Kinsmen Loeb IGA Grocery Draw

The Cornwall Kinsmen Club held its first Kinsmen Loeb IGA Grocery Draw on Saturday Dec. 1/90. Winner of the $200 Loeb IGA Seaway dollars was Sandra Gallinger of Cornwall. Also the Kinsmen Club of Cornwall donated $200 to the Cornwall Snowsuit Fund. The Kinsmen Club will be holding the $200 Loeb IGA Seaway draw every Friday and Saturday with proceeds to local charities.

Village Store Features Book Autographing Session

An educational yet entertaining story lies between the handsome cover pages of "Eliza's Best Wednesday", written and illustrated by three local women. The authors and illustrator of the book will be at the Village Store on Sunday December 9 from 1 to 4 pm for an autograph signing session.

Catherine Lalonde of Ingleside worked at the Village for 11 years and now teaches grade 7 and 8 history.

Carol Sargent has a Fine Arts and an Education degree from the University of Guelph. The Chesterville native also works at Upper Canada Village and is a practising artist exhibiting locally.

The Village Store is located at the entrance to Upper Canada Village and is open daily from 9:30 am to 4 pm. Visitors are invited to stroll through the wintery streets and enjoy the Village during the holiday season.

SYLVIA's slant

By Sylvia Hall

I recently had a wonderful experience. I had a trip to the Crescent City. Yes! New Orleans (the Big Easy). Louisiana is a unique state. It's the only state that has Napoleonic Law, it has parishes instead of counties, and of course it has Cajun Country, with their own kind of food and music.

This is "friendly country", and it isn't a put on. People really do enjoy tourists. Of course tourism, conventions and conferences are their biggest business and for 10 months of the year. The other two months in the summer are too hot and humid. One resident of New Orleans told me "Every one of us is an ambassador of good will and happiness."

I can certainly agree. New Orleans is the happies place I have been in a long time. The 26 degree Celcius weather, dry, sunny and no humidity at this time of the year suited me just fine.

On a boat tour through the swamp country, it was interesting to see and smell the beautiful blue water hyacinths. Unfortunately, they are a menace, growing like crazy and out of control. I asked where they came from. It seems that years ago New Orleans had a State Fair. One of the participating countries was Japan. As a goodwill gesture they gave away packets of seeds. Many people didn't want them, so they threw them in the swamps, not realizing that was all the seeds needed to germinate and grow. Now, so many years later it is costing a lot of money to try to get rid of these lovely sweet smelling flowers that grow and re-seed very rapidly.

I saw a lot of alligators in the swamps and bayous, so I thought the products would be cheap. Not so. They skins are shipped to Taiwan, then the shoes, belts, handbags, etc. are shipped back, and cost more in Louisiana than they do here. Just as strange is the fact that, though they grow lots of rice and sugar cane, those refined products also cost more there than here. However, the shrimps, crawfish and oysters are plentiful and very cheap.

Cajun country is most interesting. When the Acadians arrived from Canada, the ruling government gave them deeds to the swamp land, not realizing that in a few years time it would be oil producing country. Although the "Cajuns" became very rich, they kept their family-oriented, sand and hard working way of life.

They couldn't build large fancy homes on swampland so they invested in shrimp boats. Many of the boats have French names, and they and the businesses stay in the family. People who make money are the ones selling flood insurance. The mighty Mississippi floods at unpredictable times and places, so everyone pays plenty of insurance. The State is below sea level so it doesn't take much to create havoc.

Anyone interested in French-Canadian history should visit this State. Learn the history of Mardi Gras, see the state's only gold statue and the history of the gold dome on the Roman Catholic church, and how to tell the age of an alligator.

Visit the Vieux Carré, the old French Quarter in New Orleans. Get yourself a "Go Cup" and stroll along Bourbon Street, Royal Street and Jackson Square. It's clean, it's safe and it's a lot of fun.

