room, dip a cotton ball in petroleum jelly and run it around the edges of window panes, door knobs and hinges, lock latches and even along linoleum and tile floors near walls. Messy paint smears will wipe up easily with a damp cloth.

A little hint to unstiffen paintbrushes - you can bring an old stiff paintbrush back to life by soaking it in hot vinegar or boiling it in a mixture of 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/2 gallon water and 1 cup of baking soda.

A pastor in rural Vermont tells the story of the parishioner who volunteered to paint the church. He was given a considerable supply of good-quality paint and he decided to dilute it a little so he could paint his barn as well.

Before dawn, the day after he finished, it rained. He woke up to see the paint streaming off his barn. Horrified, he ran to the church. The paint job was ruined there too. He fell to his knees, looked up, and cried, "What shall I do?" A voice answered, "Repaint, and thin no more."

A farmer walked into an attorney's office wanting to file for a divorce. The attorney asked, "May I help you?"

The farmer said, "Yea, I want to get one of those dayvorce's."

The attorney said, "well do you have any grounds?"

The farmer said, "Yea, I got about 140 acres."

The attorney said, " No, you don't understand, do you have a case?"

The farmer said, "No, I don't have a Case, but I have a John Deere."

The attorney said, "No you don't understand, I mean do you have a grudge?"

The farmer said, "Yea I got a grudge, that's where I park my John Deere."

The attorney said, "No sir, I mean do you have a suit?"

The farmer said, "Yes sir, I got a suit. I wear it to church on Sundays."

The exasperated attorney said, "Well sir, does your wife beat you up or anything?"

The farmer said, "No sir, we both get up about 4:30."

Finally, the attorney says, "Okay, let me put it this way. "WHY DO YOU WANT A DIVORCE?"

And the farmer says, "Well, I can never have a meaningful conversation with her."

A note to all credit card holders. Remember when using your credit cards only in cases of emergencies, as I did, you must use it at least a few times a year in order to keep your account active, otherwise, after the expiration date has run out, you will not be receiving a new card automatically. If not used, it becomes an inactive account and you have to re-apply for a new card. I found this out the hard way.

Prizes will be drawn throughout the day along with the grand prize of a second semester tuition. Student Union organizers suggest that students come "dressed to play" and be prepared to participate in the games if they want extra chances to win the tuition, prizes and money.

VP Student Life, Shannon Arsenault, says she is "really looking forward to the upcoming year. Student Union events will be planned well in advance and I welcome all students to come down to the SU office and offer ideas of what you would be interested in. We will do out best to fulfill everyone's interest, from shopping trips to hockey games."

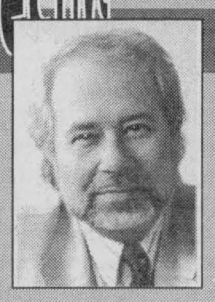
Environmentalists Tried To Warn Us About Nuclear Power

PERSPECTIVE



By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

It's "I-told-you-so" time for environmental activists. For decades now, they have been warning us about the dangers and impracticalities of nuclear power. But officialdom wouldn't listen, even though Three Mile Island and Chernobyl painfully proved that major accidents can happen.

The most insidious force inside the nuclear system is human error. And it would appear that human error is a way of life at Ontario's nuclear plants. Hence the decision by the government to close down seven of the provinces 20 reactors after a study concluded that poor management and poor staff training make the continued operation of those plants a danger to public safety.

Carl Andognini, the U.S. expert who conducted the study, said management failed to establish a safety culture at the Ontario Hydro nuclear plants which were operated like a "nuclear cult".

"The need for nuclear power plants declined," Andognini said. "The organization failed to shift from an engineering and construction (one) to an operational and maintenance organization. It's very clear."

Describing the Candu reactor design, itself, as "robust," he said, "This is not a technology problem. It's a managerial problem."

Frankly, what the study found was appalling. Perhaps the most stunning news was that Ontario Hydro found empty beer bottles or cans five times last year in the radiation areas at the plant. An empty liquor bottle was also found as were homemade hashish pipes and marijuana.

Nothing, in my view, demonstrates the folly of relying on dangerous nuclear energy more that this revelation of drinking and drug use among employees. This goes beyond human error. It is human stupidity.

Unfortunately, stupidity (like honest error) will also always be with us and it is the number one reason that we cannot rely on nuclear power as a safe energy source. Leaked radiation is not an uncommon occurrence. And the life of radioactive material means that the damage can remain in the environment for hundreds of years.

Other negative aspects of nuclear power are the expense of building reactors and disposing of the waste.

