Apprentice Program at SLC

St. Lawrence College offers an educational 40 week motor vehicle techniques program at its Cornwall campus, which provides training targeted at providing the student with the necessary skills to diagnose and troubleshoot automotive problems. The course uses on board diagnostics, flow charts, service tools and a direct hands on approach to learning the intricate details of fully serving the increasing public and private demands of the automotive industry. The popular St. Lawrence College program, which oversees approximately 100 apprentices per year, was the recent beneficiary of a 1999 Pontiac Trans Sport donated by General Motors of Canada. This van, although accidented, will be used in class for students to familiarize themselves with today's automotive problems.

HOROSCOPES

March 28-April 3

Aries – March 21/April 20
When it comes to a family decision this week, you can't think just about yourself. You're not the only person who will be affected by this. Consider the toll your choice will take on everyone involved, and then decide. A close friend needs your help with a problem at work. Offer your advice, but don't get too involved.

Taurus – April 21/May 21
Keep a positive attitude when it comes to work, Taurus. There are a lot of rumors going around, but don't believe everything that you hear. Talk to reliable sources, and try to find out what's really going on. A loved one is feeling down in the dumps. Do what you can to cheer him or her up. Gemini is involved.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
"What are you talking about?" You'll find yourself asking this question a lot during the week. Friends and loved ones keep turning to you with irrational questions. Don't get frustrated; just try to help them understand what's going on. Leo plays an important role late in the week.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
A business accomplishment puts you in the spotlight at work. Don't shy away from the attention. You should be proud of what you've done. Your superiors are impressed with your efforts. That special someone is angered by something that you do late in the week. Try to make him or her understand your motivation.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Don't be taken in by an acquaintance's sweet talk. He or she is trying to get you to do something that you normally wouldn't do. Don't fall for his or her tricks. Stand up for what you believe in. A good friend shares a secret with you. Keep it to yourself, because it's not your place to tell anyone.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
Don't be nervous about an important meeting this week, Virgo. You are more than capable of handling the situation and coming out on top. Loved ones offer their help with a personal matter. Say yes. You know that you can't handle this on your own.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
While you would prefer to be alone this week, you don't have that option. Co-workers get you involved in a difficult problem at work, and loved ones monopolize your time at home. Help everyone out, and do what they need you to do. Don't get frustrated — you'll have plenty of time to yourself soon.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
Don't try to monopolize that special someone's time this week. He or she has a lot to do and can't be spending every minute with you. Don't get nervous. His or her feelings for you haven't changed at all. You're still the one. A family member asks for your help with a financial matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21
You really stick your foot in your mouth when talking with a loved one early in the week, Sagittarius. Don't get upset with yourself. Just explain what you really meant to say. He or she will understand. A close friend invites you out. While you don't want to go, say yes. You're sure to have a good time.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
Try to keep a stiff upper lip when someone whom you respect is upset with you. While some harsh words may be said, he or she really has your best interest at heart. Try to remember that. That special someone has a surprise for you. Enjoy!

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
Don't just stand by and watch a close friend make a bad decision this week, Aquarius. Try to make him or her better understand the situation. While this person may be angry at first, he or she will be glad that you get involved. Gemini plays a key role late in the week.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
An acquaintance turns to you for help with a family problem. While you want to help, don't get involved. You don't know enough about the situation to give him or her sound advice. A loved one takes you out for a night on the town. Enjoy yourself!

Cornwall Resident Shares Medical Skills and Equipment with Jamaica

A Canadian ophthalmologist returned from Kingston, Jamaica recently having participated in a medical mission aboard the ORBIS DC-10 flying eye surgery hospital. Dr. Garth Taylor has volunteered on 65 such missions for ORBIS, the world's leading humanitarian organization dedicated to saving sight worldwide through hands-on training, public health education and improved access to eye care.

TAYLOR

During an earlier visit to Kingston, Dr. Taylor recognized the need for a piece of ophthalmic equipment at the Kingston Public Hospital. Mr. Reid Hayes, President of B&H Optical in Belleville generously stepped up to the plate, donating an Alliance Slit Lamp and Goldman Tonometer, which are essential for preoperative exams, to the hospital in Jamaica. The value of the donated equipment is in excess of $5000. B&H has been distributing ophthalmic instruments in Canada since the early 1980s and now markets Alliance Medical Products with a commitment to continual product improvement and reliable service. "I am thrilled to be able to support ORBIS in their important sight-saving work," says Hayes.

This month's program in Kingston marks ORBIS's 6th plane program to Jamaica. Working in conjunction with the Jamaican Ministry of Health and the ophthalmic societies of Jamaica and the West Indies, ORBIS aims to eradicate curable and preventable blindness in the region.

Taylor, an ophthalmic surgeon from Cornwall specializing in cornea and cataract, joins an international team of doctors, nurses and biomedical technicians aboard the DC-10 to train medical personnel from across the West Indies in the latest surgical techniques. Taylor was born and educated in Jamaica and feels privileged to be invited back to the country to help local doctors acquire the skills they need to achieve and maintain a high standard for eye care in Jamaica. Selected local ophthalmologists receive hands on training by Dr. Taylor and the other surgeons, while additional participants watch the surgery from a classroom at the front of the plane equipped with a two way audio visual system.

Today, there are more than 45 million blind people across the world and 135 million more who are visually impaired. Worldwide blindness is increasing and predicted to double by the year 2020. Right now one child in the world goes blind every minute. However, the knowledge and technology for reversing or preventing 80 percent of world blindness already exists. Canadian medical workers have the expertise to help eradicate preventable blindness.

Since 1982, ORBIS has carried out nearly 360 training programs in 79 countries and trained more than 42,000 doctors and nurses. In the process, ORBIS medical teams have directly restored the sight to more than 21,000 patients. The sight-saving skills shared by ORBIS medical staff have enabled local doctors to save or restore sight to approximately 6 million people.

Akwesasne Mohawk Casino
A Good Reason To Come Home

The Akwesasne Mohawk Casino is beckoning Mohawk people to come home to the St. Regis Mohawk Reservation. Opening April 11th, over half of the casino's 1,000 employees will be Native American.

The reservation resides along the St. Lawrence River and State Route 37 in the American portion of the sprawling Akwesasne Territory that spans the US/Canadian border into New York, Ontario and Quebec. It's further north than Lake Placid, NY. About an hour beyond the northern border of the six million acre Adirondack Park. About ten miles south of Cornwall, Ontario.

But it's the center of the universe to the people who have lived there for generations. It's a place rich with beauty, history and tradition. These days through, it struggles with persistent unemployment of 50 percent, minimum wage jobs, and an exodus of residents leaving home to build better lives - like the ironworkers, tradespeople and professionals who migrate to cities throughout the US and Canada.

Candace and Leonard Oakes agree that the new Akwesasne Mohawk Casino is helping to change that. They are siblings who have come home.

"Our parents moved away when we were children because there was no work here," Candace said. "Both Lenny and I went to work as dealers at Turning Stone Casino to learn the business, and we've been waiting for this. We're very happy to be back. This is a great opportunity for us."

Native Americans are finding jobs in all departments of the casino such as housekeeping, facilities, finance, food and beverage, retail and gaming - from entry level to managers. Within the next few years, a number of Native American employees also will find themselves on the fast track to mangement, according to General Manger John Ferrucci.

"In five years, when President RC- St. Regis Management Company's management contract is concluded, the tribe will be running the casino. We want to have everyone ready and in place for the successful continued operation of the casino," he said.

The stylish, modern casino features 50,000 sq.ft. of gaming floor with over 90 table games, including blackjack, craps, double and single 0 roulette, midi-baccarat, and over 1,000 machines coming soon; plus a 180 seat restaurant, entertainment lounge and gift shop.

The casino will open to the public April 11, 1999 at 10:00 am.

