1990 - Lights of Hope Campaign

The Second Annual Lights of Hope Campaign, sponsored by the Pediatric Group of the Hotel Dieu Hospital, in association with Farm Boy, was officially launched on November 1st by Co-chairman, Chuck Lefleur and Campaign Co-ordinator, Brenda Webber-Thomson.

The goal once again is to light a giant Christmas Tree which is on display from now until Christmas at the Farm Boy parking lot.

All monies raised as a result of the Campaign will go directly to assist the Hotel Dieu Hospital in purchasing much needed equipment for the Pediatric Unit. Last year's Campaign raised in excess of $15,000 and as a result of Farm Boy's support towards all administration and logistical costs, all monies raised went directly to the Hospital.

The Campaign will run over the next six weeks, culminating in the lighting of the giant Christmas Tree on Sunday, December 16th at 7:00 pm at the Farm Boy parking lot and the public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Donations to the Campaign may be made at either branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Cornwall, at Farm Boy or by mail to P.O. Box 94, Cornwall, K6H 5R5 with all cheques made payable to the Lights of Hope Campaign.

Cornwall KMart Invites you to Join in Children's Tree Program

The Cornwall KMart Social Committee, a group of KMart employee volunteers, is inviting customers they serve to join in the Children's Tree Program, designed to help needy children at Christmas.

Beginning Nov. 23 through Dec. 15, the Cornwall KMart store located at 1400 Vincent Massy Dr., will have a Children's Christmas Tree trimmed with colourful paper tags. The purpose of this Children's Tree is to provide local needy children with a new gift for the holiday.

Each tag will give information on an underprivileged child such as first name, their sex, clothing size and age. People interested in making a needy child's Christmas brighter select a tag from the Children's Tree and purchase a gift for the child. The child's name must be registered at the Cornwall KMart store, but the gifts can be purchased at any location.

Presents for the children should be returned gift wrapped to the Cornwall store with the tag by Dec. 15. The Cornwall KMart Social Committee will make sure each child's gift is ready to open on Christmas morning.

"This KMart Social Committee Program helps make Christmas what it should be, the happiest time of the year for Children," said Mr. R. Miller, KMart store Manager. "And it provides people with a way to express the joy of caring."

KMart acquired the needy children's names from local organizations involved with these children on a regular basis.

HOROSCOPES

NOV 25th-DEC 1

ARIES - March 21/April 20
This is a good week to begin a program of regular exercise. Problems at work on Monday and Tuesday will be sorted out by mid-week, so keep your feelings under control! If you keep an open mind, you could be steered in new directions.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21
You'll have to put extra time and effort into work this week and this could leave you with very little time for social activities until Friday or Saturday. Pay attention to the creativity around you and your holiday shopping, no doubt, will be interesting.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Your shining mental abilities will be noticed by those in authority. You pick things up by this positive approach. If you are single, you could find that the weekend provides a vital turning point in your romantic life—perhaps a more binding commitment. Work is peaceful and relations with coworkers are good.

CANCER - June 22/July 22
Take care of your diet right now. Foods are symbols of health and all those things that are good for you. Leave Saturday free for shopping. Your household routine may be thrown into disarray because your partner has to spend more time at work.

LEO - July 23/August 23
You're good at giving directions, and will have more energy to do so this weekend. However, you could be overdoing it at work—try a more relaxed pace. Expect mistakes at work and at home on Tuesday. An older relative needs help around mid-week and this could leave you with very little time for personal matters until Friday.

VIRGO - August 24/Sept 22
Wait until next weekend to start the holiday shopping. Meanwhile, you could be getting some surprising news midweek which gives you something to think about. Some heavy expenses will occur, but you'll feel that it's money well spent on the home.

LIBRA - September 23/Oct 23
Domestic problems are sure to be taking up much of your time this week. You may not like it, but you realize that family obligations take first place. However, there's a lot happening to please you and offset any grievances you may feel. Be on your guard against cuts and bruises this week.

SCORPIO - October 24/Nov 22
Don't forget that unfulfilled family obligation; a concerned relative may be running out of patience—and not without reason! A routine week at first, but it certainly livens up on Thursday and Friday. As the week draws to a close, your financial affairs will be taking a definite turn for the better. Good news is coming your way.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
There are some nice planetary activities circling in your sphere. It does not have an effect on what is happening now, but what could happen in the near future. Your ambitious and adventurous impulses will have an outlet after next weekend.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
A short weekend jaunt cheers you but some upsets can be expected on Sunday. Don't overburden yourself with work in order to impress those in charge—there are limits to your energy! Go ahead with all social engagements, however, as they may lead to some very pleasing surprises.

AQUARIUS - January 21/Feb 18
Major plans seem to have slowed down, but don't get impatient—they will pick up again later in a more favorable way. This week will be full, both at work and play, and you could find yourself being introduced to new acquaintances of whom you'll be seeing more.

PISCES - February 19/March 20
Beware of some trouble spots at home during the weekend. You'll probably be nervous this week waiting for big changes at work, but nothing will be solved until next Friday. Friends could be getting into difficulties and could involve you in financial problems.

Your birthday this week
THE NEXT 12 MONTHS

Something that happens in an unusual or indirect way over the next 12 months will make you more secure, confident and contented. April and May could be your best months in 1991, if you are hoping to put a relationship on a more intimate basis. It's not too late to decide what you really want to be when you grow up.

1991 Isuzu Stylus S, XS

(NC)—All the comfort and reliability of a four-door sedan plus the agility and performance that's found in a sports car come together in Passport's new Isuzu Stylus S and XS.

Representing Isuzu's innovative automotive design technology, the Stylus S features a powerful 1.6-L, 12 valve, single-overhead camshaft, multiport, fuel injected, four cylinder engine. It produces 95 horsepower at 5800 rpm and with a smooth five-speed manual transmission, the Stylus can accelerate form zero to 60 mph in only 9.5 seconds. an optional, fuel-conscious, three-speed automatic with shift interlock is also available.

The Stylus XS takes the more performance-minded driver one step further. The engine has 16 valves and a double-overhead camshaft, and produces an impressive 130 horsepower at 6800 rpm. Also sporting a four-wheel independent suspension system designed by Lotus, the XS offers extraordinary smoothness and control, the ability to take corners faster, and amazing manageability in adverse road conditions.

Both S and XS models ride easily on the front L-arm and rear multi-linked independent Macpherson strut suspensions. With rack and pinion steering, Isuzu's engineers have made Stylus responsive to the driver's lightest touch.

Braking is equally effortless: the Stylus S has power disc brakes up front and drum brakes in the rear, while the XS assumes even more stopping power with four-wheel disc brakes, ventilated in front and solid in the rear.

Sleek, aerodynamic lines, an egg crate front fascia and lights that skim the surface add to Stylus' sporty appeal. Its interior affords spacious comfort with contoured, reclining bucket seats up front and lots of leg room in the back for passenger comfort.

Safety features include daytime running lights, rear-seat shoulder and lap belts, child-proof rear-door locks and child tether anchor provision. An energy-absorbing front end, that crumples on impact, has also been installed to further ensure passenger safety.

For those who want luxury convenience without compromising high performance, Stylus is one sedan to look for.

1991 Isuzu Stylus NC

Now the Isuzu Stylus banks beautifully standing still.

Right now you can take our new Stylus S to the bank before you ever get the thrill of taking it into a turn. With 10.9% financing over 36 months or $1,000 cash in your pocket.*

Now consider what else you get with the Stylus. To start, a powerful 1.6 litre engine. Then there's a 5 speed transmission, front wheel drive, AM-FM stereo and child proof door locks. Because even though the Stylus behaves like a sports car, it hasn't forgotten about your family.

Plus there's the Passport Protection Plan, that covers your Stylus bumper to bumper for 3 years or 80,000 km. Not to mention our free Road Alert Program that takes care of you if you ever have a flat tire or need a lift.*

Visit your nearest Passport dealer soon for all the details. You'll see how we've made banking more fun. Whether the Stylus is moving or not.

On Monday, November 26, 1990, Cornwall bridge players will join thousands of others throughout North America in the Fall ACBL-Wide Charity game. Alzheimer's Disease, Huntington's Disease and Parkinson's Disease will share as recipients in the proceeds from this game through the Canadian Bridge Federation Charitable Fund. The Cornwall Community Bridge Club, sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League, is sponsoring a section of this Fall ACBL-Wide Charity game with play starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall, 333 Second Street, East, Cornwall, Ontario. The competition will be truly international with players from the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Far and Near East, Alaska to Japan taking part. Every player in every game in every city will play the exact same hands under near identical conditions. Only one winner will emerge – the pair with the best percentage score on the computer-dealt set of hands.

All bridge players are invited to participate in this game. You do not have to be an ACBL member to compete in the local game. Among those with whom the Cornwall players will be competing for international recognition will be all the players in the ACBL's Fall North American Championships in San Francisco, California, who wil be playing the same hands at the same time. Prizes will be presented to the overall winners as well as the victors in each of the 25 Districts within the ACBL. Additionally, Masterpoints will be awarded to all those who finish well in each and every game on a sectional tournament basis.

If you are interested in any of the above charities and would like to participate, call 932-5637 and arrangements will be made for you to be part of this exciting event.

Bridge, published by Pergamon Bridge, Railway Road, Sutton Coldfield, West Midlands, B73 6AZ, England, is fast becoming one of the best and most informative bridge magazines in our library. It is a very excellent reference for our bridge column. If you are thinking of a Christmas present for your bridge playing spouse, this would be a first class choice. If you are interested, the writer would be glad to loan you a recent copy for your perusal along with annual subscription cost.

Local duplicate bridge games are scheduled as usual for the next week. Players are reminded that a Canadian National Team Championship event will be played the next two Thursday evenings at the Masonic Hall. This is your chance to pick up some red points. There will be a side game.

This is Prize Problem #11 from Bridge Magazine. How should West play Seven Clubs? North leads a trump and South follows suit. Send your answer to BRIDGE, preferably on a postcard, postmarked no later than 27 November, 1990. Contact the writer for any further information.

Perspective

By Bob Roth

The Great Socialist Hordes Have Not Arrived On Cue

If the NDP comes to power, the economy will be destroyed and children in Ontario will go hungry.

So said David Peterson on the eve of his stunning defeat.

And so have said many others over the years.

In fact, the well-fostered fear of the socialist bogeyman has kept the NDP from power, both federally and provincially (in Ontario), ever since the party's birth .

I often wondered why low- and middle-income people would never vote NDP, the party that always spoke up for the little guy. Instead, most working people would vote Conservative and Liberal only to find services cut and more money being taken out of their wallets in higher taxes.

Of course, the reason people didn't vote NDP was this great mythological fear of "socialism". Every time the NDP came close to power, the opposition would summon up this bogeyman and a childlike fear would overtake the electorate.

The NDP didn't know how to manage the economy said the Tories and Liberals – both of whom have driven us into a recession.

The NDP will tax us to death –said the Tories and Liberals who have made us one of the highest taxed people in North America.

The NDP have a warped sense of priorities, we were told. They will spend all our money on useless social welfare programs.

Well, it seems were going to get money for schools, roads and sewers – basic, practical services.

We've just heard the speech from the throne and it appears that there was no bogeyman after all.

Recognizing that the Liberals left us with a whopping deficit, Bob Rae has wisely said he will phase in many of his promised programs over the five-year term of his government – instead of implementing them right away. In other words, as he put it: "If the money's not there, you can't spend it." Sounds more like Michael Wilson than Karl Marx, doesn't it?

That means such promises as increasing school board funding and raising the minimum wage will be honoured, but in a fiscally responsible way.

The other thing that has really impressed me is the way this new government stands up to Toronto. Rae killed a multimillion dollar grant for an opera house arguing, quite correctly, that such projects are not a priority during a recession.

What is even more impressive is the sensible "make-work" program the Rae government has announced. Other governments have been implementing such programs for years –but much of the money was wasted. The NDP has just announced that $700 million would be spent on job creation. Early indications are that many of the dollars will go to sensible public works, such as improving our roads and sewers.

Municipalities have been arguing for years – to the old-line parties – that more provincial help is needed to maintain such vital services.

And its also refreshing to see some integrity in government. One NDPer got into some early problems for irregular behaviour and he has been kicked out of the party. He now sits as an independent. How many Liberals and Tories – out of the dozens nailed on conflict of interest – were kicked out of those parties?

Integrity, social conscience and fiscal responsibility. Don't tell me we now have a government guided by all three principles?

