SEAWAY NEWS

November 5, 1999 VOLUME 13, ISSUE 45 SERVING CORNWALL AND AREA

Pictured in the -15 °F cooler at the new Super C on Vincent Massey Drive are Store Manager Rob Willis; Treasurer, R.C. Dulmage; Chairman, W.D. Willis and this year's Honourary Snowsuit Fund Chairman, John Divinski.

Children spend a great deal of time outdoors. They are outside while travelling to school, during school recess breaks, while waiting for their ride home, and while playing. These activities do not stop when cold winter weather arrives. Cold weather can be risky for anyone, but especially for younger people. The stronger the wind blows, the colder the air feels to the human body. High winds in below-freezing air can remove heat so fast from the skin, that the skin begins to freeze and discolour. Proper clothing for winter weather insulates from the cold, lets perspiration evaporate and provides protection against wind, rain and snow. The winter chill can also lead to a temperature drop inside the body that can be deadly if not found quickly and treated properly. The Cornwall & District Snowsuit Fund, currently in its eleventh year of operation, will host its fundraising gala at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Amelia Street, on November 6th. Corporate sponsors who assist the Cornwall Snowsuit Fund achieve its mandate are Super C, the Cornwall Lions Club and the Ontario Provincial Police. The Sears Foundation of Canada also actively works as a community partner with the Snowsuit Fund, helping Canadian families by working to provide children with the basics for positive development. Sears Young Futures Program helps communities provide essentials such as: breakfast programs; literacy assistance and computers for school programs. Figures released for 1999 show that over 750 families will rely on the Snowsuit Fund this winter to supply adequate clothing for their children. No child should be left out in the cold!

Maynard's Place

Maynard's Independent Grocer, well known in the Cornwall area for unique value-added promotions, has announced the immediate availability of free E-mail accounts for it's customers. Utilizing interactive touch screen technology, similar to an ATM, these in-store Personal Access Terminals, known as PAT'S PLACE, do not require the need for a home computer, or any special skills, in order to receive personal E-mail from around the world.

In addition to providing free E-mail access, the PAT system allows customers to instantly choose and print redeemable coupons for specific products, and to receive product samples or rewards instantly!

"What you need to know about PAT is this," enthused Maynard's president Bruce Maynard, "PAT is friendly. PAT is easy. PAT is fun. And PAT can make you money every time you use it!"

Maynard's Independent Grocer is the first retailer in Canada to offer PAT'S PLACE as a free service for it's customers. Four individual kiosk-based Personal Access Computer Terminals have been installed at the entrance to the store to provide adequate system access at all times, and a reasonable level of privacy for customers who wish to view personal E-mail messages or use other features.

Using PAT is simplicity in itself. There is no keyboard to deal with. All requests are entered using PAT's friendly interactive touch screen, and users are guided by helpful on screen prompts. In a few seconds members can enroll themselves and assign their own private password. Accessing E-mail, printing personal coupons or hoping for samples or prizes is no more difficult than using an ATM machine.

PAT'S PLACE is the result of a joint engineering and marketing effort by Gateway Interactive Viewer Services, Inc. of Hamilton, Ontario and St. Clair Interactive of Toronto.

Upper Canada Playhouse: GOING - GOING - GONE !

Upper Canada Playhouse is holding its annual Christmas Gift Auction on Saturday, November 13, 1999. The auction, which continues to be the theatre's most successful fundraiser, promises to be even more exciting this year as it moves to the beautiful Morrisburg Meeting Centre (OETIO) to accommodate the increasing number of items and interested bidders. Tickets are $15.00 per person and include an evening which begins at 6:30p.m. with the silent auction, hors d'oeuvres, wine tasting, contests and draws. At 8:00p.m. the live auction begins with a local favourite auctioneer Flora Dumouchel. As well a hot and cold buffet are all part of this year's seasonal festivities.

Christmas shoppers and bargain hunters are invited to browse the wide variety of items to be auctioned. Listed in this year's catalogue is everything from handcrafted Christmas decorations commemorating the last Christmas of the century, to weekend getaway packages, home decorating items, theatre or golfing packages, art and antiques and even a waterfront building lot!

Investment Attraction Efforts Net More Than $8 Million for Cornwall & SD&G

Recent liaison efforts carried out by the SD&G Community Development Corporation have resulted in more than $7 million of direct investment into projects within Cornwall and SD&G, and another $1.8 million in public program support.

One recent example of these efforts was the role in which the SD&G CDC fulfilled in the recent commitment by the Agriculture Adaptation Council to invest $4 million into the Seaway Ethanol project.

"The CDC provided the initial introduction and presentation of the Seaway Ethanol project and business plan to senior staff of the AAC more than 1 1/2 years ago", explained James dePater, Executive Director of the CDC. Once the CDC established interest in the project, management of the Seaway project carried on the direct negotiations with the AAC. The CDC has continued to provide ongoing follow-up with potential investors, the AAC, and other organizations associated with the ethanol project.

The CDC also introduced the AAC to three other projects to which the AAC provided direct grants, loan guarantees, and other forms of assistance. The AAC has now invested, or provided support, of more than $5 million into projects in SD&G.

The CDC also works diligently to help companies access various provincial and federal development assistance programs. In 1998-1999 the SD&G CDC assisted several companies in obtaining more than $1.8 million in non-repayable grants towards specific development projects.

The SD&G CDC also provides area businesses with assistance in securing investment from various sources. "In one particular instance we were able to introduce a business plan from a local project, which ultimately led to a $2,000,000. offer to invest, by a labour sponsored fund. We have been involved in a variety of deals with varying levels of involvement from introducing a project and answering basic questions, right through to deals where we actually drafted the terms of the final agreement", commented dePater. The CDC itself also invests directly into projects and currently has more than $1.5 million placed in businesses across SD&G and Cornwall.

Investment attraction is a key strategy for the CDC in its efforts to expand and diversify the local economy said dePater. "Investment into our region, be it through a government program, the Business Development Bank, an investment fund, or any other source, ultimately leads to economic growth, diversification, and jobs.

Honouring Our Veterans

Bob Kilger, M.P. Reports

Honouring Our Veterans: Remembering at the Turn of the Century.

They number nearly 1.75 million, and we remember their sacrifices each year on November 11th. This year - for the last time in the twentieth century - Canadians from coast to coast will take a moment to pause, reflect and honour the sacrifices made by our brave and courageous veterans. Men and women whose courage and valour through this century have, time and again, given force to our values and defined us in the world.

In two terrible World Wars and Korea, they fought - and died - for love of their country. And because they understood that people everywhere must be able to live in freedom, freedom we cherish in Canada. Over 100,000 men and women gave their lives for us in far-away places that have become synonymous in the minds of Canadians with bravery, sadness and loss. Places like Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, Ypres, Arras, Dieppe, the Liri Valley and Kapyong, are just a few of the sites where Canadians made a gallant stand.

Veterans' Week 1999

From November 5th through 11th, Veterans' Week 1999 will offer Canadians a chance to think about the fathers, mothers, sons and daughters who served in the Army, the Air Force, the Navy, the Merchant Navy and with peacekeeping forces. Veterans' Week also gives us an opportunity to remember the women, men and children who remained at home during the battles, rallying to support war efforts in homes and schools, businesses, factories and voluntary service organizations all across the country.

From one end of Canada to the other, communities will be hosting events to mark Veterans' Week. On an individual level, there are many ways Canadians can get involved in Remembrance Day. They can attend commemorative ceremonies at the local cenotaph; watch the national Remembrance Day services on television; and wear poppy flowers - the international symbol of remembrance - in tribute to the men and women who sacrificed their lives for freedom.

A Two Minute Wave of Silence

This year, to highlight the significance of November 11th as a Day of Remembrance, the Royal Canadian Legion - with the help of the federal government, through the Canada Millennium Partnership Program - is starting a new tradition. Beginning this year, the Legion will lead the nation in setting aside two minutes of silence in every village, town and city across Canada once the clock strikes 11:00.

During that two minutes, trains, buses and cars will be urged to come to a halt; school children will be asked to stand at their desks, with heads bowed; office workers will turn off their phones, while stock markets, radio and television broadcasts will all come to a momentary pause. From coast to coast, Canadians will take part. They'll celebrate the valiant efforts of the veterans who defended our country - a country that is the envy of the world.

On the dawn of a new millennium, one thing is sure. It's safe to say that in the next century, Canadians will always remember the lessons of bravery that our veterans taught us in this one.

The Trillium Foundation

The Ontario Trillium Foundation was established in 1982 to ensure that a portion of the proceeds of the Ontario Lottery Corporation is directed toward social issues in Ontario.

The Ontario Trillium Foundation's focus is the development of a vision which provides opportunity and promotes both individual and collective responsibility. Through their grants program, the Trillium Foundation encourages innovation and experimentation, cross-sectoral collaboration, citizen participation and systemic change. Today, Trillium's focus is on building healthy, sustainable and caring communities, described in their vision as 'communities marked by personal contribution, an abundance of accessible activities and services and deep and respectful public discussion'. This year for the first time, the Trillium Foundation is excited to be able to reach out to new sectors in the community to support the important role that arts, culture, recreation, sports, the environment and social services play in the creation of vibrant communities.

Pictured at the meeting are Grant Wheeler; Keith Jodoin; Ronald Mulligan; Roland Bissonnette; Lucie Goulet, Program Manager, The Trillium Foundation; Wesley Ronulus; Suzanne Bedard; Marcel Ranger and Mayor Brian Sylvester.

The new Ontario Trillium Foundation is responsible for the allocation of a guaranteed $100 million annually to charities and not-for-profit organizations across the province. The program provides single or multi-year grants for projects that:

- contribute to community vitality;
- increase access to all aspects of community life;
- make better use of existing facilities, land and other resources;
- lead to safer communities;
- prevent community problems
- create economic opportunities;
- enable organizations to find better ways to use their resources.

On October 28th, the Champlain Area Grant Review team met at the Civic Complex, to review 26 applications for financial support. This was the first meeting outside of Ottawa for the team, since its inception in April of this year and the members were on hand to review requests for over $2.8 million.

The Ontario Envirothon

The Ontario Envirothon, sponsored by Shell Canada, provides educational tools and opportunities for young people to learn more about the environment so they will be able to make informed, responsible decisions that benefit the earth and its inhabitants. Working together, groups of young people and advisors use critical thinking and problem solving skills to learn about environmental topics and issues. Organizing committees in regions throughout the province work with schools, natural resource agencies and the Ontario Forestry Association to maximize learning for all participants. Ontario Envirothon encourages young people to learn more about the environment by getting out of the classroom and experiencing the outdoors. In a group setting, they learn from one another, from resource professionals and from nature itself! Ontario Envirothon is open to students enrolled in grades 9 to OAC in public, private and home schools, or community organizations such as Guides, Scouts and 4H clubs. Domtar, no stranger to the concerns of environmental issues, regularly uses its facilities at the McKinnon Forestry Centre, to encourage participation among young students using forestry management as a central focus. Foresters use many specialized tools to perform their jobs: Clinometers measure the heights, diameter tapes measure the diameter, and increment borers and bark gauges measure the growth of trees so that timber volumes can be computed and future growth estimated. Photogrammetry and remote sensing (aerial photographs) and other imagery taken from airplanes and satellites) often are used for mapping large forest areas and for detecting widespread trends of forest and land use. Computers are used extensively, both in the office and in the field, for the storage, retrieval and analysis of information required to manage the forest land and its resources. A hectare, which measures 100 ares or 2.471 acres, can be measured for forest growth by using a prism, an optical instrument used as an angle gauge, consisting of a thin wedge of glass which establishes a fixed (critical) angle of projection in a point sample. Point sampling is a method of selecting trees for measurements and of estimating stand basal area at a sample location or point sample. A 360 degree sweep is made with an angle gauge about a fixed point and the stems with breast height diameters appearing larger than the fixed angle subtended by the angle gauge are included in the sample.

Volunteers Needed For Block Parents

The local chapter of the Block Parents Program is looking for volunteers to open their homes to children, as a temporary refuge in an emergency. Sergeant Denis Moquin says that "working with educators and police, Block Parents make your community safer, you can help too! Become a Block Parent today, call 613-933-5000 ext. 2761."

Sgt. Moquin is looking for more volunteers to take on some small tasks at the Santa Claus Parade in November.

Block Parents are responsible adults who care sufficiently about the well-being of children and others to volunteer their homes as a temporary refuge in an emergency. All Block Parents arescreened by the police and instructed on local programs by volunteers.

The distinctive red and white Block Parent window sign is displayed in the window of a home when a adult is able to answer the door. This sign tells children, seniors and others that help is at hand if they are lost, frightened or in distress. The sign is never displayed when the Block Parent is not able to offer immediate assistance.

In addition to making our community safer for the children, the Block Parent Program deters criminals and trouble makers. The network of Block Parent homes is a visible reminder that citizens are watchful in their communities.

South Stormont Builds on October Exercise

South Stormont emergency responders will gather at the Long Sault Fire Hall on Tuesday, November 9th to review emergency site management procedures for the train derailment scenario used in the townships emergency preparedness exercise held last month.

September's exercise tested the township's emergency plan at the community control group level. This exercise will focus on the coordination of response operations at the emergency site. Exercise participants will be introduced to the Canadian concept of emergency site management as taught at the Canadian Emergency Preparedness College in Arnprior, Ontario. A video of the November 10, 1979 train derailment in Mississauga will be used to visualize the possible hazards and damage that could be caused by a derailment. Major train derailments are one of the probable disasters that the township must be prepared to handle in its all-hazards emergency plan. In the Mississauga emergency, 24 cars were derailed of which 21 were carrying hazardous materials. Almost a quarter of a million people were evacuated for a period of up to five days.

This exercise, like the October one, is being undertaken with financial assistance from the Federal Government's Joint Emergency Preparedness Program which is administered in Ontario by Emergency Measures Ontario, Ministry of the Solicitor General.

Exercise planner, Bill Shearing said, "At Arnprior, they tell you that at every disaster, there are two disasters - the disaster itself and then the emergency site. This exercise will provide township emergency responders with a model for managing the emergency site so that it isn't a disaster."

The Township of South Stormont continues its commitment to being prepared for a future emergency.

Drug Awareness Week Nov. 15-19

"Why use drugs, it's fun to be me!"

Where: Akwesasne Territory, Cornwall and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Who: Addiction Services, RCMP, Cornwall Police Service, Akwesasne Mohawk Police, SD&G OPP, Operation Lookout, Akwesasne Addiction and Prevention Programs, Partir D'Un Bon Pas, Youth Centre, Centre Communautaire de L'Estrie and Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

All above agencies have joined their forces together to form the community health coalition for Akwesasne Territory, Cornwall and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties.

The purpose of this committee is to heighten our communities awareness of the personal and social consequences of alcohol and drug abuse and try to promote healthy activities and healthy lifestyles for healthy communities.

During Drug Awareness Week and also all throughout the month of November, the members of the community health coalition will be offering to the public of all ages, various activities such as, active challenges to high school and elementary students, a chance to skate with the stars from Junior "A" Colts of Cornwall, skate with the stars of Junior "B" Glens of Alexandria, health fair for senior citizens of our area. Also the Municipal Library of Cornwall and other malls in our area will have drawing displays to show to the public.

Royal Canadian Legion Donates Saxaphones To Stormont Sea Cadets

The Royal Canadian Legion has once again come to the aid of your local Sea Cadet Corps "Stormont".

This generous donation of two Saxaphones, valued at over $2,000. will allow Stormont to continue its ongoing commitment to teach its cadets the value of good citizenship and community involvement.

This will allow Stormont to continue to participate in local parades as well as perform in concerts as well as visit local retirement homes.

The Internet Is A World Of Information Open To Anyone With A Computer

There are many dangers from sexual predators to con artists that can reach children, adolescents, and adults through the Internet.

A committee led by the Cornwall General Hospital will be sponsoring a morning conference called CYBER-PROOFING OUR CHILDREN, with Detective Bob Wilson of the Ottawa-Carleton Regional Police Service, High-Tech Crimes Unit. He has served as a member of the Ottawa-Carleton Regional Police for the last twenty-three years.

He is trained in Electronic Search and Seizure, General Investigation Techniques, and Internet Online Undercover Investigations to combat the Sexual Exploitation of Children. Detective Wilson is affiliated with: the Canadian Senate Standing Committee on Child Sexual Exploitation, the Media Awareness Network, Net Awareness Week committee, and the Criminal Intelligence Service Canada.

This conference, will be held on Friday, November 26th, is ideal for parents, educators and service providers. To register, call Karen at 932-3300 ext. 4651, or for information call Sarah at 932-3300 ext. 4202.

EDITORIAL OPINION

PERSPECTIVE

On Squeegee Kids & Church Pornography Campaign

Bob ROTH

Mike Harris is at it again.

And he's going to win again.

The Opposition parties are making a big mistake if they think they are going to score points over the Conservative leader's latest "attack on the poor."

In major cities such as Toronto, most people will readily appreciate the new provincial law banning aggressive panhandling, begging and "squeegee" activities.

Although Opposition MPPs will try to depict this latest crackdown as another assault on the poor and underprivileged, those of us who visit large municipalities such as Toronto on a regular basis won't be swallowing the bait.

Frankly, as a taxpayer who forks over thousands of dollars a year in contributions to our social services system, I resent being accosted on the street by healthy-looking, twenty-something men and women begging for change "for bus fare" or some other bogus need.

Nor do I appreciate having to literally step over people in the street who are so drunk, they've just collapsed there (and in so doing, earned the title "homeless people").

I don't subscribe to the sometimes insensitive approach of the Ontario

Conservatives to our social needs, but neither do I embrace the exaggerated claims of the Opposition that squeegee kids and other panhandlers are "victims." Many are just plain lazy or mentally ill. The solution for the former is a good kick in the pants (which the new legislation will apply with some effect, I hope); the solution for the latter is improved mental health resources and a change in the law that will let authorities incarcerate these people long enough to provide some treatment (yes, I can hear the civil liberties lawyers rattling their sabres and opening their wallets already).

