Local Child Amputees Learn "Champs" Make It!

Eight year old Shauna Sylvester of Cornwall Island and fourteen year old Kelly Rankin of Martintown travelled to Ottawa recently to meet a special group of 80 children. All of them are child amputees - "Champs" - and they got together from across Ontario to attend The War Amps Northeastern Ontario "Champs" Seminar.

At the Seminar, Shauna and Kelly had a special role model named John Van Massenhoven. John, 24, of Ottawa, is a Champ Graduate. In a session called "Life Of An Amputee", he described losing his right arm above the elbow at the age of 14 in a farming accident, his enrollment in the Champ Program and how he adapted to his amputation to become the success he is today. He also spoke of the profound affect of attending his first Champ Seminar, where he realized he was not alone.

John made it clear to the young Champs and their parents, that an amputation is not a barrier to living a full life. John has started a career in law, articling with an Ottawa law firm. He credits "Champs" with giving him the positive attitude that has helped immeasurably in his success. Many Champs and parents approached John afterwards to convey how inspired they were by his message and attitude.

Like John before them, Shauna and Kelly are enthusiastic Champs. Shauna, born missing part of her left arm, has been fitted with a myo-electric arm and Kelly, born missing her right arm, has been fitting with an artificial limb. As Champs, they receive assistance with costs associated with artificial limbs and travel expenses to and from their rehabilitation centre for fittings. Champs also encourages child amputees to take part in recreational activities and so covers the full cost of recreational limbs and adaptive devices.

At Seminars, Champs and their parents see the latest developments in artificial limbs and learn how beneficial they are to an amputee. Champs take part by demonstrating their limbs and showing the assistive devices they use. At this Seminar, Champ Graduates Jane Peterson of Ottawa and Christine Varga of Thunder Bay, demonstrated how their myo-electric arms work and discussed the importance of wearing artificial limbs.

A valuable aspect of Seminars is counselling. Parent sessions help ease concerns about raising an amputee child. For Champs, sessions like "What Bugs Me", allow them to discuss the difficulties they sometimes encounter as amputees, and how to solve them. Older Champs, like Jane, John, Christine and Kelly, offer advice and assistance as Junior Counsellors to the younger Champs on how they dealt with problems while growing up. It is also a forum to exchange information with other Champ families.

The impact of Champ Seminars, and sessions like John's, can be enormous. A parent of a Champ Graduate summed it up in a recent letter to The War Amps:

"Champ Seminars were a place for my daughter where she was allowed to be just like all of the other kids. I marvel at the young woman she has become. Much of this is due to the Champ Program. Last week, some of the Champ families got together to welcome a new little girl with multiple amputations. I found myself relating countless stories about the Seminars and the wonderful adventure they would have as their child grew up with Champs.

The War Amps and its Champ Program are funded solely through public support of the Key Tag and Address Label Service. The Association receives no government funding. Key tags will be mailed across Eastern Ontario in April. Those who do not receive them can do so by calling toll-free 1-800-268-8821 or faxing toll-free 1-800-219-8988.

You've Brought Hollywood Into Your Living Room ... Now Bring Home The World!

For teenagers today, it's hard to imagine a time when there was no such thing as a VCR ... that going into town to see a "movie" was an adventure it itself ... and that movies used to cost a quarter, not a whopping $8.00.

Back then, if you wanted to experience a different culture, you had to travel to another country ... a pretty expensive way to find out about other parts of the world.

Of course, that's not necessary now! Discover a fascinating and educational way to share another culture with your whole family through EF Foundation - without ever leaving your home town.

Each year, EF Foundation brings two hundred foreign exchange students from Europe, Asia, Australia and South America to study in Canada for a semester or academic year. Treat yourself and your family to another culture ... learn about different customs ... and share your Canada with a young ambassador from abroad.

All EF Foundation students are fully insured and bring their own spending money. Our host families are volunteers who provide room and board and a caring family environment. These young adventurers, aged 15 - 18, are eager to find out what it's like to be a "real Canadian teenager" by living with a family like yours.

Open your home and your heart! Find out more about sharing your culture with an EF Foundation exchange student. For information call, toll free at 1-800-263-2825.

Dealing with head injuries

A blow to the head from a fall or collision can be serious. The person may appear fine at first but problems can develop later. Brain damage or neck injury is always a concern.

When to worry
A bump on the head from crawling under the table does not warrant a visit to emergency, but these do:
- Head hits pavement after fall from a ladder, bicycle or ledge.
- Tumble down stairs.
- Head hits windshield or dashboard.
- Racquet/bat injury.

IMMEDIATELY

1. Check for consciousness. Crying is a good sign. If victim does not respond to talk or touch, take immediately to hospital emergency. Anyone who has lost consciousness, even briefly, must see a doctor.
2. Check for bleeding. If any cuts or scalp wounds, take person to hospital.
3. Protect airway. Stabilize neck and roll person on to their side to keep airway clear in case of vomiting.
4. Apply an icepack to decrease pain and swelling.

Danger signs
The next 24 hours are critical. If kept at home, check carefully every two hours for:
- Unconsciousness.
- Convulsions: Shaking or stiffening of arms or legs; eyes rolled back or staring into space.
- Unusual drowsiness. If sleeping, wake person every two hours to check responses are normal.
- Tingling, numbness, "funny feeling" or paralysis in face and/or arms and legs.
- Blood or fluid coming from nose or ears.
- Repeated vomiting.
- Bump keeps getting bigger. Face swells.
- Dizziness or loss of balance.

Treatment Centre To Open

The S.D.&G./ Akwesasne Children's Treatment Centre will be opening on April 15th, 1996. The Centre has received over $64,000 in donations and pledges in less than two months. It is estimated that it will cost $133,000 to operate the Centre for one year. The Centre will initially have one full-time social worker/ supervisor and a part-time secretary. A second social worker will be hired when the finances become available.

Tri-County Craft Sale

The Tri County Craft Association is holding it's annual Easter Craft Show and Sale on March 29, 30, 31st at the Cornwall Civic Complex. There will be a wide variety of decorator items, beautiful tole and decorative painting, pottery, wood products, silk & dried flower arrangements, weaving, clothing, dolls, candles, herbal products and much, much more. Free parking and free admission.

Household Support Pilot Program

The Canadian Red Cross Homemaker Program is beginning a pilot project for the provision of household support services, beginning April 1, 1996. The program is designed to meet the needs of the vulnerable by performing support tasks to assist individuals to remain in their home setting. Services will include meal preparation, light/heavy housekeeping, laundry, caregiver relief, yard work, canning/preserving, care of pets, errands and many other support activities. A fundraiser will be held on April 18th at the Cornwall Golf and Country Club. The $25.00 ticket includes a fashion show of casual spring apparel, a full course meal by Porto Bello and prizes throughout the evening. Tickets can be purchased from the Red Cross Office at 932-3412. All proceeds go towards the Household Support Pilot Project.

Domtar To Expand Big Ben

Domtar has received the go-ahead to expand Big Ben another 30 metres to the west, although the Ministry of the Environment still has to approve the expansion. This expansion is expected to extend the life of the landfill site by another 20 years.

Ecology Park Planned

The Enviro-Health Committee has received approval for an ecology park located on 4.5 acres of land North of Marina 200 and east of the Civic Complex. The park will include a maple grove, tree nursery, community garden, ecology park, and demonstration gardens. It is expected that it will take 2 years to fully complete the park.

Potholes Appearing Everywhere

The city streets are being overtaken by potholes and none of the potholes will be fixed until the strike is over, unless they pose a real danger. Apparently some of the worst ones can be found along Highway #2 near Long Sault. Motorists are advised to take care when driving and be on the lookout for potholes, some of which are being outlined with red paint.

Complex Doors Rusting

The new front doors of the Civic Complex appear to be rusting out already, after only a year. The doors are supposed to be made of stainless steel which doesn't rust. A report is being done to see why the doors and rusting and to decide how they can be repaired or replaced.

"Breathe Easy" Program

The Lung Association is offering a six week program called "Breathe Easy". The program provides adults suffering from lung disease, the knowledge and skills needed to improve their quality of life. Meetings are to be held at the Winchester Senior Support Centre and will run from March 21st to April 25th, from 2 to 3 pm on Thursdays only. The Lung Association is encouraging anyone with breathing problems to inquire about the program by calling 932-4999 or 1-800-450-5202 or contact the Centre at 774-6109.

Good Friday Shopping Approved

The Alexandria Council has approved the motion for the stores to remain open on Good Friday. There were only two members of council left at the table to deal with the issue and they voted to allow the stores to open. The remaining members of council had left the room before the motion was introduced. They all feared a conflict of interest due to their business connections.

Fake Hydro Bills In Alexandria

A phony hydro bill has been appearing in Alexandria in which people as asked to send $488 to a post office box in Toronto. The bill resembles the Ontario Hydro bill but has no connection to Ontario Hydro. If a business has sent a cheque to the phony company, it is unlikely that they will be able to recover their money.

Finch Village Gets Sewer Study

The village of Finch could use a sewer system. This was the recommendation after a consultant's study found that the majority of the septic systems in the village have reached their life expectancy of 25 years and they need to be replaced with a sewage collection and treatment system. A comment sheet and a summary of the study has been sent to homes in the village. Finch residents are asked to fill out the comment sheet and return it to the Village Office by March 29th.

Iroquois Marina

The future of the Iroquois Marina is being discussed by council. It has been suggested that the Marina may be operated without costing the taxpayers anything. Last year the Marina has revenues of $11,000 and lost $10,000. A number of options are being discussed, including leasing a contractor or closing the Marina completely.