Where are the destructive socialist hordes the Liberals and Tories warned us about?

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Almost 85 percent of our population is against the proposed Goods and Services Tax. Yet our elected Tory representatives spout the government line instead of speaking in the House of Commons on behalf of their constituents or representing them when the vote was called. We hope the Senate will stop the tax.

Don Mazankowski put the whole business in perspective for me. He said that an appointed Senate had no right to block any decisions made on the floor of the House of Commons. The only decision I've seen made there was whether to spend an hour or an hour and fifteen minutes unveiling a statue of Lester B. Pearson. The House was not even sitting when troops were sent to Oka or ships to the gulf this summer.

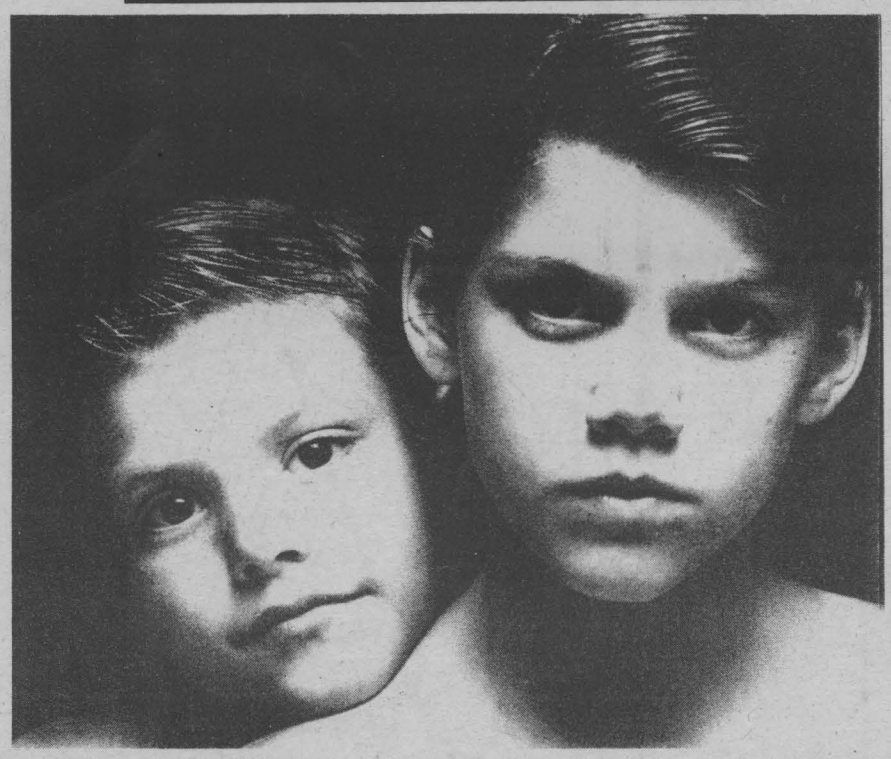
The Inner Cabinet is persuaded to support a proposal. Their solidarity persuades the full Cabinet. The caucus do as they are told if they want to remain members or to get their papers signed for the next election.

I believe it is time for Canadians to take back control of their country by a very simple means. In the next election we vote for someone who agrees in a signed notarized statement to represent his or her constituents and to resign as members of parliament should a petition containing names numbering 70% of the total votes cast during the election in that riding demand the member's recall.

Canadian voters are mature enough to know they can't get their own way on every issue, but they are entitled to see their own representatives representing them on the floor of the House of Commons.

Sincerely
D. Rhea East
Stratford, Ont.

"Not My Kid"



Peer pressure begins early. A national survey indicated a significant number of fourth graders said they felt "some" to "a lot" of peer pressure to try alcohol or marijuana. In the seventh grade, an alarming number of children said they felt pressure to try alcohol and marijuana. Young people are succumbing to peer pressure. According to the National Institute of Drug Abuse and the National Council on Alcoholism: "The average age of first drug use is 13. Of first alcohol use - 12." These statistics hold true for the the children of Upstate New York/S. Eastern Canada.

Why kid yourself? Substance abuse has been a problem for a long time. Today it is a larger and more serious problem than ever before. Pay attention to the facts.

Know the signs.

ROSE HILL

There is Help Available

Chemical Dependency Program for Youth

Rose Hill is a modern residential treatment facility in Massena, NY, removed from big-city pressures and in touch with the natural environment. The local community strongly supports Rose Hill and provides many resources for its programs.

Rose Hill emphasizes well-being and focuses on the process of addiction rather than the particular drug of abuse.

Treatment is based on the belief that addiction to mood-altering chemicals is a progressive, chronic and sometimes fatal disease. In the treatment process the whole person - body, mind, spirit, and emotions - is addressed. The family is also involved in the treatment, with follow up in an intensive continuing care program for both patient and family.

You need not feel helpless any longer. We're here to help.

Adult Asthma Versus Childhood Asthma

Asthma can begin at any time of life. Hereditary factors do play a role as in the inherited tendencies to allergy and/or twitchy airways, but this does not mean that symptoms of asthma will necessarily start in childhood. Patients in late adult life have developed asthma for the first time. In addition childhood asthma symptoms may clear completely but re-occur again later in adult life. Often the inciting factor for the onset of symptomatic asthma is not clear. It might be a respiratory infection or exposure to a workplace substance which causes "sensitisation" by an allergic mechanism. Other possibilities are that it may be related to a new allergen exposure at home, a cat for example, or symptoms may occur after taking ASA (aspirin) or foods containing sulphite preservatives.

Once asthma does start in adult life the triggering factors which may worsen symptoms are similar to those in childhood asthma:

- Respiratory infections (colds);
- Irritants such as smoke, fumes, sprays, cold air, exercise;
- Allergic responses to dust mite, animals, pollens and fungal spores;
- Medications such as aspirin, beta blocking agents used for high blood pressure, cardiac disease, migraine and thyroid disease;
- Food additives such as sulphates; as well as:
- Workplace agents such as red cedar dust and chemicals.

Of these, medications and workplace agents are more relevant to adult asthma due to increased exposure.

Are there differences in management?

Adult asthma is managed using similar principles as in childhood asthma - assessing severity, understanding and avoiding triggering factors for the individual affected and the use of appropriate medications. Over the past ten years the approach to medication use has radically changed, with the emphasis being to reduce airway twitchiness and prevent exacerbations. This is accomplished mainly through the use of inhaled steroid medications (Beclovent, Vanceril, Pulmicort) in high or low dose inhalers, and less commonly, through the use of cromolyn (Intal). Inhaled broncholdiolators such as Ventolin, Briconyl, Berotec, Pro-Air are used mainly to treat symptoms on a short term basis. The air of treatment is to be wheeze free, able to live a normal life and sleep through the night without disturbance from cough or wheeze. Due to the recent improvements in the availability of medications over the past five years, it is certainly warranted for anyone with asthma whose symptoms are not controlled to this extent to be reassessed. Allergen injection treatment (allergy shots) have not been carefully demonstrated to improve adult asthma and their use is controversial at this time.

Adult asthma is very treatable now. Improvements in the production of safe, effective medications in the past five years make it important for adults with long standing asthma to discuss these changes with their physician. Triggering factors should be carefully identified for each person and reassessed for individuals who may have changed over they years. Contact The Lung Association for more information.

S.D. & G. Highlanders Change of Command

A change-of-command ceremony for the SD & G Highlanders took place on Sunday November 25, 1990 at the Cornwall Armoury.

The inspecting officer was Colonel M.D. Campell, ADC, CD, commander of the Ottawa Militia District.

Lt. Col. J.K. Simpson, who has been commanding officer since 1987, will relinquish command of the SD&G Highlanders to Lt. Col. R.J. Brooks.

Lt. Col. Simpson is employed by the Canadian Transportation Commission in Moncton, New Brunswick. He is married to Major Jo-Ann Logan, who is also in the militia, and they have two sons, Scott and Ian.

The new commanding officer, Lt. Col. R.J. Brooks is married to the former Margaret McGowan and they are residing in the Hudson area with their two children Donna Lynn and Robbie.

Lt. Col. Brooks obtained his degree in electronics from the Montreal Institute of Technology, and is presently a manager for Canadian Marconi, Defense Communication Division.

Lt. Col. Brooks military career started in 1962 when he enrolled as a trooper in The Royal Canadian Hussars. Following service with 3rd Field Engineer Regiment as a sapper and later as an NCO he was commissioned as an officer into his original regiment in 1968, and culminated in his assuming command of B Squadron, RCH in 1974 in the rank of Major. He was transferred to 712 Communications Squadron in 1976 and was appointed commanding officer the following year. Upon completion of this command he held a number of staff appointments at 71 Communications Group, District No. 1 Headquarters. In 1982 he joined The Royal Montreal Regiment as operations officer, and was promoted in the spring of that year to his present rank of Lt. Col. and his appointment of commanding officer of the regiment. Lt. Col. Brooks relinquished command of The Royal Montreal Regiment in May 1986.

SYLVIA's Slant

By Sylvia Hall

Most of us have, at some time, experienced the death of a relative or a close friend and have had to deal with the grief. This has happened to me many times, as I had cause to remember on Nov. 11th.

I recently suffered a different loss, but just as sad. It was our older family dog. She became ours when she was tossed out of a car onto our front lawn about 16 years ago. This is not an unusual experience for people who live in the country. Such as the time we found four new-born kittens in our mailbox. Shortly after the arrival of this sweet dog, she gave birth to 8 lovely puppies. She was such a wonderful mother. So very caring, patient and oh! so clean. We found very good homes for her puppies, although we would like to have kept them all. After her recovery, it was off the the Vet to have her spayed. That was when we found out she had a "leaky" heart. We had no idea how old she was but it wasn't long before she adapted to the country and became a hunter. Every day she deposited dead ground hogs outside the door. She looked so proud. I'm sure she wanted me to have a fur coat! Unfortunately she also discovered porcupines. What a shock to open the door and see two dogs with their noses, faces and throats dripping blood and filled with quills. Off to the Vet's where they had to undergo general anaesthetic to remove the quills, not a safe procedure for a dog with a bad heart. After the second time, it never happened again. Over the years this lovely dog gave us loyalty and affection. She always seemed to know when someone was feeling "down", and stayed beside us. She was terrified of thunder and lightening storms, yet always seemed to know at least an hour before one was due. That's when she needed to be close to one of us, as she would tremble in fear. Over the years she suffered all the usual, and some unusual dog ailments, but she also taught our other little, much younger dog to hunt, not to chase cars and to obey commands. Then old age set in. This dog that used to literally bounce up and down and greet everyone with great affection, was now very arthritic. She developed cataracts, walked into doors and lost her faculties. We knew the end was near. We knew we had to make a decision. Should we keep her, knowing her suffering, or act God and end her misery. She had taken to sleeping in the house, instead of the barn. She had her favourite chair, with a special soft cover. She had a way of curling up in it and staring at us as though asking us for help.

It was a difficult decision to make, yet we somehow knew that the time was right. We knew she was too proud to be carried in and out of the house when she couldn't manage the two steps. So we ended her misery. That was such a black day. I removed the cover and cleaned "her" chair. That day our other dog came in and looked at the chair, she lay down beside it and cried, and so did I. People who say "But she was only a dog" don't realize that to us she was so much more. She was a comfort, and a joyous companion. She taught our children and grandchildren to be kind, gentle and caring and she guarded them.

She's gone, but not from our minds or hearts and we still grieve. We know we did the "right" thing, but is there ever a right time to lose a loved one, whether person or a pet. We all benefited in many ways from living with one wonderful dog, and now we seem deprived by her passing. She has left not just an empty chair, but an emptiness in our lives and our hearts.

Registered Retirement Income Funds

People who are turning 71 must make an important decision about how to convert their Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) into a source of income. The choice they make is crucial because the result will likely be their primary source of income during retirement.

Traditionally, investors have had two options: either withdraw all their money in cash, or convert their RRSP into a life or fixed term annuity. Withdrawing was less attractive because most people would be taxed heavily. So, the majority of people chose annuities, "life" plans that guaranteed them a regular income for the rest of their life. Some annuities also offered guarantees for a fixed period so that if the investor died, payments would continue to be made to his/her estate.

However, annuities don't protect against inflation. The buying power of people who convert their RRSP's into annuities shrinks each year.

Since 1986, the situation regarding retirement income options has improved dramatically with Registered Retirement Income Funds (RRIFs) emerging as one of the best vehicles to handle investors' retirement income needs.

