Dream Machine

by Ron Lafrance

How did my "Dream Machine" come into its existence? Well, let me tell you my story. One night, three years ago, I had a dream that I would build a home made machine to cruise around with on nice summer days. In my dream that night, I could picture this machine that I would build myself and enjoy it for years to come. When I awoke the next morning, I told my wife about my dream. My wife said "that's a good idea, let's do it."

Therefore, the creation of my "Dream Machine" began. I started with a 1977 Pontiac Phoenix, removed the body and only kept the frame, motor and transmission, then the customizing came into effect. After a lot of cutting, measuring, welding, etc... my "Dream Machine" was starting to look like something. I got up many nights at 2:00 or 3:00 am with an idea, and not to forget this idea, would end up in my old uninsulated garage, pumping my old wood stove and start working on this idea. Some of the parts I used, after many trips to the wreckers were a Dodge radiator, Cadillac shocks, Nova cross member for the transmission, 4x4 Jimmy gas tank, Ford bucket seats, Firebird mag wheels, Volkswagon front signal lights, Chevy Van rear lights, 5 ton truck signal light arm and a 1939 Ford horn. The motor is a 305 Chev with automatic transmission. The body would be a custom wood body with vinyl interior. Quite a mixture, isn't it?

After many hours, three months in the making, I had my "Dream Machine" to cruise around with. Being quite proud of my little project, I was able to finally put it on the road. What an exciting day, my first ride in my machine. My dream had come through. We decided that summer to join the Cornwall Olde Car Club and cruise with the guys I would meet in the club. We attended many car shows, took two trophies and caught many eyes at the car shows and parades we attended. This year, I did some customizing again. A few changes make my "Dream Machine" look different, but the original dream

Sears Ontario Drama Festival

The Sears Ontario Drama Festival is the largest and longest running student drama festival in North America. Approximately 300 Ontario schools and 700 students and teachers will be participating in the 1997 season of the Festival. Locally, seven area high schools and their drama clubs are busy preparing for the Seaway District Drama Festival which will be held at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School from Thursday, March 6 to Saturday, March 8. Char-Lan, Glengarry and Rothwell-Osnabruck district high schools, as well as St. Joseph's, St. Lawrence, Tagwi Secondary Schools and Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School will present 12 plays this year in what will be the largest festival to be held in this district in recent memory. Adjudicating the performances will be Janet Irwin who has worked with the Great Canadian Theatre Company and the National Arts Centre in Ottawa. She will choose three productions to represent the district in the regional festival held in Cumberland. Tickets for the Festival are available at the CCVS auditorium on the evening of the performance or from students participating in the drama clubs. The first performance each evening begins at 7:30 pm.

Library Success

Approximately 2,600 people visited the new library on Saturday. The 46,000 sq.ft. library has lots of room to spare compared to the 22,000 sq.ft. the old building offered. The library is bright, spacious and modern and is a long awaited and overdue upgrade for such an essential part of the community.

Teach Your Child How To Save and Invest Wisely

If you want to build a forest, you should have started planting seeds 40 years ago. The next best time, my father once told me, is to get your shovel in the ground today.

It's an important illustration that drives home the importance of starting an investment plan when you're young. But if you weren't fortunate to learn this lesson when you left school and started your first job, it may be reassuring to know that financial freedom could still be within reach. The only difference is that you may have to take a more aggressive approach or invest more on a monthly basis.

With the RRSP season now in high gear - and quickly approaching its seasonal end - Canadians are thinking more about their finances and how they'll maintain a comfortable lifestyle once retired. Many are turning to mutual funds, all with high hopes that their seeds will mature and continue to grow strong.

But do Canadians really know what they're doing? Do they understand mutual funds? And do they know if their portfolio is balanced?

Apparently not, according to a recent report, which found that over 88 percent of adult Canadians believe investing in mutual funds is too confusing. In fact, most people believe mutual funds are just as complicated as programming a VCR.

If you work with a financial advisor and adopt a buy and hold strategy, keeping in mind that you're willing to rise the ups and downs in the market, there's no reason to think that investing in mutual funds isn't for you. It's not that complicated, especially if you work with a professional.

If you've contemplated the idea of starting an education or savings plan for your child, start by contributing $50 a month to a good Canadian equity fund. The money can be taken directly out of your chequing account on the same day every month. That way, you won't get a chance to spend it.

Contributing monthly is a strategy adopted by wise investors. And it's one of the most valuable lessons you can learn. If you know about - and practise - this strategy, make sure you educate your children when they're still young. Even better, give them a few dollars to invest, possibly instead of an allowance. Then send them out with a shovel in hand, and show them how to plant their first tree.

One day, when they're surrounded in the forest they've built for their future, they'll thank you.

Planning Your Child's Education

By the year 2014, an undergraduate degree in Canada will cost roughly $65,000.

That's how much you'll need according to Trimark Mutual Funds, if your child decides to spend four years at a post-secondary institution.

Based on figures released by Statistics Canada, which show that tuition has increased by 134 percent in the past 10 years, many parents - or those with young ones on the way - are starting to question whether their children will be among the fortunate few.

Governments are cutting money available for student loans and scholarships. Competition for financial support is fierce. And if the trend continues, a post-secondary education will be accessible to three categories of students: the wealthy, the ones with scholarships and the sons and daughters of parents who planned ahead.

If you decide to start the planning process today, years from now you'll be thankful you took the time to invest in your child.

One option is to use a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP), which allows you to save money for a post secondary education without being taxed as the savings grow. All capital gains, dividends and interest remain untaxed as they compound, and they're only taxed when the money is given to your child, the beneficiary. It becomes part of his or her taxable income. And because a student is generally in a low tax bracket, he or she will pay little or no tax at all.

Another option is to start an in-trust account for your child. Unlike an RESP, if your daughter, say, decides not to further her education, all the money still belongs to her. These are tax advantages, too. Taxes on growth in an in-trust account (capital gains on investments sold) are paid by your child. But because your child will likely have a lower taxable income than you, she will pay little if any tax. Simply put, your child gets the money, not the government.

When you compare the two plans, I personally believe an in-trust account is better. Here's why:

- you can contribute as much money as you like towards an in-trust account. If you decide to go with an RESP, you'll be restricted to contributing up to $2,000 a year for 21 years to a maximum of $42,000.
- When the money is withdrawn from an in-trust account, it can be used for anything, provided it's used for your child's benefit. An RESP, however, requires that the money only be used for a post secondary education. Contributions can be withdrawn any time tax-free but the growth portion is taxes in the beneficiary's hands.

Recognizing When Your Business Is In Trouble

Although the Canadian economy has been improving, businesses - both large and small - are still going bankrupt at a great rate. Between January and July 1996, about 8,700 businesses in Canada failed, almost 13% more than in the same period the year before. But many of them could have been saved had their owners realized what was happening.

"Unfortunately, most people come to see us at the 11th hour and expect us to pull a rabbit out of the hat," laments Stephen Funtig, CA, senior vice president of Coopers & Lybrand Limited in Windsor. "The time to see us is before your company is insolvent, before your liabilities exceed your assets."

"If there is still a sound business but it simply is not profitable, then we can determine what it will take to make it profitable again," notes Rick Jackson, CA, senior vice president of KPMG Inc. in London, Ontario.