On another note, I commend the Alexandria-Cornwall Diocese members of the Catholic Women's League who are participating in a campaign aimed at child pornography. While I take the free speech/free expression position that adults should be able to read and look at whatever they choose, I make a significant exception when it comes to children.

Children have not reached an age of consent allowing them to make adult decisions and they deserve society's protection against exploitation.

I do hope, however, that the good women of the CWL will realize that some of the worst child abuse in society has occurred within (and been covered up by) the Catholic Church. For some reason, many of the "faithful" are unable to see the truth when it is so close to home.

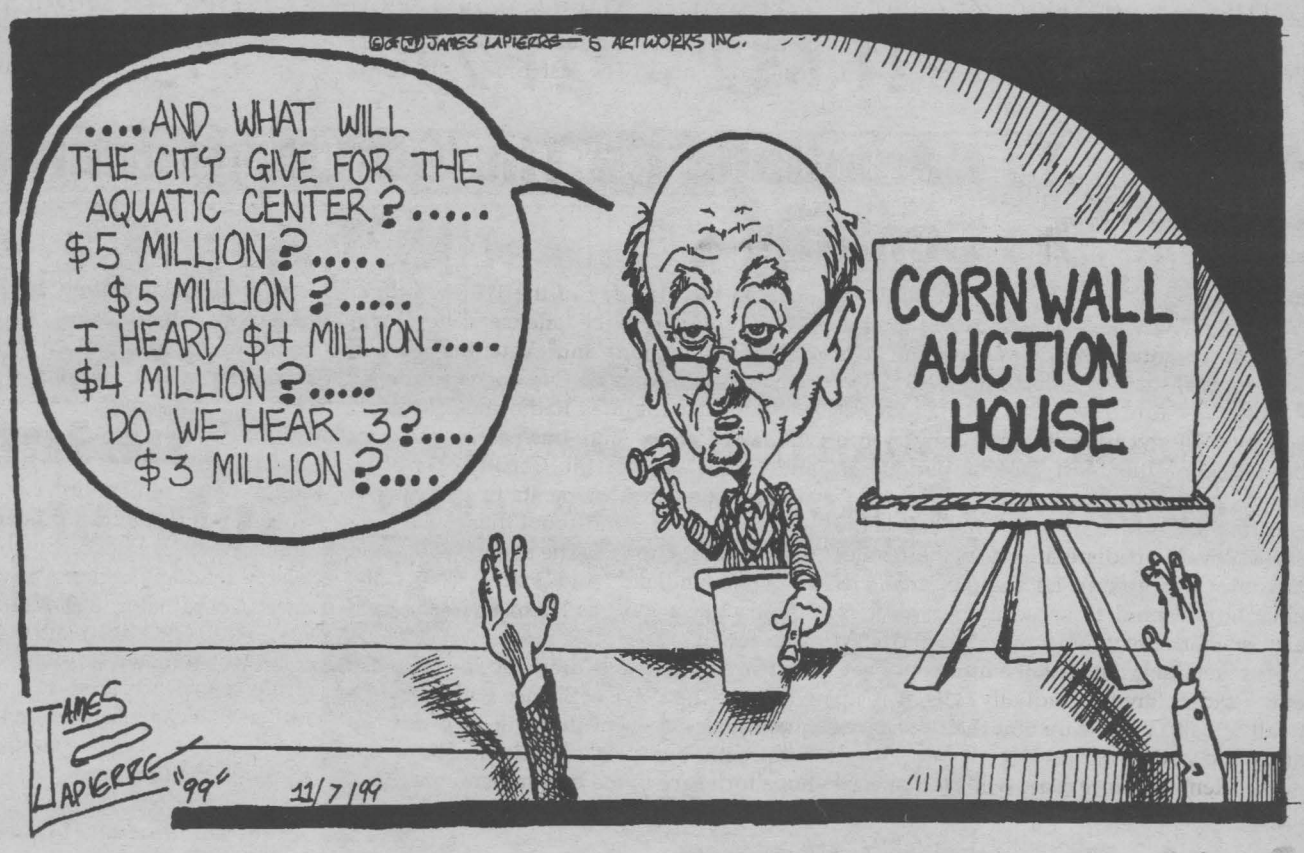
The inability or unwillingness of the male-dominated church hierarchy to tackle this problem with more vigor should be extremely disturbing to Catholic women, who we would expect to be in the vanguard of protecting our children.

Abusing children is bad enough; when it is done under the cloak of the clergy, it is particularly heinous.

Where is the CWL White Ribbon Campaign Against Pornography Within the Church?

The danger of Catholic institutions lecturing the broader society about pornography and child abuse is that it invites a retort based on the old adage,

"Physician, heal thyself."



BASIC BLACK

On UFO's

Arthur BLACK

It doesn't come easily, but I'm beginning to feel just an atom or two of sympathy for the big tobacco companies.

Poor guys. All they ask is to be left alone to peddle a product that kills a few million customers every year and what do they get? Senate investigations.

Bad press.

Ridicule from the pens of cartoonists around the world.

And now this: The R.J.Reynolds tobacco company is being sued for defamation. Sued by an organization that believes in Unidentified Flying Objects.

A lawyer for CAUS (Citizens Against UFO Secrecy - and no, I am not making this up) has filed notice that he intends to take R.J. Reynolds to court over a newspaper ad they've been running. It's an ad for Winstons. It shows a typical artists impression of a flying saucer over the caption: "If aliens are smart enough to travel through space, why do they keep abducting the dumbest people on earth?"

Personally, I think the question is legit. The Alien Abduction disciples have to be the most gullible humans this side of the Brian Mulroney Fan Club.

Do you think they ever stop and ask themselves questions like: Why do these abductions always occur at night? And in a deserted setting? And only to stranded motorists, and farmers outstanding in their fields?

How come they never occur at The Skydome, say, during a Blue Jays doubleheader? Or on Parliament Hill during the Changing of The Guard? UFOlogists will argue that aliens are shy, and don't want to upset us,.

Why the hell not? These are supposedly beings that can time warp through space, hover indefinitely and fly loop de loops around our fastest aircraft. They routinely (according to UFO believers) hijack random citizens, suck them into their ships, strip them naked and perform all kinds of bizarre medico-scientific mumbo-jumbo experiments on them. And their supposed to be worried about our feelings?

I'm not saying there's no such things as UFO's - I don't know. But keeping an open mind is not the same as accepting, holus-bolus, yarns from every hare-brained neurotic who comes down the 'pike. It's easy to get sucked in. After all, even US president Jimmy Carter had a flying saucer experience,.

It happened in 1969, well before his ascension to the Oval Office. Jimmy later reported that at 7:15 that evening, shortly after dark, he and a group of about a dozen people beheld a glowing object in the sky over Leary, Georgia. "The object stood still for 10 or 12 minutes" Carter wrote, "slowly changing its color, size and brightness, and then gradually retreated in the distance, disappearing from view".

Well. From the lips of a peanut farmer about to become President - endorsements don't get any more high-toned than that.

Except that subsequent investigation proves Mister Carter only thought he saw a UFO. Robert Sheaffer, a man who specializes in investigating UFO claims, delved into astronomical records and discovered that on that evening, sitting precisely at the spot Carter spotted his UFO was the planet Venus.

Venus is the galactic object most often mis-identified as a UFO. Even Jimmy Carter was fooled.

As Robert Sheaffer delicately (and dryly) concluded: "Either an extraterrestrial space vehicle was covering up Venus that night, "or Mister Carter was looking at the planet."

So. UFO's - fact or fantasy? Don't ask me. The whole argument reminds me of one of the wisest observations I ever read. It says: "There are two ways to slide easily through life; to believe everything or to doubt everything. Both ways save us from thinking."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

City Council Where Are The Signs?

Dear Editor:

November 23, 1998 City Council amended By-law 085-1998 to allow dog owners to exercise their dogs in four specific park areas within the boundaries of Cornwall. They also implemented a poop and scoop bylaw which Cornwall never had until I started my campaign as a responsible dog owner to allow dogs in parks.

Council set aside $4,800.00 for the hiring of 2 summer students to enforce the by-law and $6,500.00 for new signage and maintenance of existing signs. The summer students were hired. I have not seen one sign stating that Cornwall has a poop and scoop bylaw, nor have I seen a sign stating that dog walking is allowed in this area. Take a drive along Guindon Park roadway and all the signs show dogs prohibited. And as far as maintenance of the signs go, half of the signs you can barely read. I ask our administration what happened to the $6,500.00 as it was definitely not spent on signs.

The citizens of Cornwall are doing their part. I estimate that 80% are adhering to the poop and scoop bylaw. The city has agreed to meet with me each year to assess how the dog owners are abiding to the bylaw, and consider opening up further areas for exercising our dogs. The last time I sat down with them was July 20th, 1998 which was 439 days ago. I always thought a year was 365 days?

As a responsible dog owner I know that this letter is going to open the flood gates with letters to the editor from people who are opposed to dogs in parks. Let me remind them that we also have rights. We are taxpayers and we pay a licence to own a dog on a yearly basis. We support local charities. We shop locally, which in some way contributes towards their salaries.

Yours truly,
Kevin Murray,
Cornwall, Ontario

A Letter To Canadians On The Last Remembrance Day Of The Century

Dear Editor:

In just a few weeks we will turn the final page on a century and a millennium. It is only natural that we reflect on the past and look to the future. Living in Canada today, it is easy to forget that the 20th Century has been one of the most violent periods in human history.

From the World Wars in the first half of the century to NATO operations in the former Yugoslavia, more than 1.4 million Canadians have volunteered to serve in our military and merchant navy and more than 116,000 have given their lives. As the number of veterans and survivors gradually falls, it is up to all of us to make sure that their sacrifices are not forgotten.

This Remembrance Day will be a special one. On the 11th day of the 11th month, at 11a.m. there will be silence. The Royal Canadian Legion and Veterans Affairs Canada are asking all Canadians simply to pause for two minutes. Radio and TV signals will stop, shops and businesses, factories and farms will be still. Canadians will be able to take a few moments to think about war, about peace, and about those who gave up everything for us. The silence will begin in Newfoundland, and sweep across the country like a wave as 11a.m. strikes in each time zone.

Silence is rare and dramatic in our noisy world, so the Wave of Silence will be an eloquent national event that will help us keep faith with our past and demonstrate our hope for peace in the new millennium.

I will be participating in the 2-Minute Wave of Silence and encourage all Canadians to take part, where safety and practicality allow. Wherever you are at 11a.m. on November 11th, please pause in what you are doing for a couple of minutes. It will be two minutes well-spent, before the minutes of the millennium run out.

You can get more information on the 2-Minute Wave of Silence by contacting: The Royal Canadian Legion, Wave of Silence Project Coordinator, 359 Kent. St. Ottawa, Ontario K2P OR7, or e-mail: wave@legion.ca Legion Web Site: www.legion.ca

South Stormont News

Dear Editor:

Well, Sir, just when you thought you had heard it all or seen it all, along comes "good old" South Stormont!! Our regular operator of the recycling truck is, well, let's just say that he is of an older model and works the truck all alone, but when he is not available it takes two younger models (that's right two) to replace him. This puts a new meaning to the old saying "wear out the old things first."

Well, on to the nuclear situation. They claim this waste is as safe as a babe in arms. I have a few questions I would like answers for.

If this is all good and no evil why don't they keep it themselves?

It is said to weigh 120 grams or about 1/4 of a pound. If this is so why ship such a little thing in a big boat?

They wish to use the Cornwall Harbour which is open about 8 months per year why not use Montreal Harbour which is open all year round?

Why don't they put it on a shallow draft tugboat and barge and go up the Ottawa River or they could air lift it right to Chalk River ? The Mayor of Cornwall must be seeing "Red" all day long because he does not want this nuclear waste going through the city, but the Prime Minister, his right hand man our local M.P., our local M.P.P. and the Reeve of South Stormont think this would be good for us and our economy. Well, sir, I am not that convinced yet.

Sagel is Way Off Base

Dear Editor:

Re. Mr. Sagel's Column entitled "Unions Defend Themselves"

There are times when Mr. Sagel raises some very interesting and valid issues. There are, however, times when he is way off base.

I would like to take issue with a number of statements and views put forward by Mr. Sagel in his column of October 8, 1999.

There are a number of points that need to be raised, but space and propriety compel me to address just three.

Firstly, to state the matter briefly, the column is long on opinion and short on fact. Contrary to the assertion made by Mr. Sagel, other than by special arrangements made between the Government and the Ontario Teachers Pension Plan, teachers cannot retire with an 80 factor. Teachers, as a rule, can only retire when the combined total of their age and their years of contribution to the pension plan is equivalent to 90.

Secondly, the statement that "...teachers, while not underpaid, are not doing enough for their bread." raises a basic and relevant question. Is Mr. Sagel voicing an uninformed opinion, or is he speaking on the strength of personal knowledge gained from time spent in actual classrooms, with their policy of inclusion but with no corresponding and enabling support services, with their conflicting demands on teacher time and on student time, with their emphasis on students' rights but with no corresponding stress on students' responsibility, with the demands of social correctness outweighing the needs of basic skills, with the much touted codes of conduct, but with few, if any, consequences for disruptive behaviours... and so on, and so on, and so on.

Thirdly, there is a basic flaw in Mr. Sagel's reasoning. He indulges in a great ado of teacher bashing, posing that nursing is a significantly more demanding profession than teaching. To my knowledge, he has practised neither of these arts, nor does he provide any substantiating documentation to support his position. Yet, in his closing assertion, he claims that the two professions, like apples and oranges, cannot be compared. The last statement is inconsistent with much of the thrust of the article. What, therefore, other than another gratuitous and indulgent attack on the teaching profession, is the purpose of the article ? The cause of bringing about improvements to the working conditions of the nursing profession is certainly not advanced by the public utterances of unfounded and undocumented allegations about teachers.

Timmins High & Vocational School Reunion

Dear Editor:

The TH &VS Homecoming Reunion Committee would be much appreciative if you could find space in your newspaper to deliver a very important message to all Timmins High and Vocational School Alumni.

From August 3rd to the 6th, the Timmins High & Vocational School Reunion Committee will be hosting Homecoming 2000. This event-packed weekend should see upwards of 5,000 former students of TH&VS returning to the City with a Heart of Gold to share memories and good times with friends and relatives.

If any of the citizens of your fine community are former students of Timmins High & Vocational School, and are interested in attending, please consider this an invitation to register today for the millennium event of the year! Registrations can be obtained at the postal address or email address listed below.

NOTES FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

Art
BABYCH

Perq and ride

Liberal MP Ethel Blondin-Andrew, who ranked third in MPs' travel costs last year by spending more than $200,000, can't be accused of having tunnel vision. The MP for the Western Arctic was seen bypassing the plush new $1.4 million tunnel on her way from the East Block to the Centre Block. No two-minute walk through the Reform-dubbed "funnel tunnel" for her -- at least not on that sunny afternoon. Instead, Blondin-Andrew stepped out into the fresh air outside the East Block, trekked to the nearby curb and -- scouts honor -- boarded a House of Commons bus for the 100-metre trip. Bon voyage!

Beware, acronyms ahead

The Canada Health Coalition (CHC) has released a study on Parliament Hill (PH) backing demands that Health Care Services (HCS) be excluded from International Trade Talks (ITT). The study is rather complicated but we've taken the time to summarize it for readers. Here goes: WTO members must grant MFN treatment under the GATS, subject to NAFTA or FTAA, of course. But NT under the GATS (not to be confused with GATT) isn't always granted.

That's where TRIPS comes in. It incorporates modern IP conventions, secured under the aegis of WIPO, but requires MFN and NT applications. GMO patents and SPS measures should also be considered within the context of a new round of MTN. Glad to clear things up.

Bladder blather

"It is time to bring incontinence out of the closet," declared Liberal MP Marlene Jennings (Notre-Dame-de-Grace-Lachine) before tabling a petition on incontinence in the House of Commons. Speaking on behalf of more than 1.5 million Canadians who suffer from loss of bladder control, Jennings asked Parliament to declare November Incontinence Awareness Month. Her plan to table the petition was "leaked" to the media in a press release that was also stamped "Urgent." No doubt.

A class act

About 70 of Canada's "most innovative teachers" came to Parliament Hill for a week-long Teachers' Institute on Canadian Parliamentary Democracy. They were expecting to gain "some of the fundamental knowledge and develop new tools to teach our children about democracy and our system of government," according to a news release from the group. The first lesson came the day the institute opened when the government limited debate on C-9, the Nisga'a treaty bill. Reform MP Randy White claimed the time allocation "tells the people of British Columbia to go to hell." In tomorrow's lesson, class.

The Brain Game

Finance Minister Paul Martin referred to the Reform Party's ideas as "lamebrained" during Question Period. The jab at the party's collective grey matter hit a nerve with Reform's finance critic, Monte Solberg, who countered that Martin is a "brain drain victim himself." Speaker Gib Parent found all the brain talk draining and advised the House to "get past the brains and to the question." Martin got in the last word, though: "Talking about brains and the Reform Party is a bit of an oxymoron," he said. From then on Question Period was a no-brainer.

A full Nelson

Nelson Riis, the NDP MP for Kamloops, blasted away at Reformers in the House after they blocked the finance committee from holding meetings outside Ottawa. The red-faced Riis claimed "if we listened carefully we could actually hear jackboots slamming around this place." It was a rant that even the veteran politician admitted broke new ground - at least for him. "I have never spoken like this in the House," he said. "I have never felt this way." Riis said the move by the Reform Party would "shut down the ability of members of parliament to get out of this bloody place and into other parts of the country." He also accused his "friends" in the Reform Party of being "immature children." Then he collected his marbles and went home.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

More Bite Needed In Animal Cruelty Law

Dear Editor:

It is time to add more bite to the legislation on animal cruelty if Ontario is any example. Obviously, the bark in the present legislation is not enough. Within the past six months, too many cases of animal cruelty have risen their ugly heads. Bracebridge, Shelburne, Waterloo, Bewdley, Toronto: no Ontario place is exempt. Irish Setter, Rottweiler, cat or dog, young or old: no animal is exempt!