A RRIF is a contract that provides periodic payments to the investor from the starting date until the investor reaches age 90. For many years, RRIFs were unpopular because their rules were inflexible. Then, after the federal government loosened the rules, many people began converting their RRSPs into RRIFs instead of annuities.

Under the new rules, investors can own more than one RRIF. As well, there is no limit on the amount investors may receive from their RRIF each year. However, they must with draw a minimum amount calculated by their current age subtracted from age 90. Another RRIF advantage is that investors can begin receiving payment from the RRIF immediatedly after purchasing it rather than being obliged to wait until the nest calendar year. Also, a RRIF continues to allow investors to accumulate funds tax-free until they are withdrawn.

Here is how RRIF payments work. Each payment investors receive is a fraction of the value of the investor's capital at the start of the year. This fraction is equal to one divided by the difference between your age and 90. So, if you have a plan valued at $300,000 and you are 70 years old, the payment you will receive is 1/20th of the fund or $15,000. This is the minimum annual payment in that year. It can be higher if you wish, but withdrawing too much money too soon can deplete your funds and the excess is subject to a withholding tax.

As you get older, the fractonal amounts increase so that when you are 71, you will receive 1/19th; when your are 72, 1/18th, when your are 73, 1/17th and so on. When you become 89, you will receive 1/1, that is 100 per cent of the remainder.

While a disadvantage of a RRIF is that investors must exhaust all the fund's money by the time they turn 90, a RRIF has advantages too numerous to mention here that make it far more attractive than an annuity.

Consider two of them. First, a RRIF offers a wide and varied range of investment choices. Unlike an annuity, which is based on fixed income returns, a RRIF can be invested in growth or balanced investments, such as mutual funds.

Second, a RRIF far surpasses annuities in generating income and compensating for inflation. Suppose at 61 you bought a $100,000 annuity invested at 12 per cent over 30 years. You would receive $12,414 each year until you reached 90 and your cumulative total would be $372,000.

On the other hand, if you had bought a RRIF with the same prinicipal investment of $100,000, also invested at 12 per cent, you would receive $3,733 in the first year. Since less money is withdrawn in the early years of the RRIF, more money is left to compound and grow tax-free in the following years. By the 10th year, you would receive $10,353. By the 20th year, $32,150 and by the 30th year, close to $100,000. Over 30 years, you would receive a total of $900,000, 2.4 times as much as the annuity.

Now, let's assume that inflation remains at five per cent during the next 30 years. That means the final $12,414 annual annuity payment would actually be worth only $2,110 in 1989 dollars. By comparison, the RRIFs final payment of approximately $100,000 would be worth $17,000 in constant dollars.

With this in mind, think what would have happened if you had invested your RRIF in a mutual fund that has the potential of yieldihng an average of 15 per cent a year. During 30 years, you would receive a return of $1.4 million.

Talk to an investment specialist or stock broker to discover how an RRIF can be tailored to fit your retirement income needs.

The Derry's Limos Capture The Nepean Atom "A" Tournament

The Derry's Limousine Service Atom "A" Royals captured the Nepean Atom "A" Tournament by collecting 11 of a possible 15 points to take first place in round robin play and defeating North Shore Montreal 3-2 in overtime in the final game played at the Walter Baker Arena on Sunday.

In the first game on Friday night the Royals played North Shore Montreal to a 4-4 tie and collected 2.5 points. Pierre Tranchemontagne put the Royals on the board on a pass from Daniel Dupuis. Yves Ruest set up by Travis Young and Kurt MacDonald made it 2-2. Daniel Dupuis added two more with David McNally set ups. Shawn Martelock played nets for the Royals.

In the early game on Saturday the Royals notched 4 points defeating east Ottawa 3-1. David McNally and Pierre Tranchemontagne put Daniel Dupuis in the open for the Royals first goal. Travis Young added another on a pass from Kurt MacDonald and Yves Ruest. Brock Miron scored the Royals third goal with Jay Jodoin and Jamie Laframboise collecting the assists. Patrick Ruest was the Royals netminder.

In the late afternoon game on Saturday the Royals collected another 4.5 points by defeating the host team 9-3. David McNally scored three, Daniel Dupuis and Yves Ruest got two each, Travis Young and Pierre Tranchemontagne got one each. Some of the goals were set up by good passes from defensemen Christian Cadieux, Patrick Herrington, Randy Rogers and Eric Fontaine. Patrick Ruest played a good game in nets for the Royals.

Christianity Alive

By Bob Burgess, Pastor
New Life Covenant Church
(A Spirit-Filled New Testament Church)

"Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors" (Matt. 6:12)

The Bible has a lot to say about forgiveness. Jesus preached on it at various times and as noted above, taught the principle of forgiveness as part of what traditionally is known as the "Lord's Prayer."

Forgiveness is not a word we hear a lot about these days; not from the T.V., our neighbours, our friends or even in our schools. Quite the contrary, we hear alot about "revenge," "get even," "killings," etc.....

We see many examples in Scripture of forgiveness and the best example is Jesus from the cross when he uttered "Forgive them Father, for they know not what they do."

To practise forgiveness however, one must first be forgiven. One has to realize the great price Jesus paid on the cross for his/her sins. Once you realize how much you have sinned and how much God forgave you, then it becomes easy to forgive others. Whenever we begin to see how much we need forgiveness for our own lives then it becomes easy to forgive others.

We tend to think that we'll forgive so & so when they apologize. That's not the way of the scripture. The Bible insists that I must first forgive others. Luke 6:37 states "Forgive and ye shall be forgiven." Again, the onus is on me to forgive others first. How many times should we forgive someone? Again the Bible in Matthew 18: 21 & 22 states that we should forgive "seventy times seven."

Forgiving people is a wonderful way to live, but again it begins with one receiving forgiveness from God because only when one sees his/her great need for forgiveness can they forgive others. Only when one sees that they have sinned against a Holy God and turned from their sins and accept Jesus' payment on the cross for their sins can they receive forgiveness for their lives.

I trust that you will see the importance of forgiveness and begin today to make it a part of your life. Begin to appropriate by faith God's forgiveness for your life and forgiveness for others will be a lot easier. Forgive and ye shall be forgiven.

Food For Thought:
1. Man considers the deeds, but God weights the intentions.
2. We really live when we learn to forgive.

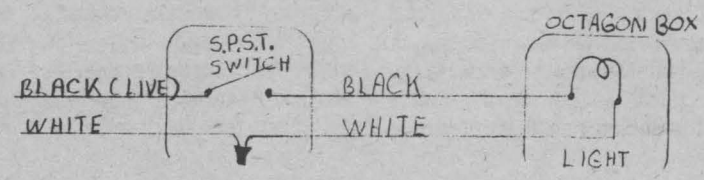
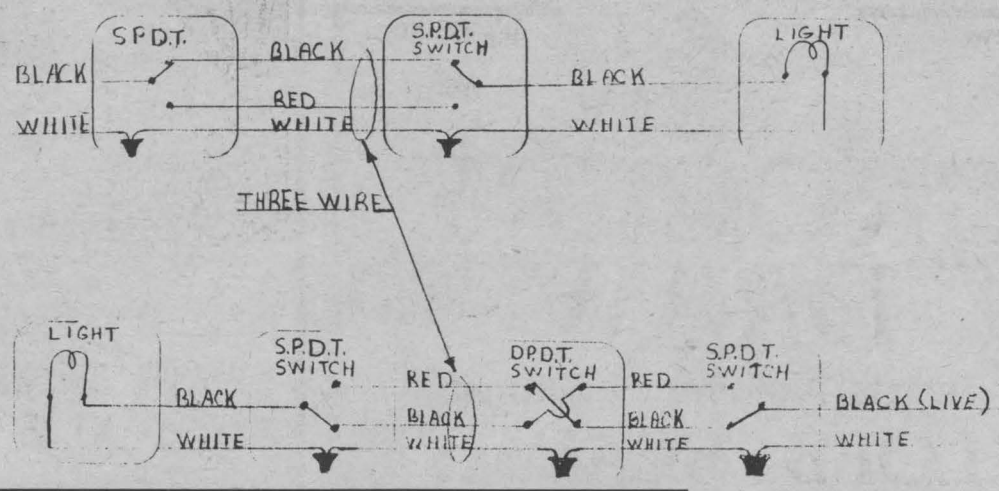
KNOW YOUR ELECTRICITY
By Brian Bedard

House Wiring Switches

There are three types of switches that are used in residential wiring, they are single pole switch (S.P.S.T.). This is your basic on/off switch. The next one is your single pole double throw switch (S.P.D.T.). This is what we call the three way switch. Our next switch is the double pole double throw switch (D.P.D.T.). We call this one our four way switch.





Each one of these switches has a certain role. We will start to talk about our single pole single throw switch. This switch serves two functions only. It will turn a circuit on or off and is wired directly in series with the live wire. When this type of switch is installed in a house, the on position must be wired so the switch is facing upwards. The reason for this is in the even of a fire, all firemen are trained to turn switches off in the downward position.

If you want to control a light from two different positions, you would require three way switches. These switches have three terminal connections on them, and require a three wires run between switches and light for three correct operation. It does not matter what position the switch is in during installation as these switches operate in either the up or down position.

Our last switch is the four way switch. This switch has four terminal connections on its body. It would be wired in conjunction with the three way switches. In this circuit the four way switch will be wired between the three way switches. There is no preset position that the four way switch has to be installed as the switch will be in either the up or down position to operate.

All switches must be rated for the amount of current they will carry. These are your basic switches, but there are many different types such as dimmer switches, quiet switches, etc... Here are diagrams showing the proper way to wire these switches.

The Cancer Research Society Inc. Fund Raising Campaign

The Cancer Research Society Inc. is conducting in November its financial campaign for research funds to find a cure for cancer. President Flora Caplan announced that this year's objective is to raise $7,000,000 with the help of some 5,000 volunteers throughout Canada.

Since 1964, CRSI has been fostering the work of Canadian scientists, physicians and researchers whose skill and talents are committed to the fight against cancer. In the last 5 years the Society has distributed over 19.5 million dollars in research fellowsips and grants. President Caplan is also happy to announce a new scholarship program to assist young, well-trained scientists launch careers in cancer research. The program has been jointly established with the Medical Research Council of Canada (MRC).

Some 40 hospitals, universities and scientific institutes in Canada have benefitted from the Cancer Research Society. Presently, all medical schools in Canada receive grants.

The volunter nature of the Society's organization allows more dollars to be dedicated to cancer research, the sole object of the Society.

Thanks in part to the discoveries made possible by such research donations, some of the deadliest forms of cancer like childhood leukaemia, Hodgkin's disease and testicular tumours are now curable in many cases. Much more support is still needed to help finance projects underway or to be presented, to speed the day when all cancer will be controlled.

All donations are tax-deductable and can be sent directly to: The Cancer Research Society Inc. (CRSI), P.O. Box 183, 19 Esterel, Place Bonaventure, Montreal, QC, H5A 1K8.

For information: Flora Caplan, President or Dr. Gaston De Lamirande at 1-800-461-6845 (Toll Free); Fax. (514) 861-9220.

Seaway Valley Muscle World Minor Peewee AA Get a Major Lift!

On Tuesday Nov. 18th, the Muscle World men played host to the powerful Gloucester Rangers in Ottawa District Minor Hockey League play. After the Rangers set a rapid pace, leading 2-0 very early in the game, the Rapids showed their true colours by fighting back for a 2-2 draw.

Scoring for the Muscle World team were Jamie Roberts, and Ian Henderson. Drawing assists for the night were Alain Lefebvre, Tim Graham, Jason Prieur and Todd Beehler.

First French Public School In Cornwall To Open

In response to the request of francophone parents within its jurisdiction, the French Language Section of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Public School Board is happy to announce the official opening of its first French school for the month of September 1991. The school will be located at 780 Sydney Street, right in the heart of Cornwall.

Following a meeting of the French Language Section, it was decided that, for the 1991-92 school year, the French elementary school will accomodate children from pre-kindergarten to grade three inclusively. It was also recommended that the school offer programs which would respond to the needs of all of its students; that the Committee of Francophone Affairs establish an admission policy to be approved by the French Language Section at its February 1991 meeting; that school bus transportation be available to the entire area of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry and that all requests to purchase education from other Boards be approved, prior to the service being given, by the French Language Section; finally, that the interviews for the selection of the school Principal be held in January of 1991 and that it be preceded by a competition at the provincial level. This decision to open a French Public school will give the francophone parents of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry region a choice of education they wish for their children, as is the case for English language students.