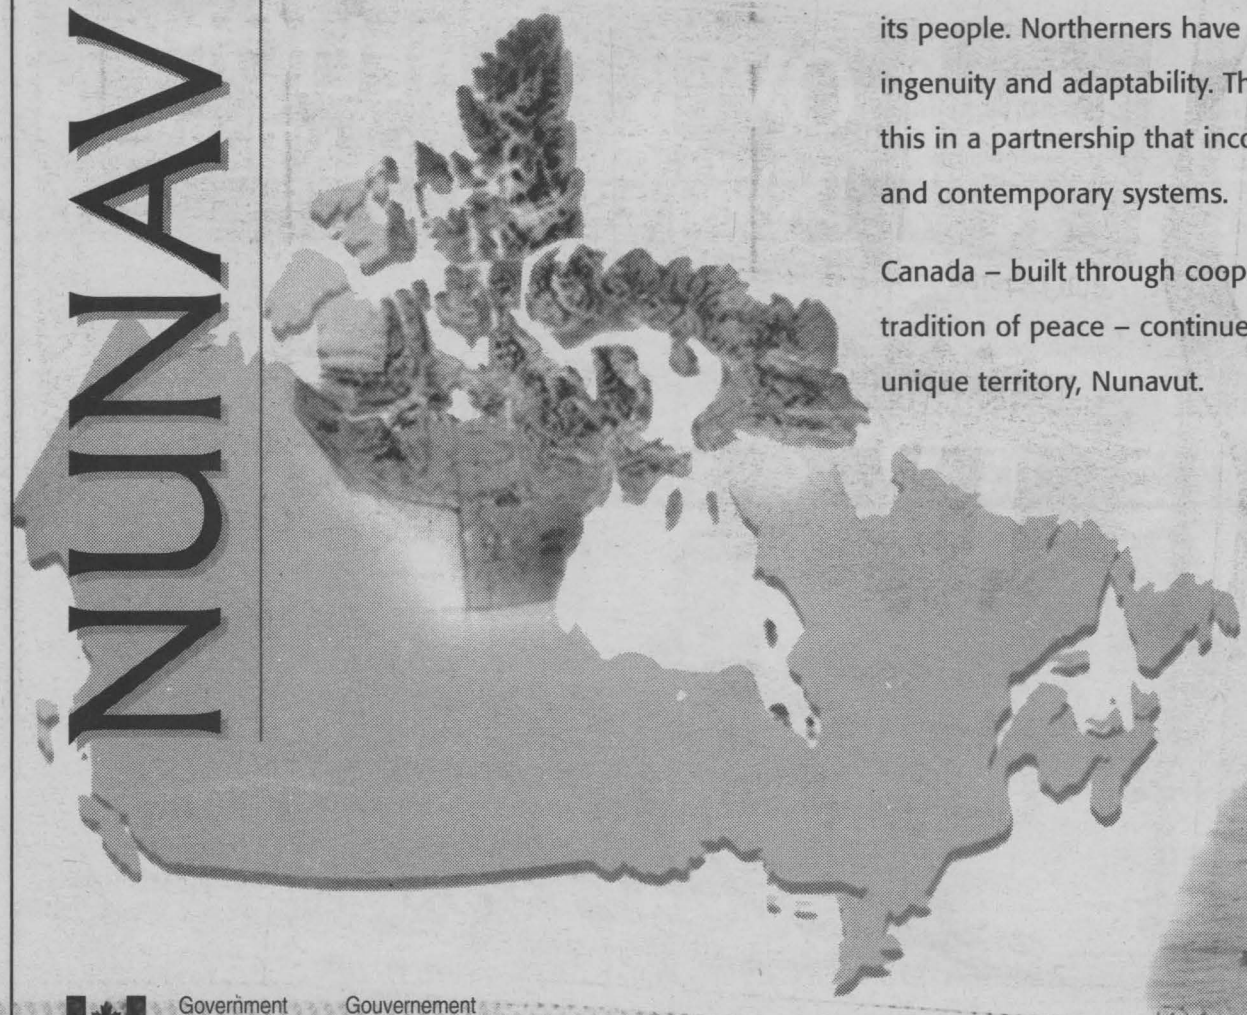
NUNAVUT

On April 1, 1999,
a new territory will be born.
Nunavut



Nunavut, "our land" in Inuktitut, is the traditional land of the Inuit in Canada's eastern Arctic. This fifth of Canada's land-mass is home to a young and dynamic population of about 25,000.

Nunavut faces formidable challenges, but it also holds great promise for its people. Northerners have always demonstrated resourcefulness, ingenuity and adaptability. The new Government of Nunavut will reflect this in a partnership that incorporates the best of traditional Inuit values and contemporary systems.

Canada – built through cooperation, an evolving democracy and a tradition of peace – continues to grow with the birth of this new and unique territory, Nunavut.

First Annual Mayor's Foodbank Challenge

Sylvester

The gloves have been dropped ... the gauntlet drawn ... the line drawn in the sand ... and all for a great cause. Mayor Brian Sylvester has challenged area mayors, reeves and politicians to compete in the 1st Annual Mayor's Foodbank Challenge.

The group of community minded leaders will meet at Farm Boy, 814 Sydney Street, at 11 am on Saturday, March 27th to compete in the challenge. The dignitaries will be required to race around Farm Boy shopping for a pre-set list of groceries. The first one back with all the required items wins the Mayor's Foodbank Challenge and wins bragging rights over the others until next year's challenge. The ultimate winners, of course, are the area food banks, as all of the groceries in all of the dignitaries' carts will be donated by Farm Boy to the food banks.

The initiative, spearheaded by Hometown CJSS radio, was designed as a creative way to educate the public that there is always a need for donations to the foodbanks. "Traditionally," says Craig Smith, Account Executive for Hometown CJSS and Variety 104.5, "people think to donate food to the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas. What some may not realize is that there is a year long need for support."

And the public can help out as well, and get the chance to win groceries for their generosity. Farm Boy manager Joe Vuorensyrija is inviting the general public to drop a non-perishable food item in the collection box at Farm Boy, and to fill in their name and phone number on the back of their grocery receipt for the chance to win back the amount of their purchase on March 27th. "In this way, you can support a great cause, and get a chance to win some free groceries ... Farm Boy is very pleased to host this event."

Sue MacDonald, of the Agape Centre, was thrilled to learn of the initiative. "It's nice to see so many area politicians getting involved to help the area food banks. The Agape Centre alone services 60 families per week in the food bank, and an average of 75 people per day in the soup kitchen, so this support is very much appreciated." The food banks that will receive the donations are the Agape Centre, the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Cornwall and Alexandria, The Salvation Army and the food bank in Winchester.

When he learned of the initiative, Mayor Sylvester was quick to agree to participate. "It's for a great cause, we get the chance to educate the public about a year long need for support by the food banks, and we get to have some laughs along the way ... I couldn't be happier to throw my support into the venture!"

It all takes place at Farm Boy on March 27th starting at 11 am ... see you there!

Five Counties Hot Spot for Heart Disease

(CORNWALL) The report card's in and women aren't doing their homework. At least that's what it looks like when it comes to women and heart health. With the exception of smoking and having their blood pressure checked, women didn't make the grade.

The Annual Report Card on Canadian's Health, released in February, shows that up to two-thirds of women surveyed were making lifestyle choices that put them at risk of developing heart disease and stroke. Heart disease and stroke account for 40 per cent of female deaths in Canada.

The five counties have already been identified as "hot spots" for heart disease, with a death rate from coronary disease higher here than the provincial average.

The Report Card's profile of women aged 45 to 74 shows that only 36 per cent are physically active and 26 per cent say they are not under stress---both points considered risk factors. The Heart and Stroke Foundation is particularly concerned with the revelation that women with an immediate family history of heart problems are no more likely to make positive lifestyle changes than others.

This is in spite of the fact that a family history of heart disease and stroke can double a woman's own risk.

"Checking your blood pressure regularly and avoiding tobacco are important steps to heart health, and women should be applauded for taking these steps," said Louise Simmons of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit. "But being physically active is also crucial and it doesn't mean having to squeeze gym time into an already jam-packed schedule."

Simmons says the health unit can provide information and tips on fitting fitness into your everyday schedule. Call Health Line at 1-800-267-0852.

Major Training Initiative Launched

As a result of an acute shortage of welders and welder/fitters in the five united counties and the strong cooperative efforts of local employers, a major training initiative has been launched.

Employers, with the support of the Apprenticeship Branch of the Ministry of Education and Training, The Eastern Ontario Training Board, St. Lawrence College Business and Industry Training Services, Manpower Inc. and several local agencies, are taking a lead role in solving skilled labour shortages.

"The time for action had arrived," expressed Debbie Rioux, branch manager of Manpower's Cornwall office. After repeatedly trying to solve the challenge of meeting customer demands for employees with suitable welding skills, an innovative approach was adopted by Rioux and a round table discussion was held with the above mentioned community partners.

A significant number of the employers expressed concern that not enough new people with the appropriate skill sets were entering the trade and existing employees needed skills upgrading. As a result of these discussions, a formal request was made to the Ministry of Education and Training Apprenticeship Branch for training funds for an apprenticeship program. Within a few weeks, the funding was granted for not just one, but three training programs. A Welder/Welder Fitter Local Apprenticeship Committee has also been formed with 8 employers / employees to make sure industry needs are being met.

St. Lawrence College's training expertise and commitment to be responsive to community training needs played a key role in the approval and implementation of a revised, more suitable curriculum.

18 students are currently enrolled in a daytime apprenticeship program and 36 others are enrolled in a part time program involving evening classes.

"These 50+ apprentices will benefit from a new curriculum which has been developed in line with the interprovincial program of "Steel/Fabricator", states Paul Beauregard, Training Consultant with the Apprenticeship Branch of the Ministry of Education and Training. "This means that the skills learned here will be recognized everywhere in Canada."

"Everybody wins when employers and workers work together for the common good," remarks Denis Thibault, Executive Director of the Eastern Ontario Training Board.

In the upcoming week the Eastern Ontario Training Board will conduct a survey within the five united counties to assess potential future needs in the welder/ welder fitter areas.

For information about this new initiative, please call Peter Rahn, Locweld Inc, (613) 936-9190 or Denis Thibault at the Eastern Ontario Training Board (613) 932-0210.

Tax Bills On The Way

The 1999 interim tax bills will be on their way as of March 29th. The city will begin mailing them out on this date providing the province send a disclosure letter the municipalities are required to include with the tax bills. The letter explains the guidelines under which they are taxed and assessed. The interim tax bills will be due in two payments, the end of April and May.

Food Bank Drive

The Mayor's Food Bank Challenge will take place on March 27th. The food drive is being held at Farm Boy and begins at 11:00 am. Local dignitaries, challenged by Mayor Brian Sylvester, will race through Farm Boy with empty shopping carts. The aim of the race is to collect a preset list of food and the first one back with all the required items, wins the challenge. All the groceries collected are being donated by Farm Boy and will be distributed to local food banks after the Mayor's Challenge is complete.

More Jobs Lost in Closure

The Johnson Canada Plant located in Summerstown, will be closing as of October 1st, putting twenty people out of work. The company, which makes machine parts for paper mills, including Domtar in Cornwall, has been in Summerstown since 1975. The reason for the closure is that the company is consolidating manufacturing to better compete globally.

Lip Sync Contest

The annual CNIB Lip Sync Contest is approaching fast. The 13th annual contest will be held on April 10th at Nativity Hall. The contest offers two categories for competition, youth and adult. For information on taking part, call Marilyn Ladouceur at 933-2764 or David James at 938-4793.