Recently, a 46 year old man has been charged with cruelty, after dragging a 1 year old, 60 pound Rottweiler behind his pickup at some 70 km per hour. If he actually did stop, put Nikita back on her feet and continue his torture-drive, as witnesses claim, then he should be charged with 2 counts of animal cruelty. He should have to pay for Nikita's estimated $7,000. recovery costs. He should also be charged with wreckless driving, as should a 22 year old Elmira woman, who allegedly tossed two three week old kittens from her car while travelling at 80 km per hour on a highway just north of Waterloo. Imagine if Nikita had broken away from the pickup or the kittens had landed on the roadway in front of a following vehicle!

A serial cat killer has vented his/her anger on five cats in five weeks in North York. Thirteen cats went missing in the Toronto Beaches area six months ago with no trace.

Michael O'Sullivan, Executive Director of the Humane Society of Canada has expressed concern over the recent rash of cruelty. And so has Toronto Police Acting Staff Sgt. Steven Sattz, who even went so far as to suggest that such actions, as a psychiatrist, will tell you, imply deeper problems.

Currently cruelty to animals is a summary conviction under the Criminal Code with a maximum of $2,000. fine and six months in jail. Ontario's Solicitor General, David Tsubouchi would like to see stiffer penalties, including a lifetime ban on persons convicted of animal cruelty. In addition, the code should be amended to make the guilty party pay for all veterinary expenses incurred, even to the point of garnisheeing wages and placing liens on personal property!

It is time for the guilty to pay for the crime!

Yours truly,
John Shipton,
West Hill, Ontario

Sick And Tired Citizen

Dear Editor:

In recent weeks there has been quite a stir on the train whistle blowing situation and most people can't help but sympathize with the many residents being seriously disturbed and affected a direct result of the needless racket. In this complex and sometimes unattractive world everyone has a story to tell and my story and objective relates to heroes and jackasses.

Hopefully the heroes will be members of the local police force. The jackasses are the irresponsible individuals who play their car stereos at full blast at all hours of the night. Most of these jackasses also like the smell of burning rubber. I state with great accuracy that very soon these same jackasses will also recognize the smell of a hole burning through their wallets.

Considering the seriousness of their acts, most of the subject jackasses will agree that I have not lost brakes on my emotions but to the contrary.

But as polite and calm as I am, these jackasses are very fortunate I am not the king of the world.

I also must convey a message to these jackasses who are making debris of society's laws, rules, and moral principles that the people they are disturbing and offending may have to get up for work in the morning or are paying taxes to help build the roads these jackasses are driving(?) on.

In closing, I cannot let the opportunity escape me to ask these jackasses, that if they think they are not jackasses or not offending society, to say the least; please inform the people of this city (Cornwall) and surrounding areas - what is the correct earned title to be bestowed on them (jackasses).

Yours truly,
Emmanuel Sam Small

Uranium

Dear Editor:

Antoine Henri Becquerel discovered Radioactivity in 1896 and shared in the Nobel Prize for Physics in 1903 for the discovery of Radium. Passed away at 56 years old in 1908. Pierre and Marie Curie were the other recipients, Pierre passed away at 47 years old in 1906. Marie carried on, winning the nobel prize for Chemistry in 1911, pioneered the medicinal use of radioactivity and isolated metallic radium. Died in 1934 at 67 years old. This was the birth of the Uranium industry.

The medicinal use is controversial since the potential is there for supplying it's own victims for treatment. There's not much controversy over some of the other uses. Living with terror has given a fatalistic twist to human perceptions which is one of the primary contributors to the ongoing breakdown in society. When coupled with a monetary system based on fraud, guided by greed and currently at the apex of worldwide corruption, the new millennium is off to a less than auspicious start.

The Canadian government in it's wisdom has decided to accept nuclear fissionable material from U.S.A. and Russia for the purpose of learning the potential for other uses. This is another exhibition of the contempt this government has for basic canadian values. Canada is already producing at least one byproduct of nuclear waste at Port Hope. Depleted uranium is now a component of our defence capabilities as well as those of the U.S.A. Unfortunately defence has formed no part of its use to date. I don't think the world needs any more byproducts of this nature.

The world's scientific achievements have outstripped the world's socio-economic realities. The current establishment is not mature enough to handle power of this magnitude. A moratorium should be declared on all nuclear experimentation until such time as the international elites demonstrate the ability to make proper use of such products.

Yours truly,
A. MacDonell,
Williamstown, Ontario

Equal Rights To English and French

Dear Editor:

What is this relatively new trend, lately, of comparing China to Québec and the French Language, to Chinese Mandarin???!!

The printed and electronic media are full of it. The Parti Québecois is going NUTS! The population of Québec is only six (6) million over-taxed Souls, while that of China is over one billion. How explain also, this new fashion of the P.Q. of comparing the Spanish language, in California, to the Québec linguistic situation??!!

The near-clash in Shawville, (Pontiac county) - Outaouais - is yet another virage of the hard-liner "séparatistes", "souverainistes", "anarchistes"...! Predominance of French signs over English ones, and the size of the block letters to boot, is really not the way to go (to promote social peace). The business community of Shawville - or any other area, just won't tolerate it. Period! I fully agree! It's high time the Feds step right in and straighten things out. The official languages act is a fact. Equal rights to French and English. The population of Shawville is 94% Anglo. It's downright demeaning, arrogant and insulting, to impose smaller letters in English, on a commercial sign, in an English town or anywhere else in Canada.

The Supreme Court of Canada should put in their place, fanatics like Guy Bouthillier (SSJB) - Ex FLQ member Raymond Villeneuve (MNLQ) et compagnie and Joseph FACAL, (intergovernmental affairs (Québec)...I urgently encourage Bill Johnson of Alliance Québec and lawyer Brent Tyler, in pushing this noble cause, all the way. I say equal rights and promotion thereof to both our official languages, throughout the land!

I hope that's clear enough!

Yours truly,
André Pettigrew

'Tis the Season for Gift-Giving Delight Children With Fun, Safe Toys

The season for gift-giving is here, and what better way to delight good little boys and girls on your holiday gift list than with the gift of toys! But with so many toys on the market, how do you choose the right toy — one that is age-appropriate, safe, and will continue to hold his or her interest long after the wrapping paper has come off?

To help you find the right toy for the children on your list, following are a few safe-toy suggestions, courtesy of The American Academy of Pediatrics.

Newborn to 1-year-old baby — Choose eye-catching toys that appeal to your baby's sight, hearing and touch.

- Large blocks of wood or plastic
- Rattles
- Soft, washable animals, dolls or balls
- Bright, movable objects that are out of baby's reach
- Floating bath toys
- Squeeze toys

1- to 2-year-old toddler — Toys for this age group should be safe and be able to withstand a toddler's curious nature.

- Cloth or plastic books with large pictures
- Musical tops
- Push-and-pull toys (remember — no long strings)
- Stacking toys
- Toy telephones

2- to 5-year-old preschooler — Toys for this age group usually are experimental and should imitate the activity of parents and older children.

- Books (short stories or action stories)
- Blackboard and chalk
- Building blocks
- Crayons, nontoxic finger paints, clay
- Transportation toys (tricycles, cars, wagons)
- Simple puzzles with large pieces
- Tea-party utensils

5- to 9-year-old child — Toys for this age group should help your child promote skill development and creativity.

- Blunt scissors, sewing sets
- Card games
- Hand puppets
- Balls
- Bicycles
- Electric trains
- Jump-ropes
- Roller skates
- Table games

10- to 14-year-old child — Hobbies and scientific activities are ideal for this age group.

- Computer games
- Sewing, knitting, needlework
- Microscopes/telescopes
- Table and board games
- Sports equipment
- Hobby collections

'Reel' Good Christmas Movies For the Entire Family to Enjoy

It's Christmas Day. The gifts have been opened, the food has been eaten and you're so tired you can't move a muscle — and it's only 3 p.m. What are you going to do for the rest of the day?

It's time for some extra family bonding — in front of the television set. Pop some popcorn, toss another log in the fireplace, snuggle up on the couch and throw a tape into the VCR.

The following are some popular Christmas movies, both classics and more modern favorites, that you and your family are sure to love.

"It's a Wonderful Life"
"A Christmas Story"
"The Nutcracker"
"Miracle on 34th Street"
"The Muppet Christmas Carol"
"Scrooged"
"White Christmas"
"The Bishop's Wife"
"Home Alone"
"Babes in Toyland"
"National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation"

Play It Safe - Give Your Family the Gift of a Healthy, Happy and Safe Holiday Season

Candles, lights and decorations are an essential part of the holiday season. Unfortunately, they also increase the risk of fire and injury. In fact, the United States Fire Administration reports that holiday fires injure more than 2,000 people and cause more than $500 million in property damage each year.

To help you and your family to have a safe, healthy and happy holiday season, follow these safety tips, courtesy of the Insurance Information Institute.

Candles

• Check candles frequently to make sure they don't burn down too far or drip hot wax.

• Snuff out all candles before going to sleep.

• When burning candles, make sure they are placed in sturdy, noncombustible holders away from decorations and other combustible materials.

Fireplaces

• Never burn wrapping paper in the fireplace; this may release fire-starting embers or produce a buildup of dangerous chemical fumes in the home.

Entertaining

• If you entertain guests who smoke, provide large ashtrays and check for cigarette butts in upholstered furniture before going to bed. Cigarette fires are the leading cause of fire fatalities in the home.

• Don't leave the stove unattended when cooking for guests; in the excitement of holiday entertaining, it is easy to forget about the stove.

Children and Pets

• Place all ornaments out of reach of small children and pets. Small or breakable ornaments easily can be knocked down. This can result in cuts or choking.

• Be sure to anchor the tree to the wall and ceiling — curious children and playful pets can topple a tree in seconds, causing serious injury.

• Beware of toxic decorations. Mistletoe and holly berries may be poisonous if more than a few are swallowed. Old tinsel may contain lead; discard old tinsel if you are not sure of its composition. Fire salts (which produce a multicolored effect when thrown on burning wood) contain heavy metal, which if swallowed may cause serious gastrointestinal problems and vomiting.

Get into the habit of checking the batteries on smoke detectors, purchasing fire extinguishers and installing a sophisticated alarm system. Print a list of emergency numbers like the poison control, police and fire departments and place them near each telephone in the home. This will help you give your family the most important gift of the season — the gift of safety.

Keep your family safe this holiday season — Place all tree ornaments out of reach of small children and pets.

Shed Some Light on the Holiday Festivities

From blinking lights and electric, light-up Santas to mistletoe and wreaths, decorations are the key to making your house a festive one for the holidays.

The Christmas season once again is upon us. Time to climb into the attic to search for the boxes and bags which contain the same old holiday decorations you use to spruce up your home year after year.

Looking for something new — a decoration that brings both beauty and holiday cheer wherever it is displayed? This year, light up your holiday table with a decorative homemade Hurricane Lamp Floral Centerpiece. It is easy to make and can brighten up any room. Centerpiece directions courtesy of "Good Housekeeping: Christmas Joys" (Hearst Books), by the editors of Good Housekeeping.

Hurricane Lamp Floral Centerpiece

A quaint hurricane lamp, rising up as if from an island paradise, anchors this arrangement to your table. The trailing ivy provides movement and visual flow.

12-inch oasis ring

Assorted greens, flowers and herbs like eucalyptus, ivy, rosemary, anemones and ranunculas

1. Submerge oasis ring in water until saturated. Allow to drain.
2. Cut and insert greens.
3. Cut and insert flowers.
4. Place around base of hurricane lantern.

A decorative Hurricane Lamp Floral Centerpiece will light up the holiday table.

"Is it hot in here... or is it just these Great Savings?"

Look for them... Starting November 10th

We'll also pay your bridge fare home and give you a chance each week to win a $100 U.S. St. Lawrence Centre Gift Certificate.

Present $25.00 or more in St. Lawrence Centre receipts at our Customer Service Centre dated between Nov. 10 – Dec. 12, 1999, fill out a ballot for the draw and pick up your bridge pass.

Christmas 1999 Gift Guide

The History of Christmas Gift and Card Exchanges

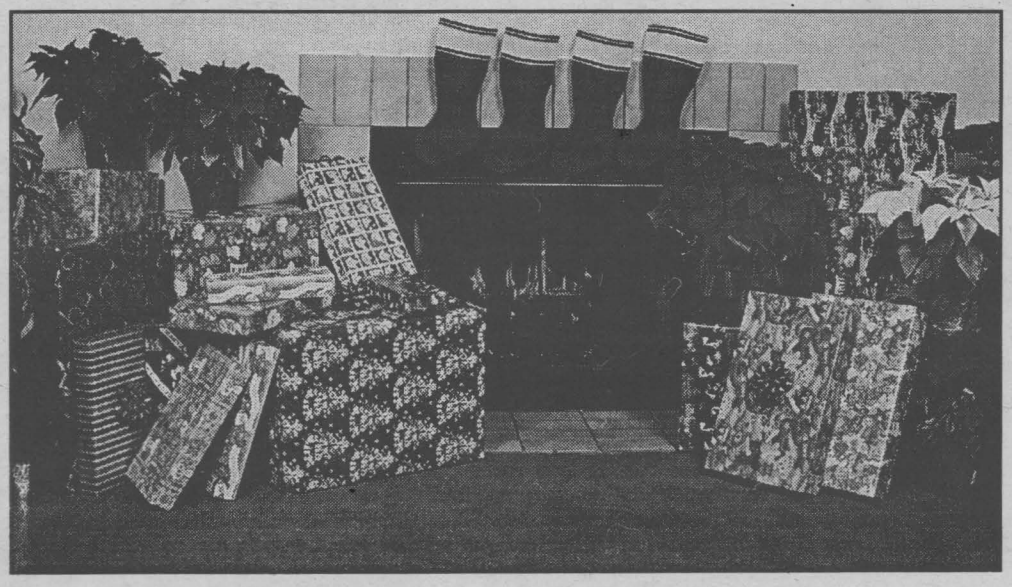
From candy canes to brightly decorated gingerbread houses to Santa Claus on every street corner, the holiday season brings some wonderful things. However, it also ushers in many time-consuming tasks — cooking the holiday meal, picking out the Christmas tree, and especially, buying the perfect gifts for loved ones and writing out holiday cards to faraway friends and family members.

Have you ever wondered about the origin of exchanging gifts and cards? According to Donald E. Dossey, Ph.D, author of "Holiday Folklore, Phobias and Fun" (Outcomes Unlimited Press Inc.), by the 12th century, the practice of giving gifts had become common on Christmas, as well as on New Year's Day.

"It was believed to have come from the scriptural account, in Matthew 2:11, of the Three Magi who offered gold, frankincense, and myrrh to the Christ Child," says Dossey.

The origin of sending Christmas cards, he says, began in England. "Edna Barth in 'Holly, Reindeer, and Colored Lights: The Story of Christmas Symbols,' says that in England, schoolboys away from home sent Christmas letters to their parents." The letters were printed on paper that had Bible scenes on it, written in their best penmanship. In the hopes of receiving money and gifts, they would tell their parents of their progress at school.

It was in 1839, after the introduction of the penny post in England, that the true Christmas card tradition of sending cards to loved ones developed. "One thousand copies of the card designed for Sir Henry Cole were sold. Usually regarded as the first of its kind, it was made by J.C. Horsley, a member of the Royal Academy," says Dossey. In spite of its success, the custom did not become widespread in America until after the English royal family began sending cards.



The tradition of exchanging gifts and cards during the holiday season dates back to the 12th century.

Superstitions and folklore have a way of patterning our lives — from avoiding black cats to walking around ladders.

Christmas is a time for cheer, but it also is filled with lots of folklore. The following "Christmas Magic" is courtesy of "Holiday Folklore, Phobias and Fun" (Outcomes Unlimited Press Inc.), by Donald E. Dossey, Ph.D.

- Roasting chestnuts in a open fire, named for the available persons you know is a great divination ploy. The first one that pops will be the one you marry.
- If there is a full moon on Christmas, expect a poor harvest.
- If you do any household repairs on Christmas Day, the trouble will not be cured and even may get worse.
- Hang a sprig of mistletoe over the door. It will chase away the evil spirits and bring good luck.
- If you were born on Christmas Day, your life will be a happy and healthy one.
- Keep your Yule log burning all night. If it goes out, expect bad luck.
- Eat plenty of pies on Christmas. It is believed to bring good luck.

Spread Holiday Cheer

The holidays are here again. A time of happiness and cheer — but not for everyone. For some people, the holidays bring on a major case of the blues. Whether it's from the stress of the season — not enough money for gifts, lack of time from too much rushing around — or from feeling lonely and missing faraway family and friends, not everyone gets swept up in the holiday spirit.

Do you have a friend or family member who is a little down in the dumps this season? It's time to cheer him or her up with some thoughtful and unique holiday gifts, accompanied by clever cards filled with a play on words. The following ideas, courtesy of Robyn Freedman Spizman, author of "When Words Matter Most" (Crown), will bring a smile to his or her face. As Spizman says, "Encouragement comes in many forms. Whether someone is feeling blue or just needs a pat on the back, encouraging words will uplift."

- Smart cookies — Send someone a box or arrangement of cookies with a note that says, "You're the smartest cookie I know."
- Penny for your thoughts — Go to the bank and get a bunch of shiny new pennies. Give them out to "shining examples" of people you appreciate. Tell them they shine in your book.
- Tea's the season to be jolly — Put together a basket of gourmet flavored teas. This gift is certain to warm up that special person on your gift list.
- Sealed with a kiss — Send someone a box filled with Hershey's Kisses with a card that reads, "All the kisses in the world aren't enough for you!"
- All wound up? — Send a windup toy to someone who is stressed out. Add a note that says, "In case you get too wound up, wind this up instead."
- Send a flashlight — Tell someone the world's a brighter place because he or she is in it.
- Think the world of someone — Give someone a map of the world tied up in a ribbon with a note that says, "I think the world of you."
- Warm wishes — Send your warmest wishes with a basket filled with your favorite soup, gourmet coffee or anything that will warm someone up.
- Been a great year? — Put a bag or box of jelly beans in your favorite friends' mailboxes with a note that says, "Happy New Year! It's 'bean' a great year, thanks to you."
- Deliver a dictionary — Give someone who is extraordinary a dictionary and underline with a highlighter all the words in it that describe that individual. From "astounding" to "fabulous" to "marvelous," don't miss a word. Add a note that says, "I've underlined words from A to Z, to show how much you mean to me."