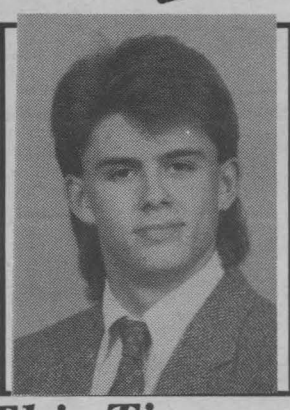
MEET THE CORNWALL ROYALS



Jeff Reid

Jeff was a bit of a longshot to make the Royals last season as an 11th round midget draft pick out of Owen Sound. As a tribute to what hard work can do for you, he not only made the team but scored 13 goals, added 20 assists and was named the Royals 1990 Rookie-of-the Year.

Jeff, with 9 goals in the first 22 contests, is on pace to easily surpass last season's totals. He's considered to possess strong leadership qualities and should be one of the team's "lettermen" next season.

This Time In History — 1975

Tim Bernhardt, the goaltender the Royals had selected with their first choice in the midget draft, earned his first major junior shutout when the Royals blanked Laval 2-0. The youngster from Sarnia would appear in 51 regular season games for the Royals and help them to a 39-24-9 record and second place finish in the West Division of the QMJHL. Bernhardt was a second round draft pick of the Atlanta Flames in 1978.

COACH'S CORNER

by Marc Crawford

The hottest hockey topic in Cornwall these days seems to be the status of Owen Nolan.

At the start of the season we, at the Royals office, were of the opinion that we should proceed as if Owen would never return.

Now our thinking has become clouded what with Owen sitting out a number of games and most recently our hopes have been boosted by the Nordiques sending Owen to their minor league affiliate team in Halifax.

Stay tuned for further developments.

Life at 71 years of age

What do you do when you turn 72? Well I'm not sure but one thing you will not do this year is contribute to your Registered Retirement Savings Plan.

Under the current set of guidelines anyone who is now 71 or will turn 71 years of age before December 31, 1990 must consider what to do with their R.R.S.P.

The choices you must make are limited to three courses of action given that you can no longer keep your hard earned money in a tax sheltered R.R.S.P.

First, you can cash the entire R.S.P. in and in doing so terminate the plan. The result will be a one time tax problem and is not a course that many people take or are advised to do so.

Second, you can purchase an annuity under which any number of options can be selected and tailored to meet the very specific needs of the annuitant. There are no tax problems (at least not yet) because the funds flow directly from one tax sheltered environment to another. I will not cover these simply because it does not leave the investor with enough control over his affairs and hence do not recommend this course of action.

The third choice is to open a Registered Retirement Income Fund (whether it be self directed or not) and to allow the funds to flow again into a tax sheltered environment. For those of you who understand an R.R.S.P. the RIF is simply a continuation of these same ideas.

The operating features are the same with income generated in the account and not taxed until it is taken out. The eligible investments are the same. The primary difference is that some amount must be withdrawn from a RIF each year and included in income. It should be noted that the withholding tax applies only to amounts withdrawn in excess of the minimum.

So Who Should Consider an RIF?

Everyone. It goes without saying that if you have finally made it to your 71st birthday you have seen it all; the ups, the downs, the ins, the outs. But after such a long haul you may have reached the point where you don't want to make any more decisions about anything including financial ones.

That's no problem, because any good advisor will tell you to stick with the things that make you comfortable. In trying to decide what course of action to take, this individual may find exactly what they want in annuity. They will take a very limited role in managing their assets and find peace of mind in cashing a cheque once a month with no more thought required. (Wait a second, this sounds too good.)

On the other hand though there are those who have reached this point in their lives by taking charge of matters; they may be ready to really take retirement seriously but as one client put it "It would be a cold day somewhere when the money he had worked all his life for was controlled by someone else." A person with this attitude will want the flexibility and control a RIF can provide.

In the end it's not what makes you money but what makes you happy.

Next week I will look at the details of a Registered Income Fund.

Michael Mills is an investment advisor with RBC Dominion Securities in Cornwall.

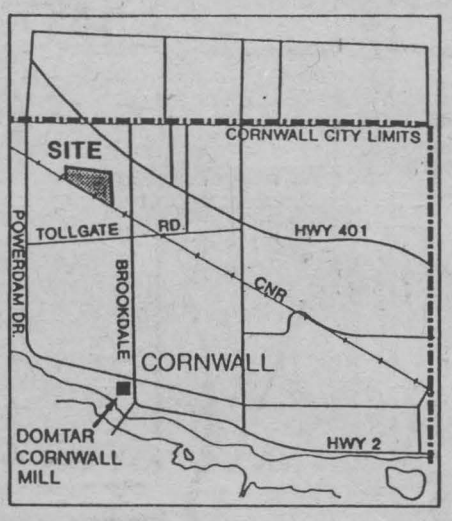
DOMTAR

CORNWALL MILL
MILL RESIDUE MANAGEMENT PROJECT
PUBLIC FORUM

Domtar Fine Papers has been undertaking a Mill Residue Management Project for the Cornwall Mill. In addition to 3R (reduce, recycle, and reuse) initiatives, the project identified the need for a new landfill. As a result of a site selection process a preferred site for a landfill was identified in the City of Cornwall. The proposed site is located west of Brookdale Avenue between Highway 401 and the CNR tracks (see map).

M.M. Dillon Limited, along with CJB Associates and S.S. Wilson and Associates, are currently carrying out environmental impact studies on the proposed landfill site. The studies focus on the assessment of possible impacts and on identifying measures to minimize any impacts.



PUBLIC FORUM

You are invited to attend a Public Forum to review the work which has been completed to date on the site selection process and evaluation of waste management methods. Also on display, will be an outline of the proposed detailed site assessment study for this preferred site. The Public Forum will be an informal walk-in session. Representatives of Domtar and M.M. Dillon Limited will be available to explain past and future work and to answer questions. A major focus will be upon acquiring public comments on the proposed work.

The forum will be held on:

A new way to stuff holiday turkey

Turkey stuffing is one of those time-honored and treasured holiday foods that often go unchanged from holiday to holiday, from generation to generation. Chances are, during this holiday season, family cooks all over America will be preparing turkey stuffing from recipes their mothers, grandmothers or even great-grandmothers passed along. But for adventuresome holiday cooks, there's a wonderful new "twist" to add to any favorite stuffing recipe that's sure to become an instant classic!

Pretzels! Just think of it—no fat, no added sugar and no cholesterol make pretzels a wonderful "guilt-free" addition to Grandma's classic recipe. Although many Americans are increasingly concerned with fat and cholesterol intake, pretzel fans can relax. Leading cooking experts and nutritionists favor pretzels because they contain no fat, no added sugar and no cholesterol.

Snyder's of Hanover has been in the pretzel business for 65 years and has developed a mistake-proof pretzel stuffing recipe featuring their popular Sourdough Hard Pretzels. Best of all, these pretzels add a delightful and unexpected sourdough flavor pretzels fans know and love, without added fat or sugar.

Sample Sourdough Hard Pretzels in your favorite recipe, or try the Snyder's of Hanover recipe specially created for sourdough pretzels.

- 6 oz. pkg long grain wild rice prepared according to pkg. directions
- 8 oz. sliced fresh mushrooms, sautéed
- 1 medium onion, chopped, sautéed
- 12 oz. pkg. link sausages, browned and cut into 1/4" pieces
- 2 cups Snyder's of Hanover Sourdough Hard Pretzels (salted or unsalted), broken into 1/2" pieces, crumbs removed
- 3 cups bread sticks, croutons, or 1 small pkg. stuffing croutons Celery seed, salt, pepper, sage to taste

Combine all the above in a very large bowl and fill turkey cavities. Spoon remaining stuffing in a casserole and baste with pan drippings or chicken broth. Cover with foil and place in the oven 1 hour before serving. For crispy stuffing, remove foil for 10-15 minutes.

We hear several Cornwall groups performed in Ottawa's Santa Parade ... too bad they had to miss ours.

Cornwall Snowsuit Fund collected over $1,200.00 during Santa Claus Parade. Thanks ...

Rumour has it ... photos were taken of a beached whale caught napping on Wayne Helps couch.

Congratulation to Karen and Vince Lefebvre, you sneaky devils ... seems they invited all their family and friends to the church to christen their son Patrick but caught everyone off guard by getting married first. Sammy's best to the Lefebvre family and get back to making those pies Vince, Christmas is coming to fast ...

Well let me ask you, aren't the Toronto Maple Leafs looking for a hockey player that can score? Well do I have a great guy for them, none other than "Ryan Reid" from Long Sault. He put the puck in the net on his birthday! Nice goal! Ryan is with the novice travelling team/South Stormont Flyers from Cornwall TWP. Happy goals & happy 9 yrs. old. Another who loves you ... Grandma Chris.

Sammy got a phone call this week from Scott Johnson over at Fiberez informing us that they have an acrylic 3 pc. sectional with exclusive patent design geared for renovation market that was introduced in Oct./90.

It's a rumour but also maybe a bad joke ... Angelo Lebano running for School Board so he can be closer to Joe Gunn.

Congratulations going out to Kathy and Charlie Bray on the safe arrival of their second child ..... a girl!!

A recent "shopping" spree at a local high school netted this student (nameless) a school bag, calculator, Fido Dido shirt & a brand new pair (boy's) LA Gear (size 8) shoes. The caller (mother) is wishing this person the same type of holiday she & her family will be experiencing (being on welfare)!

Ulcers often result from mountain climbing over molehills.

Did you see the item in the Gazette where someone has discovered that the maple leaf on our penny is not a maple leaf at all. Seems that a maple leaf grows from a common point on a twig and the pair of leaves on the coin does not.

Great Santa Claus Parade!! Too bad Santa did not have time to wash his suit – Pollution must be real bad in the Arctic!! And really Santa how could we see the twinkle in your eye with your shades on!!

Nov. 17th a.m. ... (nameless) spotted leaving a U.S. store with parcels in hand. Could it be that "Big Blue" now approves shopping state side??

A reader called to point out what she thought was an inconsistency on the part of Council members Aimé Leblanc and Terri Lalonde. They declined to go to Gananoque because of the cost to taxpayers but yet went to a conference in Quebec City!?

Today, "FARM" is a four-letter word meaning a chunk of land that, if you get up early enough in the morning and work very late every night, it'll make your rich – if you strike oil.

YOU'RE NEVER TOO LATE!

Sit up & take note, folks ... this new resident, from Montreal, wants to "applaud" the city for its one-way street systems. She finds driving & shopping, around Cornwall, a "real joy"!

Send-out-the-Christmas-Spirit by supporting the Canadian troops stationed in the Gulf this holiday. Simply drop off your signed card (enclosed message, if you wish) to the RCAF Club on Water St. Don't forget ... make sure your return address is on envelope.

Robert Regnier was the only casuality at the Santa Claus Parade. He broke his foot while making Winnie-the-Pooh for the Sears float. We saw steam rising from Dave Windsor's head. Looking forward to seeing more major retailers in the parade next year.

My grandfather could dicker with the best of them. One day he went to an estate sale, and was inspecting an old bent-out-of-shape serving spoon. "How much do you want for it?" he asked with a frown on his face.

"One cent," the seller answered.

"Oh, I don't know," he hesitated.

"Go ahead," the seller said, "make me an offer."

For Ginette and Michel Lalonde ... 8 1/2 lbs of bouncing baby girl.

Are you missing out? Do you want to be where the action is? H.D.H. Dec. 1/90 (that's the Hotel Dieu Hospital, folks).

Wow!! Does the time fly when your having fun... Congratulations going out to Rick & Rob Reid who are celebrating 13 years of love & marriage on Nov. 24/90. Also a big hug & kiss going out to my son Rick who will be celebrating his birthday on Nov. 27 or is it 29 HA! HA! Love Mom – Chris Reid Gallant.

Tell the pilot not to fly faster than the speed of sound; I'd like to have a conversation during the flight.

IT'S A GIRL

Chamber Manager Lezlie Strasser and husband Joe Strasser are pleased to announce the birth of their first child Alyssa Ann weighing 5lbs 10 oz on Tuesday November 6, 1990.

A big raspberry to CTV. One morning last week for at least 3 successive newscasts they ran the story of the Dept. of National Defence buying body bags. What a terrible distortion of a normal routine item. A pox on NDP member Ray Skelly for raising the issue in the Commons.