Be sure to wear your Canadian pin, because they have a special regard for Canadians, especially if you speak French. The New Orleans motto is "The place that care forgot" and they tell you "Laisser les bon temps roulés". Let the good times roll. My kind of town. If you have time to shop, keep all your receipts. When you arrive at the airport for your trip back home take your receipts to the "State Tax-Free Booth" where the 9% sales tax will be refunded. In cash for amounts under $100, or a receipt for a cheque to be mailed to you if over $100. These receipts are also useful when going through Canadian Customs.

Anyone For Bridge?

By Howard Cunningham

Every week we get several calls asking for the proper ruling on a particular infraction or to explain a convention that has been used at the table. We welcome these calls because it tells us that you are interested in the game and how it operates. The Laws of Duplicate Contract Bridge were first published in 1928. There has been several revisions and the last one was effective March 31, 1987. The Laws of Contract Bridge, revised in 1981, gives the complete rules for rubber bridge games. How many local players know these rules?

If you have any questions about the rules or any convention, send a letter to the Seaway News along with a self-addressed and stamped envelope. If you are in a hurry, call 932-5637.

How many times have you and your partner agreed upon a suit as trump but the opponents have also been active in the auction? Your partner now asks by the Blackwood Convention (four no trump) as to how many aces you have. Your right hand opponent now bids five hearts and you now have a problem because he has stolen your bid. If you and your partner had agreed to play DOPI over interference, you would not have this problem.

DOPI works like this: Remember over your partner's 4 NT the RHO bid 5 hearts. With no aces, you double – that is DO (double with none); With one ace, you pass – that is P1 (pass with one). With two aces, bid the next suit up – in this case bid 5 spades. With 3 aces, bid two suits up – in this case you would bid 5 NT.

Although there are several conventions to use over interference, we think the DOPI is the simplest and most popular. That is unless you forget what DOPI stands for. I remember playing this convention with a partner several years ago. We had agreed upon a suit and over the 4NT asking bid, my left hand opponent bid 5 hearts and my partner went into a long huddle and finally doubled. She had two aces and we missed a cold slam. She apoligized and said that all she could think of was Son of a B – Son of a B.

On the local scene, A Flighted Open Pairs Club Championship game is scheduled for Monday evening, regular games on Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon. A Charity Bridge for the Canadian Liver Foundation will be held at Chateau Cornwall on Wednesday evening starting at 7:30 p.m. There will be both rubber and duplicate bridge plus prizes and refreshments. This Thursday evening game will be held at St. Joseph's Villa and the Senior Citizens Bridge Club will hold their Christmas Party on Friday afternoon.

PLAY PROBLEM D-1

North opens the bidding with one Diamond, East overcalls with two Clubs and South bids 3 Notrump, followed by three passes. How should you play the hand and can it be defeated after the opening lead of the Jack of Clubs?

Perspective

By Bob Roth

Is Mulroney Trying To Destroy Canada?

Long before there was a trans Canada Highway, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation formed a coast to coast bond across this diverse nation of ours.

CBC stations were posted in such a way that no matter where you were, you could pick up a signal--even if it was on the short wave band. For decades Canadians could communicate to one another through this institution.

Now, that sacred Canadian cow is on its way to the slaughterhouse.

The CBC--egged on by the Mulroney government announced that it is closing 10 local television stations and slashing 1,200 jobs.

(Where are those "jobs, jobs, jobs" he promised us during the free trade debate?

This is just the latest national institution to come under the assault from the Tories.

VIA Rail service has been effectively chopped into a mish-mash of unconnected links.

Deregulation of airlines means you can no longer get passenger jet service from Ottawa to the Soo.

And now, the CBC.

Why do the Tories want to dismantle the Canadian state?

Could it have something to do with the large number of seats held in Quebec?

Everything the Tories are doing demonstrates that this party has no interest in building a Canadian culture. As Quebec's bid for independence intensifies, we can expect other provinces to demand more powers as well. Soon we will be 10 mini-states. Or worse, 10 giant shopping centres all feeding into the American economy in accordance with the free trade deal.