I agree with the anti-nuclear lobby which stated 20 years ago that we should invest much more money in researching and developing alternative energy sources. Had we pumped as much money into solar and wind power as we did into nuclear power, we might be closer today to utilizing these benign, plentiful resources.

Instead, we are now forced, it seems, to fire up some old fossil-fuel-burning plants that will pump a host of polluting chemicals into the air, including acid rain.

We know that air pollution kills people every year. In effect, then, the government is making a conscious decision to kill people.

What kind of society are we?

Once again, the corporate bottom line is the driving force behind this twisted set of priorities. The nuclear lobby is very influential in Canada and works hand-in-glove with government in selling the Candu reactor all over the world. Neither party wants to admit that its technology (put in the hands of imperfect human beings) is dangerous.

Surely now, however, our political leaders will replace this economic short-sightedness with a genuine commitment to long-term research into alternative energy sources.

Our lives literally depend on it.

Let's Concentrate On The Real Role of Government

Dear Editor:

As a resident and taxpayer of the City, I have followed with some interest, some of the discussion surrounding the potential privatization of Cornwall Electric.

The debate about whether this utility should be owned by the taxpayers of Cornwall or should be sold to the highest bidder often involves very emotional feelings and yet often misses the essential issue of the debate. The debate should involve what we believe to be the real role of a government.

Do we believe that the role of government is to own and run a profitable business? If we think this is the role of government, then why not own retail stores such as Canadian Tire - they are profitable too.

Some would argue that Cornwall Electric is a monopoly, yet do we believe that the role of government is to own and run monopolies? If we believe this to be the role of government, then all monopolies (such as Centra Gas) should be owned and run by governments not just Cornwall Electric.

If there is a lack of competition in the market, one of the essential roles of government is to ensure that monopolies are regulated. This does not mean government owned. Monopolies can be privately owned and regulated by an independent body such as the CRTC or the NEB. Furthermore, with deregulation, many monopolies are not facing increased competition (and lower prices) as we see in the deregulated long-distance telephone market.

I would urge Council to sell the utility to the highest bidder and concentrate on the real role of government. There are lots of other things to do!

Sincerely,
David Enns

RAW is WAR

Dear Editor:

To all wrestling fans:

I am a very ardent fan of WWF wrestling but what I do not condone are signs by fans which is written "Canada sucks". Wrestling is sports entertainment but politics as far as I'm concerned should be omitted from the entertainment world. Americans are very patriotic towards their president Bill Clinton, much more so than we are towards our Prime Minister Jean Chretien. In our favour, Canada has been chosen the #1 country in the world in which any outsider would prefer to migrate. Canada is still #1 in owning natural resources. "And that's the bottom line" as stated by 'Cold Stone' Steve Austin, the meanest S.O.B. ever to step in the WWF wrestling rings of the North American Continent.

Americans are extremely proud of their heritage but Canadians should not suffer from an inferiority complex when our red and white maple flag is risen in honour of our country Canada and that's my bottom line.

CBC Should Make A Stand

The Roman Catholic Church has never quite been my cup of tea.

I can say that from experience, since one-half of my family - that of my father - is about as Roman Catholic as they come - we have two priests and a nun in the family - and I've had a great many opportunities, both by way of practical experience and by study, to examine the church and its philosophies over the years.

I have not always been particularly enamoured by what I saw.

That being said, however, it puzzles me that the CBC is letting Michael Enright, the new host of This Morning , off so lightly after he went on air and called the Catholic Church "the greatest criminal organization outside the Mafia."

Mr. Enright, who knows the workings of the Catholic Church very well and who almost became a priest himself, is certainly entitled to his opinion about religion but isn't it going a bit too far to make statements like this?

I once heard my great-aunt, who was a mother superior in a convent in Illinois, make similar comments in private and I'm sure other priests and nuns have done the same, but it is quite another thing to make such statements in public.

What if Mr. Enright had said the same thing about Jews or Hindus or Sikhs? Wouldn't he have lost his job immediately? So why can he do the same thing to Catholics and get away with it? Does our great tolerance of different religious practice extend to Christians generally and Catholics in particular?

When the president of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops met with CBC president Perrin Beatty about Mr. Enright's radio comments, the Globe and Mail, Canada's most respected newspaper, wrote that it was a "rare meeting of church and state that has baffled some observers and shocked others."

The paper said that "broadcast veterans were amazed that the public broadcaster's most senior executive would give an audience to a religious leader.

Then, a Ryerson professor who once worked for the CBC declared that he has "never heard of anything like this" and a senior CBC radio producer called such a meeting "unbelievable".