1990 - Lights of Hope Campaign

The Second Annual Lights of Hope Campaign, sponsored by the Pediatric Group of the Hotel Dieu Hospital, in association with Farm Boy, was officially launched on November 1st by Co-chairman, Chuck Lefleur and Campaign Co-ordinator, Brenda Webber-Thomson.

The goal once again is to light a giant Christmas Tree which is on display from now until Christmas at the Farm Boy parking lot.

All monies raised as a result of the Campaign will go directly to assist the Hotel Dieu Hospital in purchasing much needed equipment for the Pediatric Unit. Last year's Campaign raised in excess of $15,000 and as a result of Farm Boy's support towards all administration and logistical costs, all monies raised went directly to the Hospital.

The Campaign will run over the next six weeks, culminating in the lighting of the giant Christmas Tree on Sunday, December 16th at 7:00 pm at the Farm Boy parking lot and the public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Donations to the Campaign may be made at either branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank in Cornwall, at Farm Boy or by mail to P.O. Box 94, Cornwall, K6H 5R5 with all cheques made payable to the Lights of Hope Campaign.

Cornwall KMart Invites you to Join in Children's Tree Program

The Cornwall KMart Social Committee, a group of KMart employee volunteers, is inviting customers they serve to join in the Children's Tree Program, designed to help needy children at Christmas.

Beginning Nov. 23 through Dec. 15, the Cornwall KMart store located at 1400 Vincent Massy Dr., will have a Children's Christmas Tree trimmed with colourful paper tags. The purpose of this Children's Tree is to provide local needy children with a new gift for the holiday.

Each tag will give information on an underprivileged child such as first name, their sex, clothing size and age. People interested in making a needy child's Christmas brighter select a tag from the Children's Tree and purchase a gift for the child. The child's name must be registered at the Cornwall KMart store, but the gifts can be purchased at any location.

Presents for the children should be returned gift wrapped to the Cornwall store with the tag by Dec. 15. The Cornwall KMart Social Committee will make sure each child's gift is ready to open on Christmas morning.

"This KMart Social Committee Program helps make Christmas what it should be, the happiest time of the year for Children," said Mr. R. Miller, KMart store Manager. "And it provides people with a way to express the joy of caring."

KMart acquired the needy children's names from local organizations involved with these children on a regular basis.

HOROSCOPES

NOV 25th-DEC 1

ARIES - March 21/April 20
This is a good week to begin a program of regular exercise. Problems at work on Monday and Tuesday will be sorted out by mid-week, so keep your feelings under control! If you keep an open mind, you could be steered in new directions.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21
You'll have to put extra time and effort into work this week and this could leave you with very little time for social activities until Friday or Saturday. Pay attention to the creativity around you and your holiday shopping, no doubt, will be interesting.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21
Your shining mental abilities will be noticed by those in authority. You pick things up by this positive approach. If you are single, you could find that the weekend provides a vital turning point in your romantic life—perhaps a more binding commitment. Work is peaceful and relations with coworkers are good.

CANCER - June 22/July 22
Take care of your diet right now. Foods are symbols of health and all those things that are good for you. Leave Saturday free for shopping. Your household routine may be thrown into disarray because your partner has to spend more time at work.

LEO - July 23/August 23
You're good at giving directions, and will have more energy to do so this weekend. However, you could be overdoing it at work—try a more relaxed pace. Expect mistakes at work and at home on Tuesday. An older relative needs help around mid-week and this could leave you with very little time for personal matters until Friday.

VIRGO - August 24/Sept 22
Wait until next weekend to start the holiday shopping. Meanwhile, you could be getting some surprising news midweek which gives you something to think about. Some heavy expenses will occur, but you'll feel that it's money well spent on the home.

LIBRA - September 23/Oct 23
Domestic problems are sure to be taking up much of your time this week. You may not like it, but you realize that family obligations take first place. However, there's a lot happening to please you and offset any grievances you may feel. Be on your guard against cuts and bruises this week.

SCORPIO - October 24/Nov 22
Don't forget that unfulfilled family obligation; a concerned relative may be running out of patience—and not without reason! A routine week at first, but it certainly livens up on Thursday and Friday. As the week draws to a close, your financial affairs will be taking a definite turn for the better. Good news is coming your way.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
There are some nice planetary activities circling in your sphere. It does not have an effect on what is happening now, but what could happen in the near future. Your ambitious and adventurous impulses will have an outlet after next weekend.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
A short weekend jaunt cheers you but some upsets can be expected on Sunday. Don't overburden yourself with work in order to impress those in charge—there are limits to your energy! Go ahead with all social engagements, however, as they may lead to some very pleasing surprises.

AQUARIUS - January 21/Feb 18
Major plans seem to have slowed down, but don't get impatient—they will pick up again later in a more favorable way. This week will be full, both at work and play, and you could find yourself being introduced to new acquaintances of whom you'll be seeing more.

PISCES - February 19/March 20
Beware of some trouble spots at home during the weekend. You'll probably be nervous this week waiting for big changes at work, but nothing will be solved until next Friday. Friends could be getting into difficulties and could involve you in financial problems.

Your birthday this week
THE NEXT 12 MONTHS

Something that happens in an unusual or indirect way over the next 12 months will make you more secure, confident and contented. April and May could be your best months in 1991, if you are hoping to put a relationship on a more intimate basis. It's not too late to decide what you really want to be when you grow up.

1991 Isuzu Stylus S, XS

(NC)—All the comfort and reliability of a four-door sedan plus the agility and performance that's found in a sports car come together in Passport's new Isuzu Stylus S and XS.

Representing Isuzu's innovative automotive design technology, the Stylus S features a powerful 1.6-L, 12 valve, single-overhead camshaft, multiport, fuel injected, four cylinder engine. It produces 95 horsepower at 5800 rpm and with a smooth five-speed manual transmission, the Stylus can accelerate form zero to 60 mph in only 9.5 seconds. an optional, fuel-conscious, three-speed automatic with shift interlock is also available.

The Stylus XS takes the more performance-minded driver one step further. The engine has 16 valves and a double-overhead camshaft, and produces an impressive 130 horsepower at 6800 rpm. Also sporting a four-wheel independent suspension system designed by Lotus, the XS offers extraordinary smoothness and control, the ability to take corners faster, and amazing manageability in adverse road conditions.

Both S and XS models ride easily on the front L-arm and rear multi-linked independent Macpherson strut suspensions. With rack and pinion steering, Isuzu's engineers have made Stylus responsive to the driver's lightest touch.

Braking is equally effortless: the Stylus S has power disc brakes up front and drum brakes in the rear, while the XS assumes even more stopping power with four-wheel disc brakes, ventilated in front and solid in the rear.

Sleek, aerodynamic lines, an egg crate front fascia and lights that skim the surface add to Stylus' sporty appeal. Its interior affords spacious comfort with contoured, reclining bucket seats up front and lots of leg room in the back for passenger comfort.

Safety features include daytime running lights, rear-seat shoulder and lap belts, child-proof rear-door locks and child tether anchor provision. An energy-absorbing front end, that crumples on impact, has also been installed to further ensure passenger safety.

For those who want luxury convenience without compromising high performance, Stylus is one sedan to look for.

1991 Isuzu Stylus NC

Now the Isuzu Stylus banks beautifully standing still.

Right now you can take our new Stylus S to the bank before you ever get the thrill of taking it into a turn. With 10.9% financing over 36 months or $1,000 cash in your pocket.*

Now consider what else you get with the Stylus. To start, a powerful 1.6 litre engine. Then there's a 5 speed transmission, front wheel drive, AM-FM stereo and child proof door locks. Because even though the Stylus behaves like a sports car, it hasn't forgotten about your family.

Plus there's the Passport Protection Plan, that covers your Stylus bumper to bumper for 3 years or 80,000 km. Not to mention our free Road Alert Program that takes care of you if you ever have a flat tire or need a lift.*

Visit your nearest Passport dealer soon for all the details. You'll see how we've made banking more fun. Whether the Stylus is moving or not.

On Monday, November 26, 1990, Cornwall bridge players will join thousands of others throughout North America in the Fall ACBL-Wide Charity game. Alzheimer's Disease, Huntington's Disease and Parkinson's Disease will share as recipients in the proceeds from this game through the Canadian Bridge Federation Charitable Fund. The Cornwall Community Bridge Club, sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League, is sponsoring a section of this Fall ACBL-Wide Charity game with play starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall, 333 Second Street, East, Cornwall, Ontario. The competition will be truly international with players from the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Far and Near East, Alaska to Japan taking part. Every player in every game in every city will play the exact same hands under near identical conditions. Only one winner will emerge – the pair with the best percentage score on the computer-dealt set of hands.

All bridge players are invited to participate in this game. You do not have to be an ACBL member to compete in the local game. Among those with whom the Cornwall players will be competing for international recognition will be all the players in the ACBL's Fall North American Championships in San Francisco, California, who wil be playing the same hands at the same time. Prizes will be presented to the overall winners as well as the victors in each of the 25 Districts within the ACBL. Additionally, Masterpoints will be awarded to all those who finish well in each and every game on a sectional tournament basis.

If you are interested in any of the above charities and would like to participate, call 932-5637 and arrangements will be made for you to be part of this exciting event.

Bridge, published by Pergamon Bridge, Railway Road, Sutton Coldfield, West Midlands, B73 6AZ, England, is fast becoming one of the best and most informative bridge magazines in our library. It is a very excellent reference for our bridge column. If you are thinking of a Christmas present for your bridge playing spouse, this would be a first class choice. If you are interested, the writer would be glad to loan you a recent copy for your perusal along with annual subscription cost.

Local duplicate bridge games are scheduled as usual for the next week. Players are reminded that a Canadian National Team Championship event will be played the next two Thursday evenings at the Masonic Hall. This is your chance to pick up some red points. There will be a side game.

This is Prize Problem #11 from Bridge Magazine. How should West play Seven Clubs? North leads a trump and South follows suit. Send your answer to BRIDGE, preferably on a postcard, postmarked no later than 27 November, 1990. Contact the writer for any further information.

Perspective

By Bob Roth

The Great Socialist Hordes Have Not Arrived On Cue

If the NDP comes to power, the economy will be destroyed and children in Ontario will go hungry.

So said David Peterson on the eve of his stunning defeat.

And so have said many others over the years.

In fact, the well-fostered fear of the socialist bogeyman has kept the NDP from power, both federally and provincially (in Ontario), ever since the party's birth .

I often wondered why low- and middle-income people would never vote NDP, the party that always spoke up for the little guy. Instead, most working people would vote Conservative and Liberal only to find services cut and more money being taken out of their wallets in higher taxes.

Of course, the reason people didn't vote NDP was this great mythological fear of "socialism". Every time the NDP came close to power, the opposition would summon up this bogeyman and a childlike fear would overtake the electorate.

The NDP didn't know how to manage the economy said the Tories and Liberals – both of whom have driven us into a recession.

The NDP will tax us to death –said the Tories and Liberals who have made us one of the highest taxed people in North America.

The NDP have a warped sense of priorities, we were told. They will spend all our money on useless social welfare programs.

Well, it seems were going to get money for schools, roads and sewers – basic, practical services.

We've just heard the speech from the throne and it appears that there was no bogeyman after all.

Recognizing that the Liberals left us with a whopping deficit, Bob Rae has wisely said he will phase in many of his promised programs over the five-year term of his government – instead of implementing them right away. In other words, as he put it: "If the money's not there, you can't spend it." Sounds more like Michael Wilson than Karl Marx, doesn't it?

That means such promises as increasing school board funding and raising the minimum wage will be honoured, but in a fiscally responsible way.

The other thing that has really impressed me is the way this new government stands up to Toronto. Rae killed a multimillion dollar grant for an opera house arguing, quite correctly, that such projects are not a priority during a recession.

What is even more impressive is the sensible "make-work" program the Rae government has announced. Other governments have been implementing such programs for years –but much of the money was wasted. The NDP has just announced that $700 million would be spent on job creation. Early indications are that many of the dollars will go to sensible public works, such as improving our roads and sewers.

Municipalities have been arguing for years – to the old-line parties – that more provincial help is needed to maintain such vital services.

And its also refreshing to see some integrity in government. One NDPer got into some early problems for irregular behaviour and he has been kicked out of the party. He now sits as an independent. How many Liberals and Tories – out of the dozens nailed on conflict of interest – were kicked out of those parties?

Integrity, social conscience and fiscal responsibility. Don't tell me we now have a government guided by all three principles?

Where are the destructive socialist hordes the Liberals and Tories warned us about?