If not, "we can explore all the alternatives to going bankrupt," adds Susan Taves, CA, a trustee in bankruptcy and vice president with BDO Dunwoody in Kitchener, Ontario.

The signs warning you that your business is skidding, according to most insolvency experts, are numerous, but the most important and obvious include:

1. Your customers are going way beyond their credit limits and paying late or not at all.
2. Your inventory is piling up.
3. Revenues are going down, expenses are going up and you're experiencing bigger and bigger losses.
4. You find sales are way off from what you've sold in similar periods in other years.
5. You can't keep up with your payments to suppliers and other creditors.
6. Your credit line keeps inching up until it hits your limit and the bank starts returning your cheques NSF.
7. You are unable to remit GST, PST and source deductions such as income tax, Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance payments.
8. Your financial records are a mess, leading to inaccurate, incomplete or even non-existent financial reporting. That, in turn, makes it difficult to spot financial problems before they get out of hand.
9. Your bank is calling every day, asking for more information, for more financial reporting or for extra cash infusions to keep your credit line in shape.
10. High staff turnover.

Changing the way you do business is essential if you experience some or all of these problems. "For example, you might have to restructure, sell part of your business or liquidate your inventory," suggests Funtig. Or concentrate on collecting your outstanding receivables.

On the other hand, you may be operating in an industry that's becoming obsolete, or your competitors have cornered the market, or you simply no longer have the right skills for carrying on a business in today's complex business environment. In those cases, there may be no other option than for you to give up.

But, before second-guessing, trying unsuccessful rescue efforts or simply giving up in despair, call on your chartered accountant or trustee in bankruptcy for help.

"A popular misunderstanding is that the trustee is an undertaker," says Taves. "That's not so. We're probably among the best qualified to diagnose business problems and find creative solutions for solving them."

PAPE'S TIP: "A way to increase tax-advantaged income – but there are risks attached."

Royalty income trusts

It's still possible to find investments that offer double-digit rates of return, even with interest rates so low. Better still, some of them come with built-in tax breaks. They're called royalty income trusts.

HOW THEY WORK

1. One or more resource assets are acquired by the planned trust.
2. Units are sold to investors.
3. Revenues of the trust are distributed to investors, usually quarterly. New offerings usually project initial annual returns of 8% to 12%.
4. Credits can be used to shelter part or all of the distributions from tax.

ADVANTAGES

- Better return than from interest-bearing investments.
- Tax breaks. In some cases, all distributions are tax sheltered for several years.
- Capital gains potential. Some trusts have almost doubled in value in about a year.

DISADVANTAGES

- Return is not guaranteed.
- Tax breaks aren't forever. Any tax-sheltered income you receive will reduce your cost base for capital gains purposes. So if you sell your units in the future, you'll face a higher-than-normal tax bill.
- Prices will fall if interest rates rise because the current high yields won't look as attractive.

TAX WARNING: It's possible to end up paying tax on a capital gain, even if the market price has fallen below what you originally paid. Here is an illustration:

Cost of unit	$10.00
Value of tax-sheltered distributions	4.00
Adjusted cost base/unit ($10 – $4)	6.00
Selling price	9.00
Taxable capital gain/unit ($9 – $6)	$ 3.00

Insurance Myths

by M.H. Parnu

All of us know the importance of having insurance to protect us in case the worst happens. But once we've bought home coverage, we often assume that we're covered for everything in our home and anything that may happen to us. Here are some of the most common myths that people have about their insurance coverage:

Myth #1: Anything that is considered an "act of God" is not covered under your insurance policy.

Contrary to popular belief, many "acts of God" are covered under most home policies, such as hail, tornado, lightning, blizzard, excessive heat, hurricane, storm, fog, freezing rain, extreme cold and landslide.

Some may not be covered under the basic policy, like flood and earthquake, but you may be able to buy extra coverage.

Myth #2: If you have to make an insurance claim, the insurance company is obligated to provide you with the amount for the replacement cost value of whatever was damaged.

It all depends on what coverages you purchased with your policy. If you have "Replacement Cost" then the claims settlement will be based on the cost to repair or replace the item at today's prices.

If you have "Actual Cash Value" on your policy, then the claims settlement will be based on the value of the item today, including depreciation.

"Let's say you bought a TV 10 years ago for $500 and needed to make a claim on it," says Dolores Vokey, a home insurance expert with The Co-Operators.

"If you have Replacement Cost, and the item can't be repaired, then your TV would be replaced with a new one of comparable kind and quality. If you have Actual Cash Value on your home policy, you would receive the actual value of it today including the depreciation, which won't be much."

Myth #3: If I'm renting an apartment or condominium, I don't need to have any tenant insurance because if there is a fire or burglary, the landlord will be responsible.

Your landlord may have insurance but it only covers the building itself, hallways, etc. It won't protect you if you have a loss (such as a fire or burglary in your apartment) or if you are responsible for injuries or damage to others or damage to the building. As a tenant, you should have a policy for your personal property and liability.

Myth #4: You've returned home from a week's vacation in the winter to discover that your water pipes have frozen and burst. You didn't have anyone checking your house while you were gone but you're sure your insurance will cover the damage.

Not necessarily. Most home policies state that if you are leaving your home for more than four days, you must have someone check your house daily or you need to shut off the water supply and drain all the pipes. Your insurer does not have to pay for any damage to your frozen pipes if you do not take these precautions.

Myth #5: Once I have an all risk home insurance policy, then everything in my home is completely covered against all types of perils.

While your home policy will cover a lot, there are a number of items which may not be included automatically or may have only limited coverage in most policies. Some optional coverages that can usually be purchased are:

- sewer backup
- golf carts
- TV antennas or satellite dishes
- earthquake damage
- business equipment
- bicycles

Most home policies have a limit that they insure jewellery up to, so it's best to check what limit your policy has.

If the value of your appraised jewellery is above that amount, you can purchase additional coverage to provide complete protection.

Other valuable items, like furs, fine art, and stamp and coin collections, also have limits and may need additional coverage.

Having a yearly review of your home insurance, with your Agent, will ensure that your home and valuables are properly protected.

Hospital Cuts Are Butchery, Not Surgery

PERSPECTIVE

By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

Congratulations to Cornwall General Hospital chief executive officer Murray Halkett for telling it like it is.

The CEO has correctly pointed out that cuts to Cornwall's hospitals - and all hospitals in the province for that matter - are being done in a ham-fisted manner by a government that is apparently prepared to trade our physical health for ideologically propelled fiscal goals.

The two Cornwall hospitals have been asked to absorb a $3 million cut in provincial transfer payments as the second stage in a three year plan to cut the province's hospital budget by about 18 percent.

The cuts represent a slice of about six to seven percent for the two hospitals and come on top of similar cuts the year before. Another comparable cut is planned for next year.

What makes these massive cuts so untimely is that they come before our hospitals have completed restructuring studies (also wanted by the province) that would allow the hospitals to make some rational decisions about priorities and efficiencies.

In effect, the province is insisting that hospitals put the cart before the horse, that they cut budgets without a plan.