Check Those CO Detectors

The Cornwall Fire Department is asking residents of Cornwall to make sure that the carbon monoxide detectors are in good working order. Certain models of "Lifesaver" and Nighthawk CO detectors have been shown as failing to operate properly. Detectors manufactured between Nov. 8, 1998 and March 9, 1999 may not function properly when needed. Residents can check the date of production by looking at the date code on the back of the detector. The company, Kidde Safety, that manufactures this brand of detector can also be contacted at 1-888-543-3346 between 8 am and 8 pm.

A Banner Year For South Glengarries

Once again, Pipe Major Bob Kitts and the members of the South Glengarry Pipe Band are engaged in a very heavy program. So far, they have 28 engagements arranged for 1999. Four of these are not completely sure, but the remainder still show a very active year. Four of these engagements have already been completed, the main one being when the band led the St. Patrick's Parade in Montreal, and another one was just a day previous, when they played in Helena, N.Y. Two busy days will be July 1st and July 4th. On the 1st they lead the Canada Day Parade in both Alexandria and Lancaster, and on the 4th they play in both St. Regis and Rouses Point, N.Y. The band had a number of engagements in New York State last year, and is just as popular this year. Another interesting and surprising fact is that this is no longer a wee country band, as it has now 45 members. Of course, you will never see 45 on parade, but with that strength they can always field a strong band. As the band in its present organization is not very old, Pipe Major Kitts and his people must have done a lot of hard work to get the band to its present strength, and to arrange such a busy schedule.

It's not less of a Mercedes. It's just less for a Mercedes.

It has all the luxury refinements you'd expect. It has all the safety innovations you'd expect. In fact, the C-Class has absolutely everything you'd expect from a Mercedes-Benz. Except the price.

►Praised by owners and critics alike since its introduction, there's no question the C-Class is all Mercedes. And because it's a Mercedes, it comes with a few extras you wouldn't expect - like the IntelliChoice award for Best Overall Luxury Value for four years running. Which is not altogether surprising, considering its low maintenance costs and how long a Mercedes-Benz lasts actually make it one of the least expensive cars in its class to own.

►A typical 24 month closed end lease on selected stock unit with 48,000 free km available. $10,000 down or trade equity. Taxes, shipping and dealer prep extra.

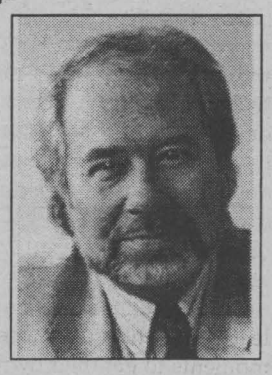
Who's Telling The Truth On Cornwall's "Soil Gate" Controversy?

PERSPECTIVE



By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

The fact that Mayor Brian Sylvester felt obliged to issue a public letter-to-the-editor last week indicates that the accusations about a costly staff faux pas must be falling on receptive ears in the community.

All the more reason to get to the truth of the matter.

The issue exploded March 8 when Councillor Korey Kennedy failed in his bid to have the issue debated at the March 8 council meeting.

"Soil gate", as the affair has been dubbed by the local daily, spins around a $37,000 mistake made on a Boundary Road area project.

Apparently, city taxpayers had to come up with the extra $37,000 after the wrong type of soil was put in the wrong place, and had to be moved again.

According to the March 9 Standard-Freeholder, "the price of fixing the error was buried inside an infrastructure tender and council only learned of it by reading a story in the Standard-Freeholder. The paper had been tipped off by a source who asked not to be identified."

This statement is not attributed. Therefore, it comes as a statement of fact from the newspaper itself.

The headline over the story in question reads "Council vetoes 'soil gate' debate" and refers to the failure of Councillor Kennedy to get a seconder to his motion calling for a debate on the issue that night (March 8).

The story then goes on to quote Councillor Kennedy talking about a "conspiracy" and a "cover-up."

However, Mayor Sylvester tells the public in a letter-to-the-editor printed March 18 that there was no such cover-up and "a thorough and lengthy debate was held by council in open session on this matter on January 11, 1999. The record of minutes clearly indicate that a public discussion took place. All members of council were present at the meeting and able to discuss and question administration on the matter and the report presented. Administration, in writing, took full responsibility for the error and offered apologies."

Well, that's quite a different story isn't it?

Both versions of the "truth" can't be right.

The Freeholder claims it broke the story to council. The mayor claims that minutes of a public meeting showed council had discussed it two months earlier.

What's going on here?

Who do you believe?

Let's hope the truth gets sorted out and the appropriate apology delivered.

Is it just me, or is an epidemic of Terminal Dumbness sweeping the planet? It seems every time I pick up a paper everything I read is fuel for the argument that human evolution is not quite complete.

There was a story a while back about three guys who robbed a Wendy's Restaurant (a Wendy's Restaurant???) in Vancouver. The crooks stole a car and took off, only to crash into culvert a few miles down the road. A culvert, right across the street from a police dog training school. The clowns got out of the car and took to the bush - with six enthusiastic German Shepherds in hot pursuit. It's hard enough to elude one police dog, never mind a six-pack. The guys were handcuffed and in custody in less time than it takes to eat a Wendy's whopper.

Then there was the case of the two Bubbas in Kentucky who decided to use their pickup truck to bust open a cash machine. What they did, see, is run a heavy chain from the bumper of their truck to the front panel of the machine. Then they just put'er in gear and floored it. Pulling the bumper off the truck.

At which point they panicked and drove off. Leaving the chain still attached to the cash machine at one end and their newly detached bumper at the other. The bumper with the vehicle's license plate still attached.

And police in Seattle were a tad nonplussed to find a man curled up in agony next to a motor home. The man had a section of rubber tubing by his side - and a lot of spilled sewage around his head. He confessed that he'd tried to siphon gasoline from the motor home by sticking his hose down the gasoline tank and sucking mightily -- except that he'd stuck his hose in the motor homes sewage tank by mistake.

Some drug traffickers in Texas had a similar problem trying to smuggle dope in from Mexico through El Paso using a propane tanker truck.

These guys weren't dumb. They rigged it so that, even though the truck contained more than three tons of marijuana, all the propane valves would work if suspicious border guards turned them on.

Correction: they were dumb. The sign they painted on the side of their truck read: EL PASSO PROPAIN COMPANY.

There's a lot of serious stupidity going around - and it's not confined to this continent. I just read in the paper yesterday of a young Frenchman who was knocked off his moped by a hit and run driver in the south of France. The moped rider got up, thumbed a ride from a passing motorist, got home, was taking off his coat when his mother said words to the effect of "Excuse me, mon cher, but you don't seem to have a left arm."

It was true. The missing limb was found by the side of the road at the accident scene. Police packed it in ice and flew it, along with it's erstwhile owner, to a hospital in Marseille, where the two were successfully reunited.

Reminds me of the story of the Yuppie who piles his speeding Porsche into a bridge abutment. The police arrive to find the man weeping inconsolably beside the pile of rubble that was his convertible.

"My Porsche!" wails the Yuppie, "My beautiful, beautiful Porsche!"The cop can't stand it. "You idiot" says the cop. "You came this close to being killed. In fact, you lost your left arm in the crash and all you can do is moan about your car?"

At which point the Yuppie looks down at his empty sleeve and yells: "My Rolex! My beautiful, beautiful Rolex!"

So, crime does pay? ...

Senators Eric Berntson and Michel Cogger, both men of conviction, were welcomed back to the public trough by fellow Tories in the upper chamber. Berntson, convicted of fraud, and Cogger, guilty of influence peddling, resumed their duties as un-elected servants of the people. And for simply showing up for work they qualify as recipients of the lucrative salary and benefits afforded to all "honorable" senators. Blinded perhaps by the glare of media cameras, Berntson almost stumbled down a stairwell on his way into the chamber of sober second thought. It seems he hasn't lost his sense of humor, though. Before being sentenced to one year in jail, the former deputy premier of Saskatchewan pleaded for leniency ,citing his years in public office. The knee-slapper is reminiscent of the teenager who gets rid of his parents and then pleads for mercy because he's an orphan. Suggestions that the presence of the two felons could damage the Senate's image were dismissed by Liberal Senator Sharon Carstairs, the government's deputy leader in the upper house. Showing keen insight into the Canadian mindset, Carstairs told a reporter "I don't think it reflects badly on the Senate."

The member from "Viagra Falls"...

Little-known Liberal backbencher Hec Clouthier rose, er, stood up in House of Commons to announce that his riding is home to the "Viagra capital of Canada," the town of Arnprior, just west of Ottawa. "This is tremendous uplifting news for all men who have experienced dysfunctional problems," he said, envisaging a number of prescriptions for opposition members, "a dysfunctional group if I have ever seen one." Clouthier claimed leaders of the Reform and Conservative parties particularly need something to remedy their "ongoing political impotence." A Viagra prescription, he said, "would improve their strained relationship and inject much-needed self-esteem in all their depressed members who have been limp, listless and lugubrious for many years." Witty, but Clouthier offered no word on when the Pfizer plant in Arnprior might open a factory outlet, or if "Big Joe's" restaurant in the town is planning an expansion.

Facing off with bigotry...

If you were looking for the face of bigotry on Parliament Hill this week you would have seen it. Two picketers said to be from the Church of Scientology were displaying a blown-up color photo of "the face of bigotry" on placards in front of the Centre Block and guess what? It's the face of a press gallery colleague. Seems she may have said some nasty things in the past about actor John Travolta's favorite church and the pair of picketers saw a way of getting sweet revenge. Your scribbler took the only known photo of the two men and showed it to our colleague later. Unfortunately, her response is X-rated.

Our Oscar-losing nominations

Best Instructional Film: Tears Are Not Enough: An "Idiot's" guide to filing 1998 income tax returns. Produced by Revenue Canada in cooperation with certified idiots. Three thumbs up.