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Almost 85 percent of our population is against the proposed Goods and Services Tax. Yet our elected Tory representatives spout the government line instead of speaking in the House of Commons on behalf of their constituents or representing them when the vote was called. We hope the Senate will stop the tax.

Don Mazankowski put the whole business in perspective for me. He said that an appointed Senate had no right to block any decisions made on the floor of the House of Commons. The only decision I've seen made there was whether to spend an hour or an hour and fifteen minutes unveiling a statue of Lester B. Pearson. The House was not even sitting when troops were sent to Oka or ships to the gulf this summer.

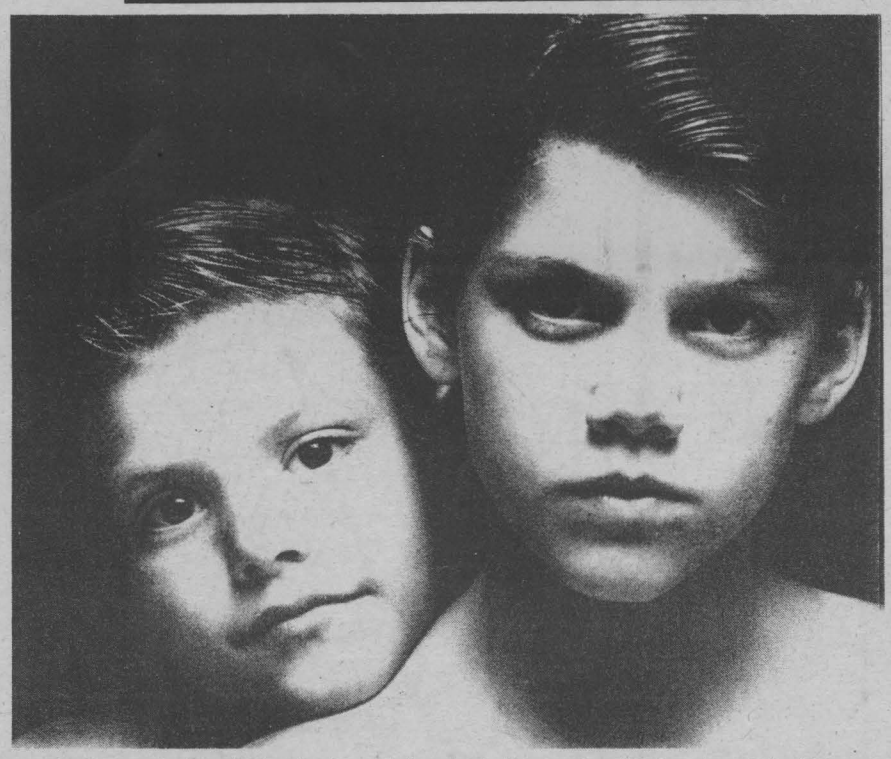
The Inner Cabinet is persuaded to support a proposal. Their solidarity persuades the full Cabinet. The caucus do as they are told if they want to remain members or to get their papers signed for the next election.

I believe it is time for Canadians to take back control of their country by a very simple means. In the next election we vote for someone who agrees in a signed notarized statement to represent his or her constituents and to resign as members of parliament should a petition containing names numbering 70% of the total votes cast during the election in that riding demand the member's recall.

Canadian voters are mature enough to know they can't get their own way on every issue, but they are entitled to see their own representatives representing them on the floor of the House of Commons.

Sincerely
D. Rhea East
Stratford, Ont.

"Not My Kid"



Peer pressure begins early. A national survey indicated a significant number of fourth graders said they felt "some" to "a lot" of peer pressure to try alcohol or marijuana. In the seventh grade, an alarming number of children said they felt pressure to try alcohol and marijuana. Young people are succumbing to peer pressure. According to the National Institute of Drug Abuse and the National Council on Alcoholism: "The average age of first drug use is 13. Of first alcohol use - 12." These statistics hold true for the the children of Upstate New York/S. Eastern Canada.

Why kid yourself? Substance abuse has been a problem for a long time. Today it is a larger and more serious problem than ever before. Pay attention to the facts.

Know the signs.

ROSE HILL

There is Help Available

Chemical Dependency Program for Youth

Rose Hill is a modern residential treatment facility in Massena, NY, removed from big-city pressures and in touch with the natural environment. The local community strongly supports Rose Hill and provides many resources for its programs.

Rose Hill emphasizes well-being and focuses on the process of addiction rather than the particular drug of abuse.

Treatment is based on the belief that addiction to mood-altering chemicals is a progressive, chronic and sometimes fatal disease. In the treatment process the whole person - body, mind, spirit, and emotions - is addressed. The family is also involved in the treatment, with follow up in an intensive continuing care program for both patient and family.

You need not feel helpless any longer. We're here to help.

Adult Asthma Versus Childhood Asthma

Asthma can begin at any time of life. Hereditary factors do play a role as in the inherited tendencies to allergy and/or twitchy airways, but this does not mean that symptoms of asthma will necessarily start in childhood. Patients in late adult life have developed asthma for the first time. In addition childhood asthma symptoms may clear completely but re-occur again later in adult life. Often the inciting factor for the onset of symptomatic asthma is not clear. It might be a respiratory infection or exposure to a workplace substance which causes "sensitisation" by an allergic mechanism. Other possibilities are that it may be related to a new allergen exposure at home, a cat for example, or symptoms may occur after taking ASA (aspirin) or foods containing sulphite preservatives.

Once asthma does start in adult life the triggering factors which may worsen symptoms are similar to those in childhood asthma:

- Respiratory infections (colds);
- Irritants such as smoke, fumes, sprays, cold air, exercise;
- Allergic responses to dust mite, animals, pollens and fungal spores;
- Medications such as aspirin, beta blocking agents used for high blood pressure, cardiac disease, migraine and thyroid disease;
- Food additives such as sulphates; as well as:
- Workplace agents such as red cedar dust and chemicals.

Of these, medications and workplace agents are more relevant to adult asthma due to increased exposure.

Are there differences in management?

Adult asthma is managed using similar principles as in childhood asthma - assessing severity, understanding and avoiding triggering factors for the individual affected and the use of appropriate medications. Over the past ten years the approach to medication use has radically changed, with the emphasis being to reduce airway twitchiness and prevent exacerbations. This is accomplished mainly through the use of inhaled steroid medications (Beclovent, Vanceril, Pulmicort) in high or low dose inhalers, and less commonly, through the use of cromolyn (Intal). Inhaled broncholdiolators such as Ventolin, Briconyl, Berotec, Pro-Air are used mainly to treat symptoms on a short term basis. The air of treatment is to be wheeze free, able to live a normal life and sleep through the night without disturbance from cough or wheeze. Due to the recent improvements in the availability of medications over the past five years, it is certainly warranted for anyone with asthma whose symptoms are not controlled to this extent to be reassessed. Allergen injection treatment (allergy shots) have not been carefully demonstrated to improve adult asthma and their use is controversial at this time.

Adult asthma is very treatable now. Improvements in the production of safe, effective medications in the past five years make it important for adults with long standing asthma to discuss these changes with their physician. Triggering factors should be carefully identified for each person and reassessed for individuals who may have changed over they years. Contact The Lung Association for more information.

S.D. & G. Highlanders Change of Command

A change-of-command ceremony for the SD & G Highlanders took place on Sunday November 25, 1990 at the Cornwall Armoury.

The inspecting officer was Colonel M.D. Campell, ADC, CD, commander of the Ottawa Militia District.

Lt. Col. J.K. Simpson, who has been commanding officer since 1987, will relinquish command of the SD&G Highlanders to Lt. Col. R.J. Brooks.

Lt. Col. Simpson is employed by the Canadian Transportation Commission in Moncton, New Brunswick. He is married to Major Jo-Ann Logan, who is also in the militia, and they have two sons, Scott and Ian.

The new commanding officer, Lt. Col. R.J. Brooks is married to the former Margaret McGowan and they are residing in the Hudson area with their two children Donna Lynn and Robbie.

Lt. Col. Brooks obtained his degree in electronics from the Montreal Institute of Technology, and is presently a manager for Canadian Marconi, Defense Communication Division.

Lt. Col. Brooks military career started in 1962 when he enrolled as a trooper in The Royal Canadian Hussars. Following service with 3rd Field Engineer Regiment as a sapper and later as an NCO he was commissioned as an officer into his original regiment in 1968, and culminated in his assuming command of B Squadron, RCH in 1974 in the rank of Major. He was transferred to 712 Communications Squadron in 1976 and was appointed commanding officer the following year. Upon completion of this command he held a number of staff appointments at 71 Communications Group, District No. 1 Headquarters. In 1982 he joined The Royal Montreal Regiment as operations officer, and was promoted in the spring of that year to his present rank of Lt. Col. and his appointment of commanding officer of the regiment. Lt. Col. Brooks relinquished command of The Royal Montreal Regiment in May 1986.

SYLVIA's Slant

By Sylvia Hall

Most of us have, at some time, experienced the death of a relative or a close friend and have had to deal with the grief. This has happened to me many times, as I had cause to remember on Nov. 11th.

I recently suffered a different loss, but just as sad. It was our older family dog. She became ours when she was tossed out of a car onto our front lawn about 16 years ago. This is not an unusual experience for people who live in the country. Such as the time we found four new-born kittens in our mailbox. Shortly after the arrival of this sweet dog, she gave birth to 8 lovely puppies. She was such a wonderful mother. So very caring, patient and oh! so clean. We found very good homes for her puppies, although we would like to have kept them all. After her recovery, it was off the the Vet to have her spayed. That was when we found out she had a "leaky" heart. We had no idea how old she was but it wasn't long before she adapted to the country and became a hunter. Every day she deposited dead ground hogs outside the door. She looked so proud. I'm sure she wanted me to have a fur coat! Unfortunately she also discovered porcupines. What a shock to open the door and see two dogs with their noses, faces and throats dripping blood and filled with quills. Off to the Vet's where they had to undergo general anaesthetic to remove the quills, not a safe procedure for a dog with a bad heart. After the second time, it never happened again. Over the years this lovely dog gave us loyalty and affection. She always seemed to know when someone was feeling "down", and stayed beside us. She was terrified of thunder and lightening storms, yet always seemed to know at least an hour before one was due. That's when she needed to be close to one of us, as she would tremble in fear. Over the years she suffered all the usual, and some unusual dog ailments, but she also taught our other little, much younger dog to hunt, not to chase cars and to obey commands. Then old age set in. This dog that used to literally bounce up and down and greet everyone with great affection, was now very arthritic. She developed cataracts, walked into doors and lost her faculties. We knew the end was near. We knew we had to make a decision. Should we keep her, knowing her suffering, or act God and end her misery. She had taken to sleeping in the house, instead of the barn. She had her favourite chair, with a special soft cover. She had a way of curling up in it and staring at us as though asking us for help.

It was a difficult decision to make, yet we somehow knew that the time was right. We knew she was too proud to be carried in and out of the house when she couldn't manage the two steps. So we ended her misery. That was such a black day. I removed the cover and cleaned "her" chair. That day our other dog came in and looked at the chair, she lay down beside it and cried, and so did I. People who say "But she was only a dog" don't realize that to us she was so much more. She was a comfort, and a joyous companion. She taught our children and grandchildren to be kind, gentle and caring and she guarded them.

She's gone, but not from our minds or hearts and we still grieve. We know we did the "right" thing, but is there ever a right time to lose a loved one, whether person or a pet. We all benefited in many ways from living with one wonderful dog, and now we seem deprived by her passing. She has left not just an empty chair, but an emptiness in our lives and our hearts.

Registered Retirement Income Funds

People who are turning 71 must make an important decision about how to convert their Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) into a source of income. The choice they make is crucial because the result will likely be their primary source of income during retirement.

Traditionally, investors have had two options: either withdraw all their money in cash, or convert their RRSP into a life or fixed term annuity. Withdrawing was less attractive because most people would be taxed heavily. So, the majority of people chose annuities, "life" plans that guaranteed them a regular income for the rest of their life. Some annuities also offered guarantees for a fixed period so that if the investor died, payments would continue to be made to his/her estate.

However, annuities don't protect against inflation. The buying power of people who convert their RRSP's into annuities shrinks each year.

Since 1986, the situation regarding retirement income options has improved dramatically with Registered Retirement Income Funds (RRIFs) emerging as one of the best vehicles to handle investors' retirement income needs.

