La Leche League of Cornwall

The La Leche League of Cornwall has been together for 17 years. Their goal is to inform mothers as well as mothers-to-be about the importance of breast feeding their babies. They hold monthly meetings where those concerned can join together in a discussion regarding any questions about breast feeding and other topics such as nutrition, parenting and the whole mothering aspect. Any woman - pregnant, with babies, or even just thinking of getting pregnant - if you feel that you would like to join these women at their meetings, or know anyone this could interest, please feel free to phone 931-3146 or contact the Health Unit for further information. Pictured above are mothers attending a meeting, getting to know other mothers who share the challenging task of motherhood. (photo by Roxanne Emmell)

College Application Deadline Fast Approaching

Students bound for Ontario's colleges this fall must complete their applications by March 1, 1995.

To receive equal consideration for full-time post-secondary programs, all Ontario college applications must be received at the Ontario College Application Service in Guelph, Ontario by the deadline. Students applying after the deadline will be considered for those seats still remaining once the original pool of applicants has been exhausted.

"We strongly encourage all students, but particularly those interested in heavily oversubscribed programs like Nursing, to have their applications in on time," says Rick Dunn, Registrar at St. Lawrence College. "We do, however, continue to accept applications right up until classes begin."

St. Lawrence College expects the number of college applications to continue to grow, primarily because colleges provide relevant, practical education. "The fact is," Dunn says, "college students get jobs and St. Lawrence College continues to have the best job placement rates of any college in Eastern Ontario."

Though a large number of college students continue to come from the high school ranks, an increasing proportion are mature students returning to school to upgrade their current skills or to develop the skills for a new career. A significant number are also transferring from university to Ontario colleges.

Necrotizing Faciitis

The organism causing necrotizing faciitis (flesh eating bacteria) has recently been in the news. In Ontario, in 1992 there were three cases, in 1993 there were nine and in 1994 twelve. From November, 1994 through January 1995, there has been a marked increase in cases, with fifteen cases reported in that three month period.

The Cornwall General has a new instrument, made by Becton-Dickinson, called the Bactec 9120 that monitors specimens of blood sent for culture to look for harmful bacteria. The instrument monitors for growth of bacteria every ten minutes and can detect a positive sample in as little as two hours. Formerly it could take at least twenty four hours to detect significant numbers of bacteria. Early detection is critical in giving the patient appropriate treatment. When the instrument detects a positive, it gives a visual alarm with a flashing screen and an audible alarm with a buzzer. A positive result can then be called to the patient's physician so he/she can initiate the corrective treatment.

For more information on this instrument, you may contact Graham Lightfoot at the Cornwall General Hospital, Local 4286.

This morning's mail brings me a letter from a friend who happens to be a chiropractor. As a matter of fact it's because he's a chiropractor that we are friends. Every once in a while, various parts of my body stage wildcat strikes. Hinges at the knee and elbow book off indefinitely. Sundry vertebrae (those little bone niblets that make up the spinal column) decide to fuse together in a solidarity lockout. I get aches and pains and tweaks and twinges and I don't like to take drugs. That's when I hie myself off to lie quivering in pain on my chiropractor's magic table. He whomps me here and wiggles me there and before you know it, I'm back on the road, pain-free and undrugged.

But this morning's letter wasn't to remind me about my 30,000 mile sacroiliac checkup. This is a letter from one extremely disgruntled chiropractor.

Seems the Canadian Chiropractic Association thought it might be nice to honour Doctor Daniel Palmer this year. Palmer was a Canadian who happened to found the chiropractic profession exactly 100 years ago. His present-day colleagues thought it would be a nice gesture if Canada Post issued a commemorative stamp to observe the centennial of their profession.

This is not a new notion on the part of the Association. They've been tugging the sleeve of Canada Post's Stamp Committee for the past seven years, knowing that the 100 year anniversary was coming up.

Alas, to no avail. Their petition to the Stamp Committee has come back marked "return to sender". Canada Post turned down the request.

However, the corporation did find the will this year to issue several other commemorative stamps to honour the Monarch butterfly, a couple of cartoon characters and (for the third time) the Fortress of Louisbourg.

From what I can gather, my chiropractor friend takes all this personally, inferring that Canada Posts cold shoulder is discrimination against the chiropractic profession.

I think he's overreacting. I think Canada Post is just doing what it does best: Being Out Of Touch.

This, after all, is the same Canada Post which a couple of years back, mailed promotional videos to its' 65,000 employees - at a time when barely half of Canadian households had VCRs.

"We hope they can make other arrangements," said the national director of media relations for Canada Post, pointing out that "the package also contains a booklet."

This is the same Canada Post which, a couple of years back breathlessly announced an exciting innovation: Confirmation Mail.

And what is Confirmation Mail? A service for which you pay an extra 90 cents to confirm that your letter has been delivered.

Wait a second... isn't that what the postage stamp is supposed to guarantee?

"We're not saying everybody will use it," said the national media relations manager for Canada Post, "but we think there is a market for it."

Right. I think Confirmation Mail will be especially appealing to customers whose knuckles scuff the linoleum when they walk.

And don't forget, chiropractors, this is the same Canada Post that just a few short years ago was delivering first class letters faster, at 17 cents a pop.

Of course that was a long time ago. Back when home delivery was taken for granted - even on Saturdays.

But then the problem never was with posties ... only with the huge, faceless, brain-dead bureaucracy that runs the place.

The men and women who actually handle our mail at Canada Post are as marvellous as, well, your average chiropractor.

Maybe that's the problem between chiropractors and the Post Office bureaucracy right there. Different specialties.

Chiropractors mostly deal with lower back pain.

Canada Post causes pain a little further down.

Drawing nightmares

Nightmares are common in childhood and rarely indicate underlying psychological problems. Fear of the dark, monsters, robbers and fire are common themes. Nightmares are one way the unconscious mind communicates – Sigmund Freud described dreams as the royal road to the unconscious.

ART THERAPY

- Pictures are useful when working with children who communicate reluctantly.
- The pictures often reflect family dynamics and can help in understanding what a child is feeling.
- Art therapy can help children living with emotional upheaval, e.g. victims of sexual abuse, cancer patients, or children coping with death.

What to do

- Provide a notebook and multicolored crayons or pencils and encourage the child to draw his or her nightmares every day.
- When finished, ask the child to tell you about the drawings.
- Listen in a nonjudgmental, nondirective and supportive way by simply repeating back what the child says – the key is to let the child know he or she is being heard.

A spider caught me, a young girl wrote under this nightmare drawing.

INTERPRETATION

- Don't be concerned with the quality of the drawings.
- Avoid interpreting them yourself – leave that to the experts.
- Save drawings and discuss with your doctor if concerned.

Can vitamin C help prevent stomach cancer?

(NC)—A new study conducted in Italy suggests that vitamin C and beta-carotene may be helpful in protecting against stomach cancer. Seven hundred and twenty-three patients with gastric cancer completed a food frequency questionnaire and provided information about other risk factors. The results were compared to responses provided by over 2000 healthy volunteers.

The study examined the role of a wide variety of nutrients provided in certain foods, but only beta-carotene and vitamin C demonstrated a protective effect against cancer.

In a separate Swedish study. 338 completed a questionnaire about their diet for the last 20 years. The results were compared with responses provided by 679 healthy controls. In this study, analysis revealed that only foods containing vitamin C provided a significant protective effect against cancer.

Use of vitamin supplements containing vitamins A and C, or C and E halved the risk of stomach cancer but that may be because vitamin C was the key nutrient.

Both vitamin C and beta-carotene are antioxidants. For the most part, antioxidant nutrients are associated with a decrease in cancer risk at specific sites.