Best Comedy : Dancing with Wolves: Former solicitor general has memory lapse while explaining airbus conversation to pack of reporters. Stars Andy Scott with great supporting role from the CBC's Julie ("Did-you-get-hit-on-the-head-with-a-rock?") Van Dusen.

Best Documentary: Chariots of Fire II: The story of Canada's aging Labrador and Sea King helicopters and the brave pilots who fly them. Includes clip of Defence Minister Art Eggleton in House last month admitting the 35-year-old Sea King helicopters have some ignition problems "...when they start them on the ground."

Best Actor: Senator Eric Berntson in Dead Man Walking. Delivers a convincing portrait of a felon desperately clinging to political life while praying for a last-minute reprieve.

Best Foreign Film: Focus on the Far East: Study of Canadian Maritime culture. Investigative reporters infiltrate secret training ground of Celtic fiddlers on Cape Breton Island. Funded by CIDA and narrated by Gordon Pinsent.

Best Comedy Film: The life and times of Judge J.J. McClung: Lower court judge takes on feminist Supreme Court Justice in scathing letter-to-the-editor. Letter reveals incredibly bad judgment but great penmanship.

Terror Tactics? Give Me A Break!

It sure didn't take long before Ontario's Public Service Employees Union put their tails between their legs and retreated from battle last week.

Just like the teachers' unions discovered about a year beforehand, there was no way they could win this battle against the public interest.

And lose they did: starting with an astonishing demand of a salary increase of 12 to 20 percent over two years and ending up with 4.3 percent over three years–a figure very close to the government's last offer–it was hardly worth their while to make so much noise over the issue.

Noise is all they made. Even after the battle was over.

In the same way that they made astounding wage demands, they also cried like babies when the negotiations came to a close, accusing the government of using "terror tactics" to force a deal on its public servants.

Terror tactics? Give me a break.

How in the world do these crybabies get away with this? Just because they don't know how to bargain shouldn't be reason to call the Harris government–which has made reasonable proposals and stuck by them–a whole bunch of names.

Why didn't the union put a set of reasonable demands on the table? Why did it start by asking for the moon and settling for almost nothing? What does it expect when it engages in such poor conduct in the bargaining process?

Heck, I've negotiated my share of collective agreements and I now teach the course at law school, and I couldn't have given my students a better illustration of poor bargaining tactics than those employed by OPSEU.

What on earth are the union leaders talking about when they refer to "terror tactics" of the government? In my books, what the government did in its negotiating strategy was brilliant: by holding the line and letting the union negotiators spout off like madmen with their silly demands, they simply won the day.

Just like the same government did when the teachers' unions terrorized the people in their illegal strike over a year or so ago. In that case, the teachers made irresponsible and ludicrous demands that saw them all slink back to their classrooms with their tails between their legs, enjoying even less public respect than when the whole episode started.

It raises an interesting question: when will these people ever learn that they can't use such poor tactics and terrorizing moments to get their own way? It won't work.

If they want to be taken seriously, they should start looking at the province's finances, help the government achieve its goals of modernizing the bureaucracy and increasing its efficiency. If that involves layoffs, so be it. Not pleasant, but absolutely necessary. If it involves extra sacrifice and labor, that is good too.

But union leaders want the best of all worlds: they want to be able to threaten, to cajole, to boast, to brag, to attack and then to win at all costs. They want more money for their members without any commensurate increase in productivity. They don't want merit pay. They rest on seniority alone.

Well, I have a message for them: no matter which government is in power–even if it is ultimately the Liberals led by the weak and gullible Dalton McGuinty–the people of this province can't afford to give in to such demands. Bob Rae learned that and he also discovered very quickly just how disloyal and nasty the unions can really be.

But union leaders don't care much about their members, when it comes right down to it. They still collect their cushy salaries even when their people are out on the cold picket lines, trying their best to win a strike.

Unions are not winning this public sector strikes because they deserve to lose. They have no gallant claims. The teachers discovered that after crawling back in 1997 and OPSEU should have learned its lesson when it lost its 1995 strike.

All of this makes for good reading and lots of exciting times, but it gets us absolutely nowhere. When will the silly public sector unions ever learn that and start to smarten up instead of abusing the power they have?

SEAWAY NEWS

Hello everyone. I know it has been a few weeks since I have written, but I was away on a holiday and not feeling too well when I returned.

My brother Mike took me to Florida again this year to see the Blue Jays at spring training. It is a time where Mike and I can spend some time relaxing together and talking of life's trials and tribulations. My mother and father also came down this year as they are big baseball lovers and had never been to spring training before. It was a great pleasure to see the smiles on both of their faces, sitting in the warm sun, sipping cold ones and having a few laughs. I'm sure Mike enjoyed seeing them there as much as I did. Except for my dad's "wobbly" experience the first day, it was a lot of fun. Thank you Mike from all of us, and I hope we can do it again next year.

I visited Florida with a very bad cough and returned 2 weeks later with it getting worse. I stopped at the clinic on my way home for the doc to take a look at me as I was a little more than worried.

My throat was clear, as were my lungs also, as a chest x-ray confirmed. That was good news, but when Wendy (my doctor) said I should have a TB (tuberculosis) test I became a little scared. TB is common in people with HIV and must be taken very seriously. A shot was given to me in my forearm and had to be read by my local doctor 2 days later. If the shot swelled up, I was positive for TB. It didn't and tests were negative. It is finally starting to go away with the help of some medication.

Some regular blood work was also taken, which had some good results and some disturbing news at the same time. My CD4 counts went up from 275 to 365 which is good, but my cholesterol levels were through the roof. Too many hot dogs, french fries and beer you say in Florida. Not the case. Many people on the Protese Inhibitor Crixivan are coming down with very high cholesterol levels.

Due to the severity and consequences of high cholesterol, I am starting the newest drug to fight HIV this week. I know the name, but not the spelling, so I will tell you more about it next week. It was just approved for sale in Canada on Monday and is supposed to have minimal side effects. I've heard that one before. It also means taking less pills which is nice and getting rid of those horsecaps (Crixivan) will be a pleasure. Two years was enough. I will tell you of my visit Wednesday, next week.

It has been almost a month since my friend Bill, owner of Bill's Sports Bar & Deli passed away. Myself as many others do, still miss and always will his smiling face and dry sense of humour greeting us as we walked in for a few pops. Bill always welcomed me into his place and during some late night talks told me of no one speaking of me having HIV in a bad way. He told me he would not allow it in his place of business. We spoke often of my illness and my battles and always thought I would pass on before he would.

That was only natural to think, I was the one that was sick. Bill will be missed by us all who knew him, his family, his friends, and those who called him fondly "boss". Bill was a big Yankee fan and I toasted to him at Legends Field in Tampa.

A friend so young and so new to me will not be forgotten.

Rest easy Bill and be well everyone.

Cold Weather Rough on Rosacea Sufferers

What is it?

Rosacea is a chronic, progressive skin disorder affecting the face.

Who does it affect?

Over 2 million Canadians. Usually appears after the age of 30.

Symptoms: Redness on the cheeks, chin, nose or forehead. Left untreated, redness becomes ruddier and more permanent. Dilated blood vessels may appear, and bumps and pimples often develop. Eyes may become irritated. In advanced cases, nose may grow swollen, red and bumpy from excess tissue.

Causes: No known cause. Several factors can aggravate it - spicy foods, sun exposure, hot beverages, alcohol and temperature changes such as going from cold outside to heated homes or offices.

Complications;

Menopause: Not uncommom for women to develop rosacea during menopause. Tendancy to flush, family history and a strong stinging reaction to topical skin products might bring on rosacea.

Allergies: Many sufferers said the condition flared up when they had allergic reactions.

Stress: Rosacea can worsen or be triggered by anxiety.

Cures: No known cure. Can be controlled with topical prescription medication (most commonly prescribed is MetroGel) and oral antibiotics (e.g. Tetracycline, Minocin) for severe cases. Avoidance of lifestyle factors can reduce symptoms.

Stir Fried Coconut Curry Chicken with Bok Choy and Basil

Every once in a while I come across a recipe that absolutely blows my mind, and even more infrequently, I come across an entire cookbook that does the same. Fusion Food Cook Book by Hugh Carpenter and Teri Sandison is one of those books. Fusion cooking is all about crossing geographical and cultural divides through food. In other words, it takes a traditional dish from one part of the world and crosses it by incorporating food stylings from another culture.

Serves 4

Stir-Fry

2 chicken breasts, boneless & skinless
2 tbsp. dry sherry
1 tbsp. dark sesame oil
1 small bunch bok choy
1 red bell pepper
5 whole green onions
4 cloves garlic finely minced
1 tbsp. finely minced fresh ginger
3 tbsp. cooking oil

Sauce

1/4 cup chopped fresh basil
1/3 cup dry sherry
1/3 cup coconut milk
1 tbsp. oyster sauce
1 tbsp. sesame oil
1 tbsp. red wine vinegar
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. sugar
1 tbsp. curry powder

Cut chicken into cubes and marinate with sherry and sesame oil. Cut Bok Choy into one inch strips. Stem and seed the red bell pepper and cut into cubes. Cut the green onions on a sharp angle into 1/2 inch lengths. Combine garlic and ginger in a small bowl. Combine all ingredients for sauce in a bowl. Heat Wok on highest heat, coat with cooking oil. Once hot, saute chicken for two minutes, remove chicken and set aside. Immediately return wok to highest heat, and coat with oil. Add garlic/ginger mixture and cook a few seconds. Add vegetables and cook two minutes. Return chicken to the wok and pour in the sauce. When the sauce comes to a boil, adjust seasonings. Transfer to four heated dinner plates and serve at once.