A RRIF is a contract that provides periodic payments to the investor from the starting date until the investor reaches age 90. For many years, RRIFs were unpopular because their rules were inflexible. Then, after the federal government loosened the rules, many people began converting their RRSPs into RRIFs instead of annuities.

Under the new rules, investors can own more than one RRIF. As well, there is no limit on the amount investors may receive from their RRIF each year. However, they must with draw a minimum amount calculated by their current age subtracted from age 90. Another RRIF advantage is that investors can begin receiving payment from the RRIF immediatedly after purchasing it rather than being obliged to wait until the nest calendar year. Also, a RRIF continues to allow investors to accumulate funds tax-free until they are withdrawn.

Here is how RRIF payments work. Each payment investors receive is a fraction of the value of the investor's capital at the start of the year. This fraction is equal to one divided by the difference between your age and 90. So, if you have a plan valued at $300,000 and you are 70 years old, the payment you will receive is 1/20th of the fund or $15,000. This is the minimum annual payment in that year. It can be higher if you wish, but withdrawing too much money too soon can deplete your funds and the excess is subject to a withholding tax.

As you get older, the fractonal amounts increase so that when you are 71, you will receive 1/19th; when your are 72, 1/18th, when your are 73, 1/17th and so on. When you become 89, you will receive 1/1, that is 100 per cent of the remainder.

While a disadvantage of a RRIF is that investors must exhaust all the fund's money by the time they turn 90, a RRIF has advantages too numerous to mention here that make it far more attractive than an annuity.

Consider two of them. First, a RRIF offers a wide and varied range of investment choices. Unlike an annuity, which is based on fixed income returns, a RRIF can be invested in growth or balanced investments, such as mutual funds.

Second, a RRIF far surpasses annuities in generating income and compensating for inflation. Suppose at 61 you bought a $100,000 annuity invested at 12 per cent over 30 years. You would receive $12,414 each year until you reached 90 and your cumulative total would be $372,000.

On the other hand, if you had bought a RRIF with the same prinicipal investment of $100,000, also invested at 12 per cent, you would receive $3,733 in the first year. Since less money is withdrawn in the early years of the RRIF, more money is left to compound and grow tax-free in the following years. By the 10th year, you would receive $10,353. By the 20th year, $32,150 and by the 30th year, close to $100,000. Over 30 years, you would receive a total of $900,000, 2.4 times as much as the annuity.

Now, let's assume that inflation remains at five per cent during the next 30 years. That means the final $12,414 annual annuity payment would actually be worth only $2,110 in 1989 dollars. By comparison, the RRIFs final payment of approximately $100,000 would be worth $17,000 in constant dollars.

With this in mind, think what would have happened if you had invested your RRIF in a mutual fund that has the potential of yieldihng an average of 15 per cent a year. During 30 years, you would receive a return of $1.4 million.

Talk to an investment specialist or stock broker to discover how an RRIF can be tailored to fit your retirement income needs.

The Derry's Limos Capture The Nepean Atom "A" Tournament

The Derry's Limousine Service Atom "A" Royals captured the Nepean Atom "A" Tournament by collecting 11 of a possible 15 points to take first place in round robin play and defeating North Shore Montreal 3-2 in overtime in the final game played at the Walter Baker Arena on Sunday.

In the first game on Friday night the Royals played North Shore Montreal to a 4-4 tie and collected 2.5 points. Pierre Tranchemontagne put the Royals on the board on a pass from Daniel Dupuis. Yves Ruest set up by Travis Young and Kurt MacDonald made it 2-2. Daniel Dupuis added two more with David McNally set ups. Shawn Martelock played nets for the Royals.

In the early game on Saturday the Royals notched 4 points defeating east Ottawa 3-1. David McNally and Pierre Tranchemontagne put Daniel Dupuis in the open for the Royals first goal. Travis Young added another on a pass from Kurt MacDonald and Yves Ruest. Brock Miron scored the Royals third goal with Jay Jodoin and Jamie Laframboise collecting the assists. Patrick Ruest was the Royals netminder.

In the late afternoon game on Saturday the Royals collected another 4.5 points by defeating the host team 9-3. David McNally scored three, Daniel Dupuis and Yves Ruest got two each, Travis Young and Pierre Tranchemontagne got one each. Some of the goals were set up by good passes from defensemen Christian Cadieux, Patrick Herrington, Randy Rogers and Eric Fontaine. Patrick Ruest played a good game in nets for the Royals.

Christianity Alive

By Bob Burgess, Pastor
New Life Covenant Church
(A Spirit-Filled New Testament Church)

"Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors" (Matt. 6:12)

The Bible has a lot to say about forgiveness. Jesus preached on it at various times and as noted above, taught the principle of forgiveness as part of what traditionally is known as the "Lord's Prayer."

Forgiveness is not a word we hear a lot about these days; not from the T.V., our neighbours, our friends or even in our schools. Quite the contrary, we hear alot about "revenge," "get even," "killings," etc.....

We see many examples in Scripture of forgiveness and the best example is Jesus from the cross when he uttered "Forgive them Father, for they know not what they do."

To practise forgiveness however, one must first be forgiven. One has to realize the great price Jesus paid on the cross for his/her sins. Once you realize how much you have sinned and how much God forgave you, then it becomes easy to forgive others. Whenever we begin to see how much we need forgiveness for our own lives then it becomes easy to forgive others.

We tend to think that we'll forgive so & so when they apologize. That's not the way of the scripture. The Bible insists that I must first forgive others. Luke 6:37 states "Forgive and ye shall be forgiven." Again, the onus is on me to forgive others first. How many times should we forgive someone? Again the Bible in Matthew 18: 21 & 22 states that we should forgive "seventy times seven."

Forgiving people is a wonderful way to live, but again it begins with one receiving forgiveness from God because only when one sees his/her great need for forgiveness can they forgive others. Only when one sees that they have sinned against a Holy God and turned from their sins and accept Jesus' payment on the cross for their sins can they receive forgiveness for their lives.

I trust that you will see the importance of forgiveness and begin today to make it a part of your life. Begin to appropriate by faith God's forgiveness for your life and forgiveness for others will be a lot easier. Forgive and ye shall be forgiven.

Food For Thought:
1. Man considers the deeds, but God weights the intentions.
2. We really live when we learn to forgive.

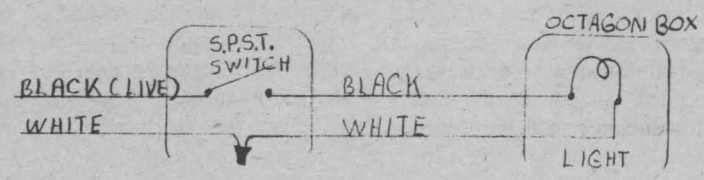
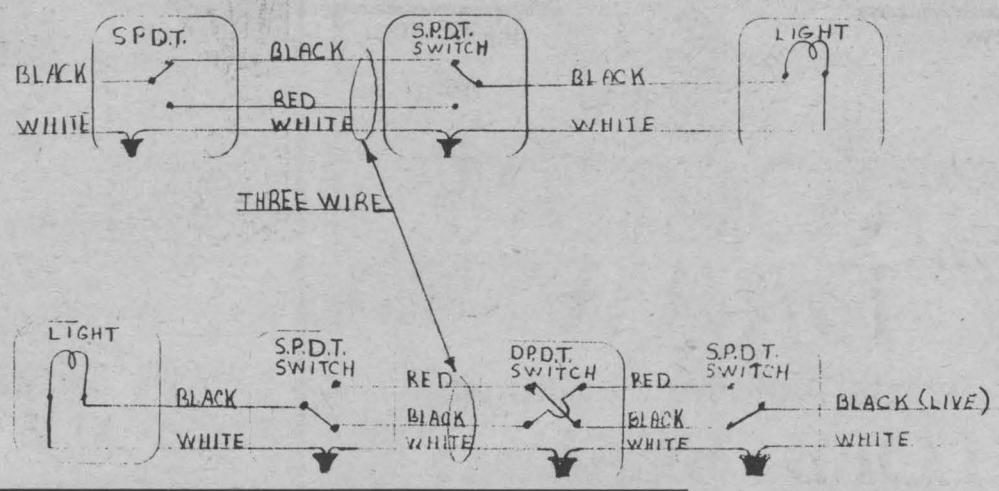
House Wiring Switches

There are three types of switches that are used in residential wiring, they are single pole switch (S.P.S.T.). This is your basic on/off switch. The next one is your single pole double throw switch (S.P.D.T.). This is what we call the three way switch. Our next switch is the double pole double throw switch (D.P.D.T.). We call this one our four way switch.





Each one of these switches has a certain role. We will start to talk about our single pole single throw switch. This switch serves two functions only. It will turn a circuit on or off and is wired directly in series with the live wire. When this type of switch is installed in a house, the on position must be wired so the switch is facing upwards. The reason for this is in the even of a fire, all firemen are trained to turn switches off in the downward position.

If you want to control a light from two different positions, you would require three way switches. These switches have three terminal connections on them, and require a three wires run between switches and light for three correct operation. It does not matter what position the switch is in during installation as these switches operate in either the up or down position.

Our last switch is the four way switch. This switch has four terminal connections on its body. It would be wired in conjunction with the three way switches. In this circuit the four way switch will be wired between the three way switches. There is no preset position that the four way switch has to be installed as the switch will be in either the up or down position to operate.

All switches must be rated for the amount of current they will carry. These are your basic switches, but there are many different types such as dimmer switches, quiet switches, etc... Here are diagrams showing the proper way to wire these switches.

The Cancer Research Society Inc. Fund Raising Campaign

The Cancer Research Society Inc. is conducting in November its financial campaign for research funds to find a cure for cancer. President Flora Caplan announced that this year's objective is to raise $7,000,000 with the help of some 5,000 volunteers throughout Canada.

Since 1964, CRSI has been fostering the work of Canadian scientists, physicians and researchers whose skill and talents are committed to the fight against cancer. In the last 5 years the Society has distributed over 19.5 million dollars in research fellowsips and grants. President Caplan is also happy to announce a new scholarship program to assist young, well-trained scientists launch careers in cancer research. The program has been jointly established with the Medical Research Council of Canada (MRC).

Some 40 hospitals, universities and scientific institutes in Canada have benefitted from the Cancer Research Society. Presently, all medical schools in Canada receive grants.

The volunter nature of the Society's organization allows more dollars to be dedicated to cancer research, the sole object of the Society.

Thanks in part to the discoveries made possible by such research donations, some of the deadliest forms of cancer like childhood leukaemia, Hodgkin's disease and testicular tumours are now curable in many cases. Much more support is still needed to help finance projects underway or to be presented, to speed the day when all cancer will be controlled.

All donations are tax-deductable and can be sent directly to: The Cancer Research Society Inc. (CRSI), P.O. Box 183, 19 Esterel, Place Bonaventure, Montreal, QC, H5A 1K8.

For information: Flora Caplan, President or Dr. Gaston De Lamirande at 1-800-461-6845 (Toll Free); Fax. (514) 861-9220.

Seaway Valley Muscle World Minor Peewee AA Get a Major Lift!

On Tuesday Nov. 18th, the Muscle World men played host to the powerful Gloucester Rangers in Ottawa District Minor Hockey League play. After the Rangers set a rapid pace, leading 2-0 very early in the game, the Rapids showed their true colours by fighting back for a 2-2 draw.

Scoring for the Muscle World team were Jamie Roberts, and Ian Henderson. Drawing assists for the night were Alain Lefebvre, Tim Graham, Jason Prieur and Todd Beehler.

First French Public School In Cornwall To Open

In response to the request of francophone parents within its jurisdiction, the French Language Section of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Public School Board is happy to announce the official opening of its first French school for the month of September 1991. The school will be located at 780 Sydney Street, right in the heart of Cornwall.

Following a meeting of the French Language Section, it was decided that, for the 1991-92 school year, the French elementary school will accomodate children from pre-kindergarten to grade three inclusively. It was also recommended that the school offer programs which would respond to the needs of all of its students; that the Committee of Francophone Affairs establish an admission policy to be approved by the French Language Section at its February 1991 meeting; that school bus transportation be available to the entire area of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry and that all requests to purchase education from other Boards be approved, prior to the service being given, by the French Language Section; finally, that the interviews for the selection of the school Principal be held in January of 1991 and that it be preceded by a competition at the provincial level. This decision to open a French Public school will give the francophone parents of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry region a choice of education they wish for their children, as is the case for English language students.