Osgoode Village May Get Pipeline

After three years of lobbying Consumers Gas to extend its gas line into Osgoode and Greely, natural gas could be in Osgoode by 1997. The village is a priority with Consumers Gas and they will be doing a study this summer to make a final decision. Currently, Consumers Gas services Metcalfe but does not extend its lines past Best Pipes plant on Hwy. 31.

Registered Education Savings Plans

Although your children may only be of preschool or primary school age, the time to begin thinking about their post-secondary education is now.

Recent estimates have placed the cost of a four-year university education, with expenses such as tuition, books, food and lodging, at almost $40,000. With funding cutbacks and expenses on the rise, that figure could be closer to $100,000 by the time your children reach university age.

Fortunately there are several ways for parents to attain the financial goals necessary to pay for a post-secondary education.

A traditional method of saving for future educational costs is to invest a small amount on a monthly basis in Canada Savings Bonds (CSBs).

A month investment of $30.00 in CSBs, compounded for 18 years at ten percent (the average rate of return for CSBs over the last 10 years was approximately nine percent), will be worth over $17,000 by the time your child is ready for university. If you child attends a local university, this money could go a long way to financing the majority of their education. But if he or she decides to attend an out-of-town school, a necessity for many Canadians without a local university, the money you've saved will not meet the cost.

An alternative method for accumulating education savings exists in Registered Education Savings Plans (RESPs). An RESP is a government-approved plan that enables parents to save for their children's post-secondary education. Unlike a Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP), in which contributions are tax deductible, contributions to an RESP are made with after-tax dollars so you are not allowed to claim any deductions. But like an RRSP, earnings within the plan are scheduled and compound tax free.

You can buy an RESP from one of several non-profit organizations such as the Canadian Scholarship Trust Foundation. Accumulated contributions, usually made on a monthly or annual basis, form the principal which finances the first year of education at a university, technical institute or college. Accumulated interest on the principal creates a kind of scholarship that pays for each subsequent year of study.

However, your child may decide not to attend post-secondary school or choose not to return to school after their initial year of study. If that happens, the scholarships are lost and the child will receive only the principal. Only those students who continue their education will benefit from this type of RESP.

An RESP, such as the type offered by Trimark Mutual Funds, offers greater flexibility and the potential to build a larger pool of savings. You can make contributions at any time of the year, up to a maximum limit. The current maximum limit on contributions is $1,500 a year for 21 years, for a cumulative maximum of $31,500 for each beneficiary.

In the event that the child, on whose behalf you have established the RESP, decides not to attend either university or college, the funds can be used to assist another child, relative or even you or your spouse should you decide to return to school to take a course or a degree.

Unlike a scholarship trust, you can even sell the growth in your plan if you are unable to use it.

Once the RESP grows in value to $10,000 or $15,000, some parents transfer the plan to a self-directed RESP, perhaps selecting a low-risk money market fund or bond strip coupons. Strip coupons can be timed to mature when your child is expected to enroll in a post-secondary institution.

An alternative to strip coupons is to invest in high-growth equity mutual funds. They might be your best option. Mutual funds generally provide historically higher rates of return over the long term, which is advantageous since your child's needs will only be realized in several years' time.

If the annual rate of return is 10 percent, an investment of $1,500 a year at the beginning of each year would be worth $18,869 after eight years. After 21 years, the RESP would be worth about $105,604 - approximately what you will need to finance your child's post-secondary education.

The trick is to begin saving as soon as possible so that you and your child can benefit from compound growth with-in an RESP. An investment now in an RESP is an investment in your child's future.

On the Money
with Gordon Pape

PAPE'S TIP: "There are lots of legal ways to reduce customs charges. Try them instead of smuggling."

Getting through customs

It's tempting not to declare some items as you go through customs because you think duties would be outlandish. But often, all-you have to pay is GST on items above your exemption.

The basic exemptions:
$50 after 24 hours outside Canada.
$200 after 48 hours.
$500 after 7 days. (There's no longer a once-a-year restriction on this one.)

The basket clause: If you're gone more than 48 hours, you can bring in $300 over your exemption and pay only GST plus a flat rate of duty. Rate depends on where the goods come from. This year it's 1.4% from the U.S. and 0.6% from Mexico.

BEST STRATEGY

- Use your personal exemption to shelter the highest duty items. Clothes, shoes and linens are normally subject to the biggest charges.
- Remember your infant can claim personal items such as baby clothes, stroller and diapers.
- Have receipts for everything available for inspection, although it's rare to be asked for them.
- Convert all expenses to Canadian dollars.

LITTLE-KNOWN FACTS

- Many items are duty-free, including cameras and camcorders, antiques over 100 years old and unset gem stones. But GST, excise tax and PST may apply.
- A mixed bag of groceries from the U.S. above your exemption is charged a blanket tariff of 3.4%. But there are tight restrictions on dairy products and poultry.

REMEMBER: If the taxes involved are small, customs agents may wave you through when you declare items over your exemption. But don't count on it!

Good Value From People You Can Trust

My Hero

by Tom Rand
Grade 8 Student at
Longue Sault Public School

What is a hero? Many people would classify a hero to be their favourite sports player or a good actor, but in my eyes a hero is someone you admire and you would hope to be like. A hero is someone you can learn from and would like to spend time with. People who chose a celebrity probably wouldn't have this privilege. My hero is someone who I see any time I wish and have learned from during my life time.

My hero has many values which I am learning to develop. These values include charity, kindness,honesty, responsibility, respect, trust, and a good self-image. I feel that my hero is very successful because he lives by these values and I am trying to do the same. My hero is helping me to learn these values.

My hero isn't famous to most, but he doesn't need to be. he is respected by his work colleagues, family, friends and of course, by me. He doesn't need to be a celebrity to be happy nor, do I need a celebrity to call my hero. I do need someone that I can rely on, learn from and look up to for advice.

My hero does many things that a celebrity can't do. My hero plays sports with me, and has talks with me about whatever is on my mind. This hero of mine has taught me many things that are important to me today. Some of these things are business skills, money management, tricks of the trade in many areas and life skills. But most of all, he takes the time to assure me that I get the best possible education and upbringing. I would be astounded to meet a celebrity that can do all of the things that my hero can do.

Of course, this hero, is my dad.

Ministry of Health / Ministère de la Santé

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR BOARD MEMBERS OF THE NEW COMMUNITY CARE ACCESS CENTRE

The Ministry of Health is seeking applications for volunteer board members for the new FIVE EASTERN COUNTIES COMMUNITY CARE ACCESS CENTRE.

The Community Care Access Centre is a new approach to providing simplified access to health and support services at home, in Nursing Homes and Homes for the Aged. It will combine existing Home Care Programs and Placement Coordination Services to provide access to a range of long-term care services including nursing, therapy, homemaking and long-term care facilities. It will provide information about other related community services such as Meals-on-Wheels. The Board will be responsible for the overall management of a budget in excess of $24 million.

Applications are invited from residents of the Five Eastern Counties who are or have been users of the above services, family caregivers and community members who have work or volunteer experience in health or social services. Volunteers with skills in finance, human resources and management are particularly needed.

THE DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS TO BE SUBMITTED IS APRIL 4, 1996.

For more information, call the Ministry of Health Ottawa Long-Term Care Office at (613)241-4263 or 1-800-668-1697.

Applications should be in writing and should state the applicants interest in long-term care, experience and pertinent background information. Applications forms are available by calling this office.

Charging of Priest Totally Vindicates Dunlop

PERSPECTIVE

By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

The saga of Const. Perry Dunlop has finally come to an end.

After years of charges, counter-charges, cover-ups and at least one confirmed criminal act, allegations of child sexual abuse against a local priest will go to trial.

It matters not whether the priest is found guilty or innocent - because it was not Dunlop's purpose to pass a personal verdict on this matter. At no time did Dunlop publicly suggest the priest was guilty. The priest is, as we have noted, innocent until proven guilty.

Dunlop's sole goal was to protect our children by maintaining the integrity of the legal process. He wanted to expose the Catholic Church's cover-up of the allegations, bring its sinfulness to full public light, and if warranted - see justice done in a court of law. He has achieved that victory.

Dunlop took the position that there was sufficient evidence to pursue the case even though the establishment wanted the whole matter swept under the rug.

He was right. Not only was there enough evidence to pursue the investigation - it turns out that such pursuit has produced enough evidence to lay charges.

I have often said that nothing is more dangerous to a pack of scoundrels than an honest man. In his quest for justice, Dunlop exposed a church cover-up, police lethargy and complacency, a criminal action by one lawyer, and ultimately the cowardly underbelly of our electea municipal officials - the latter of whom refused to endorse the grass-roots petition circulated in an attempt to get the police/legal establishment off Dunlop's back.

Dunlop paid heavily for his crusade for justice - twice hauled into hearings/courts by his vindictive superiors (but Perry was vindicated); ostracized by friends and colleagues; and shunned by other "good Christians" who shared the parish. His health suffered greatly - as did his family.

Only towards the end - when the Dunlop petition was circulated - did he finally receive some comfort from the community he was trying to protect.

Frankly, I can't say enough good things about this man.

Had it not been for Const. Perry Dunlop this entire sordid affair would have remained buried under the 32,000 pieces of silver that Bishop Larocque and the Catholic Church heaped onto the scandal.

Justice will now be done (legally at least) whatever the verdict.

Morally, however, there are many who should be brought to trial in the court of public opinion. No matter how you cut it, the church is guilty of immense immorality; first it covered up the issue; then it made public statements conveying false information to the public.