St. Clair Paint & Wallpaper

It goes without saying that we all like convenience in what ever we do, when ever we do it. Likewise for quality. Who doesn't like quality results? These two concepts are the reason that spray paints are so popular: convenience and quality.

What could be more convenient: pick up a spray can, pop off the lid, point and press the button on top, and you're painting. There are limitations. First, being limited to stock colours, and secondly, it's more costly than brush on paints. If the object being painted isn't too large and one of the basic colours will do the job, then you just can't beat beat spray paints for convenience.

As far as quality goes, spray paints can deliver a seamless paint film on just about any surface. By seamless, I mean that you won't have brush or roller marks left by an applicator. You may have picked up on that little word "can" in the first sentence of this paragraph. It does take just a wee bit of care and technique. Don't be alarmed, anybody can do it.

The over riding consideration is to be consistent. Be consistent in the distance you hold the can from the surface being painted; about 6 to 8 inches. Keep it parallel at all times to the surface. Use three or four thin coats of paint; don't try for full coverage in one coat. If you apply too much paint on one of the coats, be it first, second or third, you will get runs or sags in the paint. This will detract from the looks, and to be blunt, be an eye sore.

An important point to keep in mind is that spray paint is very thin, it must be to travel through the thin orifice in the nozzle. That is why you need multiple thin coats to get full opacity from the paint film. You must however, be careful against spraying too little paint. If you do this, you will impart a pebbly texture to the surface being painted.

Again don't be alarmed, anybody can spray paint. If you are aware of the above things to be careful of, and take a few practice sprays on some cardboard with them in mind, you will be painting like a pro.

There is an inexpensive aid to the spray painter that makes it much easier to be consistent. Attach a spray can handle (it just pops on) to your can and it is almost impossible not to get great results. In fact, I'd venture to say that you will have to work at it to not get a good result.

Spray paints have come a long way. Modern water based spray paint can literally be used on just about any surface, flexible or rigid, and deliver great service life. They are also low in odour and dry very quickly. The quick dry characteristic allows you to re-coat as soon as it is dry to the touch. This takes about 5 to 8 minutes.

Although I did say that there is some limitation in the number of colours to choose from, there is still a very good range of colours available. There is also a variety of types to choose from to suit various applications. You can get anti-rust Metalclads, primers, flat paints, gloss paints, clear acrylics, polyurethanes, lacquer, fluorescent paint, and high heat formulations.

As with all paint projects, be sure the surface being painted is clean, and dry.

Our Youth...A Lost Generation?

MEANWHILE...

Fred Sagel

When I was a young boy growing up during the 1960s, it always seemed as if everybody in my generation had the world by the tail: we were optimistic about the future, about jobs and about seeking a better life.

We believed that if you worked hard, acted conscientiously and took advantage of the opportunities that came your way, you couldn't help but succeed. And it was true.

But that is no longer the case. Young Canadians are running out of opportunities and the situation looks so bleak for them that we may have actually created a Lost Generation.

That is the conclusion reached in a new article by Deborah Sunter in the quarterly, Perspective, in which Statistics Canada provides a frightening examination of what has happened to employment opportunities for young Canadians.

Here's what it says:

- Unprecedented numbers of young Canadians have been wrestled out of the work force;
- Proportionately, more of them lost their jobs than adults;
- It will take years longer for them to gain back jobs than it will for adults.

What is causing this? First, there is the recession. Secondly, there is the combination of high taxes and mounting debt loads by governments that make it hard to create jobs. Third, there is the crisis in education.

Take the debt crisis. If governments do not immediately slash their spending and bring in balanced budgets, the situation will grow worse. The drunken spending sprees have taken their toll and, until they're stopped, debt loads will increase and more money will go out the door in interest payments, leaving less money for real spending.

As government debts mount, more taxes become inevitable. Higher taxes make it virtually impossible for businesses to hire new people. Some industries just leave the country for good. And there will be no relief in sight until this is solved.

But good luck. Anybody who's ever read this space knows how I feel about government overspending. Politicians of every stripe, have not taken the axe to budgets. They've spent like crazy.

When you ask them why they can't do better, they simply tell you that they can't make cuts quickly because it will affect too many people's lives adversely. Oh, yeah. And what happens when we eventually hit the wall and the country has to resort to the IMF to borrow. Talk to me about adversity then.

The crisis in our educational system is also to blame. We have a drop-out rate of about 25 percent in our high schools. We have an equally high illiteracy rate and, if you don't believe those figures, just call Statscan.

These two combined figures add up to disaster. Kids without a high school education don't stand a chance in today's workforce. There is virtually no room left for low-skill jobs: they migrate to Mexico and other Third World countries.

So there you have it: the combination of high taxes, high government debt load and a failing education system are causing a crisis among our youth.

What's even scarier is that this may indeed become the Lost Generation because it may never get on track again. As Gordon Betcherman, head of a labour research group at Queen's has said, by the time the economy does produce good jobs, a fresh generation of better-trained, better-educated young people will be vying for these jobs.

He believes that this generation of Canadians may not find its niche in the job market until the end of the century, when the oldest batch of baby boomers begins to retire.

It's a sad commentary on society and we desperately have to try to solve it, but just remember the legions of fast-talking politicians - Conservative, Liberal and NDP alike- who got us there.

Cornwall Lawyer Charged, Cop Vindicated in Sex Abuse Allegation Case

PERSPECTIVE

By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

The ball of yarn just keeps unravelling in the church cover-up of sex abuse allegations levelled against a Cornwall priest.

Next week, a Cornwall lawyer who represented the priest in the allegation goes to court to face a charge of attempting to obstruct justice.

Meanwhile, the Cornwall cop who blew the lid off the cover-up, and was charged under the Police Act for so doing, has been cleared by a provincial inquiry.

And, while all of this is taking place, the church officials who sanctioned the cover-up with a $32,000 payment to the person making the allegations, remain safely hidden behind their robes.

It seems everybody is being targeted for retribution except those at the very centre of this moral turpitude - the church hierarchy itself.

As readers will recall, the case involved a man now in his 30s who told Cornwall police in late 1992 that he had been assaulted by a local priest when he was between the ages of 12 and 14. He stopped cooperating with police in September 1993 after a lengthy investigation. Last year it was revealed that the Alexandria-Cornwall Diocese of the Catholic Church had agreed to the $32,000 pay-off.

When the cat was let out of the bag, the bishop called a news conference to thrice deny that the pay-off was an attempt to stop the investigation or otherwise gag the complainant. The complainant meanwhile continued to contend that a clause in the written settlement specifically required him to refrain from further legal action. The church remained resolute in its denials.

Then the agreement became public and guess what? The gag clause was there.

To this day, we still do not have an adequate explanation as to why this truth was left sitting on the back pew for so long.

This, and many other unanswered questions, have caused skeptics to wonder whether something other than divine intervention was the guiding light in the handling of this whole affair.

First of all, the bishop continues to take the position that he believes the priest innocent. If that is the case, how can one justify giving $32,000 of parishioners' Sunday offerings to someone making false allegations? Is the image of the church more important than the truth - and to be purchased at any price?

Secondly, since a written agreement was in effect and since the local diocese of the church was involved in the negotiations/pay-off, how could the church claim it had no knowledge of the "gag" clause?

More to the point, would an astute person not have double-checked the agreement before making a public statement denying its contents?

Now, we have the strange case of the priest's lawyer being charged.

According to the OPP, "There was evidence of an attempt to obstruct justice in relation to the settlement made with the alleged victim."

Why only the priest's lawyer has been charged is something we must leave to the courts to determine. We can only hope that another scapegoat is not being sacrificed on the altar of church image. If I have some trepidation on this point it is only because of the charge laid against Cornwall Police Const. Perry Dunlop - the one and only hero in this entire affair, as far as I'm concerned.