Bon Appetit!

Alcohol, Cannabis and Tobacco Use Prevention

A community comes together to identify ways they can prevent or put off a problem that is slowly gaining ground within our youth. Young teens are experimenting more and more with the most common drugs on the market, alcohol, cannabis and tobacco, at a younger age than even 5 years ago.

More than 28 parents, teachers and members of the community attended the ACTION workshop seeking advice, tips and strategies to better respond to this situation getting gradually worse.

The ACTION program aims to inform all community stakeholders using activities, projects and kits. The Eastern Ontario Health Unit and its partners promoting healthy lifestyles, made up of representatives from the Eastern Ontario Health Unit. "We want to make it easier for parents, teachers and community groups to work together, not necessarily to speak in one voice, but to permit several voices to show different facets of the same solution."

"Our children are receiving conflicting information depending on the source," says Louise Matte-Forget. "That is why the introduction of the ACTION program is so exciting."

The ACTION program was introduced in a workshop held Wednesday, March 17, 1999 to a group of community representatives made up of parents, teachers, representatives of Club Optimiste, Family Home Visitors, Addiction Services of Eastern Ontario, SD&G Developmental Services, Withdrawal Management Centre, Centre for Addiction and Mental Health as well as staff from other health units.

"This is an excellent program," says Lorraine Leduc, a parent sitting on the Parent Council of Vincent Massey. "I'm anxious to get the school moving on this. It is an eye opener for some kids because it teaches them how to say no. I hope everybody gets enthusiastic about this program."

"It is not one group's responsibility to educate our children about drugs and their effect," adds Matte-Forget. "It's everyone's duty. Ideally, youths will one day take over and promote their own drug use prevention."

enforcement and prevention agencies, are committed to equipping stakeholders, including the children themselves, with the tools necessary to delay or prevent the first experimentation that so often leads to more frequent use.

"Our goal is to make sure children receive the same message from everyone," says Louise Matte-Forget, health promoter/ educator with

TALES FROM THE BIG SCREEN

A man lay sprawled across three entire seats in the posh theater. When the usher came by and noticed this, he whispered to the man, "Sorry, sir, but you're only allowed one seat."

The man groaned but didn't budge. The usher became impatient.

"Sir, if you don't get up from there I'm going to have to call the manager."

Again, the man just groaned, which infuriated the usher who turned and marched briskly back up the aisle in search of his manager. In a few moments, both the usher and the manager returned and stood over the man.

Together the two of them tried repeatedly to move him, but with no success. Finally, they summoned the police.

The cop surveyed the situation briefly then asked, "All right buddy, what's your name?"

"Sam," the man moaned.

"Where ya from, Sam?" With pain in his voice Sam replied "the balcony."

War Amps New Safety Video Features Cornwall "Champ"

At the age of 10, Trevor Hooker of Cornwall lost part of his arm while trying to beat the train. Now 18, he tells his story in "Spot the Danger", a new half hour video being released across Canada this month by The War Amps.

"Spot the Danger" was produced by War Amps Chief Executive Officer Cliff Chadderton as part of the Association's Playsafe/ Drivesafe Program. In a "pull no punches" style, Champs (members of The War Amps Child Amputee - or CHAMP - Program) from across Canada talk about their accidents and the consequences.

Trevor is joined by 13 other Champs who also learned their safety lesson the hard way. They include: Joshua, who lost part of his leg at the age of six when he fell off a moving speedboat; Stephen and Amy, who both lost part of an arm in electrocution accidents; Gerrit, Laura, Merrill and Jon Paul who all lost limbs in farm accidents; and other Champs who had accidents with everyday household machinery like meat grinders.

A portion of the video is devoted to Meagan, who lost part of an arm at the age of three when the vehicle in which she was travelling was struck by a careless driver. The memorable segment of "Meagan's Song" tells her story and illustrates the importance of The War Amps Drivesafe message.

ASTAR, the gold robot from the Planet Danger, appears throughout the video in an animated neighbourhood based on a War Amps safety poster. He introduces the Champs and reminds children that, as a robot, he can put his arm back on, but they cannot, so they must PLAYSAFE.

Chadderton said that the video was designed both to appeal to children and provide a lesson that will stay with them. "It uses the newest advances in computer animation to catch their eye, but just as compelling is the candid and positive way that these Champs tell their stories. We have always found The War Amps kids-to-kids approach to be a unique and effective way to get the message across," he said.

He added that the brief images of the resulting amputations are equally important. "We felt it absolutely essential to show this in a tasteful way, not only to illustrate the consequences of unsafe play, but also to educate the public about amputation," he said, adding that there is a warning disclaimer at the beginning of the video.

The video, which was produced in-house and funded by corporate donations, has been distributed to community channels across Canada and will also be available to schools. It is available for purchase on a cost recovery basis ($11) or on loan through The War Amps Web Site at www.waramps.ca or by calling toll-free 1-800-250-3030 or faxing toll free at 1-800-219-8988.

Connection Cornwall Opens Community Renewal Centre

Connection Cornwall is pleased to announce the opening of its Community Renewal Centre. The announcement was made today by the organization's Chair, Pat Finucan.

"Connection Cornwall provides support for private sector economic renewal in the Cornwall region using financial support from HRD Canada", reports Finucan. "There have been a number of exciting things happening in the Cornwall area. The Community Renewal Centre is an excellent means by which the public can find out about these activities and offer their ideas, too."

The public are invited to visit the Renewal Centre located in the Cornwall Public Library Study Room. This information centre will showcase the many initiatives, already underway which have given the City and surrounding region a boost to its growing economy. Sandy Cameron, a Connection Cornwall member indicates that, "It's important to note the Centre is designed to provide an opportunity for the public to share their ideas. We encourage people to visit the centre, see what's been happening and then, give us some of their thoughts and suggestions about ways to help the community grow."

Connection Cornwall evolved from an economic renewal summit held by the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce in late 1996. The purpose of the summit was to acquire community input about the best ways to enhance the local economy. A number of initiatives evolved from the summit and resulted in the creation of Connection Cornwall which gained financial support from HRD Canada.

A number of sub-committees are addressing issues such as community image, air quality improvement and advanced telecommunications. Their mandate is to create and implement programs and initiatives which will enhance the community as an ideal place to work and to live.

Five Star Hockey Trivia

NHL CAREER MILESTONES

(NC) - In celebration of the 1998-99 hockey season, Seagram Canada has put together a Five Star Selection of facts and trivia questions on Canada`s most popular sport. Here`s a question on some of the NHL's top enforcers.

From this list of current NHL players can you pick out the one who has the most career penalty minutes in the league?

A. Joey Kocur
B. Marty McSorley
C. Bob Probert
D. Dale Hunter

Answer:

D. Dale Hunter. The most despised and penalized player in the NHL has racked up over 3,446 career penalty minutes. But with all-time career penalty minutes leader Dave Williams at 3,966, who knows if Hunter will have enough years of mean-spirited play left in him to dethrone the man known as Tiger.

ask the VET

Q My pet is getting older, is there anything special I should be doing for him?

A

The average lifespan for a large dog is 10 years and smaller dogs live for about 13 years. As they grow, certain things should be done to ensure that they will remain healthy and vital for as long as possible.

An annual check-up by your veterinarian will detect any unnoticed problems early. Often, a vet will recommend some blood and urine tests to see if organs such as the thyroid, kidneys and liver are functioning properly. And your pet may need a special diet suitable for an older animal. Like humans, their metabolism changes and they benefit greatly from diets that are formulated to their specific needs.

Good dental care can't be over-emphasized. Brushing your animal's teeth daily and keeping them tartar-free will reduce the possibility of infections that can result in serious health problems. Regular exercise and loving attention, of course, are essential in keeping your pet healthy and happy throughout his later years.

Tips Most normally active dogs do not require high protein, high energy dog foods. This predisposes them to obesity.

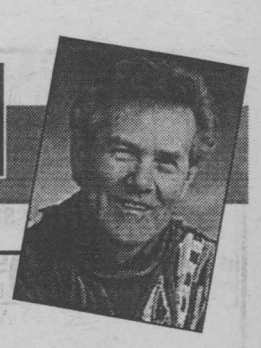
MARTINWATCH



By Jean-Louis Rochette

Four Reasons Why People Lose Their Purprle Martins

When a martin landlord loses an entire colony from one year to the next, they frequently suspect their 'flock' died in a storm during migration or was poisoned by pesticides on their Brazilian wintering grounds. These scenarios are unlikely because the individual martins that share a colony site do not migrate or overwinter as a group. Colony members are a random aggregation of unrelated birds attracted to a common breeding site. They arrive in spring, and depart in late summer, independent of each other. Therefore, it is highly improbable that any single calamity, occurring away from the colony site, would affect every one of them. Almost without exception, the reason for total colony loss is the result of something that happened (or didn't happen) in the landlord's back yard. Below is a list of the 4 most common reasons why landlords lose their entire colonies from one year to the next.

1. Predation: The most common reason martins abandon their colony site is because predators have raided their nests. It takes one foray up a martin pole by a raccoon, a few nightly visits by an owl, or a few daily visits by a hawk or crow to cause all the surviving birds to abandon the site, often forever. Since many martin landlords don't have easy-to-lower housing (and therefore, don't conduct weekly nest checks), most never realize their martins, nestlings, or eggs are disappearing prematurely. Early detection via weekly nest check and written records can often save a colony site before it is entirely lost. All martin poles (both wooden and metal) are easily climbed by martin predators and should be equipped with predator poleguards. In addition, landlords should check the ground under their martin housing daily for evidence of predation (i.e., owl feathers, plucked martin feathers, chewed-off martin wings, etc.) Active martin houses that have become regular targets for hawks, owls, or crows should be immediately equipped with owl guards.