Despite the promise of an economic boom, the aftermath of the free trade deal has seen layoffs and a major recession. I find it ironic to see members of the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce complaining in local newspapers about Cornwallites shopping in New York state. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, after all, was a key backer of the free trade deal.

That is one of the many contraditions of the so-called "free-enterprisers". On the one hand, they tell consumers to get the best deal they can in the "marketplace", but they holler like babies when consumers take them up on the rhetoric.

Now, all of a sudden, our local merchants are appealing to community "nationalism". Shop in Cornwall; you are hurting the local economy by taking money elsewhere, they say.

Sorry fellows, you can't have it both ways.

If you want people to have a loyalty to community and to country, you have to build values that bond such feelings. You have to build that sense of being "Canadian". Instead, business leaders told Canadians to hang their nationalism in the closet. And that's just what they're doing in Cornwall.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

I strongly object to the phraseology used in the Nov. 19/90 edition of the S.F. pertaining to the Mayor's expense paid trip to Britain and parts of Europe. I quote "The city is sending Mayor Poirier, etc., etc." Then I read the Mayor had handed out copies of his itinerary to the 10 sitting ducks that compromise his council. From what I make out of it, it appears that the Mayor planned the trip and then let the rest know about it, or is this one of the eggs that was laid in Brockville after 20 hours of sweat and tears?

Mr. Peters seems to think that the board members of the various firms located in Cornwall do not know a thing about Cornwall. Actually they don't have to because their G.M. should already have all the agenda on these matters such as there's a skilled workforce in Cornwall just dying for jobs. The will is here but the work is not.

I'm surprised that Mr. Poirier did not take advantage of modern technology that exists. One which I believe his personal business sells. I'm talking about the fax machines. All the knowledge about Cornwall could be faxed to the Ontario Trade Offices and distributed from there to the people who need to know these things. Of course that would interfere with a well planned trip wouldn't it?

Was it because of his B.C. sojourn that a trip to Britain and Europe came to mind? I could be wrong but I haven't heard about any businesses that moved to Cornwall because of the Mayor's trip to the west.

Incidently the weather in Britain could be nasty at this time of the year. One would have thought one would have chosen Mexico, sunshine, tequila and the prospect of free trade. There's a "perk" to the Mayor's job these days, expense paid holidays either through Canada or Europe, the choice is yours.

Respectfully
Fred Upton

Housing Starts Key Numbers

With so many different events taking place both in Canada and around the world in general, it is often easy to become distracted. In particular I have a tough time trying to figure out where the economy is going both in the short run and intermediate term. It goes without saying that the stock market will trade up or down based on the outlook for the economy so it is important for the investor to come to grips with the economic picture.

There are many indicators that analysts use to try and determine where we are headed. Some of them are lagging indicators such as unemployment and wages and others are leading such as stock markets and housing starts.

Did I say Housing Starts?

It just so happens I received a report in today that talked about the September figures for building projects in Canada. This report comes in on a regular basis but this month it had a different slant and left me wondering.

It pointed out that the dollar value of building permits fell by 3.0 percent in September following a gain of 17 percent in August. Non-residential permits actually rose by 3.2 percent after having fallen by 23 percent in the prior two months, while residential permits fell a whopping 8.5 percent versus a slight gain in August (and rather sharp declines since January of 1990). Of total construction about one half is residential these days and 1/2 is non-residential (i.e. industrial, commercial, etc.)

It went on to say that residential construction permits peaked at about $2.2 billion in January 1990 and as of September were down about 46 percent to $1.2 billion. The feeling was that this downtrend would continue. However, the report pointed to a divergence between construction of single unit and multiple unit dwellings.

Specifically, the number of units in total for September fell to 138,000 from 150,000 in August and projections for October and November are now 137,000 and 143,000 respectively. But of this total single units are expected to stabilize at 81,000 roughly while multiple units are expected to sag to about 56,000 verses the 67,000 recorded in the previous month.