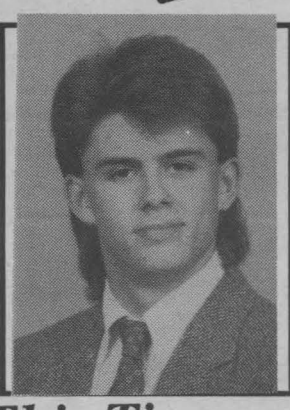
MEET THE CORNWALL ROYALS



Jeff Reid

Jeff was a bit of a longshot to make the Royals last season as an 11th round midget draft pick out of Owen Sound. As a tribute to what hard work can do for you, he not only made the team but scored 13 goals, added 20 assists and was named the Royals 1990 Rookie-of-the Year.

Jeff, with 9 goals in the first 22 contests, is on pace to easily surpass last season's totals. He's considered to possess strong leadership qualities and should be one of the team's "lettermen" next season.

This Time In History — 1975

Tim Bernhardt, the goaltender the Royals had selected with their first choice in the midget draft, earned his first major junior shutout when the Royals blanked Laval 2-0. The youngster from Sarnia would appear in 51 regular season games for the Royals and help them to a 39-24-9 record and second place finish in the West Division of the QMJHL. Bernhardt was a second round draft pick of the Atlanta Flames in 1978.

COACH'S CORNER

by Marc Crawford

The hottest hockey topic in Cornwall these days seems to be the status of Owen Nolan.

At the start of the season we, at the Royals office, were of the opinion that we should proceed as if Owen would never return.

Now our thinking has become clouded what with Owen sitting out a number of games and most recently our hopes have been boosted by the Nordiques sending Owen to their minor league affiliate team in Halifax.

Stay tuned for further developments.

Life at 71 years of age

What do you do when you turn 72? Well I'm not sure but one thing you will not do this year is contribute to your Registered Retirement Savings Plan.

Under the current set of guidelines anyone who is now 71 or will turn 71 years of age before December 31, 1990 must consider what to do with their R.R.S.P.

The choices you must make are limited to three courses of action given that you can no longer keep your hard earned money in a tax sheltered R.R.S.P.

First, you can cash the entire R.S.P. in and in doing so terminate the plan. The result will be a one time tax problem and is not a course that many people take or are advised to do so.

Second, you can purchase an annuity under which any number of options can be selected and tailored to meet the very specific needs of the annuitant. There are no tax problems (at least not yet) because the funds flow directly from one tax sheltered environment to another. I will not cover these simply because it does not leave the investor with enough control over his affairs and hence do not recommend this course of action.

The third choice is to open a Registered Retirement Income Fund (whether it be self directed or not) and to allow the funds to flow again into a tax sheltered environment. For those of you who understand an R.R.S.P. the RIF is simply a continuation of these same ideas.

The operating features are the same with income generated in the account and not taxed until it is taken out. The eligible investments are the same. The primary difference is that some amount must be withdrawn from a RIF each year and included in income. It should be noted that the withholding tax applies only to amounts withdrawn in excess of the minimum.

So Who Should Consider an RIF?

Everyone. It goes without saying that if you have finally made it to your 71st birthday you have seen it all; the ups, the downs, the ins, the outs. But after such a long haul you may have reached the point where you don't want to make any more decisions about anything including financial ones.

That's no problem, because any good advisor will tell you to stick with the things that make you comfortable. In trying to decide what course of action to take, this individual may find exactly what they want in annuity. They will take a very limited role in managing their assets and find peace of mind in cashing a cheque once a month with no more thought required. (Wait a second, this sounds too good.)

On the other hand though there are those who have reached this point in their lives by taking charge of matters; they may be ready to really take retirement seriously but as one client put it "It would be a cold day somewhere when the money he had worked all his life for was controlled by someone else." A person with this attitude will want the flexibility and control a RIF can provide.

In the end it's not what makes you money but what makes you happy.

Next week I will look at the details of a Registered Income Fund.

Michael Mills is an investment advisor with RBC Dominion Securities in Cornwall.

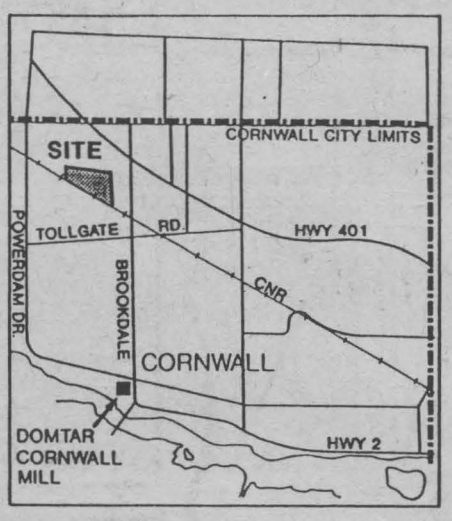
CORNWALL MILL
MILL RESIDUE MANAGEMENT PROJECT
PUBLIC FORUM

Domtar Fine Papers has been undertaking a Mill Residue Management Project for the Cornwall Mill. In addition to 3R (reduce, recycle, and reuse) initiatives, the project identified the need for a new landfill. As a result of a site selection process a preferred site for a landfill was identified in the City of Cornwall. The proposed site is located west of Brookdale Avenue between Highway 401 and the CNR tracks (see map).

M.M. Dillon Limited, along with CJB Associates and S.S. Wilson and Associates, are currently carrying out environmental impact studies on the proposed landfill site. The studies focus on the assessment of possible impacts and on identifying measures to minimize any impacts.



PUBLIC FORUM

You are invited to attend a Public Forum to review the work which has been completed to date on the site selection process and evaluation of waste management methods. Also on display, will be an outline of the proposed detailed site assessment study for this preferred site. The Public Forum will be an informal walk-in session. Representatives of Domtar and M.M. Dillon Limited will be available to explain past and future work and to answer questions. A major focus will be upon acquiring public comments on the proposed work.

The forum will be held on:

Tuesday, December 4, 1990
12:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

at

Parkway Motor Inn

A NEW TWIST for stuffing the holiday turkey: A fool-proof recipe from Snyder's of Hanover features the delightful flavor of sourdough pretzels.

A new way to stuff holiday turkey

Turkey stuffing is one of those time-honored and treasured holiday foods that often go unchanged from holiday to holiday, from generation to generation. Chances are, during this holiday season, family cooks all over America will be preparing turkey stuffing from recipes their mothers, grandmothers or even great-grandmothers passed along. But for adventuresome holiday cooks, there's a wonderful new "twist" to add to any favorite stuffing recipe that's sure to become an instant classic!

Pretzels! Just think of it—no fat, no added sugar and no cholesterol make pretzels a wonderful "guilt-free" addition to Grandma's classic recipe. Although many Americans are increasingly concerned with fat and cholesterol intake, pretzel fans can relax. Leading cooking experts and nutritionists favor pretzels because they contain no fat, no added sugar and no cholesterol.

Snyder's of Hanover has been in the pretzel business for 65 years and has developed a mistake-proof pretzel stuffing recipe featuring their popular Sourdough Hard Pretzels. Best of all, these pretzels add a delightful and unexpected sourdough flavor pretzels fans know and love, without added fat or sugar.

Sample Sourdough Hard Pretzels in your favorite recipe, or try the Snyder's of Hanover recipe specially created for sourdough pretzels.

- 1 medium onion, chopped, sautéed
- 12 oz. pkg. link sausages, browned and cut into 1/4" pieces
- 2 cups Snyder's of Hanover Sourdough Hard Pretzels (salted or unsalted), broken into 1/2" pieces, crumbs removed
- 3 cups bread sticks, croutons, or 1 small pkg. stuffing croutons Celery seed, salt, pepper, sage to taste

Combine all the above in a very large bowl and fill turkey cavities. Spoon remaining stuffing in a casserole and baste with pan drippings or chicken broth. Cover with foil and place in the oven 1 hour before serving. For crispy stuffing, remove foil for 10-15 minutes.

School bus seen driving down 11th St. E. last Wednesday morning with all its lights going ...

We hear several Cornwall groups performed in Ottawa's Santa Parade ... too bad they had to miss ours.

Cornwall Snowsuit Fund collected over $1,200.00 during Santa Claus Parade. Thanks ...

Rumour has it ... photos were taken of a beached whale caught napping on Wayne Helps couch.

Congratulation to Karen and Vince Lefebvre, you sneaky devils ... seems they invited all their family and friends to the church to christen their son Patrick but caught everyone off guard by getting married first. Sammy's best to the Lefebvre family and get back to making those pies Vince, Christmas is coming to fast ...

Well let me ask you, aren't the Toronto Maple Leafs looking for a hockey player that can score? Well do I have a great guy for them, none other than "Ryan Reid" from Long Sault. He put the puck in the net on his birthday! Nice goal! Ryan is with the novice travelling team/South Stormont Flyers from Cornwall TWP. Happy goals & happy 9 yrs. old. Another who loves you ... Grandma Chris.

Sammy got a phone call this week from Scott Johnson over at Fiberez informing us that they have an acrylic 3 pc. sectional with exclusive patent design geared for renovation market that was introduced in Oct./90.

It's a rumour but also maybe a bad joke ... Angelo Lebano running for School Board so he can be closer to Joe Gunn.

It's Just Like Living in a Hotel

Congratulations going out to Kathy and Charlie Bray on the safe arrival of their second child ..... a girl!!

A recent "shopping" spree at a local high school netted this student (nameless) a school bag, calculator, Fido Dido shirt & a brand new pair (boy's) LA Gear (size 8) shoes. The caller (mother) is wishing this person the same type of holiday she & her family will be experiencing (being on welfare)!

Ulcers often result from mountain climbing over molehills.

Did you see the item in the Gazette where someone has discovered that the maple leaf on our penny is not a maple leaf at all. Seems that a maple leaf grows from a common point on a twig and the pair of leaves on the coin does not.

Great Santa Claus Parade!! Too bad Santa did not have time to wash his suit – Pollution must be real bad in the Arctic!! And really Santa how could we see the twinkle in your eye with your shades on!!

Nov. 17th a.m. ... (nameless) spotted leaving a U.S. store with parcels in hand. Could it be that "Big Blue" now approves shopping state side??

A reader called to point out what she thought was an inconsistency on the part of Council members Aimé Leblanc and Terri Lalonde. They declined to go to Gananoque because of the cost to taxpayers but yet went to a conference in Quebec City!?

Today, "FARM" is a four-letter word meaning a chunk of land that, if you get up early enough in the morning and work very late every night, it'll make your rich – if you strike oil.

YOU'RE NEVER TOO LATE!

Sit up & take note, folks ... this new resident, from Montreal, wants to "applaud" the city for its one-way street systems. She finds driving & shopping, around Cornwall, a "real joy"!

Send-out-the-Christmas-Spirit by supporting the Canadian troops stationed in the Gulf this holiday. Simply drop off your signed card (enclosed message, if you wish) to the RCAF Club on Water St. Don't forget ... make sure your return address is on envelope.

Robert Regnier was the only casuality at the Santa Claus Parade. He broke his foot while making Winnie-the-Pooh for the Sears float. We saw steam rising from Dave Windsor's head. Looking forward to seeing more major retailers in the parade next year.

My grandfather could dicker with the best of them. One day he went to an estate sale, and was inspecting an old bent-out-of-shape serving spoon. "How much do you want for it?" he asked with a frown on his face.

"One cent," the seller answered.

"Oh, I don't know," he hesitated.

"Go ahead," the seller said, "make me an offer."

For Ginette and Michel Lalonde ... 8 1/2 lbs of bouncing baby girl.

Are you missing out? Do you want to be where the action is? H.D.H. Dec. 1/90 (that's the Hotel Dieu Hospital, folks).

Wow!! Does the time fly when your having fun... Congratulations going out to Rick & Rob Reid who are celebrating 13 years of love & marriage on Nov. 24/90. Also a big hug & kiss going out to my son Rick who will be celebrating his birthday on Nov. 27 or is it 29 HA! HA! Love Mom – Chris Reid Gallant.

Tell the pilot not to fly faster than the speed of sound; I'd like to have a conversation during the flight.

IT'S A GIRL

Chamber Manager Lezlie Strasser and husband Joe Strasser are pleased to announce the birth of their first child Alyssa Ann weighing 5lbs 10 oz on Tuesday November 6, 1990.

A big raspberry to CTV. One morning last week for at least 3 successive newscasts they ran the story of the Dept. of National Defence buying body bags. What a terrible distortion of a normal routine item. A pox on NDP member Ray Skelly for raising the issue in the Commons.