Of course, for politicians, spending and cutting seldom have much to do with planning; they have everything to do with political expediency. Committed to a 30 percent tax cut, Ontario's Conservatives are now looking for ways to come up with the cash. As a result, hospitals throughout the province are being slashed and even closed.

If there is one institution in which Canadians take pride, it is their health care system. That system is in danger of being undermined by the Conservative approach.

As Halkett pointed out there is a lack of co-ordination within the Ministry of Health that is creating a bureaucratic nightmare for hospital administrators.

Last August, the health ministry created the Health Services Restructuring Commission to implement hospital restructuring in the province. However, that commission does not work directly with the health ministry. The result: no co-ordinated planning.

What this means is that financial cuts have to be made before a systematic plan for cutting is developed. In other words, our hospitals are being asked to engage in fiscal surgery without a proper diagnosis of the condition of the patient. It's kind of like telling a surgeon to cut into somebody before studying the x-rays and blood tests in the hope that once inside, he or she will stumble on a malignancy to extricate.

Every citizen wants a more efficient hospital system. But you don't create efficiency with this kind of unorganized, unco-ordinated approach. You create frustration, confusion and chaos. And you endanger the public's health.

Speaking of good health, I see the inmates are still calling the shots at the Cornwall Jail. A provincial jail in Sault Ste. Marie went smokeless in February but the administration at the Cornwall Jail has decided to wimp out on the issue and keep the cancer-causing haze present within its facilities.

Jail guard Mike Oliver has officially protested the dangerous presence of second-hand smoke, which employees have no choice but to inhale, but jail superintendent Richard Dagenais says inmates will continue to be allowed to smoke in "designated areas".

Of course, without a separate ventilation system, "designated areas" are a farce.

And so is Dagenais' attitude to this health hazard.

Irresponsibility - I Think Not

Dear Editor:

Irresponsibility and not in the best interests of the Electorate. A question of legality and trust.

These are the comments that arose after the Mayor disclosed to the public, details re: eight severance packages. Who is kidding who - the Mayor is showing his responsibility to the taxpayers of this community.

There are too many major decisions re: the taxpayers' money, being made behind closed doors. Why do our City Fathers allow the negotiations of severance packages, which are much in excess of the legal requirements?

Mayor Ron realizes that the Citizens of Cornwall are entitled to know what is happening to their tax dollars. City Council has to realize this is the taxpayers' money and they are there to ensure that it is spent wisely.

This is a time of major cuts - do we have to spend so extravagantly to accomplish this?

Being the Mayor, the road is bumpy at times and, yes, he has made mistakes, which proves he is taking an active interest in the well being of the Community.

Sure he is rough around the edges and outspoken, and though I do not always agree with him, on the whole he has the best interests and safety of the community at heart.

If we had more politicians like him in our Federal Government, who are not afraid to stand up and be counted and ready to face the consequences of their actions, this would be a much better run country.

He probably is the most interesting and controversial mayor we have had for some time, and I hope he will continue with his fight for the little guy.

Let's Hope Politicians Honour Their Promises

Dear Editor:

With the Liberals getting ready to call an election in the near future, I would suggest that a special time should be set aside for Bob Roth and Fred Sagel to debate the cancellation of the Somalia inquiry (Seaway News - February 16 issue) - boxing gloves allowed. Whoever wins the debate, judged by a panel of independents, gets a season pass to the former Cornwall Aces new home, wherever they are.

I am not an avowed red, blue, purple, orange standard bearer when it comes to casting my vote - usually voting for the candidate, not the party. There are probably thousands like me, who are of the opinion that the Liberal party has done what it had to do to straighten out the economy, but has evidently faltered in many other aspects contained in its Red Book (circa 1993), notably the ill-famed GST promise to scrap it, as an adjunct, Sheila Copps' seat and cabinet resignation, her by-election victory and her immediate re-appointment to the cabinet (at an estimated cost of $500,000), the bungling of the Air-bus affair, the Pearson airport fiasco, the autocratic parachuting of preferred candidates into local nomination meetings (ad nauseum).

Nothing better can be said of the former Conservative administration which was unceremoniously relegated to as many members as could fit into a sports coupe. The crass arrogance of the Members of Parliament holding an undefeatable majority for a term of up to 5 years, leaves the ordinary person wondering if he or she should bother to exercise his or her franchise.

Today is flag day - I have flown my Canadian Maple Leaf flag all day. Let's hope that politicians of every stripe honour their promises as well as all Canadians who have honoured our national symbol on this very special day.

Sincerely,
Maurice Roussy
Cornwall

The Pope and Evolution

Dear Editor:

Who else wondered if Pope Paul II really said "Evolution is compatible with the Christian faith" as reported? I was pleased to hear Dr. Duane Gish, Ph.D., a biochemist at the University of California, writer and debater, when asked by Dr. James Kennedy, Florida about the Pope's remark answer "What the Pope said was "There is more than one theory about evolution." Dr. Gish continued, "If the Pope had had all the scientific facts, he would have had a different opinion, and remember, the Pope was raised in Poland, a communistic country where only evolution was taught. Besides, the Pope was not speaking En Cathedra, so did not make evolution a doctrine of the Roman Catholic church. Pope Pius IX denounced evolution, in no uncertain terms, saying it was taught only to draw people away from God, and destroy one's faith in God, the Creator."

Public School System in Trouble

I have learned a new rule that seems to be almost axiomatic: whenever you get a good idea to fix the province's education system, the teachers' unions will oppose it.

No wonder the public school system is in such trouble.

The latest opposition comes to a proposal by Liberal senator Sharon Carstairs to repeal a section of the Criminal Code that allows teachers, parents and guardians to use reasonable force as a means of correction for youngsters.

The bill, which has just received second reading in the Senate, has run into hostile opposition from - guess who - the Canadian Teachers' Association as well as the Canadian School Boards Association.

While the teachers' unions cry like spoiled children about not having enough discipline in the classroom, they reject the very proposal that would make it easier for them to enforce a sense of order.

They oppose the strap, they say. And corporal punishment. And, in the usual wishy-washy style of the educational establishment, they still say that teachers and others need "some backup" for extreme situations.

Here is the strange language used by Harvey Weiner, deputy secretary general of the Canadian Teachers' Federation: "The provision acts as a protection for teachers ... who are called on to intervene in disputes or fights or to protect themselves from the student who is actually carrying out the violence."

Doesn't this fellow get the point? What Senator Carstairs wants to do is to give teachers the disciplinary tools they need to survive and bring order to the classroom and all they want is some sort of vague defensive provisions?

Let's not hear any more moaning from the soft teaching establishment - which has already hijacked our public school system - about order in the classroom if they can't support this bill.

MEANWHILE...

Fred Sagel

But let's make this clear. There is nothing better than a great teacher. Not a great surgeon, not a great family doctor and certainly not a great lawyer. A great teacher is a real gem to behold.

Trouble is, the teachers' unions always get in the way of things.

Another instance: they opposed the establishment of a new Ontario College of Teachers this spring. It has been set up with 17 members from the education sector (with 14 seats for teachers) and the remaining government appointees to be named soon.

The college will act as a self-regulatory professional body for the province's 200,000 teachers and has a mandate to set standards for the profession, support ongoing teacher development and deal with problem teachers.