But why?

If the publisher of this paper listened to complaints about my column, would he be compromising the newspaper's integrity? Or, alternatively, just doing what he is supposed to do? It's the second, obviously.

But this doesn't appear to be the case with the CBC. The spectacle of management actually giving an audience to a complainant is "unheard of" and "unbelievable" and "shocking".

What is it with the CBC that gives it and its nationalist supporters the right to feel so self-righteous that they, and they alone, can determine the outlook on the world without question? The CBC thinks the public's duty is to pay it and if people don't like what it does, too bad. That would threaten journalistic integrity.

Mr. Beatty, himself the veteran of numerous political wars, did the right thing. He saw the archbishop, listened to his complaints, and issued a statement that Mr. Enright's views on Catholicism would not influence his objectivity.

But that's suspect. There is no such thing as objectivity. Everything is subjective, depending upon the way in which you look and examine a situation. And besides, every good reporter or newspaper columnist has a duty to examine a situation and make certain the truth is dug out.

If Mr. Enright has proof that the Catholic Church is indeed a Mafia organization - and some of what he says could easily lean to that interpretation - then he should come forth and dig out some more evidence and expose the whole matter. To remain neutral is ludicrous and can't be expected.

And when he interviews people on his talk show about the Church or about the Mafia itself, shouldn't he be trying to ferret out the truth when he talks about the many issues that confront him - separate school funding, women priests, gay rights, abortion, clerical celibacy and more?

To simply say that the Catholic Church is the "greatest criminal organization outside the Mafia" and do nothing more about it is wrong. Either the CBC should put up or shut up. Makes sense, doesn't it?

AIDS FORUM

By Pat O'Connor
SEAWAY NEWS

Hello everybody. It's been a tough two weeks for me and things don't seem to be getting any easier.

My sugar count seems to be under control now with proper eating habits and 4 more pills to take daily. My eyesight, which I never mentioned has been slightly damaged and has been corrected with reading glasses. That was a real scare for me and HIV can cause blindness and when my eyes first went fuzzy, I sort of freaked out. I have since had my eyes checked by a professional, and all is well.

I would like to remind everyone that the AIDS Walk is fast approaching. It is to be held on September 28, which is a Sunday and is to start at the Rat's Nest. This is Cornwall's 4th annual walk-a-thon and promises to be full of fun for all ages. Muffins, juices and other refreshments are all supplied before, during and after the walk. For a pledge sheet, call Pat at 931-2095 or Gay at 933-2041. We will deliver one to your door. All proceeds go to U.C.A.P. (United Counties AIDS Project) and are spent locally to educate our community and help people with HIV/AIDS get to treatment. More info. will follow, but walking is the first step.

I am preparing myself for my surgery on my ankle in 2 weeks. Most of this mental preparation as I am not looking forward to being in the hospital for almost a week. I will have to receive much more Factor IX, the blood product which first infected me with HIV and Hepatitis C. I am also going into an environment where there is much sickness around. I am worried about how I will be treated and that no infection or other complications arise after surgery. I keep thinking I'll go in and never come out.

A darling woman named Kathleen English died from cancer last week. She is the mother of good friends of ours and we went through the pain of losing someone close to them. She was a very strong and courageous woman who loved to live and laugh and make others very happy to be around her. I believe she is in that very special place, that very quiet place where we can all rest when we are gone. Dying and getting sick has been on my mind for 12 years. People can't really understand what that can do to someone unless you have actually lived it. It's always in your mind, just waiting for a chance to jump out and grab you. With the death of Kathleen, many fears arose in me that have been dormant for so long. The bad dreams were back, along with too many sleepless nights. It's not so much the fear of dying that I am afraid of, but the people left here to suffer the pain of losing a loved one. I will meet Kathleen again, and she told me she would watch over me, which she will.

Thank you to the people for the sugar-less Kool-Aid. It was my favourite flavour. And thanks to the woman for the lovely letter about her dog. It's sure nice to know there are caring people out there. Take care all and enjoy each day as if it's the last day of your life.

BASIC BLACK

I never write metropolis for seven cents because I can get the same price for city. I never write policeman because I can get the same money for cop.
Mark Twain

The author of The Adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn was a very funny man, but he was no chucklehead – especially when it came to the business of writing. He knew that words were the currency and coinage of his craft. He also knew that bigger didn't necessarily mean better.

But mostly what Mark Twain did was carry on a life-long love affair with words.