2. Tree encroachment: The second most common reason people lose their martins is that trees and shrubs in their yards gradually grow taller and close, decreasing the "openness" of the airspace immediately surrounding the martin housing - a situation called "tree encroachment". Since martins require lots of swooping space around their housing, a tree-encroached yard is undesirable to them. At colony sites where trees are gradually encroaching the housing, the original colony members will return year after year, as long as they live (due to the strength of site tenacity), but they will decreasingly successful in recruiting new colony members. Since most fledgling martins do not return to breed at their natal colony sites, once all the veteran martins have died, the site is lost because there are no younger martins to take their place. If martin numbers at your colony site are gradually declining and tree encroachment is the cause, only tree cutting, pruning, or house relocation will reverse the trend.

3. Weather extremes: Since martins are aerial insectivors - meaning they catch all of their food in flight - they are extremely vulnerable to weather conditions that eliminate or diminish insect flight. Prolonged bad weather, such as rain, snow, cool temperatures, and/or heavy winds all reduce or eliminate insect flight. If poor weather persists continuously for more that 4 to 5 days, martins begin to die of starvation. At the other extreme, heat waves and droughts can also be a problem. When air temperatures go above 38 degrees centigrade for many days at a stretch, nestlings in non-ventilated or improperly-insulated martin housing can perish from overheating. Prolonged drought can also adversely affect insect numbers.

4. Nest-site competition: Martin landlords who allow their housing to become overrun with nest-site competitors often lose their martins. The martin's two most serious nest-site competitors, the non-native European Starling and the House Sparrow, take over martin compartments for their nest, kill martins and their young, throw out or eat their eggs, and aggressively repel them. In addition, one pair of House Sparrow will clog so many compartments with their nesting material, that they essentially barricade martins from access. Research has shown that landlords who allow House Sparrows and Starlings to nest in their martin housing, have colony sites with significantly reduced martin occupancy and productivity. If a landlord makes the mistake of leaving their martin housing out, and open, over the winter and paper wasps, squirrels, American Kestrels, or Screech Owls take up residence before the martins return from migration, the martins will abandon the house. A landlord should never allow any other species to occupy housing intended for martins.

Next week: more reasons for losing purple martings.

Morrisburg Novice Rep Lions Sweep Cornwall

The Morrisburg and have captured the Upper District Novice Rep Lions Canada Minor Hockey League Eastern Division. The Lions swept the Royals two games to nothing in the eastern final. The final game on Saturday March 13th was one of the tightest checking games the Lions faced in the playoffs. The rink was a buzz by far the loudest crowd the Lions have played in front of. The Royals scored first at 4:43 of the first, with Devin Brunet bending the twine unassisted. The Lions kept to their game plan by skating hard on the forecheck while maintaining tight defence. At 6:03 of the second, Alex Whelan tied the game off a Joss Pepers pass. The crowd was cheering for both sides. Josh Lefebvre in Cornwall's net, along with Graham Peters in the home net were brilliant. The checking continued into the third, when at 4:28 Darren "Sparky" Baldwin gave the reps a one goal lead. The assist on the goal went to Noah Van Moorsel. The last four minutes Cornwall was desperate for a tie, Peters denied them any goals. The Lions held off their extra man attack to clinch the series. The Lions will now face the winners of the west between Brockville and Kingston township. The first game in Cornwall on Thursday, March 11th, the Lions came out loose and exchanged goals with the Royals. The tie game lasted about eight minutes, when Morrisburg turned up the heat. The Lions scored six more goals to win the game, plus take a big road victory with the chance of winning at home. Brandon Elliott helped the Lions with four goals, followed by Allan Waddell with two. The single counter came from Alex Whelan, assists went to Josh Pepers with two. Single assists went to Tyrell Keicks, Whelan, Bryce Fournier, Matt Hummel and Elliott. The Novice Rep Lions are undefeated in the 1998-99 playoffs, recording four wins and one tie. The Lions would like to thank the fan support they have received so far this season. The Lions will travel to Montreal to play in the Dollard-Des-Ormeaux 21st annual novice hockey tournament at the end of March. The tournament is touted as the worlds largest novice hockey tournament, with over 90 teams playing.

Rayco Out Of Playoffs

Rayco Senior Women's Hockey team lost in the semi final playoff round against the Ottawa Bears at the Dulude Arena. Rayco took the lead at 08:16 of the first period with a pretty play set up by Dominique Laroche and hammered in by Michelle D'Amours. The Bears picked up speed in the 2nd, scoring at 02:08 and a power play goal in the third with 04:18 remaining.

Lisa Cook played a great game in nets, keeping her team in the match until the end. Cook was pulled with 1:30 remaining, but Rayco was not able to capitalize with the extra skater.

The Rayco team would like to thank Rayco Sports and all their individual sponsors who make it possible to have a competitive senior women's hockey team in Cornwall.

Burton Tames Darlington

Jeff Burton has been very good at Darlington Raceway, with four straight top-5s at the track "Too Tough to Tame" entering Sunday's TranSouth Financial 400. He finally got his first win there Sunday, nursing a damaged race car across the finish line after being caught in a late wreck.

Jeremy Mayfield finished second in a race that was cut short due to rain after 164 of a scheduled 293 laps. Jeff Gordon, Dale Jarrett and Mark Martin made up the rest of the top-5 finishers. Burton notched his seventh career victory, and second this season.

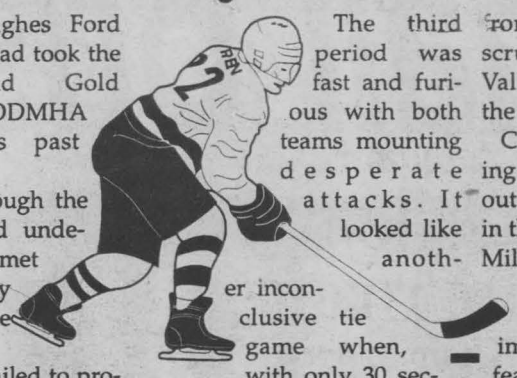
Seaway Wins Gold



The Miller Hughes Ford Major Bantam squad took the Consolation Round Gold Medal in the ODMHA "AA" action this past weekend.

After going through the Consolation Round undefeated the Rapids met the Ottawa Valley Titans in the Championship.

The first game failed to provide either team with an advantage with a 4 to 4 result.

In Pakenham on Sunday, March 21, 1999, the Seaway Valley team opened the scoring early in the first period with a slap shot from the point by Marc Andre Richer. Assists were awarded to Jesse Winchester and Ryan Redmond. The Titans tied it up late in the first, however the Rapids took the lead again two minutes later on a goal by Troy Darnell, assisted by Jesse Winchester.

The second period saw the Seaway squad outplayed and outshot and the Titans tied the game up once again at the 10:57 mark.

The third period was fast and furious with both teams mounting desperate attacks. It looked like another inconclusive tie game when, with only 30 seconds left in the game, Seaway's Matthew Verdone chipped in the winning goal from the midst of a wild scrum in front of Ottawa Valley net. Ryan Major had the assist.

Craig Helmer was outstanding in the Rapids net throughout the game but particularly in the second period when the Miller Hughes Ford team was sluggish at times.

Seaway is hoping to improve its 6 game undefeated streak in the South Grenville "AAA" Bantam Tournament this coming weekend.

VTB Bathtub Liners Inc.

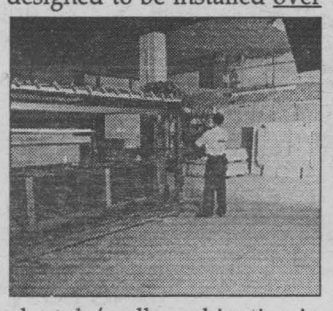
Since 1991 VTB Bathtub Liners Inc has been supplying the residents of Cornwall and surrounding area, with our bathroom remodelling alternatives, but some people are still not aware of this inexpensive process.

WHY NOT REPLACE?

The first thing installed in a bathroom is the bathtub. Walls and tiles are then installed over the edge of the bathtub, and then the finished floor is installed. The bathtub is, in effect, trapped in place by the walls and floor. In order to remove an existing bathtub, extensive demolition must occur.

THE BETTER SOLUTION.

VTB tub and wall liners are designed to be installed over existing bathtubs and walls. This system eliminates the costly, time consuming and messy procedure of tearing everything out and then rebuilding to achieve essentially the same end results. A bathtub liner can be installed by our trained dealer in 2-3 hours, a tub wall in 4 hours and a tub/wall combination in 6 - 7 hours. As you can see, we can save you both time and money.



TUB LINERS

VTB bathtub liners are installed without disturbing walls, tiles, floors or plumbing. They are custom moulded to fit the style of bathtub you have, this is to ensure a snug fit when it is glued to your old bathtub. Made from 1/4" acrylic material, VTB bathtub liners are shiny, easy to clean and warm to the touch. The liners are designed to last 20+ years, and are guaranteed by the manufacturer to be free of defects in materials and workmanship. Moulded decorative skirts are also available to fit any style of bathtub.

TUB WALLS

VTB tub walls are designed as made to measure units that cover your existing tile wall or drywall. Choose from either our seamless one piece unit or three piece units. Both are available in 3/4 heights, and come in 1/8" thickness. You may also enhance both these units with a beautifully matching ceiling capper.

Dave and Charlie love their work with VTB and it shows in the shine of new bathtubs and wall systems all over Cornwall. If you too want a new bathroom in as painless a way as possible call VTB at (613) 930-2135.

Trimark® Discovery Fund Focuses on Innovation

Airbags. In-line skates. Compact discs. Imagine if you had the opportunity to invest in these and other bright ideas when no one else saw their value. You would have done very well.