If there are complaints against a teacher, they must be brought to college which can then send the matter to a discipline committee to hear the case in either open or closed session. Remedies can take several forms, starting with additional training for a weak teacher and the ability to take away a teacher's certificate.

In the past, complaints about poor performance were being handled by the Ontario Teacher's Federation, the umbrella union body for teachers. That was like allowing the wolf to look after the chicken coop.

With teachers holding 14 of the 31 seats on the new board, there should be good public scrutiny of what really happens in the classroom. And it's bound to improve teacher performance. After years of control by the moribound teachers' unions, how could it not?

The unions also oppose the government's proposals to slash the number and power of school boards in Ontario.

And no wonder. For years, the unions were a powerful force as they twisted and contorted school board spending on a local basis. Most trustees, given little power under the legislation to do much of anything, were manipulated by the bureaucracy and twisted to meet the ends of the unions in their salary and benefit demands.

Now, with the power of the boards reduced to a central level where spending can be kept under control by far more competent heads, the unions will lose some of their former clout.

Any reason they're upset?

But at least be thankful that the reforms will help parents, the public and, most of all, the kids. No doubt about it.

It's a little early in the calendar year, but I'm ready to nominate 1997 as the Year of Disillusion. I can't believe the number of verifiable certainties that I've seen shot down in the past few weeks.

First it was Saint Patrick. Everybody knows that St. Pat was an ancient Irishman famous because he single-handedly drove the snakes out of Ireland, right?

Wrong. He wasn't even Irish. Patrick was an Englishman who spent a few years as a slave in Ireland, returned to England and became a priest, then set about converting the Irish to Christianity. The snake story is 100 percent Irish blarney. It's a pure myth that didn't even appear until Patrick had been dead for 300 years.

Then there's Sherlock Holmes. What's the most famous phrase the great detective ever uttered?

Elementary, my dear Watson.

Everybody knows that.

Except Sherlock never said it. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle wrote nearly sixty short stories and four full-length novels starring the cerebral mystery solver. You can ready them 'til your eyeballs fall out and you'll never come across the phrase "Elementary, my dear Watson". Holmes says "Elementary" a lot, and he addresses his slow-witted partner as "my dear Watson" a good deal - but he never once, combines the two of them.

It's enough to make you lose your faith in ... in Betty Crocker.

Which you might as well do. Most of us grew up with the friendly, matronly mug of Betty staring back at us from the back covers of our own mother's cookbooks. For a couple of decades in the middle of the century, Ol' Bet had to be one of the most familiar faces in North America.

Except there never was a Betty Crocker. She was an invention. The figment of some ad agency flack's imagination. Lab technicians at General Mills came up with a whole bunch of recipes using GM products that they wanted to flog to the public. The company needed a name to put on the cookbook covers. The ad flack picked "betty" because it was a nice, inoffensive name - and "Crocker" because, well, the director of General Mills was one William G. Crocker, heh, heh.

Oh yeah, you don't wanna examine those Accepted Truths too loosely. Remember The Christmas Song?

Chestnuts roasting on an open fire ...

Jack Frost nipping at your nose ...

Sounds like it must have been written in Montreal or Winnipeg in deepest February, right? Or during a winter in Upstate New York at least ...

Actually, Mel Torme and his lyricist tossed that off in less than an hour during a California heat wave while consuming cold drinks and putting ice on their foreheads.

Remember the Beach Boys - the group that made surfing a world-wide mania?

They never surfed. Their leader, Brian Wilson was afraid of the ocean. The only Beach Boy who ever rode a surfboard was the drummer, Brian's brother Dennis. He drowned in 1983.

Christopher Columbus? He not only didn't discover America (the Vikings beat him by about five centuries) - Columbus didn't even see America. The closest Chris got was a small island in the Caribbean.

Oh me, oh my ... do a little digging and you discover that French Fries aren't French and English muffins aren't English and Polish sausage comes from Hungary. That Great Danes do not hail from Denmark and that French poodles originated in Germany, while German Shepherds are native to Alsace. Sure is disillusioning.

Next thing you know somebody will try to tell us there's no Santa Claus.

Boat Registration Fee Another Money-Making Scheme

Dear Editor:

About 2 years ago the federal Liberal government announced a significant cutback to the Canadian Coast Guard in an effort to control the ever increasing debt. The Coast Guard was suggested to raise more of its own. A few poorly attended public meetings in major cities informed an almost disinterested Canadian public on plans that would see a Canadian Coast Guard that had once predominantly serviced ocean coastlines and a few Great Lakes, take responsibility for recreational boating from coast to coast.

It was suggested a fee of $20-25 every three years for boats already registered (those 10hp motors and over). If kayaks, canoes and smaller boats are registered, this fee will be marginally lowered. It is suggested that to justify the registration of canoes and kayaks, a skeptical Canadian public will have to be sold on the idea that registration of boats is a safety issue. Recreational boating is not a safety issue. In 1993, 8 people died in boating accidents in Ontario, over half of which involved alcohol or non-use of personal floatation devices.

The laws we currently have on recreational boating are not being enforced, but as with gun laws our governments keep making more.

If the federal government was really concerned about the safety of all Canadians, they would not have closed lighthouses on both coasts or removed navigational aids on the Great Lakes.

Boat registration and mandatory proficiency are not safety issues. Like the E.I. program that took $3.95 billion more from Ontario than it put back in during 1995, boat registration is just another user fee used as a cash cow by a federal Liberal government that tells us they don't raise taxes.

The Canadian Coast Guard spent thirty million public dollars last summer to raise the sunken Irving Whale oil barge. A great many boats will have to be registered to subsidize one of the richest families in the world that repossessed that barge.

Registration is not scheduled to commence until 1998 ... after the next election.

P.S. Even the provincial government recognizes money can be made by user fees charged on outdoor cards to rescue people like those recently stranded on Lake Simcoe.

HELLO ... IS THERE ANYONE OUT THERE?

We want to remind everyone out there that this is your public forum ... we need to hear from you, so mail, fax or drop off your little anecdote or gossip to 329 2nd St. W., Cornwall, Ont., K6J 1G8. Fax. 933-0024

Ever wonder why there are so many accidents at intersections with traffic lights? Maybe too many people using cell phones!!

Congratulations to the "Victors"! These are the recipients of the General Vanier Teachers' Choice Awards held on Thursday, February 20th. Students were recognized by their teachers for a variety of reasons such as: consistent effort, positive attitude, excellent attendance.

Claude McIntosh of the Standard Freeholder reached his all time low last week when he brought the Mayor's friends and family into his column. He said that Mrs. Martelle cancelled the paper (Freeholder) because it said nasty things about her hubby.

One has to wonder how his boss would feel if all the citizens who voted for the Mayor were to cancel also, or if some of his supporters in the business world refused to buy advertising.

Have you forgotten Mr. McIntosh, that if Ron is not in the public you will probably be out of work as this constant attack on him seems to be all you can write about.

Word of Caution: Drivers beware of major pothole at the 11th Street West turnoff from 9th Street West near Hebert Street. Not good for your car's alignment.

26 days left and counting until the 1st day of Spring.