You pretty well have to, if you want to be a writer. It comes with the territory. Not that you have to be a writer to love words. I know a plumber who does the cryptic crossword in the New York Times every day. And I know a farmer who reads Homer in the original Greek. Lots of people love words. In fact, a chap by the name of Vick Knight, Jr., has just published a book called My Word which is devoted to the favourite words of famous people.

Ronald Reagan claimed his favourite word was 'home'. For Billy Graham, it's 'decision'. Lucille Ball voted the word 'beauty' as the most... well, beautiful word in the language. For writer Erma Bombeck it was 'yes'.

Some of the people Knight queried followed the lead of Mark Twain (see above). Which is to say that they reacted with a certain stinginess. Playwright Ira Levin sent a telegram that read "Sorry, I'm in the middle of a play and need every word I've got." Science fiction writer Isaac Asimov wrote a reply in longhand. It read: "I thought about your request and I really don't have a favourite word and even if I make one up, it will mean getting a picture to you, and making up some soppy paragraph or other, and – well, I just don't want to."

It's a tougher question than it appears on the surface. What would you pick as your favourite word? The English language is festooned (there's one of my favourites) with hundreds of potential delegates.

Someone once asked William Espy for a list of his favourite words. The famous wordsmith replied with:

*Meandering, mellifluous, wisteria, Shenandoah, murmuring, ...*and gonorrhea.

Again, words don't have to be lengthy to be splendid. Hush is a wonderful word. So is mist. And dawn.

Many good words have alas, been lost. Back in the 16th century, a pretty young woman was called a bellibone or a poplolly. And someone who was down in the dumps was said to be suffering a bad case of mubblefubbles.

I'd be hard-pressed to say what my favourite word is. Ugly words are plentiful enough. Victual is an ugly word. So is saxophone. And phlegmatic. Ugly is easy – but most beautiful?

Maybe I'll go with Dorothy Parker. Someone once asked the New York wit what she thought the most beautiful phrase in the English language was. Ms. Parker smiled and murmured: "Cheque enclosed".

"Fall" Into Reading: Check Out Your Library!

or Everybody "Autumn" Read!

Even though hints of a busy, fun-filled summer still lingers in the library, Young Adult & Children's Services of the Cornwall Public Library is gearing up for yet another round of programming.

The Fall brochure is now out and there is something for all ages, from the wide-eyed twelve month old to the even more curious twelve year old.

The library is offering morning programs, brand new after school programs and Saturday programs. We have even added a family evening program. Programs with themes, rhymes and storytimes. How about programs where you can make a craft, learn a new song, or a new chess move.

In addition to the French programs that the library previously offered, and in partnership with le centre familial, "A partir d'un bon pas", more French programs will be offered at the library this Fall, to keep up with the demand for this service.

Some programs are simply drop-ins, while others are registered.

Registration for the Fall session begins September 8th for first time participants and September 15 for those who have previously been enrolled in the program.

Your best bet is to pick up a brochure at the library or for more information call 932-4796 and ask for the YAC Desk.

All programs are free and all registrants must present a library card and register in person only. Children must be the specified age before the start date of the program.

Enrollment is limited so please register early. Programs start the first week of October.

Trust Fund Benefit For Joshua MacGillivray This Weekend

As a way of celebrating their fourth year of being in business, Clayton and Barbara Disotell, owners of Rack-Em-Up Billiards, have decided to donate all the proceeds from their fourth anniversary weekend to The Joshua MacGillivray Trust Fund. In the past, they were donated to various service clubs or charities, however, this year, with Joshua needing an operation which can be performed only in the U.S., and not covered by OHIP, they have decided to donate to a trust fund set up to help cover his medical expenses.

As a way of raising money and also saying thank you to all their many valued customers, table time will be half price all three days, Aug. 29th, 30th and 31st. This money, along with all confectionary sales, donations, etc., will be deposited in The Joshua MacGillivray Trust Fund. A number of door prizes will also be available to be won.

So, if you're in the area, pool player or not, and want to help out a good cause, drop in and say hello. Rack-Em-Up Billiards is located in the Heritage Plaza at the corner of Pitt St. N. and Tollgate Road.

Understanding High Blood Pressure

High blood pressure, or hypertension, affects more than three million Canadians. However, 26 per cent of these hypertensive patients are unaware that they have high blood pressure because it is an asymptomatic condition.

High blood pressure occurs when blood vessels narrow (vasoconstriction) and put too much pressure on the artery walls. Elevated blood pressure indicates that the heart is working harder than normal, putting both the heart and arteries under greater stress. If left untreated, high blood pressure can eventually lead to heart attack, enlarged heart, stroke or kidney damage.

What causes high blood pressure?