When the cover-up went into play, Dunlops' sense of decency and honor drove him to notify the Children's Aid Society of the alleged incidents of child abuse - even though he was ordered by a superior officer not to share any information or release any documents related to the case.

As a result of blowing the whistle, Const. Dunlop was charged. Earlier this month, he was vindicated when a provincial inquiry ruled that he was required under the Child and Family Services Act to report the suspicion and the information on which it was based to the Children's Aid Society.

There is a major moral lesson to be learned here: there is no substitute for personal conscience; it is the crucible of morality.

It is essential to remember that Const. Dunlop had to put his career and livelihood on the line in his relentless pursuit of the truth. He had to disobey an order - an action which holds immense consequences in a para-military organization such as a police force. But as Christ himself once put it: there is a law higher than that of man. Embracing that wisdom and an equally inspiring biblical notion that "the truth shall set you free", Const. Dunlop acted as his conscience compelled him - despite the personal risk to himself and his family. A very tough decision to make, I would say. But that is what moral leadership is all about.

Perhaps the bishop should spend a little time with Const. Dunlop.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Who's To Blame?

Dear Editor:

Politicians and bureaucrats are not hearing us.

We can't afford to pay for things we don't need! Like empty buses or Via trains, like 15 million dollar seniors homes in Cornwall (over $200,000 per room), or like publicly supported million dollar hockey teams.

But we can't go on blaming the politicians, bureaucrats and special interest types who take advantage of us.

We have to accept responsibility for our own complacency, responsibility for our own quiet contribution to patronage, abuse and mismanagement. And stop it. Canadians can't afford to be nice guys anymore.

Are we learning to speak up? To insist on competence? To confront untruths? To vote with the power that democracy gives us? Are we learning to stop allowing bad decisions?

The Ontario Government's new Water and Sewer bureaucracy has been given the green light by Bob Rae. They are pushing to build over $3 million worth of sewers for little Martintowns 150 homes. A handful of these homes need water improvements like a new well or a new septic system or holding facility, and the special interests are trying to ram $20,000 per lot sewers down the throat of Ontario taxpayers! in US dollars! at inflationary usurious interest rates.

They come on strong with their "poison water" or "job creation" arguments. Do we have what it takes to just say no?

I'm asking for responsible leadership from MPP John Cleary and Reeve O'Shaughenessy on this Martintown sewer subject. Ontario Government grants are not free. There are alternatives including hiring, appointing and voting for leaders who can see past the next borrowed dollar.

How about our other taxpayers?

Sincerely,
Stan Body
Martintown

P.S. If the ethanol people can operate tax free, why not the rest of us? Grants are not free.

A Demoralized Military

Dear Editor:

The recent decision by David Collinette to disband the Canadian Airborne Regiment is not shared by all. Dismissed for the release of a two year old video that could have been shot at any college or university initiation across this country. Freedom of speech that allows those within institutions to publish some very lewd and vulgar materials. Disbanded for the actions of a few demoralized soldiers that brutally murdered a sixteen year old Somalian youth. Disbanded over the objections of the ministers own generals. Why do we have over one hundred generals making over one hundred thousand dollars a year if the defense minister ignores their advice? Do we need this many generals?

Perhaps our military is justified in feeling demoralized because supply ships to the Persian gulf war were three weeks late ... waiting for parts that had to be taken out of a wartime museum. Demoralized that CF-18's are grounded ... we can'f afford to fly them. Many have crashed in maneuvers they weren't designed and built for. CF-18's that are maintained in politically correct Montreal rather than by a British company in Manitoba that had a superior bid.

Demoralized because they never got the polar icebreakers to keep American nuclear subs from under Arctic ice. Demoralized the helicopter deal was turned down and they may get second hand relic British submarines.

Demoralized privates that make $21,000 a year as they have the past three years and may be cut 5% in April. A recent report suggests military personnel be given two days off a month to pump gas or deliver pizza to make a few extra bucks.

Disbanding of this regiment has left a tarnished mark on all the personnel that ever served in this entire unit, while the minister of defense has managed to keep his job.

Of Time, Matter and Brains

Dear Editor:

Genius, scientist Albert Einstein actually believed that Planet Earth existed and lived not in (3) three dimensions, but rather in (4) four! The fourth being Time. I suspect that Galileo and Da Vinci held similar beliefs. More recently, two scientists, working out of Princeton U., N.J., made some startling discoveries, pertaining to that famous Fourth Dimension; something called "Quad Dimensional Geometry". Edward Witten and Nathan Seiberg came across some quarks. Quarks, you say? They're particles located at the heart of atoms, that stick together, to form matter. Quarks, speed of light, time zones, time travel, the fourth dimension ... what next? The time machine? In theory at least, all's possible. To dream today is to potentially accomplish tomorrow ... so why is it that some people never "have time" to do this, do that? Is it perhaps or because they just don't stop and take time to??

Those that have and those that don't ... the affluent and the needy. Two solitudes, two polarities. Our huge surplus of material, our disposable society, our wasteful ways; the fact that we must learn to share and pass on and make good use of our surplus goods. But is it not in abandonment that we often find contentment, peace and the happiness that everyone so desperately seeks??? A bright smile, it's said, lights up a sad face! And it's free! the IMF - International Monetary Fund - just put our a Communiqué naming the (5) five richest countries: USA, Japan, Germany, France, the United Kingdom, adding that the five represent 60% of World Economy. What about Canada? The United Nations says we're number one for quality of living. Except we owe our posteriors to the super powers.

Technically speaking, we're bankrupt! We Canadians must learn - we'll be forced to - how to save a buck, instead of spending five ... that we don't have. We must learn and teach our children to buy what we can afford and to lay low on the plastic money. To pay cash rather than to say: charge.

On The Loss Of A Dear Friend

"As I reflect upon my recent loss at the hospital here in Cornwall, I have been attended by the most caring, understanding and professional persons that I have ever known."

I refer to Dr. Peter Tropea and his staff at the St. Lawrence Animal Hospital here in Cornwall.

Fan Proposes Class Action

Dear Editor:

Please find below a letter sent to Mr. Tony Tavares, President, The Mighty Ducks, by an unhappy fan.

Dear Mr. Tavares:

Once again, the fans are held hostage to a sports labor dispute. I was thrilled to be able to purchase season box seats for the Mighty Ducks 1994-95 hockey season - at the hefty price of $13,500. This purchase entitled me to attend 42 home games at the Arrowhead Pond, spread over the period from October 9, 1994 to April, 9, 1995. I entered into a formal "Season Seat Ticket Agreement", under which I promised to do a number of things (including ponying up $13,500). In return, Disney Sports Enterprises, Inc. promised that this purchase "entitled the holder thereof (i.e., me) to admission to National Hockey League (NHL) exhibition and regular season home games of the Mighty Ducks of Anaheim for the 1994-95 hockey season." Disney's cover letter for the contract promised that the "Mighty Ducks are preparing to take the ice for another exciting year of fast action."

So far, the only "fast action" occurring is the acceleration of the fan's displeasure and frustration at the player's and management's inability to achieve a compromise that would let the games begin. Now I am told, the plan is to compress the season I was promised into some shorter time-span (assuming a settlement is reached). Instead of the leisure and enjoyment of watching 42 games spread over a six month period, they will be crammed into some shorter, presently unknown time span, which will not only cause inconveneince to fans but also result in a major reduction in the quality of the games. Injured and tired players can not perform to expectations. This is not what I was promised. This is not what other fans were promised. This is a proposition that breaches the formal season-holder contract and is an open invitation for a "class action" legal response. It also breaches Disney's good faith commitment to Mighty Ducks fans. Therefore, I plan to call on all Mighty Ducks fans to join me in a demand that the season not to be compressed but that all unplayed games be cancelled and prompt refunds made to ticket holders. Thereby no longer holding the fans hostage.