I would like to express my views about Air Ambulance Service. The flying days may be numbered according to the newspaper. We need this service in out City. I have a sister thanks to Air Ambulance. Our sister had an aneurysm, she would have died it not for Dr. Gatien sending her by Air Ambulance to Ottawa. Today she is well thanks to the excellent service. Her operation was a success. I have a great-great grandchild thanks to Air Ambulance and our wonderful doctors in Cornwall. He was born premature and they didn't expect him to live as many things were wrong with him. He was sent to CHEO and today he is a healthy boy. Thank God.

Cornwall people ... how about giving our doctors credit, instead of running them down. This week I needed to visit a doctor. I was nervous and worried about my problem, however the doctor took tests and explained everything to me. I left feeling so much better ... he is a wonderful person.

A thankful citizen.

A Lochiel resident confirmed this week that Spring is in the air. Peter Cottontail has been visiting my backyard. He was not seen but he did leave his trail!

Kinsmen TV Bingo is Cornwall's only Cable 11 TV Bingo. Kinsmen President Rick Shaver called this week to remind us that CHCH TV Channel 11 Rainbow Bingo cannot be received in Cornwall Rogers because they do not yet carry that channel. People living on the outer regions of Cornwall may pick up the CHCH signal from another cable company or antennas but it is not Roger's Cable - Cornwall. Kinsmen want to remind their weekly Tuesday night players that proceeds from Kinsmen Bingo support Cornwall and area service projects and that Rogers Cable - Cornwall has always supported Cornwall charities and events.

RICK SHAVER

Good News! The Cornwall Provincial Ambulance Service recovered their $10,000 defibrillator last week, after it had been stolen from the ambulance on call. After it undergoes a maintenance check, it will be back in rotation within a few weeks.

This week's prize for being the most abrasive and obnoxious M.P. in Ottawa goes to Minister Doug Young for remarks to Deborah Grey.

Did you know that pepper spray is legal in Ontario and has been legal since 1974.

Another big loss for Cornwall last week, February 14th, the 164 year old King George Hotel building, a well-known historic landmark was ravaged by a fire that caused more than $2 million in damage. A big bouquet goes out to all the businesses in the area for serving coffee and snacks to our firefighters and police officers as they dealt with the bitter cold temperatures.

Congratulations goes out to the Glendalers Winter Sports Club who raised over $6,000 in pledges last weekend for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB), exceeding what they had expected to raise. Good job!!

Shame shame to the driver of car Lic. #846 SHH. Sunday, February 15th, approximately 4:45 at the curve at Sydney & Pitt. You changed lanes right in front of me without looking, you cut me and another driver off. The roads were icy and I had my two children with me ... I almost lost control of my car.

I don't know where you got your licence young man, but you should pay more attention to the road instead of your passenger.

For our history buffs, we are celebrating 75 years this month of the discovery of insulin by the research team of Dr. Frederick Banting; biochemist James Bertram Collip; physiologist Charles H. Best and Dr. J.J.R. MacLeod. Banting's discovery was so renowned that polls taken in his lifetime named him as the most famous living Canadian.

The West is the Best. Led by Gerry and Gail Walsh along with George O'Dair, the staff of St. Columban's West was victorious over Immaculate Conception School staff. Out of a possible 16 points, the West took 13 points. Special thanks to Roger Guevremont for setting up the curling challenge and the Rat's Nest for supplying the prizes.

It would be nice to have a bank manager as generous as Sheila Copps: $500,000. (taxpayer's $'s) to resign and get re-elected.

$25,000. (taxpayer's $'s) to give us a free flag.

Believe it or not; now another $25 million (taxpayer's $'s) worth of free flags for Canadians.

This poor taxpayer can't afford another free flag ...

To my husband, #1 channel flicker! I love you!!

Kim McDonnell sends a big bouquet to Pierre Brunet who delivers the Seaway News. Seems he was in the area of Heritage Place on Saturday, February 1st doing his deliveries, when he stopped to help her mother-in-law with the shoveling. Good work Pierre!!

Helpful Hint: To keep scouring pads from turning "rusty" place them in the freezer wrapped in a plastic bag. Guaranteed not to rust or darken.

It always makes me smile when someone passes me at high speed only to get a red light at the intersection ahead! Driver, you know who you are. Cumberland Street going north at 5:00 p.m. on February 14th.

Word has it through the grapevine that Brian M. prefers to paint safety signs in the nude. Says it's a 'personal safety' issue - no fear of getting oil paint on his clothes. No word yet on what he uses to stir the paint ...

One friend to another: "My new neighbourhood is so classy that when I answered the door soon after I moved in, a guy greeted me, 'Hi, my name is Herman and I'll be your garbage man today.'

A big bouquet to the honest and conscientious employees of our Wal-Mart store. I am a senior on a fixed income, after withdrawing my weekly allowance from the bank I proceeded to do some necessary shopping. I was startled to hear my name paged on the intercom ... the bottom line was that my purse (which I had not even missed) was returned to me, completely intact. Once again, thanks.

S. Short.

Winnipeg astronomer Ian Shelton is given credit for discovering the first "super-nova" since Kepler's observation in 1604. "It was a big black splotch that shouldn't have been there" was how Shelton, described his historic find on February 23rd, 1987.

Celebrating 50 Years

The agency acts as caretaker for 3,900 square kilometers of land in the South national watershed, the river and its many tributaries. There are some commemorative events being planned for this year's 50th celebration. The agency held its first official meeting on June 9, 1947. For more information on the celebrations contact the South Nation Conservation at (613) 984-2948.

Spot Checks on Truckers

The Ministry of Transportation has recently conducted spot checks on truckers passing through the SD&G area. Over the last few weeks, 18 charges have been laid against truckers with unsafe vehicles. Approximately 14 trucks were detained until the necessary repairs could be made. There have been numerous incidents of truck tires flying off the trucks recently (mostly in the Toronto area), and officials are finding other unsafe practices and parts involving the transports.

Read this early enough and you will still have time to feast on the "catch" of great seafood specials at GUMBOLINI'S on First Street East. The specials last until Sunday, Feb.23 and include half lobster, lobster linguini, whole lobster, or the catch-of-the-day with salmon, halibut, king fish with rice or potato and veggies.I would suggest you call in advance to reserve a table at 937-3669.

Also slated for this Sunday,at Aultsville Theatre, is Cape Breton's fiddling sensation, NATALIE MACMASTER & her five-piece band, including Tracy Dares and Dave MacIsaac.

Sports fans that have been following the CORNWALL COLTS may wish to pack the car and drive to Nepean for the 7:00pm game on Sunday (Feb.23). Or you could wait for the Hawkesbury visit to the Si Miller Arena this coming Thursday at 7:30pm. Following that game the regular season schedule has only 4 games left before the start of the exciting playoff round.

No doubt the television movie shown on this past Sunday and Monday evenings was a big draw for the tube crowd. It was called ASTEROID and was about a meterorite or some sort of big hunk of rock, falling to earth and wiping out Dallas,Texas. It was a highly touted disaster type production, and to me that's just what it was...a disaster. Now I'm far from being an expert movie critic,but I found myself falling asleep through most of part-one, and should have done the same for Monday's part-two. The acting was second rate, and that may even be too kind, the dialogue was amateurish and disjointed,and the plot was typical, right down to the very last two lines in the movie. Get this, as the smoke was settling, and the hero was cuddling the female lead,she struggles to blurt out, "We won't see anything like this again for another 4000 years !" To which our "hero" replies, "That's soon enough for me !".