There can be only two possible outcomes to this trial; either the priest in innocent, or he is guilty. If he is guilty, the church has covered up a crime. If he is innocent, the church has taken parishioners' faithful weekly offerings - given in the name of Christ and justice - and secretly used it to pay off a liar and/or extortionist. There is simply no escaping this moral dilemma.

But who within the church is being found "guilty"? What significant or substantial "penance" has been publicly performed?

If this were one isolated case, we could dismiss it as an honest aberration. But there have been simply too many cases like this - too many "mistakes". In fact, what we have is a clear and identifiable pattern. Time and time again - Mount Cashell, Uxbridge, Kingston, Alfred, etc. etc., - the church hierarchy has denied, covered up, or moved far too slowly on allegations (many of which have proven to be true) of child abuse by its priests and "Christian brothers". To protect its reputation, the church has crucified its own children. And every time a new outrage is discovered, another band-aid, another "protocol" is applied.

It is a tribute to gullibility - not faith - that parishioners continue to play follow-the-leader, instead of demanding a major overhaul in the way "their" church is run.

Cornwall General Hospital Board Explains Budget

Dear Fellow Member of the Community:

Recently the Operating Plan (Budget) for the Cornwall General Hospital was presented to the hospital's Operating Plan Committee. This is a milestone budget in many respects and we want to share its implications with you. As you undoubtedly know, hospital funding will be cut 18% on average over the next three years. This has made the task of budgeting particularly challenging. In response, the hospital has announced a budget that includes a reduction in operating expense of $1.2 million, the layoff of probably no more than 10 staff after bumping, attrition and early retirements, the closure of 10 medical beds and 4 rehab in addition to the 18 beds previously announced last summer. Cornwall General Hospital will have 100 beds; we are 132 at the moment.

However, every challenge also represents an opportunity. The Board of the Hospital has endorsed a vision that sees the hospital continuing in acute care service delivery. Working within our established role, the hospital's goal is to improve upon provincial and regional utilization standards. This means patient lengths of stay will be reduced and patients in hospital will be more acutely ill. To meet this challenge we:

Walter Bulbeck

- will continue to have an active emergency department and other acute services that are a part of very acute care hospitalization;
- will invest significantly in the on-going education of our staff, particularly in the critical clinical services to begin with;
- are pursuing innovative arrangements with local physicians for the care of patients who do not have a doctor and need hospital admission;
- are in the process of acquiring computer software that will permit us to forecast and monitor lengths of stay and plan for the best utilization of our beds;
- are continuing to invest in the development of managed care guidelines - a system of care that helps the patient, the doctor and the hospital; and we
- intend to work closely with our community health care partners as we seek to place more patients outside the hospital.

Health care is changing rapidly. We know we cannot afford to do things as they have always been done. The challenge is to maintain quality while accommodating this change. Our vision for the Cornwall General Hospital responds to this accordingly.

Yes, these are difficult times. We have never had to reduce by 18% before, but we know we can do it. In the process, we sincerely regret the impact change has had on all our valued employees - some will lose their jobs. However, we know that the vast majority of our staff will be retained and they will continue to provide excellent care and service. In-patient numbers will decline but the quality of care provided to patients will not be diluted.

The Board of the Cornwall General Hospital is well aware that change is not over. In the coming months the DHC will be leading a study of hospital services in Cornwall. As a partner in this process, we are supportive of this initiative. In the meantime, our mission is to excel and to be a leader in our primary role of acute care services. We have a vision how this can be done and a strategic plan is developing. In no way are we underestimating the problems that lie ahead. The reduction in beds will cause problems in emergency and on the patient floors initially. We ask for your support if they are encountered. Please remember, the changes we are introducing are in line with what other communities in Ontario are doing or have done.

As we proceed, do not hesitate to offer us your comments. You can write to me c/o Hospital Management - or if you prefer, call the hospital's Hotline at 932-3303 (4100) and leave a message.

In closing we are very optimistic about the future. We see an opportunity for the Cornwall General Hospital to excel in its role as an acute care hospital.

Walter Bulbeck
Board Chairman

What About The Truth?

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter written in December in the Standard Freeholder by A.D. MacDonell on behalf of 11 former altarboys giving their full support to the innocence of the priest accused of sexual abuse. I can no longer sit idly by and say nothing about this.

I am completely disgusted with this letter. How can these former altarboys conclude that they are more qualified than anyone else to judge that these allegations are completely false? Just because of the mere fact that they were not victims, does not necessarily mean that there were not any victims. Research the facts on these kinds of incidents. There usually are more "untouched" people than there are victims. That is partly why they can get away with it for so long before they are caught.

Take a professional thief for example. Just because he doesn't rob every house in a neighbourhood, does it mean he is not a thief? No! What does he do? He stakes out the neighbourhood and finds his most vulnerable victims (houses), which also pose the least risk of getting caught. Think about it!

Yes, everyone has a right to believe in what they believe, whether they are right or wrong. I am also a former altarboy of this priest in question. Although I am not a victim, I was the head altarboy at St. Columban's Church as the reported times of these incidents. I have been an avid Catholic all my life, until the past few years. I can no longer condone the insensitive way in which the church chooses to handle these cases. I feel that the Catholic Church is not living up to its responsibilities of upholding truth and goodness to mankind above all else. Instead, the church seems to be more interested in covering up these continuous incidents of sexual abuse within itself. Why?

I think the public deserves the right to know the whole truth. This has not been the case after years of delays, for whatever the reasons, since the first victim came forth.

Yes, it is up to the courts to determine the final question of the guilt or innocence of this priest. But, we can ask for the truth. Put your emotions aside and demand to get the truth out. We owe it to the victims who have lost their childhood innocence. But, above all else, we especially owe it to all the children out there because they deserve to keep their innocence intact. Think about it. It is time.

FROM THE BIBLE

By Bob Burgess, Pastor
New Life Covenant Church
(A Spirit-Filled New Testament Church)

Where will you spend eternity?

Some years ago someone asked me that very question. Where will you spend eternity? Quite frankly, I hadn't given it much thought and it wasn't something I really wanted to think about. I usually avoided the subject as I really didn't want to believe in a Heaven or Hell and I was more comfortable in believing that when you die it's all over, like an animal.

However, the nagging thought was there and I quite frankly was afraid of where I might end up. Hell was not the most appealing place to go, not even for a short visit. I would try to be good and hope that, just maybe, God would favour me and would accept me in Heaven and yet, I was never really sure about it.

I then became a Christian some time later and my life took a new meaning, new direction as I had experienced receiving a "new life" from God. One of the first things I realized in my new faith, was that I now knew God in a personal way and that I no longer feared Him in a negative way, but realized that He truly loved me just as I was and that I would spend eternity with Him. For the first time, I was no longer afraid of dying and going to hell. God was no longer simply the "man upstairs", but He was now my Heavenly Father.

Eternity was no longer a threat to me and I truly knew that I had eternal life. The Bible in Romans 6:23 says that the "wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ." Eternity now became real to me and I finally knew where I was going and that I had received the gift of eternal life through Christ Jesus." What a marvelous truth and you can't earn it, in fact, you don't need to earn it and you couldn't even if you wanted to, because it's a free gift from God purchased by His Son Jesus on the cross (see John 3:16 & 17). It doesn't depend on which church you attend and how good or bad you've been, but solely on your acceptance or denial of the free gift of Salvation (John 3:36).

You see, everyone one day will die and the richest man on earth cannot bargain with God for one more day or hour. No man can barter with God with all his worldly riches for more life, because God alone is the author, giver and taker of life. But one thing we can do is to have an assurance of where we will go after death. We can accept God's grace and Salvation in His Son.

Students Host First Ever Horse Show for Elementary Schools

On February 15th, over 100 parents gathered to enjoy the Public School Board's first Equine Studies Program Horse Show held at Griffin Lane Farms Equestrian Centre at Apple Hill.

Thirty six students participated in 12 classes of Equitation and Horsemanship at the Horse Show coordinated by Sarah and John Besner of Griffin Lane Farms.

Participants were judged by senior riders of Griffin Lane Farms. In the Equitation Classes, students were judged on their ability to lead a horse, mount, ride at a walk and trot, and to guide their horse through an obstacle course and over one jump. Students were awarded ribbons in each class by various local sponsors.

In the Horsemanship Classes, students were tested by the junior judges on their knowledge of grooming, tacking up, haltering, safety, health precautions and other basics of horse feeding and care.

Winners were: Class 1 Equitation - Rick St. Denis; Class 2 - Josh Paquette; Class 3 - Jennifer Switzer; Class 4 - Melissa Desaulniers; Class 5 - Roch St. Denis; Class 6 - Jordan Munn.

In the Horsemanship Division, the winners were Kristine Rochon, Rick St. Denis, Janice MacFarlane, Melissa Desaulniers, Troy Bronzan, Michael Desaulniers, and Sara Pratt.

The "Equine Studies" program at Vincent Massey Public School is an interdisciplinary approach to learning. The program is part of the Quality Daily Physical Education as well as the Science program. In addition, history, rural studies, art, computer studies and research and other areas of the curriculum were covered. All students in grades 6 - 7 - 8 participated in the program, with the equestrian portion being an optional part of the program.

Merely A Dream

"You ain't going nowhere, son."

That little line of advice, given to Elvis Presley from the manager of the Grand Ole Opry in 1954, might just as well be given to any of our children these days given what Statistics Canada announced last week.

And the news is absolutely depressing.

Here's what the government agency announced: the dream of going from rags to riches in Canada will remain a dream for many because it is unlikely to happen. The study found that while there is a good deal of movement between levels on the income scale, the richest and poorest tend to inherit their income levels from their fathers.