So what?

Well, it would seem that most of the negative impact that a fall in construction places on the economy will be over by the end of the first quarter in 1991. That is the good news.

The bad news is that it usually takes a lot longer to get construction rolling in the area of multiple units and thus the economy may go sideways for a little longer than many analysts predict.

This transition to recovery will place additional pressure on interest rates to come down a lot farther than they have already.

I was not aware (until now) of this particular phenomena and could still use a little convincing from those in the know.

As things get slower my single unit could become a multiple unit very easily. Does this count as an additional multiple unit?

KNOW YOUR ELECTRICITY

By Brian Bedard

If you were to do your own painting, and the colour that you have mixed did not turn out, no one was hurt. If the plumbing you repaired leaked, no one was hurt, but if you wire something incorrectly it could cause a death.

It is for this reason that the electrical trade has one of the highest standards of codes of all the trades. Electricity has been called the silent killer, and this accounts for the many codes we as electricians must follow.

Today we will look at a few of these. Let's start with our branch circuits. Light and plug outlets - Rules 30-04, 14-600 state the maximum rating of fuses or breakers supplying the lighting or plug branch circuits is 15 amps. Appliance plut outlets - Rule 14-600 states the maximum rating of fuses or breakers supplying the appliance plug outlets in kitchens is 15 amps. If you're using 20 amp fuse, you require more circuits, not large fuses! Range and dryer outlets - Rule 26-746 requires plug outlets for these heavy appliances. Number of circuits - Rule 30-104 each circuit breaker or fuses may supply only one circuit. It is not correct to connect two or more wires to a fuse or circuit breaker. A sufficient number of breakers or fuses should be provided in the service panel.

Fuses. We should note that Rule 14-204 where fuse type panels are used, it is difficult if not impossible, to control the size of branch circuit fuses used. It is too easy to replace a blown fuse with one of a higher rating. To avoid this all plug fuse holders must have a non-interchangeable adapter. Once a 15 amp adapter has been installed in the fuse base, the size of the opening and the thread is altered so that only a 15 amp fuse will fit.

Thoughtfulness Can Save Lives This Season

As your MPP, I am on many different organizations' mailing lists. In many cases, material comes to me and it is simply a matter of looking it over. But I received information recently from the Addiction Research Foundation that is most interesting at this time of year - how to be the perfect host.

It is worthy of note that under Ontario law, hosts and bartenders may be held liable not only for the safety of their intoxicated guests, but for any damage as well. Deciding on whether guests are capable of driving or whether to call a cab depends on a number of factors including how quickly they drank, as well as weight and age.

The ARF notes that if a 160 pound man of average build, with no food in his stomach, has about two and a half standard drinks in the first hour of drinking, he will register a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of .05 in the first hour. If that same man is over 50, he will need only two drinks to reach that same level. A 120 pound woman will register a similar BAC after only one and a half drinks.

All this is enough for the police who are busy with their RIDE (Rid Impaired Driving Everywhere) programs this month. They will take away your vehicle and suspend your license up to 12 hours for a BAC between .05 and .08.

Food has an impact on how quickly alcohol will affect you. High protein foods, such as unsalted nuts, raw vegetables and dip, meats and unprocessed cheese are best, because they slow down the rate at which alcohol is absorbed. I would suggest alternate drinks such as coffee, tea, and even eggnog without rum and fruit punches made with soda water instead of alcohol.

Keep in mind that so called remedies such as coffee, fresh air, or a cold shower do not work. Everyone is becoming more concerned about drunk driving and few people will resent hosts who show they care about their guests. In fact, perhaps the old saying of "one for the road" is the poorest form of hospitality.

In any case, the best of the season to all.