Surprisingly, in approximately 90 per cent of high blood pressure cases, the cause is unknown. This type of high blood pressure is called essential hypertension. In the remaining 10 per cent of cases, high blood pressure is a symptom of a recognizable underlying problem such as a kidney abnormality, a tumor of the adrenal gland (located above the kidney), or a heart defect. When the cause is corrected, blood pressure usually returns to normal. This type of high blood pressure is called secondary hypertension.

What factors contribute to high blood pressure?

Although medical science has not idenfitied the causes of most cases of high blood pressure, it is known that several factors may contribute to hypertension. Lack of physical activity, obesity and excessive salt consumption are some avoidable risk factors. Age is also considered a risk factor. Generally speaking, the older people get, the more likely they are to develop high blood pressure. Heredity is another factor. Some experts now believe that people whose parents have high blood pressure are more likely to develop it than those whose parents don't. A number of studies have also linked chronic stress and anxiety with high blood pressure in both men and women.

What are the symptoms of high blood pressure?

High blood pressure is an asymptomatic disease and has therefore been labeled the "silent killer." This condition can be present for decades, causing progressive heart and blood vessel disease, before it is recognized. While symptoms such as headache, dizziness and blurred vision can occur, they are rare.

What can be done about high blood pressure?

For people with only mild high blood pressure, dietary and lifestyle changes may help. Some people can lower their blood pressure by reducing their salt intake and restricting their alcohol consumption. For many people, maintaining a healthy weight and increasing physical activity can also reduce blood pressure.

If simple lifestyle changes are inadequate, drug therapy has been proven to reduce the risk of heart and blood vessel disease. Many medications (known as antihypertensives) are available to lower high blood pressure. They work in different ways on the heart, blood vessels and nervous system to reduce blood pressure.

Since the 1950s, several medications to treat high blood pressure have been developed. Over the years, scientific research has allowed patients to benefit from more efficacious and better tolerated treatments. The latest advance came in 1995 with the introduction of a new class of antihypertensives called Angiotensin-II receptor antagonists.

Studies have shown that controlling high blood pressure significantly reduces the risk of heart and blood vessel disease. The most important approach remains public awareness and screening to detect this "silent killer." For more information about high blood pressure or treatment options, speak to your doctor.

Hypertension: The Facts

- High blood pressure has been labeled the "silent killer"
- High blood pressure affects approximately three million Canadians (about 20 per cent of the adult population)
- Approximately 26 per cent of Canadians who have high blood pressure are unaware of their condition.
- No specific cause for high blood pressure is found in 90 per cent of patients.

What A Difference A Referee Can Make!

The Bergeron Electric SD&G U-17 girls soccer team had played the Nepean Hotspurs twice in Ottawa. In the first game, the Blazers were taught the hard way by the Hotspurs about being physical. Even though the Blazers won, by games end only 11 Blazers were still able to play. In the second game, the Blazers met the Hotspurs nose to nose and the Hotspurs came off second in the encounter.

In Cornwall, the referee called the game the way it should be ... resulting in a well played game between the top two teams of the division. The Blazers balanced attack and defense controlled the game in the first half. Nepean focused its strongest players as strikers and left its defense weak. The Blazers spotted this and sent long ball after long ball into the Nepean left and right defense. The Blazers played six forwards on two shifts. Michelle Bergeron, Allison Kirkey and Tonya Marsolais, then Kim LeBlanc, Rachel Desjardins and Julie Anne Piette forcing the Nepean defense to cough up the ball.

One such ball came to midfield where Krissy Mitchell was patrolling like a hungry shark. She crashed through the front line, put a few moves on the Nepean defense, drew the goaltender, then shot low to score. Later Tonya Marsolais picked up a pass from Corrine Michaud and fired into the net to give the Blazers an early 2-0 lead.

Hotspurs changed their game plan and their sweaters in the second half. The Hotspurs went to a short pass game and reached their strikers to force the Blazers back. The game see-sawed with Blazers getting the better shots, but it was Nepean that broke through and scored late in the half. Unfortunately for Nepean, it was too little too late and the Blazers won 2-1.

Noteworthy were the two birthday parties "a l'orange" at half time for Monique Paquette and half century old Blair Munro.

Ladies Commercial League Playoffs

In Cornwall Ladies Commercial League play, Dairy Queen, with a 12-6 win over Grants, won the best of five series 3 games to 1. D.Q.'s Ellen Proulx pounded out two triples and one double to lead the attack. Marj Massia went 3-3 while Lori Dupuis and Noelle Delgrande were 3-4.

Grant's Nic Beauregard and Carole Blais were both 2-3 with two runs. Viola McRae had the pitching win.