EPISODE SEVEN

A love story in twelve parts about seniors and safety

I think it was in February. The temperature was minus-a-million Celsius (even colder in Fahrenheit) and Alice, the woman I had been seeing for a few months, was over at my place for the evening. I put on some coffee and joined Alice in the den. We had just watched a film - some depressing thing from Europe that she loved - and were chatting about whether movies were more art or industry when the wind outside really began to howl.

When it came time for her to go, alice looked outside and winced. She was afraid to go out in case she slipped and fell. So she asked if she could spend the night ... on the couch of course.

Well, why not? I have plenty of spare rooms. No one was waiting for her at her place. It was only right that she stay. But I'll tell you, it certainly put a different complexion on the evening. I felt like a teenager. Frankly, I couldn't tell how much of Alice's wanting to stay over was actually the weather. I loved her like crazy, and was sure that whatever happened next would be the right thing. Boy, was I wrong!

I was upstairs showing Alice to her room when the alarm went off - a piercing howl that scared us both half to death. I figured it was an air raid, but Alice knew better. "It's the smoke alarm," she shouted.

In my place the smoke alarm is wired to the security system and, within moments, the fire department had arrived. They knew what the problem was right away, and headed for the kitchen. It was the coffee maker. I had turned the thing on but forgotten to put the pot in.

The coffee had poured out onto the element and had fried, sizzled and smoked until it set off the smoke detector. It wasn't a fire; it was a big stink.

There in the kitchen, we could smell it plain as anything but, to our surprise, neither alice nor I had been able to smell it before. We were both forced to admit that relying on our senses is no guarantee of safety.

Life's Little Inspirations

The Cornwall Regional Art Gallery presents "Life's Little Inspirations" an exhibition of whimsical art by Tracy-Lynn Bédard , November 2-November 27, 1999.

The first solo exhibition of young emerging artist Tracy-Lynn Bédard, from Martintown, is a delightful mixture of folk art in many forms. Her goal is to transport the viewer into a world of whimsy, where life's little inspirations lurk around every corner. Whether it is the wise words of a fortune cookie or cows playing peek-a-boo at pasture, the intent is to distract the observer away from their hectic schedule just long enough to bring a smile to their face.

Tracy-Lynn uses a variety of mediums to convey her imaginative pieces; barnwood carvings, painted furniture, rugs, and painted canvas, all in the true spirit of fun.

Cornwall Super C Has Makeover

Super C, a wholly-owned division of Metro-Richelieu Inc., announces the completion of renovations at its store at 1400 Vincent Massey Drive in Cornwall, Ontario. As of Saturday October 30th, area people can enjoy shopping in their own Super C store with its brand new look.

Some 1.2 million dollars were invested in the 34,000 square foot Cornwall Super C, which now has a new façade, a whole new décor, new shelving, better lighting and high performance refrigerated counters and cases.

This banner, which has experienced strong growth over the past years, is an industry leader in discount food retailing with 39 stores. Known for its great weekly specials as well as its thousands of everyday low prices, Super C remains true to its mission which consists in providing food products whose freshness and quality meet the requirements of today's consumers.

Metro-Richelieu, a Canadian food industry leader, experienced continued growth n 1998 achieving sales of close to 3.7 billion dollars. The Company directly employs over 9,200 people, and its franchisees and affiliated retailers employ another 15,000.

A Love Affair With Wheels

H.B. KANTERS

When my parents came to Canada in April 1955, I was fifteen years old and had been in a car exactly two times. The very first Sunday a man from the Lutheran Church in St. Catharines came to pick us up for the German service, and on the drive back my father bought that man's car. It was a black 1948 Ford Sedan with three windows along each side and high roof. The man came after supper every day the next little while and taught my father to drive. About three weeks later, this man took my father to St. Catharines and when they came back he had an Ontario driver's license. He told everyone that handling a team of horses was much more complicated than handling a car. By September this car was not good-looking enough and my father traded it in for a 1952 Chevy with a much lower roof, a much bigger rear window and only two windows on each side. Then he taught me to drive, even though I would have to wait until the following summer to get a license.

My father also bought a new wringer washing machine and a refrigerator and told us the whole idea of coming to Canada was to make life easier. We lived in two rooms, with three other immigrant families beside us in a long, eight-room house meant for seasonal workers on a large fruit farm in the Niagara Peninsula. In October we got our own house with five rooms and I had my own bedroom for the first time in my life. The most wonderful part, however, was the fact that as a 15-year old I could still go to school in this new country. My two younger sisters and I quite literally believed we had been magically transported to the land of milk and honey.

Five years later, just before Christmas in 1960, I bought a brand new VW bug right out of the showroom at Valley Motor's in St. Catharines. Until then my new husband and I drove around in his beat up old VW, a brightly coloured orange and at least ten year old vehicle. When that car died, he started to use the black bug, and I got my first convertible - a red 1954 Chevy with a black roof. By then my love affair with cars was firmly established and it didn't really matter what kind of car it was. I learned about the major systems that make an automobile run, and because of this I seldom had difficulties dealing with unruly grade seven and eight boys. They chose to cooperate with the teacher who shared their interest in things that run on wheels.

We all develop different feelings towards our cars as we go through life. When it is imperative to leave the house for work at seven in the morning, the only thing that really matters is a dependable vehicle. If you have young children a large car or a van is almost a necessity. Right now the small, two-seater sports cars are coming back, because there are enough baby-boomers with extra cash for a second car "just for the fun of it". And then there are the trucks. One of my car-loving friends down the road just got himself one of those beautiful Ford trucks that were never meant for hauling bricks. It has a black liner, of course, but it also has a cover that rolls out over the truck bed, and the whole thing is just a marvelous machine. Brian says he had to get that truck because he had to take his wife on a trip to visit family out in Alberta, so what else could he do?

My friend Sarah's husband has always been a car nut. One day last June they saw a motor-home for sale sitting on someone's front lawn. Sarah liked the interior layout so they bought it and they are now learning to be part of the motor-home crowd of retired persons. These people remind me of Aesop's fable of the grasshopper and the ant, because you can do that sort of thing if you've worked hard for forty years and you were smart enough never to smoke or party too much.

In some European and Asian cities they are beginning to use those tiny, battery powered cars, and I understand how important this is. But I don't think North Americans will ever make that switch. We all love our comfortable cars too much. The sales of muscle cars and SUVs keep going up every year, and car restoration is a booming business. The aerodynamically structured, computer designed and fuel efficient new vehicles just can't compete with the looks of those gas-guzzling machines we built in the past. And one of these days I'll find a 1969 Chevy Impala Convertible and the car guys at the Apple Hill Garage will make it look like new again. Restoring an old car actually provides more man-hours of work than building a new one does, and I am determined to help the Canadian economy in this fashion.

Change of Command for 253 Squadron Air Cadets

Nick WOLOCHATIUK

There are three active squadrons of Air Cadets in SD&G: Alexandria, Cornwall and Lancaster. The 253 Claude Nunney V.C. Squadron meets in the South Glengarry Township hall in Lancaster, Wednesday evenings.

Captain Jack R. Christie has become the latest commanding officer of the South Glengarry unit. Christie brings a wealth of knowledge, experience and enthusiasm to the task. He was once a Sea Cadet in Cornwall 110 Stormont; he served in the Canadian Navy for seven years; he was in the SD&G Highlanders and was the C/O of Army Cadets, 2403 Cornwall.

His predecessor, Captain Dean McCaully, was an Air Cadet in 1948, in Calgary's Buffalo Squadron. At age 17 he joined the RCAF, where he served for 25 years. In 1988 he was a founding officer of 253 Claude Nunney V.C. Squadron. His over ten years of dedicated service have been greatly appreciated.

When asked what meant most to him about his experiences with the Air Cadets, McCaully replied, "It's the satisfaction of seeing the young cadets develop and mature during their stay with us. Some have gone off to university or R.M.C. We are proud of helping them to achieve success."

In succeeding editions of the Seaway News, we hope to tell our readers more about the activities and opportunities provided by the cadets of SD&G, the Army Cadets, Sea Cadets and Air Cadets.

CHANGE OF COMMAND - Captain Jack R. Christie (left) is the new commanding officer of Air Cadet 253 Claude Nunney V.C. Squadron, replacing Captain Dean McCaully (right), who has been with the unit since its inception in 1988. Major Doug Irish of Trenton, and cadets Flt. Sgt. Lindsey Finnerty of Moose Creek (left background) and WO2 Devin MacCuaig were among the 35 cadets who participated in the recent ceremony.

DANCES WITH WORDS

My Remembrance Days Aren't Just On November 11th

Nick WOLOCHATIUK

On Friday November 11, 1999 there will be a large gathering around the Cornwall cenotaph on Second Street West. From Alexandria to Ingleside, from Lancaster to Moose Creek, students will be assembled in their school gymnasiums for the mandatory Remembrance Day ceremonies - lest they forget what they have probably not yet learned.

I've attended crowded Remembrance day ceremonies in places such as Cornwall, Ottawa, Toronto, Williamstown and Merrickville. Yes, they were solemn, touching and fitting, but none have touched me as much as when I've visited actual places where people have fallen in the course of their military service.

Let me tell you of a few of those solitary experiences that brought me to more than tears.

During 13-months of rambling through parts of Europe and Africa, my wife and I visited battle sites and military cemeteries in countries such as France, Holland, Germany, Italy, and Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia. To see vast graveyards of crosses and headstones, row upon well-tended row is a sight never to be forgotten.

It is especially touching to see these vast tracts of white and green in the context of the former battlefield. The graves are often in sight of the soldiers' objective, a strategic bridge over the Rhine or an elevated position such as Monte Cassino. Here they fought in the mud and noise. Here they gave up their lives. Here they remain, thousands of miles from home.

Not all died in battle. I was once in a cemetery near the Medicine Hat, Alberta Municipal Airport. There were no battles in Alberta, but nevertheless airmen gave their lives here, sometimes alone, sometimes in pairs. On May 31, 1942 a Czech student pilot crashed his aircraft at the sudden end of an unsuccessful training flight, a very long way from his home and homeland.

I noticed that other headstones were in pairs, apparently those of a student and instructor lost together. A double loss.

Here are some of the inscriptions I noted:

"Thy will be done"

"His sun went down while it was yet day"

On a British student's marker there was inscribed "There is some corner of a distant field that is forever England"

"Taken in his youth, aspirations unfulfilled"

"The Lord giveth, the Lord taketh away"

It would take a strong-willed man to not cry after reading words such as those. I am not such a strong-willed man.

At Claresholm, Alberta I wandered through a long-abandoned training base. Poplars were growing through parts of the disused runways. Once-crowded barracks were now in various states of disrepair, occupied by pigeons and field mice. The streets were empty. Most of the hangars were losing the battle with the extremes of the prairie winters and summers.

Then I saw the memorial that told me of the 10 RCAF aircrew who died at this base, the three RAF who never returned to England, and the seven young Aussies who never got to bask in their December summers again.

If you want to get a taste of the intense Remembrance Day all-year-round kind of feelings I've tried to share with you, rent the video "For The Moment". It's available in the larger Cornwall video outlets. This beautifully photographed film is a love story and a war story. It tells of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan of early WW II. The setting is Manitoba, but events it portrays could just as well have taken place in Eastern Ontario, at WW II training airfields such as at St. Eugene, Gananoque, Wendover, Picton and Kingston.

If you can watch this film without laughing, and without crying, you are more strong-willed than I.

Oh yes, have a 'happy' Remembrance Day, whenever and wherever it happens to fall for you.

MUSIC UPDATE

The Beatles "Yellow Submarine" Capitol. The original "Yellow Submarine" soundtrack from 1969 featured just 6 Beatles songs along with a few George Martin compositions. This new offering sports the 15 Beatles songs featured in the movie (digitally remastered/remixed). A treat for Beatles fans.

Matthew Good Band "Beautiful Midnight" Mercury. This third offering produced by Warne Livesey (Midnight Oil) continues with that solid MGB sound. All in all a heady mix of guitar and keyboard rock songs that range from the hard-edged first single "Hello Time Bomb" to the subtlety of "Strange Days".

Martina McBride "Emotion" RCA. Martina McBride has just released an album that sums up what she's meant to country music over the years "Emotion". Check out the first single "I Love You" from the movie "Runaway Bride" and the line dance favourite "Do What You Do". Great stuff!

Yvan BRUNET

Prince "The Vault...Old Friends 4 Sale" WEA. Ten never before released recordings from Prince written/recorded between 1985 and 1994: "She Spoke 2 Me", "It's About That Walk" and so on. A few highs and a few lows. Basically for diehard Prince fans.

Barbra Streisand "A Love Like Ours" Columbia. A romantic "tour de force" coupling one of the most beautiful voices of the century with a hand-picked selection of personal love songs: Gershwin's "Isn't It a Pity", Jule Styne's "The Music That Makes Me Dance", Richard Marx's "A Love Like Ours" and so on.

Various Artists "Music Of The Heart" EPIC. The soundtrack is a youthful hip collection of new music (unavailable on any other album) by some of today's most consistent Pop/Latin music hit makers including 'NSync/Gloria Estefan "Music Of My Heart", Jennifer Lopez "Baila", C Note "One Night With You", Enrique Iglesias "Nothing Else" and the like.

Various Artists "Sentimental Journey" Delta/Reader's Digest Music. A three volume box set of instrumental standards (some of the most beautiful melodies of the century) masterfully performed by a stunning array of beloved artists including Henry Mancini, Roger Williams, Floyd Cramer and many others: "Edelweiss", "Always On My Mind", "Stardust", "Strangers In The Night".

PASTOR BOB

"But above all, my brethren, do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath. But let your "yes" be "Yes", and your "no," "No," lest you fall into judgement."

James 5:12

Let your "yes" be "Yes" and your "no" be "No".

Pastor Bob
BURGESS
Pastor New Life Covenant Church

Interesting scripture from the book of James. It isn't complicated nor confusing and gives us direction on how we are to live between God and men.

I remember not that long ago when a man's world was binding. I remember that when a man gave his word on whatever, that was as good as a legalized notarized contract. That scripture also tells us not to swear or make oaths, but simply say yes or no and live by it. How could these people of years past live that way? What kind of system existed where people could trust each other? A wealthy man in the contracting business once told me how he purchased a prime piece of land from such and such a man all on a handshake. The man was afterwards offered more money for the same property but because he gave his word and his handshake, he did not take the second offer. Let your yes be yes and your no be no the Bible says!

No doubt our society has changed and there are probably a number of reasons why people have changed, but I believe one of the main reasons is that people some 25-30 years ago where God fearing, God believing and God honouring people. They knew that God ultimately would judge them and the situation. Because for the most part God has been removed from people's lives today, the void has made a way for people to lie, cheat and steal. The presence of God in the society kept people honest and absence does the opposite.

Maybe you would like to change your way of doing business. The Bible says that God is the same yesterday, today and forever. Maybe you would like to return to a way of life where your word is your word.

It all begins with asking God to come into your life. It begins with realizing that your life is void of God and His ways. It begins with saying "God please help me" and you know what? God hears your prayer and he can, He will and He wants to teach you His ways and come into your life.

Maybe you have some prayer needs that you would like us to pray for on your behalf. Maybe someone is sick or discouraged, in need of God's intervention. We would count it an honour and a privilege to pray for your requests. You can do one of two things: (a) Call us at the church (938-3262) and give the secretary your prayer needs. We don't need names, if you want to remain anonymous. (b) You can write us a New Life Covenant Church, 150 Boundary Road, Cornwall, Ontario K6H 6J5 and let us know your need, and we will be happy to place your request in our prayer box.

We as Christians believe in prayer, but mostly believe in God who answers prayer. Write us today.

As always, remember that God loves you! He really, really does!

Festival of Trees Is Coming Once Again To The Cornwall Armoury!

The Lung Association invites you to view the Armoury transformed into "A Christmas Carol" from Thursday, November 18th thru Sunday, November 21st. Imagine strolling through a Dickens-like village surrounded by colours, lights and decorations with magically lit trees providing an enchanting backdrop. This is the fourth year for this very popular Christmas event. Visitors will enjoy old favourites as well as new attractions that are being added which will surely become traditions as well.

1999

FESTIVAL OF TREES
FESTIVAL DES SAPINS

Honourary Chair for this year's event is Cliff Shewfelt, Area Manager for the Royal Bank.

One of the special events that is being introduced at the Festival is a theatrical production entitled "What In The Dickens Is This"?, directed by Alun Seguin and staring Michael Togneri, Jean Leger, Cathy Doyle-Parent, Mari Geri-Griffiths and Brent Santin. As the play is a comic review of A Christmas Carol, it's a very appropriate production for everyone to enjoy. There will be four performances over the weekend, two on Friday evening and two on Saturday afternoon. The performances will be held in the Officers Mess at the Armoury, which will provide a wonderful atmosphere. Other new special events are a Reveillon on Friday evening and a Christmas Brunch on Sunday morning. As in previous years, there will be a Seniors Showcase on Friday afternoon, the ever-popular children's breakfast on Saturday morning and the increasingly popular Royal Gala on Saturday evening. Tickets are now available for sale at Festival of Trees Headquarters; The Seaway Centre, 1400 Vincent Massey Drive; the Royal Bank (Pitt Street); Home Hardware; and Upper Valley Book Shop (Brookdale Mall).

Other attractions at the Festival are Santa's Secret Shop where children can look forward to shopping without mom and dad and adults will have their own opportunity to shop at The Christmas Shoppe. Once visitors have shopped 'til they drop', they can rest their feet at The Christmas Café while enjoying the ongoing entertainment from local talents. After enjoying all the festival viewing visitors can purchase raffle tickets to win their favorite tree, wreath or stocking.

For general or ticket information please call Festival of Trees Headquarters at 613-932-4999.