Heck me too, even for the re-runs. Thank goodness there were a couple of LEAF'S games on the next couple of nights, so the whole week wasn't a total loss. Holy cow Batman did you see that big stone?

There is some great entertainment this Fri. & Sat. at the GLENGARRIAN PUB & RESTAURANT featuring Glengarry's own, HADRIAN'S WALL on Friday and ANTRIM on Saturday.

Next time you're out driving around anfd you get that caffeine urge, stop in at SPLENDOR DONUT'S at Seaway Village, next to Pizza Hut. They are open 24 hours a day and offer muffins or bagels with that cuppa. Its a great place also to begin your day with a morning visit. They also give a 10% discount for senior citizens.

Interest is mounting for the DAVE EZARD MEMORIAL WALK, coming next month.The "walk" will take place inside the Civic Complex where many well known personalities, and the general public, will participate in hourly walks around the concourse of the Ed Lumley Arena. Contact the Canadian Liver Foundation, Cornwall Chapter, at 938-1781 for information.

I see where Marc Clouthier is at it again ! This time it's to be another walleye derby, headquarted at Long Sault, but this time at a warmer time. The derby is slated for May with cash and merchandise prizes. More later.

The next annual event we should be preparing to celebrate is just weeks away. St.Patrick's day is on March 17th and several dances are in the making.There will be a fun-filled, toe-tapping, gathering at the Masonic's Heritage Hall for the occasion on Sat. Mar. 15th. Then another gala event on Sun. Mar. 16 when the RCAFA combine the March Birthday Bash with an Irish theme, including music & food. If you are working on a similar event please let us know early in order to have a mention here.

The Mardi Gras continues at GEDORO'S on Pitt Street. Its the 13th annual seafood mardi gras featuring some terrific items like Gumbo Soup, Shrimp & Seafood Pasta, 1lb. crab Dinner and many other exciting goodies from the sea. It's on now at 158 Pitt Street. Drop by and hook into your own catch.

Until next week,G'Day and G'Night.

HOROSCOPES

Feb. 23-March 5

Aries – March 21/April 20
Romance is fun and exciting this week, Aries. Clearly it's what keeps the hop in your step. Don't shy away from new opportunities. Take time out of your busy schedule to get to know somebody new. Don't think serious. Think fun. Then, sit back, and enjoy the wonder that every day brings.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
If you have been edgy and uncomfortable around others, this is a good week to set aside time to figure things out. Work on your people skills. There's no better place to start than at home. When family members challenge your patience, take a deep breath, sit back, and roll with it.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
This week, you'll find extra time to catch up on chores. Don't waste it away. You face your worst enemy Tuesday and Wednesday: downtime at work. Stay focused on smaller projects, even some you may deem unimportant. Remember, there are no small roles, only small actors.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Have a case of the midwinter blues? Stop hiding in the house, and have some fun. Outdoor activity will warm you up this week. Make sure the rest of your body joins you. Think ski resorts, ice-skating rinks, even building snowmen. A Libra has good news on Friday.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Money is tight this week, Leo. Watch your spending. Tired of trying to figure out your life's mission? Relax and roll with the punches. You know, you don't always have to have all the answers. A female Capricorn friend looks to you for romantic advice. Practice patience.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
Looking for a new job? Try especially hard this week to not let new opportunities scare you off. Know your skills, and learn their value. Read the paper, call your contacts, and see what else is out there. You never know. Your dream job could be at the end of your phone line.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
Use this week wisely, Libra. Study your romantic relationship carefully, and figure out what's missing. Are you and your partner making equal efforts? Now is not the time to be lazy or to show your flirtatious side to gain security. You have to stop depending on others to make you feel good about yourself; it's time you take this job on yourself.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
It's a busy week for you, Scorpio, and you'll find little time to even breathe. That's OK. A busy routine equals happiness for you. A new project at work has you perplexed Monday and Tuesday, but by Friday, you are left with nothing but sheer satisfaction and relief.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21
Put some movies on your calendar this week, Sagittarius. Lately, you seem to have let others' favorite things get in the way of your own. At home, it's best to keep your guard up. Tension on the home front is good incentive for a weekend get-away. Make the most of it.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
Settle down, and focus this week, Capricorn. Colleagues are depending on you to get the job done — and to get it done fast. But distractions are hard for you to pass up. Making the most of your time will only work to your benefit. Don't forget details. Your superiors are watching.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
A social event on Saturday has you confused. It seems as though your close friends always have other plans. Still, Saturday presents a good opportunity to make new acquaintances and even some business contacts. Don't pass it up on your friends' busy schedules.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
You're called upon for many decisions this week, Pisces. A romantic partner is feeling neglected, and you'll be asked to think hard about what's important to you. Do it. You need to know for your own well-being, too. A letter from a friend brings surprising news.

Celebrity Shoot-out Thursday

by Ken McLaughlin
Director of Public Relations

The second intermission of the Hawkesbury - Cornwall game this Thursday, February 27, will see the Third Annual Dave Ezard Memorial Celebrity Charity Shoot-Out take place. The event is, of course, named after the late Cornwall Royals defenceman who won the inaugural event in 1995. Last season, OPP Constable Joel Doiron took home the breakaway title.

This year, Digirolamo Builders Supplies has provided a $100 prize to be donated to the charity of the winner's choice. To add to this amount, donations from the general public and a side bet between the shooters and goaltenders will also boost the total donation to the victorious charity.

MARTELLE

Thursday night, five new competitors will try to score on two skilled goaltenders. Let's take a closer look at each participant: a) Cornwall Mayor and Federal Progressive Conservative candidate Ron Martelle. Ron will score goals for Pro Life Cornwall.

b) Stormont Dundas Member of Parliament Bob Kilger. Bob is shooting for the SD&G/ Akwesasne Children's Treatment Centre.

c) Colts head scout Bill Murphy. Bill will turn the red light on for Place Valois.

KILGER

d) Variety 104 personality Paul Johnson. Paul will try to score his first shoot-out goal for the Candlelighter's Childhood Cancer Trust.

e) Former Cornwall Royals player Brian Fontaine. Brian will add up the points for the Canadian Liver Foundation.

The two goaltenders who will attempt to stop all this offensive firepower are: Colts goaltending coach Mario Vien. Mario will block pucks for the Canadian Cancer Society. Jack MacDonald, former Colts game bartender and all purpose tender, will turn away rubber for the SD&G Snowsuit Fund.

The shoot-out format is simple. Each shooter gets three chances to score on both goaltenders. The shooter who scores the most goals, wins the cash jackpot for his charity. If a goaltender shuts out all shooters, he wins the money for his charity. To recap, five shooters, two goaltenders, seven charities and a noisy and supportive crowd will form a big night at the Si Miller Arena.

With all the excitement of the shoot-out, don't forget about the big game this Thursday, Feb. 27 when your Colts tangle with the Hawkesbury Hawks. Hawkesbury has had their troubles this season, but they always play inspired hockey against Cornwall. With a victory, your Colts can raise their record to a perfect 5-0 against Hawkesbury this season. The Dave Ezard Memorial Shoot-out, a big game with our Robinson Division rivals, the great family atmosphere. This Thursday is the night to come to the game and support your team as they prepare for the CJHL playoffs. Get your tickets early and avoid the game day line-ups.