In the finals, Dairy Queen's 9-2 win over Rendez Vous has tied the series 1-1. Dairy Queen scored two runs in the first inning and added four more in the fourth. Lori Dupuis and Debbie Nadon were 6-7. Lori with 2 singles and a home run, Debbie with a single, double and triple. The series resumes Wednesday, September 3rd.

Char-Lan Soccerfest

While the number of teams entering the tournament is down this year from last, there are some new teams that are participating and others that enquired about the tournament giving the organizers the encouragement that when the tournament gets back to its usual weekend (second weekend of September), the response will be back up to the 34 team level. This year the tournament has been able to attract 24 teams. The split of the division are as follows: 4 Oldtimers; 9 Ladies and 11 Mens.

The Ladies are split into 2 groups, 1 with five teams and one with 4. The Mens are split into 3 groups - 2 groups of four and 1 of three.

The groups look like this:

Ladies:

Group 1: Kanata Lazers (returning champs); Cowtippers Lds; Brodie Bombers; Pte. Claire and Glengarry Northerners.

Group 2: Char-Lan Lds; Arsenal; Hearts of Glengarry and Willows.

Men:

Group 1: Char-Lan 1; Glengarry Stars; Brockville Blues and Kanata Funsters.

Group 2: City 1; McCrimmon; Winchester Sonics and Pte. Claire.

Group 3: Rudi's; Red Army and Cowtippers (returning champs).

The Oldtimers Division consists of Brockville; North Dundas; Char-Lan and Hearts of Glengarry (returning champs).

The organizers wish all the participants the best of luck. Have a good weekend of soccer.

A creative colouring contest, emphasizing the correct use of personal flotation devices for kids when they are around water, was sponsored by Cornwall Parks and Recreation Services. Selected entries from the participating parks in Cornwall were judged and the lucky winner of free swimming lessons was Michel Lefebvre of the Kinsmen Park Pool. HOROSCOPES

August 31-September 6

Aries – March 21/April 20

As the end of summer nears, so does the end of a romantic relationship. It was fun while it lasted, but don't be upset. He or she isn't the one for you. You'll meet your mate when you least expect it. As for your professional life, all goes well this week. Your efforts get you noticed.

Taurus – April 21/May 21

While your sign is the bull, you feel more like a lamb this week, Taurus. You meet someone who intrigues you, yet intimidates you, and you don't know how to react to him or her. Just be yourself, and you'll make a good impression. Gemini plays a key role later in the week.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

Things get a little overwhelming for you early in the week. You get overloaded with work, and no one has enough time to assist you. As for your personal life, it seems as if everyone needs your help — no matter how trivial a situation is. Keep your chin up, Gemini. Things will calm down by the week's end.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

Express yourself this week, Cancer. Don't keep your feelings bottled up inside; it only will make you feel worse. Whether it's a problem with a co-worker or a fight with a loved one, talk about the situation calmly. It will make you feel better and can make relationships stronger. Pisces plays an important role.

Leo – July 23/August 23

You're making the rules this week. Business associates come to you for answers to their problems, and loved ones look to you for guidance. Now's your chance to show how responsible you can be. However, don't let the power go to your head. Be loyal to your friends and honest to yourself.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

You have to make a big decision about your personal life early in the week, Virgo. Think about what you really want, and look at all the pros and cons. Once you weigh all of your options, you can make your choice and stand behind it. Cancer and Scorpio play key roles.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

Your good nature wins you praise from co-workers and loved ones. They admire your optimistic outlook on life. However, an event in the middle of the week can get you depressed. Don't let it; try to stay upbeat. Loved ones are there to listen. Leo plays an important role.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Stand your ground when it comes to a confrontation at work. You know that what you've done is correct, and so do your superiors. As for your love life, take it easy this week. That person you've been seeing wants to step up the relationship. Think about what you really want before saying yes.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

It is an easy week for you, Sagittarius. All goes well professionally and personally. You make a good impression with superiors at work, and you meet an intriguing person who has an interest in you. Enjoy yourself, but don't make any rash decisions. Taurus plays an important role.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

Early in the week, you take a few steps closer toward a goal you've set for yourself. Be proud, and continue to work hard. A loved one turns to you in a time of need. Don't let him or her down. Share your joy with him or her. Your efforts are sure to be appreciated.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

You have free reign at work this week, Aquarius. Superiors put you in charge of a project, giving you a chance to show what an asset you are. However, don't get carried away. That special someone asks you a probing question. Don't try to avoid it; just answer it truthfully. Virgo plays a role.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

Your humor wins the heart of someone with whom you'd like to have a closer relationship. Be yourself, and show him or her who you really are. Don't worry — he or she will be impressed. Pressures at home get you stressed later in the week. Try to remain calm and cool.