Forget all that talk about Horatio Alger and the American Dream in this country. The chances of a poor boy becoming Prime Minister are pretty remote.

And this is despite universal social programs such as health care and education that are designed to nurture the dream of Canadian democracy that all citizens have, or can be given, an equal chance. The study found that they don't seem to make much difference at all.

Using information on the income field in income-tax returns, the Statscan economists who conducted the study, traced a set of fathers and sons from 1982 to 1993. In all, it tracked about 400,000 men who were 16 to 19 in 1982. They found wealth tends to beget wealth and that poverty tends to beget poverty.

You are three times more likely as a young man to move from rags to rags than rags to riches, said one of the economists. And moving from riches to riches is the most likely event of all.

I'm puzzled by these statistics. When I grew up, I was taught that Canada was a place where you could be anything you wanted if you worked hard, applied yourself and gave it all you had. It didn't matter how much money your father made; it was what you did that counted. By that measure, I figured that any boy who worked hard enough could be whatever he wanted.

That was certainly true in my family. My mom and dad came to Canada in 1953 from Europe. They wanted to build a better life for themselves and their children. They instilled in me the virtues of hard work and devoted themselves to making certain I received the very best education they could give me. Through some sacrifice and hard work, they made it possible for me to attend McGill, one of the premier universities in this country, and later Dalhousie Law School.

My dad, who never earned more than $20,000 a year in his life when he retired in 1984, was proud as punch when I finally broke into the six figure income in that same year. He thought that his years of parenting had paid off well.

And that, I think, explains a great deal about these statistics... Parenting. University tuition in Canada is still a bargain. Health care is a given. They should be enough to cushion most families to push their kids into jobs and incomes that surpass those of their parents. But it isn't happening, I suspect, because - aside from government debt load and financial woes - the family unit has broken down badly.

Many lower income families don't encourage their kids to excel; they feel trapped into their current situation and think they can never get out of it. They see their children in the same position. With the breakdown of the family unit, things get rough. There are often different priorities than the children's long-term welfare.

As President Clinton pointed out in his recent State of the Union address, children are best motivated when they have two loving and caring parents who put their children's interest ahead of their own. So many of them, it has been my experience, just don't: they look after themselves first. And that, I think, goes a long way to explaining what's really happening.

Motivated parents, whether they have big or little incomes, can still do a lot to ensure that their children do better than they did. It doesn't just take money, but you also need lots of caring and love. Just ask my mom.

Heard any good Goldwynisms lately? Probably not. Sam Goldwyn the movie mogul, has been dead for 22 years. And nobody could coin a Goldwynism like Sam.

Sam's problem was that he frequently put his tongue in motion before his brain was in gear. This led to some paralysingly funny utterances. Goldwyn is the guy who said:

"In two words: Im Possible."

"An oral contract isn't worth the paper it's printed on."

"My wife's hands are so beautiful I'm having a bust made of them."

He's also the guy who once instructed a movie director to tell the actors to "put more life in their dying - and tell them to stand closer apart."

Once, Goldwyn was considering taking an option on a rather risqué British novel. One of his advisors cautioned: "Mister Goldwyn, I don't think you'd want to make a movie about that story. It's about two lesbians."

"So what?" countered Goldwyn. "We can change them into Americans."

A lot of people don't realize it, but Sam Goldwyn was a Canadian. Technically anyway. As a Polish refugee (real name Samuel Goldfish - no kidding) he spent some time in Montreal before he headed for Hollywood.

That may explain where he picked up his case of foot in mouth disease. Canada's thrown up more than a few language lacerators, but in this country, they don't go into the movie business - they enter politics.

Take John Kushner. Kushner was a city alderman for many years in Calgary. I don't know what legislation he was responsible for, but I know how he'll be remembered in the history books. He'll be remembered for saying things like:

"Don't get your dandruff up!"

"I don't want any information. I just want the facts."

"Remember, ladies and gentlemen, there's only one taxpayer - you and me!"

Then of course there's Toronto's contribution to the world of mangled metaphor - Alan Lamport. "Lampy" was mayor of Hogtown for years - famous for conducting city business out of his permanent suite at the sumptuous Royal York Hotel. But even more famous for saying things like:

"If somebody's gonna stab me in the back, I wanna be there!"

"Canada is the greatest nation in the country."

"I'm working all day this week."

"Cheat fair!"

Lampy's still around. He's in his nineties now, still leaving people scratching their heads every time he opens his mouth.

Which, alas, is more than I can say for Slaw Rebchuk.

You never heard of Slaw Rebchuk? He was Winnipeg's answer to Sam Goldwyn, John Kushner and Alan Lamport, all rolled into one compact, pugnacious Ukrainian-Canadian sandwich. Rebchuk served 28 years on Winnipeg City Council. They called him "the mayor of the North End". He was also known for his hilarious malapropisms.

Rebchuk specialized in mongrelizing cliches until they made no sense at all. He once dismissed a vote by a group of dissident councillors with "They've buttered their bread; now let them lie in it."

Another time he announced "a stitch in time saves two in the bush."

In a council chamber argument with a colleague he blustered "You don't know a hole from your head in the ground."

He obviously agreed with Sam Goldwyn about the worthlessness of oral contracts. "We have to get it in black and writing," he said.

And my all-time favourite. One time Slaw Rebchuk approached a Winnipeg Free Press columnist hollering "Hey - why don't you write my autobiography sometime?"

I'd like to be able to tell you that Slaw Rebchuk is still spinning out his Rebchukisms, but I can't. He passed away earlier this year at the age of 88.

So long, Slaw. I hope somebody writes your "autobiography" soon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Morals & The Bible: Bob Roth's Interpretation

Dear Editor:

I always thought well of Mr. Bob Roth and still do about his views on almost everything. Fog or smoke is blinding him and some other people when it comes to morals or interpretation of the Bible, and he goes too far about freedom of expression. We all know, and he does too, that there is always a limit to any kind of freedom. He certainly can't remember it I guess.

When it comes to morals and interpretation of the Bible, Mr. Roth is partly blind to even try and explain. Rev. Burgess and Rev. Smith have studied the Bible many years and most people will take their explanation more seriously than Mr. Roth's because the Revs. must know a little bit more about it that he does.

Hoping Mr. Roth changes his thoughts about this before he meets his maker and maybe He'll overlook the morals Mr. Roth has now and give him credit for the good that he does.

Dear Editor:

As a loyal highway equipment operator, I am distressed that the Ontario Government has brought in Security Personnel from Quebec to monitor our patrol yard. Does Mike also think we are criminals?

It is also not fair to send Ontario money to Quebec while we are practicing fiscal constraints. This will certainly solve the deficit???

No Laughing Matter

An agitated young man ran frantically down the ferry slip, leaped across a strip of water and landed with a crash on the deck of the boat. "Well," he gasped, as he picked himself up, "I made it!"

"What's your hurry?" asked a deckhand. "This boat's coming in."

The other day I heard my five year old boy screaming in the playroom, and when I ran in I found the baby pulling his hair. "Never mind," I tried to comfort him, "your baby sister doesn't understand that it hurts you." I hadn't been out of the room for a minute when more shrieks sent me running back. This time the baby was crying. "What's the matter with the baby," I asked the boy.

"Nothing much," he replied calmly. "Only now she knows."

Small girl, as golfer in sand trap pauses for breath: "He's stopped beating it, Mummy. I think it must be dead."

Cuckoo Capers

He'd stayed around much too long with the boys, as usual, and he'd got himself pie-eyed - as usual. Here it was nearly 3 am, when he'd promised to be home by 11. What a row he was in for. He fumbled with the key, tiptoed unsteadily across the hall and started up the stairs. It was here that his chance came. As he rached the half-landing the cuckoo clock cucklooed three times. For a precious moment the mental overcase seemed to clear and inspiration came: when the cuckoo stopped he went right on cuckooing himself, up to 11. That would fox her. He undressed on the landing, moved gingerly into the room, slipped into bed - and she never even stirred. He was home!

Next morning at breakfast she said, "We're going to have to do something about that cuckoo clock, Henry."

"Why," he asked, "it's keeping perfect time, isn't it?"

"I don't know what it's doing," she said. "but it's certainly behaving very funnily. Imagine what happened last night as I was lying in bed waiting for you! It cuckooed three times, then it hiccoughed, then it said "damn", and then it cuckooed 14 times more."

OUT of BOUNDS

Definitions

Confidence: The cocky feeling you have just before you know better.

Philsophical: A cheerful attitude assumed by everybody not directly involved in the trouble.

Husband: A man who, if you give him enough rope, will be tied up at the office.

Ulcers: The result of mountain climbing over molehills.

Optimist: A woman who lieaves the dinner dishes because she will feel more like washing them in the morning.

Dinner Party Hijinks

At a party one guest completely monopolized the conversation, much to the annoyance of the hostess's elderly mother. By the time he launched into a story of his experiences during the war, she was bored to the point of retaliation. "I was torpedoed in the Pacific," he bagan. "In fact, I lived for a week on a can of sardines."

"Really!" exclaimed the exasperated old lady. "Weren't you afraid of falling off?"

At a dinner party the hostess, whose kittenish ways were most annoying, produced a family album. "This," she said coyly, holding up a mother and child picture, "is myself 28 years ago." A guest examined the photograph, then asked slyly, "Who is the baby on your lap?"

One man to another at a cocktail party: "I'm bushed. I think I'll flirt with some good-looking dame so my wife will take me home."

The cocktail party was in full swing when the host's small daughter pulled at her father's sleeve. "Daddy," asked the puzzled youngster, haven't we had this party before?"