We complete our playing week with a visit to Smiths Falls on Friday, February 28th, to battle the CJHL leading Bears. Your Colts have been outscored 14-3 in our two visits to Chocolate-town this season. It's time to go a huntin' Bear. All the action can be heard on CJSS, beginning at 7:50 pm.

Skate with the Cornwall Colts will take place next Saturday, March 1 from 3 to 4:30 pm at the Si Miller Arena. The event is sponsored by the Colts Booster Club. Admission is free. Meet your favourite players and coaches. Slapshot will also be on hand. Plan to attend and wish the team good luck as they get ready for the playoffs.

We'll see you this Thursday, as the Hawkesbury Hawks fly into Cornwall for a battle on Water Street. The second intermission of this game will feature the Dave Ezard Memorial Celebrity Charity Shoot-Out.

Minor HOCKEY

Fuels Finish in Good Standing

The Lally Blanchard Fuels Minor Peewee "AA" Rapids have completed their regular season schedule with a loss and a win to solidify a respectable hold on sixth position in overall league standings.

The Rapids and District III Cobras were showcased in a contest at the Cornwall Civic Complex which saw Seaway take a one goal lead in a penalty filled first period in which eleven minor infractions were called. The officials chatted amongst themselves between the first and second frames, came to the realization they were calling a peewee game (body contact is allowed) and then let the teams play. The Cobras scored twice and took a slim 2-1 margin into the third period. The Rapids evened the mark with 2:41 remaining, only to have their hopes dashed when District III went ahead to stay 3-2 with little more than one minute to play. Beausoleil and Turcotte tallied with Stewart assisting on both goals. Turcotte and Campbell also picked up single assists.

The Ottawa West Golden Knights and host Rapids played a game of cat and mouse well into the second period until the Rapids were fuelled by three unanswered goals to take a commanding 5-2 lead into the third period. The Knights scored once more to make a game of it before Turcotte sealed the 6-3 victory with his 50th goal of the season. Beausoleil had a big game with two goals and an assist and Grey was also a strong presence with a goal and two assists. Barnett and Roy were the other Seaway marksmen. Turcotte and Gravely each assisted twice with Barnett, Roy and Campbell collecting one helper apiece. Timmers played well in nets. All team members contributed to the win in their own way, with Barnett and Roy being strong influences to the games outcome.

Seaway now moves into a four point quarter final series against the Gloucester Rangers.

Navy Veterans

With the regular season coming to a close, the Navy Veterans Peewee "B" Royals appear to be gearing up for the playoffs. The Royals went 3-2-1 in league play. With many players missing early in the month due to injuries, illness, or suspensions, the Navy Veterans Royals started the month out slowly, with 2 losses and 1 tie. However the team have won their last 4 against South Grenville 3-2, South Stormont 7-1, Char-Lan 2-0 and an exhibition 7-0 win against Plattsburgh.

Scoring goals during this span were 12 different players: Jeffrey Laframboise (5); Dale Ferguson (4); Micheil Belmore (2); Matt O'Shaugnessy (2); Ryan Freeland (2); Andrew Fisk; Brent Garrow; Ranald Pecore; Marc Leroux; Chris Kennedy; Chris Hart and Zeyad Elsaadi. Chris Roy collected 4 assists during this six game span. The Navy Veterans have two regular season games left.

Minor AA Atom Rapids

The Rapids played their last regular season game (36th) to a packed house in Maxville against the District III Cobras. The Cobras went on the attack early, but goalie Chris Gadbois was sharp when he had to be. The Cobras first goal and the only goal of the first period, was on a power play, as the Rapids were caught on a line change. The Rapids came back in the second with the only goal of the period, with a two on one. Brock McBride took the lone defender wide, passed to Brent Lariviere, and you could feel the surge of the fans as he hit the top shelf. This would set the stage for a cliffhanger of a 3rd period. The Cobra's got the go ahead goal on a heartbreaker at the 7:05 mark. The initial stop was made, but somehow had just enough steam to slip slowly through the goalie's pads. The Rapids dug down deep in the trenches to do battle, as a victory would seal 5th place for them. You could see the Cobra's play slowing down and defenseman Josh Legue made life just a little bit unpleasant for the Cobra's when they entered the Rapids' zone. Finally, with less than a minute to play, coach Guindon pulled the goalie and at the 9 second mark, Mathieu Bruyere on a Brent Lariviere to Devin Bancroft pass, slid the rubber over the goal line. The game ended in a 2-2 tie, giving the much spirited crowd quite the memory to take home.

Earlier in the week, the Rapids faced the playoff hungry Ottawa South Canadians. Scoreless in the first, Devin Bancroft opened the scoring unassisted midway through the second. Colin Dignard gave his mom the birthday gift she wanted, the goal that would prove to be the winner at the 4:11 mark of the second, on a set up from Mathieu Bruyere. The Rapids completed their regular season with a very respectful 16 - 11 - 9 record. The Rapids start the first round of playoffs against the Rideau - St. Lawrence Kings in a best of three series. Good luck guys.

Major Atom Rapids

The Seaway Major Atom Rapids went undefeated last week in their last three regular season games, winning 2 and tying 1. The 2nd place Outaouais Intrepids scored with 58 seconds left to tie the home team at 3. Scott Bonneville, Clint Thomas and Chris Laperle connected for the Rapids. Ryan Kuhn Lalonde picked up a pair of assists.

Their next game saw them shut out the Rideau St. Lawrence Kings 2-0. Ryne Gove and Mathieu Bergeron scored with Shawn Pollard picking up the shutout.

At home in Maxville, the Rapids dominated the Nepean Raiders 6-3. Ryne Gove and Brennan Barker each scored twice with singles going to Timmy Owens and Ryan Kuhn Lalonde. Robert Marion and Chris Laperle each picked up a pair of assists. The Rapids finished their season at 14-14-8 and will meet the Ottawa South Canadians in the first round of the playoffs.

Minor Bantam "AA" Rapids

The Cornwall Tire Minor Bantam "AA" Rapids recently played Kanata in Maxville and came away with a 3-2 win. Scoring for the Rapids were Etienne Lemieux with 2 goals and Stephane St. Denis. Assisting on the goals were Adam Beehler with 2 assists and Derek Proulx.

In a game the next day, the Rapids suffered a 5-3 defeat to Nepean at the Maxville Arena. Scoring for the Rapids were Jonah Leroux, Stephane Mainville, and Jeremy Leroux. Assisting on goals were Danny Lafave, Jeremy Leroux, and Stephane Mainville. This was the last regular season game for the Rapids and they have clinched a spot for the playoffs.

City League Bowling

Summerheights took 15 points with bowling scores of 241, 276 and 333 for an 850 triple from Frank St. Louis. Mike Lalonde had scores of 219, 304 and 233 for a 756 triple.

Emard's took 11 points this week on scores from Claude Michaud who bowled 206, 313 and 258 for a triple of 777. Paul Flaro's 256, 237 and 267 for a 760 triple contributed to the team's performance.