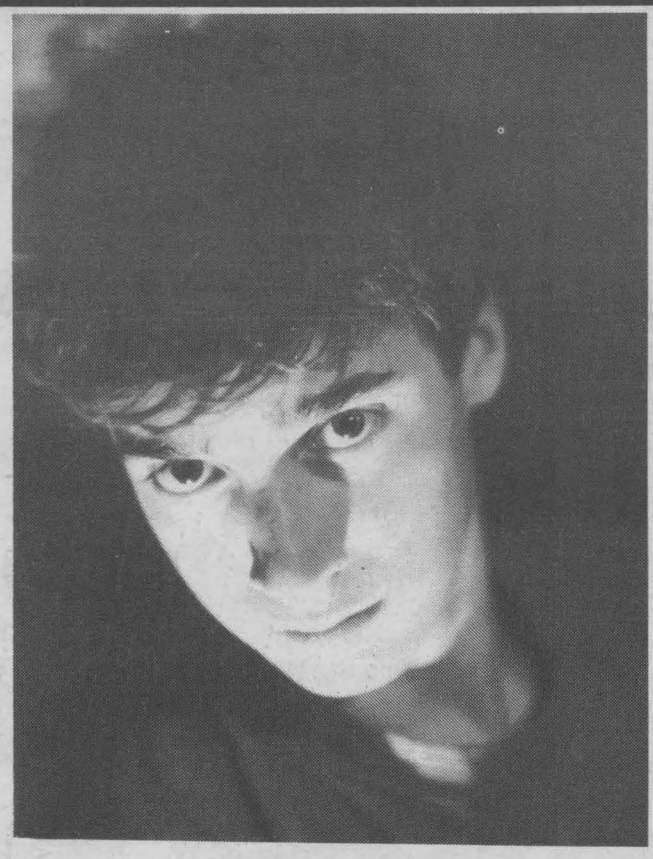
"My Kid's Just Going Through a Phase"


Peer pressure begins early. A national survey indicated a significant number of fourth graders said they felt "some" to "a lot" of peer pressure to try alcohol or marijuana. In the seventh grade, an alarming number of children said they felt pressure to try alcohol and marijuana. Young people are succumbing to peer pressure. According to the National Institute of Drug Abuse and the National Council on Alcoholism: "The average age of first drug use is 13. Of first alcohol use - 12." These statistics hold true for the the children of Upstate New York/S. Eastern Canada.
Why kid yourself? Substance abuse has been a problem for a long time. Today it is a larger and more serious problem than ever before. Pay attention to the facts.
Know the signs.

ROSE HILL
There is Help Available
Chemical Dependency Program for Youth
Rose Hill is a modern residential treatment facility in Massena, NY, removed from big-city pressures and in touch with the natural environment. The local community strongly supports Rose Hill and provides many resources for its programs.
Rose Hill emphasizes well-being and focuses on the process of addiction rather than the particular drug of abuse.
Treatment is based on the belief that addiction to mood-altering chemicals is a progressive, chronic and sometimes fatal disease. In the treatment process the whole person - body, mind, spirit, and emotions - is addressed. The family is also involved in the treatment, with follow up in an intensive continuing care program for both patient and family.
You need not feel helpless any longer. We're here to help.

Money Sense

By Phil Hale

Independent Financial Advisor

Leveraging

When most people buy a house or condominium, they pay a 20 or 25 percent downpayment, then finance the remainder of the purchase price with a mortgage. Within several years, the value of the house increases and so does the owners' equity.

This is an example of using leverage to make your money work for you. The same principle can be applied to such investments as stocks, bonds or mutual funds. Investors can use borrowed money to increase their own wealth.

However, leverage can also lead to losses. Used wisely and properly, leverage can reap significant rewards.

Here's an example which illustrates just how effective a financial tool leveraging can be. Suppose you invested $50,000 in an equity-based mutual fund. You put down $25,000 of your own money and borrow $25,000 for three years at a rate of 12 percent a year. Your interest costs total $9,000. During those three years, your mutual fund units rose in value by 60 percent to $80,000.