GRADE "A" REPORTS

Small boy to teacher: "I can't get that report card back for you. You gave me an "A" in something and they're still mailing it to relatives."

Commenting on a nursery-school report that described her dauther as emotionally inmmature, a young mother said, "If you can't be immature at three, when can you be?"

It's A Man's World

Just look at the difference in these descriptive words and phrases.

If a man doesn't marry he's a "bachelor" - glamorous word. If a woman doesn't marry she's an "old maid".

When it's his night out he's "out with the boys". When it's her night out she's at a "hen party". What he hears at the office is "news". What she hears at a bridge party is "gossip".

If he runs the family he is "head of the house". If she runs it she "wers the pants in that family." If he is overly solicitous of her he is a "devoted husband". If she is overly solicitous of him he is "henpecked". If he keeps his eye on her at a party he is an "attentive husband". If she sticks close to him she is a "possessive wife".

In middle age he is "in the prime of life" or "at the peak of his career". At the same age she's "no spring chicken". If he is an easy spender he "does not deny his family anything". If she doesn't count the pennies she's "extravagant" or a "poor manager".

Gray hair gives him a distinguished look. If she has it, she's an old hag. If he hasn't any small talk he's "the quiet type". If she hasn't any she is "mousy".

It all depends on one thing - whether your speaking of a man or a woman.

From The Mouths of Babes

It was graduation day and Mom was trying to take a picture of their son in a cap and gown, posed with his father. "Let's try to make this look natural," she said. "Junior, put your arm around your dad's shoulder." The father answered, "If you want it to look natural, why not have him put his hand in the pocket my wallet's in?"

The amateur counterfeiters printed perfect eighteen dollar bills but couldn't figure out how to pass the phony money. "I know," said one, "we'll go into the hills and pass them to the hillbillies." At a small grocery store they asked, "Say, sir, will you change this bill for some smaller ones?" "Sure," said the clerk. "Would you like two nine-dollar bills, or three sixes?"

Sue: "You told me it was love at first sight when you started going out with Bob, but I don't see you around together anymore." Cindy: "I took another look."

From the mouths of babes ... When is it okay to kiss someone??? • "Never kiss in front of other people. It's a big embarrassing thing if anybody sees you ... If nobody sees you, I might be willing to try it with a handsome boy, but just for a few hours.

Kally, age 9.

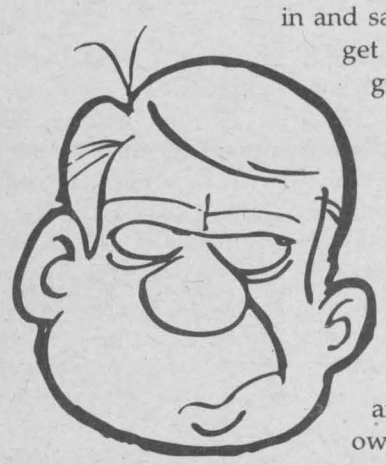
Business Notes

Sign under an office clock: "It's earlier than you think."

"One of the most tactful men I ever knew," says a California manufacturer, "was the man who fired me from my very first job. He called me in and said, "Son, I don't know how we're ever going to get along without you, but starting Monday we're going to try."



One man to another: "We're a nonprofit organization. We didn't mean to be - but we are."

Two businessmen at lunch in luxurious restaurant: "No, Harry, let's go Dutch - you use your expense account and I'll use mine."

Home-coming husband to wife: "Whew! I took an aptitude test this afternoon. Thank goodness I own the company!"

The manager and one of his salemen stood before a map on which coloured pins indicated the representative in each area. "I'm not going to fire you, Cartwright," the manager said, "but just to emphasize the insecurity of your position I'm loosening your pin a little."

Office worker having cocktails at his desk to boss: "I trust you don't mind sir? Just a little celebration on the tenth anniversary of my last raise."

Natural HEALTH TIPS

For wrinkles, skin dryness and roughness, sun damage, age spots or acne scars, try gels or lotions containing alpha hydroxy acids (AHAs)—natural non-toxic substances found in foods and plants. Used twice daily, AHA preparations help remove damaged outer skin layers, and aid in the formation of healthier new skin.

This information was provided by the Canadian Health Food Association.

An apple a day—or walnut, berry, grape or pomegranate—keeps the doctor away, because it contains ellagic acid. Widely studied, ellagic acid has been shown to inhibit lung and skin tumour growth, and helps the body eliminate some carcinogenic substances. For maximum benefit from ellagic acid-containing foods. buy them organically grown.

GARDENER'S ROW

Award Winning Plants Perform in Local Gardens

Every year, new plant varieties across North America compete for the equivalent of an Oscar award in the All-America Selections.

It means a lot to become a winner. Under a rigorous evaluation process, new flowers and vegetables earn performance points in eight different areas of qualification. They are grown from seed in trial gardens across North America, from northern Canada to the southern United States. Not only do these new plants have to outperform the other entrants, they also have to prove themselves better than an existing variety which is used as a standard for comparison throughout the growing season.

All America Selections winners may be identified in seed catalogues by the letters AAS, sometimes accompanied by the year of entry. Any variety with this designation is sure to be outstanding, because if in any given year, no new varieties prove to be greatly superior to existing ones, certain categories remain undeclared. There are no vegetable winners for 1996, for example.

All-America Selections (AAS) is a non-profit and educational organization which has been trialing new varieties for over 50 years. It does not sell seed. AAS has 28 vegetable trial grounds and 35 flower trial grounds across North America, each set up to resemble the conditions of a home garden. Vegetables are evaluated for: flavour, yield, appearance, texture, disease resistance, production and space efficiency, nutrition and novelty value. Flowers are scored on the basis of: colour, disease resistance, insect and weather stress, prolonged flowering, attractiveness of blossoms, uniformity, uniqueness and fragrance.

For 1996, three annual flowers have been chosen as winners: "Fantasy Pink Morn" petunia, "Heavenly Lavender" petunia and Salvia farinacea "Strata".

Fantasy Pink Morn is said to be the first petite petunia, with flowers about two thirds of the usual size. It falls into the new milliflora class, a name which translates to "thousands of flowers". Fantasy Pink Morn has light pink flowers with creamy white centres, and grows from 10 to 12 inches (25-30 cm) tall, and 12 to 18 inches (30-45 cm) wide.

Heavenly Lavender is a pure lavender, double petunia, with, according to AAS, "numerous petals arranged in each bloom, too many to count." Judges noted this variety particularly for the fullness of its flowers. Plants are compact and grow about 10 to 12 inches (25-30 cm) tall and 18 to 24 inches (45-60 cm) wide.

Petunias are one of my favourite flowers, because they can be grown almost anywhere, in window boxes, pots or hanging baskets, in flower beds, borders or mass plantings, in sun to light shade.

The final winner, Salvia farinacea "Strata", is unique in its colouring, and the first annual salvia with blue and white flower spikes. Salvia farinacea, otherwise known as mealy cup sage, has narrow flower spikes that look somewhat like lavender, and leaves with a pleasing sage scent. These flowers are wonderful in fresh bouquets, lasting well over a week, and can be easily air-dried by hanging in bunches, for use in permanent arrangements.

If you want to start these flowers from seed, allow about 7 to 9 weeks for Fantasy Pink Morn, from 10 to 12 weeks for Heavenly Lavender, and from 12 to 14 weeks for Salvia farinacea "Strata", from indoor sowing to bloom.

The benefit to the home gardener of the AAS program is the availability of new and improved varieties of flowers and vegetables, which have been tested in different climates specifically for their performance in home gardens.

Go for Green!

Rake for health & environment

This fall, rake your leaves and keep them for your lawn and garden. You can use them as cover up for the winter and they're good for your plants and trees. Leaves break down to form a natural fertilizer. Raking is good for you, the environment will benefit, and you will enjoy the outdoors and the colorful season.

The Active Living and Environment Program is a community-based initiative to help Canadians take part in responsible, healthy, outdoor physical activities that are environmentally friendly.

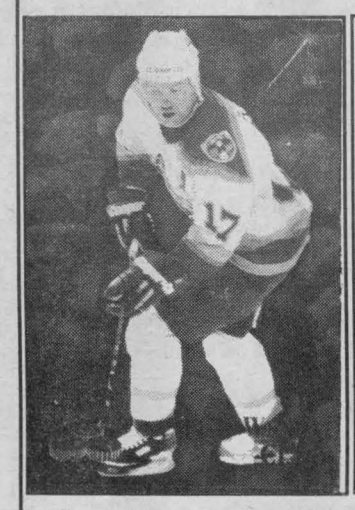
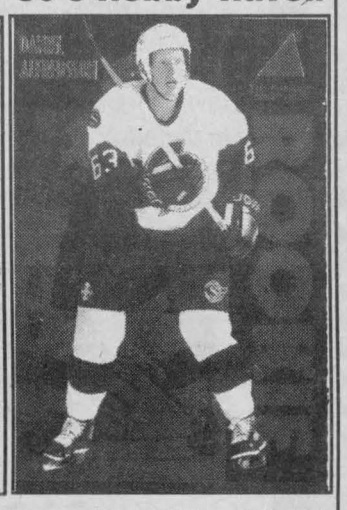
THE CARD CORNER by CJ's Hobby Haven





Something old, something new. The old has Wendel Clark returning to Toronto to give them one of its favourite sons. Wendel has been with New York and Quebec over the last 3 years but is returning to a team who will have a lot of experience in their lineup. However we all hope they can aquire some new talent to boots their future hopes. The new, sees Daniel Alfredsson of Ottawa. Ottawas has had the last three 1st round draft picks, but has not had any of them in the forefront of the rookies. Daniel has seemed to come from noewher to a point he's seriously being considered for Rookie of the Year honours with only Eric Daze in his way. Today's cards are from Pinnacle Zenith. Daniel Alfredsson listed at $2.00 and Wendel Clark's Gifted Griders insert valued at $3.00

Playoff Excitement

Director of Public Relations

At the time of writing of this article, your Colts led the best of seven quarter-final series with the Cumberland Grads, 2-0. By the time you read this, your Colts could have an opportunity to sweep Cumberland in four straight games. The fourth game will be played tonight (Saturday, March 16) at the Navan Arena, at 7:30 pm.