Very Truly Yours,
Don Dancey

MPP REPORTS

Summer Employment Opportunities

On January 24, the NDP government announced that it would spend $57 million to create 24,000 summer jobs for students across the province. Recognizing the drastic need for students to secure summer employment, I was initially pleased at this announcement.

However, after securing details on how the NDP intends to implement this student strategy, my enthusiasm has waned somewhat. While the NDP claims to be increasing by $1 million the amount of provincial funding being earmarked for youth employment this year, apparently to create 4,000 more jobs than in 1994, there has been speculation that our young people and employers may have difficulty accessing the jobs.

There are seven different programs under the student strategy. While most of the seven programs are open to youths between 15 and 24 years of age, and up to 29 for persons with disabilities, two programs are completely closed to youths and employers from our area. The JobsOntario Youth and NORTOP programs are not available to students in our area, which shows the NDP's lack of insight into the youth unemployment situation in Eastern Ontario.

The following is a summary of the programs. Successful applicants are paid minimum wage: $6.40 an hour for students under 18 and $6.85 an hour for those 18 and over.

• The NDP government's jobsOntario Youth (JOY) program is restricted to youths in Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and Windsor. This program was spawned in reaction to the 1992 "youth riots" in Toronto and is designed to prevent young people from the dangers of loitering on urban streets.

• There is also a program targeted directly to youths residing in Northern Ontario or who have studied at a northern college, university or other post-secondary institution. Under this initiative, the Northern Ontario Training Opportunities Program provides northern employers with financial assistance to subsidize summer student wages.

• Ontario/Quebec Summer Student Job Exchange Program affords Ontario university students with 13 weeks of employment within the Quebec government. Salaries are set and paid by the Quebec government, but students must pay for their own accommodation. As the NDP imposed a January 14 deadline, interested students may not have had time to apply.

• Ontario Rangers Program enables 17 year old secondary school students to learn about the management of natural resources by participating in special outdoor work and educational programs such as forest management, fish and wildlife, geology and mining as well as parks and recreation during July and August. As mentioned in my earlier Report, the deadline to apply was Janaury 30, 1995.

• Environmental Youth Corps provides opportunities for youths to work in projects that contribute to environmental protection, enhancement and advocacy. The program, launched by the Liberal government in 1988, provides funding to public sector and non-profit organizations to hire young people for these projects.

• Summer Experience Program offers students the opportunity to acquire career-related experience and skills transferable to the labour market while being employed in the Ontario Public Service, its association agencies and community groups. Jobs are available in agriculture, forestry, office administration and law enforcement.

• Student Venture Program provides loans of up to $3,000 for students aged 15 to 29 who are returning to school in the fall and who want to operate their own summer business. The loan is interest-free from April 1 to September 30. The deadline for repaying in full is December 31. Approximately 700 loans are approved under this program every summer.

The federal government also coordinates a youth training and employment plan. For details, it would be advisable to contact federal MPs Bob Kilger and Don Boudria. Mr. Kilger may be reached at 937-4233 and Mr. Boudria may be contracted at 525-4575 (Alexandria) or 632-4162 (Hawkesbury).

While I am concerned that the programs and the funding may not be evenly distributed across the province, I encourage any student interested in a provincially sponsored job to visit my constituency office at 404 Montreal Road in Cornwall for a Guide to Summer Jobs and an application. Information may also be secured by calling the toll-free Youth Employment Hotline at 1-800-387-0777 or 1-800-387-5656.

Ontario Investors Offered A Stake In New Ethanol Plant

Farmers, business people and citizens of hundreds of eastern and central Ontario communities are being offered a stake in a new $40 million plus ethanol plant in Cornwall for as little as $500, the plant's developer announced today.

An intensive campaign to sell stock in the Seaway Valley Farmers Energy Co-operative Inc. (SVFEC) will make voting - Membership or non-voting Preferred Shares in two categories available to investors across the region, at par value of $100 per share. Minimum share blocks for Membership and Preferred "B" shares are 25 shares each, with Preferred "A" shares set at a minimum of five.

The Co-operative plans to convert up to 5.25 million bushels of corn annually into 52.4 million litres of ethanol. The Cornwall plant will also produce - distillers dried grains (DDGS), a high protein livestock feed supplement, and carbon dioxide used by industrial gas distributors in beverages and food packaging.

"For farmers, it's a new value-added grain processing market opportunity," said Bud Atkins, SVFEC President. "The ethanol plant will mean that farmers, the grassroots driving force of this project, can diversify their business interests, obtain a more stable market for their corn and become less dependent on the fluctuating whims of government farm support programs."

"For citizens of eastern and central Ontario, it's an opportunity to get in at the ground floor on a new economic engine with strong, long-term earnings potential," he said.

The project has made arrangements for the sale of 80 percent of its first-year ethanol production. First-year ethanol buyers have agreed to negotiate contracts several years ahead, giving Seaway a strong base for future ethanol sales. Arrangements have also been made for sale of 100 percent of the first five years production of DDGS and carbon dioxide, and for services related to grain origination and merchandising.

"The Seaway plant offers Ontario corn producers a secure, viable market," Atkins said. "It will be a key economic contributor to the City of Cornwall, and surrounding region, and will deliver a product that helps the environment through cleaner burning gasoline." Blending with gasoline, ethanol is used as an oxygenate to improve burning efficiency. It can cut exhaust emissions of carbon dioxide by up to 10 percent and carbon monoxide by up to 30 percent.

The Ontario and federal governments recognize and support fuel ethanol's environmental benefits through tax exemptions on motor fuels. Canadian drivers now use an estimated 30 million litres of fuel ethanol in their cars annually. Most of it, 26 million litres, is produced from grain in western Canada. Some is also produced in Ontario with the balance imported from the U.S.

Plant construction is expected to begin later this year. The projects' construction phase will create hundreds of jobs with completion estimated at between 16 to 18 months. When operating at full capacity, the finished plant will run 24 hours a day, seven days a week, employing more than 30 full time people. At full production, sales are expected to reach $34 million annually.

An initial series of investor information meetings has been scheduled for eastern Ontario, beginning Friday night, February 17 in Cornwall.

On the Money

with Gordon Pape

PAPE'S TIP: "A major Americas trading block has potential profits for investors who can handle the ride."

Investing in NAFTA

Chile has applied to become the fourth member of the NAFTA trading block. But that's just the beginning. An international meeting in Miami in December opened the door to hemisphere-wide free trade by 2005.

What this means to Canada

- More Latin American markets for Canadian products and services.
- Heavy dependency on U.S. trade likely reduced.
- General economic growth, but some upheaval in the job market.

REDUCING THE RISK

Mutual funds are the best low-risk vehicle. Look for:
- Funds with porfolios diversified over several economies.
- Funds that can also invest in Canada and U.S., – a safe haven if Latin markets turn sour again.
- Funds with solid management. Most funds are new, but you can check managers' track records.

Caution: The developing economies in Latin America are volatile, and may experience wide market swings. Be prepared for the risk.

SMART NAFTA INVESTMENTS

- Direct investment in securities and corporations in developing economies.
- Indirect, through Americas mutual funds.
- U.S. or Canadian corporations that will benefit from the expanding trading block.
- Currencies that are expected to strengthen as a result of NAFTA expansion.

CONSUMER BEAT

Charge

If you're in the same boat as most Canadians, you're probably scared to look in the mailbox right now - all those bills for the great gifts and good times you charged on credit during the holiday season are arriving.