An Unsung Hero

Pictured are Bob Copeland, of Coping Strategies and Chair of the Cornwall Enhancement Committee; Chuck Charlebois and Jeffrey Frechette, Via Rail Stationmaster.

Chuck Charlebois suffered a stroke last year but Chuck's resolve is very high. A debilitating illness would stop most people in their tracks, yet Chuck Charlebois' involvement with Cornwall never faltered. As a prime motivator in the Renaissance Project to revitalize the Le Village area, Chuck, with the help of Montreal developer Dr. Friedman, continues to promote, maintain and regulate the high standards of practice and ethics which will further the recognition of the Le Village area as being prime retail and community space. Promoting the value, use and methods of planning and improving the quality of Ontario environments and communities, falls under the direction of the Ontario Professional Planners Institute. The OPPI represents Ontario's professional planning community and is the only organization that brings all Ontario planners together. OPPI is a non-profit corporation, funded entirely by membership fees and program and activity revenues. Chuck works closely with Dr. Friedman, as well as the OPPI and is required to travel to Montreal on a regular basis to conduct planning strategies. Because Chuck's driving privileges have been revoked, temporarily, due to his stroke, Via Rail, as a partner in the Renaissance Project, have given Chuck train passes to use at his convenience for his travels to Montreal. This is another proof that the community has banded together for the betterment of the City and her citizens.

SNC Audit Recommends Expanded Fundraising

South Nation Conservation has been doing very well in tapping into alternate financing since provincial support was drastically cut in the mid-1990's says a recently completed communications and fundraising audit.

However, says the report prepared by consultant Betsy Clarke, SNC must develop other opportunities to "avoid the problems that can arise when an organization becomes overly dependent on a single source of funding."

Most project funding is now secured from various government agencies. For example, post-ice storm rehabilitation projects have been covered primarily by Human Resources Development Canada.

Now other sources should be initiated. And fundraising can't be effective if assigned to "leftover" time of staff or volunteers. Clarke stressed: "It needs consistent ongoing attention for research, writing and follow-up with potential supporters."

She recommended introduction of a full or part-time fundraising position within SNC, along with a separate committee to deal with fundraising matters.

In her report, Clarke sees tremendous opportunities for SNC to attract corporate and private contributions to help support its programs, primarily its basic mandate of promoting and protecting clean water.

She urged close cooperation with Conservation Ontario, an association of 38 provincial conservation authorities, in its efforts to have both the Trillium Foundation which oversees grants from Ontario gambling proceeds, and the Alcohol and Gaming Commission which licenses bingo, raffles and lotteries, to change granting criteria in order to allow conservation authorities to apply for funding.

Clarke also suggested examining the merits of establishing a charitable tax number which could possibly be transferred to a new foundation.

She encouraged continued and extended mutually beneficial partnerships with like-minded organizations such as Alfred College, Ontario Federation of Agriculture, and Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

Clarke's recommendations are now being considered by the SNC communications committee and by the board of directors.

Each Cloud Contains Pennies From Heaven

The United Way of Cornwall & District undertook a very successful "Pennies From Heaven" campaign, as part of their massive 1998 fundraising initiative. That promotion raised over $7,000. This year, the United Way will once again promote the "Pennies From Heaven" theme as part of the 1999 fundraising campaign to raise $500,000, which will be used to fund its 16 member agencies. A number of drop off locations have been strategically placed throughout the Cornwall area, to facilitate the collection of coins from concerned citizens. A single call to 932-4374 will give you the locations to those drop-off centres.

Kids Skating For Kids

Pictured are this year's co-chairs Holly Robertson and John Divinski with Colts player Etienne Germain, Lindsay Campbell and Chris Mann.

Kiwanis is an organization devoted to the principle of service; to the advancement of individual, community, and national welfare; and to the strengthening of international goodwill. The Cornwall Kiwanis Club's 4th Annual Skate-A-Thon for Easter Seals Kids, will be held at the Civic Complex on November 7th, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. An impressive list of sponsored prizes will be available for skaters who obtain the highest dollars in pledges. Kiwanis International was founded January 21st, 1915 in Detroit, Michigan, by Allen Simpson Browne, a Moose Lodge organizer and Joseph G. Prance, a tailor. The name "Kiwanis" was adapted from the expression "Nunc Keewanis" in the Otchipew (Native American) language, meaning "We have a good time", or "We make a noise,". Lets all make a lot of noise this year for the annual Kiwanis Skate-A-Thon!

Welcome Fido & Felix Inside This Fall ... But Keep Fleas Out In The Cold

This fall, as days and evenings grow too chilly to stay outside and pets start seeking indoor warmth, keep in mind that the autumn retreat-to-the-heat should not include warmth-loving fleas.

According to Dr. Steve Sheridan, Director of Animal Services for the Toronto Humane Society, many outdoor cats and dogs coming into the home for the fall will have been in contact with fleas. A single adult female flea will start to produce eggs within 36 hours of her first blood meal. Even if pets are not infested when they come inside the home, it won't take long for the miniscule flea eggs to find excellent hiding places between floorboards, in carpets and in couch crevices from where they can become a long-term problem for both pet and owner.

"Once flea eggs and pupae are happily installed in the home's warm environment, they are difficult to displace and will move through their life cycle to become a repetitive, pet-biting, egg-laying problem," says Dr. Sheridan.

"Pet owners should be aware that adult fleas can transmit tapeworm infections to pets and people, initiate severe skin allergies in pets and, in extreme cases, may cause a dangerous drop in a pet's red blood cell count."

Indoor flea prevention and control

Dr. Sheridan recommends pet owners take the following steps to prevent and control fleas inside their homes this fall:

• Prevent flea infestations by treating your pet with a proven flea control product recommended by your veterinarian, on a regular basis throughout the year.

- Avoid exposing your pet to sandy, damp areas where fleas thrive.

- If your pet travels with you to warm climates over the fall and winter, treat for fleas in advance to protect your pet during the trip and prevent home infestations when you return (indexes of Canadian and U.S. flea seasons by city are available at www.nofleas.com).

• If you suspect your cat or dog has picked up fleas:

-See your veterinarian and immediately start treating your pet with a proven flea control product and continue on a regular basis throughout the year.

- Wash pet bedding, and vacuum the house regularly, concentrating on areas your pet frequents, then discard the vacuum bag outside as it may contain flea eggs, larvae and pupae.

According to Dr. Kathleen Keil, a technical services veterinarian with the Animal Health Group at Bayer Inc., pet owners can help avoid flea bites and infestations by talking to their veterinarians about products available for flea prevention and control. She recommends asking the following questions:

• Is it effective and fast acting? Fleas should be killed quickly to relieve the pet from bites and stop the production of more adult fleas.

• Is it easy to use? A product should be easy for the owner to use, and the pet to receive. This helps ensure the product is used properly and regularly which helps maximize flea prevention and control.

• Is it safe and comfortable? A good flea control product should not irritate or pose a health threat to owner or pet. Also, many pet owners are more comfortable with products that are not injected or fed to the animal and are not absorbed into the pet's bloodstream.

• Does it last? Pets can encounter fleas anywhere and owners want the convenience of infrequent treatments, so it is important that the protection lasts for some time.

• Does it fight fleas in the pet's environment? Adult fleas live on the pet, but from egg to pupae, adolescent fleas develop in the pet's bedding and favourite areas, waiting to develop into adults and jump onto your pet to feed.

Dr. Keil gives her 6-year-old Border Collie, Finn, preventative flea treatments each month with Advantage® flea control from Bayer Inc. "Even though Finn comes into contact with flea sources on a daily basis, thanks to the preventative qualities of Advantage, he is flea-free...fleas are just not a problem when we use Advantage."

SUPER C CORNWALL COMPLETELY RENOVATED !

Infomercial

DISCOVER A DISCOUNT SUPERMARKET THAT MEETS YOUR EXPECTATIONS

The Super C discount supermarket at 1400 Vincent-Massey Drive offers customers food for less !

Since October 30th, the people of Cornwall have the privilege of shopping in a completely renovated discount supermarket. The Super C chain has invested approximately $1.2 million in the complete renovation of its store at 1400, Vincent-Massey Drive. With a brand new decor, new storefront and entrance doors, new floor covering, lighting, displays, refrigerated cases, the entire store has been redesigned to meet the needs of Cornwall shoppers. This demonstrates the exceptional dynamism of this leader in the field of discount food markets and its confidence in the Cornwall commercial potential. Super C has decided to offer Cornwall consumers the latest version of its superstores. Avoiding superlatives is rather difficult when describing the new layout of this magnificient store, which is known for its super low prices as well as the exceptional variety and quality of its merchandise. Shoppers can enjoy a store which is designed along very modern lines. Exceptional lighting, very wide aisles and a very efficient layout of the various departments make it easier for shoppers to circulate through the store. Yellow and red, Super C's two traditional corporate colors are there combined with beige, touches of bright colors such as green, dark red and blue to offer a very warm and cozy atmosphere.

Convenient and ample parking

Super C arrived in Cornwall in June 1999. The store has a floor area of 34 000 ft.sq. Parking is no problem since there is a large parking area in front and besides the store with spaces for almost 230 vehicles.

Friendly service

Check-out service is fast, with 13 cash registers equipped with the latest scanners insuring rapid and reliable processing.

The Super C store chain operates 39 stores and has nearly 4000 employees. The renovated Cornwall store has more than 100 employees. Super C's managers are ready to listen to Cornwall customers needs and to position the store as the reference for good food and low prices !

There are always three teams in one hockey game. The visitors, the home team and the referees. The two (or three) people on the ice wearing the black and white striped jerseys contribute a lot to the outcome of the game. For many years it was extremely uncommon to see a girl referee, but as women became more involved in hockey their interest in refereeing grew as well. The Cornwall Kinsmen Girls Hockey Association has recently recognized this growing interest amongst their players. Three years ago I decided to give it a try. Jennifer Leduc was the only other girl who attended the course that season. Our association generously covered the cost for us to take the Level I course as an encouragement towards women referees. Unfortunately Jennifer did not return for the 1998-99 season, but Allison Lortie, Tina Ashby and Renée Lalande decided to try it out. There were only two other women referees, Julie Bissonnette and Jessica Lefebvre, both Level III. This year however, only Renée is refereeing in Cornwall.

Last year after being evaluated by Neil Dixon, Referee in Chief for Cornwall, he suggested that to Renée to take her Level II this season. That's exactly what she did. Actually she was selected amongst the other referees to attend a weekend course at Carlton University to obtain her Level II for the 1999-2000 season. Another accomplishment Renée has had this season is once again with boys hockey. She has been asked to be a linesman for a Peewee Travelling Team tournament this weekend. It will be her first time working the three-man system. Good Luck Renée! I'm positive she will do extremely well, after all she was awarded Junior Referee of the Year by the Cornwall Minor Hockey Association last year. Renée first became interested in refereeing through her brother André. He is also a Level II referee therefore they get to referee together quite a bit. According to Renée it doesn't really matter what guy she refs with, he's always nice. The boys always let her use the dressing room first while they patiently wait outside. Then she must leave the room while her partner changes into his referee uniform. Sometimes though, the hockey players and coaches aren't quite as understanding. She's gotten looks of amazement from the boys and sexist comments from the coaches, haven't they ever seen a girl referee before?! Contrary from those behaviours she's gotten quite a few nice compliments. Renée also finds a lot of encouragement from us girls. It's great she loves refereeing so much. She is hoping to keep refereeing for as long as possible and to eventually become a Level III or higher. Renée confesses that refereeing has helped her as a hockey player. She plays defence for our Midget C team. Refereeing has given her a further understanding of the rules and also how to break them! She's hoping to inspire more girls to wear the black and white striped jerseys next year. Truthfully, how many jobs can you find anyway where you get paid to have fun?

Computer Sense Novice B Selects

The Computer Sense Novice B Selects would first like to take this time to thank and welcome Computer Sense as their sponsor for the 1999-2000 season.

The Computer Sense Novice B Selects won their first regular season game on October 22nd, at home, the Selects defeated Maxville 6-0. Kale Perry & Scott Simpson each had a pair of goals; Ty Perry & Sean Rudy had singles with Darcy Jansen adding two assists. A strong defensive effort by Scot Marlin, Pat Crepeau, Brent Maxwell & Daniel Bissonnette led to a shut out for Matthew O'Neill.

The Computer Sense Selects won an exhibition game against Kemptville on October 29th beating them with a score of 3-1. Darcy Jansen, Sean Rudy and Ty Perry scored for the Selects. Matt O'Neill and Travis Coughlin split the goaltending duties, each coming up with some big saves. The Computer Sense Selects are at 1-1 in regular season play.

Major Atom "AA" Rapids

The Major Atom "AA" Rapids had light schedule last week playing in only 1 contest. The Outaouais Intrepid were in town to take on a tired home team from a short layoff. The Intrepid and the home team Rapids played end to end hockey for a period and a half before the visitors punched one in on goalie Justin Delormier. The Rapids had trouble regrouping and ended [illegible] ging three more pucks [illegible] their net before Corey Tho[illegible] banged one in from Joshua Francis and Burke MacDonald. The game ended 4-1.

Grant Dodge Bantam "B" Royals

Regular season action got underway last Monday in Chesterville where the Royals claimed their first win against the hometown team.

The rough and tumble 3-1 contest featured an action packed game. Kevin Castor struck early in the second period from an Andre Lalande pass. Matthew Lemire and Billy Cooper were quick in getting the puck out of our zone. The first and only opposition goal came late in the second period. Ryan Prevost allowed no further satisfaction.

Captain Luc Langlois netted the second goal with help from Brad O'Connor. The weary but never surrendering defensemen Kyle Forrester, Jay Caron and Andre Lalande stopped the opposition time and time again. The demons played an excessively physical style, and with Jason Leger back from the injury list, the Royals were more than up to the task. Brandon Mason whistled in the final goal during the third period, set up by partner Kyle Pierce. The Royals tallied 28 shots on net over the game.

The Cornwall Royals wasted no time on introductions in their encounter with home team Potsdam Canadians on Tuesday night. Potsdam struck late in the first period, outshooting the Royals 8 to 3 in that frame.

Marc Andre Cuillerier settled up early in the second with help from Brandon Mason, and again unassisted off a face-off. Jay Caron kept up the momentum minutes later, scoring off of Jason Leger and Brandon Mason. Brad O'Connor added one more, assisted by Jason Leger, putting the Royals ahead 4-1 at the close of the period.

Pat Sauve opened up the third with a pass from J[illegible] Leger. Leger scored the final goal with help from Marc Andre Cuillerier to cap off the evening at 6-1 for the Royals. Chris Kaddie handled 22 shots.

INSIDE THE CORNWALL COLTS

David MURPHY

You knew it had to end sometime. The Cornwall Colts lost 7-2 in Brockville last Friday and that snapped their 11 game unbeaten streak. Did you notice it was the Braves who beat the Colts. Cornwall started their C-J-H-L best undefeated run after their opening night loss to the ... (pause) Brockville Braves. The Colts had 12 wins, 2 losses and 1 tie before their games this week. Two losses both to the Braves. Brockville and Kanata along with Cornwall are the favourites to win the league championship this season. The Colts have owned the Lasers since the start of last year. We know they can beat Kanata. But Brockville's another story. Since being swept by the Braves in the 1997-98 league championship series, the Colts have had limited success against their 4-0-1 counterparts. The coaching staff blamed a lack of effort on both losses but the Colts won games they weren't entirely into during their undefeated run. That means it's going to take more than talent to beat the Braves. That's where team veterans Chris Mann, Lindsay Campbell, Jeff Legue and all are going to have to step up and make sure their teammates respond to the challenge. Until you see the headline "Colts beat the Braves" ... well you can finish this one.

See you at the rink.

Colts Notes ... Nick Brunet and Jean Desrochers continue to play leapfrog when it comes to the team scoring lead ... It's only a matter of time before Etienne Germain explodes on the scoresheet (if it didn't happen Wednesday or Thursday) . Tim Vokey leads the team with shorthanded goals. 8 Colts have game winning goals this year.

Yann Danis had a sub par game in Brockville last Friday and his goals against ballooned to 2.14 (note sarcasm). Max Gauvin entered the week with a 3.05 goals against. Look for that to drop.

Char-Lan Atom "B" Rebels

In the game played on October 27th, in Williamstown, the Rebels defeated the Morrisburg Lions by a score of 3-1. Adam Barton scored two goals, and Kelsey Thompson with the ther. An assist on one of \dam Bartons' goals by Noah Desjardins.

Cornwall Pee Wee "B" Royals

The Navy Vets Royals fell 9- to the visiting Kemptville anthers in a penalty plagued natchup at the Cornwall .ivic Complex on Sunday. Goals scored by Cornwall were from Tyler Kyte and Christian Champaign. Neil Brady added the only assist.

The Royals can be seen again next Monday when they are away at Morrisburg.

Char-Lan Peewee "B" Rebels

In the game played on October 27th in Williamstown, Char-Lan Rebels lost to the Alexandria Glens by a score of 4-3. Char-Lan were ahead by 3-0 at the end of the second period. Alexandria scored all goals in about five minutes of play in the middle of the third period. Scoring for Char-Lan were Dave Lapierre, Rory Sandilands, and Alain Lalonde.

South Stormont Pee Wee Selects

The South Stormont Peewee Selects returned to their winning ways on the weekend, edging visiting Alexandria 4-3. Two powerplay goals made the difference, with Doug Alguire and Mike Crawford both connecting. The Selects' other two goals were scored by Matt Tessier and Brad Crepeau, with Crepeau's coming on a third period breakaway.

The Selects' next home game is Friday against Kemptville.

Cornwall Radiator Seaway Valley Major Pee Wee "AA"

The Major Pee Wee's lone game this week was against Rideau St. Lawrence. Games between these two teams, always have the fans on the edge of their seats. Coach McBride needed to have his team well prepared for this game. Rideau has been the league champs for the last two years and this years team is just as strong, with only one new player in their lineup.

The Rapids coming off a good last weekend were here for the two points. They started early in the game with a goal by Chris Sommers set up by Brent Lariviere and Addison Pelkey. Rideau were able to turn the game around for them on two power play goals by mid point of the game.