If Game #5 of this series is required, it will be played this Sunday, March 17, at the Si Miller Arena. Game time is 7:30 pm. The Colts ticket office will open at 10 am Sunday morning if this game is played.

The Navan Arena will host Game #6, if necessary, this Tuesday, March 19th at 7:30 pm. If a seventh and final game is needed, it will be played this Thursday, March 21st at the Si Miller Arena at 7:30 pm.

Last week the Colts welcomed the Rozon Insurance Novice Rebels from the Char-Lan Minor Hockey Association, to a team practice at the Si Miller Arena. This lucky team won the "Practice With the Colts Draw", sponsored by DKS Sports Replays. The future Colts from Char-Lan, skated with Cornwall's team and had a great time. Skills were stressed and fun was the order of the day. After practice, the Novice Rebels, along with Colts players Jamie Herrington, Philippe Roy, Tony Tempestilli, and Mike Bushaw enjoyed tasty pizza at Sub-Bay Diner.

The Colts players sat with the youngsters and were kept busy signing autographs. The Rebels were then given tickets to an upcoming Colts game. A big thank you to Dimitrios from Sub-Bay Diner for making a great contribution to a day these young players won't soon forget.

Tickets for upcoming playoff games are now on sale at the Colts office. Ticket prices are: adults $7, students/seniors $6, children (12 and under) $2. These prices are constant throughout the playoff schedule, not just for selected games. Exciting playoff hockey at a great price. Get your tickets early for the best selection.

Colts playoff hockey at the Si Miller Arena ... all the action and excitement you can handle, in the Arena that gets you closer to the action.

Nightmare On Water Street

By Robert Gialloreto

That's right - Freddy returns! The Fredericton Canadiens return to the Civic Complex for their last two regular season visits ever on Thursday, March 21st and Saturday, March 23rd. Speaking of returning ... you cheered for him in an Aces uniform, you jeered him in an Americans uniform, now he's back wearing the "tri colour" of the Canadiens. Serge Roberge visits his favourite home away from home and this time he's got his brother Mario with him. On the baby habs first visit this Thursday, join in on Dentyne Ice Noise Night. Bring a noisemaker of any kind, your spouse doesn't count. Bring pots and pans, horns, megaphones, anything that records decibels. Show your noisemaker at the door and receive a ballot for your chance to win great prizes! Also, be part of the noisiest section and everyone in that section will receive new Dentyne Ice - the best new gum you've ever tasted. The Canadiens feature Oleg Petrov, former Aces Francois Grouleau and Potsdam's Craig Conroy. It should be tremendous professional hockey action, and you know it won't last much longer so you should catch it while you can.

This could be your last chance to catch the entire Aces team for an autograph signing. On Friday, March 22nd from 3:00 pm - 6:00 pm, make sure you are at Maynard's - Your Independent Grocer! Not only are they the home of the world's best customer, but on that day, the home of your only professional hockey team. The whole squad will be on hand to sign Aces Team Photo Calendars. Many of these autographs will hold value down the road as the Aces currently feature Colorado's hottest prospects. Just ask Josef Marha; of course you'd have to call him in Denver as he is the latest Ace to get the call to the mother ship in the Rocky Mountains.

If you are a true hockey fan, Cornwall Aces hockey is really the place to be. Many of the players have their junior or college careers behind them and their NHL futures ahead of them. You never know when they will make the jump to the big show, and in the mean time you get to watch them play exciting pro hockey at non-NHL ticket prices. The Aces recently came off a 15 game stretch where the difference in each game was no more than one goal. That means your Aces are rarely out of any hockey game and each contest is packed with excitement. Don't be a victim of the old saying "You never know what you've got until it's gone"; save that one for failed romance. Pro hockey is here now. Come to the Civic Complex and watch it ...

Char-Lan Novice Rebels

During the Skate With The Colts event on February 17, 1996, the Char-Lan Rebels Novice House League "Rozon Insurance" Team won the draw for a practice with the Colts. On Monday, February 26th, the young Rebels and their coaches took to the ice to practice with the Colts. This event left, no doubt, a great impression on these young novice players. After an hour and a half of drills and fun, the boys were exhausted but thrilled. In the change room they were handed cold soft drinks and a couple of signed sticks and then the whole team was invited to Sub Bay diner for pizza and drinks, accompanied by some of the Colts players. To cap it off, the whole team was invited to watch the Colts play Thursday night against the Hawkesbury Hawks, and surely because of the shoot-out practise on Monday, the Colts won the high scoring game in an extended shoot-out.

On behalf of the kids, coaches and parents, we would like to send a special thanks to the entire Cornwall Colts organization for the wonderful time given to us. Also thanks go to the Booster Club, DK Sports Replay, Sub Bay Diner and Brian at Lada's Your Independent Grocer for their involvement in the event.

South Stormont Bantams Selects

The South Stormont Selects have taken home another winning tournament trophy in Embrun this weekend winning three games straight.

In the first game, they played Embrun, beating them in a 3 - 1 game. The goals were scored by Denis Pilon, Mike Belmore and Jason Lavallee. Adam Nelson assisted on two goals and Greg Rombough assisted on one.

South Stormont went on to win their second game against Cumberland in a 6-0 game. Goals in this game were scored by Adam Nelson (2), Jason Lavallee (2), Kevin Amelotte and Chad Dingwall.

The third game was the biggest challenge, beating Alexandria in a 3-2 game with double overtime periods. The goals for South Stormont were scored by Kevin Amelotte, Chad Dingwall and the overtime goals by Adam Nelson.

Alexandria fought hard, tying the game in the third period with 1 second left on the clock, but South Stormont came back to finish the game in overtime.

Hard work and dedication from all sixteen players on this team has paid off over this past season and hopefully it will continue.

South Stormont's record for this season is pretty impressive, and the coaching staff are very pleased with the team effort.

The team will be travelling to Kingston for their last three day tournament for this season and what a good way to finish the year, but with a win...

AVCO Top Team in Bantam Division

Despite losing a star player to the "A" travelling team, AVCO finished in first place overall in a really good, competitive 11 team Bantam House League Division.

Their record during the regular season was 21 wins, 4 losses and 5 ties. AVCO was also the best team in goals against, due to the superb goaltending of Jeff Lacroix and an excellent defense quartet of Mathieu Dore, Dan Brisebois, Corey Helmer and Claude Leroux.

AVCO's Ace Card was at centre with two of the leagues top players in Bernier Grenier and Dan Martin. Martin was the team's top socrer and second in league scoring.

Their success is attributed to the fast skating, strong checking and good playmaking, wingers. Joey Bellmore, Eric Poirier, Troy Vaillancourt and Shane Lavac were extrelemy efficient all year long.

Good luck in the playoffs.

Caller wonders why it takes eight days to get a Valentine's card from St. John's, Newfoundland to Cornwall, Ontario, especially when it is properly addressed!

Lady says the customers miss, JOHN HOTCHKISS at the corner of 11th and McConnell for his courteous service and respect for customers. We need more people like you!!!

Our local daily certainly emphasized the need for a proofreader in the March 13th issue, page 13. They stated that, "a decision has yet to be made on which 36 employees will be laid in an attempt to cut operating costs." (St. Lawrence College).

Caller thinks the ecology park planned for the City's waterfront is a great idea, but using Domtar bio-solids right in a residential area may not be too appealing to residents, tourists and customers of local businesses in the area.

Gentleman hopes that the Federal Government funding for Job Creation for students this summer will be used to give students meaningful training and experience in jobs that offer a future and not as waiters/waitresses, in the fast food industry and the like.

Iona Academy, St. Raphael's, Ontario, will hold a High School Reunion on August 16th, 17th, 18th, 1996. All former students are requested to contact Mrs. Kathryn McDonald (613) 733-6262 or Mrs. Helen MacDonald (613) 347-2805, if you would like to attend.

A big Hooray to AM/FM BAND who played for the residents birthday party on March 13th at Parisien Manor. It was great to see the residents dancing, especially MR. HAROLD HESSEL (who is 100 years old) and MR. O'BRIEN who danced the night away. They all had a great time and enjoyed the music. Refreshments were serve ... thanks to RITA, TERRY & STAFF.

"Things on the whole are faster in America; people don't stand for election, they run for office. If a person says he's sick, it doesn't mean regurgitating, it means ill. Mad means angry, not insane. Don't ask for the left-luggage; it's called a check-room.

History Trivia: On February 13th, 1759, at a session of the Nova Scotia legislature, the first vote by secret ballot was held in the British Empire.

Caller does not fully agree with introduction of school uniforms due to the cost. He believes this would be an added expense over and above other clothes needed after school and on weekends. He is also concerned this may lead to an "elitist" group. At the meeting, the survey revealed 54.1% are not in favour yet school trustees agreed to go ahead anyway.

Special thanks goes out to the ROTARY CLUB OF CORNWALL on pledging $15,000 over the next three years to the S.D. & G. & Akwesasne Children's Treatment Center for the support and treatment of victims of sexual and physical abuse. The Center officially opens April 15th at 12 York Street.