St. Lawrence River Board Sets Outflow Regulation Policy

The International St. Lawrence River Board of Control has implemented a regulation strategy designed to help relieve low water levels in a portion of the St. Lawrence River. For the past seven months, the Board had operated under a special provision known as Criterion (k). This allowed the Board to surpass the usual outflow limitations in order to provide all possible relief to riparians upstream and downstream of the project. The outflows directed by the Board, resulted in a Lake Ontario peak level of 247.29 ft. (75.37 m). This was 24 inches (61 cm) less than it would have been had the project not been built. The current level of Lake Ontario is 246.00 ft. (74.98m), about 5 inches (13 cm) above the average for this time of year. Lake Erie's level is 573.59 ft. (174.83 m), about 24 inches (61 cm) above average.

On August 15, the International Joint Commission revoked Criterion (k), given the immproved water supply conditions.

The levels in Lake St. Lawrence have been as much as 24 inches (60 cm) below average for this month as a result of the high outflows directed by the Board. Water levels downstream in Montreal Harbour are adequate for navigation. In consideration of the basin-wide conditions, the Board announced the following policy to be in effect through September 22:

Outflows will be set according to Plan 1958-D. If the water levels at Long Sault, near the control dam, are expected to fall below 239.17 ft. (72.90 m) on a weekly basis, the outflows may be reduced by as much as 7,060 cubic feet per second (200 cubic meters per second).

This policy may not keep the level of Lake St. lawrence above 239.17 ft. (72.90 m). Baring unforeseen circumstances, flows will be returned to those specified by Plan 1958-D on September 23. Outflows are expected to remain high, thereby resulting in below long-term average levels in Lake St. Lawrence. Boaters and shoreline interests impacted by low water levels in this area should take these anticipated conditions into account in their fall operations and consider early removal of larger boats that are difficult to haul under low water level conditions.

For the current week, implementation of this policy has reduced the outflows by about 2%, from 306,200 cfs (8670 m^3/s) to 299,100 cfs (8,470 m^3/s). The long term average outflow for this time of year is about 254,600 cfs (7210 m^3/s).

How To Avoid Being Ripped Off By A Carpet Cleaner

"The Red Carpet Treatment"

"Unfortunately many people these days are being ripped off by their carpet cleaners," says Ron Bolton of Red Carpet Treatment. He warns people not to fall for bait and switch. "These folks are responding to telemarketing phone callers promotions offering some low "seems too good to be true" price. They are baited by the low price and make an appointment," he says.

"You think everything is fine, then when the company gets there, they go for the switch."

These folks find out that this promotion room price is only for single process cleaning. What that means is that it uses only water to clean. No soap. And the carpet doesn't get "clean" at all.

So they're pressured into getting this and that. All these things are needed to do a good job - that's what they hear.

Where was all this in their phone ad? No where! In other words they advertise low, low quality cleaning. Then they pressure people to buy add on after add on. In the end it costs a fortune. These people have been had.

According to Ron, there are four things to remember to avoid being ripped off.

1. No ethical carpet cleaner can give you a quote on the phone. The price is based on: type of carpet; amount of soiling; square footage. If a carpet cleaner gives you a price on the phone, beware.

2. All honest carpet cleaners have a 100% money back guarantee. If you aren't happy, you don't pay. If a carpet cleaner doesn't offer one, be careful.

There are two reasons carpet cleaning is a must for your carpet:

a) It makes your carpet last twice as long. Dirt lodged in your carpet acts like a knife to cut the carpet fibers. This causes your carpet to wear out fast.

b) A thorough cleaning gets out dirt and other pollutants.

Just like you track in dirt, you also track in car exhaust, pollution, tobacco smoke, etc. These get into your carpet and you breathe them over and over. Carpet has indoor air pollution. Cleaning drastically reduces what kind of shape your carpet is in.

3. An ethical carpet cleaner has pledged to hold above all else honesty and thorough workmanship in all their customer relations. He has demonstrated a knowledge of carpet and upholstery chemicals and cleaning techniques to the satisfaction of the IICRC (Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification). Ask if he is a certified technician and member.

4. Recognize value over price. Cheap prices lead to inferior work.

Help beat these unethical bait and switch carpet cleaners, and preserve the fine reputation of those who truly try to offer value.

DOES YOUR HOUSE SMELL FUNNY?