Seaway still in the game with great two way play, scored on the power play to notch the game at two all. Only two minutes later a turnover at centre ice gave Rideau the go ahead goal to end the second period. Coach McBride had a talk with his troops between periods and the boys came out flying. Their hard work paid off with a goal by Liam Tryell from Sommers and Boots. Things were shaping up for the last shot wins the game, when a very well placed shot beat Seaway's goalie. Even with the loss the coaching staff gave the players an "A" for their hard work.

Nesbitt Burns Novice "B" Royals

The Nesbitt Burns Cornwall Novice "B" Royals have had a busy schedule playing 4 games in 5 days. On Friday they travelled to Chesterville to play the North Dundas Demons. After allowing an early first period goal, they stormed back with 7 unanswered goals to win 7-1. On Sunday it was off to Valleyfield, Quebec to play the hometown Braves. Once again the Royals gave up an early lead, to once again show lots of character with a 5-3 come from behind victory. Next it was back to the friendly confines of the Si Miller Arena for a game against the Char-Lan Rebels. This time the Royals did not have to come from behind to win, as they did the only scoring in a 3-0 win. Tuesday they were off to Maxville to play the NGS Braves. For the second straight game the Royals shutout their opposition, this time by a 4-0 margin. Both Joshua Lefebvre and Josh Loney had a shutout during this stretch. Scoring for the Royals this week were Brett Michaud and Mackenzie Mitchell with 5, Trent Thomas with 3, Ryan Wong with 2, Trenholm MacDonnell, Zachary MacInnis, Matthew Jacobs and Brock Bissonnette with 1 each. Assists were handed out to Brett Michaud with 3, Jeremie Spagnolo, Justin Ingram and Jeffrey Hebert with 2, Brock Bissonnette, Brendon Trasuk and Zachary MacInnis with one each. Brett Conway played tireless defence in all four games. The Royals next game is in Maxville on Saturday at 3:50 pm against the Metcalf Jets.

Club 55 Plus

Club 55 Plus Kegling at Olympia Bowl saw Len Marleau carry his club the Lions to squeek out a 2-1 decision over the Elephants with singles of 210 and 220.

In a losing effort Maurice Champagne tossed a 211 for the loss.

Other Highs Rolled: Harvey Barkley 252, Harold Millward 240, Ron Currie 216, Lionel Boileau 212, Rene Amelotte 208, John Peters 203, Don Silsmer 201, 200, Fred Kennedy and Willie Dion 201 each.

Attendance winners: Gerry Ouimet, Alice Williams and Eleanor Dennis.

Delaney Bus Lines Bantam "A" Royals

The Delaney Bus Lines Bantam "A" Royals have been working hard on and off the ice, but the score doesn't always tell the story.

At the Si Miller rink on October 17th, a lone goal scored by Matt O'Connor assisted by Pat McLeod, was recorded in a 7 to 1 loss against Gloucester.

In Vanier, Cornwall met East Ottawa on October 24th, with another 5 to 1 loss. Neal Wereley scored the sole Cornwall goal, with assists from Ranald Pecore and Sean Plumondon.

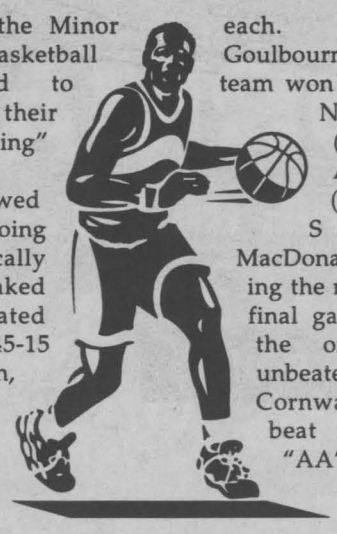
In Manotick on October 27th, the hard work finally paid off when the Cornwall team met the Osgoode Rideau Senators. The team recorded their first win of the season - with a 4 to 2 final score. Goals were scored by Ryan Freeland, Sean Plumondon (2) and Ryan Roy. Assists were made by Chris Hart, Neal Wereley, Jason Jeeves-Grant and Sean Plumondon.

CUCBA Minor Bantam Boys Basketball

Last Sunday the Minor Bantam Boys Basketball team travelled to Gloucester for their pre-season "seeding" tournament.



The team showed very strongly, going 3-0 and basically coming out ranked #1. They defeated Gloucester A 45-15 with Adam Kroon, Eric Viau and Nick St. John leading the scoring with 9 points each. Against Goulbourn, the local team won 53-18 with Nick St. John (10), Jordan Amelotte (8) and Shaun MacDonald (8) scoring the most. In the final game against the only other unbeaten team, the Cornwall team beat Gloucester "AA" 49-43 led by Bruce Swinden with 10 points, Joel Lariviere (9) and Eric Viau (8).

Eric Viau was the top defensive player and the team got great rebounding from Nick St. John, Jordan Amelotte and Adam Chase. With 7 players returning, coach Bill Swinden is looking forward to a successful year.

The minor bantam boys team plays next Sunday morning at CCVS against Gloucester and Kanata to start their league play.

Cornwall Tire Midget "A" Royals

Cornwall Tire Midget "A" Royals rebounded on the weekend after their dismal 5-0 loss to the Canterbury Crusaders on Thursday night. Friday night saw a deflated tire squad meet the Gloucester Rangers. The closely contested affair finally produced a 4-3 Tire victory, thanks to stellar performances by rearguard Dale Ferguson and goaltender Dan Desnoyers. Scoring for the Royals were Ryan Redmond (2), Greg Barnhart, and Shawn Chartrand. Assists went to Jesse Winchester (2), Jamie Leger, Pat Lafleche, Matty McNally, Mario Bissonnette, and Redmond.

Sunday's game had the Cornwall Tire squad hosting the Goulbourn Rams at the Si Miller Arena. The inspired team jumped out to an early 2-0 lead, and eventually led by three at the end of two periods. However, some undisciplined play led to penalty trouble and the Rams tied the game at three before the final buzzer. Scoring for the Royals were Redmond and Chartrand (2), with assists going to Winchester, Barnhart, and Ferguson.

Seaway Valley Major Atom "AA" Rapids

The Major Atoms played a pair of games this week and couldn't find the net in either contest. Defence and goaltending was the dominant factor at both ends of the rink.

On Saturday the Ottawa Sting came to town expecting to walk away with a couple of points but the home team denied them from getting a goal. The game ended 0-0 thanks to a solid defensive game and superb goaltending by Nick Filion with his first shutout of the year.

On Sunday the team went on the road to Gloucester to face the Rangers. This was a tight checking match until a couple of bad breaks and untimely penalties cost the Rapids four goals and that's all it took for the Rangers to win 4-0. The defence corps of Brook DiGiosia, Eric Lemire, Charlie LaPlante, Mario Bissonnette, and Burke MacDonald kept the opposition off balance but still no points.

The boys are off to Spencerville this weekend to play in the Rideau St. Lawrence Kings tournament hoping that this will help them turn the corner and start filling the net.

It was this time last year when the team came together for their first win.

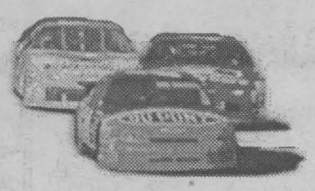
NASCAR Winston Cup Series



Rainbows In The Desert?

GORDON

The NASCAR Winston Cup Series tracks at which Jeff Gordon has yet to win are few and far between. In fact, there are only three remaining&Las Vegas Motor Speedway, Texas Motor Speedway and Phoenix International Raceway.

The first two are understandable, as the driver of the No. 24 DuPont Automotive Finishes has had only five opportunities combined at Vegas and Texas. But Phoenix is a different story.

Rusty Ready For Another Desert Storm

Rusty Wallace got the chance to drive an M-1 Abrams tank at a recent promotional visit to Ft. Bragg. Naturally, he jumped at it.

"I was all covered with mud with my hair sticking straight up," said the moonlighting driver of the No. 2 Miller Lite Ford Taurus. Rusty drove the 63-ton, 1,500 jet-horsepowered tank at speeds up to 70 mph."

Wallace isn't contemplating a career change, but he may want to reenact Desert Storm this weekend at Phoenix International Raceway.

WALLACE

In spite of the rainy dark skies that overwhelmed the on-mile oval during last year's Dura-Lube 500, it was the brightest spot of the season for Wallace, as his victory in the rain-shortened race extended his NASCAR Winston Cup Series winning streak to 13 years.

"It wasn't exactly the way that we wanted to win with the rain and all, but there was no denying that we had the dominant car all day long," said Wallace, who led 196 of the 257 laps. "We needed a win bad and rolled the dice by bringing a brand new car. We kicked some serious butt and walked away with the win and our streak of consecutive winning seasons intact. Without a doubt, even with the rain, it was the most fun and rewarding day that we had last season.

By winning the Food City 500 at Bristol Motor Speedway this past April, Wallace has already taken care of extending his winning streak to 14 years. But there is that 50th career win dangling in front of him. He says his new car ('Streaker' will be the backup) should be up to the task.

"We have a great car ready for Phoenix and are going back looking to duplicate what we did last year ... or at least hoping to," said Wallace. "It's the same car that we won the pole at Loudon (New Hampshire) with and used at Martinsville last month. We finished fourth there and the car has been practically rebuilt since then.

e already got that handled this year. We've kept the streak alive and Wallace has an average start of 5.0 at Phoenix, the best in the NASCAR Winston Cup garage. Despite that high average, last year was his first victory in the desert.

In the 11 Phoenix races dating back to the inaugural visit in 1988 won by his late pal Alan Kulwicki, Wallace has recorded the one win, five top-5 finishes and two Bud Poles.

Texaco Car Looking Hoat in Phoenix

Most loyal NASCAR fans who follow Winston Cup are very familiar with the famous Texaco/Havoline Ford, as traditionally decaled for over a decade with the large Texaco "Star T" logo. In the industry, it is one of the most recognizable cars on the track.

However, for this weekend's Checker Auto Parts/Dura Lube 500 at Phoenix International Raceway, the No. 28 car will shed its traditional look and take on a special paint scheme to promote Havoline Formula3 Motor Oil and Texaco Xpress Lube. The car will have a look reminiscent of the hot rod paint schemes from the '50s and '60s with a fiery blend of black, red and yellow.

While special paint schemes displayed at large venues are not uncommon for NASCAR Winston Cup Series teams, Robert Yates and longtime sponsor Texaco/Havoline rarely break away from their traditional look.

"Our long association with Robert Yates Racing allows us to showcase the excellent performance of Havoline Formula3 Motor Oil -- the same product available right off the shelf and used at Texaco Xpress Lube locations," said Louise Nemanich, president of the lubricants division of Equilon Enterprises LLC, the U.S. joint venture between Shell Oil Company and Texaco Inc.

"We are thrilled to be participating in this promotion," said Robert Yates. "Although we do not often stray from the well-known look of the No. 28 Texaco/Havoline car, the new paint scheme is an exciting design and I am sure it will catch the eye of NASCAR fans."

Tag team back again

Who represents the New Age Outlaws at contract signings anyway? Remember the days when a fallen champion was guaranteed a return title match? Apparently the Outlaws forgot to add that stipulation to the contract when they signed on to defend against the Hollys.

Mick Foley's bond with the fans

WWF.com has spent the last month taking celebrating Micktoberfest, in recognition of Mick Foley. The event has been an incredible success, with thousands of fans writing in, sharing their favorite memories of Mick.

It's been said that Mick may not have the most fans, but he certainly has the most dedicated... and after reading some of his fan mail, I'd be inclined to agree!

Reward: lost puppies

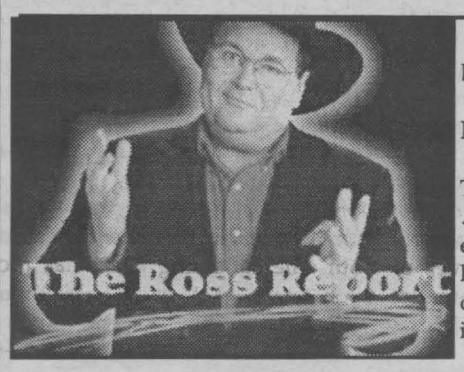
Nowhere else on television can you find the sex appeal of the World Wrestling Federation. Terri and Jackie have chests that make Jennifer Love Hewitt look pre-pubescent. Chyna and Ivory's chiseled physiques make Kiana Tom green with envy. Everybody loves the new girl - and Miss Kitty makes Christina Aguilera look like yesterday's news...

Wake up, Posse

We all know that the Mean Street Posse are cool guys, right? Ever since their first appearances in the World Wrestling Federation, when they were hyping up Shane McMahon before his first actual match, the one thing that has always shined through about these Greenwich boys is that they are ultra-confident braggarts.

Chyna and HHH - a face/heel duo

"One, two, is this on?" It used to be fairly obvious what to do when that music came on -- boo as loud as possible. It was the music for the evil Triple H and Chyna, who had turned their backs on the fans at WrestleMania XV and were the biggest heels in the promotion.



By Jim Ross

Random thoughts, opinions and views...

The reuniting of DX is a good thing in my view ... a win/win for all involved. Four very talented performers who all can move to another level with the right break and a little luck. Big question is, where does this leave Chyna? Is she in or not? Stay tuned.

Stone Cold will be featured in a top-end music video shoot in the next few weeks that will probably make its way to MTV.

The WWF DVD of WrestleMania is reportedly selling very well and many more DVD projects are being planned.

The WWF advertising folks have no more commercial T.V. time for sale in the 4th quarter.

DX video sales have gotten hot again since the boys got back together last Monday on RAW.

Have you seen the WWF video collection, Classic 5 Pak, in stores? Another hot seller.

Watch for some fun promotions with the WWF and K-Mart stores around the December holidays.

Mick Foley's autobiography will open at #3 on the New York Times Best Seller list and is expected to be #1 within two weeks! What an accomplishment!

One of the best-known action/adventure stars in the entire world may show up on SmackDown! very soon.

Could Moolah and Mae Young be headed for the Billboard Music Awards Show?

The Rock's biography will be out in January, too. Not bad for a 27-year old who is operating under a LONG-term WWF contract.

Taz vignettes will probably start soon after the Survivor Series. Taz met with WWF personnel this week and everyone is very optimistic about the direction and creative plans for the ECW mainstay. At this time, Taz's debut is still set for January.

The WrestleMania 2000 video game will be in stores on Nov. 15. I hear it is really going to be special.

Good to see "Too Cool" back in action. Brian Christopher and Scott Taylor have a ton of potential and, seemingly, are really ready to move up the ladder. Look for these two to have a strong 2000.

Bob Holly has just signed a long-term contract with the WWF and Steve Blackman has agreed to terms, as well. Both men are well-conditioned, hard-working performers and superb team players.

The "Nitty Gritty" of Y2K

The Y2K (year 2000) bug represents potential disruption in the delivery of some services. However, let's not lose sight of the fact that these disruptions are a temporary bump (or pothole) in the road - not the end of the world. The City of Cornwall Municipal Y2K Committee is working closely with agencies, businesses and various levels of government to ensure the safety of our citizens. The articles (which will appear until the new year) are to help you and your loved ones better prepare should something occur. Children and their Response to Disaster

Disasters may strike quickly and without warning. These events can be frightening for adults, but they are traumatic for children if they don't know what to do.

During a disaster, your family may have to leave your home and daily routine. Children may become anxious, confused or frightened. As an adult, you'll need to cope with the disaster in a way that will help children avoid developing a permanent sense of loss. It is important to give children guidance that will help them reduce their fears.

Ultimately, you should decide what's best for your children, but consider using these suggestions as guidelines.

CHILDREN AND THEIR RESPONSE TO DISASTER

Children depend on daily routines: They wake up, eat breakfast, go to school, play with friends. When emergencies or disasters interrupt this routine, children may become anxious.

In a disaster, they'll look to you and other adults for help. How you react to an emergency gives them clues on how to act. If you react with alarm, a child may become more scared. They see our fear as proof that the danger is real. If you seem overcome with a sense of loss, a child may feel their losses more strongly.

Children's fears also may stem from their imagination, and you should take these feelings seriously. A child who feels afraid is afraid. Your words and actions can provide reassurance. When talking with your child, be sure to present a realistic picture that is both honest and manageable.

Feelings of fear are healthy and natural for adults and children. But as an adult, you need to keep control of the situation. When you're sure that danger has passed, concentrate on your child_s emotional needs by asking the child what's uppermost in his or her mind. Having children participate in the family_s recovery activities will help them feel that their life will return to "normal". Your response during this time may have a lasting impact.

Be aware that after a disaster, children are most afraid that :

1. the event will happen again.
2. someone will be injured or killed.
3. they will be separated from the family.
4. they will be left alone.

ADVICE TO PARENTS: PREPARE FOR DISASTER

You can create a Family Disaster Plan by taking four simple steps. First, learn what hazards exist in your community and how to prepare for each. Then meet with your family to discuss what you would do, as a group, in each situation. Next, take steps to prepare your family for disaster such as: posting emergency phone numbers, selecting an out-of-town family contact, assembling disaster supplies kits for each member of your household and installing smoke detectors on each level of your home. Finally, practice your Family Disaster Plan so that everyone will remember what to do when a disaster does occur.

Develop and practice a Family Disaster Plan. Contact your local fire department or municipal office, or your local Red Cross for materials that describe how your family can create a disaster plan. Everyone in the household, including children, should play a part in the family's response and recovery efforts.

Teach your child how to recognize danger signals. Make sure your child knows that smoke detectors, fire alarms and local community warning systems (horns, sirens) sound like.

Explain how to call for help. Teach your child how and when to call for help. Check the telephone directory for local emergency phone numbers and post these phone numbers by all telephones. If you live in a 9-1-1-service area, tell your child to call 9-1-1.

Help your child memorize important family information. Children should memorize their family name, address and phone numbers. They should also know where to meet in case of an emergency. Some children may not be old enough to memorize the information. They could carry a small index card that lists emergency information to give to an adult or babysitter.