According to the Tax Trough III

The Canada Council has some very creative ways to get rid of millions of tax dollars. For instance, if a Canadian-owned publishing house incurs a deficit from publishing a book which "makes a culturally significant contribution to Canadian writing", it receives a grant to cover its losses. $7.37 million in losses were covered by the taxpayers of Canada in 1993-94.

Caller wonders who's responsible for fixing the HUGE POTHOLES in front of the Eastcourt Mall, especially between Tim Horton's and the former Fast Food Discount. They are large enough to damage a vehicle.

Congratulations to NICHOLAS BEAN, an eight year old speed skater from Cumberland, on setting a Canadian and Provincial record in the 500 metre race in 6.91 seconds recently. Nicolas is the grandson of Joan and Jean Yves Bordeleau and Dante and Christina Bean of Cornwall.

Get well wishes for DONALD McPHERSON. The family wishes Donald a speedy recovery from major surgery on February 20th. He's home now and doing not too bad ... "Dad, keep it up, things will get better day by day. Our prayers are with you."

With love,
your family.

Tip from Rita Rudner's "Guy Guide" she says, "if you buy your husband or boyfriend a video camera, for the first few weeks he has it, lock the door when you go to the bathroom". Most of her husband's early films ended with a scream and a flush.

Please, please, owner of 211 CMJ, Pontiac 6000, do not leave your little children in the car alone ... even for a few minutes!!

Gentleman says GORD O'BYRNE was out of line last Thursday night when he picked a child out of the crowd of OPSEU protesters. The OPSEU strike is about the workers demands for guaranteed job security, severance pay, etc.

Lady wonders if the City will be repaving Amelia Street this year. It's a nightmare to drive over it.

This is in thanks to the untiring efforts of the operator of the Cumberland Street snow removal machine in getting my share of snow into my driveway safely, in spite of having very little to work with on Friday, March 8th, 1996. Enduring life threatening speeds, ignoring his personal safety and sacrificing much of his coffee break time. He is hereby highly recommended for the Rubber Medal of the Year Award.

Cumberland St. resident.

Thought for the week ... Never, never, never, never give up!

Winston Churchill.

Caller says BOB ROTH'S editorial of March 10th issue, SN, was excellent. His article was thought provoking, intelligent and factual. Something lacking in the other local paper.

DONALD McPHERSON, wishes to extend special thanks to DARLENE & TERRY PUPULIN and brother GERALD of Kitchener. A very special thanks to Dr. Davoudi; doctors and nurses of Second North; also I.C.U. at the Cornwall General Hospital. I'm recovering from a long period of pain and suffering.

Donald McPherson.

Caller says that BOB ROTH is living proof that a little bit of knowledge is a very dangerous thing ... and for his obsession with the nudity she suggests he join a nudist colony.

Just a slip of the tongue ... MAYOR MARTELLE was making a declaration of pecuniary interest Monday night on the matter of Gunther Pascheck's property said, "I'd like to declare the Jimmy" ... before he caught himself.

Congrat's to JUDY BOBKA & RON WILSON on their appointments to the Cornwall Police Commission.

Congratulation to JENNIFER ROSS of Martintown on being selected as a monthly semi-finalist in "Teen Magazine & Maybelline's 1996 Great Model Search Contest" ... Good luck in the finals.

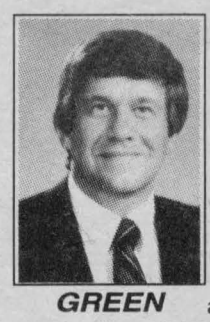
Caller says she wouldn't want to be an Anglophone in Quebec, because if Bouchard convinces them to vote for separation with promises of protecting Anglophones rights after separation, he could reverse his promise if Quebec does separate.

Attention all cub leaders in the Stormont-Glengarry Scout movement. Cubs Club will be held on Wednesday, March 20th, at 7:30 p.m. at Scout Camp in Lakeview Heights. All leaders are asked to attend. Cuboree will be discussed. Non-uniform.

Special presentation last week at OPSTF's 75th Anniversary celebration.

Two very important 75th Anniversary Certificates were presented to Jim Burrows (Prescott & Russell), posthumously and TOM GREEN (S.D. & G.) This was GREEN an award initiated by OPSTF to be presented to the individual in our District who most exemplifies all that OPSTF stands for and who has contributed the most both provincially and locally to our organization.



Lady driving a blue pick-up, Lic. #NS9 625 going north on Brookdale Avenue on Wednesday, March 13th, ... you should learn to use your sideview mirror or at least glance out the window before pulling into the left hand lane. I really do not appreciate almost being run off the road by a careless driver!

Cop: "Lady, how did you manage to hit the other car?"

Lady: "It's my husband's fault. He fell asleep in the back seat.

Pres. & Instructor

Cornwall Taekwondo School

102 Pitt St., Suite 2

Part of a 2000 Year Old Tradition

Q: I would like to study a martial art but I am concerned that after a few years I may move and I will have a hard time finding a school to accept my credentials. Is that a problem?

A: That is not a problem at all! Since we are a member of the World Taekwondo Federation, our program is accepted in almost every major city in Canada and the U.S. with many smaller schools in communities just like ours. The World Taekwondo Federation is recognized in over 140 countries and our certified black belts hold recognition in all of these countries. If you are moving we often can locate an instructor for you before you go. Our own school system has branches in Kingston, Peterborough, London, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax and two in Greece and one affiliate in South Korea with another two or three international schools opening soon. Our headquarters are in Ottawa.

Q: How to know if your roof needs help?

CHRIS GRIFFIN

A: The first step in the reroofing process is to determine whether or not you need a new roof in the first place. The following will help you identify the potential for roof failure. Consider, however, that it is not the best of policies to wait until the last minute before making the move. To be sure, call in a qualified roofer. He will check out the shingles, the flashing and the attic ventilation, and then recommend remedial action that should be taken should this be necessary.

Watch out for these warning signs:

Inside your home: Very often, the first sign of roof failure is not on the roof itself, but inside your home. Ceiling stains, flaking paint and plaster, peeling wallpaper and discolouration near the wall/ceiling joint, though they may appear negligible, serve as advance warning of future roofing problems.

Stains may be caused by condensation in the attic or water seeping through the shingle covering, very often at joints and flashings in the roof or as a result of ice build-up in the eaves.

In the attic: The attic space must be adequately ventilated and insulated; otherwise, condensation of interior moisture will occur. This will lead to ceiling stains or water leakage. After a heavy rain, check the attic for wet, darkened or stained decking and rafters. Moisture condensation may also accentuate any curling and clawing of the shingles on your roof. Moreover, wet insulation loses its effectiveness, with a consequent increase in heating costs.

On the roof: If your roof is more than ten years old, it is time to begin routine visual inspections. Inspections should be done twice a year, in the spring and in the fall. Much can be seen from the ground. If you do go up on the roof, make sure it's dry. Wear rubber-soled shoes for best traction and to avoid damaging the shingles. If you are uncomfortable with the idea of climbing the roof but suspect problems exist, call in a professional.

IT PAYS TO HEAT WITH OIL

Q: Would I benefit from converting to a Oil Fired Hot Water Heater?

A: Yes, there are many benefits to converting to a Lally Blanchard Oil Fired Hot Water Heater.

- Oil heating your hot water is up to 55% less expensive than electricity
- Our Hot Water Heaters produce hot water 5 times faster than electric hot water heaters
- A 30 gallon electric hot water heater produces 21 gallons of hot water per hour, while an oil fired hot water heater produces 100 gallons per hour. This means you will never run out of hot water again.
- The price of electricity is forecasted to continue to soar, whereas oil pricing is expected to remain stable, therefore, you will continue to save.
- Available for rental at only $9.95 per month for homes with chimneys, or $13.95 for homes without.
- No cost for installation
- Fast and easy installation
- No cost for maintenance or service

Q: Is it necessary to wash the bathroom walls before you paint?

A: Yes!! Mildew can grow and not be noticed until it bleeds through the paint. You should always try to achieve a clean, dull, dry surface to topcoat.

Using a solution of 1 litre of household bleach to 3 litres of water, add 3 tablespoons of T.S.P. (Trisodium Phosphate). Wash the bathroom using a extra fine steel wool pad instead of a sponge.

The steel wool pad will scour the surface of the old paint as the T.S.P. cleans and the bleach disinfects. Rinse the room well twice to ensure that no steel wool fibres are left behind, as they will rust if you are using a latex paint.

Doing the cleaning this way will give you a clean, dull, dry surface to topcoat, ensuring a trouble free result, that you will be proud of.

Q: I've decided what I want at my funeral and would like to pre-arrange my funeral service but I'm not sure if this is a good idea. Will it really save my family from having to do the arranging or will they still have to make all the decisions even though I've pre-arranged things?

A: Pre-arranging the funeral service establishes your wishes ahead of time. This considerate act can shield your family from the difficult decisions and confusion that often occur when limited time prevents thoughtful planning.

We help you plan a funeral ahead of time, for yourself or a family member. We explain your options, but best of all, you can make choices with freedom from the usual urgencies that are created when a death occurs.