Trimark Investment Management Inc. offers investors that opportunity through Trimark Discovery Fund. This international equity fund is designed for investors with a diversified portfolio who want to add a high-growth component.

Like other funds in the Trimark family, the Trimark Discovery Fund invests in companies with strong management teams and long-term growth potential. But it emphasizes companies seeking to advance in our information intense global economy. Potential companies will likely come from the technology, telecommunications, biotechnology and scientific fields, but could also be established companies seeking to do old things in a new way.

"We're investing in idea-driven companies with significant growth potential," says Rick Serafini, international and technology equities portfolio manager.

Along with Trimark chairman Robert Krembil and vice-president Richard Whiting, Serafini selects companies with entrepreneurial management teams applying innovative management techniques. "These companies thrive on technology and change, and combine heavy R&D with a global marketing thrust. That should mean excellent opportunities for Trimark Discovery Fund unitholders."

Serafini describes fund prospects as either innovators (young, knowledge-intensive companies creating innovative products and services), or entrepreneurs (mature companies trying to redefine their industries). They can operate anywhere in the world, but they are all driven by ideas. The Fund will focus on smaller and mid-sized companies (100-500 million US$), but won't exclude larger companies. "We're looking for companies that are flexible enough to stay committed to innovation, and adaptable enough to maintain or increase their marketing position in a highly competitive environment," says Serafini.

The Trimark Discovery Fund is a natural extension of the company's "business people buying businesses" philosophy, says Krembil.

The Fund is more aggressive and has a shorter holding period than Trimark's other equity funds. "A Trimark Discovery Fund investor is prepared to make a long-term commitment in exchange for potentially higher returns," says Serafini. "If you have a passion for intellect, creativity and insight, Trimark Discovery Fund is for you."

Top 10 RRSP Tips

1. Everyone should consult a financial advisor to work out a financial and retirement plan that takes into account individual needs and circumstances. A professional investment advisor offers the best way of translating the complexities of changing financial markets into a long term investment and retirement strategy.

2. Contribute early, regularly, strategically and often to your RRSP.

3. If you have accrued contribution room and plan to take out a loan to catch up on any unused RRSP, consider claiming the contribution over a period of time. This allows you to make a deduction against the highest taxable income. (The same applies for an inheritance of windfall of any sort).

4. Stagger GIC maturity dates through a "laddering" approach, especially in this low-interest rate environment. "Laddering" refers to having one-fifth of your GIC assets mature every year.

5. RRIF changes in 1997 mean Canadians have to convert their RRSPs to RRIFs at age 69 instead of age 71. This means two years less in contribution time and growth and two extra years to stretch income. Tip: If you have a younger spouse and you still earn an income, you can contribute to a spousal RRSP and stretch your contribution years for tax-free growth of retirement income.

6. Use up all of your RRSP contribution limit - including unused contribution room from previous years.

7. Maximize the foreign content inside your RRSP. You can further increase your foreign content by using Canadian mutual funds which also incorporates foreign securities.

8. Diversify: make sure you are diversified in all your investments, including those that are outside your RRSP. Diversification is the best way to manage risk.

9. When converting your RRSP into an RRIF, don't rush to restructure your portfolio. Because people are living longer, you still require capital appreciation and therefore you should not necessarily convert all your mutual fund holdings into fixed income investments like GICs.

10. Use a tractical positioning of assets between your RRSP and non-registered accounts. Tax preferred investments should be held outside the RRSP.

These top 10 financial planning tips come from Susan Viger, Manager Financial Planning at Royal Trust.

MONEY ...tips

(NC)—Contribute regularly. You'll get the most out of your RRSP by making your maximum allowable contribution each year. Many people find it easiest to arrange for monthly or quarterly contributions through automatic deductions from an account at a financial institution.

Reduce Emissions While You Add to Your Car's Life

(NC)—An Emission Service cleans and restores the areas inside an engine to reduce exhaust emissions and lengthen the life expectancy of the engine. By cleaning the oil system, the fuel system and their related components, immediate and long-term benefits of increased power, lower fuel consumption and reduced emissions are realized by the driver.

During the course of engine operation, deposits form in critical operation areas inside the engine. Some of these deposits are not removed by just an oil and filter change, the smaller contaminates not captured by the filter can keep circulating with the oil. These react with blow-by gases and oxygen to form deposits inside the oil galleries in the engine.

Periodic engine cleaning is vital for a long engine life. By removing sludge deposits and small contaminates from the crankcase, the new engine oil added at the time of an oil change offers better engine protection and reduced exhaust emissions.

The air intake and fuel delivery systems also need periodic cleaning. Using a concentrated cleaner through the intake manifold ensures smooth air flow into the engine promoting complete combustion of the air/fuel mixture. By adding a fuel system cleaner to the fuel tank, contaminants, water, gums and varnish deposits impair the delivery of the fuel, resulting in increased exhaust emissions and reduced engine performance.

Carbon deposits also form inside the combustion chamber. These deposits can cause two problems. They increase the compression ratio inside the combustion chamber, which can increase octane requirement for the engine to prevent knock and ping. Carbon deposits also create hot spots which prematurely ignite the air/fuel mixture before the spark plug, causing pre-ignition resulting in poor performance and higher exhaust emissions.

As laws on emissions are introduced in different areas of Canada, an Emission Service will become an essential consideration. Meanwhile, all of us can help the environment by reducing emissions, at the same time, you'll be helping your car will run more efficiently and last longer

Many automotive service professionals use the Wynn's X-tend line of products. While they are not available to consumers, you can discuss their use with your automotive technician. Ask for the Wynn's X-tend Emission Service Kit.

A Well Tuned Vehicle Can Help Combat Smog

(NC)—We can all play a part in helping combat smog by ensuring that our vehicle emissions are as healthy as possible, through regular maintenance of engines and emission control equipment.

A poorly maintained engine can emit pollutants equivalent to 20 properly tuned cars.

That poorly tuned engine can also be costly to the owner, since it can consume an average of 10 per cent more fuel while contributing to the smog problem.

Fuel usage and the resultant pollutants can also be reduced by keeping tires inflated to specified pressures. As well, the best fuel economy for most cars is achieved at speeds of 90 km/h or less.

Avoid unnecessary weight in your vehicle, since the heavier the car, the more fuel it burns, Plan trips and activities to reduce your driving and stopping and starting your vehicle. As well, fuel consumption will be reduced by not letting your vehicle idle excessively.

Carpooling or ride sharing also reduces the number of vehicles on the road. Insteadof having the car windows open on the highway, try using the vents for air flow since reducing wind resistance will reduce fuel consumption.

Parisien Manor Receives Grant

The John Stewart Estate Memorial Trust Fund was established in 1993, following the sale of the John Stewart home situated at 613 Second Street East, in Cornwall.

Mr. Stewart (1833-1903) was a bachelor farmer from the Moose Creek area, whose financial largesse benefited several institutions, as well as the "aged, poor and indigent Protestant people of the United Counties". Income from the investment of the proceeds is distributed annually in the form of grants to agencies serving the needs of seniors in the United Counties of S.D. & G. College Career Fair Set For March 31st

St. Lawrence College will host a tri-campus career fair for its 1000 graduating students and for alumni, March 31st on the Brockville campus.

Bert Ruest, college placement officer, said the event is an opportunity for graduating students to meet representatives of "more than 40 employers, in all disciplines."

He said this is the first tri-campus career fair hosted by the college. Last year, the Cornwall campus hosted a high tech career fair.

Employers who have confirmed their attendance at the career fair so far include C-Tech of Cornwall, TD Bank, Mitel Corporation, Nortel, Great West Life Assurance, the Ontario Provincial Police, and ParaMed Home Health Care.

Ruest noted that career fairs are the way that many companies recruit graduating students today. "Employers used to come to the campus to interview students, but now there are lots of career fairs."

He said that employers would be accepting resumes from students at the career fair and stressed that students should "take extra care and attention" in writing their resumes.

"The resume is the first impression the employer gets of you," said Ruest. "And the competition is so great, you can't afford an ineffective resume."

Ruest said that one of the college's English teachers was offering a workshop entitled "Polish Your Resume" for students attending the career fair.

The college will provide bus transportation for students from Cornwall and Kingston who want to attend the career fair in Brockville. Ruest expects over 200 students from Cornwall to attend.

To take part in the career fair, employers pay a fee of $100, said Ruest, but, he added, "most of the fee will go towards a student bursary."

The Easter Bunny

"Here comes Petter Cottontail
hoppin' down the bunny trail
Hippity hoppity
Easters on its way!"

The Easter bunny has its origin in pre-Christian fertility lore.

The Hare and the Rabbit were the most fertile animals known and they served as symbols of the new life during the Spring season.

The bunny as an Easter symbol seems to have it's origins in Germany, where it was first mentioned in German writings in the 1500s. The first edible Easter bunnies were made in Germany during the early 1800s. And were made of pastry and sugar

The Easter bunny was introduced to American folklore by the German settlers who arrived in the Pennsylvania Dutch country during the 1700s. The arrival of the "Oschter Haws" was considered"childhood's greatest pleasure" next to a visit from Christ-Kindel on Christmas Eve. The children believed that if they were good the "Oschter Haws" would lay a nest of colored eggs.

The children would build their nest in a secluded place in the home, the barn or the garden. Boys would use their caps and girls their bonnets to make the nests . The use of elaborate Easter baskets would come later as the tradition of the Easter bunny spread through out the country.

"Oh! here comes Peter Cottontail,
Hoppin' down the bunny trail,
Hippity hoppity
Happy Easter day"

Treat Family and Friends to a Delicious 'Hoppy' Easter Meal

As a child, the warm sunlight on your eyelids as you lay half dreaming in bed came as a natural wake-up call that made you the first to spring from your covers.