TEACHING YOUR CHILDREN HOW TO CALL FOR HELP

Teach your child how and when to call for help. They should call 9-1-1 if you live in a 9-1-1-service area. If not, check the telephone directory for local emergency numbers.

Even very young children can be taught how and when to call for emergency assistance. If your child can't read, the following chart has pictures that may help them identify the correct number to call in the event of an emergency.

As you explain each picture, have your child color the symbol on the emergency phone number chart. Doing so may help your child remember who they should call in an emergency.

EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBERS

My Family Name:
My Phone Number:
My Address:
My Town:
My County:

AFTER THE DISASTER: TIME FOR RECOVERY

Immediately after the disaster, try to reduce your child's fear and anxiety. Keep the family together. While you look for housing and assistance, you may want to leave your children with relatives or friends. Instead, keep the family together as much as possible and make children a part of what you are doing to get the family back on its feet. Children get anxious and they will worry that their parents won't return.

Calmly and firmly explain the situation. As best as you can, tell children what you know about the disaster. Explain what will happen next. For example, say, "Tonight, we will all stay together in the shelter." Get down to the child's eye level and talk to them.

Encourage children to talk. Let children talk about the disaster and ask questions as much as they want. Encourage children to describe what they_re feeling. Listen to what they say. If possible, include the entire family in the discussion.

Include children in recovery activities. Give children chores that are their responsibility. This will help children feel they are part of the recovery. Having a task will help them understand that everything will be all right.

You can help children cope by understanding what causes their anxieties and fears. Reassure them with firmness and love. Your children will realize that life will eventually return to normal. If a child does not respond to the above suggestions, seek help from a mental health specialist or a member of the clergy.

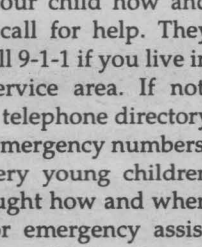
Homeopathy and Menopause



Paulette Poirier
Homeopath

It should be a special time in a women's life. Unfortunately many women suffer from sweaty flashes, insomnia, depression, migraines, irritability, ... Joan, a teacher, suffered hot flashes that would often be followed by fainting spells. perspiration would drip off her forehead, the back of her neck would be all wet, her body would be get clammy. She felt like a wet rag, a very tired wet rag. The only relief would be to loosen her clothes - not always possible halfway through mathematics. These symptoms often woke her up at night.

The cure: Joan had discussed hormones with her doctor and since there was cancer in the immediate family, like many women, she decided to look at homeopathy to help relieve the symptoms of menopause. She wanted to keep her sanity, and find a natural way to get relief. The homeopathy remedy Lachesis matched her menopausal symptoms. After 5 weeks the dosage was reduced since the symptoms had diminished by 50%. A further consultation was needed to continue the work of balancing the hormones so that Joan's life would resume.

Total treatment can be taken from 6 -12 months, since we are dealing with hormones.

Every time you appoint a committee, they have to do something tangible to show others they're working. And so it is with Y2K. The City obviously has a committee, otherwise how can you explain the black and blue brochures sent to all homes, which by the way, warned people that "it wasn't the end of the world". How's that for a confidence builder? Now the 'committee' has invented a fridge magnet with a Y2K list on it. What a waste!!

Cool Cat ... My aunt's neighbour had a beautiful black cat, Villiam, who spent his days outside and came indoors at night.

One cool October evening, he disappeared. The neighbour searched in vain for him.

The following spring however, Villiam reappeared, looking healthy. Everything was back to normal, until that autumn when Villiam disappeared again. The next spring, he returned. Perplexed, my aunt's friend began asking neighbours for clues.

Finally she rang the bell of an older couple. "A black cat?" the woman said. "Oh yes. My husband and I hated to see him out in the cold, so we bought a cat carrier. We take him to Florida every winter."

It's too bad that our local cable company closed its local office. Now, when people have problems or questions regarding their service, they have to call the customer service line. What a hoot that is. Try getting through on that line!! Go ahead, call, try your patience!!

Flowers

A new business was opening and one of the owner's friends wanted to send him flowers for the occasion.

They arrived at the new business site and the owner read the card, "Rest in Peace".

The owner was angry and called the florist to complain.

After he had told the florist of the obvious mistake and how angry he was, the florist replied, "Sir, I'm really sorry for the mistake, but rather than getting angry, you should imagine this: somewhere there is a funeral taking place today, and they have flowers with a note saying, Congratulations on your new location".

AIDS FORUM

Pat
O'CONNOR

Hello everyone. It finally looks like the headaches I have been suffering from are gone. You never really realize how much pain you are in until it is gone. It is a big relief and am now hoping they will not return.

I have not taken any pills now for almost 7 weeks. Results of my Viral Load test came back last week and were very good. I will probably be going to clinic next week and more than likely will have to start a new regiment of pills to keep HIV in check. I am not looking forward to this, as I will probably start the 15 or 20 pills a day thing again. Which drugs I will be taking, we have not yet decided. I really am not looking forward to taking them, but I must try again.

It was a tough week in the world of sports this past week. Payne Stewart, the legendary golf pro who died in a plane crash with 5 others. Greg Moore also succumbed to death after a terrible crash, that left his car in many small pieces. Then there was the death of Walter Payton who was fighting a rare form of liver disease and died from cancer caused by it.

As a sports fan I was shocked upon hearing of all three deaths. All three men were great role models for children and adults.

What upset me the most was the little interest that was paid to the 5 other people who perished with Payne Stewart. I can never quite understand why people put so much emphasis on the deaths of famous people and seem to forget the everyday deaths of others. I know it is only human nature for us to do this, but it does disturb me.

For the past 3 or 4 weeks, I have thought of death very much. When my head hurt really, really bad, my thoughts turned to tumours and blood clots. I have thought of death so much these past 14 years, I have become cold to it. My doctors believe I am an enigma for staying around so long. My mind is constantly awash with thoughts of my disease. It never really takes a break.

Thanks for the prayers Mrs. R. Be well everyone.

11 Things You Need To Know To Pass Your Home Inspection

Cornwall - According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identified the most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 11 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse turn prospective buyers away altogether.

In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for. And knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homeselle deal with this issu before their home is listed, a free report entitled "11 Things You Need To Know To Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report, call 1-800-865-0177 and enter ID 2203. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day to ensure a home inspection doesn't cost you the sale of your home.

At the engineering firm where I work, we were discussing the fact that engineers often have a different way of thinking. My co-worker, whose father is an engineer, described how she once found him in the kitchen making lasagna.

Noticing he was laying the lasagna noodles crisscross, she explained that they should be placed side by side.

"But", he said, "that wouldn't be structurally sound!"

Is that a new Biker Bar opening in South Stormont? Hope the council members remember how much grief and money it cost the township to fight a Strip Club a few years ago.

Get your shovels ready - the snow is coming. Speed up shoveling your sidewalk or driveway by coating your shovel with floor wax. The wax will make the snow glide right off and prevent the shovel from rusting.

Pets in Pick-up Trucks: Dogs can easily be thrown from the back of a pick-up into oncoming traffic. Flying particles can injure eyes and ears. If you must have your dog travel this way, provide appropriate restraint, and check that he will not choke if you are forced to stop suddenly. Anchor a covering in the animal's area and drive as slowly and smoothly as possible. Be a responsible pet owner.

Observe Remembrance Day

Poppy Facts

During the Napoleonic Wars, the poppy drew attention as the mysterious flower that bloomed over the graves of fallen soldiers.

In the 20th century, the poppy again was widely noticed after soils in France and Belgium became rich in lime from rubble during the first World War. The little red flowers flourished around the graves of the war dead as they had 100 years earlier.

In 1915, Guelph, Ontario native John McCrae, a doctor serving with the Canadian Forces Artillery, recorded this phenomenon in his famous poem "In Flanders Fields."

Two days before Armistice, Moina Michael, an American woman from Athens, Georgia, read the McCrae poem and was inspired to wear a poppy year-round in memory of the war dead.

In 1920, Madame E. Guérin of France visited the United States and happened to meet Miss Michael at the YMCA at Colombia University, where the latter was a volunteer. Mme. Guérin then resolved to sell handmade poppies around Armistice Day to raise money for poor children n the war-torn areas of Europe.

In 1921, Field-Marshall Earl Haig, the former Commander-in-Chief of British Armies in France and Belguim and the principal founder of the British Legion, was sold on Mme. Guérin's fundraising idea and approved organization of the British Poppy Day Appeal by the Legion to raise money for poor and disabled veterans.

The same year, Mme. Guérin visited Canada, and convinced the Great War Veterans Association (predecessor to the Royal Canadian Legion) to similarly adopt the poppy as a symbol of remembrance in aid of fundraising.

Today, the Poppy Campaign is one of the Royal Canadian Legion's most important programs. The money raised from poppy sales provides direct assistance for ex-service people in financial distress, as well as funding for medical appliances and research, home services, care facilities, and numerous other purposes.

In Flanders Fields

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, saw dawn, felt sunset glow,
Loved, and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up your quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Facts on Remembrance Day

Remembrance Day commemorates Canadians who died in the First and Second World Wars and the Korean War. It is held every November 11th.

The first Remembrance Day was conducted in 1919 throughout the Comonwealth. Originally called Armistice Day, it commemorated the end of the First World War on Monday, November 11, 1918 at 11:00a.m.

From 1923 to 1931, Armistice Day was held on the Monday of the week in which November 11th fell.

In 1931, M.P. Allan Neil introduced a bill to hold Armistice Day on a fixed day - November 11th. During the bill's introduction, it was decided the word "Remembrance" would be used instead of "Armistice". The bill was passed and Remembrance Day was conducted on November 11, 1931.

The poppy is the symbol of Remembrance Day. Replica poppies are sold by the Royal Canadian Legion to raise money for needy veterans.

Facts on Canada's involvement:

First World War

- Canada entered the war in 1914.
- Almost 620,000 Canadian men and women served in the First World War at a time when the population of the country was only a few million.
- Of these, over 66,000 were killed.
- At the Battle of the Somme the British Forces suffered their heaviest one-day loss ever, over 57,000 men. More than 700 men from the Newfoundland regiment were killed or injured during this battle.
- Four Canadians were awarded the Victoria Cross, the Commonwealth's highest award for bravery, for their part in the taking of Vimy Ridge.
- Canadian John McCrae wrote the poem "In Flanders Fields" while on the battlefields.
- During the course of the war, Canada's naval service grew from 350 men and two ships to a force of 9,000 men and 100 ships.

Second World War

- By September 1939, over 58,000 Canadian men and women had volunteered to serve in the Canadian Forces.
- Canadian soldiers formed the main assault force for the raid on Dieppe, where over 900 Canadians were killed and almost 2,000 more were taken prisoner.
- Approximately 14,000 Canadians landed at Normandy on D-Day.
- The 1st Canadian Army was instrumental in the liberation of Holland in May 1945.
- Over one million Canadians served in the Second World War and approximately 45,000 gave their lives.
- Canada's navy was the third largest in the allied forces, and its airforce was the fourth largest.
- By the end of the Second World War, Canada's navy had more than 113,000 personnel, including over 7,000 women.

Korean War

- North Korea's invasion of South Korea marked the first open act of aggression since the establishment of the United Nations.
- Over 26,000 Canadians served in the Korean War.
- The Royal Canadian Navy was the first branch of Canada's forces to provide aid to the UN Forces in Korea.
- Over 1,500 Canadians lost their lives during the Korean War, 378 of whom are buried at the United Nations Memorial Cemetery at Tanggok, a suburb of Pusan.
- Canada made a larger contribution in proportion to its population than most of the nations which provided troops for the international force.

2 MINUTES SILENCE

November 11, 1999 will be the last Remembrance Day of the 20th Century.

Living in Canada, it is easy to forget that this century has been the most violent period in human history. More than 1.4 million young Canadians have volunteered to serve in our military and merchant navy and more than 116,000 have given their lives.

As a special tribute, the Royal Canadian Legion is asking all Canadians to pause for 2 minutes at 11:00a.m. on Remembrance Day. Radio and TV signals will stop, shops and schools, factories and farms will be still. The silence will sweep across Canada like a wave as the clock strikes 11:00 in each time zone.

Be part of it. Join co-workers, friends and family, and take two minutes to think about war, about peace, and about those who gave up everything for us.

92 NOVENAS

ST. ANNE - Good St. Anne, Mother of her who is our life, our sweetness and our hope, pray for us and obtain our requests. Say this for nine days, one Our Father, one Hail Mary and one Glory Be. M.D.

O HOLY SAINT JUDE Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, the faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg you, to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause your name to be invoked. (Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Mary's, 3 Glory Be's for 9 consecutive days). Publication must be promised. This Novena has never been known to fail. M.L.

ST. JUDE NOVENA. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved through the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, Worker of the Miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, Heart of the Hopeless, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day for 9 days. By the 8th day your prayer will be answered. Publication must be promised. Thank you to St. Jude. Also, thanks for other prayers answered. N.H.

THANK YOU SACRED HEART for prayers answered. R.B.

In memory of all the members of the Armed Services,
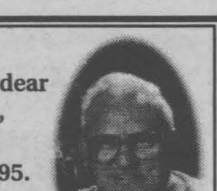
who served their country with courage.
Sunshine fades and shadows fall,
But sweet remembrance
outlasts all.

Let us remember them on November 11th



MONDOUX

In loving memory of a dear husband, Augustin, who passed away on November 8th, 1995.

It's so lonely here without you
I miss you more each day,
Since you were called away.
It broke my heart to lose you
But you did not go alone,
For part of me went with you.
You faced your pain with courage
Until the very end, you fought so hard to stay.
I can still remember you sitting in your chair
And the silver highlights in your hair.
I miss your loving smile that meant so much.
The happy years I spent with you
There are so many things I miss,
Like holding hands and your tender kisses.
Until this life for me is through,
I'll always remember you.

Until we meet again,
always loved by your wife Eileen

Old Folks

I earn my living working for the old folks
The love is tremendous as we laugh and joke
The work is hard sometimes I know
But the joy they give me is unknown

They have been through the great depression wars and trials
It has opened my eyes to think awhile
When they give you an advise it is with great wisdom
For they speak with knowledge and not of fickleness

They are kind and cheerful amidst their pain
To me it is the love of God prevailed
Selfishness does not exist with them
They tell me I have removed loneliness and have become their friend

It has changed my outlook deeply within Compassion and love has really set in
We must tip our hats and be kind to the old
For one day you and I will be the next fold

It is a joy to be working by their side
A grace from God he has sent me to abide
I always encourage I instill hope in them
For one day we too will be glad to have a friend

Investiture

The room upstairs
That I've carved out
not long ago
Sits well concealed,
Come what may.
From the open doorway...
Draped in gossimers
Spun by spindly-legged magicians,
On all sides...
This is my space,
Rustic and cluttered
To perfection,
And speckled with dusty trails
Everywhere...
This is my hour, my daily retreat,
Where I ponder the perplexing,
In rampant terms...
This is my hermit's hideaway,
Where life's outer edge begins.
In all this... I am fussed abut
With sisterly generosity...
That bears no connection or condition
With my troubled past...
And under these low rafters...
Not quite raised for all the light,
In this cave! In this Abbey!
I found lasting refuge,
In, these, my gravest years.
And so...
It still remains,
Well concealed,
And shrouded, in it's stability...
From all but the jaundiced eye to see...
For yet... I vacilate...
That I cannot claim...
With direct certainty...
That this sacred space at the top,
Is the object of mere insecurity,
Or in reality...
Become a place of less ferocity.

Changing Seasons

Autumn is quickly passing through,
The trees have given up their leaves
Cool, brisk, fall winds have helped this too,
Trees will slumber, as winter weaves.

Winter calls, nature will provide,
Fall sleeps, to awake it's neighbour
Therefore, autumn has moved aside,
Leaving it's cousin to labour.

As surely as autumn slumbers,
Winter moves in and, makes its' home
And soon provides, in great numbers,
Crystal white flakes, from heaven's dome.

A Christmas artwork, it has set,
Sparkling landscapes, blanketed white
Frosted artwork, windows beget,
Setting a scene... A Christmas site!

To Miss Mc'iver

My memory of a wonderful lady, Miss Donaldena "Don" Mc'Iver. I was her homemaker for ten wonderful years. I have written a Poem about her as I saw her.

She touched every heart she met
With her kindness and enthusiastic manner
She was dynamic lady with a strong character
Her determination even in her aging life
And her inspiration spirit shone like a light

She was one of a kind a touch of God's love
Which manifested itself through her like a dove
She lived her life completely wrapped in action
She gave and gave with such an impaction

Smart as a whip nothing could pass her by
Her students her friends many of us will miss her oh! my!
When the pain of her parting comes on very strong
I can almost hear her say "Carry on"

She was a legend in her time a great lady
Gifted in music, teaching, artist, and most of all spirituality
Her remembrance will always stand
Let us be thankful to God for sending us for a time
Such a lady so grand.

By Jacqueline Cadieux,
Cornwall

"I truly loved her with all my heart."

Hostage

Like a prisoner
I am led each morning
by the arms of irresistible impulse to the company of the television that offers vinegar to silence me as my ears remain plugged
to the song of my daily life.

Facing my avowed foe
I gallop my breakfasts
and dinners,
blinded
by the dust of despicable horror.

The spice-sprinkled tales;
the bombs dropping, leaving
trails as some planets do;
the tanks striding
like giants in the Arabian Nights;
and the spray of the bullets
remind me of the urchins at play.

Alert in the bunker of panic
I lie a hostage
to the ghastly Gulf War
that raises
the high walls of the captivity to my freedom and peace
in my own living room
though I am thousands of miles afar.

Country Line Dance Grandma

The Grandkids like to visit
They are always stopping by
Sure they'll find their Grandma in the kitchen
Busy baking pie
But times have changed since Grandma
Learned to twinkle and to vine
She can hook and hitch and scoot
Her jazz box is just fine
Oh Grandma's in the kitchen, still
In cold and snowy weather
But she's not baking cookies, kid
She's out there slappin' leather.