Some tips on reducing day-to-day spending from Ontario's consumer ministry can help anyone whose New Year's resolution is to get back on the right financial track.

"Plan a realistic budget and stick to it," says Marilyn Gurevsky, Manager of Consumer Issues for the Ministry. "One of the basic mistakes people make is to plan a budget that is so strict it isn't practical - they throw it away after a few months, when they discover it doesn't work," she says.

To plan an effective budget, start by keeping track of all your expenses for a month. Then total the costs of housing, transportation, credit, loan and insurance-policy payments, food and miscellaneous.

Lastly you should add in the dog food, video rentals and any minor expenses you think you could to without, but probably won't. Add a pre-determined amount for savings - even a very little bit of money saved will help increase your resolve to stick to the budget.

Total the extra bills you've accumulated over the holidays - and be honest - the statistics say most of us overextended our credit this year!

Once you have a final tally of debts compared with your income, and after you've come down from the ceiling, start to think about how you can improve your financial picture.

"For some people, getting back on an even keel will simply mean locking up the credit cards for a couple of months while paying them off," says Gurevsky. "But many of us have more serious problems and should rethink even our basic assumptions about the household budget," she says. Gurevsky suggests, if you're in either category, answer the following questions and use the results to help improve your financial situation.

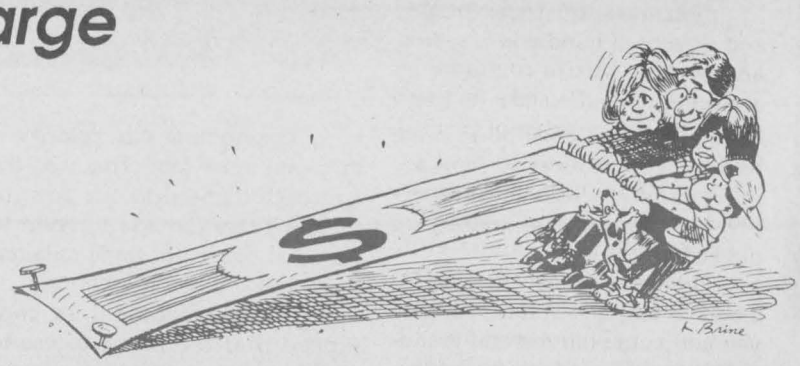
Are you using your money most effectively every day?

Many little expenses that are simple to eliminate can add up to as much as hundreds of dollars per month on the family expense sheet. For example, do you know how much money you're spending on debit-card transactions? The policies of various banks, trust companies and credit unions differ.

Likewise, is your chequing account best serving your interests? If most of your transactions are now done by direct withdrawal perhaps your monthly-fee account is out of date.

How good are you at controlling grocery bills? If you spend "only" $75 per week at the grocery store, but run up $100 in bills at more expensive shops, maybe it's time to run a test. List all your food purchases for a couple of weeks. You may find you were faithfully searching the newspaper "specials" for the wrong items.

What about unnecessary telephone charges? Keeping a telephone book handy can reduce your monthly bill for directory assistance.



Having everyone pull together to make a budget work can go a long way toward stretching the household dollar.

Major Budget Items

Are your insurance policies up to date? While some people are underprotected, some pay out too much for insurance.

For example, life insurance experts suggest big policies for small children often represent money misplaced - money that could otherwise be better invested to assure the kids' future education or other financial outlays, with only a small insurance policy maintained to cover the minimal expenses of child mortality.

Do your current loans meet your needs? When dealing with banks, trust companies and credit unions, you'll be well informed about the total cost, interest rate, term and conditions of a loan. You'll also know, the shorter the term of the loan, the less interest you'll pay.

It's always easiest on your nerves and pocketbook to pay off debts as quickly as possible. But, if adding a year to the term means you'll save money up-front and lose less sleep worrying about the payments for your husband's root canal, preserve your rest. Protection of family health and safety should be first on everybody's list. Ask for information on alternative rates and conditions for financing loans, from a variety of credit unions, banks and trust companies, before you sign any contract.

Can you manage? If you're paying the interest on one credit card by borrowing from another, you're not alone. If you can't even imagine being able to cover basic monthly charges before you think about the food bill, it's not the first time anybody's been in your position. But you do need to face the problems.

The best places to go for help are Ontario Association of Credit Counselling Services member agencies. The approximately 25 centres across Ontario can be reached by calling toll-free 1-800-263-0260 from anywhere in the province.

If you're refused for a loan from a reputable financial institution, and don't understand why, find out more about your credit report. Call your Credit Bureau, listed in your local telphone directory, or call the consumer ministry's General Inquiry Unit, at the number listed below.

Some people looking for loans have dealt with lenders in Ontario known as Loan Brokers. Under new laws, loan brokers are not allowed to charge people any fees for processing loans until the money is actually in the consumers' hands. If you're thinking about taking out a loan but don't understand all the details of the deal, call the Ministry at (416) 326-8555 in the Toronto area or at 1-800-268-1142 from other parts of the province. The TDD line for use by the hearing and speech impaired is available at (416) 326-8566.

Consumer Beat is produced by the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations for use in whole or in part by the Ontario media.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

By Bob Kilger
SEAWAY NEWS

Don't Rise To The Separatist Bait

The separatists know that Quebecers won't buy their separation plan. They are counting on negative reactions and signs of impatience by Canadians in the other provinces, to convince Quebecers they are unwelcome in Canada.

Premier Parizeau himself makes no secret about it: "Give me a few demonstrations by English Canadians trampling the Quebec flag and it's in the bag."

Quebec's Premier is misreading Canadians, just as he has the wrong idea about Quebecers' love of Canada and their attachment to this country.

The federal government knows that the Constitution is the least of your concerns. You are interested in the economic recovery, job creation and stabilizing public finances.

In short, you want governments to take action that will give you and your children and grandchildren a prosperous future. Quebecers' concerns are no different.

Like you, they expect their governments to work together in solving these problems. Like you, they expect governments to put their financial house in order and manage public funds in the same way you manage your own finances.

The Chrétien government has no intention of falling into the separatist trap. Its priorities were well know before a separatist government was elected in Quebec, and they have not changed since Mr. Parizeau took office.

The number one priority is to create more jobs. This was the approach that led to our government's Team Canada mission to Asia and the recent trade missions to Central and South America.

Our government is convinced that the more access to world markets entrepreneurs have, the more prosperous they will become, and the more jobs will be created.

The Chrétien government also intends to reduce its deficit. The government administration will be substantially reduced over the next few years. Although these cuts will not be easy, they will result in a public service that is more flexible and better suited to respond to your needs and meet the challenges of the 21st century.

Concentrating on its priorities does not mean avoiding the Quebec referendum debate. Like the other federalist forces in Quebec, the federal government intends to demonstrate that the separation of Quebec is not only foolish but it is also a leap in the dark.

The Chrétien government will expose the half-truths and omissions in the separatists' Draft Bill. And there are plenty! The Quebec referendum debate does not and will not put federalism or Canada on trial.

There is only one issue on the table: Quebec's separation from Canada. It's up to the separatists to show that separation will maintain Quebec's standard of living, prosperity and security.

As for us, and for the majority of Quebecers, the future is with Canada.

The Chrétien government was elected on a platform of good government. That is what it has delivered since October 26, 1993, is delivering now and will continue to deliver in the future.

We have always maintained that Canadians from the Pacific to the Atlantic - including Quebecers - share the same values and have more similarities than differences.

Together, we have built one of the best countries on earth, perhaps the best. A tolerant country that respects individual and minority rights. A country open to Europe, Asia and the world. A country of immense natural resources and richness. These truths will win out over the half-truths and delusions of the separatists.