You decide to sell your units. After you repay your $25,000 loan and deduct your interest costs of $9,000, you have $46,000, a profit of $21,000 or 84 percent. Actually, you earned more because your interest costs are tax deductible.

However, had you not leveraged your investment by borrowing $25,000, your net profit would have been considerably less. Your original $25,000 would now be worth $40,000, a gain of $15,000 and only a 60 percent return on your investment. By leveraging, you earned an extra 24 percent.

Remember, you could also lose money. Suppose you invested the same $50,000 in another mutual fund. Instead of climbing, the units fell 20 percent in value to $40,000. Now, you would face a severe loss. After repaying the $25,000 loan and interest costs of $9,000, you would have $6,000. But you began with $25,000 of your own money. So you have suffered a capital loss of $19,000 or 76 percent.

You can cut your loss somewhat by deducting your interest cost, but it won't do much to restore your faith in stocks, mutual funds or leveraging.

If you had invested your own money, you would not have lost as much. Your $25,000 investment would have shrunk by $5,000 or 20 percent.

The law protects investors by imposing a margin limit which dictates how much he/she can legally borrow. Usually, the margin limit is 50 percent of the investor's assets.

Obviously, investors must know when to leverage.

Christianity Alive

By Bob Burgess, Pastor
New Life Covenant Church
(A Spirit-Filled New Testament Church)

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."

What a tremendous scripture in 1 Tim. 6:17. The Bible warns us to be careful about riches of the world. Why would God say such a thing in His Word? Because He knows that riches have a way of making us proud, arrogant, and self sufficient. People believe that because so and so has 3 cars, 2 boats, a house, a cottage and a large bank account, that he/she must be secure in life. Nothing could be further from the truth and this is one of the things this verse is saying. Security does not come from things, but from God. Some people are rich in things, but poor in life. They are poor in the things that really count such as joy, peace, harmony & love. These are the true riches and they alone come from God and this verse also says that God wants to give us these things to enjoy.

This verse tells us to be careful where we have our security. The verse is not saying that God doesn't want us to have things, but to simply guard ourselves from allowing those things to become our security instead of God Himself. Verse 18, 19 which follow the above verse suggests that those people who are rich, that they do good to others, that they be rich in good works, ready to help others and to distribute to those who are in need. Verse 19 tells us in doing such things, we are pleasing God and that they are receiving riches that will endure forever.

Where is your security today? Is it in God or in what you own? Is it in your job or your bank account? God alone must be our security and we must learn to put our full trust in Him.

Remember as always, God loves you, He really, really does.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT:

1. God sometimes conceals His purpose so that we will be consoled by His promise.
2. Don't wrestle with your circumstances, but rest in God.

ROGERS

Community 11

Cross border shopping is an issue that has been in the news in the past few months. It's an element that affects our local economy. This subject is the topic of a special one hour edition of Political Hotline with Ron Martelle. Tuesday night at 8 pm Ron's guests will be local businessman George Assaly, Rich Rosetti, manager of St. Lawrence Centre and CJSS radio news director Alan Bojarski. You will be able to ask questions and offer your comments to the panel on this live phone in show.

Also this week join our Division Manager, Carol Ring for Rogers Connection, live Wednesday at 7 pm. During this live phone-in program the topic will be the Canadian Cable Television Associations Customer Service Standards. These standards were developed to help us measure the job we're doing for you, and to identify areas where we need to improve.

Some of the other highlights on your community channel include: Countdown to Council and live coverage of Cornwall City Council live on Monday beginning at 7 pm and the December edition of State of the Arts presented by Cornwall Parks and Recreation Department. This Thursday at 6 pm Julie Vaillancourt previews various choirs in the city.

Remember your comments about our programming are always welcome on the Community 11 Response Line by calling 932-1433 anytime.