- Property Damage 16

Impaired Drivers 1
12 Hour Suspensions 2

The above mentioned is a partial list of occurrences reported to the Cornwall Police Service. Some occurrences may not appear because of delays in the reporting of the incidents.

• A 32 year old female was arrested and charged on the 28th of October, 1999. Police responded to a domestic dispute at an Eleventh Street East residence, upon police arrival the male involved agreed to leave for the night. It is alleged that the female, after talking to police tried to leave in her vehicle. She was charged with impaired operation having care and control for a vehicle and over .08. She was later released to appear in court on the 29th of November, 1999.

• Richard Primeau, 41 of Lennox Street was arrested and charged with breach of probation on the 28th of October, 1999. Police attended the area of Pitt Street and First Street at 4:30 p.m. and observed a man falling from his bicycle. It is alleged that Mr. Primeau consumed alcohol contrary to the conditions of his probation. He was held in custody for a bail hearing on the 29th of October, 1999.

• A 40 year old Prince Arthur Street male was arrested and charged with uttering a death threat on the 28th of October, 1999. It is alleged that he and his 40 year old common-law spouse were having an argument and at one point her life was threatened. She left the residence and contacted police. The male was subsequently arrested and charged, he was held in custody and will appear for a bail hearing on the 29th of October, 1999.

• Joseph Primeau, 62, of Menard Ave., was arrested and charged with arson, after the fire department and police responded to a residence fire at 11:21 a.m. on the 2nd of November, 1999. It is alleged that Mr. Primeau set the couch on fire in the residence. Kirk Loucks, 22, of Marlborough St. S., was also arrested and charged with assault. It is alleged that he assaulted the landlord when he was trying to enter the residence, the assault was stopped by the firefighters on scene. Mr. Primeau was held in custody while Mr. Loucks was released to appear in court on the 29th of November, 1999.

• Brian Kulick, 26, of Long Sault, was arrested and charged with allegations of impaired driving and over .08 after being stopped by an officer on general patrol. He was later released to appear in court on the 29th of November, 1999.

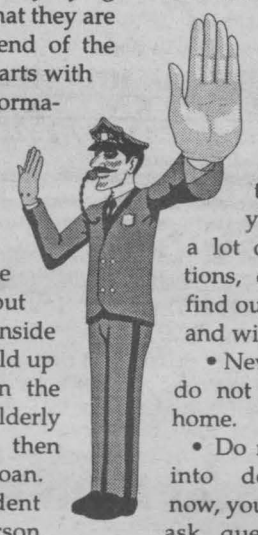
• A 15 year old Cornwall youth is charged with assault after he punched another 15 year old male. It is alleged that he tapped the youth on the shoulder and when the youth turned he was punched to the face. The incident took place at approximately 8:30a.m. on the 1st of November, 1999. The youth was later released to appear in court on the 22nd of November, 1999.

• A Lisieux St. shed was broken into on the 2nd of November, 1999 at 3:30a.m Nothing was taken from the shed as the culprit(s) was scared off.

Police Service Issues Warning of Scam

The Cornwall Police Service would like to warn the general public of a male that is trying to scam money from elderly persons.

There have been two separate incidents this week in which a young male befriended an elderly person by trying to convince them that they are a relative or a friend of the family. The male starts with small talk to get information and then assumes the roll of a relative/friend of the elderly person. The male has gone so far as to help out with chores once inside the residence to build up a repour and gain the confidence of the elderly person. The male then asks for a cash loan. During one incident the elderly person started to ask questions of their own at this point and busted the scam, the male left rather quickly. In the other incident the male was successful and escorted the elderly person to the bank to get the money.



The male is described as 5'6" to 5'7", short brown hair, hazel eyes, clean shaven and English speaking.

The Cornwall Police Service is requesting the assistance of the public to identify this male, if you have any information that can assist us, please contact Cst. Scott Hanton at 932-2110.

Here are some tips to help prevent this type of incident from occurring.

• Be suspicious of persons you do not know that call you by your name and ask a lot of personal questions, criminals love to find out if you are lonely and willing to talk.

• Never let anyone you do not know into your home.

• Do not get pressured into doing something now, you have the right to ask questions or make phone calls to reassure yourself of whom you are speaking to, call someone you know and trust, ask for their advice.

• Do not disclose information about your bank account or credit cards.

• Criminals will often ask for cash rather than a check or money order, cash is untraceable and can't be cancelled.

BREAK AND ENTER

On 28OCT99 police began an investigation into a break and enter which had occurred in the Hallville area of North Dundas Township.

Overnight a forced entry had been made into a storage shed at the Community rink and a 1996 12hp snowblower, make: WHITE, was taken.

Const. B. Anderson is investigating this incident.

On 28OCT99 police attended the scene of a residential break and enter which had occurred in the South Mountain area of North Dundas Township.

During the day a forced entry had been made into a private residence along County Road 3, which resulted in the theft of home entertainment and personal items from the home.

Const. J. Cyr is investigating.

On 30OCT99 police received a report of a break and enter which had occurred at a private residence in North Dundas Township.

During the afternoon a forced entry had been made into the home where, following a search of the residence, personal and home entertainment items were taken.

Const. B. Anderson is investigating this incident.

THEFT

On 28OCT99 police received a report of a theft, which had occurred in the Morewood area of North Dundas Township.

Overnight, a Mastercraft, 10 hp snowblower was taken from the yard of a residence located along Moffat Street in Morewood.

Const. B. Anderson is investigating.

MISCHIEF

On 28OCT99 police were called to investigate a report of damage in the village of South Mountain.

Overnight three buildings at the Nationview Public School were broken into, but no thefts were apparent from any location.

Const. A. Smirnov is investigating.

On 30OCT99 police received a report of damage in the village of Chesterville. Overnight damage had been sustained to a vehicle parked along Main Street when three windows were smashed.

Charges are pending against a 22 year old Williamsburg man in relation to a mischief incident in South Dundas on 31OCT99 involving damage to a house by the use of paint balls.

Charges are also pending against two Chesterville men, both 20 years of age, in connection with an egg throwing incident in the village on 29OCT99. The investigation into this matter is still continuing.

TRAFFIC UPDATE

During the past two weeks police have investigated a total of 19 motor vehicle collisions. Car – deer collisions accounted for 11 of these investigations. While this has continued to be a problem in our area, the incidents of deer on the roadways has increased in recent weeks and is occurring throughout the county. Many of the collisions have taken place during the early morning or early evening hours. Drivers, especially commuters, should use extra care when travelling during these times.

Other investigations resulted in 13 charges being laid in connection with alcohol related drinking and driving offences, five 12 hour driver's licence suspensions being issued, one charge being laid in connection with a Liquor Licence Act offence, and the apprehension of 11 suspended drivers.

ALARMS

Over the past two weeks police responded to 9 false alarms and only 2 false 9-1-1 calls in Dundas County

HALLOWE'EN

The O.P.P. would like to thank the members of our local volunteer fire departments, community patrols, road crews, recreation employees and police auxiliary, for their assistance over the past weekend . Your help was greatly appreciated.

Thanks also goes out to the youth of our county for their contribution to a successful Hallowe'en, where through their responsible behaviour they have allowed the night to be a special evening for the children.

AUTO $ MART

How To Winterize Your Car

(NC)—5W30 motor oil is now used by many drivers all year round. Some are even switching to a 0W30 grade of oil. 10W30 is still the recommended lubricant for many older vehicles in the summer months. Year-round use of light grade oils is not for every vehicle on the road.

Although all three grades of oil have the same viscosity at normal vehicle operating temperatures, 5W30 and 0W30 oils are lighter and offer outstanding low temperature fluidity when the engine is cold.

Switching to 5W30 in the winter months is a good investment. It translates into easier engine starts that consume less fuel. Make sure to follow the proper recommendations in your Owner's Manual before you switch.

Here are some additional Auto$mart winter tune-up tips:

• Battery: make sure it is fully charged and the battery terminals are clean, coat with petroleum jelly or use tight-fitting caps to prevent corrosion.

• Ignition System: check for cracked insulation on spark plug wires and make sure they are not in contact with the engine. A distributor cap that is cracked, a carbon-tracked distributor rotor and fouled spark plugs will make the engine hard to start when cold, reduce engine power and cause rough idling.

• Cooling System: Check the freezing point of the coolant and top up the cooling system with the right water/coolant mix. For most places in Canada, a 50/50 mixture of antifreeze and water is sufficient, see your owner's manual for the vehicle manufacturer's recommendations. Check the cooling system hoses and the hoses leading to the passenger compartment heater for cracks and soft spots.

• Windshield Wipers: make sure that wiper blades are in good condition. Use winter grade windshield washer fluid and keep the fluid reservoir topped up. Winter washer fluids are blue (-30°C) and green (-40°C); pink "summer" washer fluid should be drained and replaced with winter formulations. Its also a good idea to keep extra windshield washer fluid in the trunk.

Winter Auto Protection Must Start Before Season

(NU) - Summer is gone. But the lawn remains green and the car is still gleaming in the driveway.

For now. In most of the country, winter driving will soon take its toll on those shiny summer chariots — from winter salt, snow and ice, to incessant downpours.

The time to prepare the car for that onslaught is before it begins.

"During the summer months the car is exposed to sand, dirt and grime because it is being driven more for recreation," said Mike Riley of Ziebart TidyCar, the nationwide chain of auto care and rust-proofing shops. "If the car isn't cleaned before winter, it is also exposed to salt, slush and ice.

"That's a deadly combination for the interior and exterior of the vehicle."

Before winter sets in, a car should undergo a complete cleaning and detailing of interior and exterior surfaces, including hidden areas such as the engine compartment, under door panels and the bottom of the vehicle.

Inside, upholstery and carpeting are most vulnerable to the buildup of grit and grime from summer activities, said Riley, who is product manager of the Ziebart detailing group. If the dirt is not cleaned away, the accumulation can speed up deterioration of the fabric, he said.

Winter salt poses a significant threat to both the interior and exterior of the vehicle.

According to the American Salt Institute, the average road salt piled on slick U.S. roads in winter totals 60 million tons. Of that, about 3.5 pounds ends up on the average car, eating into painted and metal surfaces and triggering rust and corrosion. Despite what car owners may think, automobile manufacturer warranties don't cover all metal surfaces prone to rust, including many hidden areas.

And, late model cars do rust. Riley said recent manufacturer recalls for such things as subframes that hold car engines and transmissions in place "show that rust damage to motor vehicles is alive and well."

As a result, companies like Ziebart which are known for rust protection continue to thrive. Such companies have also extended services into such areas as detailing and accessories.

Riley advises putting a "winter coat" on a car beginning with interior and exterior detailing and protection services. Ziebart TidyCar experts recommend the application of high-quality waxes or sealants to protect exterior surfaces.

Rust protection materials, Riley said, should be applied to under surfaces, hidden box sections and seams of the vehicle.

SEAWAY NEWS ENTERTAINMENT

Night N' DAY

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

The weekend is here and PETER MORRISON is in town! Who is Peter Morrison you ask? If you haven't heard he is a FAMOUS TENOR FROM SCOTLAND and will be here as part of an evening of entertainment this Sat., Nov. 6th. The event will be held at Summerheights Golf Links, South Branch Road, and includes Rob Taylor who will entertain during the 6pm-7pm cocktails, the dinner begins at 7 p.m. with entertainment by DENIS CARR & ROB TAYLOR OF THE BRIGADOONS. After Dinner will feature Peter Morrison, with pianist David Smith. Tickets for this event are limited and reservations are required. The number to call, if there are any seats remaining is 938-8009.

If you are a hockey fan you can enjoy the radio account of the CORNWALL COLTS AT 101.9 FM as they travel to Pembroke on Sun., Nov. 7th and then back home to host Ottawa on Thurs., Nov. 11th in CJHL action. The NHL TV games this weekend will feature what should be an exciting match-up between the OTTAWA SENATORS AND THE CANADIENS at 7pm on Saturday and CALGARY FLAMES will host FLORIDA PANTHERS in the second part of the CBC double-header.

Next THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11TH IS REMEMBRANCE DAY. We urge you to wear a poppy in memory of the many Canadians who gave their lives during the war years, or you may join others who will assemble at the Cenotaph on Second Street West at 11am for the annual ceremony.

"JUST PUT TOGETHER" will be appearing again at ROSIE MAGOO'S on Third Street east this weekend. While there you may wish to pick up your tickets for "Magoo's" New Years Eve event. They also feature Karaoke every Wednesday.

Still a few remaining tickets for the NEW YEAR'S EVE BASH at the RCAF, WING 424. Members and guests will roll-out the old and welcome the new year and new century with a catered meal followed by dancing and the usual fun treats. You can contact any member of the Wing for tickets and/or information. There will also be a special ROAST BEEF MEAL on Sun., Nov. 14th starting at 4:30pm. Members are reminded to arrive early as the beef will be served until they run out. Members and guests are welcome.

It happens every year and no doubt there will be many folks who miss-out on getting tickets for the New Year's Eve events around Cornwall and area. This is another gentle reminder to call around NOW and make those TICKET RESERVATIONS. Most of the usual locations are again featuring an exciting package to Ring-In the Year 2000. The Civic Complex, K of C Hall in Glen Walter, RCAF Wing 424, are only a few of the places that have announced their events. Several restaurants will also be preparing special menus for the Christmas and Holiday season. We suggest that you also make your reservations for these events a.s.a.p too. Don't wait until the last minute and be disappointed!!!

This is also that time of year when a leisure car ride, with family and/or friends, can be a very enjoyable event. A slow ride around the area to see the ever-changing landscape along the ST. LAWRENCE RIVER or on any of the "BACK-ROADS" in our area will be a pleasant outing. Take along your camera to capture some of that kaleidoscopic beauty that abounds in this area. You may even be compelled to stop awhile on your journey to breathe in the fresh Fall air. Happy trails !!!

Get ready for the Lung Association's fourth annual FESTIVAL OF TREES. The event is slated for Nov. 18-21 at the Cornwall Armoury. There will be a stage play, singing, dancing, Christmas carols, pancake breakfast and yes even a visit by Santa Claus. Tickets for the event are available at the Festival Headquarters at 1400 Vincent Massey Drive or at other locations around town. You can call 932-4999 for more info.

A deserving "Tip of the Night 'N Day" hat to WAL-MART for their recent decision to remove those offensive dolls from their shelves. In case you didn't hear about the wrestling doll, it depicts a World Wrestling Federation member carrying a woman's head under his arm. The most ridiculous part of this whole event is that the "Toy ?" has a label that states it is recommended for children ages four and older. Some of the WWF antics on TV are stupid and violent too, but involving our kids is just too much. Again a big thank you to Wal-Mart but at the same time one wonders why this piece o' trash made it to the store shelves in the first place. Don't we have any "watchdogs" out there to prevent this from happening???

This is a big weekend for the annual HERITAGE VALLEY CHRISTMAS ARTS, CRAFTS, AND ANTIQUE GLASS SHOW AND SALE. Over 150 artisans will participate in this 3-day event at the Civic Complex in Salons A, B, & C Concourse & Hall of Fame areas. The show this Sat., Nov. 6th is from 10am-5pm and the Sunday hours are between 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. also. Admission is FREE and they will accept donations to Eastern Ontario Children's Hospital, Palliative Care, Hotel Dieu Hospital and Cornwall General Hospital.

Until next week, G'day and G'night.

HOROSCOPES

November 7-13

Aries – March 21/April 20

Don't be too outgoing when meeting a new business associate this week. He or she is shy and might be overwhelmed by your aggressive nature. Try to take it easy on him or her for a while. A loved one offers you some romantic advice. Take it, because it's sure to help your love life.

Taurus – April 21/May 21

Work diligently to get what you want this week, Taurus. It's the only way to make any progress. However, don't tell those around you what your objective is, or they will try to put up roadblocks. Just keep quiet, and work hard. That's how you'll achieve your goal. Cancer plays an important role on Wednesday.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

Don't pressure a loved one to make a decision early in the week, Gemini. You've asked a favor of this person; now, you have to let him or her decide what to do. Trying to force an answer only will hurt you in the long run. You just have to be patient. That special someone asks you an important question. Be honest with him or her.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

A loved one tells you something important, Cancer. However, he or she tells you in confidence. So, don't spread this information around. Keep it to yourself. You'll damage your close relationship with this person if you tell others. Virgo plays an important role late in the week.

Leo – July 23/August 23

Don't let your pride get in the way of asking for help this week, Leo. You are in a difficult situation and can't get out of it on your own. Asking loved ones to help you out won't mean that you're weak. Everyone needs some assistance now and then. Besides, these people are always there for you.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

Try not to be too critical of yourself when you make an honest mistake this week, Virgo. It doesn't cause any serious problems, and no one criticizes you for it. So, don't beat yourself up about it. Just work to rectify the situation, and move on. A loved one asks a favor of you. Do what you can for him or her.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't be taken in by an acquaintance. He or she is trying to make some money off of you; don't let that happen. If you listen to what this person is saying, you'll realize that it's all fast talk. Tell him or her to buzz off.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let your ego show through in a business meeting on Thursday, Scorpio. You need to impress some very important people. Let them see your intelligence, not your vanity. That's your ticket to success. A close friend needs your help with a personal problem. Be there for him or her.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

A former friend offers you an interesting proposition. While you're intrigued, don't get involved with this person. He or she isn't telling you everything there is to know. Besides, there's a reason why you're no longer close with this person. Don't forget about that.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't get upset with a loved one who offers you some constructive criticism. He or she only is trying to help you. Instead of getting angry, listen to what this person has to say. It will be worth your effort. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify your relationship. Say yes, because this is what you want, too.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

Be realistic when it comes to your professional life, Aquarius. Don't bite off more than you can chew, because a lot of people are depending on you. Letting them down will hurt your chances of advancing your career. An acquaintance asks you out. Say yes, because it's sure to be a good time.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

A family friend needs your help with a personal problem. Try to comfort him or her, and be supportive. However, don't get too involved. It only will cause a lot of problems for you. Sagittarius plays an important role late in the week.

I would like to extend an invitation to my friends, relatives, and all my customers to come and see me at Cornwall Motor Sales for all of their automobile needs.