I've Got Fever

by Robert Gialloreto

So you wake up in the morning feeling a little different than usual. Your palms are a little sweaty, you've got butterflies in your stomach, there is an uncontrollable smile creeping onto your face and your chest is swelling with pride. Don't bother calling a doctor, because you are just the latest of the multitude of Cornwallites to come down with a severe case of Aces' Fever! It's an epidemic that fans are catching and spreading.

Whoever said that hockey is just a game hasn't been to the Cornwall Civic Complex lately. The band playing, the music pumping, Wild Thing dancing, fans winning great prizes, late game-winning goals, acrobatic glove saves, tough on-ice encounters and victory celebrations combine to bring this "game" to the level of an "Experience".

Tonight the Aces host the Albany River Rats and welcome our fans to help create a very noisy experience.

The Cornwall Aces are pleased to announce that Sundau, February 19 will be "Noise Night II" courtesy of Taco Bell. The Aces will be hosting the Albany River Rats, and when these two teams last played, they combined for 105 minutes in penalties in an overtime thriller! Taco Bell will be giving away three prizes per period with each prize being wroth dinner for four at Taco Bell. In addition, the noisiest section in the building that night will win prizes for each person in that section. Fans are invited to bring anything that makes noise and receive a special Taco Bell Ballot to be eligible to win great prizes.

What about the hockey? The Aces are playing at superior level, giving their fans a lot to be proud and excited about. The American Hockey League is the premiere developmental league for the National Hockey League and the AHL continues to showcase the best young talent in the world. Cornwall now boasts this talent pool and has embraced the team as their own.

Bob Hartley

Head Coach Bob Hartley and Assistant Coach Jacques Cloutier have molded a team of individual talent into a unified, hard-working and productive close-knit crew. This team does not know the meaning of the word quit, and each player who dons an Aces jersey comes to play every night. This work ethic has resulted in your team battling with Binghamton for supremacy in the Southern Division and consistently in the top four teams in the league. The players have also responded to the great fan support which has emerged in Cornwall, and credit a few wins directly to the fans which keep their adrenaline pumping. Keep it up Cornwall - together we can be champions

Jacques Clothier

The Cornwall Aces would like to thank the Cornwall Rotary Club and Kiwanis International for inviting and welcoming members of the Aces Marketing Staff to speak at luncheons this past week. Both Service Clubs were gracious hosts and made each event both enjoyable and fruitful. Aces' senior staff members look forward to the opportunity of meeting and speaking with all Service Clubs and organizations in the Cornwall area.

Valentine's Day Shootout at Par-T-Golf

The long, wide fairways proved to be no challenge to Cliff Ruest (83) as he fired his best round of the year to tie J. Mason (76). Ruest made a long putt on #18 to complete the comeback trail.

Reg Kelly (86) managed to take points off a struggling Scott Veenstra (84).

Jack Kenton (77) and Andre Cousineau (85) teamed up to take on Wendel Benedit (68) and Charly (Choke) Bilmer (73) on the long fairways of Pinehurst.

Gord Kelly (85) and Todd Arbuthnot (92) found out why Pebble Beach is famous for its ocean side views as ball drops seemed to be the order of the day.

Tom Ayerst (82) and Mike Toupon (77) took on the narrow fairways of St. Mellion and fired a steady round to defeat on the 17th hole in their match play.

MINOR SHOWCASE

Earl's Place Bantam "B" Aces

On Sunday, February 5, the Aces met with Long Sault Selects at the Maxville Arena. Hoping to get off to a good start just wasn't in the cards for the Aces, as Long Sault put a stop to that by stacking up the goals to win 5-2. Jason Cholette and Todd Duhamie had the markers for Cornwall. Assists went to Markin Dornan, Denis Dion and Chris Lavergne.

Delaney Bus Lines Midget "A" Aces

Cornwall Aces Midget "A" Aces travelled to Nepean, and got off to a fast start with goals from Eric Fontaine and James Barnes, ending the first period with a 2-0 lead. Nepean countered back with three goals in the second and two goals in the third. Fontaine replied for the Aces in the third period but time ran out and the Aces were defeated 5-3.

The next night, they took on the Kanata Blazers at the Si Miller Arena. Kanata scored the first goal, but the Aces came back with four straight goals to win the game 4-1. Scoring for the Delaney Bus Lines Midget "A" team were Eric Fontaine with a pair, and singles from Peter Barnes and Terry Lauzon.

Ross Shines For Subbay Aces

Jamie Ross was on top of his game on February 8, 1995 at the Si Miller Arena, as he made numerous key saves to guide the Bantam "A" Aces past Osgoode-Rideau 6-3. Jean Greggain opened the scoring with a power play goal and within minutes he added his second of the game to give his team a 2-0 lead. After falling behind 3-2 after two periods, the Aces came back wth 4 unanswered goals in the third. Adam Vachon netted two, with singles to Emanuele Leo and Nick Dixon.

On February 7, 1995 at the Sandy Hill Arena, the Aces rallied for a 14-0 victory over East Ottawa. Six different players got two goals each; Dan Dupuis, Jean Greggain, Adam Vachon, David McNally, Nick Dixon and Wayne Disotell. Singles went to Jamie Laframboise and Travis Young. Jason Leduc and Stefane Champagne picked up assists in the game. Chris Motard recorded his second shutout of the year.

On Saturday, February 11 at the Si Miller Arena, Stefane Champagne and Wayne Disotell each scored 2 goals and one assist to lead the Bantam "A" Aces past Stittsville 7-3. Other markers were Dan Dupuis, Jean Greggain and David McNally. Nick Dixon picked up four assists in the game. Chris Motard turned in a strong goaltending performance. This victory helps the team on clinching second place in the league. The team now stands with a record of 24-7-2.

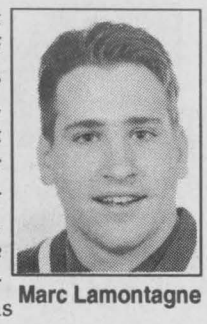
CJSS Radio Night This Thursday

by Ken McLaughlin
Director of Public Relations

All the action and excitement of two important home games are on the schedule this week, as your Colts host two of our biggest rivals.

The Kanata Valley Lasers visit the Si Miller Arena for what could be a first round playoff preview, this Tuesday, February 21, at 7:30 pm. Your Colts have battled to a 2-2-1 record with the Lasers this season. Many fans will remember the wild game these two teams played in Cornwall last November. Over 250 minutes in penalties were called. Expect a physical, hard hitting game, as both teams try to set the tone for round one.



Marc Lamontagne

The second game of this great doubleheader week goes this Thursday, February 23, as the team we haven't seen on home ice since last October, comes to town. The Hawkesbury Hawks have stayed right behind your Colts, in the tight Robinson Division standings. Cornwall has emerged victorious in three of four contests this season, including two big wins at the Hawks nest. Plan to attend and support the CJHL's #1 team, as we pursue the regular season championship. The puck drops at 7:30 pm.

Gerry Cicciu

Your Cornwall Colts, along with the station that's celebrating fifty years in the Seaway Valley, are proud to announce that CJSS Radio Night will take place this Thursday, February 23, during our game with Hawkesbury. You could win some great prizes, simply by bringing your radio to the game and buying a Colts Game program. During the game, tune in to the exciting play by play of Scott Rogers and David Murphy and listen carefully as they announce lucky program numbers on the air. If your program matches a lucky number, you're a winner.

The Celebrity Charity Showdown will also take place during the game of Feb. 23. During the second intermission, Fred Pletsch and Frank Holliday from CJSS, Thom Racine from Cornwall Police Services and former Cornwall Royals Tyler Sunday and Dave Ezard will compete in a breakaway competition on Colts goaltending coach Mario Vien. The winner of this showdown will earn $200 for their favourite local charity. The $200 prize is being donated by Brian Ladas of Ladas Your Independent Grocer, in Cornwall Square. Be sure to listen to AM 1220 CJSS for all the details of this very exciting evening.