Slippers on foot, you rushed to the window to see the birds already waiting, hopping from one tree branch to the next, keeping watch over the dew-glistened lawn that harbored the hidden treasure you had yet to find.

Rabbit tracks? With your nose pressed to the glass, you surveyed the area for clues and just then, there — beside the big tree, you spotted one. A bright blue-and-yellow object, round and smooth, probably the size of your palm. Yes, your rested eyes confirmed it. You had discovered your first Easter egg.

Easter, while celebrated by Christians as the religious holiday commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ, bears baskets of popular traditions that have nothing to do with Christianity. From the Easter rabbit that symbolizes fertility to the colorful eggs indicative of spring to the hunt for hidden baskets full of jelly beans, chocolate and marshmallow bunnies, Easter fosters an array of springtime festivities for all to enjoy.

One of the most enjoyable activities can be sitting down at the dinner table with friends and family for a holiday feast — but not everyone has time to cook. A convenient solution from the HoneyBaked Ham Co., maker of The Authentic HoneyBaked Ham®, is to serve a precooked, sliced and glazed HoneyBaked Roasted or Smoked Turkey Breast, seasoned to perfection with the company's secret-spice glaze. The turkey breasts, which can be enjoyed hot or cold, serve eight to 10 people and are 98 percent fat-free. The turkeys are available only at HoneyBaked Ham Co. stores or by mail order.

Wild Rice, Dried Cranberry and Walnut Pilaf

Serves 4

2/3 cup wild rice
3 cups water
Pinch of salt
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup dried cranberries
1/4 cup walnuts, chopped and toasted
2 tablespoons fresh parsley, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste

Rinse the wild rice under cold water and add to a saucepan with the 3 cups of water and pinch of salt. Heat to boiling, stir and reduce heat to a simmer. Cover and simmer slowly for 45 minutes. Remove from the heat and toss with the butter. Add the cranberries, walnuts and parsley, and season with salt and pepper. Serve hot, warm or cold and garnish with parsley leaves.

Braised Red Cabbage and Pears

Serves 4 to 6

4 tablespoons butter
1 red onion, chopped
1 small red cabbage, quartered and cut into crosswise slivers
2 pears, peeled, cored and chopped
2 teaspoons fresh sage
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons sugar

Melt the butter in a large Dutch oven over medium heat. Add the onion and cook for four to five minutes until just translucent. Add the cabbage and cook until it just starts to wilt, five minutes. Add the pears and sage, and cover the pan. Reduce the heat to a simmer and cook for 30 to 35 minutes until the cabbage is soft. Add the lemon juice and sugar, and season with salt and pepper. Serve hot or cool.

EASTER ENTERTAINMENT

Let's Decorate Some Easter Eggs!

There are lots of ways to decorate Easter Eggs. You can go to the store and buy an egg-coloring kit. It will turn out some very pretty eggs. You might make your own colored solutions with food coloring or natural ingredients, vinegar, and hot water. You can do dye resist, etchings, painting, gluing, double dipping, and so much more. You will find lots of suggestions in books at the library so be sure to check there. Here some ideas to get you started.

Pass It On

This is a great activity for a group of friends and family. You will need a hard-boiled egg for each person and a collection of colored markers. The smaller tip permanent markers work best.

Everyone gather around the table. Each person takes an egg and draws hair on it. Then each one passes their egg to the person next to them.

That person draws the eyebrows. Pass the eggs again and draw the eyes. Keep passing and drawing until all the parts the face are done. You can include cheeks, nose, mouth, ears, and special features like freckles and moles. Then everyone can admire the results! if you think you can't draw well enough to do this, just get the Sunday comics out to use as inspiration.

Etched Designs

Here is a good method to use if you want to make a design made up of fine lines. Because it requires the use of melted paraffin wax, be sure you get help from an adult. No kidding. You could end up badly burned or.... a burn down house!

Before you melt your wax, be sure an adult is nearby to supervise. Always melt your wax very slowly in a double boiler. Never, ever, ever melt wax over direct heat. Do not try to melt wax in a microwave oven. The only safe way to melt wax is over water very slowly and never taking your eyes off it. As soon as it is melted, remove it from the heat.

First dye your egg any color you wish. This will be your background color. After it is dry, dip it into melted paraffin wax. After the wax is dry, etch your design by scratching through the wax with a darning needle. Then dip the egg into another color of dye. Because of the wax coating, only the lines you scratched will pick up the new color. Remove the wax by heating the egg slightly in hot water, and polish the surface by rubbing in any remaining wax.

Easy Batik Eggs

Batik is an Indonesian method of hand-printing cloth by brushing melted wax on to the parts that are not to be dyed. The traditional method of making Batik eggs also uses melted wax alternating dipping the eggs in colored dyes and adding designs by painting on melted wax. This method uses masking tape to produce very interesting results.

Cut out designs from masking tape and stick them onto your egg. Dip the eggs into dye. When they are dry remove the masking tape. You can repeat the process by sticking on new cutouts and re-dipping the egg. You can overlap some of the colors for variety. Be sure to start with the lightest dye and work your way to the darker ones. If you want to keep an area a particular color, cover it with masking tape.

You can use a white crayon (actually any color you want) or hard paraffin wax to draw on designs which will resist the dye.

"Tie-Dye" Eggs

Ahh... remember the 60's? The good old days of love beads, bell-bottoms, hair, and tie-dye T-shirts. Well if you can (and I'm not saying I can) then these eggs will bring back memories. And if not, they are mighty pretty anyway.

You may want to use rubber gloves for this project or you may be caught red-handed!

Make up several colored dyes with food coloring or egg dye. Be sure they are strong solutions (about 2 Tablespoons of water to a tablet of dye). Add two or three drops of vinegar to each color for staying power. Now, dampen a piece of cloth with water and wrap it around the egg.

With an eye dropper, drop spots of different colors of dye on the cloth. Twist the cloth tightly around the egg so the colors blend together.

Gently unwrap the egg and let it dry.

It was just a case of too many late season injuries that hampered the Cornwall Colts in their first round playoff with Nepean. They gave it a valiant try,especially in the exciting last game in Nepean. Congrats to the Wagar's and all the Colts players for another commendable season of junior hockey. The new millennium promising a new batch of talent to join the few remaining Colts and we can look forward to the 1999-2000 CJHL year.

Some exciting NHL hockey is starting to take shape as the leagues player trading deadline has come and gone with 31 players now wearing different team jerseys. Perhaps the biggest deal was made by Detroit Red Wings as they added some big names to their roster in time for the home-stretch drive to the playoffs. Wendell Clark, who is enjoying a great season,along with Chris Chellios,Ulf Samuelson and Bill Ranford will be trying to help the Wings win once again for Scotty Bowman.Most other teams also managed to do some player swapping, albeit some were for draft choices after the season is over.

Most notably the Ottawa Senators have dealt away Chris Murray in exchange for Nelson Emerson and the Toronto Leafs added Yanic Perreault .All this high priced talent will soon do battle for the Stanley Cup in about a months time.

Keep the date of April 11th open for the 26th running of the RAISIN RIVER CANOE RACE.

Hopefully the event will enjoy some warmer temperatures as hundreds of spectators will be lining the banks to watch and cheer on their favorites in this exciting annual event. Watch for starting time and a list of the other events and information on the race in this space over the next two weeks.

It will be a theatre production of ODE TO CARIBOO CAMERON and will be staged during the Histo-Arts Festival June 5th & 6th. Playwright,Gysele Poirier did some extensive research for the historical facts for the play.

Cornwall Police Service Hires New Officers

The Cornwall Police Service is pleased to announce that they have completed a two and a half month recruiting process. "There were over 150 candidates that applied for the available positions," says Human Resources Officer Cst. John Parisien.

The Cornwall Police Services Board and the members of the Cornwall Police Service would like to take this opportunity to welcome the successful candidates to our Service and introduce them to you, the members of our community, here in the Friendly Seaway City.

The successful candidates are:

Larry Frappier - currently a Special Constable with the Cornwall Police Service, he is promoted to 4th Class Constable effective April 12th, 1999

Peter Greer - currently a Special Constable with the Cornwall Police Service, he is promoted to 4th Class Constable effective April 12th, 1999

Tracey Foley - of Picton, Ontario, she joins our Service on the 12th of April, 1999 as a Cadet.

Jason Kilger - of Cornwall, he joins our Service on the 12th of April, 1999 as a 4th Class Constable.

Keith McCready - originally from Montreal, Quebec and currently working for the Peel Regional Police Service, he joins our Service on the 5th of April, 1999 as a 3rd Class Constable.

David Michaud - of Cornwall, he joins our Service on the 12th of April, 1999 as a 4th Class Constable.

Michael Redmond - of Cornwall, he joins our Service on the 12th of April, 1999 as a 4th Class Constable.

Constables Frappier, Greer, Kilger, Redmond, and Michaud will commence Recruit Training at the Ontario Police College on the 14th of April, 1999 and complete the training on the 8th of July, 1999. Cst. Keith McCready will commence general patrol upon his arrival to Cornwall since his position is one of direct entry. Cadet Tracey Foley will commence her duties at Police Headquarters on the 12th of April, 1999.

All candidates were required to present an Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police Constable Selection Certificate when applying to the Cornwall Police Service. This certificate is given to successful candidates after performing a battery of tests including a General Aptitude Test, a gruelling Physical Fitness Test, Written Communication Testing, a Visual and a Hearing Test. The series of tests cost the hopeful candidates approximately $288. The successful candidates then had to complete a Medical Examination and a Psychological Test as part of the requirements for the Cornwall Police Service.

We welcome and congratulate the new recruits and we are sure the citizens of Cornwall will join us in making them feel at home with the Cornwall Police Service.