Big Tupper Ski Area

Rte. 30 Tupper Lake, NY

Big Tupper Ski Area, with its three chairlifts, T-bar and Mitey Mite beginner's lift, has been developed as a family ski area, and the expansion program carried on over the past years has been designed to accomodate ski families. With the addition of a third chairlift, Big Tupper boasts a vertical drop of 110 feet, making it the third largest private ski area in Eastern New York. There is ample free parking and short lift lines. Come ski with us at Big Tupper this season. You will enjoy the friendly atmosphere, the well-groomed slopes, trails that will challenge every level of skier, and most of all ... the short lift lines.

Sammy was accused recently of taking shots at local people shopping in the U.S. Sammy doesn't say don't shop in the U.S. but what he does say is "try and spend our money at home FIRST then go over and have a look around. "And by the way, it is against the law not to declare goods so if you do shop in the U.S. be prepared to pay duty. We Canadians are fast to point fingers but if you get caught speeding is it the fault of the police YOU are not following the rules? People have the right to choose in this country, and if you choose to shop in the U.S., then don't cry when our taxes go up because our gov't cannot fund our programs because of decreasing tax revenues.

A "certain Abraham" ... feeling the "Xmas spirit" along with pity for an individual he felt "needed a little help" ... wound up "buying back his own wood" (which had been picked up to be "split"). The "guys of the round table" will be a long time recovering from this roust!!

What's a "Needy Tree"? A wonderful idea ... & The Social Justice Committee of Lancaster have one set up at the Lancaster Freshmart. The tree contains envelopes with the names of needy children, adults & elderly ... you merely pick an envelope, buy a gift & return it with the name of the recipient ... and Santa looks after the rest. (P.S. This is a non-denominational tree.)

Everyone danced the night away!!! Optimist Club of Cornwall held their Christmas party at the Holiday Inn on Friday, Nov. 30/90. The Inn was jumping as everyone had a terrific time, music with D.J. Sporty Favourite Prelude Sweeps Into '91 With Refinements, Performance

The winning combination of refined styling and excellent performance will carry Honda's popular Prelude sports coupe into 1991 visually unchanged from 1990, but with subtle improvements.

Two levels of trim and two engine output combinations distinguish three Prelude models. The standard Prelude S returns with a 135 horsepower, 2.0-litre DOHC engine featuring Honda's Multi-Point Programmed Fuel Injection (PGM-FI). The Prelude in SR trim is powered by a 2,056 cc engine producing 140 horsepower. The innovative 4-wheel steering system first introduced on Prelude in 1988, returns on a special edition model which will reach the market this spring.

By using composite material technology to reduce weight and strengthen the cylinder block, Honda engineers eliminated the need for cast iron cylinder sleeves in the Prelude engine.

In the area of the cylinder walls, aluminum oxide and carbon fibre were cast into the aluminum alloy block material, giving the Prelude engine a larger bore without a corresponding increase in engine size or weight. As a bonus, the resultant composite not only strengthens the cylinder walls, but also provides better cooling characteristics for improved power output.

Features on the SR version are not limited to the engine compartment. All SR models have standard air conditioning, driver's foot rest, driver's seat lumbar and bolster adjustments and other features. A new SR/ALB model features alloy wheels and body-colour door handles and rear spoiler for 1991, while Honda's anti-lock brake (ALB) system will be standard.

All Prelude models feature Honda's unique double-wishbone suspension system both front and rear, power-assisted four-wheel disc brakes, variable assit power rack-and-pinion steering, power sun roof and cruise control. A 5-speed manual transmission is standard and an electronically controlled 4-speed automatic with lock-up torque converter and sport mode is available on all models.

Province Funds Capital Projects At The St. Lawrence Parks Commission

The provincial government announced today The St. Lawrence Parks Commission will receive $685,000 for various projects, including forest management and park improvement, new storage facilities, repairs and renovations at Upper Canada Village and Fort Henry, a final design for improved marina facilities and enhanced recreation facilities for the Long Sault Parkway.