Tickets for both of this week's games are on sale at the Colts ticket office, in the Si Miller Arena. We're open Monday to Friday, from 10 am to 5 pm. Office hours are extended on game nights. Call us at 930-9300 to reserve your seat. Ticket prices are: adults $6, students/seniors $5, and children (12 and under) $1.

We'll see you this Tuesday and Thursday, as your Colts battle to stay atop the CJHL. Don't forget to bring your radio and buy a game program at CJSS Radio Night. With a little luck, you could win some great prizes.

Colts hockey at the Si Miller Arena. You can't get any closer to the exciting action.

J.F. Perras and Dominic Leger shared the two shut outs.

Seaway then beat the Etobicoke Canucks 4-1. Nick Quenneville scored 2 goals; Jeff Legue scored once and assisted on 2 goals; Kurk McSwayne added 1 goal and 1 assist; Kirt Andrew scored 1 goal and Nigel Newland assisted on 2 goals. Nick Quenneville was the M.V.P.

Seaway then advanced to the semi-finals against Gloucester. The third period ended in a 1-1 tie. Seaway's goal was scored by Brad MacMillan as he tipped in a rebound from Donnie Patenaude's shot. Five minutes into the over-time period, Gloucester scored to win the game. Brad MacMillan was the M.V.P.

Seaway then played a late afternoon game against Rochester to decide who would win third place. It was a 6-4 decision in favour of Seaway. Donnie Patenaude scored 2 goals; Jeff Legue 1 goal and 2 assists; Kyle McAllister, Nick Quenneville and J.S. Laroque each scored 1 goal. Jeff Legue was the M.V.P.

The team's plays were effective in this tournament as 25 goals were scored in 5 games, but we must also commend the goalies (J.F. Perras and Dominic Leger) and Defensemen (Derek Wagar, Donnie Patenaude, J.S. Laroque and Kerry McDonald) for allowing only 7 goals against in these 5 games.

Cornwall Aces Announce Noise Night II

The Cornwall Aces are pleased to announce that Sunday, February 19 will be Noise Night II courtesy of Taco Bell. The Aces will be hosting the Albany River Rats, and when these two teams last played, they combined for 105 minutes in penalties in an overtime thriller. Taco Bell will be giving away three prizes per period with each prize being worth dinner for four at Taco Bell. In addition, the noisiest section in the building that night will win prizes for each person in that section. Fans are invited to bring anything that makes noise and receive a special Taco Bell Ballot to be eligible to win great prizes.

The citizens of Winchester have a chance to see their native son Bryan Helmer, play on Sunday night, February 19, as the River Rats visit the Aces. Come out in groups of 25 or more and get a special group package; contact the Aces Marketing office today

Laperriere Plumbing Aces Struggle To A Win

The Cornwall Laperriere Plumbing Peewee "A" Aces matched up first with the Gatineau Ambassadeurs and were upset 2-1. The Aces came out very slow in this game as they fell behind 2-0 early on and it stayed at this score until Jamie Plumadore scored for the Aces to decrease it to 2-1 with only five minutes remaining in regulation time. The never-say-die attitude was holding in place for the Aces as they scored a disputed goal on a blast from Marc Bourget, but due to the referee and linesman being out of position, the goal was disallowed. Christopher Lortie played well in nets for Cornwall.

Next, the Laperriere Plumbing Aces battled the third place Nepean Raiders and were pummelled by the score of 6-1. The Raiders held period leads of 1-0 after one, 4-1 after two periods and by the final score of 6-1 after regulation. The only goal for the Aces was notched by Derek Wintle.

In the final game of this week, Cornwall faced the Kanata Blazers in a fight for the last play off spot. Cornwall maintains this sport and increased their points lead as they pulled out a 4-2 victory. The Aces had to call up some affiliate players as they were missing 3 regulars due to the flu bug. However, they filled in quite nicely as the hard work of centreman Scott Chenier won a number of key face-offs, along with the defensive play of Jeff Greffe and finally the goal and an assist recorded by Daniel Martin. The other goals for Cornwall were scored by Ian McConnell, Joey Sullivan and Dean Chatterton with his first goal of the season. Once again, Christopher Lortie was strong between the pipes to earn the win. Derek Wintle also notched two assists in the game for the Aces.

SD&G Blazers U11 Tryouts

The SD&G Blazers Under 11 soccer team for players born after July 31, 1984 announced that the tryouts will be held at the Transport Canada Training Institute (T.C.T.I.) 1950 Montreal Rd. gym on Sunday, March 5th from 8 am to 10 am.

The Blazers play in the Ottawa Carleton Soccer League. The Under 11's will have a division 1 and a division 2 team this year. The division 1 team will be coached by Henry Flipsen who is the past-president of Char-Lan minor soccer. The team will be managed by Dan Youmelle. The division 2 staff has not been named yet. The cost of the tryouts will be $1 per tryout and will probably run for three weeks at the same time and place. If you have any questions, you can call Dan at 938-1930 in the evenings and if he is not in he will get back to you as soon as possible.

Cedar View Golf Aces

In the recent Verdun Tournament, Cedar View Golf Aces continued their inconsistent play. After losing 6-0 to Dollard in the opening game, Scott Champagne, with a patented hat trick, almost lead our Aces to victory, falling short in the last minute as St. Hubert broke the tie. Assisting Scott were Brandon Francis, Ryan Freeland and Billy Cooper. Finals St. Hubert 4 Cornwall 3.

Not willing to make the same mistake twice, Champagne scored 4 times against Richelieu, with Ryan Freeland assisting three times and Stephen Longtin twice. Marc Lapointe was solid in nets and allowed only one goal as Cedar View skated to a 4-1 victory.

92 NOVENAS

O HOLY SAINT JUDE apostle & Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, the faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg you, to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause your name to be invoked. (Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Mary's, 3 Glory Be's for 9 consecutive days). Publication must be promised. This Novena has never been known to fail. V.T.

PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN (never known to fail). Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh, Star of the Sea, help and show me, herein you are my Mother. Oh, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth! I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in this necessity. There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, show me herein you are, my Mother. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse in thee (3x). Holy Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3x). With thanks for favor received in 2 days. A.McD.

SAY 9 HAIL MARY'S for 9 days. Make 3 wishes, one for something business related, the other two for the impossible. On the 9th day, publish the article. M.K.

THANK YOU ST. JUDE for favour received. RECA

HOROSCOPES

February 19-25

ARIES – March 21/April 20
Unforeseen problems will delay an important project. Use the extra time to your advantage. Fine-tune details, and add some spark to whatever it is you're creating. A family gathering will provide a nice weekend diversion. Make sure loved ones know how you feel.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21
Your reserved style may be detrimental to your advancement this week. Approach problems aggressively, and you'll get the respect you deserve. Keep an overbearing associate or loved one at arm's length. Don't torment yourself by reliving a hurtful moment.

GEMINI – May 22/June 21
Your spirits will be high in the coming week. Your sense of humor and charm will lead to success at home and in the workplace. Problems could arise later in the week. Watch out for a relapse into old habits, especially if your weight is a problem. A weekend getaway is likely.

CANCER – June 22/July 22
Don't take advantage of loved ones. Although they are the ones who give you the most comfort, it doesn't mean you should take them for granted. Be grateful for kind actions, and pledge to reciprocate in the future. Seek the advice of an expert when dealing with financial matters.

LEO – July 23/August 23
You'll find yourself in the right place at the right time this week. A chance meeting with an old friend could lead to a new romance. Make sure you look your best, especially towards the end of the week. Pay attention to finances. Make a sensible budget and stick to it!