Obviously, it's not this bad, but with kids and pets, sometimes the house does get to smell like an old sweaty pair of socks! It is frustrating - even after you clean - those awful smells still linger.
Why? Because the smells are deeply embedded into your carpet and regular vacuuming can't get them out. To get those smells out, you need your carpets thoroughly cleaned, by me of course! Call for your cleaning today!

A do-it yourself funeral is one of your

CHOICES

Always been a take-charge type of person? Believe the only way to get things done right is to do them yourself?

While a funeral is for the living, preplanning it yourself means you can have it done your way, plus save your family from the financial burden and additional anxiety of making all arrangements.

Here are some other good reasons to preplan your funeral:
- The Plan is a Tax Shelter in accordance with the Income Tax Act (all interest earned is income tax free)
- The current price is frozen and guaranteed by contract, accrued interest offsets inflation
- You can make easy installments to suit your budget
- The Plan is transferable between our east and west branches at time of need at no additional costs

You can pre-arrange and customize all aspects of your funeral, including casket selection, type of service, and all financial details.

Preplanning will save your family money, relieve them of a great deal of difficult decision-making, and allow you to have the last word!

AUTO TALK

A Clean Squeak

THE CAR DOCTOR
Peter Millard

(NC)—Q: The windshield wipers on my car continually squeak. Is there a cure for this annoying problem? Also, I'm looking for something to add to the windshield washer liquid that helps clean the glass, but is gentle enough not to harm my car's paint?

St. Romuald, Quebec

A: Make sure that your windshield wipers are not worn or damaged. Worn wipers are the most likely cause of squeaking as the blade travels across the windshield. A clean wiper blade and windshield surface are also important. If the blades are worn, there's only one solution—replace them. Before installing the new wiper blades, make sure the windshield glass is completely clean. Regarding a cleaner to add to your windshield washer fluid, you'll find that there are quite a few on the market. There's no substitute, however, for windshield cleaner and a little elbow grease.

Suspension Noise May Be Due To Hard-Working Strut Mounts

While driving around town, you notice your front-wheel-drive passenger car is steering rougher and a sharp popping, squeaking or rubbing sound can be heard after making a turn. The vehicle also may want to pull in the direction it was last steered.

If any of these symptoms sound familiar, the cause may be tied to one or both of the vehicle's strut mount assemblies, according to Al Lynch, manager of technical services for Moog Automotive.

"Ninety percent of passenger-car production in the last five years features strut mount assemblies," reports Lynch. "The upper strut mount replaces the upper control arm and upper ball joint used on traditional steering and suspension systems as the upper connection to the vehicle body."

Strut mounts are hard-working components, capable of supporting vehicle weight. Each assembly usually consists of a rubber core that dampens noise and vibrations and a bearing that allows the front wheels and strut assembly to turn while supporting weight.

"Strut mounts, like any rubber suspension component, may become worn over time and can affect the suspension system's geometry," explains Lynch. "Whenever a suspension component is not doing its job, the result can be a chain reaction that causes other parts in the suspension system to work harder and wear out faster."

Whenever load-carrying bearings become worn, they can cause the steering to bind. The binding condition is commonly referred to as "memory steer," because the vehicle pulls in the last direction it was turned.

Heavier vehicles are especially prone to strut mount wear. "As a general rule," says Lynch, "a car with a V-6 engine in it is more likely to show up with the symptoms described above than a lighter vehicle, due to its added weight. Any passenger car with more than 40,000 miles — regardless of its size — is a possible candidate for strut mount replacement."

What to look for

Strut mount inspection requires using your head, as well as eyes, ears and hands. First, secure the hood in the open position and locate the strut mount assembly, which is usually bolted to the fender.

Next, bounce the vehicle and observe the mount. Listen for unusual noises and look for looseness. (It is normal for the strut rod to move a small amount as the mount deflects.) On some strut mount assemblies, it is possible to feel vibration as the loose components move inside their housings.

Finally, drive the vehicle to check for memory steer. If any of these conditions exist, take the vehicle in for inspection by a professional service technician.

Moog Automotive recommends parts replacement based on original equipment-manufacturer specifications or when a loose part is identified as a cause of a problem. In some cases, loose parts that are still within the vehicle manufacturer's specifications can cause performance problems. These loose parts may not pose a safety problem, but may cause handling and tire-wear problems.

"Whenever struts or springs are replaced," adds Lynch, "make sure your technician inspects the strut mount assembly for axial or radial movement that exceeds the vehicle manufacturer's specifications, or for cracks or separation of the rubber from the steel part of the mount. If these conditions exist, replace the old mount assembly."