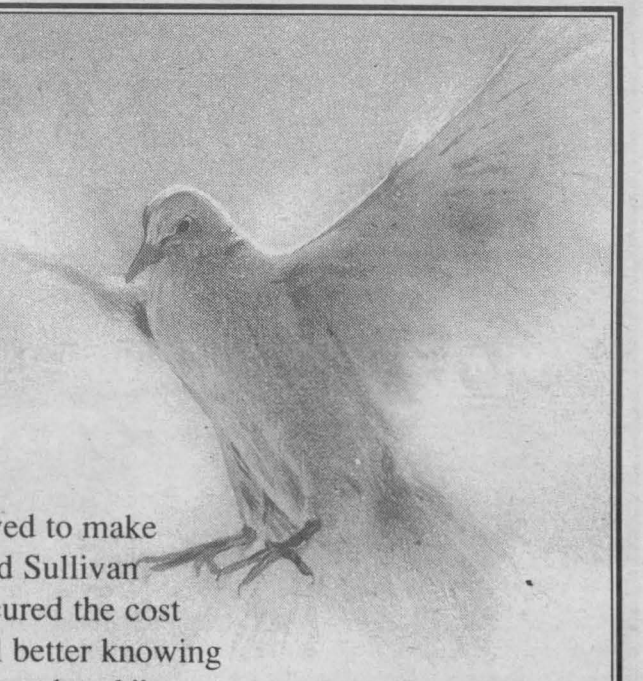
Life After Death



"Sam was only 62 when his heart gave out. His children lived away, and his wife was, of course, terribly upset. As close friends, my wife and I helped Mildred until the children could get here. I remember feeling as much despair for Sam's family as I felt for his passing. Mildred and the kids were overwhelmed with sadness, and things became even more difficult when no one knew what Sam wanted at his funeral.

After helping his family get through what seemed like endless details, my wife and I resolved to make advance funeral arrangements, and spare our children this heartache and frustration. Lahaie and Sullivan showed us how to plan every detail, even the music we each wanted. Our pre-arrangements secured the cost and provided us with a tax-sheltered investment (all interest earned is income tax free). We feel better knowing everything is taken care of so, no one will have to face the difficult decisions that Sam's family endured."

Pre-arrangements make life after death easier to bear for your loved ones. Don't hesitate, call Lahaie & Sullivan Cornwall Funeral Homes today to learn about freezing the costs to avoid inflation and easy installment plans.

CRIME STOPPERS

This week Crime Stoppers is highlighting insurance fraud. Stop paying for a crime you did not commit. Call Crime Stoppers and stop insurance fraud.

The Canadian Coalition against insurance fraud estimates that 1.3 billion dollars worth of insurance claims that are paid in Canada every year are fraudulent, which means that 10 to 15 percent of every dollar you pay for insurance goes to pay false claims.

Remember: we do not have call display, we do not record conversations, you are always anonymous.

If you have any information on this or any other crime, you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000 dollars. Remember we don't want you name, but please give us your information. Call Crime Stoppers at 937-8477 and for long distance calls 1-800-265-8477.

Irish Descendants Move Tour Plans Ahead

Tickets go on sale Monday, March 18th, for the Irish Descendants' April 21st performance at Aultsville Theatre, St. Lawrence College, Cornwall. The concert was originally slated for April 26th but has been moved forward to accommodate a scheduling conflict. The upcoming concert is part of a tour that began in mid-February and will take the group coast to coast. Last month demand was so great during their Ottawa stop, it necessitated adding a second show at Centrepointe Theatre.

The Irish Descendants' appeal lies in their ability to keep a firm grip on their Irish musical roots, pepper performances with a hearty sprinkling of Newfoundland humour, and to infuse a contemporary feel into the most traditional pieces. Whether it's a slow unaccompanied ballad, a rollicking fiddle tune, the more traditional "Walk In The Irish Rain", or a version of "Rattlin' Bog" that'll paste you back in your seat, The Irish Descendants decidedly live up to their ECMA award for "Entertainers of the Year".

HOROSCOPES

March 17 - 23

Aries – March 21/April 20
Be sure to shop around if you're making any major purchases. What seems like a bargain really might be too good to be true. At work, a difficult situation needs to be addressed before it gets even more problematic. Don't be afraid to speak up. Share new ideas — even if they seem unusual.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
Procrastinating will get you nowhere this week. Tackle projects early, leaving extra time for potential problems. In areas of the heart, there could be some ups and downs this week. Try to be more sensitive and attentive. Seek the advice of a professional if you have important financial concerns.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
Your flirtatious nature may be taken the wrong way by a more serious individual. Think about who you're dealing with before flashing that charming smile. This is especially true when it comes to business. Plans for an upcoming trip will require your attention later in the week.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Be sure to consult with your mate before making social commitments for the both of you. Keep emotions out of the workplace, especially later in the week. Don't let frustrations get the better of you. Instead, seek solace in aerobic exercise. An unexpected visitor brightens the weekend.

Leo – July 23/August 23
If you're in a new romance, you could be in for a bumpy ride. Instead of letting it get to you, play it cool, especially if you're involved with an Aries. Think twice before you make weekend plans that involve travel, especially if time has become a hot commodity. Relaxation is a better choice.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
Accept last-minute invitations and you could be in for a really fun time. A little spontaneity once in a while is just what the serious Virgo needs to keep a happy balance. If you're involved with a Libra, be sure to show your feelings this week. Sensitive Libra needs to know that you care.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
A chance meeting with an old flame will make you realize how far you've come in the past few years. You may be faced with an important decision later in the week. Listen to your gut feeling rather than choosing logic as a guide. Don't discount the advice of a family member. A change in routine will provide a refreshing break.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
Although honesty is usually the best policy, some things are better left unsaid — especially if people could be hurt in the process. Think about the consequences before you speak. A note from an old friend will brighten the week. You'll be inspired to get in touch with old friends.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec21
The unusual actions of a loved one will surprise you, but if you really think about it, you will probably make some sense out of the situation. If planning a budget, try to be as realistic as possible. Setting your sights too high is a recipe for disaster. Wednesday is a lucky day.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
A couple of friends will touch you by surprising you with a special treat. Be sure to show your appreciation. A work project may be the source of aggravation. But don't give up. Soon you will see the light at the end of the tunnel. Young children will be the focus this coming weekend.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
Stay in tune with the feelings of a loved one, especially if you're dealing with a Cancer. Your cheery nature is the right medicine for picking up someone who's down in the dumps. A can-do attitude will get you through a difficult work project. Your tenacity will be noticed.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
A selfish loved one may set you off the deep end early this week. Instead of letting it get to you, speak up. Get your frustrations off your chest, and you'll feel better. Not only that, but you'll get your point across, too. The later part of the week will be more relaxing. Leave time for meditation.

Night 'N Day

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

Mild, spring like weather has allowed some "green" to show and that will be complimented this weekend with the wearin' of the green for St. Patrick's Day on Sunday. A number of establishments are marking the occasion with some special food & entertainment. For example MIKE McANANY will be entertaining folks at the TOWN HALL RESTAURANT & PUB from 8pm-12pm Saturday & Sunday and Jim Graffetti will entertain from 4pm-8pm, also on Saturday & Sunday. There will be door prizes along with irish stew and corned beef & cabbage. Across the street at GEDORO'S RESTAURANT it will be a "green" celebration featuring live entertainment by THE SHAMROCKS starting at 4:00 pm. Gedoro's food specials will also include some cabbage rolls, corned beef and cabbage and some green pasta.

They will be enjoying some great irish stew on Sunday at the RCAF HALL on Water Street. The band will be DREAMLAND WHALERS between 1:00 pm - 6:00 pm. Members of RCAFA Wing 424 and guests are urged to attend.

Before the month of March is over you may wish to take advantage of the pasta special at AMBROSIA RESTAURANT on Pitt Street. These specials are available every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening. The special is buy one pasta dinner, get a 2nd at half price.

Sunday is also a busy day at the EAST END RESTAURANT at the Eastcourt Mall. They feature a Sunday Brunch between 10 am - 2 pm with a wide choice of menu items. They include Filet Mignon Brochette, Souvlake, Chicken and others.

Here's a reminder that the CAPTAIN'S RESTAURANT at Heritage Plaza at Pitt and Tollgate Road are now open 6 days a week between 7 am - 9 pm. Captain's also features an all-day breakfast for $2.49.

Aultsville Theatre at St. Lawrence College will be welcoming back the great GLENN MILLER sound with a concert on March 23rd at 8:00 pm. You can call Music World at 937-0424 for tickets.

Another irish stew special will be available on Sunday at the CORNWALL SENIORS CLUB on Pitt Street between 11:00 am and 5:00 pm. Everyone is welcome to join in for music, greenery and good food.

CORNWALL'S FIRSTS: The first Town Hall in Cornwall was erected in 1862 and enlarged in 1882. The first major Cornwall industry was a woolen mill which located here in the latter part of 1867, Confederation Year. The factory burned on Christmas Day 1870. Our pictorial feature this week shows the grandstand at the Athletic Grounds as it looked during one of the many events in 1946. As well we have included a photo of the President of the Cornwall Kinsmen Club of 1946, Mr. J.E. McDerby. The club was formed in 1933 and in that year (August 7th) a large section of the downtown business district was destroyed by fire. Over 30 families from the burned out area were made homeless. It was the Kinsmen Club that came to the rescue with a tremendous community effort that re-established all of the victims in new living quarters.

J. E. Mc DERBY
President

Each Thursday night during the month of March at 5:00 pm, the NAVY CHARITY DINER'S CLUB feature a great meal with proceeds for the Special Olympics. Members and guests welcome. The Navy Club on Sixth Street is also the location for the regular SINGLES DANCES. On March 30th it will be Denim Night starting at 9:00 pm.

BEEF & BOUQUET TIME - Our bouquet is to the members of council that voted to keep our beautiful Lamoureux Park free of a proposed brick and mortar building. Hat's off to Messrs. Aubry, Poirier, Lynch, Carr and Hollingsworth.

G'Day and G'Night.