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22
Steer clear from gossip, especially in the workplace. It's unproductive and can only lead to hurt feelings. Your keen eye for details will help you with a special project. You may just find a mistake before it's too late. Your reserved style may be frustrating to loved ones.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23
Accept last-minute invitations, especially if they are unusual. You're probably in need of something new, and this is the time to indulge. In family matters, make an effort to be considerate, but don't allow yourself to be pressured into anything you don't want to do. Stick to your diet and exercise routine.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22
It will be a good week. Romantic moments and new friendships are likely. A good mood and a positive attitude will enable you to charm just about anyone. This is an especially good time for test taking and job interviewing. Use any free time to contact old friends.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21
Let intuition be your guide when making important decisions. People around you are always willing to offer advice, but you're the only one who knows what's best for you. An unexpected break from routine will lift dulled midweek spirits. You will be the topic of discussion on Friday.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
A weekend excursion to see old friends or relatives will be worth the trip. You'll realize that you need to get out more. A recent investment will prove worthwhile. Perhaps it's time to make an even bigger investment. Long-awaited test results will come back with good news.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
Problems may arise in a romantic relationship. Don't let this get you down. Look at it as an opportunity to get your feelings out in the open. Although conflicts are never easy, it could turn out to be very beneficial. A work-related mishap could lead to a new, better procedure.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20
Romance will be the main theme of the week. Your significant other will do something to make you feel special. Not in a romantic relationship? Well, after this week, that could change! Be an advocate for yourself at work, and you will get noticed. Think of ways to improve yourself.

CALLER COMPLAINS THAT PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT HANDICAPPED ARE PARKING IN HANDICAPPED SPACES. These are able bodied people, young and old alike. Now that we pay for parking at the hospitals, a person expects to see the hospital parking lot supervised all the time, but this is not the case, says another caller. She was blocked in a hospital parking lot for four hours because a car parked in front of her and one behind her. When you pay for service you expect service.

To the S.P.N who was not accommodated ... the teachers at St. Lawrence are not so unapproachable. I believe you will find they are on your side, shame on you for being so crass as to single out an individual. I BELIEVE AN APOLOGY IS REQUIRED TO JOYCE.

Special thank you to Carol & Edgar Giroux for being such special God Parents and making my day so wonderful.

There are two sides to every story. Last week you heard one ... from a student at St. Lawrence College. The student complained in our Scuttlebutt column that her teacher changed "the original time from 8 a.m. to 6:30 a.m. for clinical hours, when subsidized daycare does not open until 7 a.m.

We are told by a college official that the hours are made very clear to students at the beginning of the program. Furthermore, these are the same scheduled hours that the students will be working when they graduate and become employed.

We apologize to the teacher ... from all reports she is very professional and a caring individual.

Cornwall and area residents extend congratulations to CJSS on the 50th Anniversary of the station. CONGRATULATIONS TO KRISTEN MACDONELL on winning first place in the Junior Division Public Speaking Contest, at the Royal Canadian Legion. She will compete this weekend in the Regional Division. Congratulations from Mom & Dad.

WATCH THAT CAT!

Lady says her son, who is very ill, could not find his medication recently one morning. He searched the house for several hours with no luck. Then, joined by a friend at noon, they checked the basement and found the medication in the cat's litter box. This cat also takes things off the coffee table and hides them under the couch, especially lighters and cigarettes.

WHEN DOES THE BAD LUCK STOP??? First he cut his finger ... then he got sick ... and now - he gets hit with a puck!! At least you weren't hurt, they let you keep the puck and your family still loves you Dad (even though you're cursed at the moment)!

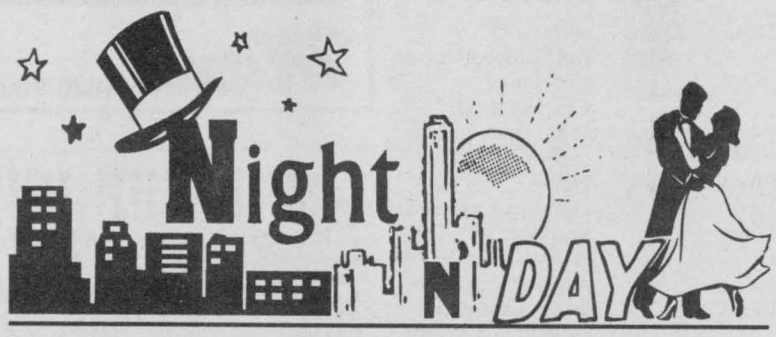
ENTERTAINMENT



Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

I don't want to confuse the entertainment or sporting season, but this week you can get out and play softball or golf. The softball is called SNOW PITCH and it takes place at the Legion Park of Marlborough Street South on Saturday, February 25th. Watch the action and then enjoy some fun (including some dancing) & food at THE RAT'S NEST, formerly the Police Club.

The golf mentioned above can be enjoyed anytime during the week at PAR-T-GOLF on Balmoral Ave. You can play 18 holes from a choice of 13 courses. Call to reserve your tee offs at 937-GOLF. There will be a benefit show for the Rose Family at LA MAISON on February 27th between 9 pm and 1 am. Donations will be accepted at the door and you can enjoy the music of Dirty Mother, Ritual, Type and Sam Hill. The featured band this week at La Maison is IMPACT.

Three good movies on the screens at Brookdale Cinemas at the Brookdale Mall this week. Catch THE BRADY BUNCH, JUST CAUSE with Sean Connery or BILLY MADISON. The weekend matinee's will feature the Brady's Madison and Ritchie Rich.

PORTO BELLO will once again invite all singles to the weekly Singles Dance on Saturday night. It's a combined Dinner & Dance and on the last Saturday of each month couples that met at the Singles Dances are invited to rejoin the fun.

There is some great fun & entertainment this coming Saturday afternoon between 3 pm and 7 pm at the A.N.A.F. CLUB on Marlborough Street. The hall comes alive to the sounds of the FAB-FOUR - Brian, Enno, Gaston & Doug, and they even take the odd request. The A.N.A.F. will also be the place to be on March 4th and the French-Canadian Day special. They will feature some traditional French cuisine & entertainment for all members and guests. The food & fun will be available during the afternoon and into the evening.

March is shaping up to be a busy month with some special shows and concerts scheduled. THE IRISH DESCENDANTS will be in town at Aultsville Theatre for a concert on March 16th. It will be an 8:00 pm show and tickets are available at Music World at Cornwall Square. Also coming in March will be a Brass Band and Variety Show, Mr. Dress Up and The Brigadoons and McCulloch Dancers. We'll tell you more on those shows later.

St. Patrick's Day is also near and we expect several special celebrations throughout the city. This is the big weekend at CHAMPIONS on Main Street in Alexandria featuring ALI CAT. They will also have another group on March 4th and then close for a couple of days for some renovations. Watch for a new look and some new additions to their menu on the re-opening.

Things are winding down in the Central Junior Hockey League and the CORNWALL COLTS are still lookin' good. Catch them in action this Tuesday & Thursday at the Si Miller Arena as they face Kanata and Hawkesbury. The Colts will then follow that up with a road game in Cumberland on Sunday. By that time there will only be six games left in the regular season.

THE PORT THEATRE is again offering a great first run film this week with NOBODY'S FOOL. Paul Newman, nominated for a best actor award, gives a brilliant performance.

Before closing this week, we would like to invite anyone planning some special St. Patrick's Day celebrations to let us know in time for publication over the next two weeks. If you are preparing some entertainment or food specials, please give us the details with a note to Night 'N Day at the Seaway News on Second Street West.

Until next time, G'Day and G'Night.