"These projects will encourage more residents and visitors to come and see some of Ontario's best attractions", said Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation Peter North. "The completed projects reflect the government's commitment to tourism and recreation and their importance to the economy."

"This injection of capital funds will stimulate the winter economy in Eastern Ontario and all The St. Lawrence Parks Commission to improve and enhance its facilities for the 1991 tourism season. We have targetted the Long Sault Parkway as a focus of our parks improvement program for 1991, including playground equipment, picnic shelters, a band shell and interpretive displays" commented George Speal, Q.C., Chairman of The St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

Various attractions and agencies of the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation will receive an initial $4.2 million in capital fundss as part of the government's announcement today of $41 million for capital projects. This is the first phase of the $700 million commitment to capital projects announced in the Throne Speech.

Other agencies to recieve funding include: Huronia Historical Parks $2,076,000, the Ottawa Congress Centre $1,126,700, Old Fort William $160,000, Thunder Bay Ski Jumps Limited $40,0000 and Ontario Place Corporation $200,000.

PURE CLEAN POWER
* Highest Octane On The Street

The formation of deposits occurs in all fuel systems. In today's sophisticated fuel injector systems it is more important than ever to avoid deposit formation.
DEPOSTIS CAUSE SERIOUS PERFORMANCE PROBLEMS SUCH AS:
- loss of power
- poor starting
- rough idling
- hesitation
- stalling
- poor acceleration
- reduced fuel economy

All Sunoco gasolines contain a performance additive that is test proven effective and begins to clean fuel injectors and carburetors immediately and keeps them clean! And that's a fact!

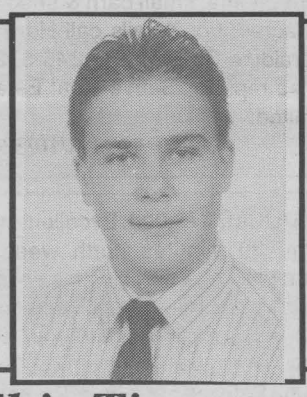
GO ROYALS GO GO ROYALS GO GO ROYALS GO

MEET THE CORNWALL ROYALS



Ilpo Kauhanen

Ilpo arrived in Cornwall in late August from Kuopie, Finland with assistance from J.A. Schneider's father, Sam, who put the Royals in touch with the goalie's agent.

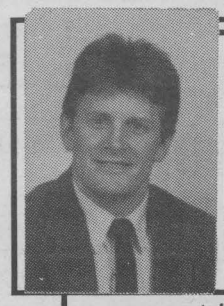
Ilpo has shown tremendous reflexes and agility and great raw potential in his time with the Royals. He's still learning to adjust to the smaller ice surface in North America and to remain in control when he ventures from the crease to cut down angles.

Ilpo's favourite NH L netminder is Ron Hextall of the Flyers.

This Time In History 1976

Four members of the Royals, Rick Paterson, Dave Geoffrion, Graeme Nicolson and Tim Bernhardt, were named to the QMJHL All-Star Team that would take part in the first annual International Major Junior Hockey Tournament, the forerunner of the World Junior Championships.

The Quebec League would finish second in the four team tourney with a 4-2 record. Playing on a talented squad that included future NHL'ers Mike Bossy and Robert Picard, Bernhardt was named team MVP allowing just 13 goals in the 6 games he played.



COACH'S CORNER

by Marc Crawford

The Royals play their first regular season game outside of Canada on Friday, December 14th when we faceoff in Detroit.

The Ambassadors are owned by the Compuware Corporation that is lobbying for an NHL expansion team in St. Petersburg, Florida. Their home is 9,500 seat Cobo Arena, the former home of the NBA's Detroit Pistons. The Ambassadors have opted for older, experienced players and have already beaten teams such as Ottawa and Sault Ste. Marie on home ice. There are no gifts in the OHL and we'll have to be at top of our game to be rewarded with 2 points.