Motard Advertising took 7 points this week with fine bowling from Jack Bedard who bowled a 167, 341 and 281 for a 789 triple. Paul Bourgeois' scores of 303, 224 and 209 for a triple of 736 and a fine effort.

Quinn's Inn also took 7 points this week. Phil Munn's fine scores of 224, 220 and 353 for a triple of 797 was assisted by triples from Rolly Lemire who had a 686 and a 665 from Howie Lalonde.

Upper Canada took 5 points this week. Lorne Taillon's consistent bowling of 282, 206 and 243 for a triple of 731 was assisted by Darryl Taillon's 654 triple followed closely by Peter Taillon's 610 triple.

BUSINESS PROFILE

SEAWAY NEWS ADVERTORIAL

THIS MONTH

Barbara's

A Cornwall woman who made her mark in the local flower business and is well known in the community for her volunteer work, is working now to match people with similar interests.

Barbara Collette owns and operates Barbara's Flower Boutique located on Cumberland near Second Street West. She also arranges dances and introductions for those in the singles scene.

Barbara is a native of Cornwall and completed her secondary school education at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School. All through high school she helped her mother with floral design work.

"I really wanted to be a phys ed teacher, but I suffered a sports injury in Grade 12 which prevented me from teaching phys ed," she says. "So I realized flowers were a new way of life for me, so I decided to change careers."

On completing high school, Barbara went to work for a Cornwall flower shop, but eventually decided to go on her own in 1975, opening Barbara's Flower Boutique on Augustus Street. Business went well and she moved to her current location in 1987.

She says that, like many people, she realized that it would be better to own the building that the business was located in and the location on Cumberland was ideal for her purposes.

Barbara feels the best part of the business is working with the customer. She says when a person orders flowers from her, she is really attempting to satisfy two customers, the one sending the flowers and the one receiving them.

Barbara Collette
Founder

"I was extremely lucky because I learned that very quickly, being in business for myself," she says.

Interestingly, the biggest challenge came when she became a single mother. She says the business became more important to her because it was the family's only source of income.

The business itself has been up and down through the years, reflecting the changing economic conditions. Today Barbara's Flower Boutique employs five people.

As if the flower shop wasn't enough, Barbara also got involved in running Barb's singles dances, usually on Saturdays at the Navy Club. She says many of the people who attend her dances participate in other activities such as a scavenger hunt which benefits the annual toy drive and snowsuit fund.

Most recently, Barbara has started an introduction service called, appropriately enough, "Introductions".

"A person will come in and register and fill out a form," she says. "This allows us to match people based on their interests and hobbies. After the two meet they usually go for coffee and it is up to them how far it goes from there."

While most people are looking for a romantic relationship, Barbara says she has found many people also join just to meet new people and get some new friends.

For Barbara though, that is hardly a problem.

She was Big Sister of the year in 1987, is an active member of the Rotary Club, past co-chair of the Seaway Arts Council, chair of the Cornwall Art Board, a member of the Lung Association Festival of Trees Committee and is a past-president of the Cornwall Ad and Sales Club.

"I think that this is going to be the year for me," she says. "I'm going to do something for myself."

New Help for Kids On The Internet http://kidshelp/sympatico/ca

Every day, Kid's Help Phone receives nearly 4,000 calls from troubled Canadian children and youth in search of help in the difficult job of growing up. But Kids Help Phone, Canada's only national, bilingual, toll-free helpline for children and youth, can only answer 1,400 calls each day. Where's a kid to turn to for responsible, relevant information and confidential advice?

Thankfully there's an important new stop on the Internet that's designed specifically for Canadian young people. Kids Help Phone and Bell Online, at http://kidshelp.sympatico.ca is designed to facilitate kids' access to information and help them cope with life's complexities in an immediate, timely way.

"We set up our Web site as an innovative add-on to our 24 hour telephone service," explains Heather Sproule, Executive Director of Kids Help Phone.

Good answers to tough questions

"Canadian young people have an urgent need for information and very few reliable, impartial sources to turn to for good advice," says Ms. Sproule. "Our phones are ringing off the hook, but our professionally trained counsellors can't answer all the calls. Now, our new Web site is always available, plus there are lots of young people, especially teenage boys, who may find this a more suitable means of information-gathering than speaking directly with a counsellor."

Kids Help Phone and Bell Online's new Internet site extends the national service's ability to help teens grow up safe and sound. Its expert, user-friendly content is written by the trained professionals and encourages anyone - youth, parent or educator - to go online with confidence, knowing there's a great destination for youth-focused information. There are also sections with tips and information for parents and other adults.

"We know what kids' information needs are because we've spoken with more than two million Canadian young people since we started Kids Help Phone seven years ago," says Ms. Sproule.

Don't know how to ask? Just point and click!

Web surfers who visit Kids Help Phone and Bell Online can tune into topics ranging from friendship, love and family to diversity, birth control, STDs and AIDS, drug abuse, eating disorders, abuse, sexual violence and suicide. For example, a visitor who clicks to the Sexual Violence section will find information on the differences between physical attraction and sexual harassment; learn the warning signs of dating violence; and get tips on what to do after an experience with sexual violence. In addition, the site, via hyper-links, directs a visitor to appropriate information on other sites. For example, online visitors to the Eating Disorders section can learn about the contributing factors to bulimia and anorexia nervosa; get advice on how to help a friend who has an eating disorder; and hyperlink to the Ontario Prevention Clearinghouse Web site to download its publication, Promoting Healthy Body Image.

"Kids Help Phone and Bell Online is a new facet of our long established, essential service," says Ms. Sproule. "It's not a substitute for children who are in crisis or personal danger who should, as always, call us at 1-800-668-6868. But it's a perfect place for young people to go to begin to source information on the topics that we know are of vital interest to them."

Kids Help Phone and Bell Online will evolve to meet teens' changing information needs. "We'll get lots of feedback from online visitors and callers to our helpline. It will guide us in updating and expanding our Web site," explains Ms. Sproule. "There will also be several professionally monitored online youth discussion groups." Produced in a unique, charitable partnership with Bell Canada and MediaLinx Interactive Inc., Kids Help Phone and Bell Online was launched into cyberspace thanks to the partners' contribution of $500,000 a year for the next three years. The service will be available in French in early 1997.

When You Need a Haven...

"Turn To A Friend."

"When Jack died, I was devastated. I think the only thing that got me through those first days was the concern and compassion of my family and friends.

After the services, they wanted to host a meal, but I couldn't face the thought of going to a restaurant — my grief was too personal to put on public display. I was so grateful that my friends at Lahaie and Sullivan had the foresight to add a reception area. We could all be together without being in public."

We recognize that everyone has special needs, and each individual is different. At Lahaie and Sullivan, all our programs and services are designed to meet your needs, whatever they may be. That's one of the reasons we added our Reception Centre, to offer friends and families a place to gather to renew their bonds.

Since our Reception Centre opened, many people have found peace and solace in its restful decor and quiet dignity. The Reception Centre offers a number of amenities and can be used for a catered meal or simply as a gathering place — at no additional charge.

"At Lahaie and Sullivan, we recognize that there is an immeasurable difference between adequate and excellent - especially when referring to caring for your loved ones. For 32 years, we have been the friend you could turn to with the added comfort of excellence."
